VOL. - 32

1928

Welcome Freshmen!

The Bucknellian

Welcome Freshmen!

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII — LEWISBURG, PA., MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1928. — NUMBER 1

FROSH MAKE MERRY AT FIRST MEETING IN TUSTIN "GYM"

Old Tustin Gym rang with the cheers of another freshman class on Wednesday evening, September 12, as the enthusiastic new class of 1932 opened its Freshman Week activities with an informal reception.

Bucknell songs and cheers echoed through the gymnasium as more than three hundred freshmen responded to the persuasive direction of a college cheer leader. Each freshman was personally greeted by President Hunt, by the Freshman Week committee, and by the presidents of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

The Student "Y" has cooperated with the faculty Freshman Week committee, and has taken over the work of receiving and registering the freshmen, helping them to their rooms, and providing recreation and entertainment for them. The "Y" has a staff of about a dozen upperclassmen who have returned to college a week in advance to take charge of this work.

Bucknell Bell Hop To Hop Extra Early

A month earlier than usual, the Belle Hop is putting out this year's "Initial Number," on September 24. Such an early publication date has entailed a great deal of summer work on the part of the staff and many difficulties have been encountered by them. Several of the features are really above par in the line of humor and are far above the ordinary "freshie" which usually constitute the opening number of a comic.

Among the features is a humorous narration of incidents in student life at Bucknell fifty years ago—"where-is-it told for the first time the story of the murdered Dean and the Left-Handed Crew of '01." The author is the Hon. Justin Herman, ex-'80, who is now living retired, but who was at one time known as the Soft Drink King of America. The article is illustrated by Israel Klotz, '32, a nephew of Mr. Herman.

The cover has been drawn by Donald Streeter, ex-'29, and is up to his usual high standard. The original is on display in the window of Montgomery and Co. at this time.

School For Coaches Had Big Enrollment

Many Pennsylvania college and high school football coaches are planning to introduce new kinks and quirks to their football squads this fall. The new ideas are the result of instruction in summer football schools.

The players themselves are finishing up two months of hard work and hundreds of them will be ready to get into harness and absorb the advanced ideas and hard knocks which the coaches are preparing for them. Many of the football stars who will shine on the gridiron this fall spent the summer as track drivers, farm hands, and ice men, while others have been in the woods and at the summer camps.

The annual Warner-Zuppke school at Bucknell University was attended by a good-sized delegation of Pennsylvania coaches. There they mingled with other mentors from almost every state in the union for two weeks of instruction under "Pop" Warner and "Bob" Zuppke.

Classes were held each day on the hill side of the old Bucknell athletic field with the tutors presiding over a large movable blackboard at the foot of the hill. Occasionally they were called on for demonstrations of methods of tackling, blocking, interfering, and running with the ball.

FRESHMAN HANDBOOKS

That a limited supply of Freshman Handbooks is available for sale to upper-classmen, was the announcement made by Frank B. Loper, "Y" president, after each of the freshman class had been provided with a copy.

Heeding the request by upper-classmen in past years, the "Y" Handbook committee has ordered an extra supply of the freshman "Bible," which will be sold at a nominal figure. They may be bought at the "Y" room during the coming week.

SPECIAL EDITION

This special issue of the Bucknellian has been published to acquaint you with the activities of Freshman Week and the interesting features of Lewisburg and particularly of our University. It is given to you with the compliments of the University and the Bucknellian staff.

You will want to send this paper to the folks at home. This is a limited issue, but as long as the supply lasts extra copies may be obtained at the Registrar's office.

The first regular issue of the Bucknellian will be published on Thursday, September 20, and the paper will appear every Thursday throughout the year.

The Bucknellian regularly consists of eight pages of news, features, athletics, and advertisements and this year will be supplimented by an eight-paged pictorial section, portraying the campus activities of colleges and universities throughout the country.

Here Are The Rules That Govern Rushing

The rushing rules adopted by Student Council permit no fraternity man to rush a new student before Wednesday morning, September 26, at 8 o'clock, when the rushing period opens.

Student Council defined rushing as any "interest in a freshman other than a casual greeting." Any violation of the rushing rules brings a fine of $50 for each offense.

The complete rushing rules follow:

1. No student shall be pledged until nineteen days after the official opening of the College.
2. There shall be a closed rushing season for the rushing of new students from September first to that day which is one week after the official opening of College.
3. This period shall be followed by ten days of intensive rushing, and the final two days shall be of silence in which no rushing shall be done.
4. This last period of silence shall be followed by a common bid day (October 8).
5. No fraternity shall entertain rushees in the fraternity house after 7:30 P. M. in the evening, nor hold smokers or dances in their honor.

Bucknell Students Edit 4 Publications

Bucknell has four student publications, edited and published by the students themselves, that afford a fine practice field for those who are interested in journalistic and literary work. These publications are the Bucknellian, the college weekly newspaper; the Belle Hop, a humorous publication issued seven times a year; the book of Bucknell Verse, that is composed entirely of original poems by Bucknell students, and that is issued annually; and the Bucknell Journal of Education, that is gotten out by students in education, four times each year. In addition, there is published each year a Handbook, such as has been given to each freshman during the present week. This contains college rules, songs, etc., and interesting bits of information about the University. The junior class each year issues a year book called L'Agenda.

The Bucknellian is now in its thirty-third year. Starting as a tiny four-paged sheet, it has grown until at present it is an eight-paged paper of six columns. Thus it contains 48 columns of news matter, sports, intercollegiate news, etc., each week, and affords students on its staff an excellent training in newspaper work.

The editorial staff consists of sixteen or more students, chosen for proficiency, from the Journalism classes. All students in newswriting the beginning class in journalism, do practice work for the newspaper. Those showing journalistic ability become regular reporters. From their ranks the board of editors is chosen. Promotion through the editorial board is determined wholly by ability and efficiency. The major editors receive scholarships and scholastic credit for the work done on the

(Continued on Page 4)

PRESIDENT EMORY W. HUNT

To The Class Of 1932

You have already received a welcome, and sufficient advice to last you for some time. Personally, I wish to know you. I shall be glad when I can call you by name. This will doubtless take me some time, as we can not meet and talk every day. Always feel free to call at my home and seek any help I can give.

Emory W. Hunt.

Lewisburg Extends Her Welcome To Students of Entering Class

Once more the town of Lewisburg extended her generous arms and welcomed another class to Bucknell. From the North, East, South, and West came the men and women to make up the Class of '32. Arriving one week before the other classes, the "frosh" were treated to a week of fun, lectures, and fellowship. For one great week they are the lords of the Hill and the town.

On Wednesday evening, September 12, the freshmen gathered together as a class for the first time at an informal reception given in their honor at the Tustin Gymnasium. This evening of frolic prepared the freshmen for a series of lectures, the first of which were delivered the following morning by President Emory W. Hunt and Dean Romeyn H. Rivenburg.

President Hunt, in greeting the freshmen, stressed the importance of having worthwhile aims. "Prexy" exhorted the freshmen to have three aims: knowledge, service, and character. He startled the class by saying that the splendid and perilous thing about college is that we can be the greatest fools we want to be.

Dean Rivenburg gave the freshmen a very inspirational address. The dean pointed out to the men and women before him that they were about to enjoy a new freedom. This freedom, however, is full of perils. Some things to do to make this freedom safe are: be careful of your health; put the main emphasis on your college work; make a study schedule; form many friendships; ally yourself with your church.

On Thursday evening the churches of Lewisburg held informal social gatherings so as to become better acquainted with the new students. After the socials the freshmen gathered at Bucknell Hall, where Professor William G. Owens talked about the traditions and ideals of Bucknell. Professor Nelson F. Davis followed with steroptican pictures of by-gone days and campus scenes. The audience was sorry that the professor did not show more than sixty slides from his five hundred.

Bucknell's 1928 Football Schedule Offers Rare Contests For Rooters

The approaching football season promises to be full of interesting games that will test to the full the ability of the Bucknell players. There are ten varsity games on the schedule. Practically all of them will be stiff contests, and several of them will result in contests of the most trying sort.

The schedule opens with a game with Schuylkill, on September 29. Bucknell should win this game, though the players will have to keep moving to do so. Schuylkill is coached by an old Bucknell varsity man, "Doggie" Julian. He has had great success during his career at Schuylvill. In addition to having a good coach, Schuylkill is this year a much enlarged institution, for Albright and Schuylkill were merged last year. This should bring a number of good players to Schuylkill this fall. This opening game will be played on the home grounds.

On October 6 the Bucknell team goes to Geneva, at Beaver Falls. This game should come to Bucknell, but should be a stiffer contest than the Schuylkill game.

The first really hard test comes one week later, when Bucknell goes to State College, to play the Pennsylvania State College team. Last year Bucknell won from State. The State men will work hard to turn the tables this year. It would be difficult to predict the winner, but the game is certain to be a hard battle throughout. Bucknell students will journey to State by the hundreds to see this contest.

Lafayette, coming to Bucknell a week after the State game, is the attraction for Home-coming Day. Lafayette has had the better of the games with Bucknell in recent years. She has one of the best teams in the East, among the smaller colleges. This game will find the stadium crowded, and will give Bucknell rooters the big thrill of the year. The Lafayette game has become a big drawing card on the Bison schedule.

Gettysburg will be played at Gettysburg on October 27. Bucknell should win this game, but we are never certain of a victory over Gettysburg until the final whistle blows.

The Scranton battle with Villanova, which has now become the great football attraction for the anthracite region, will be a stiff affair. Villanova beat us two years ago in the final moments of play. Last year Bucknell turned the tables with a vengeance. This year the Catholic boys will be out for revenge, and a hard battle will be the result.

If Lehigh is no better than she has been the past two or three years, the game with her should be won easily by Bucknell. But Lehigh may pull

(Continued on page 3)

NOTICE TO FRESHMEN

Several freshmen are needed as assistants to the advertising manager and the circulation manager of the Bucknellian. All freshmen are eligible to try for these positions.

The managers for next year will be chosen from the men who qualify for these assistant managerships this year. And the year following, one of these managers will be advanced to the business managership. The circulation manager, the advertising manager, and the business manager receive scholarships for their services.

The successful candidates for these positions now open will receive a valuable training along the business line, and those who succeed to managerships will also get compensation in the form of the scholarships mentioned. Students interested in the business end of journalism will find this a worthwhile opening.

Those wishing to try for these positions should hand their names to Business Manager John N. Feaster, at the Alpha Chi Mu House.

John N. Feaster.

Many Denominations Represented Here

Lewisburg is a town of churches, lavishly supporting seven Protestant denominations. Each church welcomes to its services every student of the denomination and likewise cordially receives those who have not yet affiliated with any church.

The First Baptist Church, which was responsible for the establishment of the University, is located at the corner of Third and St. Louis streets. It has for its pastor the Rev. Dr. Raymond M. West, a Bucknell graduate.

Just across the street is the Beaver Memorial Methodist Church, of which the Rev. L. A. Welliver is pastor.

The third of the Third street churches is diagonally opposite the Baptist Church, and is the home of the Lutherans. The Rev. R. B. McGiffin is the pastor.

The First Presbyterian Church is located on Market street between Water and Front streets. The Rev. F. B. Everitt occupies the pulpit.

The Rev. W. J. Dice is the pastor of the Evangelical Church, on Fourth street, just south of Market.

The Reformed Church, on North Third street, is in charge of the Rev. H. H. Rupp.

The Christian Church, on North Third street has for its pastor the Rev. D. M. Helfenstein.

Lewisburg Offers Varied Recreations

Lewisburg and the surrounding country offer unusual facilities for pleasant recreation, that Bucknell students have enjoyed to the full for many years. It would pay every new student to climb to the observation tower on the top of East College, and there enjoy the magnificent views that unfold themselves, while at the same time the observers can be getting "the lay of the land."

The Susquehanna River, that runs through the centre of the region under observation, at once suggests itself as a prime place for recreation. It is all of that. In spring and summer it affords a fine place for swimming and canoeing. In winter its frozen surface provides good skating. The Buffalo Creek, which empties into the river just above the railroad bridge, is also a famous skating place. The river and its several tributaries nearby also offer fine fields for extended trips by canoe.

All about Lewisburg mountains rise, and these offer further fields for explorations. In days past Bucknell students have climbed Montour, the arching mountain to the southeast, hiked along the Chestnut Ridge to the south, and made frequent excursions in the mountains to the westward. Indeed, the mountains to the north and west are a favorite place with Bucknell students. Biology and geology and zoology classes, for years past, have tramped these moun-

(Continued on page 4)

FRESHMAN CLASS MAY NUMBER 350 WHEN TARDY COME

The enrollment of freshmen, up to the time of going to press, showed approximately 330 students registered with the incoming class. Not all of the newcomers had arrived, and Registrar H. W. Holter thinks that this year's class will probably be about the size of the class that entered last fall, when there were not far from 350 freshmen.

Of the 330 registered to date, 120 are women. The roll of women students was full last May, and the college has found it necessary to turn away women applicants since that time. However, several of those who had been accepted for admission have found it impossible to enter college this fall. That has resulted in four or five vacancies, and that number of women students can now be accepted.

The scholastic quality of this incoming class should be good. No students were accepted for admission by certificate from the lowest fourth of the high school classes. All students of this grade were required to take up the entrance examinations.

Wilkes-Barre Group Stars on Stunt Night

The Wilkes-Barre group's pantomime, "The Lovers Meet," won first place in the Stunt Night held in Tustin Gymnasium last Saturday evening, September 15, as part of the Freshman Week program. Freshman groups from nine sections of the country entertained the class of 1932.

"Pokyhontas," the humorous pantomime by the Philadelphia students, won almost as much applause as the prize-winning stunt. The New York City group presented a candidate for the presidential election.

"The Story of The Squaw Who Wouldn't Walk Home" was the clever vitaphone production of the Harrisburg group. The Williamsport students presented "A Freshman's Dream," showing the arrival of the new student and his amazing change at the end of four years.

Groups from the northern and southern sections of New Jersey entertained the freshmen with a musical program. "The Railroad Crossing" was the stunt of the Lewisburg students.

The miscellaneous group, including students from such widely separated states as Florida and Wyoming, enacted "The Last Day in School."

Bison Footballers Hold Secret Practice

The Bucknell University football team underwent its first secret practice Friday afternoon after the North Field had been cleared of all spectators who did not have Head Coach Carl Snavely's written permission to witness the drill. After the experience of last season, when the Bisons lost two of their earlier games because of intensive scouting on the parts of their opponents, Coach Snavely is taking all possible precautions to prevent a repetition of affairs this year.

From 3:30 until 6:00 the entire squad was subjected to a dose of real scrimmage, which turned out to be the hardest session of the new campaign. Although there are thirteen letter-men from last year's team on hand and a great deal of material from last year's varsity squad and yearling team, Coach Snavely has announced that there will not be a first team at any time during this season. Instead the team which starts the game will be comprised of the men who have shown the most stuff during the previous week. Because of this new system of work, neither of the scrimmaging teams yesterday could be teamed A or B. Coach Snavely had the teams working on his "twister" plays. These plays earned great success for the Bisons last year and Bucknell's basic attack this year will be founded on them. The results of the scrimmaging were gratifying to both Coach Snavely and Line Coach Ulhard Hangartner, and some definite lines were obtained on some of the men who are expected to be in the starting line-up against Schuylkill on September 29.

Freshmen! Start Saving Now

SEE W. L. DONEHOWER

"VARSITY ATHLETIC OUTFITTER"

For good Gym Outfits at Special Sale Prices.

$1.00 Heavy Ribbed Gym Shirt.... 75c
$1.00 White Gym Pants..... 75c
Bike Athletic Supporter..... 50c

$2.00

Our Special Price on this Equipment for the Opening Weeks of School is $1.50.

OTHER SPECIALS

$1.50 Heavy Sweat Shirts..... $1.25
$2.50 Genuine Crepe Gym Shoes..... $2.00
$1.00 Heavy Wool Socks..... 75c

Big line of Athletic Goods, College and Frat Pennants, Banners, Stationery, Etc.

424-426 Market St. (immediately East of Post Office)
LEWISBURG, PA.

FELLOWS

The new Fall Suits are here in all the new shades.

Everything is Dark for Fall.

A new line of Blue, Grey and Brown Cheviots, Herringbones and Shadow Stripes, all with 2 pairs of trousers, from

$25.00 to $45.00

WOLF DREIFUSS
MILTON, PA.

Over fifty years in business at the same stand.

WELCOME '32

We are glad to see you, and know you will be happy when you see our New Fall styles.

Come in and look them over.

Lehman's Shoe Store
223 Market Street Lewisburg, Pa.

CLOTHES
Ready-made And Cut to Order

ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE

Charter House
OF LEWISBURG

The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.

Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

BUCKNELL STUDENTS EDIT 4 PUBLICATIONS

(Continued from Page 1)

Bucknellian. The circulation of the Bucknellian is approximately 2,000 copies a week.

The Belle Hop offers a fine opportunity for practice in humorous journalism, to all students who are interested in work of that type. Jokes, poems, art work, etc., constitute the published material and all students in the University are welcomed as contributors. Staff positions are won through ability in this line of work. The Belle Hop is issued seven times during the college year, and its circulation is nearly 1,000 copies an issue.

Bucknell Verse, which is issued annually, is composed of the best poems submitted by students in the classes in English composition. The issue of the present college year will be the fourth. Each volume has contained 30 to 40 poems, which were contributed by about 20 students. Carl Sandburg, upon a visit to Bucknell, praised this publication highly.

The Bucknell Journal of Education, now in its third year, is issued by the Education Society and the Education Department, in the interests of Bucknell students in education. Most of the material published is contributed by Bucknell students and teachers, and the editorial work is done wholly by students.

LEWISBURG OFFERS VARIED RECREATIONS

(Continued from page 1)

tains. The White Deer mountain, the Fourteen Mile Narrows, the Seven Mile Narrows, Paisley Mountain, the Veneida State Forest Park, and other mountain regions within easy reach of Lewisburg offer most tempting fields for research and study. Altogether, it would be difficult to find a college town more advantageously situated with respect to natural advantages for wholesome recreation.

Welcome to Farley's Barber Shop.

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 322 Market Sts.

Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
Electrical Supplies for College Students
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Newspapers and Magazines, Stationery, Tobacco and Cigars,
J. A. FEGLEY

Welcome Back

SENIORS!
JUNIORS!
SOPHOMORES!

We hope you enjoyed your vacation and feel sure you are prepared to undergo another successful year at
"DEAR OLD BUCKNELL"
FRESHMEN

We know you will like your new environment. We wish you the best of success.

When in Milton and you desire to wait for someone, write a letter, use the telephone, cash a check, etc., our store is always at your service.

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

J. F. REBER & CO.

PLUMBING, HEATING, TINNING and Mill Work

LEWISBURG, PA.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States

Our Temporary Policy is the Best for Students

Foster Harpster, Ex. '28,
Williamsport, Pa.

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1932

We welcome you to Lewisburg and Bucknell. We want you to feel that our store is your store. Drop in at your convenience and make yourselves at home ---meet your friends here. Any service that we can render, such as wrapping up your parcels, cashing checks, etc., will be done cheerfully.

By "dropping in" we do not necessarily mean purchase something, but make this store your "hang-out."

Wishing you success during your college career.

MONTGOMERY & CO.
Market at Fourth St.
"A Man's Store for College Men."

HERMAN & LEISER

Now Showing a Large Assortment of

NEW FALL DRESSES

at

$5.00, $10.00, and $15.00 each.

HERMAN & LEISER

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

Welcome, Freshmen!

Let us get acquainted.
We can supply you with the following needs:
Loose Leaf Note Books.
Loose Leaf Fillers.
Loose Leaf Memo Books.
Loose Leaf Memo Fillers.
Blotters in light shades.
Waste Paper Baskets.
Waterman's Ink.
Soap Boxes; Coat Hangers.
Party favors and many other useful items.

Kinkaid's 5c to $1.00 Store
Lewisburg, Pa.

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

PITT THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

COLLEGE MEN: Have your shoes repaired while you wait at
JOSEPH KIFOLO'S
SHOE SHINING PARLOR
Near the Post Office—Just across the R. R.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1852. Lewisburg, Pa.

Ward, The Barber

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

THE PURITY

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

BUCKNELL 1928 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

(Continued from page 1)

out of her slump at any time. If she does, a good battle will result.

Washington and Jefferson, Dickinson, and Temple are the remaining teams. A victory over the first of the three would be a feather in Bucknell's cap. If W. and J. has as good a team as she has had in recent years, it will be next to impossible to win from her. Dickinson we may defeat. We usually do, but can never be sure until the game is ended. Dickinson puts out some mighty good teams.

Greetings: Farley's Barber Shop.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

While in Milton Don't Forget to Visit

The Excellent Candy Shoppe

TRY OUR
Home-Made Candies
FRESH DAILY
Also Have
TOAST-WICHES

Going Out of Business

Here You Buy at Wholesale

Everything in the Store Marked Way Down.

Men's 50c fancy Socks	29c pair
Ladies' $1.00 Silk Stockings	56c pair
Regular 79c Turkish Bath Towels	47c
Ladies' $1.87 full-fashioned Hose	$1.29 pair
Young Men's Tailored Suits	$25.00
Men's Colored and White Handkerchiefs	17c each
$1.75 Chiffon Thread Silk Hose, full-fashioned	98c pair

It will pay you to try here before you look elsewhere.

JOS. K. DERSHAM
225 Market Street Lewisburg, Pa.

That Coveted Pledge Pin

Must wait a few weeks before it can be displayed. Until that time when your feet are happily tucked away under the fraternity boarding table, the logical place to eat is at the College Inn Cafeteria. Prices are reasonable, and the variety of meals are made to suit every purse and appetite.

On the Quadrangle

Presenting....

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

in the blindfold cigarette test

Famous star selects OLD GOLD

CHARLIE CHAPLIN
. . . movie favorite the world over, in one of his best-loved pictures —"The Circus."

"One cigarette of the four I smoked in the blindfold test was like shooting a scene successfully after a whole series of failures. It just 'clicked' and I named it as my choice. It was OLD GOLD. Which clears up a mystery, for the supply of OLD GOLDS in my Beverly Hills home is constantly being depleted. It seems that Strongheart and Rin-tin-tin are the only motion picture stars who don't smoke them."

Charlie Chaplin

MR. CHAPLIN was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like the best?"

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

How does OLD GOLD do it?

What's the secret of OLD GOLD'S winning charm? The answer is very simple. Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse, heavy top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe heart-leaves give OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. That's why so many people choose them. And that's why you too can pick them . . . even in the dark.

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

Hats Cleaned and Blocked
Pipes and Tobacco
at
BILLY'S
Shoe Shining Parlors
Opposite Phi Psi House

WEIS PURE FOOD STORE
FOR QUALITY MEATS
AND GROCERIES
Our Service is Yours

L. R. WAINWRIGHT
Manager,

A REAL BAND

PHONE 51
Lewisburg, Pa.

L. ROGER WAINWRIGHT
and His BLUE BAND
OF LEWISBURG, PA.
The Snappiest Collegiate Orchestra in the East

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194

HAZING PARTIES AND WHAT HAVE YOU?

When the writer entered Bucknell three years ago this month (at the beginning of the first "Freshman Week" that was instituted), he was tremendously puzzled by a whole lot of customs, methods, and whatnot, which he found every one of the older students accepting. He was completely certain that most of them (the customs, that is) were without any foundation in intelligence or common sense, and he was sure that when he had acquired two or three years of experience and prestige he would break the lot of them. But the two or three years' experience had an unforseen effect.

We have changed our viewpoint a little since coming to Bucknell, but we have not forgotten our attitude of those first few months. Therefore in addressing the freshmen of the class of 1932, we are going to make every attempt to get away from the big-brother (you'll learn better when you're older) sort of thing, and simply try to hand over a few haphazard bits of experience which we have picked up, and which we think might be of use to the newest students of the University. If you catch us at any of the other stuff, disregard it,—and tell us about it if you happen to think of it.

There is a certain mysterious atmosphere about the campus of every boarding school, which the new students find themselves breathing from their first days at the institution. It is called "tradition," and it is something which upperclassmen and "old grads" are inclined to consider necessary to the breathing of all sons of that particular school. Freshmen often think, on the contrary, that it is nothing but a musty ratty smell of a decayed past. The writer was emphatically not an exception to this. But tradition has a value which most students recognize by the end of their first year. Moreover, recognition increases semester by semester and year by year, until the graduate of many years ago often has no greater devotion than that he pays to his alma mater, and no greater enthusiasm than that of keeping alive her oldest and most sacred traditions. This value which is seen so strongly after a few years, is too subtle to be expressed in words. The best we can say to the new student is: You will understand what this is all about, soon enough. Until then, you can best prove that you are a worthy son of Bucknell, by having patience with the customs which may seem imposing rules on the freshmen and enforcing these rules. This is by no means the most important of the traditions, but it is probably that one which most affects the new students just at this time.

Freshman rules go a long way back in the history of Bucknell. Our fathers were under them when they were in college; every upperclassman now at the University has been under them. They serve an important purpose. But this purpose is not to make serfs of the underclassmen, nor is it to pour all the students into the same mold and destroy the individuality which is so valuable to the college. Again we find it difficult to make clear to men who have not had some background of college life just what the value of these regulations is. Suffice it to say that in the end they do make better sons of Bucknell. No really game sportsmanlike first-year man is going to grumble because he is ridiculous to you, and by keeping your senses alive and trying to get into the spirit of the institution.

Tradition is made up of a great number of specific traditions, of habits of acting and thinking, and of certain attitudes, all of which serve to bind the latest sons of Alma Mater to those who came here and spent their four years here far back in the last century. We will mention first the custom of forced to undergo the unpleasantness of "parades," rollcalls, "hazing parties," and the like, which every student above the freshman year has had to experience.

There is one thing which should be warned against. That is a too blatant show of "spirit." The men who are really loyal, who really love Bucknell, do not need to demonstrate it at the top of their voices (except, of course, at football games, where all sanity is suspended). You all know the fourteen-year-old boy who, as soon as he enters high school, decks himself out in a sweater displaying the colors of the school. But who ever saw a senior wearing one?

This reminds us that you needn't lose your old loyalties just because you have added a new one. You will not be allowed to wear your high school insignia at college, but that doesn't mean that you will be expected to forget that you are a graduate of that institution. Class spirit ought to figure largely, too, and it will, especially at first. The unpleasantness of some of the treatment received from the upper classes may make it seem that your class should be drawn together against the others, but this is not an attitude which will last. Class spirit is a big thing, but college spirit is bigger.

In closing, there is not very much definite advice that we can offer. Keep your eyes and ears open; take in everything that is going on about you. Learn the college songs; they are a mighty factor in helping you to assimilate college spirit. There will be things you don't approve of, but don't criticize them yet. You may change your mind inside of a year or two.

And remember that no matter how much ability you have, no matter how important you may become, Bucknell will always be bigger than you are. When you are really big yourself, you will recognize that. Two heads are better than one. Certainly the accumulated experience and intelligence of nearly a century of college generations is better than one head, no matter how fine that one may be. That is what tradition is.

Skrip, successor to ink, makes all pens write better, and the Lifetime pen write best.
Identify the Lifetime pen by this white dot

The seal of approval

A recent survey of leading universities and colleges conclusively showed that in forty-one per cent of them Sheaffer's Lifetime® writing tools are first in favor. LIGHTEST TOUCH response, yet a nib fortified to produce easily three carbons of notes, correspondence, confidential matters, gives the Lifetime pen first place wherever pen values are carefully considered. Unconditionally guaranteed for a lifetime, the beauty and economy of these writing twins have easily earned them the seal of approval.

"Lifetime" pen, $8.75 Lady "Lifetime", $7.50 Others lower
"Lifetime" Titan oversize pencil to match, $4.25

At better stores everywhere

SHEAFFER'S
PENS · PENCILS · SKRIP
W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA

Welcome to Farley's Barber Shop.

Greetings: Farley's Barber Shop.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE SOPHISTICATED COLLEGIATE MAN
no Longer Wears a
"COLLEGIATE" SLICKER
HE USES A
COLLEGE HALL AIR COAT
During Unfavorable Weather.
J. F. PROWANT

LET'S GO!!
Where—Freshmen can gather under the single motive of good fellowship.
Where—Upperclassmen will meet and recall the pleasant experiences of former years.
Where—Most every one worth while from the "Hill" and "Sem"—"hang out."
Where—They try to treat you right.
WELCOME BACK, EVERYBODY
WAINIES
THE HOME OF HOME-MADE CANDY AND ICE CREAM
Exactly Opposite The Trust Company.

For First-Class Barbering
SEE
SCHLEPPY
West Market Street

GEO. W. O'BRIEN
Dealer in
Foreign and Domestic Groceries, Fruits, Etc.
Bell Phone 40 Lewisburg, Pa.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Bucknell Students Are Always Welcome at Our Store
We have hundreds of beautiful gifts; also greeting cards for all occasions.
We carry the White and Wyckoff Stationery. Desk sets in brass or leather.
Complete line of Jewelry for men and ladies. Books, framed mottoes, pictures, playing cards, tallys, bridge sets and prizes. We give Bucknell students special price on party favors.
Reed's Crepe paper, all colors.
Bucknell pillows with two pockets and strap for carrying, take one along when you go to the Stadium.
OTHER BUCKNELL SPECIALS
Freshmen, please come in and get acquainted.
Warriner's Gift Shop
Across from Post Office, 421 Market St.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

WE HATE TO PREACH BUT WE'D LIKE TO SAY WELL BEGUN, HALF DONE

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

DON'T FORGET TO SEND THE BUCKNELLIAN TO THE HOME FOLKS

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 20, 1928. NUMBER 2

FOOTBALL CHANCES LOOK VERY BRIGHT

Many Varsity Men Have Returned And Last Year's Frosh Stars Offer Excellent Material

The prospects for a successful 1928 football season at Bucknell University are exceedingly bright, judging from the veteran material that is available.

Foremost among the back-field candidates is Bert Ellor, a 200-pound fullback from Bloomfield, N. J. Ellor will be a junior in the fall and already has played one year on the Bucknell eleven. Last fall Ellor was stationed at a guard post.

However, when Walter Diehl, varsity Bucknell fullback for three years, was graduated in June, Coach Snavely immediately made plans for grooming Ellor for the Deihl post. Ellor will be relegated to the back-field this fall, and, judging from his high school record, the Bloomfield lad should go well at that berth.

A wealth of veteran material will be on hand for the halfback positions. Captain Eddie Halicki, of Hanover, is the most promising back-field man, as he already has starred at a halfback post for three years. Halicki expects to enjoy his best season this fall, as he will be aided by skillful coaching. When Halicki is graduated next June he will join the St. Louis Cardinals as a pitcher.

Ernie Hambacker, of Bloomfield, N. J., and Charley Jones, of Hyattsville, Md., probably will alternate at

(Continued from page 3)

Honorary Frats Open To Those Achieving

In a week or a little more the members of the freshman class are going to hear a great deal about fraternities. Rushing period will demand the greater part of the attention of every fraternity man. However, this period is given over to the interests of social fraternities only.

There are other organizations on the campus which bear the Greek-letter name. Non-collegians are generally puzzled when they are told of the different varities of these groups. Represented on the Bucknell campus are three such varities: the social, the honorary, and the professional.

The professional fraternity is an institution devoted to providing fraternal contacts with those of one's own field of study. Thus at the University of Pennsylvania, the dental student who has (or has not) already completed a course of undergraduate work, may affiliate himself with a fraternity, such as the Delta Sigma Delta, which, while being externally exactly like a social fraternity, differs from that in accepting only dental students as members.

At Bucknell, which has no important graduate professional school, the professional fraternity is in outward form more like an honorary fraternity than a social one. There are at

(Continued on page 3)

Locke Helped to Run Roxy's Big Theatre

Standing at attention at the center of the largest rug in the world, was one of the duties of "Fred" Locke, '31, during the past summer. "Fred" was a member of the rotunda staff at the Roxy Theatre, in New York City.

This remarkable rug, which is 48 feet long and 61 feet in width, weighs two and a half tons. Locke, as director of the rotunda, was stationed at its center. While at this post, he directed and aided as many of the 36,000 daily patrons as sought his service.

Jack Dempsey, Doris Kenyon, Earle Carrol, and Frank Courtney were a few of the notables that Locke met while on duty as director of the rotunda. As a member of the rotunda staff, which is the general relief staff of the theatre, he sometimes temporarily took over the work of usher, backstage and executive doorman, and elevator operator.

Locke was one of a staff of about 40, all college men. During the summer he conducted 25 of his brother Theta Us. through this theatre, the largest in the world.

Our Felix McCormick Comes Back to Coach

Felix McCormick, Bloomfield's greatest football representative, is to return to Bucknell University in the fall in the capacity of a line coach.

McCormick is a former Bucknell football luminary who starred here for four seasons. He holds the intercollegiate dropkick record for the past few years as the Bloomfield lad booted an amazing 55-yard goal against George Washington University late in November, 1925.

McCormick will finish his college course in the fall and is slated to receive his sheepskin next February. He lacks only a half year's work and when he makes this up he will be awarded his diploma.

McCormick will assist Line Coach Hangartner with the Bison's forward wall. Although a backfield man himself McCormick is well acquainted with the intricacies of the line as Coach Charley Moran used to place McCormick at a guard post from time to time.

McCormick Is Versatile

McCormick also expects to work out with the yearling eleven. Coach "Mal" Musser, of the Bucknell freshman team, will undoubtedly need the

(Continued on page 2)

Bucknell Glee Club Soon to Start Work

The Bucknell Glee Club is one of the premier musical organizations at Bucknell. It came into existence many years ago and has grown in size and excellence through the decades. It has an unbroken tradition that goes back well into the past century. Membership in this organization is highly prized among those interested in music.

Mr. Ralph Hartz, a Bucknell alumnus, has been the leader of the Glee Club for several years past, and has brought the club up to a high degree of efficiency. Mr. Hartz is an instructor in the Bucknell School of Music.

Each year the club makes extensive trips during the holidays, usually at Christmas and at Easter, and sometimes at other holiday seasons. These trips take the club to many eastern cities, where large concerts are held. Last year's club sang to scores of thousands of people.

Like all other college organizations, the Glee Club has suffered the loss of a number of singers through graduation. There will therefore be a number of places open to incoming singers who have good voices.

The same thing is true of the Women's Glee Club. Miss Grace Jenkins, instructor in voice in the Bucknell School of Music, is the leader of this organization

New B. U. Buildings Fast Being Finished

Bucknell University opened its doors Wednesday morning for the eighty-second time in its history. More than 330 frosh have enrolled. This will bring the total population of the University on the Hill to more than 1100.

The building construction has kept pace with the rapid growth of the institution in other respects and two new edifices grace the campus.

The new dormitory for women, which was entirely completed late in the spring is filled to its capacity and a new dining hall for the women students is nearing completion. This hall is one of the most modern of its kind and will be equipped to accommodate the entire feminine student body.

The finishing touches have been put on the new Botany Hall and the adjoining greenhouse. This new addition is adjacent to the Botany building.

Additions have been made to the Ziegler Infirmary and its housing capacity has been doubled as well as new medical equipment installed. Dr. Lester P. Fowle will again be the university physician.

The various fraternities have their homes in readiness for the "rushing" season and the members are anxiously awaiting the opening of college.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

FROSH GETS SAMPLE OF TOWN'S WATER

Two Hundred Soaked and Chilly Men of the Class of 1932 Run the Hose Gauntlet

A line of two hundred dashing, dodging freshman, already wringing wet, sped down the dimly-lighted street into the drenching stream from another hose, ruthlessly played upon them by the sophomores, last Wednesday evening, September 19.

Another and another fraternity house, with its inevitable hose, was passed. Urged on by a chilling breeze from the north, and ready paddles in the hands of their tormentors from the class of '31, the frosh completed the traditional aquatic tour of the town in record time.

A yelling crowd of sophomores hurried up the hill from the Chemistry building, where they had gathered, and scattered through the dormitories, hunting out the new students, who were rounded up on the quadrangle.

Unwilling cries of "31" rang out as the frosh were pressed into line. They're off—down the hill back of West College at breakneck speed. A deluge of water from the Sigma Chi garden hose showed them momentarily, then they were off again at an amazing pace. Past the "Sem" and the "Demie" house, and then the home of the Sigma Alphs, they ran.

"Water, water, everywhere, but not

(Continued from Page 4)

Dorothy Wolverton To Teach in Albania

Miss Dorothy E. Wolverton, a graduate of Sunbury High School in the class of 1924 and of Bucknell University in the class of 1928, has been selected to teach school in Albania, Europe. She will be greatly missed by the young people of the city.

In college she entered into the school activities and was a member of Zeta Gamma Tau sorority which rates highest scholastically of the college social organizations.

Intending to enter the Jewish hospital in Brooklyn, Miss Wolverton went to New York where a surprise awaited her. The teachers' agency to which she had previously applied informed her of an appointment to Albania.

As a result Miss Wolverton and Miss Gertrude Kellogg, of Texas sailed at midnight Friday on the La France for Tirana, capital of Albania.

These two American girls will be the first to teach in Kyrias Girls Institute, a school supported partially by the native government and also by a New York philanthropist.

Sailing on the same steamer on Friday were Owen Wister, novelist; Jacques Brugnon, French tennis star, and a big game hunting party.

Miss Wolverton is the daughter of Charles P. Wolverton of Sunbury. She was popular with classmates at Bucknell, and officials of the University declared she was an exceptionally keen student.

Miss Wolverton recently returned from a tour to Atlantic City, N. J., New York, and middle-western cities.

—Sunbury Item.

Mrs. Frank B. Emery Heads State Legion

Mrs. Frank B. Emery, '00, who has been very prominent for some years in the affairs of the American Legion Woman's Auxiliary in Williamsport, was elected state president of the organization at the annual convention, held in August in Uniontown.

Mrs. Emery was Gertrude W. Roos, a Lewisburg girl. She was graduated from the Bucknell Institute in 1897, and at once entered the University. The Williamsport Sun recently printed the following account of Mrs. Emery's activities in connection with the Legion:

Mrs. Frank B. Emery, of 914 High street, was elected president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Pennsylvania, at the annual convention being held in Uniontown. She defeated Mrs. J. F. Reed, of Harrisburg, by a large majority.

(Continued on page 4)

BRINGS FRENCH SOD FOR FETZER'S GRAVE

Sunbury Legion Honors Memory Of Intrepid Son Of Bucknell Who Was Killed Overseas

A tuft of the sod of France, taken from the grave of Lieutenant Colonel Wallace W. Fetzer, '04, in an American cemetery in that country, was buried under the large cannon on the G. A. R. plot in Riverview cemetery recently. Ceremonies incident to the burial scheduled to be held were cancelled due to inclement weather.

James Kerwin, past commander, and Walter L. Hetrick, finance officer of Northumberland Post No. 44 American Legion, had charge of the interment. Permission to make the burial was obtained from the cemetery company and G. A. R. A small concrete casket supplied by the O. P. Bell Cement Products Company encased the sacred sod.

A clod of earth from Riverview cemetery here was transplanted to the same cemetery in France where Col. Fetzer is buried, it was revealed today. Howard Haupt, of Sunbury, who attended the American Legion convention in Paris last year, made the transfer.

Messrs. Perwin and Hetrick, representing Post 44, decorated the graves of 200 veterans in Riverview cemetery for Memorial Day. Potted plants were placed on each grave.

(Continued on Page 4)

Soph Football Back Only Slightly Hurt

Bucknell University's football prospects were considerably brightened yesterday when Coach Carl Snavely received word from the college medico that the injury which Justin Brumbaugh, hard-hitting backfield man from Pittsburgh, sustained in practice several days ago, is not a fracture of the ankle, but only a sprain. It was announced that Brumbaugh would be able to rejoin the squad within a week. Brumbaugh is one of the players who has been conceded the best chance to fill the gap left vacant by the loss of ex-Captain "Wally" Diehl at fullback. Weighing nearly 200 pounds, fast, and heady, the Pittsburgh boy looked as though he would step into a varsity job direct from the freshman team. When he was injured in dummy practice last week, it was feared that he might be out for the season.

The squad has now had ten days of twice-a-day drilling and seems to be in fine shape. Even with daily scrimmaging the players have been fortunate enough to escape without any serious injuries. Beginning Wednesday, when the University opened and classes started, Coach Snavely has limited his practices to one a day.

With a letter-man back for every position and at least two good men trying to displace each veteran, the battle for varsity berths is waxing hot. Although Coach Snavely has not indicated who will form the first team, it seems probable, judging from th daily scrimmages, that the new team will contain new men, with some of last year's regulars warming the bench.

Albert W. Johnson Jr., Admitted to the Bar

Albert Williams Johnson Jr., son of Judge Albert W. Johnson Sr., of Lewisburg, president jurist in the United States court for the middle district of Pennsylvania, was admitted to the practice of law in Luzerne county.

He was admitted to the county court in Wilkes-Barre, with Attorney James Harris, a graduate of Bucknell and the son of John Howard Harris, for thirty years president of Bucknell University, making the motion. Attorney Harris, for years a neighbor of young Johnson in Lewisburg, maintains offices in Wilkes-Barre.

Attorney Johnson is a graduate of Bucknell University and the Dickinson Law school. He passed his state examinations in July. During his years at Bucknell Johnson was prominent in athletic and fraternity circles. He is a member of the Masonic order.

—Scranton Times.

"Moose" McCormick Remains With Army

Harry E. ("Moose") McCormick, former New York Giant outfielder, has been re-engaged to coach the Army baseball team for two more years it was announced recently by the athletic authorities at the Military Academy.

McCormick has already been coaching baseball at West Point now for three years having come directly here from Bucknell University where he had been graduate manager of athletics for six years. McCormick resigned his position at Bucknell in the fall of 1925 in order that he might sign a contract to ecoach baseball at the Army institution.

At the Army McCormick has been a decided success. He has turned out unusually successful nines in the three-year period in which he has been coaching. Among his triumphs have been three annual victories over his former college, Bucknell.

Moose and Matty

The recent signing of McCormick by the Army athletic officials recalled the colorful and checkered career of the former Giant outfielder. McCormick attended Bucknell for a

(Continued on page 4)

The Bucknell Band Needs Some New Men

The Bucknell band is an organization that has attained recognition far beyond the halls of old Bucknell. So efficiently has this organization functioned that metropolitan newspapers have commented upon its excellence and spirit time and again. Indeed, it was a Philadelphia newspaper that first printed the saying now such a favorite with Bucknell banishmen: "The spirit was there." The occasion was a game with Rutgers, which Bucknell won in a downpour of rain. And the band played through it all, encouraging and inspiring the men on the field.

The "spirit" has been present in the band ever since, and membership in this organization is something to be proud of. Also, it insures one a fine training in the playing of band music. Each year the band accompanies the football team to the principal games, and at commencement time gives the two twilight concerts, that have been such a notable feature of Bucknell commencements for many years back.

The loss of men through graduation opens places every year for new players. There will be opportunity this fall for several new men. Get into touch with the leader of the band and see if there is a possible place for you. You will be proud of your success if you make it. Membership in the band carries with it a band "B."

Frosh-Varsity Game Will Come Saturday

The annual freshman-varsity scrimmage game will be staged at the Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoon, it was announced today. Coach Snavely is anxious to send his varsity pigskin chasers through one more long scrimmage session before the game with Schuylkill is played.

Indications are that the Bison mentor will have all his men available for duty on Saturday. Now that Brumbaugh's ankle injury has been pronounced as "not serious" the entire squad is in fine physical condition. Brumbaugh may not see action in the freshmen tilt, but Coach Snavely is confident that Brumbaugh will be able to start the Schuylkill contest.

Snavely will probably start Bert Ellor, 200-pound fullback from Bloomfield, N. J., at the heavyweight post. Ellor is expected to be a whirlwind at his new position. Last fall he played on the line, but Coach Snavely thought it advisable to move the big boy to the backfield this season.

Captain "Eddie" Halicki and "Chuck" Jones will be stationed at the halfback positions. Both men are veterans, playing two years on the Bucknell eleven. Mose Quimi, the man who beat State, will be assigned to duty at the quarterback position. Mose is reported to be better than ever this year.

(Continued on page 2)

COLORFUL PARADE OPENS SCHOOL YEAR

Entire Student Body Assembles To Hear Professor W. H. Eyster Talk About Germany

The academic year officially opened this morning when the faculty and students gathered together in Commencement Hall for the annual convocation ceremony.

According to custom, the faculty, resplendent in cap and gown, marched to the auditorium through a guard of undergraduates who lined the path leading from the Chemistry Building to Old Main. According to the same custom the classes entered the auditorium in order of rank, the seniors leading.

A choir consisting of eight women and four men rendered a familiar and favorite hymn, and this was followed by a short scripture selection read by President Emory W. Hunt. The latter introduced the speaker of the day, Professor William Eyster.

The speaker appeared very colorful, as he was attired in his doctor's hood and gown. In the background sat his colleagues likewise attired. The atmosphere was strictly academic, and it was a fitting one for the address.

Professor Eyster spoke about the German universities, their history, courses of studies, social life, and present tendencies. Talking in a deliberate, conversational tone, the speaker presented an impartial panorama of the higher scholastic life of

(Continued on page 3)

Symphony Orchestra Needs a Few Players

The Bucknell Symphony Orchestra, an organization which provides an opportunity for the expression of the instrumental musical talent of the students, will be organized for the year, shortly after the beginning of college, and will have a number of openings for members of the freshman class who play acceptable instruments.

The orchestra will be in a position to consider applications for membership by those who play the violin, cello, viola, clarinet, flute, trombone, and the other instruments commonly found in the so called "concert" orchestras. Availability for membership is determined by private try-outs with the conductor, Miss Charlotte Armstrong, of the School of Music. Ability need not be especially unusual, and even those who are inclined to hold a modest view of their skill are urged to apply. The organization will probably be made larger this year, and there will be room for new players.

A meeting will be announced for some time this month, at which officers will be selected and plans for the winter completed. Following the custom of last year, the company will probably hold two short rehearsals each week, and will open the active concert season within a month

(Continued on page 4)

Pres. and Mrs. Hunt To Entertain Faculty

The faculty and administrative officers have been invited to attend the President's reception for the new members of Bucknell University faculty on Tuesday evening, September 25 at eight o'clock. The reception will be held in the home of President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt. It is expected that about one hundred guests will be present to meet the new members of the faculty. There are about ten new instructors and professors on the faculty this year, the largest number of newcomers for several years.

BUCKNELL GRADUATES UNITED IN MARRIAGE

The marriage of Ralph Walter, of Mount Carmel, son of ex-Judge Lincoln S. Walter, and Mrs. and Miss Helen Weidenhamer, of Milton, was solemnized Saturday evening, August 25, in the First Presbyterian church at Milton. The nuptial event, which was witnessed by a large company of friends and relatives, was one of the most elaborate of the season in the Milton section.—Sunbury Item.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897
Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194

FRESHMEN RULES

Bucknell, like other colleges, carefully governs the conduct of freshmen by a set of clearly-defined rules. Most of these rules have been observed for many years, having been originated by the governing bodies of the past, and are now accepted and enforced by the Senior Council.

The rules are reasonable, and every freshman must obey them to the letter. The following are the rules and customs which every new student should observe if he would avoid unpleasant engagements with Senior Council on Monday evenings. Offenders against freshmen rules in the past have been subject to great embarrassment and even to physical pain. The rules follow:

1. Freshmen must attend all mass meetings and cheering practices.
2. All Freshmen must wear skull caps with green buttons on top, and worn so that the peak touches the forehead.
3. The Freshmen cap, black ties and socks shall be worn every week-day while college is in session.
4. Freshmen must at all times salute members of the Faculty and show due respect to upper-classmen.
5. Freshmen must speak to everybody at all times.
6. Except in the company of an upper-classman, a Freshman must not be seen with a young lady before Washington's Birthday. "Fussing" is allowed at college functions and fraternity dances.
7. Freshmen shall not fuss at varsity athletic contests and shall sit in the section designated to them.
8. Freshmen must not cut across the campus or athletic field, or use the Senior Path at any time. Sophomores will not use this path on their way from chapel.
9. Freshmen are not permitted to wear sweaters between the hours of 8:00 and 4:30. Hikes, skating, and canoeing excepted. Sophomores shall not wear sweaters to classes.
10. Freshmen are not allowed to wear any high school or preparatory school insignia.
11. A Freshmen shall not be seen smoking cigarettes in public, nor is he allowed to smoke on the campus or in the halls.
12. Under-classmen are not permitted to loiter around class memorials and the entrances to the dormitories.
13. Mustaches, canes, and derbies are Senior privileges.
14. On the night of the Senior Reception every Freshman shall be in bed at nine o'clock with his shoes on.
15. Freshmen shall carry matches at all times for the convenience of the upper-classmen and Sophomores.
16. Freshmen shall be in their rooms at nine o'clock on Monday nights.
17. Whenever the President of the Institution enters or leaves a public meeting, or at an athletic contest, the entire student body will rise and remain silent until the President has been seated.
18. Except when wearing a top-coat, an overcoat, or a rain-coat, Freshmen must not put their hands in their pockets. It is permissible to put hands in the pockets of the articles named, but in all other cases, a freshman must never be seen with his hands in his pockets.

Additional rules added by Inter-class on March 10, 1927.

19. No freshman shall play pool or billiards or loaf in poolrooms.
20. Freshmen shall keep their suits buttoned at all times.
21. All freshman dinks shall be kept in presentable condition.

TAKE TIME IN JOINING A FRATERNITY

A question of grave importance that confronts every new student at Bucknell is the matter of joining a fraternity. As is explained elsewhere in this issue, there are fraternities of three sorts at Bucknell: professional, honorary, and social. This editorial has to do only with the last-named kind of fraternity—the social fraternity.

Social fraternities are exactly what the name implies: they are groups of people associated for social purposes. We use the word "social" in its broad true sense. Social fraternities are groups organized to promote friendly associations.

At Bucknell there are both local social fraternities, or societies centred wholly at Bucknell, and national fraternities which have chapters in colleges and universities, with very large total memberships, for the alumni members of the biggest fraternities sometimes number many thousands.

Like individual men and women, these individual chapters vary in character and culture and disposition. This constitutes a matter of the gravest importance to the freshman who is desirous of joining a fraternal group. It is as true in a fraternity as it is anywhere else that birds of a feather flock together. And it is also true that the new freshman will be known by the company he keeps. No matter what sort of fraternity you join, the years of college life are pretty sure to fashion you according to the pattern of the chapter with which you live. For your fraternity associations will be as close as your relationships in your own home. No matter what sort of person you are upon joining a chapter, you are almost certain to leave that chapter with its indelible stamp upon you.

It is therefore necessary to be extremely careful in making your choice of a fraternity. "Make haste slowly," is a good motto to follow in this matter. With fraternities, as with people, true character is not always apparent at first sight. Membership in the proper fraternity will prove of the greatest benefit to you. Your fellow members will help you and encourage you. They will help you to perfect your ideals. They will sustain you in the pursuit of those ideals. If you are careful and make proper choice of a fraternity, you will do much to insure your future success, not only in college, but through the years that follow college days.

Sheaffer successor to lask, makes all pens write better, and the Lifetime pen write best Identify the Lifetime pen by this white dot

Headwork

Students of America have overwhelmingly chosen Sheaffer pens and pencils as their favorites. A sure performer, always unconditionally guaranteed, free of all repair charges, Sheaffer's Lifetime® pen has been picked as the choice of forty-one per cent of America's leading universities and colleges. Its dependability means economy, genuine pleasure and the ability to produce easily three clear carbons of letters, notes, etc. And Titan is the perfect pencil companion.

"Lifetime" pen, $8.75 Lady "Lifetime", $7.50 Others lower
"Lifetime" Titan oversize pencil to match, $4.25

At better stores everywhere

SHEAFFER'S
PENS · PENCILS · SKRIP
W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA

Greetings: Farley's Barber Shop.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

GEO. W. O'BRIEN
Dealer in
Foreign and Domestic Groceries, Fruits, Etc.
Bell Phone 40 Lewisburg, Pa.

THE SOPHISTICATED COLLEGIATE MAN
No Longer Wears a
"COLLEGIATE" SLICKER
HE USES A
COLLEGE HALL AIR COAT
During Unfavorable Weather.
J. F. PROWANT

EDDIE HOFFMAN
and his
ORCHESTRA
Collegiate Trained Collegiate Liked
FOR DATES CALL
EDDIE HOFFMAN
Phi Psi House
Phone, Lewisburg 153

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

"Pottsville" Jones Again in Good Shape

An indication that the Bucknell football eleven has a star linesman in the making became evident here this week when "Pottsville" Jones, playing with the varsity team, scintillated on the defence with his excellent guarding and tackling.

Jones should be a tower of strength this fall on the line, as he is now an experienced linesman. Last fall he was severely handicapped because of two severely sprained ankles, but now he has sufficiently recovered from the injury and is playing the best game of his career.

Jones worked faithfully all summer on the state highway and he reported to Snavely in tip top form. He is powerfully built and amazingly fast.

Jones came to Lewisburg two weeks ago sporting a "Sing Sing Haircut." In other words Jones has been relieved of all his surplus hair. Many laugh when they see him sporting such an odd haircut, but Jones tells us that he can play football with his hair entirely shorn.

Jones is 19 years old, weighs 220 pounds, and stands five feet ten inches in height. Despite his excessive weight Jones is exceptionally fast, and starred on the Bucknell track team last spring.

OUR FELIX McCORMICK COMES BACK TO COACH

(Continued from page 1)

aid of at least one assistant and McCormick will be that man.

If McCormick does not qualify for graduation next February he will remain at Bucknell until June. In that case the "Bloomfield Flash" will be eligible to play baseball as he has only played with the diamond nine for three seasons. However, he played four years of football so that eliminates him from the grid game.

McCormick is twenty-two years old, weighs 185 pounds and is five feet nine inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Bloomfield High School where he was an all-around athlete.

"Wally" Diehl, '28, Now a Yellowjacket

The Philadelphia Public Ledger stated in its Sunday edition that Walter Diehl, captain of the 1927 Bisons, had been signed to play professional football with the Frankford Yellowjackets.

"Ten of last year's veterans have been retained," the Ledger stated. "Of the new players, only two have been announced. These are "Wally" Diehl, former captain and star back at Bucknell, and Hansen, Minnesota's great guard, who was named on Knute Rockne's All-American team last season.

"Diehl unquestionably was one of the best of the college crop last year. Physically he has everything a football player requires in addition an abundant supply of courage.

"Without signing any other players, Frankford could place this team in the field: ends, Coach Weir, and Kassel; tackles, Bohanan and Filak; guards, Hansen and Kostos; center, Maxwell; backs, Homan, Rogers, Mercer and Diehl."

The Kostos referred to in the foregoing paragraph is "Tony" Kostos, former all-around athlete at Mt. Carmel high, and captain of Bucknell University's 1925 eleven. He finished the 1927 season with the Yellowjackets.—Lewisburg Journal.

FROSH-VARSITY GAME WILL COME SATURDAY

(Continued from Page 1)

Kunstas, Hambacker, and Linkfield will also be seen in action Saturday. Hambacker has shown enough stuff recently to warrant him a permanent berth on the team.

"Lefty" James and Carl Truxel will be the ends, with "Beanie" Klosterman and "Lou" Woodring in reserve. Ammerman and Suppy will also break into the line-up at a wing post.

Bollinger and Woerner will be seen in action at the tackle posts with "Pottsville" Jones and "Tex" Walls stationed at the guard positions. Mitchell will round out the line by playing at the center post.

Welcome to Farley's Barber Shop.

Attention, Tennis Men

A college tennis tournament will be staged at the University Courts beginning Monday afternoon to determine the prospects for next spring's court squad.

Professor Ballentine who will coach the 1929 tennis team, is anxious to have on hand all those who intend to try out for the varsity team in the spring.

Freshmen will be eligible for varsity tennis competition. All men who desire to enter this tournament are advised to hand their names to Coach Ballentine—Room M-3. All freshmen out.

HONORARY FRATS OPEN TO THOSE ACHIEVING

(Continued from Page 1)

present two such on the campus: the Sigma Tau Delta professional English fraternity, and the Sigma Beta Chi professional chemical fraternity. These hold regular meetings at which papers of interest to students pursuing these particular lines of work are read. Speakers are brought to the campus and similar activities engaged in. Sigma Tau Delta, being a national organization, is governed by the roles of the entire body. It limits its membership to students majoring in English who have kept their work up to certain standards and who have published a certain minimum of original material. Sigma Beta Chi accepts only students who are majoring in chemistry or chemical engineering.

The honorary fraternities are organized largely in connection with various extra-curricular activities, and exist for the purpose of distinguishing and giving recognition to the student who had achieved success in these activities. Thus we have at Bucknell Pi Delta Epsilon, the fraternity of campus journalists, Phi Mu Alpha, musical fraternity, Pi Mu Epsilon, mathematics fraternity, Tau Kappa Alpha, debating fraternity, and a number of others.

COLORFUL PARADE OPENS SCHOOL YEAR

(Continued from Page 1)

Germany. Starting back in the Middle Ages, he traced the development of the university system of Germany down to the present day. At first the universities were patterned after the famous one at Paris, but later they took on an individuality of their own. One of the finest things in the present system is that the professor is free to express his own views, and to use whatever methods he thinks best in dealing with his subject. The professor is an authority in his field and enjoys much power and social prestige.

As in America, the student may choose between a University in a large city or in a small town. The latter is preferable for those wishing a more abundant social life, while the former affords a finer opportunity for close application to work. In the large city the student lives among picturesque and historic castles, large libraries, and museums. Profiting by the German division of the scholastic year, some students attend the universities in the cities during the winter term and the others during the oppressive summer season.

In Germany the student is more free to do as he desires than in America. This freedom is taken advantage of by those less inclined to study, as these individuals employ tutors and study only at examination times.

Germany, said the speaker, is a land of old men; America is the land of youth. Here one can make one's position; there one's position is determined. It is futile for the lower classes to dream of a university education.

The World War was exceedingly destructive to the universities. Many of the professors and students left the class room for the battle field, never to return. Many of those who did return lost their interest in higher education. Some were forced to leave because of economic conditions. Before the war the government appropriation to education exceeded that to the church. After the war conditions were reversed. The ministry of education demanded the strictest economy. Due to the instability of the currency, many professors and students became paupers. Reduced to beggary, Germany's greatest botanist committed suicide.

According to Professor Eyster, the German students eat too much. He scored a decided hit with his audience when the professor said that beer gardens in Germany were about as frequent as filling stations in America.

Germany's whole attitude toward America is a cordial one. She admired America's men and equipment in the war. As an American scientist, Professor Eyster was given a very hearty welcome by the Germans.

In concluding his address the speaker told his audience that they were attending a university of which they might well be proud because of its curriculum, background, and natural beauty.

At the conclusion of the address Miss Melrose surprised "Prexy" Hunt by singing a song written about him. At the conclusion of the song he humorously denied that he "had anything to do with it." However, he said that Professors Bartol, Stolz, and Nelson Davis were responsible for it.

FOOTBALL CHANCES LOOK VERY BRIGHT

(Continued from page 1)

the other halfback position. Ben Kupstas, of Hanover, also will try out for a halfback post.

Mose Quinn, of Memphis, Tenn., again will be stationed at the quarterback position. This will be Quinn's third year of varsity competition, he having already served for two grid-iron campaigns at Bucknell. Quinn was a Bucknell hero last year, the Southern lad beating Penn State in the final minute of play by running seventy-five yards for a touchdown.

Coach Snavely is highly elated over his line prospects. From end to end the Lewisburg mentor plans on stationing men who already have played varsity football last fall. At left end will be George James, of New Cumberland, Pa. James played with the 1927 team at a wing post. He formerly starred at Bellefonte Academy when Snavely was football coach at that institution.

Carl Truxel, of Youngwood, Pa., probably will qualify for the right wing position. Truxel also won his varsity insignia in football last autumn. Other wing candidates are Bernard Klosterman, of Covington, Ky., and Lou Woodring, of Reynoldsville.

Veteran performers will be assigned duty at the two tackle berths. Kirby Walls, of Amarillo, Texas, will be seen at one tackle position while Erwin Woerner, of Newark, N. J., will guard the other. The Wadsworth brothers, Welland and Henry, from McGraw, N. Y., will be strong aspirants for a tackle job. Welland Wadsworth won his varsity "B" in football last fall.

"Pottsville" Jones, of Llewelyn, Pa., probably the most colorful member of the 1927 Bucknell eleven, looms as the best guard seen at the Lewisburg institution in years. Last year he was handicapped by two severely sprained [illegible]

Read The Bucknellian

OLD GOLD bats 1000% as Hornsby takes the Blindfold cigarette test

ROGERS HORNSBY . . . capable manager of the Boston Braves . . . captain of the 1927 New York Giants . . . manager of the 1926 St. Louis Cardinals, who won the World's Series.

MR. HORNSBY was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked . . . "Which one do you like best?"

"They say 'there's not a cough in a carload' of OLD GOLDS.

"But I can tell you there's a home-run hit in every cool mouthful.

"For no other cigarette, of the four leading brands in the blindfold test, could compare with OLD GOLDS for pure pleasure to taste, tongue and throat."

Rogers Hornsby

What gives OLD GOLD this winning charm?

Here is the answer, in three words...heart-leaf tobacco. No coarse, heavy top-leaves of the tobacco plant...for they irritate the throat. No withered ground-leaves...for they are lacking in aroma. Only the cool and fragrant heart-leaves . . . golden ripe . . . can give OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. That's why you can tell them in the dark.

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

The great grand-daddy of your Fish Brand Slicker

IT WAS made in 1836—a husky piece of oilskin built to fit the broad back of a Grand Banks fisherman.

The modern descendants of these old-time slickers are college bred, sophisticated. But under their stylish exterior is the old, dependable stuff.

The "Varsity" model is big and roomy, keeps your legs dry right down to the ankles. Your choice of colors and styles—buttons or buckles—strap-collar or plain.

Get a Tower's Fish Brand Slicker—"The Rainy Day Pal"—and be ready for rain. A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Mass.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

COLLEGE MEN! Have your shoes repaired while you wait at
JOSEPH KIFOLO'S
SHOE SHINING PARLOR
Near the Post Office—Just across the R. R.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

Ward, The Barber

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

While in Milton Don't Forget to Visit
The Excellent Candy Shoppe
TRY OUR
Home-Made Candies
FRESH DAILY
Also Have TOAST-WICHES

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.
On the Quadrangle

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Reblocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

That Coveted Pledge Pin
Must wait a few weeks before it can be displayed. Until that time when your feet are happily tucked away under the fraternity boarding table, the logical place to eat is at the College Inn Cafeteria. Prices are reasonable, and the variety of meals is made to suit every purse and appetite.

"MOOSE" McCORMICK REMAINS WITH ARMY

(Continued from Page 1)

period of four years and was graduated from that institution. He was a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity and had as one of his frat brothers while attending college, the late Christy Mathewson. Mathewson left Bucknell before McCormick's graduation and by the time that the latter joined the Giants, Christy was already a star of the first order.

At Bucknell McCormick was an all around athlete. He played baseball, football, and basketball all during his career. He shone especially in the gridiron. During the early years of the twentieth century McCormick was known as an elusive, dashing, and hard-plunging halfback.

He played baseball at Bucknell for four years at the initial sack. He became famously known in college circles as a terrific batter but an inconsistent fielder.

When he joined the Giants in 1905 McGraw relegated McCormick to the outfield.

Here he was a failure from the start. However, the Bucknell boy could hit harder than any member of the Giants. Therefore McGraw kept McCormick for almost ten years.

McCormick a Hitter

Many stories are told about McCormick's hitting and fielding. One in particular especially stands out. The Giants were playing the Phillies in a contest that took place in the early summer of 1910. The game was staged at the Polo Grounds. At the beginning of the ninth inning the Giants were leading by a 1-0 score.

The Phillies filled the bases with two out. McCormick was in center field for the Giants, having been placed there in the fifth inning after pinch hitting. Cravath, of the Phils, sent an easy fly to McCormick which the latter ingloriously dropped. Two runs scored. The following batter was easily retired on an infield grounder.

McCormick approached the dugout with a nonchalant expression on his face. He drew near to the water bucket and was just going to take a drink when Manager McGrow shouted to him:

"Hands off. That's for baseball players, not bums."

McCormick became indignant, but said nothing. After two men were retired Larry Doyle drew a pass. McCormick then redeemed himself by driving out a long home run winning the game by a 3-2 score.

Fined by McGraw

They tell another story about the greatest pinch hitter of all time. In a game with the Boston Braves, McGraw sent McCormick up to pinch hit, ordering the latter to bunt. "Moose" disobeyed orders and swung with all his strength. He hit a home run which won the game. The result of this action was a fine of $50 bestowed on McCormick by McGraw for disobeying orders.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA NEEDS A FEW PLAYERS

(Continued from page 1)

or two. Six concerts were presented last season, several of them out of town, and the orchestra also broadcast two programs from the local station, WJBU.

Various forms of recognition are given members of the organization. Players of stringed instruments who are studying their art at the School of Music, will be given scholastic credit for the work done with the Orchestra. No charge is made for the experience and instruction obtained in the course of holding membership. The question of dues will be voted upon by the members of the organization either at or shortly after the first meeting of the year.

Quick on the trigger!

Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan PENS-PENCILS

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

BRINGS FRENCH SOD FOR FETZER'S GRAVE

(Continued from Page 1)

Assisting were the Boy Scouts of St. John's Lutheran church. Fourteen veterans of the late war are interred in the local cemetery.

—Sunbury Item.

Lieutenant Colonel Wallace W. Fetzer was a member of the class of 1904. He was a star athlete, being the premier Bucknell distance runner of his time. He never lost a race in intercollegiate contests. The victory that brought him the most fame was probably that over the noted Carlisle Indian School runner, Humming Bird. Bucknell needed that victory in order to win the meet. When Fetzer strode toward the starting mark, the team captain placed his hand on Fetzer's shoulder. "We need this race. We expect you to win it, Fetz," he said.

Fetzer looked up, with a quiet smile, and said: "This is my Waterloo"—and paused. Then he added: "But I am Wellington." There was nothing boastful about that remark. It merely showed the man's quiet confidence in himself. He believed in himself and he had supreme control of himself, so that his muscles would obey his mind no matter how wearied they were.

Fetzer not only won the race, but ran Humming Bird off his feet. The race saved the day, and Bucknell won the meet by two or three points.

Fetzer's future career was like that race. He went ahead surely and rapidly. He had climbed to a lieutenant colonel when he was killed.

MRS. FRANK B. EMERY HEADS STATE LEGION

(Continued from Page 1)

Mrs. Emery has long been active in Legion Auxiliary affairs. During the war, she served overseas with the Young Men's Christian Association canteen service and returned to this country after the signing of the armistice.

Upon the organization of the Legion Auxiliary of Garret Cochran Post No. 1, in this city, Mrs. Emery became affiliated with it and played a prominent part in its formation. She served in various capacities until 1923, when she was elected president, in which office she served two terms.

In 1925, Mrs. Emery was chairman of the Four-County Council, a women's organization affiliated with the American Legion, and in 1926-27 she was second vice-president of the State Auxiliary. During 1927-28, she held the position of first vice president and was instrumental in organizing a number of new auxiliaries in her territory.

Outstanding among her activities locally was the chairmanship of the annual Poppy Day in 1925, 1926, and 1927. These were among the most successful Poppy Day sales ever held and netted large sums for the disabled veterans.

Philip M. Reilly, who was graduated last June from Bucknell, will enter the Cleveland Seminary this fall, to continue his studies. Mr. Reilly's home address was Central Aguirre, Porto Rico.

Welcome to Farley's Barber Shop.

FROSH GET SAMPLE OF TOWN'S WATER

(Continued from page 1)

a drop to drink," unless the unlucky frosh stumbled in front of a squirting hose. "Water!" they cried, and water they got. And more water.

Out of the darkness they came, into the well-lighted Market street. One freshman after another was singled out to do the bidding of their ingenious tormentors. Some demonstrated their ability to ascend the lampposts, while many others proposed to the interested maidens lining the curb.

Then they were off again on their trip past the last of the fourteen fraternity houses. They rounded the corner at the T. U. O. house and sprinted down the home stretch. A superfluous stream of water from the Beta Kappa hose and the Water Parade was ended.

Wendell Oliver Hamm, ex-'30, is spending a week with his brothers at the T. U. O. house, before his work at Cornell begins this fall. Hamm is studying mechanical engineering.

Greetings: Farley's Barber Shop.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Newspapers and Magazines, Stationery, Tobacco and Cigars,
J. A. FEGLEY

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies, Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Welcome Back

SENIORS!
JUNIORS!
SOPHOMORES!

We hope you enjoyed your vacation and feel sure you are prepared to undergo another successful year at
"DEAR OLD BUCKNELL"
FRESHMEN
We know you will like your new environment. We wish you the best of success.
When in Milton and you desire to wait for someone, write a letter, use the telephone, cash a check, etc., our store is always at your service.

PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

The Orpheum
WEEK OF SEPTEMBER 24
German Cast in
"Strange Case of Capt. Rampier"
RAMON NOVARRO in
"Across to Singapore"
BILLIE DOVE in
"Heart of a Follies Girl"
Karl Dane and George K. Arthur in "DETECTIVES"
CHARLIE MURRAY in
"The Head Man"

AUTO BUS SERVICE
Saturdays, Evenings and Holidays
O. I. LIDDICK 7th and Market

Standard Student

Buy Now!
Now is the time to buy a slicker—come here for it and get the Standard Student—it gives fine wear for the money and looks good, too.
Standard Student Slicker
Ask for a slicker with this label
at
Montgomery & Co.

WELCOME '32
We are glad to see you, and know you will be happy when you see our New Fall styles.
Come in and look them over.
Lehman's Shoe Store
223 Market Street Lewisburg, Pa.

Freshmen! Start Saving Now
SEE W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY ATHLETIC OUTFITTER"
For good Gym Outfits at Special Sale Prices.
$1.00 Heavy Ribbed Gym Shirt.... 75c
$1.00 White Gym Pants..... 75c
Bike Athletic Supporter..... 50c
$2.00
Our Special Price on this Equipment for the Opening Weeks of School is $1.50.
OTHER SPECIALS
$1.50 Heavy Sweat Shirts..... $1.25
$2.50 Genuine Crepe Gym Shoes..... $2.00
$1.00 Heavy Wool Socks..... 75c
Big line of Athletic Goods, College and Frat Pennants, Banners, Stationery, Etc.
424-426 Market St. (immediately East of Post Office)
LEWISBURG, PA.

HERMAN & LEISER
Now Showing a Large Assortment of
NEW FALL DRESSES
at
$5.00, $10.00, and $15.00 each.
HERMAN & LEISER

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

TURN OUT TO CHEER THE ORANGE AND BLUE TO A WIN ON SATURDAY

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

BUCKNELL PLAYS SCHUYLKILL SATURDAY; SEE YOU AT THE GAME!

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1928. NUMBER 3

B. U. MAN TO PLAY AGAINST BROTHER IN GAME SATURDAY

"Lefty" James to Face Joseph When Snavelymen Oppose Schuylkill Gridders

The famous brother-against-brother act, which has been a feature in American athletics since the advent of baseball and football, will be presented at the Bucknell Stadium on Saturday when Coach Snavely's Thundering Herd lines up against the Schuylkill College gridders.

For the first time in the history of athletics at Bucknell two brothers will play opposite each other when the opening whistle blows. George Kepford James, Coach Snavely's star wingman will be facing his brother Joseph James, who will be assigned to an end berth on the Reading squad.

As fate or perhaps fortune would have it, James of Bucknell will be playing left end while his brother will perform at the right wing post. Consequently when the game starts each man will be in active competition with the other.

Reports from the Schuylkill camp say that the younger James is rapidly developing into a fine defensive wingman. Under the tutelage of "Doggy" Julian, former Bucknell football and baseball star, young Joe James should furnish plenty of trouble for his brother on Saturday.

The Schuylkill James is only a freshman at the Reading college, while his versatile brother is starting his third year at Bucknell. The Bucknell boy has been a member of the varsity squad now for two years. He played on the yearling eleven during his freshman year at Bucknell at the wing post. He captained the team that fall.

Another brother-against-brother act may be staged Saturday as two members of the famous Kostos family will be among those present on the opposing teams. Frank Kostos of Bucknell is an emergency end while his brother at Schuylkill is a star wingman on "Doggy" Julian's aggregation. Last fall, when only a junior, Kostos captained the varsity eleven at the Reading institution.

BEN KUPSTAS LOST TO VARSITY TEAM BY SUMMER INJURY

Bison Warrior Hurled to Ground When Roller-coaster Car Jumps From Track

The Bucknell football prospects received a severe jolt today when it was learned that Ben Kupstas of Hanover Township may never play football again this year. Kupstas, who is a senior, was expected to qualify for a backfield berth this fall. He has been a member of the varsity squad for the past two years and has seen active service in the backfield.

However, Coach Snavely announced that he did not intend to use Kupstas this year because of a serious accident that befell the Hanover lad during the early part of the summer.

Indeed Kupstas was a victim of an unusual misfortune. Early in July Kupstas, seeking an evening of thrills, visited San Soucci Park in Wilkes-Barre. The Bucknell boy is particularly fond of roller coasters and consequently he spent the best part of the evening enjoying the thrills of the dips.

A Long Dive

A startling happening occurred that transformed Kupstas' joy into almost a tragedy. Kupstas attempted to change seats when the car was in motion . It struck a curve and he was thrown out. Many thought he had been killed. A doctor was summoned and Kupstas was removed for medical treatment. It was first announced that he had suffered a fractured skull and several internal injuries. The Associated Press sent out wire dispatches describing the condition of Kupstas as critical.

However, Kupstas possessed a stout heart and a powerful body. He electrified his friends by appearing

(Continued on page 8)

One Week Rushing Is Council's Decree

Student council changed the intensive rushing period from 10 days to seven, at its meeting Monday night, September 24. The name of the lower council was officially changed to the "Senior Tribunal."

Clyde Bailey, '29, was elected secretary of the body, and Eugene Mirarchi, '29, was chosen student representative on the athletic council.

President Emory W. Hunt announced that fraternities will be held responsible for the keeping of the regulation banning automobiles, on the part of their members. Students convicted of violating this rule will be dropped from college, said the President.

L'AGENDA STAFF PLANS TO FEATURE CAMPUS PICTURES

Bucknell Scenes in Year Book To Be Finished in Duotone; Other Changes Planned

Wilbur Wentz, editor-in-chief of the 1930 L'Agenda called a meeting of his newly-appointed staff on Friday, September 21, to discuss new ideas for the coming year book. The campus pictures are to be made a special feature, being duotone and very high grade. The modesty of the junior class was demonstrated by the practically unanimous approval of the suggestion to cut out all flattering biographies, which have been a source of amusement to students of other classes in the past. Other suggestions were discussed and the staff members are striving diligently to make this number the best L'Agenda in years.

The members of the staff are as follows:

Athletic Editor, J. W. McElligot; Photography Editor, John Bower; Music School Editor, Ruth Evans; Associate Editors, Virginia Smoot, Robert Barton; Business Assistants, Wilson Rise, F. C. Moerschbacher, Lee Wilson, and M. W. Edwards.

Sororities

Pi Beta Phi, Esther Keim; Delta Delta Delta, Elizabeth Figner; Kappa Delta, Louise Reinhart; Alpha Chi Omega, Helen Bell; Phi Mu, Bertha Gaventa; Zeta Gamma Tau, Nan Lee Thomas; Sigma Sigma Delta, Ruth Wentworth; Non-sorority, Katherine Leach.

Fraternities

Phi Kappa Psi, Joseph Gilmore; Sigma Chi, Lincoln Walter; Phi Gamma Delta, F. C. Allen; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Lory Davis; Kappa Sigma, E. W. Hepler; Delta Sigma, William Sorter; Lambda Chi Alpha, L. C. Wermuth; Kappa Delta Rho, Edward Yawars; Alpha Chi Mu, John Feaster; Theta Upsilon Omega, Gordon Adams; Kappa Gamma, Herman Steddard; Beta Kappa, Harry Benford; Phi Lambda Theta, W. C. Emmitt; Non-fraternity, L. N. Pazienza.

Guy Payne Picks Up Wonderful Bargain

Guy Payne has purchased a new car! It's a 1919 model Franklin sedan. Students will remember that last year Guy had in his possession a Ford, which he had purchased for $35. Being of a very religious nature, Guy was trying to serve the Lord by lending his Ford to "Red" Bahr, a Bucknell theological student, in order that the latter might go to and from his church in the country. During one of these trips "Red" wrecked the Ford. But optomistic Guy had an idea that this ford could still be sold. So he began a search for a buyer. And lo! he found one who offered him $10. By paying $15 in addition, making a total of $25, Guy purchased the Franklin sedan.

He wishes to tell the student body that the Franklin is now ready to take passengers to and from Bucknell football games. Come early and avoid the rush.

Lost

Elgin watch, chain with Sigma Tau Delta charm. Reward for return. H. R. Warfel.

Scholarship Averages Give Honors To Alpha Chi Mu and Zeta Gamma Tau

The scholarship averages for the second semester of the college year 1927-1928 are as follows:

	No. Men	Average Men	No. Women	Average Women	Total No.	Class Average
Freshmen	252	72.4	116	78.34	368	74.28
Sophomores	145	78.38	108	77.97	253	75.73
Juniors	122	75.65	73	79.46	195	77.08
Seniors	116	79.89	102	82.55	218	80.92
College Totals	635	74.77	399	79.41	1034	76.88

The scholarship averages for the second semester of the college year 1927-1928 for the fraternity groups, not including pledges and non-fraternity groups, are as follows:

Men's Fraternities

Alpha Chi Mu	82.90
Theta Upsilon Omega	78.57
Delta Sigma	77.71
Kappa Gamma	77.55
Phi Lambda Theta	76.57
Kappa Delta Rho	76.19
Lambda Chi Alpha	75.15
Phi Kappa Psi	75.05
Phi Gamma Delta	73.44
Kappa Sigma	73.34
Beta Kappa	72.82
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	72.47
Sigma Chi	71.54
All fraternity men	75.51
Non-fraternity men	73.70

Women's Fraternities

Zeta Gamma Tau	83.06
Alpha Chi Omega	82.81
Delta Delta Delta	81.05
Phi Mu	80.27
Pi Beta Phi	80.03
Kappa Delta	77.98
All fraternity women	80.53
Sigma Sigma Delta	80.53
Non-fraternity women	77.88
All non-fraternity women	78.31
Average of men of sophomore, junior, senior classes	76.33
Average of women of sophomore, junior, senior classes	79.85
Average of men and women of sophomore, junior, senior classes	77.82

It should be noted that the averages of the fraternity, and non-fraternity groups are based upon the averages of the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. This method is adopted because no freshman is permitted to be a member of a fraternity.

BUCKNELL VARSITY WINS 24-0 OVER FRESHMEN ELEVEN

Heavy Yearling Squad Holds Bison Warriors Scoreless During First Half

After being held scoreless in the first half, the Bucknell varsity eleven came back strong in the last two periods to gain an easy 24-0 win over the Bison yearling team last Saturday afternoon at the Memorial Stadium.

Coach Carl Snavely employed three elevens during the game and the yearling backs found it difficult to gain through the forward walls of the varsity team's defenses.

For the first time this season Snavely sent a lineup of varsity men on the field which indicated the probable choice of the opening game. All three teams revealed exceptional offensive and defensive power, but the first team sent in was probable the most formidable.

Captain Eddie Halicki was stationed at one of the halfback positions while Charley Jones was at the other. Mose Quinn was at the quarterback post barking signals with big Bert Ellor at the fullback berth.

The line was composed of the following men: ends, James, and Wadsworth; tackles, Bollinger and Woerner; guards, Lobel and T. Jones; and center, Mitchell.

Freshman End Stars

The freshmen gridders were unusually successful in holding their rivals in check during the first half due to the brilliant line play of Stonebracker. The freshman star, playing left end, was in almost every play and contributed several deadly tackles that stopped the varsity backs in their tracks.

However, greater weight and experience ultimately triumphed and consequently the losers were forced to give way to the hard plunging varsity backfield men early in the third quarter.

Mose Quinn tallied the first touchdown of the game when he romped 40 yards for a score during the early part of the third period. Captain Eddie Halicki promptly added another point when his educated toe

(Continued on page 8)

MRS. STEESE TO HEAD LEGION AUXILIARY

Mrs. Ruth Steese, who has been teaching a few classes n the University the past year or two, has recently been elected president of the Five County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary. The meeting at which she was chosen was held in her home town, Mifflinburg. Mrs. Steese has been a very active worker in the Legion Auxiliary.

BUCKNELL PLANS TO STAGE THIRD ED. CONFERENCE

Many Noted Speakers to Appear Upon Program in Two Day Education Conference

Bucknell University will hold its third annual Educational Conference at Lewisburg, on Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20, thus bringing to the campus prominent educators, and presenting valuable opportunities to both the student body and the teachers from the surrounding country.

This year the general session of the conference will begin Friday afternoon at two o'clock. President Emory W. Hunt will preside. The keynote of the conference will be struck by the two main speakers of the afternoon, Dr. David A. Robertson, of the American Council on Education, and Dr. Charles C. Fries, professor of English at the University of Michigan. Both men are well known in their fields, and come to the campus with the reputation of being good speakers.

The sectional meetings, which will begin Friday afternoon at four o'clock have able leaders. Dr. Harry A. Sprague, principal of the Montclair Teachers' College, at Montclair, N. J., will direct the teacher training program. The senior high schools group will be addressed by Joseph Pudenbaugh, principal of the Lock Haven High School. Dr. Phillip W. L. Cox, professor of secondary education, New York University, will be heard by those seeking information concerning junior high schools.

To the list of excellent speakers already named may be added the name of one of the important men who will speak in the evening session. Those attending this general meeting may look forward to a valuable message from Dr. G. F. Learned, of the Carnegie Foundation.

Saturday morning, beginning at nine o'clock, has been set aside for the subject conference. The list this year will include English, mathematics, science, social science, religious education, Latin, modern language, and health.

While the annual conferences are not planned essentially for the college education student, invaluable aids may be had, if this particular group on the campus were but to realize it.

HELEN BELL CHOSEN

Helen E. Bell, '30, was appointed assistant managing editor of the Bucknellian this week to fill the position left vacant by the resignation of Wilbur Wentz, '30, who finds that his duties as editor-in-chief of this year's L'Agenda promise to fill all of his spare time.

Orchestra Members Elect New Officers

At the first meeting of the Bucknell Symphony Orchestra, held at the School of Music Thursday afternoon, September 20, the following officers were elected:

President, Margaret Wallace, '29; Vice President, Robert L. Lyon, '29; Secretary, Grace Roberts, '30; Treasurer, Louise Reinhart, '30; Librarian, John Robertson, '31. Eugene Klingler, '29, was appointed manager by the director.

The organization has had a splendid response from the new students, a large number of musicians putting in appearance for rehearsal.

DR. REIMER, '95, ELECTED TO HEAD CLARION NORMAL

Former Bucknell Instructor Gets Position Left Vacant By Dr. Steele, '08

Another Bucknell man was added to the list of presidents of Pennsylvania State teachers colleges, when Dr. G. C. L. Riemer, '95, was elected head of the Clarion Normal during the summer. He began his duties at the opening of the fall term.

Dr. Riemer is the father of Hugo and Grier Riemer, both of whom were at Bucknell last year. Professor Riemer is himself a Bucknell graduate and former teacher. He was an instructor at Bucknell for nine years, and later, after studying at Harvard and Leipsic, became a professor. He was in charge of the work in modern language.

He left Bucknell to join the State Department of Education, as expert in modern language. Later he was principal of the Bloomsburg State Teachers' College. Now he goes to head the Clarion school.

His predecessor there was also a Bucknell man, Dr. Robert M. Steele, 1908, who left Clarion to assume the presidency of the California State Normal School.

Another Bucknell man heading a Pennsylvania State teachers' college is Ezra Lehman, '99, who has been president of the Shippensburg Normal for many years.

Probably our most distinguished normal college head was the late Dr. George Morris Phillips, who made the West Chester Normal such a successful institution. He was graduated from Bucknell in 1871, and was for some years professor of mathematics at Bucknell. Later he was chosen for the presidency of Bucknell, but did not accept the appointment. Dr. Phillips was very widely known in educational circles, and was responsible for the drafting of the present school code of Pennsylvania.

B. U. Grid Season To Open Saturday

The Bucknell University football team will usher in the 1928 football season Saturday afternoon at the Memorial Stadium, where they are scheduled to line up against Coach "Doggy" Julian's Schuylkill College gridmen.

Julian, a former Bucknell athlete, is said to have moulded a machine that will furnish plenty of opposition for the Snavely-coached troops. Last spring, Albright College merged with Schuylkill, so consequently members of both colleges will be available for duty on Saturday.

The Schuylkill game is one of the five games that will be staged on home soil. Lafayette, Lehigh, Dickinson, and Temple are the other college teams that will visit Lewisburg to play the Bisons.

Coaches Working Hard

With the game only a few days away Coach Snavely is sending his men through intensive workouts and drills every afternoon at the North field. Line Coach "Hank" Hangartner is also hard at work with his line candidates, and expects to produce a forward wall that will surpass even the powerful one constructed last year.

NEW INSTRUCTORS GIVEN RECEPTION IN "PREXY'S" HOME

This Year's Newcomers Exceed The Number of Additions In Previous Years

Despite the threat of rain, the presidential manor was filled to overflowing last Tuesday night with faculty members, faculty wives, and members of the college administration who had accepted the invitation of President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt to meet the new members of the faculty. This year's newcomers exceed in number the new teachers of any recent year, and the receiving line was consequently a long one.

President and Mrs. Hunt, at the head of the line, greeted all comers and introduced them to Professor and Mrs. C. H. Richardson, who passed them on to Professor and Mrs. W. H. Eyster. Others in the line were Professor and Mrs. H. L. Childs, Professor R. F. Hamblin, Associate Professor J. H. Eisenhauer, Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff, Instructor B. S. Hollinshead and Mrs. Hollinshead, Instructor C. J. Martz and Mrs. Martz, Instructor Majel Brooks, Instructor Annetta Stainton, Instructor J. F. Farnsworth, Instructor Aldus Foelsanger, Assistant B. S. Harkless and Mrs. Harkless, all of the College, with Instructor Helen Tollefson of the School of Music, and Alumni Secretary A. G. Stoughton, with Mrs. Stoughton.

Commodious though the President's house is, it was well packed by the several scores of faculty folks who had come to greet the newcomers. There was no formal program of any sort. Those present gathered in little groups to discuss, for the most part, the vacation just ended. There was much to discuss. A number of faculty members had been abroad during the summer. Some had been in Canada. Others had been in far away parts of the country, and still others, like Professor and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, had just returned from a sojourn at a distant college. Some had spent their summers close to nature, camping in tent or cabin. Altogether, there was much to talk

(continued on page 8)

PROF. W. COLEMAN DELIVERS ADDRESS TO CANADIAN CLUB

Challenges Canada To Foster No Thot of Isolation: Stress On Internationalism

The Daily Transcript, of Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada, printed the following article late in August, concerning our Professor William H. Coleman, who, it appears, is better known above the border by his middle name, Harold. The item was reprinted in the Saturday News, and is as follows:

Professor Harold Coleman, son of Dr. H. H. Coleman, of this city, was the speaker at the weekly luncheon of the Rotary Club today. Professor Coleman, who is professor of English at Bucknell University, Lewisburg, Pa., spoke on the value of service clubs throughout the world. He is past district governor of the Lions' International and is one of the most eloquent speakers heard here in a long time. After some humorous remarks in beginning, he dwelt for a time on the vastness of the universe from a scientific point of view and explained that there was a distinct relation between all this and service clubs, for the greater the universe the greater the man—the man who thinks. Service clubs are the result of the universal desire which is inborne in the individual to reach out and aid in the development and the betterment of mankind. We were living in an international world, he declared, and in this connection he made it clear that Canadians must not proceed upon the principle of Canada for Canadians alone any more than the people of the United States, the people of England, the people of Holland or the people of France should proceed upon purely national prin-

(Continued on page 8)

After all, wouldn't it be too bad if girls didn't giggle?

• • • •

Joseph Clark, a student from Brown University, has transferred to Bucknell.

• • • •

"Bob" Vastine, '28, has been pledged to Phi Chi medical fraternity at Jefferson.

• • • •

By all appearances Sally Bailey, '30, is running a close race to Hannibal, as a disrespector of oaths.

• • • •

"Beanie" Martin provided a pleasant surprise by passing the cigars around at the Theta U. house recently.

• • • •

Did you ever know that Dr. Emory W. Hunt was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity when he was in college?

• • • •

The three-weeks ruling down at the "Sem" is responsible for many, many extra hours of slumber enjoyed by the gentlemen of the Hill.

• • • •

One of the old land marks has disappeared from the campus, due to the erection of the Botany Building on the Sigma Chi golf course.

• • • •

"Christy" Matthewson Jr. paid the college a visit last Saturday, when he brought his plane to a landing near the stadium to witness the football game.

• • • •

Professor William H. Coleman informed his class in English 255, which meets at eight o'clock, that it is a class in Early Drama, with the emphasis on the "early."

• • • •

The sophomore girls think they are being abused and treated little better than freshmen since they must come in Friday and Saturday nights at ten o'clock.

• • • •

Golf in the moonlight was among the diversions offered "Hoots" Wilson, '31, this summer. "Skeeters" provided the only objection to the novel experience, according to Betty.

• • • •

According to upper-classmen and sophomores, Bucknell's scholastic standing will be lowered this year because all the exclamations from these students are, "Oh, those dumb freshmen! "

• • • •

Since the ruling powers of the Women's College have decreed the rooms are to be ready for inspection at ten o'clock every morning, we see where some of the fair co-eds lose their beauty sleep.

• • • •

Now that the co-eds are "settled," Newberry's department store will have a lull in it's business, since there appear to be no more calls for double sockets, towel racks, lamp shades, and what-nots.

• • • •

Bucknell's campus is good for something after all. During Saturday's football game, the attention of the spectators was drawn from the game to the landing of an aeroplane.

"Bucknell Airport"—sounds good!

• • • •

A bright Bucknell freshman was overheard saying, "These co-eds are like actresses. When they have a confession to make they don't send for a minister—they send for a reporter!

• • • •

The merits of the General Electric ice-box have been expounded at great length by "Jo" Roberts, '29, who spent her summer convincing hesitant buyers that 'twould prove its worth inside of a month.

• • • •

Mother Nature seems to have cast a favorable eye on the multitudinous owners of "french coats," among the students. During the last few days this new item of apparel has become Bucknell's uniform.

• • • •

Farmers of the surrounding community are in a fair way to carry home the larger part of the monthly allowances of the male portion of the college, after their recent visits to the campus with barrels of fresh cider.

• • • •

From the amount of wash flapping on the fire-escapes of East College, after the Freshman Parade, one might be led to believe that the inmates came from the tenements and were endeavoring to create a "home atmosphere."

Sorting the mail at the "Sem" is always a difficult and slow task at the beginning of the year. In order to help the mail girls to serve you as efficiently as possible, you are asked again to have your box number put on your letters.

• • • •

That lovely moon on Saturday night, magnet-like, drew all who are affected by such an attraction off the Hill and deposited most of them fourteen miles from Lewisburg. The frosh are far from being non-magnetic substances, events proved.

• • • •

We wonder if our last year's freshmen forget that there are now some lower than they? A section of the stadium seemed to be occupied by a large group of felt hats. The wearers were evidently so well trained, that it is hard to break the habit.

• • • •

"Betty" Lawson, Miss Clark's secretary, has arranged a set of cards for the mail girls to put up on the door of the post office of the "Sem" to save them the annoyance of answering such questions as: "Is the mail in yet?" "Is it sorted yet." "Is it being sorted?" etc., etc.

• • • •

Tom Jones, '30, spent part of the summer on an amateur boxing tour. Jones engaged in four fights and won them all. He was a favorite during all the summer months. He was an attraction wherever he went, and was hailed at several places as the coming heavyweight champion of the coal regions.

• • • •

The freshmen fought their way to victory over the sophomores last Saturday morning to the tune of 24-29. The annual fray took place on Loomis Field about 11:00, and the frosh gained a longed-for revenge for the dousing that was given to them by their rivals on the previous Wednesday night.

• • • •

The men of the freshmen class must have enjoyed the evening of the nineteenth as much as the sophomores did, if we judge by the vim with which they climbed lampposts, plastered themselves with mud, and proposed to various members of the fair sex who were watching their antics.

• • • •

"Semites" have been disappointed to find that the new dining room, to which they have all been looking forward , is not yet completed. However, it will be something to look forward to in the near future, as it promises to be a great improvement over the old, and now inadequate, dining room.

• • • •

We have a hero in our midst in the person of G. Norman Bensilet, '29. This summer, while sailing on one of the Great Lakes with another boy in their dingy, "Norm" safely piloted the boat through one of the worst storms of the season. This gruelling job took all night, and the skill with which the dingy was managed amid the huge rollers deserves great commendation.

• • • •

Of the "Pud" Hughes-Helen Myerly-Madeline Hartmann trio, who have left the "Sem" this year for State, "Pud" has been the only one thus far to visit us. Though we hate to lose the girls, think of the trips saved over week-ends and at house party time. We wish them all a very successful year and hope they'll not forget us entirely.

• • • •

At least somebody thinks kindly of the poor freshmen. Ma's and pa's of the class of 1932 thronged to the Hill last Sunday afternoon. They were greeted by their abused offspring, were shown the "dorms," and were told all about college life. Doubtlessly money changed hands. Most of the folks came by automobile, but some made the grade under their own power.

• • • •

At last Bucknell has a golf team! The first match is scheduled with the Otzinachson Country Club at Milton. Just who the team will be made of cannot be definitely decided at the present time, due to the large field to choose from. It looks like another great Bucknell team. The student body is greatly interested, and we feel sure that this is another step towards the proposed golf course.

There is water in watermelons because the seeds are planted in the spring.

Alumni Notes

Dr. Mary M. Wolfe, '96

Dr. Mary Wolfe, superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, was one of the 25 men and women appointed a few days ago by State Chairman Edward Martin as members of the executive committee of the Republican State Committee, which will direct Republican politics in the Keystone state until the spring of 1930.

Elizabeth F. Spyker, '19

Miss Elizabeth F. Spyker, '19, of Lewisburg, was re-elected a vice president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion of Pennsylvania, in annual convention during August at Uniontown. Miss Spyker is one of the most active workers for the Legion Auxiliary in Lewisburg, and has long been prominent in the State councils of the organization.

Prof. Henry T. Colestock, '96

Professor Henry T. Colestock, '96, of the Department of History, made an address on "Enlarging our Area of Freedom," at the seventy-first Snyder County Teachers' Institute, held at Middleburg at the end of August. Dr. Colestock has become a popular figure at Pennsylvania teachers' institutes, and annually fills a considerable number of speaking engagements at these gatherings.

The Hon. John V. Lesher, '97

The Hon. John V. Lesher, of Sunbury, one of the few sons of Bucknell who have served in Congress, was the principal speaker during Port Trevorton's recent Old Home Week celebration. He talked about the town's early history.

Mr. Lesher was a football player of note at Bucknell, and coached the team for some time after his graduation. He studied law, took up practice in Sunbury, and was elected to Congress. He is again practicing law.

Kenneth D. Rhone, ex-'29

Kenneth D. Rhone, ex-'29, who for the past year has been director of publicity for the Williamsport Chamber of Commerce, recently resigned that position in order to enter the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor. Mr. Rhone did considerable work in journalism during his two years at Bucknell, and has also been employed by the Williamsport Sun. This preparation gave him his place with the Chamber of Commerce. He intends to follow journalistic and publicity work for his profession.

Warren S. Reed, ex-'21

Warren S. Reed, ex-'21, who is Union County's register and recorder, recently returned to Lewisburg after spending a long vacation in Europe, during which he made an extensive tour through France, where he visited many of the battlefields on which he saw service during the World War.

Mr. Reed went overseas during the war as a member of one of the Bucknell ambulance units. Like all the men in those units, he was in the thick of the fighting. He brought back with him the French croix de guerre.

Bucknell Musician Heads Conservatory

Bucknell students and alumni will be interested in the following article from the Nashville Banner, concerning Professor Browne Martin. Mr. Martin is a brother of our librarian, Miss Eliza J. Martin.

His boyhood home was in the Academy Building (now known as the Biology Building) where his father was principal, and later at the present Martin home on St. George street opposite Larison Hall. Mr. Martin was graduated from Bucknell in 1900, and is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. The article follows:

Browne Martin, for fifteen years an outstanding figure in the musical life of Nashville, has been engaged as director of the department of musical science and associate teacher of violin in the new Nashville Conservatory of Music. He begins his duties September 5.

Mr. Martin is a graduate of Bucknell University and the University School of Music, receiving degrees in both the University and the Music School. He is a son of the late Dr. William Emmet Martin. He studied music in Philadelphia under Henry Lang and Edwin Brill and in Europe at Leipzig Conservatory under the great masters. Mr. Martin has taught at Pennsylvania college, Baker University, Drake University, Des Moines Musical College and Louisana State Normal. He has been a member of the Nashville Symphony Orchestra where he created quite a name. For the past ten years he has been director of the Vanderbilt University Glee Club.

ADDITIONAL ALUMNI NOTES

"Sally" Miller, '27, of Reading, is to be married late this fall to George Ennis, also of Reading. "Sally" has been a music instructor since her graduation from Bucknell.

George Seigel, '28, has secured a position with the Newark Sunday Call. George's new job calls for only three days of work a week. However, Seigel was always a fine newspaper man and indications are that he will be a decided success at his job.

Hypnotize Freshman; Can't Wake Him Up

Rushing season at Bucknell does not get under way until the season for that sport is drawing to a close in many schools. On account of this arrangement, we have the advantage of being able to profit by mistakes made elsewhere. For instance, here is a dispatch that appeared recently in a Pennsylvania daily:

Because his hypnotizer forgot the magic word which was to bring him back to normalcy, a Lehigh University freshman was taken to St. Luke's hospital where a shock revived him.

"The freshman was being 'rushed' at a fraternity house on the campus and was successfully put in a trance as part of the initiation proceedings by a fellow student with hypnotic powers. However, these powers were only partially developed and when the time came for the subject to be restored all efforts failed and there was consternation for a while.

"The freshman was almost immediately revived at the hospital and was none the worse for his experience."

Here at Bucknell there are some truly hypnotic people, so frosh, do be careful.

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

GEO. W. O'BRIEN
Dealer in
Foreign and Domestic Groceries, Fruits, Etc.
Bell Phone 40 Lewisburg, Pa.

EDDIE HOFFMAN
and his
ORCHESTRA
Collegiate Trained Collegiate Liked
FOR DATES CALL
EDDIE HOFFMAN
Phi Psi House
Phone, Lewisburg 153

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

BUCKNELL DOCTOR WENT INTO NORTH UPON EXPEDITION

Experience of Group With Which Shorkley, '92, Travelled, Similar to Nobile's

Bucknell students who read about General Nobile's expedition to the pole last summer, and its terribly tragic ending, will be interested to know that a prominent Bucknell surgeon went through an experience similar to, but even more terrible than, the experience that came to Nobile's crew after his giant airship was wrecked, and his men marooned in the frozen North. The following article, recalling some of this, is from a late July issue of the Lewisburg Journal.

At the present time Lewisburg is entertaining a distinguished son who is widely known in older town circles and very widely known beyond this section. He is Dr. George Shorkley, of Mt. Vernon, Washington, son of Mrs. Sarah H. Shorkley, formerly of this place.

Dr. Shorkley was a first lieutenant in the old Company A, of the 12th Regiment of this place when it left for the Spanish-American War. He is here with his sister, Mrs. George R. Bliss, formerly Miss Ruth Shorkley, who now lives at Santa Barbara, California. In the near future they will leave for Mrs. Bliss' home at Santa Barbara, where the mother, Mrs. Sarah Shorkley makes her residence.

In North in 1902

Dr. Shorkley was surgeon-in-chief for the famous Ziegler north pole expedition which was in the vast northern region from 1902 until 1905. He is especially interested in the present Nobile expedition, for the Ziegler expedition went through identical sufferings.

The Ziegler group had its ship crushed in the ice and all food was lost. For three and one-half years the men were lost in the Artic region before they managed to work their way out. All food had to be shot until the ammunition gave out and then the men resorted to killing animals with clubs.

Cut Off From World

As surgeon Mr. Shorkley takes very great pride in the fact that only one man was lost while going through the intense suffering. The only difference between his party and that of Nobile was the fact that there was no communication whatever with the ouside world by the early group.

So intense was the suffering and privations that more than half of the members of the Ziegler expedition died within five years after the return, from ailments resulting from the long term of terrifying conditions.

Mr. Shorkley has just been to the national triennial conclave of the Knights Templar at Detroit as grand captain general to the Grand Commandery of the State of Washington. While at the conclave, Dr. Shorkley was on the lookout for General Charles M. Clement, of Sunbury, and made many efforts to meet him. After the affair was over, he learned they were stopping at the same hotel and perhaps often passed each other unknowingly.

Dr. Shorkley is visiting with Joseph M. Wolfe, a cousin and fraternity brother, both being members of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. His sister Mrs. Bliss is visiting a relative, Mrs. Martha Wolfe Kalp. They will leave by way of New Orleans for southern California. A brother, Dr. Thornton Moore Shorkley also a formerly well known resident of Lewisburg, is a practicing physician at Santa Barbara, where he resides with his family.

Dr. Shorkley has not been to Lewisburg for the past six years. His last visit was to Bucknell when his class had its reunion.

Donald Young, '28, Weds Miss Gaskins

The marriage of Donald Young, son of Rev. and Mrs. Levi Young, of Salisburg, Pa., a graduate of Bucknell University, in the class of '28, and Miss Martha Gaskins, popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gaskins, 902 Fort Augusta avenue, this city, was solemnized at Selinsgrove Friday afternoon, the Rev. Myren Cole performing the ceremony. The couple was unattended.

Mr. and Mr Young are now on a honeymoon tour of the eastern cities and upon their return will reside at Hollidaysburg, where Mr. Young will be engaged as a teacher.

Sunbury Item.

New Bucknell Song Dedicated to "Prexy"

During convocation at the opening of college, Miss Millicent Melrose, of the School of Music, sang "The Varsity, Sir," a new song, written during the summer by Professor Emeritus William C. Bartol. Professor Paul G. Stolz composed the music. The song is dedicated to President Emory W. Hunt. It was heard for the first time in public when Miss Melrose sang it.

Much favorable comment from students has been heard, and many students have expressed the desire to secure copies of the song. The Bucknellian is glad to present the words of the song herewith.

THE VARSITY, SIR
Dedicated to President Hunt.

The Varsity, sir, our mother and pride, Bucknell,
Has entered the race and won't be denied, Bucknell.
Those stars of the East, fair Harvard and Yale,
Are veterans sure, and not a bit stale,
The Varsity, sir is right on their trail, Bucknell.

Refrain:
President Emory William Hunt,
Masterful Prexy is he,
Scoring a million dollar stunt,
Booming the Varsity.
A chosen lamp lighter,
He makes the place brighter,
Come to Bucknell and see.

The Varsity, sir, is backed by her sons, Bucknell,
They're flying her flag, they're booming her guns, Bucknell.
And lured by her fame, her temples and grounds,
And trained by her Profs to go the full rounds.
A thousand are at it to put on her gowns, Bucknell.

The Varsity, sir, yes enter and sweat, Bucknell,
Keep climbing the "Hill," there's glory to get, Bucknell.
You'll find a fast bunch, but hang to the pace,
Unpack ev'ry nerve, ask nobody grace,
We'll smile with you then at the end of the chase, Bucknell.

Betty Wilson, '31, Wins Tennis Tourney

"Betty" Wilson, '31, representing the Woodbury Country Club, defeated Miss Mary Tyler of the Riverton Club in the finals of the junior girls' singles tennis tournament of the West Jersey League and won a silver loving cup together with the championship of that league.

Miss Wilson took the first set 7-5, dropping the second 1-6, and in the final set came from behind to capture another 7-5 decision.

"Betty" also competed in the women's singles, but failed to reach the finals. "Bobby" Slifer and "Betty" Wilson played in the women's doubles of the same league, dropping their first sets to the holders of last year's championship.

Hears His Own Voice In Vitaphone Record

Dr. James P. Whyte, of Bucknell University, was the speaker of the evening before Sunbury Kiwanis at the regular meeting at the Neff roof garden Friday night and held the 75 members with the power of his eloquence for a half hour.

He told how, on a visit to New York, he had his voice recorded by the new Vitaphone method. He was rather curious to hear how it sounded to other people.

"We hear our own voices," he said, "largely through the bones of the head. It is a new experience to hear one's own words repeated through some other agency. The new Vitaphone which is now taking its place in motion pictures, makes that possible."

He took the incident as a text on which he built a scholarly and eloquent address largely on the theme expounded by the famous poet of his native Scotland, Robert Burns, "O would some power the giftie gie us to see ourselves as ithers see us."

The meeting was marked by the usual peppy chorus singing in which Kiwanis is preeminent.

It was announced that the meetings will continue at the Neff roof. The club which accupies more than half of the available space will have the use of the roof garden for its Friday evening affairs.

—Sunbury Item for September 17.

Read The Bucknellian

Leonard Coates, '27, Undergoes Operation

John D. Plant, basketball coach, was called to Trenton, N. J., last Thursday, September 20, on account of the critical condition of his nephew, Leonard Coates, '27, who was in a Trenton hospital, where he went for a tonsilectomy operation. Coates' condition has improved greatly and he is reported to be out of danger.

Coates was correspondent for various metropolitan newspapers, when he was in college, and was editor-in-chief of L'Agenda. He followed up this bent for journalistic work after leaving college. For one year he taught English at Keystone Academy. Then he secured a place with N. W. Ayer and Co., the big Philadelphia advertising agency.

He had been bothered with throat trouble for a long time, and late in the summer decided to have his tonsils removed. Accordingly, he entered the Trenton hospital. The operation proved to be not at all difficult, but Coates suffered a hemmorhage of the throat. Coates lost so much blood that he was in a very critical condition. Mr. Leonard Plant, brother of John Plant and the uncle for whom Coates was named, hurried to Trenton, and gave a quart of his blood to his nephew. Then John Plant was summoned. He also hurried to Trenton, to give his nephew additional blood if necessary. But Coates' condition had improved, and it was found unnecessary to have any further blood transfusions. Mr. Plant is now back at Bucknell.

C. H. Williams Wins U. S. Scholarship Here

Gerald H. Williams, of Easton, was awarded the government scholarship to Bucknell University, which was offered through the Citizens Military Training Camp, at Fort Howard, Maryland.

The young man was given the award for his general excellence in military duties and competed with several hundred other youths, many of whom were from Sunbury and Northumberland.

Qualifications which were counted in the selection of the winner consisted of neatness, obedience, character, bearing, and general proficiency.

A number of medals was awarded to the best four second year students of Company D and among those presented with medals was Thomas L. Ney of Newport.—Sunbury Item.

Six years of service and twice around the world

That's the record of one Fish Brand "Varsity" Slicker owned by a University of Pennsylvania man. They're built just as Fish Brand Slickers have been built for ninety-two years—in vests—and how!

They're cut on authentic college lines—not skimped anywhere. The "Varsity" model is long enough to protect your legs and is full lined. It has a water-tight reflex edge in front. Olive-khaki, black or yellow. Buckle-front or buttons—strap or plain collar.

Go into the nearest store and put a small fraction of this month's allowance into a genuine Tower's Fish Brand Slicker—"The Rainy Day Pal." The best investment you'll make all year. A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Mass.

TOWER'S TRADE MARK FISH BRAND

Ward, The Barber

Sirio, successor to ink, makes all pens write better, and the Lifetime pen write best.
Identify the Lifetime pen by this white dot

Wisdom

About the most foolish expenditure a college man ever makes is to buy a cheap fountain pen. Sheer waste! Lifetime® is the college man's pen because it is dependable always. LIGHTEST TOUCH starts its ready ink flow, yet three clear carbons can be made at one writing, due to its remarkable nib. And it's guaranteed unconditionally for a lifetime! Faultless service—and no repair charges, ever. It boasts a beauty as thrilling as its perfect performance. And the Titan pencil offers like reasons for the preference of every wise buyer.

"Lifetime" pen, $8.75 Lady "Lifetime", $7.50 Others lower
"Lifetime" Titan oversize pencil to match, $4.25
At better stores everywhere

SHEAFFER'S
PENS · PENCILS · SKRIP
W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA

COLLEGE MEN! Have your shoes repaired while you wait at
JOSEPH KIFOLO'S
SHOE SHINING PARLOR
Near the Post Office—Just across the R. R.

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52

While in Milton Don't Forget to Visit
The Excellent Candy Shoppe
TRY OUR
Home-Made Candies
FRESH DAILY
Also Have TOAST-WICHES

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

GREETINGS TO THE MAY-MAR

The College Inn extends congratulations to a new comer among our business places, and welcomes you as one whose reputation is already a credit to Lewisburg's fame as a fine restaurant town. An excellent location in addition to tasteful equipment are twin assets well worthy of certain other twins, whom to be brief we will call

"MAY-MAR"
"On the Quadrangle"
Payne '09.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897
Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194

Ass't. Editor-in-Chief — Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor — Clarence Cranford, '29
Ass't. Managing Editors — Virginia Smoot, '30; Helen Bell, '30
News Editor — Charles H. Rivenburg, '29
Ass't. News Editors — Jane Foust, '29; Charles E. Mohr, '30
Sports Editor — J. Warren McElgot, '30
Ass't. Sports Editors — Thomas Jones, '30; N. B. Smith, '30
Women's College Editor — Thomas McLeod, '31
Exchange Editor — Jessie R. Fielding, '29; Trennie Eisley, '31

Column Editors
Elizabeth Figner, '30 — Frances Kernohan, '30

Reporters
Vivian Bitner, W. C. Emmitt, Bertha Gaventa, R. B. Koser, Lillian Mattick, John McNally, Margaret Schuyler, Ruby Smith, Nan Lee Thomas.

Business Staff
Advertising Manager — Lory F. Davis, '30
Ass't Advertising Mgr. — John Snyder, '30
Circulation Manager — John N. Feaster, '30
Ass't. Circulation Mgr's.
Kenneth Haynes, '31 — Frederick M. Locke, '31
George H. Van Tuyl, '31

BUCKNELL SONGS IN CHAPEL

From time to time last year, we suggested editorially that a part of the chapel programs be devoted to the singing of Bucknell songs. During the months of vacation which have just closed, we have failed to experience anything which would tend to alter our convictions in this matter. We still believe that the college songs ought to be familiar to every Bucknell student and graduate. We still maintain that no better (or possible) opportunity for learning them can be found than the chapel services. Numerous personal experiences have demonstrated to us that the members of the student body share our convictions.

However, we believe that variety is necessary in order to accomplish the purpose in view. During the last college year, the students in freshman chapel were required to sing the "Alma Mater" almost every time the service was held, throughout the two semesters. As a result, we heard a goodly number of freshmen remark, with the frankness which characterizes first-year men, that "they were getting confoundedly sick and tired of that song." This was natural. Bucknell's "Alma Mater" is a beautiful and dignified song, but if it is sung at all the chapel services, football games, roll-calls, and what-not, it will inevitably come to be regarded with repulsion by the very men who should thrill to its cadences. In order not to be unfair, we should state that other college songs were also sung at each freshman chapel service last year. This, of course, is exactly what we are working for.

It is not our desire to see any one song worked to death. Nor is it our wish to seem to be trying to dictate anything in regard to matters which are under faculty control. But we are quite certain that three years, semi-weekly practice in singing Bucknell songs would give every student a familiarity with the college anthems, for which, as an alumnus, he would never cease to be grateful to the forces which made it possible.

It is all a matter of getting the thing started. The customs of a group are like the habits of an individual: once they are fairly established, they will take care of themselves. And here, we are sure, is a custom which will be very much worthwhile establishing. May we see it given a serious trial this year?

What Is a Frat? That's the Question

To many men who enter college, the word fraternity has little, if any, meaning. Bucknell has thirteen organized groups called fraternities, and lest any of the unitiated commit any faux pas or do anything that would be embarrassing, perhaps a paragraph or two will be useful in throwing some light upon these social groups which form the backbone of student government at Bucknell, and which provide homes for members during a period of at least three years of college life.

In the first place, most of these groups are incorporated under the laws of Pennsylvania, and these corporations conduct business in business-like fashion. Ten of the Bucknell fraternities are nationals, i. e., they are affiliated with chapters in other colleges and universities throughout the United States.

Fraternities Need New Men

However, one must not get the idea that fraternities are cold-blooded business propositions. Business is a fundamental part of the fraternity, and for that reason it must be self-perpetuating. It must continually take in new members of the incoming classes to fill the places of those who have been lost by graduation. Thus the freshman is soon caught in the toils of "rushing season," a period of intensive entertaining during which each fraternity endeavors to spot good men who can be molded into effective cogs of the fraternity organization. And so it is, every group pledges five to twenty men, the number depending upon various factors, viz: number needed to fill depleted ranks, number of new men found desirable, besides many other issues that make the business of rushing a cut-throat affair indeed.

Decision To Join Is A Vital One

In former days before the various fraternities mutually agreed to abide by rules in rushing, many men pledged to fraternities in which they did not fit—they were misfits—college was not so rosy as it might have been—the fraternities chose their new men. Now things have changed, the freshman picks his fraternity, and while there are not so many misfits as in former times, yet a considerable number of freshmen spoil their college lives by joining groups with which they are not congenial. The decision to join a fraternity is a vital one and no man can repent more bitterly a hasty decision which has made him a misfit.

Pledge Is For One Year

After a freshman is pledged to a fraternity and wears the pledge pin of that group, he must serve an apprenticeship of one year and if at the end of that year he has passed three-fourths of his college work and is found "true and worthy" to the test of the ritual, the neophyte is taken into the bosom of the fraternity as a full-fledged member and then, but not until then, is he allowed to tell an active man to go to —etc. etc. This year as a pledge is a year of trial and tribulation and any one who has been through the mill is extremely glad the year is over, and is also thankful for the indulgence and patience of the active chapter.

Fraternities Mold Men

After initiation, the freshman or rather sophomore, can move to the house where he truly has bachelor apartments and proceeds to be a man of the world for the next three years. He dines with thirty to forty men who become his intimates and cronies. In his freshman days, he knew practically everybody on the campus. As he advances through the sophomore, junior, and senior years his circle becomes smaller, but his ties with his intimates become stronger. And there you are—a fraternity takes the raw product and in four years time turns a finished product to receive the graduation sheepskin. Whether he be a bum, a good fellow, an engineer, a ministerial, a doctor, or what-not, the fraternity has changed the individual for better of worse. For better, if the ideals of the group are carried on as they should be—for worse, if the members are not striving for higher goals.

Twelve Own Homes Here

At Bucknell, twelve of the fraternities own their own houses or are paying for them. During the past few years one group has built a $60,000 house, another has purchased a $40,000 house, and four or five others have laid plans for building new homes.

Fraternities here are the backbone of social life, that is, if one considers dancing, fussing, movie-going, etc., as the highest peak of social activity. Each fraternity is permitted four dances each year which co-eds may attend, if invited. The girls may stay out until 10:30 P. M. at Friday night dances and 11:30 at Saturday night dances. One of these four dances may be a formal affair and the closing hour is midnight. Of course each fraternity may hold a few "town" dances each semester. Then in the spring come the grand and glorious week-end parties to which the "only" girls are invited. And so it is—to dance often, one should belong to a fraternity.

Fraternities Aid In Government

Now the question of student government arises. The Student Council, the highest governing body for Bucknell students, is composed of the presidents of the thirteen fraternities, a representative from the non-fraternity group, the president and vice president of the senior class. This council legislates on all matters pertaining to student government. Here again the fraternity plays a real part in the business of student government.

But the question of cost arises. Well, to confess honestly, the fraternity places an additional burden on the exchequer from $100 up to $200 or $250 annually.

The University Hatchet, weekly publication of George Washington University, has a circulation of 6,000, which is larger than that of any other weekly college publication in the United States.

Educator Discusses The Small Colleges

American parents will select small colleges near their homes for their children if they follow the advice of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, noted educator and health authority.

"The great universities with present day enrollments of 5,000 to 25,000 are like factories, turning out graduates supplied with specified facts on certain subjects, but they lack the advantages of intimate contacts between teacher and students and the congenial community life which develops character and fosters culture," he declares.

"There is also a social threat which is more dangerous in huge crowds than in small companies," he says. "It is the danger of bolshevism and atheism. It is an easy matter in these crowded educational centers to couple up disbelief in God with disbelief in government.

"One dollar expended at Hanover, a small college in Indiana, gives as much culture as five at Harvard. As a graduate of both institutions I can truly make this statement.

Students Lose Individuality

"The real specific benefit of the small college, lies in the fact that its students are individuals. They know their professors. They are not simply numbers in a huge herd, without recognition or individuality.

"In a commencement in which from one to two thousand graduates receive their diplomas, as is the case in many of our large universities, there is no individuality. There may be a few who have graduated with honors, but most of them rise and, without even answering to their names, are given the degree of Bachelor of Arts, or whatever other degree they may receive.

"The whole benefit of personal contact with the professor, the advantage of his personal and sympathetic attention and his interest in each individual character as it is unfolded before him during the years of the association, are all lacking in this mass instruction.

"The safety of the future, the purity of learning, and the efficiency of teaching are all intimately bound up with the small educational unit."

What the Colleges Are Doing

Proof that scholarship brings reward is shown in a recent statement about Clarence Cook Little, president of the University of Michigan since 1922. President Little while at Harvard was scaptain of the track team, was a member of Phi Kappa Phi and was awarded the Phi Beta Kappa key. He is a recognized medical authority and while at Michigan has stressed individual attention to students.

Twelve hundred freshmen were enrolled at Penn State on September 19. This is a record class.

A three-year course in practical aviation will be offered by the Evening Engineering Division and the extension Service at New York University this year, Professor Collins P. Bliss, associate dean of the College of Engineering announced recently. The course is designed for workers in aviation who have not had the time or preparation for the advanced work of the Guggenheim School of Aeronautics of New York University.

The Deutches Haus, abolished at Columbia University when the United States entered the World War, is to be re-established at the university under plans for the development of a group of centres of Old World culture, it was made known recently. The Deutches Haus will be under the administration of the Department of German and will occupy its own quarters at 117th street and Amsterdam avenue.

Beginning with the school term of 1928-29, honor courses will be given in the Institute of Technology, at Cooper Union, New York City, in order that the student of unusual abilities be given the opportunity for greater scope in his intellectual activities than is provided by the regular schedule. This will permit the student who has proved himself exceptionally strong, especially in his junior year, to select, at the beginning of his senior year, in addition to his regular schedule, some special topic for survey and study; the selection must be approved by the dean and head of that department in which the special course is to be pursued. This is in line with a similar system used by President Ayledotte at Swarthmore College.

Pitt Week, a university tradition of five years' standing at the University of Pittsburgh and the major student frolic of the spring term, was definitely abolished for 1928. Failure of the previous year's Pitt Week to support itself financially was given as the major reason for the action taken.

Some symbols representative of all the outstanding universities of the world will be placed in the great Commons Room of the Cathedral of Learning at Pitt. One of the most outstanding symbols up to the present time is a stone from the University of Cracow, which was the alma mater of the astronomer Copernicus, who attended Cracow in the latter part of the fifteenth century. The gift of the stone is of especial interest in that two graduates of the University of Cracow attended the University of Pittsburgh two years ago.

At Yale recently, undergrads selected five current books, "offering a broad appeal to university men:" "Dusty Answer," by Rosamond Lehmann; "Show Window," by Elmer Davis; "Death Comes for the Archbishop," by Willa Cather; "Right Off the Map," by C. E. Montague, and "Something About Eve," by James Branch Cabell.

"Reggy" Gaylord Says "Beware of Asylums"

"Stay out of insane asylums" warns "Reggie" Gaylord, '29, after some first hand experience in the Farview State Hospital for the criminal insane, at Farview, Pa., early this past summer.

"I wasn't an inmate," Gaylord claims. Instead, he says, he was an employe in the hospital, and entered of his own accord. Guarding the inmates during their work in the gardens of the institution was "Reggie's" chief duty. He admits that it wasn't hard work—physically, but it was the mental aspect that worried him. Of course, insanity isn't contagious, but "Gay" decided to play safe anyway, so when opportunity knocked he quit this hazardous job in a hurry, and moved on to Saugerties, New York, where he spent the rest of the summer doing construction work.

CARL TRUXEL'S COMEBACK

Carl Truxel, Bucknell varsity end last year is staging a remarkable comeback this year and may win a varsity berth before the season ends. Truxel football future received a severe jolt in the Temple game last fall when he was knocked unconscious, the result of a sturdy blow in the head.

Apparently Truxel has fully recovered from the unfortunate occurrance and is ready for action again He is a fine defensive end and is in a class by himself when it comes to receiving forward passes.

"Mutt" Convery, '29, a popular campus figure has returned for another year at Bucknell. Convery who is a senior this year intends to spend most of his time studying as he expects to enter law school next fall. Convery is an enterprising Jerseyman, hailing from Perth Amboy.

Regulations Drawn To Rule B. U. Dances

New regulations to govern dances at Bucknell have been agreed upon by representatives of the various fraternities here. These regulations mark a distinct improvement upon former dance regulations, though there are no very radical changes. Two features that will meet with the approval of most persons are the proposed suppression of yelling at dances, and the ending of the practice of dimming lights. The fraternity representatives have given the administration assurance that these new regulations will be faithfully observed. The regulations follow:

1. No fraternity will tolerate the use of liquor at fraternity acairs.
2. Automobiles shall be used as a means of conveyance to and from fraternity functions and not as parking places between dances.
3. Each fraternity shall be permitted to hold at most four dances each semester, two of which college women may attend. These dances may be held only on Friday or Saturday nights or on the night preceding a holiday or vacation.
4. One dance each semester may continue until one o'clock A. M. and the remainder not later than eleven forty-five P. M., the Seminary dances coming under Seminary rules.
5. A fraternity shall be permitted to hold once each year, while the college is in session, a week-end function covring two successive nights. Guests who come from out of town shall be lodged at the homes of approved private families or recognized lodging houses. Day chaperonage, satisfactory to the Committee on Student Activities, shall be provided.
6. No fraternity shall hold more than one dance on the same week-end as Junior Prom, Sophomore Cotillion, or Freshman Hop.
7. Lights in the rooms shall not be dimmed.
8. Yelling at dances shall not be permitted. Applause shall be restricted to hand clapping.
9. The faculty chaperons shall be expected to notify the chairman of the social committee, or the president of the house, if the actions of any of the participants do not meet with their approval.

Many fans who attend Bucknell games have neglected to note the real usefulness of "Lefty" James. James is a fine defensive end. He executes play after play that goes on almost unnoticed. He seldom misses a runner who attempts to gain around his end. "Lefty" always works faithfully at his post determined that "They shall not pass." He is expected to be the kingpin of the Bison line this fall. He is equally able to catch forward passes which he turns into substantial gains.

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

Quick on the trigger!

Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan PENS-PENCILS

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

'Bucknell Girls'

Our store has been known for years as
"YOUR HEADQUARTERS"
for snappy, novelty footwear. Something different than what the other shoe stores show. If a style or shade is new we are the first to show same.

SPECIAL AT
$3.85, $4.85, $5.85

New fall styles in black and brown alligator, lizard, suede, velvet, satin, kid, and patent.

FOR THE FRAT DANCE
gold and silver kid opera pumps.

Silk Stockings in all Shades

PEOPLE'S
Shoe Store
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

FRESHMEN
You Are Privileged

To You Come the Joys of College Life

Let the Folks at Home Share These Experiences

SEND THEM
The Bucknellian
$1.50 Per Year

Mail Your Subscriptions to Box X
LEWISBURG, PA.

BUCKNELL SPORTING EVENTS

BISON YEARLINGS GIVE INDICATION OF GREAT SEASON

Coach Musser's Freshman Squad Rapidly Getting in Shape; Faces Stiff Schedule

Coach "Mal" Musser presented his freshman team Saturday afternoon when he sent his players up against the varsity in a practice game in the Memorial Stadium. The "Baby Bisons" look like one sweet aggregation and, although rough in spots, indicated great possibilities. Coach Musser has had his thirty-man squad working diligently for the past two weeks and has them whipped into pretty good shape.

"Sam" Holk and Merle Stonebreaker drew the wing assignments, with Cyrus Marter and "Tiny" Lenhart at the tackle posts. Tom Cummings was pivot, flanked by "Steve" Trudenak and James Downey. The backfield consisted of Harry Fry, fullback, and Joe Castravia and Clarke Hinkle, halfbacks, working under quarterback Emil Spadafore. This outfit has the necessary weight, Holk at 191 pounds and Stonbreaker tipping 175. Marter at 185 and Lenhart at 245 give plenty of beef at the tackle stations. Trudenak and Downey are in at 190 apiece, with Cummings tipping 180. Fry has plenty of weight for fullback, 195, with Kastravs, 170, and Hinkle, 178, at the halves, and Spadafore calling signals at 172.

Yearlings Face Tough Schedule

It's a good thing that the yearlings have plenty of beef and stamina, for they are to be called upon to tackle one of the hardest freshman schedules ever drawn up here. Some of the linemen looked a bit crude against the polished varsity, but after some of Coach Musser's finish has been applied, the forward wall will be a crackerjack.

Stonebreaker showed up especially well in the scrimmage, breaking through time and again to drop a varsity ball-toter. The quartet behind the line looks good. Each man is a triple-threat, able to pass, kick, and run. Coach Musser should be able to offer a baffling offensive with this crew.

A Star Punter

Hinkle is booting the ball in fine shape. It's a bad kick when this halfback cannot send the ball 50 yards. The players look like fine varsity prospects, and will be after this year of schooling.

The frosh will open their season on October 6, playing the strong Manlius eleven at Manlius, N. Y. Manlius is rated as one of the best prep school teams in the East, and a bitter contest is anticipated.

The yearlings are managed by Walter "Sandy" Moore.

Madison Players

By J. W. McElgot

Nestled in the hills beyond the Orange Mountains in the heart of Morris County lies the quiet and peaceful town of Madison. Far away from the noise and turmoil of the city this placid community was once a quaint old Revolutionary village.

During the storm and strife of the American Revolution in 1775 Madison was a sheltering spot for General George Washington's troops from time to time. The Americans spent the winters during the early years of the war in and around Madison.

Since that time Madison has always been represented by some notable. Several of our political leaders in New Jersey have made their home in the favorite Morris County site and have passed their remaining years there. Since the Civil War, Madison has steadily grown until it is now almost a city.

Aside from the political, social, and military representatives that have been turned out in Madison, the Jersey town also boasts of sheltering several athletes.

Two Young Boys

Let us go back fifteen years. Two young boys, probably around six years of age, are playing side by side in the streets of Madison. Both fellows grow up together. The best days of their life are spent playing in the finest suburban town in New Jersey. The boys grow older. They attend high school at Madison. Suddenly without notice one boy disappears from town with his family and leaves his favorite boyhood companion sone in Madison.

The latter remained in the Morris County town and as a matter of fact he still resides in Madison. Several times since the desertion of Madison by his chum the surviving representative bemoaned the loss of his best pal.

Years pass. The youth who remained in Madison was graduated from high school with high honors. He was bent on attending college. He had been an athletic star while in high school, especially scintillating in football. As a matter of fact he had won twelve varsity scholastic letters representing four years each of competition in baseball, football, and basketball.

Bucknell Proves His Choice

The Madison chap was offered several scholarships to the leading colleges in the East. In the end friends persuaded him to select Bucknell as his Alma Mater. The Madison athlete immediately wired friends that he would go to Bucknell University.

Since that time Bucknell has been proud of her Madison representative. Three years passed. Last spring the Bucknell baseball team invaded the South for their annual southern trip. They were scheduled to play games with Georgetown, Catholic University, and the Navy. Annapolis was the last trip. After a contest with the middies both teams returned to the sailors' quarters. Several young midshipmen came around to visit their old time pals.

A startling incident occurred. The Bucknell team was dining at one of the numerous guest tables when an enormously-built middie came strolling down the aisle. Suddenly a youth was seen to jump up from the Bucknell table and rush over to meet the powerfully built uniformed man, who was approaching.

"Whitey!"

"Ted!"

That was all. In a minute they were in each other's arms. They were the two former Madison pals.

Whitey and Ted

And now it is time to disclose the identity of the two unknown personages. The young man who remained in Madison, later to attend Bucknell, was Frederick "Ted" Mitchell. Bucknell's greatest all-around center.

The other individual, standing six feet four and one half inches in height, was none other than the incomparable "Whitey" Lloyd, the greatest all-around athlete that has ever been turned out at Annapolis.

The two old time pals had a long talk that centered around their boyhood days. Then they were forced to part. The Bucknell team journeyed home and no one in the party was happier than "Ted" Mitchell for he had at last located his long lost chum. chum.

—Passaic Daily News.

Frat.-Soccer League To Open October 8

The first intrfraternity soccer games will be played on the afternoon of October 8, according to the schedule adopted at a meeting of the Soccer League last Thursday evening, September 13, at the T. U. O. house. The schedule will be completed on November 23.

Two leagues of seven teams each were formed. The champion of each league will play three games to determine which shall be the inter-fraternity champion. This series is scheduled for the first week in December. The Y. M. C. A. again has offered a trophy to the winner.

Games are scheduled for every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Tuesday and Thursday dates are left open for playing off postponed games. Each team will play six games, facing every other team in its league. Two points will be awarded for each victory and one for each tie game. The team with the highest number of points at the completion of the schedule will be league champion.

John R. Bower, '30, was again elected to head the League. John Orr, '30, was chosen secretary of the organization.

"Chuck" Jones, the fleet-footed Hyattsville speed merchant, is sure ripping things up on the gridiron this fall. Jones, playing his third year of varsity football, is getting away for long gains in recent practice tilts. He has been handicapped during the last two years because of numerous injuries, but he is in fine physical condition this fall and is ready for the best season of his colorful and checkered football career.

Pennsylvania State College was the center of a recent important educational conference, the annual conference of high school principals and superintendents of Pennsylvania. Two hundred and fifty were present at the meetings, which were held on August 9, 10, and 11.

Entire Football Squad Escape Practice Hurts

The end of the third week of football practice at Bucknell University here today found the entire squad under Head Coach Carl G. Snavely without one physical injury. With a squad of 38 unhardened men, injuries in early season are the rule and not the exception. The excellent physical condition of the men after their summers of hard outdoor work accounts for the complete absence of sprains, bruises, and the like.

The Christy Mathewson Memorial Gateway, dedicated here on June 6, will be used for the first on Saturday for the opening game. The structure provides three driveways and two pedestrian entrances to the concrete "U." Ticket offices on either side and special gates for students will facilitate the handling of crowds. The structure bears on either side fac-similies of the great "Matty" to whose memory it is erected.

Even a probable line-up for the opening game is impossible to give, with the coaches working three men for every position on the varsity and all berths hotly contested. It is expected that a number of new names will appear in the Bison playing positions this season with 18 old men on the squad from last season's yearling team. Captain Eddie Halicki of Wilkes-Barre will lead the team during the coming ten-game season.

Head Coach Carl Snavely

Line Coach Uhard Hangartner

A former Bryn Mawr student, Miss Gertrude Ely, is vice chairman of a political organization known as the College League for Alfred E. Smith. Headquarters are on Broadway at 27th street, New York.

NEWS OF THE WORLD IN BRIEF

Florida's Latest Catastrophe

The death toll of the Porto Rico storm which hit the Florida coast on September 17 has been estimated at 2000, and a threat of a "flu" epidemic may force evacuation of an area of 100 square miles in the Everglades district. The Red Cross has sent down two ships from New York, loaded with food and clothing for more than 2000 injured, and 150,000 homeless. The Red Cross is now making a plea for $10,000,000 for flood relief.

Presidents and Would Be Presidents

President Coolidge lately paid a visit to his native State, Vermont. It seemed from all accounts to have been more like the triumphant campaign tour of a candidate bent upon reaching the White House, than the homeward journey of a man who will in less than six months voluntarily retire from the presidency.

* * * *

Walking Heavyweight Champion

Gene Tunney and Miss Mary Josephine Lauder are to be married in Sorrento, Italy, about October 5, according to the latest reports. That Mr. Tunney is walking to his wedding, attended by the man of the moment in literature circles, Thornton Wilder, is an added item in the daily press.

Atlantic Crossing Made in Five Days

The Mauretania, launched twenty-two years ago the past week, came into port with a new record for the westward crossing of the Atlantic. The time made was five days, two hours, and 34 minutes, a fitting birthday accomplishment.

What Next?

Television in broad daylight with the human voice synchronized with the pictorial image, a development which has often been foreshadowed and discussed, now is an accomplished fact. Baird, an English experimenter and inventor, is responsible for this latest achievement.

"Al" Smith is now stumping the West for democratic material old and new. He is catching the attention of a number of the wild westerners by his stand on the farm relief question.

* * * *

Herbert Hoover is directing the Republican activities from his desk at Washington. According to the straw vote sponsored by the Literary Digest, Mr. Hoover has a large majority.

SOCCER LEAGUE SCHEDULE

League I	League II
October 8—P. K. P. vs. T. U. O.	S. A. E. vs. S. X.
October 10—A. C. M. vs. P. G. D.	K. S. vs. K. G.
October 12—L. C. A. vs. P. L. T.	D. S. vs. K. G.
October 15—B. K. vs. P. K. P.	K. D. R. vs. S. X.
October 17—P. G. D. vs. T. U. O.	Non Frat. vs. S. A. E.
October 19—P. L. T. vs. A. C. M.	K. G. vs. K. G.
October 22—L. C. A. vs. B. K.	D. S. vs. K. D. R.
October 24—P. K. P. vs. P. L. T.	K. G. vs. S. X.
October 26—A. C. M. vs. T. U. O.	K. S. vs. S. A. E.
October 29—B. K. vs. P. L. T.	K. G. vs. K. D. R.
October 31—L. C. A. vs. A. C. M.	K. S. vs. D. S.
November 2—P. G. D. vs. P. K. P.	Non Frat. vs. S. X.
November 5—L. C. A. vs. T. U. O.	D. S. vs. S. A. E.
November 7—B. K. vs. P. G. D.	Non Frat. vs. K. D. R.
November 9—A. C. M. vs. P. K. P.	S. X. vs. K. S.
November 12—P. L. T. vs. T. U. O.	S. A. E. vs. K. G.
November 14—P. G. D. vs. L. C. A.	D. S. vs. Non Frat.
November 16—A. C. M. vs. B. K.	K. D. R. vs. K. S.
November 19—P. K. P. vs. L. C. A.	S. X. vs. D. S.
November 21—P. L. T. vs. P. G. D.	Non Frat. vs. K. G.
November 23—T. U. O. vs. B. K.	S. A. E. vs. K. D. R.

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—1—

EVER SINCE EVE "SOLD" THE IDEA OF THE TREE OF KNOWLEDGE TO ADAM, ADVERTISING HAS EXISTED. TODAY, AS NEVER BEFORE, ADVERTISING IS A POTENT FACTOR IN BUSINESS. AMERICA IS A LAND OF BILLBOARDS.

LIKE MANY ANOTHER FETISH IN AMERICA, ADVERTISING HAS BECOME A NATIONAL INSTITUTION. SOME MEN ADVERTISE BECAUSE IT IS "THE PROPER THING TO DO SO." MANY A MERCHANT BUYS HIS QUOTA OF ADVERTISING, AND HOPES FOR THE BEST. TOO MANY EXPENDITURES CONSIST OF 50% CHARITY, AND THE REMAINING 50% IS SPENT ON NONDESCRIPT MATERIAL WHICH BLAZONS THE NAME OF JONES AND JONES BEFORE A BORED WORLD.

THE SECRET OF ADVERTISING IS A SIMPLE ONE. IT BRINGS PEOPLE INTO CONTACT WITH THE ARTICLE FOR SALE. IN THE LONG RUN, THE ARTICLE ITSELF MAKES THE SALE; ADVERTISING PROVIDES THE MARKET. TO YOU, MERCHANTS OF LEWISBURG, THE "BUCKNELLIAN" AFFORDS A GREAT MEDIUM FOR REAL ADVERTISING. AN AD IN THE "BUCKNELLIAN" MEANS AN ENTREE INTO TWO THOUSAND HOMES. A WELL WORDED AD INSERTED HERE WILL KEEP DUST FROM COLLECTING ON YOUR SHELVES.

ADS ARE REAL, ADS ARE EARNEST,
AND THE BASKET'S NOT THEIR GOAL.
AIDS THEY ARE, AND AIDS REMAINETH, SELL THEY WATCHES, SHOES, AND COAL.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

BETA KAPPA
E. W. Lare, '30

Eta Chapter of Beta Kappa extends to the Bucknell freshmen her best wishes for a successful year.

Miss Peggy H. Schott, Mrs. Daubert, and Mr. and Mrs. George Schott were the guests of W. Kane Miller, '31, over the week-end.

"Debs" Carstater, '26, spent Saturday and Sunday at the house.

Word has just arrived at the house that two of the boys, "Ed" Heiser, '28, and "Russ" Swisher, ex-'31, have forsaken the ranks of single blessedness and elected to travel in double harness.

R. T. Jones, ex-'30, announced that he will be among those present the second semester.

A. F. Buffington, '28, has taken over the German Department of the Scranton Central High School. "Buff" sure knows his German.

E. Ray Johnson, '29, entertained Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Prosser and daughters Thelma and Bertine at the house Sunday.

Rumor has it that "Count" Sherwood is due to pass the cigars. The "Count" established a new record for speed in getting rid of his pin.

Eta Chapter of Beta Kappa announces the pledging of B. Winston Barret of Williamsport and Stanley Dietrich of Norristown, N. J.

ALPHA CHI MU
John N. Feaster, '30

Mrs. Charles P. Farrow, her daughter, Sarah, '32, and Mrs. Henry Ware, all of Haddonfield, New Jersey, were visitors at the house during the week-end of September 22. Mrs. Farrow and Mrs. Ware made the trip to Lewisburg by automobile.

Brother J. Charles Phillips, '28, was a visitor at the house during the week-end. He is teaching at Lebanon High School and has charge of the biology department.

Brother Raymond Taylor, '30, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church at Northumberland last Sunday.

John Weinhower, '31, has left us to study at Colgate.

We are glad to welcome back Brother Albert E. Brenner of the class of 1929, and Brother Sherwood Githens of the class of 1931.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Virginia E. Smoot, '30

Tau's members seem to have been scattered from coast to coast during the summer, Beulah Lesher, '30, is still telling about the wonderful things she saw in California and "Fran" Kernohan, '30, also "went west." She traveled out to Pequoit, Minnesota, to our fifteenth triennial convention. We think some of the vacation stories should be published in the "Believe it or not" column.

Of course we miss last year's seniors but we count ourselves fortunate in having "Inky" Robison right here in Lewisburg. "Inky" is teaching music in the Lewisburg High School.

A certain kind of Balfour's jewelry has been gradually accumulating among various girls in the chapter; those in the suite are now dieting vigorously so they can indulge when the deluge of five-pound sweets begins to arrive.

We are happy to welcome into active membership the following girls, initiated September 22: Vivian Bitner, Margaret Bunting, Elizabeth Fries, Dorothy Lugosch, Betty Jane Rodenbeck, and Margaret Ross, all of '31.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Jane G. Foust represented Eta chapter at the nineteenth national convention of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity held at Mackinac Island, June 25-30.

"Betty" Davis, '27, has a fellowship at Western Reserve College in Cleveland. Along with her studies which will enable her to receive an M. A. degree in two years, "Betty" is likewise doing social service work.

"Em" Maxwell, '30, and "GG" Guilford, '27, once again undertook summer duties at the Preventorium, at Farmingdale, N. J. "Em" claims that her particular interest was making Americans out of those present.

Ocean City held a peculiar fascination for many in the chapter, though none have agreed as to the source. Elsie Randall, Blanche Thomas, Ethel Henion, all of '30, "Bobby" Slifer, "Betty" Wilson, Marie Stampul, Helen Devitt, and "Polly" Brick of '31, also Ruth Bray, '27.

The chapter has received an announcement of the birth of a daughter, Amy Louise, to Mr. and Mrs. "Jeff" Miers, both of '26. Before her marriage Mrs. Miers was Miss Louise Matthews.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter takes pleasure in announcing the initiation into active membership on September 22 of Marjorie Budd, '31, Janice Booker, '30, Virginia Cowell, '31, Marion Hughes, ex-'31, Anna Mae Rees, '31, and Emma Shoff, '31.

"Betty" McHose, '28, and Mary Bennett, '30, represented Beta Kappa at the district convention held in Pittsburgh in June. Among other honors carried away by the Bucknell chapter was the scholarship cup for the district.

Beta Kappa girls were pleasantly surprised on their return to school to find the suite had been newly papered during the summer. This was the gift of local alumnae. The active members are grateful and pleased.

"Betts" Williams, '26, was back on Sunday, September 23, renewing acquaintances.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Nan Lee Thomas, '30

Everybody back and happy! Enthusiastic welcome was very noticeable, as greetings were exchanged at the suite last week. Everyone reported a "fine summer."

"Lee" Munkel's return was delayed on account of a poisoned eye. We are happy to state that it is improving rapidly.

A happy event occurred September 14, when Edythe Bond, '28, became Mrs. Edward Heiser. Mr. and Mrs. Heiser are now in Chicago, but will soon reside in St. Paul, Minnesota.

We wish the best of success to "Dot" Wolverton, '28, who has left to occupy a teaching position in Kyrias Girls' Institute, Albania.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

The Sigma Sigma Delta girls were delighted to have two visitors for the week-end of September 22, Marian Hendrickson and Thelma Wager, both of '28. Marian is teaching mathematics and science in the high school at Leck Hill, so we hope to see her often this year. Thelma entered Drexel Institute in Philadelphia on September 25 to take up a course in library work. We wish her the best of success as she starts in at another school.

Two others of our last year's seniors are taking up further work. Margaret Field is going to the Hartford School of Religious Education to get her M. R. E. degree, and Beryl Sumerfield is at Rochester Medical School. We feel well represented in the higher academic circles.

"Betty" Frederick, '29, has come back to school with the proof of her successful attempt to break the floor of the Princeton Library. While she was working there this summer, she slipped on the glass floor and cut her knee. The pane of glass on which she fell was already cracked, so they can not blame the whole damage on "Betty."

One of our members is proudly wearing a certain Demie's fraternity pin. Congratulations, Ada!

Margarida Reno, '27, plans to sail about the middle of October for Brazil, where she will teach in her father's mission school and do bacteriology work on the side. Brazil seems so far away that we hate to have her go, but we had her for one extra year so we must not complain.

Some of the girls were very professional in their choice of work this summer. Ruth Wentworth, '30, worked for two weeks in a dentist's office and received a two-pound box of chocolates from one of the dentist's kind patients. Ruth Kizer, '30, assisted a doctor for a time, and she has many amusing tales to tell of the calls that came to the office.

Mary Harrar, '26, Beryl Sumerfield, '28, and Thelma Wager, '28, were house mothers at a camp in New York this summer. With 35 or more boys to manage, they had a chance to try their hands at discipline. According to their reports, the boys weren't all angels, either!

GRIDIRON GLEANINGS

Miller, of last fall's freshmen team, received a real workout last Saturday and made the most of it. He performed at the tackle post and contributed several tackles that helped to stop the eager freshmen.

Another Bloomfield boy on the Bucknell team. First it was McCormick and then Ellor and Hambecker. Now it's Lobel. Andy played with the freshman last fall and is now ready for varsity work. He will probably start in the game against Schuylkill on Saturday. He is a fine defensive man who will probably help the Bisons win a number of games this fall.

Many B. U. Grads Victims of Cupid

The marriage of Miss Caryl Dutton, '27, of Buffalo, New York to Mr. Kenneth Slifer, '26, of Woodbury, N. J., was solemnized during the summer at the Central Park Baptist church in Buffalo, Dr. E. H. Dutton, the father of the bride, performing the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Louis Dutton. Miss Vera Herrick, '26, was maid of honor, and Pauline Dutton, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Mr. Roland Dutton, brother of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Ray Clement, of Woodbury, N. J., Mr. Walter Rieman, of Buffalo, N. Y., Mr. T. B. Drum, '26, of Lewisburg, and Mr. E. W. Carter, of Pittman.

The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride. Among the Bucknellians present at the wedding reception were: Roberta Slifer, sister of the groom, Professor and Mrs. M. L. Drum, Mrs. L. L. Phillips, and Geddes Simpson, all of Lewisburg, and Edna Craft and Helen Bell of Buffalo.

Mrs. E. S. Slifer, and Dr. and Mrs. Dutton, parents of the young couple, are also Bucknell graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Slifer are at home at 5 Curtis Ave., Woodbury, New Jersey. Mr. Slifer is connected with N. W. Ayer and Co., a Philadelphia advertising concern.

Edwin Sylvester Heiser, a native of Lewisburg and Bucknell graduate, was married to Miss Edythe Wilhelmina Bond, of Williamsport, recently in St. Mark's Lutheran church of that city. The Rev. J. Ray Houser, pastor, officiated.

The groom is the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Heiser and lived on West Market street, Lewisburg. He was graduated from Bucknell in 1927 and is a member of the Eta Alpha Mu and the Beta Kappa fraternities. Mr. Heiser was appointed a United States radio inspector some time ago and is now stationed at St. Paul, Minn.

His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Bond, of Jerome avenue, Williamsport. She too, is a Bucknell graduate, having received her Bachelor of Arts degree last June. She graduated Magna Cum Laude and it marked her third graduation with high class honors.

The newlyweds are now on a honeymoon and will reside in St. Paul.

—Sunbury Item.

George Barnhart, former Sunburian and graduate of Bucknell University was united in marriage with Miss Mildred Gray, of Wilkes-Barre, in a pretty wedding held this morning in the Memorial chapel at Valley Forge. The groom is the son of Mrs. M. A. Barnhart, 125 Arch street.

The bridal couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Barnhart, of Sparrows Point, Md., and Miss Edith Barnhart, of the University of Pennsylvania, brother and sister of the groom.

Mr. Barnhart, who is a native of Upper Augusta township, is a chemist in the employ of the Du-Pont DeNemours Company at Wilmington, Del. He resides at Woodbury, N. J., where the newlyweds will make their home upon their return from their honeymoon trip. The bride has been a music teacher in the public schools in New Jersey. Prior to her New Jersey assignment she had been making her home with her sister in Wilkes-Barre.

—Sunbury Item for August 4.

Most of us hope to get a big kick out of football this season.

—o—

It seems that only tennis players take love seriously at Bucknell.

—o—

Since automobiles are not allowed here, escalators should be installed on the hill, so that those not accustomed to walking may attend classes both safely and promptly.

AUTO BUS SERVICE
Saturdays, Evenings and Holidays
O. I. LIDDICK 7th and Market

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

WELCOME '32
We are glad to see you, and know you will be happy when you see our New Fall styles.
Come in and look them over.
Lehman's Shoe Store
223 Market Street Lewisburg, Pa.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Newspapers and Magazines, Stationery, Tobacco and Cigars,
J. A. FEGLEY

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

Quick
on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan PENS-PENCILS
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

Welcome Back
SENIORS!
JUNIORS!
SOPHOMORES!
We hope you enjoyed your vacation and feel sure you are prepared to undergo another successful year at
"DEAR OLD BUCKNELL"
FRESHMEN
We know you will like your new environment. We wish you the best of success.
When in Milton and you desire to wait for someone, write a letter, use the telephone, cash a check, etc., our store is always at your service.
PEOPLE'S SHOE STORE
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

For Christian Education
BUCKNELL
UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
For catalog, book of views, or information, Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies, pillos developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Two Slickers
—are often a big convenience— in different colors for variety.
—one for home—one for the car.
—and even if you can't afford a car—you can afford two slickers.
Standard Student Slicker
Ask for a slicker with this label
at
Montgomery & Co.

HALICKI, JONES, WOODRING, FROST, AND FARROW LEAD

Bison Squads To Be Captained By Outstanding Athletes During 1028-29 Year

Freshmen, these facts are not in your Bible but it will be a good thing to know them. Towering above our numerous athletes on the campus are several outstanding ones who are known as leaders or captains.

Foremost among our athletic captains this year is "Eddie" Halicki, of Hanover Township. Halicki is a senior this fall, and has already played on the Bison team for two seasons. The present campaign will be his last in varsity competition and he is expected to be the kingpin of the Bucknell backfield.

Halicki Leads The Varsity

Halicki, during his freshman year at Bucknell, captained the yearling eleven and played at one of the halfback posts. He also pitched for the yearling nine and played at a forward berth on the court five.

He easily qualified for a berth on the varsity eleven during his sophomore year and soon became a brilliant all-around backfield man. He played basketball and baseball with the varsity during the same year, being one of the few three-lettermen in Bucknell.

Halicki is 21 years old, weighs 180 pounds, and is five feet eleven inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Hanover Township High School. Eddie is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Jones is Baseball Captain

A quiet and unassuming chap known by all on the campus as "Chuck" Jones will captain the 1929 baseball team. Jones will play his last year of varsity baseball next spring and expects to have a great year. He is a shortstop and is one of the finest ever turned out at Bucknell. A natural 300 hitter and always a steady fielder, Jones gives promise of attaining heights in the big leagues some day.

Jones does not confine his athletic activities wholly to baseball as he is also one of Coach Snavely's halfbacks on the football team. Jones is a football veteran of two years. He also played on the freshmen eleven at a halfback position. His best asset is his open field running. He is fast and shifty and a hard man to tackle.

Jones is 20 years old, weighs 170 pounds, and is five feet nine inches tall. He prepare for Bucknell at Benton High Schhool. He now lives in Hyattsville, Md. He is also a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Woodring is Basketball Leader

Bucknell's 1929 basketball team will be captained by Louis Woodring of Reynoldsville. "Woody," who is a senior this year, is a basketball letter-man for the past two years. He is a guard, shining especially on the defense. He also possesses an eagle eye for the basket, as he has the ability to sink in the long ones.

Woodring has been a member of the Bison football team for the past two years and has served well as an end. He is going like a house afire this fall, and it is expected that he will see plenty of action with the Snavely troops. Last fall he starred in the Lehigh game, running 75 yards for a touchdown.

Woodring is 20 years old, weighs 160 pounds, and is six feet one inch High School before he enrolled at Bucknell. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Farrow is Track Leader

Our cinder path aspirants this spring will be led by Johnny Farrow who hails from Haddonfield, N. J. John has been a star on the Bison track team for the past two years. He is a long distance runner and has been a consistent winner for Bucknell in all the events in which he has taken part.

Farrow is 20 years old, weighs 150 pounds, and is five feet ten inches tall. He is a member of the Alpha Chi Mu fraternity.

Frost Heads the Tennis Men

Although tennis is listed as a minor sport, the outdoor court game has an unlimited number of Bison followers. George Frost, of Bradley Beach, N. J. will lead the Bison tennis men next spring through a long and difficult schedule.

Frost is a fine player and usually wins all his matches. He generally plays as the first man and thereby puts his team in the lead. Frost is 22 years old and weighs 160 pounds.

Greetings: Farley's Barber Shop.
Welcome to Farley's Barber Shop.

B. U. Players Drill In Secret Practice

Students wandering over to North Field these afternons, expecting to watch Coach Carl Snavely tutor his Bison squad, are being unpleasantly surprised to find signs reading "Secret Practice." Signs mean nothing in the lives of some people, and those who disregard there posted notices are certain not to get far before they are stopped by one of the managerial staff to see if they possess passes admitting them to the session. If not, the spectators are forced to watch the workout from a distance. There are of course some people who are allowed to enter the sacred grounds, but they are either university officials or representatives of the press.

This move on the part of Coach Snavely and his assistants may seem drastic to some, and perhaps offensive, and for that reason the mentor wishes the reason for this condition to be made known. Although one reason would be sufficient, there are several. First, the coaches have no privacy, and could not talk to their men with the intimacy they now do. Also, the men would not welcome adverse criticism when it was overheard by other students. Spectators never watch from a reasonable distance, and their crowding is bound to hamper the running of plays as well as subjecting the fans to possible injuries. Also, and this is a main reason, the scouting of our team by advance men from enemy camps must be reduced to a minimum, for it is no secret that at least one of our major games last year was lost solely because of intensive scouting. While it is impossible to conceive of students intentionally harming our team by allowing information to get out, there is a chance that such a condition could arise and the student, even though he might be the most loyal rooter, be unaware of it. But the real danger would be from a scout's mingling with the watching student body and procuring enough information to cause our defeat.

To produce a championship team we must cooperate, and for that purpose we must be content to watch the practices from a reasonable distance and show our enthusiasm in the stands at the games.

GLEANED FROM THE GRID
By "Mac" McElligot

Although the freshman-varsity contest was merely a practice session a large crowd of Orange and Blue rooters was in the stands witnessing the first real workout of the year. Several enthusiastic co-eds were interested spectators at the annual clash.

* * * *

Many of the Bison rooters were surprised at the size of the freshman team. The entire line looked as though each man weighed over 200. The yearlings were successful in the first half and managed to check the varsity onslaught for the time being.

* * * *

Evidently Coach Snavely was well pleased with the outcome of the game. It served to give him a line on whom he should start next Saturday. He will be confronted with a difficult task and indications are that he will not name the official line-up until just before the game begins.

* * * *

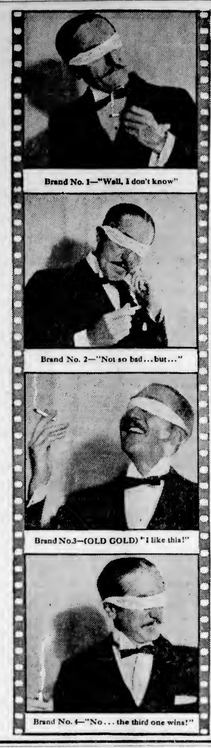
"Pottsville" Jones, the heavyweight boxer from the coal regions, treated the fans to a rare exhibition of line play. The quiet and nonchalant youth went about his task in a serious manner, stopping almost every play that came through his territory. Jones has the earmarks of a real star and he should attain stardom this fall. He is fast, shifty, and a hard man to bowl over. He possesses crushing power on the offense and is a lightning-like tackler on the defense. He is a luminary at either a tackle or a guard berth for he has the faculty of contributing strength wherever and whenever it is needed. Truly he should prove to be a valuable member of the 1928 Bucknell eleven.

* * * *

For the first time in four years Bucknell has a new fullback. Bert Ellor has taken over "Wally" Diehl's old job and has so far made a success of his new assignment. Ellor, possessing brute strength, is a battering ram when he carries the ball and it usually takes from three to four men to haul him down.

* * * *

Captain "Eddie" Halicki, Bucknell's greatest athlete since the days of Christy Mathewson, is looking forward to a great season. He showed signs of real accomplishments on the gridiron in the new future by performing in fine style on Saturday. Halicki's open field running together with his expert kicking were the features of the game.



Brand No. 1—"Well, I don't know"
Brand No. 2—"Not so bad...but..."
Brand No.3—(OLD GOLD) "I like this!"
Brand No. 4—"No... the third one wins!"

Adolphe Menjou
picks OLD GOLD
as camera records the Blindfold test

The test was conducted by responsible witnesses who asked Mr. Menjou to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. While the camera recorded the test, only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

"I've discovered a new way of mixing business and pleasure. The parts I play call for the constant smoking of a cigarette . . . I probably average one cigarette to every hundred feet of film. In the blindfold test I discovered one so smooth, so considerate of my tongue and throat that even the business of wholesale smoking while we're shooting scenes will be a pleasure. The cigarette I voted for proved to be OLD GOLD."

Adolphe Menjou

ADOLPHE MENJOU . . . debonair, sophisticated Paramount star . . . one of the greatest living actors . . . appeared recently in "His Tiger Lady", "Night of Mystery" and "Serenade".

Why you can pick them

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLDS.

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760
Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

SMOOTHER AND BETTER
"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

Hats Cleaned and Blocked
Pipes and Tobacco
AT BILLY'S
Shoe Shining Parlors
Opposite Phi Psi House

WEIS PURE FOOD STORE
FOR QUALITY MEATS
AND GROCERIES
Our Service is Yours

L. R. WAINWRIGHT
Manager.
A REAL BAND
PHONE 51
Lewisburg, Pa.

L. ROGER WAINWRIGHT
and His BLUE BAND
OF LEWISBURG, PA.
The Snappiest Collegiate Orchestra in the East

HELP FLORIDA and PORTO RICO

Make contributions at stores displaying the Red Cross card or send check to DR. JOHN T. JUDD, University Ave., Lewisburg

$5,000,000 is Urgently Needed. AMERICAN RED CROSS Union County Chapter.

Many New Members Added to Faculty

The opening of the semester shows an increase in the faculty by the addition of several new members and the return of several others who have been away on leaves of absence.

Dr. Frank Russel Hamblin who has obtained his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago, and who has taught at the University of Vermont, is to take the place of his father, Dr. Jacob Hamblin in the Greek department. Dr. C. H. Richardson, upon whom the University of Michigan conferred a doctor's degree, has been head of the mathematics department in Georgetown College, Kentucky, for the last ten years. Dr. H. L. Childs, a graduate of Dartmouth, who obtained his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago, has taught in both Dartmouth and Syracuse and for the last four years has been on the faculty at William and Mary College. Dr. Meyer F. Nimkoff, who is a graduate of Boston University, and whose doctor's degree was conferred by the University of Southern California, is to instruct in both political science and sociology.

Dr. William Eyster has taught in the University of Maine and has recently enjoyed the privilege of a Guggenheim fellowship. He comes to us after a year spent in Germany. Professor John H. Eisenhauer, a graduate of Bucknell, has been principal of the Reading High School, and besides being the associate professor of education, is the director of summer school and extension work. Mr. Byron S. Hollinshead, a graduate of Brown, comes to Bucknell as an instructor in English. Miss Majel K. Brooks, a graduate of Barnard, comes as a member of the French department. She has taught in high school work and comes to us from Saginaw, Michigan. Miss A. B. Stainton, is a graduate of Wells College and is instructing in both Latin and English. Miss Helen Tollefson is a graduate of the school of music of Northwestern University, and is to teach piano.

Professor Frank G. Davis, R. L. Matz, C. Willard Smith and Clarence R. Johnson have returned to take their places on the faculty.

It is felt that never before has the university begun a year with the faculty so strengthened, as is the case this year.

Who's Who AT B. U.

Frank B. Loper

Undoubtedly the most prominent member of the student body during Freshman Week, and one of the foremost Bucknellians throughout the year is "Lope," president of the Y. M. C. A., president of the Ministerial Association, and president of many other organizations. Frank was designated by one of the faculty members as "the man with the habit of being president." Loper has to his credit the leadership of his class in high school at Bridgeton, N. J., for all four years. Last year he was president of the class of '29.

During the past year, Loper has been instrumental in bringing many well-known speakers to the campus. His marked success in "Y" work has brought him membership on several national Y. M. C. A. committees.

"Lope" is an athlete of merit, also; he is a member of the track squad and a prominent member of the Theta Upsilon Omega basketball team.

Besides all these other activities, Frank finds time to devote a great deal of attention to the offices of marshall and steward of his fraternity. Loper is engaged in many more activities, but these main ones typify his character.

The society Phi Beta Kappa, was founded December 6, 1776, at William and Mary College.

BISON VARSITY WINS FROM FRESHMEN, 24-0 sent the ball straight and true between the goal posts for the extra tally.

(Continued from page 1)

Quinn and Halicki Score

Halicki personally conducted the scoring of the second six pointer when after a series of line plunges he carried the ball over the line on an off tackle play. Eddie booted another point after touchdown and increased the varsity lead to 14-0.

Halicki, the versatile, contributed the third score of the contest. After a series of short forward passes which brought the ball within 20 yards of the freshman goal line, Captain Halicki elected to try for a field goal and again was successful.

Charley Jones, the unassuming Hyattsville lad, gave the fans a big thrill just before the termination of the affair. "Chuck", dashing at full speed in the middle of the field, snatched a long forward pass heaved by Mose Quinn and continued the sensational play by racing 40 yards for the last score of the game. Halicki added the extra point and shortly afterward the final whistle blew indicating the close of the game.

The freshman, although entirely outclassed, revealed a well-drilled aggregation that is capable of holding its own with any freshman eleven in the East. Indications are that the Mussermen will enjoy unusual success on the gridiron this fall.

"Pottsville" Jones Stops 'Em

Stonebracker, at the left end post, furnished the fans with an exhibition of tight defensive work. This freshman, with a year's experience, should be a real star next fall. "Pottsville" Jones, the pride of the coal regions, was a bulwark on the defense for the winners. Jones, weighing over 200 pounds, stopped all comers that attempted to invade his territory.

The score by periods:

Varsity	0	0	14	10	—24
Freshmen	0	0	0	0	—0

Touchdowns—Quinn, Halicki, C. Jones. Points after touchdowns: Halicki (3) (placement kicks). Goal from field, Halicki (placement).

Thomas Arkie Clark was the first dean of men in the college world and has held this post for twenty years at the University of Illinois.

"Mutt" Convery, '29, A Successful Coach

"Mutt" Convery, '29, passed an interesting summer at his Perth Amboy home. For the fifth year in succession the versatile Convery piloted his playground baseball team to the championship of the city. The Perth Amboy favorite was employed as a leader and a coach for young high school boys who spent their summer on the city playgrounds.

Convery's success as a coach is nothing new to those who attend Bucknell. Followers of baseball at the Lewisburg institution know that Convery is a baseball player of the first order. When a sophomore, Convery easily qualified for an outfield berth on the Bucknell varsity nine but was forced to quit the diamond game shortly afterward because of poor health.

However, he sufficiently recovered last spring to shine afield and at bat for the Sigma Chi baseball team, the aggregation that won the inter-fraternity championship of Bucknell. Convery's all-round playing was largely responsible for the success of his team. The Bucknell youth batted 500, and accepted 45 out of 46 chances in the field.

At the termination of the season Convery was placed on the all-fraternity team by virtue of his sensational work, that had brought his team the championship. "Mac" McElgot, Bucknell sports writer, readily placed Convery on the first team at first base, an honor which the Perth Amboy lad undoubtedly deserved.

"Pottsville" Jones Deserts Non-frats.

The Bucknell University campus received an overwhelming surprise today when it was learned through reliable sources that Thomas C. "Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell's most colorful athlete, was pledged to join the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Jones was the last of the prominent men to desert the ranks of the non-frats to voice his intentions of joining a fraternity.

The recent pledging of Jones recalls the brilliant, colorful and checkered career of that individual. At Bucknell, Jones is a football and boxing star. He is one of Coach Snavely's massive guards and a wonder on both the defense and offense.

In addition, Jones is also the heavyweight boxing champion of the college. He is a terrific puncher and gives promise to develop into a heavyweight possessing championship qualifications.

Jones is 19 years old weighs 205 pounds and is five feet ten inches tall. Despite his excessive weight he is amazingly fast. He prepared for Bucknell at Llewellyn High School where he was a star in all sports.

PROFESSOR W. COLEMAN SPEAKS TO CANADIANS

(Continued from Page 1)

ciples. Canada, he declared, was expanding by leaps and bounds and her people should not foster any idea of isolation but should think in international terms.

It was this very thing that was aiding so much in the movement to eliminate war, and he spoke eloquently of the Kellogg pact signed in Paris recently, of the League of Nations, and other manifestations of international goodwill. He referred to the visit of the Bremen flyers—two Germans and an Irishman—and the noisy welcome received by those men who but ten short years ago were looked upon as enemies of this country.

Professor Coleman in closing paid a warm tribute to the founder of Rotary and the work such organizations were doing. The chairman tendered him the kind thanks of the Club.

Thermometers should be bought in the winter when they're lower.

KUPSTAS IS INJURED IN COASTER ACCIDENT

(Continued from Page 1)

with his arm in a sling less than a week after the unhappy occurrence. He returned to Bucknell early in September apparently fit for duty. He carried no earmarks of his recent injury so it was probable that he would play football again this fall.

However, Coach Snavely thought it advisable to keep Kupstas on the bench for the time being. He may yet be suffering from some ill effects of the early summer accident and to use him in the game may further aggravate the injury.

Kupstas is Popular

Bucknell followers will be keenly disappointed when they learn that Kupstas will not be available for duty on Saturday. The Hanover youth is a favorite in both the class room and on the athletic field, respected and admired by all the fellows and co-eds.

Kupstas is 21 years old, weighs 175 pounds and is five feet ten inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Hanover Township High School where he was a football star for a three-year period. He played with "Eddie" Halicki, present Bucknell football captain, in high school and they both continued their athletic career together at Bucknell. Both Halicki and Kupstas are members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Bucknell.

RECEPTION PRESENTS NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

(Continued from page 1)

about, and the faculty folks took full advantage of the opportunity. Class room duties and worries were for the time being laid on the shelf.

Then Mrs. Clara Sale initiated a movement to the dining room that was not at all difficult to start, where Mrs. Paul G. Stolz and Mrs. W. T. MacCreadie presided at a long table filled with delectable articles. All the evening long there was a steady flow of persons into and out of the dining room, then more talk, and finally a word of farewell to the kindly host and hostess.

STUDENTS! ATTENTION!

Make a day's wages for one hour's work after classes. No experience or investment necessary. We have an opening at Bucknell. Applications considered in order of their receipt. Write today for free particulars.

Bradford & Co. Inc. St. Joseph, Mich.

The Season Is On FOR Leather Coats and Blouses

We have a fine showing of THE GLOVER LINE which is favorably known all over the leather garment world for its quality and style.

Our stock covers leather garments for the CO-ED. as well as for the boys.

We invite you to inspect this sterling line.

W. L. Donehower, B. U. '06
VARSITY OUTFITTER
Athletic and Sporting Goods Equipment
Knit Goods, Leather Sport Garments, Etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (near Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER

French Raincoats
of Cravenetted Gaberdine yoke lined at
$5.00 Each.

LEATHERETTE RAINCOATS
ALL COLORS AT
$5.00 Each.

Sport Slip-Over Sweaters at - $2.85

SUNBURST SKIRTS
OF SCOTCH PLAIDS AT
$5.00 Each.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

Back to the Alma Mater

For men who are about to return to college and who strive for authenticity in their apparel, new

COLLEGE HALL
Suits in the Hy-Roll model—the perfect university sack suit.

COLLEGE HALL
HY-ROLL SUITS
(three-button and two-button)

Gulfstream Gray
Maple Leaf Brown
Dart Green
$35
Grainweaves
Shadoweaves
Customweaves

J. F. PROWANT
With Two Trousers.

LET'S GO!!

Where—Freshmen can gather under the single motive of good fellowship.
Where—Upperclassmen will meet and recall the pleasant experience of former years.
Where—Most everyone worth while from the "Hill" and "Sem" "hang out."
Where—They try to treat you right.
WELCOME BACK, EVERYBODY.
WAINIES
THE HOME OF HOME-MADE CANDY AND ICE CREAM
Exactly Opposite the Trust Company

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

REMEMBER BISONS, WE'LL BE ROOTING FOR YOU SATURDAY

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4, 1928. NUMBER 4

HEAR YE! HEAR YE! DEBATE TRYOUTS OCTOBER 8, AT 8 P. M.

SCHUYLKILL TEAM FIGHTS HARD AS BISONS WIN 7-0

"Chuck" Jones Plunges Through In Third Quarter To Make Solitary Touchdown

CAPT. "EDDIE" HALICKI KICKS THE EXTRA POINT

In a game that was featured by the brilliant line plunging of Captain "Eddie" Halicki and "Chuck" Jones, the Bucknell football eleven auspiciously ushered in the 1928 grid season at the Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon by downing a plucky and hard fighting Schuylkill team by 7-0.

The solitary score was made in the third period when "Chuck" Jones, the fleet-footed Maryland youth, carried the ball over the last white chalk line. This tally was the result of a series of successful line plunges by Jones, Quinn, and Slate.

After the touchdown was scored, Coach Snavely hurriedly inserted Captain Halicki in the game in order that the Hanover lad might kick the extra point. Halicki's trusty right toe sent the spheriod straight and true between the uprights, increasing the Bucknell lead to 7-0.

The Bison backs threatened to score again near the close of the game but were unable to penetrate Schuylkill's fine defense, although the ball was on the three-yard line.

Bisons Threaten Again

However, at this period of the game, Snavely's star trio of backs, Halicki, Quinn, and Jones had been withdrawn and only the second-string ball toters were in the fray. Norman Ross, brilliant sophomore quarterback, made a long run in the last period that brought the ball within scoring distance of the enemy's goal line. In four successive tries, Ross, Hambacker, and Woodring were unable to cross the goal line for another score.

Much credit for the victory must be given to "Tony" Slate, a hard-plunging fullback, who played with the yearling eleven last fall. It was "Tony," who, early in the third period, intercepted an enemy forward pass in mid-field and ran the pigskin back twenty yards before he was

(Continued on page 5)

Eaglesmere Council Honors "Em" Maxwell

A real honor has come to Bucknell as well as to an individual Bucknellian in that Emilie Maxwell, '30, has been appointed by the Eaglesmere Council to the position of Eaglesmere chairman for next summer.

It is customary for an undergraduate man and woman to preside together at the annual student conference which is held in June at the close of the college year. The 1928 chairmen were from Swarthmore and Dickinson. That Bucknell is to share the honor for 1929 came both as a surprise and a great pleasure to those who had previously attended Eaglesmere, and to those who knew "Em."

"Em" Maxwell, who in the minds of a great many is just the person for the job, served last year as a member of the Council. She attended Eaglesmere this past year. Word came to her yesterday of her appointment and with the added suggestion that she attend meetings of the council during the year in order to help plan for the 1929 conference.

Bucknell has been using "Em" well since her freshman year. At present she is vice president of the Y. W. C. A., of the Women's Athletic Association and is an active member of Frill and Frown. Alpha Chi Omega proudly claims her.

Her freshman year "Em" was selected to represent her class at the Eaglesmere gathering. The following fall she was named for the planning committee, and the Eaglesmere Council as a result of her interest and ability chose her for the highest position accorded a girl at the conference.

We're looking at the noses and lips of the Bucknell boys now, for compacts are generally found in their pockets.

Minick, '29, Presides At 1st Mass Meeting

Friday evening at 7:00, the first mass meeting of the year was held in Commencement Hall, with John C. Minick, president of the Senior Tribunal presiding as chairman. The following afternoon Schuylkill felt the effects of the boisterous cheering, for what happened then is mere history now.

Chairman Minick opened the meeting with a few announcements, and this was followed by a short practice of the University cheers. Speeches by John D. Plant, physical director, Carl Snavely, head football coach, and Captain "Eddie" Halicki, served to strengthen the idea that college spirit and the moral support of the student body would do much toward making a bigger and better Bucknell University football team.

The various cheers and songs of the University served toward injecting pep into the students. The meeting broke up with the singing of the Alma Mater.

BISONS PREPARE FOR STIFF CLASH AT BEAVER FALLS

Team to Profit From Experience Of Saturday's Game When It Opposes Geneva

Intensive practice sessions began at Bucknell in earnest this week in preparation for the Geneva game that is scheduled for Saturday at Beaver Falls. Coach Snavely will send his men through long workouts and drills every day until Thursday when the Bison warriors entrain for the western part of the state.

The Schuylkill game on Saturday furnished the Bucknell mentor with a definite idea as to the strength of his team. Evidently, Snavely was well pleased with the impressive work of his forward wall, as the Schuylkill plungers were stopped in their tracks when they tried to crash through the Bison line.

Halicki Is Backfield Star

Captain "Eddie" Halicki, playing at the fullback post, looms up as an offensive threat to any opposing team this year. At one time during the Schuylkill game Halicki fought his way through for three first downs in succession. He was forced to leave the game early in the fourth period because of a slight injury. He would have been able to remain in the hard-fought encounter but Coach Snavely, a wise and cautious man, thought it advisable to withdraw his star back and save him for the Geneva game.

The Schuylkill team furnished somewhat of a surprise, by holding the Bucknell eleven scoreless in the first half. However, greater weight and experience ultimately triumphed, and consequently the visitors received a setback. However, the game was not as close as the score indicated, as the Bucknell aggregation registered 14 first downs to the five accumulated by the Schuylkill warriors.

Coach Snavely will now prime his men for the Geneva game that is less than a week away. Geneva has always been a tough foe for Bucknell, and the Beaver Falls eleven expects to hand the Snavely men their first defeat of the season on Saturday.

Geneva Is Tough Foe

Last fall, in the torrid heat of an October sun, Bucknell and Geneva battled to a stalemate in a grid tilt that was staged in Lewisburg. Several times the Bucknell backs threatened to score but lacked the necessary punch when the pigskin was within the shadows of the enemy's

(Continued on page 5)

MU PHI EPSILON
Lillian Mattick, '30

We wish to announce to our fellow students that there will be some very interesting information in the next issue of the Bucknellian about the many concerts that will be given in the forthcoming year. The plans have been laid and the programs are now being composed. Be on the look-out for the news.

We are very glad that we still have Miss Inez Robison, '28, even though she did graduate last June. Miss Robison is teaching in the Lewisburg High School.

500 PEOPLE HEAR MR. CLYDE KELLY DEDICATE MARKER

Local Chapter of D. A. R. Starts Movement Which Results In Memorial To Brady

When the Captain John Brady memorial was dedicated in East Lewisburg, Saturday afternoon, September 23, the honor paid to this local historical character came largely as the result of efforts made in this direction by persons formerly affiliated with Bucknell University.

The movement for a marker originated with the local chapter of the D. A. R., the acting committee of which was headed by Mrs. C. A. Grundy, a graduate of Bucknell and former principal of the Institute. The bill to appropriate the money for the memorial was introduced into the Pennsylvania State Legislature by the Honorable Sterling Post, '17.

More than 500 persons listened to the address of Congressman Clyde M. Kelly, who spoke at the ceremony, recounting numerous exploits of the noted pioneer.

"Brady was a man of faith, such as we need today," Mr. Kelly said. "He was a man of vision, and he looked beyond the wars to the day when America would be a nation of homes.

"Here Mary and John lived, and from here they sent ten eaglets into the world. What names they are; Mary, the name of Shakespeare's mother, of Washington's mother; Mary, the Mother of Christ.

"Sam Brady, one of their sons, went to the western part of the state and became the founder of English civilization there. Gen. Hugh Brady fought in the Revolution, and there was never a better soldier. The

(Continued on page 8)

Interpretation of Aesthetic Experience Is Topic of Research by Prof. F. Lund

"An Interpretation of Aesthetic Experience" is the title of a piece of research by Dr. Frederick H. Lund, which is published in the July issue of "The American Journal of Psychology." This newest addition to Dr. Lund's growing list of published research has attracted widespread notice and has earned hearty commendation.

Other scientific publications already familiar to us are "The Science of Mental Activity;" a textbook which is being used in 29 colleges and universities; "The Psychology of Belief" (Doctor's dissertation); "The Criteria of Confidence;" "The Role of Practise in Speed of Association;" "The Phantom of the Gestalt;" "The Emotional and Volitional Detirminants of Belief," etc.

Dr. Lund came to Bucknell last year from Columbia University where he had been on the teaching staff for four years. He is a member of the American Psychological Association, of the honorary society Phi Beta Kappa, and of the social fraternity Theta Upsilon Omega.

Interest in aesthetics, says the writer, has been limited either to purely theoretical features or else to a consideration of the objects capable of arousing the aesthetic attitude, that is, to the formal and qualitative features of music, painting, sculpture, etc.

Common Elements

The interest of the psychologist, on the other hand, an interest which would center about the nature of response series capable of arousing the aesthetic experience, has been almost entirely neglected. It is because past interest has been in the materials of art, music, etc., that investigators have failed to recognize common elements in the diverse materials responsible for the aesthetic experience.

"The literary forms of art are treated apart from the plastic forms, the visual apart from the auditory, the spatial apart from the non-spatial," Dr. Lund points out. "Objectively, they are, of course, distinct. Objectively, there is no similarity between music and architecture, between painting and sculpture, between a gem and a poem, a symphony and a cathedral. Subjectively,

(Continued on page 4)

N. Y. U. PROFESSOR TO SPEAK AT B. U. ED. CONFERENCE

Dr. Cox, Originator of the Solvay System of Education To Be Here October 19-20

The third Bucknell conference on Education to be held here October 19 and 20 at the same time as the Home-coming celebration increases in attractiveness because of the fine caliber of speakers which will address the general sessions. Dr. Philip W. L. Cox and Dr. Harry A. Sprague are two educational experts who will be present.

Dr. Cox, professor of Secondary Education at New York University, is the originator of the Solvay System of Education. He experimented with this system when he was Superintendent of Schools at Solvay, New York. He has taught in Saint Louis, in the Washington School in New York, where he was Head Master, and at Columbia University. He went to New York University in 1923. Dr. Cox is an outstanding figure in the Education world because of his reputation as an authority on Secondary methods and as an author of numerous treatises.

The other speaker, Dr. Harvey A. Sprague is the president of the New Jersey State Teacher's College at Montclair. He was formerly Assistant Superintendent of the Newark, New Jersey, School System. Dr. Sprague is now conducting experiments in teacher's college education methods.

Publicity for the conference has been extensive. Several thousand postcards bearing scenes of the Bucknell campus and buildings have been sent to teachers inviting them to the conference. The sessions are open to the general public.

Prof. Frederick Lund

Dr. E. Condict, '08, Visits B. U. Campus

"In 25 years Chins will be either Buddhists or Christians." Dr. E. Carroll Condict, '08, quoted an English historian in the course of an interview at the Women's College on Sunday afternoon, September 30. The missionary cited the quotation as a reason for the mass movement to win the Chins to Christendom.

Dr. Condict has a school at Thayetmyo in Burma for 90 boys and girls. This school is the headquarters for his work, although his field includes six districts (like our counties), and more than 100,000 people. Of that number a thousand are Christians, and now even the non-Christians are friendly toward the national mass movement, the definite goal of Dr. Condict.

Dr. Condict graduated from Bucknell in '08, and entered Newton Theological Seminary from which he graduated in '11. In November of that year he sailed to take up his work among the Chins. Since his commencement Dr. Condict has returned to Bucknell twice. He is planning to return to Burma alone this time, and his wife and three boys will remain in this country.

Baptist Frosh Enjoy Student Reception

On Friday evening, September 28, at 7:30, the members of the Baptist church made it possible to hold the annual reception for the Freshmen, in the chapel-room of the church building.

Judging from the large group there and from the many favorable comments made afterward, the Baptist Frosh are ready for a good year. It has been said that after the many receptions given in honor of the new students, they are feeling that this is the best college they could have entered. In order to make them feel perfectly at home, everybody indulged in some child's play for a short time. In fact they went so far as to play that old favorite game "Three Deep." Evidently the freshmen liked that sort of thing for they seemed to enjoy themselves the entire evening.

The program was quite brief, because of many illnesses and such which hindered the other performers from taking part. Helen Bell, '30, who is chairman of the program committee for the Baptist C. E. could not be there to take part in the entertainment, so "Ray" Taylor, '30, took charge and he proved to be a very good conductor.

Of course the evening would not be complete without the grand climax —eats. Thanks to "Bobbie" Thomas, '30, and her helpers, everybody had plenty to eat. The frosh are inquiring about the next reception. Well, that will come out a little later.

POPULAR FULLBACK TURNS DOWN JOB COACHING TEMPLE

Diehl Gives Up Material Things But Also Keeps Admiration Of Bucknell Friends

For a period of four years "Wally" Diehl gave all that he had to Bucknell. The great "Diehly," by his prowess, probably did more than any other one man during that time, to bring the name of Bucknell into a prominent position. For four years the name of Bucknell was linked with the deeds of Diehl, and "Wally" carried it even as far as the Pacific Coast, two years ago, when he represented the East in the sectional battle for the mythical national championship at the Carnival of Roses.

Now "Wally" Diehl is starring professionally for the Frankford Yellowjackets, playing sensationally wherever appearing.

Shows Sacrifice

While "Wally" gave his all physically while here, he is now making a sacrifice of more material things, again because of his love and respect for his Alma Mater. It is no secret that "Wally" would have liked a job on the Bucknell coaching staff to continue to make teams here to carry on the work that he started five years ago when he began making teams by his individual playing. But negotiations fell through and "Wally" went to Philadelphia to join the Hornets. While there he was asked to assist the Temple kickers, and the inducements were so attractive that he sensibly accepted. "Wally's" ability to impart his football lore became apparent after his first practice, and he was immediately asked to join the coaching staff as a regular mentor. Here was a real problem for Diehl, greater even than that of deciding which hole to pick, fourth down and the goal to go. The renumeration was such that it demanded serious consideration, and then there was the prestige to be considered, for the next step upwards would be a position as head coach at some university or college with elusive Fame ready to be tackled and thrown for a loss. And again, a young fellow just out of college, needs all the money that he can possibly earn.

"Wally" Decides

"Wally" heard the Temple proposition and immediately went into a huddle with himself and made a decision. He saw that he could not conscientiously coach Temple without imparting some of the Bucknell

(Continued on page 8).....

DEBATING SQUADS LOOK TO ANOTHER SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Coleman, Rawlinson, Mirarchi, And Minick Remain; Several Places To Be Filled

TRYOUTS FOR NEW MEN TO BE STAGED MONDAY.

With two important debates already scheduled and plans being made for an extensive debating tour through the New England states next spring, prospects seem bright for a good year in intercollegiate debating circles. Bucknell is justly proud of her excellent record in the greatest of intellectual sports. Last year teams of the calibre of Rutgers and Temple acknowledged the superiority of our teams, while Purdue, unbeaten over a period of three years, fell a victim to the prowess of our debaters on their mid-western invasion.

Although Bucknell this year suffers the loss of Lee Francis Lybarger Jr., debating ace, who holds a record for the number of intercollegiate debates in which he figured, a few of the Old Guard still remain. R. Henry Coleman, '29, Lyharber excepted, the most experienced Bucknell debater, is still available, not to mention A. H. Rawlinson, John C. Minick, and Eugene G. Mirarchi, all of the class of 1929, whose work last season points to even a better grade of performance this year. However, there are a number of places to be filled, and, in any case, only those men who show themselves best qualified will be selected to represent Bucknell in debate. Next year will see the passing of several of our debaters. Since experience counts heavily, all those interested in debating should come out this year with the idea of making this year's squad, if they can "deliver," or of being in line for another year, if they find competition too great. The point to remember is that everybody has a chance to make the squad.

The 1928-1929 debating season officially opens next Monday evening, October 8, at eight o'clock, in the Chemistry Building, at which time and place tryouts will be held to determine the personnel of this year's squad. The Bucknell Debate Council,

(Continued on page 8)

Bucknell Students Enjoy Annual Fair

The town of Lewisburg threw a big fair for itself on the fair-grounds located on the road to Mifflinburg. The Bucknell students availed themselves of this opportunity to disport themselves and many were in attendance.

The Bucknellian's roving reporter, discovered many campus celebrities in various and sundry places of amusement, as well as in the sideshows.

Who was discovered all agog over Lulu, the Pittsburg snake charmer, whose gaudy tent attracted the majority of the patrons, but the old campus roustabout, Paul Johnson, '30, Paul, upon detection, offered your clever correspondent all sorts of inducements to maintain silence, but these were rejected with the scorn worthy of it. The Bucknellian readers must be served.

"Pete" Pursley, '31, was irresistably attracted to "Mille. Elysee, the world's only female pin cushion." "Pete" cut six classes, according to a reliable source, to watch the jabbing process.

"Doc" Allen, '30, was almost run in because he slipped an insoluable cannon ball into the food of "Bartell, the human ostrich" How does he do it? A contingent of strong-arms belonging to the tent crew were in favor of a lynching, but "Doc" flashed a roll that reduced all anger, and restored Bartell's appetite.

The more sophisticated of the boys

(Continued on page 8)

PI MU EPSILON

A meeting of Pi Mu Epsilon will be held Monday, October 8, at 7:30, in room 1, Main Building. Professor C. H. Richardson will speak. Public invited.

"Hunty" McNally is now in the infirmary with swollen glands.

• • • •

"Polly" Ware, '28, is teaching history in the Pleasantville, N. J. high school.

• • • •

"Mike" Waldner hasn't missed an "8 o'clock" yet! More power to you "Mike."

• • • •

"Sally" Hawes, '30, is ill with lagrippe, and is spending some time in the women's infirmary.

• • • •

Clyde Miller, '31, had the misfortune to have his nose broken in football practice one recent afternoon.

• • • •

Since the co-eds must have permission to visit the cemetery, their ancestors will no doubt suffer neglect.

• • • •

Alice Corbett, a transfer from Oberlin Conservatory of Music, has entered Bucknell this fall as a junior.

• • • •

As far as fraternity men are concerned, the administration might as well decree a vacation during rushing season.

• • • •

Chapel attendance is diminishing. If seats are not soon assigned, there will be none present except the dutiful sophomores.

• • • •

No, frosh, "rushin'" season is not an open season on Bolsheviks. If you noticed carefully, you can see many "Red" eyes.

• • • •

Some one said "Mutt" Convery was passing out Havana perfectos. To the writer they look more like the old fashioned "two-fors."

• • • •

Eleanor Miller, '28, has a position now as secretary to the vice president of the Liberty Title and Trust Company in Philadelphia.

• • • •

"Cokes" are becoming more popular than ever since the "Semites" have given up sundaes in order to retain their girlish figures.

• • • •

The freshman girls can hardly wait for the evening mail to be distributed, so eager are they to find how many sorority dates they will receive.

• • • •

Now that rushing season is again here, the sophomores and upper-classmen will once more have ample opportunity to practice that permanent smile.

• • • •

Marion Izard, ex-'30, was visiting Bucknell last week, prior to entering Miss Illman's school in Philadelphia. "Pat" is planning to take kindergarten work.

• • • •

Some one broke into the room of "Joe" Clark and stole over half a basket of plums that were sent to him by a friend. Why not call in "Chief," "Joe?"

• • • •

The T. U. O. house apparently has a monopoly on the cymbal crashing job in the University Band. "Reggie" Gaylord has bequeathed his job to "Dave" Phillips.

• • • •

Campus financiers predict that Midnight Oil common will drop to a record low now that rushing season has drawn to a close. Watch for a rise in Studies preferred.

• • • •

Upon receiving invitations from several sororities at the beginning of rushing season, a freshman girl was heard to exclaim, "But they're all issued for the same time!"

• • • •

We sincerely hope that the bird cages and the heavy signs will have a good effect on the class of '32. The famous democracy that Bucknell has always enjoyed must continue!

• • • •

The co-eds are puzzled over the problem of how to retain some excess light without using more than two electrical appliances. "Illumination from the soul, is a divine light."

• • • •

Talking about color combinations, we saw a house today which is painted yellow, green, and white, and has side walls of red brick. Keep your eyes open when you walk downtown!

• • • •

Mail boxes have been installed in the dormitories for the purpose of "sign out" slips which are used by those who go "out of bounds." The practice teachers will count the mail boxes!

"Jesse" James, keeper of the "Klink" for '32, has been seen fitting o'er the campus lately playing some game with a bird cage. Listen, folks, here's the dirt. "Jesse's" real name is John Jr.

• • • •

We talk about professors being absent minded, but what about the "Semite" who at dinner the other evening started to drink from a milk bottle instead of the glass standing beside it?

• • • •

News has reached Professor Charles M. Bond that his eldest son is improving rapidly. The boy is suffering from an attack of spinal meningitis and is at the Geisinger Hospital now.

• • • •

"Al" Williams, '30, and Tom Wingate, '31, were again on beach patrol duty as lifeguards during the past summer. They grabbed fair maidens from the surf at Wildwood and Ocean City, respectively.

• • • •

Rand-y-Bell sandwiches, which are sold at the new dormitory, prove to be very pleasing to the appetite. We suggest that they be sold on the Hill between classes, as the College Inn needs competition.

• • • •

We hear that the workmen employed on the roof of the new dining room have offered to work without pay, due to the advantages offered them to study college life as it really is, in Larison Hall.

• • • •

"Bill" Waldner, '31, went to the Union County Fair last week to make a study of the "Evolution of the Dance." He reported that the art of dancing had improved considerably during the past few years.

• • • •

If you doubt that the "Semites" appreciate the Bucknellian, just remember that some of them are so anxious for it that they take the copies from other girls' boxes, and cause the deprived ones to mourn loudly.

• • • •

"Mac" McElligot, a prominent aspirant in the realm of journalism, spent his summer vacation working for Passaic Daily News and the Newark Star-Eagle. He was engaged in covering sports and theatre assignments.

• • • •

According to the number of heavy coats seen around the campus lately, it looks as if winter were a little early in its arrival this year. Perhaps, however, this is only to warn us of what the real thing will be when it comes to stay.

• • • •

Practice teaching has begun, and the seniors are in a grand furor of excitement! What with classes all morning, busses to catch to Milton, no lunch, and empty pocketbooks, we can hardly blame the exasperated teachers-to-be.

• • • •

"Curley" Miller, the versatile one man band of Milton, recently entertained at the Sigma Chi house from a half after five until eight. Also he has recently been adding to the popularity of O'Brien's by favoring its customers with selections on the banjo.

• • • •

This past summer Juliet Robertson, '30, filled a very interesting position as a teacher in a school for mentally deficient children, at Piermont, N. J. "Judy" has done this sort of work for several summers, and is getting valuable experience in the field of education.

• • • •

Professor Frederick H. Lund is going to give his psychology students some exercise in walking blindfolded, and incidentally gather data for his study of special orientation. All we have to say is that we'd rather be subjects for observation in spacial orientation than lacrimation.

• • • •

"Where, oh, where, have the gray squirrels gone?" Such a lament might be very suitable, for very few of our little friends have been seen on the campus since the opening of college. At all events, we miss hearing their gay chatter and seeing them play tag up and down the tree trunks.

• • • •

Thursday afternoon the "rushing" season for sororities was opened with the usual Pan-Hellenic progressive tea. As usual, rushing is causing much excitement around the women's college. It is said that later there will be much wailing and gnashing of teeth. But let's be optomistic and hope for the best.

• • • •

The wrath of the "Semites" is raised against the people who had pebbles put over the crossing at Loomis Street, between the new dormitory and the Chemistry Building. As though Lewisburg wasn't hard enough on shoe leather without making us walk over stones two or three times a day!

• • • •

Phyllis Edmunds, ex-'31, paid the "Sem" a flying visit on Monday. Phyllis is planning to attend the Pennsylvania Business College in Lancaster this year. She hopes to follow up her course at Lancaster with an architectural education. Phyllis is leaving her sister "Betty" to represent the family at Bucknell.

• • • •

While discussing evolution with one of his classes, Professor Charles M. Bond advanced an ancient theory that man is descended from butterflies. We have heard of social butterflies, but it is hard to think of one of the masculine sex as ever having been a butterfly, social or otherwise. Possibly he came from a hawk moth.

• • • •

James G. Lisella, '31, visited New York City on a recent week-end where he had a chance to see many places of interest and to observe some of the beauty and wonder spots of the American metropolis. Among these were the geological gardens and the botanical gardens in Bronx Park and the Museum of Art.

• • • •

It would be much easier for the co-eds if the freshmen boys were to wear their name cards on their chests instead of their backs. It is very difficult to have to turn, and walk backwards while going up and down the hill, and might also prove injurious to other co-eds, who are trying to read other name cards.

• • • •

Two members of a botany class which was out on a jaunt the other day grew footsore and decided to leave early, thinking that no one would know the difference. The joke was on them when they discovered later that the professor had taken the roll soon after they left, and that they might just as well have cut the class.

• • • •

"Ted" Mitchell, Bucknell's candidate for all-American center, answers to a new name. In addition to being called "Barrell," "Ramrod," and a host of other nicknames, he now sits up and takes notice at the mention of "Stadium." "Stud" Stephens is responsible, and "Mitch" threatens to stay up nights thinking of things to call "Stud."

• • • •

There is a freshman co-ed who is so religious that she carries a "Him" Book with her all the time. Its contents are not of a religious nature, though. In it she has a list of Jazz Hims, Matinee Hims, Love Hims, Sad Hims, Movie Hims, Accidental Hims, and a space for a wedding Hinn. Watch out, boys, that your name doesn't fill the last space.

• • • •

The tennis courts are in excellent condition as the result of an attack made on them by four of the campus landscape workers several days ago. To find playing room in the afternoons has almost become an impossibility. Morning seems to be the only time one can play freely, but early hours do not appeal to the general run of college students.

• • • •

The Senior Council has ordered all freshmen to wear name cards on their backs to facilitate acquaintanceship between the freshmen and men who are looking for prospective pledges to their fraternities. This arrangement might also make some of the freshman rules more effective. We are wondering what the methods will be for identifying the freshman girls.

• • • •

Luther Jefferies, one of our promising baseball hurlers, motored to his home town, Port Norris, N. J., after classes on a recent Friday. His parents had come to take him back to help win the league championship for his home-town baseball team. As this was to be their last game and against the town's greatest rival, Luther felt the urge of patriotism to help out.

• • • •

The first upper-class chapel period of this year brought forth the first call for varsity soccer-football players that has ever been issued in the history of Bucknell University. Soccer-football provides more thrills per minute than regulation football because the ball is always in moton. It is interesting to both sexes, and to young and old. The introduction of this autumn sport marks another advance of Bucknell along the line of athletics.

• • • •

Professor C. M. Bond has a new and unique student in his religious education class. It's hard to say to just what class he belongs, since this student is the large German police dog that is so well known about the campus. Each morning for several days he sat through the entire class, listening attentively to what Professor Bond had to say. Perhaps he is trying to discover some facts about "dog heaven."

• • • •

The trunk belonging to Marie Stampul has been here for over a week, and we have been wondering what could have happened to its owner. News has reached us finally to the effect that a short time before she planned to leave for college, her home in Patterson burned to the ground, and up to this time she has been with her family. We expect Marie within a few days, and she will be doubly welcome because of her late arrival.

• • • •

Apparently some freshman has, at his own expense and on his own initiative, decided that a little knowledge of art is indispensable to his college education. For a very small sum, one of the protege's from College Hill purchased a life-size plaster figure at the sale of household articles from the Lindig estate on Market street. Perhaps the purchaser intends to set up this figure in his room as a model sophomore and practice saying "hello" to it.

(Additional Briefs on Page Three.)

A place to look well.
—Farley's Barber Shop—

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

A good shoe to ask for by name—MONTROSS
There is style in the prices, too!
No longer need the well-shod man pay the price of out-of-date production methods.
Inefficiency is outmoded. Modern methods enable John Wards to lead in quality, in style, yet sell for dollars less!
Buy your next pair here —at seven and nine dollars!
John Ward Ken's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
Market and Fourth Sts.
ON DISPLAY AT MONTGOMERY & CO'S.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

Criticism is Made Of Southern Schools

Southern colleges are doing little to prepare their students to cope with the growing industrialism of the South, according to an article by professor Howard Mumford Jones in the October issue of The New Student. "Nowhere in the South," he says, "has the study of economics proceeded so far as to offer notable opportunities for advanced training. One goes north for his graduate work in this field. Only belatedly has the study of sociology come to be effective force in southern university life, and at that, only in a few schools. Yet it is evident that the South needs now as it needed a hundred years ago, an effective examination of the foundations upon which the industrial system is to be built."

"Such college men as are now in control of southern business were graduated (if they are alumni of southern colleges) at a time when modern departments of economics and sociology were almost unknown, and necessarily they believe in, and operate under a laissez-faire system of economics life which makes the Harvard or Columbia student rub his eyes in wonder. But I doubt whether there is any sinister control by southern business of southern universities which prevents the growth of economic thought in that region. The situation is far subtler.

"One truth—one profound truth—in the general situation is that the southern undergraduate is blankly indifferent alike to economic theory and to the incipient and baffling problems of the new order in the South. It is only natural that he should be so. Typically the product of a small community, typically also the product of an upper middle-class family, he does not know, because he has never seen, such industrial areas as the coal fields of Pennsylvania, the mills of New Jersey, the manufacturing region around the Great Lakes. He cannot envision, for he has neither experience nor data to go on, the possibility that in the future there may be southern industrial areas of the same hideous ugliness, the same raw and gigantic energy. Even if his teachers tell him so, the fact can mean little to him.

"It is out of this dilemma that southern colleges must somehow find their way. As yet, it would seem, they have not on the whole found any solution. What is even more depressing, there are a good many southern institutions of learning in which the need for awakening an interest in social problems is not even felt. Sheltered behind the liberal arts curriculum, these colleges continue to educate gentlemen and gentlewomen. They frown on Mencken, but they do not substitute anybody half as interesting in his place. And in those schools which are beginning to survey the actualities of life around them, most of the battle for academic freedom is yet to be fought—that is, the right and necessity for universities to investigate economic and social phenomena has in most cases yet to be established. The campaign, collegiate attitude does not seem likely to furnish many recruits. It is possible that a change of literary diet might awaken the old flame of enthusiasm for southern things and themes. It is a hopeful sign that the negro literature of the present awakens a wide interest among southern undergraduates—here at least is one situation in which they are very much alert. But until the hold of Menckenism among the undergraduates is broken, or until it wanes, we cannot look for much forward-going interest in the new South and its problems.

B. U. Frats. to Meet In Track Meet, Sat.

Bucknell University's initial interfraternity track meet will be staged at the Memorial Stadium Saturday afternoon, October 6, it was announced recently by John G. Farrow, captain of the 1929 Bison track team. The meet will be held in order to stimulate interest in the cinder path sport.

John D. Plant, director of physical education at Bucknell, will have charge of the meet and is already scheduling the events. There will be both track and field events.

Two men from each fraternity are permitted to participate in each event. The fraternity with the highest score will be given a silver loving cup by the Bucknell Athletic Association.

Already the entire school is looking forward to this contest with much interest. There will be no other athletic competition that day, as the Bucknell football eleven will be at Beaver Falls, where the team is scheduled to play Geneva College.

Varsity track men will not be eligible to take part in this meet.

HILLTOP BRIEFS

Monday showed a large number of cases of colds, probably contracted Saturday and Sunday nights.

• • • •

Rushing is on in full force. It probably means a lot of unprepared lessons, but then it comes only once a year.

• • • •

Do you know that Mr. Thomas Reimensnyder, of the class of '92, has not missed a football game in 29 years?

• • • •

As a result of a recent blindfold test conducted by the boys at the Phi Lambda Theta house, "Luckies" have been proclaimed the leading brand.

• • • •

The members of Phi Lambda Theta enjoyed ice cream and cake at dinner recently at the expense of "Bill" Emmitt, who is now among those without a pin.

• • • •

If the botany classes make many more trips through corn fields, the students will have to sue the University for money with which to buy new shoes.

• • • •

A sign on the front campus of the "Sem" bears this injunction: Don't Ride the Elevator. We are still endeavoring to find out where this elevator is.

• • • •

The first football game of the season proved to be rather hard on members of both the teams. However, it was a good game and a fine spirit was shown by both sides.

• • • •

Walter Diehl, '28, former Bucknell star and captain of football, spent the week-end at the Sigma Chi house. He is at present playing fullback with the Frankford Yellowjackets.

• • • •

We are glad to see "Pud" Hughes and Madelaine Hartmann found it worth their while to come to see Bucknell play Schuylkill rather than to see State play Lebanon Valley.

• • • •

It did not take a Sherlock Holmes to detect the freshmen lads who wielded the paintbrush on the watertank. Suppose that you got to bed at five in the morning. You'd look tired, too.

• • • •

The week-end visitors here for the Schuylkill game included "Hinkie" Haines, "Toots" Davis, "Christy" Mathewson, "Pud" Hughes, Madeline Hartmann, "Martie" Pysher, and Marie Helwig.

• • • •

The "Sem" was very glad to have "Billie" Williams, '28, here over the week-end. It seemed natural to hear "Billie's" cheery voice greeting us around the corners in the "Sem" halls once more.

• • • •

Now that the fair of Union County is over, how will students spend their leisure time after classes are over for the day? The college couples will have no special attraction for walking "westward ho."

• • • •

An innovation that may eventually lead to the establishment of golf as a minor sport at Bucknell took place Sunday when the Bucknell team played the team of the Otzinachson Country Club of Milton at the latter place.

• • • •

We notice that the alphabet has been reversed this year in arranging the chapel seats. That means that those of us who sat in the back last year will have a better opportunity to observe the faculty.

• • • •

George Streitz, Beta Kappa, and Blair Hazen, Phi Lambda Theta, Bucknell's musical duo, made their initial Lewisburg appearance this fall on Friday night, when they entertained at the student reception at the Baptist church.

• • • •

The Bucknell Band is looking toward a bright future. In the past few years the wood-wind section has been lacking in numbers. The class of '32, however, has brought with them seven clarinetists who are very good musicians.

• • • •

President and Mrs. E. W. Hunt and several members of the faculty were entertained at dinner at the "Sem" on Sunday. We might add that dinner was especially delectable, and the "Semites" are very grateful for occasional faculty visits.

• • • •

Ernest Englemardt, '28, head of the Latin Department of Muncy High School, and P. C. Wallace, '25, teacher of mathematics and general science at Hanover High School, spent the week with the boys at the Phi Lambda Theta house.

• • • •

Those who spell Brasil with a "z" are out of date. We have this on the good authority of Fern Reno, '30, whose home is in Victoria, Brazil. Fern says that the spelling has been changed in recent years from a "z" to an "s," though the "s" is still given the sound of "z."

• • • •

In accounting for the lack of noise in the cheering section at Saturday's game, the majority of the spectators were either "rushing" or being "rushed," which means they were trying to act "nice." They weren't being themselves, and thought cheering would be improper.

• • • •

We heard that certain members of Professor Paul Stolz' class in appreciation of music tried to imitate the campus squirrels by throwing acorns, and called forth the comment from Professor Stolz that if they wished to find a kindergarten, they could go to Williamsport.

• • • •

The class of '30, received a real compliment from John Plant on Friday night in the "pep" meeting. John credited the juniors with having begun a new kind of school spirit. The class appreciates John's feeling and hopes that the under-classmen will not fall short in carrying on '30's record.

• • • •

Friday afternoon two of our freshman girls were standing on the corner of Market and Third streets waiting for the Milton bus. Soon it came, stopped, dropped several passengers, and proceeded on its way while the two freshman girls stood dumbfounded and watched it disappear down the street. They made no effort to stop it or call to the driver that they desired to go to Milton. These freshmen are brilliant people.

WHAT OUR FUTURE OPPONENTS DID

Geneva 75—Adrian 0
Penn State 25—Lebanon Valley 0
Lafayette 78—Albright 0
Gettysburg 81—American U. 0
W. and J. 24—Bethany 0
Temple 12—St. Thomas 0

We wonder if the squirrels prefer the nuts in politics rather than the Bucknell nuts. Quite a number of squirrels certainly have deserted the Bucknell campus.

First cousin to a fish

You don't mind rain any more than sunshine when you're wearing a Fish Brand Slicker. Absolutely weather-proof, yet roomy and comfortable. Good-looking too. Fish Brand Slickers have been built for 92 years to take the pounding of surf and spray. And how they wear! The "Varsity" model has all that—plus the trim lines of the campus. The full-length sweep protects you to the very crease of your trousers' cuffs. Books won't rip the spacious "Study-Ease" pockets. You can have buckle or button front, strap collar or plain, and your choice of colors. Olive-khaki, yellow or black.
Step into the nearest store and buy wet-weather comfort today. Just ask for Tower's Fish Brand, the "Rainy Day Pal." A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Mass.
TOWER'S TRADE FISH BRAND

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

Shrio, successor to ink, makes all pens write better, and the Lifetime pen write best.
Identify the Lifetime pen by this white dot

First everywhere
A recent questionnaire gives Lifetime° pens an unquestioned first in forty-one per cent of America's leading schools—leaving fifty-nine per cent to the rest of the pen makers. Here are the reasons: real economy through the lifetime guarantee of faultless service; surpassing beauty, and a nib which at once responds to LIGHTEST TOUCH yet is capable of making three clear carbons of notes, letters and confidential papers. With the Titan pencil it makes the college equipment of efficiency.
"Lifetime" pen, $8.75 Lady "Lifetime", $7.50 Others lower
"Lifetime" Titan oversize pencil to match, $4.25
At better stores everywhere
SHEAFFER'S
PENS · PENCILS · SKRIP
W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA

FLAVIO'S FINEST FANCY FRUIT

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—2—

TRANSIENT TRADE

THE FOOTBALL SEASON IS HERE. OLD GRADS, FORMER STUDENTS, PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS AND FRIENDS ARE COMING TO TOWN FOR THE BIG GAMES. THEY ARE GOING TO TRADE WITH THE MERCHANTS OF LEWISBURG. COMING IN A HOLIDAY MOOD, THEY ARE WILLING TO SPEND MONEY FREELY. THIS MONEY WILL BE SPENT ON THE BEST GOODS AT THE BEST STORES. THEIR JUDGMENT OF THE BEST STORES WILL BE BASED ON STUDENT OPINION. YOU CAN HELP INFLUENCE THE OPINIONS OF THE STUDENTS OF BUCKNELL BY JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING IN THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STUDENT BODY, "THE BUCKNELLIAN."

MR. MERCHANT, IF YOU ARE AN ALUMNUS OF BUCKNELL, YOUR CLASSMATES WILL WANT TO PATRONIZE YOU WHEN THEY COME TO TOWN. LET YOUR FORMER CLASSMATES KNOW THAT YOU ARE ALIVE BY ADVERTISING. EVERY LOYAL ALUMNUS SUBSCRIBES TO "THE BUCKNELLIAN."

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897
Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194

Ass't. Editor-in-Chief — Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor — Clarence Cranford, '29
Ass't. Managing Editors — Virginia Smoot, '30; Helen Bell, '30
News Editor — Charles H. Rivenburg, '29
Ass't. News Editors — Jane Foust, '29; Charles E. Mohr, '30
Sports Editor — J. Warren McElligot, '30; Thomas Jones, '30
Ass't. Sports Editors — N. B. Smith, '30; Thomas McLeod, '31
Women's College Editor — Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor — Trennie Eisley, '31

Column Editors
Elizabeth Figner, '30 — Frances Kernohan, '30

Reporters
Vivian Bitner, W. C. Emmitt, Bertha Gaventa, R. B. Koser, Lillian Mattick, John McNally, Margaret Schuyler, Ruby Smith, Nan Lee Thomas.

Business Staff
Advertising Manager — W. C. Emmitt, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager — John Snyder, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager — Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31

Ass't. Circulation Mgr's.
Kenneth Haynes, '31 — Frederick M. Locke, '31
George H. Van Tuyl, '31

"GOOD MORNING" OR "HELLO"?

A visitor who came to Bucknell on some business connected with this publication remarked to one of the editors, "This is the friendliest town I was ever in. I haven't been here fifteen minutes, and half a dozen people have spoken to me. It makes a fellow feel as though he were at home. It's quite unusual."

"You are not the first visitor to Lewisburg who has had a similar experience and made a similar comment," replied the editor.

"How do you account for it?" asked the visitor.

"Oh! It grows out of our custom of making freshmen speak to everybody. To them, everybody is a stranger, and so they greet all comers. They get the habit of passing friendly greetings. We who live here think nothing of it, but every stranger is impressed by it."

"Well, I want to say that if that is one of your college customs, it's a good one."

"Yes," said the editor, "it is a good one. It has had very beneficial results. In Lewisburg you will find that the feeling between town and gown is most cordial and friendly. In fact, this situation is unusual. In many towns there is a feeling almost of hostility between the townsfolk and the students quartered in the town. It used to be somewhat like that here. But all unfriendliness long since passed, and now there is the most cordial good will between the students and the people of Lewisburg."

"And you attribute all this to the custom of having your freshmen speak to everybody?"

"No, that would be going too far. But undoubtedly it plays a big part in making townsfolk feel friendly."

There is just one thing about the situation that the Bucknellian would like to see altered. Instead of teaching frosh to say "hello," we ought to teach them to use a proper mode of address. "Hello" is crude. It may do for lumberjacks and ditch diggers. College men ought to know better than to address people, especially strangers, in such a crude way. It is entirely disrespectful and in poor taste for a student to greet a professor or a town business man or banker with any such salutation.

We agree that the Senior Council did a good thing in compelling students to greet others. But while the Council was teaching manners, it should have taught good manners. Bucknell is not a country high school. It is a college of standing. Let's have traditions in keeping with that fact. It is just as easy for a freshman to say "good morning," as it is to say "hello." And there is nothing highbrow about such a salutation, either.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Christy Mathewson Sr., while attending Bucknell, kicked a 48-yard goal against the Army in 1898.

*****

Christy Mathewson Jr., does not play ball.

*****

Penn State will be an attraction at Bucknell in football next fall.

*****

"Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell's most colorful athlete, has exceptionally large ankles of which he is very proud. They are without doubt the largest pair of ankles at Bucknell.

*****

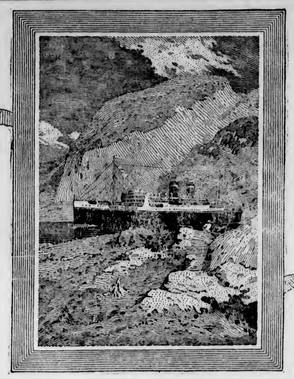
"Bill" Stayer, Bucknell athletic authority, is back in town.

*****

"Andy" Lobel, "Bert" Ellor, and "Ernie" Hambacker, varsity football men, all hail from the same town, Bloomfield, N. J.

*****

"Mac" McElligot and "Pottsville" Jones are a good pair. They always agree.



Electricity
opens a new era of ocean travel

Miraculously quiet and vibrationless, luxurious and swift, the new electrically operated S. S. California, largest American-built passenger ship, has opened a new era in ocean travel.

Electricity drives the California so efficiently that the fuel bill for the initial coast-to-coast trip was even less than the Canal tolls. Electricity mans the winches, bakes the bread, makes the ice, polishes the silver. And electricity cools the cabins and provides passengers with the comforts found in the finest hotels.

Complete electrification makes the California an engineering marvel and a commercial success; it is booked far in advance, a sister ship has just been launched, and another is under construction.

On sea or land, in every walk of life, electricity is in the van of progress. Undreamed of yesterday, the electric ship is a symbol of the electrical industry's part in modern civilization and a prophecy of even greater accomplishment.

This monogram is found on great motors that drive the California, and on a multitude of electric appliances which contribute to the comfort of her passengers. It is an emblem of skilled engineering and high manufacturing quality.

6-27DH1

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

LUND MAKES STUDY OF AESTHETIC EXPERIENCE

(Continued from page 1)

however, they occasion similar feelings which make them classifiable under one head, the aesthetic."

The Completion Method

Dr. Lund is responsible for a new method of experimental approach which he calls the "completion method." Instead of asking subjects to rate and classify material considered aesthetic by the experimenter, a method which takes aesthetic value for granted, Lund presented his subjects with only certain obviously incomplete visual or auditory elements. Then he asked his subjects to add to these such other elements as would give to the completed figure the desired aesthetic effect. From Lund's discussion, following the presentation of his experimental material, we quote the following:

(A) Preparedness and facilitation. In seeking a more adequate interpretation of the aesthetic we shall avail ourselves as much of the facts relating to music as of these derived from the experiments on visual forms. All art forms, it is believed, depend ultimately on the same principles.

The study is summarized as follows:

The evidence that the principles of spatial design are similar to those of musical design as well as of other art forms, suggests that the conditions providing for the aesthetic experience are fundamentally the same. These conditions we have discussed under the preparedness-facilitation principle. Typically, aesthetic feelings attend the realization of anticipated or expected relations, and in no case do they appear apart from a certain preparedness in the reaction sequence. Ultimately, the felt unity and harmony of relations in the elements of construction must depend upon the relatedness of the perceptual processes, the overlapping in the response series, and the facility with which successive reactions lead over into each other. Discordant and unrelated elements are so apprehended because they call for unrelated adjustments and redistributions of nerve currents. The significance of preparedness and facilitation is found also in the marked influence of habituation and practice, the importance attaching to pleasant associative values, the enhancing effect of increased familiarity where relatedness is a prominent feature, and, finally, the increased satisfaction and keener enjoyment of the latter part of a performance (as in music, drama, or fiction) when preparedness has reached a much higher level, partly through natural development of inner demands and partly through skillful restraint of the dominant motive.

COLLEGIANA

Writing an exchange column isn't all that it's cracked up to be, particularly since every paper that has come in thus far has contained little else than an account of each team's prospects for the football season. It's remarkable, though, how optimistic all the coaches are this year. It must be contagious!

—C—

A prospective Yale freshman, of an inquisitive turn of mind, entered the annual pajama parade at Lafayette this fall in order, as he said, "Just to see what it is like so I won't mind it later." Clad in the regulation garb he went to the square with the rest of the wet youngsters, climbed a lamp post, and tried to blow out the electric light.

He must be some relation to those young Bucknellians who began wearing their "dinks" early in Freshman Week because they hated to postpone the thrill.

—C—

The Gettysburgian published the following "gem" in one of its recent issues:

"Lives of stars-Jeritzas, Gerrys,
Prove to us in sheets we've scanned
We, too, could have been the berries
Had we smoked another brand."

By their cigarettes, ye shall know them, and we don't mean Pall Mall either!

—C—

Seventy-five per cent. of the Haverford undergraduates worked during the past summer. Their jobs ranged from desk clerks in fashionable summer hotels to straw bosses on the new Hudson River bridge. We don't know just what a straw boss is, but we'll bet he made a big harvest.

—C—

From one exchange item we learn that "In Mexico every spectator at a football game is searched thoroughly for arms and ammunition as he enters the gates, to prevent anyone who becomes enraged, from throwing or firing anything except epithets."

A little bit of excitement wouldn't have been so bad at the Bucknell-Schuylkill game Saturday. The crowd was extremely quiet, almost to the point of being inanimate.

Who's Who AT B. U.

Jessie Richart Fielding

In starting the list of senior girls in this year's Who's Who, the Bucknellian is presenting a woman who is one of the outstanding characters on the campus. Jessie Fielding holds leading positions in many organizations of various departments of college activities.

Jessie is the president of the Young Women's Christian Association and a member of the Student Council of Religious Activities. These offices mean much work along with their honor.

As an athlete, Jessie shows her record of basketball since she was a freshman, and as captain of the team her sophomore year. She was also a member of the hockey team these years, and was captain her freshman year. She is a member of the Women's Athletic Association.

As a journalist, she holds the office of Women's College editor for the Bucknellian. She was associate editor of last year's L'Agenda.

Jessie is a member of Delta Delta Delta, Frill and Frown, and C. E. A. She also has been a member of the Women's Glee Club.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElligot

Although Saturday afternoon was cold and dreary, a large crowd of Orange and Blue rooters was in the stands watching their football favorites chalk up the first Bucknell victory of the year. The crowd was apparently surprised at the wonderful exhibition of defense work by the Schuylkill gridiers in the first half. Everybody received a big thrill early in the third quarter when Jones went over the line for a touchdown.

—O—

A crestfallen and almost heart broken figure was Ben Kupstas, former Bison halfback, when the Bucknell team took the field before the game. Kupstas will probably be out for the entire season, due to his unfortunate summer injury. Coach Snavely will lose one of his best backs as Kupstas is a halfback of unusual football talent. The Bucknell team will undoubtedly miss his long end runs and line plunges this year.

—O—

Christy Mathewson Jr., son of the greatest pitcher, was an interested spectator at the Schuylkill encounter. Young "Matty" is a Bucknell graduate, having been awarded his diploma in 1927.

—O—

Clyde Miller, a sophomore lineman, was inserted in the game early in the first quarter. His work was so impressive that Coach Snavely kept him in at a guard post until the termination of the game. Miller revealed exceptional defensive power.

—O—

"Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell's most colorful athlete and heavyweight champion, was one of the few men who played the entire game. Jones, weighing at least 200 pounds, was poison to any opposing backfield man who tried to crash by him. Jones would occasionally break through the Schuylkill line and throw an enterprising Reading ball toter for a loss.

—O—

Captain "Eddie" Halicki gave the fans a real exhibition of line plunging during the first half, when he crashed through the Schuylkill defense for three first downs in a row. "Eddie" also proved that he has lost no skill as a placement kicker, as he kicked a neat extra point after Jones scored the only touchdown of the game.

—O—

Charley Jones, halfback, had the honor of scoring the first Bucknell touchdown of the year. Jones went over for a score in the third period after a series of successful line plunges.

—O—

"Tony" Slate, the hard-working fullback from Weirton, West Virginia, practically clinched the contest for Bucknell when he intercepted a forward pass in the third quarter. Slate caught the spherioid in midfield and ran the ball back 20 yards before he was downed. Slate went in the game for Halicki during the latter part of the first half. The Virginia youth covered himself with glory and thrilled the crowd with several line plunges that resulted in lengthy gains for the winning team. The exhibition put on by Slate Saturday was so impressive that the hurly fullback will be assured of seeing plenty of action during the remaining contests.

Did the daylight saving system originate in Scotland?

FRESHMEN
You Are Privileged

To You Come the Joys of College Life

Let the Folks at Home Share These Experiences

SEND THEM

The Bucknellian

$1.50 Per Year

Mail Your Subscriptions to Box X
LEWISBURG, PA.

BABY BISON TEAM IS READY TO PLAY A HARD SCHEDULE

In Spite of Many Disadvantages, Frosh Will Have Even Break With Manlius Eleven

The "Baby Bisons," led by Coach "Mal" Musser, will entrain tomorrow for Manlius to stack up against the soldier boys in their own battleground. The freshman team is in fine shape and beginning to feel its oats so the Manlius gridders can get set for a real scrap. For an opening game, this contest cannot be catalogued with the world's easiest assignment, for the New York academy is always represented by a strong club, ranking with the country's best.

Manlius will have a decided advantage over the yearlings in that the majority of them have played together and are familiar with the system in effect there. The Bucknell freshman team is a collection of high and "prep" school players, each of whom has been drilled in a different style of play, as well as being comparative strangers to each other. Coach Musser has had little time in which to sort his men, determine their strength and weakness, and mould a scrappy eleven. But, this has been done and Bucknell will be represented by a team that has an even break to knock off a win, despite the disadvantages under which they will labor.

Probable Line-up

The frosh will probably lineup with Hoak and Stonebreaker, ends; Lenhart and Trudenack, guards; Marter and Dourley, tackles; Cummings, center; Fry, fullback; Hinkle and Kastrava, halfbacks; and Spadafor, quarterback. This is the team that lined up against the varsity in the stadium a week ago and held the veterans scoreless for the first half.

The team has improved with each practice and now is a smooth running machine. Both Hoak and Stonebreaker are big and fast at the extremities of the line as well as being experienced wingmen. Any Manlius back that can circle either one of this pair deserves all the yardage that he can gain. Lenhart and Marter at the tackle posts are big and strong and full of fight. These boys could use a little more polish on their playing, but have the possibilities of developing into stars. Trudeuack and Wowney are stationed at guard positions and ably strengthen the forward wall, both offensively and defensively. In the practice scrimmages both of these men have torn through the second team line to either nail the ball-carrier, or to open up for their own. Cummings, at center, ranks as a pivot, for as well as being able to pass, can handle his man in good shape.

Triple Threat Men

The backfield is a classy combination, with each of the four backs being a real triple-threat. All of these boys have had plenty of experience and can run, pass or kick with the best of them. Either "Heinie" Hinkle or Harry Fry will draw the kicking assignment. Both of these boys have been booting them well over 50 yards consistently in practice. Fry will call the signals for he has proven that he has plenty of grey matter between his ears. Hinkle and Kastrava will do plenty of ballototing, Hinkle being a shifty brokenfield runner and Kastrava having the strength to smash the line and cleave a path through. Spadafor will round out the backfield, being able to do whatever is necessary in an efficient manner.

The squad will arrive with Coach Musser and Manager "Sandy" Moore in time to work out on the Manlius field on Friday afternoon in order to familiarize themselves with conditions for Saturday.

SCHUYLKILL TEAM FALLS BEFORE BISONS, 7-0

(Continued from Page 1)

downed. From there a successful series of line plunges executed by Jones, Slate, and Quinn enabled the Bucknell team to chalk up the only score of the game. Jones finally squirmed his way through the intricate Reading defense for the touchdown that meant victory.

Game Not Close

Although Bucknell was held to one lone touchdown, the game was not as close as the score indicated. The Bucknell eleven was in the enemy's territory during most of the game. Schuylkill was on the defense most of the time, and seldom did the Reading backs penetrate the Bison line for worthy gains.

Statistics of the game show that Bucknell registered 14 first downs to the four accumulated by Schuylkill. The hard-plunging Bison backs, Captain Halicki, Quinn, Jones, Slate, and Brumbaugh, gained almost at will through the forward wall of the Julian troops.

Finding their line plunging frustrated at every attempt, the visitors resorted to the aerial attack late in the game, but this endeavor also proved fruitless. The Schuylkill backs managed to complete three forward passes, for a gain of thirty yards, but after that they were stopped. The game ended with the ball in Schuylkill's possession in midfield.

Work Of Linemen Impressive

Evidently Coach Snavely was well satisfied with the line work of his forward wall. The losing ball toters would try their best to crash through the Snavely defense, only to be stopped in their tracks by such stalwarts as "Pottsville" Jones, Clyde Miller, "Ernie" Woerner, "Tex" Walls, and "Lou" Mutzel.

The trio composed of Jones, Miller, and Woerner, starred consistently throughout the game. Miller, a member of last year's freshmen team, was given his first test, and he survived the ordeal well. Miller replaced Bollinger early in the game and his work was so impressive that he was kept in the contest until it was over.

"Pottsville" Jones Stars Again

"Pottsville" Jones, the pride of the coal regions, received an acid test during the entire game, but was equal to the task of stopping all comers. Jones resembled a stone wall and acted like one when a Schuylkill back threatened to pass him. Although only a junior, Jones is already a hardy veteran. He possesses the stamina that is needed to play throughout a football game. Before the 1928 season is over Jones will probably be hailed as the "Iron Man" of the Bucknell eleven.

A hero in victory on Saturday was Captain "Eddie" Halicki. Coach Snavely's fine triple-threat backfield man. Halicki was a bearcat on the offense, as he fairly tore the opposing line to shreds with his deadly line plunges and off tackle thrusts that usually resulted in substantial gains. When Halicki was forced to retire because of injuries early in the fourth period, he was tendered a mighty ovation as he left the field by the followers of both Bucknell and Schuylkill.

The line-up:

L. E.	James	T. Boyle
L. T.	Woerner	Carney
L. G.	Mutzel	Snyder
C.	Mitchell	Yeager
R. G.	T. Jones	Yetzer
R. T.	Bollinger	MacFarlane
R. E.	Nobel	M. Kostos
Q. B.	Brumbaugh	J. Kopp
R. H. B.	Ellor	Barkman
L. H. B.	Quinn	Knorr
F. B.	Halicki	Petrolonus

Score by periods:

Bucknell	0	0	7	0—7
Schuylkill	0	0	0	0—0

Touchdown—Jones.

Point after touchdown—Halicki.

Substitutions—Bucknell: Miller for Bollinger, Truxell for Nobel, Walls for Mutzel, Hambacker for Ellor, Slate for Halicki, Woodring for Jones, Ross for Quinn. Schuylkill: Schaeffer for Carney, Greene for Boyle, White for Petrolonus, J. Boyle for MacFarlane, Shimmer for Schaefer, Carney for Boyle.

Referee—C. E. Price, Swarthmore. Umpire—E. M. Bennis, Penn. Linesman—H. A. Davidson, Penn. Time of periods—10 minutes.

B. U. TRAINS TO FACE STIFF GENEVA SQUAD

(Continued from page 1)

goal posts. Snavely is anxious to chalk up a victory against the strong Beaver Falls squad, as the Bucknell team will then enter the Penn State tilt undefeated.

That the Bucknell men will face an acid test when they line up against the Geneva gridmen on Saturday became evident when it was learned that the Beaver Falls pigskin chasers chalked up an impressive 75-0 win over Adrian College last Saturday. Reports that were circulated after the Geneva victory said that the winners displayed a powerful offense. Although they lost their star halfback, Flennikin, through graduation last June, the Geneva troops are just as dangerous on the offense as they have been in other years.

Geneva Loses McMillan

When Head Coach "Bo" McMillan, former all-American quarterback from Center, resigned his position during the early part of the winter, gridiron critics sounded the death knell to Geneva's football supremacy. However, the former cohorts of McMillan have come back strong this year and are expected to put in a bid for the eastern football championship laurels.

Coach Snavely will endeavor to send his strongest line-up on the field Saturday in order that Bucknell may stop all offensive thrusts the Geneva team makes. The backfield, composed of Captain Halicki, Jones, Ellor, and Quinn, showed up especially well in the Schuylkill game, and this quartet should furnish plenty of trouble for the Geneva men.

There is a possibility of relegating Bert Ellor, giant fullback, to the line. This move might be made in order to open a backfield berth for Justin Brumbaugh, sophomore halfback. Brumbaugh performed in the backfield during the early part of the Schuylkill game and thrilled the fans with a few long distance runs. He was withdrawn early in the second period by Coach Snavely, who elected to try out another backfield candidate.

Ellor May Be Shifted

In the event that Ellor is shifted to the line, Coach Snavely will undoubtedly strengthen his forward wall to a great extent. Ellor, playing at guard berth last fall for the first time, was selected on the All-Pennsylvania college eleven. The year before Ellor had been the fullback for the Bucknell yearling eleven.

With such stalwarts as "Pottsville" Jones, Woerner, Miller, and Ellor in the line at the guard and tackle positions, Snavely will have one of the strongest defenses that was ever presented at Bucknell. Mitchell, at center, is a tower of strength, and James and Truxel at the wing posts are a pair of fine defensive ends.

Walls and Bollinger, veteran linesmen, are being primed for the Geneva tilt. The latter, a whirlwind last fall, is rapidly rounding into shape and critics in this vicinity say that Bollinger should create havoc against all opposition this year. Walls, always a steady player, is a valuable member of the team and a great one to diagnose plays.

Intensive Drills Scheduled

Coach Snavely will drive his entire squad through intensive workouts and drills this week so that they will be in tiptop form when they take the field against Geneva. Scrimmage sessions will be limited, as the Bucknell coach will not take any chances of having his men injured.

Line coach "Hank" Hangartner, former Pitt football star, will confine his efforts this week to teaching his men further line perfection, while in the meantime, Head Coach Carl Snavely will spend his time with the backfield men. Probably the freshman team, coached by "Mal" Musser, will be called upon to furnish some opposition for the varsity in a light scrimmage session.

The Bucknell team, numbering 22 men, will entrain for Beaver Falls Thursday evening. Friday afternoon they will have a secret practice session on a deserted field on the outskirts of Beaver Falls. Saturday they will strive to gain their second victory of the 1928 season.

What the Colleges Are Doing

From the Albright Bulletin we learn that a baby elephant weighs about 200 pounds at birth. That, of course, leaves us all hot and bothered. We thought it was only 199 pounds.

—O—

There are enough pairs of twins at the Liberal Arts College of Northwestern University to make up an entire football team, with one left over for a substitute. Unfortunately though, one of the pairs is composed of girls.

—O—

Canadian universities are having their troubles. At a recent meeting of French speaking surgeons at Quebec the use of hip flasks by Canadian co-eds was deplored as one of the social plagues of life in Canada.

—O—

Football players in the south are busy getting in their night work. Night football is rapidly coming into favor in southern schools. William and Mary College played several games at practice.

—O—

It seems that cigarettes are not such terrible things after all. At the South Dakota State School of Mines at Rapid City, S. D., a fine new gymnasium is being opened this fall. The gymnasium was built from funds secured through the cigarette tax in that state.

—O—

Temple University has entered a number of exhibits in the Exposition of Progress of the City of Philadelphia which is now being conducted by the Gimbel Store company. The exposition is being held to mark the progress made during the last half century in the business, educational, and industrial life of Philadelphia.

—O—

Frank Kirkleskie, football star, who was graduated from Lafayette College with the class of 1927, was married during the past summer to Miss Dorothy Calkins at the Grace Episcopal Church at Nutley, N. J.

Kirkleskie played varsity football at Lafayette for four years. He was captain of the team in his senior year.

Kirkleskie was a member of the Lafayette football team that played Bucknell in the game which marked the opening of the stadium in 1925.

The first game scheduled with Lafayette since that time is the one that will be played in the Memorial Stadium on Homecoming Day.

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.

University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

'Bucknell Girls'

Our store has been known for years as
"YOUR HEADQUARTERS"
for snappy, novelty footwear. Something different than what the other shoe stores show. If a style or shade is new we are the first to show same.

SPECIAL AT
$3.85, $4.85, $5.85

New fall styles in black and brown alligator, lizard, suede, velvet, satin, kid, and patent.

FOR THE FRAT DANCE
gold and silver kid opera pumps.

Silk Stockings in all Shades

PEOPLE'S
Shoe Store
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

SNAPPY!
JUST DESCRIBES OUR WHIPCORD
TRENCH COATS
DON POYNTER
PHI KAPPA PSI HOUSE
ALL SIZES REASONABLE

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

HIGH CLASS
STATIONERY
FOR College Students

With a background of 47 years in the printing business, we know your requirements and will meet them to your satisfaction. Simply select from the three classes offered below the one you desire, write your name and address (Maximum of four lines allowed) clearly, enclose the amount indicated, and mail to the
SATURDAY NEWS PUBLISHING CO.,
LEWISBURG, PA.

We will promptly mail you POSTPAID the paper and envelopes with your name and address printed on both. Either blue or black ink. This stock is GOOD BOND paper —NOTHING CHEAP ABOUT THIS STATIONERY EXCEPT THE PRICE.

200 White Sheets, 6x7, and 100 Envelopes to Match — $1.00
Gray, blue or buff paper and envelopes $1.25
With No Printing ..... White, 75c; Colors, $1.00

100 White Double Sheets and 100 Envelopes to Match — $1.50
Gray, blue or buff paper and envelopes $1.75
With No Printing ..... White, $1.25; Colors, $1.50

125 White Sheets, 6¾ x 10 and 125 Envelopes to Match — $2.00
With No Printing $1.50

We are confident the stationery will please you, and if it does, kindly give our address to friends and also keep it yourself for future use.

Saturday News Publishing Co.
Market Street. Lewisburg, Pa.

ALUMNI
Make Your Plans Now
FOR Homecoming Day

Saturday, Oct. 20th
BUCKNELL vs. LAFAYETTE

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Herncane, '31

The opening of the new school year finds all the active men back again, with the exception of two. Carlton Baum, '29, is playing with a New York orchestra, and will return again next year. Jimmie Cox, '30, is confined to his home with serious illness, but expects to return next semester.

"Jimmie" Martin of the Pitt chapter was a guest of the house for the past several days.

"Bud" Moser, '29, is spending the week-end visiting the home folks at Scranton.

John Middleton, '28, is in the insurance game and reports he is having wonderful success.

Hugh Yates, '28, is a civil engineer in the employ of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, and is now located at Hollidaysburg.

Howard G. Kulp, ex-'29, is entering his second year at the law school at George Washington University.

"Gus" Shortz, '26, and two friends were numbered among Alpha Phi's guests recently.

Many and varied were the jobs the brothers held down this summer. Brothers Bianchi, Cook, and Williams spent their summer on the Hudson River, in the service of the Hudson River Day Line. Tom Keeler and "Eddie" Hepler were in the construction game this past summer. Harold Dayton spent his vacation on the state highways in California. Charlie Meadowcroft had a busy summer working for a produce dealer at Ocean City, N. J. H. E. Davidson worked for the city treasurer in Pittsburgh. "Bud" Moser used his time trying to improve his golf score. Wilbur Wentz spent most of his time in Lewisburg, in preparation for the 1929 number of the L'Agenda. W. W. Herncane was "Daddy's" little helper during the summer months. Leonard Horton was a very efficient worker at a service station in Scranton, Pa.

George K. Stout, '28, of Muncy, dropped in on us for a short visit.

"Lake" Miller, '23, has returned to Bucknell to secure his master's degree in chemical engineering. "Lake" has been an instructor in chemistry at the Lewistown High School.

DELTA SIGMA
Phillip G. Murray, '29

Delta Sigma takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Luther Jefferies, '31. "Lew" was called home to Port Norris last week to pitch the final and deciding game in the South Jersey Baseball League. He allowed Millville but two hits, the Port Norris team bagging the game 2-0.

We are glad to welcome into the faculty this year Brother F. Russell Hamblin and John H. Eisenhauer, and to greet again Brothers Frank Davis and C. Willard Smith.

Brother T. Burns Drum has resigned from his position on the faculty this year to take up law studies at the University of Pennsylvania.

Brother "Doug" Haviland, '28, dropped in to spend last week-end with the boys. "Doug" is now employed by the Bell Telephone Company in New York City.

Brothers Geddes Simpson, '29, and "Trooper" Cooley, '23, spent the summer in the great open spaces of the great West. They report a most interesting and eventful trip.

Brother "Chip" Sorter with the help of last year's freshmen has recently established two quoit courts in the yard. All the boys are now busy slinging ringers.

Brother Geddes Simpson recently treated the boys to an overdose of ice cream. Nuff said! We wish them both lots of happiness.

Geddes W. Simpson, '29, Paul B. Cooley, '23, of Williamsport High School faculty, and Harry S. Fegley of the Lewisburg Journal have just returned from a trans-continental auto tour of the United States. During the summer's trip they motored through twenty-two states, also Mexico and Canada. They drove along the entire length of the Pacific coast from southern California to northern Washington. Enroute they visited six of our great national parks, including: Mesa Verde, Col.; Grand Canyon, Ariz.; Yosemite, Cal.; Mariposa Grove of Big Trees, Cal.; Crater Lake, Oregon; Mt. Ranier, Wash.; and Yellowstone Park. The entire trip covered 11,500 miles.

Incidentally these tourists brought back with them a car load of souvenirs, snapshots, etc.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Karl Albig, '30

The interior of the chapter house has been newly repainted and redecorated.

Miles Huntington, '28, returned to the house for the week-end. Miles is assistant principal at the Laurelton High School, Laurelton, Pa.

"Jerry" Cargill, '28, paid the house a visit on Friday of last week. "Jerry" has assumed the role of a teacher in Somerset, Pa.

George Koehler, '30, entertained friends from Bloomsburg State Normal School at the house on Sunday.

"Spike" Hann made a flying visit to Pittsburgh on Thursday.

Preston Geist, '28, dropped in on the boys on Sunday.

Paul Crago, '29, is keeping up with his various social activities, making frequent trips to Shamokin, Sunbury, Milton, and points west.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

John H. Houser, '31, was pleasantly surprised by a visit from his father last week-end. Mr. Houser is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, and finds it handy to visit the house occasionally.

Our new dining room annex, and sleeping porch have recently been completed. The sleeping porch has been furnished with four double beds, and the new dining room can accommodate twelve people.

We are glad to welcome back brother Arthur Shorts. During the past year, brother Shorts was employed by the Emlenton Refinery. He finds it rather pleasant to resume his work at Bucknell.

During the week-end of September 29, Mr. George Fleming, and Mr. Grafton Carlisle of Arlmore, Pa. were our guests.

We were fortunate in having with us last week-end "Jack" Goodman, a student of Reading High School.

Ramon DeFilippo, ex-'30, spent a few days with us, and made known his intention of attending Bucknell next semester.

We are hoping that brother Frank Loper will be with us soon again. "Lope" is now confined to the Ziegler Infirmary.

Brother G. Wolfe, '23, a charter member of our chapter, paid us a short visit last Saturday.

ALPHA CHI MU
J. N. Feaster, '30

On Tuesday evening, September 25, Miss Smalley and Miss Dunham stopped at the house on their way to Marshall, Texas. They were the guests of Robert Ingols, '31.

For the last week "Bob" Albright, '30, has been going about with a woebegone expression. The reason for this is that he recently left part of his ear in a local barber shop.

The Misses Myrtle Lingle and Mary Formwalt, Mr. Graham Bell, and Mr. W. R. Anderson were dinner guests on Saturday evening. The latter took his son, John T. Anderson, '31, home with him to spend Sunday in Shickshinny.

George Hart, '27, paid a flying visit on Saturday evening. George is now working for the Pennsylvania Railroad at Altoona.

"Buck" Taylor, '30, spent the week-end at Ulster, Pa.

"Pee-wee" Feaster, '30, occupied Fred Heather's pulpit at Johnston City on Sunday, September 30.

BETA KAPPA
E. W. Lare, '30

C. M. Stutzman, '29, was pleasantly surprised Saturday after the game when the Misses Krupp, Roland, Thomas, and Bulan, also Messrs. Homser, Thomas, and Rosenbury, all of Schuylkill College, visited him at the house.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Conner, parents of James O'Connor, '32, visited the house Saturday evening.

"Debs" Carstater, '26, dropped in to see the boys again; "Debs" is our best visitor.

E. R. Johnson, '29, and R. E. Shipman, '29, spent Sunday at Mansfield State Teachers College visiting Ray's brother who is a student there.

"Bob" Tate, '29, visited his home in Allenwood, Pa. "Bob" goes home quite regularly.

Paul L. Patton, '28, drove up from "Jersey" to see the opening game. Paul is one of the research chemists for the Du Pont Co.

PI BETA PHI
Rhoda Herr, '29

Pennsylvania Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi is very happy to announce the initiation of the following girls into membership: Marie Trunk, Mary Gross, Frances Davison, Dorothy Showalter, Nancy Griffith, Elizabeth Dill, Alice Sweeley, and Grace Mathewson.

The chapter occupies one of the attractive new suites in the new dormitory this year. The suite is a decided improvement over the old, giving the chapter room for its various activities.

Marian Ellenbogen, '20, and Mrs. Harold Shimer, '20, visited Rhoda Herr on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Gochnaur of Lewistown, announce the marriage of their daughter Mary Gertrude Gochnaur to Mr. Eugene O. Banker on Thursday, September 20.

Blanche Thompson, '27, and Veta Davis, '27, visited the chapter over the past week-end.

Marian Iszard, ex-'30, who has transferred to Miss Ilman's Kindergarten School, Philadelphia, visited a week as guest of Sybil Williams, '30.

Evelyn Johnson has transferred to Beaver College, "Peg" Schuyler to N. J. C., and Ruth McAllister to Ohio State.

Mrs. E. G. Rupert, '19, of Cleveland, Ohio, visited us last Saturday.

Eleanor Ballentine, '27, is teaching English and Latin in the Waynesboro High School, Waynesboro, Pa.

Dorothy Griffith, '28, is teaching French in the Pitman High School, Pitman, N. J.

"Polly" Belles, '28, visited the chapter Saturday.

Irene Bell, '26, and May Bell, '28, also called at the suite.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Betty Fries, '31

Tau's members are convinced now that things are coming this way. Last week an entire new set of furniture was installed in the suite. From the many exclamations we heard from the girls, the new furnishings evidently met with great approval.

The deluge of five-pound sweets has begun to arrive and "Betty" Jane Roslenbeck, '31, and Esther Johnston, '30, are receiving the best wishes of their sisters.

We have been unusually fortunate this year in being able to keep two of last year's seniors with us. "Fuzzy" Furry and Eleanor Schooley are continuing their studies here and are frequent visitors in the suite.

On Saturday evening, September 29, Tau chapter entertained at a formal dinner at the Manufacturer's Club in Milton.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta of Alpha Chi Omega takes great pleasure in announcing the initiation into active membership on September 29 of: Mary E. Brick, Grace N. Clauser, "Betty" Edmunds, Margaret E. Erb, Irma M. Hargreaves, Roberta S. Slifer, Ruth S. Weidemann, and "Betty" Wilson.

Clara Casner, '24, Ruth Brown, '24, and Phoebe Ann Bloomfield, '27, returned for initiation.

The chapter is very glad to welcome back Marie Stampul, '31, who was unable to return at the beginning of the year.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter takes pleasure in announcing the bidding of Harriet Ferguson, '29.

"Ginny" Cowell, '31, will be the proud wearer of the chapter scholarship bracelet during the coming year.

Among the Beta Kappa girls who returned for the first game of the season were Florence Martz Anderson, "Floss" Utt, '26, "Katie" Reitz, Marie Helwig, '28, "Pud" Hughes, ex-'31, and Madeleine Hartman, '28.

Grace Pheiffer, '27, sailed August 21 for Porto Rico, where she is to conduct a school and carry on missionary work.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

A five-pound box of chocolates arrived at the Sigma Sigma Delta suite just at meeting time last Tuesday evening. Since the girl who was the reason for the gift told us that it was the only five-pound box of candy we would receive from her, we all made the most of our opportunity, and are witnesses to the rapidity with which that five pounds diminished during the evening.

"Cay" Cawley, '27, has left for Philadelphia, where she will work for her Master of Arts degree, at the University of Pennsylvania.

The Sigma Sigma Delta girls who live on first floor Harris had a spread on Saturday night. Although they had a long wait for the eandy, they were all the more ready for it when it could be eaten. Ruth Kizer, '30, was the chief cook and bottle-washer.

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

AUTO BUS SERVICE
Saturdays, Evenings and Holidays
O. I. LIDDICK 7th and Market

WELCOME '32
We are glad to see you, and know you will be happy when you see our New Fall styles.
Come in and look them over.
Lehman's Shoe Store
223 Market Street Lewisburg, Pa.

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Fine-Pencilled
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

For
Christian Education
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
For catalog, book of views, or information,
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

81 drops vs. 38—
"Twice the Ink"
THAT'S the Chilton! Double ink capacity! You can write twice as many words with a Chilton as you can with other self-filling pens because it holds "Twice the Ink," size for size.
Come in and let us show you this great improvement in fountain pens, perfected by the man who invented the first self-filling pen. You'll be interested in learning "Why." There is a Chilton size and style to fit every hand. Priced $3.50 to $7.00, and guaranteed.
(Dealer's Signature)
Chilton Twice the Ink Pen
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF
81 drops 38 drops
Five well-known fountain pens, of similar size and price, were compared with the Chilton Pen selling at $7.00. The average ink capacity of those five pens was 38 drops—while the Chilton held 81 drops. Certified by Ripster, Kent & Willard, Consulting Engineers, Boston, Mass
For Sale at the College Inn

Dewey Captures Manila!
Is your slicker a relic of the stone age? Has it that delightful Spanish-American War flavor? If so—give it a pension. Retire it and come here for another—a Standard Student—the light weight, warm, good-looking favorite!
Standard Student Slicker
Ask for a slicker with this label
at
Montgomery & Co.

B. U. LAD "BUMS" ACROSS STATES IN ELEVEN DAYS

"Nippy" Bossard "Hitch-hikes" To California in 87 Lifts; Longest Hop 1250 Miles

Sept. 24, 1928.

Dear Editor:

Since I was a student at Bucknell last year, I thought you might be interested in my trip across the United States in 11 days.

Inclosed find a clipping from a local newspaper.

I had my Bucknell pennant on my back all the way, so the Bucknell banner crossed 16 states in 11 days. The banner helped me to get good long lifts and some people asked me if I was advertising the University. At that, I guess that's what I was doing. My longest ride was 1250 miles from Lexington, Nebraska, to Sacramento, California, in a Buick roadster.

Yours truly,
"Nippy" W. A. Bossard.

The clipping follows:

For four years adventure slyly whispered, "Go West, Young Man," to "Nippy Bossard" of Philadelphia. For four years Nippy continued his studies and rejected her bright lure. But finally—

"I'm going," he decided.

When he closed his books at Bucknell University this summer, he announced to his parents that he was leaving to spend a year in California. And that he was starting immediately to "hitch-hike" it West.

Then, on to California in 87 relays. In between the 87 rides, he walked awhile and spent his nights in parked cars, hay fields, or whatever convenient place he found. When his last benefactor said good-bye in Sacramento, young Bossard realized that he had arrived.

It had taken just 11 days to make the trip and they were days filled with thrilling experiences. It had cost him just $7.05 for the longest and best trip he had ever had.

In Sacramento he heard that there was a job open for a bell hop at the Hotel Del Mar. So "Nippy" went to Woodland.

He is at the Del Mar now. After he stays here awhile he is planning to go on and see more of California. As the final episode he will work his way back to New York on a steamer next spring.

Then, perhaps the insistent voice of adventure will be quieted and he can finish his last college year in peace.

Student Magazine Adopts New Method

Miss Suzanne LaFollette, author of "Concerning Women" and formerly an editor of The Freeman, has become associate editor of The New Student. Beginning with the October issue, she will contribute one article each month to the magazine. The first of these articles is called "The Social Mold." It introduces a series of "Notes on Freedom," a scholarly and fundamental study of personal freedom; its status in early society in the light of anthropological study, and its modern social, economic, political, and cultural aspects.

The October number featuring Miss LaFollette's article marks an important evolution in The New Student. Heretofore an intercollegiate magazine of student opinion appealing only to a college audience, it has now become a general magazine. "The new New Student will not compete in any way with existing magazines of opinion," an editorial announcement proclaims. "It will make a bid for the adult reader outside college as well as the college person, but there, we hope, the similarity with other general magazines will end. Our endeavor will be to live up to the title—"student" and to deal mainly with the fundamental principles that underlie events and behavior without committing ourselves to any creed, political or otherwise.

"A critical examination of fundamental beliefs by which we move and have our being seems to us more important to the intelligent man and woman just at present than any current program of action. The prevalent apathy towards causes and crusades is not to be deplored, in our estimation, since current programs tend generally to sentimental, uninformed revolt against or else rationalized surrender to the all-powerful spirit of our highly geared but purposeless civilization."

A place to look well.
—Farley's Barber Shop—

Chiquito, B. U. Pet, Dies; Now Stuffed

The days of Chiquito have been numbered! Chiquito, a South American marmoset, and the delight or terror of his observers, is both dead and stuffed.

At the close of school in June, the Reno's' bag and baggage, which included one monkey, wended their way westward to Sharpsville. No complications ensued so the trio of two girls and one Chiquito enjoyed the first month of their vacation.

July fourth may be President Coolidge's birthday but hereafter it will never be recalled with pleasure by these two Bucknellians, Democratic or Republican though they may be. Fern Reno, '30, arising early that morning went immediately to Chiquito's bag to seek his welfare. She was unpleasantly startled to discover that the poor animal was quite cold. The reason for the sudden passing of this life is unknown although the girls had not expected the small monkey to last as long as it did, away from its native haunts.

In a true Bucknellian spirit, Margarida Reno, '27, sent the body to a nearby taxidermist where it has been stuffed, and mounted. Those who regret no longer being able to watch the activities of this amusing Chiquito will at least have the opportunity to see him as he hangs or rests in Dr. N. H. Stewart's biology museum.

Delightful Program Entertains Students

The Presbyterian Church reception on Friday night, September 28, with about forty students in attendance, was a howling success. The "get-acquainted" part of the program began with a match-box carrying contest. The object of the game was to transfer a match box from one nose to another without touching it with the hands. With "much-ado about matchboxes," and a great deal of hilarity, everyone's acquaintance was finally made. A delightful program was then presented by some of the musicians of the church, Mr. Pedigo, Mrs. Fowle, and the church quartet singing. Allan Grinsted, a student transfer from the University of Tennessee, sang a beautiful selection. "Sally" Porter, '29, and "Ken" Haynes, '31, each gave a pleasing reading in his own delightful style. After the program, ice cream and cake completed everyone's "pleasant evening."

The News Of The World In Brief

Election Fails To Obstruct Business

In a statement issued on the eve of the fifty-fourth national convention for bankers, officers and delegates alike, both with republican and democratic leanings, generally vouch for the economic soundness of the nation, although all reference to the credit situation, which is destined to provide the basis for most of the controversial discussion, are tempered with caution.

Electricity Aids Blind

The application of electricity to various household tasks is proving of extraordinary value in teaching the blind to do many kinds of work, hitherto impossible to them, thus giving them a new confidence and a sense of usefulness, so those who come most in contact with the blind, declare.

With Those Who Would Be President

Governor "Al" Smith in his last speech of his western tour, at the city auditorium in Milwaukee, denounced the Federal prohibition laws and recommended modification of the Eighteenth Amendment and of the Volstead act to obliterate what he called "a dismal picture of failure" under the Republican party.

And Day Light Savings Is No More

That part of the world which has been running on Daylight Savings time has officially turned its clock back an hour and will now adhere to Standard Sun time until next summer.

Herbert Hoover declared recently that it was impossible for him to fully express his indignation at the reports that are and have been in circulation, that the Republican votes would be secured through religious and liquor difference. Religion especially, Mr. Hoover retterated has no part in the 1928 campaign.

The United States polo team defeated Argentina in the first match of the championship series of the Americas.

The St. Louis Cardinals clinched the national league pennant Monday when they defeated the Boston Braves by 3 to 1 and will meet the New York Yankees in the world's series starting in New York October 4.

CITIZENS OF UNION CO. LAUNCH HOOVER DRIVE

A campaign is on foot in Union County to get out the dry vote at the coming election. A good citizenship meeting will be held in the Court House on Tuesday evening, October ninth, at eight o'clock, which will be addressed by Mrs. Berthalee Broyles, of State College, and John A. Mc-Sparran, past master of State Grange, and former candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket. Professor W. G. Owens will preside. Both speakers are well known platform orators and all should hear them.

Black ink should be used in the forenoon classes for black is the color of morning.

Son of Prof. Bond Slowly Recovering

Charles Bond, young son of Prof. and Mrs. C. M. Bond, is responding to treatment in the Geisinger hospital where he has been a patient suffering from spinal meningitis since Tuesday.

Master Bond attended school on Monday, being a pupil of the third grade in the South Ward building. He was taken to the hospital as soon as symptoms of the dread disease developed. For a time it was feared that the attack would prove fatal, but the serum treatment is gradually bringing results according to information from the bedside.

Every possible precaution was taken to keep the disease from being transmitted to other pupils.

People should eat stuffed chicken if their teeth need filling.

Old Gold hits a homer for Babe Ruth in Blindfold cigarette test

"Yes, I am well over 21 . . . so I could see no reason why I shouldn't make the blindfold test. As I tried the four leading cigarettes I kept this 'box score' on the results:

No. 1 . . . . out at first
No. 2 . . this one 'fanned'
No. 3 . . out on a pop fly
No. 4 (OLD GOLD) a home run hit!

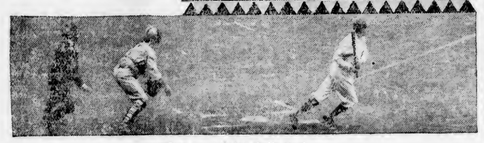
"OLD GOLD'S mildness and smoothness marked it 'right off the bat' as the best."
Babe Ruth

The idol of the baseball world . . . "The King of Swat"

BABE RUTH . . . making the test in the dressing room at the Yankee Stadium. He was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with black coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"



On a non-stop flight to the bleachers! . . .

Why do they choose OLD GOLD . . . even in the dark?
What is this superiority that wins so many famous people? It's simply honey-like smoothness . . . the new and delightful quality that OLD GOLD has added to cigarettes. And it comes from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant . . . the finest tobacco that grows. That's why you can pick OLD GOLDS with your eyes closed.
© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760
Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant
SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

A Short Cut to Accurate Information
Here is a companion for your hours of reading and study that will prove its real value every time you consult it. A wealth of ready information on words, people, places, is instantly yours in
WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE
The Best Abridged Dictionary—Based upon
WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL
106,000 words with definitions, etymologies, pronunciations and use in its 1,256 pages. 1,700 illustrations. Includes dictionaries of biography and geography and other special features. Printed on Bible Paper.
See It at Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO.
Springfield, Mass.

GREETINGS TO THE MAY-MAR
The College Inn extends congratulations to a new comer among our business places, and welcomes you as one whose reputation is already a credit to Lewisburg's fame as a fine restaurant town. An excellent location in addition to tasteful equipment are twin assets well worthy of certain other twins, whom to be brief we will call
"MAY-MAR"
"On the Quadrangle"
Payne '09.

HELP FLORIDA and PORTO RICO

Make contributions at stores displaying the Red Cross card or send check to DR. JOHN T. JUDD, University Ave., Lewisburg

$5,000,000 is Urgently Needed.

AMERICAN RED CROSS
Union County Chapter.

500 HEAR DEDICATION OF BRADY MEMORIAL

(Continued from page 1)

Bradys have since then taken their part in every national emergency. There was never a time when the Bradys were not on hand to lend a helping hand. It is our hope that stone shall stand here as long as the river shall flow past its base."

Brady Killed by Indians

The speaker spoke of the day when Brady was killed by Indians, how the friend with him escaped, how the body was later recovered and brought back to the anguished woman who had been his helpmate in long trying years. He told how the sons of Brady had sworn to avenge him against the Indians and did it a hundred fold.

Then he changed the theme and viewed the situation from the point of view of the Indian. Penn treated the Indian fairly, but after that he was cheated, robbed, driven out and slain by the whites. It was no wonder that the Indian became bitter and took vengeance when he could. Now, 160 years later, he looked for the time when the Indian, America's original citizen, shall be entitled to the full benefit of citizenship and take his rightful part in the American republic. This sentiment was met with prolonged applause.

He referred to the marker as something to cause passers by to pause and think for the moment upon the Holy experiment upon which courageous men embarked in founding the nation. This led him to a consideration of the people of today, indifferent to their blessings, slackers at the polls.

Honorables Attend

In the front row of the platform, which was erected for the occasion, were Frederick A. Godcharles, president of the Northumberland county historical society and the presiding officer; the Hon. Clinton R. Sweidler, formerly of Sunbury and now of Lewisburg, the donor of the property to the state; Col. Henry W. Shoemaker, chairman of the Pennsylvania historical commission, and the donor of the boulder; Chief War Eagle, of the Delaware Indian tribe, in the regalia and headdress of a chieftain; Mr. Kelly, the Hon. Emerson Collins, of Williamsport who also made an address; the Rev. F. B. Everitt, of Lewisburg, who delivered the benediction; Miss Frances Dorranee, secretary of the commission, Hiram H. Shenk, executive secretary, and officers of the county society. They were individually presented by Mr. Godcharles.

INMATES OF INFIRMARY FOUND UNUSUAL FRAT.

'Twas only a few short days ago that a new fraternity saw the light of day on the Bucknell campus. Sigma Mu Nu, as it is known, was founded by inmates of the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary. The charter members are: Frank Loper, Henry C. Bloss, "Nate" Kutcher, Miss Kroberger, Grand Arkon, and Miss Yareck, Grand Chancellor. Messrs. Loper and Bloss are well on the road to recovery from their ailments, but, although they graduate from the Infirmary, their fraternal standing will not be affected.

Membership in the newly-formed brotherhood will undoubtedly be an exclusive thing, due to the rigorous initiation. This ceremony includes: residence in the infirmary for a period of one week; the patient's temperature must have been at one time or another over 100 degrees; and a definite pulse-rate, to be determined by the Grand Arkon and the Grand Chancellor, must be attained.

Further and more confidential information may be had from any of the active members.

Norman Ross, substituting for Mose Quinn in the last quarter, made an auspicious debut by carrying the ball for 15 yards on the first attempt. Ross is fast, shifty, and hard to tackle. With further seasoning Ross should develop into a quarterback of much fame.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Bucknell Professor Addresses Teachers

Dr. Henry P. Colestock, head of history at Bucknell University, told 160 school teachers recently at their monthly institute that "arithmetic is introduced several years too early into the schools," that the child mind cannot grasp the subject, and that the actual work in most instances is done in the home by parents and others.

This and other statements of a unique nature were made to the teachers who heard Dr. Colestock both afternoon and evening at the Rutter avenue high school building. Elaborating, the Bucknell historian asserted that the tendency is to assign too much for the child to do at night and consequently, a tired mind is the result. Actual survey showed that in most instances children of the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades could not work the arithmetic given them and by appealing to the parents for help wrong habits are developed in the child. Dr. Colestock thinks all work should be done in school and not at home, that there should be some immediate adjustment.

He also admonished the teacher who holds the examination as a sort of whip over a child, who at examination time is often subjected to an abnormal temperature. This assertion was in line with Dr. Colestock's subject, "What I Would Like to Tell My Boy's Teacher as a Patron of My Public Schools." In this connection the speaker also emphasized the importance of manners and the importance of the subject compared with any other. The manners of pupils set the standard of the school, he declared.

The afternoon subject covered "The Mental Attitude of the Teacher as a Factor in Teaching." The proper mental attitude is conducive to physical fitness, spells success in anything, and develops a personal worth and character, Dr. Colestock contended. A good deal of the talk was of an intimate character, as coming from one pedagogue to another. Dr. Colestock has been head of history at Bucknell for twenty-five years, is a lecturer, commencement and Chautauqua speaker of note.

—Wilkes-Barre Record.

Rare Migrant Meets A Tragic Fate Here

An unheralded visitor came to grief on the Susquehanna river here on Saturday, September 22, after partaking of a meal of fish that are believed to have been poisoned. The stranger was a Caspian tern, identified by an aluminum band bearing the number 657059, which it wore around one leg.

Never having been reported from Lewisburg, the Caspian tern must be classed as a rare migrant. Professor N. F. Davis, in listing 246 birds recorded for this region, over a period of 30 years, makes no mention of it. It is the largest of our terns, and may be distinguished from the gulls by its red pointed bill and forked tail.

Communication with the Biological Survey at Washington, D. C., revealed that the bird carrying band No. "657059 was a Caspian tern banded at Shoe Island, Lake Michigan, July 10, 1928."

By means of these numbered aluminum bands, usually attached to the leg of the bird, important investigations relative to the migrations, and other facts in the life histories of North American birds are being advanced. The bands are attached to the birds by voluntary cooperators in the United States and Canada. Success in the bird-banding work is therefore dependent on the reports of persons in both countries on such banded birds as come to their attention.

Several students are planning to "clean out" after their last class of the week that they may take in the B. U.-Geneva game.

"DIEHLY" TURNS DOWN OPPORTUNITY TO COACH

(Continued from Page 1)

system, and he realized that Bucknell and Temple were great rivals. He felt the faith of the Bucknell student body and the alumni scattered throughout the world, he felt the pressure of the many handshakes of many people at Bucknell, who were proud to call him friend. Four long years of associations had taken their toll.

The huddle broke up and the play was called. "Wally" Diehl would not intentionally hurt Bucknell's chances of victory over Temple, regardless of the inducements and the sacrifice that he would be obliged to make!

But was it a sacrifice?

Diehl lost material things because of Bucknell, but he kept something that money can not buy. He kept the faith and increased, if possible, the admiration of the horde of Bucknellians for him.

BUCKNELL STUDENTS ENJOY ANNUAL FAIR

(Continued from Page 1)

invaded the "Maison De Art, or Paris after Mid-night." But the devilry was not so bad at three in the afternoon. In fact, some of the bolder ones were overheard to say that even Northumberland had it stopped.

And you should have seen "Satan in Fairyland," the sensation that people are talking about. My, but that boy is a cut-up!

"The Pillory Mystery" was solved by all in less than the required time except by a pair of frosh. They later tried it in West College, but were rescued before a fatality occured.

Everyone was astonished by the "Decapitation of Violette—Alive." The boys were cast in gloom when good old "Vi" passed away, but were so happy when a short while later they came across her eating a pair of hot dogs and chatting with the chief stoke-driver.

"The Man-Eater, Crusher-Devourer," was almost put out of business, when some one discovered one of Guy Payne's pretzels in his pocket, and the Devourer ate it by mistake.

But taken all in all, the fair was a big success and the old crowd is now making plans for the one next year.

All work and no play makes Jack.

BUCKNELL DEBATORS EXPECT FINE SEASON

(Continued from Page 1)

organized at the suggestion of Professor W. H. Coleman, director of debate, with the idea of making debating just as far as possible a University enterprise, will act as the committee of selection. The Council is composed of the following professors: T. F. Hamblin, E. M. Heim, R. L. Matz, C. R. Johnson, F. H. Lund, O. W. Elsbree, H. L. Childs, and W. H. Coleman, chairman.

Students expecting to take part in the next Monday evening's trials should observe the following suggestions:

1. Phrase the question in debatable form, as, for example: Resolved, That the United States should join the League of Nations.

2. Select any question of state, national, or international interest.

3. Select a particular phase of the question—preferably the issue you consider most fundamental—and discuss it as fully as the time limits will permit.

4. Each speaker will be allowed five minutes in which to present his case.

Yale students will soon be all up in the air! A ground school course in flying will be initiated at Yale some time during October. Although 160 students have applied for instruction in aviation, only two students will be accommodated in the course this year. It must be a case of plane shortage! (If you didn't get that, forget it!)

Professor Clarence Johnson is attempting to find out why students of Sociology go to church, or stay at home, as the case may be. We predict some interesting revelations.

SELL CHRISTMAS CARDS

Here is your chance to earn big money in spare time. No experience necessary selling newest thing in personalized Christmas cards. Available for the first time. Assortment of 20 different designed cards all steel die engraved with choice of greeting and name plateless engraved to match. Box of 20 cards retails for $2.25 of which 75c is yours. Easy to sell from our beautiful selling display furnished free. Write today.

PERSONAL STATIONERY CORP. OF N. Y.
503 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY.
Dept. C 80

The Season Is On
FOR
Leather Coats and Blouses

We have a fine showing of THE GLOVER LINE which is favorably known all over the leather garment world for its quality and style.

Our stock covers leather garments for the CO-ED. as well as for the boys.

We invite you to inspect this sterling line.

W. L. Donehower, B. U. '06
VARSITY OUTFITTER
Athletic and Sporting Goods Equipment
Knit Goods, Leather Sport Garments, Etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (near Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER

French Raincoats
of Cravenetted Gaberdine yoke lined at
$5.00 Each.

LEATHERETTE RAINCOATS
ALL COLORS AT
$5.00 Each.

Sport Slip-Over Sweaters at - $2.85

SUNBURST SKIRTS
OF SCOTCH PLAIDS AT
$5.00 Each.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Back to the Alma Mater

For men who are about to return to college and who strive for authenticity in their apparel, new

COLLEGE HALL
Suits in the Hy-Roll model—the perfect university sack suit.

COLLEGE HALL
HY-ROLL SUITS
(three-button and two-button)

Gulfstream Gray
Maple Leaf Brown
Dart Green
$35
Grainweaves
Shadowweaves
Customweaves

J. F. PROWANT
With Two Trousers.

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

YEA BISONS ! ! !
GORE THOSE NITTANY LIONS

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

SEE EDITORIAL PAGE
FOR FULL PROGRAM
EDUCATION CONFERENCE

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1928. NUMBER 5

DELTA SIGMA WINS FIRST INTER-FRAT B. U. TRACK MEET

Ely Wins Five First Places; Jablonski Also Shines. Placing in 4 Events

Bucknell's first inter-fraternity track and field meet, held on Saturday in the Memorial Stadium, came to a successful ending with Delta Sigma leading the field with 48 points. To the "Demies" goes the beautiful Y. M. C. A. loving cup, symbolic of the campus championship. The non-fraternity men, competing as a group, piled up 38 points, and took second place. This meet, a result of Coach John Plant's all-around development plan, was managed in a capable manner by "Johnny" Farrow, who is to lead the varsity track team next season.

Ely Star of Meet

"Les" Ely, competing under the red and black of Delta Sigma, left the field as the outstanding star of the day. "Les" who comes from the Peddie School, annexed five first places for a grand total of 25 points, easily taking honors in the 120-yard high hurdles, running broad jump, running high jump, the shot-put, and the discus throw.

Leading the non-fraternity men in the track events was "Clem" Jablonski, who, after garnering first honors in the mile run finished the two-mile run far in advance of the second man. In the 220 yard low hurdles event, Jablonski, who hails from Nanticoke, chalked up his third first

(Continued on page 5)

Women's Glee Club Elects New Officers

The Girls' Glee Club held a meeting Wednesday afternoon, September 3, at which the following officers were elected for the year: President, Josephine Roberts, '29; Secretary and Treasurer, Lillian Mattick, '30; Manager, Fern Reno, '30. Miss Jenkins, director o fthe Glee Club, made an announcement of the regular weekly rehearsals to begin the following week, at which all the girls were urged to be present.

The basis of membership in the Glee Club is different from what it has been in previous years in that only those girls who are taking voice lessons can belong. Any girl who wishes can attend rehearsals, but only voice students will be eligible to sing in the concerts. This requirement has been made in order to assure the fact that every member shall know enough about singing to be an asset rather than a drawback to the Club. Thus the Glee Club is looking forward to a good year, and the concerts which it will give promise to be worth attending.

Annual Y. W. Party To Be a County Fair

A "Y" Union County Fair will be held in the play room of the new dormitory on Friday evening, October 12, from 7:30-10:30 o'clock. The fair is to take place of the annual "Y" party given each fall in honor of the freshman girls. As usual the new class will be the guests of honor.

Converted into a typical fair ground, the play room will contain booths, grandstand, speaker's platform, and announcer's box. All coeds may doubtless find their favorite product advertised in one of the booths, where the biggest and best of everything will be displayed.

Entertainment will include antics by a snake-charmer, the proverbial hand-organ man and his monkey, a fortune teller, home talent along musical lines, recitations, and a band part of the country.

"The Fatal Quest," a three-act tragedy, will be acted by several talented and popular actresses. As to refreshments, Louise Rinck is in charge of that booth, and promises to handle the eager crowd systematically.

Further plans for this crowning event of the season are being kept secret by the committee in charge.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

CLASSES TO SUSPEND

At the meeting of the faculty on October 3, it was voted that classes be suspended on Saturday, October 13, the day of the football game at State College, and on October 20, Homecoming Day; that any absence from class on the day before either holiday be counted as three absences; and further, in view of the suspension of classes on these two days, that no holiday be granted this year after any victory in an intercollegiate contest.

Clayton C. Hill, ex-'29, Dies at Turbotville

All Bucknell mourns the loss of C. Clayton Hill, a member of the class of '29, who died Sunday evening, October 7, at 10:30 p. m., at Turbotville, following an illness of nearly a year and a half. Upperclassmen will remember this Williamsport lad as a sincere, dependable, conscientious fellow-student, who became well-known despite the fact that he commuted daily.

His chief activities were religious and forensic. He was a ministerial student, and planned to enter theological seminary after graduating from Bucknell. In his freshman year he secured a pastorate at Turbotville and he also supplied pulpits elsewhere, conducting evangelistic campaigns.

Hill was also an excellent debator, though his active work in that line was confined to his sophomore year. He debated against Oxford University, England, and accompanied the team on its southern trip, debating the subject of prohibition.

In May, 1927, Hill was taken ill during the week of final exams. He suffered heart trouble and dropsy and was threatened with a nervous breakdown from attempting too much work. He was unable to return to college last year and his illness finally led to his death on Sunday night.

Hill was 27 years of age, and prepared for college at Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, Pa. He was a member of Alpha Chi Mu fraternity and also of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity. He is survived by his wife, Florence. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 1 p. m. at Turbotville. President Hunt helped to conduct the services.

Bucknell Freshmen Lose Thru Fumbles

The Bucknell freshman team, headed by Coach "Mal" Musser journeyed to Manlius, N. Y. on Saturday and were defeated 13 to 0, when they should have knocked off a convincing victory. The "Baby Bisons" showed power, both offensively and defensively, but also exhibited a glaring weakness in fumbling. This was the deciding factor of the contest, for if the yearlings had not lost the ball at crucial times, they would have returned home with the proverbial bacon.

Manlius scored within three minutes after the opening whistle had sounded when Anderson, left end, scooped up Kastrava's fumble on Bucknell's 45-yard line and sprinted for a touchdown. Kastrava made a determined attempt to catch the fleeing Manlius player, but the latter had crossed the final line before he was nailed. Manlius failed to annex the point after the touchdown.

The Bucknell team was not dismayed by this unexpected turn of events and went right to work, but fumbles nullified all efforts. The linemen were opening up and the Bucknell backs were pounding their way through for sizable gains. Late in the first quarter it looked as though Bucknell would at least tie up the ball game, if not take the lead. Kastrava took the ball on a reverse play and was free to the Manlius goal line, 40 yards away, and when Kastrava is free, the tally is almost certain to be made. But the referee's whistle sounded and the play was cancelled, because it was claimed that both teams were offside.

For the remainder of the game Bucknell tore through the Manlius team in an attempt to score, but always fumbling proved fatal. Bucknell could not score. Neither could Manlius. Her backs hit the Bucknell

(Continued on page 8)

"MEMPHIS FLASH" HAS ANKLE BROKEN IN GENEVA GAME

Mose Quinn, '29, Popular Bison Quarterback, Lost To Team By Severe Injury

The Bucknell campus was clouded by gloom Saturday when it was learned that Mose Quinn, star quarterback, will be out of the Bison line-up for the remainder of the season. Quinn both broke and wrenched his ankle in the Geneva game, and it is reported that he will be in the hospital for several weeks.

The loss of Quinn will be greatly felt, as the southern athlete was a flash in the Bucknell backfield. He has been varsity quarterback now for three years. The present campaign is his last in collegiate competition and he was expected to be the kingpin of the Orange and Blue backfield.

Last fall at State College, Quinn brought about the defeat of Penn

(Continued on Page 4)

New Members Chosen By Cap and Dagger

As a result of recent try-outs to test the ability of those aspiring to dramatic heights on the Bucknell campus, five of eight positions in Cap and Dagger have been filled. Approximately 25 men tried out at the first call, but this number was reduced to ten as a result of the try-out. Of this number, five were awarded places in the society. They are Richard Hamer, Reule Ralston, Philip Nizer, John Debter, and Miles Suchor. The first four mentioned are of the class of '32, and Suchor is of the class of '30. Millard Shipman, who formerly held a place in the society, has been granted special membership and will take active part in the season's program.

Rowland Coleman, '29, chairman of the program committee, has recently announced the staging of three one-act plays on Friday night, October 26. The plays selected for that evening's entertainment are, "Sham," "The Valiant," and "The Brink of Silence." The cast for each play will be announced some time in the near future.

Dr. Stewart to Talk At Baptist Supper

Dr. Norman H. Stewart, professor of biology, will speak at the Baptist C. E. on Sunday evening, October 14. This gathering is the first of a series of informal supper meetings to be held at the church during the coming year. A buffet supper will be served at the church at 5:30 o'clock for ten cents.

Students will welcome this opportunity not only to converse with Dr. Stewart and to know him better, but also to become acquainted with other students. "Bobby" Thomas, chairman of the social committee, is planning to appease the appetites of all who partake of her supper.

The regular meeting, with Dr. Stewart as speaker, will directly follow the supper. Special musical selections have been arranged by Lillian Mattick, chairman of the music committee.

"Phil" Murray Meets With Queer Accident

A catastrophe happened at the Baptist Christian Endeavor meeting last Sunday evening. While Philip Murray was playing a hymn, a vase of flowers on the top of the piano toppled over and fell into his lap. "Phil" deftly caught the vase between his knees and continued playing. The people sitting in the front row heard a drip, drip, and knew that "Phil" was getting wet. Then suddenly the vase slipped from between his knees and landed on the floor with a crash. It isn't all fun to be accompanist for Christian Endeavor meetings, especially when a vase of flowers decorates the piano.

How is it that we can be at school and yet be home sick?

"LOU" MUTZEL, '31, GIVES HIS BLOOD TO SAVE POOR GIRL

Instantly Answers Hospital Call On Eve Of His Departure From New York For B. U.

When "Lou" Mutzel, '31, crack boxer and football player, reported to Coach Carl Snavely for the first gridiron practice of the year, he was very much under-weight and in a weakened condition. It was learned that the husky lineman had spent the summer in New York working in the grand canyon of Wall street, and it was thought that Mutzel's poor physical condition was due to wild night life and city living conditions.

Such, however, was not the case, and the true facts have just been uncovered, not through Mutzel himself, for it is as hard to get him to talk about himself as it is for an opposing lineman to get through his position, but from a fraternity brother,

(Continued on page 5)

Fine Art Exhibition Will Be Shown Here

Along with Homecoming and the Education Conference, another rare treat is offered to the people of both town and college in the form of a valuable exhibition from the New York School of Fine and Applied Art, which will be on display this coming week from Monday, October 15, through Saturday, October 20, in the play room on the ground floor of the women's new dormitory.

The exhibition, valued at $2000, is sponsored by the Wednesday afternoon Book Club. Members of the club will act as hostesses at the exhibition each day from two to six o'clock, and from seven to nine. The club is composed of nine members: Dean Amelia E. Clark, Mrs. F. G. Davis, Miss Olive Douglas, Mrs. Clarence Johnson, Miss Millicent Melrose, Mrs. John Plant, Mrs. C. G. Sale, Mrs. J. Willard Smith, and Mrs. Lewis E. Theiss. Mrs. John Plant, who is a former student at the art school, is directly responsibility for the exhibit being brought to the campus. Mrs. Plant will talk to the

(Continued on page 5)

Belle Hop Transfers Office to the Hill

Settled in its new headquarters on the Hill, the Belle Hop staff is busily at work on the Home-coming issue of Bucknell's humorous publication. The new office is located in the old Bucknellian room in West College, adjoining the Athletic Office.

The transfer from the University Print Shop, the Belle Hop headquarters in the past, to West College, was made about two weeks ago. The new site has the advantage of being virtually at the center of circulation for the magazine.

The Belle Hop is now printed by the Miltonian Printing Company.

The room left vacant adjoined the Bucknellian headquarters and has been added to it. The enlarged office is now twenty by twelve feet in size and furnishes ample space for the Bucknellian staff.

"Babe" Ruth's Tip Kept by B. U. Co-ed

Lois Baker, '31, has a two-dollar bill which she prizes very highly. Lois received the bill as a tip during the latter part of the summer when she worked as waitress in a hotel at a resort near her home.

One evening Lois served a large party of men who dined at the hotel. When the party left, the host left a two-dollar bill for Lois.

When she looked at the signature on the check with which the host paid for the meal, she saw that she had been tipped by the famous "Babe" Ruth, baseball's one and only King of Swat and she has been rooting for the Yankees ever since.

We come here to study, and yet there is a playroom in the new dormitory.

MEN DEBATORS TRY OUT

Try-outs for the men's debating team were held on Monday evening, October 8, in the chemical lecture room at eight o'clock. The following men were chosen by the Debate Council, out of a total of twenty men who competed: G. J. Abernethy, '32, C. P. Bailey, '29, F. S. Corner, '32, G. J. Evans, '32, F. A. Golden, '32, G. Moyer, '29, J. C. Miniek, '29, E. G. Mirarchi, '29, A. H. Rawlinson, '29, C. V. Smith, '31, J. G. Williams, '29, E. C. Strock, '32, and D. Davis, '32.

Warren G. Garman Will Teach at B. U.

Warren G. Garman, who is a graduate of the Penn State Engineering School, where he won high scholastic honors, and who has had wide experience in engineering, will become an assistant professor at Bucknell, to succeed Assistant Professor B. J. Wilson, who has just resigned his Bucknell professorship to take a position with the Leeds and Northrup Instrument Company, of Philadelphia.

Professor Garman is a native of Harrisburg, Pa. He is a machinest by trade. He was graduated in mechanical engineering from Penn State as first honor man in a class of 365.

Since his graduation, Professor Garman has had extensive experience in both the practical field and in teaching. On the practical side, he has been connected with the engineering staffs of both the Dodge Brothers and the General Motors companies. He has done designing and construction work for a concern manufacturing anti-aircraft guns and special machine tools.

In addition to this practical experience, Mr. Garman has spent three years teaching in the Technical School of the General Electric Co. at Erie, and has served four years as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He comes to us directly from Yale University where he has just completed one year's work in the graduate school in the department of physics.

Mr. Garman is a member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and also a member of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education. His experience and preparation should make him a valuable man for the engineering department at Bucknell.

Dr. and Mrs. Robbins Pass Summer Abroad

Professor Harry Robbins' European trip last summer proved tremendously interesting because of many unexpected occurrences with which he met during his travels. Dr. and Mrs. Robbins spent three and a half months abroad, making Italy and Germany the most important stopping places.

Landing in Sicily, they spent more than a week there, in one of the most beautiful cities of the world, Taurmina. Taurmina is an old Greek city, about half way up the side of Mount Etna. Sixth-century ruins are still to be seen there, for the most part intact. Dr. Robbins was especially interested in the fact that although the last eruption of Mt. Etna occurred in 1923, yet the lava immediately below the surface of the earth is still hot. Their guide dug down about a foot beneath the surface, and showed them that the lava there is still glowing.

The wonders that Mussolini is effecting can readily be seen in the vast improvement of economic conditions. Train service is greatly improved, second class now being as comfortable as first. Beggars, for which Italy has long been noted, have practically disappeared, except for a few around church entrances. Of especial interest to Americans is the fact that tipping in hotels has been done away with in Italy. Vast city cleanups have taken place also. Naples' water front, instead of being a filthy, dangerous place, is now one of the favored locations for hotels for tourists.

While Dr. and Mrs. Robbins were in Italy, Mt. Vesuvius started to erupt. A pillar of fire could be seen coming from the crater, and lava was thrown up at intervals of about thirty seconds. Later in the summer, the lava started to overflow the crater.

One of the most interesting points

(Continued on page 5)

B. U. SQUAD WINS DECISIVE VICTORY OVER GENEVA TEAM

Brumbaugh Carries Ball Across For Two Touchdowns; Races 65 Yards To Make 2nd

Minus the services of their star performer, Captain "Eddie" Halicki, the Bucknell football men invaded Beaver Falls last Saturday afternoon where they chalked up the second Bison victory of the season, downing a tough Geneva College grid eleven by the official count of 13-7.

Bucknell clearly outplayed the losers except for a few minutes in the final quarter. The Geneva team put up a stubborn defense during the early part of the game but soon were forced to give way to the hard-plunging Bucknell backs.

The winners scored in the second quarter and again in the third period. The Geneva team managed to push over a lone touchdown in the final canto. Hambacher was successful in one try after touchdown while Smith, of the losers, managed to contribute a lone point for the Geneva team.

Brumbaugh Scores Twice

Justin Brumbaugh, sophomore halfback, pulled the Bucknell team through to an well-earned triumph. It was Brumbaugh who scored the first touchdown of the game in the second period by dashing across the line for a score, after a 15-yard run.

In the second half the Bucknell lead was increased to 13-0 when Brumbaugh broke loose for a 65-yard run for another touchdown. Brumbaugh's dash thrilled the crowd, as the sprint

(Continued on page 8)

Tribunal Announces Its Representatives

The following are the representatives on the Senior Tribunal: Alpha Chi Mu, J. C. Minick, president; Lambda Chi Alpha, A. J. Abbott, vice president; Phi Gamma Delta, J. D. Hubbard; Delta Sigma, G. W. Simpson; Kappa Sigma, R. E. Snauffer; Phi Lambda Theta, J. N. Stack; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, C. S. Jones; Kappa Delta Rho, B. J. Burditek; Kappa Gamma, L. C. Ceraso; Beta Kappa, R. N. Tate; Theta Upsilon Omega, F. B. Mitchell; Sigma Chi, H. E. Waldner; Phi Kappa Psi, G. K. James; Non-Fraternity, J. E. Rank and K. E. Rounsley.

Communications to the Tribunal may be made through any of these representatives. All reports should state definitely the cause for action, giving the date and place, and should be signed. The identity of the reporter is not divulged. These precautions are taken to guard against injustice.

B. U. Research Club Plans 1st Luncheon

The Bucknell Graduate Research Club is planning to hold its first luncheon meeting and to close the roll of charter membership on Saturday, October 20, during the annual conference and Homecoming activities. The meeting will be held at the Evangelical Church at 12:15 P. M.

This organization of graduate students interested in research was initiated during the summer session by the members of the class in Educational Research taught by Professor Frank G. Davis. Thirty members had signed the roll before the close of the session, and tentative plans were made for the closing of the charter at a later meeting.

John C. Koch, '28, now dean of men at the Bloomsburg State Teachers' College, was elected president of the group, and under his leadership, a statement of aims and qualifications for membership was formulated and adopted. Any person who holds a baccalaureate degree from an approved college or university and who is actively interested in the work or problems of research may become a member of the club. Its aims are the promotion of fellowship among graduate students, the fostering of a spirit of research in all de-

(Continued on page 5)

If acorns were cocoanuts many of the Bucknell students would be dead.

• • • •

Why post young billboards advertising "secret" football practice?

• • • •

Harry Allsworth is out for the shot-put! More power to you, Harry.

• • • •

Miss Emily Ebeling insists that the girls come to class dressed for gym, and not for "Jack."

• • • •

Last year's freshmen derive a certain amount of pleasure from simply "cutting" campus.

• • • •

Believe it or not, some fair co-eds have actually been known to take the bus to Milton.

• • • •

"Ill" Woodring, varsity football man, is in the Ziegler Infirmary suffering from a sore throat.

• • • •

"Hunty" McNally, "semi-pro," was decisively defeated in four sets of tennis last week by an amateur.

• • • •

Mrs. C. C. Smith and Miss Claire Smith of Nanticoke, visited Miss Olivia Smith on Tuesday, October 2.

• • • •

Since all the world is a Christmas tree, take Skippy's advice and don't use your cornicopias as a fool's cap.

• • • •

"Jerry" Carnes, '30, and Miriam Johnson, '30, spent the week-end of October 5 at the latter's home in Towanda.

• • • •

Now that football season is here, we see many "old grads." They sit and tell wierd tales of their days at Bucknell.

• • • •

Said a co-ed, "Some people's remarks need to be taken with a grain of salt, especially when the remarks are fresh."

• • • •

"Mutt" Convery and "Ollie" Miller have been elected managers of the Sigma Chi track and soccer teams, respectively.

• • • •

"Eddie" Halicki, Bucknell's football captain is back from the Danville Hospital, where he had a damaged nose mended.

• • • •

Even the campus has changed its color scheme lately. Haven't you noticed the beautiful change in the leaves of the trees and bushes?

• • • •

We hear that the juniors this year are to have no write-ups under their L'Agenda pictures. The class of '29 is a modest one, to say the least.

• • • •

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Smith of Morristown, New Jersey, spent Wednesday and Thursday, October 3 and 4, with their daughter, Barbara Smith.

• • • •

Since "gym" classes have begun, a number of fair co-eds can be seen wielding tennis rackets or hockey sticks in the early hours of the morning.

• • • •

Psychology under Professor F. H. Lund promises to be interesting, for he has assured us that we shall know more about love at the end of the semester.

• • • •

Have you seen the little girl who rigs up the cannon, in front of the monument, with a jingle-bell harness, and then rides ever so far on her iron horse?

• • • •

"Chuck" Rivenburg, after months of study, has come to the startling conclusion that the shortest way to the "Hill" from any given point is via the "Sem."

• • • •

Something new—the house president of the new dormitory was called house "Mother" by a freshman girl the other night. Versatility seems to be a part of that job.

• • • •

"Hot" Ellor and "Lou" Mutzel got their signals mixed during practice Monday night, and as a result Ellor's minus several teeth and "Lou" has a big gash in his head.

• • • •

Since the signs have left the backs of the freshmen, so have many cheerful greetings. It looks as though these signs will be a permanent fixture for the sake of democracy.

• • • •

By the time this issue of the Bucknellian comes out the strenuous life of rushing will be over, and there will remain only the suspense of bid day to live through. Courage, girls!

"Joe" Clark, he sez, sez he, that his mother once told him, "you could not hatch a canary bird from a waffle egg."

• • • •

In class the other day a "Semite" initiated a person afflicted with whooping cough so effectively that she frightened not only her classmates but the professor as well.

• • • •

Over the hills and through the wood,
From botany class we go
To study the leaves, and trees, and such.
Lord! when is it going to snow?

• • • •

"Promptness is a virtue," says the Student Senate. The first material proof was evidenced at the first meeting, on Monday night, when the Senate campussed three tardy co-eds.

• • • •

There is a great deal of planning going on now among those students who naturally look forward to the State game. The "ways and means" problem is creating no little comment.

• • • •

The new dormitory is getting to be a veritable prison. At least it sounds that way, when one hears the "lock-step" resounding through the halls of third floor at twelve o'clock every night.

• • • •

Some of the co-eds got a real thrill the other day when Professor F. H. Lund looked at them and said, "I love you." He later qualified his statement by saying, "Suppose I am your mother."

• • • •

Campus celebrities, beware! Professor Harry R. Warfel's class in advanced composition is to write themes on campus celebrities for Friday. But take heart! No names are to be mentioned.

• • • •

After being at Bucknell for these few weeks, one baffled freshman piped up with "I'm going to write a new song and call it 'Courses, Courses, Courses! Daffy over Courses, Courses, Courses.'"

• • • •

We are all glad that the men's rushing season is over. It would be wonderful if we all could get what we are after, but this can not be. There has been much "wailing and gnashing of teeth."

• • • •

George Lacy is making his presence felt on the campus. He is selling toilet articles in the hope of improving the external appearance of his associates, and commending them to the approval of the co-eds.

• • • •

The new Botany Building was put to use on Tuesday October 2, by Dr. W. H. Eyster's botany classes. It is a pleasure to work in such a building, and every one is urged to help keep it in an excellent condition.

• • • •

The result of the Women's Student Government election held on Friday night, September 28, is as follows: House President of new dormitory, Doris Siner; House President of Larison and Harris Halls, Mary Taubel.

• • • •

We take it that Professor W. H. Coleman is decidedly not a follower of "Al" Smith. How many were converted to Hoover by the professor's jesting remarks? Perhaps all those who are not old enough to vote!

• • • •

We do not remember ever seeing such a great number of acorns about the campus as there are this year. The reason must be because so many of our squirrels seem to have abandoned their homes on Bucknell campus.

• • • •

We suggest that they raise the tuiton $5 more a year in order to supply a garage for Dean Amelia Clark's automobile. At present the only shelter against the elements is the stately trees in front of Harris Hall.

• • • •

A dance orchestra "direct from Broadway" made a short stop in Lewisburg recently. On seeing "Fred" Locke, and Horace Mason, one of the members of the orchestra asked if there was a college in Lewisburg.

• • • •

During the past few evenings the classes in astronomy have been looking at Saturn. It is possible to see Saturn for only a short time each evening. It will disappear shortly and will not appear again until next spring.

Who ever heard of being afraid of a cat? A poor little kitten was thrown through a "Semite's" open window, and when it walked down the hall on a tour of investigation, its appearance caused such shrieks of terror that the cat must think that it landed by mistake in a lunatic asylum.

• • • •

They say that girls are the only ones that can spend much time packing, but it was noticed by one of the professors that all football men were absent from 10:30 classes, Friday, preparing to leave at 12:00. Draw your own conclusion. Were they saying good-bye, or packing clean shirts?

• • • •

Prof. H. W. Warfel's class in advanced composition was the scene of great excitement last Friday morning when Prof. Warfel read some very interesting sketches of some of the "Campus Celebrities." Some pithy portrayals of various faculty members excited the mirth of every one present.

• • • •

Noises of all sorts can be heard issuing from the Music School since all Glee Club members are required to take vocal lessons. Deep bassos and soaring tenors are heard for blocks around. Especially are these detracting sounds obnoxious to the girls in the dormitory across the way when they are trying to concentrate on vitamins and calories of dietetics.

• • • •

"Ly" McKug, '31, was awakened one morning last week by a serenade from a courageous young squirrel, perched in the tree opposite her room, on the second floor of the new dormitory. We are tempted to believe that there must be some choice morsel of scandal, in squirreldom, judging by the amount of chattering which these young animals have been making lately.

• • • •

It has become quite common to hear the "Semites" indulge in heated discussions on the inconvenience of too many oak trees. While walking between buildings on the women's campus, it is practically impossible to escape the falling acorns. The girls are duly thankful that the crop this year is no larger, or certainly their poor heads would be too sore for any practical use.

• • • •

Have you noticed how rapidly the leaves are turning? It is a shame that we are able to enjoy the effect of the leaves on the campus for such a short time only. They do not come out until we are practically leaving for home in June, and they always fall a few weeks after we get back. One of the advantages of coming to summer school would be that you could enjoy a shady campus.

• • • •

If everyone continues to insist on going to breakfast at the "Sem" every morning it is feared that tuition for the co-eds will have to be raised next semester. Never before in the history of the school since "compulsory breakfasts" were abolished, have such proceedings taken place. The authorities are at a loss for any explanation, but the upper-classmen lay the blame on the freshmen.

• • • •

An interesting discussion was held on a recent Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Young People's Society. The topic centered about "companionate marriage" and its newest aspects. "Johnny" Snyder must have been thinking seriously on the subject, for his ideas were the most enlightening on the question under discussion. We feel sure that "Johnny" is immune from the charm of Judge Ben Lindsey's enticing marriage scheme.

• • • •

Those who went up the "Hill" early for their two o'clock's on Tuesday afternoon, were rewarded for their promptness. A slightly inebriated man of uncertain origin occupied the center of the stage between the Chemistry Building and the new dormitory, requesting matches and cigarettes of Professor Owens' chemistry class. The only conclusion we can reach in this case is that he must have read the pamphlet distributed in chapel Tuesday morning. The reaction to the Hamlet-like query was evidently most unfavorable.

• • • •

The trunk Ruth Evans, '30, lost this fall has unexpectedly turned up. Last June when Ruth went home for vacation, she left her trunk in the basement of the new dormitory to be delivered to the Phi Mu suite in Andress at Wheaton College, in Norton, the trunk was sent there. There it remained all summer, and so caused Ruth a great deal of trouble when she tried to locate it among the various storerooms at the "Sem" this fall. The authorities at Wheaton returned the trunk to Ruth, and now she has actually solved one of the darkest mysteries of the season.

A co-ed stated her desire to obtain a quotation for which she was obliged to go to the library. Her friend offered a contribution—"An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth." Who do you suppose has been tramping on her toes?

• • • •

Did you know that there is a haunted room on the second floor of the new "dorm?" The occupants of the room declare that for the past few nights, they have been disturbed by weird noises. Who is going to catch this ghost?

• • • •

The latest business enterprise on the Hill is being conducted by two small town boys. The business consists of "shining up to the fellows" and then shining the shoes. Who knows but that some day they may be big business men?

• • • •

The co-eds living on second floor front of the new dormitory have been disturbed during their slumbers by a night prowler—some say the noise is caused by the squirrels but "Kay" Wardan insists that "it" is a former resident of Danville!

• • • •

Professor H. L. Childs gave one of his political science classes a talk on the numerous seals which the government of Great Britain has in its possession. One of the wits of the class raised his hand and asked, "Do they have any trained seals?"

• • • •

Jane Reese Harris and "Artie," both '28, were visitors to the old Alma Mater on a recent week-end. They had a very interesting and prolonged trip to California, but have since returned East, where they are living with the Reeses in Nanticoke.

• • • •

Some unknown male called up third floor of the new dormitory one night last week, and asked to speak to any young ladies there who had been searching for sweet cider. No one but the girl who answered the telephone betrayed any signs of interest.

• • • •

At chapel, Tuesday, we were handed booklets entitled, "To Drink or Not to Drink." Upon receiving them, the students wondered whether "to read or not to read." Those who chose "to read" debated whether "to heed or not to heed."

• • • •

"East Side-West Side, all around the town"—for any information on the coming election, or in other words, if you want the "cold dope" on who is going to be elected this November, consult "Mutt" Convery or "Bill" O'Brien Sr., our tonsorial artist.

• • • •

Dr. H. W. Robbin's Chaucer class has proved to be most amusing lately. Everyone seems to be too busy to translate his lesson in advance, so the translations in class are entirely extemporaneous. Many of them are quite ridiculous, and certainly mirth-provoking.

• • • •

Several ambitious co-eds are considering forming an organization called, "The Bucknell Perennial Furniture Movers." They are practicing and at the same time attempting to establish an extensive clientele, by moving all articles for the various "rushing" parties.

• • • •

The fifth generation of Bloomfield, N. J., football players has arrived at Bucknell. "Ike" Schaffer, '31, can be seen daily practicing with the yearling eleven. He expects to follow in the footsteps of McCormick, Ellor, Hambacker, and Lobel, and win gridiron fame for himself.

• • • •

A few mornings ago a comparatively new pipe and a tobacco can, half full, were found in front of East College. The articles had evidently fallen about three stories, judging from the condition they were in. Can it be possible that some freshman has given up the fight already?

• • • •

Now that the "Sem" tennis courts have been prepared, the co-eds are making good use of them from morning till night. The enthusiasm with which they play would lead one to wonder how they ever waited so patiently as they did for the courts to be made usable.

• • • •

An unheard of thing has happened! The other day upper-class chapel was let out by 10:15—fifteen minutes earlier than usual. For once in their college career, certain of the students have had no chance to finish doing a lesson or take a short nap during the half hour chapel period.

Captain "Eddie" Halicki hopes to be able to get a good crack at Penn State next Saturday. Halicki was in uniform during the Geneva game, ready at any minutes notice to go in. However Coach Snavely kept Halicki on the sidelines, evidently saving him for the State encounter. Halicki will be a triple threat for State next Saturday and is expected to gain much ground against the far famed State gridmen. Halicki will pass, run, and kick, and much depends upon the Bucknell captain. But he will come through. He scored the first touchdown against State last fall and he is ready to score a flock of them this Saturday.

A place to look well.
—Farley's Barber Shop—

FOR HOMECOMING DAY
Chrysanthemums
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wish ed for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

ATHLETES NOW EAT PIE

By C. E. GROOVER, '28
(Written for the Special Article Class)

"Why, over there is that big Mister Tunney eating a piece of pie. I always thought pie was taboo for athletes."

Such was the comment of a member of the frail sex upon observing "Gene" Tunney devour a huge slab of pie in a restaurant near Philadelphia, while he was training for his first bout with Jack Dempsey. The present day athlete and trainer would answer the young lady's statement by assuring her that today we have a saner method of training in athletic circles than she had surmised. No longer does the athlete abstain from foods which his body craves. Training has ceased to be a bugbear as far as eating is concerned.

Many Coaches Err

This situation is the result of what might be termed the evolution of eating. In the early days when Ol' John L. was making them all bite the dust and like it, the boxer trained on everything he could eat, washing his food down with large quantities of beer well over the present-day half of one per cent. Then there came a shift to the opposite extreme, in which the athlete literally starved himself in order to train for an event. Many injured their bodies by doing so. But today a happy medium between these two older training methods seems to be the vogue.

Walter E. Meanwell, M. D., Dr. P. H., who at present is coach of basketball at the University of Wisconsin, has turned out many championship teams in the West. "Billy" Evans, popular, sports writer, calls him the "Human Marvel." In regard to the diet of an athlete, Dr. Meanwell in his book, "The Science Of Basketball," says:

"A good deal of unscientific hodgepodge still clings to the athletic dietary, and many coaches still deprive their players of butter, sugar, desserts, ice cream, milk, certain vegetables, and many other articles that have absolutely no detrimental effect, but have on the contrary, decidedly beneficial ones, if eaten in moderation."

Meanwell Advocated Home Cooking

At the Rockne-Meanwell School of Coaching held at Bucknell University in the summer of 1927, Dr. Meanwell, who was an instructor in basketball, told what he allows his athletes to eat. He advocated home cooking and the things that go with it, including pie.

Coach Meanwell is a physician and practiced medicine several years before he attained success in the coaching game. In his younger days, he was a professional wrestler of championship caliber. Hence he has practical as well as theoretical knowledge to back up his dietary contentions.

And Dr. Meanwell prescribes the diet for athletes engaged in one of the most strenuous of all sports. If there is a game that requires endurance it is basketball. There is no chance for a rest in this game as there is in football or baseball. The footballer rests between plays; the baseball player seems to do more resting than anything else; but the basketball player seldom gets a chance to rest at all. He is moving all the time. This constant activity demands endurance and the pink of condition.

John Plant Speaks

Another successful coach, who likewise champions the eating of pie, is John Plant, director of physical education at Bucknell University. Coach Plant, before going to Bucknell, had charge of athletics at the Peddie Preparatory School in New Jersey. He has developed a veritable young army of athletes in his 30 and more years of coaching and should know whereof he speaks concerning physical education.

"I have found that it is better to allow boys to eat pie," said coach Plant recently. "Their bodies crave this delicacy and to inhibit this desire is more detrimental than pie could ever hope to be. However I do not mean by this that pie is harmful."

If champion "Gene" Tunney and the athletes turned out by Dr. Meanwell and Coach Plant can eat pie and suffer no consequences, there must be something in this pie eating after all.

If one should look into the dinner bucket of the average laboring man, what would he found there? Very likely a quarter or a half of a pie. Is it because the pie tastes good? Candy is also good, but one would find none of that. It is because the laborer, who expends a large amount of energy, craves this type of food. And why shouldn't pie be good for the athlete or the laborer? Pie must be food, and good food at that. Anything that is composed of sugar, flour, lard, milk, and oftentimes fruit, contains just the elements that the body needs as fuel for energy to be expended.

Fuel Necessary

Everyone requires some fuel or energy foods. From the moment that we awake and start to move about we exert energy, and the consumption of the stored fuel increases. And the greater the amount of muscular activity the greater is the amount of energy food required. Hence dire consequences might result if an office man, who pushes a pen about all day, should try to consume the amount of fuel foods eaten by a football man or a hod carrier. His body wouldn't require it, and the excess would merely be stored in the body, causing obesity and indigestion.

Part of the dieting problem then seems to be to eat in moderation. One might go so far as to say that a small quantity of a bad diet is better than too much of a good diet. Each person must decide for himself how much he should eat. This is very difficult at times. It is said that a pig always makes a hog of himself. This statement need not be confined to the porkers alone, for many people are as bad as pigs. But there is some excuse for the humans, although most of them don't realize it. The modern diet has become a series of appetizers, with large quantities of ketchup, mustard, chile sauce, and the like being consumed. So today, after a fellow has eaten a hearty meal, he usually ends it with pickles. These tend to sharpen his appetite and he feels like starting all over again—and usually does. What good will the so-called "health foods" do in a case like that? Isn't it just as bad to eat too much of them?

Pie Curbs The Appetite

Here is where pie will serve a double purpose. Aside from being a good energy-producing food, pie also tends to curb the appetite after a meal. Pie is rather sweet, and anything sweet deadens the appetite. This is the reason that a boy, upon eating a piece of pie in the afternoon, suddenly loses his appetite for the evening meal. It isn't so much a case of the pie harming him as it is that it deadens his appetite for other foods that he needs. Many people have experienced the situation of eating a large meal, but still wanting more. Upon eating pie, they suddenly realize that they feel stuffy. Of course the pie is blamed. What really has happened is that the pie deadened their appetites for more foods, and the stuffy condition, which existed before but which was overshadowed by a desire for more food, is realized for the first time.

Pie Demands A Place

Of course one should not make a meal of pie. That would be almost as bad as eating all meat, or all eggs, or all apples. But pie should have an established place in the well-balanced diet. This form of diet is one in which the acid-forming foods, such as meat, rice, or potatoes, are balanced by base-forming foods, that is, foods that contain alkaline which will neutralize the acids produced in the system. Such foods are: fruits, vegetables, tomatoes, raw salads, raw milk, egg yolks, and whole wheat bread. Incidentally, whole wheat bread and milk are perfectly balanced foods in themselves. In this connection some kinds of pie are fairly well balanced foods also. Take good old cherry pie for instance. Here the fruit counteracts the acid-forming lard and flour.

Pie is Easy to Take

If one needs foods which produce energy and fuel in the body, and can get such energy from pie, why not eat pie? Everyone will agree that pie is fairly easy to take, and most people would be willing to substitute it for meat or potatoes which likewise produce energy. Of course the more active a person is the more fuel he will need. Hence, some laborers need both pie and some meat and potatoes, while the men on white-collared jobs should have pie and very little of the other acid-forming foods. But the important and most pleasant thing to remember is that everyone may eat pie; that is unless it does not agree with the individual. In this connection something might be said about the growing recognition of individual differences. Nature made us all different for a purpose. Often the food which agrees with one person makes another individual dreadfully sick. "One man's meat is another man's poison," is an oft quoted phrase.

But if you like pie and if it agrees with you, by all means enjoy it. Undoubtedly, "eat pie and be merry" will soon come to be the modern version of that other time worn slogan.

Former B. U. Student Running For Pres.

That a former student at Bucknell is this fall the choice of one of the American political parties for president of the United States, is a fact probably known to few of the students who have recently entered the University. The man is Norman Thomas, director of the League for Industrial Democracy, and candidate of the Socialistic Party for president. The following article concerning him appeared last week in the Swarthmore Phoenix, of Swarthmore College.

"Norman Thomas, the Socialist standard bearer in the present campaign, has personally consented to further the efforts of the newly formed Socialist club to carry the college at the coming election, by appearing in Collection Hall at four o'clock on the afternoon of October 16. The Socialists were particularly fortunate to secure their party's nominee at so late a stage in the campaign, and Mary Roberts, '29, chairman of the party, has announced that they were able to do this only because of an engagement of Mr. Thomas in Philadelphia that night.

"The name of Norman Thomas is well known to all Swarthmore students. At present, Mr. Thomas is the unchallenged leader of the revived Socialist party, and probably the foremost authority on Socialistic principles. He has devoted his entire life to a study of labor conditions and has ever been working toward the betterment of conditions among the laboring classes. He represents, as Louis Waldman says, an example of "New Socialism" and social engineering, which is rapidly gaining recognition throughout the world.

His Early Life

"Thomas was born in 1884 in a small brick parsonage in Marion, Ohio. His father was a preacher and his family one of crusaders. While in Marion as a boy he helped to deliver the "The Marion Star," which Warren Harding edited. As a student in the Marion schools, he gained fame for his brilliance and for his oratory. While a senior in high school there, he led his first protest meeting—against the school board. He was victorious. His father then moved to Lewisburg and Norman entered Bucknell. His father had attended Princeton, however, so to keep up family tradition he later transferred there, where he gained fame as a debater.

"Working his way through college was a hard job but Thomas enjoyed it. While at Princeton, he was gaining his first thoughts of devoting himself to labor and social welfare and so when he was offered a job in a settlement house in the New York City slums, he accepted. He gave his whole self to the job and made wonderful progress among the tenements.

"After a time he returned to complete his studies and became a minister. Soon, however, he transferred his activities to the foreign population reached by the American Parish in East Harlem. He remained here seven years, gaining colorful contacts with all types of city workers.

The War a Turning Point

"With the arrival of the war, Thomas could not reconcile himself with the Presbyterian support of the war, and so he resigned from the church and joined the "American Union Against Militarism," publicly opposing the conflict. It was at this time that he became openly affiliated with the Socialist party. During the entire war he was subjected to merciless abuse because of his stand as a conscientious objector. Later he

(Continued on Page 6.)

Sheaffer, successor to ink, makes all pens write better, and the Lifetime pen write best.
Identify the Lifetime pen by this white dot

A good sport

No matter what it is called upon to do, from the making of three clear carbons to answering the LIGHTEST TOUCH of a feathery handwriting, the Lifetime® pen is always a good sport. A dependable performer! And that's why the Lifetime pen is a picked favorite in forty-one per cent of the leading colleges and universities of America. Perfect form in every event, plus the economy of the lifetime guarantee and the thrill of its brilliant beauty have made it a winner everywhere. And its Titan pencil twin shares the honors—a pair of good sports.

"Lifetime" pen, $8.75 Lady "Lifetime", $7.50 Others lower
"Lifetime" Titan oversize pencil to match, $4.25

At better stores everywhere

SHEAFFER'S
PENS · PENCILS · SKRIP
W. A. SHEAFFER PEN COMPANY · FORT MADISON, IOWA

FLAVIO'S
OR
FINEST ANCY
RUIT

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—3—

TRANSIENT TRADE

THE FOOTBALL SEASON IS HERE. OLD GRADS, FORMER STUDENTS, PROSPECTIVE STUDENTS AND FRIENDS ARE COMING TO TOWN FOR THE BIG GAMES. THEY ARE GOING TO TRADE WITH THE MERCHANTS OF LEWISBURG. COMING IN A HOLIDAY MOOD, THEY ARE WILLING TO SPEND MONEY FREELY. THIS MONEY WILL BE SPENT ON THE BEST GOODS AT THE BEST STORES. THEIR JUDGMENT OF THE BEST STORES WILL BE BASED ON STUDENT OPINION. YOU CAN HELP INFLUENCE THE OPINIONS OF THE STUDENTS OF BUCKNELL BY JUDICIOUS ADVERTISING IN THE OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STUDENT BODY, "THE BUCKNELLIAN."

MR. MERCHANT, IF YOU ARE AN ALUMNUS OF BUCKNELL, YOUR CLASSMATES WILL WANT TO PATRONIZE YOU WHEN THEY COME TO TOWN. LET YOUR FORMER CLASSMATES KNOW THAT YOU ARE ALIVE BY ADVERTISING. EVERY LOYAL ALUMNUS SUBSCRIBES TO "THE BUCKNELLIAN."

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897
Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE

Of particular interest to those from outside of Lewisburg who will attend the third annual Bucknell Education Conference, which is to be held in Lewisburg Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20, comes the announcement of a buffet supper to be served Friday evening at 6:30 in the play room on the ground floor of the women's new dormitory.

The administration of the University is to serve this meal as a convenience to out-of-town guests. The Women's College dietitian, Mrs. C. G. Sale, will be in charge of the meal. The serving will be done by some of the co-eds.

With the evening meal so close at hand, the general session meeting to be held in Conmencement Hall at 8 p. m. should be well attended. Dr. David H. Robertson, assistant director of the American Council on Education, Washington, D. C., will address the assembly on "Measuring Men." No one should miss the opportunity to hear this fine speaker, who always has a valuable message.

The other speaker of the evening is Dr. William S. Learned of the Carnegie Foundation who will give a worth-while professional talk on "Relations of Secondary and Higher Education in Pennsylvania."

The program of the evening is varied by the insertion of several musical numbers. A complete program of all of the Conference meetings will be found on the Editorial Page of this issue.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1928
2:00 P. M.
GENERAL SESSION
Bucknell Hall
Chairman, President Emory W. Hunt, Bucknell University
Address—Conflicting Educational Pressures.
Charles C. Fries, Professor of English, University of Michigan.
Address—The College Teacher.
David A. Robertson, Assistant Director, American Council on Education, Washington, D. C.
4:00 P. M.
SECTION MEETINGS
SUPERINTENDENTS
Auditorium, Chemical Building
Chairman, Carl L. Millward, Superintendent of Schools, Milton, Pa.
Advisement, A Function of the Curriculum.
Milton D. Proctor, Superintendent of Schools, Uniontown, Pa.
Discussion—Riley H. Powers, Principal East Technical High School, Cleveland, Ohio.
Improving the Principal in Service.
Nathaniel G. West, Principal Andrews School No. 9, Rochester, N. Y.

TEACHER TRAINING
Room 6, Biology Building
Chairman, Francis B. Haas, President State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, Pa.
The Case Problems of the Beginning Teacher.
H. A. Sprague, President State Teachers College, Upper Montclair, N. J.
Discussion.
Fred W. Diehl, County Superintendent, Montour Co.
W. A. Geesey, Superintendent of Schools, Sunbury, Pa.
Dallas Armstrong, President Teachers College, Lock Haven, Pa.
LeRoy A. King, Professor of Education, University of Pennsylvania.

HIGH SCHOOLS
Auditorium, Engineering Building
Chairman, J. E. Nancarrow, Principal High School, Williamsport, Pa.
The Teacher as Adviser.
Philip W. L. Cox, Professor of Secondary Education, School of Education, New York University.
Curriculum Construction.
Joseph F. Puderbaugh, Principal High School, Lock Haven, Pa.
Adjustment.
John H. Eisenhauer, Director of Summer Session and Extension, Bucknell University.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOLS
Bucknell Hall
Chairman, W. H. Clipman, Principal High School, Charleroi, Pa.
Should the Junior High School Aim to Train Students IN Citizenship or FOR Citizenship?
George F. Dunkelberger, Professor of Education, Susquehanna University.
The Junior High School at the Pearly Gates.
John Carr Duff, Principal Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, Uniontown, Pa.
The Changing Core Curriculum.
Philip W. L. Cox, Professor of Secondary Education, School of Education, New York University.
8:00 P. M.
GENERAL SESSION
Commencement Hall
Chairman, Robert C. Shaw, Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction, State of Pennsylvania.
A group of Songs.
Japanese Sunset ..... Deppen
Days of Long Ago ..... Kreisler
Absent ..... Metcalf
Girls' Chorus.
Address—Relations of Secondary and Higher Education in Pennsylvania.
William S. Learned, the Carnegie Foundation.
Piano Solo—Spinning Song ..... Wagner-Liszt
Miss Tollefson.
Vocal Solo—Sonora ..... Wilson
Miss Melrose.
Address—Measuring Men.
David A. Robertson, Assistant Director of the American Council on Education, Washington, D. C.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 20
9:00 A. M.
SUBJECT CONFERENCES
ENGLISH
Bucknell Hall
Chairman, Miss Miriam Wendle, Department of English, High School, Williamsport, Pa.
Greetings—
Harry R. Warfel, Assistant Professor of English, Bucknell University.
Section A Survey of American English.
Charles C. Fries, Professor of English, University of Michigan.
Old Lamps for New.
William L. Fink, Head Department of English, Senior High School, Reading, Pa.
Some Problems in the Teaching of English in Rural Vocational Schools.
Omar DeWald, Principal High School, Picture Rocks, Pa.
The Reading Process and its Values to the Various Phases of English Teaching. With a Demonstration by Williamsport High School students.
Miss Miriam Wendle, Department of English, High School, Williamsport, Pa.

HEALTH
Room 6, Biology Building
Chairman, John D. Plant, Director of Physical Education, Bucknell University.
An Athletic Program for Elementary Schools.
John R. Van Why, Supervisor of Health Education, Public Schools, Milton, Pa.
A Comprehensive Program in Health and Physical Education.
Alma M. Ebeling, Director of Physical Education for Women, Bucknell University.
The Athletic Coach as a Community Leader.
H. U. Heckart, Assistant Principal, High School, Lewisburg, Pa.
Nutrition and its Relation to Physical Well Being.
Benjamin Thomas, Athletic Coach, High School, Shamokin, Pa.

LATIN
Room 1, Main College
Chairman, James R. Hughes, Department of Latin, Central High School, Scranton, Pa.
Greetings—
F. G. Ballentine, Professor of Latin, Bucknell University.
Latin Objectives from the Point of View of the English Teacher.
Claire Conway, Department of English, High School, Nanticoke, Pa.
The New Movement as Embodied in the Classical Report.
Carl L. Cassell, Dean of Men, High School, Reading, Pa.
Observations of a College Teacher on Latin in High School.
F. Russell Hamblin, Professor of Greek, Bucknell University.
Modern Aspects of the Language Teaching Problem.
Coit R. Hoechst, Director of Extension, Public Schools, Pittsburgh, Pa.

MATHEMATICS
The Observatory
Chairman, John C. Hoshauer, Head Department of Mathematics, High School, Williamsport, Pa.
Problems Concerning the Teaching of Secondary Mathematics.
Elsie Eidam, Head Department of Mathematics, High School, Reading, Pa.
Mathematics Clubs in High Schools.
Ellis Deibler, Department of Mathematics, High School, Williamsport, Pa.
Some Collateral Values in the Study of Mathematics.
C. H. Richardson, Professor of Mathematics, Bucknell University.

MODERN LANGUAGES
Auditorium, Engineering Building
Chairman, Leo L. Rockwell, Professor of Germanic Languages, Bucknell University.
Present-Day Aspects of Modern Language Teaching.
Lucretia V. T. Simmons, Professor of German, Pennsylvania State College.
Pertinent Remarks Anent Foreign Languages.
M. A. DeVitis, Professor of Modern Languages, University of Pittsburgh.
Symposium—The College Training of High School Modern Language Teachers. Led by the Chairman.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
Room 2, Main College
Chairman, Charles M. Bond, Professor of Religious Education, Bucknell University.
A Philosophic Basis for Religious Education.
S. G. Cole, Professor of Religious Education, Crozer Theological Seminary.
The Present Curriculum for Children.
Mrs. F. W. Tomlinson, Director Children's Work, Education Board of Pennsylvania Baptist General Convention.
Correct Standards and Actual Situations.
Henry G. Weston Smith, Pastor Calvary Baptist Church, Norristown, Pa.

SCIENCE
Auditorium, Chemical Building
Chairman, Leroy F. Derr, Head Department of Science, High School, Williamsport, Pa.
The Vanishing Wild Passenger Pigeon.
Charles Lose, Montoursville, Pa.
What the Teaching of Science has Taught Me.
Norman H. Stewart, Professor of Biology, Bucknell University.
Curriculum Construction for the Sciences on the Basis of Educational and Learning Objectives.
George W. Haupt, Graduate Student, Department of Natural Sciences, Teachers College, Columbia University.

SOCIAL SCIENCE
Room 8, Main College
Chairman, Thomas J. S. Heim, Professor of Social Sciences, Teachers College, Slippery Rock, Pa.
Educational Objectives in the Social Science Curriculum for the Senior High School.
Russell H. Rhoads, Head Department of Social Sciences, High School, Williamsport, Pa.
Discussion—
F. A. Berkenstock, Superintendent of Schools, Forty Fort, Pa.
Elementary Social Science for the Ninth Grade.
Nell Maupin, Department of Social Sciences, State Teachers College, Bloomsburg, Pa.
The Development of Character as a Social Objective in Education.
Clarence R. Johnson, Professor of Sociology, Bucknell University.

. . . with their feet on the ground

MEN of vision, yes. But don't overlook the fact that those old Roman road builders and empire builders kept their feet firmly fixed on the ground. They faced the facts squarely. They were demons for detail. They were the world's first great organizers.

Pioneering in the telephone industry is like that. It is a work of vision and of leadership into new fields. But back of it all must be the ability to organize men, money, material and machines.

The telephone executive must coordinate his machine before he can run it. He must understand the possibilities in his organization before he can lead it. That done, his opportunity is empire-wide, vision-broad and ambition-deep.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of 18,500,000 inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

"MEMPHIS FLASH" HAS ANKLE BROKEN

(Continued from page 1)

State by running 55 yards for a touchdown in the final minutes of play. The Bison quarterback, displaying rare judgement on all occasions, is regarded as one of the shrewdest signals callers in Pennsylvania college football.

Quinn A Colorful Athlete

Quinn's injury brings to a close a brilliant college athletic career. He played for three years on the Bucknell football eleven and was a varsity catcher on the baseball nine for an equal number of years.

Quinn is 23 years old, weighs 160 pounds, and is five feet ten inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Memphis (Tenn.) High School, where he was an all-around athlete. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Bucknell.

With Quinn out for the rest of the season, Coach Snavely will probably assign the quarterback job to Justin Brumbaugh, sophomore back, who starred in the Geneva tilt. Brumbaugh has a good head on his shoulders and is capable of leading his team on the field.

Glass Flies When B. U. Co-ed Falls

Elizabeth Frederick, '29, was assistant to a professor in the library at Princeton University this past summer and in the six weeks that she aided him in some special research work that he was doing, "Betty" managed to do quite a bit of damage.

The floors of the library are composed of thick panes of glass, which are supported by an iron framework. While "Betty" was hurrying across the top floor one afternoon she tripped and fell, breaking one of the panes into a thousand pieces.

While the excitement was at its height, "Betty," whose knee had been cut, rode down to the first floor on the elevator and hastily left the building.

Later "Betty" learned that she had broken not one floor, but three floors, since the broken glass from the first floor went through the two beneath it.

SAY FELLOWS

Whether you are at the State game, a dance or a class, you need appropriate Shoes. We offer attractive styles at prices to suit everyone.

Come in and be convinced.

Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store, Lewisburg, Pa.

Have you ever tried asking your friends?

Any man who wears John Wards will tell the same story.

The leathers in John Wards are choicer, wear better. The fit and workmanship are more expert. They have more style appeal to men of the better class.

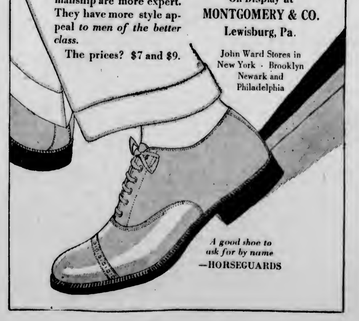
The prices? $7 and $9.

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED — REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.



On Display at MONTGOMERY & CO. Lewisburg, Pa.

John Ward Stores in New York · Brooklyn Newark and Philadelphia

A good shoe to ask for by name
—HORSEGUARDS

"Lou" Mutzel, '31, Gives Blood To Child

(Continued from page 1)

who also worked in "Bagdad on the Subway," and who "palled" around with Mutzel during the summer months.

It seems that Mutzel landed in Gotham full of hopes but short of money. While in search of a job, he submitted himself to a blood test at the Bellevue hospital, hoping that if Dame Fortune failed to smile upon him, he might be able to sell some of his blood. The results of the test showed that Mutzel's blood was of very good quality and his name was accordingly placed upon the preferred list.

Nothing more was heard from the hospital, "Lou" got a job, and the examination was forgotten in the rush of life in the big city. But just before Mutzel left for Bucknell in answer to the initial football call, Fate chucked in a card that called for the zenith of courage on Mutzel's part and sent him back to school in a weakened condition.

But, let "Bob" Sweitzer tell the story, for he was an eye-witness of almost the whole proceeding.

"'Lou' and I were in his room playing pinocle with several of his friends, when the telephone rang. The call was for Mutzel and he went to the phone. Bellevue Hospital was on the wire and asked 'Lou' if he could come right over for there was a young girl on the operating table, gradually dying from loss of blood. If he could, there was a fighting chance that the girl might live. 'Lou' explained that he had not eaten a thing that day, but that as soon as he could get something he would leave.

"No, that would be too late, for the medical men allowed the girl only half an hour in which to live, unless assistance came to her. Couldn't he come right over?

"'Have everything ready. I'll be there,' said Mutzel, banging down the receiver and dashing for the door."

Sweitzer was at his heels. They hailed a taxi, causing somewhat of a commotion, as neither had stopped to don a coat. They briefly told the driver their errand and he drove his cab in the congested down-town traffic like a dervish gone mad. In ten minutes Mutzel was in the operating room, ready to give his blood that an unknown person might live. If he had any qualms about the ordeal that he was about to undergo, they were quickly overcome by the heart-rending moans of the dying girl. The nurse had a bottle of milk ready and insisted that Mutzel drink it, for he was weak from lack of food. Mutzel did and then allowed the doctors to transfer a pint of blood from his arm artery into the dying girl's frail body. "Lou" stood it without a tremor, although he later said, that having to listen to the poor kid's moans, was worse than any fight or football game that he was ever in.

When the transfusion had been completed Mutzel was made to drink another bottle of milk and allowed to leave the hospital. The first stop was at a restaurant where he ordered the biggest and thickest steak in the establishment.

"Lou" was immensely interested in the outcome of the case and made daily telephone calls to Bellevue. The girl's condition was so low at the time of the transfusion that, while her decline was temporarily stopped, she bordered at death's edge for two days. Then the tide of affairs turned and she slowly began to get better.

Coach Snavely's call came at that time and Mutzel did not have an opportunity to see the girl, whom he had the privilege of saving. Bellevue again called to see about the fee that was due "Lou." Mutzel inquired as to who would have to pay it, the city, or the girl. If the latter, could she afford it? He was informed that the girl would have to pay for his pint of blood and that she was a poor kid from the East Side.

"Just tell her to forget the bill, and that I was very glad to be able to help her," said "Lou."

Thus closed the incident and Mutzel came back to school to play football. But he was not the physical "Lou" that left Lewisburg for New York in June. However, it was a finer man that returned, typical of the athletes that represent Bucknell on the gridiron and the gentlemen of the classrooms. And somewhere in this world is a little girl, alive and happy, and grateful to her unknown savior.

In a recent straw vote conducted at Washington and Jefferson College, Herbert Hoover received 306 of the 373 votes cast. Thus far no one has started a straw vote at Bucknell, but perhaps it's just as well, for with the Penn State game and everything, no one here would have time to count the votes.

FINE ARTS EXHIBIT WILL BE SHOWN HERE

(Continued from Page 1)

Campus Club next Tuesday evening concerning the nature of the school as well as interpreting the exhibition.

The New York School of Fine and Applied Arts is known as one of the very best industrial art schools in the United States. It is under the direction of Frank Alvah Parsons, an authority in this field. Not only has the institution a wide-spread reputation because of its work in this country, but also because of its supplementary school in Paris, and its schools of research in both Italy and England.

The display will be of interest to people in various lines of work because of its broad scope. It represents the many professional courses including examples of interior and architectural decoration, costume design, construction and illustration, stage and theatre design, graphic advertising in illustration. Catalogues of both the American and European schools will be at hand for the perusal of those interested.

Among the publicity work announcing this exhibition, posters made by Edna Craft, '30, will be displayed. Organization and schools in Lewisburg and the surrounding territory have been notified. It is expected that many pupils and teachers from towns as far distant as Williamsport will view the exhibition some time during the week. Numerous people from out of town will have an opportunity to see the display since, the buffet supper for the out of town guests at the Education Conference will be held in the play room. Placards indicating the way to the display room will be in plain sight for those not acquainted with the dormitory.

Mr. Frank Alvah Parsons, president of the New York School of Fine Arts, is a friend of Professor and Mrs. L. E. Theiss. Some years ago Professor and Mrs. Theiss had occasion to write several articles for Good Housekeeping concerning Mr. Parsons and his work.

DELTA SIGMA WINS INTER-FRAT MEET

(Continued from page 1)

place of the day. Jablonski also placed third in the broad jump.

Another three-time winner was King, a transfer from Colgate, who brought home the bacon for Phi Gamma Delta in the sprint events, winning the 120-yard dash and the quarter-mile run in sensational style.

An additional thrill was offered when Randall, Demie half-miler, after trailing in seventh place, rounded the last turn and sprinted down the home-stretch to break the tape ten yards ahead of his nearest rival.

The interest manifest in this meet by participants and spectators bespeaks a successful frosh and varsity track season.

100 yd. dash: first, King, Phi Gamma Delta; second, Krothmell, Phi Lambda Theta; third, Hughes, Alpha Chi Mu; fourth, Faller, Non-fraternity. Time: 10 1-5 seconds.

220 yd. dash: first, King, Phi Gamma Delta; second, Krothmell, Phi Lambda Theta; third, Faller, Non-fraternity; fourth, Vandenbree, Delta Sigma. Time 25 1-5 seconds.

440 yd. dash: first, King, Phi Gamma Delta; second, Hill, Delta Sigma; third, Randall, Delta Sigma; fourth, Sweet, Kappa Sigma. Time: 58 2-5 seconds.

880 yd. dash: first, Randall, Delta Sigma; second, Stevenson, Lambda Chi Alpha; third, Meadoweroft, Kappa Sigma; fourth, Lingle, Alpha Chi Mu. Time: 2 minutes, 18 seconds.

Mile run: first, Jablonski, Non-fraternity; second, Coates, Delta Sigma; third, Douglas, Theta Upsilon Omega; fourth, Lehman, Theta Upsilon Omega. Time: 5 minutes, 7 2-5 seconds.

Two mile run: first, Jablonski, second, Barelli, Non-fraternity; third, Gulden, Non-fraternity; fourth, Dolaney, Delta Sigma. Time: 12 minutes, 15 seconds.

120 yd. high hurdles: first, Ely, Delta Sigma; second, Sortor, Delta Sigma; third, Barber, Non-fraternity; fourth, Little, Theta Upsilon Omega. Time: 19 1-5 seconds.

220 low hurdles: first, Jablonski, Non-fraternity; second, Wentzel, Alpha Chi Mu; third, Sullivan, Sigma Chi; fourth, Griffith; Phi Gamma Delta. Time: 19 1-5 seconds.

Broad jump: first, Ely, Delta Sigma; second, Hill, Delta Sigma; Minick, Alpha Chi Mu, and Jablonski, Non-fraternity, tied for third place. Distance: 19ft. 6in.

High jump: first, Ely, Delta Sigma; Minick, Alpha Chi Mu, and Barbarin, Non-fraternity, tied for second place; third, Gochner, Phi Gamma Delta. Height: 5ft. 11in.

Pole vault: Seidel, Sigma Chi, first; second, third, and fourth places tied for by Reis, Non-fraternity, Snyder, Beta Kappa; Sullivan, Sigma Chi; and Cox, Beta Kappa. Height: 9ft. 9in.

Shot Put: first, Ely, Delta Sigma; second, Boston, Theta Upsilon Omega; third, Egel, Theta Upsilon Omega; fourth, Franzino, Non-fraternity. Distance: 36ft. 6in.

Javelin: first, Reiss, Non-fraternity; second, Seidel, Sigma Chi; third, Horter, Delta Sigma; fourth, Griffith, Phi Gamma Delta. Distance 136ft.

Discus: first, Ely, Delta Sigma; second, Boston, Theta Upsilon Omega; third, Crittendon, Beta Kappa; fourth, Griffith, Phi Gamma Delta. Distance: 96ft. 5in.

Fraternity Scores: Delta Sigma 48; Phi Gamma Delta, 19; Theta Upsilon Omega 12; Sigma Chi 11; Alpha Chi Mu 10; Phi Lambda Theta 6; Beta Kappa 4; Lambda Chi Alpha 3; Kappa Sigma 3.

Officials: Starter, Professor MacCreadie; Timers: Farrow, Hubbard; Judges: Murray, Miller, Beilen, Hoy; Manager: Farrow.

DR. AND MRS. ROBBINS PASS SUMMER ABROAD

(Continued from Page 1)

at which they stopped in Germany was Rothenburg. This is a medieval town which has not changed for 500 years. Its picturesque buildings have made it world famous. All of the old walls, gates, and defense towers are as they were in the fifteenth century. It seems that during the Thirty Years' War, all the rich people who lived in the town were killed, and therefore at the time there was not sufficient money to rebuild. In time the advantages of keeping the place in its original condition came to be appreciated. A few public buildings have been added, but residences are consistent in their antique style. When a house falls, it is restored in a manner consistent with the other buildings of the town. If possible, even the old material is used. Here in this quaint setting is produced once a year, in May, a festival play for which the town has become famous. At the time that Dr. and Mrs. Robbins were in Rothenburg, members of the Rhine Automobile Association came to the town on one of their numerous trips, and the townspeople gave a special performance of this fine old historical play. The acting was splendid, and the music was well worth hearing. No costumes are worn, each actor appearing in modern dress suitable to the part which he is playing.

Dr. Robbins stated that he has never enjoyed a trip more than this one. Conditions in Europe have improved to a very great extent since he last made a journey abroad, and everything seemed to combine to make the trip one he will always look back upon with a great deal of pleasure.

Oranges are very popular in Florida, but dates are popular at Bucknell.

B. U. RESEARCH CLUB PLANS 1ST LUNCHEON

(Continued from Page 1)

partments, the increasing of facilities for research at Bucknell, the securing of contacts with research experts for Bucknell students, and the possible formation of a graduate fraternity.

In addition to the graduate students of the University, all the men of the faculty are invited to become members of the club if they are interested in research work.

LOOK!
AT ALL THOSE NIFTY
TRENCH COATS
GET YOURS FROM DON POYNTER
PHI KAPPA PSI HOUSE

College and Fraternity PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

FELLOWS GET THE HABIT
Buy your next pair of "Dress" or "School" Oxfords from us and you are bound to save money.
We have hundreds of new collegiate styles to select from. With or without a tip with leather or rubber heels. Tan or black.
A new pair free for those that don't wear.
SPECIAL AT
$3.45, $3.85, $4.85, $5.85
SEE OUR NEW
"FLORSHEIM" Oxfords,
World's best men's footwear.
PEOPLE'S Shoe Store
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

Hickey-Freeman
AND CHARTER HOUSE CLOTHES
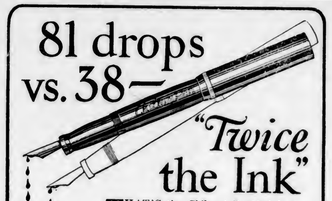
With the ever increasing style changes, the college man needs a store that will advise and sell him correct attire.
LET US HELP YOU
Montgomery & Co.
ARROW SHIRTS — INTERWOVEN HOSIERY — DOBBS HATS

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

Spend Saturday Night After the Game With
"THE REVELERS"
State College Auditorium 8:30 P. M.
RESERVED SEAT TICKETS $1.50--$2.00

81 drops vs. 38—



"Twice the Ink"

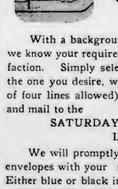
THAT'S the Chilton! Double ink capacity! You can write twice as many words with a Chilton as you can with other self-filling pens because it holds "Twice the Ink," size for size.

Come in and let us show you this great improvement in fountain pens, perfected by the man who invented the first self-filling pen. You'll be interested in learning "Why." There is a Chilton size and style to fit every hand. Priced $3.50 to $7.00, and guaranteed.

Five well-known fountain pens, of similar size and price, were filled with Chilton Ink and with 81 drops. The average ink capacity of these five pens was 38 drops—while the Chilton held 81 drops.
Certified by Bigelow, Kent & Willard, Consulting Engineers, Boston, Mass.

Chilton Twice the Ink Pen REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

For Sale at the College Inn



HIGH CLASS STATIONERY FOR College Students

With a background of 47 years in the printing business, we know your requirements and will meet them to your satisfaction. Simply select from the three classes offered below the one you desire, write your name and address (Maximum of four lines allowed) clearly, enclose the amount indicated, and mail to the
SATURDAY NEWS PUBLISHING CO.,
LEWISBURG, PA.

We will promptly mail you POSTPAID the paper and envelopes with your name and address printed on both. Either blue or black ink. This stock is GOOD BOND paper —NOTHING CHEAP ABOUT THIS STATIONERY EXCEPT THE PRICE.

200 White Sheets, 6x7, and 200 Envelopes to Match — $1.00
Gray, blue or buff paper and envelopes $1.25
With No Printing ..... White, 75c; Colors, $1.00

100 White Double Sheets and 100 Envelopes to Match — $1.50
Gray, blue or buff paper and envelopes $1.75
With No Printing ..... White, $1.25; Colors, $1.50

125 White Sheets, 6¾ x 10 and 125 Envelopes to Match — $2.00
With No Printing $1.50

We are confident the stationery will please you, and if it does, kindly give our address to friends and also keep it yourself for future use.

Saturday News Publishing Co.
Market Street. Lewisburg, Pa.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
George Wright, '31

Jack Schreyer and Cliff Slaught of New York Epsilon at Colgate were guests over the week-end.

Graham Mizzaine also of Colgate spent the week-end with us.

Charles Stump was visited by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Stump, also Miss Bradley and Mr. Barrett, all of Cumberland, Md.

Bill Leisher, '30, Sturge Hulbert, '30, and Harold Yust, journeyed to Geneva. They were all very enthusiastic about the game.

"Fog" Moody, ex-'30, and "Scrub" Gring, '28, were at Geneva.

Congratulations to Floyd Hemp, '28. Floyd took the fatal step this summer. Mrs. Hemp is at present, residing in Williamsport.

"Gordon" Wingate and Jim Konkle spent the week-end at Hood College, after a trip to the former's home.

Field and Stream, better known as Don Poynter and Trip Bunting, accompanied by Fireside Ruiy were in the mountains Sunday. Poynter's stories of the mountaineers they met, sound like, what we see on the silver screen.

Will some one ask "Paper" Stambaugh where he obtained his new nickname.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod. '31

Kappa chapter enjoyed one of the most successful "rushing" seasons in its long history when 16 men accepted bids. Of this group 13 are freshmen and the remainder sophomores.

Four of our pledges are members of Coach Musser's yearling football team, three of them seeing action against Manlius on Saturday.

"Gummy" Marsh, '28, found time to leave his banking in New York long enough to run up to see the boys over the week-end. "Gummy" reports that Gotham is full of Bucknellians, and that he runs across one almost every day.

Kappa extends sympathy to its sincere friend, Mose Quinn, for the unfortunate accident that befell him at Geneva. We are all hoping for a comeback as speedy as one of his end runs.

"Mutt" Convery, who holds the all-time fraternity wise-cracking championship, added another title to his list as a result of a "bull-session" held in the house on Sunday. The discussion arose as to which man was the most helpful about his home. "Mutt" swept away all opposition when he announced that he held the lantern while his sister chopped the wood.

Frank Kostos and Louis Woodring are back from a short visit to "Doc" Fowle's pill-feeding establishment on the Hill. "Tony" was laid up with an infected leg, resulting from a football injury, and "Til" took a rest to rid himself of a flock of grippe germs.

"Bud" Frable took a trip to Williamsport on Saturday to see the "Billtown" eleven hand the Milton High School football team a trimming. "Bud" is not interested in either of the two teams, so it looks as though he's "digging some one's cellar."

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Herneane, '31

Pledge night October 5, was a night to be remembered by all. Several of our alumni were back for the occasion and made short talks which were highly appreciated by both the actives and the new pledges. After the pledge banquet, the evening was spent in bridge playing.

"Slats" Wendell, ex-'28, has returned to school to secure his degree in chemical engineering.

Bob Keenan, '31, Tom Keeler, '30, and pledges Bob Hepler, '32, and Joe McMurray, '32, spent the week-end taking in the sights of Williamsport.

Bill Edwards, '30, spent the past week-end visiting a friend at West Chester Normal. We are looking for the cigars to be passed any time over the loss of the pin.

D. E. Long, '29, spent the last two days visiting the home folks in Muncy.

Four of the actives and three of the pledges spent Saturday evening and night in Bloomsburg. Every one reports a wonderful time and all are looking forward to more week-ends to be spent in the same town. For particulars see Leonard Horton, '31.

The annual pledge dance will be held at the chapter house on Friday night, October 12.

The chapter recently received a post card from Brother "Cy" Follmer, '16. "Cy" is engaged in consular work in Tallin, Estonia.

"Tank" Yates, '28, paid the chapter a flying visit recently.

DELTA SIGMA
Philip G. Murray, '29

"Vic" Meyer, '29, "Les" Ely, '32, and "Doc" Lowson, '32, left Saturday for Harrisburg and Frederick, Md.

"Stew" Caughie, '31, left Friday for his home in Pittsburgh. He expected to see the Bucknell-Geneva game at Beaver Falls.

Brothers "Hootie" and "Smoothie" Wadsworth, '30, report that they saw "Tubby" Johnston and "Bud" Frable, both of '28, at the Geneva game. Both boys are planning to return for Homecoming.

Brother "Max" Fessler was the recipient this week of two coils of 1-inch rope to be used as fire escapes. Fire-drills will be held regularly the second Tuesday each month at 2 A. M.

A quoit doubles tournament is being arranged by "Max" Fessler and "Cal" Smith. The back yard now resembles a daily vacation playground.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
John S. Seigh. '29

The first "Sem" dance was held at the house Saturday evening, October 6, in honor of the pledges. The Blue Band furnished the syncopation, which insured the success of the dance from beginning to end. Professor and Mrs. Hartz, and Professor and Mrs. Matz, were the chaperons for the evening.

Mrs. Trunk, of Coatesville, and her daughter Marie Trunk, '31, were guests at the house for dinner on Sunday, October 7.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

We were fortunate in having with us last week, brother William Stayer, '28. Brother Stayer, who has been staying on his father's orange grove in Florida, couldn't resist the call of Bucknell, and came up to spend some time with us. During the recent severe storm in Florida, brother Stayer was situated in the center of the storm district, and tells some startling news of the conditions existing around Palm Beach.

Brothers John Robertson, '31, and Arthur Shorts, '30, have been spending their spare time in Milton, indulging in the ancient sport of golf.

two days in Mt. Carmel on a business trip.

We are told that Brother Ceraso spent Friday and the better part of Saturday trying to get Pittsburgh on the phone.

Brothers Biondo and Schultz motored to Harrisburg where they were the guests of Mr. Gregory.

Pledge Andrews spent the week-end in Jersey Shore visiting relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Czarnecki and family were guests at the house on Sunday.

Pledge Olyear motored to his home in Freeland to spend the week-end with his parents.

Pledge Canfield entertained two visitors from Bloomsburg State Teachers College over the week-end.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

Gamma Chapter regrets the loss of Alfred Pelz, ex-'31, now in the employ of the Westinghouse Company, and of brother "Sub" Johnson, also ex-'31, who is employed in Detroit.

Brother John Stack, '29, and pledge brother Fred Koeckert, '32, spent a very enjoyable week-end seeing the sights and doing the shows in Harrisburg.

A few of the boys journeyed to Penn State on Friday, October 5, to attend Alpha Chapter's first "shin dig" this season.

Gamma Chapter announces with pleasure the initiation of C. Miller, M. Simon, and L. Emery, into active membership.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
J. R. Fielding, '29

Tan chapter has lost members of the class of '31, only to furnish some other college with new students. Mae Dreese, ex-'31, is attending State College, Mary Colestock is matriculating at Antioch, at Yellow Springs, Ohio, and Mary Hess has turned the tables on the co-eds and is attending Connecticut College for Women, at New London, Connecticut.

"Peg" Zerby, ex-'29, who managed to spend three years with Bucknell, finally succumbed to attending Simmons' College, Boston, Massachusetts. "Peg" will turn out to be one of those bigger and better librarians.

Waffles 'n everything were the features of a Delta Delta Delta party in the play room of the new dormitory, Saturday afternoon, October sixth. "Kitchenary" prospects are plentiful,—a valuable asset since the price of cooks is high.

KAPPA DELTA
Caroline Davison, '30

Kappa Delta held a party for rushees at the May-Mar Tea Room, Saturday afternoon, October 6, "Curley" Miller, versatile, and well known entertainer, furnished music with piano, banjo, and kazoo. Sandwiches and punch were served for refreshments.

Phi Tau's formal rushee dance was held Friday evening, September 28, in the Recreation Room of the new dormitory. Music was furnished by "Eddie" Hoffman's orchestra, and entertainment was provided during intermission in the form of a solo dance by "Dot" Berlin, '31, and readings by Eleanor Farquhar, '31.

Kappa Delta welcomes Ethelwyn Sarachs of Sigma Nu Chapter, Syracuse University, into the circle of Phi Tau.

"Billie" Williams, '28, who is now teaching the fifth grade in Camden, New Jersey, visited her Kappa Delta sisters last week.

We were also honored with visits from Marty Pysher, '28, and "Jo" Behney, '28. "Marty" is teaching the fifth grade in Muncy, and "Jo" is teaching in Shamokin.

Helen Myerly, ex-'29, now attending Penn State, visited Bucknell this past week-end. Helen went to State to save trainfare between Lewisburg and State College.

Phi Tau was very happy to welcome back their alumnae during the past two weeks, and is now looking forward with anticipation to Homecoming and visits from her other sisters.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Adelaide M. Clark, '31

We were honored this week-end by a visit from Grace Williams of '28. "Kitty" Hallier, ex-'28, was a visitor at the suite on Saturday, October sixth. We were very glad to welcome her.

On Monday night, October first, a bridge party was held in the suite. The winners were, first prize, Doris Miller, '31; second prize, Kay Rodgers, '32.

Thursday night, October fourth, a formal banquet was held in Hotel Cameron. Evelyn Beckworth, '30, was toastmistress. Connie Hulick, '31, entertained with a reading. Kitty Heldt, '29, Nan Lee Thomas, '30, and Janet Murphy, '31, gave a musical selection. The guests of honor were Mrs. Hangartner and Miss Lulu Coe.

On Friday night, October fifth, a "nutsy" party was held in the suite. Prizes were awarded "Johnie" Johnston, '32, and Marian Palmer, '32.

Guests at the suite during the week were, Mr. George Auery, Mr. J. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. G. Robertson and daughter, Luella.

Dancing and tea added variety to the bridge party held at the suite on Saturday afternoon, October sixth. Virginia Kandle was the winner of first prize, and Ann Biney of the second.

FORMER B. U. STUDENT RUNNING FOR PRES.

(Continued from page 3)

wrote a remarkable book entitled, "The Conscientious Objector in America," based on his experiences.

"In 1918 he teamed with Laidler to form the most famous pair in radical circles. During all this while he was engaged in helping all labor publications and in championing the worker. He was writing for "The World of Tomorrow," "The Nation," and had assumed a directorship in the "League for Industrial Democracy." He soon assumed charge of the revived "New York Leader" but was forced to discontinue it because of lack of advertising.

His Political Career

"In 1924 the Socialists combined with LaFollette in an attempt to elect a liberal president over Coolidge and Davis. Thomas was the Socialist and LaFollette candidate for the governorship of New York and did yeoman campaign work but was defeated. In late years he has devoted himself to the welfare of the laborers and has always been their champion. In 1927, he ran for alderman in New York City but was defeated. This year he assumed the candidacy of the Socialists for president and has delivered some wonderful campaign speeches."

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. pilms developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

WAINIES

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

For
Christian Education
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
For catalog, book of views, or information,
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak! It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Standard Student

This Wet or Dry question can be easily settled by owning a
Standard Student Slicker
Ask for a slicker with this label
at
Montgomery & Co.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

B. U. BISONS PAWING THE GROUND, IMPATIENT TO GORE NITTANY LIONS WHEN RIVAL TEAMS CLASH SATURDAY

UNDEFEATED SNAVELY SQUAD CAREFULLY TRAINS TO REPEAT PERFORMANCE OF LAST YEAR WHEN IT FACES PENN STATE ELEVEN

Fresh from victories over Schuylkill and Geneva, the Bucknell football team has been training in earnest here for the annual Penn State tilt that will be staged at State College next Saturday. As both aggregations are still undefeated, this contest will bring together two of the leading college elevens in Pennsylvania.

Penn State, with victories over Gettysburg and Lebanon Valley, is anxious to redeem her defeat at the hands of Bucknell last year. Intensive workouts and drills are on the weekly schedule for the Penn State gridders for the remainder of the week.

Halicki Will Play

Coach Carl Snavely expects to have every regular back in the field for the Penn State game. Captain "Eddie" Halicki, who viewed the Geneva encounter from the sidelines, is sure to be at the fullback post when the Bucknell eleven lines up against State on Saturday. Halicki might have participated in the Geneva contest, but Coach Snavely thought it advisable to save his star back for the State game. With Halicki back in the lineup, Bucknell will present a fast and shifty backfield that should give State much trouble.

Justin Brumbaugh and Charley Jones will probably be Snavely's choices for the halfback positions. Brumbaugh was the star of the Geneva game, scoring both Bucknell's touchdowns as the result of two long runs. Hambacker may be at the quarterback post, calling signals or Brumbaugh may receive the quarterback assignment, and if he does, Hambacker will team up with Jones at a halfback post.

Head Coach Snavely will work his men slowly and cautiously this week, so they will not be overstrained on the eve of the State fracas. Short scrimmage sessions with the yearlings is on the weekly program, but the Bison mentor will employ all his varsity material in these practice scraps. Captain Halicki has been cautioned by the college medico to take things easy during the early part of the week so that the Bison star will not aggravate his injury.

Line Coach "Hank" Hangartner will spend all his time this week with the Bucknell forward wall. Snavely was more than satisfied with the work of the line in the Geneva game. The Beaver Falls backs tried in vain to gain through Mitchell, Jones, Bollinger, Woerner, and Ellor, but they were stopped in their tracks.

Mitchell is Bucknell Star

Mitchell's work in the line particularly stood out. Weighing 190 pounds, he halted everything that came his way. He also proved a bearcat on the offense, aiding materially in several of the long runs contributed by his backfield mates.

Last year, Mitchell was recognized throughout the East as one of the best centers in college football. The New York Sun honored him by placing him on one of its all-American elevens. Mitchell is better this fall than ever. He is faster, shiftier, and a better defensive man. His great line play featured Bucknell's victories over Schuylkill and Geneva.

At State last fall it was the ever reliable Mitchell that stopped the famous Roejke. On more than one occasion, Mitchell broke through and threw the highly-touted Penn State star for a loss.

Now in his last season at Bucknell, Mitchell is playing the best game of his career. He is the bulwark of the Lewisburg line and the entire forward wall is built around the sturdy Bison pivot man. Penn State will evidently have respect for Mitchell's prowess when the Bucknell eleven lines up against the State gridders on Saturday.

"Pottsville" Jones will be another obstacle in the path of State. Jones, weighing over 200 pounds, is a defensive threat to anyone who tries to crash by him. Jones starred consistently on the line in both the Schuylkill and the Geneva games.

Team Leaves Friday

The Bucknell squad will leave by bus for State College early Friday evening. The boys will spend the night at a secluded private house, and in the morning will have a brief workout on the field where the game will be played. A preliminary tussle, involving the yearling elevens of both Penn State and Bucknell, will furnish the early comers with plenty of excitement before the big game.

PUNTS AND PASSES

By "MAC" McELIGOT

Best State! If the Bucknell team can turn the trick twice in a row the entire town of Lewisburg will go football crazy. And what a crowd there will be here Homecoming Day. Lafayette has a setup next Saturday, playing George Washington University at Easton. The Maroon gridders are sure to win. George Washington has been knocked around now by almost every college team in the East. Bucknell used to play 'em but the Bisons never got enough opposition, so disposed of them. It was against George Washington, old timers will tell you, that Felix McCormick booted his record breaking 55-yard field goal in 1925.

—C—

Ernie Woerner, by the way, is playing a bang-up game at his guard post. Woerner, a former New Jersey football star, is making the football critics in this vicinity sit up and take notice these days. Woerner's work on the line aided Bucknell materially in winning the first two games of the season. He is a veteran as he has already a season of varsity service to his credit.

—O—

"Ted" Mitchell, veteran center, sure looks good at the pivot post this fall. He is playing better than ever, if that is possible. Last fall he was a candidate for all-American honors, and was chosen for several mythical elevens. This season Mitchell is again being recognized as one of the leading centers of the east. He played a whale of a game at Geneva and promises to do the same at State on Saturday.

—O—

All Geneva knew who Brumbaugh was before the completion of the Bucknell-Geneva game last Saturday. As early as the opening period, the sophomore halfback began his deadly offensive thrusts. His 65-yard run for a touchdown was a beauty, and the few Bucknell followers who were in the stands went wild when Brumbaugh ended the long run by crossing the line for a score.

Tony Slate, substitute fullback, held down the heavyweight position well from start to finish. Slate contributed offensive power by crashing through the Geneva line on several occasions for substantial gains.

—O—

"Lefty" James is one reliable man. James has played a wing post now for two years and has proved to be one of the best defensive men on the Bucknell team. James is in there fighting the hardest where the game is being fought the bitterest. He is destined to become a real Bucknell star before he completes his football career at Bucknell.

—O—

"Ed" Bollinger, tackle, apparently has recovered from an early season injury. Bollinger played the entire game at Geneva and his fine work pleases Coach Snavely to a great extent. Bollinger seems to be in for another good year. Coach Hangartner is rapidly developing Bollinger into a first class linesman.

—O—

The contest with Geneva was marred by the serious injury sustained by Mose Quinn, when the Bucknell quarterback received a broken ankle as a result of a desperate line plunge. Physicians say that he will be out of the game for the rest of the season. Good old Mose. The entire college will mourn his passing from the grid iron. Quinn was the sparkplug of the Bucknell team and every Bison player will tell you that.

—O—

A fine field general, a talented lineplunger, a whirlwind end runner, an accurate forward passer, a brilliant defense man, and a dangerous open field sprinter—that's Quinn, all rolled into one. On the other hand he is a gentleman, admired by everyone who knows him. Bucknell is losing one of its greatest and gamest athletes. So passes from the picture Mose Quinn, the Southerner who has given so much for the Alma Mater which he oves so dearly. It hardly seems possible but it's true, Quinn has played his last varsity game at Bucknell.

BROADCASTING .... the Blindfold Test
GRAHAM McNAMEE
announcing

BRAND No. 1 . . . "doesn't appeal to me" — BRAND No. 2 . . . "we'll waste no time over this" — BRAND No. 3 . . . "as smooth as a winter broadcast" — BRAND No. 4 . . . "full of static . . . No. 3 wins!"

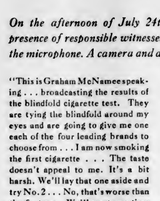
On the afternoon of July 24th, Graham McNamee, in the presence of responsible witnesses, made the blindfold test before the microphone. A camera and a stenographer recorded the result.

"This is Graham McNamee speaking . . . broadcasting the results of the blindfold cigarette test. They are tying the blindfold around my eyes and are going to give me one each of the four leading brands to choose from . . . I am now smoking the first cigarette . . . . The taste doesn't appeal to me. It's a bit harsh. We'll lay that one aside and try No. 2 . . . No, that's worse than the first one. We'll waste no time over that . . . Well, here's No. 3 . . .

Ah, that's different! As smooth as a broadcast on a starry winter's night . . . Now, No. 4 . . . something wrong with this one. Don't know what. Seems full of static. I'll choose No. 3.

"Ladies and Gentlemen of the Radio Audience, I have just learned that my choice [No. 3] is an OLD GOLD."

Graham McNamee



© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760
Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

Why you can pick them . . . . . in the dark!

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLDS.

GRAHAM McNAMEE, America's most popular radio sports reporter, recently reported the Tunney-Heeney fight, to which millions of radio fans all over the world listened.

OLD GOLD
SMOOTHER AND BETTER
"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

Lafayette Council Asks For Holiday

Student Council moved to petition the faculty for a holiday on the Saturday of the Bucknell game and for a conditional holiday on the Monday following either the Washington and Jefferson or Penn State games in the event of victory, at its meeting last Tuesday evening in Brainerd.

Considerable discussion attended the suggestion of this petition isasmuch as some of the members of Council thought it more advisable to ask the faculty for both Saturday, October 20, the day of the Bucknell game which is to be played at Lewisburg, and the Monday following as holidays. Those in favor of asking for Monday as a holiday spoke of the convenience it would be for the students who might go to the game in hitch-hike fashion.—The Lafayette

We hate to be unsympathetic, yet we feel like warning the poor, deluded Lafayette students that they need not take the trouble to try to secure that "conditional holiday" for the Monday following the Bucknell game.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

AUTO BUS SERVICE
Saturdays, Evenings and Holidays
O. I. LIDDICK 7th and Market

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

A Time Saver In Study Hours
Those questions about words, people, places, that arise so frequently in your reading, writing, study, and speech, are answered instantly in the store of ready information in
WEBSTER'S COLLEGIATE
The Best Abridged Dictionary—Based upon WEBSTER'S NEW INTERNATIONAL
Hundreds of new words like dactylogram, electrobus, flechette; names such as Cabell, Hoover, Smuts; new Gazetteer entries such as Latvia, Vimy, Monte Adamello. Over 106,000 words; 1,700 illustrations; 1,256 pages; printed on Bible Paper.

See It at Your College Bookstore or Write for Information to the Publishers.
G. & C. MERRIAM CO.
Springfield, Mass.

Back to the Alma Mater
For men who are about to return to college and who strive for authenticity in their apparel, new
COLLEGE HALL
Suits in the Hy-Roll model—the perfect university sack suit.
COLLEGE HALL
HY-ROLL SUITS
(three-button and two-button)
Gulfstream Gray
Maple Leaf Brown
Dart Green
$35
Grainweaves
Shadoweaves
Customweaves
J. F. PROWANT
With Two Trousers.

BEAT STATE! BEAT STATE!

By R. Burtuff Koser, '31

The Bucknell-State game, one of Bucknell's greatest traditional events, will again take place this coming Saturday. Once more the University will close its doors, and a special train will carry a Bucknell team and Bucknell rooters over the mountains into the Nittany Valley to "Beat State!" As has been the case every year that Bucknell and State were scheduled to play since 1887, "Beat State!" will be the dominant cry at mass meetings, at the station, and on the train. "Beat State!" is one of Bucknell's strongest and oldest traditions. Sometimes State is beaten and at other times State is too powerful for us. Here are the facts.

Date	B. U.	State
1887	0	54
1887	0	24
1891	12	10
1892	0	18
1893	18	36
1894	6	12
1895	0	16
1896	10	0
1897	3	27
1898	0	10
1899	5	0
1900	12	5
1908	6	33
1909	0	32
1910	3	45
1916	7	50
1919	0	9
1926	0	7
1927	13	0

The Bucknell-State football rivalry started in 1887, when two games were played, State winning both by large scores. The next battle between the two schools was in 1891, when Bucknell won its first State game by the score of 12-10.

A fine bit of sportsmanship on the part of a Bucknell player is told in connection with this encounter. C. Dale Wolfe, now the prothonotary of the local Court House, was a star Bucknell end, while "Fig" Harris, State's outstanding man, played the opposite end. The two stars were rivals, and it was generally supposed that the game would be an individual battle between them.

In those days the ends carried the ball quite often, and in the opening minutes of the game Wolfe went around Harris' end. "Fig" was unable to make the tackle but slugged the Bucknell star over the head, knocking him out of bounds.

This sort of play was too much for the spectators, and after the game a mob of townspeople and students surrounded the Cameron House, where the State team was quartered, planning to "get" Harris.

The town burgess sent word to Wolfe that "they're mobbing Harris, and it's all over you. Will you try to stop it?"

Mr. Wolfe's uncle then ran a livery stable back of the hotel. The former Bucknell star got out a buggy, put on the curtains, and slipped Harris out of the hotel to the alley. Once in the carriage Wolfe drove the length of the alley to the edge of town and then out the pike to the fair grounds, where the State train was stopped and Harris put safely on board.

Wolfe thereby saved from a bad beating his rival, and the man who had tried to get him only a few hours before.

C. Dale Wolfe played 112 varsity games during a period of nine years for Bucknell. He says of Harris, "I always admired him, although he played for State. He was a 'sweet' end." And may it be added that Wolfe was no slouch himself. In fact, he was one of the best football players Bucknell ever had.

The Bucknell-State games continued annually after that until 1900, when the contest was played at the old Athletic Park in Williamsport. It was this game that caused the break in athletic relations between the two schools.

On November 3, 1900, special trains steamed into Williamsport loaded with Bucknell and State students. Williamsport's streets were gaily decorated with orange and blue and blue and white streamers. The Bucknell team and Bucknell students stayed at the old Updegraph Hotel, while the State delegation made the Park Hotel its headquarters. This arrangement had been decided upon due to the disturbances of the year before when both schools tried to stay at the same hotel.

At 3.05 p. m., in Athletic Park, then the home of the old "Millionaires" of the Tri-State League, the game began. In the first half Bucknell scored twice and State once. But in the second half came the play that stopped the game.

The following is a description of the play taken from our college paper, which was then called the Orange and Blue.

"Martin, State backfield man, ran the ball out of bounds. It was at this point that State worked the trick that caused the dispute. State kicked the ball while time was out, the ball being downed on the 10-yard line.

The Bucknell team would not return to the game on the strength of the referee's unfair decision but walked from the field, choosing to forfeit the game rather than to submit to unfairness. The referee had to be escorted from the field by the police."

The following editorial appeared in the same issue of the Orange and Blue: "All athletic relations between Bucknell and State have been severed in consequence of Saturday's event. It is unfortunate that a feeling of intense hatred should take the place of friendly rivalry. It will be a source of regret to many, but under the conditions neither college could do otherwise, Bucknell on account of the treatment she received and State on account of the statements she made before the game."

The next game, played in 1908, was won by State. This was the first athletic contest between the schools since the break eight years before. It may be interesting to note here another editorial in the Orange and Blue, written eight years after the one quoted previously. It shows the turning point in the attitude of college football crowds. The change from the old free-for-all days, when the entire school trained for a fight, to the sportsmanlike behavior we now find at intercollegiate contests.

"Eight years ago Bucknell and State met in Williamsport on the gridiron and, when the game was ended, the men of the two colleges parted as bitter enemies. On Saturday Bucknell met State, for the first time since that incident on Beaver field, and the 300 Bucknell men that were guests of the State collegians left the scene of conflict with the kindliest feeling toward their hosts."

Four games were played between that time and the present series, in all of which State was victorious.

In the present series Bucknell has won once and State has won once. Two years ago the Lions won a hard game 9-0. Last year—is it necessary to tell any Bucknell student what happened on New Beaver field last year, when the Bisons tangled with the Lions?

Lets keep up one of Bucknells oldest and greatest traditions by once more journeying to the Nittany Valley to help "Beat State!"

(This is the first of a series of articles telling of past games with other colleges—Editor's note.)

B. U. WINS VICTORY OVER GENEVA TEAM was made through a broken field, thereby necessitating fast stepping and clever footwork.

(Continued from Page 1)

Preece Scores For Geneva

Finding that they could not gain through the Bucknell line, the Geneva men tried a series of forward passes that eventually led to the scoring of a touchdown. Knapik hurled a short pass to Smith, on Geneva's 25-yard line. The elusive Smith sprinted to Bucknell's 13-yard marker before he was downed. Fullback Preece, after a series of line plunges, managed to slip across the Bucknell line for the only Geneva score of the game.

The Score:
Bucknell—13		Geneva—7
James	L. E.	Sole
Woerner	L. T.	Campbell
T. Jones	L. G.	Turpin
Mitchell	C.	Timerario
Eller	R. G.	Haude
Bollinger	R. T.	Davis
Lobel	R. E.	Smith
Quinn	Q.	Pinkerton
Hambacher	L. H.	Emerick
C. Jones	R. H.	Knapik
Slate	F.	Preece

Score by periods:

Bucknell	0	7	6	0—13
Geneva	0	0	0	7— 7

Touchdowns—Brumbaugh 2, Preece. Try for point—Hambacher (placement kick); Smith (placement kick). Failure in try for point—Hambacher. Time of quarters—15 minutes.

Substitutes—Bucknell: Walls for T. Jones, Ross for Quinn, Brumbaugh for C. Jones, C. Jones for Brumbaugh, Quinn for Ross, Ross for Quinn, Brumbaugh for Hambacher; Geneva: Richards for Preece, Ralston for Haude, Booth for Sole, Preece for Richards, Johnston for Campbell, Seaburn for Booth.

Referee—Goodwin, W. and J. Umpire—Lynn, Yale. Head linesman—McMillan, Pittsburgh.

Read The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL FRESHMEN LOSE THRU FUMBLES

(Continued from Page 1)

wall and crumpled. The Manlius pilot shot his ball-carriers along the entire line in an endeavor to find a "spot," but the result was always the same.

Yearlings Outplay Manlius

Manlius resorted to punching the line and kicking when she failed to gain, but her best bet was her alertness for Bucknell fumbles. Bucknell was content to stand up and bang away, with the backs alternating in carrying the pigskin. The Bucknell team rushed the ball so much, and the Manlius outfit so little, that it looked like a Bison workout. But the ones on the jump got the spoils.

The final score of the game came when Porett, halfback, took the ball on a neat deceptive play and circled the Bucknell end for 15 yards and a touchdown. H. Anderson gained the point.

The work of the Bucknell team was impressive, despite the defeat. The line functioned well and proved that the ball-toter who can penetrate it is worthy of mention. Stonebreaker lived up to his "rep" as a great defensive wing by getting his man time after time. Trudenack was another outstanding lineman. This boy sifted through the Manlius line repeatedly.

In fact, each of the linemen played well. Crowe, who replaced Marter, when the latter was injured, looked well and will bear watching. The entire forward group showed that they can tackle anything that comes their way, and on the offensive—what damage they can do!

Work of Backfield Impressive

Of the backfield there is little to be said other than that Coach Musser has at least six promising backs. They can all kick, pass, or run. Fry and Hinkle are booters par excellence, comparing favorably with kickers on many college varsity teams. The backfield men can also heave long and accurate passes, and a good aerial attack will probably be developed. When they have the ball, the backs can knock off much ground-age, but there is that little word "if"—if they hold fast to the leather. When Coach Musser has made them correct this fault, the "Baby Bisons" are going to be a very hard crew to beat.

The yearlings are pointing towards the clash with the Penn State frosh Saturday, which will be served at State probably about 1 P. M. as an appetizer to the varsity contest. The squad is in for a week of hard practicing. The Line-up:

Bucknell		Manlius
Stonebreaker	R. E.	W. Anderson
Downey	R. T.	O'Connel
Trudenak	R. G.	Metcalf
Cummings	C.	Stark
Marter	L. G.	Blair
Lenhart	L. T.	Pike
Hoak	L. E.	Campbell
Mezza	Q. B.	H. Anderson
Spadafora	L. H. B.	La Place
Kastrava	R. H. B.	Porett
Fry	F. B.	Oxford

Score by periods:

Bucknell	0	0	0	0— 0
Manlius	6	0	0	7—13

Bucknell Substitutions: Hinkle for Fry; Seegar for Cummings, Crowe for Marter; McKelvy for Spadafora; Porter for Hoak, Fry for Hinkle.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital . . . $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits . . . $160,000.00
Deposits . . . $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

The Season Is On
FOR
Leather Coats and Blouses
We have a fine showing of THE GLOVER LINE which is favorably known all over the leather garment world for its quality and style.
Our stock covers leather garments for the CO-ED. as well as for the boys.
We invite you to inspect this sterling line.
W. L. Donehower, B. U. '06
VARSITY OUTFITTER
Athletic and Sporting Goods Equipment
Knit Goods, Leather Sport Garments, Etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (near Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

Bijou Theatre
MILTON, PA.
LAST TIMES TODAY, THURSDAY OCT. 11
The Years Greatest Picture.
"FOUR SONS"
TOMORROW, FRIDAY, OCT. 12
Dorothy MacKaill and Jack Mulhall in
"WATERFRONT"
It's MacKaill's-Mulhall's Best and Funniest Picture.
FREE: Dinnerware Every Friday.
COMING SATURDAY OCT. 13
On The Screen
TOM MIX in "HELLO CHEYENNE"
On The Stage
"HIGH CLASS VAUDEVILLE"
COMING MONDAY and TUESDAY, OCT. 15-16
JOHN GILBERT in "FOUR WALLS"
With JOAN CRAWFORD
It's Gilbert's Latest and Greatest Picture.
COMING WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, OCT. 17-18
GRETA GARBO in
"THE MYSTERIOUS LADY"
Be Sure To See This One.
COMING SOON——"WINGS"

HERMAN & LEISER
Trench Raincoats
of Cravenetted Gaberdine yoke lined at
$5.00 Each.
LEATHERETTE RAINCOATS
ALL COLORS AT
$5.00 Each.
Sport Slip-Over Sweaters at - $2.85
SUNBURST SKIRTS
OF SCOTCH PLAIDS AT
$5.00 Each.

On to Penn State!
SPECIAL TRAIN
SATURDAY, OCT. 13
will leave stations as follows:
LEWISBURG (Penna. Sta.) 8.00 a. m.
MIFFLINBURG - - - 8.20 "
Reduced Fare $2.10 Round Trip
Accompany the Varsity and the Frosh teams and the College Band to Penn State on Saturday for the TWO BIG GAMES.
Frosh Game 1 p.m. Varsity 2.30 p.m.
Returning, Train will leave Lemont at 7.30
Railroad Tickets on Sale at Montgomery's Store, Registrar's Office, and Women's College

CLOTHES
Ready-made
and Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

Welcome Alumni

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

Bisons On!

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSD AY, OCTOBER 18, 1928. PART NO. ONE NUMBER 6

BUCKNELL DOWNS STATE TWICE

BISON YEARLINGS DOWN LION CUBS TO TUNE OF 13-0

Kastrava Scores 2 Touchdowns; Reverse Plays Upset State In Preliminary Clash

STATE FROSH THREATEN BUT ONCE DURING GAME

The "Baby Bisons" started the day right on Saturday by smashing out a 13 to 0 victory over the strong Penn State freshmen team. The frosh clearly outplayed their brothers of the "dink", for only once were the State boys within shooting distance of the Bucknell goal. That was in the third period, when State got as far as the Bucknell 20-yard line, but was unable to penetrate any deeper into Bison territory. .

Bucknell scored two touchdowns, Kastrava going over both times. The initial tally came in the first period, when the Bucknell backs, with Hinkle and Fry doing the brunt of the ball-carrying, took the leather from their own 40-yard line and smashed their way through to State's 10-yard strip. Off-tackle thrusts and line-backs did the work. With the ball on State's 10-yard mark, the Bison backs swept around right end, pulling the State defense with them. Kastrava fooled them, by executing a reverse play and sailing over the line with the initial marker. Mezza's try for the goal was wide.

Bucknell again broke into the scoring column in the third period through a pretty piece of work by Joe Crowe and Sam Hoak. Crowe batted down a State pass in mid-field, and Hoak grabbed the ball before it was grounded. From the half-way mark the Bucknell team swept down the field, crashing through a stubborn State defense until the ball was on the 10-yard line. Once more State was fooled by a reverse play, with Kastrava again carrying the ball. The husky half-back cleared his left

(Continued on page 8)

Ed. Club Considers Conference Details

The Education Club held a meeting Thursday afternoon, October 11, for the purpose of appointing committees to take charge of various phases of the Education Conference which is to be held at Bucknell during the week-end of October 19 and 20. Roy Goodlander, '29, president of the club, appointed the following heads of committees: Martha Von Neida, '29, chairman of the serving committee; "Jim" Hughes, '29, chairman of the advertising committee; Sarah Collner, '29, and "Reggie" Gaylord, '30, chairmen of the ushering committee; and "Betty" Humphrey, '29, chairman of the sales committee. Members of the club volunteered or were appointed to serve on these committees, and everyone was asked to do his or her part in helping to make the Conference a success.

Following the appointing of committees, all members were urged to pay their dues as soon as possible, and a motion was passed that the club hold its meetings on Thursdays at 4 p. m. in Biology 6. How often meetings will be held has not yet been decided.

Of special interest to those present was the mention made by Roy Goodlander of the fact that the club is hoping to be able to install at Bucknell a chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national honorary educational fraternity. The attention of prominent educational men in the state is being drawn to what our department of educational has done and is doing with its Research Club; its Journal of Education, published several times during the year; and the fine program that it has arranged for the Educational Conference held here.

Philosopher, Jr., Arrives

Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Lawson have issued announcements of the birth of a son, George Benedict Lawson Jr., on Friday, October 12.

Huge Fire Blazes In Victory Celebration

Bucknell students celebrated the second consecutive victory over Penn State last Monday evening, the feature of the night's program being a great bonfire. The entire student body at Bucknell was present when the celebration was at its height.

Preceding the bonfire there was a parade through the streets of Lewisburg, after which the crowd marched to Loomis Field where the real celebration took place. Before the students gathered around the huge pile of wood, they traveled en masse to the Ziegler Infirmary where they cheered Mose Quinn, disabled quarterback, lustily.

Then the crowd returned to the campus, where speeches were delivered by Captain Halicki, Head Coach Snavely, Line Coach Hangartner, John Plant, "Mal" Musser and Prof. J. P. White. All the speakers urged the student body to back the team heartily on Saturday. Hangartner talked about college spirit, and urged Bucknell men to forget the opposite sex for at least one hour and come out and cheer heart and soul for the team. The effect of this speech should leave its impression on several individuals who regard college spirit not to highly.

The members of the football eleven touched off the fire immediately after the last of the speeches, and soon a roaring blaze took place. It was midnight before the fire had died out. In fact the remains were still smouldering Tuesday morning.

About 2000 visitors attended the celebration.

RECORD CROWD IS EXPECTED TO PACK STADIUM ON SAT.

Prepare for 20,000 Spectators As Bisons Train to Face Lafayette Gridders

The Bucknell team was granted a holiday on Monday because of their great victory over Penn State the preceding Saturday. A great bonfire was the feature of the evening's celebration by the students in recognition of the Penn State triumph.

The Bison eleven started intensive practice on Tuesday in preparation for the Lafayette contest that will be staged in Lewisburg on Saturday. A record-breaking crowd is expected to jam Bucknell's Memorial Stadium, as this contest brings together two of the best college elevens in the East. Preparations are being made to accommodate a capacity crowd of 20,000 spectators.

The Bucknell-Lafayette tilt is the Home-coming Day game at the Lewisburg institution. Already several thousand alumni have sent in their ticket applications and the Bucknell publicity bureau will be unusually busy this week.

Maroon is Undefeated

Lafayette, with a powerful and undefeated team, will be a great attraction, and it is expected that this game will draw an enormous crowd. The game this year marks the first time that Bucknell has played Lafayette since 1924. In that year La-

(Continued on page 8)

75 STUDENTS HEAR TALK ON "FRIENDSHIP" AT C. E.

More than 75 students were present at the informal supper meeting at the Baptist C. E. on Sunday evening, October 14.

Dr. Norman H. Stewart addressed the group on "Friendship," analyzing such types as: passing acquaintances, mediocre friends, crushes, and true friends. From his own experience Dr. Stewart cited friendships which time and distance have not altered.

The informal type of meeting was an experiment which was so heartily received that the program committee plans to have similar gatherings monthly.

NOTED EDUCATORS TO DISCUSS MANY SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Difficulties To Be Considered When Education Conference Convenes Here Friday

PRES. HUNT TO PRESIDE AT OPENING SESSION

The problems of the high school, both junior and senior, and the relation of normal schools and colleges to these problems, will be the key subject discussed at the annual education conference at Bucknell, Friday and Saturday, October 19 and 20. An imposing list of educators will lead the sessions.

The general meeting will be held Friday at 2 o'clock at Bucknell Hall, and will be presided over by President Emory W. Hunt. Following this, the persons attending the conference will gather in smaller groups for the consideration of special problems including those of superintendents, teacher training, high schools, junior high schools, English, health, Latin, mathematics, modern languages, religious education, science, and social science.

Some of the outstanding educators who will conduct these groups are: Charles C. Fries, professor of English, University of Michigan; David A. Robertson, assistant director, American Council on Education; Washington, D. C.; Pliny H. Powers, principal of the East Technical High School, Cleveland, Ohio; Francis B. Haas, president State Teachers' College, Bloomsburg; H. A. Sprague, president State Teachers' College, Upper Montclair, N. J.; LeRoy A. King, professor of education, University of Pennsylvania; Philip W. L. Cox, professor of secondary education, School of Education, New York University; John H. Ehrenhauer, director of summer session and extension, Bucknell University; Lucretia V. T. Simmons, professor of

(Continued on page 8)

Limit Alumni Dance To Graduates-Seniors

The alumni dance, annual frolic of graduates after the Home-coming football game, will be held this year in Tustin Gymnasium from 8 to 12 o'clock. L. Roger Wainwright and his Blue Band will furnish the music. The dance this year will be strictly an alumni-senior affair. Limited dancing space and a desire to afford alumni a chance to "get together" has prompted the Alumni Council and the Faculty-Student Committee on Activities so to regulate the attendance. Undergraduates have always been welcome at the dance but this year, to avoid overcrowding, the seniors alone from the student body are granted admission.

Membership cards in the General Alumni Association are the means of admission for alumni. Seniors will be required to pay the regular admission fee of two dollars per couple. Alumni not holding membership cards will also be charged the regular fee to defray the expenses of the dance. Single admissions will be one dollar.

TAYLOR, '30, JONES, '31, ATTEND 'Y' CONFERENCE

Ray Taylor, '30, and Idris Jones, '31, represented Bucknell at the Student-faculty Y. M. C. A. Conference at P. and M. College last week-end, October 12 to 1 .

Two hundred men, of whom about forty were faculty members, attended the conference. The delegates represented almost every college in central and eastern Pennsylvania.

Sherwood Eddy and Rufus M. Jones, were the principal speakers. Discussion groups considered the subjects of world relations, campus problems, devotions, and faculty-student relations. The faculty members present held a special session Saturday afternoon to consider faculty problems. This group was addressed by Sherwood Eddy.

Band Makes Big Hit At B. U.-State Game

The Bucknell Band, under the leadership of "Eddie" Calhoun, made a lasting impression on the spectators of the Penn State-Bucknell game last Saturday. Our wind and reed artists had no small part in inspiring the team to victory. Sitting near the fifty-yard line, they sent forth the strains of "Come Bucknell Warriors" at every opportune moment.

Important features of the program were the solos sung by Melvin Shuttlesworth, '28, and played by Carl Albig, '29. Both of these singers were applauded generously by the large audience. Shuttlesworth rendered "Laugh, Clown, Laugh" with his usual force, and probably made a greater impression this year than he did in his two previous appearances at State. Carl Albig, who after a year's absence from school has not forgotten how to play a trumpet, had the crowd on both sides of the field greatly tickled by his peppy rendition of the jazz number "San."

This year the band sems to be a considerably stronger organization than in previous years. This is probably brought about by the fact that there are so many members of last year's band playing again this year. The freshman unit this year, is also stronger than it has been for a number of years.

FIRE THREATENS TO DESTROY HOME OF KAPPA SIGMA

Bianchi, '29, awakened by Smoke Rouses Others in House; Damage is $1,000

While a score of students were sound asleep in the dormitory addition of the Kappa Sigma house early Tuesday morning, fire started in the rooms directly below them, endangering their lives. Only the timely awakening of M. G. Bianchi, '29, averted a probable tragedy.

Awakened by the smoke, Bianchi immediately aroused the others, and they hurriedly made their escape from the smoke-filled chamber. D. E. Long, '30, notified the Lewisburg fire company by telephone, but he was so choked by the fumes of the fire that it was difficult for him to carry on a conversation.

After responding to the call, the fire company, aided by students and members of the faculty, quenched the flames that had crept from the rear of the kitchen stove, up the wall, to the sleeping quarters on the second floor. Chemicals, and two lines of hose were put into operation. Dean Rivenburg, who was among the first to reach the scene of the flames, directed the removal of the furniture. Before the flames were extinguished, however, the house and its furnishings had been damaged to the extent of $1,000. The damage, which was caused more by water and smoke

(Continued on Page 8)

FROSH CO-EDS ENJOY MOCK UNION CO. FAIR

The Y. W. C. A. brought a grand climax to the girls' rushing period Friday evening, October 12, when they gave a Union County Fair in the play room of the new dormitory for all freshman girls. All well-known brands of food were advertised "from soup to nuts"—every variety, of blue ribbon grade.

Various stunts, from a swimming "match" to a "schoolgirl complexion" demonstration were given and greatly amused the audience. "Betty" Dill, '31, read, and Edna Craft, '30, and "Em" Maxwell, '30, dressed as true "hicks", sold patent medicine. "Fran" Kernohan, '30, acted as ringmaster of the "greatest show on earth." A smuggled victrola gave a chance to participate to the spectators, who at the same time consumed sticky popcorn balls and punch. Helen Bell, '30, was in charge of the affair, and worked hard to make it a success.

Plunging Bisons Score Six Points While Holding The Nittany Lions Scoreless in Hard Fought Contest

CAPTAIN "EDDIE" HALICKI HAMMERS WAY THRU BLUE AND WHITE LINE FOR A TOUCHDOWN DURING SECOND QUARTER OF GAME

B. U. Rooters Go Mad When State Fumbles Ball 6 Inches From Goal in Last Minute

"Steve" Hamas, Big Fullback of Bezdek's Scrappy Aggregation, Fails In Final Lunge; Drops The Ball When Tackled; Cry "Remember Quinn" Urges Snavelymen On

In a contest that was replete with thrills from start to finish, the Bucknell football eleven defeated the mighty Penn State team last Saturday afternoon at State College by a 6-0 score before a crowd of 12,000. This battle was the annual Fathers' Day game at Penn State.

Bucknell, in scoring a win over her oldest rival, Penn State, maintained a position among the elite—that of not having suffered a setback this fall. The win also knocked Penn State from her high pedestal.

Once the great battle started, it was evident that Penn State was out for revenge. A long pass that ushered in the game netted the Blue and White a gain of thirty-five yards. Then Bucknell got busy and Penn State did not threaten again until the final quarter.

The Bucknell backfield machine, composed of Captain Halicki, Jones, Brumbaugh, and Hambacker, got busy early in the second period. After an exchange of punts, Bucknell came into possession of the ball on her own 23-yard line. From there a steady march down the field brought the oval within the shadow of Penn State's goal posts.

Halicki Tallies For Bucknell

Captain Halicki bore the brunt of the work in this victorious tramp down the field. The Bison leader literally hammered the enemy line to pieces and registered first down after first down. The redoubtable Bison leader never stopped until he finally smashed his way through the last stubborn Penn State defense for a touchdown. Halicki's score proved to be the winning one, as it was the sole tally for the entire game, for Halicki failed to kick the extra point, his try for a placement goal being blocked.

Bucknell kicked off to State, and the battle continued. The Bisons held the Lions for downs and State was forced to kick. A few minutes later, the half ended with the ball in Bucknell's possession in mid-field.

The second part of the game was desperately and bitterly fought. Penn State took to the air and managed to make several substantial gains via the forward pass route. Then the State backs tried their luck with the Bison line but made little headway. Soon the State warriors knew that their only chance for victory would be by the employment of the forward-passing attack.

Bison Ends Play Well

The fleet-footed enemy backs resorted to end run plays and were unusually successful. In fact, State ran

(Continued on page 8)

B. U. Singers Hope For Fine Glee Club

With a nucleus of about twenty last year's men and a reinforcement of many good singers from the freshman class, the Bucknell Glee Club looks forward to one of the best years in its existence. Many of the members are taking voice culture, an item which should improve the general quality of the club.

This change of policy is due to the necessity of raising the organization's standard in order to compete more successfully in the intercollegiate contests which are held annually for the clubs of leading colleges.

Relying upon the recent splendid developments of the club, Director Ralph Hartz has spent much time making arrangements for concerts, far and near. The Thanksgiving trip will consist of a tour of towns in western and northwestern Pensylvania. Plans have already been made for many week-end tours of towns not far from Lewisburg.

The club is pleased to continue a varied program such as was given last year. Included in the program are numbers by a cartoonist, a magician, a quartet, a reader, and instrumental and vocal solos and duets.

"Y" CABINETS UNITE IN INFORMAL MEETING

A joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. Cabinets was held Thursday evening, October 11 at Red Rock, on the occasion of a visit from Mr. William Dilson, Field Secretary of this district.

After a delicious meal, cooked over the open fire, reports were given by "Ray" Taylor, '30, and "Em" Maxwell, '30, of the conference at Westtown, October 5. The informal discussion which followed included possible prominent speakers and many campus problems. The meeting concluded with an inspirational talk and helpful suggestions by Mr. Wilson.

Mrs. J. Plant Speaks Before Campus Club

An address on the work of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art was given by Mrs. John Plant at the first Campus Club meeting of the year, held Tuesday evening, October 16, in the play room of the new dormitory.

Mrs. Emory W. Hunt, president of the club, which is composed of about eighty faculty women and wives of faculty members, called the meeting to order then gave a welcome to the new members. The business meeting followed.

Mrs. Plant's speech was the feature of the evening since it concerned the exhibit of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art which is now on display in the play room of the new dormitory. The exhibition will close on Saturday, October 20. It is valued at $20,000.

The speaker, who is a graduate of the School, told of its founding in New York in 1908 by Frank Alvah Parsons. It was the first American art school to base its courses on taste and practical usage. The Paris branch of the school was founded in 1921 by William Odom, and there is research work done in Italy and England. The policy of the school is to serve the public needs, to create a public demand for better things, and to discover each student's ability for professional art training.

Mrs. Plant spoke not only of the various courses open to students, explaining their practical significance, but she also gave an enthusiastic description of the president of the School, Frank Alvah Parsons. He is a forceful lecturer, an educational writer of note, and an impressive conversationalist. Mr. Parsons is known never to forget a student who has attended his School.

A knowledge and liking for the subject was quite evident from Mrs. Plant's talk.

Read the Bucknellian.

John Linkfield has been ill in the infirmary.

* * * *

If you aren't a Dempsey man don't brag about it in O'Brien's Barber Shop.

* * * *

It is said, "Man is his own creator." Some men use some very undesirable patterns.

* * * *

Heard on the campus: "I am not saying a word. I just read that the only substitute for brains is silence."

* * * *

Horace Mason, '31, has secured a week's leave of absence in order to attend to some pressing business in New Jersey.

* * * *

Miss Jessamine Coulston, '28, is working for a master's degree in history this year at Northwestern University, Chicago.

* * * *

Assistant Professor John S. Gold, and Instructor Bruce Miller drove from Chicago to Lewisburg this summer in 28 hours.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Frazee, of Allentown, N. J., spent Monday and Tuesday, October 8 and 9, with their daughter, Alice Frazee.

* * * *

Since the new rules forbid yelling at dances, the only time that we'll get a chance to exercise our lung power is at football games.

* * * *

William C. Emmitt, '30, who was taken ill with grippe and who has been spending some time in the Ziegler Infirmary, is again about the Hill.

* * * *

"Scotty" MacLeod is heartbroken! He was throwing nickels out to a bunch of kids in front of the post office the other day and the string broke.

* * * *

It has been noised around the campus that "Joe" Clark has recently purchased the Milton golf course, so that he will not be annoyed while playing.

* * * *

The local confectionary stores are surely profiting by the sales made during "rushing." The shops seem to be the rendezvous of the rushers and the rushees.

* * * *

"Betty" Lawson, Dean Amelia Clark's secretary, spent a busy day last Friday cashing checks and selling special train tickets to those going to Penn State.

* * * *

Some sophisticated senior has stated that the "Sem" is like a stable. You come for your horse, take it out, exercise it, feed it, and then return it to the stable again.

* * * *

Grace Roberts, '30, went to her home in Pennsgrove, N. J., on Monday, October 8, on account of ill health. Grace expects to remain at home for about a week.

* * * *

The doctors that examined "Mose" Quinn's leg say that it is one of the worst compound fractures that they have ever examined. Every one in college feels bad about this.

* * * *

Not all the "dumbness" is confined to the lowly frosh. One fair co-ed coyly asked "Ted" Mitchell if he played football for Bucknell, and she's been here two years, too.

* * * *

The long-distance operator was overworked prior to the State game on account of the "Semites" who had to find the cause of the delay in their permissions to go to the game.

* * * *

It was most unfortunate that Columbus Day came the day before the State game. Columbus Day means closed banks, of course, and there were endless numbers of checks to be cashed.

* * * *

Among our noted freshmen this year we have a real cowboy. His name is Quinton Hewitt, and he comes from the ranches of Saratoga, Wyoming. Hewitt is a personification of the West.

* * * *

The entire student body feels that the finest possible thing that the senior class could leave to the school is an escalator running from the bridge at the foot of the path to the steps of Old Main.

* * * *

The campus was a deserted place during the week-end of the Penn State game. Those who stayed had a good chance to make up for the sleep they lost during the last two weeks of rushing.

* * * *

Ants are frequent visitors at the "Sem", these days, especially where there is food. At least the "Semites" are having a good chance to study nature in one of her forms without even leaving their rooms.

* * * *

Girard says, "Half the fun in going to college comes from martydom magnificently suffered by freshmen. Without that, college would be as much of a bore as just plain work." And isn't it the truth!

* * * *

Someone has suggested that the dogs have chased away the campus squirrels. If that is true, hadn't we better forbid dogs the run of the campus? Bucknell isn't Bucknell without its campus squirrels.

* * * *

Alice Corbett, '30, was happily surprised on a recent Sunday when her father drove 200 miles from her home in New Bethlehem to bring Alice her fur coat and several boxes of mints, the young lady's weakness.

* * * *

Eloise Bailey's guest on a recent week-end had difficulty in starting her car Monday morning and was forced to call outside help. The starter spring was broken, but with the aid of a crank, the engine was started.

* * * *

Professor John W. Rice is adding interest to his class in sanitary science by giving motion pictures now and then to illustrate his lectures. Not many classes can enjoy this form of entertainment along with their work.

* * * *

"Peg" Brakeman and "Peg" Pearson, both of '32, were in the women's infirmary last week. "Sally" Robertson, '30, has joined their ranks, and is suffering from an attack of grippe, with an infected tooth to help matters along.

* * * *

Many of the upper-classmen have fallen into that provoking old habit of "humming" cigarettes. There is no reason in the world for this, principally because any brand of the more popular sellers is now selling at two packs for a quarter.

* * * *

This must be an unlucky year for the S. A. E. football men. "Bennie" Kupstas, '29, is not able to play, due to an accident. "Eddie" Halicki, '29, had the misfortune to break his nose, and "Mose" Quinn, '29, is now suffering from a broken ankle.

* * * *

In Instructor William Johnson's history class the other day a girl replied to his question of how the Danes crossed the ocean, by saying that they crossed by boat. What peculiar methods of traveling they did have in the "good old days!"

* * * *

Jane Foust, Jean Wood, and "Jo" Roberts all of '29, visited "Jo's" parents in Sayre, Pa., on Wednesday, October 10. Jane enjoyed herself immensely, though she did feel rather bad the next day—too much of Sayre's balmy atmosphere, perhaps.

* * * *

Ernest Burbage, '32, is spending his afternoons helping to manage the varsity football team. Last year "Ernie" played against the frosh eleven while he was a member of the Dickinson squad, and his 250 pounds added much to the discomfiture of the yearlings.

* * * *

We don't know whether band practice held every Monday night in Commencement Hall will be an inspiration or a detriment when the "Hill-Toppers" are attempting to study problems of child welfare, about the hegira of Mohammed, the campaigns of Frederick II, or what not.

* * * *

Miss Maiel Brooks entertained at bridge in the women's faculty house on Thursday evening October 11. Four members of the faculty, the Misses Tollefson, Ebeling, Wright, and Stainton, and three senior girls, Jean Wood, "Deb" Dencon, and "Jerry" Fortner were the guests.

* * * *

There was an important day in Ziegler Infirmary history last week. Our famous quarterback, Mose Quinn, had his birthday celebration while in bed. He got several extra-nice presents. Ask him to show them to you sometime. Despite the lateness, we all extend our hearty wishes to you, Mose.

Prexy's ultimatum stating that all the rooters go to State via the special train or else be guilty of the "auto rule violation," was met with a great deal of wailing and gnashing of teeth. The boys say that they will be forced to rely on pack mules and ponies soon in order to come to and from school.

* * * *

"Knute" Hanson, "Tony" Kostos, and "Wally" Diehl, all of the Frankford Yellowjackets spent October 10 at the Sigma Chi house. Hanson was an all-American from University of Minnesota, and "Tony" Kostos is the brother of "Tony" who is now in school. Big Tony was a former Bucknell captain.

* * * *

If you see some of the students pulling leaves off the trees and bushes as they go about the campus or town, don't be too harsh in your judgement of them. They are merely trying to be good children by carrying out the order of their botany professor, Dr. W. H. Eyster, who told them to collect 50 or 100 leaves.

* * * *

While waiting for the train at Pittsburgh, the Bucknell players went to see, "Good News," the snappy, foothally, musical comedy. Prominent among those present were John Plant and "Ted" Mitchell, who occupied seats that appeared to be right in the orchestra pit. The "bald headed" row wasn't close enough, evidently.

* * * *

Grace Roberts, '30, has gone home for a week to rest and regain her strength. Grace had a nervous breakdown this summer and for a while did not think she could come back to school at all this year. The strain has proved too much for her. However, she hopes to come back at the end of a week, and we sincerely hope that she does.

* * * *

The small boy who sells the Saturday Evening Post in the entry of Larison Hall had an unexpected sale last Thursday. The reason for this is that Professor Harry R. Warfel asked his class in advanced composition to invest a nickel in the Saturday Evening Post this week. Judging from his remarks, we are sure this must be Professor Warfel's favorite magazine.

* * * *

A certain professor at the University of Chicago broadcasts his eight o'clock lectures, thus making it possible for his students to remain in bed during the class hour. All they have to do is to turn on the radio and listen. Such a plan would probably be greatly favored here by those students who protest against the early rising hours necessitated by their 8 o'clock classes.

* * * *

William Stayer, '28, and Fred Locke, '31, two efficient thumb tourists, were the first men to reach Beaver Falls before the Geneva game. Stayer and Locke, who arrived at Beaver Falls two and one half hours before the team, were received with open arms. The manager of the General Brodhead Hotel gave them a room for the evening, and the Beaver Falls Gazette ran an account of their trip.

* * * *

Two freshmen boys wandered into Harris Hall a week ago on Wednesday morning. When a startled "Semite" asked them what or who they wanted, they replied that they were looking for the bulletin board to post a notice. Later in the day we noticed a placard about the special train to State on the bulletin board in Larison Hall, so we suppose that they eventually found the place they sought.

* * * *

The boys in West College have worked out a new system whereby they can save themselves much running up and down stairs after "fags." The other day a bystander beheld three boys letting down a long string from the third-story window, and two boys below tying cigarettes to the end. These same lazy "frosh" also asked for life-savers, but by the time the little life-buoys reached the third floor after repeated throwing, they were wrecked.

* * * *

Professor H. W. Robbin's Chaucer class held its breath on a recent Monday morning when the third set of papers in phonetic transcription was returned. Those receiving three consecutive A's were to be excused. The lucky ones were "Pee Wee" Feaster, "Don" Douglas, Grace Schaum, and "Chuck" Rivenburg. With many "Ah's" and "Oh's", the papers were received. Many of the class were very much disappointed, for two A's and a B seem just the worst of luck. Chaucer transcriptions are not too easy, either!

In the fall the trees decide to turn over a new leaf.

Lewisburg--Favored of the Gods

By E. S. RAMSDELL, '28
(Written for the Special Article Class)

It must be so. Greece had her Zeus and Asia her Cybele; Rome had her Jupiter, and Lewisburg—ah, fair Lewisburg! must have her unnamed goddess of the winds.

It has probably been that way always, but any old-timer can give you plenty of proofs that have been provided during the last two generations. Take this matter of floods, for instance.

For a while they had a goodly share of floods hereabout. In 1865, there was a bad one; and then the famous '89 flood had to step up and prove that the previous one hadn't gone the limit, after all. Schoolboys will always hear plenty about the '89 flood. And even more of these inundations occurred here in the years 1894, 1904, 1917.

Now, all of these floods caused plenty of damage. They carried away trees, houses, railroad and canal beds, bridges, and otherwise caused much destruction, as floods have a way of doing.

Lewisburg Escapes

But the point is that, although great damage was done on the Susquehanna shores above, below, and across from Lewisburg, this town really didn't fare so badly. It was bad enough but not what you could call a catastrophe for Lewisburg.

Then, there have been blizzards. Storms that raged and waxed ferocious often coming close enough home to make the Lewisburgers tremble. But in the end, only the surrounding or far-distant towns suffered any great inconvenience from the snow-storms. Strange, isn't it?

Even cyclones seem to "have a heart," and tenderly skirt the town. The last one was during the summer of 1926—almost anyone around here can recall that. And believe it or not, it's true that this twister started on its rampage up near the Great Lakes, and tore all the way down to Mezeppa. There it happened to notice that Lewisburg was the next town ahead, so it hesitated, lost its nerve, and slowly circled westward around the town and came to a halt.

Sandstorm Passes

And when such a rare thing as the recent sandstorm visits this part of the country, it sweeps along the opposite shore of the river, and never bothers Lewisburg at all—just gives the people of the town something extraordinary to view.

We don't quite appreciate this state of affairs. Nor do we take full advantage of its opportunities. Just think what a selling-point that is! Why, we could attract legions of people here, from all corners of the world.

"Lucky Lewisburg—favored by the Gods," is the slogan that a chamber of commerce could cast far and wide throughout the country. From all over people who fear fire, wind, or water could come and share in our unseen protection.

If ever any narrow-minded non-observant travelers utter a belittling remark about Lewisburg, let's tell them how good it is in so many respects, and clinch the argument by letting them know how old Dame Nature has shown her high esteem of the town.

—Then knock on wood.

Bucknell Commuters Form Organization

A rousing meeting of the girl commuters in the library of the new dormitory resulted in the formation of an organized group for the purpose of giving the girls privileges equal to those of the "Sem" girls.

The following officers were elected: President, Grace Schaum, '30; Vice President, Sara Ingersoll, '30; Secretary, Sarah Throne, '30; Treasurer, Isabel Snyder, '29.

A committee composed of Kathryn Klingman, '29, chairman; Pearl Baumgartner, '30, and Ruby Smith, '30, was appointed to draw up and present a tentative constitution to the group and also to select a suitable name for the organization.

It was agreed that the group shall meet every Wednesday at 10 A. M. in the "Sem" library.

Frill and Frown to Present Play, Nov. 9

"One of the Family," by Kenneth Webb, will be the opening play offered by Frill and Frown on Friday evening, November 9. Some of the best talent on the campus will participate, and much is expected of the production.

The play is about a Boston blue-blood who braves the opposition of his relatives by daring to marry an actress. The action is light, amusing, and exceedingly humorous. No one will want to miss this gem of entertainment.

SWEEP CLEANS FLUES, YODELING THE WHILE

The intercollegiate yodeling chimneysweep, John F. Lenney, of Camden, N. J., who created a sensation on the campus last December, visited us again last week.

Lenney made his appearance on the campus wearing an improvised high hat bearing the inscription of his trade, and carrying a large tool bag.

The chimneysweep visited all of the fraternity houses, fixing furnaces, cleaning chimneys, and polishing stoves, meanwhile entertaining the students with his yodeling.

His "blushing bride" is accompanying him on his present trip. She and the sweep have been wedded for only one month, and are on their honeymoon trip, combining business with pleasure.

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

THE BISON GORES THE LION

By "MAC" McELIGOT

A mighty roar from the Orange and Blue rooters swept over Beaver Field late Saturday afternoon, echoing and re-echoing: "Hold 'em, Bucknell." On the side of the field the Penn State supporters were in a frenzy. The united voices of the Blue and White rooters thundered that famous plea, "We want a touchdown."

The situation was a critical one for both Bucknell and State. The Thundering Herd of Lewisburg was stubbornly clinging to a 6-0 lead, made possible by Captain Halicki's touchdown in the second period. Two minutes yet remained to be played, and the ball was on Bucknell's two-yard line, in Penn State's possession. It was first down to come and only two yards for a touchdown. A Penn State score seemed inevitable, and if the Blue and White players crossed the Bison line they would be assured at least a tie and probably a victory.

The Bucknell team was tired and weary. With two exceptions Coach Snavely had kept the same line-up intact from the beginning of the game. Woodring and Walls had been sent in to replace the valiant Brumbaugh and the hard-working Tom Jones in the third quarter. Jones had been taken out because of a severe injury which forced him to the sidelines, while Woodring was inserted in the lineup in order to give Brumbaugh a rest.

Brumbaugh, however, was in the game when Penn State team lined up, fully confident that her hard-plunging back, Steve Hamas, would hammer his way through for a score. George Delp was rushed into the torrid tilt at this period, replacing Stahley at end. Delp, a star last fall, is an accurate placement kicker, and his appearance in the game indicated that State intended he should kick the extra point if the Blue and White scored.

Halicki Calls for Time Out

Captain "Eddie" Halicki watched the two teams as they started to line up. Then he executed a piece of strategy that aided his team almost as much as his deadly line plunges. He raised his hand and shouted for time out. The referee recognized this move and blew a whistle that allowed the Bison team to withdraw to the background.

The entire Bucknell cast welcomed this two-minute rest period. Every member of the eleven was dead tired and was playing only on his nerve. The giant Ellor and the stalwart Mitchell gladly took to the turf and waited patiently for instructions from Captain Halicki. But no orders were issued. The Bucknell leader, with tears in his eyes, begged his men to hold back the Penn State attack.

"Remember Quinn"

While the Orange and Blue football warriors were lingering during that two-minute rest period, the Bucknell stands were shouting all sorts of encouragement. The "Hold 'em, Bucknell" yell was now converted into "Remember Quinn." When this shout drifted across the field, the Bison fighters raised their heads. They remembered. Quinn, the man who had beaten State last fall, was on his back in the Bucknell infirmary, suffering from a broken ankle. They knew, in fact every loyal son of Bucknell knew, that Quinn was impatiently awaiting the outcome of this terrific struggle. He had a radio near his bedside and was following the game through a play-by-play description. Quinn was now absent from the Bison lineup, but his spirit was there. The memory of Quinn unquestionably inspired his teammates in those last few minutes of play last Saturday.

Bucknell Checks Penn State

A shrill whistle blew and the referee called for play. Captain Halicki's parting words were "Hold 'em boys." The two great football machines lined up. Quarterback French, of the Blue and White, snapped the signals and the ball was passed. Joe Miller received the oval and drove toward the center of the line. Bucknell's forward wall surged in. Good old reliable Bollinger, Ernie Woerner, and "Tex" Walls stopped the crafty Miller with only a yard gain.

Again the two elevens lined up and once more a Penn State back tried to hammer his way through the Bucknell forward wall. This time Hamas, the 200-pound fullback, tried to crash through the Bison defense for a touchdown. Again Penn State was halted. But the Lions picked up a trifling gain that put the ball within six inches of the Bucknell goal line. Two more downs to go for a six-inch gain. By this time the Penn State rooters were insane with joy.

Now Penn State took time out. Hamas and his men huddled in the background, planning the next move. From the west stands was heard Penn State's great football song, "Fight, Fight, Fight for the Blue and the White." The east stands, that sheltered the Bucknell fans replied, and the Bison's football song, "Hurrah Bucknell" went booming across the field.

Both Sides Show College Spirit

It was a wonderful exhibition of college spirit. Both universities had turned out en masse to witness the struggle. Bucknell, with her student body of 1100, seemed to be outlasting Penn. State's 5500 college members in cheers and song. It was a beautiful exhibition of keen and intense rivalry.

The referee's signal broke up the last Penn State conference. The Lions and the Bisons again lined up. Penn State rested her hopes on "Steve" Hamas, burly hard-plunging fullback, who had been a thorn in Bucknell's side all the afternoon. Hamas drew back but five feet from the line of scrimmage. The quarterback calmly shouted the signals. Both stands became deathly silent, and 12,000 eager eyes were pinned on Steve Hamas. The ball was passed swiftly and accurately. Both lines surged forward. Suddenly a Bucknell man crashed through the center of the line, hurled aside one interference man, and dived straight at the ball carrier. He got his man cleanly, and the heavyweight Hamas hit the turf with a resounding thud. The force of the impact was so great that the Penn State fullback fumbled, and the ball dribbled from his arms.

Both State and Bucknell players hurled themselves at the oval, and both teams were in suspense while the referee identified the man with the ball. The referee dived into the mass of players and extricated them one by one. At the bottom of the heap he found Hambacker, one of Bucknell's backs, hugging the ball for dear life. The "ref" stood up and raised his hand high in the air, pointing toward Penn State's goal line. This indicated that Bucknell was in possession of the ball.

Mitchell and Hambacker

The Orange and Blue rooters went mad. They roared, shouted, sang, and cheered. Some even cried with joy. It looked as though Bucknell would win and gain her second victory over Penn State in two years.

But who was it that broke through the Penn State line and bowled over Hamas? It was Mitchell, the Bucknell center. For Mitchell played the game of his life at Penn State. He was all over the field, breaking up forward passes, getting down under punts, breaking through both sides of the line, and doing more than his part on the offense.

It was Mitchell who stopped the famous Johnny Roepke of Penn State last fall, and it was Mitchell who stopped the entire Penn State team last Saturday.

An unusual scene occured in the dressing room immediately after the game. The Bucknell center was donning his street clothes. There was a tired look in his eyes. He had given all he had to Bucknell that day.

Carl G. Snavely, Bucknell's coach, who takes as much interest in the players as if they were his own children, approached Mitchell and congratulated him.

"Mitch, you played the best game today that I ever saw a center play," said the serious Bucknell mentor.

"Aw, coach," replied Mitchell smiling wistfully, "I'm getting too old for this game." Mitchell's reply brought no smiles or laughter, but signs of sorrow. Everyone at Bucknell knows that when Mitchell is graduated the Lewisburg institution will lose one of its finest athletic characters.

Halicki a Hero in Victory

Captain "Eddie" Halicki was another tower of strength. The game Bison leader played through the entire game, regardless of a broken nose. He suffered some during the contest, as many of his desperate line plunges apparently aggravated his injury. But Halicki showed true Bucknell spirit. He stayed in the game, and his presence in the lineup did much to assure his team a victory.

From the beginning of the game to the final whistle, Halicki was a thorn in Penn State's side. During the second period the Bison captain smashed his way through the enemy's tight defense for six first downs in a row. He was ably aided by such stalwarts as "Chuck" Jones and Justin Brumbaugh, who also tore off gain after gain. The elusive Jones got away for a 20-yard sprint during this period. Brumbaugh, with a remarkable change of pace, was an enigma to the Penn State men who sought to tackle him.

Finally Halicki topped his marvellous exhibition of line plunging by smashing his way through for a touchdown, that in the end proved to be the margin of victory for the Bucknell team. The injured Halicki continued in the game and outlasted several Penn State men who were not hurt half as much as he was. He played on pure Bison grit.

Every Man Helped to Win

What beat Penn State? Every man on the Bucknell team beat Penn State. The daring line plunging of Captain Halicki, the sweeping end runs of "Chuck" Jones, the brilliant defensive work of Hambacker, the open-field running of Brumbaugh, the airtight defensive performance exhibited by James at the terminal post, the timely tackles contributed by Woerner, the gallant guarding of "Pottsville" Jones, the all-around work of "Ted" Mitchell, the punting and line work of Ellor, the unceasing man-stopping by Bollinger, the fine work of Lobel, Wadsworth, and Truxel at ends, the winning efforts of the reliable "Tex" Walls, and the spirit shown by Woodring, all combined to bring about a great Bucknell victory.

Snavely Outgenerals Bezdek

Youth again beat old age. Hugo Bezdek, "The John McGraw of Football" was again outgeneraled by a younger coach. Snavely and Bezdek matched wits for the second time in two years, and the Bucknell mentor once more was victor.

The Bucknell Bisons invaded the lair of the Nittany Lions, and once more the Bisons attacked the Lions and drove them back, surprised, humiliated, and crestfallen. The days when Penn State rode roughshod over Bucknell are gone. The Bucknell team is no longer a setup for the Blue and White football warriors. They are now the proud conquerors of Penn State for two years in a row. And what is more remarkable, Coach Snavely leads in victories over Bezdek, the master-mind, by a 2-0 margin. Penn State has yet to score a victory over Bucknell under the Snavely regime.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElligot

BEAT LAFAYETTE

Much credit for the victory should go to "Eddie" Halicki, captain of the Bucknell team. Halicki, handicapped by a broken nose, played through the entire game, despite his serious injury. He outplayed every Penn State back in the department of line plunging, the Bison leader gaining almost at will through the Blue and White forward wall. Halicki scored the only touchdown of the game early in the second period, when, after a successful series of line plunges, he finally crashed over the last white chalk mark for a score.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Ted" Mitchell, Bucknell center, was a bear on the defense. Mitchell's efforts were sensational. He was all over the field. It was the Madison youth who saved the game, when he broke through the line to throw Hamas for a loss. Hamas fumbled and Hambacker recovered for Bucknell.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Bert" Ellor also had a hand in the Penn State defeat. Ellor was a bearcat on the line, making tackle after tackle. His punts from the backfield were high and far, giving his ends plenty of time to get down under them. Some of Ellor's kicks measured 55 yards.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

Another Bloomfield boy, "Ernie" Hambacker, dealt a blow that eventually brought about the downfall of State. Hambacker, after playing a brilliant defensive game all afternoon, topped his worthy performance in the last few minutes of play by recovering a Penn State fumble. Hambacker's alertness undoubtedly saved the issue for his Alma Mater.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Andy" Lobel, also from Bloomfield, covered himself with glory through all the encounter. Lobel, playing his first big game, was equal to the situation, performing in fine style on the defense.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Lefty" James at the other wing post, was determined that "They shall not Pass." James lived up to his reputation as a fine defensive end by holding the enemy at bay when they tried to score by skirting his end.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

Truxel and Wadsworth were rushed into the game late in the last quarter. These two men, fresh and seeking action, provided the needed strength to stop Penn State.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Ernie" Woerner, that unsung hero, was the tackling star of the afternoon. This quiet Newark youth stopped play after play that was directed at his position. At the end of the game Woerner left the field admired by all who saw him. He played hard and clean and is a real Bucknell athlete.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Tex" Walls, who supplanted Jones at the guard post, revealed exceptional strength. Walls, a veteran, was cool and capable. His presence in the game undoubtedly helped the team to victory.

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

HIGH CLASS
STATIONERY
FOR College Students

With a background of 47 years in the printing business, we know your requirements and will meet them to your satisfaction. Simply select from the three classes offered below the one you desire, write your name and address (Maximum of four lines allowed) clearly, enclose the amount indicated, and mail to the
SATURDAY NEWS PUBLISHING CO.,
LEWISBURG, PA.

We will promptly mail you POSTPAID the paper and envelopes with your name and address printed on both. Either blue or black ink. This stock is GOOD BOND paper —NOTHING CHEAP ABOUT THIS STATIONERY EXCEPT THE PRICE.

200 White Sheets, 6x7, and 100 Envelopes to Match — $1.00
Gray, blue or buff paper and envelopes $1.25
With No Printing ..... White, 75c; Colors, $1.00

100 White Double Sheets and 100 Envelopes to Match — $1.50
Gray, blue or buff paper and envelopes $1.75
With No Printing ..... White, $1.25; Colors, $1.50

125 White Sheets, 6¼ x 10 and 125 Envelopes to Match — $2.00
With No Printing $1.50

We are confident the stationery will please you, and if it does, kindly give our address to friends and also keep it yourself for future use.

Saturday News Publishing Co.
Market Street. Lewisburg, Pa.

FOR HOMECOMING DAY
Chrysanthemums
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Member of F. T. D. Assc.
Phone 52.

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM
SODAS
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—3—

At the mass meeting before the State game, the merchants of Lewisburg stated that they would give a banquet to the team this year, win or lose. Even greater than this proposed banquet is the spirit which you merchants have shown by your generous offer. This fine act of yours has even more firmly established the amicable relations between Town and Gown.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194

BUCKNELL 6 — PENN STATE 0

"One of the traditional and bitterest battles in the East," the Penn State Collegian called the struggle on New Beaver field last Saturday. There is no exaggeration in the statement. For forty-one years, Bucknell has been Penn State's rival—her oldest, and undeniably one of her bitterest, rivals. The editorials of the Orange and Blue of thirty years ago are acid with the vindictive rivalry of that time. The tradition was ten years old then, and the games were going mostly Penn State's way. But by this year, the acid should be counteracted by the sweetness of continued victory. The tradition is now more than forty years old. And the battles are going Bucknell's way! We sincerely hope that some of the editors, or at least some of the students, of those old nineteenth century days were present Monday night to have their hearts warmed by the triumphal bonfire which lighted the Hill, and to have their ears stimulated by the roars from a thousand Bucknell throats which swept across the ancient home battle-ground, Loomis Field.

The tradition of defeat has definitely changed. The habit of victory has traveled eastward. And the habit of hating has, we hope, disappeared forever. On the day before Saturday's game, the Collegian printed an editorial, "When Bucknell was a Pup," which admitted that at last (a year ago) "the dog had had its day." The editorial closed with the sentence, "Good luck, little pup." Even though we may not be able to appreciate fully the metaphor of "little pup," we certainly do appreciate the friendly sentiment of that remark.

A BIT OF SPORTSMANSHIP

If the editorial page of the Penn State Collegian showed an example of sportsmanship in the issue before last week's tilt, the same page of the issue following glows even brighter with that spirit. In its leading editorial, the student paper highly compliments Bucknell, gives us full credit for victory, and sounds not even a hint of alibi. In a front page story, the Collegian says, "Throughout the greater part of the contest the Bucknellians exhibited a superior brand of football which enabled them to check serious Lion marches, and gaining, at the same time, sufficient yardage to tally the touchdown that meant victory." No "crabbing" here!

In a second editorial, "Thanks to Bucknell," the paper expresses warm appreciation of Bucknell's demonstration of support for "State's Bond Issue." These exchanges of mutual high regard may be, on both sides, a slightly self-conscious reaction from the long period of hatred between the two colleges, but the important thing is that that period of hatred has come to an end. It is easy this week for Bucknell to feel kindly toward her defeated rival, but it is a much more difficult, and therefore even more creditable attitude on the part of State. Penn State and Bucknell have forever buried the hatchet. May the chains of friendship that now binds them, long be bright and shining We extend our heartiest good wishes to Penn State.

CALENDAR

October 15 to October 21—Exhibition of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art in the play room of the new dormitory.

******

October 19 and 20—Education Conference.
2 p. m.: General Session.
6:30 p. m.: Buffet supper for out-of-town guests in the basement of the new dormitory.
8 p. m.: General session.

******

October 19, from 9 to 1—Phi Gamma Delta Formal Open House.
9 to 1—Kappa Delta Rho Informal. Open House.
8 to 11:15—Beta Kappa Informal. Open House.
8 to 11:15—Delta Sigma Informal. Open House.
9 to 1—Phi Kappa Psi Formal. Open House.

******

October 20, 9 a. m.—Education Conference.
2:30—Bucknell vs. Lafayette at the Stadium.
8 to 11:15—Phi Lambda Theta Informal. Open House.
8 to 11:15—Alpha Chi Mu Informal. Open House.
8 to 11:45—Lambda Chi Alpha Informal. Open House.

******

October 25—Women's Faculty House Warming.

COLLEGIANA

Frosh at Lehigh University held their annual Bathrobe Parade last Saturday afternoon. The members of the freshman class donned their bathrobes, wrapped towels about their heads, and marched through the town. They then went to the stadium and witnessed the football game. Doubtless the latter was done to give the spectators a view of the newest in bathrobes.

—C—

Headline in The Davidsonian: "Only Freshmen Have Hitherto Stood Physical Examinations." From that we gather that the men in all the other classes must have passed out.

Headline in The Lafayette: "Frosh Look Poor In Practice Period." Now who said that newspaper writers aren't honest?

—C—

The requirements in collateral reading for arts and science students at the University of Delaware have been abolished by action of the faculty. That's our idea of a real college. If you don't believe that collateral reading is an awful grind, ask the man who has to do a lot of it.

—C—

Governor John S. Fisher recently paid a visit to the students at Ursinus College. Now if we could just get President Calvin Coolidge to come to Bucknell and tell us of the joys of economy, everything would be lovely.

—C—

Almost every college paper in the land is printing or has already printed an editorial entitled "Advice To Freshmen." So far as we can see, that's just a lot of good space wasted. The proper way, of course, is to "live and learn."

—C—

Miss Jorgia Liepman, Drury College co-ed, died October 5, after a blood transfusion, from one of the six members of the Sigma Nu fraternity at that place who offered themselves, was unsuccessful. Miss Liepman's brother is a member of that fraternity and when her condition became serious, six of the fraternity members volunteered for transfusions.

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

A cross old professor
Took his book from his dresser,
To give a poor student an "A;"
When he looked at the page,
He flew in a rage,
And sent the poor student away.

—B. U.—

Jack and Jill went up the Hill
To get a little knowledge.
Jack's marks fell down,
For he loitered around,
And Jill's came tumbling after.

—B. U.—

Smiling girls, rosy boys,
Come and make a joyful noise;
The prof. gave us all a cut today.
Come help us yell, and sing hurrah.

—B. U.—

Richard and Robin
Were two Bucknell men;
They laid in bed
Till the clock struck ten;
Then up starts Robin
As he sees folks run;
"Oho! brother Richard,
The chapel's begun."

—B. U.—

Mary is a fair co-ed,
As all the fellows know.
Her father bakes both pies and cakes.
And thus makes lots of dough.

—B. U.—

Oh student friend,
Come answer the roll,
The class's in the class room,
Education's their goal;
Where is the boy
That's to answer his name?
He's over at the Inn
Entertaining a dame.

A Boston physician says that in fifty years kissing will be a thing of the past, and in fifty years, we, for one, won't care.

• • • •

We are glad to learn that Mussolini has announced "a new vigorous policy." His soft, easy-going ways have been causing us a lot of worry.
—Springfield Union.

Art Exhibit to End Saturday, Oct. 20

Foremost in the contributions accompanying education week is the exhibition of the New York School of Fine and Applied Art now being displayed in the play room of the new women's dormitory and sponsored by the Wednesday Afternoon Book Club. The exhibit which has been open to the general public each day this week comes to a close Saturday evening, October 20.

The exhibition covering the walls of the large room ably demonstrates the products of the School. The work shown is not professional, but was done by the students. in regard to the Interior Architecture and Art Decoration displays it was explained that the background of the rooms in the home should not be so modernistic as to obscure the "hero and heroine." Many examples of the Costume Design and Construction and Illustration courses are on display. Students must do considerable research and produce the gowns in materials before a problem is actually finished. Stage and Theatre Design includes the acquisition of knowledge and cultivation of taste.

While there has been frequent objection shown to modern art especially in regard to its practicability, Graphic Advertising and Illustrating have been quickly accepted. Now the most attractive qualities are rendered in the most saleable fashion. Many posters hanging on the wall immediately to the left of the room show examples of this sort.

The exhibition as a whole is a moving, vivid collection. Bucknell is indeed fortunate to have the opportunity of seeing it and studying it at such close range.

"Betty"Slifer, ex-'28, is at present a student at the New York School of Fine and Applied Art. Miss Slifer upon leaving Bucknell at the end of her sophomore year entered the Costume Designing division of Mr. Parson's School and is now producing admirable results. "Betty" studied in the Paris branch in the spring of 1928. She traveled about the continent for three months following the close of the session. "Betty's" parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Slifer, of Milton, viewed the exhibition Tuesday afternoon.

B. U.-Lafayette Game of '83

In 1883, Bucknell University, then known as the University at Lewisburg, challenged Lafayette to play a game of football on the Lewisburg campus. At that time Bucknell had never played a football game with another college, and in fact knew almost nothing about the game. Lafayette accepted the challenge, and Thanksgiving Day was selected as the date for the game. Bucknell picked out some men and started practice.

That part of the campus now known as Loomis field was selected as the logical place for the contest, and the faculty granted a study hour off for the purpose of putting it in condition for football. The students turned out in good force and cleared the field of most of the large and dangerous stones that then covered its surface.

The Lafayette team arrived Wednesday evening and was given a royal reception by the students. The players were escorted to the Cameron House by the student body, and there they spent the night.

At a quarter past two, on that Thanksgiving afternoon, the teams lined up, the ball was kicked off, and Bucknell was playing her first intercollegiate football game.

Maroon Backs Run Wild

The clever Lafayette backs romped almost at will through the bewildered University at Lewisburg players, some of whom had never before seen a regulation game. Using tricks unknown to the Lewisburg team, the Maroon ran wild the first half, running up 44 points.

But the Lewisburg University warriors had been learning while taking this first half trouncing, and when the half, or "inning" as it was then called, began, it was a different team that Lafayette had to face. No longer did the University players look on in bewilderment at the tricks of the opposing backs. They now had an inkling of what the game was about, and proceeded to ruin the remainder of the afternoon for Lafayette by using the maroon team's own plays for long gains.

The final score was 59-0. This was a severe beating, of course, but everything must have a beginning and this was Bucknell's start in the football world, in which she has now risen high.

In the next Bucknell-Lafayette game, the Orange and Blue was again defeated. But in 1890, the third time the two teams met, they battled to a scoreless tie, and the following year Bucknell defeated Lafayette 16-10 for the first and only time in the history of the two schools. It was this same team that scored the first victory over State, later in the season.

Ten games were played from that time up to the time of the last game, Lafayette winning all but two, which ended in ties.

Dedication of Stadium

In 1924 Bucknell had completed her beautiful stadium and Lafayette was invited as a fitting opponent for the Bisons in the opening game.

On October 18, 1924, while 17,000 people in the stands bowed their heads in silent prayer, Bucknell's great stadium was dedicated to her soldier dead.

Great bands of orange and blue festooned the walls of the "U." Overhead pennants whipped and fluttered in the autumn wind—the maroon and white above the Lafayette sections and orange and blue above the Bucknell stands.

Out on the field, the Bucknell and Lafayette bands were playing their college melodies. A great roar went up as the teams took their positions. The hands of two of the players out on the field went up: the roar faded; from somewhere came the shrill sound of a whistle: the first game ever to be played in Bucknell's Memorial Stadium was on.

Bucknell First to Score

The first score of the game came in the opening period when Bucknell, after an exchange of kicks, was held for fourth down on Lafayette's 33-yard line. It was then that Captain "Wally" Foster dropped back to the 43-yard line, took the pass from center and drop-kicked a beautiful field goal for the first score ever made in the stadium.

Bucknell, however, lost the game when the powerful off-tackle thrusts of the maroon eleven pushed over a touchdown in the second quarter and two more in the last period, winning by a score of 21-3.

And so we come down to this Saturday's game with the record in favor of Lafayette. But what a wonderful year this is to break the Lafayette jinx!

GOING OUT OF BUSINESS
Everything at Wholesale Prices and Less.
100 Silk Stockings 59c pair.
New Fall Felt Hats $1.98.
250 Velvet Rugs 27x54 $1.79.
Men's 50c Dress Socks 29c.
SHOP HERE AND SAVE THE DIFFERENCE
JOS. K. DERSHAM
225 Market Street — Lewisburg, Pa.

RED HITCHENS' BAND
10--Merry Rhythm Makers--10
Playing the Better Collegiate Dance

LET US LAY YOUR LINOLEUM
We cement it over a lining of builders' deadening felt
Your Floor Will Look Better and Wear Longer
FIVE ADVANTAGES OF OUR METHOD:
1 WARMTH: First we paste warm deadening felt to your wood floor.
2 PROTECTION AGAINST CRACKING: The Linoleum is pasted to the felt, which protects it from breaking when the floor boards expand and contract.
3 FINE APPEARANCE. Our men use special care in cutting Linoleum seams, making them practically invisible. Your floor looks as if laid in one piece.
4 WATERTIGHT: Seams and edges are sealed with waterproof cement. This cementing makes your floor watertight. It doesn't buckle.
5 EASY TO KEEP CLEAN: Waxing gives Linoleum an attractive finish. Dirt is easily brushed up from a waxed surface. Very little washing is needed.
Our Method is Approved by the Makers of Armstrong's Linoleum for Every Floor in the House.
C. D. SUMMERS
South Front Street — Milton, Pa.

STATISTICS OF RIVAL TEAMS

BUCKNELL

No.	Name, class	Position	Wt.	Ht.	Age
49	Ammerman, soph.	end	168	5 9½	20
67	Bollinger, junior	tackle	204	6 1	22
37	Brumbaugh, soph.	back	168	5 11½	21
17	Dann, soph.	center	165	5 11½	19
69	Ellor, junior	guard	205	6 1½	19
19	Erickson, soph.	tackle	181	6 0	20
24	Greet junior	back	160	5 8	21
50	Halicki, senior (Capt.)	back	170	5 9½	23
42	Hambacker, junior	back	165	5 8	21
51	James, junior	end	170	5 11	20
41	Jones, Chas., senior	back	160	5 10	20
68	Jones, Tom, junior	guard	190	5 11	19
15	Konble, soph.	back	165	6 1	20
9	Koser, soph.	back	160	5 10	18
55	Kostos, junior	center	170	6 0	20
10	Kozik, soph.	back	176	5 11	21
27	Linkfield, soph.	back	158	5 9	20
53	Lobel, soph.	end	165	5 10½	19
35	Martin, soph.	tackle	182	6 0	21
14	McClain, soph.	tackle	185	6 0	22
66	Miller, soph.	tackle	188	5 10	22
65	Mitchell, senior	center	195	5 10	21
47	Mutzel, soph.	guard	175	6 0	22
63	Purdy, soph.	center	175	6 0	20
43	Quinn, senior	back	165	5 10½	23
38	Ross, soph.	back	160	5 10	19
52	Slate, soph.	back	174	5 7	20
18	Stephens, junior	guard	165	5 11½	18
7	Suppy, soph.	end	165	5 8½	19
40	Truxell, junior	end	171	5 10½	20
44	Wadsworth, H., junior	end	167	5 10	22
64	Wadsworth, W., junior	tackle	183	6 0	24
45	Walls, junior	guard	175	6 1	19
46	Wingate, soph.	tackle	190	6 2	20
62	Woerner, junior	tackle	193	6 1	22
29	Woodring, senior	back	170	6 1½	21

LAFAYETTE

No.	Name	Position	Wt.	Ht.	Age
31	Robinski	Guard	234	5 9½	20
3	Chimenti	H. B.	177	5 10	21
35	Cogan	End	156	5 11	22
30	Ellicott	Tackle	189	5 11	19
34	Etter	F. B.	164	5 6½	20
28	Fuehrer	Tackle	190	6 3	19
18	Gebhart	End	178	6	24
1	Guest, (Capt.)	F. B.	172	5 8	23
25	Hoagland	Guard	185	6	23
7	Houser	End	188	6 2	21
10	Kressler	Center	176	5 11	24
19	Leisenring	Q. B.	171	5 11	21
36	Lewis	End	160	5 11	20
27	McKean	End	173	6	21
9	Miller	Tackle	195	6 3	22
4	Morrison	H. B.	164	5 8	22
37	Mundy	H. B.	159	5 10	22
20	Murberg	Tackle	196	6 3	20
2	Pursell	Q. B.	189	5 11	21
17	Rambo	H. B.	175	5 11	20
38	Reese	Center	167	6	22
22	Rothenburg	End	178	5 10	21
15	Sarni	Guard	180	5 11	22
12	Shellenberger	Q. B.	163	5 8	23
11	Shelly	Tackle	207	6	21
23	Sheriff	H. B.	164	5 7	21
16	Sherwood	End	173	6	23
21	Soloff	Tackle	202	6	23
24	Tellier	Center	173	5 8	22
8	Thompson, J	Guard	192	5 11	22
32	Thompson, J. L.	H. B.	170	5 11	19
29	Van Derbeck	Tackle	184	5 11	20
33	Walls	End	190	6 3	20
6	Warren	Guard	205	6	22
14	Wilson	H. B.	179	5 11	22
26	Woodfin	F. B.	185	5 10	19
5	Wolbert	Q. B.	172	5 11	23

Chemical Engineers Enjoy New Equipment

During the past summer, the chemical engineering department laboratories have undergone extensive alterations, and one entirely new laboratory has been installed.

The laboratory used by the junior class for the courses in Technical Analysis and Chemical Preparations has been enlarged to twice that of its former size. New stone tops for the desks have been installed and an efficient ventilating system for carrying off noxious fumes and gases has been placed in operation.

But one of the most striking examples of the advancement the chemical engineering department has made under the direction of Dr. S. C. Ogburn is seen in the installation of the new chemical engineering laboratory. This laboratory was planned and designed under the direction of Dr. Ogburn by the senior class of last year as part of the work in the course of Chem. 310 or known as "chemical engineering practice."

The purpose of this new laboratory is to acquaint the students with the types of machines and the operation of the machines used in industrial plants for chemical process work. The laboratory is a small chemical plant, equipped to produce chemical commodities on a small plant scale. The first semester is given over to a study of the construction, characteristics and operation of the individual pieces of equipment. During the second semester, it is planned to operate the laboratory as a small plant. The course includes the preparation of 100-lb lots of refined ores, soap and paint. The price of the final product will be determined from data on operation obtained in the laboratory, from the cost of production, cost of materials, depreciation factors, etc.

Thus this course offers, for the first time, to the chemical engineering students their initial contact with the type of operations and technical procedure employed in the industrial chemical plants.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElgot

Once more the farmer's dream came true. Once more Bucknell defeated Penn State. The farmer was right. Several Penn State students were talking in a disgusted manner about the game immediately after the contest was over. The story of the farmer was mentioned. One of the crowd remarked in a disgusted and crestfallen way "Some one ought to shoot that farmer."

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Pottsville" Jones, was injured in the third period, but not until he had created havoc with the Penn State line. The "Pottsville Tornado" tore the opposing line to shreds, his powerful body crashing through the forward wall in almost every play. Jones received an ovation such as is seldom tendered to an enemy player when he was forced to leave the field.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Ed" Bollinger lived up to early-season predictions that once he gets started he can't be stopped. He played through the entire game, and was always in the battle where the fight was the thickest. His work on the offense was brilliant, as he opened large holes through which his backfield mates gained.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

Justin Brumbaugh, the unassuming Pittsburgh youth, turned in the longest individual run of the game early in the fourth quarter when he traveled through the entire Penn State team for a 35-yard sprint. Hamas tackled Brumbaugh on Bucknell's 15-yard line. Brumbaugh also helped Halicki, Hambacker, and Jones on the victorious march for a touchdown in the first half.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

"Lou" Woodring received his big chance in the Pen State game and made the most of it. Woodring was sent into the game in place of Brumbaugh in the second half. Woodring worked well with his backfield mates.

BEAT LAFAYETTE

Coach Snavely did not enjoy Bucknell's lone touchdown against State as much as he might have. As the Orange and Blue plowed down the field toward the Lion's goal, the coach sat watching the struggle intently. His fingers were in his vest pockets. Finally Captain Halicki pushed the pigskin over. Bucknell rooters went wild. Snavely jumped to his feet, shouting, and yanked his hands from his pockets, thus throwing his watch into the air. It fell to the ground, and broke the chain, and knocked off the crystal. What mattered that? The Bison had scored!

ADDITIONAL FRAT NEWS

ALPHA CHI MU

Alpha Chi Mu announces the pledging of the following: J. H. Cochrane Jr.; W. E. Parson; George Phillips; Roger Stillman; L. J. Rhodes; C. A. Truckemiller; J. E. Wentzell; J. L. Young.

DELTA SIGMA

Delta Sigma announces the pledging of the following: Woodrow Bryan, Slatington; Henry Coates, Allentown, N. J.; Charles Dice, Lewisburg; George Delaney, Phillipsburg; Lester Ely, Hightstown, N. J.; Walter Grim, Nazareth; Ridgeway Hughes, Haddon Heights, N. J.; John Knight, Williamsport; Arthur Marston, Harrisburg; Philip Neisser, Philadelphia; Leslie Pederson, Staten Island, N. Y.; Arthur Randall, Fairfield, Conn.; William Winner, Williamsport; Luther Jefferies, '31, Port Norris, N. J.; E. Birby Lawson, Harrisburg.

PHI GAMMA DELTA

Phi Gamma Delta announces the pledging of the following: Warren J. Haymon, Pittsburgh; Jack Pinsloe, Mt. Union; Paul McFarland, Dormont; Cyrus D. Marter, Haddenfield, N. J.; Miles Sucher, Williamsport; Wm. A. Wilkinson, Haddonfield, N. J.; William Wood, Muney; John W. White, Wilkensburg; Lynn Goughnour, Nanticoke; Newton Griffith, Gerrardville.

BETA KAPPA

Beta Kappa announces the pledging of the following: Bradley V. Beckwith; Stanley B. Dietrich; Delon C. Gray; Robert E. Keubler; Earle C. Morse; Ellsworth L. Smith; Karl H. Stutzman; Thomas Welshaw; Lionel J. Wilson; Burton W. Barrett, '31; John C. Crittenden, '31.

KAPPA DELTA RHO

Kappa Delta Rho takes pleasure in announcing the initiation of N. W. Egge of Harrisburg, Pa.

MU PHI EPSILON
Lillian Mattick, '30

Mu Phi Epsilon wishes to announce some very definite changes in its order, and feeling that the student body should know of these alterations it takes this opportunity to disclose them.

The objects of Mu Phi Epsilon are indeed worthy of notice and are as follows: The advancement of Music in America, the development of the truest sisterhood, mutual welfare, and loyalty to the Alma Mater.

At the annual convention, which was held in June, 1928, at Denver, Colorado, it was definitely decided to strive to make this year one of the greatest for the advancement of the cause of Music in the individual communities in which there are chapters. It was also brought very forcibly to the minds of those present that it is against the laws of Mu Phi to "rush" in any way. Membership in Mu Phi Epsilon is by merit alone. The scholarship average of A is never deviated from, and is a requirement for membership. Mu Phi is open to members of other musical and literary sororities.

Regular monthly recitals of Mu Phi Epsilon will be announced at an early date.

Alumni Notes

George H. Judd, head of the printing firm of Judd and Detweiler, and brother of Rev. Dr. John T. Judd, trustee and treasurer of the University, died during the summer vacation at his country home at Skyland, in Virginia. Heart failure was the immediate cause of his death. Dr. Judd was notified of the death and at once left Lewisburg to attend the funeral.

His brother was a notable printer, and the firm of Judd and Detweiler, which will continue, is one of the leading printing houses in the East. This firm has for many years printed the National Geographic Magazine.

Dr. Judd has the sympathy of the entire college and community in his bereavement.

Miss Mary Graham, '25, of Sunbury, having eliminated six contestants from her district will participate in a contest held by the Atwater Kent Radio company for the state of Pennsylvania to determine the best talented amateur lady singing in the Keystone.

The winner will represent the State of Pennsylvania at the National Elimination to be held in New York City. The grand prize is a four year course at any chosen musical institution in the nation.

Miss Graham who is now director of music in the Sunbury High School is a graduate of the Conservatory of Music at Bucknell.—Sunbury Item.

Mrs. W. J. B. Smith, (Stella Mae Doster, '06), died at her home on Market street on October 12, following an illness of seven months. Mrs. Smith attended the Danville public schools, later entering Bucknell University. Following her graduation, Mrs. Smith studied music at the Coombs Conservatory in Philadelphia. She is survived by her husband, three children, and two sisters.

—Sunbury Item.

Two Bucknellians were selected by the board of trustees of the Mary M. Packer hospital as members of the staff of physicians and surgeons. Dr. Mark K. Gass, '22, was named one of the assistant surgeons, and Dr. R. B. McCay, '96, was chosen as one of the physicians.—Sunbury Item.

FORMER ATHLETES CHOSEN

Four former Bucknell athletes were named as qualified gridiron officials in a statement issued by the football commissioner for the Eastern Intercollegiates. They were: Earl Bartholomew, '12, who is now basketball mentor at the Williamsport High School; Harold S. Hopler, '17, is practicing business in Williamsport; George Cockhill, '05, of Steelton, Pa.; and A. K. Wilsbach, '26, of Harrisburg, Pa.

The talking movie has ruined another good place to sleep.

—Nashville Banner.

• • • •

One thing about the G. O. P.: It believes in looking forward and not back.

It pays to advertise.

BUFFET SUPPER FOR 300

Invitations have been sent out to 300 guests of the college at the Educational Conference, to be held this week-end, to attend an informal reception in the living room of the new women's dormitory on Friday, October 19, at 6:30 p. m. This will be followed by a buffet supper in the recreation room downstairs. Martha Von Neida, '29, is in charge of serving the supper.

We come to the conclusion that the Presidential chair will eventually be secured by bolts.—Phila. Ledger.

Art should be preserved!

Don't waste asthetic effort on the kind of slicker that won't last. Use a genuine Tower's Fish Brand Slicker—background worthy of your masterpiece.

Fish Brand Slickers are not only better looking—they stay that way. They're built to take any sort of beating you or the weather can give them.

The "Varsity" model is a big, handsome, roomy coat, full-lined. It has a corduroy-laced collar, with or without a strap. Buttons or buckles as you choose, and the patented "Reflex" edge that keeps water out of the front. The pockets are wide and deep and rip-proof. Your choice of colors.

Best of all, a Fish Brand Slicker —"The Rainy Day Pal"—costs not a bit more than others. And you can buy it anywhere. A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Mass.

TOWER'S TRADE MARK FISH BRAND

Ward, the Barber

College and Fraternity PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers. Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

Just the Thing for Up on the Hill
Girls Collegiate Sport Shoes
in tan, alligator or black, with leather or rubber heels,
SPECIAL AT
$2.95, $3.95, $4.45, $5.95

For Your Velvet Dress
we have velvet pumps in blue, brown, burgandy and black.
SPECIAL AT
$2.95, $3.95, $4.95, $5.95
Silk Stockings to Match.
All Shades
at $1.00, $1.50, $1.85.
PEOPLE'S Shoe Store
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

FELLOWS
Look your best on Homecoming Day.
Dress your feet with a pair of our Shoes and be assured of comfort and style.
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store, — Lewisburg, Pa.

Weis Pure Food Store
FOR QUALITY MEATS and Groceries and RIGHT PRICES
Market Street — Lewisburg, Pa.

HAVE YOUR SUITS PRESSED
while you wait
AND LOOK YOUR BEST
AT THE
Lewisburg Cleaners & Dyers

Home-Coming Day
Alumni, parents and visitors will find a convenient meeting place and hearty welcome here. Its various departments, Barber Shop, Tailor Shop, Stationery, and Cafeteria meets your various needs.
THE COLLEGE INN
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
Payne, '09.

University Men
Have the opportunity of selection from this exclusive shop which displays the characteristic English University adaptations. Extraordinary exhibits covering the exacting tastes of the college man.
SUITS
$30 to $50
Arrow Shirts — John Ward Shoes
New Neckwear
Montgomery & Co.
LEWISBURG, PA.

STYLES OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM SHOES
$10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
John W. Gittins, '29

Pennsylvania Gamma of Phi Kappa Psi takes great pleasure in announcing the pledging of Samuel Welley, '32.

Mr. Wilson and son, Karl, ex'30, visited "Brud" Wilson, '30, over the week-end.

Merlo McKenzie, '25, visited the chapter during the past week-end.

"Jack" Williams, '21, and wife, visited the boys while on the way to State College.

Phi Kappa Psi opens its social season on Friday night, with a formal Sem dance at the chapter house. "Eddie" Hoffman, '29, and his campus orchestra will furnish the necessary music.

Gamma chapter of Phi Kappa Psi is pleased to announce the pledging of the following freshmen: John T. Porter, Jamestown, N. Y.; Ralph Binder, Barnesboro, Pa.; Frank Grubb, Oxford, Pa.; James O'Conner, Brooklyn, Md.; Charles Stump, Cumberland, Md.

SIGMA CHI
Tommy MacLeod, '31

Final arrangements have been made for Kappa's banquet to the brothers returning for the Homecoming festivities. The banquet on the eve of Home-coming is an innovation, but it is planned to make it an annual affair.

The entire chapter from Phi, Lafayette, is expected to be guests at the house over the week-end. We hope that the result of Saturday's scrap will not dampen the spirit of our visiting brothers from Bethlehem to any great degree.

"Wally" Diehl dropped in to see us twice during the past week. The first time he had brother "Tony" Kostos, and Hansen, former Minnesota grid star, with him. This trio is helping in no small way to keep the Frankford Yellowjackets at the top of the professional football pile.

Brother Edward W. Panburn made his annual pilgrimage to the State game, leaving his medical practice in Philadelphia for that purpose.

Aron Clark, Phi Phi brother of Joe, stopped off at the house long enough on Friday for genial Joe to pack a shirt, and then they left for home.

Another Phi Phi brother was a guest during the week when Samuel Calvin, father of pledge "Matt" Calvin, visited us.

The men who received the white cross pledge pins and their home addresses are: Kenneth E. Hoak, and Charles N. Hoak, of Harrisburg; Eugene E. Sullivan, of Dormont; Joseph Crowe, of Greensburg; George Cockill, of Steelton; Girton K. Lenhart, of Picture Rocks; John C. Rishell, of Erie; Clarence R. Klapp, of Watsontown; Grayden Ranck, of Milton; Justin Masters, of Crawford, Neb.; Henry Bloss, of Allentown; Abbott Bucher, of Lewisburg; Floyd Iseman, of Freeport; Robert Lewis, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Harry Meyers, of Fords, N. J.; and Mathew Calvin, of Hollidaysburg.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
Lory F. Davis, '30

Sigma Alpha Epsilon announces with pleasure the pledging of John Murphy of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Our new house mother has arrived, and taken up her abode with us. We are very happy to have mother Bell to come in our midst. We all love her and will come to love her more as we get acquainted with her.

Brother Weber has returned to take up his studies. He was called home on account of illness of his mother and father.

Brothers Fox and Nowland returned from their cross-country flight in the Demi-Tassi. Although, they had a forced landing near Harrisburg to fix minor repairs. They look very bad from their experience.

Brother Quinn is getting along very nicely and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon wishes to announce with pleasure the pledging of: John E. Dexter, St. Petersburg, Florida; Richard G. Homer, Tyrone, Pa.; Merele C. Stonebreaker, Tyrone, Pa.; William J. Chenoweth, Harrisburg, Pa.; Forrest D. Long, Harrisburg, Pa.; Robert C. Shaw, Harrisburg, Pa.; William J. Price, Munhall, Pa.; Edward C. Strock, East Orange, N. J.; T. H. Suckling Jr., Hollidaysburg, Pa.; Newton Fredericks, Lock Haven, Pa.; Ernest E. Bunbage Jr., Berlin, Md.; James L. Saeger, Pittsburgh, Pa.; Jos. M. Kastrava, Summit Hill, Pa.; Thomas C. Jones, '30, Llewellyn, Pa.; Clark Hinkle, Toronto, Ohio; James R. Shuman, '31, Landisburg, Pa.; Russel T. Thomas, '31, Nanticoke, Pa.; Harry G. Fry, Picture Rocks, Pa.

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Hernenne, '31

Alpha Phi of Kappa Sigma takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Ellis F. Hull, Springfield, Mass.; Arthur Palmer, Nanticoke; James P. Haven, Conn.; Joseph McMurray, Williamsport; Raymond G. Townsend, Saxtons River, Vt.; T. R. Hepler, Williamsport; Paul W. Carleton Jr. Penns Grove, N. J.; William Nelson Sweet Jr., Brooklyn, N. Y.; Charles Bickel, Williamsport.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

Delta Zeta of Lambda Chi Alpha takes great pleasure in announcing the pledging of the following men: Jack H. Harton, '32, Bloomsburg; Fred F. Bozenhardt, '32, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Thomas M. Cummings, '32, Shenandoah; D. Rolger Davis, '32, Plymouth; John J. Downey, '32, Shenandoah; John R. Hatten, '32, Edwardsville; Charles E. Hughes, '32, Great Neck, Long Island; Harold L. Linden, '30, Titusville; Charles E. Mills Jr., '32, Athens; Donald S. Mills, '32, Wilkes-Barre; Manuel J. Schafer, '32, Buchanan, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Gladys Compton, Milton; Edythe George, Freeville, N. Y.; Mary Grove, Milton; Martha Guest, Anderson, Ill.; Helen Kelly, Haddon Heights, N. J.; Louise Manley, Hillside, N. J.; Mary Reese, Danville; Eunice Samson, Nanticoke; and Charlotte West, Sayre.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Karl C. Albig, '29

The chapter has purchased new rugs and furniture for the living rooms and reading room, which greatly adds to the appearance of the interior which has been recently redecorated and repainted.

Brother Burdic and Allen spent the week-end at Mansfield.

Brother Craigo, Yawars, and pledge Koehler were visitors at Bloomsburg over Saturday and Sunday.

Brother Frank Zimmerman and his "Toreadors" played at the chapter house at State College over the week-end for the annual pledge banquet and dance.

Iota chapter of Kappa Delta Rho takes pleasure in announcing the pledge of the following men: Eugene R. Beard, '32, Harrisburg, Pa.; Russell E. Bing, '32, Coalport, Pa.; George S. Garngan, '32, Hillside, N. J.; Howard E. Helm, '32, Trenton, Pa.; Raymond Groh, '32, Bronx, N. Y.; A. R. Kemps, '32, Levonia, N. Y.; Frank Kochler, '32, Scranton, Pa.; William Osborn, '32, New York City, N. Y.; Willard Phillips, '32, Scranton, Pa.; Benjamin Wahrman, '32, Norfolk, Va.; N. W. Eggo, '31, Frackville, Pa.; Bert De Chant, '31, Harrisburg, Pa.

The chapter has planned a banner dance to be held October 19. Brother Frank Zimmerman's "Toreadors" will endeavor to pep things up and make us wish to trip the light fantastic.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Brother William Stayer, '28, is spending the week with us. "Bill" was at the game in Beaver Falls on the sixth of October, saw the game at State College last Saturday, and expects to see Bucknell beat Lafayette next Saturday.

Zeta Alpha gave a dance for her pledges last Friday evening. Music was furnished by Hoffman.

Brother Harry Bradley, '27, and his brother Robert, of Madison, N. J., spent the week-end with us. They made the trip by motor.

On returning from State College last Sunday, brother "Reggie" Gaylord, '29, was pleased to find his mother, and his brother Garfield at the house.

Brother Douglas Anderson, '27, drove from New York City to spend last week-end with us.

Brother Emerson Thomas, '28, spent a few hours with us last Sunday. "Jeff" is teaching in Wyoming High School.

Among our many guests last week-end were brother "Vince" McHall, and two of his students from Mt. Carmel High School, Joseph Ambrose and Joseph Kovalick.

Forty-two brothers and pledges of Zeta Alpha chapter registered "present" at the chapter house at State last week-end.

Theta Upsilon Omega pledges: Alfred V. Boerner, Mountain Top; William S. Doty, Rochester, N. Y.; Ralph R. Dunfee, Monroeton; Douglas L. Fleming, Ardmore; Robert W. Gift, Milton; Gerhard E. Glahn, Lock Haven; John L. Kohl, Clark Summit; Shirley Leavitt, Woodcliff, N. J.; Waldo C. McKee, Blairsville; Reuel M. Ralston, Harrisburg; Alan D. Grinsted, '31, Orange, N. J.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

Phi Lambda Theta pledges: Robert Crothamel, Boonton, N. J.; Lamar Davis, Locustdale; Lloyd Hoffman, Red Lion; Perry Kimmell, Brookville; Fred Koeskert, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Howard Koyen, Perth Amboy, N. J.; John Longstreteh, Philadelphia; John Mootz, Pottsville; William Sanders, Sunbury; Charles Shaffer, Renovo; Philip Sheplar, Monessen.

BETA KAPPA
E. W. Lare, '30

Miss Bertine Prosser of Peckville was the guest of E. Ray Johnson during Sunday.

H. B. Stere, '29, visited at his home in Unionville over the week-end.

McClure, Johnson, Smith, Hoch, and Shipman all of '29, attended the dance held by Tau of Beta Kappa at State College.

"Lee" Wilson, '32, visited some folks in Shamokin recently. "Lee" say as good time was had by al.

Vince Beckwith, '32, is our luckiest man. Saturday he caught a ride from Nanticoke to State College a distance of 110 miles.

"Sam" Posten, '30, after seeing Saturdays game against State announced that he was going to bum to the coast to see Bucknell play.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
J. R. Fielding, '29

Tau chapter announces with pleasure the bidding of the following ten members of the class of '32: Bettina Buchanan, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Gladys Compton, Milton; Edythe George, Freeville, N. Y.; Mary Grove, Milton; Martha Guest, Anderson, Ill.; Helen Kelly, Haddon Heights, N. J.; Louise Manley, Hillside, N. J.; Mary Reese, Danville; Eunice Samson, Nanticoke; and Charlotte West, Sayre.

KAPPA DELTA
Caroline Davison, '30

Kappa Delta takes pleasure in announcing the following biddies: Dorothy Holt, '30; Ruth Bell, '31; Mary Beck, Margaret Beck, Hilda German, Dorothea Flint, Dorothy Cooper, Ruth George, Margaret Cunningham, Eleanor Farquhar, Alice Schafer, Elinor McLeavy, Isabel Klapp, all of '32.

Kappa Delta also takes pleasure in announcing the bidding of Sarah Bailey, '30, on Wednesday, October 10, 1928.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta chapter takes great pleasure in welcoming the girls who were bid on October 12.

The founding of Alpha Chi Omega on October 15, 1885 was commemorated by the chapter on that day. A Founders' Day service was held in the suite in the morning. The pledges were presented to our patronesses at a tea given in the new dormitory on Monday afternoon.

Alpha Chi Omega announces with pleasure the bidding of the following girls: Virginia Babcock, '31, Absecon, N. J.; Sally Bray, '31, Freeland, Pa.; Mae Button, '32, Glenside, Pa.; Alice Corbett, '30, New Bethlehem, Pa.; Esther Clark, '32, Franklin, Pa.; Jane Crispin, '32, Glenside, Pa.; Dorothy Dedrick, '30, Drexel Hill, Pa.; Marion Groover, '32, Lewisburg; Bernice Holz, '32, Philadelphia, Pa.; Rose Kunkle, '32, Belle Vernon, Pa.; Isabel Postlethwaite, '30, Cressona, Pa.; Catharine Tomb, '32, New York City; Eleanor Tomb, '32, New York City.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter of Phi Mu takes pleasure in announcing the bidding of the following girls: Doris Anthony, Edgewater, N. J.; Mary Bolger, Philadelphia; Hulda Dimm, Muncy; Josephine Eisenhauer, Lewisburg; Pauline Fedder, Milton; Agnes Jones, Plymouth; Helen Kellogg, Tunkhannock; Jeanne Kreig; Lewistown; Lucy Lenyon, Hazleton; Elizabeth Lewis, Freeland; Margaret Pearson, Portville, N. Y.; Katherine Rodgers, Allentown; Ruth Schreiber, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mary Sheehan, Lewisburg; Lillian Starke, Milton; Helen Walters, Lewistown; Mildred Walton, Edgewater Park, N. J.; Esther Williams, Olyphant; Flora Williams, Camden, N. J.; and Anna Wiegold, Milton.

Beta Kappa takes pleasure in announcing that Mrs. W. H. Eyster and Miss Annetta Stainton have consented to be patronnesses of the chapter.

Marie Helwig, '27, and "Betts" Williams, '27, visited the chapter during the week-end of October 13. "Ree" is teaching at Turbotville, and "Betta" is teaching at Dixon City, Pa.

The first five-pound box of candy of the season appeared at the suite last week. Mary Taubel, '29, presented the box of sweets.

Beta Kappa announces the pledging of Harriet Ferguson, '29.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Nan Lee Thomas, '30

Zeta Gamma Tau announces with pleasure the bidding of the following girls: June Reidler, Orwigsburg; and Miriam Stafford, Lewisburg, both of '31, and these girls of '32: Eleanor "Johnnie" Johnson, Downington; Dorothy Cassidy, Altoona; Margaret Fox, Allentown; Barbara Smith, Moorestown, N. J.; Kathryn Yoder, Shoemakersville; Mary Lesko, Johnstown; and Anne Binley, Washington, D. C.

Miss Vera Elster, '26, of New York City, visited us last week. Vera manages to drop in every now and then to say, "hello!" We were sorry that she could not stay longer.

Helen Oister, '30, "Lee" Munkle, '31, and Olive Barr, '31, remained here during the week-end while the rest of us followed the crowd to State. "Alone and Forsaken" was the song they sang!

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Elizabeth Frederick, '29

Sigma Sigma Delta held a "kid" party for the freshmen girls in the recreation room of the new dormitory, Monday evening, October 8. Games suitable to the spirit of the occasion were played, and ice cream, pretzels, peanuts, and lollypops were served for refreshments. A good time was had by all.

Dorothy Davies, '30, spent last week-end at her home.

Eva May Folsom, '31, spent last week-end in Sunbury. Although unable to attend the Bucknell-Penn State game, she listened to it over the radio, and said that it was almost as exciting as actually seeing the game.

Ruby Smith, '31, burned her hand the other day when it came in contact with an electric light wire which was unexpectedly pulled from its socket. We extend our sympathy to Ruby, and hope that the burn will give her little trouble.

Sigma Sigma Delta is looking forward to Home-coming week-end which will bring to Bucknell several of their friends and alumnae.

SIGMA MU NU

Sigma Mu Nu, the infirmary fraternity, has pledged three more students this week. "Mose" Quinn, Ernest Hambacker, and S. F. Hepp are in line for membership in the newly-formed brotherhood. However, Dr. L. P. Fowle and the Misses Kroberger and Yearick may push these pledges out before they are eligible to become actives.

Visitors at the infirmary have been numerous. "Mose's" friends come trooping in at almost any hour. It goes without saying that the patients are not the sole attraction at the infirmary.

Now we can walk slowly up the hill, for our rushing days are over.

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed, Kaatman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist.
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1867. Lewisburg, Pa.

WAINIES

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

For Christian Education

BUCKNELL
UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.

EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President

For catalog, book of views, or information,
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Quick on the trigger!

Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan Fine Pencils

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Standard Student

Let It Rain!

The fellow with our Standard Student Slicker will always be dry and comfortable. You can't beat a good slicker for comfort.

Standard Student Slicker

Ask for a slicker with this label
at
Montgomery & Co.

B. U. Extension Work Reaches 450 Persons

The Extension Division of Bucknell University will have approximately 450 students registered for its courses this year. The exact figure is not yet known as the final registrations are not all in, but there is every indication that there will be 150 more in the courses this semester than were enrolled for the corresponding semester last year.

The extension department is a comparatively new thing at Bucknell, having been established only five years ago. Its work has been growing each year. Most of the larger universities of the country now have extension divisions, but Bucknell is one of the first of the smaller schools to organize such a department.

Courses are offered as the people of a community demand them. Eight cities in this part of the state now have extension classes. These are: Williamsport, Danville, Shenandoah, Lock Haven, Jersey Shore, Bloomsburg, Treverton, and Milton. Shenandoah has the largest classes, their enrollment totalling almost 300. At this town the teachers in the schools are taking the extension work rather than attend the teachers' institutes.

Practically every course that is offered at Bucknell will be given through the extension division if there is a sufficient demand for it.

People from all walks of life are in the classes. There are young men and women who for one reason or another cannot go to college, and lawyers, clerks, teachers, and housewives.

Fifteen professors and instructors are conducting classes in one or more of these cities. The following teachers are engaged in extension work: Professors John H. Eisenhauer, director of extension, H. W. Robbins, C. H. Richardson, B. W. Griffith, N. F. Davis, H. T. Colestock, J. W. Rice, George B. Lawson, L. L. Rockwell, M. F. Nimkoff, O. W. Elsbree, F. G. Davis, F. H. Lund, and Instructors Margaret L. Lawson and W. T. Johnson.

B. U. Student Works In Unique Glass Shop

Harold Robb, '31, went in for work of an artistic nature during the past summer, when he was employed in an art-glass shop in Buffalo, N. Y. The shop is the only one of its kind in Buffalo, and produces imitations of the cathedral art windows of Europe.

The glass used in the work is imported from Germany, Switzerland, and other countries where glass making is done almost entirely by hand.

Churches and different sorts of clubs composed most of the shop's customers. Certain wealthy residents of Niagara Falls and Buffalo also patronized the shop.

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE HAVING THINGS EASY

"Bill" Genne evidently believes in taking life easy whenever it is possible. Several days ago some of the college boys saw him laboriously carrying a large crate up three flights of stairs to his room on the fourth floor of Old Main. "Bill" was too busy then to unpack the "thing." Later those same boys saw him pompously enthroned on a high-backed swivel chair. His role as swivel chair king has become quite enviable. All the fellows on the fourth floor like to "just happen around" so they may get a chance to sit in that chair and wish they had one like it.

EISLEY WEDS MUSICIAN

The marriage of Miss Ruth Catherine Shook, of Sharon, Pa., to Harold S. Eisley, of Lewisburg, took place August 18 in the First Presbyterian church at Sharon.

Miss Shook attended Westminister College, the Peabody Conservatory of Music at Baltimore, and Johns Hopkins University. She was very active in all of Sharon's musical activities.

Mr. Eisley was graduated from Bucknell University with the class of 1921. He is a member of the Delta Sigma fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Eisley are now living in their newly furnished apartment on South Fifth street, Lewisburg.

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

"Eddie" Halicki, Bucknell's son,
Stole the ball, and away he run!
The play was neat,
And State was beat,
And the Lions went roaring down the street.

—B. U.—

Poor Bucknell has lost her team,
And can't tell where to find it.
Leave it alone, and it'll come home,
Dragging its victories behind it.

Who's Who AT B. U.

Sara A. Porter

Perhaps "Sally" Porter is best known on the campus by her ability in reading and dramatics. If so, it does not mean that her ability is limited to that field. She has been a representative of her class in the Sociological Society, the secretary of her class during her Junior year, representative in Pan-Hellenic for the past three years, and secretary of that organization this year.

She is a member of Delta Delta Delta and of C. E. A. She is president of the latter organization this year. She was the reader in the Women's Glee Club last year, and is a member of Frill and Frown, honorary dramatic association.

"Sally" is in teacher-training at the present time, training for an activity in which she is bound to make a success, as everyone who knows her realizes. It is foolish to wish her luck in a venture whose requirements are capability, charm, and personality; one just naturally congratulates her on the success which is coming to her.

Sly Dan Cupid Makes Many Perfect Shots

"SOPH" WEDS TOWN GIRL

Miss Mary Ellen Aurand, well known and popular member of Lewisburg's younger set, was married at Cumberland, Md., in August, to Raymond Norris, Bucknell University student.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton V. Aurand, of South First street. She is a graduate of the Lewisburg High School in the class of 1926 and is accomplished in musical lines. She has taken active part in practically all the home talent plays here in several years.

The groom is a member of Kappa Delta Rho fraternity and was in his sophomore year at Bucknell. His home is at Greensburg where his parents reside.

The couple are making their home in Greensburg.

—Lewisburg Saturday News.

B. U. GRADUATES WED

Miss Margaret M. Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Kyle, of Williamsport R. D. 2, and Dr. Merl G. Colvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Colvin, of Clifford, Pa., were married by the Rev. F. B. Everitt, of Lewisburg, in the Hepburnville Presbyterian church last June.

The bride was graduated from Bucknell University with the class of 1926, while Dr. Colvin was graduated from Bucknell in the class of 1924 and later from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

"TOM" LEWIS, '28, MARRIES

The marriage of Miss Florence M. Beyer, of Lewisburg, and Thomas J. Lewis, of Vineland, N. J., took place last June at the Methodist parsonage at Lewisburg.

Mrs. Lewis is the daughter of Mrs. Simon Beyer, of Lewisburg, and taught in the Lewisburg schools. Mr. Lewis was graduated from Bucknell last June. He took first honors in the engineering school.

MISS McCREIGHT WEDS

Miss M. Emily McCreight, superintendent of the Arnot-Ogden Memorial Hospital at Elmira, N. Y., was married July 21 to Isaac Baldwin, banker, in the Holy Trinity Church in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Baldwin was born in Lewisburg and was graduated from Bucknell University in 1899. She rejected a career as teacher to become a nurse, at which profession she has been very successful.

MARRIED A YEAR AGO

A marriage which had been kept a secret for nearly a year was revealed last June when it was announced that Miss Hattie Fertig, of Milton, and Charles F. Lontz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lontz, of Mifflinburg, had been married July 3, 1927, at Laporte, Pa.

Mr. Lontz wa graduated from Bucknell University in the class of 1928.

ON THE EVE OF THE WORLD'S SERIES

Three Triumphant Yankees conduct the Blindfold test . . . and MILLER HUGGINS picks OLD GOLD

The Babe and Lou here will tell you that there is only one way to choose a pitcher . . . and that's to send him into the box and let him twirl a few innings.

So the best way to choose a cigarette is to put them all through their paces in the blindfold test.

In the test I have just made, OLD GOLD played right into my mitt. Its zippy flavor and mellow smoothness couldn't be touched by the other three brands.

Miller J. Huggins

LOU GEHRIG
(witness to the test)

MILLER HUGGINS
(who made the test)

BABE RUTH
(witness to the test)

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

In the dressing room at Navin Field in Detroit, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig gave the blindfold cigarette test to Manager Miller Huggins. The famous Yankee pilot was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked, "which one do you like best?"

SMOOTHER AND BETTER – "NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

AUTO BUS SERVICE
Saturdays, Evenings and Holidays
O. I. LIDDICK 7th and Market

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

A good shoe to ask for by name—MONTROSS

There is style in the prices, too!

No longer need the well-shod man pay the price of out-of-date production methods.

Inefficiency is outmoded.

Modern methods enable John Wards to lead in quality, in style, yet sell for dollars less!

Buy your next pair here —at seven and nine dollars!

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED — REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
MONTGOMERY & CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Back to the Alma Mater

For men who are about to return to college and who strive for authenticity in their apparel, new

COLLEGE HALL

Suits in the Hy-Roll model—the perfect university sack suit.

COLLEGE HALL
HY-ROLL SUITS
(three-button and two-button)

Gulfstream Gray
Maple Leaf Brown
Dart Green
$35
Grainweaves
Shadowweaves
Customweaves

J. F. PROWANT
With Two Trousers.

Alvin Julian, '23, Making Fine Record

The Philadelphia Public Ledger published a two-column article on October 14, praising the successful coaching of the Schuylkill football team by Alvin F. "Doggie" Julian. Julian graduated from Bucknell in 1923. He proved himself a notable athlete while in college, starring in baseball, basketball, and football. After graduation, he played professional football with the Pottsville Maroons. In summer, he played professional baseball with the Reading Internationals, Chambersburg of the Blue Ridge League, and others. After coaching football for two years at Schuylkill, he was appointed athletic director. He has been an official in collegiate and scholastic basketball also. It is his coaching that put Schuylkill "on the map" in a football way and they are still progressing.

PLUNGING BISONS WIN FROM NITTANY LIONS

(Continued from Page 1)

Bucknell's wingmen ragged all the afternoon. James and Lobel performed in fine style on the line, stopping play after play. Finally Coach Snavely found it necessary to withdraw these two players and insert Wadsworth and Truxel.

Penn State began another march toward the Bucknell goal line. Bucknell lost the ball on State's 13-yard line on downs. French and Miller, sensational soph backs at Penn State, gave the Blue and White rooters a thrill by a series of plays that brought the ball to Bucknell's three-yard line. French skirted the ends, while Miller threw forward passes and sliced off tackle. Hamas aided in this march with several deadly line plunges that enabled State to register first downs. In all, the Nittany fighters chalked up five consecutive first downs, one fewer than the six registered by Bucknell when the Bisons scored the only touchdown of the game.

With the ball perched on the three-yard line, the situation was a critical one for both teams. The Penn State men elected to try for a touchdown through the line. Their first attempt netted a gain of two yards, their second endeavor produced an advance of about two feet. The ball reated on the one-foot line, ready to be taken over by an enterprising State back.

But the ball never got across. On the next play Steve Hamas fumbled, and the oval was recovered by Hambacker. Mitchell broke through the line this time to throw Hamas for a loss. Hamas, tackled hard but clean, dropped the ball and the eagle-eyed Hambacker pounced on it.

Hambacker Recovers Fumble

Ellor kicked out of danger, and Pen State was beaten. The game ended with the ball in Bucknell's possession in mid-field. "Chuck" Jones intercepted an enemy forward pass just before the final whistle blew.

Every Bucknell lineman and back was a hero in this game. The entire team combined to down the Nittany Lions. Captain Halicki, Jones, Brumbaugh, and Hambacker furnished the offensive, while the Bison line from end to end played excellent football to check the onslaughts of the Pen State foemen.

The lineup:

Bucknell		Penn State
James	Left end	Struble
Woerner	Left tackle	Shawley
T. Jones	Left guard	Martin
Mitchell	Center	Masciandrew
Ellor	Right guard	Ricker
Bollinger	Right tackle	Panaccion
Lobel	Right end	Stahley
Brumbaugh	Quarterback	French
Hambacher	L. Halfback	Diedrich
C. Jones	R. halfback	Wolff
Halicki (C)	Fullback	Hamas (C)

By periods:

Penn State	0	0	0	0	0
Bucknell	0	6	0	0	6

Touchdowns—Halicki. Substitutions—Bucknell: Woodring for Brumbaugh, Walls for T. Jones, Truxell for Lobel, Wadsworth for James. Penn State: Duvall for Ricker, Miller for French, Collins for Wolff, Evans for Diedrich, Edwards for Struble, Zorella for Duvall, Kaplan for Stahley. Referee—E. C. Taggart, Rochester. Umpire—Dean Watkeys, Syracuse. Linesman—R. C. Morgan, Lafayette. Field judge—J. T. Clinton, Yale.

Miss Marie Volkmar, '17, of Williamsport was awarded an M. A. degree by Middlebury College, Virginia in June of this year.

Possibly under television the lonely wife can lure the errant spouse home evenings by holding a banana cream pie in front of the transmitter.
—Detroit News.

Cap and Dagger To Present Two Plays

The members of Cap and Dagger who have been selected to present the plays, "Sham" and "The Valiant" on Thursday evening, October 25, have been rehearsing steadily in an effort to make that evening's entertainment one of supreme amusement. The casts have been carefully selected in order that the type of entertainment previously presented by Cap and Dagger may be maintained.

The cast chosen for "The Sham" includes: The Thief, Frederick Yast; The Husband, Miles Sucher; The Wife, Janet Bingman; The Reporter, Richard Hamer.

The cast for "The Valiant" consists of: The Valiant, Victor Meyer; The Warden, R. Henry Coleman; The Girl, Vivian Bittner; The Prison Chaplain, Blair Hazen; The Jailer, Reule Ralston.

The two plays afford a contrast that will please even the most fastidious audience. "Sham" is of the comedy type and affords some real clever humor, while "The Valiant" is of the serious type, or straight drama, and will hold the audience throughout its performance.

During the interval elapsing between the two plays, music will be furnished by George Ferrell and his entertainers. The time consumed for the entire entertainment will be approximately two hours.

BABY BISONS DEFEAT LION CUBS 13 TO 0

(Continued from page 1)

terminal for the second tally. The additional point was scored when State was offside, although the ball sailed over the up-rights.

Both teams battled furiously during the final period, but neither succeeded in scoring, and the struggle ended with the "Baby Bisons" in the van, 13 to 0.

Although the freshman team looked much better against State than it did against Manlius, it still must improve to down the mighty Bellefonte Academy eleven this coming Saturday. Bellefonte trimmed the Naval Academy Plebes, 12 to 0, on Saturday and any outfit that can do that is exceptionally good. The frosh still are somewhat slow and awkward, with lots of undeveloped power. Their bad habit of fumbling is being gradually overcome, although they were twice guilty of that fault against State.

As to the individual performers, there is little to be said. Fry got off his punts nicely and obtained both height and distance. Cummings was the outstanding lineman, breaking through time and again to drop the ball-carrier with a deadly tackle.

Hinkle made some fine tackles in the open field, at times when they were essential. Both Hinkle and Fry looked good in carrying the ball, shouldering the burden of the attack.

Penn State		Bucknell
Turner	R. E.	Stonebreaker
Gillarg	R. T.	Lenhart
De Cindis	R. G.	Trutlenak
Engle	C.	Cummings
Hibbler	L. G.	Crowe
Hamilton	L. T.	Downey
Walker	L. E.	Hoak
Lohr	Q. B.	Mezza
Lasick	L. H.	Hinkle
Crust	R. H.	Kastrava
Brehm	F. B.	Fry

Score by periods:

Bucknell	6	0	7	0	13
Penn State	0	0	0	0	0

Bucknell substitutions: Marter for Lenhart; Spadafore for Mezza; Porter for Stonebreaker.

Touchdowns—Kastrava (2). Point after touchdown: State off side. Officials: Referee, R. F. Stein; Linesman, T. H. Lynn; Umpire, B. W. Sane.

FIRE THREATENS HOME OF KAPPA SIGMA FRAT.

(Continued from page 1)

than by flames, is fully covered by insurance.

The section of the house that was damaged is a wooden addition that contains the kitchen, and a store room on the first floor, and a large bedroom on the second floor. The fire which probably started behind the kitchen stove, burned through large parts of both the kitchen, and the bedroom floors, and ruined a section of the partition between the kitchen and the storage room. Practically all of the bed clothing was damaged by water.

Plans have been made to repair the damaged section, but in the meantime the Kappa Sigmas are without boarding service. They hope, however, that in the near future they will be able to replace their present residence with a new, and modern home.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

HUGE CROWD EXPECTED AT HOME-COMING GAME

(Continued from page 1)

fayette was the attraction at the dedication of the Memorial Stadium. The Easton eleven, boasting of a fast and shifty backfield, defeated Bucknell 21-3 in a contest in which the Bisons drew first blood. "Mike" Foster, Bucknell captain, kicked a forty-yard field goal in the first quarter of play, but after that the Lafayette backfield got into action and rolled up three touchdowns before the game was over.

Bucknell that year could not check the deadly line thrusts of Gebhart, Chickniski, and Kirkleski, who gained through the Bison line almost at will. Charley Bery, all-American end, was another man that Bucknell failed to stop that day.

Lafayette Has Fast Backfield

Coach McCracken, the Maroon mentor, is said to have moulded an outfit this fall that resembles the 1924 machine. In captain Guest and "Vince" Chimenti, Lafayette has a pair of backs that remind Easton fans of Kirkleski and Gebhart. The Maroon men have perfected a forward pass attack that will give Bucknell plenty of trouble. The line is one of the strongest seen in years at the Lafayette institution. The entire forward wall averages at least 185.

When Bucknell lines up against Lafayette on Saturday, Tom Jones, star guard, may not be in the Bison lineup. Jones received two broken ribs in the Penn State tilt, and this injury may keep him on the sidelines for more than a week. However there is a possibility of Jones being in the game on Saturday.

If Bucknell wins this game she will be recognized throughout the East as one of the leading college elevens. Coach Snavely will put his best team on the field in an effort to lower the colors of the fighting Maroon.

The faculty women living in Bower House are so proud of their newly-molded home that they are already busy planning a housewarming on October 25.

The most prominent woman in politics this year is Dame Rumor.
—Norfolk Pilot.

EDUCATORS TO TREAT PROBLEMS OF SCHOOLS

(Continued from Page 1)

German, Pennsylvania State College; M. A. DeVitis, professor of modern languages, University of Pittsburgh; S. G. Cole, professor of religious education, Crozer Theological Seminary; Leroy F. Derr, head of the department of science, Williamsport High School. This group is only a partial list of the many outstanding educators who will lead the classes and discussions at the conference.

The Bucknell authorities have done all in their power to make the stay of the visitors enjoyable. Accommodations can be arranged for any one who desires to attend. A supper will be served free of charge on Friday evening at the new dormitory for women, to which all are invited. Entertainment will not be lacking, for on Saturday the visitors will have the opportunity of witnessing the annual Home-coming Day football game between Bucknell and Lafayette. This will be one of the best games in the East that day.

The education conference is not an innovation, for it has been held annually at Bucknell in a similar manner for several years. Although only a few years old, it is considered one of the finest conferences of this nature in the state.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Our Leather Coats
FOR BOTH BOYS and GIRLS
Are Going Over Big
For Style, Finish and Fit they can't be surpassed.
We carry the GLOVER make of Leather Garments; hey are universally accepted as THE BEST.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER TO THE B. U. VARSITY
Full line of College and Fraternity Pennants, Banners, Leather Goods, Memory Books, Stationery, etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (East of Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

BIJOU Milton, Pa.
LAST TIME TODAY—THURSDAY, 18th
GRETA GARBO With CONRAD NAGEL in "THE MYSTERIOUS LADY"
TOMORROW—FRIDAY 19th
The LAUGH HIT of the year.
"FINNEGANS BALL"
It's A Scream.
FREE: Dinnerware Every Friday.
COMING SATURDAY—OCTOBER 20th
Zane Grey's "THE VANISHING PIONEER"
With JACK HOLT and Great Show Cast
COMING MON., TUES., WED., THURS.—Oct. 22-23-23-25
BROADWAY'S BIG SENSATION!
"WINGS"
EVERY woman who has ever loved will see the reflection of her own heart throbs in "WINGS." The thrilling drama of the war-fliers. American youth, fighting, loving, laughing at danger. A master picture, directed by William A. Wellman.
NOTE: On account the length of this picture "WINGS" door will open evenings 6:30. Shows: 7:00 and 9:00 sharp. Matinee as usual, open 2:00. Begins 2:30.
5,000 people in "WINGS" Starring
CLARA BOW, CHARLES ROGERS, RICHARD ARLEM, AND GARY COOPER
2 Years In Making.

SEE OUR SPECIAL
BABY GRAND PIANO
$645.00.
Bennage's Music Store
C. A. BENNAGE, Prop.
PIANOS 217 Market Street MUSIC Lewisburg, Pa.

BUCKNELL
Has a wonderful team this year and we are for them.
We have a wonderful line of Gifts, are you for us?
Just received a shipment of new goods.
Take one of our Bucknell Cushions along to the game Saturday.
Full line of Jewelry.
Come in and look our stock over. You are under no obligation to buy.
WARRINER'S GIFT SHOP
421 MARKET STREET
Near Post Office.

HERMAN & LEISER
NEW FALL DRESSES
Choose from our large assortment at $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00 each.
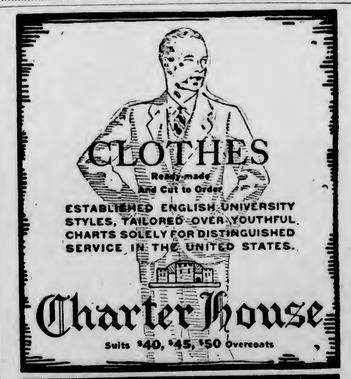
Cravenetted Trench Raincoats
at $5.75 each
LEATHERETTE RAINCOATS
all colors at $5.00 each



CLOTHES
Ready-made And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

The Bucknellian

VOLUME 32 PART 2 Editor, Robert L. Lyon LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 18, 1928 Business Manager, John N. Feaster NUMBER

(Left) New Princeton Chapel Now in Use. This beautiful new chapel at Princeton is the second largest college chapel in the world. It seats 1,600 students and cost more than $2,000,000. (Wide World)

(Right) And It Went Right Away from There! Johnny Hoben, Yale, 1929 is shown in this photograph, getting a little drop-kicking practice with Paul Switz holding the ball. Hoben was a fine quarterback on the Yale team of 1927. He is a triple threat man of the first order. (Yale Pictorial)

(Left) No Cage for this Smith Zoology Class! Here you see Professor Howard M. Parshley and eight of his students meeting in a "natural classroom" on the campus. (Underwood and Underwood)

(Left) After Warbling in Foreign Climes—The Glee Club of Pennsylvania State College has just completed a six-weeks' concert tour of the principal cities of Europe. Before leaving, the club won the honors in the Pennsylvania intercollegiate group. (Pacific and Atlantic)

A Modern Greek Chorus. This shows the songbirds in the finals of the intersorority song contest at the University of Southern California. They are the survivors of 300 starters. From left to right—Dorothy Fuller, Janet Dow Hazel Woods, Elizabeth Whitzen, Murine Honey, and Marjorie Snow. We don't know who won, but we bet that Miss Honey had a sweet voice. (Below) (Underwood and Underwood)

(Above) Up High, But Down and Out! Ferris Nicholson and Muls Widman, intramural boxers of the University of Washington, stage a bout on Nisqually Glacier, on the slopes of Mt. Rainier. (Wide World)

(Left) Always a Big Green Threat! A. K. Marsters, Dartmouth, 1930, who is looked upon as the man opponents of the Big Green must stop. Marsters is a halfback whose brilliant passing and wraithlike running in the open field secured him All-American recognition during the 1927 season. (Dartmouth)

(Right) Why Do They Call Him "Butch?" There are a number of good reasons, as the opponents of the University of Illinois eleven can well testify! Illinois won the Conference championship last season, and immediately elected "Butch" Nowack as captain of the 1928 team. "Butch" has a football under his left arm. (Underwood and Underwood)

Crashing Fullback Will Lead Michigan. This photograph shows George Rich, Wolverine captain, who weighs 190 pounds and hails from Lakewood, Ohio. He has had two years of experience in the varsity squad.

(Underwood and Underwood)

On the Shores of Lake Mendota. An aeroplane view of the charming campus of the University of Wisconsin at Madison. This great institution lies in a wonderland of natural beauty.

(Aerial Photographic Service)

W W W, A Winning Wonder from Alabama—Coach William Wallace Wade has made an enviable record with his football teams at the University of Alabama. His team lost only one game during his first year, and then won the Southern Conference championship for the next three seasons. Great expectations await his 1928 team. (Orville Rush)

English Students Take to the Air. The Oxford University air squadron snapped in maneuvers at The Manston Airdrome, the men flying these planes are undergoing their final training before being commissioned as pilots.

(Underwood and Underwood)

In Conference on the Midway. Coach Alonzo Stagg and his board of strategy are shown in this picture with the 1928 University of Chicago varsity squad.

(Wide World)

Rising Sons from the Orient. Among the students at Colgate University are these two Chinese. They are Henry and William Yuam, sons of the first president of the Chinese Republic. They spent their summer vacation in China.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Ruth Margaret Cooper was chosen by Bucknell as their 1928 May Queen.

(Bucknell News Service)

New Head of U. S. Naval Academy. Rear Admiral Samuel S. Robinson assuming his new duties as the superintendent of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, succeeding Rear Admiral Louis Nulton.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

© C.P. Inc. 1928

As told to

PRINCESS PAT

by

10,000 Men

"Women Use Too Much Rouge"

THE MEN, poor dears, are not quite correct. They judge by appearances solely. What they really protest is the "painted look"—and "too much rouge" is not really a question of quantity. It is a matter of kind; for even the tiniest bit of usual rouge does look unreal.

Women have startling proof of difference in rouges once they try Princess Pat. Have you sometimes watched fleecy clouds at sunset shade from deepest rose to faintest pink, every tone pure and luminous? So it is with Princess Pat rouge. Every tone is pure and luminous, seeming to lie beneath the skin and not upon it. You obtain more, or less, color by using freely or sparingly. But there is never a question of too much, never the unlovely "painted look" to which men object.

Purity, delicacy, the most costly color tints, and a secret formula combine to make Princess Pat the most natural rouge in the world. And whether blonde or brunette, you can use any and all of the six Princess Pat shades with perfect effect—instead of being limited to one as with usual rouges.

Velvet Your Skin with Princess Pat Almond Base Face Powder

Velvet is just the word; for the soft, soothing Almond Base imparts to Princess Pat an entirely new "feel," makes its application a veritable caress. Most powders contain starch as a base—hence their drying effect. The Almond in Princess Pat definitely helps the skin, assists it to remain pliant and fine of texture. And there has never been a powder to go on so smoothly, or cling so long—never because only in Princess Pat do you find the soft, naturally adherent Almond Base—instead of starch.

Princess Pat Almond Base face powder now comes in two weights. Medium weight in the familiar oblong box—lighter weight in the new round box. It has been possible because of the Almond Base to make the lighter weight powder just as clinging as the medium.

Wonderful New Color for Lips

Just what you've wanted—lip rouge that colors the visible part of the lips and that also adheres to and colors the inside, moist surface. Thus, parted lips show beautiful color all the way back—no unlovely "rim" of color as with usual lipsticks.

Try the Seven Famous Aids-to-Beauty in Princess Pat Week End Set

This is really an "acquaintance" set—enough of each preparation for a thorough trial—enough for two weeks. And the beauty book sent with set contains information on skin care of real value—besides artful secrets of make-up which vastly enhance results from rouge, powder and lip rouge. You will be delighted with the set.

Get This Week End Set —SPECIAL

The very popular Princess Pat Week-End Set is offered for a limited time for THIS COUPON and 25c [cent]. Only one to a customer. Bustles Rouge, yet contains easily a month's supply of Almond Base Powder and SIX other Princess Pat preparations. Packed in a beautifully decorated boudoir box. Please act promptly.

PRINCESS PAT LTD., 2709 S. Wells St. Dep. 42-A Chicago

Enclosed find 25c for which send me the Princess Pat Week-End Set.

Name (print).....

Street.....

City and State.....

PRINCESS PAT

PRINCESS PAT LTD. CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

And Now They Wear 'Em One-Piece! Charles Pieculewicz, varsity fullback of the Fordham University football team, wearing the new one-piece football uniform and carrying the old-style suit. The jersey and the pants are not detachable and give an overall effect. The new type suit is lighter to wear than the old uniform; and greater speed is therefore anticipated among the backs.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Richard P. Guest, Captain of the LaFayette Football Team. To his familiars Mr. Guest is known as "Tuffy"—thus passing the well known nickname test of popularity.

(James W. Bertolet)

Ride 'Em, Georgia, Ride 'Em! Members of the crack cavalry troop show the camera that they know how to ride. This is the only mounted college unit in the Southern States, with the exception of the one at Virginia Military Institute.

(Underwood and Underwood)

(Above)

A Pleasing Vista at Northwestern—This charming photograph shows some of the sorority houses on the women's quadrangle at Evanston, Illinois. The University cooperates with the sororities in the building of these houses. This view shows the blending of the old with the new which makes present-day American college architecture so attractive.

(Underwood and Underwood)

(Right)

Shot from the Rear! M. A. Obremski made this informal snapshot during the Syracuse Regatta.

Dr. David Kinley, President of the University of Illinois—begins his thirty-fifth year as a member of the university's faculty. He has been president of the institution since 1920. Dr. Kinley was born in Dundee, Scotland, August 7, 1861, coming to the United States in 1873 with his father. He received his degree from Yale after graduating from Phillips Academy at Andover, Mass. In 1892 he received his from Johns Hopkins University and received his degree of Doctor of Philosophy from the University of Wisconsin in 1895. (Underwood and Underwood)

Not In The Movies—Yet. According to rumors and press agents, Harold Hauser, captain of the University of Kansas football team, has been approached by the movie judges of masculine pulchritude. He may be "Harold" when he goes into the movies, but he's "Dutch" on the gridiron. Incidentally, he is a Phi Kappa Psi brother of "Buddy" Rogers, the Paramount

(Underwood and Underwood)

"Gentleman and Scholar"—In Reverse English. Miss Muriel Baker, brilliant British girl of 17, won the Lubbock Memorial Prize, one of the highest scholarship awards in England.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Sigma Kappa Girls Enjoy Adamless Eden at Old Point Comfort. Our photographer was at a loss to explain the strange scene at the Chamberlin Vanderbilt. Beautiful girls everywhere and not a man in sight!

(Underwood and Underwood)

THE MENTHOL HEALS.....THE HOREHOUND SOOTHES

Look for the famous fat man on the Red Box

Throat Tickle—Stop it at once with a Bunte Cough Drop. Refreshes and soothes the tender tissues of the throat.

BUNTE BROTHERS · Chicago
Est. 1876
Makers of World Famous Candies

Bunte
WORLD FAMOUS
MENTHOL-HOREHOUND
COUGH DROPS
EASING AND PLEASING
5¢

Irene Rich uses—

Irene Rich

"MAYBELLINE"—as though by magic, would make a wonderful difference in your attractiveness. Try it and see. Instantly your lashes will appear naturally long, dark and luxuriant. And you can well believe the expressive deep shadows, pools of enchanting loveliness. Nothing else gives quite the same effect as MAYBELLINE because the formula of this wonderful beauty aid is purer.

Moreover, MAYBELLINE is perfectly harmless, having been used for many years by millions of beautiful women in all parts of the world. Obtain it in either the solid form or the waterproof liquid. Black or Brown—75c at all toilet goods counters.

MAYBELLINE CO
CHICAGO

Maybelline
Eyelash Beautifier

Students in Norway—throw away their emblematic caps and canes when they graduate from high school into the university.

(Underwood and Underwood)

A Straight, Hard Line. Here are the first-string forwards of the Carnegie Institute of Technology football team. From left to right: Dreshar, guard; Booth, guard; Heimbold, guard; Mielziner, center; Schmidt, tackle; Schnupp, tackle; Highberger, tackle; Netherland, guard; Verina, guard or center; Lovewell, guard. Their average weight is more than 200 pounds and all but three are six footers.

(James H. Seibert)

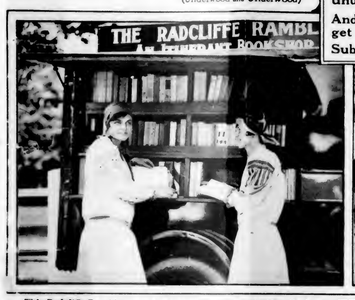
FOCUS YOUR LENS

To serve our readers with the latest and best photographs of college activities, we welcome help from every student, and of course are willing to pay for this assistance.

We want photographs hot from the campus. We want unconventional and unusual pictures—the kind that can come only from students.

And we'll pay for every photograph used. Blow the dust off your camera and get busy.

Submit photographs to the Editor.



This Radcliffe Rambler—wends its way along the beautiful New England roads and furnishes an outing as well as profit for its enterprising entrepreneurs —Miss Margaret Follom, Brookline, Massachusetts, (left) and Miss Barbara Strong, Cambridge, Massachusetts. A goodly supply of the newest and best books are carried on a specially built motor truck.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Choose Your Shoes. All ready for the annual shoe rush at the University of Cincinnati. The shoes belong to the freshmen. The paddles belong to the upper classmen. The paddles may be used ad libitum until each freshman finds and puts on his own shoes. Woe befalls the luckless "frosh" who fails to find and don his shoes with alacrity.

(Edwin K. Levi)

'Twas a Dark and Stormy Night! Here's a gloomy view of the "Deep Dark Mystery Club" of the University of Oklahoma at Norman. The bareback rider in the center is probably not enjoying himself at this instant—but, on the other hand, he may be having the time of his young life—it's hard to tell about such things.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Alligator Aviation model with all-wool lining, swagger for the street—silent for motoring. $20.00.

Same model in service cloth, unlined, $10.00.

The Smartest Coat of the Season

THE NEW ALLIGATOR AVIATION MODEL

THE new Alligator Aviation model breezes into the Fall season with all the freshness of a crisp autumn day. Alligator has gone far beyond prevailing standards of swagger appearance, fine tailoring and distinctive design. The famous Alligator line includes a wide range of models, attractively tailored from Alligator Balloon Cloth, Alligator Silk and Alligator Slicker fabrics. The exclusive Alligator process makes all models absolutely waterproof under the most drenching rain. Alligators are sold at the best stores and all genuine Alligators bear the Alligator label.

THE ALLIGATOR COMPANY, St. Louis

ALLIGATOR

TRADE-MARK REG U S PAT OFF

LIGHT AS A FEATHER FOR ALL KINDS OF WEATHER

MANZ ROTO GRAVURE

LET'S SHOW THE BULLETS THEY CAN'T PIERCE THE BISONS

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOTE IN BUCKNELLIAN STRAW VOTE

VOLUME XXXII | LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1928. | PART NO. ONE | NUMBER 7

DAUNTLESS BISONS TRAIN FOR CLASH WITH GETTYSBURG

Bream's Bullets Dangerous Foes Though Beaten by State and Villanova This Season

ELLOR'S HIP INJURY MAY KEEP HIM OUT OF GAME

Highly elated over the defensive work of his team in the Lafayette game, Coach Snavely is now pointing his Bucknell football eleven for Saturday's game with Gettysburg. The battlefield warriors, under the tutelage of Coach Bream, boast of a powerful army of fast and elusive backs which should provide the Bucknell team with plenty of worry.

Although Gettysburg has lost to Penn State and Villanova, Bream's

"TED" MITCHELL

Bucknell centre who has been mentioned as a possible all-American choice.

Bullets are a dangerous foe for any college eleven hereabouts. Reports from State College indicate that the Gettysburg-State game was much closer than the score indicated. The visitors outscored Penn State in the number of first downs registered. Spangler and McMillan, crack Gettysburg backs, tore off plenty of yardage against the Nittany Lions.

When Bucknell lines up against Gettysburg on Saturday they may be without the services of their sterling guard, Bert Ellor. Ellor sustained a serious hip injury during the early part of the torrid Lafayette contest and was forced to leave the game. At first it was thought that Ellor would be able to return to his position on the line in the second half but immediate medical attention disclosed the fact that Snavely's

(Continued on page 5)

"Betts" Walker, '24, Talks to Baptist C.E.

The Baptist C. E. was especially honored last Sunday evening in having as speakers for the regular service, "Betts" Walker, '24, a Bucknell graduate and also Mr. Ingalls, a graduate from Oberlin. The group of listeners, numbering 75, was indeed greatly interested in what these two friends had to say. "Betts" told of the value which she had come to attach to the C. E. as she had found it in her college days. "It was not until I had left this friendly circle that I really realized how much I had depended on the C. E. for inspiration for each days work. It is and that we only treasure some things when those things have been removed from us," says "Betts," of her gratitude to C. E. for which she so faithfully labored while a Bucknell student.

Mr. Ingalls, a secretary for the Y. M. C. A.who has been traveling in foreign lands for some time, gave a talk in which he stressed the need for world-wide friendship among the youth. His message touched many of our hearts when we realized that there are other young people who are longing for a helping friend.

A short but important meeting of the German Club will be held in Bucknell Hall, Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

All members of the club last year are urged to be present. Officers will be elected for the year and the program discussed.

Two important announcements in regard to pending events will be made.

THE THUNDERING HERD

B. U. DEBATE TEAM WILL MATCH WITS WITH OXFORD TRIO

Question Will Center About Advisability of Entry of U. S. Into League

The annoucement that Oxford University and Bucknell will clash in an international debate on the evening of Monday, November 19, will be good news to all lovers of debating. The visit of the English debaters to Lewisburg in the fall of 1926 will be pleasantly remembered by all those who were fortunate to be present on that notable occasion. The logic, the wit, and the earnestness of the Oxford representatives charmed and impressed the audience that packed Commencement Hall to capacity.

Last year, Bucknellians were rather disappointed by the performance of the British Union team, composed of the representatives of three English universities. They did not come up to the level of the Oxford debaters of the previous year. However, Oxford is Oxford when it comes to debating. Other teams suffer by comparison. Bucknell is very fortunate in securing a date on the itinerary of the 1928 Oxford team, for it is by all odds the most distinguished forensic aggregation that has represented the ancient English seat of learning since the fashion of international debating was introduced by Bates College.

Each of the three members of this Oxford team has served as President of the Oxford Debating Union, the most famous organization of its kind in the world. Mr. Dingle M. Foot, of Balliol College, Oxford, is the prospective Liberal candidate for the Tiverton division of Devonshire. Deeply interested in politics, he has the reputation of being a fluent speaker and a sound logician. Debating seems to run in his family, for his brother is a prominent Cambridge debater. Mr. G. S. Malcolm

(Continued on page 5)

Chaplain Shrum Is Speaker in Chapel

Chaplain R. D. Shrum, '06, of the presidential yacht, "Mayflower," was the speaker in upper-class chapel Tuesday morning, October 23.

In his delightfully humorous manner, Chaplain Shrum entertained the students with intimate glimpses of prominent Americans in Washington. "President Coolidge," the speaker said, "was the first of our national executives to hold chapel services on the Mayflower during week-end trips."

Personality, faith, and a passion of service were the keynotes of Chaplain Shrum's talk. "Have that passion for service, and that type of loyalty that Commander Byrd had for Floyd Bennett."

LOPER ATTENDS RETREAT HELD AT BLOOMSBURG

President Frank B. Loper represented the Bucknell "Y" at a retreat held at Bloomsburg, Sunday, October 21. "Pete" Ingals, traveling field secretary for the Middle Atlantic Field Council of the Y. M. C. A. was the chief speaker.

Fellow students:

The Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating League will hold its annual meeting on Saturday, October 27, at 10 a. m. in the Observatory Building. This League was originated by T. Burns Drum, '26, and has since been sponsored by Bucknell. There are at present 12 high schools in the organization.

As president of the League, and on behalf of the University, may I ask you to extend every courtesy to those representatives with whom you may come into contact?

Alfred Rawlinson.

B. U.'s Showing Good In Carnegie Exams

The highest score obtained by any Bucknell senior in the Carnegie Foundation tests last spring was 919. Five seniors had scores between 800 and 900. Of the six students who rated so high, only one was recommended by the faculty as having a chance to make a good showing.

The college obtaining the highest score was Haverford. The average student score at the Quaker institution was 800.

A Temple student succeeded in making the highest personal score. Strange as it may seem, his faculty did not concede him even a chance for distinction. From what the Foun-

(Continued from page 5)

Frosh Girls Rules Amuse Student Body

Freshmen rules for girls, which met the approval of both Dean Amelia Clark and the members of the sophomore class, and drawn up by a committee, appointed by Esther Hipple, president of the women of '31, went into effect Monday morning, October 22.

The aim of the sophomores is to avoid any personal humiliation for the freshmen girls and, in carrying out an old tradition of Bucknell, to provide amusement for everyone.

Members of the committee have expressed an earnest desire to avoid any individual persecutions, and to maintain a friendly spirit between the two classes. The rules will be on till Saturday at 12:00 m.

The rules are:

1. Wear a baby cap, with green ribbon under chin, hair under, and ears out.
2. Black cotton stockings.
3. Carry books in paper shopping bag with name of city printed on outside.
4. No cosmetics.
5. No jewelry except watch.
6. Carry umbrella up on campus.
7. Walk single file while on campus.
8. Wear black "gym" bloomers under dress.
9. Attend all meals.
10. Report to "play room" Monday and Thursday at 7 p. m.
11. Speak to everyone, and hold doors for upper-classmen.
12. Learn all freshman rules in handbook, and all verses of the Alma Mater.
13. Freshmen may date during afternoon, with rules on.
14. No cutting campus.

BUCKNELL HOLDS ITS THIRD ANNUAL EDUCATION MEET

Pa. Educators Discuss Problems Concerning Best Methods Used in Schools Today

Bucknell University's third annual Education Conference, opening with a general session on Friday afternoon, October 19, at two o'clock in Bucknell Hall, was presided over by President Emory W. Hunt.

Dr. Hunt started the conference with a greeting to the large audience, composed mainly of prominent educators, teachers, and students of the University.

The first speaker introduced to the assembly was Dr. Charles C. Fries, professor of English at Michigan University, who spoke convincingly and sincerely upon his subject "Conflicting Educational Pressures." Dr. Fries in his address stressed the idea of the intellectual upheaval in America. Now the problem for the teacher is not only to be a specialist in his profession, but he must have administration qualities as well.

The study of educational processes themselves is being developed rapidly, due to the use of scientific procedure. Education credits science with the contribution of great note and in using its method education gains self respect. According to Dr. Fries, education is making rapid strides, but it cannot overlook or remain unresponsive to the tumultous changes in every walk of life.

Following this address of Dr. Fries came a very powerful one on "The College Teacher," by Dr. David A. Robertson. Dr. Robertson is assistant director of the American Council on Education.

Dr. Robertson stated that there has not been the increase in teachers proportional to the increase in students, and naturally the selection of college teachers cannot then be so well made.

(Continued on page 5)

Bower House Home For Women Teachers

The faculty house will be formally opened tonight at a reception to which 175 guests have been invited, including faculty members, their wives, and members of the Campus Club. Mrs. Emory W. Hunt, Dean Amelia Clark, Miss Lulu Coe, Miss Grace Jenkins, and Miss Charlotta Armstrong will receive the guests in front of the fire-place in the living room.

Miss Lulu Coe is chairman of the house-warming committee. Autumnal flowers of chrysanthemums, dahlias, and calendulas will decorate the reception hall and living room. Miss Alma Ebeling and Miss Stainton are in charge of the decorations, while Miss Armstrong has arranged for continuous music throughout the evening.

Two smaller living rooms in the rear of the house will be used for serving the guests. Mrs. Manning and Miss Olive Douglas have planned the refreshments which will be served at tables decorated with yellow roses and ivory tapers.

This is a land of promise, especially around election time.

FIGHTING LAFAYETTE LEOPARDS FAIL IN ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT B. U. BISONS AS THRILLER ENDS WITHOUT A SCORE

SNAVELY'S FORWARD WALL HOLDS, TURNS BACK MAROON ELEVEN AS THEY THREATEN GOAL AT FOUR CRUCIAL POINTS OF GAME

Famed Aerial Attack and Place Kicks Net No Count Although Easton Team Piles Up 17 First Downs To Bucknell's 5; Both Elevens Remain Undefeated Thus Far

Before a Home-coming crowd estimated at 15,000, the Bucknell Bisons and the Lafayette Leopards clawed, fought, ripped, and slashed each other, but at the end of the game both elevens retired from the field with their goal lines untouched.

CAPTAIN "EDDIE" HALICKI

Who played through the game with a broken nose and whose outstanding play did much to stop the Leopards.

The Lafayette team, determined to win another victory, was halted in its tracks by a valiant Bucknell eleven that was equally determined to prevent a Lafayette score. Lafayette registered 17 first downs to the five accumulated by the Bisons; but whenever the visitors were within striking distance of the Bucknell goal line, the Thundering Herd summoned up enough reserve strength to hold the battering Maroon backs at bay, and make their most desperate efforts fruitless.

The Lafayette team tried all its tricks to cross the Bison line, but every one failed. The hard plunging Maroon backs hit the line, circled the ends, and threw forward passes, but all their attempts were unavailing. The picture of the last quarter was like the one at Penn State more than a week ago. Again the Bison line was put to the test, and again it held like Trojans.

Bucknell Line Holds

It was no wonder that near the close of the game the entire Lafayette team seemed disgusted and downhearted. Within striking distance of the Bucknell goal line four times, the highly-touted Maroon backs failed in each attempt to penetrate the Bison line.

"So near and yet so far," vividly describes the situation in the second half of the game on Saturday, when Lafayette, the highest-scoring grid machine in the country, with 162 points to its credit in three games, was held back successfully by the lighter but desperately-determined Bucknell team.

The Easton gridder's flashy aerial attack, that had already surprised and beaten three worthy foemen, was displayed Saturday before 15,00 yelling rooters. Bucknell was equal to the situation. Lafayette, finding her aerial attack frustrated, was finally forced to resort to line plunging. This was the only form of play in which she could gain. Her huge backs plowed through the line repeatedly.

"Toffy" Guest, captain and fullback of the Lafayette eleven, was the chief source of worry for the Bucknell line for he gained almost every time he carried the ball. The Maroon's sturdy leader was a veritable battering ram. Guest, who is a stockily-built lad weighing 185 pounds, used his weight to good advantage, hitting the line hard and low. With surprising speed, he reeled off substantial

(Continued on Page 8)

Cap and Dagger Plays To Be Given Friday

The stage is set, the actors are ready to perform, and the curtains will be drawn on the presentations of "Sham" and "The Valiant," to be given by Cap and Dagger at 8:00, Friday, October 26, in Bucknell Hall.

"Sham" being of a free and easy style will afford the audience many hearty laughs. The play centers about a young, polite, and very modern thief who finds nothing of value in a certain house, so he waits until the occupants return. With their return the fun begins, for at this point of the play much snappy repartee fills the air. From start to finish "Sham" will evoke many a smile and hearty laugh from the audience.

A direct contrast in "The Valiant" should tend to please even the most fastidious audience, for it is a strict drama type play, based upon a true story. It has to its credit approximately 75 first prizes, won at various dramatic contests throughout the country. The story is about a young prisoner who is a mystery to the prison officials, and in fact, to the entire world. He openly and freely confesses that he deliberately killed a man, and realizes that the price he must pay is his own life. He never gives his real name, but the audience finally gets in on the ground floor, so far as the mystery is concerned, and is the only party who really understands the whole thing. When the final curtain is drawn, the people who have witnessed the presentations will no doubt leave the hall feeling that they have spent an evening very well.

Between the two plays George Ferrell and his entertainers will delight the audience by presenting several well-selected musical numbers.

Here's Your Chance—Vote For President

A Bucknell straw vote on the three leading presidential candidates is being sponsored this week by the Bucknellian, as the result of numerous suggestions that such a poll be taken among the students. The ballot, which is found on page eight of this issue, is for the use of all students and faculty members at Bucknell. Ballots should be clipped from the paper, marked, and deposited in the "Tips-for-the-Belle Hop" box in the College Inn. The Belle Hop staff has very courteously permitted the Bucknellian the use of this box.

The polls will be closed at six o'clock next Monday evening. Ballots must be deposited by that time in order to be counted. This vote is being taken in order to make what should prove an interesting estimate of opinion at Bucknell. The spaces on the ballot for the filling in of class and fraternity are for the purpose of better tabulating results. Voters who are members of the faculty are asked to indicate that fact in the space left for "class."

The results of this poll will be announced in next week's issue of the Bucknellian.

DR. HUNT TO PREACH

President Emory W. Hunt will speak on "Our Loyalties" at the Student Fellowship service at the Baptist church on Sunday morning, October 28. Members of the class of '32 and other new students will be welcomed at this special service.

Each year the Lewisburg Baptist church holds a service of welcome for the students from other Baptist churches, as well as for those who have designated that church as their preference.

Now for Thanksgiving recess, thirty-four days away.

* * * *

Only fifty-eight more days in which to do your Christmas shopping.

* * * *

"Scotty" MacLeod is such a good sports writer because it's a gift!!!

* * * *

Annette Rossiter, '32, had as her guests over the week-end her parents and sister.

* * * *

"Joe" Clark carries two watches now-a-days: One is a stop watch and the other doesn't run.

* * * *

Bram Courson, of the class of '27, has been visiting old friends around the campus recently.

* * * *

One co-ed was heard asking another: "Say, who wrote Spenser's 'Faerie Queen,' anway?"

* * * *

Miss Grace Riddle, of Wilson College, visited "Kitty" Ruf, '31, over the home-coming week-end.

* * * *

If one is able to gain amusement from his own follies, he should be able to work up a smile almost any time.

* * * *

"Eddie" Halicki looked like a knight of old in the "helmet" that he wore while playing in the Penn State game.

* * * *

Professor F. H. Lund again "gave his class the air" when he escorted half of them to the stadium for an experiment.

* * * *

"Left Bucket" Locke presented a good appearance at State College, as he dashed to and fro with sponges, adhesive tape, and water.

* * * *

After seeing the large number of stragglers to eight o'clock classes lately, we would say that some alarm clocks are made to sell.

* * * *

Anyone desiring to have automobile tires changed free of charge, call on "Scotty" MacLeod, who has had quite a bit of experience of late.

* * * *

One wise Bucknell man was heard saying: "Stay away from these 'clinging vines' because they usually turn out to be poison ivy!"

* * * *

The mass meeting in preparation for the Lafayette game was a real one, the first of the year that came up to actual Bucknell spirit.

* * * *

Now that the ban on automobiles is clamped down tight, certain upperclassmen want to know where bicycles can be rented or purchased.

* * * *

Judging from the old slogan, "Dogs make friends with intelligent people," we'd say the 2 o'clock journalism class is an intelligent group.

* * * *

There was somewhat of a traffic jam in the loop district on the Hill during the past week-end. It is remarkable that there were no mishaps.

* * * *

Miss Amelia Lockard, from the Pennsylvania College for Women, Pittsburgh, spent the week-end as a guest of President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt.

* * * *

"Marty" Hogan was trying to think of something to buy for his sister's birthday. Someone suggested that he buy her a book, but Marty said that she had a book.

* * * *

Prof. C. R. Johnson advises each boy on the campus who thinks he can sing to marry and let his wife tell him if he can. She will tell him the whole truth, he says.

* * * *

The two "Shorty" Parmleys were here for Home-coming. Florence actually left Wellesley for two days and a half, and Mark came back to "do" Lewisburg again.

* * * *

Bucknell's cheering section sounded very well from Lafayette's side on Saturday. We have an efficient corps of cheer leaders, who deserve more praise than they receive.

* * * *

Although Henry Rupp and "Hon" Sheppard, both of '29, are not ex-service men, they know lots about barbed wire. They helped free a Dodge sedan sontaining three demure misses from the entanglements of a farmer's back-yard fence while on their way from practice teaching in Milton.

Eleanor McLeavy, '32, was recently called to her home in Punxsutawney, on account of the critical illness of her mother.

* * * *

The freshmen who carried the wood for the bonfire took particular precautions against getting any old wagons that might be claimed as being worth fifty or sixty dollars.

* * * *

The freshman girls seem to enjoy the distinction that their peculiar combinations of dress give them. At least this is one case when they are helplessly yet thrillingly conspicuous.

* * * *

Old man Quinsy and "Hunty Baby" MacNally seem to be the best of friends, but "Hunty" says that the friendship will break up at Thanksgiving for the tonsils are coming out then.

* * * *

The girls and their guests who ate in the "Sem" dining room last Sunday were served a delicious dinner of "chicken and all the fixin's," with ice cream for dessert. It reminded us of home.

* * * *

Attention, co-eds! In the class of '32 there is a member of the male sex who is "God's gift to the Women." Be on the look out for him—you can't miss him. He is carefully marked.

* * * *

The girls freshman rules are upon us. They are rather bad this year but the girls of the upper three classes contend that they are merely amusing compared with their own awful rules.

* * * *

One of Bucknell's biggest alumni drove all the way from New Hampshire to see the Bisons in action. "Cap" Seargant, 240-pound all-American radio announcer and chess player, is the man.

* * * *

"Johnny" Bower, '30, a "pre-med" student, had an opportunity to demonstrate his medical skill at the Bucknell-State "frosh" game, when an elderly man seated beside him fainted.

* * * *

The "Kappa Sigs" don't understand how fire got started in their house recently. Some of the members say they have been trying to get a fire started for the last few years.

* * * *

Prof. W. H. Coleman says that the world's worst lie was told in a middle English drama when one of the characters said, "I never saw or knew in all my life any one woman out of patience."

* * * *

Just when the journalism class was studying fires, they had two real ones to write about in the victory bonfire, and the Kappa Sigma fire. Now, what's going to happen when they study murders?

* * * *

The girls of Bucknell seem to know the "fitness of things." When the players came down the hill to the bonfire, the co-eds were the only ones who knew enough to sing, "Come Bucknell Warriors."

* * * *

Adelaide Clark, '31, was amazed to find, upon reading the Scranton Republican, that her father's residence in Carbondale had been ransacked and most of the family's personal belongings stolen.

* * * *

Upper-class chapel had a treat last Thursday when President Hunt had us sing a Bucknell song. The students took part so lustily that there can be no doubt that this would be a popular chapel custom.

* * * *

"Hank" Hangartner, popular line coach, surely is instilling a new kind of enthusiasm into Bucknellians. Can't we keep "Hank" here, on some pretext or other, for the whole year rather than just a few months?

* * * *

"Johnnie" Stabile, '31, and Frank Storaci, '29, may be seen daily, running the "four miles," in preparation for the boxing season. Frank says there is nothing like road work at 5 a. m. to bring back the wind.

* * * *

In order that the "Sem" postoffice may serve the "Semites" as efficiently as possible, Dean Amelia E. Clark has appointed Anne Binley, '32, to help with the work. There are now four girls taking care of the mail duties: Helen Bell, '30, Blanche Thomas,'30, Dorothy Davies, '30, and Anne Binley, '32.

"Bob" Lewis, '32, suffered three badly cut fingers and a trip to the doctor as the result of trying to wrest a knife from his roommate's hand as the two were preparing a bedtime repast late one night last week.

* * * *

By the time Bucknell students have finished filling out the surveys of student opinion on honesty that are being handed out in so many classes, everyone ought to have a fairly good idea of what honesty is or is not.

* * * *

Readers of the Sunday Philadelphia Ledger of October 14, were pleased to find that the Bucknell-Penn State game was given a long write-up on the front page of the sport section. "Eddie" Halicki's name was featured in the headlines.

* * * *

Many who were at the victory bonfire noticed that the reflection on the Tustin gym windows made it look as though the interior of the gym was in flames. Coincidentally, during the night the Kappa Sigma fraternity house caught fire.

* * * *

Dorothy Davies, '30, took advantage of the State game holiday and two cuts on Monday morning to go home for the week-end. An added attraction for her to go home was a family party which her mother held on Saturday evening.

* * * *

Upon their return to college this fall, the "Semites" were delighted to find the milk served in half-pint bottles instead of being dipped out of a pail. Now they observe that the caps on the bottles are marked "Grade A" and "Tuberculin tested."

* * * *

Tests seem to be rather popular with the professors just at present. Not so, however, with the students. One co-ed, with three tests on the same day, complained that she might as well give up the ghost, for she simply hadn't time to study for them all.

* * * *

Because his botany lab. equipment had not come and there was nothing for the students to do, Professor William H. Eyster gave his botany class a cut recently. Evidently the class has even run out of places to visit on its jaunts. Here's hoping the equipment soon arrives!

* * * *

In the October 16 issue of the Temple University News there was an announcement to the effect that the Lock and Key Society would hold a party on the roof garden of a hotel in Lewisburg. We are offering a reward for anyone who finds the roof garden.

* * * *

During the Freshman-Bellefonte game, many of the spectators were wearing yellow chrysanthemums. It so happened that the Bellefonte team had yellow head guards. One of our fair co-eds, noticing the Bellefonte team in a huddle, asked her husky escort where all the chrysanthemums came from!

* * * *

And here's another about a different fresh woman. This freshman asked Mr. Wolfe for a book called "Two Romans." Such a book was not in the store nor did it appear on any book list. It later came out that some senior "Semite" had sent the poor frosh for a copy of "True Romances."

* * * *

Have you heard the story of the freshman co-ed who entered the University Book Store and asked for "holes for notebooks?" After the perplexed clerk had done a little questioning she found that what the girl came after was a box of gummed reinforcements for looseleaf notebooks.

* * * *

An amusing incident happened in Professor F. G. Ballentine's Latin class the other day. "Bill" Emmitt, being next in line to recite and hearing Professor Ballentine call a name, said, "I'm sorry, professor, but I'm not prepared today." Then he wondered what the class was laughing at. He soon discovered that it was not he that had been called upon after all, but another member of the class.

* * * *

It is rather unfortunate that Detroit is so much farther away from school than Shamokin. Yet if it were not so John Maloy, '31, would not have been forced to break a habit that he established last year—that of calling up home every night in order to keep in touch with family affairs. During the summer his parents moved to the automobile city. Since he had not lived there long enough to be entered as a resident student of University of Michigan, and since the quota for non-resident students had been filled, John was forced to leave home and come back to Bucknell.

West College had a hard week-end after the State game. Property damage will not exceed $500, however.

* * * *

Two sons of '32, "Charlie" Mills and "Jesse" James, paid a visit to Johnstown after the State game with the latter's parents.

* * * *

"Jiggs," Sigma Chi mascot, has been cutting classes lately, due to injuries received when he tried one of Halicki's line bucks into a Ford. He is not in the infirmary now, but if his condition doesn't improve, it will probably be necessary for him to take advantage of his infirmary fee. More power to you next time, Jiggs!

* * * *

Three inches may not be much in some cases but when it comes to within that far of the goal, the distance is of no little consequence. Many more thrilling moments like the last ones of the State game, will result fatally for some of the co-eds. Many of them long looked "fagged" —in fact there is more than one case of "heart" trouble resulting from the visit to State.

* * * *

Members of Prof. Elsbree's history 207 class were observed in the library last week preparing what looked to the casual observer like the long manuscript rolls that writers used in the "pre-printing press" age. Later information proved that they were only tables containing the parallel chronology of events that took place in the liberation of South American countries.

* * * *

"Mac" McElligot, sports writer of the Bucknellian, rubbed elbows with the "big shots" of the sports-writing world last Saturday at the Bucknell-Lafayette game. "Mac" sat between "Stan" Baumgartner, of the Philadelphia Inquirer, and "Bill" Brandt of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. The Nutley boy supplied these noteworthy Philadelphia correspondents with the needed information about the Bison team.

* * * *

Professor C. M. Bond is passing out copies of an extensive questionnaire to the students of his classes in the hope of determining more definitely the average honesty of college students. The questionnaire consists of presentations of actual situations in which attitudes and actions of students involved are possibly questionable. Professor Bond trusts the honesty of his students in helping to estimate the honesty of college students in general.

* * * *

Those of us who did not journey to Lakehurst to see the Graf Zeppelin got almost as much thrill, and certainly less trouble and disappointment, by listening to the radio reports from the naval station, where the arrival of the Graf Zeppelin was awaited in vain for some time. The radio announcer gave interesting descriptions of what went on, and even got us excited over the appearance of what he thought was the zeppelin looming on the horizon, but which turned out to be merely a cloud.

* * * *

Elmer Phudd, '31, sez this chaingin of wether is dangerus. Sed he was ridin a hoarse thru a pop corn field last weak, and it got so hot the pop corn popped out, an the hoarse thot it was snow, an froze t' death. Then oney just last nite he sez he went to throw a glas of water on a frechman from his forth storie winder of East Collitch, an the water froze on the way down an it hit him on the steps. Gues the poor guy ain't feelin so wel down thar at the confirmary. Moral —Wach yer step, ennything mite hapin.

* * * *

"Mac" McElligot has won a campus-wide reputation for his efficiency in history and for his ability to remember extraordinary dates. The other day in public speaking class, Professor J. P. Whyte asked. McElligot, "What's the difference between the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution?"

"Mac" came out of a reverie and nonchalantly answered, "About thirteen years." Minds were slow to catch the joke for there immeditately ensued a silence and an exchange of questioning glances. After a moment all the voices in the class united in a grand sweep of laughter.

NATIONAL ENGLISH FRAT ELECT NEW OFFICERS

A meeting of the national professional English fraternity, Epsilon Beta chapter of Sigma Tau Delta was held at the home of Professor H. W. Robbins, 124 St. George street, on Wednesday evening, October 17. The following officers were elected: President, Alfred Rawlinson, '29; Vice President, Frances Kernohan, '30; Secretary-Treasurer, J. Roy Goodlander, '29; Editor, Jane G. Foust, '29. New members were chosen from the list of those eligible.

WILSON S. RISE, '30, CHAIRMAN JUNIOR PROM

Wilson S. Rise, '30, chairman of the Junior Prom announces that the big event will be held January 4, 1929. The committee follows: "Kitty" Hill, Elizabeth Figner, Margaret McGeary, Emily Maxwell, Beulah Lesher, Evelyn Beckworth, Ruth Wentworth, Katherine Leach, and Mary Bennett, Charles Stambaugh, Lincoln Walter, Donald Kammire, Wilbur Wentz, W. C. Emmitt, Robert Albright, Frank Guidotti, F. C. Moerschbacher, Herman Stoddard, Harry Benford, Gordon Sortor, Robert W. Albertson, John Bower, and G. F. Zimmerman.

MOTHER GOOSE AT BUCKNELL

There are many animals in the zoo,
We've heard of many things they do.
The Leopards like to growl and bite,
It is their nature to.
The Bisons seem so calm and queer.
But when they with the Leopards fight,
The battle's sure a gory sight.

* * * *

Peas porridge hot,
Peas porridge cold,
Peas porridge in the pot
Nine days old.
The "Sem" serves it hot,
The "Sem" serves it cold,
But the girls don't like it
Nine days old.

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Heuburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUCHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you would ord for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

Pennsylvania Authors Discussed In Thesis by Prof. Harry Warfel

Assistant Professor Harry Warfel read an address of great interest to all students of literature, and those from Pennsylvania in particular, before the meeting of librarians at Bucknell University, April 12, 1928. This address has since been printed in Pennsylvania Library Notes, a pamphlet published in Harrisburg by the Department of Public Instruction. Mr. Warfel took up in turn the needs of Pennsylvania literature, its present condition and representatives, and the part our local writers have played in augmenting the list of great books.

Of course Pennsylvania has no unified literature, Professor Warfel said, but it needs a local literature, a literature which embraces all the groups who have settled here. The Pennsylvania Dutchman is no more unique and no more worthy of a story than the Welsh, the Polish, the Italians within our borders. We need a literature which will make clear to us the racial and social differentiations which mark off the other groups.

There is a wealth of subjects in Pensylvania history, ready to be seized upon. Industrially, too, Pennsylvania offers many topics—there is a fertile field awaiting the art of a master.

Coming to the question of the actual condition of literature at the present time in Pennsylvania, Mr. Warfel made an interesting survey. Of our imaginative writers, the greatest and probably the most purely Pennsylvanian is Joseph Hergesheimer, all of whose books must be interpreted in the light of his artistic interests. Hergesheimer is an artist in word decoration—not history, not political domination or business success interests him, but the color and artistic quality a city radiates. Notable as Pennsylvania books among his works are "The Three Black Pennys," "The Presbyterian Child," and "From an Old House."

Discuss Morley

The second Pennsylvania writer, Christopher Morley, reestablished the vogue of the light essay in America, by his volumes dealing with his rambles in and about Philadelphia. Among these books are "Shandygaff," "Pipesball," and "The Haunted Bookshop." Morley's books are "wise and witty comments upon the serious and jolly aspects of life." Morley's widest audience has been gained through his novels. "Where the Blue Begins" and "Thunder on the Left" are two of the most deliente of satires, and no modern book has raised as much question as "Thunder on the Left."

Of the local colorists now writing in this state, Helen Riemensnyder Martin and Elsie Singmaster Lewars are the best representatives. Mrs. Martin is known for "Barnabetta" and "Tilly, a Mennonite Maid," the "Church on the Avenue," and "The Snob." Of these, the latter two "bristle with a passionate hatred of sham, hyposerisy, and wrong." Mrs. Lewars, however, is not so bitter, and presents the Dutch in their more pleasant aspects.

Wister, a Pennsylvanian

Owen Wister, familiar to everyone for his "Virginian," claims Pennsylvania as his birthplace, also. With the possible exception of the short story, "Philosophy 4," the "Virginian" is Wister's only claim to immortality. Here we see acrid social criticism, too, and "prefaces denouncing the evil practices of the hundred billion dollar highway."

A problem novelist who never stresses a thesis is Margaret Widemer, the author of "Pictories," that bitter poetic comment upon child labor. She does not carry social protest in her fiction. Her best work, however, has been done in poetry, and her reputation thus far has been chiefly through her work as a poet." Her fiction is now drawing a wider audience, and three books reveal her excellence as a novelist: "Charis Sees It Through," "Gallant Lady," and "More Than Wife."

One of the finest first novels that has ever come out of Pennsylvania is Edna Bryner's "Andy Brandt's Ark," which has been favorably compared with the works of Butler and Dreiser. It is a remarkable account of a young woman who has risen above her family and who strives to bring the family to her level.

"Margaret Deland is Pennsylvania's anatomist of the soul." "John Ward, Preacher," "The Awakening of Helena Richie," "The Vehement Flame," and "The Kays" illustrate the way in which she uses the "souls of people as laboratories in which to exhibit the universal truths of life."

Mary Rinehart Writes Much

Mary Roberts Rinehart, whose works are too numerous and too familiar to mention, is not only a humorist, not only a mystery writer, "but also an aspirant to honors in serious fiction." In her last novel, "Lost Ecstacy," we see the construction of character as well as plot and conversation and action.

C. E. S. Wood, Oldest of Poet Group

The poets are less local than the novelists. Charles Erskine Scott Wood is the oldest of the group of poets. He has given us two widely varied books of revolutionary protest, "The Poet in the Desert," and "Heavenly Discourse." The latter is interesting because of its rather frank individualism and its ridicule of some of the shams which replace truth."

Our best writer of light verse is T. A. Daly, of Philadelphia. "A conservative, a follower of Riley and Dunbar as a dialect poet, a less popular Edgar Guest, Daly is the best of them all. Where they are grotesque for effect, Daly is painstakingly poetic; where they are over-sentimental to the point of banality, he is tender—his humor, so notably successful when employed by dialect readers, grows out of dilemmas and situations funny in themselves."

The romanticist among our poets is Stephen Vincent Benet. "His forte is dashing romance in prose, and decorative, bizarre whimsicalities in verse."

Joseph Auslander's poems are chiefly language. Harvey Allen, of Pittsburgh, is best known for his long biography, "Israfel: The Life and Time of Edgar Allen Poe;" but "his poems prove him to be a young man of exquisite feeling and strong expression."

L. W. Dodd Writes Satire

Lee Wilson Dodd, a rising author with a future before him, has written two books of verse, several novels, a play and a delicious satire on the new psychology, "The Golden Complex."

H. D. (Hilda Doolittle Aldington) has been called the finest modern minor poet, and "one whose works might take their place with the Greek lyrics of the anthology and not be out of place. Having early allied herself with the Imagist group, she is usually classified as a member. She transcends her fellow workers in that she gives more than clearly etched pictures. To read and fully understand the poems of H. D., therefore, is to engage in the most severe of mental exercises, the recreation of emotional surges." Consequently, because of the depth of her poems, H. D. has never become widely popular.

"The best book of light verse of the season has come from Samuel Hoffenstein, a former Wilkes-Barrean. "Poems in Praise of Practically Nothing" delightfully satirizes the follie and foibles of our times. His parodies and mimicries vie with Robinson's "Tristram" as the 1928 best seller in poetry.

Eleanor Wylie

Mr. Warfel concludes with the well-known Eleanor Wylie, first, however, regretting that it lies not in his field to discuss the books of our own Professor Theiss, known as one of the finest writers of boys' stories now writing. Eleanor Wylie's "The Orphan Angel" was chosen by the Book of the Month Club, and therefore her name became familiar throughout the country. Besides "The Orphan Angel," Eleanor Wylie has proved her worth in "The Venetian Glass Nephew," and "Jennifer Lorn." "In these two poetic novelettes we have fantastic stories modelled upon the eighteenth early gothic stories. In "Mr. Hodge and Mr. Hazard" she studies the life of a poet. "In a time when the real and the factual are exploited, her work, though slightly known by comparison, is a hopeful sign of the return to sanity and health in our fiction."

HOAK AND DOWNEY, '32, BECOME SIGMA MU NU'S

Among the visitors at the Ziegler Infirmary this week were John J. Downey, '32, and Kenneth E. Hoak, '32. Both of these men were unfortunate enough to injure their feet in the game with Bellefonte Academy. But life at the infirmary is quite pleasant, as anyone who has been there will tell you.

"Mose" Quinn has graduated magna cum laude from the infirmary, and is living again at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house. However, he has not quite forgotten those at the institution for the disabled, and returns to pay them a visit every day or so.

Dame Rumor has it that Sigma Mu Nu is going to throw a Cripples' Ball in the near future. There is no foundation for this rumor, but it is being given credence in the best circles.

Assistant Professor Leaves Bucknell

The engineering department of Bucknell is losing a valuable man in the person of Benjamin James Wilson, assistant professor in mechanical engineering who is leaving November 1 to do research work in the Development Department of Leeds and Northrup Instrument Company of Philadelphia. He was also acting head of the Civil Engineering Department during the absence of Professor D. M. Griffith, who is taking graduate work at Cornell. Mr. Wilson will be succeeded by Professor Warren G. Garman, a graduate of Penn State Engineering School.

Professor Wilson was graduated from Bucknell in 1919. After graduation he was assistant master mechanic of the Electrical Department with the Bethlehem Steel Company at Sparrows Point, Md. In 1920, he returned to Bucknell as instructor in mechanical engineering. He received his master's degree in mechanical engineering at Bucknell in 1921.

In 1925 he was granted a leave of absence and took graduate work at the University of Illinois, where he specialized in thermodynamics, and was a graduate research assistant in mechanical engineering. Here he was a member of Sigma Xi, scientific honorary fraternity, and helped to write circulars and bulletins. He received his professional degree in 1928 at the University of Illinois.

Mr. Wilson was an assistant professor at Bucknell during 1927-28, and received extensive experience during the summers in constructing and renovating buildings under Professor Burpee. Bucknellians wish Mr. Wilson success in his new work.

D. N. Brown Speaks To Sigma Beta Chi

The first open meeting of the Sigma Beta Chi professional chemical fraternity was held in the lecture room of the Chemistry building on Monday evening, October 22. A good representation of those taking chemistry as a major subject enjoyed the three short lectures of the evening.

The first talk was presented by D. N. Brown, it being a resume of the history of chemistry from its beginnings in "alchemy" and "black magic" up to the beginning of the fourteenth century. Brown reminded those present, that even though Cleopatra was exceedingly romantic, she had some practical ideas along the lines of chemistry. Cleopatra is credited with having written several treatises on chemical subjects.

J. B. Cook Jr., gave a short talk on the present conception of the Kinetic Theory of gases, and showed how this theory applies to the determination of molecular weights of volatile substances.

J. R. Weber, who is now pursuing graduate work here gave a talk on the development of color photography. This was both historical and technical and was a most interesting and instructive presentation. He explained why we are not able to take colored photographs with the ordinary camera, and why it is with difficulty that colored photographs may be made.

The next meeting on this type will be held in the chemistry building on Monday evening, November 12, at 7:15 p. m. All those interested in chemical subjects are invited to be present.

Athletic Program Given at Conference

A short comprehensive program was given at the Health Conference held in the Biology Building, Saturday, October 20. Mr. John D. Plant presided over this meeting.

The first speaker, Miss Alma Ebeling, of Bucknell, dealt with the topic, "A Comprehensive Program in Health and Physical Education." In her interesting talk she discussed the program of physical education in the Detroit schools, and showed us the importance of physical education in the elementary schools.

The second speaker, Mr. John Van Why, supervisor of health education in the schools of Milton, discussed, "An Athletic Program for Elementary Schools." Mr. Van Why stated the reasons for an athletic program, and explained the system used in the Milton schools.

The third speaker, Mr. H. U. Heckert, assistant principal of the Lewisburg High School, described, "The Athletic Coach as a Community Leader," explaining in detail the many values of an athletic coach.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Heckert was elected chairman of the health conference to be held next year.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElligot

Lewisburg was the scene of one of the greatest football battles in the East on Saturday. Spectators who viewed this game came away with a feeling that both Bucknell and Lafayette put on a brilliant exhibition of airtight football. Neither eleven would yield an inch when inches would have counted. Each team revealed a powerful defense when its goal line was threatened. Truly the Bucknell-Lafayette tiff was the football classic of Eastern Pennsylvania last Saturday.

—o—

Lafayette sent a large band of rooters to Lewisburg to cheer her undefeated team. The Easton institution recently granted all students a holiday for last Saturday, so that the Maroon backers could all travel to Lewisburg to see the game.

—o—

"Muse" Quinn disabled quarterback, was an interesting spectator from the bench. Quinn, hobbling around on crutches, evidently was pleased with the showing made by the Bisons. The southern lad was as excited as anybody, and between the halves he hobbled to the dressing room where he heaped plenty of praise on his teammates.

—o—

Captain "Eddie" Halicki, better known in football circles as "Five-Yard" Halicki, was one of the shining lights of the Bison team. Halicki managed to tear off a few long line plunging gains, but he played best on the defense. Halicki backed up the line like a real Bison. He made tackle after tackle that stopped some enterprising enemy ball toters in their tracks. He batted down forward passes which, if completed, would have completely upset the Bucknell team. It was Halicki, in those last few heart-rending moments, who knocked down a Lafayette forward pass on his own goal line.

—o—

"Andy" Lobel of Bloomfield, N. J., staged a juggling act for the amusement of the fans in the first quarter. Jones threw a long forward pass to Lobel, who made a spectacular running catch, but before he managed to clasp the ball tightly, he juggled it for a while. All the while he was putting on this thrilling exhibition, Lobel had a tackler on his neck.

—o—

"Chuck" Jones, the fleet-footed Maryland youth, thrilled the spectators in the third period by making the longest run of the day. Jones, skirting left end, raced 33 yards before he was tackled.

—o—

Woerner and Bollinger, tackles, were defensive stars on Saturday. Both these huskies stopped the thrusts of the Maroon backs when there was danger of our being scored on. Bollinger and Woerner lived up to early-season predictions by playing the entire game in fine style.

—o—

"Lou" Mutzel supplanted Ellor at the guard post early in the game. Mutzel made good in his new assignment, contributing strength whenever needed. Twice Mutzel stopped the mighty Guest when it seemed that the Maroon fullback would crash through for a score.

—o—

Bert Ellor's kicking was sorely missed on Saturday. However, Jones and Brumbaugh got off several long boots that held the enemy in check. In fact it was Jones' last kick that put an end to the final uprising, late in the final quarter. Ellor will probably be ready for action again Saturday, when the Bisons line up against Gettysburg at the battlefield town.

—o—

The Bucknell Bison is still undefeated. They survived a gruelling test. They now point to games with Gettysburg, Villanova, Lehigh, W. and J., Temple, and Dickinson.

—o—

"American chewing-gum has gained a foothold in Japan," says an exchange. Its faculty for gaining a foothold is its most unpopular feature in this country.

—Boston Transcript.

With the campaign at full blast, and with hurricanes and tornadoes here and there, it might not be inappropriate to refer to 1928 as the "Year of the Big Wind."

—Seattle Times.

Nearly everything has its virtues —even losing a football game has a powerful effect of reform on betting alumni.—Kansas City Star.

FOR HOMECOMING DAY
Chrysanthemums
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING LIGHT LUNCH

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our Shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—4—

THE LAST ISSUE OF THE "BUCKNELLIAN" CONTAINED A ROTOGRAVURE SECTION. FROM NOW ON THIS IS TO BE A WEEKLY FEATURE. SO FAR ALL OF THE COMMENTS CONCERNING IT HAVE BEEN FAVORABLE.

THE ROTOGRAVURE FEATURE SHOULD BE AN ASSET FOR THE ADVERTISEMENTS OF THE LOCAL MERCHANTS. THIS MODERN ADDITION SHOULD BE VERY ACCEPTABLE TO THE ALUMNI AND FRIENDS OF BUCKNELL WHO WISH TO KEEP ADVISED AS TO WHAT OTHER CAMPUSES ARE DOING AS WELL AS THEIR OWN. WITH THIS ADDED INTEREST TAKEN IN THE AUGMENTED "BUCKNELLIAN" THE CIRCULATION SHOULD UNDOUBTEDLY INCREASE. THUS THE ADDS OF THE LOCAL MERCHANTS WILL HAVE A GREATER AND WIDER DISTRIBUTION.

WHEN THE ACCEPTABILITY OF THE MEDIUM FOR YOUR ADS INCREASES WITHOUT ANY ADDITIONAL COST TO YOURSELF, YOU STAND TO WIN.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Phone 194, Alpha Chi Mu House

Ass't. Editor-in-Chief — Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor — Clarence Cranford, '29
Ass't. Managing Editors — Virginia Smoot, '30; Helen Bell, '30
News Editor — Charles E. Mohr, '30
Ass't. News Editors — Jane Foust, '29
Sports Editor — J. Warren McElligot, '30
Ass't. Sports Editors — Thomas McLeod, '31; R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor — Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor — Trennie Eisley, '31
Column Editors — Elizabeth Figner, '30; Frances Kernohan, '30

Reporters

Vivian Bitner, W. C. Emmitt, Bertha Gaventa, Lillian Mattick, John McNally, Ruby Smith, Nan Lee Thomas.

Business Staff

Advertising Manager — W. C. Emmitt, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager — John Snyder, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager — Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Ass't. Circulation Mgr's. — Kenneth Haynes, '31; Frederick M. Locke, '31; George H. Van Tuyl, '31

Faculty Adviser — Prof. Lewis E. Theiss

Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

To Allen Rarig, '29, the Bucknellian expresses its sincere sorrow for the loss of his mother this week. During this time of trouble and heartache, when it will be hard to go on with the ordinary affairs of life, we hope that the sympathy of Bucknell friends may make that duty a little easier.

A GREAT LEADER WRITES TO THE BUCKNELLIAN

Last spring a group of delegates assembled in New York, representing the third most powerful of our American political parties, and with prolonged cheering nominated as their presidential candidate and leader of their party, a modest, scholarly man who had once been a student at Bucknell. It would be foolish to say that Mr. Norman Thomas, leader of the American socialist movement, has any illusions as to the possibility of his success in the election which is looming just ahead. It is not as a politician, but as a missionary—a worker in an educational campaign—that Mr. Thomas is active this fall. His record (he has been arrested once for his ideals, and during the war had to face shameful abuse on account of his fearless attitude of opposition to the conflict) makes him a logical choice for this position.

In spite of its admiration for the character of Mr. Thomas, the Bucknellian is not interested in partisan politics, nor has it any desire to appear to be advocating any socialistic theories. However, because of the candidate's former connection with the University, the Bucknellian invited him last week to write a brief letter to the students of Bucknell. He accepted very courteously, in spite of his crowding duties, so that with great pleasure we are here able to present the following personal communication from the only man our college has ever helped to train for the greatest race that can be run in this country.

Editor, The Bucknellian,
Bucknell University,
Lewisburg, Pa.
Dear Sir:

I must take a few minutes to acknowledge your very cordial letter of October 27th and to express my appreciation of the interest of The Bucknellian in an intelligent presentation of my campaign. I have already asked my secretary to send you a copy of the platform. And that platform is far more important than any personal comment which I can make in the space of a brief letter.

I like to appeal to students especially because I have a feeling that they may play a notable part in the supreme challenge of our time which is to learn a way to manage our intricate machinery so that it will bring peace not war, liberty not tyranny, life not death. How we shall learn wisely and happily to live together in our interdependent world is a question transcending any one political campaign, but it is of the utmost importance that every campaign should be considered in the light of this great end. It is little short of a tragedy that Americans use the precious gift of the ballot, which cost our ancestors so dear, with so little thought of the way in which political action may be made to serve the great cause of plenty, peace, and freedom.

For myself I am more convinced than ever in this campaign that we shall not make political progress in America without a new and realistic alignment of parties. We must have a party which consciously stands for the interests of all who work with hand or brain. It is as a teacher, pioneer, and pathfinder for that party that we Socialists are fighting. And we are persuaded that every vote cast for us helps to hasten the day when such a party will make its appearance on the American stage. Meanwhile every vote cast for us is a warning to whichever old party may win far more potent for progressivism than a vote for the old party itself.

You will see I am taking what little space I may justly claim from you to discuss issues rather than to reminisce. As I told my audience in Marion, Ohio, where I was born, and where I was graduated from high school, I do not want to appeal on any emotion or sentiment less than a desire to further the great ends for which we are conducting our campaign. For years I have wanted to revisit Lewisburg and, of course, Bucknell, but, something interfered. I still hope for the pleasure of the visit that I have promised myself. Now I welcome your letter as an opportunity to ask Bucknell students to face the great challenge of their time.

Sincerely yours,
Norman Thomas
Socialist Candidate for President.

A large share of credit for the success of the recent Education Conference at Bucknell is due to the committees which cooperated with the department of education in the various activities. The students who headed these groups are: Roy Goodlander, '29, president of the Education Club; Martha VonNeida, '29, serving committee; James Hughes, '29, advertising; Sara Collner, '29, and Reginald Gaylord, '30, ushering; "Betty" Humphreys, '29, Journal sales committee.

THE MATTER OF THANKSGIVING VACATION

In this week's issue the Bucknellian prints a letter from a member of the student body, spiritedly defending the status quo of the University calendar. It will perhaps be a satisfaction to this student to learn that, according to a recent announcement from a faculty source, not only has no action been taken on the matter of Thanksgiving vacation, but no proposal for such action has come before the faculty. However, in spite of the remarks of our eloquent correspondent on the stainless beauty of an unrevised calendar, we would like to call several things to the attention of the student body.

First, that the Thanksgiving vacation is not a sacred institution. A vacation from Wednesday noon till Monday morning is no lifetime.

Second, that this vacation will work very significantly against student support of the football squad in the Temple game. This is one of our most important contests, and no loyal Bucknellian should think of missing it for the mere enjoyment of a Turkey dinner. Moreover, those students who do remain for the game will have their vacation so shortened as to be worth little, especially if they live at any distance.

Third, that little work is accomplished during the brief period between the Thanksgiving and Christmas vacations. The striking out of this unimportant holiday ought to have a very beneficial effect on the scholarship grades of the first semester.

So, with due regret for the violated University calendar, the Bucknellian respectfully submits to Student Council the suggestion that the latter body request of Faculty that the schedule be changed so as to allow one day's vacation only at Thanksgiving, the other two days to be added to the Christmas vacation. This is, indeed, a most important argument for the change, since, under the present circumstances, practically all the students will be required to return to Lewisburg on New Year's Day, in order to be present at classes the next morning.

"PARADING SOLDIERS?"

One thing which turns many students away from state collegiate institutions—and very probably in some cases to Bucknell—is compulsory membership in the Reserve Officers Training Corps. Bucknell students of a peaceful turn of mind may consider themselves fortunate that nothing of the sort exists on our campus.

An article printed on page six of this issue shows the light in which the R. O. T. C. is seen by many of its own members. That the movement is weakened in popularity as soon as the quality of the uniforms is lowered, is no compliment to the organization. Militarism has never been a tradition in America; still less is it in harmony with the intellectual atmosphere which ought to pervade a college campus. Therefore when university presidents begin to plead for more expensive uniforms to bolster up the morale of a movement which is already being criticized as an expensive plaything of single-track militarists and one which is dangerously un-American in its ideals, it is perhaps time for the tax-payers—who buy the uniforms, and whose sons are forced to drill in them—to reconsider the values of such an institution. Brass buttons and tailored uniforms are a poor foundation for national security.

CALENDAR

October 25—Women's Faculty House Warming at Bower House.

October 26, 8:15 p. m. —Two one-act plays by Cap and Dagger in Bucknell Hall.
7:30 to 10:30 p. m.—Zeta Gamma Tau Informal dance in the Play Room of the New Dormitory.

October 27, 3 to 5:30 p. m.—Theta Upsilon Omega Tea dance.
1 to 8—Methodist Party at Showalter's Cottage.
8 to 11:15—Alpha Chi Omega Informal dance in the Play Room of the New Dormitory.
8 to 11:15—Sigma Alpha Epsilon Informal Sem dance.
8 to 11:15—Sigma Chi Informal Sem dance.

October 29, 8:15—A recital by Miss Tollefson and Miss Melrose in the Baptist Church.

October 31, 5:30 to 7:30—Frill and Frown's annual All-College Women's Hallowe'en Party in the Play Room of the New Dormitory.

To The Editor

When it comes to the point of shifting a College calendar to meet the momentary cry of mob spirit, it seems most pertinent that both student body and faculty should take time to weigh and consider such a proposition. The dates of the Thanksgiving vacation are November 28 to December 2, as the University calendar states in black and white. The University calendar is relied upon as an official University organ by parents, students, and the world at large. To change that calendar, made to stand for the year of 1928-1929, would be to bring upon the University and administration of the institution, comment of either affirmative or negative nature. Can Bucknell afford to be known as a school subject to the beck and call of the student body upon comparatively short notice? Regardless of the Temple game and the brevity of time between the Thanksgiving and the Christmas vacations, the student body should desire that its University stick to her word. If the matter of Thanksgiving vacation should be such a question of vital import, it would seem both wise and imperative that before next year's calendar is made up, it should be adequately weighed and taken care of in fitting manner.

And so as a student body it behooves us to cooperate with our University administration by accepting the calendar for the school year as it stands.

Co-ed.

Alumni Dance at Home-coming

Tustin Gymnasium was the scene of many happy reunions on Saturday evening when alumni and seniors numbering approximately 200 couples tripped the light fantastic at the annual Home-coming dance. Undergraduates were barred from this yearly graduate event in order to give the alumni every opportunity to meet old friends.

The floor was comfortably crowded with dancers, while the balcony revealed many old grads watching the fun from above. "Al" Stoughton, '24, Alumni Secretary, was in charge of the frolic, and is largely responsible for the success of the undertaking.

The Orpheum

Friday, October 26—
BUSTER KEATON in
"THE CAMERAMAN"
A great comedy based on the experiences of a newsreel cameraman..
Comedy—"She's a Boy."

Saturday, October 27—
"THE MIDNIGHT TAXI"
With ANTONIO MORENO
A tense and exciting drama that runs the gamut of human emotions.
Comedy—Laurel and Hardy in "Two Tars"

NEXT WEEK

Monday, October 29—
KEN MAYNARD in
"THE GLORIOUS TRAIL"

Tuesday and Wednesday, October 30-31—
The Big Production "LES MISERABLES"

Thursday, November 1—
CONRAD NAGEL in
"CAUGHT IN THE FOG"

Friday, November 2—
MILTON SILLS in His Latest Picture
"THE CRASH"

Saturday, November 3—
BILLIE DOVE in "THE LOVE MART"

WEST SIDE PARK
BERWICK, PA.
WEDNESDAY
OCT. 24
RALPH WEBSTER
The Prince of Pep, and His
Coral Gables Orchestra
Direct from the Music Box Cafe, Cleveland, Ohio. Don't miss this Guaranteed Attraction!
Ladies 50c. Dancing 9 to 1 Gentlemen $1.00
COMING—For the Hallowe'en Dance, OCT. 31
MAL HALLETT

An empire hung on that strap

THE hitch must be right, the pack must be tight. On details such as that hung the attainment of the day's goal and the final success of the expedition.

Lewis and Clark, first Americans to cross the continent, knew the importance of "trifles" in the concerted plan. They saw to it their equipment was right, they supervised every step from man-power to pack-horse-power, they applied sure knowledge and constant vigilance to their task.

Today's leaders in business have the same point of view.

Men in the Bell System, exploring new country, take infinite pains in preparation. They work toward the smooth coordination of engineering, manufacturing, warehousing, accounting, finance, public service.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of 18,500,000 inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Bisons Preparing To Meet Gettysburg

(Continued from Page 1)

husky lineman would be unable to play for at least a week or ten days.

If Elliott is not in condition to play on Saturday, his place will be taken by Lou Mutzel, who supplanted the Bloomfield youth in Saturday's tilt. Mutzel, a former Bellefonte athlete, is an experienced lineman, having played two years under Snavely at Bellefonte Academy. Mutzel revealed remarkable defensive prowess in the Lafayette game stopping several plays when the Maroon was in scoring distance of the Bucknell goal line.

With the exception of Ellor, all the rest of the Bison warriors who took part in the terrific Lafayette tilt emerged from the conflict unscathed. Captain "Eddie" Halicki, known in these circles now as "The Man in The Iron Mask," aggravated just a trifle his already severely broken nose but will report for practice this afternoon.

There will be no letup in the practice sessions at Bucknell this week. Are lights have already been installed at the Memorial Stadium which indicates that the Snavely men will experience intensive and long workout.

B. U.'s SHOWING GOOD IN CARNEGIE EXAMS.

(Continued from page 1)

dation could learn about him, he seems to be unique. He came from a foreign country to this land of opportunity and education. Not only is he self-supporting, but every year he makes two or three thousand dollars on the side. Furthermore, he is a popular lecturer about town.

Interesting Score

The most interesting score was that of an eighteen-year-old Pittsburgh girl, who made a score of 1475. She made a perfect score in calculus and algebra. Paradoxically, her lowest scores were made in the subjects in which she had majored, and her highest scores in the subjects which she had never taken in college. She claimed that the lectures she heard in college disgusted her, and hence the low scores. A college professor fired questions at the girl for three hours, and she answered all of them correctly. The most unusual thing about the young woman was that she thought college was a place where one could get something worth-while. She counted it a privilege to sit under college professors.

These were some of the points brought out by Professor Ben Wood, of Columbia University, when the Bucknell faculty convened in the Chemistry Building on the evening of Thursday, October 18, to learn about the results of the Carnegie Foundation tests.

Dr. Wood Gives Results

Dr. Wood, after telling the facts about the tests, outlined the things expected of Bucknell in her cooperation with the Carnegie Foundation.

Then his talk became destructively critical of the present college system. He found that in many colleges seniors who were about to graduate had scores of less than 200. The sad thing about these low scores is that the students tried to do their best. These scores show that colleges are concerned in giving out facts, but not in requiring students to keep them in mind.

One crying fault about the colleges is that they do not take enough interest in the pre-college life of the student. College students are not born the day they enter college, although the colleges think so because they have never cared anything about them before.

The colleges are developing a superiority complex. They have grave doubts whether anyone can learn anything useful outside of a college. They take the attitude that if a person hasn't learned a thing in college, he hasn't served his time. The present college system is too uniform, employing the lock-step method. Colleges should not strive for uniformity, but should offer the best stimuli for creative art. The most precious heritage of a race is the creative mind, and this the colleges must develop.

Entrance Exams Too Lax

At present the entrance requirements of colleges are too lax. The two-minute personal interview is a farce, as Dr. Wood so graphically explained. The college entrance examinations are expensive and unreliable. Today, students of mediocre ability can get into college. In the matter of entrance, the Carnegie Foundation is going to try to ascertain to what extent the colleges take the cream of the high schools. In the case of Bucknell, the Foundation is going to list all the students who entered last fall and who were tested in high school. Then it is going to keep a complete collegiate record of all such students.

BUCKNELL HOLDS THIRD EDUCATION CONFERENCE

(Continued from Page 1)

Because there is so much competition to secure the gifted student, not only among the various universities but among big business and research workers, it is necessary to have a superior college teacher who may carry out the chief purpose of education, to develop the individual to the highest possible degree.

HIGH SCHOOL SECTION

The High School Section meeting in the auditorium of the Engineering Building, at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, was addressed by three well-known educators.

Philip W. L. Cox, professor of secondary education in the School of Education, New York University, spoke on "The Teacher as Adviser." He suggested that the school broaden out the curriculum so that every boy and girl may find something in which he can succeed.

"Curriculum Construction" was ably explained by Joseph F. Pudenbaugh, principal of the Lock Haven High School.

J. B. Bates, supervising principal of the Treverton High School, gave "A Reply to Hot Shots Fired at High Schools." Principal Bates said that the neglect of schools to provide a curriculum meeting the demands of all students, is because high schools have too long been dominated by the demands of the college. Lack of preparation on the part of the teachers was also mentioned.

J. E. Nancarrow, principal of the Williamsport High School, who presided over the meeting, was reelected as chairman of the high school group.

RELIGIOUS ED. SECTION

The Religious Education section of the Education Conference held its session in Room 2 of Main College on Saturday morning, October 20, with Professor Charles M. Bond presiding. The first speaker, Professor S. G. Cole, of Crozer Theological Seminary, talked on "A Philosophic Basis for Religious Education." He stressed the point that religious educators are interested in persons, who are influenced by society and by the teaching church. Character is formed by our relation to some group, and since various groups call out different phases of the same individual, several persons are really formed within one. This is called split-personality, and is developed by society.

The second speaker, Mrs. F. W. Thomlinson, is well known at Bucknell. She is Director of Children's Work, Educational Board of Pennsylvania Baptist General Convention, and her topic was "The Present Curriculum for Children." She gave seven main ideas: (1) Past theories. (2) International council of Religious Education, started in 1909. In 1920 a report of the lesson committee said a new curriculum should be constructed; (3) the present train of thought puts emphasis on learning through activity. (4) the aim of the curriculum is still to develop Christian character, but now provides for growing personality; (5) Don't become a slave to form; (6) The teacher's aim is to foster Christian living on the part of the student; (7) the new approach is more natural, as the teacher lives with the pupils

The third speaker was Henry G. Weston Smith, Pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church at Norristown, whose topic was "Correct Standards and Actual Situations." He showed pictures of his fine new educational plant there and explained its workings in detail.

SCIENCE SECTION

"General objectives used as a basis for the construction and testing of curriculum material" was the subject discussed by G. W. Haupt, Graduate Student, Teachers College, Columbia University, at the science meeting of the Education Conference. With the aid of mimeographed outlines, Mr. Haupt pointed out first the general and then more specific objectives for scientific teaching.

Reflections after 18 years of teaching experience were presented by Dr. N. H. Stewart, professor of biology at Bucknell. In answer to the question, "What teaching has taught me in regard to truth," Dr. Stewart discussed the scientific attitude of mind.

In the absence of Mr. Leroy F. Derr, Head Department of Science, Williamsport High School, Miss Clara Casner, science teacher at the same school, presided. Mr. Gilmore, Bloomsburg Teachers' College, was elected chairman of the science section of the educational conference for next year, and Mr. Kunkle, Milton High School, was elected secretary.

LANGUAGE SECTION

The modern language section of the education conference was held in the Engineering Building, presided over by Dr. Leo L. Rockwell. The first speaker was Professor L. U. T. Simmons of the German Department of Pennsylvania State College. Dr. Simmons spoke on "Aspects of Modern Language Teaching."

Professor M. A. DeVitis, University of Pittsburgh, was the second speaker. His discussion was more general and dealt with the importance of a reading knowledge of Modern Languages. Grammar, his talk implied, is of slight importance.

An open discussion took place on the subjects the speakers had used. At the close of symposium, the speakers and several of the teachers were entertained at a delightful lunch at the home of Professor and Mrs. Rockwell.

ENGLISH SECTION

The English group meeting in connection with the Education Conference was opened by a few words of greeting from Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel of Bucknell.

Mr. Warfel also introduced the chairman for the session, Miss Miriam Wendle, Department of English in the Williamsport High School. Miss Wendle immediately attended to the business of the conference, holding elections for the English division. The results of the voting were: Miss Wendle, president, and Mr. Warfel, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Charles C. Fries, professor of English at the University of Michigan, gave the first talk upon the subject, "Section A, Survey of American English." The speaker has been doing a large amount of research on speech habits so he was well able to present his subject. Dr. Fries revealed the fact that any language is spoken incorrectly if another language or dialect is introduced into it. Dr. Fries scored Mr. Menckeu upon his writing inaccurate vulgar editions since he continually works a few expressions. After explaining the method by which speech habits are tested, Dr. Fries came to the conclusion that there could be no standard of teaching a group to speak correct English until all the facts concerning family, environment, habits and history of both the group and its individuals were known.

William L. Fink, Head of the English department in the Reading Senior High School, in his talk, "Old Lamps for New," upheld the demand that was being made for new methods to replace the old. The tendency now is for appropriate literature for different classes of students.

The third speaker, Omar De Wald, principal of the Picture Rocks High School, staunchly upheld the Rural Vocational School before its apparently critical city classical high school. Mr. De Wald outlined the curriculum of such a school, English, social sciences, a language, and two vocational subjects are the only required work.

The most sensational and yet practical presentation was that given by Miss Miriam Wenille. Miss Wendle, acting as the teacher, taught the audience how to read "Macbeth" aloud correctly from the books which she distributed.

Read The Bucknellian

PICTORIAL SUPPLEMENT

The pictorial section circulated with last week's Bucknellian is the first issue of what is to be a regular weekly feature of our college newspaper. It is made possible through the cooperation of an advertising agency and a number of colleges. Each of these associated colleges will be represented weekly by one or more photographs. Last week Bucknell's May Queen was pictured, and this week the Mathewson Memorial Gateway is shown. Other Bucknell pictures will follow.

The nature and quality of these pictures will depend somewhat upon the Bucknell students themselves. Action pictures and photographs of class officers, men or women prominent in various campus activities, and the like, are wanted. Student photographers are likely to have photographs of this sort. It is almost impossible to secure them elsewhere.

The Bucknellian will pay $1.00 each for glossy prints from sharp negatives of such pictures as it can use. Students who take pictures can help greatly in having Bucknell well represented in the new pictorial section by providing desirable prints. Please hand them to "Peewee" Feaster, business manager, or Robert L. Lyon, editor, or bring them to the Bucknellian office in the rear of the post office building.

Big 4 Hears Talk About Illumination

"Illumination," was the subject of the illustrated talk delivered by Rupert M. Swetland, '23, at the meeting of the Big Four Engineering Society in the auditorium of the Engineering Building, Tuesday evening, October 23.

Mr. Swetland who is illumination engineering salesman of the General Electric Company began his discourse on illumination with a brief survey on the development of the incandescent lamp. Illustrating his talk with slides, Mr. Swetland explained specialized street lighting for cities, and lighting in railroad yards, a feature that had reduced wreckage in the yards from a car a day to four cars a year.

B. U. DEBATING SQUAD WILL MEET OXFORD TRIO

(Continued from Page 1)

Brereton, also of Balliol, is known as "the best after-dinner speaker ever heard in Oxford." With many achievements, literary and academic, to his credit, he exhibits a rare combination of originality, caustic humor, and vigor. Mr. T. Lennox-Boyd, of Christ Church College, Oxford, belongs to distinguished families on both sides of his house. One of the most popular men ever at Oxford, he is a clever debater, marked by versatility and charm.

As is customary in international debates, the decision will be rendered by the audience. The question for discussion is one of great interest on both sides of the water: Resolved, That the United States should join the League of Nations. Oxford, by preference, will speak for the motion. The Oxford-Bucknell debate will open the debating season with what promises to be a debating event extraordinary. Enter this engagement now in your memorandum book under the date of November 19.

Does it rain on the Grand Banks?

RAIN and sleet and spray are all in the day's work for Fish Brand Slickers. They've covered the backs of deep-sea fishermen for 92 years.

The famous "Varsity" model is built of the same sturdy stuff. It's a handsome coat, full-lined, with big, book-carrying pockets that won't rip. Strap-collar or plain, buttons or buckles, and your choice of colors.

If you want a lighter, dressier slicker, there's the "Topper"—smartly cut and finely tailored.

Tower's Slickers are sold everywhere. Look for the Fish Brand mark. A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Massachusetts.

TOWER'S TRADE MARK FISH BRAND

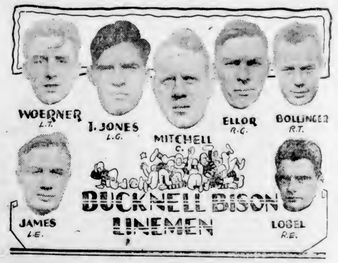
Just the Thing for Up on the Hill
Girls Collegiate Sport Shoes
in tan, alligator or black, with leather or rubber heels,
SPECIAL AT
$2.95, $3.95, $4.95, $5.95

For Your Velvet Dress
we have velvet pumps in blue, brown, burgandy and black,
SPECIAL AT
$2.95, $3.95, $4.95, $5.95
Silk Stockings to Match.
All Shades
at $1.00, $1.50, $1.85.

PEOPLE'S Shoe Store
Milton's Live Wire Shoe Store

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

ALUMNI!
FOLLOW THE TEAM IN THE BUCKNELLIAN



BUCKNELL BACKS

Weekly Rotogravure Section
ALL FOR $1.50
SUBSCRIBE NOW

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

Just 102 Sigs, returning for Homecoming, passed through the ever-open door over the week-end. Ninety of the old-timers were able to arrive on Friday, when the chapter gave a "home-coming" dinner in their honor. A feature of the affair was a word or two from each of the alumni.

The Sigma Chi social season will be "ushered in," as "Mac" McElligot would put it, on Saturday night when the Blue Band will keep the boys and their girl-friends from the "Sem" happy. The party will be a part of the celebration of our football victory over Gettysburg.

"Jiggs" Hogan is likely to lose his house privileges if he cuts many more "eight-o'clock's" is the edict of the Senior Committee. The actives are afraid that he will lower their scholastic average. Don't confuse "Jiggs" with "Marty!"

Seven brothers from the Lafayette chapter journeyed up from Easton to spend the week-end with us. The result of the football fracas was the only fly in their ointment. Incidentally, they had nothing but the highest of praise for our charming "Semites."

Brother Creighton Konkle, '01, president of the Alumni Association, is spending a few days at the house, combining University business with a visit to his son, "Bud," '31.

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Herneane, '31

At the present time, Leonard Horton, '31, is suffering from a broken ankle sustained in a soccer game recently. We extend to Brother Horton our sympathies and wish him a speedy recovery.

Among the out-of-town guests at the house for home-coming day were Miss Sue Mead and Miss Marie Heyd of Plainfield, N. J., and Miss Violet Hill of Muncy, Pa.

We were glad to welcome as guests our old friends, "Si" Hartford, "Jim" Davis, George Stout, "Don" Benjamin, "Chet" Rishell, and "Al" Christenson. Our big bad boy from Birmesboro, "Red" McAnulty answered "here" also, to the roll call of alumni.

Quite a few of our alumni were visitors home-coming day. The Delta Beta chapter at Lafayette was well represented. One of the features of our home-coming day was the burning of the mortgage on the house. Due to the large number of guests, it was impossible for us to hold a dance on that evening.

Among our prominent alumni who paid us a visit, were John T. Shirley, Roy G. Bostwick, Oliver J. Decker, and Chaplain Reuben W. Shrum.

Henry Reismyer, '27, with his brother and father were most welcome guests of the chapter this week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Horton of Scranton, Pa., dropped in on us to pay a visit to Leonard Horton.

Carlton Baum, ex-'29, and James Cox, '30, are visiting us. Brother Baum expects to return next year, and Brother Cox will be back with us next semester.

Due to poor health, "Spike" Beddow, '30, was forced to withdraw from school for the rest of the year. He informs us that next year will see him back at Bucknell again.

We wish in this manner, to extend our grateful thanks to all our friends who helped us during our recent fire. We are especially grateful to the Pi Gamma Delta, Theta Upsilon Omega, and Delta Sigma fraternities. Among individuals, we extend our grateful thanks to Dean Rivenburg, John Plant, Malcolm Musser, Prof. Lindemann, Neil Baker, and members of various other fraternities who assisted in any way.

"Don" Nicholson, '28, is attending law school at George Washington University.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
Lory F. Davis, '30

Professor and Mrs. Coleman were dinner guests on Wednesday evening.

After another strenuous week-end we are ready to get down to work again. We had the largest number of alumni and friends at the house that was ever known at this chapter. We trust all who visited us enjoyed their stay here.

We are very sorry to hear that brother Weber was called home by the death of his father. We extend our deepest sympathy to him and his family.

DELTA SIGMA
Philip G. Murray, '29

Someone thought "Tubby" Johnston was in town this week-end, but it proved to be three other fellows.

"Bud" Frable, Harry Pierson, "Al" Cooley, and "Doug" Haviland of the class of '28 were present for the big week-end. Some of the other notables of recent years who returned were "Mike" McClune, "Gib" McCune, "Chuck" Mellor, George, "Alec," and Clyde Roller, "Bob" Dilsworth, "Al" Purkes, and "Ken" Slifer.

Delta Sigma gave an informal dance in honor of the pledgemen on the evening of Home-coming. The proper syncopation for the occasion was furnished by Marlin Burt's Cadets, of the Casino Ball Room, Harrisburg. Among the out of town guests were the Misses Cornelia Cole, Elmira College, Virginia Keyser, Harrisburg, Harriet Muller, Englewood, N. J., Marion Izzard, Wilmington, Del., Beatrice Stevenson, Harrisburg. The terpsichorean contest was umpired by Prof. and Mrs. Harry E. Warfel while Prof. and Mrs. C. Willard Smith acted as referees.

The chapter entertained the following guests this week-end. Dr. and Mrs. E. Kirby Lawson of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Ely of Hightstown, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Fessler and Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Winner of Williamsport, Rev. and Mrs. Geo. C. Horter and Mrs. Ina Collier of Painted Post, N. Y.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Among our returning brothers during the week-end of October 18 were Ambrose W. DeMoise, Richard B. Vastine, Willard Van Graafeland, R. V. Mussina, Harry R. Keehan, Frank W. Summerfield, Vincent W. McHail, Henry Tracy Rockwell, Burdett S. Fuller, Thomas L. Hall, Henry B. Mussina, Harold Jones, Harry F. Bradley, W. B. Scherr, J. N. Patterson, E. D. Robb, Theodore Costides, Douglas W. Anderson, J. B. Miller, William D. Stayer, Herbert Slack, G. L. Fogelsonger, Carl Hile, and Ross E. Hagerman.

ALPHA CHI MU
John N. Fouster, '30

Home-coming Day at the house was featured by an informal dance. Prof. and Mrs. C. J. Martz and Mrs. Beatty ably chaperoned. "Red" Hitchens and his orchestra supplied the snappy syncopation.

The list of alumni and visitors during the week-end included Charles Phillips, William Laning, David Cowell, John Parsons, Bruce Miller; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ward, Mr. and Mrs. George West, Mr. C. C. West, and Miss Charlotte West, all of Sayre, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Anderson, Shikshinny, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Hauber, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Clark, and Miss Eugertha Hauber, of Coudersport, Pa.; Miss Isabel Weiser, Allentown, Pa.; Miss Laura A. Yelsley, Tatamy, Pa.; Harold B. Ingells, New York; Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis, Lewisburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Farrow, Sara Farrow, Richard Farrow, Haddonfield, N. J.

The fraternity takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Daniel K. Swartz, '30, of Urban, Pa., and Leon Rhodes, '32, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Raymond Taylor and Clarence Cranford, two of our ministerials did some practical work last Sunday. "Ray" had charge of the services in the Baptist church at Madison and White Hall, while "Cranny" occupied the pulpit of the Watsontown Baptist church.

PI BETA PHI
Rhoda Herr, '29

Pennsylvania Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi takes great pleasure in announcing its "biddies" as follows: Dorothy Strohm, Rachael Gawthrop, "Betty" Purdy, Esther Fry, Marian Ash, Josephine Bair, Dorothy Jones, Ruth James, Louise Zeigler, Constance Williamson, Mary Smith, and Helen Bleeker.

Mary Gross, '31 was visited by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Gross, and her sister Lenor Gross, over the Home-coming week-end.

Alice Sweeley, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Williamsport.

Mary Elizabeth Evans, '29, was visited by her sister, Edna Evans of Jeannette, over the week-end.

Frances Davison, '31, witnessed the Pennsylvania-Penn State game at Philadelphia on Saturday.

Elizabeth Huxley, '30, spent the week-end at her home in Wilmington, Delaware.

Mrs. Eugene O. Banker, ex-'29, was among those who returned for the Home-coming week-end.

Mrs. Caroline Hunt Mahaffey visited the suite Friday.

Doris Siner, '29, and Esther Hipple, '31, enjoyed a birthday, Sunday October 21.

KAPPA DELTA
Caroline Davison, '30

Among the alumnae whom Phi Tau took pleasure in welcoming over the past week-end were Angeline Kissenger, '22, Catherine Pettigrew, '22, Grace Klapp, '26, "Shorty" Parmley, '27, Ruth Marion, '27, and Edith Womer, '27. Those of the class of '28 who returned were "Billie" Williams, "Mid" Spencer, Ruth Cooper, Helen Durkin, and Lorrine Martin.

Elva Crist, ex-'31, who is now attending a college at Johnstown, visited her Kappa Delta sisters over the week-end and has promised to return to us next year.

Phi Tau entertained Elizabeth Garbarino of Sigma Theta chapter, University of Pennsylvania, on Friday afternoon.

Those of our actives who were fortunate enough to have their parents here for Home-coming were Helen Mowry, Ruth Evans, Marie Condit, Mildred Gentzler, and Eleanor Farquhar.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta chapter takes great pleasure in welcoming Miss Majel Brooks and Miss Helen Tollefson as patronesses of the fraternity.

The chapter is pleased to announce the bidding of "Kay" Leach and "Judy" Robertson, both of '30.

From every possible section they came, determined not to miss Homecoming: "Peg" Brick, Mary Bray, Ruth Bray, Phoebe Bloomfield, "Mil" Biddison, Amanda Brown, Clara Casner, "Midge" Fox, Amy Haldeman, Ella Lippincott, "Kitty" Marshall, Grace Matz, "Ellie" Miller, "Mil" Houseman Schaffer, Alice Savage, "Deb" Walton, and "Do" Worrell.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa

Beta Kappa chapter announces with pleasure the pledging of Ann Sprout, '31.

Beta Kappa alumnae who returned for Home-couing were "K" Spotts, '21, "Jackie" Horner, '28, "Floss" Utt, '26, Marie Helwig, '28, "Betts" Williams, '27, "Sally" DeArmond Grouver, '27, Mary Gettys Long, '26, Ruth Heritage, '28, "Min" Burns, '28, Helen Grove, '27, Laura Grove, '28, Ruth Grove, '25, "Betty" Grove, '23, Hattie Fertig Lontz, '21, Emily Devine Kelly, '21, Mable Baker Walthaver, '23, "Peg" Holter, '24, Rose Gemmill Jones, '24. On Sunday, alumnae, actives, and pledges breakfasted together at the May-mar tea room.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Adelaide M. Clark, '31

Visitors in the suite this week-end were: Florence Beckworth, '27, Gertrude Gardiner, '26, Grace Williams, '28, Charlotta Gilbert, '28, Marjorie Jones, '28, and Virginia Wallis, '28.

We deceived a very interesting letter this week from "Dot" Wolverton, '28, who is teaching in Albania. Among other things she told of having in one of her classes the prime minister's daughter, who flies to school in a plane every day.

Pledging was held in the parlors on Wednesday night, October 10. Eight girls were pledged.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Delta is happy to announce the pledging of the following girls: Ruth Carstater, '29, Meribah Gardiner, Anne Evans, Ellnor Doerr, Hanna Dennin, all of '30, Doris Miller, '31, and Emily Ong, Annette Rossiter, Selma Wolff, Gladys Hasse, Lulu Miller, and "Betty" Arnold, all of '32.

Beryl Sumerfield, '28, Marian Hendrickson, '28, and "Milly" Sipe, '27, were guests of the Sigma Sigma Delta girls over the Home-coming week-end.

Two Weeks Room Campus
Sentence Of Noisemakers

General quietness should now prevail on the fourth floor of the women's new dormitory. With a half dozen exceptions the entire fourth floor has been sentenced to a two-week room campus.

"Ray" Gawthrop, '32, Alice Corbett, '30, "Johnny" Johnson, '32, "Elo" George, '32, and Mary Smith, '32, proctors of the freshmen stronghold, pled guilty on behalf of the offenders to charges of incessant noise-making placed by the third floor.

No talking in the corridors, doomed to remain in their own room, and forbidden to visit any other room, such are the restrictions involved in the two-weeks room campus.

Determined to undermine the traditional clamor of the fourth floor freshmen, the Student Senate has appointed Helen Steinhelper, '29, Student Government President, Doris Siner, '29, House President, and two other members of the Senate to alternate in patrolling the corridors and strictly enforcing the sentence.

Fifteen nations signed the peace treaty, and one thing all have in common is the conviction that fourteen aren't to be trusted.

It pays to advertise.

R. O. T. C. Dissatisfied With Service Uniform

There is considerable student protest against the compulsory R. O. T. C., and colleges boosting voluntary military courses are having serious trouble, according to the testimony of Major General Charles P. Summerall and several college presidents, presented to the Military Appropriations Committee at the last hearing. A pamphlet released today by the Committee on Militarism in Education at Room 387 Bible House, New York City, quotes the Chief of Staff as saying: "We feel that a proper uniform will go further than any one other thing toward popularizing the R. O. T. C. Up to last year we had given commutation of uniforms to some institutions, though not to all, of $30. To others we gave an allowance of $7.15. Last year that $30 commutation was abolished and all schools were given $7.15. This has created a great deal of discontent and criticism. In some places it has threatened the maintenance of the strength of units."

College Presidents Beg Aid

Captain Charles C. Quigley who presented the R. O. T. C. estimates to Congress, said, "They are having a very difficult time to continue the R. O. T. C. in a great many institutions under the present uniform standard." "There is a great amount of dissatisfaction among the student body." "A number of heads of institutions have made trips to Washington to interview the Secretary of War on this matter and they are emphatic in their insistence that there must be some remedy for this condition."

The President of the University of Minnesota said, "We shall regret it if nothing can be done." "It will mean a reduction in registration, a loss of interest in the work, and it will contribute to a lowering of the prestige of the military department."

The President of the University of Illinois testified that "as a result of this reduction (from snappy tailored uniforms to service uniforms) the loss in strength in our advanced course may run 40 to 50 per cent."

The Public Is Curious

According to the Committee on Militarism in Education the public is aroused by these arguments of the Army Chief and the college presidents to know why uniforms that were good enough for doughboys to die in are not good enough for college men to drill in. The committee says the public would also like to know just what value there is to the tax payers who supply the uniforms, in a military training that must be sold to recruits by such means. Do these well dressed soldiers add to our national defense or are they just "parading soldiers?"

Coming-as he does from California, sometimes we have a faint misgiving that Hoover may have difficulty in carrying Florida.

If the Presidential campaign grows more bitter, it might be well to invite Nicaragua or Mexico to supervise the election.

Have you ever tried asking your friends?

Any man who wears John Wards will tell the same story.

The leathers in John Wards are choicer, wear better. The fit and workmanship are more expert. They have more style appeal to men of the better class.

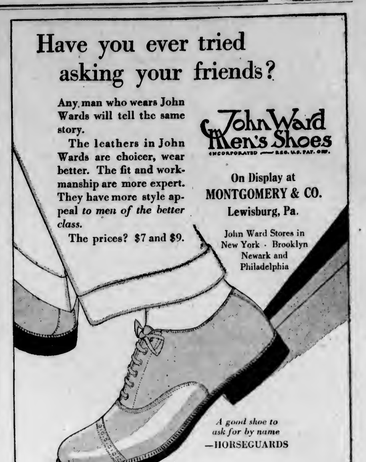
The prices? $7 and $9.

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED — REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

On Display at MONTGOMERY & CO. Lewisburg, Pa.

John Ward Stores in New York · Brooklyn Newark and Philadelphia



A good shoe to ask for by name
—HORSEGUARDS

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Kraitman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist.
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1885. Lewisburg, Pa.

WAINIES

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

For Christian Education
BUCKNELL
UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
For catalog, book of views, or information, Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

How They Do It At Oxford

By REUBEN BORSCH, Rhodes Scholar At Oxford

It is difficult to compare Oxford (and in all matters of general description the word Cambridge might easily be substituted) with an American university. To Englishmen, very often just as baseball is glorified, so Harvard and Yale are the Oxford and Cambridge of America. Of course this simile is false. In England there is not such a redundancy of colleges and universities. And even here Oxford and Cambridge occupy a very unique position. Succeeding monarchs have bestowed favor and privilege upon them. They have been, and still are to a lesser degree, the universities of the rich and the upper classes. And there is a tradition of state, too, that makes the two varsities a training ground for Parliament and the civil and colonial services.

But in America from the beginning there have been no distinctly national university. Harvard and Yale possess no such reputation. Perhaps the very democratic cradle of our nation prevented the appearance of an American Oxford. Certainly the ideal of Jeffersonian democracy which has pervaded American education is not in keeping with the Oxford idea. Standardization is a repugnant word in Oxford, while in America, it is an unconscious ideal. At least one goes up to Cornell with very much the same purpose as he would to Harvard or Yale. But in England it is different. One goes to Leeds or Birmingham primarily to learn a profession, but to Oxford or Cambridge primarily for other things. Perhaps these differences will become more patent in the sequel.

Individual Supreme

As we look back upon Oxford, it seems a beautiful, quiet retreat for three years of sport, society and self-determination; a perfect opportunity to look down upon the fast moving world and to think out one's place in it all. It is essentially a man's society. And within this sphere the individual counts for everything. To the English boy just up from a public school, the Varsity means freedom. The old idea of compulsory work and play is a thing of the past. Now he is free to do the things he has longed to do. The obvious thing is to read. And at Oxford the undergraduate finds himself in a world of books. The famous Bodleian library is at his disposal, not to mention all of the excellent college libraries. And there is Blackwells, perhaps the leading bookstore of the world. What a perfect freedom: there are no compulsory classes or lectures.

Students Well-read

Most Americans are astounded by the tremendous background of reading that the English freshman has. Many Rhodes scholars who have matriculated in English literature find themselves hardly the superiors of these youths of 18. In this connection the superiority of English secondary education is generally conceded. And their attitude towards foreign literature is even more noticeable. Should you drop in on an Oxford friend most any night toward 12, you will quite likely find him reading a French, an Italian or perhaps a German novel or book of memoirs. There is no alarm about a foreign language. Possibly America suffers here because of her geographical position. Nevertheless most Americans notice the difference.

By way of comparison, it is interesting to note that English educators who have visited America are practically unanimous in laying the blame at the door of our secondary institutions. In particular, Professor R. B. Mowat of Corpus Christi College, speaking to the American Club here, was quite explicit as to his meaning. Having spent a year as professor of history in the University of Wisconsin and later traveling very widely throughout America, he came to the undoubted opinion that American college men work as hard, if not harder, than Oxford undergraduates. But too often they are hopelessly handicapped by a shockingly bad preparation. The fault lies primarily, he thinks, with the high schools. The tradition of the right sort of hard work is lacking, yet it must be remembered that Oxford and Cambridge collect the cream of English education. In America intellectual talent is apt to be more widely diffused.

Three 8-weeks Terms

Perhaps the most obviously unique thing about Oxford is its system. The year is divided into three terms each of eight weeks duration. There are three vacations as well. Naturally they are relatively long. The first, Michaelmas term, begins in mid-October. The Christmas vacation begins in mid-December and lasts six weeks. After the next, Hilary term, the Easter vacation follows. The last, Trinity term, spreads over the latter part of April, all of May, and most of June. The long vacation begins in June and lasts four months.

Oxford men are always confronted with the very obvious question—when do you do any work? The answer must seem a paradox. Most of the work is done away from Oxford. Study is not unknown, of course, but the many other advantages that Oxford affords must be given precedence. So it is here that the old Harvard warning is followed literally—"Don't let your work interfere with your college education."

Perhaps it would not be amiss to describe a typical day during the Michaelmas or Hilary terms. During his first, and usually during his second year, unless a man prove lazy or academically slow, he lives in college. Very roughly speaking, an Oxford college is a much enlarged fraternity. Each undergraduate has his own suite of rooms which consists usually of a living and study room and a "bedder" which suggests its purpose. And each man has a "scout," a servant who has a life-long connection with the college, and who is indispensable as he is efficient and good natured.

Roll Call Compulsory

The conscious part of the day begins with Arthur shouting, "five and twenty minutes past seven, Sir." Chapel or an alternative, "rollers" (roll-call) is compulsory on four mornings each week, so barring too late a night before you say "rights" and get up. Oxford, you will remember, is the home of lost causes, so hot and cold running water is only to be found in the general college bathroom. An American bishop who occupied my room recently referred to my toilette as "most primitive." However, after a hurried wash and shave one "does" a "roller" or a chapel. Breakfast follows, in the Hall if you are a "Fresher;" usually you breakfast in someone's rooms if you are a second year man.

The mornings are usually given over to actual work—law, history, greats or what not.

Lunch at Oxford is a neglected meal except when a special party is arranged. The usual college commons consisting of soggy bread, bad cheese and butter and jam become impossible after a term or so. After all lunch comes at one o'clock and as we must be out at some college ground or on the river by two or two-thirty and tea time is four-thirty, why eat at all?

Sports thrive at Oxford. Every freshman plays some game. And if he can't do anything else, there is always the Boat Club. The chief college games during the winter are "rugger" (rugby), soccer, hockey, Lacrosse, and rowing. As there are over 20 colleges, of course a game is always available and competition is keen. The weather is dreadfully wet most of the time and for this reason, rowing is much the safest sport. Experience prompts me to say that time and rowing go on forever. The beautiful green banks of the Isis soon become an irresistible fascination for the young rowing enthusiast.

Rain Does Not Halt Sports

Despite the low topographical position of Oxford in the Thames Valley and the consequent dampness, out-of-door exercise is possible all year. What northern golfer will not be envious of my almost daily rounds of golf out at Southfield? And on several days each week the hard courts at Woodstock are filled with tennis enthusiasts. Yet on the whole it seems that it is always raining; a high price to pay for a temperate climate.

Apart from mere exercise, Oxford games have a social importance. Cecil Rhodes certainly knew his Oxford well when he emphasized the importance of interest in many sports. Indeed the quickest way to an Englishman's heart is through his sport. Any man at Oxford, whether he be foreign or English, who does not play some game is at a decided social disadvantage. So-called English reserve, very often shyness, is proverbial. Yet on the rugger field or often a journey in the college light, those same Englishmen can almost be slapped on the back.—Fraternity Life.

Eleven football men,
See how they run.
They all run after the little brown ball,
And try to score without a fall.
Did you ever see folks so big and tall,
As the eleven football men.

A number of policemen in Chicago are reported ill with the measles. At last! A Chicago policeman has caught something.—Palm Beach Post.

And So His Face Was Utterly Ruined : : : : By BRIGGS

THAT'S RIGHT, FELLA... TAKE YOUR CHOICE.. IT'S EITHER OLD GOLDS FOR YOU FROM NOW ON-- OR SUICIDE
GIVE HIM AN OLD GOLD TONY, WHILE HE STILL HAS A FACE... NOT A COUGH IN A CAR-LOAD
SEEX TIMES YOU COUGH, SEEXA TIME I CUT YOU FACE!! PLEASE, I SHAVA YOU NO MO'!!
Old Gold CIGARETTES
THE TREASURE OF THEM ALL

OLD GOLD
The Smoother and Better Cigarette
....not a cough in a carload
© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

COLLEGIANA

Mary Jane Miller, small daughter of Coach "Teinie" Miller, is serving as mascot for the Temple University football team. This merely shows once more that men are helpless without a woman.

Writing of mascots, why doesn't the Bucknell team have one, or if it does, who is it? Our first choice for the position would be Coach Snavely's little boy.

—X—

In the Swarthmore Phoenix, we read "College editors are likely to be our most intelligent students. In the long run they will be just as quick to realize their moral responsibility to their constituencies as the editors of city dailies." And what, we ask, is the morel responsibility of the editor of a city daily? Besides, who wants to take a long run?

—X—

Authorities at Dickinson recently decided not to hold a "pep" meeting on the eve of the Dickinson-Muhlenberg football game. They feared a repetition of the meeting of the previous week when the student body exhibited a disgraceful ennui. Dickinsonians have evidently been reading too much Mencken.

—X—

Out of 3000 students examined at the University of California infirmary, there were only ten perfect specimens.—Exchange.

The ten perfect specimens certainly have our sympathy. Imagine not having anything in common with the other 2990 students in the school!

—X—

Fifty-two per cent of the freshmen who enter college never come back for their second year, according to the dean of Ohio State in a talk on student problems.—Exchange.

They are evidently the ones who weaken early.

—X—

Eleven o'clock classes are the most popular ones at Harvard, while eight o'clock classes hardly exist at all.—Exchange.

Harvard can't be so very different from Bucknell, except that here it's the students in the eight o'clock's who hardly exist at all!

—X—

The following appeared in the October 12 issue of the Brown and White, Lehigh University paper: "Your editor favors Penn State to defeat Bucknell by at least three touchdowns."

Sorry to disappoint you, old man, but we advise you to keep away from prophecy!

—X—

A student at the University of Texas, pledge of the D. K. E. fraternity, died from shocks received during the initiation ceremony. His death was caused by shocks coming from a series of bed springs connected by a rheostat to the electric light system through which he had been forced to crawl.—Exchange.

It must be true, then, that a man who has survived college can stand most anything.

—X—

Some people never know when they have enough! Sophomores at Antioch College recently put it up to the freshmen to decide if there would be any hazing this year. The freshmen met and voted in favor of hazing. The sophomores, naturally, are doing their part!

—X—

Dartmouth College has more faculty members listed in the 1928-1929 "Who's Who In America" than any other educational institution of college rank and size in the country.

Oberlin College is second in number of names in the book, with Swarthmore, Smith, Amherst, Pomona Colleges trailing close behind.

—Exchange

Bucknell University has seven faculty members in "Who's Who." We refer those who are curious to the said book.

Read The Bucknellian

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

STYLES OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM SHOES $10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

AUTO BUS SERVICE
Saturdays, Evenings and Holidays
O. I. LIDDICK 7th and Market

BELLEFONTE TEAM TAKES GAME 6-0 FROM B. U. FROSH

The Bucknell freshman football team dropped a close 6 to 0 decision to the powerful Bellefonte Academy gridiron machine, Saturday morning, preliminary to the varsity contest. Although, defeated, the frosh covered themselves with glory by the way in which they fought an adversary that overwhelmed them with weight, age and experience.

For three quarters, the yearlings held the veteran Bellefonte crew at bay, but the pace proved to strong in the final session, and the battering Bellefonte backs broke through for a solitary tally in the closing minutes of the game.

Fresh from a decisive victory over the Navy plebes, 12 to 0, the invaders were accorded a decided edge over Coach Musser's "Baby Bisons." But, the ones who considered Bellefonte a heavy favorite did not take into consideration the spirit which predominates in Bucknell elevens.

During the first and second periods, the yearlings actually outplayed their rivals, keeping the ball most of the time in Bellefonte territory. The linesmen were holding the onslaughts of the visiting backs, oftentimes breaking through the heavy forward line to throw the ball-carriers for losses.

Bellefonte, on the other hand was having trouble in stopping the varied attack of the Bisons, and Hinkle, Fry, Mezza, and Kastrava were clicking off sizeable gains. Gradually the frosh smashed their way to the shadow of the Bellefonte goal-posts. Here, with a score impending, the Bellefonte line stiffened and turned back the surging Orange wave that four times crashed against it. Bellefonte kept its final line inviolate only by inches, and Bucknell's best chance to score was lost.

The second period was a repetition of the opening, with the yearlings having the best of the encounter. By exceptional work on the part of the linesmen and the defensive backs, Bellefonte was kept from invading dangerous ground.

In the third period the frosh showed signs of weariness, and despite frequent substitutions, the yearling machine gave evidence of wearing out. But, although their bodies were weary and the ordeal was terrific, the valiant eleven would not be beaten. Charge after charge was stopped by heroic efforts.

With the game three quarters over it looked as though a defeat would be averted, but with minutes left to play, the Bellefonte team swept down the field and forced the Bisons to the final mark. Here Bellefonte banded together and with an effort that could not be blocked, sent Temple across the last white strip for the only and winning tally.

The entire Bucknell team played well, and there were no outstanding players. Each member of the frosh eleven gave all that he had. Bellefonte failed to kick the goal.

Bucknell Frosh 0		Bellefonte A. 6
Hoak	L. E.	Sample
Crowe	L. T.	Varra
Downey	L. G.	Bolitta
Cummings	C.	Barber
Trudenak	R. G.	Joynt
Marter	R. T.	Meredith
Stonebreaker	R. E.	Hardy
Mezza	Q. B.	Temple
Kastrava	L. H.	Reider
Hinkle	R. H.	Smith
Fry	F. B.	Lumley

Score by quarters:

Bucknell	0	0	0	0	0—0
Bellefonte	0	0	0	6	—6

Substitutions: Bucknell: Lenhart for Crowe; Porter for Hoak; Seager for Downey; Spadafora for Mezza.

Touchdown by Temple, Bellefonte. Officials: Referee—C. E. Price; Umpire—C. A. Reed; Linesman—H. A. Davidson; Field judge—R. A. Greene.

Ingalls Speaks At S.C.R.A. Conference

A hurry-up conference of several members of the S. C. R. A. was held last Monday evening at the home of Professor Bond, at which time Mr. Ingalls, a graduate of Oberlin, and now a secretary for the Y. M. C. A., who has been traveling in the foreign lands for some time, presented a brief outline of several projects in which this campus will soon interest itself, under the leadership of the Council.

It is hoped that the student body will eventually take some part in the work of the World Student Christian Federation, which is now supporting several types of foreign projects such as schools, scholarships, missions, etc.

B. U.-LAFAYETTE GAME ENDS WITHOUT A SCORE

(Continued from page 1)

yardage whenever called upon to carry the ball.

Bucknell Stops Guest

Yet when the Leopards were within the shadows of the Bisons' goal line, Guest was halted without gain. Three times he was called upon to carry the ball over the goal line when the Eastonians were in striking distance of the last chalk mark. Thrice did the Bucknell men block these desperate attempts. The line was a stone wall.

The backfield, led by Captain Halicki, made Herculean efforts to back up the line. More than once Halicki saved the day by marvelous tackles. It was Halicki, who, in the closing minutes of play, frustrated the last Lafayette attempt to score, by batting down a forward pass on his own goal line, while the frenzied Bucknell rooters held their breath. Not until "Chuck" Jones booted the pigskin out of danger did the Orange and Blue rooters breathe freely again.

In the last two periods of the game, thrills galore kept every onlooker on edge. The Lafayette men went wild when their favorites mowed down the opposing line. It seemed as though the Bucknell team was wholly incapable of holding back that human battering ram, Captain Guest. The Maroon watchers saw Guest tear the Bison line to shreds in mid-field; but the excited Lafayette students watched in vain when a tally seemed certain. They also saw "Mike" Wilson and Lee Rambo try their luck around the ends or through tackle. And finally the wildly-cheering Maroon followers saw Shellenburger resort to the last remaining trick to win—the forward pass. But they watched in vain, for Lafayette's great aerial attack that had previously smothered three opponents, was utterly frustrated by the great Bison machine, that arose to great heights when the occasion demanded.

It is little wonder that when Shellenburger, gritty Maroon quarterback, was withdrawn from the fray in the last quarter he said to those on the sidelines, "That's the toughest and hardest bunch that I ever bucked up against."

The Lafayette team of 1926 that sailed through the entire season without losing a game or even being tied, was represented by several players in the Maroon lineup on Saturday. The entire backfield, composed of Captain Guest, Shellenburger, Chimenti, and Wilson, were all varsity men on the championship Lafayette combination of two years ago. In fact, eight of the eleven men of the 1926 team were in the game on Saturday.

Lafayette entered the fray a heavy favorite. Critics predicted that the Bison line could never check the deadly charges of the hard-plunging Maroon backfield, that the Bucknell line would wilt before the terrific onslaughts of Captain Guest. It was a great Bison line that stopped the Maroon backs. Every man on the Bucknell forward wall deserves lots of credit. They all played great football. "Ted" Mitchell, at the pivot post, crouched on his hands and knees, was the same old Mitchell who played so sensationally at State. He was the rock of strength on the defense and a roving menace when his teammates had the ball.

Jones and Mutzel Play Well

On both sides Mitchell was flanked by men whose defensive prowess was outstanding during all the game. "Pottsville" Jones, and "Lou" Mutzel, put up a great battle at the guard posts, stopping play after play. Mutzel replaced Ellor when the latter was hurt, while Jones gave way to Walls later in the game.

Bollinger and Woerner, giant tackles, were at their peak on Saturday. Bollinger continued his remarkable effectiveness under fire, playing the entire game in fine style. Woerner made a great mate for "Bolly."

The ends, including James, Lobel, Wadsworth, and Truxel, showed plenty of fight. James and Lobel started the game, while Lobel was later replaced by Truxel and Wadsworth. Lobel demonstrated his ability as a juggler in the second period by making an amazing juggling catch of a forward pass thrown by Jones, with a would-be tackler closely pursuing him.

Bucknell made a stubborn attempt for a score early in the second quarter when Captain Halicki, Jones, Brumbaugh, and Hambacker combined efforts to bring the ball to Lafayette's five-yard strip. The powerful Lafayette machine tightened at this critical moment and stopped the Bison advance.

Jones Thrills Fans

During a long march down the field, "Chuck" Jones contributed the longest individual run of the day, a beautiful 33-yard sprint. Jones broke loose on an end run, and aided by sturdy interference, raced to Lafayette's 40-yard line before quarterback Shellenburger brought him down.

After this run, Lobel captured a long forward, and after juggling it awhile decided to hold it. He was stopped on the Maroon 14-yard strip, from which point the ball was advanced nine yards to within striking distance of the enemy goal line.

The Leopards held for downs and then Shellenburger punted out of danger. The Maroon backs failed to penetrate the Orange and Blue defense again during the first half, but in the last two periods furnished lots of excitement for the fans.

Chimenti, plucky Maroon halfback, was seriously injured in the third quarter and had to be carried to the dressing room. Before he was hurt, this veteran ball toter made several substantial gains. His place was taken by Lee Rambo, who made several long runs.

The bitterly-fought battle ended with the ball in Lafayette's possession in mid-field. Woodring, Bison back, intercepted an enemy forward in the last minute of play, thereby extinguishing the last hope that Lafayette had for victory.

The line-up:

Lafayette		Bucknell
Houser	left end	James
Miller	left tackle	Woerner
Sarni	left guard	T. Jones
Kressler	center	Mitchell
Thompson	right guard	Ellor
Soloff	right tackle	Bollinger
McKean	right end	Lobel
Shellenberger	Q. B.	Brumbaugh
Chimenti	L. halfback	C. Jones
Wilson	R. halfback	Hambacker
Guest	fullback	Halicki

Lafayette	0	0	0	0	0—0
Bucknell	0	0	0	0	—0

Substitutions—Lafayette: Rambo for Chimenti, Morrison for Rambo, Chimenti for Morrison, Rambo for Chimenti, Rothenberg for Houser, Warren for Sarni, Wolbert for Shellenberger, Woodfin for Wilson.

Bucknell: Mutzel for Ellor, Truxel for Lobel, Ross for C. Jones, Wadsworth for Truxell, Walls for T. Jones, Woodring for Brumbaugh, Slate for Hambacker, C. Jones for Ross, Ross for Woodring. Referee—C. E. Price. Umpire—C. A. Reed. Field judge—R. A. Greene. Head linesman—H. A. Davidson.

SWAIN QUITS INFIRMARY

W. R. Swain, '32, injured in a soccer game on Monday, has been discharged from the Ziegler Infirmary. At first it was thought that Swain had broken his collar-bone, but x-rays failed to confirm this.

Ward, the Barber

College and Fraternity PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Our Leather Coats
FOR BOTH BOYS and GIRLS
Are Going Over Big
For Style, Finish and Fit they can't be surpassed.
We carry the GLOVER make of Leather Garments; hey are universally accepted as THE BEST.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER TO THE B. U. VARSITY
Full line of College and Fraternity Pennants, Banners, Leather Goods, Memory Books, Stationery, etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (East of Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
NEW FALL DRESSES
Choose from our large assortment at $15.00, $10.00 and $5.00 each.
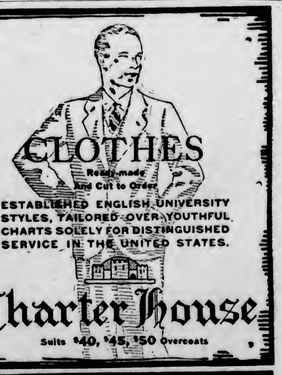
Cravenetted Trench Raincoats
at $5.75 each
LEATHERETTE RAINCOATS
all colors at $5.00 each

BIJOU Milton, Pa.
LAST TIME TODAY
"WINGS"
Broadway's Big Sensation. Be Sure To See It.
TOMMORROW ONLY, FRIDAY OCT. 26th
A First National Big Special.
"SHOW GIRL" With ALICE WHITE
Packed with Thrills, Love, and Laughter See it.
COMING SATURDAY, OCT. 27th
The Funniest College Football Picture.
"WIN THAT GIRL"
With DAVID ROLLINS and SUE CAROL
COMING MONDAY and TUESDAY, OCT. 29-30
RICHARD DIX in "WARMING UP"
It's Dix's Latest and Best.
COMING WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY
OCTOBER 31—NOVEMBER 1
The Picture You've Been Waiting For.
"STREET ANGEL"
Don't Forget the DATES. 2 Days-Only.



CLOTHES
Ready-made
and Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

THE "BUCKNELLIAN'S" STRAW VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

(Vote for one.)

HERBERT HOOVER (Republican)	( )
ALFRED E. SMITH (Democrat)	( )
NORMAN THOMAS (Socialist)	( )

Mark an "X" opposite your choice.

Class .....

Fraternity .....

(If the spaces for class and fraternity are filled in, it will aid the Bucknellian in tabulating the results.)

Deposit your ballot in the Belle Hop box in the College Inn.

Time and Money

Save them both by eating breakfast at the College Inn. A variety of fruits, cereals, sweet rolls, toast and breakfast beverages. An electric toaster and coffee urn, a speedy gas range and griddle, conveniently arranged, all make for quick service. May we have the privilege of serving you.

THE COLLEGE INN
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
Payne, '09.

The Bucknellian

VOLUME 32 PART 2 Editor, Robert L. Lyon LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1928 Business Manager, John N. Feaster NUMBER 7

The Wildcat Tames the Bulldog. Over 35,000 people saw the Northwestern "Wildcats" clash with the Butler "Bulldogs" in a hard fought grid contest that opened the season at Dyche Stadium. Evanston, Illinois, on October 7. Butler put up a game fight all the way but the "Wildcats" triumphed 14 to 0. The photograph shows Captain Holmer of Northwestern stopped after an eleven-yard romp through the Butler line.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Stanford Presents Its Presidential Candidate—Herbert Hoover, the Republican nominee, as he looked when a sophomore in 1894. It was at Stanford that he met Mrs. Hoover. Probably they strolled together under the picturesque arches and the charming winding drives of the Palo Alto campus. Naturally, Stanford is proud of its illustrious alumnus who came there as a poor boy and worked his way to an engineering degree—and then to fame and fortune. This should be an inspiration to all undergraduates. Of course, there are not enough presidential nominations to go around, but that problem can probably be solved by some brainy student.

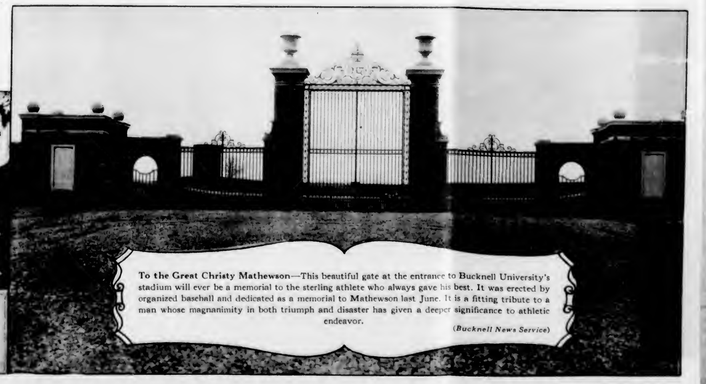
(Underwood and Underwood)

Archer-ess on Horseback. Miss Nancy Johnson, of the Bancroft School, Worcester, Massachusetts, puts a new kick in archery by retrieving her arrows on horseback.

(Wide World)

Heads 68,000 Michigan Alumni. E. J. Ottaway, of Port Huron, Michigan, is president of the University of Michigan Alumni Association—one of the largest in the country.

(Underwood and Underwood)



To the Great Christy Mathewson—This beautiful gate at the entrance to Bucknell University's stadium will ever be a memorial to the sterling athlete who always gave his best. It was erected by organized baseball and dedicated as a memorial to Mathewson last June. It is a fitting tribute to a man whose magnanimity in both triumph and disaster has given a deeper significance to athletic endeavor.

(Bucknell News Service)

Will Make Good Wives for Some Men? Seniors at the University of Southern California telling the world that each one has caught a man; and that she expects to marry him soon. It is an annual affair for the engaged girl to step through the traditional pansy wreath of good luck. Stepping through this floral wreath automatically announces an engagement. Probably it's the climate. Who can tell?

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Out for Badger Blood! Alabama will expect great things of her star halfback, Davis Brasfield, when the Southern university meets Wisconsin in one of the most important inter-sectional football games of the season. It will be played at Madison, Wisconsin, on November 3.

(Walter Rosse)

Miss Helen Goodrich, of Medford, Massachusetts—Radcliffe student is the original inspiration of "an old gown and magazine. This may be only a manifestation of Korin crying aloud for more followers in the quest of knowledge—rapidly becoming recognized as a major function of American college life.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Three Prominent Seniors at Harvard. What's wrong with that caption? Certainly, little girl, all seniors are prominent everywhere. Well, then, these are more prominent. They are—left to right—John Pavkington, Jr., secretary and treasurer of the 1929 junior class—football letter man; F. O. Moore, vice president of the 1929 junior class—also a football letter man; and Winslow Carlton, president of the 1929 junior class—member of the student council, treasurer of the Phillips Brooks House, secretary of the Owl Club, and member of Cercle Francaise, Harvard Choate Club, Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770, Iroquois Club, and Bigot Society.

(Harvard Pictorial)

Alligator Aviation model with all-wool lining, snugger for the street—ideal for motoring, $20.00.

Same model in service cloth, unlined, $10.00.

The Smartest Coat of the Season

THE NEW ALLIGATOR AVIATION MODEL

THE new Alligator Aviation model breezes into the Fall season with all the freshness of a crisp autumn day. Alligator has gone far beyond prevailing standards of swagger appearance, fine tailoring and distinctive design. The famous Alligator line includes a wide range of models, attractively tailored from Alligator Balloon Cloth, Alligator Silk and Alligator Slicker fabrics. The exclusive Alligator process makes all models absolutely waterproof under the most drenching rain. Alligators are sold at the best stores and all genuine Alligators bear the Alligator label.

THE ALLIGATOR COMPANY, St. Louis

ALLIGATOR

TRADE-MARK REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

LIGHT AS A FEATHER FOR ALL KINDS OF WEATHER

© C. P. Inc. 1928.

In Memory of Its War Dead. The University of Cincinnati recently opened this beautiful and modern men's dormitory. It is dedicated to the memory of those alumni and students who gave their lives during the World War.

(John P. De Camp)

A Movie Star's Daughter Mops Up. This dainty tar is Miss Frances Rich, of Los Angeles, daughter of Irene Rich, the well known and stately moving picture actress. This was snapped on the Smith College campus where Miss Rich is a popular undergraduate. It looks like a property mop to us.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Steffen Thinks Well of Him. Carnegie Tech looks to Howard Eyth, sophomore half-back, to register considerable yardage this season. Coach Walter Steffen, who spends his non-coaching hours on a judge's bench in Chicago, predicts a great year for this hunky and fleet back.

(Carnegie Tartan)

Black Leads Big Green Team. This is Richard W. Black, a star back and captain of the Dartmouth eleven. Captain Black and Coach Jess Hawley are optimistic about the prospects for this season. One fact is certain; that is, the team will fight to the bitter end, come what may. That snappy Hanover climate breeds fighting men.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Seeks Success Where Missionaries Failed. To gather material for his Doctor's thesis on anthropology, 23-year-old Cornelius Osgood of the University of Chicago will live for fifteen months in the desolate Great Bear Lake region beyond the Arctic Circle and attempt to win the confidence of the weird Hareskin Indians. Two missionaries were murdered by these Indians in 1912. A Northwest mounted policeman brought the murderers back to justice. The only other white men to penetrate the country were the famous Arctic explorers, Stefflamon and his companion, D'Arcy Arden. (Underwood and Underwood)

Prominent in Yale Activities. Joseph E. Lowes, Jr., of Dayton, Ohio, known as Joe in New York, New Haven and points north, such as Northampton. He is a member of Chi Psi, business manager of the Yale News, and secretary of the Senior Class—a permanent office in which he will continue after graduation.

(Yale Pictorial)

117,000 Fans See Notre Dame-Navy Grid Clash in Chicago. Chevigny of Notre Dame racing an end run in the second quarter of game against Navy in Soldier Field, October 13. The largest crowd ever to attend a football game turned out to witness this colorful intersectional struggle.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

(Below) Don't Ponder Any Longer. The one wearing the blanket is the goat.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Demon Photographers!

Snap Into It!

We want pictures to reproduce in this feature—the kind of pictures that will appeal to the student body—unusual pictures—intimate pictures—beautiful pictures.

Prizes for the best action and still picture published each week.

We pay for all pictures accepted.

Submit photographs to the Editor

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

BISONS! LET'S SHOW VILLANOVA WHAT REAL FOOTBALL IS

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII | LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1928. | PART NO. ONE | NUMBER 8

L'AGENDA PHOTO SCHEDULE ON PAGE 4

Piles up 134 Points in First Two Games! The Lafayette eleven has started the football season with a rush at the fast pace of more than a "point a minute"—the mythical goal of ambitious coaches. Albright was defeated in the first game by 78 to 0, and Muhlenberg fell in the next game by 56 to 0. Here are 14 first string men. Left to right—Back row: Wilson, Morrison, Woodfin, Shellenberger, Pursell, Chimenti, Captain Guest. Front row: Sherwood, Soloff, Thompson, Kressler, Sarni, Shelly, McKean. (James W. Bertolet)

The Furrowed Brow of a Football Genius. Coach Bob Zuppke is leading the University of Illinois for the sixteenth successive year. He has made an enviable record and is usually found near the top. Last season his team won the Conference championship without any doubts about its superiority. This year the team looks good, but the canny coach is warning his charges about the insidious dangers of being too optimistic.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Right from Yale to the International Polo Four! Frederick Winston Churchill Guest, captain of the Yale polo team last year, was one of the outstanding stars in the defeat of the Argentines by the United States in the recent international series. Three games were required to decide the championship of the Americas as the Argentines won the second game. Guest did marvelous work in the deciding game which the United States won by 12 to 7. This is the first time that a college player has made a name for himself in international polo within a few months of his being graduated from college. Guest, apparently, has a long career in polo ahead of him. He played Number 4, or back, succeeding Cleveland Milburn, who recently announced his retirement.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Wellesley College Starts a New Year. Students gathering before first chapel services. The senior dons her cap and gown.

(Wide World)

Stout, Steady, and serviceable—that's the way Captain Bruce Dunnie, of the Colgate football team, looks to us. Apparently, there are no frills about this big gridiron warrior. He is a plays guard, and he has also made an enviable reputation as a kicker.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

The Little Giant of Wisconsin. This is "Bo" Cuisinier, midget of the Cardinal squad, who scored one touchdown and played a prominent part in that early season grid upset when the Badgers downed the mighty Notre Dame. Cuisinier is a clever ball carrier and passer and his showing in his initial appearance in college football gives promise of a great gridiron career.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Collects Many "M's." Steve Hamas expects to win his fifth letter standing record at Penn State by winning one next spring in his college days. The pigskin star has tied a mark which has been strained by Bo Lingren, Gerry Kellogan, Mike Palm, and Harlow Haines. Hamas now has six letters. He won four last year, four in football, basketball, track, and baseball. If he wins four this year, the record is his.

(W. S. Turner)

Wellesley College Starts a New Year. Students gathering before first chapel services. The senior dons her cap and gown.

(Wide World)

The Snuggle Rug

ENJOY FOOTBALL and Other Seasonable Out-door Sports with a

SNUGGLE RUG

For sale by leading stores everywhere

SNUGGLE RUG COMPANY GOSHEN, INDIANA

Manz Rotogravure

GETTYSBURG GRIDDERS STAGE RALLY TO UPSET BISONS, WINNING 14-12

Bisons Earn Most First Downs But Hubisack and McMillan Get Thru For Touchdowns

HALICKI, JONES, ELLOR, AND HAMBACKER HURT

Bucknell's 1928 eastern collegiate football championship aspirations received a severe jolt last Saturday at Gettysburg, when the battlefield grid warriors staged a belated rally in the final period and nosed out the Bisons by a 14-12 score. Charley Spangler, brilliant Gettysburg halfback, provided the margin of victory for his team by successfully drop-kicking the two extra points after the pair of touchdowns had been scored.

The Orange and Blue eleven, led by captain "Eddie" Halicki, made an impressive start by tallying a touchdown just six minutes after play began. The Lewisburg aggregation kicked off to Gettysburg, but the home team failed to gain through the line and was forced to kick.

Bucknell then started a steady march down the field, that resulted in a touchdown. Capain Halicki, Brumbaugh, and Ammerman bore the brunt of the work in carrying the pigskin, and the Bison leader finally plunged over the Gettysburg line for the first score of the game. Halicki, handicapped by his troublesome headgear, failed in an attempt to kick the extra point.

Halicki Forced To Retire

Soon after the next kick-off, Halicki sustained a severe hip injury and was forced out of the combat. Halicki's loss was keenly felt, especially in the last period when the winners staged a garrison finish and gained an unexpected triumph.

Ross replaced Halicki, and the Bucknell team started another march down the field. Brumbaugh and Ross aided materially in the making of another score by the execution of a long pass that netted the Bisons a 47-yard gain. Ross, standing 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage, hurled a beautiful pass to the fleet-footed Brumbaugh, who ran 30 yards before he was brought to the turf. Tony Slate, hard-plunging halfback, personally conducted the ball across the goal line by weaving his way through an intricate enemy defense

(Continued on last page)

Dr. Hamblin Flays Party Propaganda

"We evade and shirk party government, yet we have an effective means of party compulsion," said Dr. Hamblin in his address on "Observations on American Elections," given in chapel, Tuesday morning, October 30.

That business will follow the modern trend in spite of the party in power was a fact emphasized by Dr. Hamblin who claimed, "Sponge talk of prosperity off your slate, and you'll get somewhere."

Dr. Hamblin discussed the attitudes of the democratic and republican parties regarding prohibition, religion, moral issues, and farm relief. "Righteousness in politics" is the one standard for all men, all women, and all parties, according to Dr. Hamblin. It is the rule to guide intellectual, rational creatures.

Concerning his own position and party affiliations the speaker remarked, "I am observing on the fence. I am a progressive republican."

The average person, Dr. Hamblin noted, generally reads one paper and only one paper. In this connection the weekly paper "Time" was cited as a truly non-partisan paper, amidst innumerable propagandist publications.

SCRANTON HOTEL PLANS B. U. FOOTBALL DANCE

The annual Bucknell football dance will be held at the Hotel Germyn in Scranton on Saturday evening following the Bucknell-Villanova game. Syncopation will be furnished by the Blue Band.

Many alumni are expected to attend this affair, which will tend to make it a huge success. The Villanovans will hold a separate dance, probably in the Hotel Casey, on the same evening.

Council and "Sem" Ban Dating at Games

No more fussing at football games! Unanimously the Student Council recommended that there be no dating at games in the future. The "Sem" past a unanimous vote outlawing the practice.

The decision followed a short speech made by "Mal" Musser before each individual group. Unlimited support greeted the proposition which will set a precedent for all future contests. Additional impetus given to the cheering section will result in increased spirit.

According to the Athletic Council's plans the women students will be seated by classes in the lower half of Section E. The men likewise seated by classes will occupy the remainder of that section.

Any daters must purchase seats in other sections, and budget tickets will not be accepted for those seats.

LOYALTIES MUST FACE UP TO TRUTH, URGES PRES. HUNT

He Who is Faithful in Least Is Faithful in Much, Adds "Prexy" in Sermon

That every loyalty should be subject to the final test of truth was stressed by President Emory W. Hunt in his sermon on "Our Loyalties" at the annual Student Fellowship service at the Baptist church on Sunday, October 28.

"He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much," "Because conduct is grounded in character, therefore, Dr. Hunt pointed out, the faithful individual will be faithful in the little as well as the big things.

"Our Loyalties" included loyalty to father, to mother, to friends, to government, and to institutions. But the consideration which has to dominate is, "Can I be loyal to friends, to party and to government and be loyal to truth too?"

An obvious conflict of loyalties was experienced by Robert Lee at the beginning of the Civil War. He was superintendant of West Point and commanding the department of Texas for the United States. And then Virginia seceded, and Robert Lee was a Virginian.

Fundamental and supreme is loyalty to God. President Hunt remarked that we never enthuse over an abstraction, and so God is made incarnate, concrete in Jesus Christ. The church may be criticized, but Dr. Hunt emphasized the fact that, imperfect as it is, it is the only organization trying in a definite way to carry on God's purposes in the world.

At the conclusion of Dr. Hunt's sermon approximately 30 students received the Right Hand of Student Fellowship from Dr. West. All students were invited to come in to this fellowship relation regardless of their faith, entering solely on the basis of allegiance to Jesus Christ.

Infirmary Gets 8 After Sat. Games

The football games of last Saturday brought business to the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary. When the players arrived in Lewisburg, eight reported to the home for ailing athletes. All but three were discharged by Sunday afternoon.

Captain "Eddie" Halicki, with a wrenched side, is still fretting under medical care. Frankly, Mr. Halicki is not at all satisfied with life in the infirmary.

A minor operation to relieve an infected leg was performed Sunday morning upon Frank Grubb, '32, who was taken to the infirmary Saturday afternoon. Frank will probably be around the institution for the disabled for a few days.

Others who were hanging out at the hospital at the beginning of the week were: Stephen Trudnak, '32, and John Young, '32.

"VIC" MEYER, '29, STARS IN PLAY BY CAP AND DAGGER

Presentation of "The Valiant," Also One-act Play "Sham," Pleases Big Audience

Continuing the long Cap and Dagger tradition of excellence, H. Victor Meyer, president of the dramatic club, gave a powerful interpretation of a difficult part, in the one-act tragedy, "The Valiant," played in Bucknell Hall, last Friday evening. Highly regrettable is the fact that the sentimental and in many ways artificial production was not worthy of the handling it received.

In this play, the "wandering boy" theme is played to its limit—not even the customarily sick mother being left out—, while the entire action turns upon a not-too-convincing coincidence. Sagacy though it is, the little drama gives a genuine task to its leading player, who is required to recreate a serious character during the time when conflicting elements in an already tragic situation force him to the most intense moment of his life. Meyer carried this task off in mature fashion, with neither a self-conscious blundering nor a sloping over into tearful sentimentalism. R. Henry Coleman, in the less exacting role of "Warden Holt," gave an equally finished performance. Blair Hazen was perhaps a little artificial, on account of slightly overplaying his part of "Father Daly,"—if the term "over-playing" may be applied to the too extreme interpretation of a part in which meekness and colorlessness are the characteristics.

"Sham," the one-act play produced earlier in the evening, was accomodatingly labeled "A Satire in One Act," on the program. It is to be hoped that this was not due to any misgiving as to the ability of the audience to perceive the author's purpose, for, in the opinion of the reviewer, the obviousness of the play was its outstanding defect. In spite of this weakness, the production was effective from the standpoint of interest—this being largely creditable to the smooth working of the cast. The best performance in this play was contributed by Fritz Yost, whose ease and ready speech gave his characterization the polish of sophistication which it needed. There were no "character parts" or "types" in either production. A good sized audience witnessed the plays.

M. E. Students Hold Peppy Cabin Party

A fleet of automobiles loaded to the "gunwales" conveyed a large group of Methodist students to the Shawnitzer Cabin near Weikert where the annual Cabin Party was held last Saturday afternoon. The day was spent in hiking over the mountains and in various out-door games. A spirited volley ball game was won by the team captained by "Hop" Shepherd despite the strong opposition of the warriors of "Hen" Stere. A committee of ladies of the church served a very tasty luncheon topped off by pumpkin pie which has made the party famous. Everybody present reported a good time.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS ANNUAL CANDLE LIGHT SERVICE

A meeting of old and new Y. W. members was held in the living room of the new dormitory on Monday evening, October 21. Jessie Fielding, '29, the president, stressed the idea that the organization is not a local one or even national, but is a part of an international movement. "Em" Maxwell, '30, vice president, explained the purpose of the Y. W. Membership cards were given out to about 100 new members.

The Y. W. C. A. held its annual recognition service for new members Sunday evening, October 28, in the organ room of Larison Hall. The candle light service was very impressive, and special music was rendered by the girls' quartet.

College boys are strongly in favor of air mail, having found that they can get money from home twenty-four hours sooner.

STAGE IS READY FOR TILT ON SAT. WITH VILLANOVA

Bison Anxious to Redeem Defeat Of Last Sat. By Taking Over Catholic Lads in Scranton

The football classic of the anthracite regions will be staged at Scranton on Saturday, when the Bucknell Bisons, the conquerors of Penn State, will endeavor to wrest the laurels of victory from a formidable and undefeated Villanova College eleven.

Still wincing over the defeat given them by Gettysburg, the Susquehanna are anxious to wipe out last Saturday's beating by taking the Catholic lads from Philadelphia into camp. Villanova, with an unusually strong team this fall, is determined to avenge last fall's setback.

In the past three years, Bucknell and Villanova have met on the gridiron three times. In 1926 the Main Liners vanquished their Lewisburg foemen 7-3, Monahan scoring a touchdown in the final minutes of play. Trimmer gave Bucknell three points in the first quarter by booting a 33-yard goal.

Last fall it was a different story. Bucknell and Villanova lined up against each other at Scranton in the second big meeting between the two rivals. In a contest that was featured with many thrills, the Bisons finally subdued the Villanovans, gaining a well-earned 28-12 victory.

Both teams will be primed for this battle. With the exception of State, this is the big contest on the Bucknell schedule. Coach Snavely, in an effort to win this game, will send his strongest lineup on the field.

Halicki Will Play

Captain "Eddie" Halicki, who was injured in the Gettysburg game, will probably be able to start the contest against Villanova at the fullback post. The Bison leader was confined to the infirmary early this week, but will probably be in shape to play.

Hambacker, although on the in-

(Continued on last page)

Belles to Hop With Lehigh on Nov. 10

The annual Belle Hop dance, one of the red letter social events of the season, will be staged in the Tustin Gym, on the night of the Lehigh game, November 10. "Turk" Jones, editor-in-chief of the Belle Hop, Bucknell University's comic publication, has secured the services of "Red" Hitchens twelve-piece concert and dance orchestra for the evening.

In past years this dance has always been the outstanding all-college function of the year and this one promises to be no exception. The music makers for the evening, under the direction of Hitchens, are primed for the event.

A large number of tickets has been placed on sale at Bethlehem, and many Lehigh students have voiced their intentions of attending.

Programs, designed along the lines of a catalog, enumerate the list of stock jokes being offered by the humorous publication. This is only one of the many novel features which promises to make this dance an attractive and successful affair.

As usual all varsity football men are invited as guests of the Belle Hop staff to attend this colorful event which is always staged near the close of the football season.

"WHY DO WE WEEP?" IS TITLE OF LUND'S TALK

"Why do we weep?" was the subject of Dr. Frederick H. Lunds' talk to the members of the Biological Society last evening in B6.

The newly-elected officers took charge of the Society at the same time. They are: Geddes W. Simpson, '29, president; Charles E. Mohr, '30, vice president; Frank S. Storaci, '29, treasurer.

Dr. Lund illustrateed his talk on "Lachrymation" with examples from his studies on psycopathic individuals at the Danville State Hospital.

The seemingly incongruous fact that we may weep not only on leaving our friends, but also on their return after prolonged absence, is due to the dramatic element in both situations.

HOOVER WINS, THOMAS RUNS CLOSE 2ND, IN STRAW VOTE POLLED BY BUCKNELLIAN

Only 3 Per Cent. of Students Cast Ballot in Test Vote; Only 3 Support Smith

4 FRATERNITIES, ONE SORORITY, REPRESENTED

Upsetting all predictions and estimates, Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate, emulated the British Labor Party by crashing through into a strong second place, in the Bucknellian's presidential straw vote this week, which was marked by an almost total apathy on the part of the student body. Herbert Hoover won the poll, while Alfred E. Smith was buried 13 to 1 in last place. The final results of the test vote were: Hoover, 23; Thomas, 16; Smith, 3.

Only three per cent. of the Bucknell students cast ballots in this straw vote, and but four fraternities and one sorority were represented. The honors for mental alertness, as shown by this poll, go to the non-fraternity group, which cast 14 votes (exactly one-third of the total); to the Beta Kappa fraternity, which cast 12 votes; and to the Sigma Sigma Delta sorority, with 6 votes. The other student groups which were heard from bestirred themselves only to the extent of a single ballot apiece. Six votes were received from the faculty, these lining up in the same order as those of the students, Hoover receiving three, Thomas two, and Smith, one.

Among the four classes, the honors for voting activity are nearly even. Interesting to note is the fact that it was in the sophomore group that Hoover won his victory over Thomas. In the three other classes, the two candidates broke exactly even, each receiving 14 votes. However, Hoover carried the second year group by a 9-2 plurality which gave him his seven vote margin over Thomas in the total count. This margin, cut down by the three votes for Smith, leaves him a final majority over both his rivals, of four votes.

The slender victory of the Repub-

(Continued on last page.)

Jolly Party Staged By Frill and Frown

Not only Frills and Frowns but an abundance of grins and laughs were in evidence at the annual Hallowe'en party given by the Bucknell co-eds on Wednesday evening, October 31.

The dinner party, which came first, was a big success, for it not only included excellent food, but was attractively served in a decidedly "Hallowe'enish" atmosphere. The dining room was decorated with black and orange crepe paper and huge bowls of chrysanthemums. At first shift there was a Frill and Frown table, decorated in green and gold, the colors of the organization, and the members wore costumes of the same colors.

The Faculty table at second shift was also specially decorated.

Most of the girls were in costume, from simple clown effects to the most elaborate colonial, and all sat according to classes, so that songs could be sung. Games and dancing were enjoyed in the gym until 6:45, when a one-act comedy, "Lima Beans," by Alfred Kromburg, was given by "Em" Maxwell, '30, who took the part of the huckster. "Sally" Porter, '29, was Perrette, and "Betty" Siegfried, '29, was Pierrot.

At 7:15, cider and doughnuts were served, after which the party broke up regretfully, due to the "quiet hour" regulation.

COUNCIL TO ASK CHANGE IN LENGTH OF HOLIDAYS

The Student Council will recommend to the faculty that additional vacation time be granted at the Christmas holidays, while the Thanksgiving period be limited to one day.

In conformity with student opinion the council decided to favor the change, although the vote was not unanimous.

The "Sem" expressed its desire for a vacation by a vote of 178-95. Men students cast their vote against the regular holiday recess, in view of due compensation at the Yuletide season.

BABY BISONS WIN HARD GAME FROM KEYSTONE ELEVEN

Even Battle Ends in 6-0 Score; Stonebreaker and Young Star for Bucknell

Bucknell's Baby Bisons scored an impressive victory over the strong Keystone Academy eleven on Saturday 6-0, when Stonebreaker tore off an 80 yard dash in the third period, placing the ball in a position for Joe Kastreva to tally around end on the ext play.

The game was evenly fought throughout the four periods, neither aggregation having an edge to brag about. Both teams were in scoring positions, but were kept at bay by remarkable defensive work on the parts of the opposing teams.

The first quarter was not marked by any playing out of the ordinary. The ball was kept almost entirely in mid-field, both field-generals being content to play conservative football and to feel out the opposing line. Bucknell forged to the front in the second session, however, twice working the leather well in the Keystone territory but the Bisons were held off by desperate fighting on the part of the home team.

When the whistle sounded for the half, it looked like anybody's game and that the score would undoubtably result from a "break." This turned out to be so, and alert playing on the part of Stonebreaker, Bucknell's crack end-man, turned the tide. Keystone, by means of a powerful offensive drive that the Bucknell crippled line could not stop, pounded itself close to the Bison final white mark. Here the yearlings held and Keystone was forced to try the over-head way. The flying egg, however, never did get to the Keystone receiver, for Stonebreaker nailed the whizzing ball as it sailed into his zone and away he went towards the distant Keystone goal. Stone-

(Continued on last page)

3 To Represent B. U. As Women Deans Meet

Dean Amelia E. Clark, Miss Lulu Coe, and Miss Margaret Lawson will represent Bucknell at the annual meeting of the State Association of the Deans of Women which will convene at the Penn-Harris hotel in Harrisburg, November 2 and 3.

The speakers at the association's gathering will include: Mrs. Frances Blanchard, president of the association and assistant dean of Women at Swarthmore College, Miss Theyas Amos, dean of women at the University of Pittsburgh, Miss Helen Marks, dean at the Pennsylvania College for Women, and Miss Helen Taft Manning, dean of Bryn Mawr college.

Membership in the association includes deans of women of normal schools, colleges, universities, and also advisers of girls in high schools.

Miss Mary Mathias, the adviser of girls at the Lewisburg High School, will accompany the Bucknell faculty members.

"Judy" Robertson, '30, entertained her father here on Monday.

* * * *

Gerhardt Glahn, '32, spent the week-end at his home in Shamokin.

* * * *

Alta Vasburg, '29, spent last week-end at her home in Clark's Summit, Pa.

* * * *

With our Thanksgiving turkey this year we shall also consume the Temple Owls.

* * * *

Only 1152 hours 'till Christmas vacation starts, and every 60 minutes gone means one hour less.

* * * *

A "Semite" was heard to say: "Let's play with our dolls." Has Santa Claus been here already?

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Leach, both of '07, visited their sister Kathryn Leach, '30, over the last week-end.

* * * *

The reason for our defeat at the hands of Gettysburg is now out. "Mac" McElligot was not at the game.

* * * *

Charles Edward Mills, '32, accompanied by "Bob" Barton, '30, spent the week-end at his home in Athens, Pa.

* * * *

"About the only well clothed things these days are baked potatoes with their jackets on," says a Bucknell frosh.

* * * *

"Hawk" Graham, '31, spent the past week-end visiting his home town and renewing old acquaintances in Wyoming and Forty-Fort.

* * * *

Miss Amanda Stout, Mrs. Earl Poole, and Dr. Levi Mengel, all of Reading, visited "Kitty" Boyer, '29, on Thursday, October 25.

* * * *

Vincent Wayland, ex-'31, of Brookville, hitch-hiked all night to be back among old friends again and to see the Lafayette game on Saturday.

* * * *

While the fellows were cutting the wood for the ben-fire "Cap" Sargant wanted to know why they chopped the trees down and then chopped them up.

* * * *

The victrolas in the new dormitory are going to have a rest over the week-ends, since the entire "dorm" now dances to the music from sorority dances.

* * * *

The Phi Gams had a very forgetful guest over Home-coming week-end. He left a brand new Chrysler roadster and the boys have laid claim to the vehicle.

* * * *

In a recent education quiz, the marks ranged anywhere from 21 to 69. Some one has to be on the bottom to hold up the rest of the list, so cheer up 21.

* * * *

Ruth Andrews went home to spend last week-end and missed the train coming back. Ruth was standing in the station, but it seems the train failed to stop. Consequently Ruth arrived at 5:30 a. m. Monday.

* * * *

If the crowd is much larger next Home-coming, we wonder where the students will sleep. The beds were so full this year at the "Sem" and at fraternity houses, that any more visitors would have been too many.

* * * *

"Featherweight" paddles appeared at the Sigma Chi house last week and were promptly condemned. "Too thin," said the actives, "bring us something serviceable." Has anyone any old lumber, preferably two-by-fours?

* * * *

"Art" Shorts and "Don" Brubaker, after successfully toting a fair-sized "kitty" to Gettysburg, were more than pleased, afterwards, that the otherwise loyal G-burgers refused to consider the chances of their team favorably.

* * * *

Girard says that the term "common cold" is a misnomer because every person that has a cold thinks that it's the most extraordinary thing he has ever had. So say we all, especially when our colds are particularly severe.

* * * *

It is generally believed that making freshmen boys wear girls' dresses and ornament themselves as such at the game on Saturday was not very bitter punishment, for the criminal "fussers" seemed to enjoy the conspicuousness.

Aren't women repulsive enough without increasing their natural handicaps by rigging them up in disgusting attire?

* * * *

A co-ed was heard to remark that she wouldn't mind falling in love with a certain pianist, for he had a "marvelous touch."

* * * *

Victor "Shiek" Olyear, '32, is learning to know Milton. His senior friends cannot supply him with dates rapidly enough to satisfy his demands.

* * * *

Professor and Mrs. William H. Coleman and their son, Henry, '28, were among the Sunday dinner guests at the "Sem."

* * * *

A co-ed delcared very forcibly that she was not going to "eat" about her friends anymore. Evidently, President Emory W. Hunt's sermon had some good effects.

* * * *

The sophomore girls were disappointed when they had to admit that the freshmen girls didn't look so silly with their opened umbrellas on Tuesday, when it began to rain.

* * * *

Can you beat this? An upperclassman was heard asking a freshman to what fraternity he had been pledged, and the answer was, "Oh that one called 'K triangle P.' "

* * * *

The game with Lafayette had a good effect on some poor unfortunate. After the game, an abandoned wheelchair was found in the cast stands. The owner was evidently cured by the excitement of the struggle.

* * * *

The umbrellas carried by the girls of '32 serve their purpose after all—they prove an excellent screen to hide the faces of the owners when a member of the opposite sex approaches.

* * * *

Hallowe'en brings its usual parties, and the "Sem" is not to be found lacking. An actual "woodsy" frolic of the midnight-cider-drinking variety took place in the "Woodshed" at Annex last week. Fortunes, pumpkins, and real ghosts!

* * * *

Ruth de Turke, '31, is spending almost all her spare time in the infirmary at Women's College. We're hoping Ruth will soon get tired of the quiet there, and come back to third floor Larison to make her share of the "required" noise.

* * * *

The girls cannot tell whether it is a mouse or a dead leaf flying across the floor these days, especially if there are trees in the neighborhood of their windows. More than one scream has turned into a giggle, and more than one mouse into a brown leaf.

* * * *

A freshman girl remarked the other day that she was hoarse from saying "hello" so many times to everyone she met. It would be interesting to know just how many times a day this word has been repeated by the girls of the freshman class.

* * * *

Fourteen co-eds and college boys were entertained by Helen Lyman, '31, and her, sister Ruth, '32, at a Hallowe'en party given at their home on South Seventh street, Monday evening. Semi-rustic decorations contributed much to make the party a success.

* * * *

The boys on the Hill who were too sleepy and tired to get out of bed about three o'clock Saturday morning and seek the cause of the racket that was going on, were enlightened in the morning when they noticed that a big "31" had replaced the "32" on the tank back by the stadium.

* * * *

Dr. L. Brillouin, a French professor, says that our American universities are a world of their own and are characterized by such an open curiosity and eager enthusiasm as are found in no other of our institutions. After all, college isn't such a bad place.

* * * *

The weary miles to Lewisburg were spent enjoyably by the returning football team after the Gettysburg game. The "square-market" revealed a stand loaded with large, luscious grapes and about 50 pounds of them found their way into the Bucknell bus, to be eagerly devoured on the way home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lemon of Cherry Tree, Pa., spent the homecoming week-end with their daughter Dorothy Lemon, '29.

* * * *

Why didn't we have our band and cheer-leader at Gettysburg? It's only 150 miles away and what a help they would have been!

* * * *

"Barb" Wagner, ex-'30, visited the "Sem" for a few minutes on a recent Monday afternoon. "Barb" is at home in Hartleton now.

* * * *

The mental slant of some of the Bucknell youths is certainly peculiar. Just recently a freshman was overheard refering to a lady as "an old woman of 35."

* * * *

There really should be a special entrance into the "Sem" dining room for the benefit of the faculty. These august members are daily endangered by the stampede for food which the "Semites" engage in.

* * * *

The marks in a test which Professor William H. Eyster recently gave to his botany class ranged all the way from 14 to 99. The members of the class must believe in the well-known saying, "Variety is the spice of life."

* * * *

Frances Davison, '31, and "Betty" Huxley, '30, were evidently so interested in the downfall of the "Nittany Lions" that they followed that team to Philadelphia last week to see its second defeat.

* * * *

The Tri-Delt suite has recently been flooded with a half bushel of select apples direct from the orchard of the Bloomsburg Fruit Growers Association. The girls at least won't need the services of the infirmary for a few days.

* * * *

"Seeing things in the Library" might be a very good topic for some freshman's theme when the young English student's inspiration is low. It is remarkable what humorous bits of drama are enacted in the silence of the Library rooms.

* * * *

Several weeks ago Professor H. L. Childs took his class in elementary law down to the courthouse to inspect the library and to get the students acquainted with its books. The boys were given the privilege of using it whenever they desired.

* * * *

The "four-mile" is most attractive on moonlight nights, according to the number of sign-out slips appearing in the box with the four-mile as a "destination." The Women's Athletic Association needs hikers. Let us have more out for our nightly prowls!

* * * *

Esther Hipple, '31, was lately presented with two small turtles. So far she has not succeeded in persuading them that dead flies are good to eat, but despite their forced diet they both seem in the best of health, and entertain the people living on the third floor of the new dormitory, with their absurd antics.

* * * *

The straw vote for president taken in Professor O. W. Elsbree's history 215 class resulted in a decided majority for Hoover. The count was—Hoover, 30; Smith, 7; Norman Thomas, 1. Such a vote tends to disprove the common conception people in general have of the "wet" college student.

* * * *

The report was brought to the attention of the house president of the new dorm that for once the freshmen on fourth floor were as quiet as though there was a funeral. It proved that there wasn't a single soul on the floor—they were all, at that time, before Student Senate because of numerous delinquiencies.

* * * *

Among the fair co-eds in the new dormitory there are signs of interest in the coming presidential election. On many doors one sees large signs with "Hoover," and on many others signs with "Smith." At different times during the day, strains of the "Sidewalks" of New York" or "Hoover Forever" can be heard.

* * * *

The cleaning women of the new dormitory seem to have the habit of sampling fruit and candy the girls may have in their rooms. However, the joke was on them the other day when they helped themselves liberally to a box of delicious fruit patties which, besides being pleasant to the taste, were also something "Babies Cry For."

* * * *

The pianos in the basement rooms of Harris Hall have a peculiar habit of disappearing for a day or two, and then suddenly reappearing. It is very annoying not to be able to trust pianos to stay where they belong. We must confess that we do not envy the men who have to move the pianos when they are taken on their frequent journeys.

"DOT" WOLVERTON TELLS OF LIFE IN ALBANIAN SCHOOL

The many friends of Dorothy Wolverton, '28, may be interested to hear something of her whereabouts, since she went to teach in Albania. Up to the present time, the report is very favorable. "Dot" has been neither sea-sick nor homesick, but has enjoyed all kinds of thrills. Her itinerary has been as follows: New York to Havre on board La France; boat train to Paris to spend several delightful days; overland to Lausanne, where "Dot" and "Gerry" stayed at the Palace Hotel overlooking Lake Geneva; by rail to Venice, where the girls experienced "honest-to- goodness" gondola rides! and finally by a kind of freight boat from Trieste to Durezzo, Albania. The "Lucine" was an accommodation boat, making eight stops, each of several hours duration, Pola, Lussimpiecomo, Zara (the home of maraschino cherries), Spalto, Gravaso, Catarro (heavily fortified), and St. Jean de Medua. (The names are inserted to show "Dot's" difficulty.) A new Ford carried the Americans from Durazzo to Kapias Institute, which is situated on top of a beautiful mountain, three miles from Tirana, capital of Albania.

Contrary to former expectations, "Dot" has been assigned to teach English, comparable to our fifth-grade work. According to her very enthusiastic report, the children are making remarkable progress, for they can speak French, Italian, and Albanian. All classes are taught in English, but the other languages are spoken at table on certain days. "Dot" wrote that she can say "I'm hungry" in each language.

Speaking of being hungry suggests the idea of the kind of meals that are served. On Friday, October 5, dinner consisted of rice soup, meat cooked with copra, tomatoes, squash, pepper, grapes, and plenty of brown bread and water. After dinner at 3 p. m., when "Dot" and her Texas friend were grouping the children to play games, we were going to nine o'clock classes. Friday, was a holiday in Albania, for it is the Mohammedan Sunday. Quite characteristically "Dot" closed her last letter by mentioning the fact that she was "broke" and all the music she has heard was classical and she is anxious to hear some good American Jazz.

Not only does Jiggs, the Sigma Chi police dog, seek the intellectual atmosphere of the two o'clock journalism class, but he objects strenuously when he is requested to leave. The other day he gave two mournful howls when one of the students led him out of the room at the beginning of the period.

* * * *

Two co-eds, bound for the general session of the education conference, arrived at Bucknell Hall promptly at 8 o'clock to find the place empty. Returning fifteen minutes later, they found it still empty. The joke was on them, it having occurred to them to look at their programs, they discovered that the session was being held at Commencement Hall.

* * * *

Some of the freshmen boys cannot see any logic in playing soccer with nothing more for protection against the cold than gym suits. Maybe by the time they leave Bucknell they will have become a little more familiar with modern conceptions of physical culture. Perhaps after a time some of them will become modernized enough to discard the "red flannels."

* * * *

"Bill" Genne, '31, had to turn his room into a veritable sign-painting studio to paint the largest sign that has been displayed on the university campus for several years. The sign measured four feet by five and half feet. "Bill" had to tack the sheet to the wall and stand on a chair to paint it. He was almost overcome with grief when the wind came along while he was transporting it from his room to the stadium and nearly destroyed the product.

* * * *

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

Bucknell trees have lost their leaves,
And can't tell where to find them;
For men came with rakes of various makes,
And dragged off the leaves behind them.

Thirty dates had Ruth Marie,
Mary, June, and Maybelle Lee.
Elizabeth had twenty-eight alone.
All the rest had thirty-one.
Except in Leap Year, that's the time
When Elizabeth's dates were forty-nine.

Family trees aren't like others. In others, appearance of sap is an indication of continued vigor.

"Commuters League" Organized by Co-eds

At the regular meeting of the girl commuters held on a recent morning, it was agreed that the organization shall be called "The Commuters League."

The committee appointed to draw up a tentative constitution presented a constitution which was unanimously approved and adopted.

The constitution in brief provides: (1) That the object of The Commuters League is to maintain and promote the interests of commuters and to aid them in forming a closer and more harmonious contact with college life; (2) That membership shall include all girl commuters; (3) That all freshmen and new girls shall, before the opening of the college year, be notified of the existence of The Commuters League and their membership in it; and (4) That regular meetings shall be held every Wednesday from 10 to 10:30 a. m.

The girls anticipate an interesting and profitable future for The Commuters League and to that end they are all striving.

A free country is one that passes laws to please its conscience and then breaks them to please its appetite.

THE PURITY

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Heaburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

The Growth of L'Agenda

By WILBUR WENTZ
(Editor of the 1930 Edition)

Activities which have their function outside of the classroom are almost an absolute necessity to the life of a university. The pioneers in our higher educational systems found this to be true many years ago, and present educators are finding that outside activities are not only valuable in themselves, as they tend to develop the student's talents, but they also aid in the development of the university. What would our present college be like without our athletics, organizations, clubs, fraternities, and teams? And also, what would our activities be like without some record of them, or some reminder of the way we have spent our under-graduate days? And here is the function of L'Agenda.

L'Agenda views with a photographic eye all that takes place in organized and in some unorganized activities outside of the classroom. It records our athletic triumphs and defeats, it pictures the individual as he or she is a part of campus life, and it chronicles all events during the year.

However, to explain the function of L'Agenda is to speak of something which is generally known, but in speaking of its history, we find unfamiliar ground. It is truly an interesting development which L'Agenda has undergone since it was created away back in 1889. To trace its development in every respect would require a volume in itself, but it is enough to make a brief mention of some of the more important changes and ideas.

In 1889 R. M. West, who is at present the student pastor, and W. C. Gretzinger, with a very small following, decided to create an annual here at Bucknell. They started with nothing but a lot of enthusiasm and plenty of ambition. There was no example that they could follow. There was no precedent. It is true that they could use annuals from other colleges for their models, but this was not a great aid in compiling a book which was to represent life at Bucknell. These pioneers, by much labor and many sacrifices, put out the first edition of L'Agenda. It was only a small book, about five and a half inches by eight inches, and it cannot be compared to our modern annuals in any respect. But it is a noble piece of work in that it was the first L'Agenda.

This L'Agenda of 1889 contained a complete record of the campus life of that year, but it was greatly limited in having so few activities to record and chronicle. There were only about ten persons on the faculty, and fewer than a hundred students. There were three fraternities and a few clubs in existence here at that time. The result was that the staff was compelled to fall back upon literary material to make the book complete. And in truth, the annual in the first decade of its existence was largely literary. Bucknell was not a highly organized university at that time, and it naturally follows that a picture of its student activities could not be an elaborate one.

The precedent set by the students of 1889 was too great an achievement for the next three classes to follow, and it was not until 1895 that another annual was produced. This one differed only slightly from the first volume. However, there had been a number of clubs organized between 1889 and 1893, and these activities could all be recognized. In this book there was the first full-page cut. The first book used only some small photographs of individuals. The '92 L'Agenda also contained several student pen-and-ink drawings.

As the university developed, so L'Agenda, in exercising its function, expanded. In '94 there were more full-page pictures and less poetry, histories, and articles. It is interesting to note the dedication of this edition. It was respectfully dedicated to the "Junior's Lady Love."

In '95 the idea of fraternity pictures was introduced. In '97 the staff made a complete change and published a book which was unlike any of those preceding. It was very complete and contained a great number of pen-and-ink drawings, as well as many good photographs. In '99 L'Agenda underwent another change. Instead of retaining its previous size, which was little bigger than a text book, it assumed proportions which are even more extensive than those used today. However, the contents remained practically the same.

The year 1900 saw the introduction of individual junior pictures and writeups, and '00 contained faculty individual pictures and writeups.

In 1913 the year-book calendar was introduced in L'Agenda. This idea remained in vogue for some years. In '14, besides the regular material which was being used by this time, there was a complete literary department. In 1921 the idea of having a view section was brought in. Then in 1924 the book underwent a number of changes and established a number of customs which have remained until this time.

WITH THE FACULTY

A prominent feature in the Bucknell Alumni Monthly for October is an interesting account of the ten faculty members added to the University teaching staff this fall. The demands of modern education for smaller classes and larger faculties have made this addition necessary. It is a noteworthy fact that four of the new members are Bucknell alumni, two of whom already possess doctorates. Six doctors in all are added to the staff.

C. H. RICHARDSON

Dr. Clarence H. Richardson comes to Bucknell after ten years at Georgetown College, where he taught mathematics. He takes the place of Dr. William C. Bartol, '72, retired. Dr. Richardson received his undergraduate work at the University of Kentucky where he was graduated in 1913. He holds an A. M. from the University of Illinois and a Ph. D. from Michigan. He will have the James S. Swartz Chair of Mathematics.

H. L. CHILDS

Dr. Harwood L. Childs comes to the department of political science with faculty experience at William and Mary in Virginia and Syracuse. He is a graduate of Dartmouth where he also received his A. M. His Ph. D. is from the University of Chicago.

W. H. EYSTER, '14

Dr. William H. Eyster, '14, returned to his alma mater this fall from a year abroad under a Guggenheim Fellowship spent in Germany doing reasearch work in botany. Dr. Eyster will have charge of the new Botany Building. He holds an A. B. and an A. M. from Bucknell, and a Ph. D. from Cornell. He has done advanced work in botany at Harvard, the University of Missouri, and the University of Maine.

F. R. HAMBLIN, '14

Dr. F. Russell Hamblin, son of Dr. Thomas F. Hamblin, retired, steps into his father's place as professor of Greek. He is a classmate of Dr. Eyster and likewise returns after a fourteen-year absence to his alma mater. He has had experience at the University of Vermont where he held a similar position, and holds a Ph. D. from thee University of Chicago.

M. F. NIMKOFF

Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff did graduate work in sociology at the University of Southern California. He will be assistant professor of sociology and political science.

JOHN H. EISENHAUER, '05

Associate Professor John H. Eisenhauer, '05, director of the summer school and extension, comes from Reading where he was principal of the Senior High School. He holds an A. M. from Bucknell and one from Columbia. He will teach several classes in education. He has had teaching experience in various parts of the state and graduate work at Cornell and the University of Pittsburgh.

BYRON S. HOLLINSHEAD

Mr. Byron S. Hollinshead, a graduate of Brown, assumer the position of instructor in English at Bucknell. He holds the Ph. B. degree.

CLARENCE H. MARTZ, '27

An addition to the engineering faculty in the person of Clarence H. Martz, '27, is indicative of the growing number of students enrolling in the engineering department. Mr. Martz took graduate work here last year and was elected to the position of assistant in the civil engineering department this fall.

MISS MAJEL BROOKS

Miss Majel Keith Brooks, an instructor in French, comes to Bucknell with an A. B. degree from Barnard College and graduate work at the University of Chicago.

MISS ANNETTA STAINTON

Miss Annetta Barr Stainton, instructor in English, is a graduate of Wells College. She holds an A. M. from Columbia.

FATE PLAYS TRICK THO QUINN WEARS LUCKY NUMERAL

Ol' Lady Luck, after favoring "Mose" Quinn, Bucknell University quarterback and all around athlete, for more than seven years, demonstrated her fickleness in the most ironical manner.

Eight years ago, Quinn tried out for the Memphis, Tenn., High School football team, and selected the number 11 because of a hunch.

Quinn acquitted himself well in the opening game and regarded the figure 11 as a charm. He wore it in each game during the first season and came out at the end of the season unscathed.

From that time on, Quinn, like most athletes, was a devotee to the great god of superstition. He would not play without the charmed 11, and with it played four years of high grade scholastic football.

Is Superstitious

Upon matriculating at Bucknell University, he expressed a desire to continue wearing number 11. He was granted his wish and for three years 11 has been poison to Bucknell foes.

Penn State followers recall seeing 11 weave through the Nittany Lion's entire team last year to cross 45 yards of sod, for a touchdown and Bucknell's first victory over State in Thirty years.

Such was the reaction of the number upon "Mose" Quinn.

This season, however, Coach Snavely decided to number his varsity from 40 up and Quinn was not to be excepted. He started against Schuylkill with 43 upon the back of his jersey and played one of the worst games of his career.

He laid the blame on the absence of 11, and Coach Snavely immediately gave him back his charmed number. Quinn's playing improved immediately.

But here is where Luck intervened. For "Mose" Quinn, after getting back the mystic number that had brought him success for seven years, broke his leg in the Geneva game and will never play football again.

—United Press.

Four Mission Classes Planned by Baptists

A school of missions will be conducted in the Baptist church on the following consecutive Wednesday evenings: November 7, 14, 21, 28; and December 5, 12. There will be four classes open to students, three of which will include only college students; the other class being for those under college age.

The classes which will comprise this school are: (1) "What Next in Home Missions," led by Mrs. Grace S. Drum; (2) "The New Africa," taught by Dean R. H. Rivenburg; (3) "The Cost of a New World," by Professor Clarence Johnson; (4) "Youth and the New America," led by Professor James P. Whyte. These classes will take forty minutes of the time usually given to the Wednesday evening prayer meeting. There will also be text books, of which three will cost 60 cents, and the fourth will cost $1.00, which is the text for Professor Johnson's class.

The purpose of these studies is to help Christian people of all ages in perceiving how inter-dependent all peoples and nations are, and how basically worthy and needful all people are of the best that men and God have to give. Enrollment cards may be secured from any of the following: Edna Craft, Lillian Mattick, Dr. R. M. West, Frank Loper, or "Ray" Taylor. Be sure to get your card in as early as possible so that the books can be ordered. Let's all enroll and learn something of this new field of study among the college students.

Hello.....What? .....Yeah..that's the right number. Is Minnie Gump there? She is? Um..... Well, tell her to put on a smile and come to the phone.

O, Min? Yeah? Guess who 'tis.....NAW..... this ain't George, this is Bill. What? Not Gill,....BILL. Yeah thass fine.

Say,....by the way of small talk, ya doin' anything the nite of the Tenth. What? Ya expect to? Ya don't say! Well, there's a rassle at the gym that nite, No, not a.....HEY! Whad you think I said? No, not that,.....a dance in the Gym. Yeah..... BELLE HOP Dance.

O. K.....Fine, I'll be around on my tandem about Eight....you'll be ready at Nine? Right. So long!

MOTHER GOOSE AT BUCKNELL

Hickory dickory dock.
The hands went up the clock.
The clock struck one; the "Semite" did run.
Hickory dickory dock.

* * * *

Bucknell has a wonderful team.
It is as strong as iron.
It went away to State one day,
And licked the Nittany Lion.

* * * *

Little Polly Flinders
Sat among the cinders
Out at the Stadium park.
Dean Clark came and caught her,
And to the "Sem" brought her,
For it was long after dark.

* * * *

Kappa Sig, Kappa Sig, 'tis my away home;
Thy house is on fire; thy brethren alone.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—5—

THE COMING ELECTION IS AROUSING THE INTEREST OF "BIG BUSINESS." YET, A REPUBLICAN OR A DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION DOES NOT OF ITSELF CREATE THE BIG BUSINESS. A REAL BUSINESS MAN WILL BE A SUCCESS NO MATTER WHAT THE ADMINISTRATION HAPPENS TO BE. ADVERTISING DOES MORE FOR BIG BUSINESS THAN ANY OTHER FACTOR FOR ITS DEVELOPMENT TO THE POINT WHERE IT IS WORLD DOMINANT.

MR. JASON ROGERS, FORMER PUBLISHER OF THE NEW YORK GLOBE, SAYS, "THOSE WHO HAVE FOUND A WAY TO USE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING TO ITS BEST ADVANTAGE HAVE GROWN RICH BY THAT KNOWLEDGE, WHILE THOSE WHO HAVE FAILED TO RECOGNIZE THE UNLIMTED POSSIBILITIES OF THIS FIELD HAVE FALLEN BY THE WAYSIDE, FINANCIAL FAILURES."

"FROM THE VERY SIMPLE BEGINNINGS THE VAST BUSINESS WE CALL ADVERTISING HAS GROWN TO THE MOST POTENT SALES FORCE THE WORLD HAS EVER KNOWN."

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Phone 194, Alpha Chi Mu House

LET'S STAY FOR THE TEMPLE GAME

The Sem population is for the unchanged Thanksgiving vacation; there is no doubt about that. Referring the matter to a vote this week, they discovered that their reaction to the matter was 173 for the holiday to 95 against it. The Semites deserve a lot of credit for bringing about some kind of positive action on the question. With everyone talking about it, very few have thus far done anything definite. Unless some petition is brought before the faculty, the vacation will stand as it is recorded in the college catalog.

The proposed setting aside of the vacation has been condemned by a decisive majority at the Women's College. But new developments in the situation have taken place. Our hitherto unbeaten and apparently unbeatable football squad has suffered a surprise setback. The spirits of Bucknell "rooters" are none too high. The University's gridiron reputation this fall has been marred by a defeat. Now, therefore, of all times, loyal Bucknellians must consolidate their forces to give the football squad a solid phalanx of support.

Last year, near the end of the season, we received a surprise defeat. That foe, Temple University, will again face us on Thanksgiving Day. The desire for revenge, the desire to keep further stains from our record, combine to call for victory on that day. Will the Bucknell students fail the team? Will they accept the vacation, to which they have an undenied right, and disperse to their homes, at that strategic time? We hope not. We believe not. Yet, as we pointed out last week, the vacation will be cut too short for real enjoyment by those who remain, and if Bucknellians are as real sportsmen as we think them to be, most of them will remain. It would seem, then, that the wisest policy is to drop the holiday.

We realize that there are arguments for keeping the Thanksgiving vacation. We know that the majority of the co-eds favor it. But we ask them to reconsider the question individually. Home, mother, a Turkey dinner, and home-town "dates" are weighing for the vacation. Bucknell's need for the support of her students at the climax of the football season is in the scales against it. Are we going to fail her?

WE APPEAL FOR HELP

Last week a certain Bucknell professor for whom we have great respect, read our editorials and liked them. He wrote a letter telling us so. In this public place, we want to inform that professor that the knowledge of his approval is the biggest stimulus we have received this year. But we also want him to know that when he disagrees with our opinions, when our policies or our judgments disgust him (as we hope they will not), we shall still be quite as eager to have his criticism.

We intend to try this year to develop a critical attitude, a habit of questioning the things that go on about us. Our own verdicts, where we are confident enough to give any, will not always be correct. But certainly a stirring up of the intellectual circulation cannot but have the eventual effect of bringing about a more healthy condition in our mental organisms.

An activity of this sort will necessitate a positive editorial policy,—often an aggressive one. And this, in turn, will set a pace too fast for any one group of individuals. College editors cannot always "see life steadily and see it whole." So we appeal for help. When you disagree with our editorial column, don't tell it to a "bull-session"—tell the whole student body by writing to the Bucknellian.

THE CRISIS

A little more than a century and a half ago, the American colonies were delirious with enthusiasm for their cause against the British government. A few years later their chance for success had sunk deeply into a discouraging improbability, and with it sank the support of many who had been the most loudly patriotic during the time of success. Yet a few preserved their faith, and, redoubling their tenacity, they brought their country through travail to a glorious birth.

The Valley Forge period has arrived in Bucknell's football season. Last Saturday evening the town was sprinkled with sour-faced grumblers who furnished all who would listen with the sundry reasons why Bucknell had lost a game to Gettysburg. Yet these students were the squad's most fervent supporters during the bright glow of the preceeding weeks. We have protested before in this column that the genuine son of Alma Mater is the man who loves her best when the crowd is not shouting. The students who have lost interest in the football season now that Bucknell has received a defeat, either have not been here long enough to learn, or do not possess the capability of learning a true loyalty to their college.

The Gettysburg game is done with. But this Saturday Bucknell faces a new and menacing foe—a worthy, unbeaten opponent who threatens to strike another and shattering blow at our prestige. Will the sons of Bucknell turn their faces from this challenge and creep away like dogs under the whip, with the excuse that there is "no use now?"

THEY WILL NOT! On Saturday every student, every co-ed, every alumnus, who can arrange for the trip, is going to be in Scranton, and with the pressure of the last ounce of energy he possesses, will do his part to roll a regenerated and savagely determined Bucknell power over the Villanova foe and on to a glorious season.

LET'S HAVE A BUCKNELL FOREST

By HELEN E. BELL

With the voters of this State deciding, at this next election, whether to bond the State for $25,000,000, in order that the State forests, already including more than 1,260,000 acres, may be enlarged to several times that area, we may very well ask, "Why should not Bucknell have a college forest?"

We cannot issue bonds for the purchase of such a forest. Nor do the college finances warrant the expenditure of any of its revenues for the purchase of forest lands. But why should not some class or group of classes present a forest to the University? Here is an opportunity for Bucknellians to enlarge the resources, equipment, and field of their Alma Mater.

Stone gates, marble tablets set in walls, memorial pillars, and similar class memorials are very excellent. But they have had their day. This is the day of the useful, the utilitarian memorial. Today wise persons think it much better to employ memorial funds in ways that accomplish positive good.

With this idea, the class of 1924 gave a memorial fund to the College for the purpose of adding books to the library. The modern fiction that you now secure in the Bucknell library is bought largely or wholly with the interest from this 1924 fund. Why should not some other class pattern after 1924 and give Bucknell a forest?

Such a forest would have the utmost value. First of all, it would give Bucknell students a mountain playground. Owning its own forest land, the University could develop it so as to provide for all students that desired to visit it. Here botany, zoology, and natural sciences of all kinds could be studied. Here Bucknell students could go for week-end hikes, for day trips to the open, etc. The building of simple shelters would make winter sports possible and popular. Dartmouth, hampered by her location in the snowy north, capitalized the climate. She built shelters in the mountains, and saw that trails ran through the forest. Her students took up skiis and snow shoes. Today Dartmouth stands foremost in winter sports among American colleges. In like manner, a college forest would aid in the movement at Bucknell for athletics for all.

But there is a still more potent reason to wish for a college forest. A college forest produces income. After a few decades, when the forest was under a system of sylviculture, it would produce revenue. Even at present lumber prices, it is conservatively estimated that the minimum income from a producing forest should be $6 an acre. If Bucknell had a forest of 1,000 acres, the day would come when this property would give the college at least $6,000 every year. The probability is that the sum would be nearer $10,000 a year.

The State forest lands were bought at an average price of $2.26 an acre. They were mostly cut-over lands. Bucknell could probably still buy forest lands cheaply. If a few classes—say the group in college now—should combine, and each give its memorial fund to the purchase of a forest, Bucknell might easily acquire a very noble property in the nearby mountains, within easy reach of Lewisburg.

Meanwhile, college forests are not uncommon in American universities. Yale, Syracuse, and other institutions of higher learning have developed enviable forest tracts. Many a forest has been grown in memory of an individual. The Roosevelt Forest in New York State is situated but two miles from the spot where Theodore Roosevelt received word of his election to the presidency of the United States. Another large forest plantation grows in the empire state in memory of Clifford R. Pettis, who for 25 years was prominent in the reforestation of the Adirondacks. A forest properly conserved is a lasting monument.

Why should we not have a Bucknell forest? This is a thing that is easily within the power of the students themselves to bring about. What class will start the movement?

"OUR FUTURE LEADERS"

"They are not dead but sleeping." This modified quotation is, we hope, applicable to the ninety-seven per cent. of the student body—that per cent. which did not feel sufficiently stimulated by the current political campaign to go to the trouble of clipping and marking a ballot in the straw vote conducted this week.

We have heard uncomplimentary statements concerning the low mental level (barely rising above that of the highest grade moron) which is the average of the American people. But we had satisfied ourselves that this was brought so low by the inclusion of concentrated areas of low intellegence, such as slum districts. College groups, we felt, had only the effect of raising that level. Now then, what of the facts exposed by some recent statistics. In the national election eight years ago, almost exactly fifty per cent. of the eligible voting population went to the polls. In the corresponding election four years ago, that figure was raised a point or two. In the Bucknell straw vote for president held this week, three per cent. of the students bestirred themselves to cast ballots. Does this reassure us that the college groups lift the average level of intelligence? Does this make us certain that the coming leaders of America are in the college today—that our country's future is dependent upon the present college students, as Commencement orators passionately tell us? Or must we conclude that the students of Bucknell are to an unusual extent the victims of mental inertia or intellectual impotence? These are not rhetorical questions; we have no ability to answer them.

CALENDAR

November 2, 7:30 to 10:30—Presbyterian Social.
7:35—Phi Mu Epsilon Recital in the Organ Room.

November 3, 8 to 11:15—Kappa Delta Informal dance in the play room of the new dormitory.

L'Agenda Group Photos Scheduled

During the next ten days the major portion of the group photographs for L'Agenda will be taken. Business Manager Don J. Kammire announces the following schedule for L'Agenda photos:

Friday, Nov. 2
Botany Building
10:00 to 10:30—Druids, 10:05; Friars, 10:15.
1:00 to 2:00—Phi Lambda Theta; Alpha Chi Mu.

Monday, Nov. 5
Front of Botany Building
10:00 to 10:30—Senior Council, 10:05; Student Council, 10:15; Y. M. C. A., 10:20; Ministerial Society, 10:25.

Harris Hall
12:30 to 2:00—Pi Phi, 12:35; Tri Delt, 12:45; Alpha Chi, 12:55; Kappa Delt, 1:05; Phi Mu, 1:15; Zeta Gamma Tau, 1:35; Sigma Sigma Delta, 1:45.

Tuesday, Nov. 6
Main College
10:30—Senior Class.
Harris Hall
12:30 to 2:00—C. E. A., 12:35; Women's Student Senate, 12:45; Women's Glee Club, 1:00; Mu Phi Epsilon, 1:10; Y. W. C. A., 1:20; Student Volunteers, 1:30.

Wednesday, Nov. 7
Library
10:00 to 10:30—Cap and Dagger, 10:05; Frill and Frown, 10:15; Theta Alpha Pi, 10:20.
Bucknell Hall
1:00 to 2:00—Bucknellian Staff, 1:05; Belle Hop, 1:15; Men's Glee Club, 1:20; Pi Delta Epsilon, 1:50; Phi Mu Alpha, 1:45.

Thursday, Nov. 8
Main College
10:30—Faculty Group.
T. U. O. House
1:00 to 2:00—Men's Debating team, 1:15; Tau Kappa Alpha, 1:25; Women's Debating Team, 1:35; Eta Alpha Mu, 1:45.

Friday, Nov. 9
Steps of New Dormitory
10:00 to 10:30—Band, 10:05; Bucknell Sociological Society, 10:15; Biological Society, 10:20; Education Club, 10:25.
Library
1:00 to 2:00—Der Deutsche Verein, 1:10; Spanish Club, 1:20; Kent Pre-Legal, 1:30; Sigma Tau Delta, 1:45.

Monday, Nov. 12
Stadium
10:00 to 10:30—Freshman Class Football Team, 10:05; Sophomore Class Football Team, 10:10; Varsity Cheer Leaders, 10:15; Freshman Cheer Leaders, 10:20.

Captain "Eddie" Halicki, the Bison's main offensive threat, was severely injured in the second quarter and had to discontinue play. Should Halicki not be able to play in the Villanova game, it will make the chances for a Bucknell victory dwindle. Halicki is an inspiration to his teammates.

War Dep't Aids Scholar

Nathan H. Kutcher, of 4922 Smedley street, Philadelphia, has been awarded a scholarship at Bucknell University by the United States War Department. The scholarship was awarded for the high standing which the young man attained at Citizens' Military Training Camp in the past two years.

The Orpheum

Friday, November 2—
MILTON SILLS in
"THE CRASH"
A Burlesque Beauty tries to settle down on Main street, but can't, and upsets all the small town males. It's Good.

Saturday, November 3—
"THE LOVE MART"
With BILLY DOVE and NOAH BEERY
Metro "Gang" Comedy "School Begins."

Monday, November 5—
ALICE WHITE in
"THE SHOW GIRL"
A Picture Full of "IT."

Tuesday and Wednesday, November 6-7—
ELEANOR BORDMAN in
"THE CROWD"
One of the Big Hits of the season and one not to be missed.

Thursday, November 8—
CHARLIE MURRAY in
"DO YOUR DUTY"
Of course it's a scream.
No. 3 of "Gems of Football."

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

Lights that Fill the Skies with Commerce

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air. Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

A majority of the beacon lights used in airport and airway illumination have been designed and manufactured by the General Electric Company, whose specialists have the benefit of a generation's experience in the solution of lighting problems.

94-604DH

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

When Bucknell Played Villanova

By BURTUFF KOSER

Bucknell plays Villanova this coming Saturday at Scranton. It will be the eighth game of football played between these two colleges. Of the games played to date, Bucknell has won five, Villanova one, and one game ended in a scoreless tie.

The first Bucknell-Villanova game was played at Villanova in 1900. It was a hard-fought battle, in which neither team was able to score. Once Bucknell carried the ball over the goal line, only to have it brought back on a penalty. The feature of the game was a kicking duel between "Christy" Mathewson, of Bucknell, and captain Powers, of Villanova. Villanova celebrated after the game with a bonfire and a parade, the tie meaning almost as much to them as a victory.

Two years larter, in 1902, Bucknell won its first victory over the Main Liners, overwhelming them by a score of 61-0. The second half was shortened from 25 to 13 minutes, or the score would have been even greater.

Many prominent Bucknell men played in this game. At center was Walter S. Wilcox, later principal of the Bucknell Academy, and still later, Bucknell registrar. Three Bucknell men later to become baseball stars also were in this game. They were George Cockill, "Mosse" McCormick, and "Mickey" Doolin, all big league baseball players. Doolin played with Villanova in this game, but had formerly had been a Bucknell student.

The first and only Villanova victory came in 1926, at Artillery Park, Wilkes-Barre. It was the first of the "coal region series."

Villanova won the game in the fourth quarter by a pass, followed by a short run around end by Slane. Trimmer and Diehl starred for Bucknell, the former kicking a beautiful field goal for Bucknell's only score, while "Wally" tore up the Villanova line. The final score was 7-3.

The Bucknell bandsmen made such a hit at this game that a theatre manager engaged them for the evening.

Last year, the Bisons trampled all over Villanova, winning 28-12, and showing one of the most powerful offensives seen that year.

Here are the facts about Bucknell-Villanova football games.

	Bucknell	Villanova
1900	0	0
1902	61	0
1904	26	0
1905	17	9
1918	40	0
1926	3	7
1927	28	12

Bucknellian is urged to "be there as yourself or as somebody else, but be there." It looks as though the Reading alumni club, which is headed by Dr. J. R. Wood, is a very live organization.

All Bucknellians, whether or not they belong to the club, or live in Reading are cordially invited to parade with the witches and ghosts.

"Lefty" James, the Bison's regular end, played a bangup game on Saturday. He frustrated several enemy attempts to score, by executing deadly tackles that stopped the Gettysburg backs. James also broke up several well-aimed forward passes that might have resulted in disaster for his team had they been completed.

Read The Bucknellian

B. U. Ghost Parade Planned at Reading

The Reading Bucknellians are preparing for a real wild party in celebration of Halloween. A very attractive blueprint invitation calls for all Bucknellians to assemble at the First Baptist church, Reading, on November 2, and "bring your flivvers." The party is to motor to Indiandale for a ghost parade. Everybody attending is warned to bring 60 cents as "you may need it." The illustration on the invitation, which is a huge pumpkin, ornamented with the suggestive words "pumpkin" pie, doughnuts, cider, apples, and marshmallows, indicates why the ghost dancers may need 60 cents. Every

AT THE ORPHEUM

This Thursday (November 1), we will show the Bucknell-Lafayette football game; also No. 2 of "Games of Football," showing the great and winning plays of last season.

It pays to advertise.

A grand garment to stop an East Wind

TOWER'S Fish Brand Slickers are not only water-proof. They're wind-proof—warm.

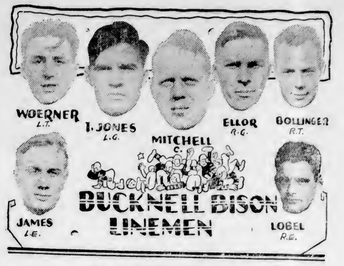
The "Varsity" model is full-lined, and long enough to protect your trousers. Big, wide "Staydfast" pockets, in which you can stow your books easily—patented "Reflex" edge that keeps water from running in at the front. Corduroy-faced collar with or without a strap. Colors olive-khaki, black and yellow.

You can buy a Tower's Fish Brand Slicker for the price of a couple of theatre tickets. Stores everywhere carry them. A. J. Tower Company, Boston, Mass.

TOWER'S FISH BRAND

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

ALUMNI!
FOLLOW THE TEAM IN THE BUCKNELLIAN



BUCKNELL BACKS

Weekly Rotogravure Section

ALL FOR $1.50

SUBSCRIBE NOW

The Boston Women's SYMPHONY
ORCHESTRA

ETHEL LEGINSKA, Conductor

LEWISBURG BAPTIST CHURCH
NOVEMBER 6
8:15 P. M.

General Admission $1.25 Reserved Seats $1.50

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElligot

Saturday's college football results were productive of many upsets. Three of the biggest surprises in the East were Navy beating Penn, Harvard conquering Dartmouth, and Gettysburg subduing Bucknell.

—O—

Bucknell's dreams of an untarnished season during the present campaign came to an end last Saturday, when the battlefield warriors put the skids under our boys. It was Homecoming Day in Gettysburg town, and a belated victory for the homesters provided the crowd with plenty of rejoicing.

—O—

However the Bucknell-Gettysburg game is now history and Coach Snavely's boys are priming themselves for the Villanova game, which will be staged in Scraton next Saturday. The Bison grid warriors felt the loss of the Gettysburg game quite keenly and are determined to take it out on Villanova. Villanova, wit han unblemished season's record is just as anxious to even accounts with the Bisons. They have never quite gotten over that 28-12 setback the ywere forced to take last fall.

—O—

"Ernie" Woerner is still on the job. Ernie played most of the game and did his best to let the Gettysburg team know he was in the contest. Woerner stopped play after play that was directed through his territory. "Iron Man" Woerner is a good title to confer upon the unassuming youth from Newark, N. J.

—O—

The Bucknell record so far now is three victories, one tie, and one defeat. Not so bad for a team that has been subject to so many injuries this season. Coach Snavely must be given due credit for the way in which he has skillfully handled his charges thus far in the present campaign.

Life Insurance — John Hancock
John Hancock — Life Insurance
That connection works either way in good heads.
John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

Time and Money

Save them both by eating breakfast at the College Inn. A variety of fruits, cereals, sweet rolls, toast and breakfast beverages. An electric toaster and coffee urn, a speedy gas range and griddle, conveniently arranged, all make for quick service. May we have the privilege of serving you.

THE COLLEGE INN
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
Payne, '09.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

SIGMA CHI

Thomas MacLeod, '31

Sixty couples frolicked at the Hallowe'en party on Saturday night. Corn stalks and pumpkins provided the proper atmosphere. The Blue Band got everyone all hot and bothered. Professor and Mrs. F. H. Lund and Mrs. Jennie Phillips honored us by chaperoning the party.

The annual gridiron clash between the "actives" and pledges is scheduled for Saturday on the Loomis Field. The losers will be stuck for the usual "chicken 'n waffles." George Cockill will lead the first-year men, while "Mutt" Convery will head the "actives."

Another fair one has joined the ranks of the "sweethearts of Sigma Chi," for "Marty" Hogan has pinned the white cross "just o'er the beating heart" of Miss Louise Graef, '29. The entire chapter wishes both of the participants success in their new adventure.

The May-Mar tea room was without its charming hostesses on Sunday, for both May and "Mar" Beck dined with the boys at the house. Other guests for dinner were Mrs. Jennie Phillips, Miss Louise Graef, and Miss Evelyn Fiselier.

Four young ladies expected to go to the dance Saturday night at a little after eight o'clock. Their escorts, however, were many miles from Lewisburg at the appointed hour. The quartet of culprits finally did flat-tire in from Gettysburg in time to get the girls to the house to bid the chaperones good-night.

The battle at Gettysburg in the afternoon was a mere trifle compared to the four battles that were staged that night.

KAPPA SIGMA

W. W. Herncare, '31

We are glad to report that Leonard Horton, '31, is rapidly recovering from a broken ankle.

Week-enders at Bloomsburg this week were, James Williams, '29, "Duke" Bernard, '32 "Art" Gerhart, '32, Everett Davidson, '30, and W. W. Herncare, '31.

Brother R. W. Swetland, '23, was a recent visitor at the house. Brother Swetland is illuminating engineer for the General Electric Co., and is located at Schenectady, N. Y.

Alpha Phi's dream of a new house is at last to be realized. Our alumni have formed a building committee and plans are under way for a house to replace our present structure. Building operations are scheduled to begin early next spring. The old house will be completely torn down and replaced by a modern fraternity house suitable to our needs. Credit for this work is due to Brothers John T. Shirley, Roy G. Bostwick, Neil Baker, Miller Johnson, and Oliver J. Deeker. They took the burden of securing the co-operation of the balance of our alumni.

"Bill" Long, '29, spent the week-end at his home in Muncy, Pa.

"Red" McKelvey, '32, left Saturday to "hum" to his home, Wilmington, Delaware.

R. E. Snauffer, '29, is in Philadelphia on business this week-end.

"Jack" Sheppard, '28, is at present located in Detroit, Mich. We extend to brother Sheppard our best wishes for success in his work.

R. W. Sheffer, '23, has been promoted to the position of assistant supervisor of the Philadelphia Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Congratulations "Dick."

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Lory Davis, '30

Mr. Hugh Ogburn of Lewisburg, and brother "Bob" Black of Harrisburg, were dinner guests on Thursday night.

Brother Hitchens journied to Gettysburg to see the football game on Saturday.

Brother Anderson spent the week-end in Washington, D. C.

Misses Emily and Audrey Fuller were dinner guests on Sunday.

The chapter was well pleased with the dance on Saturday. We all look forward to the next one.

DELTA SIGMA

Philip G. Murray, '29

"Art" Randall, '32, journeyed to his home in Fairfield, Conn., to spend the week-end. He intended to see the Army-Yale game at New Haven.

"Les" Ely, "Cal" Smith, and "Nick" Nickerson spent the week-end in Englewood and Hillside, both in New Jersey.

E. Kirby Lawson went to Harrisburg to spend the week-end with his parents.

Max Fessler, "Vic" Meyer, "Chip" Sorter, and Johnny Horter witnessed the sad spectacle at Gettysburg last Saturday.

Delta Sigma takes pleasure in announcing the initiation of Luther Jefferies, '31.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

Henry M. Graham, '31

Theta U. announces with pleasure the pledging of Thomas J. Shutt, '29, of Milton.

On the afternoon of October 27, the Theta U. pledges gave a tea dance for the active men. Music was furnished by Hoffman.

Brother William Drew Stayer, '28, who was our guest for a week, left last Friday for Philadelphia. "Bill" expects to take up the insurance business there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Heiss have announced the marriage of their daughter Lorrain Bell to brother J. N. Patterson, '24, on October 6, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The parents of pledge brother Waldo McKee motored from Blairsville and spent the week-end here.

Pledge brother Gerhard Glahn spent the week-end at his home in Lock Haven.

Professor Frank Davis was our guest for dinner last Saturday.

ALPHA CHI MU

J. N. Feaster, '30

Mr. Charles W. Smith, instructor in the English department of Bucknell University, Mrs. Smith, and daughter, Alice Virginia, were guests at dinner last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Hughes, David and Howard Hughes, all of Cape May, New Jersey, visited their son, Samuel, during the week-end. The Hughes made the trip to Lewisburg by automobile.

John Anderson, '31, made a trip to his home in Shickshinny last week-end. Wonder what the attraction is, Andy?

Mr. Harry C. Shure, of Sunbury, visited his son, William Shure, '30, last Wednesday.

George Phillips, '32, Charles Titus, '31, and William Shure, '30, had a great time at the Methodist Cabin party at Showalter's cabin last Saturday afternoon.

Feaster, Hauber, Titus, Cranford, and Shure, heard Bishop McDowell and E. Stanley Jones, missionary from India, speak at the Methodist Church in Sunbury last Wednesday evening.

Pledge brother "Dusty" Rhoads, '32, visited his home in Bloomsburg over the week-end.

PHI LAMBDA THETA

Blair I. Hazen, '31

The chapter enjoyed ice cream on Monday at the expense of Donald S. Shoemaker, '31, the latest victim of Cupid's deadly darts. He returned to the house on Sunday night, after a week-end trip home, without his frat pin.

Paul Emery, Harold Trostle, Clyde Bailey, and "Dick" Humphreys all journeyed to Gettysburg to witness the giridron struggle between the "Bullets" and the "Bisons." While there, they attended the "Migratory Dance" which was one of the Homecoming features.

Pledge brother "Phil" Sheplar made a journey to Minessen to spend the week-end with his parents.

Pledge brother John Mootz spent the week-end in Pottsville with his parents, and pledge brother Charles Sheer spent the week-end with his parents at Renovo.

It is rumored about the house that Dan Cupid has influenced Dan Calvert to the extent that the latter Dan may soon he minus a pin.

Brother "Art" Stutzman has recently passed his final O. K. on the new "Sem" parlors.

BETA KAPPA

Edgar Lare, '30

"Red" Snyder, '29, and Donald Beneford, '30, spent the week-end visiting some friends in Pittsburgh.

"Jack" McLure, '29, has returned to the house after a short visit to Maysville.

"Ray" Johnson, '29, and "Vince" Beckwith visited some friends in Scranton Saturday and Sunday.

James Williams of Georgia Tech and Gordon Ballinger of the Virginia Military Academy were entertained at the house Sunday by Irving Hoch.

"Abe" Deathridge, '31, spent the week-end at Fishers Ferry hunting grouse and small game.

PI BETA PHI

Rhoda Herr, '29

Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi held its pledging on Thursday afternoon at the home of Miss Elizabeth Speaker. Pi Phi is happy to announce the pledging of Ruth Andrews, '29.

Elizabeth Sale, '29, Marie Trunk, '31, Ruth Edwards, '30, and Rhoda Herr, '29, attended the wedding of Sara Dech of Wyoming, to David Crossgrove, of Lewisburg, at Wyoming, Saturday, October 27.

Miriam Kline, '29, spent the week-end at her home in Dansdale.

Doris Siner, '29, Dorothy Stenger, '30, Frances Stringer, '30, and "Ray" Ganthrop, '32, spent the week-end at Gettysburg, Pa.

"Happy" Cooper, '29, and Ruth Andrews, '29, spent the week-end in Frankford and Philadelphia.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

"Betty" Fries, '31

Tau chapter of Delta Delta Delta pledged the following girls on Thursday afternoon, October 18: Eunice Samson, Edythe George, Charlotte West, Martha Guest, Louise Manby, Helen Kelly, Bettina Buckam, Mary Reese, Mary Grove, Gladys Compton.

Another five-pound box of candy has found its way to the suite over the week-end, to add to the deluge already received. "Joe" Schilling, '29, is responsible for this latest gift.

Mary Tyler, '29, "Sally" Porter, '29, and "Betty" Langer, '31, spent the week-end visiting their parents.

Vivian Bitner, '31, is now a commuter from Williamsport, since she has secured the position of society editor of the Gazette and Bulletin. She expects to discontinue her school work entirely during the second semester and devote her time entirely to newspaper work.

KAPPA DELTA

Caroline Davison, '30

On Wednesday evening of last week, the actives of Phi Tau gave a formal banquet at the Manufacturers' Club in Milton, in honor of their new pledges. The president spoke a word of greeting, and in return the pledges were called upon for short impromptu speeches. Kappa Delta songs were sung to add spice to the occasion, and after dinner there was a brief period of dancing in the parlors.

Phi Tau sincerely hopes that the mother of our pledge, Elinor McLeavy, may soon recover from her recent illness, and that Elinor will be able to return to Bucknell.

Last week-end the chapter had a surprise visit from Emmalyn Fuller, ex-'30.

Pledge Mildred Farquahar spent the week-end at her home in Monessen.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta's annual closed dance to her pledges was held in the play room of the new dormitory on Saturday evening, October 27. Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Childs and Prof. and Mrs. M. L. Drum were chaperones at this Halloween revel which was managed by "Betty" Edmunds, '31.

Two more members of the class of '28, have been accounted for: "Pretz" Hurst is librarian at Adelphia College, Brooklyn, New York.

"Kitty" Bossler is teaching in the high school in Bordentown, New Jersey.

ZETA GAMMA TAU

Adelaide E. Clark, '31

Our first dance of the semester was held Friday night, October 26, in the activities room of the new dormitory. Music was furnished by the Blue Band. The decorations were "hallowe'enic," in accordance with the season.

A pledge party was held in the suite Saturday night. The suite was decorated with corn stalks and lanterns.

Miss "Kitty" Hallier, ex-'28, paid a flying visit to the suite on Saturday, while enroute to the Gettysburg game. Naomi Brace, '29, went with her.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '31

We extend our sincere sympathy to "Sally" Collner, '29, who was called home last week-end on account of the death of her grandmother.

Marian Hendrickson, '28, stopped in the suite for a few minutes last Friday. She had been attending the teachers' institute at Sunbury during the week, and was on her way to Muncy to spend the week-end with Helen Glass, '28.

MU PHI EPSILON

Lillian Mattick, '30

On Monday, October 22, a recital, for the members only, was presented in the Music Hall, at 7 o'clock, by several members of Mu Phi. The program was as follows: (1) "Homing"—Del Riego, and "There are Fairies at the Bottom of My Garden"—Lehman, by Ruth Evans; (2) "Goodnight"—Rubenstein, and "Charming Marguerite" an old French song, by "Billie" Reinhart; (3) "Ballade"—Debussy, by Mildred Headings; (4) "La Serenata"—Braga, by Lillian Mattick.

We take great pleasure in announcing the election to membership of Ann Schulz, organist.

Initiations will be held soon, when there will be added three new members.

COLLEGIANA

The Gettysburgian quotes a famous university dean as having said recently: "The youth of college age today is immature morally and as crude socially as it is undeveloped intellectually."

Poor man, his vacation probably wasn't long enough last summer! Perhaps the football team isn't doing so well, or else his cigarettes don't satisfy.

—O—

The Red and Black, Washington and Jefferson's student paper, says: "The university man, acknowledged oracle in the world of men's wear, has returned to sanity in dress, according to surveys of three widely separated educational institutions."

The reason given is that the college man realizes that he will be judged by his habits and fears that he will be unattractive if his clothes are not reasonable. Imagine trying to explain the reason for anything that a college man does! It simply isn't being done.

—O—

Bucknell has arrived! Time, famed weekly news magazine, printed the following in its October 22 issue under the heading of "Sport:"

"Bucknell's Halicki covered his ugly broken nose with an even uglier protective framdork. He then proceeded to make a touchdown, despite Penn State's wild Wolff, who came scampering and sniffing in his tracks."

Time's recognition is certainly timely! There is only one point on which we take issue. "Eddie's" nose may be broken, but it isn't ugly. In fact, "Eddie's" nose is one of his most prominent features!

—O—

Bucknellians will be interested in the following news item that appeared in the Temple University News for Tuesday, October 16:

"The Lock and Key Society is making plans to go in a body to the Temple-Bucknell game on Thanksgiving Day at Lewisburg. After the game they will hold a party on the roof garden of a hotel in Lewisburg."

—O—

A number of Bucknell students witnessed the fire at Milton Monday evening, October 22, when Rose Hill, one of Milton's most beautiful homes, was practically destroyed by flames of unknown origin.

The magnificent mansion was built by the late Congressman Charles H. Dickerman. Its materials were brought to Milton from all parts of the world. The late Champ Clark and ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, along with other noted men from this country and from England, were entertained at that fine show place.

—O—

Beginning with the Bucknell game, Gettysburg College will admit children under twelve years of age to its football games free of charge.

The kiddies will occupy a special section of thebleachers and will have their own cheer leaders.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

A good shoe to ask for by name—MONTROSS

There is style in the prices, too!

No longer need the well-shod man pay the price of out-of-date production methods.

Inefficiency is outmoded. Modern methods enable John Wards to lead in quality, in style, yet sell for dollars less!

Buy your next pair here —at seven and nine dollars!

John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

MONTGOMERY & CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

WAINIES

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Quick on the trigger!

DON'T ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan SELF-FILLING PEN

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

For
Christian Education

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

AT LEWISBURG, PA.

EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President

For catalog, book of views, or information, Address

H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

THE COSMOPOLITAN APPEAL

Poets are traditionally supposed to starve in garrets. Bankers, upon the contrary, are habituated to dining in exclusive and expensive clubs. Let us cast no dust upon the bright romantic lustre of the former, but let us admit that the overwhelming percentage of ordinary humans would accept the secure comfort of the latter if offered a choice, and not being offered it, spend their lives in the attempt to take it by storm.

Among those who plot their campaigns with the purpose of exchanging matches for gold cigar lighters are the editors of popular magazines. There may be an occasional dash of peppery literary appreciation sifted into the minds of these men; there undoubtedly is a thrill in discovering a new author who will find success in clowning awhile for the multitude, but, after all, the objective of such editors, like the objectives of most other people, is economic success. The formula is as old as editing: to have success, you must have readers; to get readers, you must make an appeal. And a broad appeal. The secret—and it is no secret—of attracting an audience which includes every taste, is to find out every literate human being who has the money to pay for a year's subscription, and then "hit him"—hit him where he likes to be hit.

The "Popular" Magazine

Ergo, the modern "popular" magazine. It has a story to rouse every heartbeat which can be roused by fiction. It has an example or two of "magazine verse" to clasp the hands and wet the eyes of that sentimentality which responds to shop-worn rimes and century-old inversions. It has articles which cuddle and soothe the timid. But in a country of half education, like the one in which I write, a land which makes a "best-seller" of a "Story of Philosophy," the magazine is quite as obligated to stimulate as it is to lull. It must sally into the field of speculative thought, of iconoclastic science. But the sallies must be short, short and with the way open to a full retreat. Not too dangerous either, yet vibrant with delicious daring.

A Typical Issue

Nothing, I think, will make these essentials of the modern weekly or monthly more objective than will a brief survey of a typical issue. If we cannot visit the plant, let us at least have the goods put out on the counter. The October issue of Cosmopolitan will do splendidly. A glance at the table of contents shows that the policy of this magazine is not stalling. The triple division is there: four serials, twelve short stories, seven features. The glance shows another thing, however. Among those listed as authors of these serials, stories, and features, are some who bear well-known names. Rex Beach, Michael Arlen, Fannie Hurst, Peter B. Kyne, Kathleen Norris, Benito Mussolini, John B. Watson: here are a few only of those in the nosegay of the title page. Nor can we say that all these writers are of the sentimental, "light-weight" type. But, alas for the editor's good intentions, even those authors who have something to say find little opportunity to say it within the hard limitations (perhaps I should write "soft limitations") of the magazine.

The leading novel is "Son of the Gods," by Rex Beach, and its first installment appears in this issue. This "son" is a brilliant (he would have to be) young Chinese student in a large American university. He has fabulous wealth. He has fawning American "friends." He does not have happiness. Even his ten-thousand-dollar car will not make coeds go riding with him. Then—he meets a girl who will give him friendship, love he dares hope. But let us have done. She goes with him to his father's mansion in New York City's Chinatown. The father observes two things: her sycophancy, his son's infatuation. He offers her a year of study in Paris. She accepts, but when, on the way home, the young Oriental offers her his love in a legitimate union, she spurns him. He returns to the university; she, supported by the unbreakable word of the aged father, goes to Paris. It would almost do for a short dramatic story; I can see Lon Chaney playing the part of the keen, loyal old Chinese. But it is only the first installment of a novel; I think I shall not read the second.

Short Stories Fall in Purpose

The short stories, too, make an attempt to "probe the depths," to be penetrating and analytical, but they succeed about as well Fannie Hurst's "Sissy" is probably the best. There is something appealing about this story, but how far this may be due to the facile eleance of Miss Hurst's famous style, is something about which I would not care to commit myself. "Sophisticated Stuff," by Adelaide Humphries, awakens no such fear responses. It is both crude and shallow. It is barren of freshness and originality. The heroine is the stereotyped modern miss of fiction. She smokes, believes in companiate marriage, doesn't think of going out before 10 p. m. at the earliest, but—oh, it couldn't be otherwise!—at the ringing down of the curtain she marries the young college hero and goes with him into the wilds of Arizona to live in a mining camp.

"Cold and Factual" Articles

Fed with fiction, we turn to the articles for something which will be at least cold and factual. Is it? Well,—Benito Mussolini on "Marriage." The husband should be dictator of the family even as Benito is dictator of Italy, but he should be a kindly autocrat. Let us try John B. Watson. The famous Behaviorist does at least stir a few prickles with his commanding language, but he can say little that will have meaning for an audience which sighs over the poor cheated Son of the Gods, or which approves heartily of "the real stuff" in the sophisticated heroine of Adelaide Humphries' story. Watson tells again the old story of the conditioned reflex and shows us how we can use this little mechanism to make of our children exactly what we want them to be; the delicious scare is provided by the summary banishing of heredity from the nursery. God and the biologists he dethrones, and in their place sets up Pavlov's dog. But here he must stop. I believe he would like to give a detailed demonstration of his methods; I think he would be delightted to follow up his hints and suggestions with something a little more definite concerning child training, but he cannot. Not in the Cosmopolitan.

Resume of Issue

All in all, the issue is a great success. It thrills, it soothes, it scares, it lachrymates. Hardly a person but could find something interesting between the smiling girl in the green "tam," who graces the cover, and the announcement that "Rogers is a true home lacquer", which anybody can use, by which the back cover makes its expository appeal to those who are intellectually minded. There it is—the artistte on one side, the scientific on the other. And with the covers pasted on, the editor will lay aside his several thousand manuscripts, and drive to any favorite club where he can lounge in the great bay-window, watching people pay thirty-five cents for a copy of Cosmopolitan at the stand across the street.

New Church Erected By Heather's Efforts

At the formal opening exercises, held Thursday, October 18, at 7:30 p. m., of the new building for the Johnston City Methodist Episcopal Church, Ranshaw, Pa., of which "Fred" Heather, '30, is the pastor, a short play, entitled "All On Account Of Polly," was presented by members of the congregation. This program featured the completion of a great piece of work that has been done by "Fred" in that community. This new building, consisting of the church school rooms, is a goal toward which "Fred" has been leading his people steadily, until at last they have finished the task.

It will be remembered, by the upper-classmen, that "Fred" left our campus two years ago to devote his entire attention to the work in Johnston City Church. As pastor of that church, he has accomplished many things which are indeed very creditable to his earnest endeavors. This congregation has moved into its new home and the prospects for the new year are indeed very promising. The money for this building has been gradually coming in, and they are not afraid to tackle more work in order to make Johnston City Church a center for Christian activity.

From this time on, the regular services of the church will be conducted in the church school room of the New Building. The services are held at 10:30, the public Worship Service, at 2:00 P. M., the Church School Session; at 7:30 p. m., the regular Evening Quiet Hour. We are sure that Rev. Heather will welcome any of his friends from Bucknell who come to see the results of his striving since he left our presence. We are very glad that "Fred" is again with us, and intends to complete his studies as soon as possible, that he may return to Johnston City for full time.

JUST RELEASED FROM HOLLYWOOD...

The Blindfold Cigarette Test

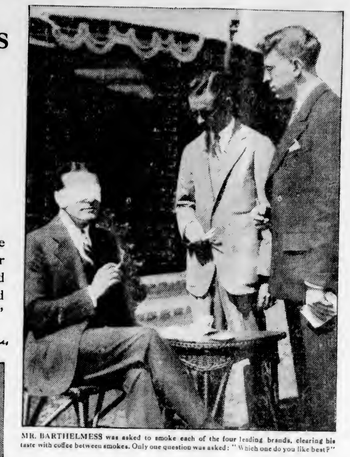
DIRECTOR
Dick Barthelmess
★ STAR ★
OLD GOLD

THE CAST
First Cigarette X
Second Cigarette . . . . OLD GOLD
Third Cigarette . . . . . Y
Fourth Cigarette . . . . . Z

"Making a blindfold test is like conducting a movie tryout. But in this competition I found my star 'right off the reel.' I named OLD GOLD for the lead part the moment I tasted its thrilling flavor and its soothing gentleness to the tongue and throat."

Richard Barthelmess



MR. BARTHELMESS was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"

RICHARD BARTHELMESS . . . endeared to movie-goers the world over for his superb acting in such First National pictures as, "The Patent Leather Kid," "The Noose" and "Out of the Ruins."

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

Why you can pick them

Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. Only the heart-leaves are used in OLD GOLDS.

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

Frat Soccer Teams Vie For First Place

B. U. Inter-Fraternity Soccer League is well under way. John Bower is president of the league and he and his committee have mapped out a fine schedule of games, dividing the fraternities into two leagues. Theta Upsilon Omega, vying with Phi Lambda Theta for the top notch in League One, presents the classiest team in the field. Having shared the league championship with Delta Sigma last year, the T. U. Os. are taking an early lead for this season's honors.

In League Two, Delta Sigma and the Non-Fraternity team share the first rung of the league roster.

Much interest is being shown in the soccer leagues this year because of the practice and coaching given by Mr. Plant and Mr. Musser in the gymnasium classes. The Y. M. C. A. is continuing its work of fostering friendly competition between the fraternities by offering a fine loving cup to the campus champions.

The officials of the league are using the following as a basis for computing the team standings: each game won counts two points and each tie game gives one point to each of the tying teams. Upon this basis, the following is the standing of the teams:

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
ICE CREAM SUNDAES

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodlie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

STYLES OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM SHOES
$10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

Faculty Recital Is Given Big Ovation

Music lovers of Lewisburg are warm in their praise of the faculty recital by the Bucknell University School of Music given Monday evening, October 29, in the Baptist church. Miss Helen Tollefson, pianist, assisted by Miss Millicent Melrose, soprano, and Miss Lulu Coe, accompanist, entertained the enthusiastic audience.

Miss Tollefson opened the program with a group including Gigue from Mozart and Lesehetizky; Air from Suite in D for orchestra by Bach; ava Scarlotti's Capriccio. The selections immediately win favor for the pianist, the rapidity of the movement well displaying her precise technique. Miss Melrose song "Paria" by Arditi, convincing her listeners of the charm which she always displays. The high tones of the piece were reached with her customary ease and grace.

The next group by Miss Tollefson consisted of the well-known "Spinning Song" composed by Wagner and Liezt which was interpreted with appropriate smoothness, and two compositions by Chopin, the difficult "Nocturne in D Flat" and "Ballade in A Flat." Miss Tollefson's skill in handling these complicated Chopin movements assured all not only of her technical ability but of her power of expression as well.

The slow, sweet, melody of Sinding's "Sybelin" was the first of a group sung by Miss Melrose. "Joy" by Watts was sung with freedom and sheer happiness, an interpretation applicable to the title. Miss Melrose's last number, "All Day I Hear," was written by Miss Helen Tollefson. The soloist ably brought forth the low qualitative notes and plaintive melody of the selection.

The actual climax of the evening came in Moszkowski's "Concerto Moderato" played by Miss Tollefson and by Miss Coe at the second piano. The power in the composition was not lost in its rendition. A splendid unity of the performance demands praise for both of the pianists. The success of the concerts will no doubt assure the patrons of a repetition of the faculty recitals.

Miss Tollefson is a newcomer to Bucknell, coming from the School of Music of Northwestern University as a teacher of piano in Bucknell's School of Music. She has already won praise not only in her position as a teacher but also as an artistic performer. The reputations both of Miss Coe and Miss Melrose who have been in the community for a longer time were even bettered by the latest recital.

Many Religions Are Represented at B.U.

The results of an examination of the religious census taken at Bucknell last year in connection with the registration, show that the total number of students at the University this year is approximately the same as last. A year ago the number enrolled was exactly 1100; this fall it is 1097.

Four of the "old line" Protestant denominations, the Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, and Lutheran Churches, have placed the largest numbers of students in the University. It is also interesting to note that there are four Quakers, two Christian Scientists, two Moravians, and one Unitarian, who have specified their religious preferences. Fifty-seven failed to commit themselves. The complete list follows:

Baptist, 253; Methodist, 193; Presbyterian, 187; Lutheran, 108; Roman Catholic, 74; Reformed, 63; Episcopal, 59; Not Specified 57; Congregational, 28; Evangelical, 22; Hebrew, 17; Christian, 10; United Brethren, 6; Moravian, 2; Polish, 2; Bethel, 1; Evangelical Lutheran, 1; Reformed Zionist, 1; Unitarian, 1; Universalist, 1.

STUDENTS URGED TO SEE GOD THRU MICROSCOPE

A very well attended meeting of the Epworth League of the Beaver Memorial Methodist Church was addressed by Prof. N. H. Stewart on the interesting subject, "Seeing God Through the Microscope." Prof. Stewart told of the many and wonderful things which the microscope revealed pointing to a higher Power lying behind nature. His address was greatly appreciated by the students present.

Another interesting service is planned for next Sunday when on the eve of election Thomas Lewis, '28, will lead the discussion on Parties, Personalities or Principles?

One of the largest colleges is sending its football team 10,000 miles this year. A football player has to get an education some way.

GETTYSBURG SURPRISES BY WINNING FROM B. U.

(Continued from page 1)

for a five-yard gain and a score.

During the remainder of the first half both teams resorted to the aerial attack to gain ground, but neither team was successful in scoring.

Hubisack Scores For Winners

During the third quarter the Bucknell team held the enemy ball toters in check, but when the last period opened the battlefield warriors brought the ball within the shadows of the Bucknell goal line. The sturdy Bison forward wall stopped the opposition thrice, but on the fourth down, Hubisack, crafty Gettysburg quarterback, managed to find a hole through which he slipped and scored a touchdown. Charley Spangler's talented right toe sent the ball straight and true between the uprights for the extra point.

Inspired by this score, the winners came back again and did not stop their belated rush until they had tallied another touchdown that assured them a victory. Gulian, standing on his own 30-yard line, whipped a 45-yard pass to "Bo" McMillan. McMillan, evidently a finished pigskin baseball performer, made an amazing catch of the flying pigskin while on a dead run, and continued his long sprint for 30 more yards and a touchdown. Again Spangler dropped back and calmly booted the extra point.

With three minutes yet remaining to play the Bisons, with their backs to the wall, staged a rally that promised to bear fruit. Brumbaugh, Ammerman, and Shute carried the ball to the home team's 10-yard marker. At this point the winners braced and held the Bison eleven for downs. Spangler kicked out of danger and a few minutes later the final whistle blew, indicating the close of the game.

A Surprise Victory

Gettysburg's surprise victory over Bucknell provided one of the numerous upsets of last Saturday. The Bison team was a heavy favorite to win, but a thrilling finish by the alert Spangler and his men extinguished the last hope that Bucknell had for going through with an unblemished record this fall.

Although the Gettysburg eleven was unusually successful in working the forward pass, the Bisons outgained the winners in the number of first downs registered. One consolation Coach Snavely still has is the fact that Bucknell gained 20 first downs to the six accumulated by Gettysburg.

Several men were injured in this contest, and it is doubtful whether Coach Snavely can muster his full strength for the Villanova game. Charley Jones, Hambacker, and Captain Halicki all received injuries which will keep them out of the line-up for an indefinite period. Bert Ellor, giant guard, did not play in this game as he is still confined to the sidelines with a serious hip injury.

The score:

Gettysburg		Bucknell
Cramer	L. E.	James
Slaughter	L. T.	Woerner
Malone	L. G.	T. Jones
Tussey	C.	Mitchell
Morse	R. G.	Mutzel
Miller	R. T.	Bollinger
Gulian	R. E.	Lobel
Hubisack	G. B.	Brumbaugh
Spangler	L. H. B.	Ammerman
McMillan	R. H. B.	Slate
Snyder	F. B.	Halicki

Score by periods:

Gettysburg	0	0	0	14—14
Bucknell	6	6	0	0—12

Touchdowns—Halicki, Slate, Hubisack, McMillan. Extra points—Spangler, 2 (drop-kick). Substitutions—Gettysburg: Hertzlich for Malone, Drawbaugh for Snyder, Moller for Slaughter, Cockley for Cramer, Malone for Hetrzlich, Roche for Drawbaugh.

Bucknell: Ross for Halicki, Woodring for Ross, Walsh for T. Jones, Miller for Bollinger, Suppy for James, Kostos for Mitchell, Troxell for Lobel, Mitchell for Kostos, James for Suppy, Bollinger for Miller, T. Jones for Walsh, Lobel for Troxell, C. Jones for Woodring, Hambacher for Ammerman. Referee—Gilbert Williams, Umpire—Kealy, Lehigh. Field Judge—Greene. Head linesman—Hautz, State. Time of periods—15 minutes.

STUDENTS, ATTENTION!

A special invitation has been issued to Bucknell students who follow the team to Scranton to stop at the Hotel Anthracite Restaurant at 229 Wyoming Ave., on the direct route to the game. The management has made arrangements to furnish megaphones free of charge to all Bucknell rooters.

The Anthracite Restaurant is well known in Scranton and is a popular eating place. Bucknell pictures will be on display in the windows.—Adv.

Read The Bucknellian

BABY BISONS WIN 6-0 OVER KEYSTONE SQUAD

(Continued from page 1)

breaker was stopped by the Keystone defensive man, but not until he had put 80 yards of valuable sod in back of him. With the ball on the enemy's 10 yard strip, the inspired Bisons sent Kastava around the outskirts of the Keystone line for what turned out to be the only score of the encounter. Mezza attempted to kick the goal, but the try was blocked.

Young Blocks Enemy Backs

Coach Musser replenished the wilting Bucknell line with fresh men and the work of the latter was nothing if not high-grade. Keystone threatened to score late in the final period, but failed because of the fighting spirit which pervaded the team. Keystone brought the ball to the Bucknell 8 yard line, where they tried to rush it over in four attempts before the time elapsed. The Keystone play-picker shot four terrific charges at Young, who had just gone in for Lenhart at a tackle berth. Because of his lack of weight, Keystone had the idea that they could crash through Young by brute force. Four times a burly ball-carrier followed interference directed at Young, and four times Young flung his light, but fighting body against the force that struck him. Keystone found that they had picked the wrong man to back and lost the ball on downs. Bucknell kicked out of danger, just as the game ended.

Bucknell 6		Keystone A. 0
Porter	L. E.	Rhodes
Trudenack	L. T.	Smith
Seager	L. G.	Poehlman
Cummings	C.	Goodwin
Crowe	R. G.	Douglass
Lenhart	R. T.	McGraw
Stonebreaker	R. E.	Kurash
Hinkle	Q. B.	Lyon
Spadafore	L. H. B.	Druggon
Shafer	R. H. B.	Cesarone
Mezza	F. B.	Rousch

Substitutions for Bucknell: Kastrava for Spadafora, Binder for Crowe, Crowe for Trudenack, Young for Lenhart, Androcki for Young, Wilkinson for Shafer, Shafey for Wilkinson, Pierce for Porter, Fry for Shafer.

HOOVER LEADS LIST IN B. U. STRAW VOTE

(Continued from Page 1)

lican candidate, and the unexpected power of the Socialist, constitute a surprising phenomenon in a college situated in the essentially conservative Republican stronghold of Pennsylvania. A good deal of comment has already been aroused by this situation.

TABULATED RETURNS
By Fraternities

Voting Group	Hoover	Thomas	Smith
Faculty	3	2	1
Non-Frats	2	12
Beta Kappa	9	1	2
Sigma Sigma Delta	5	1
Delta Sigma	5	1
Phi Lambda Theta	1
Kappa Sigma	1
Unspecified	1
Total	23	16	3

By Classes

Voting Group	Hoover	Thomas	Smith
Faculty	3	2	1
Seniors	3	4	1
Juniors	5	4	1
Sophomores	9	2
Freshmen	3	4
Total	23	16	3

STAGE IS ALL SET FOR B. U.-VILLANOVA TILT

(Continued from Page 1)

jured list, managed to play for a few minutes in the Gettysburg game. He will be available on Saturday, and will be stationed at one of the halfback posts. Charley Jones will be assigned duty at the other. Brumbaugh will be at the signal-calling berth.

The return of Bert Ellor to the line will undoubtedly strengthen the forward wall. Ellor's services have been sorely missed by his companions in both the Lafayette and the Gettysburg games. The appearance of the big Bloomfield lad will also provide Coach Snavely with a proficient punter.

Ellor will be stationed at one of the guard posts with "Pottsville" Jones taking care of the other one. Woerner and Bollinger will be the tackles, while James and Lobel will cover the wing assignments. Reliable "Tod" Mitchell will round out the line by playing at his old pivot post.

Large Crowd Expected

A capacity crowd is expected to pack Brook's Athletic Field where the game is being staged. Already preparations are in progress to accommodate a large band of followers from each college. Temporary bleachers are being erected so that there will be ample room for all who attend this colorful spectacle.

Bucknell football warriors have been advised to watch Bill Dorsey, hard-plunging fullback, and Captain "Lou" Pessalano, giant tackle, of the Villanova team. Dorsey ran wild against Lebanon Valley last Saturday, and looms as a menacing offensive threat to the Bucknell team on Saturday. Pessalano, weighing 235 pounds, is said to use his weight to good advantage, having thus far this season clearly outplayed all opponents against whom he has been pitted.

The relative merits of both teams are indicated by the records of the two squads. Villanova hold a slight edge, winning over Loyola, Albright, Gettysburg, and Lebanon Valley. Bucknell has conquered Schuylkill, Geneva, and Penn State, tied Lafayette, but has lost to Gettysburg.

VUILLE, EX-'28, IS FIRST CORNELL AIR COMMUTER

Samuel E. Vuille, ex-'28, who will be remembered by many students now attending Bucknell, is pictured in the rotogravure section of the Public Ledger for October 28, as Cornell's first air commuter. He is shown standing beside his plane. Vuille lives in Huntingdon, Pa., and according to the Ledger story flies home for week-end visits.

Vuille is the son of a motorcar dealer in Huntingdon. Evidently motorcars are too slow and common for him. He entered Bucknell in 1924 and became a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

AT THE ORPHEUM

This Thursday (November 1), we will show the Bucknell-Lafayette football game; also No. 2 of "Games of Football," showing the great and winning plays of last season.

Ward, the Barber

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Our Leather Coats
FOR BOTH BOYS and GIRLS
Are Going Over Big
For Style, Finish and Fit they can't be surpassed.
We carry the GLOVER make of Leather Garments; they are universally accepted as THE BEST.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER TO THE B. U. VARSITY
Full line of College and Fraternity Pennants, Banners, Leather Goods, Memory Books, Stationery, etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (East of Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
Silk Crepe, all Wool Flannel and Wool Jersey Dresses
at $5.00 each.
New Silk and Novelty Woolen Dresses at $10.00 each.
Something new and colorful in FRENCH HAND RUGS
at $2.50 and up.

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BIJOU Milton, Pa.
LAST TIME TODAY
THURSDAY, NOVEMBER, 1st.
The Picture You've Been Waiting For.
"STREET ANGEL"
TOMORROW ONLY—A First National Special
BILLIE DOVE in Her Latest and Best Picture
"NIGHT WATCH"
FREE—Dinnerware Every Friday.
COMING, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3rd
KEN MAYNARD in
THE "UPLAND RIDER"
It's "Maynard's" Greatest Thriller.
COMING MON. and TUES., NOVEMBER 5-6
The "Kings of Comedy"
WALLACE BEERY and RAYMOND HATTON
With MARY BRIAN in Their Best
"THE BIG KILLING"
COMING WED. and THURS., NOVEMBER 7-8
"WEDDING MARCH"
Erich Von Stroheim's.
NOTE. Two Days Only. Wednesday and Thursday. November 7-8. So be sure to see this Big Paramount Special. Night Shows—7:00 and 9:00. Matinees—2:30.

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

The Bucknellian

VOLUME 32 PART 2 Editor, Robert L. Lyon LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1928 Business Manager, John N. Feaster NUMBER 8

When 86,000 Watch 22! An aeroplane view of the new football stadium at the University of Michigan. This is said to have the largest seating capacity of any football stadium in the country. It is built in a natural amphitheatre, and the top rows can be entered from street level on three sides. It looks to us like the perfect bowl. (Call-ins-Fletcher.)

"We Who Are About to Learn Salute You." At Simmons College, in the classic confines of Boston, the freshmen are quickly taught their proper place in the scheme of things. Here they are saluting representatives of the august senior class. From left to right—Marjorie Barham, Bernice Epstein, and Jessica Teffer, all of the Class of 1932, kow-tow to Kathleen Frich, Betsey O'Connor, and Betty Whipple, of the Class of 1929. (International Newsreel)

Beauties on the 'Bama. 'Bama Shores. Misses Alice (left) and Mary Mitchell are strong contenders for the intercollegiate water beauty contest—if such is ever held—according to their fellow students at the University of Alabama. They are conceded the title on the campus at Tuscaloosa. Both are members of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. (Orville Rush)

"Pull for the Shore, Boys!"—Lower classmen disport themselves in various ways on different campuses—or should it be camps? Some climb greased poles, some mix up the freshmen's shoes, some smash hats, some tear shirts, and other stunts too numerous to mention. At beautiful Villa Nova they take mud baths while pulling on a rope. The freshmen get on one end of the rope and the sophomores take a tight hold on the other end. Then they pull. The side getting the most mud in mouths, ears, and noses loses. Enterprising laundry men are said to be sponsors for this movement for higher education. (International Newsreel)

Radcliffe Girls Gather About "Jim." That's wrong phonetically. What they gather about is "Gym"—short for Harriet Lawrence Hemenway Gymnasium. It is believed that the majority of the students shown are freshmen. If such is the case, posterity has nothing to fear from the Class of 1932. (Pacific and Atlantic)

Give Princeton's Opponents Enough Roper, and They Will—— Head Coach W. W. Roper, generally spoken of as Bill, has become an institution and a tradition on the Princeton campus. It is rumored that after the Virginia scoreless tie the smile portrayed above disappeared. One wild-eyed member of the squad was interviewed in a psychopathic ward where he waved a Cornell pennant and said his coach's name was Gil Dobie—and he never smiled no more. (Underwood and Underwood)

Wellesley Oarswomen Take Fall Practice. At least one eight-oared crew from each class at Wellesley recently took to the water for Fall rowing practice. The crews work out on Lake Waban under the personal direction of Miss Josephine Rathbone, of Newark, New Jersey, the new rowing coach.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

Timid Tacklers, 'Ware of Timm. A terpsichorean action photograph of J. A. Timm, the ground-gaining halfback of the University of Illinois football team. He was a potent factor in winning the Conference championship for the Illini last year—and it is said that there is no reason to believe that he has lost his skill and cunning. Coach Bob Zuppke does not feel a bit unlucky when he ponders the fact that thirteen "I" men have returned from his 1927 eleven.

(Underwood and Underwood)

"On a Tricycle Built for Two." Helen Woods (left) and Suzanne Kearsley dig into the pre-bellum past for a tricycle upon which to participate in the annual women's hi-jinx at the Los Angeles branch of the University of California. It is said that these jinx get higher and higher every year.

(International Newsreel)

American Colleges Attract Many Nations. The advantages of an education in American colleges are appealing to many nationalities. Practically every nation in the world has representatives taking college courses in this country. And these foreign students do not confine their activities to the regular curriculum. They take part in many extra-curricular activities. Here we have a photograph of Miss Mamie See, daughter of the Chinese ambassador to the United States. Miss See is shown as the coxswain of a sophomore crew at Wellesley.

(Pacific and Atlantic)

From Breaker Boy to College President. Dr. Herman Schneider, acting president of the University of Cincinnati, is an outstanding figure in the academic world. He offers rare combination of engineer, scientist, educator, and administrator.

(J. Anthony Bill)

The Oldest Baptist Seminary—Eaton Hall, the home of the theological seminary of newly merged Colgate-Rochester Divinity School at Hamilton, New York.

(Colgate Maroon)

Great Medical Center Dedicated. Ceremonies dedicating the new Columbia University—Presbyterian medical center in New York City. Dr. Samuel W. Lambert, dean emeritus of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, made the dedicatory address, and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia, conferred degrees on those who materially aided in the development of what is said to be the greatest medical center in the world.

(Wide World)

A Leaping Gopher. Haycraft, almost hidden by the two Chicago backs, Libby, number 9, and Van Nice, number 30, soared this pass for Minnesota's first touchdown in the game at Minneapolis October 20th. Chicago, with all the breaks against them, put up a stubborn fight in the first half, but in the last part of the game the "bone crushers" ran wild to win 33 to 7.

© C. P. Inc., 1928.

"Dogs For Defense—Nothing For Tribute"—A group of Smith College students and their famous "man-eating" dogs. It is said that these members of the canine intelligentsia are trained to bark at men only. The dogs are in the foreground. Left to right—Frances Rainey, Bobbie Connelly, Eleanor Reed. Sitting—Betty Roys, Helen Sanderson, and Abbie Beldew. We understand a well trained dog is worth thousands and thousands of dollars.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Presides Over International Coal Conference. Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology, will act as Chairman of the Second International Conference on Bituminous Coal to be held at the Pittsburgh school from November 19 to 24. It is expected that more than 100 of the coal experts of the world will be present. Dr. Baker organized the first coal conference which was held in 1926.

(Bachrach-Carnegie Tartan)

Leads Crimson on Gridiron. A. E. French, a member of the senior class, is captain of the Harvard football team. French is prominent in many campus activities. He is a member of the Hasty Pudding Institute of 1770, of the Pi Eta Club, a track letterman, and—last but by no means least—president of the Student Council.

(Harvard Pictorial)

The Nickels Do Mount Up—Selling millions of copies of the Saturday Evening Post every week gives Cyrus H. K. Curtis, of Philadelphia, publisher, a nickel or two. Here we find him at the ceremonies incident upon the laying of the corner stone of the new Drexel Institute, to which he has contributed liberally. From left to right—Josiah Penniman, president of the University of Pennsylvania; Mr. Curtis, and Dr. Kenneth G. Matheson.

(International Newsreel)

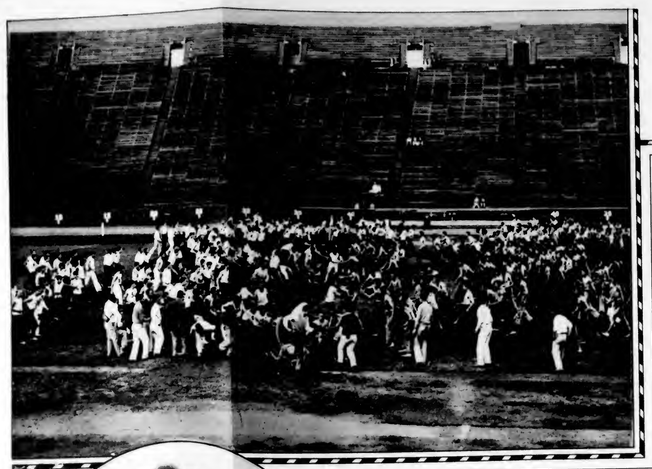
World's Largest Post Card on Way to Hoover. The G.O.P. Nominee will get a 50 pound post card from 2,000 University of Washington student supporters. The card is made of the famous Washington veneer and is said to be the largest single sheet ever turned out, measuring 9 feet by 5 feet. Due to dire threats believed to have been made by the Smith supporters among the Freshman class it is being barracaded in the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house.

Two Ringers on the Northwestern Faculty. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern University, and John Henry Wigmore, a dean of the same institution, pitch horseshoes to inaugurate the athletic field on the downtown campus for professional students. The field is 70,000 square feet in area and it is valued at $1,500,000.00. Of course, it will be used eventually for other buildings. Then there will be no downtown athletic field.

(International Newsreel)

In Memory to the Father of Football—The impressive Walter Camp Memorial at Yale. This was built with contributions from colleges, preparatory schools and high schools in all sections of the country. It is a truly national testimonial to one of the greatest figures in intercollegiate athletics. It will be dedicated during the football season.

(Pacific and Atlantic Photo)



Dons Mantle of Tad Jones. M. A. (Mal) Stevens is functioning as head coach of the Yale football squad. This is his first year as head coach. He has played and coached under Jones. Stevens was a star halfback on the Yale "Wonder Team" of 1923. He was graduated with the Class of 1925, and he is now studying law.
(Yale News Pictorial)

Freshmen Thrive in California Climate. The fresh men won the annual class rush from the sophomores at Leland Stanford University. The rush is held in the stadium at Palo Alto. It looks like an excellent market for an enterprising haberdashery salesman with a good line of shirts and underwear.
(Wide World)

This Bucknellian Means Business. Eddie Halicki, star halfback and captain of the Bucknell University Eleven is proving to be a doughty leader. He has an enviable gridiron record and Bucknell rooters are with him to a man. It is his team to a victory over Penn State.
(Bucknell News Service)

"There is a Hell for Freshmen to which We All Must Go." Lafayette freshmen apparently on their way between the halves of the Albright game when they did stunts for the edification of the spectators. Lafayette won the game, 78 to 0.
(A. C. Sautelle, The Lafayette)

(Above) ALTHEA BAINBRIDGE enjoys the thrills of her first air trip as furnished by Pilot R. S. Fogg. Her charming smile is unmarred by cloudy teeth—thanks to Pepsodent.

(Above) McCLELLAND BARCLAY, famous illustrator, and his model, Miss Helen Goebels, pause for a moment to show the part Pepsodent plays in making smiles so charming.

(Above) ASK YOUR DENTIST the secret of gleaming teeth. "Keep dull film off your teeth," he will say. That's why the use of Pepsodent, the special film-removing dentifrice, is so widespread today.

(Above) YOUTH AND AGE show an equal interest in the historical carriage of President Lincoln. Miss Beulah McGee is enjoying the reminiscences of William H. Rupe. Pepsodent daily guards her pleasing smile.

PEPSODENT—A scientific dentifrice compounded solely to remove dingy film from teeth.

Blame Film for Cloudy Teeth

—for serious tooth and gum disorders. Remove it twice each day with the special film-removing dentifrice dentists urge.

In ten cases of dull, discolored teeth, nine may be traced to a dingy film that ordinary brushing fails to remove successfully. That is the opinion of modern dental specialists. Serious tooth and gum disorders, including pyorrhea, are also traced to film as their chief cause.

Film must be removed twice daily. To do this, dentists urge the special, film-removing dentifrice — Pepsodent — different in formula and in action from all others. One whose main purpose is to remove this dangerous coating from teeth.

Film is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and forms a breeding place for germs. It invites the acids of decay.

Film, too, is the basis of tartar. And germs, with tartar, are the cause of pyorrhea. It absorbs discolorations from food and smoking. And makes pretty teeth look "off color."

Pepsodent first curdles that film. Then removes it in gentle safety to enamel. It acts to firm the gums and give them healthy, coral color. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva and keeps the mouth clean. Largely on dental advice, thousands are discarding old ways for it. Get it wherever dentifrices are sold or write The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, for free 10-day tube. Smiles will be brighter, teeth whiter and more healthy within a few days' time.

We could make Pepsodent to sell at a lower price. But it would not contain the properties millions know will whiten teeth as no other safe method does. Nor would it embody the costly agents science recommends to combat serious tooth and gum disorders. Beware when lovely teeth are placed at stake.

Pepsodent
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
The Quality Dentifrice—Removes Film from Teeth

BELLE HOP DANCE
SATURDAY, NOV. 10
8 TO 12 P. M.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

LET'S ALL CHEER EXTRA HARD FOR B. U. ON SATURDAY

VOLUME XXXII | LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1928. | PART NO. ONE | NUMBER 9

B. U. BAND PLAYS AT REOPENING OF WJBU STATION

Githens, '29, Obtains License To Broadcast as Weekly Programs are Resumed

Lacking a licensed operator, the Bucknell broadcasting station, WJBU, delayed opening its season this fall, but due to the fact that Sherwood Githens, '29, has been granted a license to operate, the station has again resumed broadcasting.

Its opening program on Thursday evening, November 1, was given by the Bucknell band, which stirred up the wave-length with lively marches and torrid syncopation. "Beloved," sung by the band's new baritone, Adam Ravolac, '29, and "San," with its "hot" trumpet chorus being struck off by Karl C. Alhig, '29, were the outstanding numbers.

The station will be on the air every Thursday night hereafter, and will also broadcast the remaining "home games" of the football season.

Though the team lost, the band won, is the general verdict of those who watched the evolutions of the two organizations on Soldiers Field at Scranton last week. The horn-blowing aggregation played not only at the game, but on the street, in the lobby of the Jermyn Hotel, and in the street in front of both that and the Hotel Casey, where the Villanova visitors were situated.

The band made the trip in two motor-busses, arriving in the Anthracite City in the late afternoon on Friday. The streets were paraded that evening in spite of the threatening rain. Shortly before the rally of the Bucknell musicians, the Villanova band appeared before the Hotel Jermyn, which was the headquarters for Bucknell followers, and serenaded their rivals. Both bands did their "usual stuff" at the game.

Ed. Students to Hear Juniata's "Prexy"

Dr. Charles Calvert Ellis, vice president of Juniata College, will address members of the Bucknell Education Club, Thursday evening, November eighth, at 7:30 o'clock in Biology 6, upon the subject "Teaching as a Career."

Dr. Ellis also holds the position of permanent secretary of the Pennsylvania College Teachers' of Education Society and is head of the Department of Education at Juniata College. He is a brilliant speaker, being greatly in demand as a lecturer at State institutes. The message which he brings to the would-be teachers will be of great value to any member of the student body.

The Education Club of Bucknell University is fortunate in securing this speaker. It is hoped that a large number of the students will realize this and will snatch the opportunity of hearing Dr. Ellis. Any who are not members of the club and who wish to join it may do so that evening. The dues are the customary fifty cents a semester. The program for the year is equally as strong as the first two numbers have proven and will prove to be. The Education Conference was a success in innumerable ways. Dr. Ellis' lecture also promises to be vastly beneficial.

F. Kernohan to Head Co-ed Student Gov't.

The election of the president of the Women's Student Government Association for the year 1929-30, was held last Thursday evening in the play room of the new dormitory. Frances Kernohan, '30, was elected.

This election is scheduled to be held annually on the last Wednesday in October. However, because of the Frill and Frown frolic, the election was postponed until Thursday.

Eligibility to this office requires that the candidate be a junior who has served at least one year in the Women's Student Senate. Those eligible for election were: Esther Keim, Ruth Avery, Frances Kernohan, Emilie Maxwell, Helen Bell, Ethel Henion, and Evelyn Beckworth.

PI DELTA OMICRON

There will be an important meeting of Pi Delta Omicron, chemical fraternity, in the Chemistry laboratory this evening, November 8, at 7:30.

C. P. Bailey, Pres.

Open Forum Is Held By Ministerial Ass'n

The Ministerial Association was fortunate to obtain Miss Allene De Chant, well-known missionary of the Reformed Church, as honor guest and speaker at the Fellowship meeting held in the Baptist chapel, Thursday night, November 1. The theme of Miss De Chant's address was "Mental Attitudes." She spoke upon the attitudes of different peoples toward each other, and illustrated with examples found in her own experience with the Chinese, Negroes, Germans, and English. Miss DeChant wove her magnetic personality into her speech, and made it vitally interesting to the audience.

"The negroes and the whites," said Miss De Chant, "may be compared to the black and white keys of a piano; both are necessary for perfect harmony and color of tone."

At the conclusion of her speech, an open forum was held in which the students asked questions and discussed problems concerning missionary work.

The meeting was held mainly for the purpose of organizing those students who are interested in religious work and who are preparing for a life of Christian service. The forty students present were divided into Religious Education, Social Welfare, Missionary, and Ministerial groups, the representatives of which are: Lillian Mattick, '29, Bertha Gwen Thomas, '30, John Shields, '31, and Arthur Guldin, '32. After the brief period of organization, refreshments were served, during which Miss DeChant displayed several curios collected in foreign nations.

This Fellowship meeting was the first of the year and is a continuation of the meetings held last year.

Norway Youth Tells Experience at C. E.

"The spirit of friendliness and helpfulness that I have found on this college campus has been a great help to me in becoming accustomed to American collegiate ways; and I shall never forget the many sacrifices that I made to come to these United States to further my education," said "Ed" Steen, '32, from Norway, who told his life history to the members of C. E. at the Baptist church Sunday night, November 4, at 6:45.

After spending most of his early youth roving the high seas, he continued naval service in the war, in preparation for a higher position on board a ship. "But the World War had made me restless and speechless; and I longed for something; but I knew not what it was that I desired," Mr. Steen continued. "After searching for many weary days, I finally found peace in a church service, where I gave my heart to Christ." In spite of the objection from his mother, "Ed" came to America. He is now studying to enter the ministry.

The class of '32 can well be proud of this classmate, who has put the hindrance of broken speech aside and is determinedly striving forward to the truth.

BOY SCOUTS, TROOP 14, OBSERVE HALLOWE'EN

Pumpkin pie, apples, doughnuts, and cider tickled the palates of the Boy Scouts of Troop 14 at their Hallowe'en party last Friday night, at the Baptist church. After a series of games and a humorous indoor track-meet, the scouts gathered around an electric "campfire," to hear one of Professor N. H. Stewart's inimitable ghost stories.

Troop 14, located at the Baptist church, is led entirely by Bucknell men. Professor Charles M. Bond is scoutmaster and is aided by three assistants: Geddes W. Simpson, '29, Chas. Mohr, '30, and Alex Fleming, '31. The troop committee has the following members: Prof. N. H. Stewart, Prof. F. E. Burpee, Dr. M. D. Nesbit, Mr. John Plant, and Mr. Guy Payne.

Inter-Collegiate Newspaper Ass'n Meets; Bucknellian Represented by Feaster, '30

CONVENTION SHOWS KEEN INTEREST WHEN TOLD ABOUT ROTOGRAVURE SECTION; "THAT'S PROGRESS," COMMENTS JOURNALIST

"The Bucknellian is wonderful. It has a pictorial section. That's progress," said Mr. Henry E. Warner, of the editorial staff of the Baltimore Sun. This comment was made during Mr. Warner's address at the banquet at the conclusion of the fall convention of Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States, held at Haverford College, November 2 and 3. In his very witty address the speaker stressed the fact that college journalism should be more international in its scope. Universities and colleges are not local institutions. College journalists should attempt to do the hard things.

Other prominent speakers were Dr. W. W. Comfort, president of Haverford College, Professor J. M. Lee, director of journalism at N. Y. U., and Rowe Stewart, president of the Philadelphia Record.

Dr. Comfort claimed that college journalism is in a class by itself. There is a sentimental interest on the part of the readers of college papers which is not aroused by professional journalism. The power of the college editor is great. He must be careful that he adheres strictly to the truth at all times.

Professor James M. Lee startled the association by stating that the editor of the Literary Digest claims that he cannot find material in college papers worth quoting. This opinion was shared by other eminent editors, so Professor Lee took a symposium of what editors would like to see in college papers. He then gave fifteen of these suggestions, among which were: articles about the college man at the ballot box; college attitude towards football; college customs; the influence of chapter houses on the students; and interviews with faculty members.

Mr. Stewart, of the Record, gave an interesting talk dealing with the business problems of a great newspaper. Mr. Stewart started as an office boy to the president, and rose to be president himself. Modern newspapers are so complex today that they demand a great organization, said this successful organizer.

The fall convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association was an innovation this year. Hitherto

(Continued on last page.)

INTEREST GROWS IN B. U. DEBATE WITH OXFORD MEN

Requests For Tickets Coming In For Forensic Tilt Which Will Be Held Nov. 19

As the date of the Oxford-Bucknell debate approaches, interest increases. Although the international forensic tilt does not come off until the evening of November 19, requests for tickets are coming in steadily, a clear indication that the public has not forgotten the colorful exhibition of wit, oratory, and logic that characterized the debating of the Oxford debaters on their former appearance here two years ago. If reports coming from other universities have any value, Bucknellians have another brilliant debating contest in prospect. The Oxford representatives have charmed and impressed the college audiences before whom they have appeared to date. To hear the gentlemen from England advocating the entry of the United States into the League of Nations should, in view of the consistent attitude of this country, prove highly diverting and instructive. Everyone has, or ought to have, an opinion on this question. Here is an opportunity to hear both sides of the case presented with Englishmen speaking for and American against the proposal. That a warm discussion will result is a foregone conclusion.

The members of the Oxford team are all interesting personalities. Mr. Dingle M. Foot—"What's in a name?"—is "Following in the steps of his father who has sat in three parliaments." Mr. Foot has taken an active interest in political organizations within and without the University. That he is an ardent Liberal is attested by the fact that during the past year he has been president of the Oxford Liberal Club and is, in fact, at the present time a prospective Liberal candidate for the

(Continued on last page.)

Pi Delta Epsilon Bids Four Writers

Four pledges of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, will begin a week of open initiation on Monday, November 12.

The pledges are Clarence W. Cranford, '29, William C. Emmitt, '30, Robert L. Lyon, '29, and J. Warren McElligot, '30.

Eligibility requirements include two years work on a college publication, as an editor, or in a position leading to an editorship. Pi Delta Epsilon was founded at Bucknell in 1924, and aims to promote interest in college journalism.

FINE PROGRAM BY WOMEN'S SYMPHONY PLEASES AUDIENCE

Fifth Symphony By Beethoven Given Fine Interpretation By Competent Musicians

What was undoubtedly the most pretentious musical program ever presented in Lewisburg was greeted with enthusiasm by a moderately sized audience, when Ethel Leginska and the Boston Women's Symphony orchestra played Tuesday evening, November 6, at the Baptist church. The organization numbered 50 musicians and employed every important instrument used in symphony orchestras.

The symphony of the evening was the celebrated "Fifth" of Beethoven. This work, was played by the orchestra with all its fatalistic grandeur, the last movement being especially powerful in its climaxes. The third movement, however, might have been more effective had Miss Leginska chosen to read it a trifle faster. Those who have heard Leopold Stowkowski's interpretation of this movement, with the Philadelphia Orchestra, in which the passage for celli and double-basses is taken with an ungainly dexterity, as of a herd of young bison in a sportive game, may well have been disappointed with Miss Leginska's reading.

The first "Hungarian Fantasie" which was to have been played by Miss Leginska, as a piano solo, with orchestral accompaniment, had to be

(Continued on last page.)

Friars to Sponsor All-College Dance

The Friars, sophomore honorary society at Bucknell, will stage an all-college dance in the Tustin Gym on November 24. Since the organization of honorary societies at Bucknell, their dances have without exception been closed affairs, and the students excluded. The Friars are planning to invite everybody to their frolic.

The date is admirably suited for the occasion, for it is on the Saturday preceding Thanksgiving. The football team will battle the Dickinson team at Carlisle in the afternoon, but the Friars are making arrangements to have the entire Bison squad back in time to be their guests that evening.

The music committee promises a real, red-hot band, one that will keep the old dogs shuffling until the last minute. While the Friars will not divulge the name of the music-makers, they do not deny the rumor that it will be either "Ted" Lewis, or Waring's Pennsylvanians.

BELLE HOP DANCE.

Tickets to the Belle Hop dance have been placed on sale at all fraternity houses, Baker's Drug Store, and Montgomery's. The dance will be Informal, 8 to 12, with music by "Red" Hitchens' improved 12 piece dance and concert orchestra.

Plane Barely Averts Crash Near Stadium

A bad accident was narrowly averted when the Falcon monoplane in which William Ranson, of White Plains, N. Y., was arriving on a visit to his brother, "Al" Ranson, '31, at the Kappa Delta Rho house, barely missed crashing into the iron fence surrounding the Bucknell Memorial Stadium, as the aviator landed in the large field back of the Engineering Building.

Ranson had been on a trip to the Middle West and was returning from Indianapolis, Indiana, to his home at White Plains. Desiring to see his brother at Bucknell, he swung off his course and steered for the Lewisburg institution. Arriving over the campus, the aviator was uncertain as to his whereabouts and circled for some time in an effort to find some distinguishing landmark.

He found it—though it nearly caused the accident which would probably have wrecked his machine and perhaps have resulted in a fatality. It was the big concrete bowl gleaming beneath him which made Ranson certain that he had arrived at Bucknell. By this time, however, he had circled so near to the ground in his maneuvers that his plane swooped low over the high fence as he landed. A few feet lower, and the big airplane would have crashed.

Hearing the noise of the landing, a crowd of students ran out of the dormitories and surrounded the plane.

Ranson, whose hobby is flying, remained at the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity house for several days, visiting his brother, rehashing the experiences of his trip, and getting acquainted with Bucknell and its students. The monoplane averaged a speed of 120 miles per hour in its journey east from Indianapolis.

"Marge" Reno, '27, To Sail For Brazil

Margarida Reno, '27, sails on November 17 for Victoria, Brazil, where she will aid her parents in their work at the American Baptist School.

Not knowing definitely the subjects she will be expected to teach, Margarida said, "You know a missionary must be a 'jack-of-all-trades.'" Although she prefers to teach science, music, and French, "Marge" thinks it very probable that her father will turn the directorship of the school over to her, in order to enable him to give additional time to other missionary stations which he has established throughout the state of Espirito Santo.

The present school originated in the basement of the Reno home. As soon as he was able, Mr. Reno built a church, and classes were held there during the week. Students came to the school from the interior, and upon completing the course returned to their own community as teachers.

Increased registration has necessitated additional buildings, but, even now, although there is a large campus, students are cramped for room. Each year more students are turned away because of the lack of accommodations. The dining-room has since been curtained off for classroom use. Speaking of the dining-room, "Marge" remarked that her parents had taken a very radical step in that they permitted the boys and girls to eat in the same room. It is the only school in South America where this practice is allowed, and then Mr. and Mrs. Reno are required to eat in the same room, with the boys and girls on opposite sides of them.

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD FETE

The Presbyterian young people were entertained at the home of Miss Harriet Britton, of Second street, Friday evening, November 1. Those who had been left behind in the Villanova migration, masqueraded as the usual Hallowe'en celebrities, and met to enjoy an evening of fun.

VILLANOVA SQUAD OUTPLAYS BISONS AND WINS 20-6

Slate Gets Only B.U. Touchdown By Running 20 Yards After Skirting Left End

A powerful Villanova College eleven, led by Captain "Lou" Pessalano, vanquished a stubborn Bucknell football team at Scranton last Saturday afternoon on a muddy field by the decisive score of 20-6, before 12,000 spectators. The triumph furnished the Villanova followers with consolation for last season's setback.

Except for a few minutes in the first and second periods, the Bucknell men were completely outplayed by their conquerers. The hard-plunging backs plowed through the Bison line or skirted the ends for repeated gains. Although Bucknell drew first blood, the Catholic lads came right back and crashed through the enemy's stout defense for a trio of touchdowns.

Although outplayed during the greater part of the game, the Bison team furnished its followers with several thrills by executing plays that astonished even their worthy foes. During the first period the Orange and Blue warriors fought their rivals to a standstill. After the initial kickoff the ball see-sawed up and down the field, and when the opening quarter was over the pigskin was in midfield, a few yards in Bucknell territory.

Slate Tallies For Bisons

Bucknell's only score came as a result of a costly misplay on the part of a Villanova player. Shortly after the second stanza had started the Bucknell team, finding that it could not penetrate a formidable Villanova

(Continued on last page.)

Socialist Students Active on Campus

Bold, dashing, and cavalier was the gesture made by students of socialist sympathies Monday night. When faculty members and undergraduates climbed the hill on election day, they discovered that the plotters of the small hours had literally plastered the campus with posters, pictures, copies of the socialist party platform, pamphlets, and other propaganda.

Tacked firmly to the bulletin in the hall of Old Main, was a huge poster bearing the pictures of both Thomas and Maurer, the socialist candidates. Beside the portraits, an opened-out folder printed with the platform was carefully fastened to the display board. From high on the pillars beside the staircase, individual pictures of the two candidates looked benignly down upon the surprised students.

Leaflets and pamphlets urging voters to support the collectivist group in its political efforts were scattered through the classrooms of several buildings, while other printed matter of the same nature had been pushed under doors into many of the administration and department offices.

Our Vacation Dates To Stay Unchanged

After considering three petitions on the subject, the faculty decided to continue the present dates of the Thanksgiving vacation without change, in its meeting yesterday afternoon. Student Council petitioned for a one-day vacation, while the women's student government body and the commuters' organization asked that no alteration be made.

Inasmuch as engagements of all sorts have been made on the basis of the existing calendar, it was deemed best not to alter the existing schedule.

FRED HEATHER TO SPEAK

"My Church in the Coal Regions," will be the subject of Fred Heather's talk before the Baptist Christian Endeavor next Sunday evening, November 11, at 6:30.

The pulpit of the Johnston City Methodist Church, Brady, left vacant that evening by Heather's presence here, will be filled by "Ray" Taylor, '30.

Helen Blecher, '32, spent the week-end at her home in Danville, Pa.

* * * *

Pres" Davis, '28, spent a recent week-end with his S. A. E. brothers.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Smith of Moorestown, N. J., spent the week-end with their daughter, Barbara.

* * * *

Doris Siner, '29, accompanied by Dorothy Stenger, '30, spent the week-end at her home in Germantown, Pa.

* * * *

Many Bucknell men attended the dance of the Sagamore Club held at the "Town Hall" in Scranton last Friday evening..

* * * *

One of Bucknell's bright philosophers remarks, "Say, folks, you don't have to look for experience—just let nature take it's course."

* * * *

A group of students spent the week-end attending the Regional Baptist Young Peoples' Conference held at Northumberland.

* * * *

"Eddie" Croft, "Em" Maxwell, and "Judy" Robertson, all of '30, took advantage of the Philadelphia excursion on a recent week-end.

* * * *

Third floor, New Dorm, is very popular. There are at least ten long distance calls every night—but are they always long distance?

* * * *

Jean Wood, '29, spent the week-end of November 2 at home. Jean lives in Chicago, but even that distance didn't frighten the young lady.

* * * *

Ruth Wiggins, '30, spent the week-end at her home in Collingswood. Mary Mumma, '30, in Harrisburg, and Blanche Thomas, '30, in Hazleton.

* * * *

Charles Frampton made a hurried trip to Punxsutawney Friday, November 2, where he arranged for the Glee Club to give a concert later in the fall.

* * * *

Santa Claus has played a trick on the "Semites," for the new post office boxes, which were not expected before Christmas time, arrived at the "Sem" last week.

* * * *

A Bucknell senior was overheard to remark: "Say, I wish I could drive a zeppelin, because I'd always be far enough ahead to be away from the sound of back seat instruction?

* * * *

Sorority dances continue to be held in the play room! Since that seems to be inevitable, the name should be changed. We must have some sophistication, and certainly "play room" bears no stamp of dignity.

* * * *

Last week on Thursday morning in chapel, the assembly responded quite eagerly to the school song "Come Bucknell Warriors." We like the chance to show our spirit and would appreciate it if the affair was repeated.

* * * *

Packages hereafter had better be addressed with the first names in full. The other day a boy received a parcel intended for a semite. Realizing that the contents could not possibly be meant for a male he looked up the owner.

* * * *

The week-end of the Villanova game, the "Sem" was almost as deserted as it was the time of the State game. On Friday there was a general exodus from "Sem" in spite of the fact that Saturday was not an official holiday.

* * * *

According to reports brought back from the Young Peoples' World Peace Conference, held in Holland last summer, the white race never got into God's oven, and, unlike the black and brown races, never was burned or even heated by the Spirit of God.

* * * *

The Pi Phis are holding study hall for their pledges every night. It is proving quite successful—both as a means of raising scholarship, and also of keeping the dear little fresh out of mischief. It wouldn't hurt the rest of the freshmen to have a little supervision, either.

* * * *

We hear that there is a possibility that the "Sem" Christmas dinner may be the first meal in the new dining room. We hope that the possibility may prove to be a fact, for Christmas dinner in a new dining room would be an event to which all "Semites" might well look forward.

For-most people the greatest source of pleasure is their own childishness.

* * * *

"Dolly" Flint, '32, is now out of the infirmary and attending her classes.

* * * *

"Dolly" Flint, '32, occupied the women's Infirmary last week and grew rather lonesome.

* * * *

"Peg" McGeary is a patient in the woman's infirmary. Here's wishing you a speedy recovery, "Peg."

* * * *

Some of the participants of the Kappa Delta "kid-party" seemed to feel right at home in their state of second childhood.

* * * *

If you want to know the digestability of onion sandwiches, ask "Betty" Figner, '30, and "Gertie" Brooks, '30, of Harris Hall.

* * * *

Some fraternity men are worried about the coming of the "television," when they will have to comb their hair before calling the "Sem."

* * * *

We wonder if the girls who are now swinging lucky stocks so vigoriously are practicing for swinging the rolling pin later in life.

* * * *

The rain was responsible for more than one contingency over the week-end. The members of the band returned with slightly bedraggled white trousers.

* * * *

An upper-classman was heard asking a freshman why he liked to dance with a certain girl. The frosh replied; "Because she gets out of step every time I do."

* * * *

Since the ban on automobiles was lifted for the week-end, it was not necessary for some to depend upon the generosity of traveling-salesmen in order to reach Scranton.

* * * *

Professor and Mrs. Frank G. Davis entertained "Pinkie" Lemon, '29, Inez Robinson, '28, "Reggie" Gaylord, '29, and Clyde Bailey, '29, at tea on a recent Sunday evening.

* * * *

Because so many were away, the "Sem" was a quiet place last week-end. Those girls who remained had a chance to rest up after the excitement of the various Hallowe'en parties attended during the week.

* * * *

"Gene" Klingler, '29, "Art" Shorts, '30, and "Beanie" Martin, '31, rode 35 miles in a rumble seat in the pouring rain coming from Scranton last week-end. Another drenching more or less made little difference to the boys.

* * * *

"Red" Hitchens' practicing is bringing popularity to the S. A. E. house lately. Most any night there is a group of interested spectators and auditors holding down the corner and enjoying "Red's" snappy syncopation.

* * * *

The following conversation was overheard between two Bucknellians:

"Say, what has become of those old-fashioned celluloid campaign buttons?"

"Huh! Say, this campaign has been too hot for celluloid."

* * * *

"Lou" Jefferies, swift pitcher for last year's freshman baseball team, has given up propelling the spheroid in preference to the stage. His debut, lasting only a short time, was staged several weeks ago at a theatre in Milton when John Maloy, also of '31, ushered him into the limelight.

* * * *

Members of Professor Lund's psychology class were interested to learn that President Calvin Coolidge's famous statement, "I do not choose to run" is not true psychologically speaking. According to Professor Lund, it was not Coolidge who chose not to run, but the situation which chose for him.

"Ambition" Fortner, a six-weeks-old puppy, was one of the most entertaining visitors at the new dormitory during this last week-end. Surrounded by a large group of admirers the young visitor gave an interesting series of voice lessons, with apparent disregard of all "quiet hours."

* * * *

The class in home economics 103 is combining practice with theory every so often by getting its own meals under the supervision of Miss Olive Douglass, teacher of home economics. From what we hear, the girls not only are learning how to get and serve a meal, but are greatly enjoying it as well.

* * * *

"Bud" Konkle took one of his many "Sem" girls to the movies one evening last week, and after the show "Bud" wanted to show her that he was a regular fellow so he asked her if she felt like a coca cola.

"Of course I don't, do I look like one?" was her snappy retort. "Bud" is "off" women again.

* * * *

"Semites" always look forward to receiving their laundry cases from home, for more often than not the cases contain something much more interesting tha nclothes—n a m e l y, food. They produce cake, fruit, candy, and various other eatables especially suited to the taste. No wonder receiving a laundry case is an event!

* * * *

Dinner at the "Sem" on Hallowe'en evening was a gay affair. Candles lighted the tables, and in the middle of the room stood a white-robed figure, with a pumpkin for a head, looking quite ghastly in the dim light. A sumptuous meal was served, and songs, cheers, and speeches all helped add to the spirit of the occasion.

* * * *

While Charlie Frampton was trying to get a ride as far as the Milton Mivies, a car stopped and asked him if he wanted a ride. Overtaken by the generosity of the big hearted driver Charlie exclaimed, "No thanks, I'm walking to reduce." "Well, your on the wrong road. This is the road to Milton," retorted the country gentleman. Charlie is expected to recover.

German Club Elects Fenichel, '30, Pres.

The war is over, if we may judge by the wave of enthusiasm for things German, which inundated the first meeting of Der Deutsche Verein, the society of students of German at Bucknell. Officers elected this year are: president, Benjamin Fenichel, '30; vice president, Alan Martin, '29; secretary, Christian Gerkin, '30; treasurer, "Lee" Munkel, '31.

Following the voting, the year's program was discussed. Professor L. L. Rockwell, head of the German Department, whose vision and initiative are the moving forces in the Verein, addressed the roup. He announced that Mr. Bucher, the engaging gentleman who lectured on Germany last winter, will be here again this year to present some new lights on the great Teutonic nation. Students who attended this lecturer's former meeting will remember that the isles of the Engineering Building auditorium were crowded with chairs, and that many persons were turned away at the door.

It was also announced that a German play will be probably produced by the club this winter. The second meeting was held Monday evening, November 5, when German games were played and the new members welcomed. The latter are: Ethel Bibby, Alfred Boerner, Gerhard Glahn, John Gittins, Arthur Guldin, David Davis, Evelyn Stoler, Jane Foust, Anne Schulz, John T. Buhrlew, Joseph Czarnecki, J. R. Derrick, Margaret Erb, Harry Faller, Goldie Heyman, M. Glazier, N. H. Heiligman, W. F. Yust, George Truckenmiller, Marian Reese, George Sandel, Bertram Cohen, Milton Cohen, Joseph Nissley, Ned Raker, George Klein, Arthur Gerhart, Walter Dutchak, Walter Grim, William DeLancey, James Terpolilli, George Streitz, Blair Hazen, and Victor Oleyear.

COLLEGIANA

The president of Cornell University, in his address at the opening of the college in September, announced it as his belief that the American undergraduate has a growing tendency of getting too little sleep. He advised students to overcome this evil in their freshman year and get a good habit for college life.

—o—

Seniors at Davidson College are determined that they shall be easily distinguished from undergraduates. They have ordered blazers which will be their official garb during the coming year. The blazers will be blue with gray trimmings.

—o—

The editor of the Swarthmore Phoenix writes very eloquently in the issue for October 16, on the subject of favors at formal fraternity dances. He suggests that the practice of giving favors at formal dances be abolished in deference to the usual condition of students' pocketbooks. We say "He" suggests, for no woman would do away with a chance to get something for nothing.

—C—

Of all the hard luck! Students who attend college in New Jersey are having a tough time of it now that the New Jersey legislature has passed a traffic law that makes it an offense fro anyone either to ask for or to offer a ride on the open highways of that state. The hop-hiker's art will soon become obselete there if the law is enforced. A majority of the legislators in New Jersey must be automobile manufacturers!

—o—

"Twenty-seven per cent. of the freshman co-eds at Dickinson are overweight," says the Dickinsonian. Our explanation is that the girls are probably letting their burdens weigh too heavily upon them. They have one consolation, though. They will probably be underweight when they are seniors, if they survive that long.

Read The Bucknellian

"PSYCH" CLASSES TRY EXPERIMENTS ON ORIENTATION

Prof. Lund Has Students Record Data on "Sense of Direction" In Series of Tests

"Is there really a sense of direction?" That is the question Professor Frederick H. Lund is attempting to solve in his present orientation experiment at the Stadium. His method of study has been the observation of individual's ability to keep oriented when the usual visual cues have been removed, in this case simply by blindfolding.

Dr. Lund has performed a series of three experiments, in each case using members of his classes as subjects.

On the first experiment, the blindfolded subject is started walking directly toward a specified objective 300 feet from the starting point. He is followed by the experimenter who keeps a careful record of the course taken, mapping this out on a specially prepared chart.

The field over which the subject walks (a level field out by the stadium), has been mapped out in the form of a quadrant by which the experimenter can keep account of the veering of the subject. The experiment is repeated six times. Each time the subject is brought back to the starting point without being informed as to the nature of the course he has taken.

In plotting the average course taken by the 100 students who have engaged in this experiment, the results seem to follow the normal curve of distribution, one-third tending to keep a pretty straight course, another third veering consistently to the right, some more decidedly than others; and the other third show the same type of veering to the left.

Subjects Travel Arcs

The subjects are led, in a second experiment, over arcs tangent to the same line, arcs of different magnitude, some going to the right and some to the left. The radii upon which these arcs are described varied from 100 feet to 900 feet, thus giving different amounts of curviture.

The blindfolded subjects when led over a given arc were asked to report whether they were going to the right, to the left, or straight ahead. The ease with which this report could be made would naturally depend upon the amount of deflection of the arc. As expected, it was found that the individual who tended in the first experiment to veer to the right had no trouble in this experiment in telling when he was taken to the left, but made many errors in his judgmens on the right deflecting arcs.

A third experiment repeated the procedure of the first one except that the subject was required to walk backward. In the main, the results show that the individual who veer to the left in walking forward will veer to the left in walking backward, and vice versa.

Why The Veering?

Now the problem is to determine the reason for the veering tendancies of the subjects or the reason for their apparent change in sense of direction."

Dr. Lund is of the opinion that the veering dispositions are due to some asymmetry in structure corresponding to the apparent asymmetry in function. He is at present making various types of measurements on his subjects to find which asymmetries, if any, show the highest relatedness to, the deflectional tendancy shown by the subject.

Strictly speaking, Dr. Lund does not believe that there is a true "sense of direction," and that the thing so named is really a "feeling of relationship" established by the various types of sensory impressions received, and the associative value of these.

Caterers Organize To Better Frat. Food

Organizing to combat culinary difficulties and to promote the general welfare of fraternal stomachs, the menu-makers of our campus have formed the Caterers' Club. The purpose of this club is to cooperate in obtaining the best food obtainable and in serving it efficiently and in well-balanced diet. The membership in this organization is made up of the caterers of all the fraternities.

The officers of the new organization are John Farrow, '29, president; Frank Loper, '29, vice president; and Kimball Miller, '29, secretary. With this corps of leaders, the Caterers' Club should soon boast its seal of approval as surpassing in reliability even the Stamp of Approval of the Good Housekeeping Institute.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

Quick on the trigger!

DON'T ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan PENS-PENCILS '72

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
George Wright, '31

Penna. Gamma chapter of Phi Kappa Psi takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Allen Ellenberger, '32, of Harrisburg.

The majority of the brothers journeyed to Scranton over the week-end. From all reports it was a great game and a great week-end.

Brother Gittins, '29, spent last Saturday and Sunday with his grandparents at Kingston.

Mart Christy, '31, and Hans Rahen, '29, journeyed to their homes over Sunday.

Pledge brother Frank Grubb, '32, underwent an operation for an infected leg last week. We welcome him back after a three day absence from our midst.

We are contemplating our annual farmers party and dance, probably to be held November 23. It will be a closed dance, invitations being sent.

The lure of the big city still holds its charm. Pledge brother Ellenberger yielded and spent the week-end in Forty Fort.

Brother James visited the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary for a day or two last week, recuperating from injuries to his back. He was able to be in harness again last Saturday.

"Fiela" Bunting, '29, and "Stream" Paynter, '31, the erstwhile muskrat hunters have an animal answering to the name of Ned. "Stream" says its half setter, half hound, and part Beagle. We are beginning to think its a dog, but wonder what the rest of it is.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

In one of the best football games ever played in the annals of the chapter, the mighty active machine rode rough-shod over the game, but outclassed pledge aggregation, winning by 30 to 0.

The contest was staged on the North Field gridiron, before a large crowd of enthusiastic fans, and partisan spirit ran high.

The individual star of the game was "Mutt" Convery, known throughout the Mosquito State as "The Perth Amboy Flash." Convery scored four of the five touchdowns, plucking long heaves from Johnny McNally for the tallies in sensational style.

The other active score resulted from a smash off tackle by Joe Clark, the big Brown battering-ram. Joe followed some nice interference on the part of his mates.

Harry Allsworth, the mammoth lineman, played a whale of a game at a guard position. Harry has been in training for the conflict for several weeks and his stellar playing proved the benefit of his strict adherence to rigid rules.

Dick Klapp was the outstanding player for the plebe outfit, tearing off some pretty runs from his half-back post.

Fred Rudisill, ex-'27, stopped off to see the boys on Sunday, accompanied by his wife. Rudisill was on his way home from Lancaster where he had just copped the Central Pennsylvania tennis championship.

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Herncane, '31

Mrs. L. M. Horton of Scranton, was a visitor at the house this week-end.

Quite a few of the boys made it a point to see the football game at Scranton. All who were there reported that the dance was quite a success. Any one who doubts this statement, are referred to Harold Dayton, '31, who will elaborate further on the affair.

W. W. Herncane, '31, spent the past few days in the infirmary, due to an injured foot.

Have you heard the new Kappa Sigma song, "I Can't Give You Anything But Love?"

Pledges Joe McMurray and "Bob" Henler, both of '32, spent the week-end at their homes in Williamsport.

Messrs. Poole, Hartford, and Hennestahl of the Alpha Delta chapter at Penn State were overnight guests November 3.

The new electric winder recently installed on our victrola to ease the duties of our pledges, has turned out to be rather a flop, and the pledges are back at the old grind again.

The next dance of the semester will be held on Friday, November 9. It will be in the nature of a "Hard Times Brawl." Don't take the last word too literally, as the dance will be conducted with all the decorum for which the Kappa Sig dances are noted.

"Stretch" Davidson, '30, and "Art" Gerhart, '32, are visiting friends in Bloomsburg this week-end.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
Lory E. Davis, '30

Last Wednesday was the turning point for the Democratic rally. In spite of the bad weather thousands turned out to hear Colonel Rupert Montgomery, and "Tammy" Klosterman. Their speeches were so powerful they were able to sway the whole house in boosting "Al" Smith. Chairman Fox was the toastmaster for the occasion. Judge Pursley was at the "Mike" so the outsiders would be able to hear these notable speeches.

Tuesday will be the final rally, when the faculty are invited guests for a smoker to be given at the house.

Mr. Herbert Jenniwine was a guest over the week.

All of the hard coal crackers and a few others journeyed to Scranton to see the Bucknell-Villanova football game.

Brothers Klosterman and Kupstas were the officials at the Muncy game on Saturday.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Jean Little, '28, of Picture Rocks was a guest of Theta U. for luncheon last Saturday.

The Theta U. house is reported to have been rather quiet last week-end, due to the large number of men who journeyed to Scranton.

William Waldner, '30, journeyed to Williamsport last Saturday.

The chapter extends its sympathies to William Griffith, '28, in his recent bereavement, the death of his father.

We are glad to welcome back William Mackie, '30, who has spent some time in the infirmary.

Ramon DeFillipo, ex-'29, spent last week-end at the house.

Mr. Charles Cann, of Wilkes-Barre, was a guest of the chapter last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beach have announced the marriage of their daughter, Vera Deane, to John B. Laughner, ex-'29, one Friday, October 26, at Franklin, Pennsylvania.

ALPHA CHI MU
Albert E. Brenner, '29

Miss Eliza J. Martin, Mrs. M. C. Gretzinger, Miss Mary B. Wright, and Mr. Edward Glover were guests at dinner last Sunday.

William J. Curnow, a freshman at Lafayette, visited the house last Tuesday with his parents and brother. Curnow will be a student here next semester.

Several of our ministerials were busy during the last week-end. Ray Taylor and Edward Jones attended the Regional Conference of the State Sabbath School Association at Northumberland. On Sunday Taylor preached at the Madison and White Hall Baptist churches. Last Friday Cranford spoke at the Young People's Rally in the First Baptist Church at Williamsport.

George Phillips, one of our freshmen, visited his home in Kingston last Saturday.

The fraternity takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Homer F. Reese and Guy Dean.

"Pee-Wee" Feaster, '30, attended the I. N. A. Conference at Haverford on Nov. 2 and 3.

KAPPA GAMMA
J. M. Paige, '32

We are glad to report that pledge brothers Spadafore and Trudnak are rapidly recovering from injuries suffered during the Keystone Academy game.

Among the brethren who journeyed to Scranton to witness the Villanova game were: "Bill" Horan, "Jimmy" Dibiaso, R. S. Cooney, "Phil" Biando, and "Lew" Ceraso. While there they attended the Bucknell dance at the Hotel Jermyn.

Pledge "Rom" Nayfield spent the week-end with his parents in Mount Carmel, while pledge Joe Czarnecki journeyed to Reading to visit his parents. While there he saw the Temple-Schuylkill game.

Pledge Ray Woolegral left for home on Friday to go hunting. However, he failed to bring back the rabbit's foot which he had promised brother "Pop" Shultz.

Pledge "Percy" Andrews journeyed to Jersey Shore and spent the week-end visiting relatives.

Duties of citizenship called brother "Gene" Mirarchi home on Tuesday. He would not say for whom he voted.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

The house was quite deserted over the week-end due to the migration of many of the boys to Scranton to witness the Bucknell-Villanova game.

J. T. Dinklocker and T. V. Morgan, of Alpha chapter, Penn State, were week-end visitors at the house,

(Continued on Page 7.)

"Such popularity must be deserved!"

Down deep in the Kongo the native sons believe that anybody who has an explorer for dinner will absorb all the brains, courage and other success-assuring virtues of the unfortunate victim.

We wish we could say the same of Chesterfields —that all their popularity is conferred upon whosoever smokes them. Frankly, however, this is not invariably true. Several Chesterfield smokers have recently been discovered who are not ambassadors, steel kings, or even bank presidents.

But—since Chesterfields are so satisfying, mild and different—we'll all of us continue to enjoy them for these sound smoke-virtues alone.

Popularity? Six million smokers are enjoying 'em today. Such popularity must be deserved. Make it six million and one?

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet.. THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892 Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

O'BRIEN'S
Corner
6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM
FREE MUSIC
DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—6—

HENRY EDWARD WARNER OF THE "BALTIMORE SUN" SAYS:

"NO DEPARTMENT IS MORE IMPORTANT THAN THE SALES DEPARTMENT IN ANY BUSINESS. TO PRODUCE IS NECESSARY, BUT TO DISTRIBUTE THE PRODUCT IS FREQUENTLY NECESSARY PLUS. WHICH REMINDS US OF THE TIME WHEN EUGENE FIELD, THEN PUBLISHING A SMALL PAPER, SUDDENLY BURST INTO TEARS AS HE LOOKED OUT OF THE WINDOW AT A PASSING FUNERAL PROCESSION.

"WHAT'S THE MATTER, 'GENE?' ASKED HIS BUSINESS PARTNER. "FRIEND OF YOURS?"

"NO," SAID FIELD, WIPING HIS EYES AND SOBBING AS THOUGH HIS HEART WOULD BREAK, "BUT A THOUGHT CAME OVER ME—JUST FOR A MOMENT I THOUGHT IT MIGHT BE ONE OF OUR SUBSCRIBERS.' "

MR. MERCHANT DO YOU KEEP A LIVE SALES DEPARTMENT GOING THROUGH ADVERTISING, OR DO YOU LIVE IN FEAR OF THE DAY WHEN YOUR MEAGER CUSTOMERS WILL DIE?

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief	Robert L. Lyon, '29 208 S. 7th Street Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Phone 194 Alpha Chi Mu House
Ass't. Editor-in-Chief	Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor	Clarence Cranford, '29
Ass't. Managing Editors	Virginia Smoot, '30 Helen Bell, '30
News Editor	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Ass't. News Editors	Jane Foust, '29
Sports Editor	J. Warren McElligot, '30
Ass't. Sports Editors	Thomas McLeod, '31 R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor	Trennie Eisley, '31
Column Editors
Elizabeth Figner, '30	Frances Kernohan, '30

Reporters

Vivian Bitner, W. C. Emmitt, Bertha Gaventa, Lillian Mattick, John McNally, Ruby Smith, Nan Lee Thomas, Kenneth Vandenbree.

Business Staff

Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager	John Snyder, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager	Frederick M. Loeke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Ass't. Circulation Mgr's.
George Delanecy, '32	John R. Hatton, '32
Walter H. Grim, '32	Nathaniel Glazier, '32
Benjamin Wahrman, '32

Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss

Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

CALENDAR

Thursday, November 8 to Thursday, November 15

November eighth, 7:30—Meeting of Education Club in Biology Room 6. Dr. Charles C. Ellis will speak.

November ninth, 8 to 11:45—Sigma Alpha Epsilon informal town dance.

7:30 to 10:30—Kappa Sigma Hallowe'en dance to the Women's College.

7:45 to 11:45—Beta Kappa town dance.

November 10, 2:30—Lehigh vs. Bucknell Football Game at the Stadium.

8 to 11:45—Belle Hop Dance at the Tustin Gymnasium.

November 12, 3 to 5—Dean Amelia E. Clark at home to the patronesses in the New Dormitory.

November 14, 7:30 to 10—Sigma Tau Delta meeting in the parlors of Larison Hall.

SUNBURY EDITOR RETIRES

Editor William F. Eicholtz, who is a loyal son of Bucknell, as well as a newspaper publisher of note, has just handed the editorship and managership of the Sunbury Daily to his younger partner, Mr. Lewis Dewart, and has divested himself of all newspaper cares, in an effort to better his health. The Bucknellian extends to Mr. Eicholtz its congratulations upon his valedictory and its sympathy because of his poor health. To both Mr. Eicholtz and Mr. Dewart it expresses its warm good wishes.

Mr. Eicholtz has been one of those progressive editors who, in the last generation, have brought journalism to a new estate. He has been progressive and forward looking. He was one of the new type of editors who saw that college journalism is not a joke, and he was glad to work with the Bucknellian in gathering and issuing the news. His paper has carried many, many columns of news quoted directly from the columns of the Bucknellian, thus helping to give to our University much publicity of a legitimate and desirable sort. On the other hand, the Bucknellian has been glad to carry frequent items culled from the Daily.

The Bucknellian feels indebted to Mr. Eicholtz and the Daily for many courtesies, and for the attitude shown toward this paper, and takes this opportunity to express its gratitude. We wish the new publisher the best of success.

DO ATHLETES RECEIVE A SQUARE DEAL?

Robin Hood arises at seven-thirty in the morning in order to make his eight o'clock class. If he doesn't eat any breakfast, he sleeps fifteen minutes longer. In that case, he ambles into class five minutes late. Hood isn't well prepared for his classes that day. In the afternoon he is to be found out on the football field practicing. At night Robin makes an attempt to study. Somehow he cannot remain interested in the book he is looking at. He is fatigued physically and mentally and has no incentive to work. If he trains faithfully, he is likely to become nervous. "Jack" Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, when in strict training is a bundle of nerves. Dempsey trains for one fight in a year. Robin Hood plays eight or ten games of football in three months. For those three months he is under that nervous strain of trying to do two things well at the same time. To expect one man to fight all the time on the football field for his school and still keep up with his classes is unfair. Do athletes receive a square deal?

Robin Hood starts practicing football two weeks before school opens and continues to practice for three months thereafter. How can he get started properly in his classes? Hood advertizes his college by helping to put it on the map by means of a successful football team. In return he probably gets a scholarship to enable him to continue in college his previous studies. How much does he really learn? The situation is obviously unfair to this man who gives but who does not receive in like measure. This situation applies not only to football but also to baseball, track, and basketball.

Would it be good policy to abolish intercollegiate games? Would it be better to institute systems of competitive sports to be carried on wholly within our own school? What is our remedy for this situation?

This man who advertizes our school cannot live forever on what he may earn from professional football. His talents must be developed along other lines so that he may be successful in life. Not all the Robin Hoods can be expected to become football coaches after their graduation. Variety is the spice of life. How is a square deal to be given to these men?

WHY A BAN ON "HOPPING"?

The announcement that there is a movement on foot to furnish the necessary legislation to make "hitch-hiking" a crime in Pennsylvania, is printed in another page of this issue. Just why our law-making representatives are occasionally in such activity to provide, in a roundabout manner, for the greater safety of the people, while the one genuine safeguard, enforcement of the existing laws, is disregarded in so many ways, is beyond comprehension.

Soliciting rides from passing automobiles or stopping to pick up a solicitor, is to become a misdemeanor if the proposed legislation is passed at Harrisburg. Let us see what this means. Suppose a motorist runs out of gas or that his engine stalls and refuses to start. It may be between midnight and morning, and he may be miles from any habitation, but he must not ask a more fortunate motorist to take him where he may secure aid. Not if he obeys the law. Nor may the other driver offer him such a "lift."

In this paternalistic age, however, we may expect such activity on the part of our law-making bodies. Perhaps we could suggest more needed laws of this sort. Let us have legislation to prevent citizens from going upon the street after a certain hour of the night. Let us make it a misdemeanor to enter "tenderloin" and "racket" districts where life may not be safe. Or let it be "punishable by a small fine" to leave one's front door unlocked at night.

Laws of any color and degree of ridiculousness can be introduced into our state and national assemblies. But it by no means follows that such proposals are always taken at their face (let us say their "false-face") values, and given the sanction of the bodies which consider them. We may hope that the present proposition will come within the latter class.

The announcement that an Oxford debating team will again invade the Bucknell campus, is good news to the students and townspeople who have twice jammed Commencement Hall to hear debates with English teams. The wit, the personality, and the sophistication of the British university men make such a contest a real delight.

Bucknell's record in debating has been of a remarkably high grade during recent years. Each time that an English debating squad has met a Bucknell team, the former has been turned back with a defeat. Prospects for success in this intellectual sport are high again this season, and we may expect not only an intensely interesting contest with the Oxford team, but another brilliant year as well.

11 Chem. Engineers Engage In Research

The seniors and graduate students in the chemical engineering course, are carrying on eleven individual research problems. This course is one of the innovations witnessed in the chemical engineering department due directly to the efforts of the department head, Dr. S. C. Ogburn.

Luther Miller, graduate student, is working on the quantitative determination of osmium by means of strychnine sulfate. This is a pure research problem and its solution will be of interest and application in analytical chemistry.

The preparation of metallic aluminum from alunite ore is the applied problem on which John Weber, graduate student, is engaged. Aluite, an ore rich in aluminum, occuring in large deposits in the United States, offers a source of aluminum metal at a lower cost, due to the valuable by-products which result during the process.

The seniors are engaged in the following research problems, some pure and some applied in nature:

(1) Solubility determinations in absolute alcohol and also 95 per cent. alcohol.—Bastian.

(2) The preparation and properties of certain inorganic cobal tinitrites.—Cook.

(3) The effect of Camphor in vaseline in the prevention of metal tarnishing.—Faul.

(4) A study of the fireproofing of textile fabrics—Hepp.

(5) Preparation and properties of certain oxy-chloride cements.—Hoy.

(6) The quantitative determination of Tungsten in Steel and Alloys.—Klingler.

(7) Preparation and properties of calcium alloys.—Little.

(8) A study of the solubility of calcium and magnesium soaps.—Snyder.

(9) A study of the electrolytic deposition of metallic aluminum.—Stere.

It is believed that from this series of individual researches it will be possible to obtain scientific data which will be of publication value.

The ice man often gets a cold shoulder.

Phi Mu Alpha Gives First Fall Concert

Alpha Pi of Phi Mu Alpha opened its active season this year on Tuesday night, October 30, when the chapter initiated George Streitz, '31, into active membership.

The first of a series of concerts by Alpha Pi of Phi Mu Alpha was given by the members on Friday evening, November 2, in the organ room of Larison Hall.

The program of the concert follows:

Organ Solo	C. H. Rivenburg
Vocal Solo	Charles Frampton
Violin Solo	Frank Jeckel
Vocal Solo	A. Weidensaul
Piano Solo	Geo. Ferrell
Vocal Solo	Henry Fessler
Organ-Piano Duet

The first program consisted entirely of French compositions. In the future programs will be given of songs and tunes of other nations. Included among the programs of the future is one composed of popular numbers and present-day songs.

Skipper, Skipper, wither bouin?
To any place I'll not be found.
The storm is fierce; have you no fear?
The price you pay may be quite dear.

The Orpheum

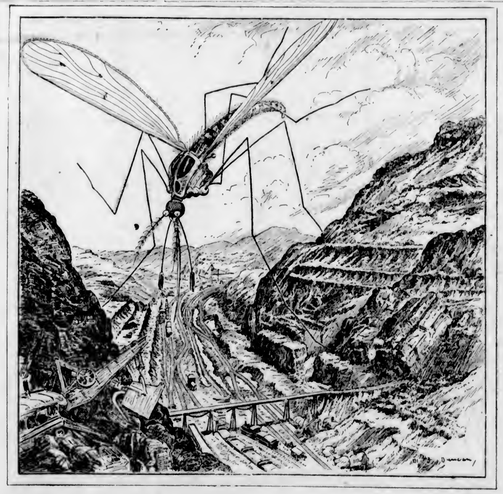
Friday, November 9—
"STREETS OF ILLUSION"
By Channing Pollock, playwright.
With VIRGINIA VALLI and IAN KEITH
A recent "hit" in the large cities.

Saturday, November 10—
"OH! KAY," with COLLEEN MOORE
FORD STERLING and All Star Cast
From the famous musical comery, "Success."

Monday, November 12—
"LAND OF SILVER FOX"
With RIN TIN TIN, the Wonderful Dog.

Tuesday and Wednesday, November 13—14—
HERE IT IS!
"ROSE MARIE"
Starring JOAN CRAWFORD and Big All Star Cast.
Adapted from the very successful musical comedy of the same name.
A Great Production.

Thursday, November 15—
"SINNERS PARADE"
An All Star Cast.
"Gems of Football"—(The last of the Series).



...but a mosquito blocked the way

THE Panama Canal diggers had engineering brains and money aplenty. But they were blocked by the malaria and yellow-fever bearing mosquitoes, which killed men by thousands.

Then Gorgas stamped out the mosquito. The fever was conquered. The Canal was completed.

The importance of little things is recognized in the telephone industry too. Effective service to the public is possible only when every step from purchase of raw material to the operator's "Number, please" has been cared for

This is work for men who can sense the relations between seemingly unrelated factors, men with the vision to see a possible mountain-barrier in a molehill—and with the resourcefulness to surmount it.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of 18,500,000 inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Alumni Notes

WILLIAM F. EICHOLTZ, '97

William F. Eicholtz, '97, for many years past the proprietor and editor of the Sunbury Daily, has just retired from the management and editorship of that publication. For some years Mr. Eicholtz has been in poor health, and his physical condition made it necessary for him to find relief from the exacting duties incident to the management of a paper like the Daily.

Mr. Eicholtz grew up in the printing trade, as his father, the late Jacob E. Eicholtz, was a printer before him, and founded the Daily. The son was graduated from the Sunbury High School and later attended the old Bucknell Academy. Then he entered from Bucknell in 1897.

The year following his graduation he became a member of the firm of Eicholtz and Company, which then published the Northumberland Countered the University, and was gradu ty Democrat and the SunburyDaily. The other members of the company were the elder Mr. Eicholtz and Mr William L. Dewart. When Mr. J. E. Eicholtz died, Mr. William F. Eicholtz took over the management of the Daily, and has been in charge of it ever since. Now, upon Mr. Eicholtz' retirement, Mr. Lewis Dewart, son of Mr. D. L. Dewart, assumes the responsibility for the paper. The latter entered the business eight years ago, after his graduation from the Tennessee Military Institute. He is one of the youngest publishers in the State.

The Daily has been in existence since 1872. It has weathered the usual vicissitudes that are the fate of newspapers, and is now strongly entrenched. The newspaper owns and occupies a magnificent plant that fronts on the public square in Sunbury, and that is one of the best-equipped publishing plants in this region.

Major Wm. G. Murdock, ex-'05

Major William G. Murdock, ex-'05, is treasurer of a new aviation company, the Atlantic Coast Airways Corporation, of Delaware. Major Murdock has had a distinguished career ever since he was fairly launched in life. Leaving Bucknell before he became a senior, he took up the study of law, and became an attorney. His first public office came when he was appointed postmaster for Milton, his home town. When the United States entered the World War, he was made a major in the Judge Advocate General's Department, U. S. A., and placed in charge of the Pennsylvania draft. The duties of this office he performed with distinguished success. Later he was prohibition director for the State of Pennsylvania. He is also a past State commander of the American Legion in Pennsylvania.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

PA. LEGISLATURE CONSIDERS LAW TO BAN HOPPING

A movement is on foot in the State Senate at the present time to, abolish hopping. A law to this effect is already on the statute books of New Jersey, as well as on those of several western states. The lawmakers of Pennsylvania are being asked by several motor clubs, as well as by the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, to make it a misdemeanor, punishable by a small fine, for any persons to stand along any public highway, and solicit rides from passing automobiles.

Let us pause for a moment and consider the utter uselessness and folly of such a law. In the first place, it would deprive students all over the state of a very convenient method of reaching their homes, or other destinations, and would also hurt the college man's pocketbook greatly. However, this view of the matter should receive secondary consideration, and would be overlooked entirely, if the law could be seen to have any virtues.

Motorists Are Robbed

It will be interesting to see upon what facts the Pennsylvania Motor Federation is basing its plea for the abolishment of hopping. This body states that many motorists are robbed annually by persons soliciting rides along the highways, and that in some cases, even murders have been committed. While this is probably a great exaggeration of the truth, even if it were true, the crimes mentioned could never be attributed to college students who are genuinely grateful for the lifts given them by kind motorists. In reply to this, the Federation states that many dangerous characters stand along the road, dressed like students, and fooled by this disguise, the drivers pick them up, thus laying themselves open to robbery or worse. This last statement is ridiculous on the face of it. Any person who is an ordinary knight of the road will have neither the information nor the funds to dress like a college student. If his store of capital is so low that he cannot afford to pay his transportation from one place to another, it is logical to assume that his clothes will also be of the humblest variety, making no pretense to look like a college boy's. Any motorist with only ordinary powers of observation can easily tell a tramp from a college man without a second look.

Drivers May Pass On

Another ridiculous point about this proposed law is that it seems to remedy a condition made by the motorists themselves, but places the penalty upon the hitch hiker. Any motorist who does not desire to pick up someone along the road, is at perfect liberty to pass on—the law will have no effect whatsoever upon him. The law is being proposed on account of something the motorists are responsible for—if no motorists ever felt that he wanted to give a lift to a fellow walking along a road, the law would never have entered the mind of the brilliant party who conceived it.

Legislators of Pennsylvania will be asked to punish students all over the state, for what is being called a common form of "panhandling." We would ask these legislators to give a little more attention to some of the laws that are already made, instead of making new ones, especially such an asinine law as this one. They are probably blind to the thousands of crimes taking place all around them every day. Even panhandling, against which there is a law, is going on every day on the street corners of all our big cities and yet the Legislature wants to abolish a new form of begging, when the old-time form is being practiced as much now as was ever done before.

We Need Law Enforcement

Just consider the really important laws that are being broken continually, without any effort being made to prevent it. Bootlegging, election frauds, robberies, murders—any daily paper will give full details of the many crimes that are being winked at by state and local authorities. What we need, we repeat, is not more laws, but more enforcement of the laws we already have. We sincerely hope that the legislature of the great State of Pennsylvania, when confronted with a bill to abolish hitch-hiking, hopping, or whatever they should choose to call it, will put their stamp of disapproval on this measure with a loud and emphatic "NO."

—Ursinus Weekly.

What is the news of the day
Dear "Senite," I pray?
They say that the boys
At dances make no noise.

Polly, Bring the onions in.
Polly, Bring the onions in.
Polly, Bring the onions in.
And we'll all have indigestion.

How We Stand With Lehigh

By R. B. KOSER

Bucknell's grid relations with Lehigh, the Bisons' opponent in the Stadium this coming Saturday, began in 1888, when the Brown and White team ran up a 74-0 score on the inexperienced Bucknell eleven.

The next game, in 1891, was another one-sided victory for Lehigh, but in 1897, nine years after the first game, Bucknell turned the tables. Although the victory was not a one-sided victory, as Lehigh's had been, it showed the advance the Orange and Blue football teams were making. Bucknell won 28-20 in a thrilling game played at Williamsport.

Here is part of the write-up, taken from the Orange and Blue (the original name of the Bucknellian), describing the game.

B. U. Scores First Lehigh Victory

"The story of Saturday's contest on the gridiron of the Williamsport athletic field may be sketched in a few words. Lehigh, with a team averaging five to six pounds lighter to the man, was allowed to score 20 points on miserable fumbles by Bucknell backs, and the two remarkable field goals kicked by Hollenress during the first few minutes of the game, after which the snappy, energetic play of the Brown and White gave way to a fruitless attempt to stop the terrible onslaught of the heavy Bucknell interference, formed by Cober and Rowe, to clear the way for long end runs by the backs."

Lehigh was not able to stop the guards back formation which Bucknell had developed so well that season, and during the second half Hoffman and Catterall carried the ball consistently for long gains. Catterall's punting during this period kept the ball in the weakened Lehigh team's territory almost all the time. When Bucknell had possession of the ball near midfield, the heavier backs, with Cober and Rowe, the guards, back for interference, would smash away until a score was made. The team ran up 28 points the second half, coming from behind for Bucknell's first victory over Lehigh.

Win by a Drop-kick

One of the most thrilling of the Bucknell-Lehigh games was in 1911, when "By" Dickinson's Bucknell team scored a well-earned victory over the Brown and White on Lehigh Field, 3-0.

As an old write-up read, "The game was one of utmost interest to the Lehigh supporters, and was waged with considerable bitterness. Coach Dickinson, who was Lehigh's coach for four years before coming to Bucknell, being more than anxious to beat the Bethlehem team, while the Brown and White was just as anxious to show him a thing or two."

The only score of the game came toward the end of the first half, when "Tip" Topham drop-kicked a field goal from the 23-yard line. Both teams frequently resorted to punting, the strong defensive lines of each team making successful line plays impossible. The battle was waged for the most part in the center of the field, the ball see-sawing back and forth with honors about even.

An article which appeared in the Orange and Blue following this Bucknell victory points out one of Bucknell's traditions that is not well enough known. It concerns the old bell on West Wing of Main College.

Old Bell Peals Out Victory

"That old bell, that old fashioned bell on West Wing which, (so it was said when the electric bell system was installed this year), had rung its last with the closing of college in June, is not silent yet. When the Bucknell-Lehigh score of 3 to 0 was flashed from Bethlehem, and the boys on the hill wanted to celebrate, in spite of the yells and noise there seemed to be something missing until a rope was attached to the old bell and once more its tones pealed out another Bucknell victory.

"The bell was not torn down during the summer in consideration of the urgent request of the alumni but has since then hung helpless and neglected until last Saturday. The new electric bells may be all right to get a fellow to class on time and all that—but when it comes to celebrating a victory, give us the old fashioned school bell on West Wing."

Here is a tradition that Bucknell may well cherish and keep up.

Temporary Stand Gives Way

Another close and thrilling game between Bucknell and Lehigh was on Home-coming Day of 1923, when the two powerful teams fought to a 7-7 tie. It was not only the wonderful exhibition of football that thrilled the 10,000 spectators this time, but in the middle of the game the temporary stand (this game was played on Loomis Field) crashed to the ground, carrying a closely packed crowd of spectators with them.

The crash came without warning and was a thrilling sight for the fans on the Bucknell side of the field. There was a loud roar and the stands like a mighty wave seemed to roll toward the left, at the same time crashing to the earth in a cloud of dust.

The game was stopped immediately and Bucknell substitutes ran out the field, holding back the crowd from the Bucknell side. Doctors who happened to be in the crowd administered first aid and after twenty minutes delay the game was resumed. Several people suffered broken legs, and many others sustained sprained ankles, wrenched legs and back and many scratches and bruises.

Both teams scored in the first quarter, and after that could not push over a touchdown, although Bucknell made 12 first downs to Lehigh's eight.

The next, and last two games resulted in one-sided victories for Bucknell. In 1926, Lehigh was again here for Home-coming Day and suffered a severe beating, 27-0. Last year Lehigh furnished a breathing spell in the Bison schedule, and in a dull game the Orange and Blue won by 20-6.

There have been twelve games played between Bucknell and Lehigh. The Bisons have been victorious seven times, while the Brown and White has won three times. Two games ended in ties.

The complete Bucknell-Lehigh record follows:

1888	0	74
1891	4	62
1897	28	20
1898	0	0
1899	5	0
1900	6	12
1901	10	0
1911	3	0
1922	14	0
1923	7	0
1926	27	0
1927	20	6

Little Boy Blue, don't blow your horn. This is quiet hour in the new dorm.

Miss Frances M. Davis, '25, daughter of Professor Nelson F. Davis, was recently operated upon for appendicitis at Stroudsburg, where she is teaching in the schools. She is making a good recovery.

"A dillar, a dollar,"
Said a Bucknell scholar,
"Why'd the Prof. come so soon?
He ought to come at ten o'clock,
But we hoped he'd come at noon."

My father said—
"John Hancock is a great name;
Life insurance is practically indispensable."
That time, at least, he was right.

John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at

Wagner's Quality Grocery

We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.

Also Dishes for Rent.

FELLOWS
Follow the Varsity on Its Trips
WITH OUR SHOES.
They take you anywhere and bring you back.

Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

Time and Money

Save them both by eating breakfast at the College Inn. A variety of fruits, cereals, sweet rolls, toast and breakfast beverages. An electric toaster and coffee urn, a speedy gas range and griddle, conveniently arranged, all make for quick service. May we have the privilege of serving you.

THE COLLEGE INN
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
Payne, '09.

Get a Christmas Present
NOW

Send The Bucknellian
To Your Classmate Friend
$1.50 $1.50

Let Him Know About the Team

HERE'S AN IDEA

Perhaps you have been wondering what there is about Montgomery's shop that is arousing so much favorable comment.

Here is a good way to find out for yourself. We are willing to have you base your opinion of us on our Haberdashery.

For a nominal investment you can discover what Montgomery's style, quality and service really is.

MONTGOMERY'S
OF BUCKNELL

BUCKNELL SPORTING EVENTS

BISONS WILL TRY FOR A COMEBACK IN LEHIGH GAME

Orange and Blue Gridders Drill For Saturday's Tilt; Dope Favors a Bucknell Win

The Bucknell football team, conquerors of Penn State but more recently vanquished by both Gettysburg and Villanova on successive Saturdays, will attempt to come back on Saturday at the Memorial Stadium where they will line up against a badly bruised and battered Lehigh eleven.

The Bethlehem grid warriors have been completely lost in the college football shuffle so far this fall, having won only two engagements while losing three. Indications are that the Lehigh men will suffer another setback on Saturday, as they are destined to line up against a rejuvenated Bison foe.

Intensive practice sessions are on the program for the Bucknell players this week and there will be no let-up in the drills.

Intensive Drills Planned

Signal drills will be a predominant factor during the practice sessions of the week. Coach Snavely will stress the importance of a well-drilled aggregation, and it is assumed that Snavely will give his men "ghost ball" workouts. Arc lights have been installed for this purpose recently in the Memorial Stadium and the flood of these high powered bulbs will furnish enough light for nocturnal sessions.

Bucknell will be primed for this battle as it will be her last engagement before the big game with Washington and Jefferson that will be staged at Johnstown on the following Saturday. Coach Snavely will be cautious in the use of his men on Saturday, as he plans on having every man available for the W. and J. contest.

Captain Halicki played the entire game at Scranton on Saturday and covered himself with glory. He emerged from the torrid tilt without further injury to his already damaged nose. He will be able to start Saturday at the fullback post, but if Bucknell rolls up a lead Coach Snavely will withdraw his star back and save him for the W. and J. affair.

Bert Ellor, giant guard and long distance punter, aggravated an old hip injury on Saturday during the second half and was forced to call it a day. Ellor was in the infirmary early this week and it is doubtful whether the big boy will start on Saturday. If Ellor does not play he will be supplanted by Mutzel.

Bucknell Favored To Win

Judging by past performances the Lehigh contest should be an easy one for the Bisons. During the past two years the Orange and Blue warriors have chalked up a pair of victories. In 1926 Bucknell defeated Lehigh in a Home-coming Day game at the Memorial Stadium by a 27-0 score, Diehl starring with three touchdowns.

Last fall the Snavelymen went to Bethlehem where they lowered the colors of Lehigh by a 26-2 margin. Woodring starred in this tilt by running 75 yards for a touchdown. Lehigh is again experiencing disaster on the gridiron and Bucknell should win this contest.

The comparative scores of both teams indicate that the Bisons hold a decided edge over their Lehigh rivals. Lehigh has chalked up victories over Penn Military College and Muhlenburg, but has lost to Gettysburg, Harvard, and Princeton. On the other hand Bucknell has defeated Penn State, Schuylkill, and Geneva, tied Lafayette, but has lost to Villanova and Gettysburg.

B. U. FRESHMEN HOLD NAVY PLEBES TO SCORE OF 2-0

Protect Goal Line By Desperate Battle, But Hinkle, Punting, Steps Behind B. U. Mark

Two inches turned a possible scoreless tie with the strong Naval Academy Plebes into a 2 to 0 defeat for the "Baby Bisons" on Saturday at Annapolis. Hinkle, in punting for the frosh eleven, stepped back of his own goal line by a heel's length, and Navy won the game by a safety.

The Navy had the edge on the offensive, but the Bisons had the goods when it came to defense. For nearly three quarters of the game Bucknell was content to play defensive football, and during that time she did not make a first down. With the final session, however, Bucknell changed her tactics and tore through the Navy for six of the 10-yarders.

Navy started to swamp the yearlings in the first quarter, when she rushed the ball to Bucknell's 1-yard line. But, here the Bisons braced and in eight tries, both teams being called off-side four times, the young sailors could not goin an inch. Bucknell took the ball on downs and it was on the next play that Hinkle stepped out of the end zone in kicking out of danger, and the only points of the game were chalked up.

During the second and third quarters both teams' playing was on a par and neither eleven was in a position to score. In the third session, Androski, who had substituted for Young, broke through the Navy line and nailed a sailor, who had attempted to throw a pass, for a 22-yard loss. This was one of the most spectacular plays of the contest.

The Bisons started their rally in the final period, and it looked as though they would pound out a score. Fry passed a couple of pretty heaves to Stonebreaker for first downs, and then Fry faked one and tore down the field. He succeeded in dodging all of the Plebes, but was overtaken deep in Navy territory by Conrad. Navy held the Bison backs, and Mezza was forced to try a field-goal from the 10-yard line. The try went wide, and the decision went to the Sailors, for the final whistle blew.

Although defeated, the frosh have reason to feel proud of the account that they gave of themselves. For four periods they kept their goal line clear and Navy's victory was gained at the expense of a miscalculation. Mezza, Crowe, Stonebreaker, and Hoak looked the best on the defensive, while Fry and Mezza were the big guns on the offensive. Hinkle's punting was exceptionally good, the husky back averaging 45 yards on each boot.

Bucknell 0		Navy Plebes 2
Hoak	L. E.	L. Smith
Marter	L. T.	L. Bayan
Saeger	L. G.	Prince
Cummings	C.	York
Young	R. G.	McRea
Crowe	R. T.	Chamber
Stonebreaker	R. E.	Eliot
Fry	Q. B.	Rodger
Hinkle	H. B.	Coleman
Kastrava	H. B.	Tschiagi
Mezza	F. B.	Kinn

Substitutions: Bucknell—Androski for Young. Navy—Conrad for Coleman; Binns for Kinn; Davis for Rodgers; Underwood for Prince; Thompson for McRea; Shelton for Chambers; Harley for Binnis; Chambers for Shelton; Rodgers for Davis; Shelton for Chambers; Binns for Tschiagi; Keon for Harley; Tuttle for York; Coleman for Kanrad.

Referee: J. F. Gaffery, Boston U. Umpire: Bryan Morse, Clarkson. Linesman: R. D. Rodgers, Springfield. Field judge: Paul Kenton, Loyola.

Both teams present a fine line-up of fast players playing almost as a unit. This game will, in all probability decide who is to meet the T. U. O. aggregation in the campus championship series, as the Theta Us seem to have their league leadership in the proverbial "bag."

Although not in the vanguard of winning teams, Kappa Gamma proves to be the grittiest organization in the field. These boys have a hard time mustering a team because of the number of their group taking afternoon lab periods. Nevertheless, the Kappa Gammas are playing through their schedule. Coming back from a 8-0 drubbing at the hands of the Demies, they defeated Kappa Sigma 3-0 with but eight men, all of whom play a classy brand of soccer.

A glance at the standing of the teams will show how well your group is booting for you.

League One

Team	W.	L.	T.	P.
T. U. O.	4	0	0	8
Phi Psi	3	1	0	6
P. L. T.	2	1	0	4
A. X. M.	1	2	1	3
B. K.	1	1	0	2
P. G. D.	0	2	1	1
L. C. A.	0	4	0	0

League Two

Team	W.	L.	T.	P.
D. S.	4	0	0	8
Non-Frat	3	0	0	6
S. A. E.	2	2	0	4
K. G.	1	1	1	3
K. D. R.	1	1	1	3
K. S.	0	4	0	0
Sigma Chi	0	3	0	0

Read the Bucknellian.

T. U. O. and D. S. Top Soccer Leagues

With the Inter-fraternity Soccer League schedule more than half completed, the teams representing Delta Sigma and Theta Upsilon Omega hold the peak in their respective leagues. By emerging from the tussle with the S. A. E. eleven as victors, the Demies made it four straight in the win column. The T. U. O. boys tumbled the Lambda Chis to the tune of 3-0 and claim four victories and the league icing. The Non-fraternity team, competing in League Two, remains undefeated. Next Wednesday the Non-Frats meet Delta Sigma in what promises to be the most colorful game of the season.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElgot

Twelve thousand spectators braved the weather last Saturday at Scranton to witness the football classic of the anthracite regions. The affair was a huge success, and next fall's Bucknell-Villanova contest will probably again be staged in the "Electric City."

—X—

A colorful crowd of Orange and Blue rooters was in the stands by game time and saw the two traditional rivals swing into action. Many stayed away as threatening weather prevailed. However, at the start of the game, both colleges were well represented.

—X—

A long argument between the players of both teams and the officials ensued after the scoring of the first Villanova touchdown. Captain Halicki claimed that the pass was illegal because an ineligible Villanova player accepted it. However, in the end, the officials stuck to their original declaration that a touchdown had been scored and the Bucknell men were forced to accept this statement as the final decision.

—X—

Captain Halicki played his usual bang-up game at the fullback post. Halicki ripped off a few long gains and played well on the defense, smearing many enemy plays. Halicki was also instrumental in the breaking up of several Villanova forward passes which, if they had been completed, might have heaped further disaster on the Bucknell team.

—X—

Every man on the Bucknell team deserves an unlimited amount of credit. Every player in the line fought in the true Bucknell spirit although the going was against them. From end to end the Bison forward wall functioned with precision, demonstrating its ability as a defensive line.

—X—

"Lefty" James started the game at the left end post although still suffering from an injury sustained in the Gettysburg game. This was a demonstration of courage and grit. Despite his injury, James put up a stellar game at the terminal post, executing several tackles that brought loud bursts of applause from an appreciative audience.

—X—

"Ernie" Woerner, Coach Snavely's handy man, deserves a tribute before we go any further. Woerner, at the tackle position, was a bear-cat on the defense and it was through his undying efforts that Villanova was stopped before she had scored again. It was the redoubtable Woerner who broke up play after play. The former Newark high school star rose in all his glory last Saturday on that bitter battlefield at Scranton, to play one of the greatest games of his career. It seems that when Bucknell is losing Woerner is playing better than ever—if that is possible.

—X—

"Ted" Mitchell, the Bison center and a hero at Penn State, again flared up as a luminary in the Villanova tussle. The ever-reliable Bucknell pivot man contributed aid on both the offense and defense that materially helped his team. Mitchell's passes from the line to the backfield were always accurate and he got the ball away like a bullet. Mitchell was withdrawn from the game by Coach Snavely late in the fourth period and when he walked slowly toward the Bucknell bench the Orange and Blue rooters tendered their valiant center a great ovation.

—X—

Lehigh next. The Bethlehem grid warriors are in the midst of a very unsuccessful season and are due for another trouncing on Saturday. They lost to Harvard last Saturday, and the Bucknell boys are also anxious to put their brand on the Lehigh contingent. Every Bucknell follower should be in the stands on Saturday when the Bison team will attempt a comeback.

—X—

The Bison yearlings traveled to Annapolis where they played the Navy Plebes last Saturday. While Joe Clifton and his Navy varsity were downing a powerful West Virginia Wesleyan team, Navy first year players were managing to eke out a 2-0 victory over the Mussermen. This game was the second contest of the year at Annapolis that ended in a 2-0 score, as Davis-Elkins defeated the Navy by that count on the last Saturday in September.

Sororities Compete For Hockey Trophy

In the initial game of the girl's inter-sorority hockey season on November 5, Alpha Chi Omega defeated Phi Mu to the tune of 6-0. The contest abounded in exceptional team work, each team showing up to advantage.

The Women's Athletic Association is directing all its efforts toward inter-sorority games and will not sponsor inter-class games this year.

The great incentive which causes the girls to put forth their best efforts, is the silver loving cup given each year by the association to the champion team. Each sorority is striving to win the privilege of having the cup adorn its suite for a year.

Inter-sorority Hockey Schedule

Nov. 7—Delta Delta Delta vs. Sigma Sigma Delta.

Nov. 10—Zeta Gamma Tau vs. Non-sorority.

Nov. 14—Phi Mu vs. Zeta Gamma Tau.

Nov. 17—Pi Beta Phi vs. Sigma Sigma Delta; Phi Mu vs. Non-sorority.

Nov. 19—Alpha Chi Omega vs. Non-sorority.

Nov. 21—Pi Beta Phi vs. Delta Delta Delta.

Nov. 24—Alpha Chi Omega vs. Non-sorority; Kappa Delta vs. Sigma Sigma Delta.

Nov. 26-27—Championship games.

College girls who smoke are not harming their health as much as non-smokers who eat lots of candy. This is the conclusion reached by Dr. Anna Richardson, Smith College physician, after a survey of cigarette popularity among students at that institution.—Vassar Miscellany News.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

For Christian Education
BUCKNELL
UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
For catalog, book of views, or information,
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

There's no time like the present to make the date, and you just won't be one of the beau monde* if you aren't present at
The BELLE HOP DANCE
THIS SATURDAY NITGHT
(November Tenth)
Always the best of the year!
*Apologies to VANITY FAIR.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE THREE)

having made the trip to Lewisburg to attend the Kappa Delta dance on Saturday night.

"Gib" Frith, '27, dropped in late Sunday night to visit the fellows. This time he didn't travel in his "laboratory on wheels" as is his usual custom, but came in a regular car.

Eight of the boys journeyed as far as Berwick on Wednesday night, October 31, to dance to snappy tunes and rhythms as expounded by "Mal" Hallet and his orchestra. All reports concerning the time spent were very favorable.

Most of the fellows look forward to each Friday night, for they know that Friday nights bring "Ernie" Englehardt, '28, into our midst.

Pi BETA PHI
Rhoda Herr, '29

Doris Siner, '29, and Dorothy Stenger, '30, spent the week-end at the former's home in Germantown, Pa.

Mary Smith, '32, spent the week-end at her home in Nanticoke, Pa.

Mary Gross, '31, attended the Dickinson Home-coming week-end at Carlisle, Pa.

Among those who visited Scranton for the Villanova game are: Ruth Edwards, '30, "Kay" Hill, '30, Esther Hippie, '31, Marie Trunk, '31, Frances Stringer, '30, and Catherine Brown.

Dorothy Patchen, '30, spent the week-end at her home in Williamsport.

Helen Steinhilper, '29, visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Heylman of Williamsport.

Eleanor Buckholz, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Baltimore, Md.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
"Betty" Fries, '31

Tau chapter takes pleasure in announcing that Mrs. Byron S. Hollinshead has accepted an invitation to become a Tri Delt patroness.

Mrs. H. T. Colestock and Mrs. B. S. Hollinshead were guests at Tau's formal dinner given Tuesday evening, November 6, at the May-Mar, in honor of Tau's pledges and recent initiates.

Miss Jean Little, '28, paid a visit to the suite during the past week.

"Betty" Jane Rodenbeck, '31, and Ruth McFarland, '29, spent the week-end at the home of Virginia Smoot, '30, in Scranton.

"Dot" Wilson, '30, also spent the week-end in Scranton.

"Betty" Tanger, '31, was surprised by a visit from her parents, who motored here from Reading, last week.

Marie Walbert, '30, received a visit from her parents on Sunday.

KAPPA DELTA
Caroline Davison, '30

One of the peppiest dances which Kappa Delta has ever given, was held last Saturday evening, November 3. It was a "kid" party and was held in the "nursery" of the new dormitory. The room was filled with "kiddie-cars," tricycles, scooters, coaster wagons, and baby dolls. Illustrated nursery and Mother Goose rhymes decorated the walls, and appropriate refreshments of chocolate milk, animal crackers, and lolly-pops, added to the fun. A good share of the success belongs to "Red" Hitchens for his lively syncopation.

Edna Cease and "Kay" Warden took "Dot" Berlin and Eleanor Farquhar to Shavertown as their guests over the past week-end. All four went up to Scranton to attend the game with Villanova on Saturday afternoon.

Among others of our number who attended the game were Lillian McClure and Helen Mowry.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa.

Beta Kappa is pleased to announce that Mrs. B. G. Bell has become a patroness of the chapter.

Beta Kappa had a fair share in the election on Tuesday. Both Mary Taubel and Mary Wagner took their civic duties seriously enough to go home and vote. Janice Booker found an easier way and voted by mail.

Many of our girls journeyed to Scranton last week-end for the game. Mary Williams, Emma Hoff, Esther Williams, "Ibby" Lewis, "Ginny" Cowell, Helen Jones, and "Peg" Ferguson, were a few who made the trip. Grace Milhous, '27, and "Betts" Williams, '27, left their school teaching long enough to cheer for the team.

Flora Williams, Doris Anthony, and Mildred Walton made flying trips home on the excursion Saturday night.

Mary Wagner surprised us very much by remaining at the "Sem" over the week-end, instead of making her usual trip home. However, Mary was not homesick as she had an important guest to entertain.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Margarida Reno, '27, Beryl Sumerfield, '28, and Marian Hendrickson, '28, were our guests over the week-end of November 4. "Marge" sails for Brazil on November 17, so she came to pay us a farewell visit. After she left here, she went to Philadelphia to visit her sister Carrie, ex-'30, and in about a week she will go to Hartford to see "Dot" Gilbert, '27, and Margaret Field, '28.

A tea for the actives and pledges was held in the suite last Sunday afternoon in honor of the alumnae guests. The girls presented "Marge" with a farewell gift.

"Chiquito" Reno has arrived in Lewisburg, but he is so changed that we do not recognize our little friend. "Chiquito" will be placed in Dr. Stewart's museum.

Eva Mae Folsom, '31, spent last week-end in Williamsport.

"Ginger" Hall, '30, had the happy experience of driving home last Friday night. She went to see the Bucknell-Villanova game Saturday and afterwards attended the Bucknell dance at the Hotel Jermyn.

Thomas' Campaign Speeches Total 250

Winding up his campaign with a whirlwind speaking tour though New York and the New England states, Norman Thomas completed his program of re-establishing the Socialist organization after its post-war collapse.

Party strategy this year was solely concerned with consolidating the gains for future activity, according to Mr. G. August Gerber, the candidate's manager. It will be remembered that the split on the question of condemnation of the war, together with the odium which became attached to the word "socialist," at about that time, cut the party's strength to a negligible item.

Mr. Thomas made 250 speeches in 39 states in the course of four major tours—through the South in August, Pacific Coast in September, the Southern seaboard early in October, and his present trip. He has spoken for three thirty-minute periods over the radio—on a Pacific Coast chain from San Francisco on September 15, and over an Eastern chain from Station WJZ in New York.

The party has been unable to afford any more than this, as the national campaign fund is only $100,000, according to Mr. Gerber, who contrasts this with the millions reported available for the two major parties. This fund has been collected in small amounts, to a large extent from working men. Campaign literature and buttons were not given away but were bought and distributed by local organizations. Most of the Socialist field workers financed themselves.

Mr. Thomas protests that his appeal during the campaign has been one of issues rather than "knocks." He has taken humorous issue with headlines—"Thomas denounces," "assails," "links," "blames," "hits," "scores," and so forth.

"I am in danger of getting a hammer reputation," the candidate said with a smile, "if not a hammer complex. I am interested in a positive program to deal with the coal tragedy, the growth of a private power monopoly, unemployment, injunction, imperialism, and other matters."

FUN FROM THE PRESS

"Passenger Plane Has Dining Room," says a head-line. And it is up to Miss Emily Post to suggest something salty but polite for the passenger to say when the ship goes into a tail-spin during dinner and spills the soup into his lap.
—Macon Telegraph.

* * * *

You'll notice that there has been no marked down sale of fighting material since the Kellogg treaty was signed.

* * * *

Dumb-driven cattle are what the voters are less than this season. Mabel Willebrandt drives them out of the Republican party by the thousands and Mayor Walker drives them back.—The New Yorker.

* * *

Another evolution in the plant kingdom, so Mr. Gene Tunney takes to British art galleries and philosophical bouts with George Bernard Shaw—the climbing cauliflower.
—Vancouver Daily Province.

There are many cars of popular makes that do not have good pick-ups.

When a Feller Needs a Friend : . : : By BRIGGS

AW, GEE! POP WHY DON'T YOU SMOKE OLD GOLDS? THERE ISN'T A COUGH IN A CARLOAD
MERCY SAKES! WHY EUSTACE WANTS TO BE LITTERIN' UP THE PLACE WITH THEM THINGS ANYWAY, I DON'T KNOW!
GRANDMA PUTS IN HER TWO CENTS WORTH
OH GEORGE! WHAT A SHAME! AND EUSTACE HAD JUST SPENT TWO HOURS SORTING THEM ALL OUT

OLD GOLD
The Smoother and Better Cigarette
.... not a cough in a carload

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

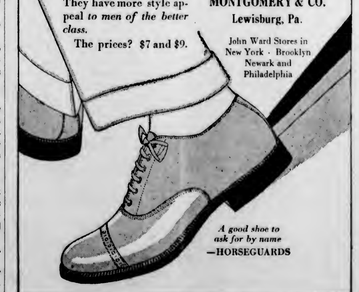
J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

WAINIES

Have you ever tried asking your friends?
Any man who wears John Wards will tell the same story.
The leathers in John Wards are choicer, wear better. The fit and workmanship are more expert. They have more style appeal to men of the better class.
The prices? $7 and $9.
John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED — REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
On Display at
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.
John Ward Stores in New York - Brooklyn Newark and Philadelphia



CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

B. U. Bows 20 to 6 To Villanova Squad

(Continued from Page 1)

defense, was forced to kick. Ellor got off a beautiful boot from his own 40-yard line which traveled to the enemy 20-yard strip. Melanson, back to receive the ball, fumbled and Ellor, who had made the kick pounced on the ball. This was a good break for the Bucknell team which proceeded to make the most of it. On the first play Captain Halicki double passed to Slate, who hot-footed it around left end for a 20-yard gain and a touchdown. The Bucknell rooters were in a frenzy when Captain Halicki backed up behind his own forward wall to try for the extra point. The boot went wide of its mark, so the score stood at 6-0 in favor of Bucknell.

With their backs to the wall, the winners now started a drive. Twice during that second quarter the Main Liners carried the ball to within the shadows of the Bucknell goal line, but in each attempt for a score they were halted by the Bison line. However in their third drive they were successful.

Bucknell Disputes a Forward Pass

Villanova received a break at this point that materially aided her. The victors toted the ball down the field to the Bison 15-yard strip. Here she was repulsed for three downs. On the last attempt Morgan shot a swift pass to Twoomy over the line for a touchdown. There was considerable argument over this pass, which looked ineligible, as Coach Snavely argued that a tackle received the pass. After a lengthy discussion, the referee finally ruled that the touchdown was scored and play was resumed. Mellanson booted a nifty placement kick that put Villanova in the lead by a 7-6 score.

A minute later the whistle blew, indicating the close of the first half. Again in the third period the winners made many threatening attempts to score and were at last successful. After the initial kickoff the Wildcats brought the ball to within six yards of the Bison goal line by a baffling aerial attack. A grounded pass over the goal line frustrated their last attempt but the winners came right back again.

After the Bucknell team had held for downs on its own 40-yard line, Ellor got off a long boot that sailed into the waiting arms of Morgan, who was perched on his own 20-yard marker. The fleet-footed Wildcat back made the longest run of the game by dashing along the sidelines, eluding enemy tacklers, for a 60-yard sprint which brought the ball to the Bucknell 20-yard line. Melanson knifed his way through the enemy defense for five yards on two tries. McAndrews was given the assignment to carry the ball over the line and he made the necessary distance with a five-yard gain through left tackle. Melanson missed in a try for the extra point.

Villanova, now confident of a victory, continued her attack on the Bucknell goal line by tallying a third touchdown. In the final quarter Bucknell made desperate but vain attempts to score. Finding that it was impossible to penetrate the enemy forward wall, the Bison eleven resorted to the forward pass. Although back on his own 20-yard line, Brumbaugh executed a daring pass which was intercepted by the eagle-eyed Melanson. The lucky Villanovan continued his fine work by splitting the line for a five-yard gain.

Morgan, the fleet-footed back who had previously contributed the longest run of the game, crashed through the center of the line for a 15-yard gain and a touchdown. Pat Gillespie tried for the extra point and made good, increasing the winner's lead to 20-6.

With but two minutes to play, the Bucknell team repeatedly tried to gain by employment of the forward pass, but every attempt was frustrated. The game ended with the ball in Villanova's possession in mid-field.

Pessalano Stars For Winners

Although the Villanova backfield men broke through the Bucknell line time after time for long gains, the outstanding hero of the game for the winners was Captain "Lou" Pessalano. It was Pessalano who, in the first period, braced his team after Bucknell had scored. The giant tackle was all over the field, breaking up well-directed Bucknell plays. Pessalano, weighing more than 240 pounds, used his weight to good advantage. The big boy was also a star on the offense. When his teammates had the ball, Pessalano opened enormous holes in the line through which his backfield mates plowed for substantial gains.

A hero in defeat was Captain "Eddie" Halicki. The Bison leader played well on both offense and defense and contributed much to stop the Villanova team. Halicki, injured before he entered the fray, stayed in the game and played on sheer Bison grit. It is little wonder then at the end of the hard fought struggle all the Villanova players shook hands with Halicki and showered the modest Bucknell captain with congratulations.

The score:

Bucknell		Villanova
James	L. E.	Lomasney
Woerner	L. T.	Pessalano
T. Jones	L. G.	Milne
Mitchell	C.	Donovan
Ellor	R. G.	McCoy
Bollinger	R. T.	Harkins
Lobel	R. E.	Twoomey
Brumbaugh	Q. B.	Giovannoci
Slate	L. H. B.	Andrewlivich
Hambacker	R. H. B.	Couti
Halicki	F. B.	Dorsey

Touchdowns—Slate, Twoomey, McAndrews, and Morgan. Points after touchdown—Melanson and Gillespie, both from placements.

Referee, S. L. Gilbert, St. Luke's Academy. Umpire, F. M. Bennis, Pennsylvania. Head linesman, J. F. Keady, Lehigh. Field judge, R. S. Stein, W. and J. Time of periods—15 minutes.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA DELIGHTS MUSIC LOVERS

(Continued from Page 1)

omitted from the program on account of lack of space for a piano. A misunderstanding prevented the enlarging of the platform sufficiently to permit the instrument's being placed upon it. The audience was consoled, however, by a very beautiful violin concerto in three movements, played by the organization's BOSTON ORCH. bhfl0 concert mistress and accompanied by the orchestra.

Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Dance of the Clowns," from the opera, "Snow Maiden," and Richard Wagner's overture, "Rienzi," fulfilled all expectations which may have been aroused by the sight of their titles on the program. As would be anticipated from almost any composition by these writers, the part contributed by brasses and percussion instruments was a very large one. The basses were greatly handicapped by the very cramped auditorium, and were less effective than they should have been, for that reason.

Following the last number, Miss Leginska was called to the front again and again by the enthusiastic audience, until, breaking the custom of symphony programs, the fiery and temperamental conductor picked up her baton for an encore. This number, the Intermezzo from the opera, Cavalieria Rusticanna, was interpreted with exquisite grace, the orchestra never showing to better advantage than in this composition.

Dean Amelia E. Clark Speaks at Harrisburg

The convention of the Pennsylvania Association of Deans of Women, which was held Friday and Saturday, November 2 and 3 at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, was attended by Dean Amelia E. Clark, Miss Lulu Coe, and Miss Margaret Lawson, who represented Bucknell.

The convention began with a luncheon at which Mrs. Frances Braidshaw Blanshard of Swarthmore College, the chairman of the executive committee presided, and at which Miss Thyrza W. Amos of the University of Pittsburgh, was one of the chief speakers. The Friday afternoon sessions were devoted largely to business. Friday evening, however, was given over to a banquet at which one of the speakers was Mrs. Helen Taft Manning, the well-known dean of Bryn Mawr College.

The sessions Saturday morning consisted of sectional meetings, one for high school deans, and the other for normal school, college, and university deans. Dean Clark was one of the speakers at the college sectional meeting. The final session adjourned Saturday noon.

The entire convention was characterized by much practical thinking, and the topics of discussion were ably handled by women, who, by their experience, were capable of giving them adequate and proper treatment.

Come, my dear room-mate,
Risen is the sun.
The birds are all singing,
The morn has begun.
Up from the bed, Miss,
Oh, can't you see?
The classes are waiting
For you and for me?

Curly locks, Curly locks
Come to Bucknell.
Thou shalt not wash dishes,
Nor yet objects sell.
But live at the college
A life quite complete,
And feed on potatoes,
Fruit cup and meat!

B. U. Debating Team Prepares For Oxford

(Continued from page 1)

Tiverton Division of Devonshire. Americans will be interested to learn that Mr. Foot's father, Mr. Isaac Foot, M. P., represented the town of Plymouth, England, at the celebration at Plymouth, Massachusetts, a few years ago of the tercentenary of the arrival of the "Mayflower." Mr. C. S. M. Brerton is the wit of the trio, since he bears the reputation of being "the best after-dinner speaker ever heard at Oxford." However, it is only fair to say that during his presidency of the Oxford Union his fellow critics declared that "his speeches betrayed a suspicious habit of thinking for himself and expressing himself with immense vigor." The presence of Mr. Brerton is sure to add zest to the occasion. Mr. T. Lennox-Boyd has every right to be proud of his family connections, and if brilliancy in speaking comes by inheritance, Mr. Lennox-Boyd should be able to hold his own in public discussion. Among the distinguished members of his family is the tenth Lord Napier, a former ambassador to the United States and an LL. D. of Harvard. Mr. Lennox-Boyd is an ardent a Conservative as Mr. Foot is a Liberal as evidenced by his election to the presidency of the Conservative Union at Oxford.

To oppose the gentlemen from across the sea, Bucknell has selected Mr. Clyde P. Bailey, '29, Mr. Alfred H. Rawlinson, '29, and Mr. James G. Williams, '29. Although this will mark Mr. Bailey's initial appearance in the role of inter-collegiate debater, he may be depended upon to give a good account of himself. Mr. Rawlinson, who is entering upon his second year as an intercollegiate debater, represented Bucknell last year in the debate with the British Union team, and was a member of the team that invaded the Middle West. Mr. Williams, who made the intercollegiate team during his freshman year, is again in the field. He has already won distinction as an orator.

That the Oxford-Bucknell Debate will prove a real forensic feature more than worth the fifty cents asked as the price of admission is the opinion of those who are in a position to judge. The admission fee is designed to cover the necessary guarantee and overhead expenses. Tickets may be procured at Baker's Drug Store or from Eugene G. Mirarchi, manager of the Oxford-Bucknell debate.

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

Scranton is a good old place,
As all Bucknellians know.
There it is our foes we face,
And lose most all our dough.

FEASTER REPRESENTS BUCKNELLIAN AT I. N. A.

(Continued from page 1)

the association has held only one convention a year, and that in the spring. That the new idea is a popular one is proved by the fact that it was one of the best attended conventions the association ever held.

The work of the convention on Friday, November 2, was centered about organization and reports of the member papers. The report of the Bucknellian was given by J. N. Feaster, the business manager. This report took the delegates by surprise, when Mr. Feaster explained about Bucknell's experiment with a pictorial section. The reports in general dealt with the various problems and successes of the member papers and proved of great interest and value.

On Saturday morning the attempt of the I. N. A. to establish a news service was defeated by a close vote. At this session the La Vie Collegian of Lebanon College was accepted into membership.

Bucknell was appointed by the president to be the host of the Third Regional Convention to be held in February. The member colleges of the third regional district are Susquehanna, Juniata, Gettysburg, and Dickinson.

Girls Have Party At Clark Home

A masked Hallowe'en party was given by Lily Tompkins and Dorothy Harpster, sophomores, at the home of Dean Clark's mother on South Fourth street, Friday evening, November 2. Orange and black decorations and two illumined ghosts added to the impressiveness of the party.

Excellent refreshments, including the bucolic pumpkin pie, were served in Chinese style, the table being set on the floor and the guests seated in a circle around it.

The revelers, mostly from the class of '31, were: Alta DeLong, Grace Grimshaw, Grace Roberts, '30, Doris Miller, June Reidler, Madeline Waldherr, Elizabeth Watson, Dorothy Grimshaw, Frances Weibel, Marion Eisenhauer, Merbia Gardine, Margaret Zimmerman.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Our Leather Coats
FOR BOTH BOYS and GIRLS
Are Going Over Big
For Style, Finish and Fit they can't be surpassed.
We carry the GLOVER make of Leather Garments; they are universally accepted as THE BEST.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER TO THE B. U. VARSITY
Full line of College and Fraternity Pennants, Banners, Leather Goods, Memory Books, Stationery, etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (East of Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
Special for Friday & Saturday, NOV. 9th and 10th
LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
New Fall Dresses
Regular $10 values at $8.75
LARGE ASSORTMENT OF
NEW FALL DRESSES
OF THE BETTER GRADES
Regular $15 values at $13.50
One hundred and fifty Dresses in the two groups.

FRIAR FROLIC
All College Dance
TUSTIN GYM
Nov. 24, 1928
MUSIC BY
Eddie Hoffman and His Band
Subscription $1.50.

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN ART?
STUDIO CLASSES IN
Painting, Oil, Water Color and Pastel. Crafts for Gifts and the home. Commercial Art of N. Y. S.
MRS. JOHN D. PLANT, 337 S. 6th St.

STYLES
OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE
MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM
SHOES
$10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

The Bucknellian

VOLUME 32 PART 2 Editor, Robert L. Lyon LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1928 Business Manager, John N. Feaster NUMBER 9

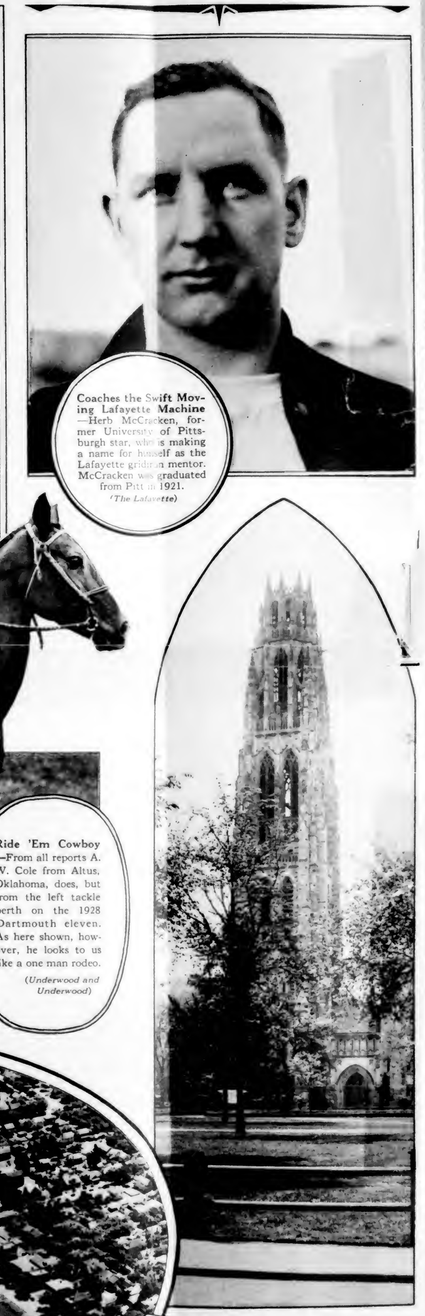
A Building of Stately Beauty—Old Main at Bucknell has been praised by architects as being one of the stateliest college buildings in America. The Bucknell campus is a thing of rare beauty on the beautiful Susquehanna River at Lewisburg, Pa.

(Bucknell News Service)

Not a Brown Derby in the Group—This picture shows that there are two sides to the political question. These are the charming officers of the Smith League for Alfred E. Smith. Left to right: First Row—Margaret Johnson, Kansas City, Mo.; Arnold Dana, Charleston, W. Va.; Elizabeth Jordan, Antlers, Okla.; Second Row—May Hutchins, Scarsdale, N. Y.; Theodora Sohst, New York; Virginia Veach, Oil City, Pa.; Katherine Kerlin, Moorestown, N. J.

(Eric Stahlberg)



Coaches the Swift Moving Lafayette Machine—Herb McCracken, former University of Pittsburgh star, who is making a name for himself as the Lafayette gridiron mentor. McCracken was graduated from Pitt in 1921.

(The Lafayette)

Ride 'Em Cowboy—From all reports A. W. Cole from Altus, Oklahoma, does, but from the left tackle berth on the 1928 Dartmouth eleven. As here shown, however, he looks to us like a one man rodeo.

(Underwood and Underwood)

Technical Student Studies Pigskin Hyperbole Parabolas—Howard Harpster, captain and quarterback of the Carnegie Tech eleven. He is noted as a punter par-excellence.

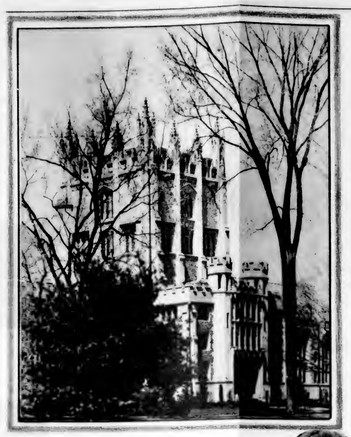
(Carnegie Tartan)

Wisconsin's New Stadium From the Air—An aeroplane view of Camp Randall surrounded by the beauty of Madison. The Badgers are proud of their new playing field and mammoth stands.

(Aerial Photographic Service)

Rising From a Surrounding of Sylvan Beauty—The lacy Harkness Tower dominates the beautiful campus of Yale University.

(Underwood and Underwood)



Where Young and Beautiful Girls Study Old and Beautiful Books—The tower of the library of Vassar College at Poughkeepsie, New York.
(Underwood and Underwood)

Not a Dance Marathon—The start of the button sewing relay at the annual "A" Day at the University of Alabama. At the crack of the gun the fair partner, needle already threaded, must sew a button on her man—then it is up to the cinder path artist.
(Orville Rush)

He Says He Was Hit With a Sky-Rocket—And he sticks to the story. This is Forrest (Jap) Douds, tackle of Washington and Jefferson, who recently had his upper jawbone broken in an odd accident. This special mask and helmet was designed by Andy Kerr, coach of the team.
(Underwood and Underwood)

A Mule (Not White) With A Kick—The West Point Cadet's annual parade in the Yale bowl before the game is a sight worth seeing. This year the parade continued after the start of the game with a cadet named Cagle exhibiting some fancy maneuvers for the 80,000 onlookers.
(International Newsreel)

Typifies Fighting Spirit of Penn State Lions—Hugo Bezdek, director of athletics and football coach of Penn State College. At one time Bezdek managed the Pittsburgh baseball team in the National League. He is a graduate of the University of Chicago where he starred at fullback. When he hit the line, something gave 'way. One glance at his face shows that he did not.
(Penn State Collegian)

(Left)
Trojan Sophomores Win Annual Brawl—The class of 1931 wins annual brawl between the two lower classes on the campus of the University of Southern California by 2 to 0. The push-ball contest pictured here resulted in a tie. It was full of fight but neither team was able to make any appreciable gain.
(Pacific and Atlantic)

Crimson Candidates Propel Leviathan Shell—The freshmen at Harvard get autumn crew practice under the vigilant eye of Coach Bert Haines. The Leviathan ships twenty oars and the runway gives the coach an excellent chance to study the form of the candidates. It is really a floating classroom.
(Pacific and Atlantic)

Chicago Dedicates Stately New Chapel—This beautiful building—costing $2,000,000—is said to be one of the finest examples of pure Gothic architecture in the world. It is the gift of the Rockefellers. It was dedicated recently to the spirit of good will in religion regardless of creed or sect. It has a seating capacity of 2,000. Located on the Midway, its majestic tower can be seen for miles.
(Chicago Maroon)

Flaming Youth Going to the Dogs—Certainly a plot for Percy Marks may be found at the University of Cincinnati where unruly freshman girls who are not wearing their dog-collars are rounded up by the Woman's Vigilance Committee in a county dog-catcher's truck.
(Underwood and Underwood)

Smith Girls Mix in Politics—Here we have the officers of the Smith Republican Club. Left to right, first row: Mary Barr, Joliet, Ill.; Caroline Mowry, Englewood, N. J.; Wilhelmina Schoellkopf, Buffalo, N. Y.; Second row: Jane Gilmore, Maplewood, N. J.; Fanny Curtis, Boston, Mass.
(Eric Stahlberg)

A Crimson Upset—Captain Art French of Harvard is shown circling Dartmouth's rival for a five yard gain. Harvard surprised the folks by repulsing the Big Green 19 to 7.
(International Newsreel).

One Way to Quiet a Sophomore—There are many ways but here's an effective one. This scene was snapped during the annual class rush between the freshmen and sophomores at Leland Stanford. Here we find the freshmen treating a soph in a most undignified manner. The freshmen won the rush.
(Wide World)

Combine Gridiron Cheers with Air Thrills—Five Colgate students fly 1,600 miles from Hamilton, N. Y., to Nashville and return, to see the Vanderbilt game. They made the trip in the big plane "Onondago." Flying to football games is gaining in favor with college students. Old fashioned railroads are too slow for modern youth. The air pioneers of Central New York are Raymond H. Young, Donald Vickers, Albert E. McCown, Charles Kelsey, and Robert R. Bruce
(Robert R. Bruce)

Is Tremendously Popular—Ernest M. Hopkins, the president of Dartmouth. Here is a leader who is well liked by his student body.
(Pacific and Atlantic)

Where Future Fords of the Aeroplane Industry Study—The Daniel Guggenheim Aeronautical Laboratory of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, erected for research in aeronautical engineering. It houses classrooms, two wind tunnels, and a meteorological laboratory.
(Underwood and Underwood)

The Rope That Tied Up Broadway Traffic—The Sophomores at Columbia (it's a college) dragged the Freshmen out into Broadway, thereby adding to Mayor Walker's traffic problem.
(Pacific and Atlantic)

Heard But Not Seen—This is a new experience for cheerleaders who are accustomed to perform before enthusiastic thousands. The boys are the noise specialists at the University of Pennsylvania. From left to right: Jack Archer, Red Herbst, Monty Hill. "This is W. C. A. A. broadcasting, etc."
(Wide World)

A Dozen New Cothamites at Wellesley—The metropolis of our fair country is well represented in the freshmen class at the famous Massachusetts women's college. Left to right: Thora Morse, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Peggy Hayman, New York City; Mildred Harris, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Sylvia Glass, Manhattan, N. Y.; Elsabelle Sachs, New York City; Clara Popper, Manhattan, N. Y.; Margaret Levi, Manhattan, N. Y.; Mary Long, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Elizabeth Sutherland, Cornwall-on-Hudson, N. Y.; Kim Tomptkins, Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Perry Place, New York City, and Dorothy Upjohn of New York City.
(Wide World)

(Above) ALTHEA BAINBRIDGE enjoys the thrills of her first air trip as furnished by Pilot R. S. Fogg. Her charming smile is unmarred by cloudy teeth—thanks to Pepsodent.

(Above) McCLELLAND BARCLAY, famous illustrator, and his model, Miss Helen Goebels, pause for a moment to show the part Pepsodent plays in making smiles so charming.

(Above) YOUTH AND AGE show an equal interest in the historical carriage of President Lincoln. Miss Beulah McGee is enjoying the reminiscences of William H. Rupe. Pepsodent daily guards her pleasing smile.

(Above) ASK YOUR DENTIST the secret of gleaming teeth. "Keep dull film off your teeth," he will say. That's why the use of Pepsodent, the special film-removing dentifrice, is so widespread today.

PEPSODENT—A scientific dentifrice compounded solely to remove dingy film from teeth.

Blame Film for Cloudy Teeth

—for serious tooth and gum disorders. Remove it twice each day with the special film-removing dentifrice dentists urge.

IN ten cases of dull, discolored teeth, nine may be traced to a dingy film that ordinary brushing fails to remove successfully. That is the opinion of modern dental specialists. Serious tooth and gum disorders, including pyorrhea, are also traced to film as their chief cause.

Film must be removed twice daily. To do this, dentists urge the special, film-removing dentifrice — Pepsodent — different in formula and in action from all others. One whose main purpose is to remove this dangerous coating from teeth.

Film is the great enemy of pretty teeth and healthy gums. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and forms a breeding place for germs. It invites the acids of decay.

Film, too, is the basis of tartar. And germs, with tartar, are the cause of pyorrhea. It absorbs discolorations from food and smoking. And makes pretty teeth look "off color."

Pepsodent first curdles that film. Then removes it in gentle safety to enamel. It acts to firm the gums and give them healthy, coral color. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva and keeps the mouth clean. Largely on dental advice, thousands are discarding old ways for it. Get it wherever dentifrices are sold or write The Pepsodent Co., 1104 S. Wabash Ave., Chicago, for free 10-day tube. Smiles will be brighter, teeth whiter and more healthy within a few days' time.

We could make Pepsodent to sell at a lower price. But it would not contain the properties millions know will whiten teeth as no other safe method does. Nor would it embody the costly agents science recommends to combat serious tooth and gum disorders. Beware when lovely teeth are placed at stake.

Pepsodent
REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
The Quality Dentifrice—Removes Film from Teeth

MANZ ROTOGRAVURE

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

W. and J. NEXT!
"W"—FOR WIN FOR B. U.
"J"—FOR JOLT FOR W. & J.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

SEE YOU AT THE DEBATE; COMMENCEMENT HALL, NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

VOLUME XXXII | LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1928. | PART NO. ONE | NUMBER 10

Reno Mission Chosen to Get B. U. Support

Faculty-Student Group Selects Bucknell Mission Project; "Bucknell in Brazil"

Bucknell is to attempt a foreign mission project in Brazil. The American Baptist School at Victoria, which is headed by Loren M. Reno, '00, is selected for this experiment by Bucknellians. This was decided at a meeting of both faculty and student representatives of the Bucknell project committee, held last Tuesday night at the home of Professor C. M. Bond.

The idea of a Bucknell foreign mission project had its birth at a meeting of students held last year, at which "Marge" Reno, '27, daughter of the director of the Brazilian school, read a letter from her father, in which he spoke of the pressing need of help for the institution. Heretofore this school had been supported by the Southern Baptist Board; but because of hard times in the South, Mr. Reno said, the appropriation for the school had been greatly reduced, putting the institution in difficulty.

At the Eaglesmere conference of student religious workers, held soon afterward, the matter again attracted attention. Students from Maine, Yale, Smith, Oberlin, and other colleges reported that their schools were conducting foreign mission projects. The Bucknell representatives at once decided to seek the support of their college for Mr. Reno.

At the opening of the present semester, the S. C. R. A., representing

(Continued on last page.)

English Department Announces Courses

"Teachers' English" and "Versification" will be offered by the Department of English in the second semester, Dr. H. W. Robbins has just announced.

"Teachers' English," which usually is offered during odd years only, will be taught this year in order to assist the many English majors in meeting state certification requirements.

The seminar in writing English 308, will be conducted this year by Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel. He has planned to discuss the art of versification and the technicalities of poetry, to survey the theories of poetry, and the critical manifestos of the various poetic schools, and to give abundant opportunity for the writing and the criticism of original verse. Since this course will be rigidly limited in size, students desirous of registering for it must secure the written permission of Professor Warfel.

Students Notice!

The Bucknellian, in its effort to be of service to the students of the University, will hereafter accept classified advertising at the rate of one cent a word. The classified advertising column should be useful to students, administration forces, and townspeople alike. If you have lost something of value and want to recover it, or want a job, or would like to sell your typewriter, or wish to exchange a desk for an overcoat, or have a garage to rent, or wish to do tutoring, or have rooms to let, or want to secure boarders, you may be able to accomplish your purpose through the medium of a Bucknellian classified advertisement at a cost of 10 to 25 cents.

The college weekly goes to every student in the University, to most faculty and administration members, to the trustees, to many local subscribers and business men, and to some hundreds of alumni. Its circulation is close to 2,000 a week. It will put you in touch with this large group of people at the cost of one cent a word.

John N. Feaster,
Business Manager.

Dr. N. F. Davis To Speak

Professor Nelson F. Davis will present an illustrated lecture on "The Geology of the Lewisburg Region," at the meeting of the Biological Society, next Wednesday evening, November 21, at 7:30, in B6.

MR. C. S. M. BRERETON

Editor of the Oxford Outlook, dramatic manager, and noted after-dinner speaker and brilliant wit.

Famous Violinist Will Give Concert

The first program under the auspices of the Bucknell University Entertainment Course will be held in the Baptist church, Thursday, November 22, 1928, when Bernard Ocko, renowned violinist and soloist with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, will play.

The National Music League has given an interesting sketch of Ocko in a preliminary advertisement recently published. It says: "Bernard Ocko is very rapidly taking his place as one of the most brilliant and outstanding of the younger violinists. Since 1925, when he was chosen from a great number to be soloist with the Philharmonic Orchestra at the Lewisohn Stadium and won the Walter W. Naumburg Musical Foundation prize of a New York recital which he gave in January, 1926, he has forged ahead in the concert field, filling engagements from coast to coast with extraordinary success.

"Mr. Ocko is an American. In addition to a B. A. degree from Columbia University, he received an artist's degree and medal with highest honors at the Institute of Musical art in New York, where he studied with Mark Fonerоff and the late Franz Kneisel. Under Mr. Kneisel's guidance, he has gone through the entire quartet literature of Beethoven, Brahms, Schubert, Mozart, and Hayden, and his concert repertoire is very extensive.

Among his appearances are two with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, playing first the Wieniawski Grand Concerto in F-sharp minor, then the Brahms D major Concerto; two joint concerts with Marion Tally, a joint recital with Mme. Jeritza in New York.

Nan Lee Thomas, '30, Wins Prize For Story

Nan Lee Thomas, '30, has received word that her short story, "Conflict," was awarded the first prize of $15 in gold at the sessions of National Eisteddfod of America held last week at Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

Each year the National Eisteddfod of America holds three-day sessions featured by contests of many kinds.

Miss Thomas submitted her story last September. The central theme of "Conflict" is the battle of modernism against fundamentalism.

A Wilkes-Barre newspaper describes the award as follows: "Rev. Owen Williams, pastor of First Welsh Presbyterian Church, which is sponsoring the Eisteddfod, read the adjudication of Humphrey Jones of North Wales on three short stories. Nan Lee Thomas, who signed her story "Tinker Bell," won first prize. The adjudicator said the merit of the composition indicated a prodigy."

Miss Thomas is a member of Zeta Gamma Tau sorority and of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity.

Census Reveals 159 Frosh Attend Sunday Services

Prof. Clarence Johnson's Class In Social Surveys Compiles Figures on October 28

Some interesting figures as to Bucknell freshman church attendance on a given Sunday have been compiled by the class in social surveys under the direction of Professor C. R. Johnson. The Sunday chosen, October 28, was an unusual one in that President E. W. Hunt preached in Lewisburg and this may have raised the church attendance. A number of freshmen, however, signified that they followed their usual custom of attending church in their home town.

Slips were handed to the freshmen at the Tuesday morning chapel, October 30, and each freshman was asked to tell whether or not he attended any church service on the preceding Sunday. They were given the option as to whether or not to sign their names.

Of the 264 freshmen present at chapel who participated in this census, 159, or 60 per cent. stated that they attended some one service, and 105, or 40 per cent. of those participating stated that they did not. Of the 159, 112 or 71 per cent. voluntarily signed their names to the statements and 47 or 29 per cent. did not. Of the 105 who stated that they did not attend service, 38 or 36 per cent. signed their names, and 67 or 64 per cent did not.

Of the 112 who signed their names, stating they attended service, 68 or 61 per cent. were men; 54 or 39 per cent were women. Of the 38 who signed statements saying they did not go to church, 29 or 76 per cent. were men and 9 or 24 per cent. were women.

Of the 1927 students at Bucknell this year (Registrar's figures, November 12, 1928), there are 363 freshmen, constituting 33 per cent of the student body. Of the freshmen 255 or 70 per cent. are men and 108 or 30 per cent. women. The 255 men in the freshman class form 36 per cent. of the 705 men in college, and the 108 women compose 27 per cent. of the 392 girls in college.

B. U. Debate With Polished Oxford Trio Close at Hand; Tickets Selling Rapidly

The last days before the polished, witty, and perhaps a bit scornful trio of Oxonians invades the provincial region of Union County to turn loose its English sarcasm upon three defenders of the local debating reputation, are drawing near a close. Bucknell's third annual international debate is to be held Tuesday evening at 8:15, and tickets for the event, which are being handled by Baker's Drug Store and Eugene Mirarchi, '29, manager of the Oxford debate, are being rapidly taken.

Six powerful and recognized speakers will take the platform on Tuesday night. This is probably the outstanding English debating team which has visited this country. C. S. Malcolm Brereton, the wit of the trio, attained to many of Oxford's highest positions, by virtue of his exceeding energy and surprising originality. All through his scholastic career he was noted for the number of innovations his brain conceived. Preparing for the University at Rugby, he became head of the great public school and led it vigorously. Entering Balliol College, Oxford, in 1924, he engaged in journalism and became business editor of the Oxford Outlook. He later managed the production of Henry IV, Part 2, and followed it with a brilliant after-dinner speech at the banquet after the per-

(Continued on last page.)

MR. ALAN T. LENNOX-BOYD

Member of a distinguished family, and president of the Conservative Association at Oxford.

Norman Thomas Accepts Bid to Speak at B. U. Dec. 3

Norman Thomas, recent candidate for the presidency of the United States on the Socialist ticket, has accepted an invitation extended by the Bucknell Sociological Society to speak in Commencement Hall on Monday evening, December 3, at 8:15, according to an announcement made by Phillip Murray, president of the Bucknell organization. Mr. Thomas, who was at one time a student at Bucknell University, will speak on the subject: "What is Socialism?" The Sociological Society invites all members of the faculty and the student body to be present.

"Y" Secretary Addresses Bucknell Frosh Cabinet

The Freshman "Y" cabinet was addressed by Mr. Montignani, Y. M. C. A. secretary for the North Central District of Pennsylvania, in a meeting in the "Y" room, Tuesday evening, November 13.

The organization and maintenance of Hi-Y clubs was one of the subjects that the speaker presented. The freshmen "Y" men are planning to organize Hi-Y groups in high schools of this district and Mr. Montagnani was able to further these plans by giving not only a list of schools in need of such help but also by outlining methods of approach to the work.

Dr. C. C. Ellis Lauds Teaching In B. U. Speech

Head of Education Department At Juniata Says a Teacher Should Try to Serve

"The teaching profession offers a fine opportunity for real service and self expression," said Dr. Charles Calvert Ellis, vice president of Juniata College and head of the Department of Education there, in his inspiring address to the Bucknell Education Club, Thursday evening, November 8, in Biology 6. The subject of his talk was "Teaching as a Career."

School teachers themselves are often to blame for the disparagement placed upon their profession, according to the speaker, and it is up to them to make teaching what it should be—one of the noblest of professions. However, certain requirements are first necessary. As listed by the speaker, these include group requirements, or a body of knowledge and skill that can be mastered only by earnest study; a qualification of character and competency which is necessary for entrance into the profession; a code of ethics built upon courtesy toward the public as well as toward one's clients and colleagues; and certain individual requirements.

"Of these," Dr. Ellis concluded, "the individual requirements are most significant. Teaching is a service occupation, and should not be considered as so many hours of work for so many dollars a day. A certain amount of professional training is not enough; every teacher should enter his profession with the motives of joy and service and with an unwillingness to do anything less than his best. Only when he has placed these motives above all others, will he have made the most of the wonderful opportunity offered him by the teaching profession."

Dr. Ellis, who is a brilliant speaker, illustrated his address with examples found in his own experience, thus making it vitally interesting to all who heard him.

BUCKNELL WARRIORS STAGE COMEBACK BY PILING UP A TOTAL OF 40 POINTS AS LEHIGH SQUAD IS HELD SCORELESS

Biggest Bison Score of Season Results As Bethlehem Team Allows Six Touchdowns

KONKLE USES STRATEGY IN MAKING FINAL GOAL

The Bucknell football team staged a comeback last Saturday at the Memorial Stadium, when it buried a game but hopelessly-outclassed Lehigh eleven under an avalanche of touchdowns. The final score was 40-0. Coach Snavely made no attempt to roll up a larger score as he employed almost his entire second team in three quarters of the game.

The Lehigh victory marks the highest score chalked up by the Bisons this fall. In all, the winners registered six touchdowns, and Captain Halicki added the extra point four times out of five tries. Linkfield endeavored to hoot the extra tally after Bucknell had scored its last touchdown, but the kick went wide of its mark.

Many recruits were given a chance by Coach Snavely to display their wares. Every substitute that played in the game showed aggressive work. The two outstanding footballers who were given their baptism of fire last Saturday were Major Kozik and James Howard Milton Konkle.

Konkle was inserted in the game late in the final period, with his team five touchdowns to the good. He was sent in to replace Woodring at

(Continued on last page.)

MR. DINGLE M. FOOTE

Liberal candidate for the British Parliament from Tiverton and president of the Oxford Liberal Club.

Professors Appointed To Head Departments

Bucknell is to have heads of departments. That fact was decided at a special meeting of the faculty, held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of President Emory W. Hunt. Only professors, associate professors, and assistant professors were invited to the meeting, and practically every teacher of professorial rank attended.

Heretofore, Dr. Hunt informed the faculty, Bucknell has had no duly appointed department heads. He suggested that the faculty itself select the men who are to be considered as heads or chairmen of the various faculty groups or departments. These selections were made in the departments designated: Biology, Prof. N. F. Davis; Chemistry, Prof. W. G. Owens; Economics, Prof. E. M. Heim; Education, Prof. F. G. Davis; English, Prof. H. W. Robbins; History, Prof. H. T. Colestock; Mathematics, Prof. C. H. Richardson; Romance Languages, Prof. B. W. Griffith.

Acting upon a suggestion made by Professor Clarence Johnson, the faculty voted to limit the tenure of office to one academic year. Each fall, therefore, the faculty will hereafter select the professors who are to represent the various departments in the conduct of department business. Professor Johnson spent the past year at the University of Southern California, working for his doctorate. Such a system of rotation is in effect there, the department heads being appointed for one year, and the members of the various faculties rotating in the headships of departments.

In departments in which there is but one teacher who holds the rank of professor, it was voted, the person of that rank shall automatically become the head of the department.

M. Reno Almost Sails On Ill-fated Steamer

Only a press of business that prevented her from making the necessary connections kept Margarida Reno, '27, from being a passenger on the ill-fated steamer Vestris, that sank early this week 250 miles off the Virginia Capes, with a probable loss of more than 100 lives. "Marge" expects to sail on the Southern Cross on Saturday. She is going to Brazil to aid her father, Loren M. Reno, '00, in his work at the American Baptist School in Victoria.

Two of Mr. Reno's co-workers in Brazil, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Jackson, and their son, were on board the ill-fated Vestris. They were returning from a furlough in the States. They are believed to have perished, since they are among the hundred listed as missing. The Jacksons have five children at school in the United States.

Miss Cabral, a Spanish friend of the Reno's, who has been in training as a nurse at the Philadelphia General Hospital, is also listed among the missing.

Friars Will Frolic To Music by Hoffman

Final plans are being made to make the Friars' Frolic on November 24 one of the outstanding dances of the local social season. The music committee carefully considered the question of what orchestra to procure. It finally was reduced to "Ted" Lewis, Waring's Pennsylvanians, and "Eddie" Hoffman. After weighing the merits of each it was decided that the best was none too good for this affair and "Eddie" Hoffman got the contract.

The orchestra fully realizes the prestige that it can gain by going over as a frolic whose magnitude is as great as this one promises to be, and the boys are out to surpass even their previous excellence.

Realizing that the week-end of the twenty-fourth will be comparatively dull at the University, with the football team playing Dickinson at Carlisle, the Friars are charging a minimum subscription of only $1.50 a couple, so that the entire student body may be able to take advantage of their dance.

Prof. Harry Everett Honored at Chicago

Professor Harry S. Everett, who left Bucknell slightly more than one year ago, to become a professor at the University of Chicago, was recently appointed to the University Senate, the general governing body which has legislative and administrative powers over all matters not specifically reserved to the various faculties.

Dr. Everett was also appointed secretary of the Department of Mathematics, in which position he has charge of the department correspondence, the editing of the department bulletins, the preparation of the department schedules, the handling of applications and records of candidates for graduate courses, and also the department recommendations.

"Scheidy," as he was familiarly known about the Bucknell campus, has unusual capacity for work, and his ability is carrying him rapidly up the ladder at Chicago.

Albright and Schuylkill Colleges have merged recently to form the Greater Albright College. Negotiations for the charter have been under way for several years.—Exchange.

Eloise Bailey, '29, spent last week-end at her home in Williamsport.

* * * *

Now that the election is over, what are the history profs. going to talk about?

* * * *

Miss Doris Duhart of Port Allegheny, Pa., visited "Jerry" Fortner, '29, last Thursday.

* * * *

Dick Vastine, '27, left Jersey Shore long enough to enjoy the Hop with his old friends here.

* * * *

Mrs. E. C. Lesher and son visited the former's daughter, Beulah Lesher, '30, Thursday, November 8.

* * * *

Mrs. Jess Porter, of Juniata, spent last Thursday and Friday with her daughter, Sally Porter, '29.

* * * *

Who has lost his one-hoss shay? It has been waiting patiently for him outside of the May-Mar tea room.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Holt, of Philadelphia, spent Monday, November 12, with their daughter, Dorothy Holt.

* * * *

"Betty" Huxley, '30, left the "Sem" very happily last Friday morning to wend her way to Colgate for the week-end.

* * * *

"Tommy" MacLeod has volunteered to give $500,000 to the mother of the unknown soldier. Ain't that a swell spirit!

* * * *

Our Bucknell philosopher says, "I'd just like to meet the person who does not prefer a candied rather than a candid opinion of himself."

* * * *

The new dorm has been turned into a children's ward, since many rooms are decorated with Mother Goose rhymes and nursery pictures.

* * * *

By the interest shown in football among the various fraternity groups, it is possible that we may have an inter-fraternity football league next year.

* * * *

The Bucknell Band played on November 12 in Sunbury for an Armistice Day Parade. Our band is acquiring quite a reputation and we are justly proud of it.

* * * *

Harry Allsworth's brother, Boyd visited him over the week-end. Boyd was a Sigma Chi here last year and is now going to Wisconsin where he is taking a graduate course.

* * * *

"Hank" Graham, '31, was asked in astronomy class how he could tell a star when he saw one. "Hank" thought most of them danced in front of the chorus and wore prettier clothes.

* * * *

We advise a new system of wrap-checking at all-college dances in the gym. It is a free-for-all scramble from the beginning of the last dance till a half hour or more after the music has stopped.

* * * *

Miss Catherine Bergstresser visited us last Wednesday. Miss Bergstresser, who was a former music instructor here, is teaching music in Harrisburg now and sings in one of the capitol's largest churches.

* * * *

Professor H. W. Robbins' Chaucer class was recently in the throes of final E's. It was a bit more exciting than transcription, since one mistake instead of ten destroyed the chance for the coveted "A."

* * * *

In one co-ed's room are posted signs to the effect of "Watch your weight!", "Are you exercising?", and "Keep dieting!" We wonder if she is trying to convince herself or her friends that she is attempting to reduce.

* * * *

A Bucknell student was heard guessing the report of the election in this manner. "Hoover was given 444 electrical volts." As a matter of fact, though, it was the opposition that got the real shock from those electrical votes.

* * * *

The amazing news that most people find their greatest source of entertainment in their own childishness, as some contributor to the "Hilltop Briefs" asserts, has caused much discussion. It is known that two co-eds staged a formal debate on the question each declaring that the maxim referred to them. According to latest reports, no decision was reached.

"Billie" Williams, '28, visited her sorority sisters over the last week-end.

* * * *

Mary Laning, '30, was visited by her mother from Pittsburgh last week-end.

* * * *

Kate Winner, '28, of Lock Haven visited the "Sem" and "Toots" over the week-end.

* * * *

"Phil" Jones, of Nanticoke, spent the last week-end with his brother, "Turk" Jones, '29.

* * * *

Oella Kisor, '29, entertained her family from Monessen, Pa., here over the recent week-end.

* * * *

Miss Eleanor Sorter of Hightstown, N. J., recently visited her cousin, Sallie Robertson, '30.

* * * *

Due to the recent snow storm Leonard Horton, '31, found walking on his crutches rather difficult.

* * * *

Louise Graeff, '29, an enthusiast on politics, made a special trip to her home in Tamaqua to cast her vote last week.

* * * *

Lillian Mattick, '30, entertained her mother from Lansdowne here over the week-end. The visit was to celebrate Lillian's birthday.

* * * *

Certain young boys from Lewisburg think that it is great sport to use sling-shots on the afternoon walkers in "Lambda Chi Park."

* * * *

"Betty" Seigfried, '29, had the pleasant surprise of having her mother, Mrs. Seigfried of Allentown, visit her on her birthday last week.

* * * *

"Cowboy" Ezel, '31, and Cleon Baston, '31, made the onlookers gasp as they crashed through the freshman line in the inter-class football game.

* * * *

Last Friday Henry Coleman, '29, gave a most interesting talk in sociology class about his work this summer. Now we have the low-down on Henry.

* * * *

"Many are called, but few are chosen." This is the cry of the perspiring frater who attempts to "fix" the pledges up with dates, by way of the telephone.

* * * *

The women's infirmary is quite a popular place lately. Esther Keim, '29, Adelaide Clark, '31, Muriel Hoyle, '31, and "Peg" Erb, '31, have all been visiting it recently.

* * * *

Someone reminded us the other day that there are only eight more weeks of school before the finals. Why does somebody always have to take the joy out of life?

* * * *

The girl's inter-sorority hockey games would be much more desirable if the young men of the institution would refrain from side-line remarks. They are not invited anyway!

* * * *

A co-ed remarked that she had exactly $5.50 to last her until Christmas vacation. If she should succeed in making it last that long, she might well be regarded as an expert in the matter of economy.

* * * *

We wonder if the cheer leaders were satisfied with the cheers at Saturday's game? Without exception, the students lived up to their promise and sat in the designated sections, but was it as effective when the voices were blended?

* * * *

Yawns on the part of the co-eds were unusually frequent the day after election. They plainly indicated that more than one "Semite" had lost some sleep the night before by staying up to listen to election returns over the radio.

* * * *

Lincoln Walter, Oliver Miller, Donald Deihl, and Harold Waldner proved their true Hoover spirit when the quartet returned to their respective homes to cast Republican votes. "Linc" Walter said: "I never felt bigger in all my life."

* * * *

According to an announcement from a reliable source, Phi Gamma Delta voted at a recent meeting to discontinue the use of black and white sport shoes as the official insignia of the fraternity. The aping of this old Phi Gam custom by lesser groups was given as the reason for this change in policy.

The Philadelphia Inquirer for Monday, November 12, printed a photograph of Margaret Evans, '32, of Allentown.

* * * *

A wide range of test marks seems to have been the style recently, the latest example being a quiz in sanitary science in which the marks ranged all the way from 44 to 85. The low grades, however, were more popular than the higher ones, since three of the class received 44.

* * * *

Among those who attended the Penn State house parties last week-end were: Mary Gross, Ruth James, May Button, Josephine Roberts, Elsie Randall, Dorothy Holt, "Lee" McKaig, Mary Wagner, "Betty" McHose, "Dot" Wilson, "Ginny" Smoot, Adelaide Clark, and "Joe" Schilling.

* * * *

In a recent tabulation of this year's enrollment in the fifty-four colleges and universities in Pennsylvania, Bucknell is listed as ninth in size, having an enrollment of 1926 students. The University of Pennsylvania leads the list with 13,679 students, while Dropsie College brings up the rear with 63.

* * * *

Some members of the Boston Women's Symphony Orchestra were in precarious positions on the temporary platform erected for them in the Baptist church. It added an element of suspense to the concert, since neither the audience nor the players knew when one of them might tumble off.

* * * *

A large delegation of football fans, including coach Carl Snavely and members of the Bison eleven, travelled to Pottsville last Sunday to see "Wally" Diehl and the Yellowjackets sting the Steam Rollers. "Wally" ripped off 50 yards for a touchdown and added materially in the 24-0 landslide.

* * * *

The "Sem" girls are still waiting for their new post office boxes to be put in. The latest report is that they will be installed during the Thanksgiving vacation. On the day the men put them in, the mail will have to be delivered to the girls' rooms, but the inconvenience of one day will be worth while.

* * * *

A renowned weather prophet who lives up state has predicted an open winter until December 15, and after that we will have a taste of bitter weather, he says, with two blizzards sometime in January or February. Warning: Take your galoshes and winter coats home with you when you leave for the Christmas vacation on December 15!

* * * *

Miss Charlotte Armstrong, of our Music School faculty, tells an interesting incident of the recent political campaign. While visiting at her home a few weeks ago, she attended a Republican banquet. The chief speaker was Miss Armstrong's sister, who is a Republican leader. The interesting feature was the speaker's name. It happened to be Mrs. Alfred E. Smith.

* * * *

Mary Bennett, '29, went home last Tuesday to stay for two or three days. A wedding in the family was the attraction, and we're hoping Mary shared her wedding cake generously among her friends. It is rather interesting to sleep on, since one's future husband is thus ascertained—besides, we're all very fond of wedding cake.

* * * *

Jiggs, the Sigma Chi dog, pushed open the door of Main 5 with his nose and trotted into the room where Prof. Benjamin W. Griffith was holding a French class. Not finding the person he sought, Jiggs didn't stay long, but as he was impolite enough to leave the door open behind him, Professor Griffith had to get up and close it. Twice more Jiggs visited the class that period. Toward the end of the hour, the door opened a fourth time. The students looked up gleefully, and Professor Griffith looked up sternly, expecting to see the dog again, but it was President Hunt who appeared in the doorway!

Headline in the Campus News, New Jersey College for Women, "Spanish Writer To Speak In Botany Wednesday." We thought we knew the names of most of the foreign languages but "Botany" is a new one to us. You never can tell, though, in what language these Spanish writers are going to speak!

Lehigh students send home, on the average, 553 suit cases of laundry every week for which the Bethlehem post office collects about $102.50 in fees, according to Postmaster W. H. Thatcher, of the South Bethlehem post office.—Brown and White.

Lehigh students evidently don't re-echo John Plant's favorite quotation that "Cleanliness is next to impossible."

The Good Old Days Had Their Troubles

College students of today have nothing on their Puritan exemplars. Brawls, hazing, wrangles with the faculty, extreme dress, excessive smoking, the reading of bad books, the holding of "senseless" and disorderly commencements, religious neglect, free thinking, waywardness,—such conduct, which, we are told, marks the spirit of the twentieth century collegiate, played a large part in the lives of the college student 200 years ago.

Dr. Henry W. Lawrence, professor of history at Connecticut College, has revealed these facts in a new book, the material for which has been gathered from such authentic sources as contemporary church records, diaries, and histories.

One of the writers he quotes is Ezra Clapp. "Last night," this earnest Yale student recorded in 1738, "some of the freshmen got six quarts of Rhum and about two payls fool of Sydar and about eight pounds of sugar and made it in to Samson, and evited ever scholar in college into Churtis is room, and we mad such prodigious Rought that we raised the Tptor, and he ordered us all to our rooms and some went and some tried and they gathered a gain and went up to old father Monsher dore and drumed against the dore and yeled and screamed so that a body would have thought they were killing dodgs there. . . "

Students of Harvard at an earlier date took a strong dislike to the president of the time, which was Harvard's third, and forced him to resign by turning "cud-weeds," as the Rev. Mather writes in his diary, and, by violating the fifth Commandment, "set themselves to travestie whatever he did or said."

Ministers' sons began to get their reputation as early as 1644, we learn by the following account:

"Two of our ministers' sons, being students in the college, robbed two dwelling houses in the night of some 15 pounds. Being found out, they were ordered by the governors of the college to be there whipped, which was performed by the President himself—yet they were about twenty years of age; and after they were brought into the court and ordered as two-fold satisfaction, or to serve so long for it. We had yet no particular punishment for burglary."

In the diary of Nathaniel Ames, a Harvard student who entered college in 1758 and completed his course in 1761, we get some amusing accounts of college life, and note as well a marked similarity between eighteenth and twentieth century youths:

"March 13, 1758—Came to College, began Logwick.

March 18, fit with the Sophomores about Customs.

March 20, had another fight with the Sophomores.

Nov. 23, went to Boston, the Revenge acter at Bowmans.

June 13, 1760—acted Tancred and Sigismunda for which we are like to be prosecuted.

Sept. 9, President sick, wherefore much Devilry carried on in college.

Oct. 1, 1 Scholar degraded this morning, 2 admonished, 1 punished.

Oct. 10, Kneeland's and Thayer's windows broke last night.

Dec. 25, Gardner and Barnard admonished stealing wood.

Feb. 26, 1761—lost 2 pistareens at cards last evening.

March 26, first game of bat and ball.

April 15, Dependants on the Favors of the President and Tutors sign an agreement to inform of any scholar that is guilty of profanity.

May 19, Joseph Cabot rusticated. As soon as the President said he was rusticated, he took his hat and went out of the chapel without staying to hear the President's speech out. After prayers he bulrags the Tutors at a high rate and leaves College. His mother faints at the news.

May 20, Chapel robbed of the Cushing and Bible Cloths.

July 15, Commencement.

July 16, a dance in Town House, Cambridge."

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

"Will you come into the parlor,"
Said a "Semite" to her friend.
"'Tis a pretty little parlor,
With the colors all a-blend.
The way into the parlor is up a winding stair;
And there are lots of things to do when I have got you there."

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Hair Cut 35c
AT ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

Deer Are Infested, Says Dr. Stewart

The belief that a disease similar to "blind staggers" in sheep has caused many deaths among deer, has led Professor Norman H. Stewart to issue a lette rto all sportsmen and naturalists interested in the conservation of game.

In this letter Professor Stewart asks that any deer found dead be examined for maggots (larvae) in the cavities in the rear of the nose. These maggots, the larvae of a fly infesting deer, measure upto one inch in length, and probably drive the host to death.

The discovery last March, of the maggots in a dead doe found along White Deer Creek, led Professor Stewart to believe that they might be parasites.

The officers of the State Game Commission and also of the N. S. Biological Survey have expressed much interest in this theory. It seems to be substantiated by the fact that the dead doe had some food still in it, as did deer examined in other parts of the state. The deer are not starving to death. In the same herd some deer appear to be in good health, while others are "walking skeletons."

Four Kansas University men were ducked in a fountain when they attempted to crash the gates at a "women only" prom—Exchange.

Quick on the trigger!

Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan PENS-PENCILS

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPARING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier

The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.

We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.

Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wish ed for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
John W. Gittins, '29

Phi Kappa Psi announces their annual Farmers Party, to be held November 23. It will be a closed dance, invitations being issued.

Daniel Dawson from Penn and brother "Link" Bennett, ex-'30, from Temple, visited us over the week-end, week-end.

"Red" Crew and "Bob" Anderson, Phi Delts from Lehigh were entertained by Hans Rahm over Saturday.

Pledge brothers, James O'Conner, '32, and Ralph Binder, '32, left for New York last Friday evening, where they witnessed the Notre Dame-Army game.

Pledge brother Johnny Porter, '32, spent an eventful week-end at his home.

Carl Wilson, ex-'30, visited his brother Lee over the week-end.

Has anyone seen a police dog pup answering to the name of Eloise. She appeared Sunday morning from nowhere and apparently returned to the same place. Any information will be gratefully accepted.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

President Emory W. Hunt was the guest of honor at dinner on Sunday. Whether intentional or not, the dinner was made more enjoyable by the presence of the Misses Dorothy Patchen, Ruth Anderson, Marion Raber, Dorothy Showalter, and Jane Rienio.

Brothers Frank Kostos, "Til" Woodring, "Mike" Waldner, and "Sandy" Moore journeyed to Pottsville on Sunday to see the Frankfort Yellowjackets trim the Pottsville football eleven. Brother "Tony" Kostos held down an end berth for the "Jackets," and "Wally" Diehl was the backfield ace on the same team. It was a real Bucknell battle, for opposing "Tony" and "Wally" were the Goolwin twins, Merle and Earle. "Wally" provided the gem of the day when he went 45 yards for a touchdown. The Frankfort management hopes for a Bucknell delegation at every game if this is its effect.

Brother "Ben" Hurley, ex-'30, found time to leave his business in Pittsburgh long enough to come down for the Lehigh game and a week-end visit at the house.

"Johnny" Linkfield's parents drove up from New York for the Lehigh game, so "Johnny," contrary to the medico's instructions, went into the stadium scrap with a badly sprained arm, so his folks' trip would not be in vain.

"Wally" Diehl spent the week-end at the house, returning from Pottsville with the boys who went down to see him play.

"Joe" Clarke drove to Hanovre, N. H., with "Cap" Sargent last week to see Brown University tie one on the Dartmouth football team. "Joe" is back with us, but is about the only one who is glad that Brown won, for many of the boys backed their opinion that the Big Green would win with something more than idle talk.

Paul Fink, '29, spent the week-end in Harrisburg with pledge brothers "Sam" and "Nies" Houk. For further particulars apply to Paul.

"Ollie" Miller, '31, had Harry Walter, '31, visited at his home in Kulpmont over the week-end. Harry vows that there is nothing like the good old "anthracite" region.

DELTA SIGMA
Philip G. Murray, '29

Delta Sigma entertained over the week-end, Mrs. W. F. Delaney and son, Dan, of Phillipsburg, Pa., also Messrs. Wilson, Shea, Hayward, and McDonald of Lehigh University, and Frank Berlin of Slatington, Pa.

Brothers "Alex" Roller, '21, and George Roller, '27, rolled up in their "Rolls-Rough" from Rochester, N. Y., to see the Lehigh game last Saturday.

"Brute" Fessler made his "weekly" pilgrimage to Newberry taking with him the fearless "Johnny" Horter.

"Cal" Smith ventured into the sylvan depths of White Deer Saturday in search of venison. He returned with a possum and one of those hard luck stories.

"Doug" Haviland, '28, stopped in Saturday night long enough to test out the new mattresses. "Doug" reported, at some time Sunday afternoon, that they are a big improvement.

"Abie" Marston, '32, entertained his parents at the Lehigh game.

"Bob" Dilworth and "Hawk" Roller, both of '27, dropped in Saturday to see that Bucknell got a fair deal in the Lehigh game.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Brother "Cy" Morgan, '22, visited the house during the last week-end. Brother Morgan has been working in South Carolina and stopped here on his way back to Patterson, New Jersey.

Brother Guy Bland, '27, and his brother, drove up from Blandsburg to see the Bucknell-Lehigh game. Guy is teaching and coaching at the Medivia High School.

Brothers Holback and Fine, from Lehigh, were guests at the house on Saturday.

Brother Karl Wilson, ex-'30, drove up from Harrisburg for the week-end.

Mr. Hawse and Mr. Weaver were the guests of brother George Browne on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Conway of Rochester visited their son John on Saturday. They are motoring to Cuba.

Brothers McCormick, Nowicki, Conway, Hambacker, and Ellor went to Pottsville, Sunday afternoon to see the Pottsville-Frankford football game.

Pledge brothers Downey and Cummins spent the last week-end at their home in Shenandoah.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Brothers "Ted" Mitchell, '29, and "Fred" Locke, '31, journeyed to New York City after the game on November 3, and saw some of the best theatre productions of the year.

Three friends of brother John E. Bordegum, '29, William S. Gigoni, Richard P. Lymann, and Sam Garwood of Lehigh spent the week-end at the house.

Brothers William Waldner, '31, and "Ted" Mitchell, '29, made a trip to Bloomsburg last Sunday to visit friends.

The parents of George Ebner, '30, motored from Ocean City, N. J., and spent the week-end in Lewisburg.

Brother Tracey Rockwell, '24, spent a few hours at the house last Sunday.

Brothers Gordon K. Adams, '30, and John C. Pyle, '30, spent last Friday and Saturday at State College.

Frank Mahoney, Thomas Cosmas, Richard Herring, and Ray Ghio motored from Union City, N. J., to spend last week-end with brother William Waldner, '31.

Brother William Griffith, '30, who was called home because of the death of his father, returned last Sunday.

Pledge brother "Mike" Moore, ex-'31, provided a pleasant surprise by making his appearance at the house last Friday for a week-end visit.

ALPHA CHI MU
Albert E. Brenner, '29

Prof. Clarence R. Johnson of the sociology department, and Mrs. Johnson were guests at dinner last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Beckworth, of Lansdowne ,their daughter Evelyn, '30, and Mr. and Mrs. Logan and son, of Philadelphia, were guests at the house last Sunday.

Arthur Guilden, '32, was a guest at the house Sunday.

John Anderson, who has been confined to the Ziegler Infirmary because of sprained ligaments received in a soccer game, was visited by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Anderson, of Shickshinny.

Eldred Ward went home to Baltimore during the week-end to see the folks.

Prof. Meyer D. Nimkoff, of the sociology department, was a dinner guest last Sunday.

"Yon" Hauber went home during the week-end. He reports that everything is "Okmnx" in Coudersport.

Harold Jordon took a few days vacation to visit the house. Jordon is employed by the Bell Telephone Company, New York City.

John Feaster, alias "Pee Wee" Feaster, occupied the pulpit of the Calvary Baptist Church, Williamsport, last Sunday.

Charles Phillips, who is teaching biology and chemistry in the Lebanon High School, was on hand to see the Lehigh game.

Harold F. Weber, '27, was united in marriage to Miss Marguerite E. Patton on November 10, at Pottsville.

KAPPA GAMMA
J. M. Paige, '32

John Dibiaso and Daniel Antonio of Minersville were guests of Kappa Gamma last Saturday. After seeing the game they expressed great satisfaction over the outcome and were loud in their praises of the classy brand of football which our boys play.

"Lew" Ceraso, '29, has been trying to teach some of the freshmen how to play pinochle. Although he declares that it is hard work, the boys know that his success is assumed because of the persistency which is displayed by both master and pupils.

(Continued on page 7)

"I'd rather have a Chesterfield!"

It is considered the height of bad form, they say, to carry your own sandwiches to a tea—or to pack your own blanker for the week-end—but luckily, no such outlandish conventions surround the smoking of your own cigarette.

"I'd rather have a Chesterfield," fortunately, is a phrase which not only remains "good cricket" in polite circles—but at the same time brands the smoker as a person of rare discernment and excellent discrimination.

And small wonder, considering all the remark implies. Good taste, top quality, the rare sparkle of tobacco goodness—all these combine to justify the choice of that man who thus shows his keen judgment.

"I'd rather have a Chesterfield"—a neat line, that—the mark of a real connoisseur and the password of six million smokers.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1887 Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
ICE CREAM SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—7—

MR. JASON ROGERS, IN SPEAKING TO MEMBERS OF THE POOR RICHARD CLUB, SAID THAT "ADVERTISING IS AN ANTIDOTE FOR HARD TIMES." THE "INQUIRER," IN REPORTING HIS ADDRESS, SAID THAT THE SOUND USE OF ADVERTISING CAN CREATE A DEMAND FOR GOODS AT FAIR PRICES AND CAN, IN REALITY, MAKE BUSINESS AS GOOD AS THE MANUFACTURER OR MERCHANT WISHES IT TO BE.

"WHAT THE LAMBERT PHARMACAL COMPANY, OF ST. LOUIS, DID WITH LISTERINE," MR. ROGERS ASSERTED, "IS A MONUMENT TO WHAT ADVERTISING CAN DO IN PRODUCING A NEW MARKET, FOR A WELL-KNOWN PRODUCT.

"IT HAS BEEN FOUND THAT THE MORE WIDELY A MERCHANT OR MANUFACTURER ADVERTISES, THE SMALLER THE PERCENTAGE OF SALES NECESSARY TO DEFRAY THE EXPENSES INCIDENTAL TO THAT ADVERTISING. THAT IS WHY, IN 1925, THE GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION WAS ABLE TO INCREASE ITS SALES TO $166,000,000, OR 165,000 CARS, AT AN ADVERTISING COST OF ABOUT ONE HALF OF ONE PER CENT. OF THE TOTAL SALES."

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief — Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th Street, Phone 21R-R-2

Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Phone 191, Alpha Chi Mu House

Ass't. Editor-in-Chief — Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor — Clarence Cranford, '29
Ass't. Managing Editors — Virginia Smoot, '30; Helen Bell, '30
News Editor — Charles E. Mohr, '30
Ass't. News Editors — Jane Foust, '29
Sports Editor — J. Warren McElIget, '30
Ass't. Sports Editors — Thomas McLeod, '31; R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor — Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor — Trennie Eisley, '31
Column Editors — Elizabeth Figner, '30; Frances Kernohan, '30

Reporters

Vivian Bitner, W. C. Emmitt, Bertha Gaventa, Lillian Mattick, John McNally, Ruby Smith, Nan Lee Thomas, Kenneth Vandenbree.

Business Staff

Advertising Manager — W. C. Emmitt, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager — John Snyder, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager — Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Ass't. Circulation Mgr's.
George DeLancey, '32 — John B. Hatton, '32
Walter H. Grim, '32 — Nathaniel Glazier, '32
Benjamin Wahrman, '32.

Faculty Adviser — Prof. Lewis E. Theiss

Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

CALENDAR

November 16: 7:30 to 10:30—Delta Delta Delta informal dance in the new dormitory play room.

November 17: 8 to 11:15—Sigma Sigma Delta Informal dance in the new dormitory play room.

8 to 11:15—Delta Sigma college formal.

November 19: 4:00—Mu Phi Epsilon tea recital for patronesses in the School of Music.

8:15—Debate with Oxford in Commencement Hall.

November 22: 3 to 5—Sigma Sigma Delta tea for patronesses in the new dormitory.

November 22: 8:00—The Artist Course presents Bernard Ocko, violinist, in the Baptist church.

A WELCOME TO OXFORD!

It is with warm pleasure that we are able to announce that this week's guests of Bucknell, the three intellectual knights errant from Oxford, will arrive in Lewisburg on Sunday evening, for a two day's visit on the campus. Their presence will be most agreeable to the Bucknell students—especially so to the ones who remember the genial personalities of those accomplished gentlemen who came to the University during the past two years as members of the Oxford and the British Union teams.

A true tilt of ideas and wit is prepared for Monday evening at Commencement Hall. And if we may judge from the experiences of the former occasions, there will be no small nor indifferent audience to enjoy it. Debating has developed to so brilliant a height during the almost undefeated seasons of recent years, that with the extra stimulus furnished by the quality of our opponents, this affair will be disappointing indeed if it does not pack the hall to its doors.

To all Bucknellians, then, we offer high congratulations upon their good fortune in being able to attend this debate; to the members of the Bucknell squad and to their able coach, Professor William H. Coleman, we present felicitations upon their personal achievements and upon the quality of the opposition which they have secured in these men of Oxford; and to the Oxford visitors, themselves, we offer the heartiest and most hospitable welcome that Bucknell can give.

ARE THE ENGLISH DEPARTMENTS FULL OF MOSS-BACKS?

"The great American public has a lower literary I. Q. than that of any other nation," says the Penn State Collegian, speaking editorially in a recent issue. "To be more explicit, the inhabitants of this land of prohibition and freedom buy fewer books per capita than those of any other civilized country. It must be so. Recently compiled statistics prove it.

"To what, we ask ourselves, is this popular distaste for the fruits of the pen due? The writer of a recent magazine article lays the lion's share of the blame upon the shoulders of college professors of English and their methods.

"Among the red-letter sins of pedagogy are the attempt to reduce the art of literature to a mechanical science with the aid of historical sequences, dates, schools, sources, periods, statistical analyses and whatnot; the childish habit of dissecting a fine piece of literature in order to show the class what it is made of, and the obsession that whatever is obscure and symbolic is a stroke of genius and therefore deserves very careful study.

"The sad part of it is that, generally speaking, the student is forced to admit that there is a whole granary of truth in these radical assertions. Perhaps even some of the English professors themselves are forced to agree."

To these observations of the Collegian we nod our head sadly. The situation is stated exactly as far as the American book-buying habits are concerned. We are not so ready, however, to accept unconditionally the article's diagnosis of the cause for this condition. Yet there is a strong odor of truth in it. At Bucknell, two groups of English literature courses are largely attended. The first of these is composed of specialized studies such as Chaucer and Shakespeare, which are compulsory for students majoring in the department. The latter are apt, in general practice, to regard these requirements as unavoidable evils. The second group is made up of such courses as the survey of American literature, which is being given this semester. These are optional for the student, and, if anything, are looked upon by the powers in the English faculty as much the less important part of the department's work. Yet they are always crowded with students. Undoubtedly these interested persons consider it more important to their general culture, for purposes of reading and conversation, that they have a superficial acquaintance with the whole field of their native literature than that they acquire the most specialized knowledge of Anglo-Saxon philology or the ability to classify the verbs in Chaucer's Middle English.

Much the same thing could be said of the study of composition. The attention in these courses is usually concentrated to an unnecessary degree upon the technical strategy of writing, while the professional writer, although he may know the devices perfectly, probably never allows them a moment's consideration in his conscious work. If Milton had given rational attention to all the countless technical manoeuvers used in his versification (supposing this were even possible), we would not wonder that he became blind,—we would marvel, rather, that he did not become insane.

But the blame for the dimness of America's literary lamp can hardly be laid entirely upon the departments of English in our colleges. Only two per cent. of the people of the United States attend institutions for higher education. And not all of these study English to any extent. Would, then, our "writer of a recent magazine article" hold that the English instructors, by making two per cent. of the population unfitted for the appreciation of poetry and prose, honeycomb the entire public—presumably by sending out the ruined two per cent. as missionaries of Philistinism? Would he suggest as a program of definite action that the English department be abolished—or perhaps that colleges be done away with entirely—as a move toward the larger propogation of culture?

Our country's lack of enthusiasm for "the better things" is deplorable. The annual consumption of worthwhile books in Germany, for example, compared with that of the leading nation of the Western Hemisphere, makes America look as if it were quite devitalized by the ravages of an intellectual anemia. Very likely this condition is due partly to stale and inadequate methods in teaching college English, or to too much absorbtion in scholarship upon the part of professors of the subject. Yet we are the victim of a tragic doubt, whether, even though the Collegian and the Bucknellian join hands in agitating the matter, any drastic revision is likely soon to be evident in the English departments of our colleges.

BUCKNELL IN BRAZIL?

According to an ambitious announcement made this week by a committee of members of the various religious organizations on the campus, appeals are shortly to be made for personal contributions from individuals at Bucknell. The funds thus raised will be used to promote a "Bucknell Foreign Mission Project in Brazil." The Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., and other religious groups, are pushing this matter with large hopes for student support. We are wondering how fully these hopes will be realized.

Any project of this kind, in order to have any significance at all, would have to be supported to the extent of several thousand dollars, at the least. And a sum of money of this size should not be spent without careful thought. Furthermore, the proposal is admittedly a matter of foreign missions. Many students may object to supporting this, on the ground that they are already supporting similar projects to their full power. Again, the Brazilian school which is mentioned is a Baptist one. There are undoubtedly many persons at Bucknell who would prefer to spend their money for missions through the channels provided by their own denominations and churches. It might also be objected that Bucknell, itself, could make good use, in any one of countless ways, of any money which its students feel inclined to part with for charitable purposes.

That the project, itself, is worthy, can not be denied. The Bucknellian, therefore, is not going to offer any opinion on the matter at so early a time as the present one. Its good wishes are with this attempt of the religious organizations, but it cannot refrain from pointing out certain weaknesses in the situation, which may in the end prove to be fatal ones. One of the things it deprecates is the haste with which this proposal is, to all external appearances, being thrust upon the student body. Let us weigh this matter carefully before we take action on it.

The Bucknellian congratulates the management of the Bucknell University Entertainment Course upon its success in securing as the initial performer in this year's Artist Course such an able performer as Bernard Ocko. Some account of his work and accomplishments appears in another page of this issue, and nothing need be said here concerning the performer.

What this newspaper is more concerned about is the student body. Bucknell students too often grumble about things they do not like or fancy they will not like. They do nothing to remedy conditions. A full attendance at entertainments is the best way to get better ones.

The Church Is Vital, Says Heather In C. E.

"Don't tell a man not to drink, but buddy around with him and he won't have time to drink," said Fred Heather in speaking to the Baptist C. E. on Sunday, November 11, on "My Church in the Coal Regions."

Interest in the individual and interest in the town and its progress were cited by the student minister of the Brady Methodist Church as fundamental steps in obtaining the right spirit. "If you drive a nail for the town's advancement, they like it."

Regarding churches in general Fred Heather emphasized the necessity of a church to the community, the value of true worship, and the advantage of architecturally beautiful churches.

3 GETTYSBURG STUDENTS INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Three students at Gettysburg College were injured, two seriously, when the automobile in which they were going to the football game between Dickinson and Gettysburg at Harrisburg, left the road and upset, fourteen miles north of Gettysburg, Saturday, November 3. Those seriously hurt are Miss Caroline Harmon, of Hazleton, and Godfrey Loveland, of Scranton. Both suffered fractured hips and probable internal injuries. Miss Mary Martin, of Gettysburg, driver of the car, was less seriously hurt. All are in the Warner hospital at Gettysburg.

According to a State highway patrolman, the steering gear of the machine broke while the car was traveling at fairly high speed.

Yale and Harvard Hold First Competitive Exam.

The college intelligentsia simply will not be suppressed! From an exchange note we learn that Yale and Harvard staged the first scholastic contest over examination papers ever arranged by American colleges.

Each institution was represented by a team of ten men, who took an examination in English Literature. The affair was staged in the respective classrooms of the two universities. The income of $125,000 presented by Mrs. W. L. Putnam was the prize for the winning university.

The Value of a Good Example

Of course after all the colleges and universities throughout the land held straw votes and elected Herbert Hoover president, there was nothing left for the majority of citizens to do except vote likewise.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

The Orpheum

Friday, November 16—
"BABY CYCLONE"
All Star Cast
Comedy—Sacred Lilly

Saturday, November 17—
CONRAD NAGEL and MYRNA LOY in their great success
"STATE STREET SADIE"
Charley Chase Comedy—All Parts

Monday and Tuesday, November 19-20—
MARION DAVIES in her Big Special
"CARD BOARD LOVER"
This is one of the Season's Best.

Wednesday and Thursday, November 21-22—
DOROTHY MACKAILL, RALPH FORBES, and ANNA Q. NILLSON in "THE WHIP"
A Great Racing Drama.
No Admission Increase.

FRIAR FROLIC
All-College Dance
IN
Tustin Gym on Nov. 24

Music by Eddie Hoffman and His Incomparable Band
Tickets May be Had From the Men in the Grey Hats
eight till twelve
Subscription - - $1.50

Grace Pheifer Tells Of Porto Rican Storm

Conditions in Porto Rico resulting from the terrific cyclone which struck the small island with full force the past November 13 have not yet been entirely relieved and according to the letter of a former Bucknellian there is still great need for aid.

Grace Pheifer, '27, who is now a teacher at Barranquitas, has written a vivid letter telling of the devastated countryside and the real need for assistance. Grace's letter reads,—"Although the Red Cross is doing its very best to relieve conditions, yet with a million and more people to take care of, you can just guess that such a 'family' will keep them busy for a while. Since the cyclone, a few of our boys and girls have been unable to return to school because of lack of clothing and the wherewithal to continue their education."

It is at this point that the writer appeals to the Y. W. C. A. and to the Y. M. C. A. to consider adopting a girl and boy who would otherwise be unable to finish this year of school. The Y. W. C. A. has already taken little Franissa in as one of the family. The men's association is going to take similar action concerning Jose. These two pupils at the Baptist Mission High School at Barranquitas are, of the eight forced to drop out of school, the brightest and most able. The hurricane, depriving these families of all of their possessions, has brought about this plea.

Though only small amounts of money were necessary to assure these two students of a successful school year, there are many other ways and uses for any other individual or group aid. The conditions of homes, school buildings, food, and shelter for the natives, and school supplies could be greatly improved. For the work of education there are just three rooms and four teachers. Grace tells of the difficulty of using warped blackboards and books which suffered from severe drenching. The results of the educational program are not slim. The boys and girls are eager and quick to learn. They are anxious to collect when it comes to organizing a zoo, and are anything but backward in really preparing the entire lesson. Miss Pheifer tells of her dismay as one boy recited the whole history lesson when she asked him a question.

It is not unusual for us to have Bucknellians in Porto Rico. In a similar position Eleanor Ballentine, '27, spent last year at Barranquitas. Miss Pheifer is greatly pleased over the progress that is being made though the recent storm means a considerable set-back. She concludes her letter,—"Porto Rico was a beautiful bit of fairyland before the cyclone cut it into a veritable scrap heap. Now, with the graceful palms resembling toothpicks, the banana trees struggling for their last breaths, the coffee trees flat on their backs, and the native homes reduced to splinters, this little land of dreams looks just a bit demon-nossessed."

Rev. R. M. West Tells Students of Geneva

"Geneva is a famous city to which many important events have traveled in order to happen," said Rev. R. M. West, pastor of the Lewisburg Baptist church in his talk to the students in upper-class chapel, Tuesday morning, November 13.

"Of all the significant events that have occurred there, the League of Nations is probably the outstanding one," said Rev. West. "The International Labor Federation and the Permanent Court of International Justice are two organizations that have evolved from the League.

"Civilization is making a march, of which, unfortunately, the whole world is not aware. Although the United States is not a member of the League of Nations, in 1928 this country had representatives on 20 different committees and commissions in the League. Thirty-seven representatives were sent officially by our Department of State. The League has been functioning for 10 years and is producing results.

"The Paris Pact would have had no chance for life if the League of Nations had not already created the proper sentiment in the great countries of the world."

Plant Speaks At Milton

John Plant, basketball coach and director of physical education for men at Bucknell, was the principal speaker at a monster pep meeting staged at Milton High School, Friday evening, November 9.

Coach Plant is a great favorite with high school students in this section of the state and is much in demand as a speaker at pep meetings.

Delaware University Gets Pep in Tank Cars

In preparation for a monster pep meeting before the big football game with Swarthmore, students at the University of Delaware ordered a tank car of cider with enough pretzels to absorb it. It would be interesting, from a psychological standpoint, of course, to know whether students, filled with pretzels that have been well moistened with cider, cheer more effectively than those who are filled with no other spirit than the usual college one.

HONORARY MATH FRAT. TAKES IN 20 MEMBERS

A banquet at Hopp Inn, Mifflinburg, followed Pi Mu Epsilon's annual initiation of new members, last Thursday evening, November 8. Professor C. H. Richardson was the principal speaker of the evening.

Two members of the faculty were among the students elected to the honorary mathematics society. They are: J. Fred Farnsworth, '27, and John E. Harkless, '29.

The following juniors were initiated: Robert B. Albright, Harold R. Baker, Ottwill I. Benson, Dorothy E. Bloom, Mary K. Browne, Phoebe C. Evans, Virginia Hall, Fordyce G. Hauber, Esther S. Keim, Frederick E. Lehman, Edgar C. Metcalf, John C. Pyle, Etta Fern Reno, Helen M. Ritter, Jessie L. Soars, Sarah E. Throne, Welland B. Wadsworth, and Iva Ruth Wiggins.

BOWER HOUSE IS SCENE OF "WARMING-UP" TEA

Bower house, home of faculty women, was the scene of a "warming up" tea after the Lehigh football game when Miss Alma Ebeling and Miss Majel Brooks entertained for their week-end guests.

The tea was in honor of Miss Claire Gift, '28, of Bloomsburg and Miss Beatrice Hadman, of the Wilson College faculty. Those present were: Misses Inez Robison, Campbell, Charlotte Degen, Jean Wood, Helen Jones, Jessie Fielding, and the women of the faculty. Mrs. Manning presided at the tea table.

"Jew or Gentile, Barbarian, Scythian, Bond or Free"

The College Inn welcomes with a democratic spirit all members of the Bucknell family. Character and conduct is the only criterion which determines the degree of your welcome here, and not race, color or religion. A crook is a crook to us whether of distinguished or ignominious parents, and one who never needs watching is a delight indeed, whether his ancestors came over in the Mayflower or in a more recent emigrant ship. We acknowledge with pleasure the rising standard of ethics of the student body, especially noticeable among the athletic students.

"On the Quadrangle"
Payne, '09.

ANNOUNCING
THE OUTSTANDING
SOCIAL EVENT
OF THE YEAR
The Junior Prom
JANUARY 4, 1929
$5.00
Tickets May be Secured from the Committee

Frat. Footballers to Fight For Ninety-nine Years

Two fraternities at the University of Florida have agreed to the longest football contract in existence. They are to stage an annual gridiron battle for the next 99 years.—Exchange.

What a grudge those two fraternities must have against each other! It scarcely seems sporting of them, though, to direct the activities of the next generation in this way.

PHI MU ALPHA PLANS A SCHUBERT PROGRAM

Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia, encouraged by the success of the French concert given on November 2, will hold a Schubert concert on Sunday afternoon, November 18, at 4 p. m., in the organ room in Larison Hall.

All compositions rendered in this concert will be works of the Austrian composer, Franz Schubert, whose birthday the concert will commemorate. Many well known songs and instrumental numbers are certain to be heard at this concert. All members of the faculty, Mu Phi Epsilon, Phi Mu Alpha, and their guests are cordially invited to attend.

Bucknell's Brilliant Band Makes a Hit in Sunbury

The Bucknell Band proved to be one of the outstanding features of the Armistice Day parade in Sunbury, Monday afternoon, November 11.

The boys in blue and white created such a favorable impression that the $50 prize for the best-appearing organization in the parade would have been awarded to the Bucknell musicians if they had been playing in a volunteer capacity.

An interesting statistical feature of the event was the fact that the father and two brothers of the Bucknell Band leader, Ed. Calhoun, directed bands in the same parade.

Twenty-two cents is the average amount that a Boston University student carries with him. One wealthy student had $1.67, while several had no money at all.—Exchange.

To Change Selection Of Rhodes Scholars

The method of choosing Rhodes scholars in the United States will be radically changed before next year's competition unless unexpected opposition develops in the British Parliament.

Cecil Rhodes left a will providing for scholarships to Oxford from the British Dominions, Germany, and the United States. The German scholarships were taken away during the World War and given to unrepresented British Dominions. The United States was awarded 96 scholarships each year, with the provision that no state should have more than two scholars at the same time. Most men keep their scholarships for three years. This results in making it possible for each state to send a Rhodes scholar for only two out of three years. All states are on the same basis, whether large or small and whether they have three or thirty colleges within their borders.

The proposed plan will remedy these defects. The country, under the new plan, will be divided into eight districts, based on both the population and the number of college students. Each district will send four men every year. Candidates will first appear before the state board, as at present, but this body will merely recommend one or two men to the regional committee. This committee in every case will make the final decision. Thus each state will have a chance to be represented every year, and in exceptional cases will be able to shed two men in the same year.

The new plan has been recommended by all of the great educational bodies of the United States, by an overwhelming majority of the Rhodes scholars now in the country, and has been accepted by the Rhodes trustees. But before it can be put into practice, it will be necessary to break Mr. Rhodes' will. This can be done only by act of the British Parliament. A bill to this effect is now pending. As no opposition has been shown to it, all expectations are that it will be passed in the near future. Unless this is done at once, there will be no competition next year in Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey, whence the majority of Bucknell students come.

MAL HALLETT'S
ORCHESTRA
WEST SIDE PARK, BERWICK
Wednesday, November 21
DANCING 9:00 to 1:00

HERE'S AN IDEA

Perhaps you have been wondering what there is about Montgomery's shop that is arousing so much favorable comment.

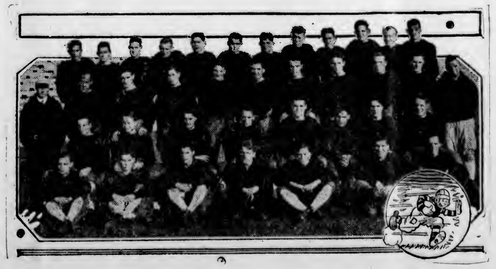
Here is a good way to find out for yourself. We are willing to have you base your opinion of us on our Haberdashery.

For a nominal investment you can discover what Montgomery's style, quality and service really is.

MONTGOMERY'S
OF BUCKNELL

Get a Christmas Present NOW

Send The Bucknellian
To Your Classmate Friend
$1.50 $1.50



Let Him Know About the Team

BUCKNELL SPORTING EVENTS

SOPHS DOWN FROSH IN ANNUAL CLASS FOOTBALL CONTEST

Second-year Men's Victory Ends String of Scoreless Games; Boston and Egel Star

Led by its valiant captain and deadly line plunger, Cleon Boston, the high-powered sophomore football team rode doughshod over the freshmen eleven last Saturday morning on North Field, amassing a total of three touchdowns while holding the yearlings scoreless.

The contest was played before an enthusiastic crowd of University rooters. While the game was in progress a bitter north wind swept over the playing field.

The freshmen led by Johnnie Hatton, revealed some offensive prowess early in the game when they carried the ball down to the soph's ten-yard line. Here the second-year men held for downs and came into possession of the ball. On two plays Cleon Boston carried the ball for 75 yards and a touchdown. Aided by splendid interference given him by "Norm" Egel, Boston carried the ball on his first attempt for a total gain of 60 yards. On the next play he crashed through the center of the line for a score. "Red" Shourds, the Trenton kicker, booted the extra point that gave the winners a lead of 7-0.

Boston Stars For Winners

After the next kickoff a whistle blew indicating the end of the first half. In the second half the second-year men registered two more touchdowns, one each in the third and fourth periods. Boston again proved a thorn in the freshmen's side, as none of the first year men was physically able to stop him. Time and again Boston plowed through a weak enemy line for substantial gains.

Just before the third period ended, Boston and Egel began a forceful drive down the field that eventually culminated in a score. On a delayed line buck Boston received the pigskin on the enemy 25-yard line and mowed all opposition down until he had crossed the last white chalk mark for another tally. Merrill Shourds again booted the extra point and then retired from the game in favor of Harold Dayton of Plainfield, N. J.

Another Jersey youth was sent into the game by manager Klosterman of the sophs late in the final quarter. "Phil" Weinstein of Newark, N. J., supplanted "Bob" Thompson of Ridgewood, N. J. at the center post.

While in the game Thompson was a defensive terror. He was the tackling star of the game. He roamed all over the field and aided materially in the scores made by his team by opening large holes in the line.

Egel Scores Third Touchdown

"Norm" Egel, another Plainfield boy, chalked up the third sophomore touchdown of the game on an end run in which he was given airtight interference. A few minutes later, when the final whistle blew, the sophomores were in front 20-0.

The sophomores victory over the freshmen last Saturday is the first registered by the second-year men in more than five years. During the past four years the annual tilt has always ended in a 0-0 tie.

The line-up:

Freshmen		Sophomores
Dutchak	L. E.	Varner
Glazier	L. T.	Haefle
Peterson	L. G.	Meadowcroft
Long	C.	Thompson
Isenberg	R. G.	Genne
Watson	R. T.	Simpson
Feldman	R. E.	Smalstig
Wetzel	Q. B.	Boston
Hatton	R. H. B.	Vogt
Logan	L. H. B.	Shourds
Ellenberger	F. B.	Egel

Score by periods:

Freshmen	0	0	0	0	0
Sophomores	0	7	7	6	20

Touchdowns—Boston (2), Egel (1). Point after touchdown—Shourds (placement kick) (2).

Substitutions: Freshmen—Mills for Wetzel; Shaw for Peterson; Dunfree for Shaw; Applebee for Watson; Fischer for Peterson. Sophomores—Weinstein for Thompson; Dayton for Shourds. Referee—Trimmer. Umpire—Hitchens. Timer—Hambacker. Head Linesman—Loper.

The north wind doth blow,
And we shall have snow,
And what will Bucknellians do then?
Poor things!
They'll run up the hill,
Their poor heads to fill,
And stay 'till the final bell rings,
Poor things!

BISONS HAVE EDGE ON W. & J. TEAM FOR COMING GAME

Ellor Will Be Back In Line-up As Snavelymen Plan to Avenge Defeats of Past Years

The Bucknell football team, fresh from an overwhelming victory over Lehigh, started intensive workouts and drills early this week in preparation for the Washington and Jefferson contest that will be staged at Johnstown on Saturday.

Coach Snavely was particularly pleased with the work of his cohorts in the Lehigh game and looks for a victory over W. and J. This week drills will be limited mostly to signal practice, with an occasional scrimmage session with the freshmen.

For the first time this fall, the Bucknell team emerged from a game without injuries. Even Captain Halicki, who plays with a broken nose, managed to escape further aggravation of his injury.

The W. and J.-Bucknell game will be staged in Johnstown this fall in order to accommodate a capacity crowd that is expected to attend. Everything will be in readiness on Saturday at the "flood city" to welcome hosts of supporters from both institutions.

Despite their blemished records both Bucknell and Washington and Jefferson are still football favorites in Pennsylvania. Bucknell will probably enter the tilt favored to win. However, the W. and J. team may surprise and upset the Bisons and in so doing stage a comeback.

Presidents Are Underdogs

So far this fall the Washington and Jefferson season has been a disaster. Despite the Presidents' early season victories over Grove City and Thiel, they have not as yet registered a major victory. The W. and J. troops have lost to Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Duquesne, and Fordham. Like Bucknell, they were held to a tie by a powerful Lafayette eleven.

The return of Ellor to the Bison lineup will undoubtedly increase Bucknell's chances of winning this game. Ellor has been annoyed by a severe hip injury since the Lafayette game but he is once more fit to play. He performed a while in the Lehigh tussle and did commendable work on the line. Ellor's presence in the line will also supply Coach Snavely with a long distance punter.

The backfield that will probably start against Andy Kerr's men at Johnstown on Saturday will include Captain Halicki, Brumbaugh, Ammerman, and Slate, with "Chuck" Jones and Hambacker in reserve. Hambacker and Jones, both good men, will be inserted in the lineup after the game is under way. Ammerman has been going good of late and Coach Snavely thinks it advisable to retain him in the backfield while he is performing so well.

Bucknell Anxious To Win

Bucknell is anxious to win this game in order to avenge defeats sustained at the hands of W. and J. during the past two years. In 1926, in a game that was played at Washington, the Kerrmen hung up a 16-2 victory. Last fall, at the Memorial Stadium, before a large Home-coming crowd, Captain Amos led his men to a 19-3 triumph over a high powered Bucknell machine. Captain Halicki drew first blood in this battle when he booted a 33-yard field goal early in the first quarter.

Coach Snavely will prime his men for this game as he did for the Penn State tilt. Every man is expected to be available for duty when that whistle blows at Johnstown on Saturday.

Here's The Inquirer's All-American Selection

The Philadelphia Inquirer respectfully submits the following list of players as its selection for an "All-American" team: Truskowski, Michigan, left end; Timlinsky, N. Y. U., left tackle; Zorella, Penn State, left guard; Capello, Temple, centre; Robinski, Lafayette, right guard; Bialoskorski, Johns Hopkins, right tackle; Guarino, Pitt, right end; Cariedo, Notre Dame, quarterback; Niemiec, Notre Dame, left halfback; Gunrannacia, Harvard, right halfback; Stanczyk, Columbia, fullback.

Then the Inquirer pertinently makes the query: Can you imagine what would happen when Gunrannacia throws a forward pass to Bialoskorski with Timlinsky and Truskowski interfering for him? And our plain John Smith, of Penn, is supposed to break up that play.

Punts and Passes

Last Saturday was one of the red letter days of the college year at Bucknell. In the morning the annual freshman-sophomore grid tussle took place, in the afternoon Bucknell locked horns with Lehigh, while in the evening the Belle Hop dance was staged at the Tustin Gym.

—C—

Bucknell again returned to the winning column. Against Lehigh, the Bisons turned in a neat 40-0 runaway. Captain Halicki's men made no attempt to run up a greater score but indications are that if the first team had remained in action during the entire game Lehigh would have received its most terrific trouncing of the year. Harvard and Princeton turned the trick of beating Lehigh and then Bucknell duplicated the feat. Schedule makers at Lehigh in the near future should be cautious in booking such tough foes as the three teams already named.

—O—

The Lehigh engagement was a long drawn out affair, and the issue was never in doubt for the Bisons. However, one great play supplied the Bucknell fans with a thrill. In the fourth period Ammerman standing on his own 40-yard mark hurled a beautiful well-directed forward pass to Brumbaugh, that sailed through the air at least 45 yards. "Lightning" Brumbaugh, the Bucknell speed merchant caught up with the sailing pigskin, gathered it in, and managed to drag himself and two tacklers who were on his neck when he caught the ball over the line for a touchdown. Credit is due to both Ammerman and Brumbaugh, the former executed a perfect heave while the latter made an amazing catch and topped this off with a run for a score.

—O—

Ammerman is no novice in the game. He has been associated with gridiron activities for more than five years. At Tyrone High School he was a fast-stepping halfback. He was fast, elusive, and dashing. He could kick, pass, or run with the ball. At the New York Military Academy Ammerman played football for a two-year period. He was the mainstay of the backfield. Last fall he entered Bucknell and made good from the start. He was shifted to end and he took to his position like a duck to the water. Now he is a regular in the Bison backfield.

—O—

Bollinger was in the limelight again on Saturday. It is exceptionally hard to keep a good man like Bollinger out of public view. He is a hard working individual who is a bulwark on the Bucknell line. Last Saturday Bollinger treated the fans to an exceptional play when he intercepted a pass after it had been juggled by several Lehigh players. Confident that he at last had possession of the elusive ball, Bollinger started down the field for a touchdown. He shook off one or two would-be tacklers but then was forced to surrender when a flock of enemy players floored him.

—O—

Not to be outdone, "Pottville" Jones who has been eluding the public eye of late by deceptive moves, again stepped to the fore and amazed the spectators with a pretty exhibition of broken field running. It happened this way. Lehigh kicked off to Bucknell in the second half. "Pottsville" caught the ball in true baseball style and ran toward the enemy goal line. He managed to sidestep two enemy tacklers but he could not avoid the third, who brought him to the turf.

—O—

"The Fighting Parson" is a good nickname to bestow on Cleon Boston, the sophomore's classy line plunger. Boston was the outstanding star of the fresh-soph tilt last Saturday, exhibiting rare ability as a line crasher. As quarterback, Boston directed his team to a well-earned victory, which is the first sophomore triumph over the freshmen in ten years.

Pi Phi Defeats K. D. In Hockey Contest

The second game of the inter-sorority hockey matches sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association went to the Pi Beta Phi team which scored a 4-0 victory over the Kappa Delta representatives.

General practice sessions have been held by the Athletic Association, as a result of which the non-fraternity group has developed a team which threatens to hold its own in the coming contests, and provide keen opposition to other groups.

Football Stars Win $10,000 Each For Their Alma Maters

The average football player in larger universities brings $10,000 to his school through gate receipts and endowments, but gets nothing in return but cracked ribs and mean looks from stern professors for failing in his studies, James Weber Linn, professor of English at the University of Chicago, said yesterday in speaking before a group of football enthusiasts.

"Many of the big universities clear $200,000 a year in their football season," he said. "That's $600,000 for the players' three years of eligibility. Divide that by a squad of sixty men and it means each player has paid $10,000 each in the gate receipts alone. What does he get in return? Only the opportunity to sweat blood and crack ribs on the field and try to keep up with his studies. Why, he ought to have the best special attention obtainable."

—Newark Evening News.

Unheralded and unannounced, James H. M. Konkle stepped into the Lehigh-Bucknell tilt as a mere recruit but emerged from that battle as a hero. He accounted for Bucknell's sixth score. Late in the game he outgeneraled the enemy defense by pulling a trick play that resulted in a tally. He directed his interference to travel around right end while he circled left end unmolested for a 20-yard gain and a touchdown. Such a bit of generalship deserves recognition. The Newark youth outmanoeuvered the Lehigh forces. He pulled the unexpected and got away with it.

—O—

President McCracken, of Vassar, said, in a speech on college spirit, that the mass of students are constantly wavering between the two extremes of sentimentalism and sophistication. The former, he defines as emotion gone mad, the latter as form without thought.—Exchange.

College and Fraternity PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers. Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

BROWN'S Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

The lecture for today is on life insurance.
It consists of two words:—
John Hancock
Class Dismissed!
John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN ART?
STUDIO CLASSES IN
Painting, Oil, Water Color and Pastel. Crafts for Gifts and the home. Commercial Art of N. Y. S.
MRS. JOHN D. PLANT, 337 S. 6th St.

A Strange Jinx Pursues Ellor

By "MAC" McELIGOT

Bucknell University football followers are now thoroughly convinced that Albert "Hod" Ellor of Bloomfield, N. J., is a victim of an unknown jinx.

The source of trouble dates back to the time when Ellor was a freshman at Bucknell. After successfully rounding out four years of athletics at Bloomfield, where he was an all-around star, Ellor matriculated at Bucknell. He easily qualified for a berth on the yearling eleven, and was assigned to cover the fullback post. He ran wild against all opposition and became highest point scorer on the freshman team. Then suddenly something happened that impeded his progress.

Ellor's First Injury

Late in November of 1926 the Bucknell freshmen were scheduled to play Bellefonte Academy in a preliminary game to the Bucknell-Lehigh contest. These two engagements were the feature attractions of the annual Home-coming Day at Bucknell. Fifteen thousand fans were in the Memorial Stadium when the Bison freshmen lined up against a formidable Bellefonte Academy eleven.

Bucknell kicked off the ball. The two teams lined up. The signals were snapped and both teams surged forward. The man with the ball was tackled before he reached the line of scrimmage. One by one the players arose to their feet. A motionless body lay on the turf. A doctor was summoned and hasty medical treatment was given the unfortunate victim. In fact, it was necessary to carry the injured man off the field.

Bert Ellor, the yearlings' most consistent star and ground gainer, was through with football for the year. He sustained a serious hip injury and it took several weeks before Ellor regained full use of his hip.

A year passed. Home-coming Day was again a feature at Bucknell. Late in November 1927, Bucknell lined up against W. and J. reputed to be one of the strongest teams in the East. This time Ellor, the unfortunate freshman victim, was on the varsity. Upon his efforts that day would largely depend a Bucknell victory.

History Repeats

The Bucknell team kicked off, and a W. and J. runner was downed in midfield. The two teams lined up for the first scrimmage and the ball was snapped back to Bill Amos, captain of the undefeated W. and J. outfit. Amos drove toward the center of the line and gained about five yards before he was downed.

A tangled mass of players sprawled out on the turf. Every man arose but Ellor. The fans in the Bucknell stands shivered. Ellor did not get up nor was he able to rise again for a week.

The college physician disclosed the injury as a recurrence of the one he suffered when a freshman. The giant guard was carried off the field.

Another year passed. On October 20, Bucknell played Lafayette at the Memorial Stadium. Once more it was home-coming day and 17,000 fans were in the stadium. Before the game Ellor was in the dressing room joshing with his teammates, fully confident that he had at last shaken off the jinx.

Bucknell again kicked off and a fleet-footed Maroon back carried the ball to midfield before he was downed. The two gridiron machines lined up and started active playing. Chimenti, a Clifton, N. J., youth in the Maroon backfield received the ball and ploughed through the line. He was tackled by Ellor and Mitchell of Bucknell with only a two-yard gain.

Jinx Again Prevails

Mitchell arose to his feet and rejoined his mates, but not so with Ellor. For the third time in three years Ellor was injured in the home-coming day game in the very first play of the contest. Immediate examination of Ellor's condition convinced Coach Snavely that his star guard would not be able to play again that day and perhaps at least for a week or ten days. He had sustained the hip injury that had incapacitated him the two previous years.

This time Ellor walked off the field He was given a mighty ovation by the Bucknell students as he made his way to the dressing room. His head was bowed as he left the field. There were tears in his eyes. Again he was the victim of misfortune.

Ellor played for a time against Villanova, and now the Bisons have hope.—New York World.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

For
Christian Education
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
For catalog, book of views, or information,
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE THREE)

In an earnest conversation with a fellow active "Lew" is said to have stated that it requires four years to teach any freshman something.

Among the boys who went home after the game last Saturday were: "Gene" Mirarchi, '29, of Kulpmont, Rom Nayfield, '32, of Mount Carmel, "Steve" Trudnak, '32, of Shickshinny, E. Spadafore, '32, and "Slim" Mezza, '32, of Rome, N. Y.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Karl G. Albig, '29

Brother "Spike" Hansal spent the week-end in Williamsport.

Pledge brother George Garigan entertained his parents at the house over the week-end.

Brother Cliff Dram, ex-'28, visited the boys Thursday evening.

Brother Marlin Steese and Mrs. Steese were guests at the house for Sunday dinner.

Professor O. W. Elsbree and Mrs. Elsbree were guests on Sunday.

Brothers Byron Burdic and "Ed" Glover are leaving for Mansfield, Friday.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair L. Hazen

Through the efforts of brother "Art" Stutzman and the boys, the house is now enjoying excellent water pressure. After the boys dug the ditch, the water company laid larger pipe from the main to the house, hence the extraordinary pressure.

Many of the boys visited Epsilon chapter at Susquehanna on Saturday night that they might enjoy the dance held by that chapter.

A few of the boys also accepted Alpha chapter's invitation and made the trip to State College to attend the house party.

The furry folk in the Fourteen-Mile Narrows vicinity are now fewer by at least four rabbits, a red squirrel, and a ring-neck pheasant, due to the keen eye and steady nerves, plus the good shots of Ernie Englehardt, '28, and "Mickey" Simons, '30, who invaded the peace and tranquility of the woods on Saturday.

Guy Rousch, '28, paid the boys a visit early in the week when he was on his way to Hazleton to make final arrangements concerning a job with the Pennsylvania Light and Power Company.

The unusual always pops up at the most unexpected time, to wit, "Phil" Sheplar was in town this last week-end.

Mrs. Carpentar was the guest of her son, William K. Miller, Saturday and Sunday.

E. Ray Johnson attended the home-coming game at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College as the guest of Miss Bertine Prosser.

Saturday night a prowler visited the house and carried off the valuables of some of the boys. Christian George Gerken was the principal loser.

Friday night the chapter held the second dance of the year. It was chaperoned by Assistant Prof. and Mrs. G. A. Irland and Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Stewart.

BETA KAPPA
Edgar Lare, '30

Eugene D. Carstater, '26, visited the boys at the house during the week-end.

Thomas Welshans entertained Aubrey Kelly of Beckley College at the house during Sunday.

PI BETA PHI
Rhoda Herr, '29

Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi held an informal tea for its alumnae Thursday afternoon in the suite.

Doris Siner, '29, entertained her cousins, the Misses Katherine Lawser and Evangeline Brown of Philadelphia, over the week-end.

Mary Gross, '31, spent the week-end at State College.

Frances Stringer, '30, and Marie Trunk, '31, were visited by their mothers, Mrs. H. W. Stringer, and Mrs. W. F. Trunk, of Contesville, Pa.

Pi Phi is fortunate in its victory over Kappa Delta in the game of hockey played Tuesday afternoon with the final score of 4-0.

Mary Elizabeth Evans, '29, entertained Mrs. Fred MacDonald of Plainfield, N. J., over the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Jessie R. Fielding, '29

Muriel Hoyle, '31, and "Betty" Fries, '31, are keeping each other company in the women's infirmary. Muriel is being doctored for bronchitis while "Betty" has just contracted a case of grippe.

Tau chapter used election night as an appropriate evening for a formal dinner in honor of Mrs. Byron S. Hollinshead, new Tau patroness, the new pledges, and the new actives at the May-Mar, Tuesday, November sixth. Acceptance speeches were forthcoming from the guests. A vote taken found "Fran" Kernohan, '30, Louise Manley, '32, and "Edo" George, '32, as the most likely orators.

"Yanny" Frank, '28, visited members of the chapter over the week-end. Williamsport is conveniently near for us to see Yolanda quite often.

Charlotte Degen of Duhore was Jessie Fielding's guest over the week-end of November 10.

"Dot" Wilson, '30, "Ginny" Smoot, '30, and "Joe" Schilling, '29, were Penn State house party guests the past week-end.

Ruth McFarland, '29, overcame the handicap of ten miles and visited her family in Watsontown last Sunday.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

The patronesses entertained the actives and pledges at a delightful buffet supper and bridge on November 8 at the home of Mrs. Albert W. Johnson. Prizes were won by Helen Kellogg, '32, Anna Mae Reese, '31, Esther Heritage, '29, "Kay" Grove, '31, and Oella Kisor, '29. "Mid" Walton, '32, received the consolation prize.

Beta Kappa is pleased to announce that Mrs. John H. Eisenhauer has consented to become a patroness of the chapter.

Janice Booker entertained her sister, Margaret, the week-end of November 10.

Mary Bennett went home for a few days during the past week to be bridesmaid at the wedding of a cousin.

Mary Williams spent the week-end of November 10 with "Floss" Utt, '26, at Bloomsburg.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Nan Lee Thomas, '31

Marjorie Jones, '28, of Coudersport, visited us on Saturday, November 10. Marjorie manages to come back to us quite often.

Evelyn Beckworth, '30, entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beckworth, and also her brother, Charles, of East Lansdowne, during the week-end of November 10.

Katherine Heldt, '29, entertained Miss Helen Weidner, of Honeshale, at the suite during the past week.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha of Sigma Sigma Delta is happy to announce the initiation into active membership of "Log" Kessler, '30, Eva Mae Folsom, '31, and Madeline Waldherr, '31.

Founders' Day was celebrated last Sunday, November 11, by both the actives and pledges. A service was held in the suite early in the morning, and the girls wore the flower of Sigma Sigma Delta, the white carnation, the rest of the day.

MU PHI EPSILON
Lillian Mattick, '30

Psi chapter takes great pleasure in announcing the initiation last Tuesday evening, of Ruth Evans, '30, Ann Shulz, '30, and Grace Marsh, '31. These new members were exceptionally honored in that they were the first ones to be initiated on founder's day, November 13. We welcome our sisters into the activities of our chapter.

COLLEGIANA

A recent speaker at the University of Delaware chose as her subject, "The Story of the Moonlight Schools." We thought that everyone, with the exception of perhaps a few freshmen, knew all about "Moonlight Schools." We should have known, though, there are always some students who are "in the dark" about such things!

—X—

When no responses from men to submit to a blood transfusion to aid Frank Gacek were received, a Boston University student, Dora Ginsberg, gave enough of her blood to save the young man's life because she "admired" him.—Exchange.

—X—

Prisoners in the Pennsylvania State Penitentiary are now numbered among the students at Penn State, as the college has offered several four-year courses for their benefit. —Exchange.

—X—

A Los Angeles judge has just ruled that a man's Mother-in-law is one of his relatives. No doubt she is, and almost always on the wife's side. —Detroit News.

"Not a cough in a Film-ful" says Norma Talmadge after the Blindfold Test

"When you see my new United Artists' picture, 'The Woman Disputed,' you will notice that I smoke cigarettes in several scenes.

"Not wanting to show partiality to any one of the four leading brands, I decided to make my choice via the blindfold test, which I had heard of many times. Happily, I picked Old Golds.

"I found them smooth, mild and delightfully cool . . . Hereafter, when I am required to smoke I shall naturally insist on Old Golds. There's not a cough in a film-ful!"

Norma Talmadge

Norma Talmadge . . . celebrated screen star . . . smoking Old Golds in a scene from her latest United Artists' starring vehicle, "The Woman Disputed."

The Incomparable . . . Norma one of the best loved actresses in the history of the screen . . . famous for her roles in "Camille" and "Kiki."

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant . . . that's the reason for their honey-like smoothness . . . and that's why you can pick them with your eyes closed.

SMOOTHER AND BETTER—"NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD"

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

WAINIES

A good shoe to ask for by name—MONTROSS

There is style in the prices, too!
No longer need the well-shod man pay the price of out-of-date production methods.
Inefficiency is outmoded.
Modern methods enable John Ward to lead in quality, in style, yet sell for dollars less!
Buy your next pair here —at seven and nine dollars!
John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
ON DISPLAY AT
MONTGOMERY & CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

B. U. Has No Trouble In Defeating Lehigh

(Continued from Page 1)

the quarterback post. As a signal barker Konkle stood out in the few minutes in which he performed.

Konkle pulled the unexpected on Saturday, when he carried the ball on a trick play from Lehigh's 20-yard line over the Bethlehem goal line for a score. Konkle surprised the enemy defense by rounding right end while his interference was going the other way.

After the first few minutes of play had elapsed it became apparent that the Bucknell team was to receive some consolation for early season defeats sustained at the hands of Gettysburg and Villanova. Coach Snavely sent his strongest team on the field and soon the Bison eleven began to mow down its opponents.

"Tony" Slate tallied the first Bison score early in the first period when he grabbed a forward pass thrown by Brumbaugh and traveled 20 yards for a touchdown. Halicki immediately kicked goal. Brumbaugh received the next kickoff, and the Bucknell team started another march down the field. A long forward pass heaved by Brumbaugh to the fleet-footed Slate resulted in a gain of 50 yards for the Bisons, and brought the ball to the Lehigh 10-yard strip.

Halicki and Brumbaugh Tally

Halicki crashed through center for seven yards and then Brumbaugh crossed the line for a score on an off-tackle play. Captain Halicki kicked goal. Halicki tallied the third Bison touchdown on a line thrust, and kicked goal shortly before the close of the first half.

Coach Snavely sent in his second team when the latter half started, and the Bucknell onslaught continued. Brumbaugh, late in the third period, tallied again on a line plunge, after Ross, Ammerman, Brumbaugh, and Slate had combined efforts in carrying the ball down the field.

Ammerman Heaves A Long One

The thrill of the contest occurred early in the last quarter when the Bucknell team scored its sixth touchdown. After an exchange of punts Bucknell came into possession of the ball on its own 40-yard line. Ammerman hurled a 45-yard forward pass, which Brumbaugh plucked out of the atmosphere on the Lehigh 15-yard line. With two tacklers on his neck, Brumbaugh managed to squirm his way through for a score. Again Halicki kicked goal and then retired for the day.

Near the close of the game Coach Snavely sent in another flock of substitutes that remained in the contest until the game was over. In the closing minutes of play Konkle gave an exhibition of broken-field running when he tallied Bucknell's sixth touchdown of the day.

Slate and Brumbaugh of the Bucknell team were the offensive stars of the day, both men tearing off long gains. Many of Bucknell's touchdowns were won through the efforts of Slate, who converted forward passes into long and substantial gains.

Captain Halicki played a stellar role but did not exert himself as he is saving all his tricks for the Washington and Jefferson tilt which will be played at Johnstown on Saturday.

The line-up:

Bucknell		Lehigh
James	L. E.	Hany
Bollinger	L. T.	Miller
Jones	L. G.	Waldman
Mitchell	C.	Ayres
Mutzel	R. G.	Badgley
Woerner	R. T.	Rohrecht
Lebel	R. E. (c)	Kirkpatrick
Brumbaugh	Q. B.	Johnston
Slate	L. H. B.	Trantum
Hambacker	R. H. B.	Van Blarcom
Halicki (c)	F. B.	Fritts

Score by periods:

Lehigh	0	0	0	0	0
Bucknell	7	14	6	13	40

Touchdowns—Brumbaugh, 3; Slate, Halicki, Konkle. Points after touchdown—Halicki, 4. Substitutions—Bucknell: Jones for Brumbaugh, Ammerman for Hambacker, Kozik for Halicki, Ross for C. Jones, Ellor for Mutzel, Lebel for Wadsworth, Truxell for James, Walls for T. Jones, C. Jones for Slate, Kostos for Mitchell, Miller for Woerner, Erickson for Bollinger, Greet for Kozik, Purdy for Miller, Halicki for Greet, H. Wadsworth for Bollinger, Linkfield for Halicki, Konkle for Woodring, Suppy for Truxell. Lehigh: Elliott for Johnston, Jones for Van Blarcom, Haas for Rohbrecht, Twiggar for Badgley, Johnston for Elliott, Lamb for Fritts, Gadd for Waldman, Ruhon for Hany, Landis for Kirkpatrick, Hansen for Ruhon, Harris for Trantum, Flynn for Johnston, Lehr for Ayres, Badgley for Twiggar, Hall for Landis, Olled for Lamb. Stutz for Lehr. Referee—Price, Swarthmore. Umpire—F. Bennis, Penn. Head linesman—Morgan. Field Judge—Reed, Springfield.

"BUCKNELL IN BRAZIL" IS STUDENT PROJECT

(Continued from Page 1)

the religious groups of the University, appointed a committee to consider how Bucknell might best carry out such a project. In order to interest the faculty in the foreign mission project, Edna Craft, '30, spoke at the faculty meeting a week ago, explaining the students' proposition. Following the faculty approval of the project idea, President Hunt appointed Dr. Norman H. Stewart, chairman and Dean Amelia Clark, Prof. C. R. Johnson, and Prof. C. M. Bond as faculty representatives on the Bucknell project committee.

Bucknellians aim to make the Brazil project a permanent undertaking. The project is not sponsored by any one particular organization, but rather will be a University project.

The Reno school was selected in view of its great need. Mr. Reno, a graduate of Bucknell, is well-known among the students. One of his daughters, Margarida, sails in the near future for Victoria, where she will work in the American Baptist School without compensation.

The campaign will be run during the week of December 3, it was announced at the faculty-student meeting. Charles Mohr, '30, chairman of the committee on speakers, has submitted a tentative list of speakers which includes, Arthur Rugh, Harold Ingalls, L. C. Wilson, and Dr. Harvey, a Bucknell graduate.

DEBATE WITH OXFORD TO DRAW LARGE CROWD

(Continued from Page 1)

formance. These "extra-curricular" activities did not, however, prevent him making an enviable record in scholarship at the University.

Dingle M. Foot has been president of the Oxford Liberal Club during the past year, and is at present a prospective Liberal candidate for Parliament for the Tiverton division of Devonshire. He is also a member of Balliol College. The debater's father, Mr. Isaac Foot, is a member of Parliament. He has sat in three sessions of the House of Commons.

Alan T. Lennox-Boyd comes of a long line of brilliant ancestors. He traces in his history events such as the heroism for Scotland of a contemporary of Wallace, Bruce, and the Young Pretender, and the execution in the Tower of London of Lord Boyd, captured while in the service of Prince Charles. Mr. Lennox-Boyd has been president of the Conservative Association at Oxford.

These men will be opposed by a strong team of Bucknell debaters. The case for the local University will be secure in the hands of these experienced orators. Clyde L. Bailey, '29, is president of the Phi Lambda Theta fraternity, and the Pi Delta Omicron, legal fraternity. He is a clever speaker and can be counted upon to uphold the traditions of Bucknell's debating teams of the past.

James Williams, '29, is a member of Kappa Sigma, the Druids honorary fraternity, and Tau Kappa Alpha debating fraternity. He has argued the question for this debate during a year of intercollegiate debating as a freshman.

Alfred Rawlinson, '29, is a member of Alpha Chi Mu, and is president of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity, and Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity. He is also president of the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating League, and is in his second year as a Bucknell debator.

Oxford, by preference, will argue the affirmative of the question: Resolved—that the United States should enter the League of Nations.

Dean Clark Entertains Patronesses at Tea

One of the most delightful fall social events took place Monday afternoon, November 12, when Dean Amelia E. Clark and her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth G. Clark, received the patronesses of the women's fraternities at a tea in the spacious living rooms of the new dormitory. About 175 guests, members of the faculty, and women of the town, attended the affair. Others present were members of each of the eight fraternities.

Dean and Mrs. Clark were at home to their guests in the large living room which was decorated with lavender and yellow chrysanthemums. Warm lights and soft music added to the congeniality and informality of the occasion. In one of the smaller living rooms was the tea table, decorated with pink candles set in a crystal cantelebra and bowls of pink roses and snap dragons. It was presided over by Mrs. Emory W. Hunt and Mrs. Romelyn H. Rivenburg. Women of the college served the refreshments.

Faculty Investigates Swarthmore System

Five members of the Bucknell faculty motored to Swarthmore on Monday where they visited Swarthmore's honor seminars and thoroughly investigated the system of instruction practiced at that college. Members of the party were: Professor and Mrs. L. L. Rockwell, Professor H. W. Robbins, and Assistant Professors Jennie D. Phillips and H. R. Warfel.

Several years ago Swarthmore instituted an educational system very different from other American colleges. It is said to have advantages over the more common methods and has been used successfully at Swarthmore, where it is no longer an experiment.

PROF. N. F. DAVIS TO TELL OF LEWISBURG GEOLOGY

Professor Nelson F. Davis will address the Biological Society next Wednesday evening, November 21, at 7:30, in B6.

"The Geology of the Lewisburg District," will be Dr. Davis' subject. He will use slides in his narration of the time "when waves washed over Lewisburg."

The meeting is open not only to members of the society, but to anyone with a major or minor in biology, and to anyone particularly interested in the subject to be presented.

As I was crossing the Lewisburg bridge,
I met with a Bucknell scholar.
He pulled off his "clink," an drew off his glove,
And asked to borrow a dollar.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY—THURSDAY, NOV. 15
MARION DAVIES At Her Best.
"THE CARDBOARD LOVER"

TOMORROW ONLY—FRIDAY, NOV. 16
Prepare to Laugh and Laugh with
CHARLIE MURRAY in
"DO YOUR DUTY"
FREE—Dinnerware Every Friday.

COMING—SATURDAY, NOV. 17
TIM McCOY in "WYOMING"
Here is a picture you should not miss.

COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY, NOV. 19-20
It's the Call of Life! It's the Call of Love!
With THOMAS MEIGHAN in Rex Beach's
"THE MATING CALL"
With EVELYN BRENT and RENEE ADOREE
Be Sure To See It.

COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, NOV. 21-22
The Picture of the Flaming Youth!
"Our Dancing Daughters"
Flaming Youth in the grip of a Jazz Mad Age! A Cosmopolitan production with beautiful JOAN CRAWFORD and great cast.
EVERYBODY Should See This Picture.

Our Leather Coats
FOR BOTH BOYS and GIRLS
Are Going Over Big
For Style, Finish and Fit they can't be surpassed.
We carry the GLOVER make of Leather Garments; they are universally accepted as THE BEST.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER TO THE B. U. VARSITY
Full line of College and Fraternity Pennants, Banners, Leather Goods, Memory Books, Stationery, etc.
424 and 426 Market Street (East of Post Office) Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
SLIP-OVER SWEATERS
NEW LOT AT
$2.85 each
SUNBURST SKIRTS
$2.50 to $5.00 each
Wool Jersey, Wove Flannel, Novelty Silk and Silk Crepe
Dresses at $5.00 each
TRIANGLE SCARFS something new and different, at
$1.00 to $2.85 each

HELLO FELLOWS!
How about taking account of stock of your attire. Hat? O. K. Suit? Good. Haberdashery? The latest. Shoes? Marsh's.
There's a combination that will rate you 100 per cent wherever you go.
Whatever your needs in footwear, whether shoes for dress, for school or golf, there is a model awaiting you here; also "Collegiate Models."
MARSH'S
"The Home of Good Shoes"
MILTON, PA.

STYLES
OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE
MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM
SHOES
$10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

The Bucknellian

VOLUME 32 PART 2 Editor, Robert L. Lyon LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1928 Business Manager, John N. Feaster NUMBER 10

Do the Tassels Tear in the Tussle?—You may believe it or not, but these are members of the Harrow football team in the tight little isle of Britain. "Do they play soccer or rugby?" we asked both the Underwood boys, but neither knew. We know full well that they do not play the American style in that regalia. Well, anyway they are all dressed up and they must play something or other.
(Underwood & Underwood)

Stiff Arming Spirit Tacklers—John (Coop) French is quarterback of the Penn State eleven. He is a brother of Walter French, a star on the Philadelphia American League baseball team.
(Penn State Collegian)

Who Will be The Purple Queen?—Each year The Syllabus, the student annual of Northwestern University, conducts a contest to determine the five most beautiful girls—the Queens of the campus. It is our privilege to reproduce—and yours to view—the likenesses of two of the leading candidates of pulchritudinous honors—Jane Olson (left) and Katherine Chase. Miss Olson, '29, prominent in athletics and school committee work, is president of the Pan-Hellenic Council. Last year she was May Queen and a member of the Syllabus staff. She is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. Miss Chase, '29, carries the distinction of being the first woman editor of Scrawl, the Northwestern literary magazine. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta.
(Northwestern Daily)

Colgate Students Remember Memorial Chapel—Chapel attendance is still compulsory for four days a week, and, while the faculty allows fifteen cuts each semester, the zealous Senior Governing Board frowns on the absent ones if they are in town. Student meetings and football pep rallies are allowed twice a week—so you can see things are not so bad, after all.
(Colgate Maroon)

"Just a Student Prank, My Dear!"—No one is really dead. This is just a Lafayette way of simulating mourning over the grave of the old-time rival—Bucknell. No one is buried. No one is sorry. Just a joke, that's all.
(The Lafayette)

A Great Leader and a Great Dane—The great leader is Captain Arthur French, of the Harvard football team, and the great Dane is Queen, the team's mascot. Vic Ketnaird, a marvelous kicker in the dim Crimson past, presented Queen to the team as this season's mascot. It was once considered funny to point out the dog, but, as this publication reaches only the intelligentsia or thereabouts, that is not necessary.
(International Newsreel)

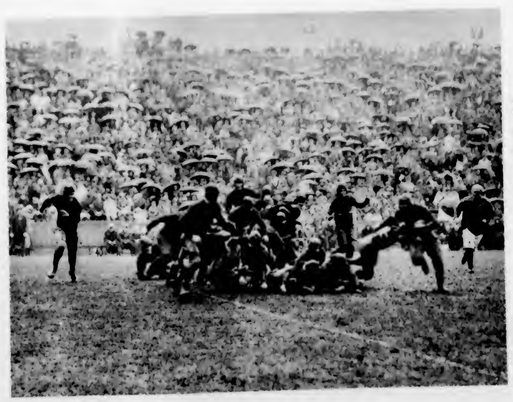
Sawing Wood, Saying Nothing!—A snap shot—not a time exposure—at the outdoor camp for Smith students. Some day that log will be in two pieces. Left to right—Betty Roys, New York City; Frances Rainey, Winnetka, Ill.; Eleanor Reed, Ossining, N. Y.
(Underwood & Underwood)

Just One Flanagan After Another—Carnegie Tech boasts of twins on its football team. Latham Flanagan (left), who plays end, and Thayer Flanagan, a halfback. Both are first string men. They are brothers of Hoot Flanagan, who was a star on the University of Pittsburgh eleven from 1921 to 1923.
(Carnegie Tartan—R. P. Hay)

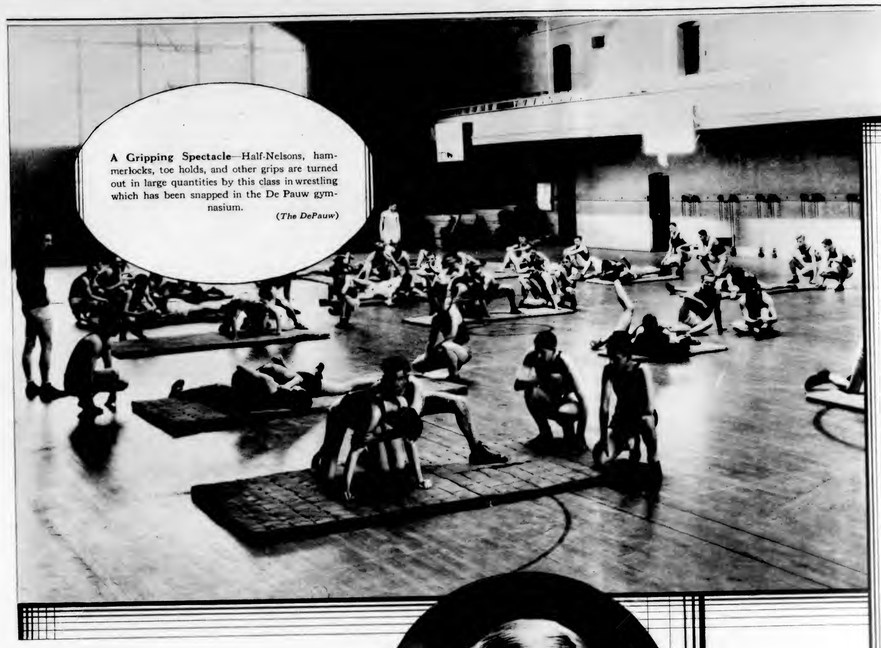
Blue Grads to Span Sphere—That's only another way of saying that John K. Colgate (left), New York City, and Stewart B. Riley, North Attleboro, Mass., recent graduates of Yale, are on their way around the world. Their itinerary will take them to South America, Cape Town, Syria, Persia, China, Japan, Honolulu, and San Francisco. They will return after ten months of travel.
(Pacific & Atlantic)

Some Undergraduates Can Use These Men—Dr. W. F. Lorenz (left) and Dr. A. G. Lowenhart, of the medical staff of the University of Wisconsin, have made the startling announcement that they can awaken the minds of persons mentally dead by the use of certain gasses and drugs. These M. D's are also neuropsychiatrists—if you know what we mean. There should be a ready market for their treatments just before final exams. And who wants a gas mask?
(DeLonge)

Flying High at Michigan—An aeroplane view of the beautiful buildings and grounds at Ann Arbor. The Lawyers Club—a law school dormitory—in the foreground; the new University Hospital in the right background; the new Architecture Building in the right foreground. The beautiful hills of the Huron Valley beyond.
(Michigan Daily-Calkins-Fletcher)



A Muddy, Scoreless Tie—For the second time in two years Cornell and Columbia battle to a 0 to 0 tie. Johnson of Cornell is seen carrying the ball in an end run during the first quarter.
(Wide World)



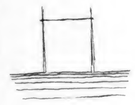
A Gripping Spectacle—Half-Nelsons, hammerlocks, toe holds, and other grips are turned out in large quantities by this class in wrestling which has been snapped in the De Pauw gymnasium.
(The DePauw)

Two Tough Birds to Hit—Here are the two leading candidates for All-American fullback honors from the Middle West. They are Mayes McLain, (above), the Iowa Indian, and Bronko Nagurski (below), the iron man of the Iron Range of Minnesota. McLain is a Cherokee Indian who made a great name for himself on the Haskell Indian team of 1926. Nagurski is said to be a second Joesting and is sometimes called the Pulverizing Pole. They met in deadly combat recently, and while Iowa won by the score of 7 to 6, it was hard to choose which was the better man of the two on that day.
(Underwood & Underwood)

Gains Highest Honor at Smith—Margaret Palfrey, of Brookline, Mass., has just been elected president of the Student Government Association at Smith College. Students consider this as one of the highest honors an undergraduate can attain. Even a casual glance shows that Miss Palfrey has much to recommend her.
(Eric Stahlberg)

Receives Coveted French Decoration—Dr. Samuel W. Stratton, president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was recently made an officer of the Legion of Honor of France. He was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor in 1909 because of his great services to science and mankind and for his work as founder of, and first director of the United States Bureau of Standards. The new honors were conferred on Dr. Stratton by J. C. Joseph Flammand, French Consul at Boston at a meeting of the M. I. T. faculty. Born at Litchfield., Ill., in 1861, he received his degree of B. S. from the University of Illinois in 1884.
(The Tech—Harris & Ewing)

Three Crimson El Ouafis—Which when paraphrased into everyday English means that this picture shows Harvard's best cross-country runners. From left to right—J. B. Lee, '30; J. L. Reid, '29 (captain); and Leslie Flaksman, '29.
(Harvard Pictorial)



Gridiron Hero Makes and Sells Hash—Biff Hoffman, captain and star back of the Stanford football team, makes hash of his opponents. He is now doing this for the third year, but this is the first time he has tried to sell it. He has recently opened a lunch room and soda fountain in Palo Alto, and he expects to make money serving edible hash without cleats. Should Biff's customers Hooversize their food?
(Pacific & Atlantic)

Teaches English with an Authentic Accent—Miss Eglantyne Jebb, of Birmingham, England, a new-comer in the English department at Wellesley. She is not wearing a Doug Fairbanks beret. That's a trick cap which is given away with certain English academic degrees. (Wide World)

Northwestern Junior is Honored—Warne H. Clancy, advertising manager of the Northwestern Daily, has just been appointed to the National Executive Council of Delta Upsilon. He is one of the two undergraduates from the United States to be elected to the governing body of this fraternity. This is an unusual honor since it is the first time in fifteen years that a junior has been given a seat in this council. (Daily Northwestern)

Harvard Men Practice Plane Living—Harvard has an aviation club of fifty students with headquarters at the airport in East Boston. R. B. Bell, of New York City, is president of this club of embryonic "Lindys." In this photograph some of the club members are tuning up their plane before taking a practice flight. (Pacific & Atlantic)

The New in College Architectural Styles—The Arthur Jordon Memorial Hall at Butler University in Indianapolis, Ind. Butler occupies a high rank among the smaller universities, and has excellent buildings and grounds. (Butler Collegian)

"Life is Just One Long, Hard Pull, Boys!"—Showing University of Alabama boys preparing for the problems of life. This is the annual tug-of-war between the "Shysters" (law students) and the "Quacks" (medical students). A non-combatant is responsible for the hose. (Orville Rush)

Columbia Senior Class Sponsor—Odette Myrtle of the White Lilacs Company, as sponsor of the Class of '29, receiving the official welcome from Vicor Glenn, class president. (International Newsreel)

The Four Mules of the Army—like the Four Horsemen of Notre Dame—will go down in football history. Left to right: Bill Nave, quarterback; John Murrell, fullback; Christian K. Cagle, and Charles Allan, halfbacks. (International Newsreel)

Pennsylvania 20; Chicago 13—Leyers, fullback, and Chicago's most consistent ground-gainer, smashes through for a five yard gain in the intersectional game at Stagg Field. It looks as though Colonel Hackett, the umpire, might have stopped this play. (International Newsreel)

Leads Eastern Scoring—Ken Strong of New York University, whose blocking paved the way for many of Jack Connors touchdowns last year, has developed into one of the country's leading ball-carriers. (International Newsreel)

THE MENTHOL HEALS.....THE HORSEHOUND SOOTHES

Look for the funny fat man on the Red Box

Throat Tickle—Stop it at once with a Bunte Cough Drop. Refreshes and soothes the tender tissues of the throat.

BUNTE BROTHERS · Chicago
Est. 1876
Makers of World Famous Candies

Bunte WORLD FAMOUS
MENTHOL-HOREHOUND COUGH DROPS
EASING AND PLEASING
5¢

HUMOROUS ILLUSTRATION
by Russell Patterson

Now you can enjoy a really up-to-date training in this attractive field, full of sparkle and dash—a radical departure and pleasant relief from old fashioned courses and antiquated methods. Prepare for a career in this delightful well-paid profession. Write for free illustrated book "The Last Word in Humorous Illustration"

The Russell Patterson School
Michigan Ave. at 20th St., Dept. 1
CHICAGO, ILL.

MANZ ROTOGRAVURE

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.

LEWISBURG, PA.
BISONS, LET'S
KNOCK THE DICKENS
OUT OF DICKINSON

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

NO BUCKNELLIAN
NEXT WEEK
BECAUSE OF VACATION

VOLUME XXXII — LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1928. — PART NO. ONE — NUMBER 11

Game Ends 0-0 When B. U. Meets The Presidents

10,000 Enthusiastic Fans See Bisons and W. & J. Battle On Very Muddy Field

On a treacherous muddy gridiron at Johnstown, Bucknell and Washington and Jefferson College battled to a scoreless tie last Saturday before 10,000 enthusiastic fans. Both elevens had a chance to score during the second half, but neither team could summon up enough reserve strength to carry the pigskin over the goal line.

The battle was a bitterly fought one from start to finish. At the end of play, it was found that Bucknell had gained five first downs to the four chalked up by the Presidents. The two teams battled on even terms during the greater part of the encounter, and neither aggregation would yield an inch when its goal line was threatened.

The first two periods resulted in a kicking duel between Ellor, of Bucknell, and Robinson, of Washington and Jefferson. The big Bucknell guard outbooted his kicking rival, but the Bisons were unable to gain much headway by this route.

Toward the close of the first half Bucknell had an excellent chance to score when Captain Halicki and his mates carried the ball to the enemy 15-yard line. Captain Ashmann, of the Presidents, squelched this uprising by intercepting a pass tossed by Brumbaugh on his own 15-yard marker. Robinson kicked out of danger as the half ended.

Both Teams Evenly Matched

During the last two periods of the game both teams resorted to the forward pass. A W. and J. pass was intercepted by Ellor late in the third period, who ran the pigskin back to his own 28-yard line before he was downed. Captain Halicki, who had contributed creditable work all during the game, started a series of successful line plunges that brought the

(Continued on last page.)

Women Debaters Will Have Tryout Nov. 26

A call for candidates for the Bucknell Women's Debating team has been issued by Esther Girton, manager of the team. Tryouts will be held at 7:30 o'clock, Monday evening, November 26, in the playroom in the new dormitory.

Any girl in Bucknell University is eligible to try out for the team. All positions are open to those who qualify. Girls interested in debating are urged to come out and try for a position on the squad.

An attractive schedule is being arranged for the 1928-1929 debating season. Last year the women's debating team won six intercollegiate debates, lost to Cornell University and Hood College, and took part in one no-decision debate.

The prospects are fine for a good season this year. Professor W. H. Coleman will act as director of debate for both the men's and the women's teams.

Girls expecting to take part in next Monday evening's trials should observe the following suggestions:

1. Phrase the question in debatable form, as, for example: Resolved, That the United States should join the League of Nations.

2. Select any question of state, national, or international interest.

3. Select a particular phase of the question—preferably the issue you consider most fundamental—and discuss it as fully as the time limit will permit.

4. Each speaker will be allowed five minutes in which to present his case.

FRIARS INITIATE

Samuel Adams Hopkins and Charles McDowell Morris completed their pledgeship to the Friars on Monday and were duly initiated into the sophomore honorary organization that night. The Friars take pleasure in announcing the membership of these men and feel that the newcomers will be worthy of the trust and materially aid in keeping the Friar organization at the top.

Campus Club Enjoys Fine Music Program

The Campus Club meeting for November, held last Tuesday evening in the organ room of Larison Hall, took the form of a musical with the emphasis on German composers.

The program which follows included selections by members of the faculty and by students of the School of Music.

Andante Con Mote (from Symphony No. 5) ..... Beethooven
Ballet from Orpheus ..... Gluck
Adagio
Allegretto (from Visli Sonata in A) ..... Handel
Miss Mensch, Miss Tollefson
Ihr Bild ..... Schubert
The Wanderer
Dr. Stolz
Ave Maria ..... Schubert
Impatience ..... Schubert
Girl's Glee Club Quartet
The Loreley ..... Liszt
The Frost ..... Schubert
Mrs. Fowle
Gigue ..... Mozart-Leschetizky
Tir from Suite in D for Orchestra..... Bach
The Brooklet....Schubert-Rachmaniff
Miss Tollefson
Wenn die wilden Rosen Bluh'n ..... Buvgert
Fruhlingensacht ..... Schumann
Miss Melrose
"Trdante" from Surprise Symphony ..... Hayden
Girls' String Orchestra

Prize For Dancer With Lucky Number

An innovation in university dances has been arranged by the Friars for their first annual frolic, which will be held on Saturday night in the Tustin gym. A "Lucky Number" dance is on the program, and the tickets will be numbered at each end. One half of the ticket will be handed to each gentleman as he enters the gym and the remaining half with a duplicate number retained by the Friars. These will be drawn by a non-partisan person and as each number is announced that couple will have to retire. One couple will finally remain on the floor and receive the prizes. This dance is the most favored by the elite of the best New York society and is bound to provide lots of fun for everybody concerned.

Besides, there is to be a prize for the winner that will be worth dancing for.

The Frolic, to which everyone is invited, has aroused a great deal of interest among both students and faculty. The preliminary advertising especially attracted the attention of the faculty and even "Prexy" spoke a few words about it in chapel.

The members of the varsity football team will be brought back from Carlisle, where they play the Dickinson College eleven in the afternoon, to be the guests of the Friars of the evening. Tickets will be on sale in all fraternity houses and at the gym.

Arthur Rugh Talks On Student Projects

"Students of America, as never before, are engrossed in doing something for somebody in some other land," Arthur Rugh, declared before a fairly large audience in Bucknell Hall last night.

That the "Bucknell in Brazil" project is another manifestation of this growing tendency in American colleges, was Mr. Hughs opinion after returning from hurried trips through southern and northwestern colleges.

Mr. Rugh has been back in America just two years, after 20 years service in China. At present he is the executive secretary of the foreign work of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A.

The speaker's point-blank, matter of fact presentation of problems of American leadership, won the interest and approval of his audience. "America has been prepared, throughout its history, for the task of making the world neighborhood a family. Despite the fact that you live such a blase, self-contented life here in Central Pennsylvania, you've got to live in this world neighborhood."

"Your generation has inherited from the older generation a mental

(Continued on last page.)

Faculty Adopts New Conspectus For Education

Revision Denotes Strengthening Of the Course In General; Will Broaden Field

The Department of Education at Bucknell announces a conspectus of new courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education, to take effect in the fall of the coming year, 1929. It is a noteworthy fact that the needs of education are constantly growing, and it is partly due to this fact that the Education Department submits the following curriculums and courses:

First: That the two-year course for normal graduates leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education be discontinued, no students to be enrolled for the course after September, 1929.

Second: That the four-year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education be revised to conform to the following general requirements.

1. Eighteen semester hours of English, including besides the regular freshman and sophomore course, a course in public-speaking and one in advanced exposition.

2. Twelve semester hours in social science with three hours required in each of the three fields, economics, sociology, and government, the student being permitted to choose the remaining three hours from one of these three fields or from history or religious education.

This revision has been made to allow the student to obtain a more liberal knowledge of the social sciences, and to prevent him from narrowing himself to one phase only.

3. Six semester hours in science. The science requirement may be met in one or more fields. It is important to notice that here also, the student may obtain a liberal knowledge in the scientific field.

4. Three semester hours in philosophy.

5. Two twenty-four hour majors in teaching subjects. A course in the

(Continued on page 5)

Glee Club Delights Pottsgrove Audience

The Glee Clubs' new programme for this year was initiated Thursday evening, November 15, when the club gave a concert in the Presbyterian Church at Pottsgrove.

"Henny" Fessler, '30, baritone soloist, acquitted himself very well in that stirring number, "Two Grenadiers," while Charles Frampton, '31, did equally well in "A Dream." The premiere number by "Hank" Graham, '31, was an impersonation of Al Jolson in "Sonny Boy." Kenneth Haines, '31, performed a clever stunt in ventriloquism and responded to an encore with a humerous pathetic poem. The instrumental numbers were a duet by James K. Colledge Jr., '31, and Roger Davis, '32, playing a violin and cello respectively and a violin solo by the former.

Professor N. H. Stewart Discusses Fish With Lions

Professor Norman H. Stewart entertained the Lewisburg Lions Club, at the regular Monday night meeting this week, by a delightful talk about his hobbies. His principal hobby seems to be that of getting acquainted with the fish of this valley. With seines of various sizes and fineness of mesh he has dragged both the Susquehanna river and the Buffalo creek, and has found more than 30 species of fish in this region.

Professor Stewart thinks that the pickerel, which thrive in Buffalo creek, are responsible for the disappearance of the thousands of small fish planted in that stream by the Game and Fish commission.

TEMPLE TO USE SPECIAL

According to the Temple University News, Temple is sending an unusually large delegation of fans to the Bucknell-Temple Thanksgiving game. The Temple students are coming to Bucknell on a special train which will leave Philadelphia next Thursday morning.

COMING TO BUCKNELL

NORMAN THOMAS

Recent Socialist Candidate for the Presidency, and former Bucknellian, who will speak in Commencement Hall, December 3rd, on "What is Socialism."

Prof. W. G. Owens Talks Of Yellowstone

The members of Sigma Beta Chi, chemical fraternity and some others interested in chemistry were entertained by an illustrated lecture given by Prof. W. G. Owens on Monday evening, November 19. Despite the fact that there were other features on the hill at the same time, a good audience was present.

The subject of Prof. Owens' talk was, "The Chemistry of the Yellowstone." He treated the subject with a particular reference to the chemistry of the Park in regards to its beauty. The different rock formations shown by the slides presented during the lecture were discussed and the beauty was in a great many cases shown to be due to the peculiar chemical structure of the formations.

The lecture contained a bit of realism because of the fact that Prof. Owens has visited the Park at two different times and has therefore had an opportunity to become more or less acquainted with this subject. This tended to a more interesting and equally instructive talk.

This is the second open meeting sponsored by Sigma Beta Chi, in which a program of general interest was presented for the general entertainment of the students particularly interested in chemistry and any others who might be interested in the subjects presented.

12 New C. E. Girls Entertain Students

C. E. A., honorary sophomore sorority, held its mock initiation, Wednesday, November 21, with the usual white sweatered, pig-tailed sophomores performing.

The new members are: "Al" Drenner, "Peg" Bunting, Marie Condit, Frances Davison, "Fran" Kernohan, "Dot" Lugoseh, Helen Mowry, Jennie Owens, Betty Jane Rodenbeck, Dorothy Showalter, Frances Stringer, and Marie Trunk. Their program consisted of a silver-less breakfast, lunch eaten with spoons only, and impromptu speeches at each meal. The usual C. E. A. initiate's entertainment was held in the new dormitory early in the evening. All members of women's college were invited. The seniors of C. E. A. were wittingly and unwittingly mimicked. Prizes were awarded the best take-off.

The dress of the performers had been greatly improved this year with the addition of a spray of flowers thrust through the headband. Credit for the program goes to a committee composed of Louise Graeff, Doris Siner, and Sally Hawes.

The Temple University News reports that a large number of tickets have been sold for the special train to Lewisburg on Thanksgiving.

Big Audience Awards Decision To B. U. In Debate With Oxford

Thompson, '31, Breaks Arm During Basket-ball Practice

Charley Thompson, '31, met tough opposition the first day he went out for basketball. At the first call for candidates on Monday, Charley was a-rarin' to go. Having played center for the freshman team last year, he was looked upon as excellent material for John Plant's squad of cagemen. In the midst of preliminary practice, he lost his footing and hit the floor with such force that he broke his arm. The folks in Morristown, New Jersey, where "Tommy" lives, will share the disappointment of his many Bucknell friends that he has had this misfortune.

WJBU Broadcasts On Greater Wave Length

"Curley" Miller," the one-man band," knocked off the most popular broadcast that WJBU has put on this year. Playing the banjo and the piano, singing, and hurling "hot stuff" into the ether, "Curley" again proved himself one of the most attractive and popular musicians in the State. Telephone calls and telegrams poured in by the hundred to congratulate him.

Due to a change in the wave length, Bucknell's radio station can now be heard for a much greater distance than formerly. The new wave length was first used last Friday with wonderful results. Radio fans from as far as Boston, Mass., telegraphed the station for request numbers.

The Federal Radio Commission recently notified the operator of WJBU that the station's wave length must be changed before November 11. In order to do this, it was necessary to reconstruct part of the broadcasting set, and as a result the station's efficiency has been remarkably increased.

Last Friday evening, during the three hours that the station broadcast, more than 210 telephone calls and a number of telegrams were received. The calls came so fast, that it was necessary to use two telephone lines and four local operators.

Among the messages of greeting, there was a telegram from a Bucknell graduate of '12, living in Boston, and another telegram from Long

(Continued on last page.)

Many Girls Weather First Dramatic Test

Members of Frill and Frown, women's dramatic society, enjoyed the first of their series of annual entertainments when the first try-outs for membership were held on Thursday evening, November 15, in the play room of the new dormitory.

The victims of the audience were obliged to face it sans post, table, chairs, etc. They stood in the center of the large room with an august body intently observing them.

Those who weathered the first show and who will appear for second try-outs, comprised of a monolgue, or skit, sometime in the near future are: Agnes Garrity, Hulda Dimm, Mildred Farquahar, "Ray" Gawthrop, Mary Smith, Isabel Postlewaite, Elsa Haug, Bernice Holz, Catherine Tomb, Esther Clark, Eleanor Tomb, Marian Palmer, Helen Kellog, Virginia Knisllo, Ruth Hall, Ruth Schreiber, Louise Zeigler, Constance Williamson, Grace Link, Bettina Bucknam, Mae Button, "Johnnie" Johnson, "Peg" Jenkinson, "Jo" Bair, Helen Kelley, "Connie" Hulick, Margaret and Mary Beck.

MU PHI GIVES RECITAL

In the first program for the year, Psi chapter gave a tea and recital to the patronesses, on Monday at 4 o'clock, in the Music Hall. The main theme of the recital was the music of the British Isles, which was artistically worked out by selections on the piano, violin, and by voice.

More than half the students at Lehigh University are enrolled in mathematics courses.—Exchange.

Rawlinson, '29, Is Best of Trio Which Represented Bucknell; English Wit in Evidence

The English have come and gone and another Bucknell debating season has had an auspicious start. A ballot cast by the audience, gathered in Commencement Hall to hear the third international debate between Oxford and Bucknell, Monday evening, awarded the decision to Bucknell.

Oxford, by preference, debated the affirmative of the question: Resolved that the United Sates enter the League of Nations. President Emory W. Hunt was chairman of the debate.

The wit, oratory, and logic, of the third English trio compared very favorably with the brilliance of the team which represented Oxford in 1926. Combining English wit with Anglo-Saxon seriousness, the visitors charmed and impressed the audience of faculty members, students, and townspeople that crowded Commencement Hall.

Mr. A. T. Lennox-Boyd opened the debate with an earnest, restrained, and tremendously effective plea that America show her goodwill and her real desire for world peace, by coming into a League of Nations which has been reorganized to remove the objections which kept America out in 1919. The modest, winning courtesy of Mr. Lennox-Boyd atonce melted any prejudice the audience may have had toward the British position.

The second speaker for Oxford, Mr. C. S. Malcolm Brereton opened an attack of scathing wit which brought surges of laughter and repeated applause from the listeners.

While Mr. Dingle M. Foot also proved to be armed with a deadly weapon of sarcasm, he did his most effective work by keen insight and unanswerable logic.

Alfred Rawlinson, '29, was the best of the American trio, and exhibited

(Continued on last page)

Miss Baldwin Tells Of Work In Muncy

Miss Henrietta Baldwin, psychologist at the Muncy Industrial Home, gave an interesting address to Professor Johnson's class in Criminology on Tuesday morning. Miss Baldwin who is a graduate of Bryn Mawr gave brief case studies of inmates of the home whom she has known, pointing out various causes of delinquency. She also spoke of the effort being made to give the inmates an outlet for their emotions through participation in dramatics and illustrated this and other aspects of her address by showing pictures taken at Muncy.

Men's Glee Club to Leave For Thanksgiving Tour

The Men's Glee Club, under the direction of Ralph F. Hartz, will leave by bus on Monday morning for the first concert of the Thanksgiving tour. The club's itinerary this year is as follows: November 26, Bradock, Pa.; November 27, New Bethlehem; November 28, Franklin; November 29, Punxsutawney; November 30, DuBois; December 1 Johnsonburg.

Students of Education 101 Plan Trip to Williamsport

Students who are taking Education 101 leave on Thursday, November 22, by bus, for Williamsport, where they will spend the entire day in detailed observation of the classes and teaching of the elementary grades, the junior high school and senior high school. Dr. Frank Davis is sponsoring the trip. Those students who do not find it possible to go to Williamsport, will do their observation in the schools of Lewisburg and Milton. Each student is required to make a careful report of all activities engaged in by the teacher and the pupil.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Hilltop Briefs.

Miss Olivia Smith spent the week-end at her home in Nanticoke, Pa.

* * * *

"Johnnie" Bridegum, '29, overcut as usual, has delegated two frosh to "arouse" him every morning.

* * * *

Miss Marjorie Booker of Wilmington, Del., visited her sister Janice Booker, '30, on a recent week-end.

* * * *

"Don" Kammire, '30, sprained his ankle last week. We hope the injury won't take too long in healing.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. West of Sayre, Pa., spent Wednesday, November 14, with their daughter, Miss Charlotte West.

* * * *

Miss Dorothy Stenger, accompanied by Miss Doris Siner, spent the week-end of November 17, at her home in Johnstown, Pa..

* * * *

"Pat" Newsham, '31, had the pleasure of having her mother, Mrs. Newsham, of Camden, N. J., visit her for a few days recently.

* * * *

Eleanor McLeavy, '32, who was called home several weeks ago on account of the illness of her mother, is back in school again.

* * * *

"And have you done your Education term paper—No? Your history?" Get busy, for the books are not too plentiful and the time is flying.

* * * *

Professor C. R. Johnson says that the height of intelligence is exhibited by a college student when he removes his coon-skin coat during a class period.

* * * *

Muriel Hoyle, '31, and "Betty" Fries, '31, who were spending some time in the women's infirmary, are now able to be around and attend their classes.

* * * *

The faculty created quite an excitement a week ago Wednesday. It seems almost as hard to assemble the faculty as it is to get the student body together.

* * * *

If all the tears could be caught that have been shed by the co-eds over the picture, "The Singing Fool," we would have enough water to start a swimming pool for the students.

* * * *

"Fuzzie" Furry, '28, killed two birds with one stone last week-end. She attended the Bucknell football game at Johnstown, and spent the week-end with her parents there.

* * * *

A co-ed remarked that there was not a man she knew of on the campus whom she would take to a dance. We wonder whether this is an inferiority or a superiority complex on her part.

* * * *

Jane Foust, "Deb" Deacon, and Jean Wood, all of '29, spent the week-end in Greensburg with Jane's family. The girls couldn't miss the W. and J. game and we certainly don't blame them.

* * * *

Some of the "Semites" are employing their knowledge of French in the dining room of the Women's College. It would be too bad if they happened to sit at a table where the language was not understood.

* * * *

Those of us who are going to stay here during Thanksgiving vacation would appreciate a little less audible merrymaking and counting of days by our more fortunate friends. What we need is sympathy!

* * * *

"Tom" Little, '31, was engaged in a game of "touch" football when someone touched rather severely on the nose. As a result "Tom" is gaining some inside information on how the world looked to a Roman.

* * * *

"Joe" Colledge, '31, has acquired a new nickname. It is "Bang." During the recent glee club concert at Pottsgrove "Joe," due to some unknown reason, burst forth with a melodious "bang" which threatened to disperse the audience.

* * * *

One recent evening several of our intelligent freshmen sought diversion by going to a theatre in Milton. After the show was over, the two sleepy boys boarded a bus and rode along nicely for perhaps half an hour. After descending, they concluded that they were in unfamiliar territory. Information sought from passing pedestrians disclosed that they were in Watsontown. We don't know how they got back to Lewisburg.

* * * *

Mary Mumma, '30, spent last week-end at her home in Harrisburg.

* * * *

From all reports the co-eds that are wise will do no more "bumming."

* * * *

The parents of "Jo" Roberts, '29, came from Sayre to spend the week-end with her.

* * * *

"Jerry" Fortner, '29, spent the week-end of November 17 in Williamsport visiting friends.

* * * *

Anna Mae Rees, '31, accompanied by Martha Woerner, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Nanticoke.

* * * *

One of Professor W. H. Eyster's botany students was overheard inquiring, "Does a stem have a nucleus?"

* * * *

Janice Booker, '30, spent a most exciting week-end in Princeton where she saw the Princeton-Yale football game.

* * * *

Old man weather treated us all pretty well until after the W. and J. game. At present it looks like a long hard winter.

* * * *

The members of the education classes spent Thursday, November 28, in Williamsport observing how schools should be conducted.

* * * *

Miss Alice Corbett was called to her home in New Bethlehem, on Saturday, November 17, by the serious illness of her grandfather.

* * * *

"Beanie" Martin, '31, entertained "Freddie" Locke, '31, and "Ted" Mitchell, '29, at his home in Glen Campbell, after the game last week-end.

* * * *

Thanksgiving vacation is looked forward to by the football men, for this will be their first real "let-up" since two weeks before the opening of school.

* * * *

Marie Fetherolf spent last week-end at her home in Wanamaker, Pa., where she attended a party given in honor of her birthday. Marie says that she had a wonderful time.

* * * *

The Oxford visitors caused quite a commotion during their sojourn here. Their lunch with the "Semites" was especially noteworthy. We hope they enjoyed it as much as the girls did.

* * * *

The Fort Stanwix Hotel was the headquarters of both the W. and J. and the Bucknell teams. Many alumnae were seen in the lobby, and everyone was happily busy greeting old friends.

* * * *

"Bill" Genne, professed misogynist, was a very interested and attentive student in sociology 205 last Monday when the class was discussing the subject "How to Choose a Wife."

* * * *

The "Semites" who took advantage of the New York excursion train the week-end of November 17, are: Lillian McClure, '31, Marie Condit, '31, Rhoda Herr, '29, and Ruth Schrieber, '32.

* * * *

Professor O. W. Elsbree predicted in history 207 that the United States will be involved in a war with Great Britian within 25 years, judging from the way American and British statesmen are now heading.

* * * *

"I'm afraid to go near the scales," are the words which are constantly coming from freshman girls in all quarters. Evidently the "Semites" and the Lewisburg climate are agreeing very well with them.

* * * *

"Constant cutting and shaving of the neck will slowly develop a beard," says a Parisian hairdresser for women. This statement might well be a source of worry for those bobbed-hair girls who are constantly having the backs of their necks clipped.

* * * *

We hear that the girls in the new dorm were so anxious to watch the dance in the playroom last Saturday night that they climbed up on chairs and tables in order to see over the heads of those in front of them. That is the main objection to using the recreation room for the sorority dances—it is too public. Since all the groups have their share of dances each semester, it seems as though each might be considerate enough to allow the other groups their share of privacy.

* * * *

Harry Allsworth has returned to the old Alma Mater after spending the week-end in Johnstown.

* * * *

The next item of interest to all, in the newspapers, will be coming out soon. It goes like this, "Twenty more shopping days before Xmas."

* * * *

Ruth Wentworth, '30, received a box of fudge and a letter signed by 20 of her friends in West Hartford last week. They had made the fudge at a party, and remembered all their friends who are away at college by sending each a box of the candy.

* * * *

With the installation of Movietone equipment in one of the Sunbury theatres, another inducement is offered B. U. students to migrate to the nearby metropolis. Why doesn't someone get busy and equip Lewisburg's, "Cathedral of the Motion Picture," similarily and avoid the migration?

* * * *

The freshmen girls on first floor Harris have devised a system to avoid the alarm clock nuisance as much as possible. They use one alarm clock which they pass around among them. They take turns having it in their rooms, and the unfortunate girl by whose bed it goes off must respond to its clatter and rouse the other girls for their eight o'clocks.

* * * *

The Glee Club starts on a tour of western Pennsylvania, Monday morning, November 26. This is the first major trip and the boys will leave by bus for Braddock. From there they will go to Kittanning, New Bethlehem, Franklin, Punxsutawney, Luhois, and Johnsonburg. The Club will arrive at Lewisburg Sunday evening, November 31.

* * * *

Catherine Forrest, '32, has spent only one week-end at Bucknell since she arrived here for Freshman Week during September. This is a record of which few "Semites" can boast. Catherine says that she is always glad to get back, however, and that she thoroughly enjoyed her one week-end at Bucknell.

* * * *

Grim disappointment seems to be stalking around behind "Mac" McElgot ever since school started. In the first place, the Philadelphia Athletics, his choice of baseball teams, was defeated. Then the Cardinals, in whom he manifested profound faith, lost their hopes in the World Series. As the result of his lamentation in the newspapers he hoped to keep the players on the Bison squad pepped up and self-confident enough to be able to glory in an undefeated season. His latest "setback" was the defeat of Al Smith.

* * * *

One of Prof. H. L. Childs' political science classes held a national convention last Friday. The entire period was taken up with reports from the various committees, roll call of the states, and the nomination of candidates. After the second ballot had been taken, Prof. Childs was elected. From the sounds which penetrated to the classroom next door, it must have been an exciting convention. The delegates gave vent to their enthusiasm by cheering, and when Prof. Childs was elected toward the end of the period, it was an occasion for a final demonstration of cheering and stamping feet.

What the Colleges Are Doing

There's more than one way of putting pep in the chapel period. Three girls, students at Adelphi College, recently entertained the students at chapel at that place by giving several exhibition matches in fencing. Moreover, they displayed the technique of the Italian, French, and German schools of fencing.

—X—

Although the track coach at Haverford College has never taken an examination or "flunked" a course, he has been "listening in" on the college courses for seven years. The coach, who had been denied college training, started sitting in on undergraduate courses in 1921. His studies, the coach says, greatly help him in his coaching work.

—X—

In order to show their chagrin at the results of the presidential election, students at the University of Virginia draped in mourning two campus statues of Thomas Jefferson.

The students, who are overwhelmingly Democratic, placed this sign on one of the statues: "To the memory of Jefferson, democracy, and religious freedom—died November 6, 1928."

—X—

Students in a certain dormitory at Lafayette College enjoyed unlimited free telephone service during a recentweek-end. When the telephone in their booth was installed, the slot leading to the coin return box was left open.

The frosh utilized this opportunity to call their friends and parents free of charge. Among the towns called were Lewisburg, Wilkes-Barrae, and Pittsburgh. Out-of-state calls included New York City, Charleston, S. C., Dover, N. J., and Los Angeles, Cal.

—X—

The Sophomore Hop committee at Rutgers has planned to furnish entertainment in the intermission between halves at the dance. Fifteen men have been chosen to entertain 200 girls in the prescribed manner for intermission. That sounds pretty much like the impossible!

—X—

The Villanovan, weekly newspaper of Villanova College, has made its first reappearance since its press burned last year. The paper was dedicated to Leo Goodreau, football quarterback who died after an injury in a practice game.

According to the paper, students are making a plea to have their new stadium dedicated as the Goodreau Memorial Field instead of Villanova Stadium.

—X—

Two well-known student boxers at Susquehanna University recently staged a benefit boxing match. The entire proceeds of the match were used to purchase a fountain for the college athletic field.

—X—

Students at Susquehanna University recently displayed much courage in fighting the flames when fire broke out in the Alumni Gymnasium at that place. Some football and athletic equipment was burned before the blaze was checked.

—X—

According to an analysis of instruction costs at Lehigh, students who spend four years at that University receive more than a thousand dollars from the endowment fund and other sources. The University spends from $200 to $250 in excess of the annual tuition of each student.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Fine-Pencils $7.50
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRIN G
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Prophecy—
On some rainy day, you will turn down your hat and thank God for John Hancock.
John Hancock
LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

ARE YOU INTERESTED IN ART?
STUDIO CLASSES IN
Painting, Oil, Water Color and Pastel. Crafts for Gifts and the home. Commercial Art of N. Y. S.
MRS. JOHN D. PLANT, 337 S. 6th St.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
George Wright, '31

Phi Psi was well represented at the game Saturday, both in the game and the stands.

Brother John Gittins, '29, spent the week-end at his home.

Pledge brother Allen Ellenberger, '32, journeyed to his home over Saturday and Sunday.

Bill Deaiman, Fred and Rick Flickinger, D. U's. from State visited us Saturday.

Many of the students who witnessed the game Saturday are wondering what happened to "Ernie" Woerner's eye. Just ask him.

Brother Justin Brumbaugh, '31, visited with friends in Springdale after the game Saturday.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

William Millward, '28, instructor in mathematics at the Milton High School, spent Monday in town "observing" at the Lewisburg High School. "Histy's" old friends hardly know him now that he has chosen educational work as his field. Already, brother Bill's demeanor is that of a pedagogue.

Pledge "Joe" Crowe entertained his mother, sister, and younger brother at the house over the week-end.

To say the house was deserted over the week-end is putting it mildly. Three brothers were all that remained, not even enough for a decent hand of stud.

Johnny Lindner had Mr. T. W. Kisor as his week-end guest. Mr. Kisor is the father of a friend of Johnny's. Attaboy, according to Hoyle, the best move is to get in good with her folks.

Charlie Frampton journeyed to his home in Paunxatawny, which is not an Indian village, Amelia, and returned to Johnstown for the game. Maybe Charlie didn't cause a furor when he strutted his Sheba in the Fort Stanwix lobby after the contest.

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Herncane, '31

Among those who spent the week-end at Bloomsburg, and attended the home-coming day dance at that place were, "Bill" Sweet, "Tony" Apuzzo, "Art" Gerhart of '32, W. W. Herncane, '31, R. J. Keenan, '31, "Bill" Edwards, '30, and H. E. Davidson, '30.

"Jimmie" Martin of the Gamma Omega chapter was a guest of the chapter over the week-end.

"Gene" Long, '29, spent several days attending an engineering society meeting in Philadelphia. He reports quite a time in the big town.

Tom Horan, '24, of Locust Gap paid the house a brief visit recently.

Leonard Horton, '31, spent the week-end visiting his home in the city of Scranton.

The attraction of the home town was too strong for "Bill" Koegel, '29, so he made a flying trip to Lehighton.

Another brother has joined the Ancient Order of Denuded Vests, and his pin is being worn by one of the fairest of the co-eds at the Bloomsburg State Teacher's College.

Tom Keeler, '30, spent his week-end visiting the bright lights of old Broadway. "Tommie" reports that New York is quite a town and expects to visit it again.

Harold Dayton, '31, has returned to school after spending several days in Plainfield, N. J.

The new radio recently installed in the house has proven quite popular. It is not an uncommon sight to see four or five of the brothers doing their studying in the living room while listening to Ben Bernie or some other orchestra.

"After a long absence, "Bill" Edwards, '30, has once more succumbed to the lure of the Bloomsburg co-eds. When asked about his latest, "Bill" takes on a far-away look and remarks, "I think I'll have her down for the Christmas dance." All this goes to show that his heart is quite elastic and can stand a lot of punishment and still not break.

DELTA SIGMA
"Phil" Murray, '29

John Horter, "Vic" Meyer, and "Fritz" Jacobs journeyed to Philadelphia the past week-end with the mechanical engineers and Professor F. E. Burpee.

The pledges entertained last Saturday afternoon with a tea dance. Music for the occasion was furnished by Paul Whiteman, George Olsen, Ted Weems, Waring's Pennsylvanians, and others.

"Chip" Sortor is willing to bet anyone any amount that four months after Hoover is inaugurated every bank in the United States will be closed. It's a good bet, Chip. Count the months and see.

"Bob" Dilsworth and "Hawk" Roller, both of '27, dropped around for their weekly chat.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Dr. Colestock and his wife were guests at the house, Sunday.

Thomas Downey and his friend, were the guests of pledge brother Downey, Sunday.

Brothers Conway and McCormick motored to Johnstown Saturday and were guests at the home of "Johnny" Seigh over the week-end.

Brother Browne and Pledge brother Davis motored to Burnside, Saturday. They stayed at the home of the former.

A "Smoker" was held at the house last Tuesday evening. A short musical program was rendered by brothers Harris, Conway, and Grandstaff. Refreshments were served. Several of the fellows played bridge while others enjoyed the fascinating game, hearts. Prizes were awarded to the high-scorers in both bridge and hearts.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Carl Albig, '29

Brothers Spangler, Davis, Fogelsanger, Varner, and Sleighter spent the week-end in Johnstown to witness the B. U.-W. & J. football game.

Brothers Burdic and Glover returned from Mansfield, Monday.

"Spike" Hann spent Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in Williamsport.

Professor and Mrs. MacCreadie were guests of the chapter for dinner, Wednesday.

Pledge brothers Osborne and Wahrman visited friends in Canton, Pa., over the week-end.

Brother Connor spent Sunday in Williamsport.

Brother Yawars visited his fiancee in New York City over the week-end.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Mrs. J. D. Phillips, and Mary Taubel, '29, were the guests of Theta U. for dinner Sunday.

Alan Grinsted, '31, and Shirley Leavitt, '32, spent last week-end at their respective homes.

The father of William Waldner, '31, was the guest of the chapter last week-end.

"Dop" Brubaker, '29, and "Art" Shorts, '30, journeyed to Johnstown last week-end, and returned showing the marks of travel.

"Reg" Gaylord, '29, and "Norm" Egel, '31, spent last Saturday afternoon and evening at Susquehanna University.

ALPHA CHI MU
Albert E. Brenner, '29

Messrs. Raymond Roberts and Thomas Jones, of the Beckley College band, were visitors at the house after the football game.

Miss Laura A. Yeisley, of Tatamy, was the guest of Brother Ottwell Benson during the week-end.

Brother Lyle Jackson spent the week-end at his home in Sayre.

Brother John Feaster preached last Sunday at the Calvary Baptist church in Williamsport.

Brother Raymond Taylor has a regular charge at Madison and White Hall, where he held services last Sunday.

John Farrow was quite shocked on Saturday night when he returned to his study to discover himself hanging in effigy. A dummy made of old clothes, a laundry case, and non-descript articles was extended from the ceiling by a rope. A shaded green light gave the scene the proper weird effect.

Mr. William "Chief" E. Parsons, '98, of Montgomery, visited his son William Parsons, '32, at the house last week.

KAPPA GAMMA
J. M. Paige, '32

"Lew" Cerase, '29, motored to Johnstown last Saturday to see the W. and J. game.

"Paddy" Canfield, '32, spent the week-end in Minersville visiting his parents.

Repented inquiries have failed to divulge the object of the week-end visits of "Bob" Cooney, '31, to Selinsgrove. "Bob" is a firm adherent of the maxim "silence is golden."

"Joe" Czainccki, '32, spent the week-end with his parents in Reading.

We are glad to report the recovery of "Dave" Faul, '29. "Dave" hurt his foot last week and although the injury was not serious, it was rather painful.

(Continued on page 7)

An echo that circles the globe

Sightseers returning from the Alps never fail to babble of the marvelous echoes that reverberate so obligingly from peak to peak.
But no such phenomenon matches a certain echo that keeps circling this whole mundane sphere. It is the best-known cigarette slogan ever coined—the Chesterfield phrase "They Satisfy."
Originated to describe a unique coupling of qualities seemingly opposed—"they're mild, and yet they satisfy"—its descriptive accuracy was instantly perceived. Today it echoes and re-echoes wherever cigarettes are smoked:
"Satisfaccn...its satisfont...THEY SATISFY!"
And rightly enough, for Chesterfields are mild—and they DO satisfy...and what more can any cigarette offer?

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet.. THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S
FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies, Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—8—

NEWSPAPERS USED TO SELL THEIR ADVERTISING ON THE BASIS OF CIRCULATION ALONE. THUS IT WAS CONSIDERED THAT AN ADVERTISEMENT IN A NEWSPAPER OF 2,000 CIRCULATION WAS WORTH TWICE AS MUCH AS A SIMILAR ADVERTISEMENT IN A NEWSPAPER WITH 1,000 CIRCULATION. THAT CONTENTION WAS A FALLACY. NEWSPAPERS NOW RECOGNIZE AND ADMIT IT. THE THING THAT MAKES A NEWSPAPER VALUABLE AS AN ADVERTISING MEDIUM IS NOT THE SIZE OF ITS CIRCULATION ALONE, BUT THE QUALITY OF THAT CIRCULATION. PAPERS THAT ARE READ BY PEOPLE WITH MONEY TO SPEND WILL SELL MORE FOR THE ADVERTISERS THAN PAPERS THAT CIRCULATE ALMOST ENTIRELY AMONG POOR PEOPLE.

THE THING THAT MAKES THE "BUCKNELLIAN" SO VALUABLE AS A BUSINESS GETTER IS THE QUALITY OF ITS CIRCULATION. IT REACHES EVERY ONE OF THE 1,100 STUDENTS ON THE HILL, AND MOST OF THE FACULTY AND ADMINISTRATION FORCES. REPEATED INVESTIGATIONS HAVE SHOWN THAT BUCKNELL STUDENTS SPEND AT LEAST $1,000 A YEAR EACH. WHERE CAN YOU FIND ANY OTHER LARGE GROUP OF PEOPLE IN OR NEAR LEWISBURG THAT SPENDS $1,000 PER CAPITA PER ANNUM? THERE IS NO SUCH GROUP. FURTHERMORE, THESE SPENDING STUDENTS ARE GATHERED TOGETHER "HERE IN LEWISBURG." THEY ARE NOT SCATTERED OVER A WIDE TERRITORY OR ONE ENTIRE COUNTY. THEY DO NOT HAVE TO MAKE ANY EFFORT TO REACH THIS TOWN. "THEY ARE HERE."

IF YOU WANT TO GET YOUR SHARE OF THE MILLION DOLLARS BUCKNELL STUDENTS HAVE TO SPEND, THE WAY IS EASY. A "PULLING" AD IN THE "BUCKNELLIAN" WILL BRING THE RESULTS YOU WANT.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.

MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Editor-in-Chief	Robert L. Lyon, '29 208 S. 7th Street Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Phone 194 Alpha Chi Mu House
Ass't. Editor-in-Chief	Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor	Clarence Cranford, '29
Ass't. Managing Editors	Virginia Smoot, '30 Helen Bell, '30
News Editor	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Ass't. News Editors	Jane Foust, '29
Sports Editor	J. Warren McEligot, '30
Ass't. Sports Editors	Thomas McLeod, '31 R. Hurtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor	Trennie Eisley, '31
Column Editors
Elizabeth Figner, '30	Frances Kernohan, '30

Reporters

Vivian Bitner, W. C. Emmitt, Bertha Gaventa, Lillian Mattick, John McNally, Ruby Smith, Nan Lee Thomas, Kenneth Vandenbree.

Business Staff

Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Ass't Adv. Manager	John Snyder, '30
Ass't. Adv. Manager	Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Ass't. Circulation Mgr's.
George DeLancey, '32	John R. Hatton, '32
Walter H. Grim, '32	Nathaniel Glazier, '32
	Benjamin Wahrman, '32
Faculty Adviser	Prof. Lewis E. Theiss

Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

THE "CRIME" OF HITCH-HIKING

Recently we protested against the movement now before the state legislature to make the practice of "hitch-hiking" illegal. In the same issue we reprinted an article from the Ursinus Weekly which took—and took very emphatically—the same attitude. These protests against the proposed abolition of an innocent and very helpful method of travel for college students who, because of the investment they are making in their education, are not "flush" with ready money, are springing up all over the state. College publications are especially insistent as to the needless and destructive character of the law. One of the recent protests is found in an editorial entitled, "Knights of the Open Road," published in the Penn State Collegian, which we are reproducing here.

"Every age has its romantic figures. The age of quadruped transportation had its dashing adventurer on horseback. The memory of this swashbuckling hero has been enthalmed for future generations in countless romantic novels. Tales of his hardships, his deeds of daring, still swing both the young and old reader into the seventh heaven of delight.

"Our own age is one of iron and steel machines. The open road is no longer a highway for horses. Long, rakish creations of mechanical genius now flash over the smooth surface of concrete highways while the driver reclines comfortably on plush cushions. The scientific attitude seems to have taken the romance out of life. But even now there is one romantic figure on the open road. He is the hitch-hiker. The commercially-minded look upon him as a parasite, traveling upon other people's pocketbooks. They are typical of the dollar day attitude.

"If we examine our hitch-hiker more closely and forget for a moment the call of commercialism, we shall find him otherwise. The greater majority of hitch-hikers are college students, either returning to or from their alma mater, or following their athletic team to some out-of-town contest. College students, as a rule, are perennially in financial straits. Many are working their way through school. Even those who receive an allowance from home are seldom flush with money. All of them feel the urge of youth to travel about and see other sections of the world. Hitch-hiking is their only opportunity.

"The hitch-hiker starts out upon his journey with much the same spirit as did the knights of King Arthur when embarking upon a new quest. Everything depends upon the turn of fate's wheel of lottery. With luck he may reach his destination by nightfall, but should the fickle gods frown, he will find himself stranded in some deserted region when the blushing sun flops over the horizon. It is this dependence upon chance that lends romance to the hitch-hiker's adventure.

"And yet there are always those few scourges of mankind who insist on spoiling the pleasures of others. In a few rare instances thugs and thieves have assumed the pose of hitch-hikers in order to ply their trade. All such outrages receive the maximum space in newspapers, especially in those of the tabloid and scandal variety whose chief appeal is to eye-minded morons. This publicity is responsible for the growing resentment against knights of the open road. Motor magazines have taken up the cry, but instead of presenting the case in its true light, they have pictured the hitch-hiker as a cheap scoundrel to be rated lower than the canned-heat-consuming bum of the city gutters.

"There is agitation for a State law against hitch-hiking. The only logical justification for such a law lies in the dangers from the criminally-minded who usurp the privilege for their own selfish ends. It seems that motorists should be able to tell the difference between college students and thugs. Perhaps they cannot. If, however, anyone can prove that robbery by seeming innocent hitch-hikers has become a positive danger, the State legislators will have sufficient reason for enacting a law. If not, the knights of the open road should be left to the free enjoyment of their privilege."

CALENDAR

November 23: 7:30 to 10:30—Pi Beta Phi informal dance in the new dormitory play room.
6:30 to 10:30—Phi Kappa Psi informal supper dance.
November 24: 7:45 to 10:45—Phi Mu informal dance in the new dormitory play room.
8 to 11:45—Friars Frolic in the Tustin Gymnasium.
November 27: 8:30 to 11:30—Phi Lambda Theta informal town dance.
8 to 11:45—Lambda Chi Alpha informal town dance.
November 28: 8 to 11:45—Sigma Chi informal town dance.
November 29: 12-noon—Thanksgiving Vacation begins.

D. R. Crossgrove, '20, Weds Sara Deck, '28

Miss Sara Elizabeth Deck, '28, and David Raymond Crossgrove, '20, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, October 27, in the Lutheran Church of the Atonement, at Wyomissing, Pa.

The maid of honor was Miss Grace Reiff, of Los Angeles, California, a cousin of the bride.

The best man was Warren S. Reed, of Lewisburg, register and recorder of Union County, a cousin of the bridegroom.

The ushers were Samuel Tench, '26, Paul Fink, '29, Alvin Wagner, '23, and William Speare, '20.

Bucknellians in attendance at the wedding were: Elizabeth Sale, Gertrude Downs, Marjorie Bell, Mary Fritz, "Connie" Zeigler, Rhoda Herr, Fern McNeil, Ruth Edwards, Elizabeth Haslam, Mabel Fritz, Mary Ryder, Samuel Tench, Paul Fink, William Speare, Alvin Wagner, C. M. Steese, and Warren S. Reed.

The bride is a graduate of Bucknell University where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi fraternity. Mr. Crossgrove is a graduate of Bucknell University and of the University Law School. He is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Read the Bucknellian.

What Is Socialism

BY

Norman Thomas

Forme· Bucknellian

Recent Socialist Candidate for the Presidency of the United States

COMMENCEMENT HALL

Monday, Dec. 3rd

8.15 P. M.

Auspices of Bucknell Sociological Society.

Faculty and Students Cordially Invited.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

The Orpheum

Friday, November 23—
"DRIFTWOOD"
With DON ALVARDO
A gripping and tense drama that touches your very heart-strings.
Comedy—"Some Scout"

Saturday, November 24—
"THE RUNAWAY GIRL"
With SHIRLEY MASON
A human heart interest drama that every mother, father, son, and daughter should see.
Comedy—Laurel and Hardy in "Habeas Corpus."

Monday, November 26—
TIM McCOY in
"THE BUSH RANGER"
Comedy— News

Tuesday, November 27—
IRENE RICH in
"POWDER MY BACK"

Wednesday, November 28—
CLYDE COOK and LOUISE FAZENDA in
"SAILOR'S SWEETHEART"

Thursday, November 29—
Thanksgiving Day Special
A Two Day Show. Here One Day.
SYD CHAPLIN in
"S K I R T S"
"His funniest picture."
Comedy—Felix Cat in "Non-Stop Fright"
Spend Thanksgiving Evening at the Orpheum and be happy.
Admission—30c.

Mould the man first, then the metal

CARNEGIE developed the steel industry by first developing his men.

The Bell System is growing faster than ever before in its history and this growth, like the steel growth, is based on the development of men.

Today, in the telephone industry, men in supervisory positions must coordinate many and varied factors. For example, before locating a new central office, population trends are studied. While it is being built, telephone apparatus is planned, made, delivered and installed on orderly schedule.

But more basic than all this, the executive shows leadership by his insight into the human equation and by the sympathy and understanding with which he adapts individual to job, moulding his men first.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of 18,500,000 inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Bisons Beat Lawyers 15 Out of 22 Times

Bucknell has played Dickinson in football more times than she has played any other gridiron rival. Twenty-two times the Bisons and the lawyers have chased pigskins together, and 15 of those games were Bucknell victories. Twice neither team was able to forge ahead at the finish and the games ended in a deadlock. Five times the Orange and Blue has dipped in defeat to the Carlisle gridmen. But those five have been scattered over a period of 22 contests and were always hard earned victories for the lawyers.

For many years the greatest Thanksgiving Day football treat of Central Pennsylvania was the annual Bucknell-Dickinson tangle on Island Field at Harrisburg.

One sting that the Bison has never forgotten was the Dickinson victory in 1924. Bucknell defeated Navy 6-0 and Rutgers 12-7 on successive Saturdays. The Rutgers team had been undefeated and practically had the eastern championship cinched until the Bisons trampled them in a sea of mud on Franklin Field, Philadelphia. The Quaker city papers were filled with flaming word pictures praising the powerful Bisons. But then came the catastrophe! Bucknell returned to the stadium to play little Dickinson on Thanksgiving in a game that was expected to be a run away for the Moran-coached eleven. But the Thundering Herd had lost its thunder and Dickinson won, 11-7, in one of the greatest upsets in Bucknell football history.

And so it has been down through the years. The Dickinson victories have been few but each one has been tragic for Bucknell.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

NEW FEDERAL HOME, UNDER DR. M. HARRIS OPENS IN THE SOUTH

Invitations have been sent by the Attorney General of the United States to a number of persons living in Lewisburg to attend the formal opening, on Saturday, November 24, of the new federal industrial institution for women at Alderson, W. Va., of which Dr. Mary B. Harris, '94, is superintendent. Miss Harris is the daughter of the late President John Howard Harris, of Bucknell, and sister of Reese Harvey Harris, Esq., a trustee of Bucknell.

This new federal institution has 500 acres of land, 25 or more buildings, and a remarkably complete equipment, erected by the U. S. Government at a cost of $2,500,000. It is the first federal institution of its kind, and will probably long remain the only one, as there is room for indefinite expansion.

The Government's Purpose

The purpose of the government in erecting this wonderful plant is to take proper care of federal women prisoners, and bring them under conditions most favorable to their reform and upbuilding. Prior to June, 1924, when Congress passed the enabling act to creat this institution, federal women prisoners had to be lodged in county jails, state prisons, reformatories, and penitentiaries, thus putting them in very bad environments, with little chance of reform.

The Attorney General searched the county for some one to head the proposed institution. He wanted a woman and one with the necessary training and personal characteristics. Dr. Harris was selected. She had had a distinguished career in prison work in both New York and New Jersey and was head of a state institution for women at Trenton.

Cottage System To Be Used

Dr. Harris has planned the institution, developed the system which is to be followed, and has supervised the actual construction work. The cottage system will be used, and the institution opens with 14 cottages, as well as an administration building, hospital, power plant, laundry, cannery, greenhouses, poultry and dairy plants, and other structures. It will accommodate 500 women.

Oliver J. Decker, '00, Presides at Banquet

The fall meeting of the Lycoming Law association, held recently at the Williamsport Country Club, was attended by about 70 lawyers. The guest of the evening and the speaker was Dimner Beeber, of Philadelphia, a former resident of the county and for 52 years a member of the Lycoming County bar.

Oliver J. Decker, (Class of 1900), president of the Bar association, presided at the banquet which was served at 7 o'clock and introduced the guest of the evening. In presenting the speaker, Mr. Decker spoke of the early members of the bar and of the donation by Michael Ross of the lots upon which were built the jail and court house—the jail first, which seemed to be the proper course at the time. He concluded by stating that this was the start of the career of the bar of the county which has covered a period of 133 years.

Williamsport Sun, Nov. 15.

Neil F. Wagner, ex-'12, was elected post commander of the Clyde F. Maurer Post, American Legion, at Watsontown, at a meeting of the post held early in November. He's installation takes place early in December.

Prof. F. G. Davis Author of Text For Top Grades

"Guidance for Youth," a textbook for children in the upper grades of the public schools, written by Professor Frank G. Davis, head of the Education Department, and his wife, Mrs. Bess Carnall Davis, has just come from the press of Ginn and Company.

The volume is exactly what its name implies—a kind of guide book for youths who are approaching working days, and who need illumination about the various jobs and occupations that await them in the wide world. The book is very attractively printed, and is profusely illustrated with photographs. Bucknellians will be interested to know that photographs of both Old Main and the Bucknell Memorial Stadium appear on its pages.

The preface to this book gives a good idea of the spirit of the authors and indicates clearly the nature of the contents. "We believe that the vast number of pupils who drop out of schools as soon as the law allows, do so not for financial reasons but because they do not realize the value of education. We have aimed to arouse the vocational interest of the pupils and to set them well along the road to vocational intelligence."

30 Occupations Treated

In their efforts to do just that, the authors have nearly thirty chapters that deal with as many different occupations. There are descriptions of farming, forestry, mining, dress-making, millinery, transportation, advertising, insurance, pharmacy, accounting, dentistry, journalism, and other trades and professions. Each of these chapters tries to present a fair picture of what is involved in the occupation described. The nature of the work, the advantages and disadvantages inherent in it, the hours of labor required, and the pay to be earned, all are set forth fairly.

Discusses Success

In the third section of the book the authors describe some of the fundamentals of success. Good health and the care of it come first. Honesty is listed as a second requirement. Then come dependability, graciousness, courtesy, cleanliness, voice quality, ability to speak in public, and good manners. A brief discussion points out the part that each of these qualities plays in gaining success. There is also a chapter on recreation and the spending of spare time. Another chapter, on self study, gives very practical suggestions for developing one's capacities through such study.

This volume should be a most useful addition to public school literature. Throughout its 375 pages of textual matter it is filled with material that should be of the greatest value to growing youths. We may justly be proud that this book is really a Bucknellian product.

Changes Are Made By Ed. Department

(Continued from Page 1)

teaching of at least one of these subjects is required, this to be included in the total of 24 hours. Fields from which majors are to be selected are English, foreign language, mathematics, science, and social science.

Social Science Major

The social science major will be made up as follows:

History, 15 semester hours. At least 3 hours in each of the three fields: economics, sociology, and government. The remaining nine hours may be taken in the three fields last mentioned or in the field of religious education, not more than six semester hours being permitted in any one field. The mathematics major will consist of 27 semester hours beginning with college algebra. The science major will include 24 hours if in one field, or 30 hours if in two fields.

6. Twenty-four hours in psychology and education distributed as follows: General Psychology, three semester hours; Introduction to Education, three hours; Educational Psychology, three hours; School Hygiene, including Mental Hygiene, three hours; Secondary Education or the Junior High School, three hours; Student Teaching, six semester hours; Elective, three semester hours.

The importance of school and mental hygiene is a growing factor in the teaching profession. Emphasis is especially laid upon mental hygiene.

Three semester hours are added to the former requirement of practice teaching. This new requirement provides for more necessary conferences which are of great value to the future teacher.

7. No foreign language is required. However, students planning to do graduate work are strongly advised to take modern foreign language.

The Education Department fully recognizes the value of foreign language, but it feels that a foreign language taken for a short time is of less value than a foreign language carried through for several years.

School Administration

For students of promise in the fields of school administration and supervision, the following is recommended:

That the subject matter requirements be reduced from 24 hours to 18 hours and the hours thus saved be given to special courses such as tests and measurements, administration, supervision, etc.

This arrangement will be of real value for men and women of experience who are normal school graduates and who desire to prepare for the fields of administration and supervision. Here the professional courses are of greater value than the academic courses.

Normal school graduates entering for the degree in education will have their credentials evaluated by the committee on advanced standing according to the relation of courses taken which are identical or equivalent to the required in the above curriculum.

The above changes in the Education curriculum denote a greater strengthening of the course in general, and it should be noted that a student taking this course will gain a broader knowledge in the fields of science and social sciences especially.

Romain Hassrick, '06, Helps at Dedication

Romain C. Hassrick, '06, chairman of the American Legion Citizens Committee, of Philadelphia, presided at the dedication, on Sunday, November 11, of a cabin erected by the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters near Ole Bull's castle in the vicinity of Coudersport, and placed at the disposal of tubercular war veterans. More than 60 Legionnaires from Philadelphia and vicinity attended the services.

The Department of Forests and Waters is aiding in the movement for the rehabilitation of tubercular World War veterans by providing accommodations and employment for them in the State forests. Several cabins have been built to house these men. The first of these cabins to be occupied is located at Peck's Pond, in Pike County. Two men occupy it.

The services on Sunday were under the direction of Pennsylvania Railroad Post No. 204. The party left Philadelphia in a special car provided by the Pennsylvania Railroad.

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

LEGIONAIRE
Bound Ave., Milton, Pa.
Thurs., Fri. & Sat., Nov. 22, 23, 24
OFFERING
"Whitey" Kauffman
AND HIS
Victor Recording Orchestra
on the stage 3 times daily with feature pictures
DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT
10 P. M. to 1 A. M.
Music by "Whitey" Kauffman and his Orchestra
MILTON ARMORY, Ridge Ave.
ALL NEXT WEEK
Bunny Stricker Players
in Drama and Comedy with Vaudeville between the Acts. Also regular picture program.

"Jew or Gentile, Barbarian, Scythian, Bond or Free"

The College Inn welcomes with a democratic spirit all members of the Bucknell family. Character and conduct is the only criterion which determines the degree of your welcome here, and not race, color or religion. A crook is a crook to us whether of distinguished or ignominious parents, and one who never needs watching is a delight indeed, whether his ancestors came over in the Mayflower or in a more recent emigrant ship. We acknowledge with pleasure the rising standard of ethics of the student body, especially noticeable among the athletic students.

"On the Quadrangle"
Payne, '09.

FELLOWS
Follow the Varsity on Its Trips
WITH OUR SHOES
They take you anywhere and bring you back.
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

FRIAR FROLIC
All-College Dance
IN
Tustin Gym on Nov. 24

What ho! Ye dancers,
You're in luck!
So come be merry
As good Friar tuck.

We've no brown ale,
Still here's a hunch----
Soft drinks make
An admirable punch.

If you'd be jolly,
Here's your chance----
There'll be a boisterous crew
At the Friar dance.

Music by Eddie Hoffman and His Incomparable Band
Tickets May be Had From the Men in the Grey Hats
eight till twelve
Subscription - - $1.50

Get a Christmas Present
NOW

Send The Bucknellian
To Your Classmate Friend
$1.50 $1.50

Let Him Know About the Team

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN BUCKNELL SPORTS

Snavely Expects Bisons To Win From Dickinson

Regulars To Be Used As Little As Possible, Saving Strength For Game With Temple

The Bucknell football men, conquerors of Penn State, were given a day off on Monday by Coach Carl Snavely, because of their fine showing in the W. & J. game, in which contest the Bisons held a powerful President foe to a scoreless tie.

On Tuesday the Snavelymen started practice for the Dickinson game, which will be staged at Carlisle on Saturday. Bucknell should win this game, as the Carlisle collegians are enjoying only mediocre success on the gridiron this fall. In fact, their only impressive performance was that of holding a highly touted Western Maryland grid team to a 14-0 score. Dickinson has yet to gain a major victory this fall. Gettysburg downed Dickinson two weeks ago by a 27-0 margin and since then the Carlisle lads have been sinking more and more into football obscurity.

Last fall Bucknell faced Dickinson at the Memorial Stadium in a game in which the Bisons fairly rode roughshod over their rivals. The Bisons backs gained at will, chalking up seven touchdowns on a muddy treacherous gridiron. Captain Diehl and Quinn scored a trio of touchdowns apiece, while Halicki tallied the remaining Bison score.

Coach Snavely is looking forward to another win over Dickinson. The Bisons may not roll up such a score as they did last fall because Coach Snavely plans to save most of his regulars for the Temple game that will be staged at the Memorial Stadium on Thanksgiving Day.

Eller May Not Play

However, the Bison mentor expects to start his entire first team and will gradually withdraw most of his regulars when the Bucknell machine starts piling up a score.

Every Bucknell regular emerged from the muddy W. & J. tilt unscathed. Even Eller, playing with a bruised hip, managed to escape further injury, although he was withdrawn in the third period in favor of Mutzel. Snavely probably did this in order to save Eller for the Temple tilt. Eller may not play against Dickinson on Saturday, and if he does he will see but little action. In fact, he will be primed for the big test on Thanksgiving.

Eller's punting on the slimy field at Johnstown last Saturday impressed Coach Snavely. Eller decisively outbooted Robinson, his kicking rival, getting both accuracy and distance. During the first half of the game the contest was featured by a kicking duel between Eller and Robinson. Eller was by far the superior punter.

If Eller is absent from the Bison lineup on Saturday, he will be replaced by "Lou" Mutzel a hard working guard, who has done creditable work all season. Mutzel, who hails from Lancaster, received his early football training at Bellefonte Academy under Carl Snavely who was then head football tutor there.

Short Drills Planned

Short drills are the plans of the Bucknell coaches this week as neither Snavely nor Hangartner fears Dickinson. Of course there will be not let up in the work as the Bisons will practice every day. However, there are no intensive sessions on the weekly program. The hardest drills of the season will be next week when the Bisons prepare to meet Temple.

Only one scrimmage session is planned, and that will be held Wednesday afternoon with the freshmen furnishing the opposition. The yearlings, fresh from a 28-0 victory over Beckley College of Harrisburg, are sure to furnish the varsity with plenty of action in this scrimmage session. All year the Bisons have found it decidedly hard to stop Kastrava, an elusive shifty halfback from Summit Hill. Kastrava broke through the Beckley defense three times last Saturday to score a trio of touchdowns.

"Joe" Kastrava, the Summit Hill flash, strutted his stuff last Saturday before 298 fans and eleven Beckley grid warriors. The Harrisburg business men found it decidedly difficult to stop this young man who gained every time he carried the ball. His sensational 35-yard run for a touchdown in the first period was a pippin.

Bison Courtsters Scheduled To Meet 22 Strong Eastern Fives During Season

PRINCETON, ARMY, STATE, AND GEORGETOWN TO BE FOREMOST AMONG THE RIVAL CAGE TEAMS; COLGATE TO PLAY HERE JANUARY 25

Bucknell University's 1929 basketball schedule was released here recently after having been approved by Professor Benjamin W. Griffith, graduate manager of athletics. The schedule lists 22 games, and includes meetings with some of the strongest college court teams in the East.

Manager John Danes Hubbard, of New York City, has arranged an attractive and inviting list of contests, some of which will be played at home while the remaining 15 will be staged on foreign soil.

For the first time in the history of basketball at the Lewisburg institution, the Bucknell court men will make a trip to New York where they will play some of the Metropolitan college fives. The New York invasion will take place immediaetly after the Christmas recess. Prior to their New York game, the Bucknell courtsters will train for a week at Blue Point, L. I.

The basketball season will be officially ushered in on the third of January, at which time the Bison basketeers will line up against a powerful Manhattan College team in the heart of New York City. Before returning to Lewisburg the Bucknellians will engage in court contests with C. C. N. Y., Fordham, Seton Hall, and the Army.

The Lewisburg college five will be seen in action twice during the winter in Philadelphia. On the seventh of February the Bucknell men will face the Penn A. C. in a contest that will probably take place in the Palestra. The Union County boys will return again on the last day of the same month to even accounts with Temple, an old rival, which defeated Bucknell decisively on the court last winter.

Bucknell To Play Princeton

The gem of the card is a game with Princeton University, that will be staged in Tigertown on the sixth of February. This will be the first athletic engagment between the two rivals since the fall of 1910, when the Tigers defeated the Bisons on the gridiron.

Attractive home games that will be staged here in Lewisburg include contests with Colgate and W. & J. Colgate will visit Bucknell on January 25, while W. &J. will invade the lair of the Bison on the ninth of February.

Bucknell will also meet two strong fives from Washington, D. C., when they face both Georgetown and George Washington. An odd feature of the schedule is the game with George Washington that will be played on Abraham Lincoln's birthday. On the preceding day, which history tells us is Thomas Edison's birthday, (February 11, 1847), the Bison netmen will lock horns with Georgetown.

John D. Plant, for years a successful coach at Peddie School in Hightstown, N. J., will again tutor the Bucknell basketball team. The 1929 season will mark Plant's third as a court mentor at Bucknell. During his first year (926), Plant moulded a team that won 17 games out of 20 starts.

"Lou" Woodring, of Reynoldsville, will captain the 1929 team and will play at one of the guard posts. Woodring is a senior this fall. He has played on the Bucknell five for the past two seasons. The coming campaign will be his last in varsity competition and he is expected to be the kingpin of the Bison team. Woodring is 21 years old, weighs 165 pounds, and is six feet tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Reynoldsville High School, where he was an all around athlete.

The schedule follows:

January 3, Manhattan at New York City; 5, C. C. N. Y. at New York City; 7, Fordham at New York City; 8, Seton Hall at South Orange, New Jersey; 9, Army at West Point, N. Y.; 12, Western Maryland at Lewisburg; 17, Schuylkill at Lewisburg; 25, Colgate at Lewisburg.

February 5, Ursinus at Collegeville; 6, Princeton at Princeton, N. J.; 7, Penn A. C. at Philadelphia; 9, Washington and Jefferson at Lewisburg; 11, Georgetown at Washington, D. C.; 12, George Washington at Washington, D. C.; 13, Western Maryland at Westminster, Md.; 19, Juniata at Huntingdon; 20, Penn State at State College; 23, Gettysburg at Lewisburg; 28, Temple at Philadelphia. March 1, Schuylkill at Reading; 6, Juniata at Lewisburg; 9, Ursinus at Lewisburg.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McEligot

The Bucknell-W. & J. game, staged last Saturday, attracted a crowd of 10,000 spectators who witnessed a brilliant battle between two of the best college elevens in Pennsylvania. Although the two rivals fought to a scoreless tie, the fans came away with the feeling that both aggregations contributed creditable work.

—B—

The two elevens met on a muddy field, which hindered both teams considerably. Bucknell, with a flashy overhead attack, was unable to unleash any tricky passes for long gains. On the other hand W. & J. found it hard to penetrate the Bison defense, and was outplayed during the greater part of the game.

—B—

"Five-Yard" Halicki was a threat to the W. & J. gridders from the very start of the game. Halicki plowed through for gains averaging a little over five yards. When in the shadows of the W. & J. goal line Halicki was halted, but not until he had created havoc with the enemy line.

—B—

"Pottsville" Jones, dependable Bison guard, intercepted an enemy forward pass in the third quarter, and it was a treat to watch the Llewellyn lad run back the ball. He wove his way past many hostile tacklers, but finally lost his footing and slid to the muddy turf. In an instant he was pounced upon.

—B—

Both elevens had a chance to score. Bucknell's try came in the closing minutes of the third quarter, when the Bison backs rushed the ball to the enemy three-yard line. A series of desperate line plunges yielded the Bisons but a scant two yards, and they lost the ball on downs.

—B—

Dickinson next. Yes, it's true, the Carlisle collegians are in for a trouncing at the hands of Bucknell. Dickinson has been beaten several times this season, and the Bisons are now anxious to put their brand on the Carlisle lads.

—B—

Four years ago, in 1924, after Bucknell had beaten the Navy and Rutgers, Dickinson invaded the Memorial Stadium and came away with the Bison's scalp. Of course this will not occur again.

—B—

Through a baffling overhead attack the Washington gridders worked the pigskin down to Bucknell's three-yard line in the closing minutes of play. Here the Bison line tightened, and W. & J. lost the ball on downs.

D. S. and Non-Frats Tie in Soccer Game

The Theta U's. are out for scalps. Having clinched the title in their half of the Inter-Fraternity Soccer League, the team that boots the ball for Theta Upsilon Omega looks with interest at the struggle that League Two is having to decide who will meet Johnny Bower's cohorts for the campus championship.

Just the other day Delta Sigma staged a regatta in the sea of mud that covered Loomis Field and found that the Non-Frats have a team worthy of their steel. After a hard game, the score stood at 1-1, making these teams even for the leadership of League Two. Both the Demies and the Non-Frats have one game to play. Kappa Gamma will furnish the opposition for the Non-Frat team and Sigma Chi will meet Demosthenes in soccer boots.

Each league has a team that shows exceptional grit. Alpha Chi Mu has played through her season and has "bitten hard and fair." And no one on the campus can dispute the sportsmen who, with but an eight man team, have defeated three teams and tied another for the honor of Kappa Gamma.

Varsity Material For Court Team Most Promising

7 Lettermen Out For Practice; Last Year's Freshman Squad To Vie For 1st Team

The prospects for a successful 1929 basketball season at Bucknell University are exceedingly bright, judging from the veteran material that will be available when Coach John D. Plant issues the first official call for varsity court candidates immediately after Thanksgiving. Bucknell lost only one letter man from last winter's squad. Milton Frahle, of Latrobe, a forward on the 1928 Bison net team, will be the only 1927 varsity man missing when the candidates report to Coach Plant.

Indications are that Frahle's loss will not be keenly felt as the Latrobe lad was not a regular on the Bucknell five last winter. Frable played in most of the games and earned a letter, but during the season he was often supplanted by Don Kammire, of Salamanca, a finished court performer. Kammire will be available for duty this winter, and will undoubtedly qualify for a berth.

Foremost among the candidates are "Bernie" Klosterman, of Covington, Ky., and "Lou" Woodring, of Reynoldsville. Both men are seniors this fall, each having played for two years on the Bison court team. Both Woodring and Klosterman are guards and this pair puts up an airtight defense.

Klosterman is a Wizard

Klosterman is a court wizard. Before attending Bucknell he was a flashy basketball star at Covington High School, in Kentucky. He has an eagle eye for the basket, possessing the rare ability to sink in the long ones. Klosterman is built like a court player, standing six feet two inches in height and tipping the scales at 170. Despite his weight he is amazingly fast. As a defensive guard Klosterman has no peer in Bucknell. During the past two seasons he has been a tower of strength on the team, combining a thorough knowledge of the game with natural playing abilities.

Klosterman will have a fine running mate in "Lou" Woodring, who will captain the court five. Woodring has also had two years of varsity experience, and teams up with Klosterman remarkably well. During his freshman year at Bucknell, Woodring captained the yearling basketball team and played at a guard post. He is a valuable member of Plant's team, and is expected to have his best season this winter. Woodring is a whirlwind dribbler, an accurate passer, and possesses a keen eye for the basket.

Seiler At Center

Coach Plant need not worry over the center post as he still can rely upon "Archie" Seiler to take care of the pivot assignment. Seiler has also played on the Bison court squad during the past two years. The coming campaign will be his last in varsity competition. He is expected to be the mainstay of the team.

Seiler has been best known during the past few years for his high scoring performances. He has been the leading Bucknell scorer for two years, averaging 100 field goals a season.

Prominent forward candidates will be "Eddie" Halicki, of Hanover Township, captain of the Bucknell football eleven, and Don Kammire of Salamanca, N. Y. Halicki is without doubt a fixture on the 1929 team, as he has played side by side with Seiler, Woodring, and Klosterman during the past two years. The Hanover boy will probably be assigned to duty at the right forward position, a berth that he has held now for two years.

Kammire May Qualify

Kammire, a flashy, speedy performer, judging from past performances, is in line for the other forward berth. He played in most of the games last winter and did creditable work. Coach Plant will groom the Salamanca speedster to work regularly in this new assignment. Kammire is fast, elusive, and shifty. He can dribble, pass, and shoot with equal ability. He received his prep school basketball tutoring at Peddie School, in Hightstown, N. J. Incidentally Kammire was a member of the Peddie team when Coach Plant was head mentor there. Like Woodring, Kammire also captained the yearling court five during his freshman year at Bucknell.

Coach Plant will have available one more letter man from the 1928 squad. In Welland Wadsworth the Bucknell tutor has a guard who is well acquainted with the court game. Wadsworth is a player of the old fashioned type. He is not flashy but is very consistent in a game. Evidently Coach Plant will rely on Wadsworth to supplant either Woodring or Klosterman in case these stars sustain injuries.

Other varsity candidates who will be given careful consideration are Calvin Smith, of Englewood, N. J., "Ted" Mitchell of Madison, N. J., and "Bert" Ellor, of Bloomfield, N. J.

Inherits Freshmen Talent

Coach Plant also inherits some promising freshmen talent from last winter's yearling team. Norman Ross, of Glouchester, Mass., and Wilbur Ammerman, of Tyrone, are a fine pair of forwards and may furnish the other candidates with plenty of opposition. "Lou" Jefferies of Port Norris, N. J., played center on the Bucknell freshmen five last fall and will be in line for varsity work this winter. Charles Thompson of Morristown, N. J., who shared the pivot burden with Jefferies last winter, also bobs up as a promising center candidate.

"Andy" Lobel, a guard, will also try for a position on the team. Lobel was a flashing performer for the yearlings last winter, and with a year's experience ought to develop into a first class player. Harold Mitchell, of Linden, N. J., a forward, ends the list of basketball candidates from last year's freshmen squad who are eligible for varsity competition now.

Frosh Eleven Scores Four Touchdowns In Decisive Win Over Beckley College

KASTRAVA'S OPEN FIELD RUNNING FEATURES HOME CONTEST; OPPONENTS LOSE PIGSKIN WITHIN STRIKING DISTANCE OF YEARLINGS' GOAL

In a game that was featured by the brilliant open field running of "Joe" Kastrava, former Summit Hill High School star, the Bucknell freshmen eleven defeated Beckley College of Harrisburg last Saturday at the Memorial Stadium by a 28-0 margin.

Kastrava scored a pair of touchdowns while Hinkle and Mezza tallied one each. Mezza, a placement kicking expert, added the extra point each time after the touchdowns had been scored.

The losers, a tough, wiry aggregation, were full of fight from start to finish. In the first period they put on a merry uprising which the Baby Bisons managed to squelch after much difficulty. The Harrisburg business men carried the ball to the winner's ten yard line where they lost it on downs.

Fry, yearling back, punted out of danger and the ball traveled to Beckley's 35-yard line. Here Todd, who received the ball, ingloriously fumbled and the alert Stonebreaker pounced on the truant pigskin. On the first Bison offensive play, the hip-shaking Kastrava crashed through right tackle, and after shaking off several would-be tacklers, continued his way through a broken field for a sensational 35-yard run and a touchdown. Mezza added the extra point by way of placement.

Winners Stage Rally

Shortly after the next kickoff a whistle sounded indicating the close of the first half with the Bisons in the lead by a 7-0 count. The winners came back in the last two periods by staging a rally that culminated in the scoring of a trio of touchdowns. A series of successful line plunges late in the third quarter brought the pigskin to Beckley's 5-yard line from which point Hinkle carried the ball over for a score on an intricate trick play. Shortly after the final period was well under way Kastrava again broke loose and on two successive plays carried the ball from midfield to the enemy goal line for another tally.

As dusk was setting in and the game was rapidly ageing, Mezza, burly fullback, deceived an unknowing Beckley defense by squirming through right tackle from the Beckley eight-yard line for a score. Mezza then topped his fine performance by booting his fourth successive extra point.

The line-up:

Beckley C.		Bucknell
Angell	L. E.	Hoak
Mears	L. T.	Crowe
Showe	L. G.	Seegar
Moare	C.	Cummings
Densevich	R. G.	Lenhart
Critchfield	R. T.	Marler
Ruskin	R. E.	Stonebreaker
Todd	Q. B.	Fry
Beumer	R. H. B.	Hinkle
Rainey	L. H. B.	Kastrava
Heverly	F. B.	Mezza
Beckley	0 0 0 0	0
Bucknell	0 7 7 14	28

Touchdowns—Kastrava, 2; Mezza, Hinkle. Points after touchdown—Mezza, 4, (placement). Substitutions—Downel for Lenhart, Spadafora for Stonebreaker, Hall for Todd, Tale for Ruskin, Todd for Heverly. Referee—Kutz. Umpire—Reed. Head linesman—Mowles. Scorer—McElligot.

ANNOUNCING
THE OUTSTANDING
SOCIAL EVENT
OF THE YEAR
The Junior Prom
JANUARY 4, 1929
$5.00
Tickets May be Secured from the Committee

Fewer Students Earn Way Through European Colleges

"The practice of working one's way while pursuing one's studies, which became a feature of university life in Europe after the war, has to a great extent lost its popularity, and the number engaged in doing so has greatly diminished," according to the news bulletin of the Institute of International Education. The bulletin continues:

"It is to be noted that American university experience is similar to that of European experience in the matter of supporting oneself while attending the university. The American university student, i. e., the student who is attending one of the professional or vocational schools, does not ordinarily support himself at the same time. The work is too strenuous. It is the college student who supports himself in such large numbers in the United States. That is possible because so much of the time of the average student is given to extra-curricular activities that the student working his way through college has little difficulty in keeping up with his class if he simply omits extra-curricular activities.

"This is impossible in the French lycee or German gymnasium. There are no extra-curricular activities in either. Each is a place of hard work, even of grind, and it would be utterly impossible for an average student to maintain his scholastic standing if he had at the same time to support himself by work.

"The number of students attending the universities in Europe has grown with remarkable rapidity since the war in almost all European countries. Whatever may have been the experience of Europe since the war politically, there can be no question that educationally its experience has been in the direction of democratization. The day is over when university education was practically a monopoly of the privileged classes.

Increase Causes Alarm

"The increase in numbers has, in fact, given rise to considerable alarm, the fear being expressed that the supply of university graduates, already in some countries in excess of the demand or the need, may result in the growth of a discontented educational proletariat. The birthrate in all the countries of Western Europe is falling. In England it is now smaller than in France and the English population remains above the stationary point only because the death rate is falling faster than the birthrate. In all probability, the time is not so many decades distant when the population of most of the countries in Western and Central Europe will approach the stationary point.

"Already a considerable percentage of the splendidly trained technical graduates of the universities of Switzerland must find an outlet for their services in foreign parts, such as the United States and Latin America.

Situation In U. S.

"The situation is different in the United States. In the decade 1910 to 1920, the population of the United States increased by over thirteen millions, a number practically equal to the combined population of Holland and Belgium or of Austria and Hungary. This increase in population was accompanied by a remarkable industrial expansion and by the growth of new industries like the automobile, the cinema, the radio, and the electrical industry. These facts explain the absorption of the greatly increased supply of college graduates in our country, a phenomenon which will probably continue for several decades. Moreover, unlike the condition in Europe mentioned above, the number of students graduating from the colleges of the United States can readily be reduced by the simple expedient of increasing the qualifications and raising the standard for securing a degree."

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE THREE)

PHI LAMBDA THETA

Blair I. Hazen, '31

Gamma chapter extends its heartfelt sympathies to brother Stutzman during his bereavement, the death of his father.

"Dick" Humphreys, "Hal" Trostle, "Bill" Brastow, "Lou" Emery, Paul Emery, and "Ernie" Englehardt motored to Johnstown on Friday to see the game. While there the boys were the guests of "Ernie's" parents, and apparently, had a wonderful time.

Pledge brothers Lamar Davis and John Moots couldn't wait until the Thanksgiving vacation so they spent the week-end with their parents.

Pledge brother Phil Sheplar spent the week-end at State College visiting his brother.

An air of mystery surrounds a recent set-up of ice cream to the house. Someone had a reason for "treating" but failed to reveal his identity or the reason for the treat. As a result of this unexalled-for silence the members are accusing each other of "holding out."

Pledge brother Charles Shaeffer entertained his parents, sister and several friends, on Sunday.

"Bill" Jennings and "Bud" Shelton dropped in late Sunday night to pay "Bud" Johnson a visit.

Harry Brobst and Fernley Phillips, both of Braddock, were the guests of Blair Hazen for a short time on Monday afternoon, November 12.

The Alumni still show a love for the fraternity, to wit, the regular visits of "Ernie" Englehardt, '28, and "Gib" Frith, '27.

Allen Barig played host to two Beckley football men on Saturday, in the personages of Angel and Klepnar.

BETA KAPPA

Edgar Lare, '30

Paul L. Patton motored up to the house Sunday, and spent a few hours talking over old times with some of the boys.

John Crittenden, '31, rode the goat Saturday night; Sunday he found out that the goat was a cow.

Merle Calvin, Everitt McMillam, Dave Murphy, George Turnbull, "Tom" Jones, "Joe" Lobaugh, Walter Sherixe, Dave Allen, and Robert Redbenner, all of Beckley College were dinner guests at the house Saturday evening.

"Bob" Thessl one of the Brothers of State College stopped at the house Wednesday, and had dinner with us.

"Bill" Miller and "Sherlock" Stere journeyed to their respective homes over the week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

"Betty" Fries, '31

Tau chapter held an informal dance in the play room of the new dormitory on Friday evening, November 16. "Eddie" Hoffman and his orchestra furnished the music. Miss Lulu Coe, Miss Millicent Melrose, and Professor and Mrs. P. G. Stolz were chaperons.

Mary Tyler, '29, spent the week-end visiting her parents in Altoona.

Beulah Lesher, '30, received a visit from her mother over the week-end.

"Betty" Fries, '31, was visited by her mother and brother last week-end.

Pledge Charlotte West, '32, was fortunate in having her mother spend a day with her during the past week.

ZETA GAMMA TAU

Nan Lee Thomas, '30

Miss Lulu Coe and Miss Charlotte Armstrong entertained the actives of Zeta Gamma Tau at tea in the parlors of Faculty House on Sunday, November 18. Mrs. F. B. Everitt presided.

Our pledges took us out to Tourist Camp, Wednesday night, November 14. We had a very happy time around the campfire, singing songs and eating "wieners" and all that goes with them! The pledges proved to be very charming hostesses.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha of Sigma Sigma Delta held an informal dance in the recreation room of the new dorm last Saturday night. The room was attractively decorated with green and white crepe paper and festons of balloons fastened to the tops of the pillars. Cushions in the window seats and bridge lamps scattered around the sides of the room added to the cozy effect. Novelty dances were a feature of the evening. Eva Mae Folsom, '30, and Charles Snyder, '31, carried off the prizes for the elimination dance. The music was furnished by "Red" Hitchens' orchestra. Mrs. Anna Beatty and Instructor and Mrs. J. B. Miller were the chaperons.

Dorothy Goff, of Selinsgrove, was the guest of "Sally" Collner, '29, over the last week-end. "Dot" came up for the dance.

We were very much surprised to receive word that "Marge" Reno, '27, did not sail last Saturday for Brazil after all. A friend of Mr. Reno's has decided to go to Brazil, and she is waiting to go with him on the Pan-American which sails December first.

Frank and Ernest By BRIGGS

THEY TOOK SIX BOWS! AND COULD HAVE FORGED A SEVENTH
HOW DO YOU GET DOWN FROM AN ELEPHANT FRANK?
YOU DON'T ERNEST— YOU GET DOWN FROM A DUCK!
FIVE FLIVVERS IN SINGLE FILE CROSSING A BRIDGE... WHAT TIME IS IT?
TIN AFTER TIN
YOU MEAN TO STAND OUT IN FRONT OF THIS INTELLIGENT AUDIENCE AND TELL ME YOU HELD YOUR WIFE'S HAND FOR AN HOUR LAST NIGHT?
I DID— IF I HAD LET GO SHE'D HAVE KILLED ME!
IF THE CAT PUT HER KITTENS IN THE OVEN, WHAT WOULD THEY BE?
BIS-KITS
FOLLOW ME CLOSELY FRANK. WHY IS AN OLD GOLD CIGARETTE LIKE A HARD-BOILED EGG?
BECAUSE- IT CAN'T BE BEAT
YES, BOYS, THAR'S GOLD IN THEM THAR PILLS!
BRIGGS

OLD GOLD
The Smoother and Better Cigarette
... not a cough in a carload

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Heoburn Street
WILLIAMSFORT. PA.
Phone 7158

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock R. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

WAINIES

Have you ever tried asking your friends?
Any man who wears John Wards will tell the same story.
The leathers in John Wards are choicer, wear better. The fit and workmanship are more expert. They have more style appeal to men of the better class.
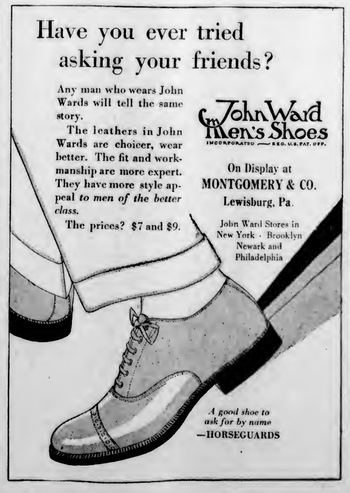
The prices? $7 and $9.
John Ward Men's Shoes
INCORPORATED
On Display at MONTGOMERY & CO. Lewisburg, Pa.
John Ward Stores in New York - Brooklyn Newark and Philadelphia



CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Bisons and W. and J. Play Scoreless Game

(Continued from Page 1)

ball to W. and J.'s three-yard mark. At this point the Presidents' line braced and the Bucknell team lost the ball on downs. Immediately afterwards Robinson booted out of danger and Bucknell started another drive down the field.

Aided by a penalty, Bucknell worked the ball to W. and J.'s 25-yard mark. On three successive downs the Bisons were unable to gain an inch through the line. On the fourth try Captain Halicki attempted to boot a field goal, but the kick went wide of its intended destination. That was Bucknell's last chance for a score.

The Presidents, after taking the ball on their own 20-yard line, put on a little uprising of their own. Unleashing a series of savage line thrusts and a baffling aerial attacks, the Washington gridders marched down the field to the enemy's four-yard line.

Here it was that Bucknell braced, and a fine Bison defense frustrated all hopes that W. and J. had for scoring. With a few minutes remaining for play, both elevens endeavored to gain through the air. Tony Slate, crafty Bison halfback, intercepted a hostile pass on his own 44-yard line as the game ended.

Halicki Stars For Bisons

Captain "Eddie" Halicki was the chief ground gainer of the tussle, the Bison leader tearing off substantial yardage almost every time he carried the ball. Halicki, who has been dubbed "Five Yard" Halicki, lived up to his new nickname on that muddy field at Johnstown, where he amazed the 10,000 spectators with a thrilling exhibition of line plunging.

"Rus" Edwards, crack W. and J. halfback, returned to the Presidents' lineup last Saturday, to aid materially in holding the Bisons to a tie. Edwards skirted the ends, and threw passes much to the discomfort of the Bisons. "Jap" Douds, tackle, loomed up as a mammoth threat on the defense, as did also Captain Ashmann.

The line-up:

W. and J.		Bucknell
McMunn	L. E.	James
Douds	L. T.	Woerner
Malcolm	L. G.	T. Jones
Aschman	C.	Mitchell
Newby	R. G.	Ellor
Levine	R. T.	Bollinger
Secrist	R. E.	W. Wadsworth
Robinson	Q. B.	Brumbaugh
Edwards	L. H. B.	Hambacker
Lewis	R. H. B.	Slate
Gilchrist	F. B.	Halicki

Score by periods:

W. and J.	0	0	0	0	0
Bucknell	0	0	0	0	0

Substitutions—W. and J.: P. Jones for Edwards, Edwards for P. Jones, Paulie for Secrist, Secrist for Gilchrist, P. Jones for Secrist, Secrist for Paulie. Bucknell: Lobel for W. Wadsworth, C. Jones for Hambacker, Ammerman for Brumbaugh, Truxall for James, Halicki for Ammerman, James for Truxall, Hambacker for C. Jones, Walls for Tom Jones, Mutzel for Ellor.

Failed placement goal from field—Halicki, Bucknell (W. and J. 25-yard line). Referee—J. T. Clinton, Yale. Umpire—Carl A. Reed, Springfield. Head linesman—R. A. Greene, Penn. Field judge—Al Slack, Pittsburgh. Time of periods—15 minutes.

ARTHUR RUGH TALKS ON STUDENT PROJECTS

(Continued from Page 1)

set toward China, and toward foreign nations in general," Mr. Rugh continued. A new generation must meet new social and economic conditions, and it will be a million college students who will decide America's leadership.

Missionaries and educational workers in Brazil, as in China, are trembling just because of the uncertainity of their support, explained Mr. Rugh. Their morale is being undermined. They need help. "And it won't come from the older generation—it's too engrossed in money getting. Here is the opportunity for your generation, a student body that is wasting money on everything as no student body before has ever done."

"The cost of the maintenance of all our automobiles for one year would send every student in the Phillipines, China, and Japan, through school from the grades through a university," was Mr. Rugh's startling statement. "We can't find the climax of life in a Packard," he added.

Mr. Rugh spoke to the student body again, in chapel this morning. At 11:30 he addressed several combined classes meeting in Bucknell Hall. The "Bucknell in Brazil" student-faculty committee met with Mr. Rugh after last night's meeting.

W. J. B. U. INCREASES STATIONS WAVE LENGTH

(Continued from page 1)

Island. Letters have been coming in steadily and in large numbers since the station's "red letter" night.

Last Monday evening the debate between Bucknell and Oxford was broadcast with very successful results. Due to a conflict with WBAX, a Wilkes-Barre station, the results of the Temple game will not be broadcast. A Thanksgiving program will be given on Wednesday, November 28. The feature of this program will be "Ted" Vonida's Orchestra from Sunbury. Broadcasting will start at 8:00 p. m., the usual time.

B. U. WINS DECISION IN DEBATE WITH OXFORD

(Continued from page 1)

a brand of wit and logic that would have done justice to an Oxonian. The Bucknell team was a well rounded combination, Clyde L. Bailey, '29, and James Williams, '29, both acquitting themselves very creditably.

In opposing the entry of the United States into the League of Nations, the negative team fell back on the traditional prejudice against "entangling alliances." Also, as usual, our entry was opposed on account of that annoying feature of the League Covenant, Article X, which it is claimed, threatens to limit American freedom of action.

President Hilton G. Evans of Crozer Theological Seminary, who graduated from Bucknell in 1888, and is now a trustee of Bucknell, got a thrill he wasn't looking for one night recently when a highwayman held him up as he was entering the Crozer campus. The bandit had a revolver, and there was nothing for Dr. Evans to do but "stick 'em up" while the bandit "frisked" him. The robber took a purse containing $50 and other matter and disappeared in the dark.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22
"OUR DANCING DAUGHTERS"
With JOAN CRAWFORD and Great Cast.

TOMORROW, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 23
MILTON SILLS in
"THE CRASH"
and FREE Dinnerware.

COMING— SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 24
A Paramount Laugh Special.
W. C. FIELDS—CHESTER CONKLIN in "FOOLS FOR LUCK"
With "SALLY" BLAINE and "JACK" LUDIN

COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY, NOV. 26-27
"THE RIVER PIRATE" With
VICTOR McLAGLEN, LOIS MORAN, NICK STUART, EARLE FOXE and DONALD CRISP
A Wm. Fox Big Special.

COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, NOV. 28-29
Enough "IT" to sink a battleship.
CLARA BOW
in her latest and guaranteed her Best Picture
"THE FLEET'S IN"
With JAMES HALL
Be Sure To See It.

COAKLEY ATTRACTIONS
Youngstown, Ohio
PRESENTS
NEW ORLEANS
Black Birds Orchestra
12 Black Clouds of Joy from Sunny South
Playing for the Big Thanksgiving Dance at
WEST SIDE PARK, Berwick
Thanksgiving, Thursday, Nov. 29
Ladies 50c 9 to 1 o'clock Gentlemen $1.00

STYLES OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM SHOES
$10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

Whether You Beg For a Touchdown or Plead Against One
A
MONTGOMERY
Overcoat or Suit
will be your warmest and best looking friend of the game.

Football throngs are noted as the best dressed out-of-door crowds---and the exclusive style, perfect fit of Montgomery's tailoring have raised it far above the ruck of competition and into the realm of merited preference among Bucknell students.

MONTGOMERY'S
AT BUCKNELL

To the Students
OF
B. U.
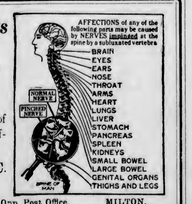
WHEN IN need of Health Service of a Drugless Nature this Office is at your Service.
CHAS. S. HARMAN, D. C.
Grad. Chiropractor
Over Krauser's Drug Store, Opp. Post Office. MILTON.



Mearns V. Arbogast
DRAYMAN
Phone 196
WATER STREET LEWISBURG, PA.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

The Bucknell Campus
is well dotted with our
Leather Coats and Jackets
Boys and Girls generally have found our line very pleasing and our prices right.
If you are looking for good, snappy, stylish Leather Coats, we have them.
Drop in and inspect our Showing of Coats.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
New Dresses
First Showing of 1929 Dress Styles
at $10.00 and $15.00 each
Sizes 16 to 40. Come in and look them over.

How Many Handkerchiefs in Our Window?
20 boxes at 50c each given away to the twenty persons guessing the nearest the number of handkerchiefs in the window.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

The Bucknellian

VOLUME 32 PART 2 Editor, Robert L. Lyon LEWISBURG, PENNSYLVANIA, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1928 Business Manager, John N. Feaster NUMBER 11

He Did It In Two Weeks—Joe L. Bennett, of Urbana, Illinois, is the best whisker grower at the University of Illinois. He raised the aforesaid beard quickly and efficiently—for which feat does he deserve any credit? (Pacific & Atlantic)

A Water Cure for Freshmen—It is the inalienable right of upper classmen to duck all freshmen on Halloween. This happens at New York University and is supposed to be good for the newcomers. (International Newsreel)

Class Presidents Shine as Athletic Stars—Here we have the chief executives of three upper classes at Northwestern University. Justin Dart (left)—senior class—is an outstanding figure. He has been a guard on the football team for three seasons, and a member of the track team for two seasons—winning the hammer throw in the Big Ten championships last spring. He is president of the "N" Men's Association and a member of Beta Theta Pi. Walter Colbath (center) heads the juniors, and he is also captain of the swimming team. Twice has he won the national intercollegiate diving championship. He also shows speed in the forty yard swim and on the relay team. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Frank Baker (right) is president of the sophomore class. He has gained distinction by his work at end on the football team and had a remarkable prep school record. He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi. (John D. Jones)

Along the Midway in Chicago—An aeroplane view of the campus of the University of Chicago. The Midway is a beautiful double drive boulevard, and the university buildings may be seen to the left of it. Eventually buildings will line both sides of this drive. (Aerial Photographic Service, Inc.)

Returning a Graceful Gesture—When Cecil Rhodes left a large sum of money to establish scholarships for outstanding American students at Oxford University, he forged a solid link in the chain of British-American friendship. Here we have a notable group reciprocating with the American Trust Fund for Oxford University which has been established by the American Association of Rhodes Scholars. Left to right—seated—Franklin F. Russell, secretary of the association, and J. Stewart Baker, president of the Bank of Manhattan Company, in whose office this photograph was taken. Standing—John W. Davis, Democratic candidate for president in 1924; J. G. Scott, British consul in New York; Henry A. Moe, secretary of the Guggenheim Memorial Foundation, and Carroll Wilson, a former Rhodes scholar. (Underwood & Underwood)

Guide Activities of Junior Class at Harvard—These are the officers of the class of 1930. Left to right: J. N. VanHitch, secretary and treasurer; W. R. Harper, president; J. E. Barrett, vice president. Harper is first string fullback and Barrett is a tackle on the Crimson eleven. (Harvard Crimson)

A Close Struggle for Lower Class Honors—Colgate sophomores defeat freshmen in a close struggle in the annual underclass rush. The score was 152 to 151. Senior society men—wearing white and black hats—are acting as score keepers.

(Colgate Maroon)

This Harvard Grad Once Wrote a Check for $146,000,000.00—And it was good. May we introduce Clarence Dillon—known as the Baron in his undergraduate days—head of Dillon, Read and Company, and a power in Wall Street. He received his A. B. from Harvard in 1905. After several successful business ventures, he became a member of the firm of William A. Read and Company in 1916, and in 1919 he was elected president. He wrote the famous cheque mentioned above when he headed the syndicate which bought Dodge Brothers three years ago.

(Underwood & Underwood)

Where Great Engineers Sprout Their Wings—The striking campus of Massachusetts Institute of Technology on the Charles River at Cambridge. Laboratories, classrooms, library, infirmary, and administration offices surround the Great Court (left center). The foundry, power house, and new aeronautical building may be seen in the background. At the lower right are the gymnasium, dining hall, activity offices, dormitories, and president's residence. (Fairchild Aerial Surveys, Inc.)

"Keep Off The Grass"—Evidently treading on forbidden greensward is a passion with Smith undergraduates for here we have a group of determined looking young women who are known as "Grass Cops." We wonder just what the qualifications are which go to make a successful "Grass Cop."

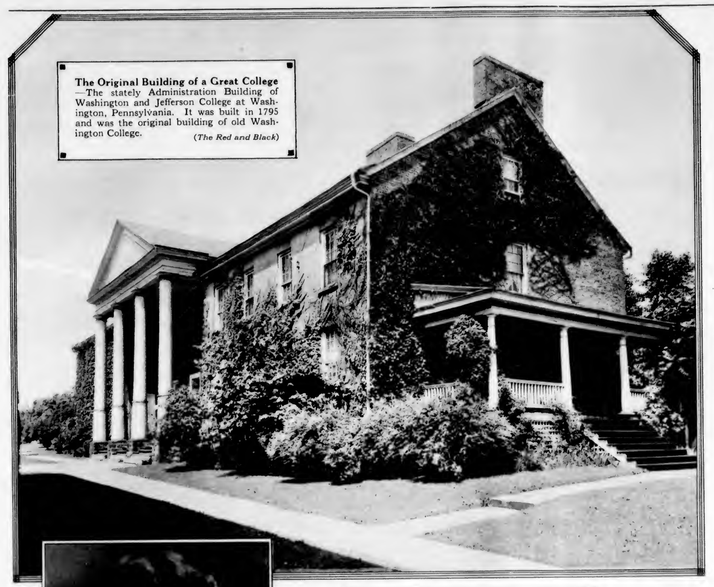
(Eric Stahlberg)

Lions Show Their Heels to Cross-Country Rivals—For the past two years the Penn State harriers have been intercollegiate champions. This year's team—shown here—expects to hold the title safely. Bill Cox, the captain, has won the individual honors twice. Dick Detweiler won the I. C. A. A. A. A. freshman title last year—making two individual champions on the same team. Left to right—Detweiler, Robinson, Pettit, Kavolick, Rekers, King, Captain Cox, Meisinger, Bass, Lee, Ratcliff, Conroe, and Offenhauser.

(Penn State Photo Shot)

Plaid Eleven Defeats Georgetown 13 to 0—Flanagan of Carnegie Tech carrying the ball through the Georgetown line. The Tech eleven stands out as one of the strongest teams in the East.

(International Newsreel)



The Original Building of a Great College—The stately Administration Building of Washington and Jefferson College at Washington, Pennsylvania. It was built in 1795 and was the original building of old Washington College.

(The Red and Black)

Certainly Not, Boys, That's a Real Rifle—And Miss Adela Hale, captain of the girls' rifle team of the University of Kansas, can use it effectively when the occasion requires. In her first year on the rifle team she turned in a perfect score. That was three years ago—so you can see how good she must be now. Miss Hale comes from Hutchinson, Kansas.

(Pacific & Atlantic)

Giving Berlin the Once Over—Andrew Guvenall, Quincy, Illinois (left), and Newton Nesmith, Woodstock, Illinois—graduates of Northwestern University—are touring the world, using a motorcycle and some ships (on account of the great quantity of water). Here we see the intrepid travelers at the famous Brandenberg Gate on their arrival in Berlin. They have visited Holland, Germany, and Switzerland.

(Pacific & Atlantic)

They Will Probably Have the Last Word—Here are the three British college women who are invading this country to hold debates at various points. This photograph was snapped at Euston Station in London. From left to right—Miss Leonore Lockhart, of Cambridge University, Miss Nancy Samuel, of Oxford University, and Miss Margery Sharp, of Bedford College.

(Wide World)

Win Sophomore Scholarship Honors at Wisconsin—Donald Meiklejohn (shown) and Bonnie Blanch Small have received the grade of "Excellent" in every course they have taken during their first two years, and, as a result, they led the list of sophomore honor students. Meiklejohn is a son of Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, formerly president of Amherst, and now professor of philosophy and head of the new experimental college at Wisconsin. Donald Meiklejohn has won his letter at hockey and tennis.

(De Longe)

An Alabama Honor Man—Lewis Smith, of the University of Alabama, in addition to being student president, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa, is a leader in nearly every phase of campus life. He probably has more honors than any student who has attended that institution in the past five years. He is a junior lawyer.

(Orville Rush)

Where the Bucknell Eleven Plays—The new Memorial Stadium of Bucknell University is situated in a most charming spot in the beautiful Buffalo Valley of Pennsylvania with a view of the distant Buffalo Mountain. At the entrance (in the background) stands the Christy Mathewson Memorial Gate—erected by organized baseball in memory of a marvelous pitcher and a great sportsman who was a graduate of Bucknell.

(Bucknell News Service)

A New Tower Rises on Dartmouth Campus—It tops the new million-dollar Baker Memorial Library—a beautiful example of the simpler type of Colonial Georgian architecture. The new library has accommodations for 350,000 books and its reading rooms can seat 1,000 students. It is the gift of George F. Baker. (The Dartmouth)

When Good Fellows Get Together—"Mayor Jimmy Walker," of New York (Miss Sue Shepard, Cheboygan, Michigan) poses with "Col. Charles Lindbergh" (Miss Alice Abbott, Buffalo, New York) in a mock political rally held at Wellesley. Far be it from us to criticise these austere seniors—but Jimmy Walker's clothes fit him perfectly, and Col. Lindbergh hardly ever wears cavalry boots with spurs in riding a 'plane. (Wide World)

"Hallelujah On The Bum"—Three pseudo-hoboes of the senior class at Simmons College. They are not really tramps, my dear. They are just playing at it for the annual house-warming hobo party. From left to right—Margaret Merrick, Janet Hayman, and Betty Whipple. (International Newsreel)

205 Pounds of Brilliant Football—Eddie Decker, '29, is playing his third season as halfback at Yale. He is noted for his stone-wall defensive play. (Yale Pictorial)

That Rejuvenated Notre Dame Team—Niemiec, one of Rockne's star ball carriers in action in the third period of the game at Yankee Stadium. The Irish pulled one of the big surprises of the season when they administered a 12 to 6 defeat to the strong Army eleven that had previously conquered Harvard and Yale. (Wide World)

"Make this your winter of supreme loveliness through PRINCESS PAT"

by Dorothy Gulliver

MAKE-UP AND SKIN CARE ARE SO IMPORTANT

WINTER . . . cold, nipping winds, pastimes that take you in and out of doors . . . zestful, brimful days of sports, of dances, of pleasure, but so hard upon your skin . . . so disastrous to the very beauty upon which your social success and keenest enjoyment depends.

And winter brings your beauty to closest inspection . . . places you under the brilliant lights of the ball room . . . the contacts of your bridge game . . . all the countless hours of indoor pleasures. Yet notice how different are the complexions you see—some beautifully soft and velvety, some roughened and hardly smoothed to a semblance of beauty. Just chance? Not likely, for the smart, fashionable woman of today leaves nothing to chance.

Princess Pat Beauty Aids Guard Your Skin and Give You Supreme Loveliness

Just the soothing caress of Princess Pat Powder helps wonderfully. Its famous Almond Base of course protects against winter's winds and cold. Not a bit like the usual powders of starch base. Instead of harshness—when the skin is drawn with cold—Princess Pat Almond Base Powder gives smoothness and pliancy. It protects the pores. And when you go out doors—go from hot to cold—there is not the same shock to your skin.

Dorothy Gulliver, famous Universal film star, registers brave delight every time she opens a box of Princess Pat Powder. The exclusive drawer feature seems to make an especial hit with this noted actress.

"Princess Pat Tan fit, the new, smart, luxe powder and lip rouge treatment, is certainly a clever idea. No compact, ever, was so compact—no smaller purse, and it's truly stylish!"

Then there is Princess Pat Rouge. It too has a base of Precious Almond. 'Tis a further protection to your skin to use this most delightful—and beautiful—of all rouges. You'll love Princess Pat Rouge because it simply cannot give the "painted look," which the most fashionable women no longer tolerate.

Another indispensable aid is Princess Pat Lip Rouge. It matches Princess Pat Rouge—giving artistic harmony. But it does much more. It colors most beautifully the inside surface of lips—the surface that shows when you smile or talk—the surface to which no other rouge will adhere. You cannot imagine—but must experience—the effect to know how beautiful your lips can be made.

And of course creams! There are the three Princess Pat creams to keep your skin perfect, during the most severe trials of winter weather.

It Is So Easy to Find Out—to Test the Wondrous Virtues of Princess Pat

You might not care to purchase all Princess Pat preparations in full size, at one time, to make a complete test—to see how much better it is to use all beauty aids of one make—beauty aids especially prepared to help one another.

But it is so easy to clip the coupon below and send for the beautiful Princess Pat Collegian Kit. Almost a month's supply—enough to prove beyond question that through Princess Pat you may make this your "winter of supreme loveliness." Too, you will receive the most stunning book of real beauty information between covers—information which is scientific—which does tell you how to care for your skin—how to use make up so that no one can tell but that your beauty is absolutely natural.

Millions of women know that Princess Pat beauty aids are infinitely superior. The special Collegian Kit—worth far more than your quarter—will convince you. Send for it today.

PRINCESS PAT Creates a Very Special

COLLEGIAN KIT

that enables you to try 8 of these marvelous beauty aids

Send for it Today

"Sing ho! for the dainty co-ed,
Her beauty can dazzle the eye!
Sing ho! for her lips of bright red
And her cheeks where the soft roses lie!
"You can go to the East or the West—
All the co-eds will praise Princess Pat,
And their beauty will meet every test—
They know how it's done—and that's that!"

If you are not already in on the know—that is, if you haven't already discovered the very surest and smartest way in which the modernistic woman cultivates her dazzling beauty—then by all means send for the amazingly popular Princess Pat Collegian Kit at once.

Created especially for the reigning beauties of America's great colleges and universities, and endorsed and recommended by leading stars of the stage and screen, the Collegian Kit brings you eight generous sized introductory packets of marvelous Princess Pat preparations. Easily enough to last a full month.

And all for only twenty-five cents! It's almost unbelievable—to get so much for so little—but then, this is Princess Pat's contribution of beauty, charm and loveliness to the collegians.

A Collegian Kit is waiting for you—so tear out the coupon below and send at once, before you forget.

*Advertising Managers of College Papers—Write for Special New Publicity Proposition.

The Princess Pat Collegian Kit is decorated with the flags and pennants of leading colleges and universities in full color. College yells and songs are printed inside—with a special introduction by Dorothy Gulliver, the famous Universal film star, and a gorgeous new beauty book. Indescribably smart! Send for it TODAY!

Outline of Sales Talk Free!

If you are assigned a "sales talk" and should like to make Princess Pat the subject of your message we shall be glad to furnish an outline to guide you in preparing your work. Just write.

PRINCESS PAT LTD.,
2709 S. Wells St., Dept. No. 42-B, Chicago.
Enclosed find 25c for which send me the Princess Pat Collegian Kit.
Name & Print .....
Street .....
City and State .....

MANZ ROTOGRAVURE

ERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
ISBURG, PA.

LEST WE FORGET!
FRILL and FROWN—MON.
ARTIST COURSE—TUES.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

"B. U. IN BRAZIL"
DRIVE OPENS DEC. 6
GOAL—$1000

VOLUME XXXII — LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1928. — PART NO. ONE — NUMBER 12

B. U. Ends Season By Tying Temple As Lobel Scores

A 35-yard Pass from Brumbaugh In Final Minutes of Play Thrills Holiday Fans

HALICKI CLOSES CAREER BY KICKING EXTRA POINT

A 35-yard pass from Brumbaugh to Lobel in the last two minutes of play, enabled the Bucknell football team to score a touchdown and deadlock the Temple gridders before 8,000 frenzied spectators at the Memorial Stadium on Thanksgiving Day. Captain Halicki kicked the goal that provided the extra point necessary to tie the score.

The game was bitterly fought from start to finish. Temple forged ahead in the early minutes of the game, when Wearshing scored after blocking a punt deep in Bucknell territory. Bucknell kicked off to Temple, but the visitors finding that it was well nigh impossible to gain through the Bison line, returned the ball. In the middle of their own domain, Captain Halicki's men tried two line plunges which failed to realize a gain. Then "Chuck" Jones dropped back to kick.

Marcus, star Temple end, broke through the Bison defense and blocked the attempt. Quick as a flash Kramer pounced on the truant pigskin on Bucknell's 28-yard line. On the first play Captain Gugle whipped a long forward pass to Wearshing, who was downed on the Bucknell 3-yard mark. A triple pass, Gugle to Hansen to Wearshing, resulted in a touchdown, Wearshing carrying the ball over the line for a score. Bonner kicked the goal, and Temple was seven points ahead.

After the next kickoff, the game became a kicking duel between Eller of Bucknell and Wearshing of Temple. Eller had the upper hand in this argument, his kicks far outdistancing those of his opponent.

(Continued on page 6)

Frill and Frown Play To Be Given Monday

The date of the Frill and Frown play, which was scheduled for Thursday night, December 6, at Bucknell Hall, has been changed to Monday, December 10. It is a 3-act comedy called "One of Our Family," by Kenneth Webb, and is guaranteed to drive the blues away. The cast includes such comedienes as "Dodie" Siner, '29, and "Toots" Thomas, '29, who takes the part of the "kid sister." "Betty" Sale, '29, as the maiden aunt, and "Sally" Porter, '29, as "somebody's stenog" are sure to cause a mix-up, and many complications arise. The complete cast follows:

George Adams	John Anderson
Maggie, the maid	Doris Siner
Penelope Adams	Mary Thomas
Lucy Adams	Mary Williams
Miss Priscilla Adams	Elizabeth Sale
Irene Adams	Elizabeth Dill
Frank Owens	William Price
Henry Adams	Miles Stocker
Joyce Smith	Sara Porter
Martin Burke	Ralph Binder

Costumes Figure in Plans Of Present Girls' Glee Club

The Girls' Glee Club is making great progress this year, due to the fact that all members are required to be Bucknell voice students. There are 32 members, practically all of whom have had some experience along musical lines.

A new feature this year will be several programs rendered in costume, among which will be included Japanese, Spanish, and Colonial. Most of the work will be done by the girls' quartet, and an additional double quartet. No definite dates have been set for trips, but it is expected that the club will go to Milton, Devitt's Camp, and Shamokin.

Education Club To Meet

A meeting of the Education Club will be held one week from today, at room B6, at 7:30. A speaker will be secured.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Prof. Theiss Talks On the "Newspaper"

Dr. Lewis E. Theiss of the Department of Journalism addressed Prof. C. R. Johnson's class in Sociology on the "Newspaper" on Tuesday morning, November 27. Dr. Theiss' wide experience on a large New York newspaper gives him a splendid background for a discussion of this subject.

He stressed the importance of the newspaper as an educational medium, it being a record of current history, and urged the students to form the habit of reading a daily paper. He pointed out that an average daily edition of the New York Times contains reading matter which is equivalent to the amount to be found in four ordinary sized novels. All of this daily news must be gathered fresh every day, so that the work of a large newspaper is enormous. Dr. Theiss likened the work of such a newspaper to that of a great army with its staff and its carefully organized search for news.

Students in this class and other Sociology classes are reading a daily newspaper as a required part of the course. Sample newspapers from different parts of the country have been secured and distributed to each student. Among these newspapers are the New York Times, The New York World, The New Leader, The Christian Science Monitor, The Dallas News, and the Los Angeles Times.

Penna. Association Of Language to Meet

Undergraduates living in the vicinity of Reading who are interested in modern languages, should make note of the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Modern Language Association, to be held in that city December 27 and 28. Bucknell will be well represented on the program, which will be of great interest to any who wish to keep in touch with current tendencies in modern language teaching.

Dr. Coit R. Hoeehst, '07, director of Americanization for the city of Pittsburgh, who has charge of the revision of the state syllabus for foreign languages now being made, will speak on the topic: "A State Program for Modern Languages."

Mr. Ralph W. Haller, '08, head of the department of German and French in Morris High School, New York City, will speak on "Informational Material in the Syllabus." Mr. Haller has been acting as chairman of a New York committee investigating this problem.

Professor Leo L. Rockwell of the German department of the University, who is president of the state association this year, will preside, and conduct a discussion of the place and function of the state association. The organization shows this year the largest membership in its history and is coming to be of decided importance in the development of better modern language teaching in the state.

"Y" Bazaar to Offer Variety of Bargains

Only eight more shopping days before Christmas vacation! All ye bargain-seekers, come to the Y. W. C. A. Bazaar on Monday, December 10, at the Baptist church, and select a worthwhile trinket for your worthy roommate from the Treasure Chest. Novelties of every description have been looted by Bucknell pirates from the ends of the earth and Philadelphia, including brasses, linens, and Czecho-Slovakian brica-brac (There!) The handkerchiefs, bridge favors, pillows, aprons, and whatever-you-want are of a fine grade and—they are inexpensive. We have been assured by "Fran" Kernohan, '30, Head Pirate, that no piece of the booty will sell for more than $1.50.

The bazaar this year is going to be new and different from the usual Japanese effect. The social groups on the campus will each have charge of a booth, and everything will carry out the "treasure chest" idea. So don't forget to drop in at the Sunday School room of the Baptist church between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m. next Monday!

"Semites" Have Opportunity To Choose Orphan "Sisters"

The list of Bucknell orphans is being posted at the "Sem" this week, and any of the girls who wish to keep those they had last year may do so. In addition, there are quite a number of orphans who do not have "big sisters". Girls who would like to play Santa Claus are urged to see Jessie Fielding, '29, who is giving out the names. The annual orphan party will be held next week, the exact date to be announced later.

Committee Opens Drive; Pledges More Than $100

With more than one hundred dollars contributed by the members of the Student-faculty committee as a beginning, the financial drive, for the Bucknell in Brazil project opens fire today, Thursday, December sixth, with a goal of $1000 in view. Every member of the student body, faculty, alumnae body and town are free to give during the next two days whatever he may choose.

Contributions To Be Voluntary

The financial campaign has been carefully worked out under the direction of Paul Fink, '29, and Dr. N. H. Stewart. Individual, voluntary gifts are the basis of the drive. One person from each fraternity and from the non-fraternity groups will be responsible for collecting from the individual. In this way each person in the school will be asked for a contribution. The progress of the drive will then be reported from day to day, showing the final achievement of the $1000 goal.

Organizations Back Drive

Expression of the method of the financial drive was given Thursday morning in both freshman and upperclass chapel. Further publicity in the form of handbills, calling attention to the amount needed and to the good that particular amounts would do, were distributed about the campus. Signs posted up and down the paths on the campus show that the majority of the organizations on the campus are backing this Bucknell endeavor to further education in the Reno school in Brazil. Among the organizations listed are: Sigma Chi, Delta Delta Delta, Alpha Chi Omega, Frill and Frown, Zeta Gamma Tau, Delta Sigma, C. E. A., the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., Women's Student Government, the Student Council.

At the last meeting of the Bucknell in Brazil committee which was held Tuesday evening, December fourth in the play room of the new

(Continued on last page)

Belle Hop Excels All Previous Issues

One of the snappiest issues which the numerous Belle Hop staffs have ever put out has just come off the press. The present number of the Bucknell humorous magazine has not only greatly surpassed all previous issues this year, but will make those to follow, step their best if they are to better it in any way.

Real wit and satire are very much in evidence in the current Belle Hop, and this fact has been recognized to such an extent that the stock for sale is rapidly dwindling in an extensive distribution about the campus. From members of all the classes and groups of students on the Hill and at the "Sem" are coming praise and congratulations for the staff which has achieved this master stroke of collegiate humor. Hats off to the Bucknell Belle Hop!

WOMEN DEBATORS CHOSEN

The try-outs for the Bucknell women's debating squad have been held, and the team will be chosen later from the following women: Edna Craft, '30, Elizabeth Dill, '31, Trennie Elsley, '31, Margaret Erb, '31, Agnes Garrity, '32, Esther Groton, '29, Grace Schuam, '31, Elizabeth Siegfried, '29, and Grace Troutman, '29.

Read the Bucknellian.

Huge Audience Warms to Personality and Wit Of Norman Thomas as He Discusses Socialism

Students Notice!

In order that all students may obtain admission without confusion to the Artist Course Concert on December 11 at the Baptist church, the Registrar will issue student tickets upon application to his office.

"1 Per Ct. of Our People Own One-third Of Our Wealth," Declaration of Speaker

RECENT SOCIALIST CANDIDATE FOR PRESIDENT AND FORMER BUCKNELL STUDENT SCORES THE PRESENT INDUSTRIAL SYSTEM

Cause of Poverty is Laid at Feet of Wealth Which is Gained In Form of "Unearned Increment;" Address Also Considers Faults of Capitalism

Suffusing his words with a mellow humor and a crackling wit, Norman Thomas, recent Socialist candidate for president, and onetime Bucknell student, addressed an audience which packed Commencement Hall Monday night, and aroused it to a demonstration of enthusiasm such as might have been expected from a crusading radical group. Although speaking on "What is Socialism,"—a subject which could be expected to win little spontaneous favor from a conservative college assembly in provincial Buffalo Valley—by his personality and moderation he was easily able to dissipate the bulk of his hearers' prejudice and win the admiration of even those who disagreed.

Indicts Present Industrial System

Mr. Thomas' indictment of the present industrial system was severe. Poverty, although inexcusable in the light of the development of industry, is a serious factor. One per cent. of our people own one-third of our wealth, while there are 283 persons in the country who receive annual million-dollar incomes. One thousand average workmen would have to pool their entire wages for a year to equal the income of one of these individuals. One-third of the population at the age of 65 or over are at least partially dependent on charity. At the same time, the increase in the use of machinery correspondingly increases the army of unemployed. Joint-stock holding, said the speaker, is not doing what is claimed for it. At present only two per cent. is owned by workers. Moreover, the policies of such a company as the American Telephone and Telegraph —which is owned by joint stock holders—are controlled by the owners of a little block of "voting stock."

Wealth vs. Poverty

Poverty, said Mr. Thomas, is caused by the fact that nearly all wealth has been gained in the form

(Continued on last page.)

Artist Course Next To Present Chamlee, Tenor

The tenor upon whom the Metropolitan organization depends to sing the leading roles in their most famous opera house will appear Tuesday evening, December 11, at 8:15 p. m. at the Lewisburg Baptist church. Bucknell is fortunate in being able to support artists of this calibre, artists who appear in the largest cities of the United States and Europe. Just such artists are Chamlee and his wife, Ruth Miller.

Chamlee is a graduate of the University of Southern California, from which he recently received the honorary degree of Master of Music. Since his graduation from that university, this artist has worked his way up through the multitude of minor artists of the Metropolitan, achieved fame as Rodolfo in "La Boheme," Alfredo in "La Traviata," The Duke in "Rigoletto," Lieutenant Pinkerton in "Madame Butterfly," Dr. Faust in both Bloto's "Mefistofele" and Gounod's "Faust," and many other roles.

Chamlee was enthusiastically received in the greatest music centers of Europe, Vienna, Berlin, London; Baden-Baden, and Prague, and proclaimed "a great new tenor on a par" with the greatest singers of all time." When such an ovation is given in these centers to an American artist, his fellow countrymen can be sure that he deserves their most interested support.

Chamlee will be supported by his wife, Ruth Miller, another American artist of note. Each one of the artists will present a solo aria and the two will unite in the presentation of the Finale from "Manon."

The program is as follows:

1. (a.) Slighted Swain—Old English; (b.) Adelaide—Beethoven; (c.) "Spirito Gentil" from the opera La Favorita—Donizetti——Mr. Chamlee.
2. (a.) Rosalind—Carmichael; (b.)

(Continued on last page.)

Prof. Warfel Speaks About Penna. Authors

Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel, of the Department of English, talked to the Clio Club, of Williamsport, on the Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving, about Pennsylvania authors. His talk was the interesting discussion of the Keystone State's outstanding fiction writers which he presented originally at a meeting of librarians, a summary of which the Bucknellian recently presented.

Michael Strange who was scheduled to address the Clio Club on this occasion, was prevented from filling her engagement by a serious accident that befell her in England. In place of Miss Strange the club asked Professor Warfel to talk.

PICTURES WANTED!

Action pictures of campus activities are wanted for publication in L'Agenda. Photos of scraps, bonfires, inter-class games, or any activities of general interest should be sent to Donald J. Kammire, at the Phi Gamma Delta house, or to John R. Bower, at the Theta Upsilon Omega house.

LEAGUE PLANS SOCIAL

The Epworth League of the Methodist church will hold a social in the Sunday school room of the church, on Friday evening, December 7, at 7:45. The committee in charge has refused to divulge the plans for the evening, but a big surprise is promised. Everybody is welcome.

Glee Club Reports Fine Holiday Trip

The Bucknell Men's Glee Club spent a pleasant and profitable vacation giving concerts in the western part of Pennsylvania. They report a very successful trip, for they were well received everywhere and had large audiences. They sang in many high schools as well as churches, giving both morning and evening concerts. Their itinerary included Braddock, Kittaning, New Bethlehem, Punxsutawney, Franklin, DuBois, and Johnsonburg. At DuBois many of the boys were guests of the Rotary Club.

One of the features this year is the "Al" Jolson favorite, "Sonny Boy," rendered by Henry Graham, '31. The complete program which the club gave is as follows:

(a.) Come, Bucknell Warriors!
Hail, Bucknell!—(Dedicated to President Emory W. Hunt.)
(b.) Morning ..... Speak Baldwin
Chorus
Reading—Selected.....Kenneth Haynes
Cavantino ..... J. Raff
Trio—J. C. Colledge, Violin; R. Davis, Cello; F. Ferrell Jr., Piano Popular Songs.
Henry M. Graham
(a.) Come to the Fair .....
—Eastrope Martin
(b.) Songs My Mother Taught Me .....
—Dvorak-Smith
Chorus
On the Road to Mandalay
—Oley Speak
Charles Frampton
Mandolin and Guitar Duet—Selected.
Blair Hazen and George Streitz

(Continued on last page.)

F. Kernohan Elected To National Office

Bucknell as a University and one of her members were signally honored when the presidency of the National Women's Student Government Association for 1929 was bestowed upon Frances Kernohan, '30, who attended the National convention of the Association held November 16, in Cleveland, Ohio.

The election will probably mean the bringing of the next convention to Bucknell. Not only would this event bring recognition to the University, but it would also give the women of the campus an opportunity of entertaining students from all parts of the United States.

"Fran" Kernohan, was also recently elected to the presidency of Bucknell's Women's Student Government Association.

If efforts now being made at Boston University are successful, college credits will be given for work in the Glee Club. Strict attendance at concerts and rehearsals will be required. If the plan is approved, the work will be acceptable in all departments as credit toward a degree.

New Social Frat. Is Founded at Bucknell

Bucknell has a new fraternity. On November 7, the faculty officially recognized Sigma Beta Delta. This new group, proceeding under the advice and support of several faculty members, and the endorsement of President Emory W. Hunt, has elected its officers and has completed its organization.

Clement C. Jablonski, '31, president of Sigma Beta Delta explained that the principle for which the new fraternity stands is positive religious tolerance, and that it is the first of Bucknell fraternities to express such a purpose. Sigma Beta Delta hopes to bring to some of the men who have not had the opportunity of enjoying fraternity life, a chance to gain some of those features of college life which they are now missing.

The fraternity, naturally small at its inception, has not planned to have a chapter house for the second semester. However, Sigma Beta Delta expects to enter a suitable home next fall.

Notice of Schedule Changes

Several changes have been made in the second semester's schedule in journalism. English 222, the study of the community newspaper, which was discontinued last semester, because of the shift in journalism work from a two-hour to a three-hour basis, will be resumed this semester. This course deals with newspapers in centres of 10,000 population or less, the present day field of greatest journalistic opportunity. This course is a three-hour course.

English 228, a one-hour course in editorial writing, will be given this semester. There are no journalism prerequisites to this course, but students must have taken English 101 and 102.

The courses in reporting, magazine writing, and editing will be given as usual.

Ask the "man in the gray hat" who put the tacks in "Docky" Davis' trees.

• • • •

One bright frosh, to the inquiry "B. U. in Brazil?" sweetly replied, "Naw, in Lewisburg."

• • • •

Jean Wood, '29, entertained her mother from Chicago here during Thanksgiving vacation.

• • • •

Miss Mary Gross, '31, was called to her home in Harrisburg on Tuesday, November 20, by the death of her grandmother.

• • • •

Mr. W. W. Robertson, of Merchantville, N. J., visited his daughter "Judy" Robertson, '30, the week-end before Thanksgiving.

• • • •

Isn't it a grand and glorious feeling to learn that a professor cut your class after a vacation when you thought you were cutting him?

• • • •

On account of the lack of sleep while home it was impossible for the students to take any interest in their classes the day after vacation.

• • • •

We seniors feel we are nearing the alumni class when we realize that the Thanksgiving football game was the last game we shall see while in college.

• • • •

Reginald Gaylord, '29, has taken advantage of his senior privileges and bought himself a derby and spats, but he draws the line at wearing the cane.

• • • •

November 27, marked an eclipse of the moon, visible at Lewisburg. Professor J. S. Gold's astronomy class was up at 3:30 a. m., ready to view the phenomenom.

• • • •

Those who went home for the Thanksgiving vacation got some Christmas shopping done, and in that one respect, at least, have an advantage over those who stayed at B. U.

• • • •

Alice Corbett, '30, spent Thanksgiving in Philadelphia with friends. The "Penn" junior prom was the attraction, and anyway Christmas vacation and home are just nine days away.

• • • •

The committee on the "Bucknell in Brazil" project was certainly not lacking in ingenuity on the Monday before vacation. We were greeted with signs of their cleverness as we climbed the Hill.

• • • •

The new idea of having study hall for the freshmen seems to be having a good effect on the upper-classmen also, since they have to take turns in being proctors and incidentally share in the studying.

• • • •

The young men request that once in a while their Seminary friends make an effort to be ready when they call. A certain collegian was known to wait an entire hour and a quarter for a certain co-ed.

• • • •

We hear that the 9:33 train was so crowded with returning students on Sunday night that some of the students had to sit in the baggage car. We wonder if freight rates are any cheaper than the regular fare.

• • • •

A certain Bucknellian said that half of the Bucknell men spend their spare time with the "Sem" women, and the other half of the men spend their spare time in Sunbury trying to get away from the "Sem" women.

• • • •

A grace contest is being held at the "Sem." The grace which is chosen as the best will be used by the "Semites" when they go into the new dining room which will soon be ready for use.

• • • •

About eighty "Semites" remained at Bucknell for the Thanksgiving vacation. This was a larger number to spend the vacation here than usual, and the "Sem" was not nearly as deserted during the holiday as many feared it would be.

• • • •

It takes the earth 24 hours to make its complete journey of 24,000 miles, or in other words it travels about 1000 miles an hour. Wouldn't it be great to invent an airplane that could make 2000 miles an hour so that we could leave Lewisburg Sunday night and we could get back to Lewisburg Saturday morning in order to sleep all day Sunday over again.

Eleanor Winslow, '29, entertained her mother on Saturday and Sunday of Thanksgiving vacation.

• • • •

Dorothy Knapp, '28, drove to Bucknell on Thanksgiving Day to attend the Bucknell-Temple game.

• • • •

Grace Roberts, '30, spent Thanksgiving vacation with Ruth Kizer, '30, at Ruth's home in Scranton.

• • • •

Halicki and Mitchell, "huntsmen of the plain," report that all they got, on a recent hunting trip was practice.

• • • •

"Mac" McElligot suffered from his journalistic efficiency recently when he was initiated into Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic fraternity.

• • • •

Wouldn't it be ideal to attend a college where students were allowed several days to rest up before having classes after each vacation?

• • • •

"Joe" Clark, congenial campus farmer and what-not, says he likes Bucknell a great deal, and that he may start coming to school one of these days.

• • • •

Prof. H. L. Childs' political science class never finished its national convention, so our country remains with Prof. Childs as president, but with no vice president.

• • • •

"Marge" Reno, '27, sailed on the Pan-American last Saturday for Brazil. By this time "Marge" is enjoying spring-like weather, while the rest of us are shivering in winter clothes.

• • • •

Professor F. G. Davis asked his education class last week how many of them had read the paper that morning. The result was shocking —we have a deplorably un-read student body!

• • • •

Doctors who have been investigating conditions at Bucknell say that the students don't get enough sleep. What we'd like to know is how do these students occupy their time at lectures, anyway?

• • • •

Mary and Margaret Beck, both '32, and residents of Lewisburg were present at the Navy-Princeton game Saturday, November 24. Following the game, they attended the cadet dance at the Bellevue-Stratford.

• • • •

There has been a transfer in education for practice teachers. The Milton and Lewisburg schools have exchanged student teachers, which makes, of course, just as many dissatisfied co-eds as there were before.

• • • •

The Jersey Shore High School band aided materially on Thanksgiving day by taking the place of the Bucknell band. The youngsters tooted some mean horns, and are to be commended for their fine showing.

• • • •

Fraternity basketball practice is starting and with it comes the old thrill. We hope there will be as much excitement this year as there was last. Fraternity basketball is such a help when things are getting tiresome during the winter weeks.

• • • •

Marie Fetherolf, '29, was fortunate in being able not only to spend the Thanksgiving vacation at her home, but to attend the game as well. She and her parents drove to Bucknell on Thanksgiving Day to see the game, and returned home that evening.

• • • •

Prof. William H. Coleman took drastic measures against the students in his early drama class who were late one day last week. Those who straggled in after the five-minute bell had rung heard the lid of the mail box clank down as the "cut" list slipped in.

• • • •

A real dinner with all the fixings was enjoyed by the co-eds who ate at the "Sem" on Thanksgiving day. Evidently the chef and his helpers in the kitchen succeeded in their desire to make the meal seem as much like Thanksgiving dinner at home as possible.

• • • •

Perhaps more students wish they had stayed for the game. At least some will have the opportunity of lording it over those who missed the spectacular wind-up of a successful football season. Was there ever a crowd quite as subdued as the Temple rooters after the completion of that forward pass and after that perfect dropkick?

Ann Sprout, '31, was not able to visit her home in Buffalo, New York during the Thanksgiving vacation, but she had the pleasure of having her parents and sister visit her here. Ann says that the Temple game was worth staying for.

• • • •

Dorothy Davies, '30, saw Philadelphia at night from the top of the Jefferson Hospital while she was home for the Thanksgiving vacation. From the roof garden on top of the 13-story hospital building, the brilliantly lighted city seemed like fairyland.

• • • •

A "Semite" remarked before vacation that she was going to have two Thanksgiving dinners, one at a fraternity house, and one at the "Sem." When asked how she could eat two such dinners, she said, "Oh, that's all right; I'll be going to the football game between them!"

• • • •

Leonard Horton, '31, discarded his crutches during vacation and is now able to get around very well with the aid of a cane. Leonard broke his ankle on October 10 while playing soccer on Loomis Field. It seems that this game is quite hard on toes, shins, ankles, etc.

• • • •

Prof. C. R. Johnson led a very interesting discussion in one of his classes an the subject—Resolved: that football players have brains as well as brawn. The topic seemed to be one of great interest, and the arguments, pro and con, became very lengthy, and very spirited.

• • • •

In spite of the fact that a sign has been up on the bulletin board of Old Main for some time announcing that the new Bucknell Directory is out, many students are just discovering the fact that this year's directory is here and can be obtained at the Registrar's office for a quarter.

• • • •

It will be of interest to those who frequent "O'Briens Night Club" to know that Mrs. O'Brien was struck by an automobile November 21. She had just recovered from an illness, and was taking a prescribed walk, when the accident occurred. The doctors say that she is not seriously injured.

• • • •

Those girls who spent Thanksgiving vacation at the "Sem" did not lack good things to eat from home. One "Semite" received the following articles of food: two boxes of candy, a cake, apples, oranges, bananas, and peanuts. Needless to say, she and friends had several "spreads" during the vacation.

• • • •

We wonder if we could give our next Oxford debating team some of our pure, refreshing mountain air when it comes again for a debate high up among Pennsylvania's hilltops. We feel certain that the audience would have appreciated very much a little of it for themselves on the night of the debate.

• • • •

Assistant Professor H. R. Warfel's class in advanced composition is on the hunt for the material for short stories which lies all around us. Already several stories have been written about campus life which strongly suggest Bucknell. You had better be careful about telling intimate tales to these eager seekers for material.

• • • •

Girls and their stubborn mailboxes! The new system and equipment of postal service was installed in the "Sem" during vacation. Each girl was assigned a box and given the combination but the two just don't seem to hang together. It takes hours of practice for some of the less fortunate co-eds to make the little brass handles work and then—no mail!

• • • •

Director Ralph F. Hartz filled the role of doctor while on the Glee Club tour. His medicine kit with its long rows of pill bottles was instrumental in curing colds, pains, indigestion, headaches, etc., on the Thanksgiving trip. We don't know what the soloists would have done without the aid of their director in the case of constricted throats.

• • • •

Very few students know that at one time Blair Hazen, '31, was the most talked-about minister in his home town of Braddock. The host of one of the Glee Club boys disclosed the secret. Several years ago members of De Molay of Braddock conducted services in the church and Blair's day was evidently the most successful.

• • • •

The "Semites" who remained at Bucknell during the Thanksgiving holiday say that those few minutes when the Bisons made the touchdown which tied the score of our game with Temple were worth spending the whole vacation at the "Sem." Indeed, they witnessed one of those events which happen only once or twice in a lifetime.

• • • •

An ardent plea was made in American literature class the other day that girls refrain from drinking or smoking so that their breath, like that of "Evangeline" may be "as sweet and fresh as that of the kine in the meadows." We wonder whether this young man is interested in women's morals or is merely a salesman for Listerine.

• • • •

"Don" Brubaker, '29, has a sad story to relate, regarding his pilgrimage back to Lewisburg to view the Temple game. He barely managed to get here at game time,—two burned-out bearings, slowing the progress of his Buick coupe. On the return trip a moving van was encountered, much to the dismay of the Buick. "Don" claims that it was worth it, anyway.

• • • •

Present-day Bucknellians will be interested in this item re-printed in the Lewisburg Journal from its issue of November 21, 1902.

The victory of the Bucknell eleven over the Annapolis team, 23 to 0, last Saturday was celebrated by the students and their friends last Saturday evening. Several bonfires and high jinks were freely indulged in and the boys made things lively for the time being.

The College Man's First Choice

You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Wards are preeminent as the shoes that college men prefer.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at
MONTGOMERY & CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Intelligence Test

Instructor—"Life Insurance?"
The Class (at one men, without hesitation)—"John Hancock"
Instructor (beaming with joy)—"Class dismissed. Your I. Q. is 130."

John Hancock MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY OF BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan FINE PENCILS
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
John Gittens, '30

The Phi Psi Farmers Party held before vacation was a raging success. The costumes were a riot, with every one entering into the spirit of the occasion. Many of the local farmers would have been put to shame had they been present.

The hay wagon ride sounded like a pep meeting, and drew plenty of attention from townpeople. The buffet luncheon was in keeping with the party. The decorations were typical of an old time barn dance, corn stalks, pumpkins, lanterns, and live stock contributed to the appearance. "Eddie" Hoffman and his Band, put out some modern and old time music that couldn't be excelled.

Brother John Gittens, '29, and pledge brother Allen Ellenberger, '32, spent their fourth consecutive week-end out of town. Must be nice.

Brother "Art" Stone, '31, and pledge brother Frank Grubb, spent the week-end with Lou Marchehano, ex-'30, in Harrisburg.

Brother Justin Brumbaugh, '31, is in the infirmary with a leg injury. Here's to a speedy recovery "Brumie."

Dr. J. P. Stump, of New York City, brother of pledge brother "Mike" Stump, '32, visited with us a week ago Saturday and Sunday.

Graham Mazzein and Jack Brandice of Colgate were visitors over the same week-end.

The Misses Brooks and Stainton, Mr. and Mrs. Hangartner, and "Al" Fogelsanger were guests at a recent Sunday dinner.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

Kappa chapter enjoyed a visit from Grand Praetor Joseph C. Nate and Mrs. Nate on Monday and Tuesday. A reception for the visitors was held at the house on Monday night, with the Sigma Chi mothers acting as hostesses.

The first of the town dances was held on Wednesday night at the house with "Eddie" Hoffman and Company supplying the music. Because of the beginning of vacation it was the first night that the boys were not hard at work on their books, and the relaxation probably accounted for the success of the affair. Professor and Mrs. N. H. Stewart and Brother and Mrs. Alfred G. Stoughton honored us by acting as chaperons.

Only four brothers remained at the house during the vacation. The only event that marred the tranquility of the place was the invasion of the crack S. A. E. poker team, "Tex" Walls and "Red" Hitchens. They literally staggered home with the loot, despite the noble efforts of "Histy" Milward, "Johnny" McNally, Harry Allsworth, and a marked deck.

KAPPA SIGMA
W. W. Herncane, '31

Alumni visitors over the vacation included, "Ken" Corson, ex-'28, "Ed" Zortman, '25, "Whitey" Barber, ex-'28, George Koch, '25, Tom Horan, '24, and "Spike" Beddow, ex-'29.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hepler and daughter Mary visited brother "Eddie" Hepler, '30, on Thanksgiving day.

Our annual Founder's Day banquet will be held on Saturday night December 8. This promises to be a real letter day for the fraternity, for the plans for our new house will be passed on by our building committee. The committee in charge have arranged a program fitting to the occasion. We expect quite a few of our more prominent alumni back for the event.

Plans are now under way to make our annual formal Christmas dance the best one so far. The next two weeks will see the pledges hard at work preparing for the coming affair.

Quite an air of mystery is surrounding the disappearance of "Jim" William's pin. Brother Williams claims that he left the pin at home, but popular belief is that one of the fair co-eds down at Stroudsburg Teacher's College, is the fortunate one.

Still another has fallen victim to the lure of the fair sex, for Charles Meadowcroft, '31, has appeared at the house without his fraternity pin.

"Slats" Wendell, '30, visited the cities of Wilmington, Del., and Philadelphia during the vacation period.

Brother F. W. Loeb of our baby chapter at Franklin and Marshall college visited us for several days.

We entertianed several of the boys from Temple over the week-end.

Most of the boys at the house remained over Thanksgiving to enjoy the turkey dinner. Long and loud were the praises sung to Brother Bianchi for the wonderful dinner he planned.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

On Thanksgiving evening, Zeta Alpha gave a dinner for her guests from Epsilon Alpha chapter at Temple. Thirty of the brothers from Temple were present.

The Theta U. quartet rendered a group of sacred numbers at the Elks' memorial service in Milton last Sunday. The members of the quartet are: Allen Grinstead, '31, William Waldner, '31, Gordon Adams, '30, and "Mel" Shuttlesworth, '28.

A "vic" dance was held at the house last Friday evening.

"Jack" Robertson, '31, was the guest of Ralph Dunfee, '32, last week-end, at the latter's home in Towanda.

"Bill" Stayer, '28, Allen Grinstead, William Waldner, '31, "Reg" Gaylord, '29, William Meckie, '30, and "Mel" Shuttlesworth, '28, motored to Williamstown last Saturday and spent Saturday evening and Sunday at brother Shuttlesworth's home.

Chas. Mohr, '30, visited Prof. A. H. Wright at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., during the vacation. Returning he was the guest of Kenneth Beckerman, '31, in Elmira.

ALPHA CHI MU
Albert E. Brenner, '29

Thanksgiving Day at the house was featured by a banquet. The list of guests who attended is as follows: John Shields, Miss Ruth Wentworth, John Farrow, Miss Caroline Davison, John Minick, Miss Frances Stringer, Alfred Rawlinson, Miss Marion Raber, John Feaster, Miss Grace Schaum, William Shure, Miss Violet Williams, Fordyce Hauber, Miss Dorothy Flint, Sherwood Githens, Miss Sarah Collner, Samuel Hughes, Miss "Sallie" Farrow, Dr. M. F. Nimkoff, Dr. H. W. Robbins, Mrs. H. W. Robbins, Maynard Henry, and Miss Alice Groover.

Brother Eldred O. Ward spent the vacation at Baltimore, Md.

Brothers Clarence Cranford and Raymond Taylor and Miss Bertha Thomas motored to Sharon where they spent the Thanksgiving Day.

Mr. Frazee, of Trenton, N. J., was a guest of Guy Dean at the house on Tuesday.

John Feaster spoke to the young people's society at the First Baptist Church in Williamsport last Sunday.

Brother Shure and Hauber witnessed the game at Dickinson on Saturday.

The fraternity "Tie," edited by Feaster, came out Monday. It contains a picture of the pledges and a little of their history. All the fellows are pleased with it.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Charles Shaffer, '32

A delightful afternoon tea and bridge party was held on the Saturday afternoon before vacation between the hours of three and five o'clock. A few of the members entertained with several musical numbers and furnished music for dancing. Delicious refreshments were served. The guests present were: Professor and Mrs. J. H. Eisenhauer, Professor and Mrs. F. A. Sprague, Professor and Mrs. C. R. Johnson, Professor and Mrs. F. G. Davis, Mr. J. F. Farnsworth, Miss Margaret Umpleby, and Miss Millicent Melrose.

The Gamma football men, Erickson and Miller, were both injured in the Bucknell-Dickinson game. The former left the game with an injured hip, while the latter was the recipient of a broken nose.

Brother W. C. Emmitt, '30, was initiated into Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity on Monday evening preceding vacation.

At the recent Friar dance, pledge brother John Mootz, '32, and brother "Mickey" Simon, '30, were the last two to remain on the floor in the lucky number elimination contest. The prize was won by "Mickey," who held the lucky number.

Brother Melvin Paul, '29, visited his parents at Plymouth, Pa., just before vacation. He says he "bummed" back to Lewisburg in an hour and twenty-five minutes.

Brothers Donald Shoemaker, '31, and "Dick" Humphreys, '31, attended the Bucknell-Dickinson game.

Chess is becoming a favorite sport in the club room. In the persons of "Ernie" Englehart, '28, and "Red" Welker, '30, we find two healthy enthusiasts.

Those mighty "nimrods," brothers "Ernie" Englehart, '28, "Bill" Bras-

(Continued on page 7)

"Doubled and redoubled"

A leading bridge expert once said, "The aces and kings play themselves; it's the little spots that make games."

What's true in bridge seems equally true in the cigarette business. Aces to deuces, spades to clubs—from the very first deal, Chesterfield made every card good!

No risky finesses, no sharp double squeezes — Chesterfield rose to world-wide popularity by straight honest selling with a straight honest product — an outstanding success in cigarette history.

So Chesterfield can bid high. Tobacco quality, perfect blending, purity, mildness, natural sweetness — with a hand like that, Chesterfield can redouble your smoking pleasure... and today, next month, next year, keep right on fulfilling the contract.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody.. and yet.. THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1902. Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—9—

THE DAY OF THE TOWN CRIER HAS PASSED. IN THE 17TH CENTURY HE WAS A SORT OF DAILY NEWSPAPER, CRYING OUT ON ALL KINDS OF MERCHANDISE AND CURRENT EVENTS. ALTHOUGH THIS PICTURESQUE FIGURE HAS PASSED FROM THE SCENE, YET HIS SPIRIT IS FELT IN DIFFERENT WAYS TODAY. WE TODAY DEMAND A SOURCE OF RELIABLE INFORMATION WHERE WE MAY LEARN ABOUT THE EVENTS HAPPENING AROUND US. NOW, AS IN THE 17TH CENTURY, MERCHANTS HAVE CAPITALIZED THIS HUNGERING FOR INFORMATION, AND THE READER OF TODAY IS BROUGHT INTO CONTACT WITH BEST IN MERCHANDISE AND FOOD AS WELL AS LEARNING CURRENT EVENTS.

NEWS MAY MOLD PUBLIC OPINION, BUT ADVERTISING MAKES FOR BETTER ENVIRONMENTAL CONDITIONS.

THE VIRTUE OF THE TOWN CRIER SEEMED TO BE HIS UNRELENTLESSNESS. DAY IN AND DAY OUT HE WOULD BRING HIS FACTS BEFORE THE PEOPLE. THE POPULACE WOULD WAKE AT THE SOUND OF HIS VOICE AND GO TO SLEEP WHEN THEY HEARD HIM CALL OUT THE "WEE SMALL HOURS." HE WAS THE HIGH-POWERED ADVERTISING MAN OF HIS AGE, ALWAYS KEEPING THE FACTS BEFORE THE PEOPLE.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—"A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY"
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th St., Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor Clarence W. Cranford, '29
Assistant Managing Editors Virginia Smoot, '29, Helen Bell, '29
News Editor Charles E. Mohr, '30
Assistant News Editors Jane G. Foust, '29, Gertrude Risley, '31, Berita Gavenda, '30
Sports Editor J. Warren McElhoe, '30
Assistant Sports Editors E. Burtuff Koser, '31, Thomas McLeod, '31, Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Women's College Editor Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor Lillian Mattick, '29
Column Editors Elizabeth Pigner, '30, Frances Kernohan, '30

Business Staff
Advertising Manager W. G. Hamitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager John Snyder, '30, Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Glazier, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32

OUR DEBT TO NORMAN THOMAS

And now Norman Thomas has not only written a letter to the students of Bucknell, which the Bucknellian was permitted to publish in this column, but he has come in person—he has twice addressed as many Bucknellians as Commencement Hall would hold. More than that, he has talked—with all the fine, winning personality which he displays in his speeches, greatly enhanced by the individual contact—to students who wanted to meet him personally; he has stimulated and aroused; he has made everybody laugh, and perhaps he has made a few want to cry or even fight. In a word, he has, with that sort of big, understanding crispness which seems to be always about him, helped Bucknell students a little to pull in the walls of the rut of provincialism and Philistinism which digs itself so rapidly and so deeply under the steady grind of daily life. He came to discuss a partisan question: it ought to be at least reasonable to say that he came with a little hope that he might scatter a trifle of interest in that question—that some day a convert or two might grow out of this visit. But it was no job of partisanship that he performed on Bucknell's campus. It was with no partisan—at least with no prejudiced spirit that the massed students greeted him, that they widened their vision if by ever so small a bit, and were afterwards able to see the world a little more as a whole.

The rut we are in is a vicious one, and, paradoxically, it is trenched deeply on our own individual natures—and into our collective human nature—but to labor our way out of it is within possibility. But we must labor our way out. No missionary from the worlds of higher reality can lift us to a Utopian level of understanding and appreciation. Nor could a thousand such missionaries achieve a great deal more than a single one. To speak objectively, the coming to Bucknell of anyone who can stir our thoughts a bit, is probably the best thing that can happen to the student body. But this contact is not in itself sufficient. The efforts of the finest thinkers and the most sympathetic artists would be as barren of results as a stove poker is of leaf sprouts, as long as the hearers remained completely passive.

But Bucknell hearers are not remaining passive. On three annual occasions they have packed the largest hall on the campus to listen to their own debating teams contend with the finest representatives of England's universities. And last Monday night they packed it again to hear an exposition of the complex and prejudice-misted subject of socialism. And how they responded to the rich personality of the speaker and to the sharp stimuli provided by his theme! Surely this was not passivity.

In his little biography of Norman Thomas, printed in the handbook used by the Socialist Party in the recent campaign, the well known author, W. E. Woodward, says of the Bucknell of the candidate's student days: "Bucknell was at that time as depressingly orthodox as any Mid-West cow-college." We earnestly hope that the Bucknell which received Mr. Thomas on the occasion of his brief visit this week, impressed him as being a new Bucknell—a different Bucknell from the one which was so "depressingly orthodox" at the beginning of the century. If by any chance it did so impress him, we feel that much of the credit for this expansion of enlightenment, this filtering-in of individuality,—insofar as these things have expanded and filtered in,—must go to the little scattering of speakers—men of the Norman Thomas type—who have at tragically rare intervals visited the campus and talked to and with the students. These men have each warmed again for a little while the spirit of inquiry,—of dissatisfaction with that which is, of determination to attain that which could be,—and have given aspiring young persons a new desire to struggle out of their own Philistinism.

It is for this service, this aid, that Bucknell students are indebted to Norman Thomas. It is for his quick response when the request came to him, for his warm sympathy and understanding, that they love him. They care little whether he is a socialist or not. But they care for something else. He heard the appeal: "Come over and help us!" And he came!

TODAY IS THE BIRTHDAY OF GREEK-LETTER FRATERNITIES

One hundred and fifty-two years ago today the first Greek-letter college fraternity was founded. This organization, Phi Beta Kappa—now evaporated to a purely honorary fraternity for high scholars, and the butt of many collegiate jokes—began as a secret social society. The Yale chapter was installed as "a select debating society, with initiation suppers where the juice of Bacchus flows."

In those days—of course only in those days!—the average Hellenic fraternity did permit its members to take an occasional drink. In fact, to be frank, that is largely the purpose for which it existed. It was usually a drinking club. Almost every college town boasted of one or more such places where the students could gather to grow congenial together. These parties, which were strictly stag affairs (of course the colleges, themselves, were strictly stag affairs in that barbarous period), were called "beer busts," "beer fests," and "keg parties," and probably did real service in developing fast fellowship. There was nothing degenerate about them—they were simply one of those changing undergraduate affectations which have come to be expected of college students—let alone tolerated. It was in 1830 that Phi Beta Kappa put the cork in the bottle, abandoned secrecy, and turned the purpose of its membership almost exclusively into an honorary distinction.

But the social Greek-letter movement was under power by this time. And the original ideals of the Phi Betes persisted for a while. They even developed! The most dangerous of the secret fraternities was Theta Nu Epsilon, known as T. N. E., and now abandoned almost everywhere. It existed admittedly for the encouragement of all sorts of unorthodox activity: drunkenness, dissipation, immorality. No T. N. E. ever allowed a girl to wear his pin except in tacit commemoration of her moral frailty. The Greek letters of the society's name were popularly alleged to mean "Thirst Never Endeth." Kappa Beta Phi was a sophomore secret society of the same nature (its name obviously a burlesque of Phi Beta Kappa), which went out of business when the Eighteenth Amendment boosted the price of liquor to discouraging heights. Now who will say that Prohibition doesn't work!

In spite of the scandals zealously aroused about every so often in the American colleges, no student of this particular section of history can honestly maintain that present collegiate dissipation is even a shadow of what it was, say, a century ago. A few Lotharios may regret this; a few moralists of the professional type may regret the necessity of admitting it; but it is undoubtedly true. The old order changeth. And how it does changeth!

CONCERNING THAT "RED MENACE"

The leader of the American Socialist Party has spoken at Bucknell, and the social order is still intact. Just imagine! Mr. Thomas didn't even seem vicious. Of course he may have been dissembling, but somehow he did give the impression that he is not an enemy of society. As a college editor once wrote concerning Upton Sinclair, after the California socialist author had delivered an address, Mr. Thomas really didn't look at all like a typical Bolshevik. His hair was not of the revolutionary type which one might legitimately expect it to be—or else it had been suppressed—; he had apparently left his red tie in New York; he was surprisingly shaven. The most cat-like scrutiny discovered no I. W. W. card sticking out of any of his pockets. Nor were there any especially menacing demonstrations while he was in Lewisburg. This fact, however, may have been because the lecture happened to fall on the weekly drill night of our nation's defenders from Union County—who were thus mobilized and ready in case revolutionaries began throwing up barricades on Market street. However that may be, it is certain that there was surprisingly little disorder during the evening. In fact even Mr. Thomas, himself, failed to cast any dynamite bombs into the audience—unless we should class some of his wit under that head.

The most unfair method of resisting that with which we do not agree is the appeal to prejudice—the rousing of a completely unfounded terror. And that is a weapon which is being constantly drawn against the forces of radicalism. The intelligent conservative who can, by analysis, show the weaknesses in the socialists' position and the flaws in their reasoning, is to be admired and respected for his insight. But for smug editors and public officials who put aside logic in favor of such meaningless catch-phrases as "red menace," "overthrow by violence," "taint of socialism," and the rest of them, the informed observer can feel only disgust or something worse. Quoting the lecture of Monday evening, "It is as impossible to be a socialist, a bolshevist, and an anarchist, as it is to be a Catholic, a Methodist, and a Christian Scientist." Let us hope that the visit of Mr. Thomas has served to untangle this confusion of terms, which seems always to be the sum of an uncritical attitude plus a superficial knowledge.

CALENDAR

December 7, 7:30 to 10:30—C. E. A. informal dance in the play room of the new dormitory.

7:30 to 10:30—Kappa Delta Rho College informal dance.

7:30—Phi Mu Alpha recital in the organ room of Larison Hall.

December 8, 7:45 to 10:45—Zeta Gamma Tau informal dance in the play room.

8:00 to 11:45—Sigma Alpha Epsilon College formal dance.

8:00 to 11:45—Delta Sigma College formal dance.

December 10, 9:00 a. m. to 9:00 p. m.—Y. W. C. A. annual Christmas bazaar in the Baptist church.

7:00—Mu Phi Epsilon recital in the School of Music.

7:30—Alumnae meeting in the organ room of Larison Hall.

December 11, 3:00 to 5:00—Sigma Sigma Delta party for the commuters in the play room.

8:15—Second number of the Artists Course. Mario Chamlee and Ruth Miller, Metropolitan Opera singers, will appear in a concert at the Baptist church.

December 13—The annual "Sem" Xmas dinner, to be held in the new dining room.

To The Editor

Now that Bucknell, a school for Christian education, is about to establish a branch office in Brazil, I feel that as an interested party I am entitled to voice my opinion. That I am an interested party no one can deny, for is not my pocketbook about to be submitted to the ravages of these earnest young people who wish to spread our Nordic education and civilization from pole to pole?

I cannot sympathize with any attempt to establish Christian Protestantism in a country which already has a perfectly good working religion. And if anyone doubts that the Reno school is anything else, I ask him only to look at the forces backing this project. But there are other reasons why the student body should not and cannot afford to sanction this scheme. Bucknell can use the money on its own campus to good advantage.Think of the hundred and one things that could be done here at college with a thousand dollars. Why the authorities, thus endowed, might even go so far as to put a light in front of East College! Speaking seriously there is the matter of a gymnasium. As yet I have seen no one start a campaign among the students to raise funds for a gym. Why not? Surely we are as deserving as the Brazilians, even though we are Christians. Bucknell has a pathetic little Artist Course. That and a few intermittent public speakers (who for the most part are ministers of one brand or another) constitute Bucknell's contact with the outside world. A thousand dollars would go far in widening this contact.

One thing more. I have yet to see a missionary proposition that did not have to employ high pressure salesmanship in order to reach its goal. In that respect this campaign is no exception. Placards, leaflets, lectures, letters, are all part of the game. It is my honest belief that the student who will give to this thing will do so without "encouragement" of that sort, and furthermore, propaganda of that sort will not change the minds of any students who have decided not to donate—an less possibly it will disgust them more than ever. Though the self-appointed "committee" wouldn't admit it of course, some folks are going to give to this, just because they think they have to. But I hope most Bucknell students will have more spine than that. Consequently I feel that the project is doomed to failure. That other schools carry on such projects is no argument in favor of Bucknell following the leader. All of the schools supporting missionaries in foreign countries are heavily endowed. Bucknell is not. The support of missionaries belongs rightly to the church. It rests with the students of Bucknell to see that it remains there.

Yours for a new gym, a better Artists course, and bigger and better speakers at Bucknell,

SENIOR.

COLLEGIANA

Columbia University's night club, which opened two weeks ago in New York City, is probably the only club of its kind in an educational institution.

Every Saturday evening the main dining-room of the John Jay Hall, 114th street and Amsterdam avenue, will be open to the public. The very reasonable cover charge of 25 cents is expected to attract many of the Columbia students who desire to mingle with their own crowd. The difference between this and other night clubs of the city is the closing hour, which, at the Columbia institution, is to be comparatively early.

—The Targum.

Three new athletic clubs, Sigma Delta Psi, Gold Key Club, and Kat Club, have been organized at Juniata College as a result of an increased interest in athletics on that campus.

Prof. Theiss Writes Book on Lost Pilot

Professor Lewis E. Theiss has once more added to his list of books by the appearance of one which has just been published by the W. A. Wilde Company of Boston. The book is entitled "The Search for the Lost Mail Plane," and is such a book as would be of general appeal to those who are naturally interested in adventure and heroism.

The scene is laid in the rugged, mountainous section of Pennsylvania, and for that reason would be of especial interest to boys of this locality. The story concerns a young pilot recently a reserve in the Air Mail Corps, who secures an opportunity to fly for a New York paper in an effort to secure a headline story concerning the disappearance of an air mail pilot who, while flying east with a cargo of valuable securities, was intercepted by bandits. The story of how Jimmy Donnelly, the hero, undertakes unforseen exploits to search out the bandits and to locate his friend, Warren Long, the lost pilot, is well developed. It is particularly interesting since it is essentially based on fact; an experience which befell Harry G. Smith, an air-mail pilot, is used as the basis for the story. The plot, of course, is enriched with numerous details supplemented entirely by the author. Much of the story involves the workings of the newspaper and also the strategy of reporting. Since Professor Theiss can draw from his own personal knowledge and experience in the journalistic field, this phase of the book is particularly well-done.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits $160,000.00
Deposits $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

A pencil put Peary on top of the world

OTHER explorers had great personal courage, unlimited energy and vision untrammelled; and failed. But Peary had one thing more.

He had the grasp of every detail—as seen in the care which guided the pencil in his frost-cramped hand. After each day's march he calculated a methodical course to make sure of the next day's progress to the Pole.

To face each day's reckoning as if it were the most important of all days is characteristic of men in the telephone industry. That viewpoint, expressed in the varied terms of applied science, laboratory research, financing and management, guides Bell System men in their respective fields of public service.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of 18,500,000 inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Bucknell Ends Season By Tie With Temple

(Continued from Page 1)

distancing those of Wearshing. However, the Bucknell team was unable to invade enemy territory and was never in a position to score during the first half.

Brumbaugh Returns To Line-up

When the third quarter started, Justin Brumbaugh was in the Bison lineup. Still suffering from a painful leg injury, Brumbaugh had been definitely pronounced out of the Bucknell lineup for the Thanksgiving Day game. He reported to Coach Snavely at the stadium, in uniform, but Snavely would not use him in the first half. Realizing that the only means of salvation lay in the employment of the forward pass, Coach Snavely called upon Brumbaugh in the second half.

The crippled quarterback hurled volley after volley of passes. Although some were completed, many over-traveled their mark. But suddenly he released the lengthy one to Lobel that hushed the east stands. It was in the closing minutes of play. Brumbaugh was throwing passes right and left, but Bucknell was not closing in on the Temple goal line.

Lobel Provides The Thrill

Two minutes remained for play when Brumbaugh, standing in midfield, hurled a long forward pass down the field toward the Temple goal line. It looked as though the ball would be grounded, when a speeding figure leaped into the air, clutched the pigskin in some miraculous way, and shaking off several tacklers, raced across the Temple goal line. It was Andy Lobel who caught the ball. In a second he had crossed the Temple line for a score.

But the game was not yet won for either team. It was up to Captain Halicki to say whether Bucknell should lose by a point. And he said no! His last official act in Bucknell football was a beautiful placement kick that sailed squarely between the uprights for the extra point that gave Bucknell a tie with Temple. Captain Halicki's mates hugged their leader as the two teams withdrew for another kickoff. Temple had just completed two plays after the kick when the game ended.

In the number of first downs registered, Bucknell had the upper hand, tallying nine to the visitors' three. Temple made two first downs in the first half, and their third came late in the final period.

This game marks the close of the football careers of Captain "Eddie" Halicki, "Chuck" Jones, "Tex" Walls, "Ted" Mitchell, and "Lou" Woodring. All these men expect to receive their sheepskins in the spring.

The line-up:

Bucknell		Temple
James	L. E.	Marcus
Woerner	L. T.	Bonner
T. Jones	L. G.	Rubican
Mitchell	C.	Capello
Ellor	R. G.	Ahrin
Hollinger	R. T.	Navario
Wadsworth	R. E.	Kramer
Hambacker	Q. B.	Gugle
Slate	L. H. B.	Hansen
C. Jones	R. H. B.	Wearshing
Halicki	F. B.	Shultz

Officials: Referee—E. E. Miller, Penn State. Umpire—E. M. Bennis, Penn. Head linesman—R. C. Morgan, Purdue. Field judge—F. B. Maguire, Holy Cross.

Score by periods:

Temple	7	0	0	0	—7
Bucknell	0	0	0	7	—7

Substitutions: Godfrey for Kramer, Brumbaugh for C. Jones, Mutzel for Ellor, Lobel for Wadsworth, Ammerman for Hambacker, McCuskey for Navario. Time of periods, 15 minutes.

Council at Williams Enforces Auto Rule

Tightening of the regulations by the student body characterizes the latest move in the automobile situation at Williams College. Since 1924 only seniors and juniors have been allowed to operate cars. Careless observance of this rule, coupled with the uncertain attitude of the trustees, has made the undergraduate body afraid that the privilege would be taken away altogether.

With this in mind the student council has determined to enforce more strongly the rule that any freshman or sophomore caught driving a car be put on probation. At a meeting of the college it was decided that reckless use of automobiles should be reported to the dean.

Because of a feeling prevalent among some alumni that cars should be abolished at Williams, the majority of the students believe that these new rules must be enforced, that Williams may prove itself worthy of such a privilege.—New York Herald Tribune, November 17.

Berks Co. Bucknell Alumni To Stage Christmas Dance

The Berks County Bucknell Alumni Association is certainly a live organization. It pulled off a highly successful Hallowe'en party, and is now preparing to repeat with a first annual Christmas dance. This is to be held on Friday evening, December 28, at the Wyomissing Club, in Reading. It will be a nine to one o'clock affair, and strictly informal. As usual, these Reading Bucknellians are most hospitable and they invite all Bucknellians who may be in Reading or its vicinity, or who can get there, to be at this dance on the twenty-eighth. The price will be three dollars.

The Rev. Dr. Joseph R. Wood, who was formerly assistant to the president at Bucknell, and who is now pastor of the First Baptist Church of Reading, is the energetic president of this hustling club. Anna M. Van Dine is the secretary. H. LeRoy Heller, of 245 Clymer street, Reading, is handling the dance, and tickets and information can both be obtained from him.

It's The Ballots That Count

We were much interested in the manner in which the ballots were collected at the Bucknell-Oxford Debate, Monday evening. Tasteycake boxes, minus the Tasteycake, were used as receptacles for the votes. Wonder what became of the cakes.

Someone suggested that a flashlight picture should have been taken of the audience, or rather, two pictures should have been taken. Taken at the beginning and end of the debate, they could have been appropriately labeled "before" and "after."

—O—

And then there was the student, who, before marking his ballot, looked at his neighbor and said, "Say, does the United States belong to the League of Nations?"

—O—

Girls studying at the Chicago continuation schools may now take a course in the art of make-up. When the principal learned that the girls simply would make up, it was decided to teach them to do it in the correct and artistic manner.

Clipping Shows Us As Ithers See Us

In recognition of his humanitorian work since his graduation, Herbert Hoover, president-elect, has been invited to become an honorary member of the Bucknell University Chapter of Friars, a national honorary society. Notification has already been sent to Mr. Hoover.

Thomas MacLeod, '31, president of the Friars, announced that if Mr. Hoover accepts the offer the entire Bucknell chapter will make the trip to Washington to perform the initiation ceremonies upon the return of the president-elect from his South American goodwill tour.

This is said to mark the first time in the annals of the Friar organization that an honorary membership has been extended.

Commenting recently upon action of the Friars, the Danville Morning News says editorially:

"What do the Friars, whoever they may be, think they are accomplishing by electing the busy president elect to honorary membership and forcing upon his courteous self the necessity of going through the mummery of being initiated? If these young gentlemen had any sense of proportion they would realize that the president can be nothing but annoyed by such attentions and the public nothing but amused by their assumption of importance.

"If the organization is after publicity, its members have failed to distinguish between favorable publicity and the unfavorable brand. The hundred and one associations of sycophants who between now and March 4 will rush into print with the announcement that Mr. Hoover has been elected to honorary membership would achieve much finer publicity if less newspaper space by turning sensible and permitting the president elect to abide in such peace as is possible to one in his high office."

Classified Advertising

FOR SALE—Cheap—New Underwood Typewriter. William F. Gamberling, Milton, R. D 3, (third house north of filling station above the bridge on Susquehanna Trail.) Telephone Lewisburg 221, R-5.

Mearns V. Arbogast
DRAYMAN
Phone 196
WATER STREET LEWISBURG, PA.

STYLES OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM SHOES $10
J. F. PROWANT CO.

VACATIONS, COMING AND GOING

The College Inn offers thanks that the student body is with us again for a short visit between vacations and trusts that you will be sufficiently refreshed in your brief stay to enter upon another one at Xmas. Of course you missed a good football game, but at least your pew rent was paid. Naturally, too, a trip home now and then breaks the monotony of out of town week-ends with the football team. We will feel quite happy to renew your acquaintance on any occasion when scholastic duties require your presence in town.

"On the Quadrangle"
Payne, '09.

This Changing World

To-day, you can see big buildings erected noiselessly—by electric welding.

The structural steel worker is dropping his clattering hammer for the electric arc. Silently, swiftly, rigidly, economically, buildings are being fabricated by electric welding, which knits steel with joints as strong as the metal itself.

Building silently! Nothing seems impossible in this electrical age.

Not only in building construction, but in every human activity, we instinctively turn to electricity to add to the comforts of life and to eliminate the wastes of production—another evidence that the electrical industry is maintaining its leadership in this changing world.

Not only industrial equipment, but electric refrigerators, MAZDA lamps, and little motors that add to the comforts of home, are manufactured by the General Electric Company. All are identified by the G-E monogram—a symbol of service.

95-607DH
GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

NOT A BETTER IN A YEARFUL
the
JUNIOR PROM
JANUARY 4th
TUSTIN GYM

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN BUCKNELL SPORTS

Bison Team Loses But 2 Games During Present Football Season

SNAVELYMEN TALLY 124 POINTS TO 48 FOR RIVALS; DEFEAT OF PENN STATE AND GENEVA FOREMOST OF SEASON'S TILTS; HALICKI HIGH SCORER

Five victories, three ties, and two defeats compose the 1928 Bucknell football record. The season can be deemed a successful one because of victories over Penn State and Geneva which offset defeats sustained at the hands of both Gettysburg and Villanova. The Bison eleven also rose to great heights when it held the powerful teams representing W. and J. and Lafayette to scoreless ties.

Schuylkill First

The season was opened on the last Saturday in October when the Bisons lined up against "Doggy" Julian's Schuylkill College gridders at the Memorial Stadium. The visitors presented stiff opposition and it was all the Snavelymen could do to eke out a 7-0 win. Played to a standstill in the first half, the Orange and Blue warriors came back in the last two periods and tallied a touchdown.

Bisons Defeat Geneva

On the first Saturday in October the Thundering Herd invaded Beaver Falls where it subdued the Geneva College team. Thanks to Brumbaugh, the visitors were successful in scoring a pair of touchdowns while holding the opposition to one. However this victory was a "Pyrric" triumph for the Snavelymen, as the Bisons lost the services of their star quarterback, Mose Quinn, for the rest of the season. Quinn broke his ankle in the third period and was laid up for several weeks.

"Best State"

The afternoon of October 13 saw the Bucknell football men in State College ready to battle their traditional rival, Penn State. In a bitterly fought game that was featured by the brilliant line plunging of Captain Halicki, the Bucknell Bison gored the Nittany Lion for a well-earned 6-0 victory. Bucknell scored in the second period on a line plunge by Halicki after a successful march up the field. The Penn State backs threatened to score in the closing minutes of the game when Hamas and his men advanced the ball to Bucknell's one-foot line. At this critical period of the game Hamas ingloriously fumbled, and the alert Hambacker recovered for Bucknell. Elller hooted out of danger and Penn State was a beaten team.

Homecoming Day

Before a Homecoming Day crowd estimated at 10,000, Bucknell and Lafayette fought to a scoreless tie on the twentieth of October, at the Memorial Stadium. Although Bucknell was outplayed during the greater part of the game, the Maroon backs were unable to cross the Bison line. Captain Guest of the visitors tore off gain after gain against the homesters, but when he tried to cross the last chalk line he was stopped in his tracks.

"High-water Mark" at Gettysburg

The following Saturday Snavely's pupils traveled to Gettysburg where the battlefield warriors sprang a surprise by trimming the hitherto unbeaten Bucknell eleven by a 14-12 score. Although outplayed in every department of the game, Coach Bream's Bullets electrified the spectators by completing a long forward pass in the final period which culminated in a winning score. Captain Spangler provided his team with the margin that gave them victory when he booted two extra points after the touchdowns had been scored.

Revenge For Villanova

Bucknell faced Villanova at Scranton on the third of November. Bucknell's hopes of returning to the winning class were crushed when the Villanova Wildcats skinned the Bisons in a 20-6 win. Slate scored the first touchdown of the game early in the first quarter on a line plunge after a kick had been blocked.

Before the half was over Villanova had taken the lead 7-6. This lead she retained until the close of the game. The line plunging of McAndrews and the open-field sprinting of Morgan featured Villanova's attack. Ernie Woerner, Bison tackle, was the luminary for the losers, playing a consistent game both on the offense and the defense.

Poor Lehigh!

With an avalanche of six touchdowns and four extra points Bucknell returned to its winning ways on the tenth of November at the Memorial Stadium, when the Snavelymen defeated Lehigh. The Bucknell assault was led by Brumbaugh, who tallied a trio of touchdowns, while Halicki, Slate, and Kunkle scored the other Bison six-pointers. Captain Halicki added the extra point successfully four times.

Another Tie Game

On the following week-end the Lewisburg football representatives traveled to Johnstown where they tangled with an old-time rival, W. and J. On a treacherous, muddy field before 10,000 spectators, the Bisons and the Presidents fought to a scoreless draw. Both elevens had excellent chances to score, but each team lacked the necessary punch to carry the ball over the line for a tally.

Captain Halicki was the outstanding player in this torrid tilt, displaying remarkable line-crashing ability. He split the enemy forward wall time after time, and tried for a field goal late in the third quarter, the kick going wide of its mark.

4th Straight Over Dickinson

Apparently outgrowing its old rival Dickinson in gridiron skill, Bucknell traveled to Carlisle on the Saturday before Thanksgiving where the Snavelymen decisively whipped the Lawyers by a 33-0 margin. Coach Snavely employed his second team for three quarters of the game, saving his regulars for the Temple tilt.

We Tie Temple

Captain Halicki and his men brought the 1928 football season at Bucknell to a successful close on Thanksgiving Day, when, before a crowd of 8,000 spectators, the Bison and the Owl fought to a 7-7 deadlock. The visitors were leading up until the last two minutes of play, when a long pass thrown by Brumbaugh to the fleet-footed Lobel brought consternation to the Cherry stands. Halicki's kick deadlocked the count. In this glorious manner, the curtain was rung down on the 1928 Bucknell football campaign.

Tabulated Scores

Official statistics indicate that the Bisons scored a total of 124 points, to 48 accumulated by their opponents. The 124 points represent 19 touchdowns and 10 points after touchdown. Bucknell's opponents tallied 7 touchdowns and six extra points.

According to individual records, Captain Eddie Halicki leads the Bison herd in scoring, with a total of 31 points. This figure represents four touchdowns and seven successful tries after touchdowns. The Bucknell leader was the main Bison threat all year, as in every game that he played made substantial yardage. With the passing of Halicki, Bucknell is losing one of the greatest, gamest leaders it ever had. His name will go down along with those of "Christy" Mathewson, "Bert" Daniels, "Tip" Topham, "Moose" McCormick, "Wally" Diehl, and others who have made Bucknell grid history glorious.

Closely following Halicki in point scoring is Justin Brumbaugh, who tallied 30 points, representing five touchdowns. "Tony" Slate is next in order with four touchdowns for a 24 point total. "Chuck" Jones is in fourth place with 12 points. Other Bisons who broke into the scoring column are Woodring, Lobel, Ammerman, Kunkle, Hambacker, and Ross.

The records follow:

Bucknell
7	Schuylkill	0
13	Geneva	7
6	Penn State	0
0	Lafayette	0
12	Gettysburg	14
6	Villanova	20

A. A. Hockey Plaque Goes to Alpha Chi

By virtue of a decisive win over Pi Phi in the final game of the Inter-sorority hockey season Alpha Chi Omega will retain the hockey plaque presented by the Women's Athletic Association for the first time last year.

Undefeated and leading their respective leagues the Alpha Chi and Pi Phi hockey teams met in the finals, and the latter team was eliminated only after keen competition. The score stood 6-0.

Starring for the victors were: "Polly" Brick, in the back-field; "Betty" Welsan, center, who scored seven of the nine goals in the Alpha Chi va. Non-Fraternity game, and who is considered the fastest, surest-hitter on the crack Alpha Chi squad. Others deserving mention are: Jane Foust and Marie Stampul who both have played excellent games during the season. In Mae Button, '32, is seen much promise for next year's team.

Outstanding on the Pi Phi eleven were three pledges, "Ray" Gawthrop, Ruth James, and "Peg" Jenkinson. In addition there were several of last year's favorites, "Franqui" Stringer being most efficient.

The only other team of note, was the non-fraternity squad who won from the Zeta Gamma Tau aggregation, 7-0. Alice Pyle, '30, was the star player on this team.

On a whole, this past season has been the most successful of any in the past several years. Also, much good material for next year's teams has come to light, and the Athletic Association anticipates a bigger, better, and more exciting contest for the coming season.

Line-up of "Final."

Wilson, E.	Centre
Button, M.	R. Inside
Foust, J.	L. Inside
Stampul, M. R.	Wing. G. Mathewson
Fortner, C.	L. Wing
Slifer, R.	C. Half
Dedrick, D.	R. Half
Robertson, S.	L. Half
Brick, M.	R. Full
Bailey, E.	L. Full
Erb, M.	Goalkeeper

Score—6-0. Scorekeeper, Esther Clark. Time of halves, 20 minutes. Tifekeener, Marie Trunk.

SUMMARY OF SCHEDULE

Alpha Chi—6	Phi Mu—0
Pi Phi—5	Kappa Delta—0
Delta Delta D.—0	Sigma Sigma D.—0
Phi Mu—1	Zeta Gamma Tau—0
Non-Frat—7	Zeta Gamma Tau—0
Delta Delta Delta—5	Kappa Delta—0
Pi Phi—0	*Sigma Sigma Delta—0
Phi Mu—0	Non-Frat.—0
Alpha Chi—7	Zeta Gamma Tau—0
Alpha Chi—9	Non-Frat.—0
Phi Phi—4	Delta Delta Delta—0
Kappa Delta—0	*Sigma Sigma D.—0
Alpha Chi—6	Pi Phi—0

*Lost by default.

BISONS RIP THRU DICKINSON LINE FOR 33-0 TRIUMPH

The Bucknell football team chalked up its fifth triumph of the season on the last Saturday of November at Carlisle where the Bisons overwhelmed a weak Dickinson team by a 33-0 count.

Coach Snavely used his second team during the greater part of the game, saving his first team for the Temple encounter. The scrubs revealed exceptional power both on the offense and defense holding Dickinson in check while the Bison ball carriers rolled up a score.

Captain Halicki played only a few minutes but was in the game long enough to score a touchdown and an extra point.

Slate, Ammerman, Jones, and Woodring tallied the other Bison scores. Sensational dashes by Chuck Jones and Slate featured the struggle. Lou Woodring, fleet-footed halfback, also turned in a brilliant sprint that resulted in a touchdown.

The Dickinson team, although fighting gamely, was hopelessly outclassed from start to finish. Only in the third period were the Lawyers successful in showing any offensive power.

The line-up.

Dickinson		Bucknell
Wolcott	L. E.	Lobel
Bonney	L. T.	Purdy
Kline	L. G.	Walls
Chambers	C.	Kozik
Colsack	R. G.	Mutzel
Hoberman	R. T.	Erickson
Brillhart	R. E.	Truxall
Angle	Q. B.	Jones
Cook	L. H. B.	Ross
Casner	R. H. B.	Ammerman
Slivinsk	F. B.	Kozik

Dickinson	0	0	0	0	0
Bucknell	7	6	0	20	33

Touchdowns—Slate, Halicki, Ammerman, C. Jones, Woodring. Goals after touchdown—Ross, Halicki, Woodring. Substitutions: Dickinson—Maynor for Wolcott, Schomack for Bonney, Patterson for Kline, Gibson for Patterson, Lavanture for Chambers, Pahskowski for Colsack, Ropbaugh for Hoberman, Hoberman for Ropbaugh, Haucmskin for Brillhart, McCleary for Cook, Johnson for Casner, Dawson for Johnson, Hagerty for Slivinsk. Bucknell—Wadsworth for Lobel, James for H. Wadsworth, Warner for Purdy, C. Jones for Walls, Walls for T. Jones, Mitchell for Kostos, Eller for Mutzel, Wingate for Erickson, Miller for Erickson, Bollinger for Miller, Wadsworth for Truxel, Suppy for W. Wadsworth, Woodring for C. Jones, Konkle for Woodring, Linkfield for Ross, Hambacker for Ammerman, Slate for Hambacker, Greet for Slate, Slate for Kozik, Halicki for Slate, Kozik for Halicki, McLain for Wingate.

Referee—Lynn, Yale. Umpire—J. E. Keady, Lehigh. Head linesman—Hotz, Penn State. Time of periods—15 minutes.

BAND MARCHES FOUR MILES

The Ohio State Band recently enjoyed an unexpected four-mile parade through Evanston, Ill. The band was following the State football team in its game with Northwestern University, and got off at the wrong station.

When the mistake was discovered, the band swung into parade formation and marched four miles to the Northwestern stadium.

TEAM TO TRAVEL BY PLANE

There is a possibility that when the University of Washington football team plays at the University of Chicago next year the Huskies football squad may travel half of the way by airplane.

It has been proposed that half the trip each way be made by air and half by rail in order that the football men will not miss too many classes.

The Dutiful Patriot

"Well, we all owe something to our country," as the man said who went abroad without having paid his income tax.

FROSH TIE SOPHS IN SECOND CLASS SOCCER CONTEST

The second round of the soccer games between the frosh and sophs was staged on Loomis Field last Tuesday, and ended in a 0-0 tie.

As the whistle souded for the game to begin, two formidable teams faced each other. For three minutes the ball swept up and down the field. The frosh were "game" enough, but the organization of the sophomores gave them a slight advantage. However, they were doomed to disappointment, for what they saw was a successful attempt to overcome tradition with personal valor. More than sixty men saw action in the game, which gives them the privilege of wearing the numerals of their respective classes. From start to finish there was little thought of winning the game, the foremost idea being that of awarding numerals to the long list of participants.

In the last few minutes of play, the sophomore manager placed a picked team on the field in a wild attempt to win the day. As the final whistle sounded, the ball was in perfect position for a sophomore score, having been worked down the field in masterful form. In spite of the poor judgement in using three score men in a game that requires but eleven, the contest was a proving ground for the courage of the men who played, and not a few acquitted themselves well.

That the honor if their respective classes may remain unsullied, the freshmen and sophomores will send picked teams to the soccer field within the next two weeks to settle the question of supremacy in that game.

Lives by Driving Trade Away

The taxi man is about the only man who can drive his customers away and make money at it.

Get a Christmas Present NOW

Send The Bucknellian To Your Classmate Friend

$1.50 $1.50

Let Him Know About the Team

WAINIES

STEININGER'S CAFE

A Good Place to Eat

GOOD FOOD

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE THREE)

tow, '31, and Paul Emery, '31, went forth recently to conquer the denizens of the forest. They brought down a ringnecked pheasant and four rabbits.

Brother Arthur Stutzman, '29, who has been absent from college is back with us again.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
J. R Fielding, '29

Tau chapter entertained its patronesses, honorary members, and local alumnae at a tea Thursday afternoon, December sixth, in the living rooms of the new dormitory. Tau's new patroness, Mrs. Byron S. Hollinshead and Tau's pledges were presented. A short musical program participated in by actives and pledges comprised the afternoon's entertainment.

"Marty" Morrow, '26, dropped into the "Sem" to visit the actives, Sunday afternoon of vacation. "Marty" was greatly disappointed to find the tautes conspicuous by their absence.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Whether out of pure love for the institution or for other reasons, nineteen Alpha Chis remained at the "Sem" for the Thanksgiving holidays. The suite was the center of all activities and offered a variety of entertainment for the "stay at homes."

"Eddie" Craft entertained Dean Amelia Clark, Mrs. Clark, and a few other guests at supper on Friday evening in her living room. The entire day was required to prepare the menu, and even then, "Crafty" had to admit that she was an amateur along domestic lines.

Anne Hoke, a junior at Penn State College, visited the suite during the holidays.

Jean Wood, '29, and Isabel Postlethwaite, '30, entertained their mothers during the week-end.

Many of the sisters, having nothing else to do, wore a path around the four mile, just by way of exercise, while the rest applied themselves to the books.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter held an informal dance in the play room of the new dormitory on Saturday evening, November 24. Professor and Mrs. William Eyster, and Professor and Mrs. F. A. Sprague were chaperons. "Red" Hitchens' orchestra furnished the music. Guests included Ethel Mathews, ex-'28, "Barb" Wagner, ex-'30, Madeline Hartman, '27, and Kenneth "Gis" Elder, ex-'26.

Mary Williams, '29, spent Thanksgiving vacation with Emma Shoff, '31, in Madera.

Ann Sprout, '31, had as her guests during the Thanksgiving recess her parents and sister.

It's always good weather when Phi Mus get together. Esther Meritage entertained several members of Beta Kappa chapter at her home in Mullica Hill, N. J., on November 30. "Marty" VonNeida, '29, "Frannie" Saul, '29, "Betty" Hettinger, '28, "Kitty" Gaventa, '27, and Ruth Heritage, '28, report a jolly afternoon of reminiscences.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Elizabeth Frederick, '29

Sigma Sigma Delta held a tea for its patronesses in the living room of the new dormitory, Thursday afternoon, November 22. Ada Dice, '30, entertained the guests with two readings.

Alpha of Sigma Sigma Delta is happy to announce the initiation of "Polly" Clemens, ex-'28, into active membership. "Polly" and Ann Stevens, '26, drove to Bucknell from Philadelphia on Thanksgiving Day, and arrived here in time to see the Bucknell-Temple game.

"Jerry" Welchons, '30, spent the Thanksgiving vacation with Eva May Folsom at the latter's home in Point Pleasant, N. J. During this time "Jerry" had one of her wishes granted in that she saw the ocean for the first time in her life.

Ruth Goff, of Susquehanna University, was the guest of Sarah Collner over the last week-end.

MUSSERMEN SWEEP OVER WYOMING SEM TO 27-7 VICTORY

Baby Bisons Close Fine Season In Thanksgiving Contest On Wilkes-Barre Field

The Bucknell freshmen football eleven brought its 1928 football season to a successful close on Thanksgiving Day at Wilkes-Barre when the Mussermen vanquished the Wyoming Seminary gridders 27-7, in the second annual gridiron engagement between the two teams.

The Baby Bisons tallied a touchdown in the first period, and at the end of the half the winners were out in front by a 7-0 margin. A touchdown in the third period and two more in the fourth assured the yearlings a victory.

Mezza, the freshmen's placement-kicking ace, tallied the first Bison score of the game early in the initial period. He raced 15 yards for a score on a dash through the left side of the line. Mezza again provided another tally in the third period when another one of his line plunges brought another score.

"Al" Fry, burly fullback, broke into the scoring column in the final period by registering a pair of six pointers. His first score came as a result of a 20-yard end run. He concluded his brilliant performance for the day late in the final canto by breaking away for a 58-yard run and another touchdown.

Mezza Boots Three

Mezza demonstrated his ability to kick extra points by booting three out of four tries. Although he did not score any touchdowns, Joe Kastrava, the Summit Hill boy, played a fine game in the Bucknell backfield. Kastrava was a consistent ground gainer every time that he carried the ball.

Merle Stonebraker, at the right wing post, was a tower of strength as he has been all season. "Stony" broke through the enemy line on several occasions, and threw would-be ball carriers for losses. His brilliant tackling was one of the high spots of the game.

The line-up:

Seminary		Bucknell
Sturm	L. E.	Hook
Rorapaugh	L. T.	Saeger
Kear	L. G.	Marter
Patton	C.	Cummings
Haas	R. G.	Downey
Ambrose	R. T.	Crowe
Reese	R. E.	Stonebreaker
Bailey	Q. B.	Mezza
Welch	L. H. B.	Kastrava
Seiple	R. H. B.	Hinkle
Walker	F. B.	Fry

Touchdowns—Mezza, 2; Fry, 2; Walker. Points after touchdown—Mezza, 3. Substitutions for Seminary: Maiz for Patton, McKaig for Rees, Renshaw for Bailey, Stretch for Seiple. For Bucknell: Trudenak for Saeger, Androski for Crowe, Spadafora for Hinkle.

WITH THE "SEMITES"

Not to be outdone by those who journeyed to foreign parts for their Thanksgiving and a good time, the "Semites" who remained on the campus had an informal dance on Friday evening in the play room. Due to the fact that the orthophonic failed to function and an unduly slippery floor made dancing impossible, permission was obtained to remove the chaperons, dancers, and punch to the T. U. O. house. The feature of the evening was a John Paul Jones dance, which broke up when some of the dancers declined to wait for the official call.

—B—

Thirty faculty guests were on hand to partake of the "Sem's" Thanksgiving dinner. It was a real turkey feast. The regular tables of six were discarder in favor of long tables, the banquet effect, you know.

—B—

This is the time of year when one tires of the endless complaints about unfinished book reviews, term papers, and coming quizzes. Poor overworked things!

—B—

"Bert" Gaventa, '30, does not approve of the cement floors in the new dorm. They come expensive, says "Bert" whose glasses broke when they slipped to the hard cold floor.

—B—

No longer may "Semites" climb over the heights. With the renovation of the "Sem" post office it will now be impossible for any to hoist themselves over the wall for packages which were unclaimed at an earlier date. A glass partition fills the gap between the boxes and the ceiling.

—B—

Some of the members of Student Senate were afforded an opportunity to exert their authority during Thanksgiving vacation. Sarah Collner, '29, was acting president in the absence of Helen Steinhelper, and weighed all requests pro and con before granting any concessions

When a Feller Needs a Friend : : : : By BRIGGS

AW, GEE! POP WHY DON'T YOU SMOKE OLD GOLDS? THERE ISN'T A COUGH IN A CARLOAD
MERCY SAKES! WHY EUSTACE WANTS TO BE LITTERIN' UP THE PLACE WITH THEM THINGS ANYWAY, I DON'T KNOW!
GRANDMA PUTS IN HER TWO CENTS WORTH
OH GEORGE! WHAT A SHAME! AND EUSTACE HAD JUST SPENT TWO HOURS SORTING THEM ALL OUT
Old Gold CIGARETTES
THE TREASURE OF THEM ALL

OLD GOLD

The Smoother and Better Cigarette

.... not a cough in a carload

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

THE PURITY

FLOWERS AT MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Norman Thomas Tells What Socialism Is of "unearned increment." Most of the wealthy, he stated, are being rewarded for their remarkable judgment in picking their ancestors. Private property in natural resources he considers as unjustifiable as private property of air. If the latter were in vogue, was his generating observation, "There would be plenty of professors and editors to rise up and say earnestly that 'The private rental of air is the only true foundation for the stimulus of individualism and rugged initiative.' "

(Continued from Page 1)

Capitalism not only causes poverty but stifles liberty, the speaker continued. Also the union of capitalism and nationalism, by the policy of protecting private investments in foreign countries, is the usual cause of war.

"I have lived in New York for 20 years," said Mr. Thomas, "and never saw an honest election, but, thank God, my country saw that Nicaragua had an honest election!"

Never was a greater lie fabricated than that Germany was solely responsible for the World War, he continued. The War was, on the other hand, to be blamed on the play of economic forces under capitalism. "The development of modern science makes possible something very like a collective act of suicide, for civilization at least."

Individualism is Waning

The socialist remedy for these ills is collective ownership and management of industry. Present-day life is becoming more and more socialized. The old individualism is waning. With it is declining the usefulness of the two old parties. They now differ, according to Mr. Thomas, only in their desire for office. The lack of genuine issues he illustrated by speaking of the much-heard-from Senator Copeland—the medical politician from New York. The Senator gets elected by earnestly telling the ladies that "He is against mumps and strongly in favor of Pluto Water!"

Mr. Thomas closed his address by quoting the famous English biologist, J. B. S. Haldane, to the effect that man has arrived where he may control his own evolution if he wants to. But he never will be able to do so as long as he confines the application of his science to such limited institutions as the hospital.

Mr. Thomas Speaks in Chapel

At the request of several students, Mr. Thomas consented to address the undergraduates in upper-class chapel on Tuesday morning. When he appeared before that student assemblage, he was greeted by lively applause and a demonstration of shouts and cheers. His magnetic personality and pungent wit were again in evidence, as well as his ability to speak earnestly and movingly. He told the students that civilization would never be improved if graduates of colleges went out from the academic halls with nothing but pure knowledge and technical training. The grave need of the race is for persons who have learned to appreciate and synthesize life in all its aspects.

Take Time to Choose Your Career---Faunce

"If I were entering college today, I certainly would not attempt to choose a life career before entrance," says President William H. P. Faunce of Brown University, in an article in the Williamsport Sun.

"What does a boy of 17 or 18 know about his own latent capacities or the changing spheres of private opportunity and public service? The 'limitation of objectives' is a common error. Between 18 and 22 a young man is discovering himself and acquiring wholly new horizons.

"I am told that scores of young men in New York business offices trained in a 'business college,' deeply regret their own narrowness of outlook. Competent in bookkeeping and banking methods, they are yet unable to talk with men who know history and politics and modern science. Trained to run in one groove, they are bored by libraries and music and art, and are strangers in large sections of American life.

"If I were entering college I would try not to join everything in sight. Many college organizations seem brilliant only to outsiders. They offer the student a pin, a foolish ritual, his picture in the college annual—and a chance to fritter away his evenings.

"As a freshman I would go in heartily for some form of outdoor sport—not only for physical development, but for release of the play instinct, for resting tired nerves, for learning to make quick decisions, to face opponents unterrified.

No Supplement This Week

There will be no illustrated section of the Bucknellian this week or next. The Campus Pictorial Company, which has been issuing this pictorial section for a group of associated colleges, has notified us that plans are being made for the publication of a very different sort of pictorial section after the holidays, and that publication will be suspended in the mean time.

C. A. Weymouth, '00, Heads New Steel Plant

The new million dollar plant of the Danville Structural Steel Company, which has just been built by Charles M. Schwab, began operations a few days ago. This plant has been erected under the supervision of Clarence A. Weymouth, '00, who will also be in charge of its operation.

Mr. Weymouth was one of our stellar athletes. He participated in all the sports of his day, and was one of the most remarkable football players of his time. Leaving Bucknell at graduation, he went to Yale and at once "made" the varsity. He was the most sensational plunging back of the day. At Bucknell he was also a noted basketball player.

"Wey," as his friends called him, has had an unusually varied business career. For some time past he has been at the head of the Danville steel works, and is in high favor with Mr. Schwab. Mr. Weymouth served one five-year term as a Bucknell trustee, but resigned from the Board last June.

NOTED TENOR TO SING IN LEWISBURG, TUES.

(Continued from Page 1)

Shepherd Thy Demeanor—Thomas Brown; (c.) Aria: "Una Voce Poco Fa" from the Barber of Seville—Rossini.——Miss Miller.

3. Aria: "Mia Piccirella" from Salvator Rosa—Gomez——Mr. Chamlee.

4. (a.) Les Cloches—Debussy; (b.) The Piper—Head; (c.) At the Well—Hageman.——Miss Miller.

5. (a.) Dawn—Curran; (b.) The Old Refrain—Gretsler; (c.) Moon Marketing—Weaver; (d.) Lolita—Buzzi Peccia.——Mr. Chamlee.

6. St. Sulpice Scene from Manon—Massenet; (In costume.) (At a holiday fete in Cours-la-Reine, Manon hears that Des Grieux is soon to become a priest. Her love is rekindled. She goes to Saint Sulpice where he is preparing to take the vows, in the hope of persuading him to return to her. Des Grieux, at first denounces her fiercely, but finally is overpowered by his love and they leave the seminary to renew life together.) (a.) Aria: "Ah! Fuyez Douce Image" (Vanish Sweet Vision) —Mr. Chamlee as Des Grieux; (b.) Recitative: "Ces Murs Silencieux" (These Silent Walls)—Miss Miller as Manon; (c.) Duet: "N'est-ce plus ma main?" (Is it no longer I?)—Miss Miller and Mr. Chamlee.

"BUCKNELL IN BRAZIL" CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED

(Continued from Page 1.)

dormitory more than one hundred dollars was pledged to open the campaign. This amount was given by sixteen people.

"Golden Rule" Dinner Helps

Other contributions of which the project may be sure will be the balance from the Women's College, "Golden Rule" dinner, which will be served Sunday, December ninth, and the proceeds from the Y. W. Bazaar which will be held Monday, December 10, from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. in the Baptist church. The combined amount should exceed one hundred fifty dollars. The remainder of the money to be raised has been apportioned among the men students, women students, and faculty members. The $1000 goal should be easily reached if each individual contributes his share.

GLEE CLUB REPORTS FINE HOLIDAY TRIP

(Continued from Page 1)

Eight Bells ..... M. Bartholomew
J. Colledge, H. Mitchel, H. Fessler, J. McLure, J. Rishel, H. Graham, G. Streitz, C. Frampton
Krayon Kracks ..... S. J. Leezer
(a.) On Wings of Song —Felix Mendelssohn
(b.) The Long Day Closes —A. Sullivan
Chorus
Two Grenadiers ..... Schumann
Henry Fessler
Romance ..... Wieniaski
James C. College
Chorus of Peers ..... A. Sullivan
Chorus
ALMA MATER

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY—THURSDAY, DEC. 6
"JUST MARRIED"
With RUTH TAYLOR, JAMES HALL, LILA LEE, and HARRISON FORD.
A Paramount Laugh Special.
Prices: 10c—25c—30c.

TOMORROW—FRIDAY, DEC. 7
Another Paramount Picture.
"THE LAST WALTZ"
Be Sure to SEE It.
Prices: 10c—25c—30c.

COMING—SATURDAY, DEC. 8
BUSTER KEATON
in "THE CAMERAMAN"
Guaranteed it's Keaton's Funniest.
Prices: 25c—25c—30c.

COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY, DEC. 10 and 11
AT LAST! Marion and Bill together for the first time.
LAUGHS! LAUGHS! LAUGHS!
With MARION DAVIES and WILLIAM HAINES in "THE SHOW PEOPLE"
It's A Big Special Picture at Popular Prices: 15c—25c—35c.
Here's A Picture Everybody Should SEE.

COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, DEC. 12-13
CLIVE BROOK, MARY BRIAN, WILLIAM POWELL, and BACLANOVA in
"FORGOTTEN FACES"
A Paramount Picture: Don't Miss It.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

The Bucknell Campus
is well dotted with our
Leather Coats and Jackets
Boys and Girls generally have found our line very pleasing and our prices right.
If you are looking for good, snappy, stylish Leather Coats, we have them.
Drop in and inspect our Showing of Coats.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

FEATURE DANCE
LEGION HALL, Sunbury, Pa.
EVERY SATURDAY NITE
DOC GEIKIN'S NIGHTHAWKS
Dancing 9 to 12

HERMAN & LEISER
THIS STORE IS READY
WITH A LARGE STOCK OF GIFT GOODS
to supply your needs.
Come in and Look Them Over

AN ANNOUNCEMENT of the utmost importance---to well turned-out university men a shop catering exclusively to the tastes of well-dressed university men will open soon in selinsgrove direct connection with yale and princeton---always conceded style supremacy among better-dressed university men enabling this shop to introduce innovations in the university world of apparel long before their appearance elsewhere in this locality none of the bazarre in clothes worn by those none-collegiate imitators of university men clothes alive with the nonchalance of a Murad, a store glorifying the traditional dress of smarter university men tune in on this publication for opening announcement

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

WANT A B. U. CALENDAR?
LEAVE YOUR NAME
WITH THE REGISTRAR

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

COME BACK READY FOR JUNIOR PROM JANUARY 4TH

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 13, 1928. PART NO. ONE NUMBER 13

The Bucknellian Wishes You
A MERRY CHRISTMAS
And a Pleasant Vacation

We Extend Our Best Wishes For A HAPPY NEW YEAR
With Peace And Plenty

PROF. H. W. ROBBINS NAMES ENGLISH HONORS STUDENTS

Fourteen Seniors Are Eligible To Study in Special Course This Next Semester

Prof. H. W. Robbins has listed the names of those students whose attainments up to the present time are such as render it probable that they will be eligible to read for honors during their last semester in college. Candidates for honors in English must be A. B. students majoring in English, and must attain a general average of 80 per cent, an average of 80 per cent in English (including one course in advanced composition), and an "A" in one English course numbered above 250.

Seniors eligible to read for honors in English: *Frederick, Elizabeth; *Foust, Jane; *Wood, Jean; *Rawlinson, Alfred; *Bailey, Eloise; *Roberts, Josephine; *Spokes, Alice; Ferguson, Harriet; Graef, Clara; Heritage, Esther; Snyder, Isabel; Wallace, Margaret; Girton, Esther; *Fink, Paul; *Sale, Elizabeth. *Candidates.

This list is contingent in all cases upon the completion this semester of all required work; and in the last two cases upon the attainment of an "A" in advanced literature. Only five or six will be chosen finally to read for honors.

Juniors majoring in English who have taken advanced composition and attained an average of "B" with an "A" in one course in advanced literature: Davies, Dorothy; Feaster, John; Patchen, Dorothy.

Sophomores registered for the A. B. degree who have attained an average of "B" in English and an "A" in one three-hour course: Ballinger, Winona; Bitner, Vivian; Burlew, John; Eisley, Trennie; Grove, Robert; Haynes, Kenneth; Lugoscki, Dorothy; Raker, Ned; Rodenbeck, Betty; Vandenbree, Kenneth; Waldherr, Madaline; White, Elinor; Wilson, Mary; Zimmerman, Margaret.

This list will be revised at the end of each semester.

Dan Gregory to Play At Prom in January

The Junior Prom Committee has been exceedingly fortunate in securing an orchestra of exceptional repute. Dan Gregory's Victor Recording Orchestra, which is said to come from the blues country, knows how to register the languorous rhythm, the poignant moanings of a sweeter jazz, which all lovers of real red hot tunes enjoy.

Dan Gregory and his Victor Recording Orchestra hail from Richmond, Va., and have obtained a national reputation. They have played for various proms and hops in many large American universities such as Harvard, Princeton, and others. Their concerts have been broadcast over nearly all the larger broadcasting stations and have been received with great admiration.

With an orchestra of unusual merit, and favors of exceptional beauty, no one can afford to miss this year's Prom, which is destined to be the best in years.

Y. W. to Send Bazaar Proceeds to Brazil

The annual Y. W. C. A. Bazaar, which was held Monday, December 10, at the Baptist church, proved to be quite a "treasure" to those interested in buying "pretties" for their friends for Christmas. The handkerchiefs, salt and peppers, and brasses were especially popular and the novelties such as "daisy" hat sticks were also well liked.

Due to the fact that all of the girls could not get down to the church on Monday, a sale was held Tuesday evening at the "Sem" from 5 to 7 p. m. Although the prices were very reasonable, a fair amount was realized on all goods, and quite a sum made on the home-made candy, brought by the various groups. The proceeds of the Bazaar will go to the Bucknell-in-Brazil project. The committee, of which Louise Rinck, '30, was chairman, worked hard to make the affair a success.

Forty Education Students Observe Williamsport Teaching Methods

Forty students of Education, accompanied by Prof. Frank Davis, Miss Margaret Lawson, and also Mr. Ralph Hartz, observed in detail the teaching, classes, activities, and equipment of the various high schools of Williamsport, Thursday, November 22.

Three types of high schools visited were the Thaddeus Stevens Junior High School, the Williamsport Senior High School, and the Andrew J. Curtiss Junior High School.

The students left by bus at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, and arrived in Williamsport at 9:30. The first school visited was the Thaddeus Stevens Junior High School. Here, the observers were taken through the building, shown the various rooms and classes, and were instructed as to the types of activities engaged in by the pupils. It was interesting to note the fact that everything was done in order to give the pupils every advantage and opportunity possible. The girls have their domestic science room, the boys their machine shops.

The next building visited was the Williamsport Senior High School. Here, the observers were divided into groups, each group going to those classes of greatest interest to those observing. After an hour and a half of detailed observation, classes were dismissed for luncheon, which was cafeteria. This occupied a very short time, and once more critical observation began. This lasted until 3:30 p. m. when the students left to continue their observation in the Curtiss Junior High School.

The Williamsport Senior High School was marked distinctly by an attitude of real interest expressed by the pupil toward the teacher, and interest in the pupil taken by the teacher. There was method and rule in the class room. The classes were lengthy in period, but the hour and a half was broken by a period of study. There were plenty of activities in which the pupil could find self-expression.

The Andrew J. Curtiss Junior High School was characterized by the same methods and activities as the former two high schools. It was noticable that in so far as possible, the school management was endeavoring to give the pupil every advantage, and to cooperate with him in every way, making him realize that he is a unit of society. The stress is laid upon fit preparation for life, and the pupil is given an opportunity to meet life's problem in a rational and coherent manner.

After observing minutely the equipment and government of these three schools, the students left Williamsport with minds enriched in educational observation. Reports were then carefully made of the various things noted.

Metropolitan Opera Tenor and Soprano Delight Audience With Fine Singing

MARIO CHAMLEE AND MISS RUTH MILLER PRESENT PROGRAM OF CONCERT NUMBERS AND BITS FROM GRAND OPERA

Bringing to Bucknell two excellent singers from New York City, the committee for the Bucknell University Entertainment Course presented a remarkable program of concert numbers and grand opera, Tuesday night, at the Baptist church, sung by the famous tenor and soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, Mario Chamlee and Ruth Miller. They were accompanied at the piano by Frederick Bristol and at the organ by Janet Mench.

The work of these artists was quite up to the standard which they have set, and the ability of the small auditorium to do justice to the terrific tonal power of Chamlee was surprising to the moderately large audience which attended the event. From the first, the great tenor plunged into his music with vigor and emotional intensity, giving his numbers a dramatic interpretation that gave an indication of what he was to do in the operatic scene which concluded the performance. The tones of Miss Miller were warm and vibrant in the lower register, while in the higher ones she showed an accuracy in facile coloratura passages which aroused a lively admiration in her hearers.

A varied program was presented by the singers. Especially attractive was the element of originality which showed itself in the lack of hackneyed numbers. Aside from the two beautiful compositions, "Adelaide," by Beethoven, and "The Old Refrain," by Kreisler, the numbers sung were probably unknown to the majority of the audience.

It was the ear-splitting, Carusseque tones which appeared to rouse most fire in the audience, but the sobbing pathos of some of the quieter passages sung by Chamlee, was perhaps even finer from an artistic point of view.

Especially striking was the St. Sulpice scene from the opera "Manon," by Massenet. The three numbers composing this scene—a solo aria by Mr. Chamlee, a recitative by Miss Miller, and a duet by the two artists —brought to an end a most colorful evening of music and drama. The singers received an ovation at the close of the concert, but wisely refused an encore which might have had the effect of an anti-climax.

W. and J. Appreciates Snavely's Generosity

Bucknell teams and their coaches have made many fine records on the gridiron, but none ever made a better record than Coach Carl Snavely and this year's varsity team in the game with W. and J. In fact, the record was so unusual and so altogether out of the ordinary that President S. S. Baker, of W. and J., wrote to President Emory W. Hunt, of Bucknell, to tell him about it. And President Hunt was so much pleased to learn about the matter that he asked the Bucknellian to tell the student body about it. President Baker's letter puts the thing so well that we can't do better than print it. The letter is as follows:

My dear Doctor Hunt:

Aside from the general healthy and happy surroundings at the game at Johnstown recently, there is an incident of which we want to make mention:

Your coach, Mr. Snavely, did the most generous thing we have ever heard of when he advised his boys of the crippled condition of two of our men and asked them to bear it in mind in the heat of the game.

We will appreciate it if you will express to him our appreciation and highest regards.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours
S. S. Baker, President.

"Andy" Kerr Pick [illegible] As Centre for All-Eastern

Frederick "Ted" Mitchell, Bucknell's center, will play with the All-East team against the All-West eleven at San Francisco on December 29, it was announced here this week. "Andy" Kerr, of W. and J., who will coach the all-East team, selected Mitchell. Kerr negotiated for the Bucknell center's services late last week. Mitchell immediately wired a message of acceptance.

Mitchell is a senior, and has played on the Bison eleven for the past three seasons. The present campaign was his last in varsity competition and he was the kingpin of the Bucknell line.

Mitchell is 21 years old, weighs 206 pounds, and is five feet ten inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Madison, N. J., high school and Kiski Prep where he was an all around athlete. Mitchell is a member of the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity.

DR. H. W. ROBBINS IS MADE PHI BETA KAPPA MEMBER

Dr. H. W. Robbins, head of the English department, was recently initiated by the Rhode Island chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. He was elected to this honorary fraternity last June on the twentieth anniversary of his graduation from Brown University.

Read the Bucknellian.

Formal Xmas Dinner At "Sem" Gala Event

On Thursday evening, December 13, the "Semites" will once more gather around the festive board for the annual formal Christmas dinner. It is quite a disappointment that the new dining room will not be finished for the occasion as was planned. However, no pains are being spared to make it a most happy event. Mrs. Sale has promised "extra good" food, carols (which have been practiced every evening) will be sung, and Christmas decorations will add a festive atmosphere.

There will be two shifts, as usual, and the faculty will sit together at a large table second shift. As has been the custom for several years, the girls at each table will draw for names, and will buy a small gift for the person whose name is drawn. Usually a spicy verse is attached. This year the Y. W. C. A. is taking care of the seating arrangments, and heads are allowed to pick their "table-mates."

After the dinner is over, the "Sem" girls will carry out another tradition by going about town to "serenade" the Faculty. On Tuesday evening a meeting of the freshmen girls was called to inform them of the custom of the Christmas dinner, so the girls are expecting 100 per cent. cooperation.

Enoch Perrine Library Open to All B. U. Students

Bucknell students are invited to visit the Enoch Perrine Memorial Library in room 34, Biology Annex and use the books that have been placed there for their use. J. Arthur Gullden, '32, has been employed as librarian. The library will be open every day from 10 to 10:30 o'clock and from 1 to 1:30 o'clock.

Approximately half of the books in the library have been catalogued and placed on the shelves. At the present time the library is composed of 800 volumes. It includes the outstanding standard works in every field. There are a number of translations of Russian and French novels along with all the standard classics.

Any student at Bucknell may use the books in this library. Books may be taken out for the usual two weeks' period.

NEW B. U. CALENDAR READY TO DISTRIBUTE

Copies of a beautiful Bucknell University calendar for 1929 will be ready for mailing next week. Students may now sign coupons at the Registrar's office and the calendars will be mailed to their destination.

Registrar H. W. Holter has a picture of Old Main, taken from the quadrangle, and by a three-color printing process the venerable building has been portrayed in its true colors.

Dramatic Club Gives "One of the Family"

Frill and Frown, girls' dramatic society made its initial bow of the season on Monday evening, December 10 at Bucknell Hall, presenting a three-act comedy entitled, "One of the Family."

The play is concerned with a desire to uphold the family name and honor, and to adhere strictly to convention. It is a typical family setting, and in his clever interpretation of the part of the married brother, John Anderson, '31, excelled all his fellow actors. "Toots" Thomas, '29, was in her element as the young and much abused child of the family, and her natural humor and ready wit did much to lighten the more serious parts.

Edna Craft, '30, provided generous entertainment between acts with her piano solos. Practice for the play was under the direction of Elizabeth Siegfried, '29, and Professor C. Willard Smith who applied the finishing touches. Attention to properties and to stage managing was given by Emilio Maxwell, '30, Alelaide Clark, '31, and Ora Louise Cooper, '29.

Pan-Hellenic Contest Scheduled for March

The Pan Hellenic Song Contest, last held in 1927, has been set this year for March 14, 1929. The contest will be held in the Baptist church, as it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

The specifications for those groups competing are as follows: Twenty-five members of each fraternity in the women's college will compete. Three songs will be sung—one, a Bucknell song, the second a fraternity song, and the third the Alma Mater. Judges have not yet been selected; but they will be disinterested persons with musical appreciation. A silver loving-cup will be presented to the fraternity best presenting its songs.

BRAZIL PROJECT GOES OVER GOAL IN RECENT DRIVE

Committee Makes Announcement That Funds Will Surpass The Expected $1000

Bucknell has exceeded her goal of $1000 for the Brazilian project. The latest report from the committee in charge of the financial drive shows that paid subscriptions total $984.17 while other pledges will more than enable Bucknell to pass the thousand-dollar goal.

Faculty contributions totaled $225, men students responded with $350, while the women students passed the $300 mark. Mrs. Clara B. Sale turned over to the committee $107.17 as a result of the Golden Rule dinner at the Women's College last Sunday. Several organizations have stated that their contributions will be in the hands of the committee at the end of the week. Proceeds from the Y. W. C. A. bazaar have not yet been totaled, but it is stated that the amount is a goodly one.

The financial campaign which started December 6 officially closed December 10, thereby culminating the faculty-student drive for a Bucknell project in Brazil. The proceeds from the campaign will be used in the educational work of the American School in Victoria, Brazil of which Loren M. Reno, '00, is the director. An announcement of the exact phase of the work which will be made by Bucknell's project will be made as soon as the Bucknell-in-Brazil committee has checked over student and faculty ballots, it was stated by Edna Craft, '30, chairman of the publicity committee.

Paul Fink, '29, [illegible] was in charge of the financial drive, had a representative from each campus organization collect the contributions from the members of the group. All money was then turned over to Dr. N. H. Stewart, the treasurer of the committee.

Bucknell Demonstration School Offers Big Opportunity For Student Teachers

Students of Education, especially those who are preparing for the preparing for the teaching profession, should take notice of the excellent opportunities afforded to student-teachers in the Demonstration School of the Summer Session.

The Bucknell Demonstration School was started in 1925 with two teachers and a handful of pupils. During that summer, seven students did observation and student-teaching in order to meet the state requirements. In the following year, the number of student-teachers increased to thirteen. In 1927, the school was enlarged and thirty student-teachers were accommodated. In the summer of 1928, with five demonstration teachers and sixty pupils, the number of student-teachers was 30. The Bucknell Demonstration School is now one of the best demonstration schools in the state of Pennsylvania. The school has become a very definite part of the Summer Session organization.

The schedule of last summer was arranged so that a specially prepared demonstration was given every hour of each day in the week. In other rooms teaching was done by student-teachers under the supervision of demonstration-teachers. This made it possible for the observing student to see at any hour expert teaching provided he did not desire to observe student-teaching. The school was organized as a complete junior high school, and the student-teacher was given an opportunity to participate in the guiding and directing of various activities.

One of the advantages of the Summer Demonstration School over student-teaching offered in the regular year is that the student is able to give practically his entire time to this particular work for six weeks. However, since the Demonstration School opens at 9 o'clock a. m., a course may be taken at 8 o'clock—this course usually being offered in conjunction with the student-teaching.

Next summer, in addition to previous-offered courses which are English, social science, mathematics, science, and health, a foreign language will be added and possibly a course in typewriting. It is certain that the number of conferences will be more than that held in the regular college year. General conferences will be held daily with the director of student-teaching. Frequent group conferences will be held and participated in by demonstration and student-teachers. There will also be daily conferences at which the student-teacher will present lesson plans for the criticism of demonstration-teachers.

It is important to notice that the number of credit-hours given for student-teaching will be raised from 3 to 6.

Doris Siner, '29, spent several days last week in Harrisburg.

* * * *

Eloise Bailey, '29, spent the week-end at her home in Williamsport.

* * * *

Beulah Lesher, '30, was surprised by a visit from her father last Thursday.

* * * *

Miss Jacqueline Carnes, of Johnstown, visited her sister "Jerry" Carnes, '30, last Sunday.

* * * *

Won't some kind person do a kind deed for the "Semites" by taking the pebbles off Loomis street?

* * * *

It has been suggested by one of the "Sigs" that, since this ban on cars all streets in Lewisburg should be named "Walker."

* * * *

Those who journeyed to State this past week-end include: Mary Wagner, Roberts, "Kitty" Boyer, all of '29, and "Lee" McKaig, '31.

* * * *

One of Prof. H. L. Child's political science classes is finding out by actual practice how the House of Representatives carries on its sessions.

* * * *

The girls in Annex are duly thankful that their room-campus is over. They have sworn off excessive noise, for they appreciate now what total silence is.

* * * *

Some of the "Semites" weren't good sports enough to stay at the "Sem" for the Poverty Dinner, but instead patronized the restaurants down town.

* * * *

According to the large number of packages arriving at the "Sem" post office this week, it seems like the week after Christmas vacation rather than the one before.

* * * *

A "Semite" who has been dieting extensively says she believes she will write a Christmas story for children and call it, "The Adventures of Uncle Calory and Aunt Vitamin."

* * * *

Gym and dancing classes started Wednesday, December 5, and the co-eds rejoice in the fact that they no longer will suffer from the elements while playing tennis and hockey.

* * * *

It seems that everyone has a cold or some such form of annoyance to take home for Christmas vacation. Both the men's and women's infirmary have been well occupied lately.

* * * *

According to all reports, the dean had a full house recently at his "afternoon teas." The boys claim the little "see-me" cards were just as unattractive as ever.

* * * *

"Semites" were disappointed in their hope of having the Christmas dinner party in the new dining room. However, this won't detract from their enjoyment of the gay affair this evening.

* * * *

"Father, when I am graduated I am going to follow my literary bent and write for money."

"Well, son, you ought to be successful. That's all you've been doing since you started at college."

* * * *

"Dot" Berlin and "Kay" Wardan, both of '30, saw Santa Claus in Milton last week. "Dot" wants one of the new Chevorlets and "Kay" would like a mink coat. Good old Santa wrote the orders in his note book, too!

* * * *

What an institution for fresh air fanatics Bucknell is getting to be! The latest antic of one of our cases as seen by students on Monday is riding in shirt sleeves down Sixth street and through town in the rear seat of a Ford touring car with top down.

* * * *

Wonder if the lightless nights recently enjoyed (?) on the Hill are due to the enthusiasm of Hoover men anxious to carry out Hoover's "economy" policy? At least, the darkness furnishes good excuses for lack of preparation of studies for the men who reside on the "Hill."

* * * *

The girls in the home economics cooking classes prepared and served a Christmas dinner Thursday evening, December 6. The meal consisted of roast chicken and everything else that goes to make up a real Christmas dinner. Needless to say, the "Semites" who partook of this repast were greatly envied by many of their friends.

Phoebe Ann Bloomfield, '27, was here for a short time last Saturday.

* * * *

"Turk" Jones, '29, was ill with grippe and spent a few days in the Ziegler Infirmary.

* * * *

Ask any member of the 201 Latin class what "emporium" means. No its not a town either!

* * * *

"Fran" Kernohan, '30, and "Betty" Keedy, '32, have been confined to the Women's Infirmary lately.

* * * *

A Bucknell co-ed was asked if she was planning to have a career to which she answered "Yes, I'm learning to pilot an electric sweeper."

* * * *

One of the men on the campus says, "I believe I've doped out why people call college 'higher education.' Just look at the fur coats and roadsters!"

* * * *

Windy days on the Hill are certainly inconvenient for the freshman boys. Cannot someone patent a dink that adheres more closely to the head?

* * * *

Since listening to some of the tales told by the glee clubbers after their recent trip, we have decided not to bother joining the Marines, but to buy a Tuxedo.

* * * *

Because of ill health, John Murphy, '32, was forced to return to his home in Wilkes-Barre for the remainder of the semester. John expects to be back for work next year.

* * * *

Fudge odors permeated the "Sem" halls last Sunday night. Some of the girls were making candy for the Y. W. Bazaar and the rest were wishing for even the pan to (wash?)!

* * * *

A freshman girl asked if there was a college near here by the name of Court Marshall. She was evidently thinking of Franklin and Marshall college, but was slightly confused in regard to the name.

* * * *

"Jack" Robertson, '31, is the proud possessor of three cravats which are fifty years old. They are of the wide variety and "Jack" says that he could wear them for coats if he cut holes in them for his arms and head.

* * * *

During the past week "Semites" have been singing carols at evening meals. In addition to preparing for the carols sung at the formal dinner on Thursday evening, the co-eds are practicing for the annual serenade of the professors on that same night.

* * * *

We have many evidences that Christmas is on the way. Almost every day for the last week or two, "Semites" have left the "Sem" with pocketbooks more or less full, to return with empty purses, and with their arms full of bundles. The time for Christmas shopping has arrived.

* * * *

On Sunday the thirty Bucknell boys who dine at Mrs. R. Moyer's on Fifth street delightfully indulged in the second turkey dinner of the fall. It was Mrs. Moyer's annual Christmas dinner to her boys. The big feast was preceded by a general one-day fast.

* * * *

The week before Christmas vacation promises to be a busy time for some members of Professor John Rice's physiology class who have not turned in any reports as yet. They have had orders to get in all the reports before they leave for home next week. We don't envy them the task.

* * * *

Hilda Hausler, ex-'31, spent the first few days preceding Thanksgiving vacation visiting friends on the campus. She spent the remainder of the week with her last year's roommate, June Reidler, '31, at the latter's home in Orwigsburg. Miss Hausler transferred from Bucknell to Indiana State Teachers' College this year, where she is studying public school music.

* * * *

The "Sem's" contribution to the Bucknell in Brazil project totaled $107.17 as a result of the "Golden Rule" dinner on Sunday, December ninth. The statistics compiled by Mrs. Sale, dietitian, showed that the cost of food for a chicken dinner three weeks ago totaled $147.08, while the cost of food for the "Golden Rule" dinner amounted to $39.91. It must be remembered that no overhead expenses were included in the costs of either dinner, nor is the cost of preparation taken into account.

The Evolution of the "Sem" Postal System

By HELEN E. BELL

(Written for the Special Article Writing Class.)

The installation of new and larger mail boxes at the Women's College marks another step in the evolution of the "Sem" postal system, which has undergone frequent changes since the days of the Bucknell Female Institute. Under this new system each co-ed will have a mail box of her own that will be large enough to hold both letters and periodicals.

Many of the old-time features have been retained in the new postal system at the Women's College, and yet the methods of handling the mail at the "Sem" have been gradually altered as changes have been made in the government postal practices. Mail now comes to the "Sem" three times daily, except on Sunday, when there is but one mail, and that in the morning. A parcel post delivery each morning brings letters, newspapers, and packages to the "Sem," where they are sorted by two of the girls. Afternoon mail is brought by the regular letter carrier, who at the same time collects the outgoing mail. In the evening and on Sunday morning it is necessary for one of the girls to take the outgoing mail to the town post office, and to bring back the "'Semites" mail from there. Approximately 300 women students receive their mail in this fashion, a most decided contrast to the practice in use when there were but 50.

The First Mail Carriers

In the early days of the Seminary and the College there was no house to house delivery in Lewisburg, and so, like the townsfolks, the "Sem" had a box at the local post office. An aristocratic negro, Charles Bell, and his terrier, Towser, were for many years the "Sem's" mail carriers. Old Charley was a familiar figure in Lewisburg, having settled here following his escape from slavery prior to the issuance of the Emancipation Proclamation. Twice daily this aged negro could be seen coming and going from the post office with a sizable leather bag slung over his left shoulder, and persistently followed by the faithful Towser. Only the infirmities of old age forced him to abandon his job as "Sem" mail carrier in favor of two college men, who continued to use the same leather bag. When the mail had been duly deposited at the "Sem" office, one of the college girls sorted it, and made a room-to-room journey, distributing letters and packages.

College Buys Mail Boxes

Upon moving to its present location on Market street, the local post office discarded its old mail boxes, some of which the University purchased about 1912, and installed in the first "Sem" post office, a room which now forms a part of Dean Amelia Clark's office.

Only recently, it must be remembered, has there been parcel post service. Prior to that time, all packages had to be sent by express, although it was possible to send smaller articles by first class mail. The introduction of the parcel post system did not disrupt the "Sem's" postal activities, for all packages were left in the hall waiting to be claimed by the owners. Thus did packages continue to be claimed until the fall of 1927, when the "Sem" post office was made sufficiently large to accommodate packages.

Growing up side by side with a changing government system, and adapting itself to an increased registration of women students, the "Sem" postal system has progressed from a "direct to room" service to efficient mail distribution in individual boxes, which requires the services of four girls instead of one.

What the Colleges Are Doing

William T. Tilden, who is recognized as the world's greatest tennis star, was a recent chapel speaker at Brown University. Mr. Tilden has become quite a dramatic enthusiast. He is now playing in "Dracula," a mystery play which enjoyed an extended run in New York City.

—X—

Nine Susquehanna University students, charged with inciting to riot and malicious mischief, were arrested in Shamokin, Friday evening, November 23. The students spent the night in the lock-up after a fight with several Shamokin youths in the Busy Bee Restaurant at that place.

Three members of the group, seniors, paid $200 fines and costs and were then released.

—X—

A number of students at the New Jersey College for Women will enjoy a short trip to Europe during the Christmas vacation. The students will travel under the guidance of one of the college professors. Among the places of interest that they will visit are Paris and St. Moritz.

—X—

Students at Franklin and Marshall College have lost interest in a petition to have baseball readmitted into the ranks of officially recognized sports at that college. Two weeks ago, the Athletic Committee abolished baseball as an official sport at Franklin and Marshall.

—X—

From an investigation conducted at Washington and Lee University, it appears that the average Washington and Lee student spends twelve times as much for movies, eight times as much for tobacco, and two and one-half times as much for shoe shines in the course of a year as he gives to the church, the Y. M. C. A., and other causes.

John D. Plant, physical director of Bucknell University, celebrated his birthday anniversary recently. In honor of the event several friends were entertained at the Plant home on South Sixth street, Lewisburg.

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

The College Man's First Choice

You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Wards are preeminent as the shoes that college men prefer.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at
MONTGOMERY & CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

WAINIES

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

College and Fraternity
PRINTING
OF ALL KINDS.
Lab. Covers, Punched Paper and other Supplies.
SEE OUR LINE OF
Christmas Cards
Finest in the Town.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

SIGMA CHI

"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

The boys will throw a party for the "Semites" on Friday night, with "Red" Hitchens and his merry musicians furnishing the necessary atmosphere. The proximity of the vacation, linked with the plans of the social committee, promises to make this dance a successful affair.

Brothers "Mal" Musser, "Doc" Gerhart, "Doc" Speare, Cliff Remer, Albert Johnson, and Adam Waldner were present at the Sunday night Fireside Hour. This meeting of the alumni, actives, and pledges of the chapter on Sunday night is one of the most pleasant meetings of the week.

"Lou" Mutzel successfully withstood the challenges of Carl Truxel and "Doc" Gerhart as to his claim of being the best nimrod in the chapter. Although "Lou" had never come in empty-handed, his rivals for the title, especially Truxel, insinuated that Mutzel often found his game. In order to clarify the atmosphere it was arranged by a neutral party for the three to go gunning on Saturday. "Lou" potted a brace of bunnies, while Carl bagged only one, and doleful "Doc" got an afternoon's exercise. "Mutt" was busy that afternoon, so "Lou" was without his dog.

Mrs. Jennie Philips and the Misses Stringer, Andrews, and Patchen were guests at the house for dinner on Sunday.

Donald Diehl vindicated a certain car of uncertain vintage by driving it to Philadelphia and back over the week-end. The owner can once again hold up his head and mingle with his brothers on an equal footing.

Paul Fink and "Linc" Walter were away over the week-end. Paul's destination was Montoursville while "Linc" went to Williamsport. The only difference is that "Linc" went to see relatives.

DELTA SIGMA

Philip G. Murray, '29

Delta Sigma held a formal dance Saturday evening, December 8, at the house. Social chairman "Woo" Rise had the house amply decorated for the occasion with a novel arrangement of balloons. "Eddie" Hoffman and his boys furnished the pep and rythm while Professor and Mrs. F. G. Davis and Professor and Mrs. J. H. Eisenhauer acted as chaperons.

"Lu" Jefferies entertained last Tuesday with cigars and a dissertation entitled "Pinless Lu." "Lu" says he is a man of few words. If that is true, his limited vocabulary must be decidedly egective.

Dr. John W. Elliot of Glenside, Pa., was the guest of the chapter on Tuesday.

"Lee" Ely is in the infirmary with a badly crushed foot.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

D. Rodger Davis, '32

Brothers McCormick, '28, and Eller, '30, spent the week-end in Bloomfield. They were spectators at the Bloomfield-Rutherford game, which ended in a 13-13 score.

Brothers Norman Engh and Paul Van Roden, from Ohio University, drove in Saturday to visit Johnny Seigh. They left Sunday morning for Johnstown, on their way back to Athens, Ohio.

Pledge brothers Mills and Davis have been in the infirmary during the past week. Both have bad colds.

Brother Heller, of Colgate, was a guest at the house, Sunday, December 9.

ALPHA CHI MU

Albert E. Brenner, '29

The Yuletide season was opened with a dance at the house last Saturday night. The house was appropriately decorated with red and green streamers, wreaths and bells. Professor and Mrs. F. A. Sprague and Instructor and Mrs. J. B. Miller were the chaperons. Music was rendered by "Red" Hitchens' orcrestra.

Assistant Prof. M. F. Nimkoff, of the Department of Sociology, was a guest at dinner last Sunday.

The fraternity basketball team went to Watsontown last Thursday night and defeated the high school team of that town, 30 to 15.

Q. D. Hewitt, '32, of Saratoga, Wyo., was a guest at the house last Thursday evening.

Alpha Chi Mu takes pleasure in extending to everyone the wish for a Merry Christmas, a Happy New Year, and a very profitable vacation, with plenty of turkey and "fixin's."

KAPPA GAMMA

Joseph M. Paige, '32

Messrs. Rung, Hanrahan, Millbourne, and McDermott, of State College, were Kappa Gamma guests on Saturday.

"Gene" McCoy stopped at the house Saturday while on his way to Wenonah Academy where he is a student.

A crowded dining room on Saturday evening revealed the presence of all the boys. The fact that everyone spent the week-end in town was a general topic of discussion.

BETA KAPPA

Earle Morse, '32

Phil Campbell, '24, of Danville, dropped in at the house this week to see all of his friends.

"Dick" Carvolth and Everett Keller, who is a Colgate graduate, were guests at the house on Sunday.

We are sorry to announce that "Toughy" Atwood, '31, was forced to return to his home in Bridgeport, Conn., because of a severe illness which necessitates a minor operation. We are all hoping for the speedy recovery and return of brother Atwood to our midst.

Pledge brother "Vince" Beckwith entertained Karl Clark, of Olyphant, at the house over the week-end.

There is to be a formal "Sem" dance on Friday the 14. "Doc" Getkins and his Nighthawks will supply the necessary harmony.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta chapter takes great pleasure in announcing the initiation into active membership of Juliet Robertson, '30, on Saturday, December eighth.

The annual Christmas party will be held in the suite on Thursday evening. All pledges will as usual receive gifts, and the suite will also come in for its share of gifts. Ethel Henion, '30, is in charge of the festivities. Christmas and fraternity colors will be used to decorate the suite, and a fir tree will be much in evidence.

PHI MU

Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter announces with pleasure the initiation into active membership of Harriet Ferguson, '29, and Anne Sprout, '31.

"Floss" Utt, '26, and "Ree" Helwig, '28, visited the chapter the week-end of December seventh.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha chapter entertained the commuters at a tea in the recreation room of the new dorm last Tuesday afternoon. A very pleasant afternoon was spent in dancing and playing bridge.

Next Friday night Sarah Collner, '29, will attend the formal dance given by Beta chapter at Susquehanna University. She will be the guest of Dorothy and Ruth Goff.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

Henry M. Graham, '31

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Lund were guests of Theta U. for dinner last Sunday.

Theta U. has engaged Ted Brownagle's orchestra for a formal dance to be held in the chapter house on Friday, December 14. Many alumni are expected to attend and for this reason the dance will be closed. Brownangle's orchestra played for the Freshman Hop last year, and is a favorite on the campus.

Miss Esther Ripple and Miss Aillen Adams, sister of Gordon K. Adams, '30, motored from their home in Green Burr last Saturday and had lunch at the house.

Mr. Samuel Ralston and Mr. H. A. Hawker, of Harrisburg, were guests of Ruel Ralston, '30, last Sunday.

PHI LAMBDA THETA

Blair I. Hazen, '31

The boys have been the recipients of three treats during the past week in celebration of birthdays of the three brothers who contributed to the cause. The one treat was in the form of ice cream donated by Brother "Hal" Trostel, the next in the form of delicious plum-pudding, set up by Brother "Mel" Paul, and the last one was in the form of cigars passed around by Brother "Lou" Emery. Too bad birthdays don't come more often around the house; the other fellows enjoy the treats so much.

Gamma chapter takes pleasure in announcing the recent pledging of John S. Fetter, '32, of Girardville, Pa.

Pledge-brother John Mootz spent another delightful week-end with his parents.

"Gib" Frith and "Ernie" Englehardt were among the visitors at the house this week-end.

On their way to here!

780,000 Chesterfield cigarettes are now sailing South-Polewards with the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. We are officially informed that the selection of Chesterfield resulted from the individually expressed preferences of a majority of the expedition's members.

When it is recalled that these are—in superlative sense — picked men . . . selected not only for bravery, ability and experience, but also by searching tests of physical fitness . . . we may be forgiven for our considerable pride in their vote. And something of this pride, we believe, will be shared by all Chesterfield smokers.

It is another of the many proofs piling up that the surest way to earn popularity is to deserve it!

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies
Films developed and printed
Eastman Kodaks and Films

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1895. Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—10—

(With Apologies to R. K. Leavitt in "Advertising and Selling.")

THE MOMENTS WERE SWIFTLY GLIDING BY, AND THE SCORE STOOD 6 TO 0 IN FAVOR OF YARROW. HILLCREST HAD THE BALL ON YARROW'S THREE-YARD LINE. WITH ONLY ONE MINUTE TO PLAY, JENNINGS CARRIED THE BALL OVER FOR HILLCREST.

TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE HELD THEIR BREATH AS HILLCREST LINED UP TO TRY FOR THE EXTRA POINT. THE HILLCREST STANDS WENT WILD WITH ANTICIPATION. ONE OF THE SENIORS POINTED OUT TO HIS FATHER THE FIGURE OF A FORMER GREAT HILLCREST athlete WHO HAD RETURNED TO SEE HIS SCHOOL LICK YARROW. YEARS AGO HE HAD KICKED THE EXTRA POINT WHICH DEFEATED HIS OPPONENTS. THE FATHER WAS NOT INTERESTED IN FORMER GREAT ATHLETES, HE WAS INTERESTED IN WHAT HILLCREST WAS GOING TO DO NOW.

THE BALL WENT STRAIGHT AND TRUE FOR THE CROSS-BAR, CLEARED IT; AND THE GAME WAS OVER. JENNINGS, THE MAN WHO HAD WON FOR HIS ALMA MATER, WAS THE HERO UNTIL THE YEARS WILL PASS BY AND HE IS FORGOTTEN LIKE THE FORMER STAR OF HILLCREST AND LIKE THE MERCHANT WHO FORGOT TO ADVERTISE.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $3.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Robert L. Lyon, '29 208 S. 7th St. Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor	Clarence W. Cranford, '29
Assistant Managing Editors	Virginia Sasser, '29 Helen Bell, '30
News Editor	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Assistant News Editors	Jane G. Forst, '29 Tremble Elsley, '29 Bertha Gavenda, '30
Sports Editor	J. Warren McHgot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	H. Bartoff Koser, '31 Thomas McLeod, '31 Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Women's College Editor	Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Pigner, '30 Frances Kernohan, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Dimmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30 Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLaney, '29 Nathaniel Glazier, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

The holly wreaths have appeared. Already the jolly old greeting, "Merry Christmas," is being passed from friend to friend. Within the next two days that wish will be the goodbye of students who are separating for the Christmas vacation. Christmas is upon us!

The best of this festival is its approach. The day itself never justifies all the preparation that is made for it. Very likely that is because so much preparation and anticipation has been given it. But the season as a whole is the most harmonious, the most spiritual, the happiest in the year. It celebrates an event which is reverend to every person: Christian, Buddhist, Mohammedan, atheist. It is a time when theology and philosophy are put out the door, and that spiritual consciousness which is religion is allowed to come in—uncrowded, unworried by its more learned companions. At midnight on Christmas eve thousands of Protestants will attend high mass at Catholic churches and will worship as they never worship at their own services, where familiarity has bred at least a matter-of-course attitude. On the night of the twenty-fourth even those persons who insist upon making an intellectual objection to the doctrine of Christianity, can, with the infidel German college professor in "Elmer Gantry," croon, "Heilige Nacht," and can say with him, "There is for me the true Jesus—the Jesus of that song."

Existence in this world seems to depend upon a share of success in a perennial struggling competition. But the spirit of competition will go out with its ejected fellows, theology and philosophy, as Christmas draws near. "Peace on earth, good will toward men," has never been bettered as an expression of the true spirit, the true atmosphere of this festival. Yet even this expression has not the warmth, the humanism, of that ancient greeting of a man to his friend, that wish which sums up eternal fellowship, eternal good will, eternal participation in the good things that the world can supply. That is the wish extended to a true friend, and that is the wish we extend today to every one of our readers—

"Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!"

WHAT PRICE GLORY—THE SANITARIUM?

The health of college students becomes progressively poorer from the freshman to the senior year. At least this is the observation made, according to the New York Times, by Dr. Dean F. Smiley, head of the Department of Hygiene and Preventative Medicine at Cornell. The doctor bases his conclusions on the records made by thousands of Cornell students who take physical examinations each year. The proportion of students in the classes of 1928 to 1931 having health upkeep ratings of 95 to 100 per cent, was as follows: seniors, 59.8 per cent; juniors, 63.5; sophomores, 65.7; freshmen, 71.6. Dr. Smiley found that each year the student, "takes poorer and poorer care of himself," first, because he misses the influence of home, and second, because he acquires time-wasting habits or tries to do the work of two men in earning his way through college.

Dr. Smiley is undoubtedly correct as far as he goes in his analysis of the causes of this progressive drop in health ratings during the undergraduate years. Something must be at work to undermine good physical condition. Is it the midnight lunch tradition; the confinement within doors; the application to text books; the acquirement of dissipations; the custom of opening one's books at about twelve at night and closing them at some time between three and six? It is probably all of these. And the Cornell investigator is probably right in tracing much of the decline to time-wasting habits and overwork; for they underlie some of the more direct causes, such as confinement and loss of sleep.

But Dr. Smiley's analysis is not complete. Doubtless a large share of the blame can be laid upon the overwork resulting from the attempt to carry the burden of two men, but we should hardly confine this effort to those students who work their way through college. What of the extra-scholastic activities? Many a student is unable, on any evening in the week, to retire to his room for a session of study after supper, without being conscious of the fact that somewhere a committee or staff or fraternity or club or orchestra or team is holding a meeting and checking him among the absent members. This is a very mild statement. It is far more literally correct to say that he cannot attend a meeting of any one of these organizations without being forced to realize that he is slighting two or three others. The person who originated the classic statement that college is "a four years' loaf," either never went to college, or he was a master of irony.

This condition of frenzied acceleration has long been deplored by professors who find the scholastic ratings of their students becoming progressively lower during the years between the dink and the diploma. But now the physical education departments are lifting their voices. They have just heard about it! In high school, the student was occasionally excused from class in order to participate in a campus activity. In college he finds himself seriously slighting his "outside" education in order to attend class occasionally. And now, along with the rest of the problems created by this situation, his health must begin to suffer!

We dislike the job of tolling the funeral bell, but it looks to us as if "something will have to be done" if college students of the future are to retain either their physical or their mental health through a four years' course. The scholastic requirements are not only not giving way, but are growing stricter. Meanwhile the "activities" are expanding at a headlong pace. Every year sees new movements on foot. Every year sees the old ones announcing that "A new policy is now in operation; we're going to really do things this year." Every year new organizations burst into existence with a shower of Greek letters. Every year the would-be student looks at his row of lonesome text books with a more wistful expression. Every year the medical authorities issue some more "statements based on records." Between rising scholastic standards and expanding "activity" demands, the internal pressure is approaching the bursting point. Something must give way. That something seems to be the student's health.

There is no doubt that college achieves its purpose—if by that we mean the purpose of the majority of its students. Babbitt sends his son to college, and the institution of higher learning keeps up the family tradition. The boosting goes right on without a break. Young Babbitt finds that higher education is a matter of "whooping it up for culture," "boosting all together" for the alleged "better things." But the longer he stays, the less he hears of culture and the better things, and the more he goes in for pure, unmixed, whooping it up and boosting all together. And the longer he stays, the lower goes his health rating. The real tragedy is in the fact that the whooping and boosting are so really purposeless—that, for all their froth and frenzy, they are so intransitive. Our activities have steered themselves into a circle. Each year the football squad goes out to strain and run and cover itself with gleaming sweat, and the crowd goes along with it to shriek and to manifest all the indications of complete dementia; and then when the season is over—what is accomplished? Each week the Bucknellian goes to press in a flurry of activity and editorials; is printed, distributed, glanced at; ceases to exist—and everything is to be done over again. And all the while, the heads of physical education departments are preparing new proclamations on the declining health of college students. What are we headed for, anyway?

(The Bucknellian is indebted to Professor Leo I. Rockwell for the clipping upon which this editorial is based.)

CALENDAR

Friday, December 14—8 to 11:15—Kappa Delta informal dance in the play room of the new dormitory.
7:30 to 11:15—Sigma Chi informal dance.
8 to 11:45—Beta Kappa formal dance.
8 to 11:45—Theta Upsilon Omega formal dance.
6:30 to 12:45—Kappa Sigma formal dance.
6 to 11:45—Phi Lambda Theta formal dinner dance.
Saturday, December 15, noon—Christmas vacation begins.

To The Editor

Many of the students have been expecting to hear "Prexy" censure those in charge of the "Bucknell-in-Brazil" project for their desecration of the campus with the many signs. But chapel period after chapel period has passed without a negative word from the University's president.

Several weeks ago President Hunt took occasion publicly to reprimand a fraternity for this offense—only the latter was guilty of posting their signs on the tree trunks. All of which brings the matter to this point—the "B. U.-in-Brazil" campaigners should be advised of their misdeed in the same manner that their predecessors were, or the latter, if this sign-posting business is to continue with the authorities' sanction, should receive an apology.

It may be that the leniency in the present case is occasioned by the fact that the Brazil project is a University affair. If this is so, is it to a greater degree than the fraternity project which was an all-college function and concerned every student?

However, while we believe that no intentional partiality was meant to be shown, there is, nevertheless, a current feeling that there was, and that one of the two suggested measures should be taken to clear up any misunderstandings.

A FRIAR.

I want to protest against some of the methods which have been used to further the project of Bucknell-in-Brazil. I am one of those students who was rushed along with the current and made to feel that this project was something which ought to be supported. But I do not believe that the end justifies using unscrupulous means.

Last Thursday three bulletins were posted in the three colleges, which gave arguments against the project. It was almost the first time that side of the question had been given. We have seen posters and placards for weeks giving the other side. Early in the morning these three posters were covered over with black ink which must have been put on with a brush. This was not sportsmanship and it was not the spirit of Christianity. I presume the organization for B. U.-in-Brazil has repudiated the action, but nothing has yet been heard of any public, official repudiation of the deed or the person who did it. Everybody knows that certain of the project committee's notices have been taken down, but they were taken by individuals without sanction of any organization. By its silence, the committee gives its sanction to this other destructive action. And yet that committee is asking students to support its project on the ground that it is "deserving" and "charitable!" "By their fruits ye shall know them."

While I am not opposed to the project, as such, I have lost any desire to help an organization which uses unscrupulous means to further it. As students who have been asked to support that organization, we have a right to demand that the committee either publicly repudiate this action or else return the money which has been collected by unsportsmanlike mehods.

INDIGNANT.

I wish the senior, be it he or she, who deemed it necessary "to voice" his or her "opinion" concerning the Bucknell-in-Brazil project, because his or her purse "was about to be submitted to the ravages" of a few cents, was moved by other than a contrary spirit. It is just such persons whose negative spirits buck every worthwhile project put on this campus. Why be that type? How can an organization with any purpose in mind succeed where there is dissention and downright stubborness among its members. If a person finds his nature takes such a disagreeable turn under ordinary circumstances, why must he take it upon himself to see that others side with him and cause disturbance and trouble for that which otherwise would run smoothly to an admirable end? Such a person would be justified if he were speaking justly but he is not. Bucknell-in-Brazil has an honorable and worthwhile purpose—no rational person will deny that. Being worthwhile, it is our duty to support it. It could readily see our writer's point of view if he were attempting to defeat an unworthy cause of a lower nature but the cause is neither unworthy nor of low character, and it is up to us, being Christian students whose education is supposed to make us fair-minded, to support it.

I grant, as everyone will I think, that our present gymnasium is literally a "mote in the eye," and we all would like to see a new gym of more modern and substantial appearance take its place or rather be placed on a site of more prominence and less background—but since no one has done more than make it an argument, whose strength is already spent, against a project of a more upright-eous and unselfish nature, why bring it up now at a time so inopportune to the other's advancement? If, however, my fellow classmate and co-writer in this column finds the fire of his enthusiasm for a new gym leaping the bounds of patience, I suggest that he give himself the honor by self-appointment (since self-appointment seems to be in vogue) of chairman of an active committee to raise funds for a new gymnasium.

Being one of the laymen and having no active part on the personnel of the Brazilian committee, I feel we all should pitch in and help the promoters. The thing is already started and is going good and as long as the dissenters keep their hands off the damper, it will succeed.

ANOTHER SENIOR.

We wish to inform you and your readers that, Theta Nu Epsilon is no longer a fraternity composed of drunkards and immoral people.

Theta Nu Epsilon was reorganized (1922) as an open social fraternity and is no longer affiliated with clandestine sub rosa societies which illegally bear the name. The chapter which is reputed to exist at your institution is of the clandestine sort.

When Theta Nu Epsilon (or the T. N. E. as you know it) was in its lowest stage, we never knew that girls wearing our pin represented what you term us in the Bucknellian. It is true that old T. N. E. had a bad name, but Theta Nu Epsilon is no longer a fraternity of ill repute, but a national society of high ideals and of high morals.

We would appreciate it, if you would retract your statement. Many of our friends reading your paper have gotten the wrong impression.

We are sorry that a thing like this should occur at this time, and hope that you will see matters as we do.

Yours very truly,
THETA NU EPSILON SOCIETY.
J. F. Reed, Pres. Pi Chapter,
State College, Pa.

What Have You to Sell Today?

--a stove, a typewriter, a house?

Try the Classified Columns!

If you have lost a pet, need tutoring or have handiwork---a classified ad will convey your message.

Phone Lewisburg 351.

The Bucknellian

Trustee Sends Grace To 'Sem' Composers

All co-ed students at Bucknell should be interested in the following letter from one of our Bucknell trustees, Mr. Elkanah B. Hulley, '07. The letter explains itself.

I notice in this week's Bucknellian that the Semites are conducting a campaign among themselves for a benediction to be used when the new dining hall is opened. I send you herewith a "House Benediction" written by Edwin L. Mattern and published recently in The Phi Gamma Delta, in which I have taken the liberty to change the word "Fiji" in the first line to "Bucknell." I thought this model might inspire some of your students to turn out something equally fine:

God bless this Bucknell house,
And all who here reside;
Bless it within, without,
From roof to threshold wide;
And bless its smiling hearth
That cheers like eastern sun;
Bless its inviting door
That welcomes ev'ry one;
Bless all who cross its step;
May they find peace and joy
Within these friendly walls,
And love without alloy.

Very Sincerely,
E. B. Hulley.

PROF. COLEMAN SPEAKS AT MILTON SERVICES

Professor W. H. Coleman, of the English department, preached at both the morning and the evening services at St. John's Reformed Church at Milton, on Sunday, December 9. Professor Coleman is a great favorite with Milton audiences to whom he has delivered a number of sermons and talks.

Dr. Mary Wolfe Addresses Alumnae

Members of the Lewisburg Alumnae Association met in the organ room of Larison Hall, Monday evening, December 10, and listened to a vivid address delivered by Doctor Mary Wolfe, head of the Laurelton Home for feeble-minded women. Dr. Wolfe spoke on "Good Citizenship," and her theme centered about women voters and their duties toward government and society as a whole. Her lecture was very inspiring and was enjoyed by the large audience present.

In addition to Dr. Wolfe's address, some very entertaining numbers were given. Miss Anna Bucher gave a delightful piano selection. Miss Jane Blair gave a vocal solo, and Miss Jean Koser presented a charming artistic dance.

SCIENCE ACADEMY GRANTS B. U. AWARD FROM BACHE FUND

The National Academy of Sciences, one of the foremost scientific societies of the world, has granted three hundred dollars from the Bache fund of the society to the Bucknell Chemical Engineering Department. Grant number 299 has been awarded to the department for the purpose of purchasing special electrical equipment to further the investigation on the research problem of the preparation of metallic aluminum from alunite ore.

This is the first time that an award of this nature has ever been made to any department of Bucknell, and coming from National Academy of Sciences, it brings with it the recognition of this eminent society for the graduate chemical department of Bucknell University.

The investigation concerning the properties of alunite were begun last year by P. L. Patton, '27, as a portion of the requirements leading to the degree of M. S. in Chemical Engineering. Mr. Patton succeeded in obtaining valuable data for the optimum conditions for the recovery of potash, alum, and sulphuric acid from alunite, but failed to reduce the metallic aluminum from the ore due to lack of electrical equipment. This year, John R. Weber, '28, is carrying on the investigation and has narrowed down his field to the reduction of the metal from the ore.

With the award of the grant from the Bache fund, a special electric furnace has been ordered. When the installation of the furnace is completed, the reduction process will be carried on from the standpoint of electrically decomposing a molten bath of the alunite ore. This procedure is analogous to the commercial processes in use at the present time to obtain the metal from bauxite ores.

COLLEGIANA

Not only does this column threaten to become constant, but it also plans to acquire a personality. Thus far it has been both unruly and feeble with a tendency to change its spirit from weak to weaker. We warn its readers to expect nothing serious or thought-provoking from it, for it wouldn't be much of a column if it did anything except amuse.

—B—

This week we plan to emphasize local color. Our English courses have taught us that when in doubt it is always best to resort to local color, if any. We've had many strange assignments since we've been at this popular watering place, but none of them equaled the one given by the professor who advised his students to "show some initiative and go to jail during vacation."

—B—

In that same class we learned that the Ionians exiled all men who were never seen to laugh. Bucknell would probably have to purchase some laughing gas in order to save a number of its professors from exile, should the same law be put into effect in this country.

—B—

"In days long ago, people, guilty of crimes, were killed by having all the air pumped out of the room and poisonous gas pumped in." We know of a better and more effective way than that. Simply take them to the debating class and they will promptly smother. It is said that during a debate there is so much hot air in the room that even with the windows open the room is uncomfortable.

—B—

During a recent class debate a speaker, deploring the fact that physical fitness is not usually required of a candidate for a marriage license, remarked that one might be an idiot and get married in 19 states. We hereby remind him that a man or woman may thoughtlessly become an idiot and get married in any of the 48 states.

—B—

We have not as yet gotten over a shock that we received one day last week. We were about to take an examination when the professor announced that there were too many people in the room to take the exam comfortably (if there is such a thing as taking an exam comfortably) and we, along with about thirteen other students were actually permitted to take our blue books, go to the library, and write the exam there, free from any sort of watching by selected guards. It is certainly fortunate that Christmas vacation is near, for we need some time to recover from the idea of actually being put on our honor.

Even 180 Isn't Busy When "Curley" Plays

What was the poor boy to do, anyway? He had stood there for an hour, patiently cranking that telephone handle at intervals of about a minute, and still he hadn't been able to knife in between those incessant phone calls. They were coming in from every corner of the earth where people can live and radio sets can pick up WJBU. They were rushing in like the water rushes into the file of shivering frosh on the night of the Big Parade. They were all saying the same thing about "Curley" Miller—"the man with the banjo"—and they were all declaring that his broadcasting was knocking the loudspeakers off the sets—it was so potent. This was last Monday night, we might add.

Now the boy had often stood at the same telephone and asked for "180" until he choked on the number, and had been told that the "Sem" was busy, until his eardrums had to go down into his throat for a rest. He was used to that. But he wasn't ready for what was hitting him tonight. He was a scrapper, though. With the determination of "Eddie" Halicki and the patience of the B. U.-in-Brazil committee, he stuck to the job. He ground that telephone till it smoked; he jiggled the receiver till it started dancing of itself to keep him from choking it to death; and with the voice of encroaching death he grimly repeated, "275-R-2, please."

Suddenly it happened! At just the right moment he bucked the line, and it was his. For a second it was free, and although he was jarred clear down to his feet by the surprise, he managed to spit out some broken teeth and then in limping phrases to whisper the name of the selection he wanted. It was granted. He crawled desperately to his radio set and listened-in. It was then that the miracle occurred: With his objective attained, the student would undoubtedly have passed at once to a higher world, but the syncopation from "Curley's" banjo began to beat on his ears. And in a moment he was completely revived! Specialists say that nothing like it has been seen in years.

Then the one-man band began to play his request number. And did "Curley" do it justice? Zam! Bam! Whoopee! Haowdy-do, sir! The lad was ready for another hour at the telephone. He'd have taken it, too, if the announcer hadn't called him off. For two hours and a half the Blue Band's Best had been making particular whoopee, and even if he was going better than ever, the Radio Commission simply didn't think it was fair to make him keep it up any longer. They demanded that WJBU get off the air. So, reluctantly, it did. But not until "Curley" had stacked up the piano keys and then mushed them over again; not until he had pummeled his 'jo so the instrument itself must have thought it was a combination of Paul Whiteman, Waring's Pennsylvanians, "Eddie" Hoffman's orchestra, and the Blue Band; and gazooked his gazook till the Engineering Building, the Infirmary, and East College got up on their legs and started to do the Black Bottom.

Say! Just to change the subject, what is it everybody is so happy about, these days, anyway?—What! Don't you know that yet? It's because "Curley" Miller is going to broadcast from WJBU every month hereafter!

Mu Phi Alpha Program Gives Music of Spain

The second public recital was given by Mu Phi Epsilon, last Monday evening, in the auditorium of the president, Mildred Headings, '29. This recital dealt primarily with the music of Spain and Italy, which the program will show. Those taking part were: (1) Louise Rhinehart—"Voce di Donna" by Ponchelli, and "Gil Blas" by Semet; (2) Mary Bennett—"Pastorale, by Scarletti; (3) Miss Melrose—"Paria" by Ardita, and "La Hasta Mananal"; (4) Mildred Headings and Grace March, using two pianos—"Espagna" by Chabrier. Miss Coe gave a brief reading which brought out clearly the main characteristics of the music of these two artistic countries.

The next recital will be held on January 21, in the organ room of the Seminary, under the direction of Miss Melrose, who will present an evening of Opera.

Golden Rule Dinner Brings Big Sum for Brazil Project

Stew, brown bread and butter, dried peaches, water, and stew were the ingredients which made up the Women's College "Golden Rule" dinner on Sunday, December ninth.

The difference in cost between a chicken dinner and this economical meal was turned over to the Bucknell-in-Brazil project. Mrs. Clara G. Sale, dietitian, has estimated the amount to be about one hundred fifteen dollars.

Needless to say, Sunday evening supper was attended by practically every "Semite," contrary to the usual custom.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA BIDS FOUR TO MEMBERSHIP

Bucknell chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary debating fraternity, wishes to announce the pledging to membership of the following persons, who by their attainment in debating and their evidence of interest in it, have proved themselves worthy of this distinction: Esther Girton, '29, Eugene G. Mararchi, '29, John C. Minick, '29, and Clyde P. Bailey, '29.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

LADIES ADDRESS ENVELOPES at home. Spare time. $15. $25 weekly easy. Experience unnecessary. Dignified work. Send 2c stamp for particulars. Marcile, Dept. CS 406, Gary, Ind.

FOR SALE—Cheap—New Underwood Typewriter. William F. Gemberling, Milton, R. D 3, third house north of filling station above the bridge on Susquehanna Trail.) Telephone Lewisburg 221, R-5.

Mearns V. Arbogast

DRAYMAN

Phone 196

WATER STREET LEWISBURG, PA.

STYLES OF THE FINER KIND FOR THE MAN WHO CARES, IN FLORSHEIM SHOES $10

J. F. PROWANT CO.

G. Glahn Addresses Der Deutch Verein

The Christmas meeting of Der Deutche Verein was held at the home of Professor L. L. Rockwell on Brown street, Monday evening, December 10. Gerhart Glahn, '32, was the chief speaker. Yuletide refreshments were served.

Eight new members were initiated and Dr. W. H. Eister was elected to honorary membership. The German students, accompanied by John Gittens, '29, sang Christmas songs, "Stille Nacht" and "Auch Der Lieber Augustine."

Gerhart Glahn spoke on Germany. He stressed the absence of drunkeness in Germany, a beer-drinking nation. His experiences during the war were very interesting. Glahn briefly summarized university life in his native country, explaining the six year system. In it the students enjoy themselves the first year, continue to do so the second year, attend a class a week the third year, two a week the fourth year, three the fifth year, and study night and day the sixth year. At the end of this time an examination is given in which it is no uncommon thing for students to fail. Aspirants for degrees sometimes attend college for twelve years.

Y. W. C. A. Party for Orphans Planned for Friday Evening

On Friday afternoon, December 14, the Y. W. C. A. will hold its regular Christmas party for the orphans, out at the Evangelical orphanage. The girls are planning to leave the "Sem" at 3:10 p. m. and each "big sister" is asked to bring some small gift for her orphan so that Santa Claus may not overlook anyone. It has been suggested that the children prefer puzzles and games to dolls, although there will be a doll show. It is also rumored that there will be a Christmas tree with all the "fixin's."

Edna Craft, '30, is in charge of the program.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE BURNING QUESTION

Everyone is laughing, singing.
Happy thoughts the day is bringing.
See the co-ed, full of fun,
See her to the station run.
Fellows, too, are bright and gay,
For it's now vacation day.

* * * *

"Don" Kaupp and "Jeff" Foresman, both ex-'29, returned for a visit with their Phi Gam brothers the week-end of November 24.

"Vince" McHall, '28, returned for a brief "once-over" of his Alma Mater the week-end of November 24.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

The First Annual Christmas Dance to be given by the (Semi formal)
Berks County Alumni Association of Bucknell University in the Ballroom of the Wyomissing Club, Reading, Pa., on Friday Evening, December 28th, 1928
Couple Tickets, $3.00. Dancing 9:00 to 1:00
MUSIC—THE GEORGIA RAMBLERS

Christmas Ties, New and Old

Home and intimate friends and relatives are exalted to a superlative degree of affection and love at Christmas time. For a college student the old town associations are beginning to face a losing battle with the campus environment of new friends, changing ideals and the many Macedonian calls of a needy world. The old ties must decrease, the old order changed and all things become new. We wish you and the world of your youth all the joys of the Christmas season.

"On the Quadrangle"
Payne, '09.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Real Red Hot Tunes
YOUR DOGS JUST WON'T BEHAVE
HEAR
DAN GREGORY
AND HIS Victor Recording Orchestra
AT THE
JUNIOR PROM
JAN. 4, 1928 TUSTIN GYM

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN BUCKNELL SPORTS

B. U. Football Schedule for 1929 Adds St. Thomas to Rival List

GENEVA AND LEHIGH TEAMS DROPPED AS OPPONENTS IN NEXT SEASON'S 9 GAME SERIES; W. AND J. TO CLASH WITH BISONS ON HOMECOMING DAY

Bucknell University's 1929 football schedule was released here early this week by the Athletic Association. The card lists nine games, four of which will be played at the Memorial Stadium, while the remaining five will be staged on foreign soil.

Only one new team is added to the Bucknell schedule, while two college elevens have been dropped. St. Thomas will be Bucknell's initial opponent at the Memorial Stadium next fall. The Scranton College had a scrappy aggregation during the current campaign, and indications are that it will furnish the Bisons with plenty of opposition.

Geneva and Lehigh are the two teams that have been dropped from the Bucknell schedule. During the past season Bucknell registered a victory over each team.

W. & J. For Homecoming

Washidgton and Jefferson will be the Homecoming Day attraction at the Memorial Stadium next fall on Columbus Day. This will be the third game of the season. Two years ago W. and J. played Bucknell as the Homecoming Day opponent her in Lewisburg and decisively whipped the Bisons 19-3. Last month the two teams fought to a deadlock in Johnstown.

Temple and Villanova are again on the Bucknell schedule. Temple will face Bucknell at Philadelphia on November 2, while Villanova will be met the following Saturday in Scranton in the football classic of the anthracite region.

Gettysburg and Schuylkill will again play Bucknell. The Schuylkill game, the second on the Bison's schedule, will be staged in Reading, while Gettysburg will invade the Memorial Stadium on October 26.

Penn State, Bucknell's traditional rival, will be met on the Saturday before Thanksgiving at State College. This is an innovation in the Bucknell schedule as the Bisons and the Nittany Lions have always played their games earlier in the season, usually the second or third Saturday of play.

The schedule follows: Sept. 28, St. Thomas, at Lewisburg; Oct. 5, Schuylkill, at Reading; 12, Washington and Jefferson, at Lewisburg (home-coming); 19, Lafayette, at Easton; 26, Gettysburg, at Lewisburg; Nov. 2, Temple, at Philadelphia; 9, Villanova, at Scranton; 16, Penn State, at State College; 28, Dickinson, at Lewisburg.

Punts and Passes

By "Mac" McElligot

"Ted" Mitchell has at last come into his own. His ability as a football player has been recognized by one of the greatest college coaches in the country, and as a result Mitchell will play with the all-East team against the all-West during the latter part of December.

—B—

Mitchell has been the star of the Bucknell line for the past three years. While in high school and prep school he played at the fullback post but when he came to Bucknell he was converted into a linesman by Coach Moran. He played guard during his sophomore year but the followng fall Coach Snavely put him at center.

—B—

Bucknell loses Mitchell this year and his loss will be keenly felt next fall. He is in the game every minute. He possesses fighting spirit, and his presence in the game arouses spirit in his own comrades.

—B—

One person who will be happy when he hears about Mitchell's good luck is "Whitey" Lloyd of the Navy. "Whitey" and "Ted" were boyhood pals together in Madison where they attended high school. Later Lloyd went to Peddie School while Mitchell matriculated at Kiski.

—B—

Whenever Mitchell visits the Naval Academy with the Bucknell team he always looks up "Whitey." The two pals exchange greetings and then an old-time chat ensues. Both Mitchell and Lloyd are seniors in their respective institutions. Lloyd wound up his career in a glorious way a few weeks ago when he scored a touchdown and a field goal which defeated Princeton.

Ledger Puts Halicki On All Eastern Team

"Eddie" Halicki, Bucknell football captain, was named on the Philadelphia's Ledger's "All Eastern" squad. Halicki ranks as one of the outstanding college stars in Pennsylvania in spite of the fact that he was out of action in several games due to injuries of the head. He appeared in later games wearing a special head gear due to serious injuries which otherwise would have prevented his playing.

The Ledger did not choose an eleven, but "selected thirty-three players for what we call an all-Eastern squad," and states "We instituted this method because modern football does not permit a coach to keep 11 men on the field and in the thick of the fighting for sixty minutes.

An All-Eastern squad with players for each position listed alphabetically follows:

Ends—Barrbee, N. Y. U.; Tom Boyle, Schuylkill; Donchess, Pittsburgh; Lawler, Princeton; Messinger, Army; Rosenzweig, Carnegie.

Tackles—Barrett, Harvard; Bowstram, Navy; Lasman, N. Y. U.; McQuirk, Boston College; Mooney, Georgetown; Smith, Penn.

Guards—Beloin, Fordham; Burke, Navy; Dumont, Colgate; Greene, Yale; Hammack, Army; Thompson, LaFayette.

Centers — Hawley, Davis-Elkins; Howe, Princeton; Westgate, Penn.

Quarterbacks—Harpster, Carnegie; Shober, Penn; Weston, Boston College.

Halfbacks—Cagle, Army; French, Harvard; Gillespie, Villanova; Hansen, Temple; Strong, N. Y. U.; Wittmer, Princeton.

Fullbacks—Clifton, Navy; Halicki, Bucknell; Seull, Penn.

Three Bisons Named On All-Opponent Team

Three Bucknell gridders, "Ted" Mitchell, center; Justin Brumbaugh, quarterback; "Eddie" Halioki, fullback, are on the All-Opponent team selected by "Hen" Bream, Gettysburg coach.

Bream's All-Opponent Team is: Bates, Western Maryland, left end; Sheehan, Villanova, left tackle; Van Buren, Western Maryland, left guard; Mitchell, center; McCoy, Villanova, right guard; O'Lear, Western Maryland, right tackle; Smith, Muhlenberg, right end; Brumbaugh, Bucknell, quarterback; Melanson, Villanova, left halfback; Neal, Western Maryland, right halfback, and Halicki, Bucknell, fullback.

—Sunbury Item.

16 Lehigh Students Charged With Disorderly Conduct

Sixteen students at Lehigh University were arrested and placed in jail at Bethlehem on the Friday evening before the annual game with Lafayette. The charges against the students, who had been taking part in the annual Lafayette parade, ranged from disorderly conduct and destruction of property to abusive language, and resisting arrest. The dean furnished bail for the undergraduates at the rate of $52.50 each.

Some of the students were jailed with no charges listed against them. The city policemen who made the arrest have been charged by the students with usurpation of authority and inhuman treatment.

"Wally" Diehl is Praised By Milton Evening Standard

The Milton Evening Standard printed the following interesting note in a recent issue:

"'Wally' Diehl, burly fullback and captain of Bucknell's football machine last year, now playing with the Frankford Yellowjackets, is one of the most popular athletes ever to don Frankford regalia, according to a Quaker City fan who recently visited in this section."

"Why do they put holes in Swiss cheese?"

"To ventilate it." —Exchange.

BRUMBAUGH QUITS SICK BED TO HURL THE WINNING PASS

Plucky Grid Star Enters Temple Game in Third Period Altho Hindered by Lame Foot

A downcast and dejected figure was Justin Brumbaugh of the Bucknell football team as he ate his Thanksgiving Day turkey within the confines of the Bucknell infirmary. This noonday meal represented a cripple's lunch, as the Bison's quarterback was in bed recovering from a severe injury sustained several days before in a practice session.

Yet, only three hours later, 8,000 rabid football fans saw this same Brumbaugh emerge from the Temple-Bucknell football contest as a hero. Still wincing from the painful injury, Brumbaugh summoned up enough reserve strength to arise from a sick bed at one o'clock and report for work at the Memorial Stadium in time to tell Coach Snavely that he had resolved to play.

The varsity mentor was a surprised and shocked individual when he saw Brumbaugh enter the Bison dressing room swaggering along in a nonchalant way. Snavely had left Brumbaugh in the Bucknell infirmary where it was thought that the Bison ball carrier would be confined for several days.

Brumbaugh Wanted To Play

In fact, Brumbaugh had not been out to practice all week and early Wednesday Coach Snavely declared that his backfield ace had been definitely pronounced out of the Bucknell line-up which would face Temple. But Brumbaugh, injury or no injury was determined to play. He knew himself that he could not run the ball because he was handicapped with a lame left foot. But he knew that he could resort to the air game which was one of his main weapons.

He pleaded with Coach Snavely to let him play. At first the Bison tutor absolutely refused. Still "Brumie" would not yield. Then Coach Snavely surrendered. He allowed Brumbaugh to sit on the bench in uniform but would not insert him in the lineup.

Brumbaugh still has two more years of varsity football ahead of him and Coach Snavely evidently thought that it would be a foolish stunt to play his injured star. Therefore he elminated the name of Brumbaugh from the Bucknell cast during the first half.

Temple was leading Bucknell 7-0 by virtue of a touchdown early in the game when the second half opened. The Bucknell men knew by this time that it was useless attempting to gain through the Temple line. Captain Halicki knew that the only means of salvation was to employ the forward pass. As a last resort Coach Snavely turned to Brumbaugh.

Brumbaugh Gets Into The Game

When the Bisons lined up against their Temple foe in the third period they looked like a rejuvenated crew, with Brumbaugh in the backfield. The visitors were outplayed during the entire second half but they managed to hold the lead until the final minutes of the game.

Brumbaugh fairly dazzled the Temple players with a deceiving series of sharp and lightening-like forward passes. Brumbaugh not only threw them with his right arm but he also whipped several with his left. He furnished the crowd with an unexpected thrill late in the third period when he attempted to hurl a pass with his trusty right arm but a trio of enemy tacklers swarmed down toward his right side.

Brumbaugh transferred the ball to his left hand, and flung a swift pass straight into the waiting hands of Slate, who turned the portside pass into a lengthy gain. It was a beautiful spectacle watching the crippled Brumbaugh tossing pass after pass. He completed fourteen out of twenty throws, and that is some accomplishment for a man who had arisen just two hours before from a sick bed.

Brumbaugh Throws Winning Pass

Finally he stepped back to midfield and calmly called the signals. As he received the ball from Mitchell he paused for a second and looked over the field. Then he flung an amazingly speedy throw that traveled like an arrow toward the enemy goal line. Lobel was right there to receive it.

Shaking off Captain Barney Gugle of the Owl team, Lobel sprinted 20 yards for a score. Captain Halicki booted the extra point and the score was tied.

Brumbaugh, his work accomplished for the day, limped toward the sidelines. Snavely immediately withdrew him from the game.

Brumbaugh had aggravated his old leg injury. He was rushed to a nearby hospital. His condition was found to be not serious, but he will be confined to bed for several days. Bucknell expects great things of Brumbaugh when the 1929 football season rolls around.—"Mac" McElligot in the Sunbury Daily.

MYTHICAL ELEVEN CHOSEN FROM B.U.'S 1928 OPPONENTS

Lafayette and W. and J. Place 3 and 2 Men Respectively On McElligot's Rival Squad

Bucknell University's 1928 all-Opponent football eleven was selected here this week by "Mac" McElligot, Sports Editor of the Bucknellian. McElligot places three Lafayette players on his mythical team while W. & J. has two representatives.

Geneva, Temple, Schuylkill, Gettysburg, Penn State and Villanova has one player listed on the first team. Dietz-Dickinson is the only college eleven whose players did not qualify for a berth on the all-opponent team.

The first team backfield is composed of Giovanucci of Villanova at quarterback, Boyle of Schuylkill and Spangler of Gettysburg at the halfback posts and Guest of Lafayette playing fullback. Giovanucci is a crafty signal caller who is also an accomplished ball carrier and a forward pass barler. Boyle was Schuylkill's man in offensive threat against Bucknell in the first game of the season. He tore off substantial yardage against the Bison team.

Spangler of Gettysburg is an elu-

(Continued on Page 7.)

Non-Frats Beat D. S. In 2nd Extra Period

By scoring the only goal of the game in the second five minute extra period the Non-Fraternity soccer team defeated the Delta Sigma squad on Saturday, December 8 to win the leadership of League Two in the Inter-Fraternity Soccer League. Dietrick's goal in the final period which landed squarely between the posts decided the supremacy of the second league.

At the kick-off the Demies aided by a favorable wind took the ball toward the non-frat goal. Borella, who proved to be constantly "in the game," made his first showing by booting the ball out of danger. During the first half of the game the ball was for the most part in non-frat territory.

The second half of the struggle marked a rejuvenation of the non-frat line with Simonetti taking the ball through sleeping Demie backs to a scoring position only to be thwarted by "Hennie" Fessler, the red and black goal keeper who has a keen eye and a sure toe.

The Demies had a chance to score on a penalty kick, which however went wide of its goal.

The first extra period favored the Delta Sigma team, but they were unable to push over a goal. Borella was the strong defensive player for the Non-Frats. The second extra period was marked by Dietrick's goal during the last minutes of play "Lem" Ely, track star, was seriously hurt and removed to the Infirmary.

Yearlings Win 4 Out of 7 Games During 1928 Gridiron Season

VICTORIES OVER STATE AND KEYSTONE ACADEMY FEATURE FROSH CONQUESTS; KASTRAVA SCORES 5 TIMES; MEZZA BOOTS 8 EXTRA POINTS

When the Bucknell freshman team defeated Wyoming Seminary of Wilkes-Barre on Thanksgiving Day, they brought the 1928 season to a close with their fourth victory in seven games.

An overconfident Bison yearling team lost its initial engagement to Manlius Military Academy on the first Saturday in October. Although outplayed in all the departments of the game, the Manlius team managed to emerge victorious. The visitors registered more first downs than their conquerors but were unable to score. Joe Kastrava, made an auspicious debut in this game, breaking away for several long runs.

A week later, apparently overcoming several faults, the yearlings chalked up their first victory of the season at the expense of the Penn State Cubs. This contest, which was staged at State College, was preliminary to the Penn State-Bucknell varsity game. Kastrava tallied both Bisons scores on long end runs.

On Homecoming Day the Musser-coached machine suffered its second setback, surrendering to a powerful Bellefonte eleven. Bucknell outplayed the prep school champions during the first half but was helpless when a scoring opportunity turned up. Bellefonte came back strong in the last two periods, and scored a touchdown that decided the fray.

Kastrava's Score Wins

Two weeks later Coach Musser led his men to Factoryville, where his pupils conquered the grid warriors of Keystone Academy. A lone touchdown by Kastrava won the game.

While the varsity was losing to Villanova at Scranton, the freshmen

(Continued on page 7)

Get a Christmas Present NOW

Send The Bucknellian To Your Classmate Friend

$1.50 $1.50

Let Him Know About the Team

Yearlings Chalk Up 4 Wins This Season

(Continued from page 6)

sive shifty ball carrier whose intricate runs against Bucknell helped to bring about the down fall of the Bison eleven. Spangler is also a finished performer in the art of drop kicking.

Guest Is Great Fullback

Guest at fullback is a tower of offensive strength. Although he did not score against Bucknell the burly fullback of the Maroon broke through for long gains almost every time that he carried the ball. He played fine on the defense too.

The ends are Marcus of Temple and Smith of Geneva. Both make a fine pair of wingmen. Marcus especially scintillated in the Bucknell-Temple game, blocking a kick which eventually resulted in a score for the Owl team.

Smith played a bang-up game against the Bisons up at Geneva early in the season. He starred on the offensive, shagging forward passes while he contributed several timely tackles on the line.

McElligot has chosen Sarni of Lafayette and Douds of W. and J. as the two first team guards. Douds has been a star now for two years and played a great game against Bucknell on that treacherous muddy field at Johnstown last month when Bucknell and W. and J. fought to a scoreless tie. Douds weighs over 200 pounds but despite this excessive weight he is amazingly fast.

Sarni of Lafayette is a miniature "Rock of Gibraltar" on the line. He possesses the unique faculty of diagnosing enemy plays and he revealed this exceptional talent in the Bucknell game. He guards his position well and is a fine tackler.

Thompson Of Lafayette

Thompson of Lafayette and Ricker of Penn State qualify for the guard posts. Both are bulwarks on the line, contributing power and strength. Thompson is a great placement kicker and some of his timely field goals this fall saved plenty of games for his men. Ricker was the mainstay of the Penn State line during the current campaign.

Captain Aschmann of W. and J. is a unanimous choice for the center position. Aschmann is one of the best pivot men turned out at W. and J. in a long time and he is one of the best in Pennsylvania circles. He surpasses Westgate of Pennsylvania in most of the departments of the game as he is a natural born football player.

Other players who played brilliantly against Bucknell are listed among the honorable mention list.

The following all-opponent team was picked by McElligot with the valuable aid of several leading players on the Bucknell team.

The team follows:

Player	College	Position
Marcus	—Temple	Left End
Sarni	—Lafayette	Left Tackle
Ricker	—Penn State	Left Guard
Aschmann	—W. and J.	Center
Thompson	—Lafayette	Right Guard
Douds	—W. and J.	Right Tackle
Smith	—Geneva	Right End
Giovannucci	—Villanova	Quarterback
Boyle	—Schuylkill	Right Halfback
Spangler	—Gettysburg	Left Halfback
Guest	—Lafayette	Fullback

Honorable mention: Pessalano, tackle, Villanova; Barkman, halfback, Schuylkill; Wilson, halfback, Lafayette; Hamas, fullback, Penn State; Morgan, halfback, Villanova; Edwards, end, W. and J.; Kostas, end, Schuylkill; Chimenti, Lafayette, halfback; Wearshing, halfback, Temple; Kressler, center, Lafayette.

Dean Clark Stresses New Way of Giving

Dean Clark addressed the Sunday evening vesper service, held in the organ room of Larison Hall, upon the subject of Christmas.

The meeting was attended by more than seventy women students. Organ music was beautifully rendered by Marian Eisenhauer, '31, and the Girls' Trio, including Ruth Evans, '30, Lillian Mattick, '30, and Carolyn Keiser, '31, sang Christmas carols, adding even more of the Xmas spirit.

In her talk Dean Clark stressed the changing Christmas idea from that of "getting to giving." While many feel it is difficult to give money, yet there are many things which are far more difficult to scatter about. Justice, enthusiasm, sincerity, unselfishness, and sisterliness, these compose the substance which we have to distribute but with which we are unlikely to give.

A club called "The Missing Links" has been organized at George Washington University. It is composed of sorority women who do not have a chapter of their sorority on the campus.

AN ALL-OPPONENT TEAM IS CHOSEN BY McELIGOT

(Continued from page 5)

were engaged in a fierce struggle with the Navy plebes at Annapolis. The future admirals were credited with two points in the first half when Hinkle stepped out of the end zone in an attempt to kick. This was all the scoring that was done, and when the game was over the homesters were the victors, 2-0. However, one bright spot in the Bucknell defeat was the fact that the Baby Bisons held for eight downs on their own one-yard line.

Beckley College invaded Lewisburg on November 17. The visitors were repulsed 28-0. Kastrava scored two touchdowns, while Mezza and Hinkle registered one each. Mezza three times added the extra point.

The Mussermen closed their season on Thanksgiving Day at Wilkes-Barre, gainng a 27-7 victory over the Wyoming Seminary gridders. Al Fry, fullback, and Joe Mezza each scored a pair of touchdowns, while Mezza kcked the extra point on three occasions.

Kastrava High Scorer

Official team records show that the freshmen tallied 74 points to their opponents 28. The 74 points represent 11 touchdowns and eight extra points.

Joe Kastrava was the high scorer of the Bison machine, tallying 30 points, representing five touchdowns. Mezza was next in line with 26 points, gained by three touchdowns and eight successful placement kicks. Fry with a pair of six pointers was in third position with a total of 12 points. Hinkle, with a solitary touchdown, also broke into the scoring.

The freshmen record follows:

0	Manlius	13
13	State Frosh	0
0	Bellefonte A.	6
6	Keystone A.	0
0	Navy Plebes	2
28	Beckley College	0
27	Wyoming Sem.	7
74	Opponents	28

Individual scoring:

Player	T.	PT.	T.
Kastrava	5	0	30
Mezza	3	8	26
Fry	2	0	12
Hinkle	1	0	6
Total	11	8	74

College Humor Tells Of Harvard Traits

"What makes Harvard almost as good a subject as the mother-in-law?" asks Gilbert Seldes in the December College Humor. The Harvard man believes that Harvard is the butt of college jokes because Harvard is so enormously and unquestionably the greatest college in America. It is the conviction and consciousness of Harvard's superiority which eventually marks its undergraduates. They flaunt their accents in the ears of muckers; they have or assume an air.

"Aside from a few peculiarities of nomenclature tricks, like calling its campus 'the Yard,' it seems to escape most of the adolescent tricks; it despises the tattooed slicker; its general ambition is not to look collegiate; there is a slight affectation of shabbiness. It will sound impulsive—to some people it will sound terrible—but it must be said, there is a large body of students at Harvard who simply do not give a damn about the football team, win, lose, or draw.

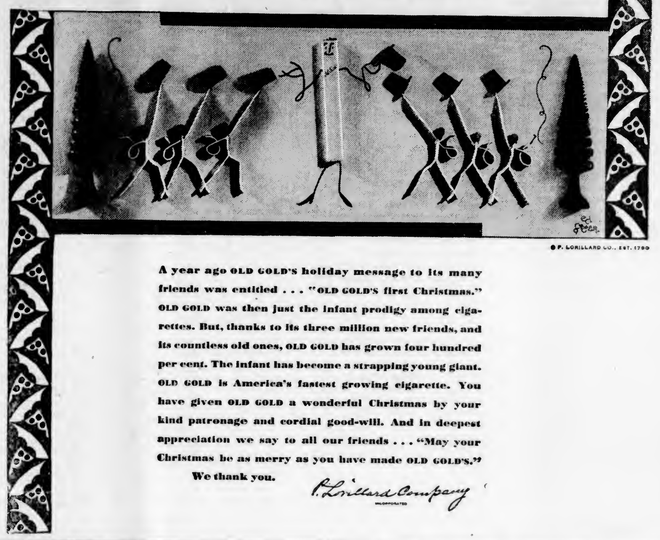
"Harvard, it seems to me, has succumbed to the pressure of the practical. After all, it could not go on as a college if it persisted in turning out impractical dreamers or happy men who failed to make their million. The majority of Harvard undergraduates do not come to college with any fixed intentions on culture; 58 per cent. are satisfied if they get passing marks. The Harvard degree still has a certain social standing, and it is often said the friends you make in college help you in after life—the money touch again. These motives have their effect on the tone of the place.

"Harvard did not cast its graduates into a mold; it left them free to live as independent human beings. It did not, a decade ago, make conservatives out of liberals, aesthetes of practical men. If the majority of its graduates seemed always recognizably Harvard men, it was because the majority of men, lacking sufficient character, will always take on the tone of their surroundings; but at Harvard diversity and independence were always part of that tone. Its typical men were always its exceptions. Today to be called a Harvard man is grateful libel."

Fourteen different types of paddles are on sale at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, much to the dismay of the new pledges.

—Exchange.

May Your Christmas be as MERRY as you have made OLD GOLD'S



© P. LORILLARD CO., EST. 1760

A year ago OLD GOLD'S holiday message to its many friends was entitled . . . "OLD GOLD'S first Christmas." OLD GOLD was then just the infant prodigy among cigarettes. But, thanks to its three million new friends, and its countless old ones, OLD GOLD has grown four hundred per cent. The infant has become a strapping young giant. OLD GOLD is America's fastest growing cigarette. You have given OLD GOLD a wonderful Christmas by your kind patronage and cordial good-will. And in deepest appreciation we say to all our friends . . . "May your Christmas be as merry as you have made OLD GOLD'S."

We thank you.

P. Lorillard Company

THE PURITY

FLOWERS AT MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

FROSH OUTLOOK FOR BASKETBALL APPEARS BRIGHT

"Mal" Musser Pleased with Turn Picked Five Will Play Y. M. At Danville on Jan. 10

With more than thirty candidates working out daily in the Tustin gym, the propects for a good freshman basketball season appear to be better than usual. While none of the boys have shown enough stuff to predict a world-beating team, still there seems to be some promising material in the squad.

The number of candidates has handicapped Coach "Mal" Musser in forming any regular quintet and in order to reduce the squad to a workable group, the mentor is planning to swing the axe any day now. Coach Musser intends to carry a fifteen-man squad throughout the season.

The first game of the season for the frosh is on January 10, when the yearlings tackle the fast Danville Y. M. C. A. five. This only leaves Coach Musser about ten more days in which to develop a quintet that can compete against this good club.

Competition for the various berths is very keen, and the boys who finally do get the jobs will know that there weren't handed to them on a platter. Some of the players boast impressive high and prep school records, but they are being matched and even surpassed in some cases by boys without any previous laurels.

Promising Talent

Some of the players who look pretty good at the present time are Wenzel, Chenoweth, Don Mills, Reese, and Spadafora, who are battling for the forward positions; Fry, Longstretch, Logan, Borella, and Barbarin, centers; Stonebreaker, Marter, Griffith, Cummings, and Coates, guards. Many of the frosh football team are taking advantage of the rest period that has been granted to them. When all of the gridders report, the squad will be strengthened considerably.

Coach Musser has made no attempt to form a first or second team. He has had his men working in various quintets and has been conditioning them for indoor work. Now that the players have found their basket-eyes and have gotten used to floor-work, the playing of the team will speed up and something accomplished in the way of developing a team.

I'll tell ou a story
About December 15,
For then vacation's begun.
I'll tell you a story
About January second,
For then vacation is done.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Criminology Class Visits Muncy Home

Professor Johnson's class in criminology made a trip to Muncy, Wednesday afternoon, where it inspected the Muncy Industrial Home for Girls. The students were conducted through the institution by Miss Henrietta Baldwin, psychologist at the Home. On a recent visit to Bucknell, Miss Baldwin told the class of the work that was being done at the Muncy Home, and Wednesday she pointed out the things which she had stressed in her talk.

The students had opportunity to watch the girls at work and in the class-rooms. The co-eds of the party were interested in the exhibit of the fine sewing which the inmates had done while the masculine element was more interested in sampling the products of the culinary department. It was very evident that authorities are firm believers in busy hands, as each girl was busily employed at some task.

The budding sociologists were shown through the buildings, and were delighted with the up-to-dateness of the equipment. As she led the party, Miss Baldwin told of individual cases which are under her attention. At the close of the inspection, the students climbed aboard the bus, and chewing apples, made their way back to Lewisburg.

J. McCrossen Will Address Fellowship Group Tonight

The Fellowship Group is fortunate to obtain Mr. J. Willard McCrossen, national president of the Baptist young people's societies, as its speaker at the meeting to be held Thursday evening, December 14, in the organ room of Larison Hall. He will speak on the religious problems of young people in the church.

Mr. McCrossen is a student for the ministry and is now studying at Crozer Seminary.

The social service and ministerial groups will hold an important meeting after the close of the Fellowship meeting.

FRILL AND FROWN BIDS SEVEN WOMEN STUDENTS

Frill and Frown, girls dramatic society, recently elected seven women students into membership. The selection occurred at the conclusion of second try-outs.

Those who are soon to become members are: Bettina Buckam, '32, Constance Hullick, '31, Virginia Kandle, '32, Helen Kelly, '32, Grace Link, '32, "Betty" Jane Rodenbeck, '31, Mary Smith, '32, and Louise Ziegler, '32.

Professor S. C. Ogburn Jr., and Mrs. Ogburn have issued announcements of the birth of a girl, Jean Elizabeth, on Tuesday, November 20.

Freshmen Are to Take Carnegie Examinations

Bucknell freshmen are to take the examinations testing general knowledge distributed by the Carnegie Foundation. These exams, which the class of '32 are compelled to take, are a part of a state-wide movement to determine the increase or decrease of knowledge as a result of college training. Tests are given to high school seniors, college freshmen, and college seniors. Members of the class of '28 were the first Bucknellians to take the Carnegie exams.

Friday and Saturday of this week will be given over to these exams, and freshmen will be excused from all classes, but as usual triple cuts will be given in case of absence from the examinations.

The time allotted for each exam varies according to the subject matter, but all freshmen will be tested in General Science, either Civics or Civil Government, English, Algebra, and there is a choice of one of the following foreign languages, Latin, French, German, or Spanish.

The Flush of Dawn

We were reading a poem to a cynic friend in which occurred a line about the beauty of "the flush of early dawn." He couldn't see any beauty in it, he said, and added: "I held a flush at early dawn once, but another fellow had a full house."

Non-Frats Defeat T. U. O.'S in Soccer

The non-fraternity team won the soccer league championship yesterday afternoon by coming from behind to nose out the Theta Us, 2 to 1.

The T. U. O. soccer men drew first blood, scoring in the first period on a penalty kick. The non-frats knotted the count late in the second period when a long kick dropped in front of the goal and bounded through.

Handicapped by rapidly darkening skies, the teams battled in midfield. As the final period opened, a penalty was called on T. U. O., and the non-frats tallied the deciding point.

HOLD VIOLIN RECITAL

On Saturday afternoon, December 8, the pupils of Miss Charlotte Armstrong gave a delightful violin recital in the School of Music rooms. The complete program follows:

I. Sonatuia—Hauptmann — Helen Mary Derr; II. Nazurka—Wieniawski—Annetta Rossiter; III. Souvenir Poetiqui—Fiblich — Charlotte Berlin and Ensemble Class; IV. Indian Lament—Dvorak-Kreisler—Louise Manley; V. Romanza—Svensden—John E. Robertson; VI. Concerto—Accolay—Elizabeth Kinney; VII. "Andante" (from Surprise Symphony)—Haydn—Girl's String Orchestra.

THE STUDENT BODY

is invited to make a visit to this office if interested in a matter of health by the best drugless system now before the public. Investigate for your health's sake.

NO CHARGE FOR CONSULTATION.

CHAS. S. HARTMAN, D. C.

CHIROPRACTOR

Palmer 3 yr. Grad.

Over Krauser's Drug Store MILTON, PA.

The Bucknell Campus is well dotted with our

Leather Coats and Jackets

Boys and Girls generally have found our line very pleasing and our prices right.

If you are looking for good, snappy, stylish Leather Coats, we have them.

Drop in and inspect our Showing of Coats.

W. L. DONEHOWER

"VARSITY OUTFITTER"

424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY—THURSDAY, DEC. 13
"FORGOTTEN FACES"
With CLIVE BROOK, MARY BRIAN and WILLIAM POWELL

TOMORROW—FRIDAY, DEC. 14
POLA NEGRI in
"LOVE OF AN ACTRESS"
FREE Dinnerware To Ladies.

COMING—SATURDAY, DEC. 15
TOM MIX and "TONY" The Wonder Horse in
"SILVER VALLEY"

COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY, DEC. 17-18
EMIL JENNINGS in his Greatest Picture
"THE PATRIOT"
A Paramount Big Special.

COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, DEC. 19-20
Another Paramount Special.
"THE FIRST KISS"
With FAY WRAY and GARY COOPER

HERMAN & LEISER

THIS STORE IS READY

WITH A LARGE STOCK OF

GIFT GOODS

to supply your needs.

Come in and Look Them Over

FEATURE DANCE

LEGION HALL, Sunbury, Pa.

EVERY SATURDAY NITE

DOC GEIKIN'S NIGHTHAWKS

Dancing 9 to 12

WISHING FOR ALL A

Merry Christmas

and a

Happy & Prosperous New Year

Montgomery & Co.

Merry Christmas

and a

Happy New Year

from

Lehman's Shoe Store

223 Market Street Lewisburg, Pa.

CLOTHES

Ready-made And Cut to Order

ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.

Charter House

Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at

Wagner's Quality Grocery

We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.

Also Dishes for Rent.

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE

Charter House

OF LEWISBURG

The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.

Montgomery & Co.

The College Man's Store

VOL. 32

1929

SHAKESPEAREAN PLAYS —SUNBURY—
MON.—TUES.—WED.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

B. U. vs. W. MARYLAND
SATURDAY EVENING
NEW HIGH SCHOOL GYM.

VOLUME XXXII | LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 10, 1928. | PART NO. ONE | NUMBER 14

Noted Actress To Present Plays Of Shakespeare

Sunbury will be Scene of Three Performances by Genevieve Hamper Coming Week

The play's the thing in Sunbury this week with an actress who brings the atmosphere of the classics and the charm, magnetism and personality of a finished artist as a gift to the theatre lovers the like of which we may not see again.

Fads and fashions in plays and players come and go, but the master playwright holds his own unrivaled way among them. No theatrical taste is trained without first hand sight and sound of him, and no mental equipment complete without the stimulating stir and stress of his plots, without the humaneness of his people, or the ripeness and pith of his words to fill the background of its fancy.

Fads and fashions in actresses also come and go, but the school to which Genevieve Hamper belongs holds a place impossible to be overlooked or forgotten, based as it is on respect for tradition and regard for modernity.

Our stage world finds in this tradition many splendid figures, with the memories of play lovers of our city cherishing in undying recollection the vivid creations by which the heroines of Shakespeare's fancy were brought to flesh and blood reality by the imagination and genius of women like Mary Anderson, and Modjeska, Fanny Davenport, and Ellen Terry, Adelaide Neilson and Ristori of an older day, and Julia Marlowe of the new, and now that lovely lady Genevieve Hamjer, comes this week to offer, in all the vigor and beauty of traditional recreation as animated and made new by stage methods of our present day, a repertory of plays that may be the last memory granted us of a great day almost gone.

It promises a recollection that will make a background for all lesser plays and a comparison for all more sophisticated ideals and methods.

It is an opportunity that may not come again.

On Monday evening, Miss Hamper will play, "As You Like It;" Tuesday afternoon she will act "The Merchant of Venice;" and Tuesday evening, "Macbeth."

Bucknell Professors Address Science Meet

Four Bucknell faculty members journeyed to the scientists mecca—the sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, held in New York City, from December 27 to January 2. They were Professors W. H. Eyster, F. H. Lund, W. .T. MacCreadie, and N. H. Stewart.

Professor William H. Eyster read a paper on "Protochlorophyll and Chlorophyll," before the physiological section of the Botanical Society of America. Professor Frederick H. Lund, spoke to the American Psychological Association, answering the question "Why Do We Weep?"

Eight thousand scientists invaded the metropolis for the eighty-fifth meeting of the Association. It was the fifth New York meeting. The program was divided into eleven groups, including Astronomy, Chemistry, Botany, Mathematics, Psychology, Geology, and Zoology. The groups held separate sessions, meeting in the American Museum of Natural History, and in the Teachers College, Columbia University.

Many of the most recent scientific advances and discoveries were presented by means of lectures, demonstrations, slides, and moving pictures. There were numerous receptions and excursions for the Association members and guests. One of these features was a concert by the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra.

DR. ROBBINS RECOVERS

Dr. Harry Wolcott Robbins, head of the department of English, was again able to meet his classes last Monday, after a week of illness. Dr. Robbins was a victim of the prevailing "flu" epidemic.

N. Y. U. Medical College
December 11, 1928.

Bucknell University,
Lewisburg,
Pennsylvania.

Attention of the Dean

Dear Sir:

Because of the large number of applicants seeking admission to New York University Medical College we are this year requesting that all applications for admission for September 1929 be filed prior to March 1, 1929.

This will enable our Admissions Committee to make a more careful selection than would otherwise be possible with the limited amount of time at their disposal.

Will you therefore kindly advise any of your students who intend to apply to this medical college to communicate with this office at once in order that we may furnish them with the necessary information.

Very sincerely your,
Samuel A. Brown, M. D.

POSTPONED PROM DATE IS FEB. 15

The Junior Prom, which was to have been held Friday, January 4, in the Tustin Gym, was postponed on account of the prevalence of influenza.

Heeding the advice of the medical authorities, the Junior Prom committee cooperated with the health advisors by calling off the dance and planning to hold it February 15.

It is hoped that the committee, of which Wilson Rise, '30, is the chairman, will be able to obtain Dan Gregory's Victor Recording Orchestra which had been scheduled to provide the music.

Mildred Walton Wins Prize For Finest Grace Submitted

Following the annual custom a new grace to be sung in the women's dining room has been chosen from those contributed by women students to the grace contest. The one chosen was written by Mildred Walton, '32, of Burlington, New Jersey.

This year the contest was postponed from an earlier date in order that the new women's dining room. The committee in deciding upon the winning song judged it upon its inclusiveness and the ease with which it might be sung. Miss Walton's grace was written to the tune of "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee," and is as follows:

Dear Lord, and giver of all good,
We thank Thee for our daily food,
For home and friends we hold so dear,
For life and health from year to year.

Miss "Betty" Sholl, ex-'30, winner of the contest last year, was also from Burlington, N. J.

Prof. Leo Rockwell Speaks In Reading

"The Result of Questionnaire Study to Members of the Association, and How to Improve Its Work," was the subject of a talk given by Professor L. L. Rockwell at the Educational Conference held in Reading, December 27 and 28, at the new senior high school. Professor Rockwell is president of the Modern Language Association of Pennsylvania.

Other speakers at the meetings were Mrs. Ralph Haller, of Morris High School, who spoke on "Material in Modern Language Study," and Dr. Ben Wood, of Columbia University, who gave the results of the high school examinations given last spring.

An all-college dinner, at which twenty members of the Bucknell alumni were present, was held at the Berkshire Hotel on the evening of December 27.

The principal events of the general meetings were a talk given by Dr. Will Durant on "Is Progress a Delusion?", and one by another eminent author, A. E. Wiggam, on "The Decline of the Intellectual and the Increase of the Lower Classes."

SEMITES NOW HAVE USE OF NEW DINING HALL; ROOM SEATS 400

The most recent addition to the buildings of Women's College campus is the new dining room which was finished during the holidays and immediately used upon the return of the students.

Begun about a year ago, the new dining room, located on the left of Larison Hall and parallel with the old building, stands as another monument of Professor F. E. Burpee's work. The entrance is made from a corridor adjoining the main hall of Larison.

Upon entering the dining room one is struck by its spaciousness, brightness, and simple beauty. The great pillars and beams of white knotted pine are counter-balanced by the high arched windows. Walls and ceilings are artcraft work, made of textone, stained yellowish brown. The floor is made of terrazzo, a composition of marble chips set in cement. To the extreme right of the room is an enclosed porch the width of the building, and reached by glass doors. Ample light is afforded by the many windows and the skylights in daytime and by numerous chandeliers at night. Adjoining the main dining room is the dish room which leads on to the kitchen proper. The arrangement of the whole has been planned with regard to every possible convenience for those who prepare and serve the meals.

For the past three years, Mrs. Clara G. Sale, dietitian, has been working under great difficulties, endeavoring to serve over 300 women in inadequate quarters. The growth of the University's population has necessitated this enlargement in eating accommodations. Mrs. Sale previously solved the problem by seating the great number of students at two shifts. Upon the completion of the new building, all women students may be served at the same time. The seating capacity is now approximately 400.

A few innovations have been made in the manner of serving. Round tables of fours and a few rectangular tables of six have replaced the usual six tables. The evening meals are served as plate dinners while luncheon retain the serving dish method. Breakfasts continue cafeteria.

In drawing the women student body together, and in the uniform hours resulting from the new arrangement greater cooperation among the women students may be expected. Plans heretofore hindered may now be carried out.

Enroll Early, Advice Of Bucknell Bureau

The Education Department desires to call to the attention of all student-teachers who plan to teach next year, the efficacy of enrolling with the Bucknell Appointment Bureau. Those prospective teachers who desire the assistance of this Bureau should call at the Education office at once and fill out the necessary blanks. The greater part of the number of student-teachers have already enrolled with this bureau, and in order that all necessary records and references may be looked up, it is important that immediate registration should take place.

The Alumni Monthly for January will contain a letter to all Bucknell graduates who employ teachers. This letter is in accordance with the request that Bucknell's prospective teachers be permitted to make use of their abilities in their fields.

Students who know of vacancies in which they themselves are not interested will greatly assist the Appointment Bureau if they will notify the bureau of these vacancies.

Week of Prayer Is Observed by Co-eds

The week of January 6-11, 1929, has been universally set aside and is now being observed as the World Week of Prayer. The churches of Lewisburg are all holding Union services, a different church acting as host to the other city congregations every evening of the week. The general theme for the week is "The Vision of the Kingdom and the Power for Service." On Wednesday evening the women took charge of the meeting in the Methodist Church, when Dean Amelia Clark and Mrs. M. L. Drum spoke.

The women of Bucknell are also observing Prayer Week by holding Morning Watch services in the Women's College each day. The meetings are devotional, led by various student leaders, and are short but inspirational.

Biological Society To See Movies On "How We Hear"

A moving picture reel on the subject, "How We Hear," and a set of colored slides on the eye, will be shown by Professor J. W. Rice at the meeting of the Biological Society in B6, next Wednesday evening, January 16, at 7:30.

The slides on eyesight are particularly valuable. They were produced by the National Eyesight Conservation Council of America. Both the slides and the film are of an educational nature and will be of interest to all. The meeting is an open one.

Love beats its tattoo on every lover's pocketbook.

Girls' Forensic Team Will Make Two Trips

The women's debating teams are planning to make two trips this season. Arrangements are indefinite at the present time, but negotiations are under way with the women of Ursinus, Temple, New Jersey College for Women, New York University, Hunter, and Elmira. At least three or four of these colleges will be included in the eastern trip.

The team which goes West will be the first Bucknell girl's debating team to meet a men's team in forensic relations. The Bucknell girls will debate the Wittenburg men at Springfield, Ohio. This trip also includes Ohio Wesleyan, and at least one other school, possibly Ohio State or the University of Pittsburgh.

The home schedule lists a return debate with George Washington. Last season the Bucknell girls defeated the George Washington team, and the Washington girls are probably out for revenge. Cornell and Hood, foes of last year, may visit Bucknell, and Syracuse may be added to our list of opponents.

Education Journal For October Is Out

Copies of the Bucknell Journal of Education for October, 1928, have appeared. Each member of the Education Club is entitled to a copy and should not fail to obtain one, for its articles are well worth reading. The proceedings of the 1927-28 Bucknell Education Conference, which have been published in the form of a pamphlet, are also ready for distribution.

The greater share of the work on the new journal has been done by Roy Goodlander, '29, president of the club, and "Betty" Humphreys, '29, as editor of the Journal of Education. The material both in it and in the proceedings of the Conference will be of particular interest to every student of education.

Bison Court Quintet Loses To Seton Hall Five 32-31

The Bucknell basketball team, invaders of the East, dropped two more court contests this week to opposing combinations. On Monday evening at South Orange, N. J. the Plantmen lost by the slimest of margins, 32-31 to Seton Hall College. Judging from the score evidently the tussle was a nip and tuck affair from start to finish, the winner not being decided until the final whistle blew.

The Bucknell quintet traveled to New York again on Tuesday evening where they were vanquished by a powerful Fordham College quintet. The final score indicated that the New York team was the winner by a 55-30 margin.

Read the Bucknellian.

Coming to Sunbury

Genevieve Hampers
Shakespearean Actress, as Rosalind in "As You Like It."

"PREXY" LEAVES FOR LOS ANGELES

President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt sailed from New York City, Thursday, January 3, for Los Angeles, California. President and Mrs. Hunt sailed on the steamship, President Adams, which will travel to Los Angeles by way of the Panama Canal.

They expect to reach Los Angeles on January 20. They will then go to Pasadena where they will remain until March.

During the absence of President Hunt, Dean Rivenburg will take charge of the administrative work of the University.

The Bucknellian wishes President and Mrs. Hunt a pleasant vacation.

Old Y. W. Room In Annex Being Refinished For Use

The residents of second floor annex were greeted by statues, old furniture, and the like, upon their return after the holidays. The great change in the usually bare hall was caused by the renovation of the contents of the Y. W. C. A. room, located at the end of that hall.

Under the guidance of Professor Burpee the walls and ceilings of the old "art room" have been replaced with the same finish that has been used on those of the new dining room. Floor and wall plugs will supply lamp light for the room in stead of the previous ceiling globes.

The Y. W. C. A. room upon completion will be used not only for that organization but will also be open as a general utility place for other organization meetings. The decoration of it will be in the hands of Marie Trunk, '31, and an able core of workers.

Dr. L. Fowle Reports Flu Cases Are Mild

All cases of influenza at Bucknell have been mild, and there have been no complications in the few cases treated since college opened after Christmas vacation, asserted Dr. L. P. Fowle, University physician, in an interview yesterday.

"There is absolutely no cause for alarm in the situation here," said Dr. Fowle. He made it clear that the complications, such as pneumonia and sinus infections, that sometimes occur with the "flu," are the factors that make influenza dangerous. In the cases brought to his attention these conditions have been absent.

Twenty-one cases of La Grippe are on record at the Ziegler Infirmary. Thirteen cases have been treated at the women's infirmary. Two patients in the Ziegler Infirmary, residents of nearby towns, have been sent home.

The faculty has been strucg rather hard by the epidemic. Professors O. W. Elsbree, H. W. Robbins, C. R. Johnson, Assistant Professors F. R. Hamblin, Jennie D. Philips, R. L. Matz, M. J. Nimkoff, and H. A. Shaffer, and Instructor Majel Brooks, are among those that have been forced to cancel their classes at one time or another.

Kappa Gam Frat. Goes National; Now Phi Kappa

Bucknell Local Granted Charter By the Largest and Oldest Catholic Fraternity

Kappa Gamma fraternity was granted a charter by the Phi Kappa fraternity at its Fifteenth National Conclave, held at Hotel Alms, Cincinnati, Ohio, during December 27, 28, and 19.

The Phi Kappa fraternity is the largest and oldest Catholic fraternity in the country. It was founded in No. 3, Hope College, Brown University, in 1889. The fraternity, at present, has 21 active chapters. Its membership, including active men and alumni, exceed 3000. It boasts in its membership ex-Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York, who is an honorary brother.

Kappa Gamma was founded at Bucknell in 1924. Since that time the local Catholic organization has advanced very rapidly. In 1927 its present house on Market street was acquired. The installation of the chapter in the national organization will take place during the early part of February. It will be in charge of the chapters from Penn State, Pitt, and Carnegie Tech.

Beside these chapters, Phi Kappa has chapters in Brown University, University of Illinois, University of Iowa, University of Kansas, Purdue University, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Ohio State University, Kansas State College, University of Missouri, University of Wisconsin, University of Michigan, Iowa State College, University of Cincinnatti, University of Nebraska, Rennesslaer Polytechnic Institute, Syracuse University, University of Maine, and the University of Denver.

Phi Kappa fraternity also has twelve alumni chapters located at Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Detroit, Des Moines, Kansas City, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, and Providence.

B. U. Men Debaters To Meet Hard Teams

The prospects for the men's debating teams seem to be at least up to par for the coming season. Professor Coleman is directing the men's and women's teams and both groups are working on the same question—Resolved: That the American jury system should be abolished.

Four home debates for the men with strong teams from Middlebury, West Virginia, Temple, and Rutgers have been arranged. Bucknell's affirmative will probably carry all of these, and in addition go on a short trip to meet Albright, Franklin and Marshall, and Western Maryland.

The main excursion of the season will be undertaken by the negative team on a trip through New England lasting from March 19 to April 1. Seven debates have been scheduled: the University of Maine, Syracuse, Clark, Hobart, New York University, Williams, and Middlebury.

A squad of ten men is diligently at work, and competition is keen for places on the teams. The early start which has been made, combined with sustained effort, ought to insure the maintenance of Bucknell's exceptional reputation in debating.

Dan Cupid Scores Again As Bucknellian Grads Wed

Bruce J. Miller, Bucknell instructor, was married on Wednesday to Miss Florence Beckworth, of East Lansdowne, a Bucknell graduate. The couple obtained a marriage license at Media, Delaware county. The ceremony took place a short time later.

Mr. Miller, who resides in Lewisburg, was graduated from the University in '27, and his bride was a member of the same class. He was a member of the Bucknell debating team and the Alpha Chi Mu fraternity.

Following the Christmas holidays the newlyweds will make their residence in Lewisburg, as Mr. Miller is an instructor in the chemistry department of the University.

Catherine Brown, '30, is back with us again, having just returned Sunday evening.

* * * *

Because of illness in her family, Annette Rossiter, '32, has not been able to return to school this semester.

* * * *

"Til" Woodring, '29, was confined to the Zeigler Infirmary the first few days after vacation with an infected knee.

* * * *

Clyde Bailey, '29, has been very ill at his home with the "flu," and has not been able to return to school at this date.

* * * *

Norman Egel, '31, is confined to the infirmary with chicken pox. Of all things for a big husky boy like "Norm" to catch.

* * * *

"Nipper" Thomas, '31, reports that Nanticoke is no place to wear a good hat. His was stolen while he was attending a dance.

* * * *

If the hallway outside the Dean's office were only lighted, we might make some use of the hours we spend there waiting to register.

* * * *

"Tubby" Braucher, '28, made a short visit with his Phi Gam brothers last week-end. "Herbie" Heim, '28, also blew in for a few days.

* * * *

Someone wrote to Leland-Stanford to find out if it was true that the fellow on their football team that ran the wrong way was an S. A. E.

* * * *

One "Semite" received for Christmas, besides other things, $68 in gifts. The Christmas season certainly brought her her share of good things.

* * * *

Cleon Boston, '31, is seriously considering increasing his life insurance since he has become the sparring partner of "Bill" Genne, who has recently taken up boxing.

* * * *

We can not see the logic in postponing the Junior Prom to prevent the spread of the flu when chapel services are still being held in one of the most poorly ventilated rooms on the Hill.

* * * *

Miss "Emmy" Fuller, ex-'30, who is attending school in Washington, D. C., has been a visitor at the "Sem" over the past week-end. "Emmy" came for the Prom but stayed for a visit instead.

* * * *

Loomis Field would make a great hockey field! If some of the skating enthusiasts would like to have a skating place on their own campus they could bring this about by flooding the field some afternoon.

* * * *

"Do you know what's wrong with you?", asks Bucknell's philosopher of his friend—"you act like a fellow who has been trying all his life to get through a door by pulling where the sign says, 'Push.'"

* * * *

"Jerry" Welchons, '30, says that she walked about 25 miles the first week-end of her vacation, and as a result was sick in bed on Christmas day. Evidently it's possible for one to get too much exercise.

* * * *

How about the four upper classmen who waited for an hour outside of the Recorder's office for admittance while other students, who likewise were on hand to register, filed in a door farther down the hall.

* * * *

The number of "flu" patients in the men's infirmary is three times the number of "flu" patients in the women's infirmary. Judging from this one would think the co-eds have more resisting power than the men at Bucknell.

* * * *

Harriet Ferguson, '29, "Jerry" Fortner, '29, Elsie Randall, '30, "Fran" Davison, '31, Marie Trunk, '31, Helen Ritts and Marian Ashe, both of '32, have been confined to the women's infirmary for several days, suffering with attacks of the grippe.

* * * *

Helen Lyman, '31, after having recovered from an attack of scarlet fever which confined her to her home on South Seventh street is back in her classes again. The quarantine was lifted in time to allow her about a week of her vacation at her home in Brookville.

One sheepish grin plus one awful looking cravat, equals one Xmas present from a doting relative.

* * * *

"Sonny Boy" Ross says the mackerel were biting fast and the waves were high up Gloucester way this Xmas.

* * * *

Frances Stringer, '30, and "Cricket" Kline, '29, visited Doris Siner in Philadelphia during the Christmas holidays.

* * * *

Professor T. F. Hamblin is teaching Greek until his son, Professor Russell Hamblin, recovers from his present illness.

* * * *

An over-zealous reporter for a large New York paper had George Ebner, '30, elected deacon of his home-town church.

* * * *

If the number of "daters" increases in the "Sem" the authorities will have to provide more parlor room or permit them to decorate the stairs.

* * * *

Judging from the number of extra boxes and bags brought back to school after the holidays "Santa" was very generous to the Bucknell co-eds.

* * * *

Barbara Smith, '32, and Gladys Hawes, '32, are providing entertainment for the third and fourth floors of the New Dormitory with their new radios.

* * * *

When she heard the noise made by the chairs in the "Sem's" new dining hall, one "Semite" remarked, "They ought to broadcast dinner music from the "Sem" now."

* * * *

Friends of Frank Hower, ex'31, will be pleased to know that he is in the best of health and "knocking-em-dead," with Waring's Pennsylvanians in the Broadway hit, "Hello Yourself."

* * * *

Some of the students who were delayed at home for a few days on account of "flu" are: Catherine Browne, '30, Burnside, "Betty" Fries, '31, Reading, and Ruth Andrews, '29, Philadelphia.

* * * *

"Abe" Morelli, ex-'29, was working in the Houston Hall post-office at the University of Pennsylvania for several weeks during the "holiday rush." He was lauded in a Philadelphia newspaper for his speedy work.

* * * *

Harry Benford, '30, is whiling away his after-vacation days in the Zeigler Infirmary recovering from the "flu." Whittling, '29, a fraternity brother of Benford who contracted the same affliction while riding back to school on the train Tuesday, is keeping him company.

* * * *

Miss Helen Lyman, '31, desires by means of the Hill-Top Brief column to thank those women of the "Sem" who came to her window one night before Xmas vacation and sang carols. She also wishes to thank the many students who remembered her with cards during confinement with scarlet fever..

* * * *

Uncle Sam came to the rescue of the poor starving "collidfe boys" this happy Xmas and provided employment for all those who cared to arise at early hours and punch the well-known time clock. Reported earnings range anywhere from $20 to $75 for the pre-Xmas week.

* * * *

Mable Irvin, '30, narrowly escaped severe injuries when the car in which she was driving to her home in Honesdale for the Christmas holidays skid, crashing down a steep slope at one side of the road. All occupants of the car were uninjured except Mable who emerged with several cuts, bruises, and a discolored eye.

* * *

"Flu" has made it necessary that the annual Health Campaign begin now. Heretofore it was carried on during the month of March, noted for colds and grippe. The campaign is sponsored by the Women's Athletic Association.

The project has a two-fold purpose —keep away the "flu" and have the girls in tip-top shape for exams. The "Semites" receive credit for following certain health rules. Some of these are: 6 glasses of water daily; 8 hours of sleep every night; 3 regular meals a day; 60 consecutive minutes outdoors, daily. It is easy to see why the women's infirmary has had so comparatively few cases of sickness.

The Development of Athletics at Bucknell

By T. C. "POTTSVILLE" JONES
(Written for the Special Article Writing Class.)

Although a new impetus has been given to athletics at Bucknell since the coming of Coaches Snavely, Hangartner, Plant, and Musser, the development of athletics at Bucknell dates from a period beginning not long after the foundation of the college in the late forties. In the intervening years Bucknell has grown from a college of mediocre athletic rating into one that ranks high.

Baseball, the oldest of American sports, was introduced at Bucknell about 1865. Several faculty members who attended the university as students were active in the diamond sport.

The origin of the game is not exactly known. Some believe it had its origin in England. Others state that the game originated in this country. At any rate, the game grew out of the two pastimes called "rounders" and "one round cat." Rounders was played in England as early as 1836. One round cat was played by North Atlantic schoolboys. Three players, a pitcher, a catcher, and a batter, took their turns in fielding and batting. To score a run a player had to go to and from a single base without being forced out.

Doubleday Started A Club

From one round cat, Abner Doubleday, later general in the U. S. Army, took his idea and formed a baseball club at Sooperstown, New York, in 1839. Later, professional clubs were formed. Foremost among these were the Olympic Town-Ball Club and the Knickerbocker Club. In 1879, the first college league was planned. In 1887, the Eastern College League was formed including Columbia, Harvard, Princeton, and Yale. The first recorded intercollegiate match was held July 1, 1859, between Amherst and Williams. The former won 66-32. Before the game, it was decided that the winner would be the team that scored the first 65 runs. This contest lasted four hours.

The Winner Had to Score 21 Runs

The rules that governed the early contests have changed considerably. In the early days, 21 runs designated the winner. The batter was considered "out" if a ball he hit was caught between bases and was hit by a ball thrown by an opponent. Fights were common at almost every game. As a result of such a situation the gate receipts fell off considerably. At one time it seemed probable that the game would be discarded because every professional team was "on the rocks" financially. But business men like Spalding and Hulbert, lovers of the game, lent a hand and put the game on a paying basis.

Bucknell Had Some Noted Players

Dr. William C. Bartol, retired, was one of Bucknell's greatest baseball enthusiasts. While a student here for four years, he was captain of the team. Professor Benjamin Griffith covered the middle sack for Bucknell in 1897 and 1898.

Bucknell has been noted for producing teams of a high quality for many years. She has sent many stars to the big leagues. Foremost among the major league players was the famous Christy Mathewson. Other league players were: the late Hon. N. L. McClure, Dr. Harvey Smith, Bert Daniels, "Mickey" Doolan, "Moose" McCormick, George Cockill, Walter Blair, and numerous others. Bucknell players also have attained recognition in the New York-Pennsylvania, and the International circuits.

(Continued on page 7)

Dr. H. W. Robbins' Chaucer class has been spending the time during Dr. Robbins' illness in reading its term papers instead of having the usual recitation periods. Most of the papers have been real examples of Chaucerian English, rather longer than interesting and dryer than entertaining, but really very good Chaucer.

* * * *

Interviews are more interesting than one would imagine. At least Dr. L. E. Theiss' journalism class found them so one day last week while interviewing "Freddie" Locke, '31, as part of the class drill. Mr. Locke proved a very entertainin; specimen of the questioned victim and discussed at length his experiment last summer in Roxy's Theatre in New York.

* * * *

"Ernie" Hambacker was present, on Sunday evening, December 23, at the annual dance given by the genial Mr. Rothafel, the director of the Roxy Theatre in New York City, to his employees. The largest rug in the world, covering the spacious marble floor of the lobby, was removed and 600 of Broadway's elite, including representatives from every current show, danced till 5 a. m.

* * * *

Here is one of those things we read about but seldom find. A certain freshman—a co-ed, it happens —got industrious one night and outlined her history for the next week, doing four long chapters in advance. The next day, however, Professor History decided the next five chapters should be omitted. Now we have a most disgusted co-ed and four extra history chapters.

Since the recent abandonment of Old Main by Penn State students because the building had been declared unsafe, the crowded conditions continue to be a problem for the administration. The students have reluctantly moved into temporary quarters.

The girls who live in Annex were surprised by the unusual sight of the second floor when they arrived from vacation. The old "Y" room is being cleaned out and remodeled. All the "debris" was stacked in the hall with a mere foot-wide aisle for the fair co-eds to struggle through. Most exciting, however, were the two war-like statues standing at the top of the stairs, apparently ready to pounce upon the young lady who dared to venture out after dark. At least it was quite a welcome-home and the girls really enjoyed the diversion.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Self-Pencils
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

The College Man's First Choice
You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Wards are preëminent as the shoes that college men prefer.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
See them on display at
MONTGOMERY & CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WAINIES

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
George Wright, '31

An enjoyable vacation was spent by all the brothers but all were glad to get back and resume their studies.

Charles Eicher, ex-'29, State visited brother McClain, '31, last week-end.

"Dutch" Keller, ex-'30, and George Grubich visited with us the fore part of the week.

"Pint" Burnett, ex-'30, was here for a visit.

Phi Psi's basketball team will meet the Grit Publishing Company's squad this evening at Tustin Gym.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

Kappa chapter was fortunate in having all the boys return from the Xmas vacation in good health, despite the prevailance of the "flu" in the various home towns.

Brother "Ed" Bollinger has been more or less "tanked up" during the past week. "Ed" heard that water was the best safeguard against epidemics and so has been consuming on an average twelve glasses a day.

"Til" Woodring just barely made the basketball trip to New York with the team. "Woodly" was taken to the infirmary the day before school opened with an abscessed leg. "Doc" Fowle found it necessary to lance the injured appendage to enable "Til" to be in shape to leave with the team. "Tony" Kostos has lived up to the expectations of the house and was included in Coach John Plant's squad of basketeers.

Pledge brothers Linkfield, Cockill, and Sullivan have been inmates of the Zeigler Infirmary during the better part of the week.

"Wally" Diehl was a week-end guest at the house. "Diehly," who was recently elected all-American professional fullback by the Associated sports-writers, was getting a few days rest from his season's labors before going to New York to take a position in Wall Street.

"Lou" Mutzel gave the folks in Lancaster a treat by going home for the week-end.

DELTA SIGMA
Philip G. Murray, '29

"Cal" Smith, "Wade" Wadsworth, and "Johnny" Snyder are with the basketball team on the New York trip.

Several of the boys aided Uncle Sam marshal the mails during the Christmas rush.

Pledge Brother "Ridge" Hughes has been confined for a few days in the infirmary with grippe.

"Spence" Hill and "Abie" Marston journeyed home to Williamsport and Harrisburg respectively, upon the advice of Dr. L. P. Fowle. Both boys had mild cases of grippe.

"Lew" Davis, '27, was a visitor at the house for a few days last week.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Cadet Daniel Loveland of Stanton Military Academy was the guest of pledge brother Charles Mills last Wednesday and Thursday.

Brother "Ken" Murphy, '26, visited the house over the week-end.

Pledge Brother Cummings has been unable to return to school since the Christmas vacation due to the illness of his father.

Brother Browne has been at the Infirmary since last Saturday afternoon. He has a bad attack of grippe.

Brothers "Bob" and "Jack" Barton were sent home last Friday due to illness.

Brother Conway of Elmira, N. Y. was the guest of Brother Edward Beckley at his home in Nanticoke the last few days of the Christmas vacation.

Brothers Mason and Conway celebrated their birthday last Friday night by treating the house to ice cream, cake, and cigars.

Brother Eller is with the varsity basketball squad of the university on their weeks trip.

Brother Abbot gave an interesting and profitable lecture on the prevention of the "flu," last Friday night.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

During the past week, "Jack" Mackie of Inwood, Long Island, was a guest of Theta U. Mackie is a golfer of note, having won, among other things, the Southern Interscholastic Golf Championship of 1928.

"Vince" McHall, '28, drove from Mount Carmel last Sunday and spent some time at the house.

"Dick" Vastine, '27, is staying at the house until the Jersey Shore schools open. Vastine is employed there as a teacher, and will resume his work as soon as the influenza epidemic is over.

Frank Loper, '29, is again in the infirmary. Frank has spent a lot of his time this semester trying to get well, and it is hoped that his stay in the infirmary will be short.

The chapter will be glad to welcome back "Ted" Mitchell, '29, from his victorious trip to California.

Norman Egel, '31, is confined to the infirmary with chicken pox. He says that he isn't very sick but he surely is lonesome.

Chas. Mohr, '30, spent several days during the past vacation at the home of "Bill" Waldner, '31, at Union City, N. J., while attending the meetings of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York City. Professor F. H. Lund, was numbered among the speakers at these meetings.

Joseph Shuttlesworth spent several days here visiting his brother "Mel," before returning to his teaching duties at Pennington, N. J.

ALPHA CHI MU
J. N. Feaster, '30

On December 15, 1928, the fraternity held its annual Founders' Day Banquet. Brother "Yank" Minick, '29, presided and skillfully steered a professorial debate, in which the departments of sociology and chemistry were championed by Brother Clarence R. Johnson and Brother Orel S. Groner.

The fraternity wishes to congratulate Brother Bruce Miller, '27, on having at last made the fatal step.

"Dick" Howell, '31, has decided not to return to finish out this year's work. Now Rawlinson has no rival for the wrestling crown of the house.

"Johnny" Anderson, '31, has not yet returned from the Christmas vacation because of the inevitable "flu." All the boys wish him a speedy recovery.

"Phil" Murray, '29, was a guest of "Cranny" for lunch on Saturday, January 5.

Wayne Halsall, '30, came through in fine style the other day and completed, in only nine lessons a ten lesson course in piano playing. Rumor has it that he cheated in the examination and used two hands.

A collection is being taken up to buy "Bill" Shure an alarm clock to wake him up before he goes to bed.

Walter Schindler, of Sunbury, was a guest of "Bill" Shure, '30, for dinner on Sunday, January 6.

Brother "Chuck Titus, '31, passed the examination and is now a licensed basketball referee.

KAPPA GAMMA
J. M. Paige, '32

The entry of Kappa Gamma into the ranks of Phi Kappa has been the main topic of discussion in the house since the return of the boys after the Christmas vacation.

Both actives and pledges join in extending their sympathy to James Debiasco, '30. "Jimmy" was called home a few days before the Christmas recess on account of the sudden death of his father. He is now back at school.

William Horn, '29, has not yet returned to school. A telephone call to "Bill's" home in Scranton revealed the fact that he is laid up with the grippe.

The late return of "Phil" Biondo, '31, Friday, was due to an attack of the grippe.

"Lew" Ceraso, '29, came back, minus his fraternity pin. When asked about it, "Lew" declared that it was not a topic for discussion.

Among the boys who worked hard during the holidays were Herman Steddard, '30, and John Hardlika, '32. They were employed by Uncle Sam.

"Gene" Mirarchi, '29, and "Mickey" Mermon, '29, spent the Christmas vacation in Cincinnati, Ohio.

KAPPA DELTA
Caroline Davison, '30

Phi Tau chapter takes pleasure in announcing the initiation into active membership of Jean Colvin, Lillian McClure, Dorothy Irvin, and "Kay" Warden.

Of course we were glad to see "Shorty" Parmley, '27, "Sis" Reed, '27, and "Peg" Wren, '28, last week-end. "Peg" and "Sis" are teaching near Pittsburgh.

We are living in hopes that the "flu" will not prevent us from holding our formal dance, which is scheduled for January 11.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

The chapter is very much pleased with the charming picture which the patronesses presented to the suite as a Christmas gift. The actives gave the suite an end-table.

We are glad to have Martha Warner, '31, back again. Martha was kept at home for an extra week by an

(Continued on Page 7.)

"With most honorable approval"

When the Most Honorable Tourist enters a Japanese shop, experienced travelers tell us, he is instantly struck by the elegant bareness of the shelves. The astute Eastern merchant discloses his wares one piece at a time, working down from the choicest to an eventual sale.

If our local tobacco shops were conducted on the Japanese system, we venture to predict that Chesterfield would be the first cigarette offered — and about eight times out of ten there'd be a sale on the spot!

At least that's what the sales figures indicate — over six million smokers keep asking for Chesterfield and the salesmen all know it.

And no wonder, you smokers. You who have tried 'em know there's no need to sell Chesterfields — that mild different flavor just puts itself over.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD *enough for anybody..and yet..*THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Eastman Kodaks and Films

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

— 11 —

"THE NEW YEAR AND THE STATUS QUO"

THE NEW YEAR ALWAYS SPELLS OPPORTUNITY. EACH MERCHANT MAKES A SOLEMN RESOLVE THAT HIS BUSINESS IN THE ENSUING YEAR IS GOING TO BE BETTER THAN IT EVER WAS BEFORE.

WHEN ONE LOOKS FORWARD TO THE NEW YEAR ONE IS NEVER CONTENT WITH THINGS AS THEY ARE, BUT IS ANXIOUS TO PRESS FORWARD... THE BUSINESS MAN BEGINS TO SEE THE ROMANCE IN BUSINESS, AND AS A RESULT HE PUTS MORE PEP AND ENTHUSIASM INTO HIS BUSINESS. HE VOWS TO MASTER IT, AND NOT LET IT MASTER HIM. HE HAS THE SAME SPIRIT THAT WAS SHOWN SOME TWO YEARS AGO IN THE "AMERICAN MERCURY," WHERE A YOUNG ARTIST ASSERTED THE FOLLOWING: "I HAVE ENJOYED ART BUT COULD I GO BACK TO THE TIME WHEN I MADE MY CHOICE, I SHOULD DECIDE FOR BUSINESS. FOR I BELIEVE THAT IN THE AMERICAN BUSINESS THERE LIES MORE FUN—MORE ACTIVE ROMANCE THAN IN ANY OTHER CONTEMPORARY WORK."

EVEN THE MINISTRY IS NOT CONTENT TO LEAVE THINGS AS THEY ARE. DR. FOSDICK RECENTLY SAID "THE GIST OF THE APPEAL TO YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN TODAY ON BEHALF OF THE MINISTRY LIES, HERE AS ELSEWHERE, NOT IN ASKING THEM TO SERVE THE ECCLESIASTICAL STATUS QUO, BUT IN SUMMONING THEM TO CHANGE IT."

IN THE NEW YEAR THE MERCHANT MUST PRESS FORWARD OR LOSE OUT. HE CANNOT STAND STILL.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis H. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief Robert L. Lyon, '29
208 S. 7th St.
Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager John N. Feaster, '30
Alpha Chi Mu House
Phone 194

Assistant Editor-in-chief Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor Christine W. Cranford, '29
Assistant Managing Editors Virginia Smoot, '30
Helen Bell, '30
News Editor Charles E. Mohr, '29
Jane G. Poust, '29
Assistant News Editors Yolande Elsler, '31
Bertha Gavenda, '30
Sports Editor J. Warren McElgot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors E. Bartruff Koser, '31
Thomas McLeod, '31
Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Women's College Editor Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor Lillian Mattick, '29
Column Editors Elizabeth Fligner, '29
Frances Kermoian, '29

Business Staff

Advertising Manager W. C. Hamill, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager John Snyder, '29
Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31

Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Walter H. Gehm, '32
Nathaniel Girdler, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32

CALENDAR

Friday, January 11, 8 to 11:45—Kappa Delta formal dance in Tustin Gymnasium.

Saturday, January 12, 8 to 11:45—Phi Mu formal dance in Tustin Gymnasium.

5:30 to 11:45—Sigma Chi formal dinner dance in the recreation room of the new dormitory.

Monday, January 14, 7:30—Frill and Frown initiation in Organ Room.

Tuesday, January 15, 7:30—Campus Club meeting

OUTLAWING WAR—AND BUYING MORE GUNS

"Preparedness can never prevent war." What military training does is to establish a military psychology, which is the surest way to lead us directly into war," said Kirby Page, editor of the World Tomorrow, when he spoke recently at Penn State. Mr. Page scored the compulsion of R. O. T. C. training in state owned institutions. His remarks are of especial interest just at this time when the consideration by the United States Senate of two measures bearing on the subject of war is bringing militarism prominently into the foreground. Among the numerous comments on the situation is a statement by our recent visitor, Norman Thomas, which is of such pertinence that we are reproducing it here.

"Since it is almost certain that the Kellogg Pact will be ratified sooner or later, our big job is not to work for the treaty or exhaust ourselves cheering when the treaty is ratified. Our job is to try to make the treaty mean something. The first installment on that job is not to make fools of ourselves by accompanying the ratification of a treaty to outlaw war with a big navy bill which will be an invitation to a new naval race.

"The argument for a big United States navy is not to protect our own shores but to protect our commerce against Great Britain. The danger to our commerce is not merely a direct war against England. England has heretofore never permitted another nation with which she is at war to trade with a neutral if she could help it. And she usually could. Now no talk of parity will meet this case, yet it is idle to talk disarmament and ignore it. The logical thing to do is to work out some agreement on freedom of the seas. Professor Hawland of Yale has recently suggested that the United States might very well refrain from claiming a right to trade with a nation which has broken the spirit of the Kellogg Pact as well as of the League of Nations by going to war without submitting its dispute to some process of peaceful adjustment. Great Britain in turn might well renounce the right to interfere with commerce, save by a legitimate blockade, in the case of 'private wars' of her own in contradistinction to 'public wars' approved by the League of Nations against an aggressor nation.

"There is at least a basis for discussion. Where there is a will to peace there is a way. No navy is big enough to prevent war or to insure victory in war. The recent announcement of a new poison gas more deadly than any known before emphasizes the fact that unless we can prevent war nothing else will matter very much. The prevention of war is a many sided task. Some progress is made by the Kellogg Pact. Some confidence has been gained by the success of Pan-American efforts to avert war between Bolivia and Paraguay. Some hope there is in American public opinion which has already drastically reduced the original preposterous 71 ship bill of the Navy Department. But there is an immense deal yet to be done and it will take the cooperation of the workers with hand and brain not in one country but in all lands to build an enduring peace."

WE SUGGEST A "READING PERIOD"

Christmas is past, and the dreaded period of mid-year examinations begins to loom more and more as a reality; many a student is now commencing to do the major part of his semester's studying. Even the best students realize the need for a review, but with the rush to finish reading reports, term papers, and whatnot, the time found for such a review will be pitiably small. Cramming cannot be stopped by the giving of advice, and reviewing should be encouraged. Taking a practical attitude toward this situation, the Harvard administration has taken a step which is explained in the following editorial which is reprinted from the undergraduate publication of New Jersey College. Is the time coming when something similar may be found practicable in our own University?

"Harvard provides for a two weeks' reading period directly preceding its examination schedule. The theory behind the practice is simply the necessity of a breathing space in which one may prepare for one's examinations. It is well nigh impossible to attend classes up until a few hours before one's first examination—after which two to four may follow quickly and precipitously—and to do it with any amount of ease and surety. The authorities at Harvard University, realizing that it is human nature to leave a good deal until the end; that in most cases what is learned at the end, in a grand concentrated effort, if done so under conditions not so pressing as to cause severe nervous strain, is retained the longest and the most concretely; that a period in which it would be possible to survey, in review, an entire semester's work, and thus to grasp the outstanding points and significance of each separate course is the answer to one of the first aims of education—to see the new in a condensed whole and correlate it to the old;—realizing this, they have fostered the two weeks' reading period. The students have found it invaluable.

"We have thought about such a provision in relation to our own college and would suggest that it might work out very nicely. Of course, a two weeks' period is hardly necessary. But were it possible to set aside the Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday preceding Thursday on which the first examination is scheduled, and to designate that no student may leave college during these three days, we feel that a great concession would have been made and that the student body should benefit tremendously by it.

"There would no longer be the problem of preparing for classroom work and examination work simultaneously. There would be a definite time to write papers assigned by professors in place of an examination. For such a time there is a crying need! The student with classes up until Tuesday noon, whose examinations begin on Wednesday and are crowded into three days, would no longer have his almost insoluable problem of adequate preparation. It would be possible to review each course separately, evenly; to grasp it as a unity, to pick out the high-lights; to correlate it to previous knowledge. Should the review provoke difficulties in complete comprehension of its subject there would be ample time for consultation with one's professor. And the strain of attending classes at odd intervals, during which the time is spent in agonized wonder as to how one will find time for this, that or the other; of dashing madly to the dormitories or the libraries between classes; and of accomplishing nothing in the rush, would be banished. There would be no excuse for nervous breakdowns before or after examinations.

"It can be argued, of course, that such a system encourages cramming. Perhaps it does. But people cram anyway and they might as well do it well. After all, cramming, if done scientifically, is more a virtue than a sin. The past master at cramming is usually the most intelligent person and the one who retains what he has learned during the process. If a five days' reading period would help make more students "scientific crammers"—that is, capable of concentrated effort, keen insight and true judgement, it would accomplish wonders right there."

The death of Mrs. Emma Kunkle Colestock is a distinct loss to our University and to this community. Mrs. Colestock was a notable worker. She was a devoted mother, a painstaking homemaker, a citizen of wide interests. Her devotion to her children and her home knew no bounds, and the same spirit carried over into her work for the schools, the church, the college, and whatever else she was interested in. Many generations of students have known her and valued her for her kindly hospitality. Many students have had their college days brightened by her kindly ministrations. She will be keenly missed throughout the community. To her husband, Dr. Henry T. Colestock, the Bucknellian extends it warmest sympathy.

The Rectangle, official publication of the professional English fraternity, Sigma Tau Delta, prints in its November issue the following verse by Josephine Roberts, '29, of the Bucknell chapter.

CANDLES

Tonight, in the faint, purple twilight,
I fain would set candles in the room—
Tall, majestic, lilac ones, with perfume in their wake—
Slim, aristocratic wax tapers in crystalled candelabra.
They would be reflected in the many-mirrored room.
And you would marvel at the number of them
As they stood, picking out the ivory keys
Of my grandmother's spinet,
Splashing riotous color
From their encircling prisms. . .
Candles are intimate.
They make friends easily;
And, as you come swiftly across the polished floor,
They would shine down kindly upon my aging mien.
And perhaps you would forget my five years' seniority. . .
Tonight, in the faint, purple twilight,
I fain would set candles in the room.
Epsilon Beta Josephine Roberts

"Hiawatha"

By the waters of the Cuticura,
By the sparkling soda water,
Lived the Prophylactic Chiclet,
Dandorine, fair Chevrolet's daughter.
She was loved by Instant Postum,
Son of Sunkist and Victrola
Heir apparent to the Mazda
Of the tribe of Coca Cola.
Through the Tanlac strolled the lovers,
Through the Shredded Wheat they wandered;
"Lovely little Wrigley Chiclet,"
Were the fairy words of Postum;
"No Fyr Fyter can quench the fire
Nor any aspirin still the headache
Oh, my Presto-lite life desires;
Let us marry, little Djer Kiss!"

—Wheaton News.

Clocks ring in the morn
To tell us to rise.
And he who must rest
Will miss his breakfast.
For early to bed,
And early to rise
Is the way to be healthy,
But unpopular guys.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Alumni Notes

Cloyd N. Steininger, Esq., '03

Attorney Cloyd N. Steininger, '03, has recently returned to Lewisburg after a trip of some weeks into the Canadian lumber woods. Mr. Steininger suffered a physical breakdown, and physicians told him he must get out in the open. He chose to go to Canada.

Passing by all hotels and summer resorts, Mr. Steininger pushed far into the "bush" north of Quebec. Here is a stretch of unbroken forest practically as large as the State of Pennsylvania. Only lumbermen, lumber camps, and Indians are to be found there. Mr. Steininger made his way from camp to camp, spending a few days in each. He took long walks, fished, hunted with an Indian guide, and each day spent an hour or two cutting and sawing trees with the lumbermen. He comes back with his health restored, and his memory filled with pleasant recollections of the Canadian "bush" and the simple, kindly folks he found there.

Incidentally, one of the wood choppers he met at a certain camp proved to be a student from Eton College, England, who had also fled to the open to restore his health. This student intends to return to England and resume his studies after Christmas.

Arial Kremer, '17

Miss Arial Kremer, '17, who has been a globe trotter most of the time since her graduation from Bucknell, is now arranging a tour of Europe for next summer, in which she plans to conduct a party of sight-seers through England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Switzerland, and Italy. The party is scheduled to sail about the end of June and to return to America early in September. Miss Kromer herself has traveled extensively in Europe, in South America, and in the Orient.

Anna Sechler, Inst., '76

Miss Anna Sechler, Institute, '76, died recently at the home of her nephew, Ralph H. Sechler, Milton, R. D. 2. She was 76 years old. She was buried in the old Chillisquaque cemetery. She is survived by her brother, Frank N. Sechler, and the nephew with whom she lived. She was one of 16 graduates of the '76 class at the Institute.

William R. Sheffer, '23

William Richard Sheffer, (Bucknell 1923), former resident of here and well known in this city, has received a merited promotion with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, it was learned from the local offices recently.

"Dick" as he is well known to a legion of friends, began his railroad career as a rodman on the Sunbury Division. He gradually worked his way up and for some time past has been assistant supervisor of the Delaware Division.

The new promotion is to that of supervisor of the Sunbury Division with headquarters at Wilkes-Barre.

Sheffer came to this city a number of years ago and during his stay in this city made many friends. He is a graduate of Bucknell University and since his entrance into railroad circles has made rapid strides. He is one of the company's youngest and most valued employes.

He was transferred to Wilkes-Barre from the Delaware Division where he is to succeed R. H. Joyce, who has been promoted to the position of supervisor at Lemoyne.

—Sunbury Daily.

Two days after the foregoing announcement of Sheffer's promotion was printed, the Sunbury Daily published this additional item concerning the new railroad supervisor: Richard "Dick" Sheffer, formerly of this city, and now supervisor of the Sunbury Division at Wilkes-Barre, has added another laurel to his already filled crown, when he was named part winner of the Pennsylvania Railroad "Klondyke" prize given every year for the best care of tracks, and road bed.

The first prize this year, amounting to $1200, was awarded to N. R. Hunter and R. W. Sheffer, supervisor and assistant of Division No. 22 of the Philadelphia Terminal Division.

The prize was awarded for the best line surface of any division in the system.

BASKETBALL

Bucknell vs. W. Maryland

AT THE

New High School Gym

Saturday, January 12, 8 O'clock

ADMISSION 75c.

Due to the fact that the Tustin Gym is not large enough to accommodate the fans of basket-ball, Faculty Manager Ben Griffith announces that the game will be played in the new large High School Gymnasium.

He united the country with nails

BEN FRANKLIN made the horseshoe nail a symbol of the importance of little things. "The kingdom was lost and all for the want of a horseshoe nail", goes one of his wise sayings. So when he became Postmaster General, he knew full well the need for proper horseshoeing as one step in punctual mail schedules.

The care given to details can still make or break a great plan. In the telephone industry, for example, the development of compact paper insulation helped to make possible the small diameter cable and therefore the vast underground plant necessary to serve large cities.

A multiplicity of details, from the testing of long fibre cotton to the "voice with the smile", offer a continual challenge to the Bell System men who unite the nation with telephones.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of 19,000,000 inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Concerning Peas and String Beans

By RUTH V. L. de TURK, '31

The little green globules that were peas danced down into the grey agate dish with thuds that set one humming if one were cheerful; but irritated one immeasurably if one were inclined to be irritated on a going-to-rain day in the middle of July. And the woman shelling them was inclined to be irritated, at the cheerfulness of peas in general, and the stupidity of the animals known to womankind as mere men. She thought resentfully of the married life she had planned, and of the hopeless muddle it seemed to have turned out to be. To think that she—the debutante belle of her season—had jilted three perfectly plausible specimens of the opposite sex—and that she should sit here shelling peas! It was too preposterous, and she glared at the peas which timidly and immediately turned down their joyous thud-thud.

As an orgy of self-pity she set the now thoroughly disheartened peas dancing in a ridiculous and unprecedented manner. The house work was irksome; the cooking, hot and tiresome, and the dishwashing discouraging. And so, undeniably disillusioned, she shed tears of wretchedness and rage into the astonished peas.

And then it rained.

A year passed. The white paint on the tiny "model home" became greyer and greyer. The fence around the front yard began to sag; and there were weeds in the flower beds, and in the model vegetable garden.

And then the heat came, and brought with it a drought. The grass looked parched, and a thick coating of drab brown dust settled on all things. The woman came out on the back porch again this summer; and this time there were beans to string. Tender, crisp, green beans. She had not a glance for their freshness and grace. Her distorted body seethed with pain. Would it never end?

Days of torture, nights of anguish, of feverish tossing. Days of glory and of despair. They had told her that she must walk, and so she dragged her heavy body back and forth—back and forth—endlessly. Finally the doctor came and put her to bed. Gradually forms grew dim, and her senses became confused, and she sank slowly, thankfully into oblivion.

The first thing she heard was a diminutive roar which seemed very near, and very enraged. Puzzled she tried to reason. But she was too tired to think, so she just lay there, still, intent upon that angry roar. After several efforts she managed to open her eyes. At first she was wholly indifferent to the tiny, wailing bundle which the nurse proudly showed her.

As the days went by she grew stronger; but she stood in awe of that tiny red thing which raged and roared and kicked and squealed; and which was so uniquely hers. A fine, hearty boy they told her.

After a while the nurse was gone, but the marvel of that growing, hungry being remained; and she never ceased to be awed afresh when she contemplated the miracle.

Another year passed; and the tiny model home looked worn and careless. This time the woman did not come out on the porch to shell the peas. And this time they neither gladdened nor annoyed her.

There was a tiny, wailing bundle in a basket on the kitchen floor, and a small, dirty baby boy reposed contentedly beside it. A soiled gingham wrapper covered the once lovely figure of the woman now unkempt and sagging. She no longer marveled at the babies—they were such a lot of work.

Years passed, and the model home grew still shabbier and more drab-looking. Papers littered the yard now, and in the flower beds were only weeds, and a few mildly protesting, almost discouraged rosebushes which never blossomed. And many small dirty children played in the streets, and sailed chip boats in the gutters in front of the "model home."

Nowadays the man seldom came home. He had many "business trips" to make. And always when he came home—late at night—he was very talkative and happy, and often musically inclined. All this unless he was opposed, then he beat the children.

At such times the woman went upstairs with set lips and determined eyes, but in the morning there was a faraway look in her eyes, and all day she would be preoccupied, administering slaps here and there promiscuously when one of the children penetrated her armor of thought.

And every year or so there was another wailing baby. And every year the house which was no longer a home grew more untidy, and the children dirtier and more numerous, and the husband came home less and less often.

And then—one evening he had come home, and there had been a quarrel, and then the man had gone never to return. There were six babies.

For a time the mother, a trifle stupified, moped at home, but the meals began to grow scant. Came the days when the brats were put early to bed, and the mother turned and remodeled her pretty dresses from the days gone by. The woman's cheeks began to bloom again, and her hair to be curled once more, but she was no longer beautiful, only a ghost—and a rather ludicious one at that—only a ghost of former days. But the house remained dirty and slipshod; if anything more dirty and more slipshod. Then men and a few women began to frequent the house. They all have bottles with a sickening, sweet-scented beverage.

So things went on, and then one morning the mother cried a bit, and sneered a bit, and smoothed the children's hair; and washed their lovely begrimed faces, and their dimpled hands. She didn't kiss them. Two strange ladies took them away.

A long time after the little "model home" was torn down to make room for a large factory. Many women worked in this factory. And the world went on.

John Plant's Cagers Lose to Army, 35-34

The Bucknell basketball team wound up its disastrous eastern trip last evening at West Point, bowing to the Army five, 35-34. A sensational field goal by Zimmerman in the last minute of play enabled the future generals to eke out a one point victory.

At half time the visitors led by a 16-14 margin. During the entire game both teams battled on even terms, the winner not being decided until the final whistle blew.

"Bernie" Klosterman, shifted to the forward post by Coach Plant in an effort to obtain results, was the high scorer for the Bison machine, registering ten points which represented five field goals. "Cal" Smith, a forward, and "Arch" Seller, the pivot man, scored nine points apiece. Wadsworth and Woodring at the guard posts contributed six points between them.

This game marked the fourth loss in a row for the Bucknell quintet, as they had already surrendered on the court to C. C. N. Y., Fordham, and Seton Hall.

The lineup:

Army	Field	Foul	Total
Draper, lf	4	1	9
Krueger, rf	8	0	16
Blanning, c	0	0	0
Strechers, c	2	0	4
Hutchinson, lg	0	0	0
Zimmerman, lg	2	0	4
Malloy, rg	1	0	2
Totals	17	1	35

Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Klosterman, lf	5	0	10
Smith, rf	4	1	9
Seiler, c	4	1	9
Wadsworth, lg	2	0	4
Woodring, rg	1	0	2
Totals	16	2	34

Referee—Kinney. Umpire—Shaw.

Mitchell Returning With All-East Team

"Ted" Mitchell, Bucknell University's football center, is now homeward bound from San Francisco where he played with the all-East eleven against the all-West team on December 29 in a charity football contest.

Mitchell did not start the game, that honor going to Carl Aschman of Washington and Jefferson. However, the Bucknell pivot man was sent into the game in the third period and performed creditably. Mitchell replaced Aschmann when the second half started.

He was not in the game more than a minute when he aided in throwing the highly-touted Biff Hoffman for a three-yard loss. "Mitch" contributed several other fine plays before he withdrew from the torrid tilt.

He might have played the entire second half had he not sustained a painful nose injury toward the close of the third period. Mitchell was tendered a rousing ovation as he left the field that day and reports from San Francisco say that his face was full of smiles.

It was a great honor for Mitchell to play with such an aggregation that took the measure of the West for the first time. The Madison sports realized his great ambition—that of making the trip to the coast as a member of the all-East team.

"Mitch" is Colorful

Mitchell is 22 years old, weighs 210 pounds and is five feet eight inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Madison High School and Kiski prep where he was an all around athlete. Mitchell is also a fine diamond performer, playing regularly in the Bison outfield. When he returns to Bucknell, Mitchell will try for a berth on the Bucknell quintet.

Fresh hot dogs! Fresh hot dogs!
One a nickel, two a nickle,
Fresh hot dogs.
If you do not like them,
Send them to the "Sem."
One a nickle, two a nickle,
Fresh hot dogs.

Interesting Reports Read To German Club

The January meeting of Der Deutche Verein was held in the parlors of the Women's College, Monday evening, January 7, with Alan L. Martin, '29, and Dr. W. H. Eyster as the chief speakers. Mr. Martin read an interesting paper on the life of Joseph von Eichendorff, a renowned German poet, much of whose poetry has been set to music by famous composers. Dr. Eyster talked at length on German educational customs, comparing them with ours and stressing the advantages of a knowledge of the German language. Doctors Eyster and Rockwell reminisced, too, on their experiences in Germany, entertaining the interested members of the club.

A business meeting resulted in the setting of the date, February 18, for Mr. Bucher's illustrated lecture on Germany. It will be accompanied by the regular program with the German quartet as an added feature. The next monthly meeting will be held the first week in February, after examinations.

Two Principal Occupations

It's getting so this country has only two occupations. One is the Women pawing at their nose with a Powder Puff, and the other is the Men talking about their Golf scores.

—Will Rogers.

Princeton Protests Filming of Campus

Millions who are denied the privilege of dying for dear old Siwash nevertheless have come to know our colleges as intimately as if they had attended one. Thanks to Hollywood's many films of "college life," the plain people now recognize a tattooed slicker when they see it and are able to tell you with some assurance that a college is a place where men wear battered headpieces, where rooms are decorated with "Keep off the Grass" signs and where football games invariably end with fifty-yard dashes and last minute scores for the home eleven.

The latest of these educational films is called "Varsity" and some interesting stories are told about it. It has been the custom to make these films at the hospitable University of Southern California but lately the tendency has been to vary the scenery. "Varsity" was to have been taken at Yale but the authorities demurred. Princeton was found willing so the story was fitted out with Princeton names.

Only The Tiger, Princeton's comi-magazine, failed to see the joke. The issue of that magazine for last June criticized the administration for turning the campus into a temporary Hollywood. Several telegrams were secured from alumni.

Mr. Struthers Burt, '04, called Yale's refusal a "distinct victory for New Haven." "If we are going in for such things," complained Mr. Burt, "why not start nationwide advertising campaigns with such slogans as "Princeton, The Friendly University," or "You don't know what education is until you've been to Princeton."

Now that "Varsity" has been released the exhibitors are afraid to show it at Princeton. Perhaps mindful of the reception "Brown of Harvard" received on the banks of the Charles the local theater owner has canceled hi sorder for the film. Some of the students have seen the picture in New York and their reports are not of such a nature as to cause a theater owner to expose his property to the possible wrath of a student body.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE OF ENGAGEMENT OF GRAD

Bucknellians who remember Mr. T. Burns Drum, a former instructor at Bucknell, who is now a law sudent at U. of P., will be interested in the following article from the Sunbury Item, which announces Mr. Drums' engagement to Miss Elizabeth Burrows. It is interesting to note that not only did Mr. Drum attend Bucknell, but also the father and mother of Miss Burrows and of Mr. Drum are Bucknell graduates.

T. Burns Drum, prominent Lewisburg young man, has been engaged to Miss Elizabeth Burrows, well known Milton girl, it was revealed at a recent luncheon held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Clingler, in Milton. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mr. Drum is the son of Prof. and Mrs. M. L. Drum, of S. Water St., Lewisburg. He is a Bucknell graduate and is now studying law at the University of Pennsylvania. While at Bucknell he became a member of the Delta Sigma fraternity, was on the Bucknell debating team and is widely known in this section.

Miss Burrows is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Burrows, of Milton. She is a student at the Philadelphia School of Design.

—Sunbury Item.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

ROOM FOR RENT—Inquire Mrs. Ida B. Henry, 11 Walker Street, Lewisburg, Pa. Opposite Chemical Lab.

LOST—A valuable scarf in the Baptist Church on Sunday evening, January 6th, 1929. The scarf has no great value in itself, but has rich associations to the loser. A handsome reward will be given if the scarf is returned to William C. Shure at the Alpha Chi Mu House. Phone 194.

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman

interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method,

leads to the degree of

BACHELOR OF NURSING

Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

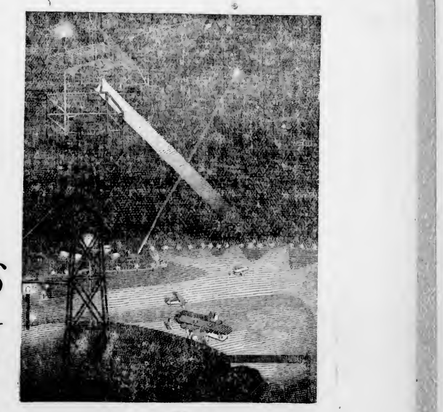
The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.

For catalog and information address:

The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN :: CONNECTICUT

"That's my weakness now January Sale of Florsheim Shoes Only Eight-Eighty Five!"

J. F. Prowant Co.
LEWISBURG, PA.



Lights that Fill the Skies with Commerce

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air. Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

A majority of the beacon lights used in airport and airway illumination have been designed and manufactured by the General Electric Company, whose specialists have the benefit of a generation's experience in the solution of lighting problems.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

9540DH

EVENTS OF THE WEEK IN BUCKNELL SPORTS

Max Reed To Be B.U. Line Coach For 1929 Season

Captained Bucknell Team in '23; Played with Yellowjackets and New York Giants

Bucknell University's 1929 line coach will be Max Reed of Lewisburg, it was announced here this week, following a meeting of the Bucknell Athletic Council. Reed will succeed Ulharit Hangartner, former Pitt Panther star, who will devote his entire time from now on to his business interests.

The choice of Reed should be a popular one, as the new member of the football coaching staff is a resident of Lewisburg and also a graduate of Bucknell. Reed will start active work in the spring, when Head Coach Snavely holds the annual spring football practice.

Reed is 27 years old, weighs 185 pounds, and is five feet ten inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Lewisburg High School, where he never had a chance to display his talent on the gridiron. He entered Bucknell as a freshman in the fall of 1920 and reported for football practice.

At that time there was no freshman rule and consequently every yearling possessing ability had a chance to qualify for a berth on the varsity eleven. When Reed reported he was a lanky, rangy, raw-boned kid who had never played football before.

However, under the tutelage of the famous Pete Reynolds, young Reed developed into one of the greatest linesmen Bucknell has ever had. He played at the center post for four years and was one of the best pivot men in the East during his last two seasons of play.

Bucknell Seared Yale

He captained the Bucknell eleven in 1923 and was the mainstay of the line. It was during that season that Reed and his men invaded New Haven, where they battled the highly touted Yale eleven to a standstill during the first half. However, greater weight and experience ultimately triumphed and when the game was over the sons of Old Eli were the victors by a 26-13 score.

It was in this game that "Wally" Diehl, who captained the Bucknell team in 1927, scored both Bison touchdowns. Hitherto Yale had been unscored on. During this game Captain Reed was pitted against the celebrated Winslow Lovejoy, an all-American center. Reports of the game say that Reed outplayed his opponent from start to finish.

During the past three years Reed has been playing professional football with two of the leading "pro" teams in the country. He played with the Frankford Yellowjackets during the 1926 and 1927 seasons at the center post. On several occasions the former Bucknell captain played against "Red" Grange, the Galloping Ghost of the Gridiron.

Last fall Reed signed a contract to play with the New York Giants, which team had in its backfield Bruce Caldwell, former Yale star. Max played in several early season games and then was forced to retire because of a painful leg injury. He returned to his home in Lewisburg where he lives during the winter months.

Reed was in the New York Giant's lineup when Caldwell's men defeated Kirleski's Collegians at Orange, N. J., during the latter part of September. Caldwell scored the touchdown which won the game. Reed is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Bucknell.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElgot

"Lou" Mutzel, Bucknell's middleweight boxing champion reported to the ring squad recently, apparently fit for the approaching ring grind. Last winter "Lou" enjoyed great success in the squared circle, winning all of his intercollegiate battles which included brilliant wins over foes representing both Temple and Rutgers. Mutzel is a letterman in football, playing at one of the guard posts during the past grid campaign.

—X—

The prospects for a successful boxing season at Bucknell are exceedingly bright judging from the veteran material that is available. Every member of the 1928 squad will be eligible for competition again this winter. Even Captain Frank Storaci of Trenton, N. J., will be seen in fistic action in a few weeks. Storaci has been training seriously of late and looks for another successful season.

—X—

Hopes for a successful ring campaign are also pinned on "Nick" LaFerrara, the diminutive Trenton lad who fought in the 125-pound class last winter. LaFerrara is a classy ring artist, possessing all the qualifications that a college fighter needs. He is fast and shifty on his feet and is a hard man to hit. He also possesses the uncanny ability of landing a solid blow when his opponent least expects it. He demonstrated this asset several times last winter before capacity crowds at the Tustin Gym. With further seasoning LaFerrara should qualify for the intercollegiates. He still holds the unique record of being undefeated in collegiate ring competition.

Winter Sports Popular With College Girls of the East

Winter sports are much more popular in the east than in the west among the modern college girls. Wellesley, Smith, Vassar, Mt. Holyoke, and Fairmount consider these activities as major sports.

Miss Mason's School and Junior College for Girls on the Hudson, and Smith College, specialize in teaching this art to their students; while archery fans at Oakland, California have laid out a nine hole "golf" course where bow and arrow take the place of driver and golf ball, and the targets take the place of holes on the green.

B. U. Quintet of '03 Ran Up Huge Scores

Present-day basketball followers will be interested in the following Associated Press dispatch, printed December 31 in the Williamsport Sun, telling about the remarkable record piled up by the Bucknell basketball team in 1903. The story is as follows:

The first basketball team in the state to score more than 100 points in a single game this season is the Mahanoy City High school five which defeated Locust Gap high, 108 to 12, Saturday. Lennie Guadaitus, with 20 field goals and nine fouls, led the scoring with a total of 49 points. B. Kane, with 14 field goals and two fouls, was second with 30 points.

Scoring marathons of this character have come to be annual features and it is almost a certainty that each season will see some ambitious quintet waste its energy in one of these efforts to see just how many points can be scored during an hour or less of play.

One of the outstanding marks of this type was put on the collegiate cage records of Pennsylvania by the Bucknell team of 1903, which ran riot in the gymnasium at Lewisburg to overwhelm the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy by a count of 159 to 5.

In piling up this huge total of points, John Anderson star center who, according to the college alumni records, is now practicing medicine in Pittsburgh, shot forty field goals for a total of 80 points. George Washington Cheeseman, forward, now engaged in the ministry in the west, netted 20 field goals. John Johnson and Bill Grier scored seven two-pointers each and Grier caged the only foul which was converted that night. Moose McCormick, guard, who later became a pinch-hitting specialist for the New York Giants and who is now baseball coach at West Point, netted four field goals and Bill Griffith, a sub, contributed a two-pointer in the last minute of play.

This team completed a ten-game season without a defeat, winning from Gettysburg, and Franklin and Marshall twice, and taking single games from Danville, Williamsport, Ashland, and Lasalle.

Plantmen Lose Lead, Bow to C.C.N.Y. Five

Bucknell University's 1929 basketball season was officially ushered in last Saturday evening at New York City, where the Bison quintet dropped a 44-27 decision to the crack C. C. N. Y. eagers, conquerors of Princeton and W. & J.

The losers started with a rush taking a six-point lead in the first few minutes of play. After that the homesters braced. They soon tied the score and forged into the lead. A flurry of field goals by the winners fairly dazzled the losing quintet.

At half time the New York City five was in the van by a 21-14 score. During the last period the winners increased their lead to win by a 44-27 margin.

Two new faces appeared in the lineup of the Bucknell team. "Cal" Smith and "Bert" Ellor played at the forward posts and the two men worked well together. Ellor accounted for five points while Smith gathered three. Last winter Halicki and Frable played forwards on the Bucknell five, but Frable has graduated while Halicki has retired from the court game.

"Arch" Seiler, three year veteran, was at the pivot post and played a fine defensive game. The rangy center was guarded close, so consequently he was unable to tally a field goal. However, he contributed two fouls. Seiler has not regained his eye for the basket yet but when he does he is sure to tally a flock of points for the Bison team.

At the guard posts, Captain Woodring and "Bernie" Klosterman shone. Klosterman was the star of the game, his work on the court far excelling that of any other performer. Klosterman was high scorer for the Plantmen, collecting eleven points, representing four field goals and three fouls. Woodring, Bison captain, dropped in two field goals for a four-point total.

The box score:

City College (44)	Field	Foul	Total
Liss, forward	5	2	12
Sandazsk, forward	1	1	3
De Thillits, center	3	2	8
Musicant, guard	2	1	5
Weissman, guard	1	0	2
Stindell, guard	4	1	9
Kany, guard	2	1	5
Totals	18	8	44
Bucknell (27)	Field	Foul	Total
Smith, forward	1	1	3
Ellor, forward	2	1	5
Snyder, forward	0	f0	0
Seiler, center	0	2	2
Klosterman, guard	4	3	11
Woolring, guard	2	0	4
Wadsworth, guard	0	0	0
Totals	10	7	27

Referee—Ward Brennan. Umpire, Hastings.

May—"So you had a letter from your college boy?"

Tess—"Yes, he wrote an' ast me did I get home all right from the dance he took me to."

Frosh Cagers Meet Danville "Y." Tonight

The freshman basketball team will open its season tonight by tackling the fast Danville Y. M. C. A. five in Tustin gymnasium. This encounter will test Soach Musser's protegee to the limit, for the triangle boys have a veteran team which has played together for years, and they have been in training for the hoop season for months.

Competition for the regular berths on the yearling team has been hot since the initial practice session and Coach Musser has had easier tasks in his span of years than picking a starting quintet to face the Danville boys. Allowing for a last minute change, the following will take the floor tonight in an attempt to start the new year right with a victory. Chenowith and Don Mills, forwards; Fry, center; Stonebreaker and Griffith, guards. None of these men are sure of the positions, however, for their competitors have lots of stuff and are giving all that they have to break into the lineup. Wentzel and Reese are a pair of good forwards that are liable to give Chenowith and Mills many anxious moments. Fry hasn't got the pivot station in the bag, either, and is being closely pressed by Borella, Longstretch, and Logan. Borella, especially, has been going good lately and is a dangerous contender. Marter, Fisher, and Coates are the best looking reserves at the guard positions and are making Stonebreaker and Griffiths step right along to keep in front.

Although the probable starting five have been handicapped by not having played together very much and the interruption of the vacation period, they are, nevertheless, a good looking quintet and should turn out better after they have played enough to coordinate. The forwards are fast, shifty, and have good basket-eyes. The centers have the reaches for pivots and are accurate passers and capable loopers. The guards have the necessary strength and stamina to stand up under punishment and to withstand the assaults that will be made against their zones.

Lafayette Games Bring Out Half of the Student Body

More than half the entire student body at Lafayette College is engaged n basketball this winter, an extensive intramural program having been arranged for every day except Saturday and Sunday until March 1. Thirty teams have already begun the season's competition, four games being scheduled each day. The squads are composed of representatives of various clubs, fraternities, dormitories, and independent groups, even the faculty having its own team at the institution.—New York Times.

Twelve Games Carded For Frosh Dribblers

Bucknell University's freshmen basketball schedule was released here today by Manager "Ollie" Wagner after having been approved by Professor Benjamin Griffith, graduate manager of Athletics.

Manager Wagner has scheduled 12 games, five of which will be staged at home, while the remaining seven will be decided on foreign soil. The gem of the home card is a contest with Keystone Academy which will be staged in the Tustin Gym on January 26.

Another attraction of the schedule is a game with Peddie Institute which is regarded as one of the best prep schools in the East

The annual freshman-sophomore game will take place on the afternoon of Washington's birthday at the Tustin Gym.

The schedule follows:

January 10, Danville Y. M. C. A. at Lewisburg; 15, Lewisburg High School at Lewisburg; 19, Bloomsburg Normal at Bloomsburg; 26, Keystone Academy at Lewisburg.

February 2, Penn State Freshmen at State College; 8, Mansfield Normal at Mansfield; 15, Wyoming Seminary at Lewisburg; 22, Sophomores at Lewisburg; 27, Peddie Institute at Hightstown, N. J.; 28, Wenonah Military Academy at Wenonah, N. J.

March 8, Freeland Military Academy at Freeland; 9, Wyoming Seminary at Wilkes-Barre.

West. Maryland Plays Bucknell In Initial Game

Ellor and Smith only new men in Line-up for Saturday night; Halicki Quits Court

Bucknell University's first home basketball game will be staged in the Tustin Gym on Saturday evening, at which time the Bison basketeers are scheduled to line up against a formidable Western Maryland quintet. Preparations are now under way at Bucknell to accommodate the capacity crowd that is expected to attend.

The Bison quintet, which recently was defeated by C. C. N. Y., will have its full strength on the floor on Saturday. Coach Plant will drill his men hard for the opening ordeal. The Bisons will return to Lewisburg on Thursday evening, after a tour around New York, where they played on successive days Fordham, Seton Hall, and the Army.

"Bert" Ellor of Bloomfield, N. J., and Calvin D. Smith of Englewood, N. J., will be seen in action at the forward posts. Seiler, a veteran, will be stationed at the pivot post, while Woodring and Klosterman will play guards. The last two mentioned are varsity men for three years as is Seiler. Seiler captained the Bucknell court five last winter when only a junior.

Ellor and Smith are new at the game. This is Ellor's first year on the squad, while Smith played in two games last winter. Ellor went well against C. C. N. Y., scoring five points, while Smith was held to three. Klosterman was the big gun of the Bison attack caging four field goals and three fouls for an eleven point total.

Bucknell's basketball chances received a telling blow early this week when "Eddie" Halicki, star forward and 1928 football captain, announced his retirement from the court for an indefinite period. Smith replaced Halicki at the forward post and he may develop into a finished court artist.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

Real Red Hot Tunes
YOUR DOGS
JUST WON'T BEHAVE
HEAR
DAN GREGORY
AND HIS Victor Recording Orchestra
AT THE
JUNIOR PROM
FEB. 15, 1929 TUSTIN GYM

"Pottsville" Writes Of Bison Athletics

(Continued from Page 2.)

Football was introduced at the College in 1883. The sport at its early introduction was not encouraged as it is today. In the early eighties coaches were not employed to instruct the athletes. Students coached themselves.

But the game of football has changed from that of a compact mass play game into an open affair. The forward pass supplanted the V's, the wedges, the guardsback tandems, and all the rest of those crushes that were so deadly, and that made the casuality lists so long and saddening.

Originally Football Was Very Rough

An idea of the roughness of the early game is given by John Heisman, former coach of Georgia Tech, Penn, and Oberlin.

"On Saturday my Oberlin men overcame Stagg's mighty Chicago squad 33 to 12, and were reduced to crutches, canes, splints, and yards of plaster thereby. On the following Monday we staggered off the field at Champaign, Ill., the very groggy victors over Hall's University of Illinois team, 34 to 24. That Monday night I had the cauliflowerel ears of three of my warriors laneed. Eight other members of my team were under the hands of surgeons, although none of them were seriously injured—that is, seriously for those days. Homeward bound, we took day coaches because we had to change trains at Toledo at midnight. We dragged through the station gates at Toledo, some with arms in slings, some on crutches. I don't think there was one that did not have his head bandaged or his face court-plastered. And to lend an even deeper hue of gloom to the picture, the team's manager was carried off the train on a stretcher. His injuries had, however, been acquired indoors. He had so lost control of himself that he had eaten himself into a painful attack of acute indigestion. There was a considerable crowd at the station for midnight, but they had not gathered to cheer us.

"A crowd closed in upon us, clucking and murmuring solleitude and pity.

'Good heavens' cried a woman standing near one of my total wrecks, 'look at this one. He must have been underneath.'

'I was underneath' he groaned. 'Every time, it seems.'

"A go-getter interne from a hospital came scurrying over to me.

'All right, sir, all right,' he cried. 'The ambulances are over this way.'

'See here,' I replied a bit peevishly, 'we did get bounced around a little but you people are overdoing this, we can make it under our own steam.'

"And about that time newsboys arrived carrying still warm newspapers, and crying 'extra! extra! All about a wreck on a Clover Leaf!'

"So it is just as well that we didn't take the ambulances because the survivors of the Clover Leaf wreck arrived in a few minutes."

We owe much to the forward pass. That gave the ball the air. Punters were developed. Steamroller tactics were ruled out in favor of speed. The mass plays—the V's, the wedges, the guards-back—were killing the game as well as the players. The forward pass scattered the mob. With the forward pass speed supplanted bull strength. Lighter, faster men succeeded the beefy giants whose crushing weight maimed or killed opponents.

In '92 the names of the positions were changed from center rush and rushers to center, guards, tackles, and ends. These names have been retained until the modern football era.

Bucknell football teams have attained much prominence of late by their defeat of Penn State, our traditional rival, for two successive years. However, in 1898, under the captaincy of E. W. Cober, a Bucknell eleven sank the Navy, conquered State, and subdued Lafayette. In '99 the Bucknell men continued their winning ways by defeating Lafayette for the second consecutive year.

The Building of Tustin Gymnasium

According to the '89 L'Agenda, a gymnasium was defined as, "A thing hoped for," but within a few months the thing hoped for was a realization. Regular drills and gymnastics were required three times a week during the fall term. This rule has been altered considerably in past years. Freshmen and sophomores are required to take drills three times a week. Upper-classmen are exempt from physical education, but not because they don't need it.

Expansion of Physical Education

The physical education department under the direction of John Plant, has introduced soccer, boxing, and interfraternity athletics. Cross-country runs are now being talked of, and it is possible that this field of sports will be developed considerably in the next few years. Bucknell's physical education department is becoming bigger and better each year.

Bucknell athletes took to the cinderpath about 1890. Immediately they began to garner laurels for the institution. Field meets were an annual occurrence at Bucknell. Dr. William C. Bartol was a timekeeper at Bucknell's annual field day for four consecutive years, '92, '93, '94, and '95. Prof. T. F. Hamblin was a judge at the meets in '94, '95, and '96. Professor N. F. Davis also acted as a judge in '96. The 1928 faculty includes many "professor athletes," who wore the orange and blue in collegiate competition. One of them is Dr. Lewis E. Theiss. In 1901 his companions elected him captain of the track team. During his last year in college he set a pole vault record that was not equalled for 20 years. On June 4, 1902, in a dual meet with Lafayette, he cleared the bar at 11 feet. Dr. Theiss also held the indoor pole vault record, and at one time the indoor high jump record.

Other faculty members who took some part in track athletes were Professor N. F. Davis, Leo I. Rockwell, and C. A. Lindemann. Professor Davis broke the record for the hammer throw on June 2, 1894, by hurling the spheriod 73 feet and 7 inches. Prof. Rockwell represented the class of 1905 in a class meet in the mile run. Prof. Lindemann was a high jumper on the class team of '98.

Other students who acquired fame on Bucknell track teams were Charles J. Pearse, '01, who holds the B. U. records for the dashes; Charles S. Marsh, '05, who raced the half mile in two minutes and two seconds; Cameron A. Butt, '10, mile and two mile runner; Edward P. Dufton, '12, low hurdles; Joseph E. Glaspey, '03, who set the high hurdle record at 27 seconds. The records of the above men have not been surpassed by B. U. students since the days they were established. Others who were track stars are the late Lieut. Col. W. W. Fetzer, Chas. E. Goodall, Bromley Smith, and E. W. Cober.

Bucknell has sent many winning relay teams to Franklin Field, Phila. In the early years of this century the team that the institution sent to intercollegiates repeatedly took first place.

Students Interested In Tennis

Tennis was introduced about 1890. Many students participated in tennis tournaments in the early nineties. Tennis clubs were formed. Dr. William C. Bartol was a tennis player as well as a baseball star. Dr. Bartol was an active member in three various clubs from 1887 to 1895. He at first belonged to the Pioneer Club, but later joined the Championship and Wenoah Clubs.

In 1892 the best racqueteers in the university were selected to participate in intercollegiate competition. On June 4, 1892, Bucknell represented by Messrs. Allen, Wyant, and Horter won her first intercollegiate tennis tournament. Dr. Floyd George Ballentine was a member of the Songwood Club in '96. At present he is coach of Bucknell's tennis team. Dr. Ballentine has given Bucknell many successful tennis teams while acting as coach.

Mathewson and Theiss

Basketball was played by B. U. students in the fall of '95. D. H. Elliot captained the first team. In '97 Bucknell lost every basketball contest, including two to State. But in '98 and '99 Bucknell conquered State, thereby wiping out the defeat of the former year. "Christy" Mathewson, the National League's leading pitcher, played on the same team with Dr. Lewis E. Theiss. Both were contenders for the center position. Mathewson was a football, baseball, and basketball star of the first order. In the year 1900 Mathewson and Theiss were members of a great basketball team. The record for the year showed 12 victories and one defeat. In 1903 Bucknell was the proud possessor of an undefeated team.

Latest Developments in Athletics

The physical education department has introduced soccer and boxing in the past few years. However, neither of these has developed to its fullest possibility. Boxing proved successful in 1927, when it was taken up on an intercollegiate scale. Soccer is confined to inter-fraternity competition and daily gym classes. Nevertheless, it is probable that a varsity soccer team will be formed soon. Athletics at Bucknell will continue to grow as long as professional coaches are employed to instruct eager students. Doubtless boxing and soccer will develop into major sports, as did baseball, basketball, football, track, and tennis. For the growth of the institution provides more men all the time who are eager to win places on varsity teams.

—

For the first time in the history of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania, the receipts for all sports last year passed the million dollar mark, of which amount the football receipts reached the highest point, being $936,836.56.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

(Continued from page 3)

attack of the grippe. "Tug" Ferguson, '29, and Helen Y. Jones, '31, are in the infirmary with bad colds.

The chapter is looking forward to the annual formal dance which will be held in Tustin Gym on January 12.

SIGMA TAU DELTA

Sigma Tau Delta announces the initiation of thirteen people on November 14, 1928. The following members of the faculty and student body accepted bids. Faculty: Charles Willard Smith, Sixth degree; Graduate Students, Fourth degree: Annetta Stainton, and J. Millard Shipman; Students, Third degree: Esther Girton, Elizabeth Frederick, Margaret Wallace, Jean Wood, Eloise Bailey; Second degree: Dorothy Davies, and Mary Laning; First degree: Lily Blanch Tompkins, and John Burlew.

At the regular monthly meeting held on December 12, a true Christmas spirit prevailed. A large open fire, candle-light, and wreathes lent the desired Chris Kringle atmosphere. The program consisted for the most part of book reports on recent novels; and there were also original manuscripts on other subjects presented.

LEARN THE PIANO IN TEN LESSONS

TENOR-BANJO OR MANDOLIN IN FIVE LESSONS

Without nerve-racking, heart-breaking scales and exercises. You are taught to play by note in regular professional chord style. In your very first lesson you will be able to play a popular number by note.

SEND FOR IT ON APPROVAL

The "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is the title of this method. Eight years were required to perfect this great work. The entire course with the necessary examination sheets, is bound in one volume. The first lesson is unsealed which the student may examine and be his own "JUDGE and JURY." The later part of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is sealed.

Upon the student returning any copy of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" with the seal un-broken, we will refund in full all money paid.

This amazing Self-Instructor will be sent anywhere. You do not need to send any money. When you receive this new method of teaching music deposit with the Postman the sum of ten dollars. If you are not entirely satisfied, the money paid will be returned in full, upon written request. The Publishers are anxious to place this "Self-Instructor" in the hands of music lovers all over the country, and are in a position to make an attractive proposition to agents. Send for your copy today. Address The "Hallmark Self-Instructor" Station G, Post Office Box 111, New York, N. Y.

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President.
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

What Have You to Sell Today?
--a stove, a typewriter, a house?
Try the Classified Columns!

If you have lost a pet, need tutoring or have handiwork---a classified ad will convey your message.

Phone Lewisburg 351.

The Bucknellian

McEligot Writes Historical Data On Dr. Bartol

Popular Sports Writer Compiles Interesting Facts Regarding Professor's Birthday

Dr. William C. Bartol, '72, who was graduated from Bucknell almost sixty years ago, has served Bucknell longer than any other professor at the Lewisburg institution. According to Who's Who in America, Dr. Bartol was born in 1847, before even the time of the gold rush. He has seen more than half of the total history of the United States in the making. It is interesting to note what was occurring around the time of Dr. Bartol's birth.

"Mac" McEligot has furnished us with some interesting information which indicates that Professor Bartol lived in the time of many famous men whom we now consider almost ancient.

According to McEligot the following incidents and facts are presented.

When Dr. Bartol was born in 1847:

Mark Twain was only 12 years old.

Lafayette had been dead only thirteen years.

Grant, the great Civil War general, was just beginning his military career.

Robert E. Lee was only a colonel in the U. S. Army.

Bismarck was only 32, his entire career lieing ahead of him.

Wilson, Roosevelt, Taft, Harding, and Coolidge had not yet been born.

James Knox Polk was the president of the United States.

Winfield Scott was in charge of the U. S. Army.

The Mexican War was on.

Clay, Calhoun, and Webster were holding sway in Congress.

The Abolitionist party had just been founded.

Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, the last surviving signer of the Declaration of Independence had been dead only 15 years.

The immortal Lincoln was only 38.

Tennyson, Macalay, and Browning were just beginning their literary careers.

John Quincy Adams, sixth president of the United States, was still living.

Andrew Jackson, seventh president of the United States, had been dead only two years.

The telegraph, invented by Morse, was only three years old.

The telephone and the Atlantic cable were yet unknown.

McCormick's reaper was unthought of.

Foch, Pershing, and Joffre, World War generals, were not born.

George Bancroft, the great American author, was writing deathless history.

Hawthorne, Longfellow, Lowell, Whittier and Holmes were just starting their long literary careers.

William McKinley was only four years old.

Thomas Edison was just an infant.

Wellington, conqueror of Napoleon at the battle of Waterloo in 1815, was still alive and hale and hearty.

Horace Mann was starting his educational pursuits.

Texas had been a state only two years.

Slavery was the main political problem of the day.

Jefferson Davis and Alexander Hamilton Stephens, leaders of the Confederacy during the Civil War, were still in obscurity.

Grover Cleveland was only ten years old.

David Farragut had yet to win fame as a sea-fighter.

Carl Schurtz was still in Germany attending the University of Bonn.

Napoleon had been dead only 27 years.

Gladstone had not yet become famous in English politics.

John Brown's raid was 12 years away.

Horace Greely was struggling to establish a suitable newspaper.

Martin Van Buren was still living, leading a retired peaceful life.

Andrew Johnson, who succeeded Lincoln as president in 1865, was still in the tailor business in Tennessee.

John Tyler, eleventh president of the U. S., was still alive and active.

John Marshall, first United States Supreme Court justice, had been dead only 12 years.

Aaron Burr, the culprit who shot Hamilton, had been laid to rest only 11 years before.

Louis Agissiz had his entire scientific career ahead of him.

Frances Scott Key, author of the Star Spangled Banner, had been dead 4 years.

The famous Lincoln-Douglas debates were lying in the unseen future.

The Compromise of 1850 was yet to be negotiated.

James Fenimore Cooper, author of "The Spy," was still writing novels.

Wm. Cullen Bryant was only 53, and still composing choice poetry.

Benjamin Harrison was only 14 years old.

James Garfield was only 16 years old.

Chester Alan Arthur was only 17 years old.

Bucknell was one year old.

It is also interesting to note that Doctor Bartel graduated from Bucknell in the same year in which Ulysses S. Grant was re-elected president of the United States. Grant served two terms from 1869 to 1877. However he was chosen as president again in the election of 1872. Doctor Bartel graduated from Bucknell in the same year in which Samuel Finley Breeze Morse died (1872). Morse invented the telegraph way back in 1844.

Mrs. Emma Colestock Died Wed., January 9

Mrs. Emma Kunkle Colestock, wife of Professor Henry T. Colestock, head of the Department of History at Bucknell, died early Wednesday afternoon, January 9, in the Geisinger Hospital at Danville, following a paralytic stroke. Mrs. Colestock was taken ill at a recent meeting of the Campus Club, in the new dormitory for women, but seemingly recovered from that attack. A later illness led to her removal to the Geisinger Hospital, in Danville, where she rapidly grew worse, the end coming shortly after noon on Wednesday.

Mrs. Colestock was the daughter of a physician. She herself became a trained nurse, as did her sister, Mrs. L. M. Castner, of Williamsport. She also is a graduate of the Bucknell Institute, with the class of 1896. She was married to Professor Colestock, of the College class of 1896, soon after he finished his training for the ministry. Mrs. Colestock was always much interested in church and civic work, and her loss will be keenly felt in the community.

She is mourned by her husband, Dr. Colestock, a daughter, Mary, now a student at Antioch College, and three sons, William, Edward, and Richard. Two brothers and a sister also survive her.

Bucknell Graduate Patents Invention

Arthur Gould Zimmerman, who was graduated in 1924 with the degree B. S. in Electrical Engineering, and who has been employed by the General Electric Company since his graduation in the acoustical research department, has recently obtained a patent on a sound producer. The following story about it is taken from the Schenectady Union-Star:

Arthur G. Zimmerman, of Schenectady, N. Y., has been granted a patent on a sound producer. Mr. Zimmerman is a former resident of West Pittston, a graduate of West Pittston High School and Bucknell University and has been in the employ of the General Electric Company since his graduation, as an electrical engineer in the acoustical research department.

The following account was published in the Schenectady Union-Star, "From Washington, D. C., patents have been granted to nine Schenectady men, it was announced by the United States Patent Office recently. Among the inventions are seven dealing with electrical devices and sound-producing mechanism. The inventors include: Arthur G. Zimmerman, Elmer E. Bliss, William S. B. Hamilton, Charles A. Kelsey, Ernest F. W. Alexanderson, Albert H. Mittag, Irving Langmuir, Campbell MacMillan and Harry G. Reist."

The sound producer is Zimmerman's work. It consists of a fibrous conical diaphragm with a series of spaced corrugations about its circumference. These are radically spaced from one another along the conical surface of the diaphragm.

Six distinctive features were allowed in this patent, the application from which was filed January 29, 1927.

This invention is being used in all cone speakers put on the market by the Radio Corporation.

Zimmerman is a Kappa Delta Rho and was graduated from Bucknell in June, 1924.

December 25th of the same year he was married in Worcester, Mass., to Miss Martha Marion Perry, of Lewisburg. They have one daughter, Janet Perry Zimmerman, born in Schenectady, October 27, 1926.

What the Colleges Are Doing

When the will of Otto M. Eidlitz, New York building contractor was filed for probate, it was learned that he had willed $25,000 to Cornell, his alma mater; $5,000 to the Cornell chapter of Delta Upsilon; $5,000 to the New York D. U. club, and $2,000 to chapters of his fraternity at the University of Pennsylvania, Columbia University, Lehigh University, Tufts College, and Lafayette.

Resourceful students at the University of Utah are getting around and edict against smoking on the campus by smoking on stilts. Twelve inches are considered to be a legitimate distance off the campus.

—Exchange.

Something new in the way of an experiment is being tried at M. I. T. where a course in humanics is being offered to a class of 150 upperclassmen. This course deals with the relationships between employer and employee and is intended to aid the newcomers in the fields of commerce and industry.—The Targum.

When a professor in an English course at Haverford College cut his class, the half dozen students in the class remained in the room and called upon one of their fellow-students, a football and baseball star, to give the lecture, which he did. Moreover, they say the class was one of the most orderly of the year!

Students at Cornell University have affected a compromise with the manager of the local theatre. The students have promised to deport themselves quietly on week days and the threatre management has agreed to countenance all forms of disapprobation or even applause at the second show every Saturday.

Vachel Lindsay, famed poet, gave a reading of his own poems recently to an audience composed mainly of students from the New Jersey College for Women and Rutgers University. Mr. Lindsay read several of his poems, but recited and chanted most of them to his own tunes.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

Now that the cold winds are tearing through the trees on the Hill, we are hoping that the co-eds will guide their huskies to the basketball and boxing exhibitions with as much zeal as they demonstrated last year.

—B—

When the Philadelphia papers gave us the news that our friend, Mr. Ulhard Haugartner, will not be with us next year, we were sorry. However, we welcome his successor, Mr. Reed, '23, back to our campus as line coach and we wish "Hank" the best of luck.

—B—

The freshmen were the first to revive the skating spirit this year and their enthusiasm attracted many of us to Buffalo Creek.

—B—

Our beloved "Prexy" is enjoying the well earned pleasure of a trip to the western coast. We are wondering just how Bucknell will do without him.

—B—

The Junior Prom, classic dance of the year, after a brief postponement, will soon be here. We know that this year's event will earn a place among the happy memories of "the things that our class did.

—B—

Our talented center, "Ted" Mitchell, honored us by his fine exhibition of playing in the East-West football game which brought victory to the East in spectacular fashion.

—B—

Since the opening of the beautiful new dining hall for the women of our student body, we have been appreciative of the fact that eight additional men are enjoying the privilege of earning their board by toting trays within the confines of that fine building.

Solomn Grundy,
Debated on Monday,
Studied on Tuesday,
Dated on Wednesday,
Loafed on Thursday,
Danced on Friday,
Fussed on Saturday,
Was worn out on Sunday,
And that is the end of Solomon Grundy.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

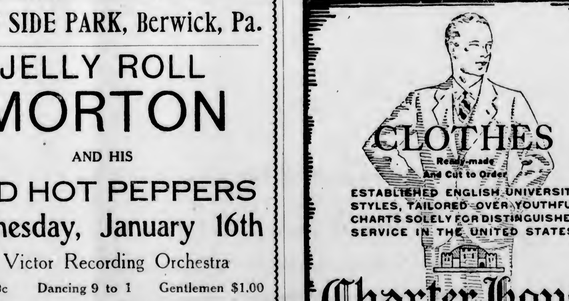
When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

SEE OUR LINE OF
WINTER SPORTS EQUIPMENT
Spalding Skate and Shoe Combinations
Hockey Sticks and Pucks
North Land Skis
Basket Balls
Basket Ball Uniforms
Kodaks and Films
Leather Coats for both sexes at such MATERIAL CUT in PRICES as to Warrant Prompt Purchases.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
NOW SHOWING
New Spring Dresses
at $10.00 and $15.00 each
in the new Spring colors.
ANNUAL JANUARY WHITE SALE
Starts Saturday, January 19th.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

WEST SIDE PARK, Berwick, Pa.
JELLY ROLL
MORTON
AND HIS
RED HOT PEPPERS
Wednesday, January 16th
A Victor Recording Orchestra
Ladies 50c Dancing 9 to 1 Gentlemen $1.00



CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

TWENTY YEARS-- "On The Quadrangle"

The original College Inn was established on its present site approximately twenty years ago. It had spent two years of its infancy as Bucknell's first canteen of consequence. That offspring came from this little venture, for Bucknell has now become a habitat of small shopkeepers, an institution of Christian education and peanut, pop, and pimp-stick peddlers. The College Inn has outgrown its swaddling clothes of a small wooden shack and has tried to keep pace in our growth and raiment with a bigger and better Bucknell. Your patronage---we thank you---has made it, and your future support will determine its fate.

Payne, '09.

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC. LEWISBURG, Pa.
SCHUYLKILL NEW L. H. S. GYM. TONIGHT 8 P. M.

The Bucknellian
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE ON EDITORAL PAGE OF THIS ISSUE

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 17, 1929. NUMBER 15

Ship On Which "Prexy" Sailed Runs On Reef

Jersey School Bestows Honor On B. U. Dean

Dormitory at Peddie Institute Is Named "Rivenburg Hall" In Honor of Educator

In honor of Dean R. H. Rivenburg, who for over two decades prior to his coming to Bucknell held high positions in Peddie Institute at Hightstown, N. J., Peddie authorities have recently applied the name "Rivenburg Hall" to one of the school's dormitories.

The building that is now "Rivenburg Hall" was the home of Dean Rivenburg while he was teaching at Peddie. It has been enlarged and renovated to accommodate the students of the rapidly growing school.

Dean Rivenburg accepted an instructorship at Peddie after he had received his B. A. degree at Bucknell in 1897. His untiring efforts brought him the position of head of the Department of Mathematics, which he held for 24 years. During the 11 years prior to his coming to Bucknell, the dean was Assistant Head Master of the New Jersey "prep" school that ranks so high in scholarship and athletics.

While at Peddie, Dean Rivenburg wrote "A Review of Algebra." He was president of the New Jersey Association of Teachers of Mathematics, and president of the Hightstown Board of Education.

When Dean Rivenburg left Peddie to accept the position of Dean of Bucknell, the Hightstown Gazette made the following statement in an editorial. "As Assistant Head at Peddie, Mr. Rivenburg has played an influential part in the development of the local school until, largely through his efforts, Peddie ranks second to none in the field of private secondary school education."

Dr. Rice Uses Slides In Talk on Eyesight

The vital need of proper care of the child's eyes was stressed by Professor John W. Rice in his illustrated lecture on "Hearing and Sight" at the meeting of the Biological Society in B6, last night.

The subjective impressions of a person with faulty eyesight, were illustrated by a collection of lantern slides produced by the National Eyesight Conservation Council of America. The pictures showed the normal impingement of light rays on the retina of the eye, and the differences caused by the derangement of the focus in conditions of far and near-sightedness and astigmatism. The slides also illustrated the four ways these errors of sight show up on the opticians chart.

A graphic representation of sound waves acting on the various parts of the auditory mechanism was given by comparing the ear to a telephone. The film showed how these sound waves finally arouse end-organs resulting in the production of a nervous impulse which travel over the nervous system, and are interpreted as sound. This film was distributed by the Education department of the Bray Productions Company of New York City.

"Phil" Neisser, '32, Leads C. E. Program on "Service"

With more than 60 members present, and a few others to assist him in the program, "Phil" Neisser, '32, last Sunday evening led the Baptist C. E. through one of the finest meetings that has been held this year. Those in attendance could not help but realize most vividly what was their "reasonable service," for the short talks from H. Robb, '31, Margaret Brakeman, '32, and Margaret Zimmerman, '31, and the concluding talk by "Phil" were revealing in their character and inspirational in their theme.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Dr. Fowle Forsees Relief From Grippe

Considerable relief from the "grippe wave" that has been prevalent on the Bucknell campus since January 2 is shown by figures from infirmary records given to the Bucknellian yesterday. During the past week the men's and women's infirmaries have taken care of twenty cases of grippe compared with thirty-four cases treated in the previous week.

These statistics, showing that la grippe is on the wane here, are regarded by Dr. L. P. Fowle, University physician, as foretelling the course that the disease may be expected to follow in the next few weeks.

Practically all the professors who were out last week have resumed their classes. Professors B. W. Griffith and C. R. Johnson are still on the sick list.

The only event that has been postponed because of the wide-spread number of colds is the Junior Prom. Basketball games and chapel services proceeded as usual.

The Ziegler Memorial Infirmary reported thirteen of this week's total of cases with the women's infirmary accounting for the other seven.

"MENTAL HYGIENE" 1ST OF DR. PIKE'S "PSYCH" LECTURES

Dr. H. B. Pike, of the Danville State Hospital, opened a series of lectures on "Mental Hygiene" on Thursday afternoon, January 10, by addressing a large gathering of students in the Biology lecture room. This was the first of six lectures, which will be given at 4 p. m. every Thursday.

Dr. Pike traced the history of mental medicine through pages stained with mystery, cruelty, and bloodshed, down the ages to the twentieth century.

Biblical references paint a vivid picture of early treatment of the insane. Scourging was considered to have efficacy in driving out the "evil spirit."

The Greeks were the first to prescribe therapeutic methods in the care of the insane. Hippocrates, more than four centuries before Christ saw insanity as a disease.

But these advances were overthrown, Dr. Pike explained, during the thirteen centuries of ignorance and supposition that followed the fall of the Roman empire. Parnell, in the sixteenth century is credited with starting great reform movements. At the middle of the eighteenth century the first ward for mental defectives was opened in the Pennsylvania Hospital at Philadelphia.

The first insane asylum in America was established in 1783 at Williamsburg, Va. The Danville hospital was among the first nineteen in America, and was the first institution of its kind in Pennsylvania.

Big 4 Hears Lecture By Ohio Authority

"Material Handling" was the subject of an illustrated lecture presented by Mr. Booker of the Cleveland Electric Tramrail Company, at the meeting of the Big 4 Engineering Society, Wednesday evening, January 9, in the auditorium of the Engineering building.

Mr. Booker explained the system of loading by overhead cranes, and used slides to illustrate types of installation in different plants, such as textile mills, enamel works, bakery, and pottery plants, and paper mills.

The two principal factors in loading, the size of the individual load and the rapidity of handling, were treated by Mr. Booker. He cited the handling of cotton, when 120 bales are loaded in one minute.

After the lecture, the engineers gathered in the club room and enjoyed a menu of pretzels and eskimo pies.

Singing Contest Will Take Place Thurs. March 14

Enthusiasm is Keen for Contest Among Sororities; Winners Will Get Silver Cup

Preparations for the song contest which is being sponsored by the Pan-Hellenic Association, to be held on March 14, are well under way. Each sorority will be represented in this contest. The program will consist of three numbers given by each group: (a) a Bucknell song, (b) a sorority song; (c) the alma mater. The fraternities have become interested in this contest, and several will be represented, also.

It is interesting to note the advance of music at Bucknell, and the prominent place which it is beginning to take in the form of these contests. The first contest was held in 1926. However the interest shown was not great, and last year it was decided that no contest would be held. But the enthusiasm expressed this year is such that the committee in charge of the contest is determined to make this one so great a success that the song contest will become an established tradition. The interest shown by the sororities is keen, and many have arranged a daily schedule of practice.

The contest committee will soon meet in order to decide upon the judges and the reward, which will probably be in the form of a silver cup.

Dean Talks to Class About Appreciation

"Happiness depends on what you can appreciate," said Dean Rivenburg in his inspiring talk to the class in Secondary Education, Monday morning, January 14. The subject of his address was "The Lesson in Appreciation."

There are three kinds of people in the world of art, according to the speaker—creators, interpreters, and listeners. The great majority of people are listeners, or consumers of art. The four types of appreciation which are most common are the intellectual, or the scholastic; the aesthetic, or that having to do with taste; the humorous; and the ethical, or that having to do with the appreciation of men and women. One's type of appreciation determines his associations. The three levels of appreciation are the levels of sense, of understanding, and of the ideal, the last of which is the highest level to which one's appreciation can attain.

Develop Imagination

"Appreciation may mean three things," said Dean Rivenburg. "It may mean enjoyment without understanding, understanding without enjoyment, or enjoyment and understanding. In regard to the lesson in appreciation, the teacher's main purpose should be to teach her pupils how to enjoy the beautiful and how to appreciate the finer things in life. We need to develop imagination in pupils. The teacher should remember two things—that details should not be over-emphasized, and that the first impression is always the most lasting and therefore of

(Continued on last page.)

CLUB HEARS H. WARFEL SPEAK ON PA. AUTHORS

"Pennsylvania Authors" was the subject of a speech given by assistant Professor H. R. Warfel, who was the main speaker at a meeting of the Campus Club held January 15 in the playroom of the new dormitory.

Mrs. Sprague, the vice president of the club, conducted the meeting in the absence of the president. Mrs. Emory W. Hunt. A short business meeting was held first, at the close of which a tribute was read in memory of Mrs. H. T. Colestock, and recorded in the minutes. The next meeting will be held February 19.

Pi Delts Set Feb. 8 As Date For Dance

The annual Pi Delta Epsilon dance will be held in the Tustin Gym on the evening of February eighth it was announced here this week by William "Turk" Jones, president of the Bucknell chapter.

The Pi Delta Epsilon fraternity is an honorary journalistic fraternity founded at Syracuse University many years ago. Every year the members of the Bucknell chapter stage an annual Pi Delta Epsilon dance. This is one of the leading social functions of the year. "Turk" Jones also announced that he had secured the Blue Band to play at the dance that night.

Last year the Pi Delt dance was a huge success, and this winter greater success is foreseen. "Gil" Moyer recently returned from Georgia where he attended the Pi Delta Epsilon national convention held at Georgia Tech.

The 1929 cast of Pi Delta Epsilon includes three new members who were recently initiated into active membership. The three include William Emmitt, Clarence Cranford, and J. Warren McEligot.

KEMP'S CONDITION DESCRIBED HOPEFUL ALTHO DANGEROUS

Alton R. Kemp, '32, who has been in a serious condition at the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary following a sudden attack of renal calculus, or kidney stones, early Sunday morning, was transferred Tuesday evening to the Geisinger Hospital at Danville for observation. Kemp's condition is described as "dangerous but hopeful."

According to Mr. Kemp's own story, he had retired Saturday night feeling in his usual health. Sometime early in the cold morning of Sunday, he awoke to find himself sitting on the steps leading to Commencement Hall in Main College. He managed to get back to his room, where, attracted by moaning noises, a fellow student found him. Dr. L. P. Fowle was summoned and Kemp was taken immediately to the Ziegler Infirmary.

Bruises on Mr. Kemp's body seem to indicate that he had stumbled deliriously about the campus for some time before he awoke in Old Main. He is suffering also from exposure.

For a time his condition was most grave, and his father was summoned from the family home in Livonia, N. Y., arriving in a remarkably short time. Under the care of a special nurse young Kemp improved slightly and was able to be taken to Danville on Tuesday.

Education Library Now Has 200 Books

The Education Library which is situated in the office of Dr. Frank Davis, head of the Education Department, affords an opportunity for students to obtain the most recent books issued along educational lines.

Most of these books have been donated by well-known publishing houses. There are at present about 200 volumes in the library, all of which concern problems, methods, and text-books of education. There is room for several hundred more volumes.

Students of education are taking advantage of the opportunity given to them by this library, and are making extensive use of it in the nature of collecting and criticizing text-books used in the elementary class-room.

There are many students who, unaware that the library exists, would be very grateful to be able to use the most recent and modern educational books. To these students especially, attention is called to the Education Library in the Education office, West Wing.

Pres. and Mrs. Hunt Uninjured As Ocean Liner Grounds Itself At Entrance To Panama Canal

Impact When Vessel Strikes Hurls Captain Into Sea; Swims 400 Yards to Safety; Remainder of Trip Must Be Completed With Another Boat in Few Days

The liner President Adams on which President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt sailed from New York City, January 3 for Los Angeles, California, grounded on a reef, outside the breakwater at the Atlantic entrance of the Panama Canal, on Friday morning, January 11. A cablegram received by Miss Mary Hunt states that both President and Mrs. Hunt were uninjured and are staying with the other passengers at the Hotel Washington at Colon, where they were taken ashore shortly after the accident.

The liner was badly damaged and will not be able to continue the trip. Meanwhile the passengers are wondering what to do since space aboard other steamships on the same line due at the Canal is taken, and they may stay only six or seven days at the hotel where they are lodged, reservations being taken after that date.

The New York Times reports the accident as follows:

The Dollar liner President Adams grounded on a reef near Toro Point, outside the breakwater at the Atlantic entrance of the Panama Canal, throwing the vessel's master, W. C. Morris, overboard. He was not injured nor were other members of the crew or passengers.

Captain Morris had gone to the rail to take soundings when the ship struck. The impact hurled him into the sea. He swam 400 yards to the breakwater, then walked a third of a mile along the breakwater to Fort Sherman, where he telephoned to the office of the port captain of Cristobal that his ship was aground and needed immediate assistance.

In the meantime, while Captain Morris was returning to his ship in an army launch, the grounding was reported direct from the vessel by wireless.

The President Adams sailed from New York, January 3, on a regular voyage around the world, via the Panama Canal. She had 90 passengers, 141 in the crew and 3,561 tons of cargo aboard.

The reason for the grounding is undetermined, but apparently it took place in darkness, and the Toro Point light seems to have been mistaken for the breakwater light at the entrance to the harbor.

Panama Canal and United States Navy tugs rushed to the vessel's assistance, but four of them were unable to pull off the ship, which is fast to a coral reef amidship, with twenty-nine feet of water astern and only fifteen forward. The tide is only twenty-two inches at maximum and will be of little assistance. Due to a bulge in the bottom, displacing the boilers and breaking the fuel-oil feed pipes, the ship is unable to use its own power. The President Adams apparently is resting easily, with four tugs standing by, holding her position against the seas and trade winds.

The Public Ledger adds:

Divers connected with the Panama Canal organization have investigated the damages received by the Dollar liner President Adams when it grounded Friday near the Canal entrance.

While their report is not yet to be obtained, it is stated the liner was badly damaged, remaining afloat only because of empty fuel tanks which counteract the cargo weight.

The vessel, berthed at Cristobal, shows a pronounced list to port and temporary repairs probably will have to be made before it can be taken to the Balboa drydock.

Oratorical Contest Will Be Held Again

The National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution, which has been conducted for the past four years by the Better American Federation of California, will be continued this year, according to a recent announcement.

Bucknell's representative, Lee Francis Lavelle, '28, won fourth place in the contest last year, after gaining first place in the regional finals, held here last spring.

The prizes will be the same as in previous years, namely $5,000 in cash, divided among the seven National finalists in the following amounts: first place, $1500; second, $1,000; third, $750; fourth, $550; fifth, $450; sixth, $400, and seventh, $350. The National finals will be held in Los Angeles on June 20.

Any bona fide undergraduate student in any university or college in the United States is eligible. The orations, which must not require more than ten minutes for delivery, must be on one of the following subjects: The Constitution, Washington and the Constitution, Hamilton and the Constitution, Jefferson and the Constitution, Marshall and the Constitution, Franklin and the Constitution, Madison and the Constitution, Webster and the Constitution, and Lincoln and the Constitution.

The nation is divided into seven regions for the purpose of the contest. The colleges in each region compete among themselves, generally by States, to determine the finalists for each region. The regional finalists compete late in May to determine the one speaker from each region who is to have a place in the National finals. A place in the National finals automatically carries with it an award ranging from $350

(Continued on last page.)

Co-eds Will Again Carry Out Tradition

A tradition almost as old as Bucknell itself will once more be carried out on Saturday evening, January 16, 1929, in the living room of the new dormitory. For a long time it has been the custom each year for the college women to give a formal reception to the faculty members and wives. This is always a big event, and is the only night in the college calendar which is absolutely freed of all other engagements, in order that everyone may be present.

Last year it took the form of a house-warming, in the new dormitory. This time it is hoped that even less of a stilted atmosphere will prevail, as the girls want it to be a sort of "at home" in every sense of the word.

An interesting program will be given, and the sophomores have been asked to serve the refreshments. Extensive arrangements are being made by the committees, appointed by Helen Steinhilber, to make the affair a success. Following are the chairmen: entertainment, Betty" McHose, '29; decoration, Frances Stringer, '30; refreshment, Josephine Schilling, '29; invitation, Louise Grieff, '29; and budget, Blanche Thomas, '30.

English Fraternity Meets At Home of Prof. Robbins

The regular meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, was held at the home of Dr. H. W. Robbins, Wednesday, January 9, 1929.

Several members submitted informal essays, and a general discussion of expressionism followed the the reading of the contributions. The topic for next month's meeting was announced by the chairman of the program committee as Disillusionment.

Jeanne Kreig, '32, spent last week-end at her home in Lewistown.

* * * *

Marian Ash, '32, due to illness, is spending a few days at her home.

* * * *

"Kitty" Boyer, '29, spent the week-end of January 11, at her home in Reading.

* * * *

Mrs. "Betty" Wagner Shimp visited her sister "Kitty" Wagner, '29, over the last week-end.

* * * *

Professor Paul G. Stolz entertained his class in appreciation of music with lantern slides last week.

* * * *

Eunice Swan, '32, has been confined to the women's infirmary with the "flu," during recent days.

* * * *

Never mind Frosh—Bucknell didn't close during the 1918 epidemic so don't hope that it will close this time.

* * * *

Clyde P. Bailey, '29, returned to college Sunday morning after having recovered from the "flu" at his home in Brackville, Pa.

* * * *

A bulletin board has been put up in the front hall of Harris Hall. That ought to relieve some of the congestion on the board in Larison Hall.

* * * *

As usual, the freshmen girls are showing the most interest in keeping up their health records in the health contest now on at the "Sem."

* * * *

When the orchestra played, "Come Bucknell Warriors" at the dance Friday night, a co-ed wondered "why they were playing patriotic music."

* * * *

Miss Marion B. McKeehan was the guest of Lois Baker for the recent week-end. "Mac," a former student at Bucknell, enjoyed being with her old friends again.

* * * *

The basketball team needs our support just as much as the football team did. We ought to remember it is Bucknell's team and we are Bucknell's students.

* * * *

"Kay" and "Ellie" Tomb, of Pelham Manor, N. Y., returned to school on Sunday after having been confined to their home since Christmas with the "flu."

* * * *

William Waldner, '31, well known for his practical jokes, was himself the victim of a joke recently. Someone sent a present to a certain "Semite" and signed "Bill's" name as the sender.

* * * *

Miss Elva Crist, of Johnstown, a former student at Bucknell, spent a recent week-end here as the guest of Lillian McClure. Miss Crist is now attending the Johnstown branch of the University of Pittsburgh.

* * * *

We heard of one political science class which was so anxious to have class that they all went back to the room when the professor arrived fifteen minutes late.

* * * *

Cleon Boston, '31, the "fighting parson" is still on the heels of "Pottsville" Jones for the heavyweight boxing crown of the school. Cleon finds it pretty tough going as old "Potts" is in rare form and many times has Cleon kissed the dear old canvas.

* * * *

A group of students have taken to spending their Saturday evenings at the home of Dr. R. M. West discussing and arguing questions of the Bible rather than attend the Orpheum or go to Milton, or Sunbury, about the most popular sources of Saturday evening recreation.

* * * *

The first-year political science classes are unfortunate enough to have to meet at 4:45 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday. Professor H. L. Childs has to teach all the political science for the remainder of the semester, while Prof. M. F. Nimkoff substitutes for Prof. C. R. Johnson, who is ill.

* * * *

These enterprising young co-eds who seem to be majoring in gym—having left all their required "physical ed" to the last semester of their last year—are barely navigating up and down the Hill again. Before Christmas they got rather used to these strenuous activities but now, after such a long rest, they're as stiff as ever.

Eloise Bailey, '29, spent last week-end at her home in Williamsport.

* * * *

Gladys Haase, '32, was a patient in the women's infirmary at the beginning of the week.

* * * *

Elsie Randall, '30, who has been in the infirmary for several days, is now out and around.

* * * *

Esther Girton, '29, paid a flying visit to her home in Bloomsburg the week-end of January 11.

* * * *

"Fuzzie" Furry, '28, spent the week-end in Shamokin with her former roommate, "Joe" Behney, '28.

* * * *

Mildred Gomer, '30, is the latest inmate of the women's infirmary, although there is no settled list of occupants.

* * * *

"Which dress shall I wear?" is the oft-repeated question at the "Sem" now that the time for the L'Agenda pictures has come.

* * * *

When asked what nationality her parents were, a "Semite" replied that her father was German and her mother came from Reading.

* * * *

A co-ed said that she might as well go home for a few days since all but one of her professors were unable to hold classes on account of illness.

* * * *

Walter Diehl visited friends at Bucknell recently before leaving for New York City, where he has accepted a position in a brokerage firm.

* * * *

Some profs have inconveniently contracted the "flu." Right at this time is when students go to class prepared in order to make a last minute, good impression before the exams.

* * * *

While Bucknell students were listening to rumors that Penn State had been closed because of the "flu," students at Penn State were listening to similar rumors that Bucknell had been closed.

* * * *

There is now a small bulletin board outside the "Sem" post office door. This board is the target of many eyes every day as the "Semites" come to see if their name is on the list of those who have received packages.

* * * *

Have you heard the latest? Joseph Oscar Clark Jr., has bought himself a "movie" camera and is going to become a great producer. Just ask him about the Sigma Chi picture which is to be released soon, wherein there are great South Sea Island scenes staged on Loomis field, and stirring northern flashes taken on the banks of Buffalo Creek.

* * * *

"Jack" Mackie, cousin of "Bill" Mackie, '30, from Port Washington, Long Island, spent a few days on Bucknell's picturesque campus. He had the distinction of trimming Bobby Jones, open golf champ, at his own game a few years ago. "Bill" says his cousin may enter Bucknell next year and he will be a welcome addition to our mythical golf team.

* * * *

Several Bucknell co-eds who are the owners of radios are getting material for their English themes over the air. This must be both a novel and a pleasant way of gaining needed information.

Several "Semites" forgot their combination locks during vacation and as a result have been spending a great deal of time in the post office, trying to recall and work out their proper combination.

* * * *

Did you know that the Phi Psi's have a mascot? It's a Rhode Island red rooster. Do you know how they acquired him? Well, it was this way: One chilly night last year during initiation, it was the task of one of their pledges to bring in a chicken. The consequences if he failed to do so—well—that's all right—no failure there—he got his chicken, which was a lucky break for the rooster who now has the privilege of resting on any Phi Psi's shoulder and of visiting any room in the house.

Princeton students are still ruing the loss of one of their oldest buildings, the John C. Green School of Science, which was destroyed by fire a short time ago. They have one consolation—their new engineering building was ready for occupancy at the time of the disaster.

C. Gilbert Writes Of Airplane Flight

Many of the older students in college will remember well Charlotta Gilbert, who was graduated last June, and all students who were at Bucknell last year will remember her name, because she was the managing editor of the Bucknellian—the first woman managing editor the paper ever had—and she did much to help develop the high standards of makeup and arrangement that characterize this newspaper. Upon leaving college, Miss Gilbert went at once into professional journalism. She served for a time on the staff of her home town paper, in Boyertown, and soon became society editor for the McKeesport Daily News. The following article, reprinted from the December 29 issue of that paper, telling of Miss Gilberts flight across Pennsylvania in an airplane, will be of interest to all Bucknellians. We reprint it verbatim.

Editor's Note—The writer of the following article is the society editor of the Daily News. She left last week to visit her folks in the East and today, in a matter-of-fact manner, laid the following article on the editor's desk. Miss Gilbert said nothing to her co-workers of her intention to fly home and the article was as big a surprise to the office as it is likely to prove to her many friends.)

(By Charlotta Gilbert)

To fly from Bettis Feld across 345 miles of Pennsylvania's mountains and farm lands, across northern New Jersey, out over the Atlantic Ocean to Farmingdale, Long Island, at an average speed of 115 miles an hour, the speed being 138 miles part of the distance, was my rare good fortune last Saturday. Coming, as it did, so soon after the silver anniversary of the first airplane flight by those splendid pioneers, the Wright brothers, it held a special significance for me.

Through the kindness and courtesy of Clifford Ball, air mail contractor at Bettis Field, I was able to make my first flight in a Fairchild "71"—a seven-passenger enclosed - cabin monoplane equipped with a Pratt and Whitney "Wasp" motor. The plane, a trim, beautiful model in olive green with yellow wings, was piloted by Captain J. Nelson Kelly, a war flyer who was an instructor at Kelly Field, Texas, and Scott Field, Illinois, and also served overseas. Both Captain Kelly and his companion, A. K. Rapelje, are connected with the sales department of the Fairchild company.

The big plane was wheeled out of its hangar—the engine received a final once-over—a test flight was made—and then the plane was taxied up to the gas station. A field mechanic climbed atop her nose with the gas line to fill up the tanks, which are carried in the wings and above the cabin. In each wing there is a 60-gallon tank, and the one above the cabin holds 40 gallons, bringing the plane's capacity to 160 gallons.

Piling our bags into the rear seat, although there is a separate compartment for that purpose, we boarded the plane. We were given heavy woolen socks to wear over our shoes, for despite the fact that the plane is engine-warmed extra protection is needed on long flights. At the last minute Mr. Ball handed in several heavy brown paper bags, with the cryptic remark, "In case of air sickness." Happily we had no use for them.

(Continued on page 7)

You will find only the most approved street and dress shoes in John Wards. They have been grouped here especially for college men. For 50 years, John Wards have been the college man's shoe.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at MONTGOMERY & CO. LEWISBURG, PA.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.

University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Quick on the trigger!

Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan SELF-FILLING PEN

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

WAINIES

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
George Wright, '31

Mr. and Mrs. Shourds and Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt of Trenton, N. J., were the guests of Brother Merrill Shourds, '31, last Sunday.

"Jack" White and "Sammy" Hopkins of Phi Gamma Delta were guests at dinner last Sunday.

Brother "Eddie" Hoffman, '29, is at home convalescing.

"Reil" Burns of Wildwood, New Jersey visited Brother "Al" Williams, '30.

Pledge brothers "Johnny" Porter, '32, and "Mike" Stump, '32, are with us again after a short illness.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

The first formal dinner dance of the year will go down in the annals of the house as one of the best ever held. More than 60 couples attended and the music was furnished by Art Zeller's Melodians from Lebanon. The chaperons were Professor and Mrs. William H. Eyster and Professor and Mrs. Frank A. Sprague. The committee in charge included: brothers Benedict, Bollinger, Greet, O'Brien, and McNally.

Pledge brother George Cockill has returned from his home in Steelton, where he has been confined for the past week with the grippe.

Brother "Coz" Seeman, the big pin and jewelry man of Balfour's, combined business with pleasure by spending the week-end at the house.

The Batchelor Club has probably lost one of its most valued members. Miss Frances Stringer has been seen wearing the white cross and the chapter is expecting cigars from brother "Til" Woodring.

Brothers Rudfsill and "Hen" Thomas spent the week-end at the house.

KAPPA SIGMA
R. J. Keenan, '31

We extend our most hearty congratulations to the Kappa Gamma fraternity upon the granting of a charter by the Phi Kappa fraternity.

Guests at the house for Sunday dinner were Professor and Mrs. F. E. Burpee, and the Misses Evelyn Burpee and Marie Condit.

Williams, '29, Erney, '30, and Palmer, '32, have been in the Zeigler Infirmary during the past week.

"Gene" Books, '32, and "Bob" Anderson, '32, journeyed to their respective homes for the week-end.

Howard Kulp, ex-'29, and "Don" Nicholson, '28, are studying law at George Washington University.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Two members of the Western Maryland basketball squad were guests at the house last Saturday. They seemed to enjoy their visit a great deal and we enjoyed having them with us.

Brother Moershbacher spent a few days at the Infirmary last week. Pledge brother Charlie Mills was forced to go home last Saturday. Both were suffering with grippe.

Brothers "Al" Abbott and "Bob" Barton received a warm welcome on their return from the Infirmary and from home respectively.

"Hod" Ellor was also warmly received on his return from the trip with the varsity basketball squad. He was unable to play last Saturday night in the game against Western Maryland because of foot injuries which he received while on the trip.

Brother Claire L. Peppard of Central Office visited the house last Thursday and Friday.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Mr. J. H. Warshaver recently announced the marriage of his daughter, Rozella to brother Clyde G. Learue, '26, on January 1.

Brother Harry McKeehan, ex-'29, and Thomas M. Beaney motored from Wyoming, and spent last week-end at the house. McKeenan expects to resume his studies here next year.

Mrs. J. W. Little and Elva Crist, ex-'31, were guests of Theta U. for dinner last Saturday evening.

Harry Yates and "Lew" McCombs, of Penn State, paid Theta U. a visit last Saturday.

ALPHA CHI MU
J. N. Feaster, '30

Brothers Orel S. Groner and T. G. Lewis, '28, were guests for dinner on Wednesday evening, January 9.

The latest news from Anderson, '31, says that he has contracted pneumonia.

Instructor and Mrs. B. J. Miller, Sara Farrow, '32, and Mary Bailey, '32, were dinner guests on Sunday, January 13.

"Cranny" Cranford, '29, spent last Sunday in Williamsport and spoke in the evening to the Baptist Young People's Union of the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mr. J. C. Young, the father of pledge brother Lee Young, '30, paid a flying visit to the house on Wednesday evening, January 9.

"Yank" Minick, '29, entertained the boys on the sleeping porch with a bed-time story the other evening.

KAPPA GAMMA
J. M. Paige, '32

"Gene" Mirarchi, '29, who was forced to go home Thursday by an attack of the "flu", is back at school.

"Lew" Cerase, '29, reports that he had a very enjoyable time in Harrisburg, this last week-end.

"Tom" Nayfield, '32, made his weekly journey to Mount Carmel. The regularity of these week-end trips is a subject of comment.

We are glad to report the complete recovery of William Horan, '29. He returned to school last week and does not show any ill effects from his recent illness.

"Slim" Mezza, '32, believes that the correct Sunday neckwear for freshmen is a green tie. Being a man of action, "Slim" exploits his convictions.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Betty Fries, '31

Pledges Edith George and Helen Kelly spent the week-end of January 12 at Cornell.

Mary Tyler, '29, has just returned to her classes after spending a few days in the Infirmary.

Yolanda Frank, '28, paid us a visit over the week-end.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter held its annual formal dance on Saturday evening, January 12, in Tustin Gym. The chaperons were Professor and Mrs. J. B. Miller, Miss Alma Ebeling, and Miss Annetta Stainton. Music was furnished by "Red" Hitchens.

Helen Jones, '31, entertained her mother, Mrs. H. E. Jones, the week-end of January 11. We are glad to know that Helen is recovering from the case of grippe which kept her in the infirmary last week.

Agnes Jones, '32, had as her guest during the last week-end, Miss "Betty" West, of Plymouth.

Marie Helwig, '28, and "Betty" Hettinger, '28, visited the chapter during the week-end of January 11. "Betty" is teaching at Bridgeton, N. J.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Adelaide Clark, '31

Gertrude Gardner, '26, was a welcome visitor in the suite on Saturday, January fifth.

We were glad to see Helen Powell, '31, again on Sunday, January sixth, when she returned from her home where she had been ill.

Tuesday, January eighth, was Founders' Day. Tuesday afternoon we entertained our patronesses at a tea held in the parlors of the new dormitory. "Connie" Hulick, '31, gave a splendid reading for the occasion.

"Betty" Webster, '30, has been forced to return to her home in Harrisburg because of a relapse. "Betty" didn't return to school until last Sunday, being kept home with a bad attack of the "flu." We hope she will be back with us soon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Reidler, parents of June Reidler, '31, were visitors in the suite on Sunday, January 13.

STREAT—IDEAL VILLAGE

The perfect English village lies in the heart of Sussex and is called Streat. The village has no shops, no public buildings or even a post office, and gasoline stations are unknown, says the New York Sun.

Streat, sometimes known as Street, is aptly named. It has but one street, narrow and winding, with a surface which makes every spring and bolt in a motor car groan their disapproval. This rustic approach runs between typical English scenery—hedgerows and orchards, whose trees are laden with rosy apples, and from behind which peep farmyards, with haystacks, stables, and dovecotes. There is a beautiful tiny church of the early English style, on a wall of which is a list of rectors dating back to Philip Bemond in 1337.

To complete the picture there is a smithy, from which every day comes the clanging of hammer and anvil, a fine old manor house and a village school. Everything is unspoiled.

—New York Sun.

"And the blend can't be copied!"

No visitor to Normandy ever considered his tour complete until he had made the pilgrimage to Mont St. Michel and the Inn of the Famous Omelet—Chez Madame Poulard, l'Incomparable, la Fameuse Omelette.

The Madame is since gone, but not until just before she died did she reveal the secret of her famous omelets. No doubt hundreds have tried—and struggled in vain—to use the precious information, but as a writer has put it, the Inn without Madame is "like Tara's hall without the harp!"

The making of a great cigarette, too, is a secret to be guarded. The artistry lies in how the tobaccos are blended—and from our own private formula comes the rich fruity flavor that you get in your Chesterfield.

Suffice it to say that our blend can't be copied —nor for mildness with flavor can you duplicate the rare Chesterfield goodness.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD *enough for anybody..and yet..*THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1867. Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—12—

OPPORTUNITY

HERBERT HOOVER SAID RECENTLY: "A GREAT MANY MANUFACTURERS WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY FIND THAT BY LIMITING THEIR EFFORTS TO MORE CIRCUMSCRIBED AREAS AND INTENSIFYING THEIR SALES ACTIVITIES IN SUCH AREAS, THEY WOULD NOT ONLY REDUCE THEIR SELLING COSTS, BUT WOULD PROBABLY PRODUCE A LARGER VOLUME OF BUSINESS."

BUSINESS IN GENERAL IS FOLLOWING THE ADVICE OF THE PRESIDENT-ELECT. THE SOUTH HAS RECENTLY AWAKENED FROM ITS PROVERBIAL SOMNOLENCE AND FOUND ITSELF THE CENTER OF A BIG BUSINESS BOOM. THE MANUFACTURER HAD COME TO THE SOURCE OF HIS RAW MATERIAL.

BUSINESS IS BUILDING WHERE MARKETS ARE GROWING RAPIDLY. LEWISBURG IS THE HOME OF A COLLEGE POPULATION WHICH OF NECESSITY MUST BRING BUSINESS TO THE TOWN. LEWISBURG SHOULD WAKE UP AND REALIZE THAT, LIKE THE REAWAKENED SOUTH, BUSINESS IS COMING TO HER VERY DOORS. HERE, SALES ACTIVITIES ARE INTENSIFIED OVER A SMALL AREA WHICH NEEDS AND CONSUMES A WIDE VARIETY OF MERCHANDISE. THE SOUTH GLORIES IN THE TREND OF AFFAIRS AND "ADVERTISES." THAT BRINGS THE SOUTH MORE BUSINESS. ADVERTISING WILL DO THE SAME FOR YOU, TOO.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief Robert L. Lyon, '29
208 S. 7th St.
Phone 217-R-2

Business Manager John N. Feaster, '30
Alpha Chi Mu House
Phone 124

Assistant Editor-in-Chief Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor Clarence W. Cranford, '29
Assistant Managing Editors Virginia Smoot, '29
Helen Bell, '30
News Editor Charles F. Mohr, '30
Jane G. Frost, '29
Assistant News Editors Trimble Elsley, '31
Bertha Gavenda, '30
Sports Editor J. Warren McElligot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors R. Bartruff Kuser, '31
Thomas McLeod, '31
Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Women's College Editor Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors Elizabeth Figner, '29
Frances Kernohan, '29

Business Staff

Advertising Manager W. C. Emmitt, '29
Assistant Advertising Manager John Snyder, '30
Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31

Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Glazier, '32 Benjamin Wuhrman, '32

CALENDAR

Week Beginning January 19

Saturday, January 19, 8 to 11:45—Pi Beta Phi formal dance in Tustin Gymnasium.
8 to 11:15—Beta Kappa informal dance.
2:30—Eastern Pennsylvania Inter-collegiate Oratorical Union meeting in the playroom of the new dormitory.
Monday, January 21, 7:30—Mu Phi Epsilon recital in the organ room.

"FOOL SPIRIT"

We do not mean to imply that all "school spirit" is fool spirit. We do mean to state openly that a great deal of so-called "school spirit" is exactly that. Bucknell, according to all the criticisms which we have heard since college opened last September, is completely lacking in the vim and the vigor, in the pep and the pepper, in the gin and the ginger (no, maybe not so much in the gin)—but, anyway, we have been completely done out of all those spices and condiments without which no respectable institution of the higher learning can get along for any time at all. The white sweatered heroes have performed valiant antics before the stands; they have howled through megaphones; they have even gone so far as to stand up and obstruct the view of the spectators at exciting moments; in a word, they have used every occult and mediumistic rite available, in their effort to call up that elusive, stalking ghost, Spirit. Whose Spirit was it they were after? Why, the students' Spirit—and calling that up ought to have been an easy process for any good Spiritualist or cheerleader—for all the students were dead, according to the critics. Yet for some reason it didn't come forth. There were students—lots of them—who preferred going to a dance, rather than attending one of those highly intellectual rallies of higher learned people, which are so quaintly known as Pep Meetings, and which are held apparently for the purpose of using up the last ounce of the students' vocal power, in order to be sure that there will be none left for the game on the morrow. Indeed there may have been (though, horrors! that is really unbelievable)—there may possibly have been a perverted individual or two who even preferred staying at home and preparing a lesson for the next day, to going to the pep meeting and shouting at the top of his voice about how much he loved his Alma Mater, and what he and his friends (for people who attend pep meetings sometimes forget that it is the squad that does the playing) were going to do to old Siwash or old Wish-Wash or old Whoever-It-Was that was going to be engaged the following day in mortal combat.

Yes, it is sad—very sad—but it is true: Bucknell has no college spirit. It must be true—public speakers and cheer leaders and coaches and alumni and all the other qualified authorities, have said so. So it must be true. And that is very surprising, too. Everything possible has been done to arouse college spirit. The freshmen have been required to attend the games: they have been marched to the stadium like so many convicts; they have been forced to sit in one section; they have been ordered to "yell their heads off." The other students, though not compelled to attend, have been, if they choose to attend, compelled to separate themselves from their girl-friends; they have been advised, urged, pled with—all through megaphones—to "talk it up." It has even been suggested to them by the cheer leaders that they "make 'um hear it."

Just who "'um" referred to, was never explained, but we surmised that it meant the members of the team. These methods ought to have turned the trick, but they didn't. Therefore, various important personages tried "talking to" the students, through countless channels: at pep meetings, at required chapel services, at other pep meetings, in letters to the Bucknellian, at still more pep meetings. The students were told that they were "dead," that they were not good Bucknellians, that they didn't have sufficient loyalty to their Alma Mater, that they didn't have Spirit. Then it was usually mentioned again that they were dead. Well, they probably were. It would take a pretty husky man to survive all that was done to them.

But just think of Oxford. Poor old, antiquated, antediluvian Oxford where they have the greatest library in the world and yet are dumb enough to think that pep meetings are ludicrous inventions of half-baked Americans! Why they even laugh at Spirit, because they say you cannot think most clearly at the top of your voice! Sad old Oxford—where cheer leaders are as scarce as Spirit is at Bucknell! Pitiful, lugubrious old Oxford!

No, we do not mean to imply that all school spirit is fool spirit. Not all.

There's a difference between the Hilltop Brief which "sparkles" and the one which merely sputters.

—O—

Of course, all of them are the better for a little "fire,"—but even a candle needs snuffing.

—O—

However, writing good briefs requires some head-work, and the only head-work lots of students ever do is chewing gum.

—O—

Brains aren't everything though. If a person wants to succeed in life, it will probably be better for him to have the native ability of a ditch-digger and the energy of a Mussolini, than to possess the I. Q. of a Mussolini and the energy of an average ditch-digger.

—O—

The busy chap may not collect quite as much culture as the one who "leans and loafs at his ease," but he has compensations. Culture is nice for your leisure time, but if you have nothing but culture, your time will all be leisure time.

—O—

We're getting philosophic now. That reminds us of the epigram: "The optimist believes this to be the best of all possible worlds, and the pessimist fears this fact is true." Well, the world may not be either the best or the worst of all possible ones, but it is very likely the most ridiculous.

—O—

Really, now, isn't it silly? If you drink hard liquor, you do it, presumably, to escape from yourself. Then why be so careful to avoid wood alcohol?

—O—

Escape is a rather difficult thing to achieve. Even the Question Mark had to come back to earth. (Now who will be the first to point out a punning connection between question marks and bootleg liquor?)

—O—

Our own problem just now is how to escape from this discussion. A logical conclusion for it would be nice, but we have decided not to bother looking for one. The printer will probably leave out the last paragraph anyway.

—O—

A temporary board wall, two hundred feet of hose, a few energetic men students, plus a cold night, equals one skating field for Bucknell faculty and student skaters.

That Loomis field be converted into a skating rink during the winter months is by no means a new proposition. It is the topic of conversation among both faculty and students. Why not do something about it?

In actual cost the erection of a temporary board retaining-wall should not exceed $25. It is probable that the local fire department would lend a few hundred feet of old hose for the undertaking. A fire plug near Dr. Hunt's home could be used as the take-off, and from that point to the field is a distance of but a few hundred feet. Are there not among the student body a half dozen men capable of handling such a proposition?

At a time when health authorities are advocating at least sixty consecutive minutes in the fresh air, what could fit more readily into any drive against "flu" by common sense methods than skating near at hand? The nearness of the field is one of its greatest attractions, for many of the faculty members and students who do not feel that they have sufficient time to go to Buffalo Creek could at Loomis Skating Field get the minimum amount of exercise. Then again, the trip to Buffalo Creek is such that many consider it a waste of time to make so long a trip for what amounts to little more than a half hour of actual skating.

The number of students who can participate in sports on the campus is necessarily limited, in spite of the compulsory gymnasium classes. Unlike the spring and summer with tennis, baseball, and swimming, the winter months offer little opportunity for recreation aside from skating, skiing, and tobogganing, and skating is admittedly the most popular sport in general among college students. Why not give to those desiring recreation a chance to recreate themselves after a strenuous day or week among books?

MOON FANCIES

I saw the moon, a huge blood-orange,
Quartered and crushed against the sky.
And the juice explode in staining drops
Of gold, as the cloud-robed night swept by.

The moon, an amber orange, I saw
Impaled on a cold stalagmite peak,
And the juice in a golden rain pour down
On the face of a silver mountain creek.

The clouds were a great black kettle, last night,
The half-formed moon, a gold-smith's mold,
And the bubbling metal foamed over the brim,
To pour down the valley, a river of gold.

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

Cut class on Monday, you cut it for rest;
Cut class on Tuesday, you cut then a test;
Cut class on Wednesday, you cut it for news;
Cut class on Thursday, you buy then some shoes;
Cut class on Friday, you cut it to date;
Cut class on Saturday, you were too late;
You cut class all week! Then why come to college,
If you do not search there for friendship and knowledge.

Many drops of water,
Care of mouth and hand,
Make "flu" epidemics
Vanish in our land.

Prayers at Washington

Edward Everett Hale used to tell of the small boy who was taken by his dad into the Senate gallery at Washington to see our highest legislative body in session. He heard the Chaplain's opening prayer and asked his father: "Daddy, is the minister praying for the Senators?" "No, son," said his cynical dad, "he looks at the Senators and just prays for the country."

Death of Resident Was Shock to Town

The community was shocked on Wednesday, January 9, when news was received of the death of Mrs. Emma Kunkle Colestock, of the institute, class of 1896, the wife of Henry T. Colestock, professor of History in the college.

Her death took place at the Geisinger Hospital after an illness of little more than a week.

Mrs. Colestock's helpful activity in welfare work for the community and her kindly interest in all who came her way, have endeared her to a vast host of friends on the campus and in the town.

Ever since Mrs. Colestock has lived in Lewisburg, her home has been open to succeeding generations of college girls to whom she has been a comfort and an inspiration. For a number of years she has been a much loved patroness of Delta Delta Delta.

The Parent Teacher Association will sorely miss the kindly and generous service which she has so unstintingly poured out. As a faithful member of the Baptist church she has given cheerfully and unceasingly of her time and strength to White Cross and other mission activities.

In the very difficult position of Attendance officer for the public schools, she has constantly won friends and admiration by her tact and sympathetic labors in this cause. The Girls' League, of the High School, by her going, has lost one of its most gracious hostesses and advisers.

Her friendly smile and warm handclasps will be missed increasingly by the women of the faculty, both as a member of the Campus Club and as individual friend.

In her home, Mrs. Colestock was the perfect mother, her experience as a graduate nurse lending a practical background to her gentle and loving kindness. Four children, William, Edward, Richard, and Mary will join their father in mourning her untimely passing.

The funeral was held at the Baptist church, Saturday morning, January 12, at 10:30.

To The Editor

Since the B. U.-in-Brazilians have trampled their opponents into the dust of defeat, and the Y. M. C. A. has taken the count at the hands of the Belle Hop, let us again turn our thoughts to that subject so dear to the hearts of all Bucknellians—the sacredness of the college calendar. Investigation has shown that Easter Sunday falls on March 31. But our Spring recess does not begin until the noon of March 30. This I consider to be a deplorable situation. In the history of the University it is unparalleled. Undeniably the makers of the calendar have committed a grave error. There are so many reasons why this should be changed that I will not attempt to state them here. I merely bring the matter to light early so that no girlish plans will be ruptured by the change in the calendar. Yours until March 22.

A. G. Tator.

Sec. of the Be-at-home-on-Good-Friday Club.

Editor of The Bucknellian:
Dear Sir:

Now that the members of the student body have been jolted into thinking and speaking for themselves, principally by the excellent criticism of "Lord Cardigan" in the Belle Hop, I feel that an expression of opinion from an interested and uninjured bystander would be apropos.

I agree heartily with "Lord Cardigan" on the matter of Y. M. C. A. speakers at Bucknell. He has suggested a way in which the Y. M. C. A. might become a useful adjunct to the University life, rather than a parisitic leech. A complete revision of their list of "hally-ho" men would be the first step in that direction. It might even be well to present a list of tentative speakers for the students to vote upon.

One other thing. As I write I have before me a card on which is stated the purpose of the Y. M. C. A. The purpose is divided into three sections. The sum and substance of the whole is that we should think as they do, (whoever they may be) and then to make all others think the same way. Is that tolerance? Shades of Elmer Gantry! Am I not a good Christian unless I conform to their doctrines? I believe that the Y. M. C. A. is one of "the problems that affect (not effect) our common life" and that a radical change in its program would be an intelligent solution of that problem.

Associate.

Read The Bucknellian

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

FIRST SEMESTER—1928-1929

The final examinations for the first semester of the year 1928-29, will be held in Commencement Hall beginning Friday, January 25 and continuing until Saturday, February 2, when conflicts will be taken.

Students are held responsible for taking their examinations as scheduled. All conflicts not posted should be reported to the Dean's Office immediately.

The complete schedule follows:

Friday, January 25

9:00 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
Biology 101	Latin 101
Biology 205	Mathematics 101
Biology 207	Mathematics 211
Chemistry 107	Philosophy 103
Chemistry 109	Political Science 105
Civil Engineering 101	Psychology 201
Education 104	Surveying 301
Electrical Engineering 307
English 102
English 121
English 154
German 251
Greek 101
Home Economics 101

Saturday, January 26

9:00 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
Chemistry 101	Chemistry 213
Chemistry 201	French 301
Economics 209	Greek 205
French 101	Latin 301
French 103	Mathematics 111
French 201	Mathematics 207
Mechanical Engineering 107	Philosophy 303
	Physics 105
	Spanish 201

Monday, January 28

9:00 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
Biology 119	Biology 103
Chemistry 205	Economics 201
Economics 207	Electrical Engineering 201
English 223	German 205
History 101	Greek 301
History 203	Latin 105
History 211	Political Science 205
	Sociology 103

Tuesday, January 29

9:00 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
Art 101	Education 205
Biology 113	Electrical Engineering 305
Education 201	English 203
Electrical Engineering 101	English 253
Spanish 101	German 101
Spanish 103	Greek 208
Surveying 201	Latin 205
	Mathematics 301
2:00 P. M.	Mechanical Engineering 203
Biology 109	Music 103
Chemistry 105	Philosophy 201
Chemistry 301	Spanish 301
	Surveying 103

Wednesday, January 30

9:00 A. M.
English 101 (Com. Hall)	French 303
English 153 (Com. Hall)	German 103
English 201 (Com. Hall)	Greek 201
English 151 (Biol. No. 6)	History 303
English 157 (Biol. No. 6)	Latin 201
	Mathematics 313
2:00 P. M.	Music 101
Biology 115	Physics 201
Biology 203	Physics 301
Chemistry 209	Political Science 201
Chemistry 307	Religious Education 101
Civil Engineering 303	Sociology 301
Economics 307	Spanish 303

Thursday, January 31

9:00 A. M.
Civil Engineering 301	Religious Education 207
History 201	Sociology 205
Home Economics 103	2:00 P. M.
Mathematics 107	Economics 103
Mathematics 203	Education 101
Philosophy 205	Mechanical Engineering 106
Political Science 301	Political Science 103
	Religious Education 201

Friday, February 1

9:00 A. M.	2:00 P. M.
Biology 209	Chemistry 207
Biology 211	Chemistry 313
Biology 211X	Economics 203
Chemistry 203	Education 301
Economics 101	Electrical Engineering 303
Economics 107	English 225
Electrical Engineering 309	English 263
English 255	History 205
German 111	History 215
History 207	Mathematics 103
Latin 203	Philosophy 203
Music 105	Physics 107
Religious Education 105	Psychology 203
	Religious Education 205

Saturday, February 2

9:00 A. M.
ALL CONFLICT
EXAMINATIONS

PROF. G. LAWSON TALKS TO EDUCATION SOCIETY

The Education Club met last night, Wednesday, January 16, to discuss plans for a progressive program. Dr. George Lawson gave an inspiring and instructive address on the work of Thaddeus Stevens, the great Pennsylvanian who accomplished so much in the state establishment, organization, and control of the public school.

FROSH GIRLS ELECT

Elections among the women of the class of '32, ended with the following at the head: president, Edith George, vice president; Mildred Walton, secretary-treasurer; Elizabeth Lewis, and athletic council representative, Mae Button. "Em" Maxwell, junior class president was the chairman of the meeting.

Baby Bisons Win Second Cage Tilt With 52-19 Score

Lewisburg H. Team Outclassed; Fry Scores 9 Field Goals; Musser Uses 15 Frosh

The Bucknell freshmen quintet gained its second victory in two starts on Tuesday evening at the Tustin gym, burying the Lewisburg High School cagers under an avalanche of field goals. The final score indicated that the Mussermen were out in front by a 52-19 margin.

The winners started off at top speed and amassed an impressive lead before five minutes of play had elapsed. After that the issue was never in doubt for the "Baby Bisons." During the entire game the winners scored almost at will. Lewisburg put up some stiff opposition but coach Heckert's plucky men were hopelessly outclassed.

Coach Musser gave every man on the squad a chance to play. During the course of the game the yearling mentor employed fifteen men, all performed creditably. This game evidently gave Coach Musser a definite idea as to the relative strength of his team.

"Al" Fry, the big husky youth from Picture Rocks, ran away with the scoring honors for the evening with nine field goals. Fry's performance was all the more impressive when one takes into consideration the fact that he played but half the game. Chenoweth with ten points, and Mills with eight, were runners up to Fry for scoring honors.

Benson, captain of the High School five, lead the offensive attack for his team with a quartet of field goals and a lone foul. Frank Lewis played a fine game at the guard post.

On Saturday evening the Bucknell freshmen will motor to Bloomsburg where they will face the Bloomsburg Normal cagers of that place.

NO DOUBT OF WINNER

The box score:

B. U. Frosh	Field	Foul	Total
Mills, f	3	2	8
Chenoweth, f	4	2	10
Logan, f	1	0	2
Reese, f	0	0	0
Fry, c	9	0	18
Ely, c	0	0	0
Longstretch, c	0	0	0
Stonebreaker, g	0	0	0
Marter, g	0	0	0
Coates, g	0	0	0
Borello, g	0	2	2
Hepler, g	1	1	3
Fisher, g	0	0	0
Griffith, g	0	0	0
Wetzel, g	4	1	9
Total	23	6	52

Lewisburg H. S.	Field	Foul	Total
Rupp, f	2	0	4
Reish, f	0	0	0
Baker, f	1	0	2
Woodson, f	0	0	0
Hall, c	1	0	2
Rogle, c	0	0	0
Benson, g	4	3	11
Lewis, g	0	0	0
Total	8	3	19

Score by periods:

B. U. Frosh	32	20—52
Lewisburg H. S.	7	12—19

Referee—Titus. Scorer Wagner.

Kappa Sigma Defeats Beta Kappa 5, 30-18

In a game that was featured by the brilliant all-around playing of "Jim" Williams, the Kappa Sigma court five vanquished the Beta Kappa quintet 30-18 in the first game of a scheduled double header last evening in the Tustin gym. Williams virtually won the game for his team as his individual performance kept his five in the lead during the entire game. Williams caged 7 field goals and two fouls for a 16 point total.

Welchans, with a quartet of double deckers, was the star for the losers.

The lineup:

Kappa Sigma	Field	Foul	Total
Williams, f	7	2	16
Wentz, f	1	2	4
Davidson, c	1	0	2
Hepler, g	1	1	3
McMurray, g	2	1	5
Total	12	6	30

Beta Kappa	Field	Foul	Total
Hoffman, f	1	0	2
Bethwith, f	0	0	0
Benford, f	2	0	4
Goe, f	0	0	0
Welchans, c	4	0	8
Harrison, g	0	0	0
Crittenden, g	2	0	4
Total	9	0	18

Score by periods:

Kappa Sigs	12	18—30
Beta Kappas	2	16—18

Referee—Halicki.

A. X. M. Surprises; Defeats Sigma Chi

Led by its valiant captain, Charley Titus, the Alpha Chi Mu cage team trounced a powerful Sigma Chi five in a surprising upset 28-25 in the nightcap. Titus was by far the individual star of the game and his marvelous playing realized a victory for his team. On the offense, he caged six field goals and two fouls for a 14 point total. Many of his double deckers were the results of long distance heaves.

He kept his team in the running during the entire game, hobbing up with a field goal whenever it was needed. During the final period, the "Sigs" staged a valiant rally in an effort to overtake their conquerors. Titus squelched this uprising by staging one of his own. During the last five minutes of play the Alpha Chi star registered five points which provided his team with the margin of victory.

In all the departments of the game Titus excelled last evening. On the defense he broke up play after play and frustrated many Sigma Chi attempts to score. As a field general, this star also shone brightly. It was also in this role that he maintained a fighting spirit among his teammates. They followed their cool headed leader who led them safely to a victory for which they had yearned, for a number of years. He urged them into action every minute. These pleading commands from Titus finally culminated in a success and when it was all over a worn out but happy Alpha Chi Mu team left the floor with a well earned victory to its credit.

How Alpha Chi Mu Did It

The lineup:

Sigma Chi	Field	Foul	Total
Showalter, f	4	0	8
P. Johnson, f	3	0	6
Crowe, c	0	0	0
H. Johnson, g	0	0	0
Mutzel, g	0	0	0
Walters, g	2	0	4
Hoak, g	3	1	7
Total	12	1	25

Alpha Chi Mu	Field	Foul	Total
Titus, f	6	2	14
Wentzel, f	2	2	6
Phillips, c	2	0	4
Parsons, g	2	0	4
Young, g	0	0	0
Reese, g	0	0	0
Total	12	4	28

Score by periods:

Sigma Chi	14	11—25
Alpha Chi Mu	18	10—28

Referee—"Arch" Seiler. Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

ALUMNUS RECALLS WHEN AN OPPONENT RACED WRONG WAY

"Goofy Gridiron Gallops" or runs the wrong way in football, a play recently pulled off at Pasadena, Cal., by Roy Riegels, the California center is a rare play, but not entirely unique. It has happened on many fields an instance being recalled by Attorney John V. Lesher, (Class of 1897), and erstwhile star at Bucknell, and former U. S. Congressman.

Along about 1893 the Bucknell team composed of Lesher, Collins, McGargie, Dale Wolfe, and other giants booked a practice game early in the season at Shamokin. The game was played at Indian Park, and the Shamokin eleven boasted such college stars as "Whitey" Simmons and Dr. George Reese, University of Pennsylvania men. Judge Moser, fresh from Dickinson, a sturdy young giant by the name of George Schadt, from Tamaqua, then serving Uncle Sam as a mail carrier at Shamokin and the late Jack Welsh who was a shining light at Michigan University.

It was a hard fought game and the score was close, the advantage swaying from one side to the other as the game progressed. Soon after the whistle had blown for the opening of the second half, Schadt, who had followed the ball with the eye of an eagle through the game pounced upon one of the Bucknell backs who was running with the ball and tackled him so hard that the pigskin bounced from his grasp and fell to the ground. Schadt, like lightning scooned up the ball and was off toward his own goal line like a flash Several of his own players were after him in hot pursuit in a wild endeavor to end his mad, bull like rush but to no avail, he just kept going and going until he had covered sixty-five yards of mother earth and crossed his own goal line. Bucknell finally won the game by a score of 14-7.—Sunbury Item.

Inter-Fraternity Basketball Schedule 1929

The schedule which follows is tentative, and will be changed, only with the consent of the managers of the two teams playing, and the schedule maker, due to the increase in the number of teams in the league, it necessarily follows, that more time is needed for the completion of the league games. The semi-finals and finals may have to be played after the Easter recess, but we hope that arrangements can be made in order to complete the entire league, and declare the winner of the Inter-Fraternity Cup, before the Easter recess.

Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Sigma Beta Delta—2nd game—Jan. 14.
Phi Kappa Psi vs. Delta Sigma—1st game—Jan. 14.
Kappa Sigma vs. Beta Kappa—1st game—Jan. 16.
Sigma Chi vs. Alpha Chi Mu—2nd game—Jan. 16.
Kappa Gamma vs. Phi Gamma Delta—1st game—Jan. 21.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Phi Lambda Theta—2nd game—Jan. 21.
Kappa Delta Rho vs. Sigma Beta Delta—2nd game—Feb. 4.
Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Non-Frat.—1st game—Feb. 4.
Kappa Sigma vs. Lambda Chi—1st game—Feb. 6.
Phi Lambda Theta vs. Delta Sigma—2nd game—Feb. 6.
Kappa Gamma vs. Kappa Delta Rho—2nd game—Feb. 11.
Phi Kappa Psi vs. Non-Frat.—1st game—Feb. 11.
Phi Gamma Delta vs. Beta Kappa—2nd game—Feb. 13.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Sigma Chi—1st game—Feb. 13.
Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Phi Gamma Delta—1st game—Feb. 18.
Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Alpha Chi Mu—2nd game—Feb. 18.
Kappa Sigma vs. Sigma Beta Delta—1st game—Feb. 20.
Phi Lambda Theta vs. Alpha Chi Mu—2nd game—Feb. 20.
Kappa Gamma vs. Sigma Beta Delta—2nd game—Feb. 25.
Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Delta Sigma—1st game—Feb. 25.
Kappa Delta Rho vs. Lambda Chi—1st game—Feb. 27.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Non-Frat.—2nd game—Feb. 27.
Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Gamma Delta—2nd game—Feb. 28.
Phi Kappa Psi vs. Sigma Chi—1st game—Feb. 28.
Beta Kappa vs. Kappa Delta Rho—1st game—Mar. 4.
Phi Lambda Theta vs. Non-Frat.—2nd game—Mar. 4.
Kappa Gamma vs. Beta Kappa—2nd game—Mar. 7.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Theta Upsilon Omega—1st game—Mar. 7
Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Beta Kappa—2nd game—Mar. 11.
Sigma Chi vs. Delta Sigma—1st game—Mar. 11.
Phi Gamma Delta vs. Sigma Beta Delta—Mar. 13.
Phi Kappa Psi vs. Alpha Chi Mu—Mar. 13.
Kappa Sigma vs. Kappa Delta Rho—2nd game—Mar. 14.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Delta Sigma—1st game—Mar. 14.
Kappa Gamma vs. Lambda Chi Alpha—1st game—Mar. 18.
Alpha Chi Mu vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon—2nd game—Mar. 18.
Delta Sigma vs. Alpha Chi Mu—Mar. 20.
Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Sigma Chi—Mar. 20.
Kappa Sigma vs. Kappa Gamma—2nd game—Mar. 21.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon vs. Phi Kappa Psi—1st game—Mar. 21.
Delta Sigma vs. Non-Frat.—1st game—Mar. 25.
Phi Lambda Theta vs. Theta Upsilon Omega—2nd game—Mar. 25.
Kappa Delta Rho vs. Phi Gamma Delta—1st game—Mar. 26.
Sigma Chi vs. Non.Frat—2nd game—Mar. 26.
Beta Kappa vs. Sigma Beta Delta—1st game—Mar. 27.
Phi Lambda Theta vs. Phi Kappa Psi—2nd game—Mar. 27.
Phi Lambda Theta vs. Sigma Chi—2nd game—Mar. 28.
Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Phi Kappa Psi—1st game—Mar. 28.

More than 50 games are scheduled for the inter-fraternity basketball leagues this year.

RULES

1. No player is eligible for an interfraternity team who is among the first eight men of either the Varsity or Freshman Squad.
2. The referees shall be chosen by the managers of the opposing teams.
3. All disputes shall be settled by the team managers, with the schedule maker, as an arbitrary member.

ALL GAMES START AT 7:15.

Mathematical Tricks Entertains P. M. E.

"Mathematical Recreation" was the subject of a talk given by assistant professor William T. MacCreadie in the open meeting of Pi Mu Epsilon fraternity held last Monday evening in Main 1, at 7:30.

In his talk Dr. MacCreadie gave over twenty-five recreations and hints for teachers. Among other things he illustrated how, by mathematical juggling, one can show that one equals two, that a line nine inches long is equal to a line ten inches long, that there are 256 ounces in a pound, that if a number is equal to a number, it is less than it, and that 60 degrees is equal to 120 degrees. Many of these mathematical tricks are Dr. MacCreadie's products, while others he borrowed from other mathematical professors.

Dr. MacCreadie also touched briefly on the interesting but complicated subject of the fourth dimension. Geddes W. Simpson, '29, acted as chairman of the meeting.

Dissipations of an Automobile

Mrs. O'Brow: "My husband's car is the latest car out, you'know."

Mrs. Cutter: "Yes, so all the neighbors say—and every night, too, at that, my dear."—Chicago News.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

ROOM FOR RENT—Inquire Mrs. Ida B. Henry, 11 Walker Street, Lewisburg, Pa. Opposite Chemical Lab.

SPECIAL OPPORTUNITY—for college students interested in life insurance business. Part time for present and leading to permanent position. For particulars write or interview D. F. Edmondson, Gen. Agent, Danville, Pa.

ANNOUNCING TO COLLEGE MEN
A SPECIAL
LIFE INSURANCE POLICY
BY
The Philadelphia Life Ins. Co.
For Particulars Write
D. F. EDMONDSON
Danville, Pa.

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men's Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING PROMPT SERVICE
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

FELLOWS
Correct footwear with every mode of dress is a mark of the well-dressed man. We can supply your needs with BOSTONIANS
FAMOUS SHOES FOR MEN
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

J. F. Prowant Co.
LEWISBURG, PA.

LOST

AN OPPORTUNITY IF YOU DO NOT USE OUR CLASSIFIED AD. COLUMN.

AT THE TREMENDOUS COST OF ONE CENT PER WORD YOU CAN SEND A MESSAGE TO TWO THOUSAND OR MORE PERSONS.

STUDENTS WISHING ROOMS, OR DESIRING TO CHANGE THE PRESENT ONE, WILL DO WELL BY TRYING A CLASSIFIED AD.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR THE TUTORS AND THOSE WISHING TO BE TUTORED TO BECOME ACQUAINTED THROUGH THESE ADS.

THIS COLUMN CAN'T HELP BUT BRING RESULTS, TRY IT.

PHONE 351 OR WRITE IN CARE OF BOX X, LEWISBURG, AND ASK FOR THE "CLASSIFIED AD DEPARTMENT." TRAINED BUSINESS ASSISTANTS WILL BE GLAD TO TAKE CARE OF YOU.

PLANTMEN TROUNCE WEST. MARYLAND---53-33

Brilliant Passing, Dribbling, And Shooting Enable Bisons To Triumph In First Home Game

The Bucknell basketball team auspiciously ushered in its 1929 home season last Saturday evening at the new Lewisburg High School gymnasium, vanquishing the Western Maryland cagers by a 53-33 count. The losers furnished stiff opposition during the first half, battling the Bisons on even terms. A flurry of Bucknell field goals in the closing minutes of the first half put the Bisons out in front at half time by a 24-17 margin.

Coach John Plant presented a team that represented teamwork in its fullest sense. By the employment of this synchronization, great success was realized. "Cal" Smith and "Bernie" Klosterman started at the forward posts, with Seiler at center, and Woodring and Wadsworth at the guard berths. This combination functioned well, fairly dazzling its courageous opponents with a brilliant exhibition of passing, shooting, and dribbling.

During the first half the crowd was furnished with several thrills as the game was close. First one team would forge into the lead and then the other five would go out in front. Western Maryland was kept in the running during the first period by the brilliant all-around work of "Charlie" Broll, a star forward. During the course of the game Broll contributed seven field goals and two fouls to the visitors attack.

Seiler Stars For Bucknell

"Archie" Seiler, veteran Bison center, was the Bisons' main offensive threat, the Hawley youth caging five field goals and six fouls for a 16 point total. Several of Seiler's double deckers came as the results of long shots which provided a thrill or two for the crowd. Seiler also revealed an uncanny eye for the basket, sinking six foul goals.

Captain "Lon" Woodring, Bucknell's star guard, played a stellar role in Bucknell's initial triumph of the season. "Woody" collected eleven points which represented five field goals and a foul. His play at guard was of an outstanding nature, breaking up several enemy plays which, if they had been completed, would have culminated in a success for the Maryland five.

Welland Wadsworth, Coach Plant's heavyweight guard, displayed aggressiveness all through the game and turned in an excellent performance at the guard post. Wadsworth, in addition to playing sensationally at the guard berth, contributed four field goals to Bucknell's offensive attack.

"Cal" Smith, with a trio of double deckers, and "Bernie" Klosterman, with a pair of field goals, impressed the enthusiastic crowd with their fine playing. Mitchell, Kostos, and Kammire were sent into the game late in the final period and all three broke into the scoring column. Kammire had a field goal and two fouls while Mitchell and Kostos each caged a double decker.

OFF TO A GOOD START!

The box score:

Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Klosterman, f	2	0	4
C. Smith, f	3	0	6
Kammire, f	1	2	4
Mitchell, f	1	0	2
Seiler, c	5	6	16
Wadsworth, g	4	0	8
Woodring, g	5	1	11
Kostos, g	1	0	2
Total	22	9	53

W. Maryland	Field	Foul	Total
Broll, f	7	2	16
Lawrence, f	0	0	0
Van Buren, f	1	1	3
Wilker, c	1	0	2
Oleas, c	3	1	7
Havens, g	0	1	1
Kean, g	1	0	2
Smith, g	1	0	2
Total	14	5	33

Score by periods:

Bucknell	24	29—53
Western Maryland	17	16—33

Referee—Bryan. Umpire—Schuylkill.

Frosh Quintet Wins Over Danville Team

Coach "Mal" Musser's Bucknell freshmen quintet inaugurated its home season last Thursday evening at the Tustin gym by overwhelming the fast traveling Danville Y. M. C. A. team by a 39-23 score. The Danville five,a well drilled aggregation, showed great strength during the first half but better teamwork ultimately triumphed.

The winners forged into the lead early in the game and after the first ten minutes of play were completed the Bucknell team was always in the lead. At half time, Musser's pupils were out in front by a 17-12 margin and during the second half the homesters increased this lead.

Fry, elongated "Baby Bison" center, captured the scoring honors for the day. The big Picture Rocks lad caged six field goals and two fouls for a fourteen point total. "Don" Mills, former Wyoming Seminary basketball star, was runner up to Fry for scoring honors as he caged a pair of field goals and five fouls for nine points.

Borella, a Trenton, N. J. youth, played a fine game at the guard post, and contributed five points to his team's total. Borella played back within the shadows of the enemy basket and his careful guarding prevented several Danville attempts to score.

Merle Stonebreaker and "Bill" Chenoweth also made their debuts as yearling basketeers. Both gave a good account of themselves. Stonebreaker collected two field goals while Chenoweth caged a pair of double deckers and a foul.

LEAVE IT TO THE FROSH!

The box score:

Bucknell Frosh	Field	Foul	Total
Mills, f	2	5	9
Logan, f	0	0	0
Chenoweth, f	2	1	5
Wetzel, f	1	0	2
Fry, c	6	2	14
Stonebreaker, g	2	0	4
Borella, g	1	3	5
Marter, g	0	0	0
Total	14	11	39

Danville	Field	Foul	Total
Bausch, f	0	0	0
Miller, f	0	0	0
Evans, f	0	0	0
Werner, f	4	2	10
Johnson, c	0	0	0
Riley, c	1	0	2
Miller, g	2	0	4
Hostelly, g	3	1	7
Slessler, g	0	0	0
Total	10	3	23

B. U. Frosh	17	22—39
Danville	12	11—23

Referee—Titus. Scorer—Wager.

"Ernie" Woerner Elected Captain 1929 Grid Squad

Bucknell University's 1929 football team will be captained by Erwin Woerner of Newark, N. J., it was announced here recently following a meeting of the lettermen who played on the Bison team last fall. The captain elect, who is a junior this year, has played on the Bucknell varsity eleven during the past two seasons.

Next fall will be his last in varsity competition and he is expected to be the kingpin of the Bucknell team. He is a guard and a fine defensive player.

During his freshman year at Bucknell Woerner played on the yearling eleven at a guard post. His work that season was outstanding and he was regarded as excellent varsity material. He easily qualified for a berth on the Bucknell varsity team during the fall of his sophomore year as a guard. He has started every game now for the past two seasons.

Woerner is 21 years old, weighs 200 pounds, and is six feet tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Central High School of Newark, N. J., where he was a football star for four years. During the fall of his senior year at Central, Woerner captained the eleven and was selected as an all-state guard.

Woerner has a brother who played with Brown University as a halfback for two years. He also boasts of a cousin who played with the Navy during the football seasons of 1926 and 1927.

Woerner confines his athletic talent wholly to football, never going in for any other college sport. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, and also the Druids, an honorary fraternity. Woerner is taking a Civil Engineering course and is a member of the Class of 1930.

The Source of Power

Not in the motley mob or throng,
Not in the crowded street,
But in ourselves is triumph or defeat.
—Longfellow.

Phi Psi Bows to D. S. In 1st Inter-Frat Game

The Delta Sigma basketball team defeated the Phi Kappa Psi cagers last Monday evening at the Tustin gym by an 18-10 margin in the first game of the 1929 inter-fraternity League. The Demies took an early lead and were out in front at half time by a 10-2 count.

In the second half the Phi Psis staged a belated rally and battled the winners on even terms. However the early lead was too much for the losers to overcome, and they were forced to surrender to a well drilled Demie aggregation.

During the first two periods the Phi Psis were unable to score a solitary field goal while the winners managed to cage the loop for double deckers on four occasions. Not until Lee Wilson caged a long distance shot late in the third period did the losers tally a two pointer.

Les Ely, former Peddie star, made an auspicious debut as a Demie basketeer, registering a quartet of field goals for eight points. Johnny Snyder, a three year veteran, tallied six points by virtue of a pair of double deckers and a like number of fouls.

Lee Wilson with a trio of field goals was the only luminary for the losing Phi Psi quintet.

SCORE ONE FOR "DEMIE"

The box score:

Phi Psis	Field	Foul	Total
Shourds, f	0	0	0
Poynter, f	0	0	0
Bunting, f	0	1	1
Wooley, f	0	0	0
Grubb, c	0	0	0
Wilson, g	3	0	6
Brumbaugh, g	0	1	1
Wright, g	1	0	2
Total	4	2	10

Demies	Field	Foul	Total
Snyder, f	2	2	6
Jefferies, f	0	1	1
Ely, c	4	0	8
Wadsworth, g	0	0	2
Coates, g	0	1	1
Total	7	4	18

Score by periods:

Phi Psis	2	8—10
Demies	10	8—18

Referee—Halicki. Scorer—McElligot.

B.U. Cage Team Faces Schuylkill In Game Tonight

Bucknell University's second home basketball game will be staged in the new high school gym tonight at eight o'clock at which time the Bison quintet will face the Schuylkill College cagers of Reading. Indications point to a close game as the visitors boast of a veteran team.

The Schuylkill five is coached by "Doggy" Julian, former Bucknell football and baseball star. Julian is said to have moulded together a team that will test Bucknell to its fullest strength. Every member of the 1928 Schuylkill quintet is back in the field again this year so Julian will start an experienced team against the Plantmen.

In an effort to win this game, Coach Plant will rely on the same lineup that beat Western Maryland last Saturday. "Cal" Smith and "Bernie" Klosterman will start at the forward posts, with Seiler at center, and Woodring and Wadsworth at the guard berths. Coach Plant will depend on Mitchell, Kostos, and Kammire as emergency men.

The last three named played for awhile against Western Maryland and performed creditably. Mitchell, a fine player, is regaining his old time basketball form, after a grueling football campaign. Kammire is rapidly recovering from an early season injury that kept him on the sidelines.

"Bert" Ellor, who played in several of the games on the recent Eastern trip, was not in uniform last Saturday as he was ailing from a leg injury. However, he will probably be in a suit tonight, ready to play.

Last year Bucknell defeated Schuylkill by an overwhelming score in a contest that was staged in the Tustin Gym. In this contest the veteran Seiler ran wild to amass 34 points, that represented fifteen field goals and four fouls.

It doesn't do any good to call a man a bare-faced liar. He'd do just the same if he had whiskers.

"Doggie" Julian, '23, Signs Contract to Act as Athletic Director at Schuylkill Col.

"Doggie" Julian, (Bucknell, '23), former Bucknell all-around athlete has signed a contract to act as athletic director at Albright (formerly Schuylkill) College for two more years. He will receive a substantial increase in salary.

Julian went to Schuylkill in 1925 the second year after graduating from Bucknell, and the second that Schuylkill was in college ranks. She failed to win a game or score a point in her first year on the gridiron. Under Julian's tutelage the Reading institution has won 21 and lost 14.

—Sunbury Item.

Bucknellians are interested in Julian's work at Schuylkill, because Schuylkill (now Albright) has been one of our early-season opponents, and will have second place on our football schedule in the fall of 1929. Last fall Bucknell barely got away with Julian's team, the score being 7-6. Schuylkill also appears on the Bucknell basketball schedule.

STATE COLLEGE CO-EDS WILL NOW LEAD CHEERS

Penn State co-eds are taking their place in the athletic program of the college, for they are installing a new system of cheer leaders. The fair co-eds will take their stand and will have equal rights to claim the time-honored title of cheer leader. Cheering under the leadership of women will be instituted this winter at the men's intercollegiate basketball games.

STUDENT SONGS PREVENT PANIC IN SHIPWRECK

While officers and members of the crew of the Princess Adelaide were assisting other passengers into life boats, following a slight damage to the ship, a group of British Columbia University students, homeward bound, went into a "huddle" and sang the old college song "Old Man Noah" in an effort to hearten the passengers. The students were the last to leave the boat.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElligot

Coach Plant's Bison quintet got off to a good start at home last Saturday evening when they overwhelmed a fast traveling Western Maryland cage team. Although the recent Eastern trip ended in disaster for the Bucknell basketeers, they showed a reversal of form in their 53-33 victory over the New Windsor collegians. Penn State trounced the same aggregation the evening before by a 30 point margin.

—X—

The Schuylkill College eagemen will be the Bison's next opponents at home. Coach "Doggy" Julian's quintet will be the attraction at the new Lewisburg gymnasium tonight. The game starts at eight o'clock. Spectators, who will attend this game, are sure to be in for a treat as the Reading collegians boast of a veteran court squad. Julian's men are also out to avenge last fall's football defeat.

—X—

"Pottsville" Jones is now seriously training for the coming boxing season. Every morning Jones arises at six-thirty and runs to Winfield and back, a total distance of eight miles. Jones is an ardent advocate of keeping in condition. Even now he is in training for the 1929 gridiron campaign. He regulates his time so that his bed time never exceeds the ten o'clock limit.

—X—

Followers of boxing will be interested to know that Felix McCormick, "Eddie" Halicki, and "Maj" Kozik, three Bucknell huskies, are going the round, every afternoon at the Tustin gym. Halicki looks good as a heavyweight, exhibiting a deadly punch. More experience is what is needed and when Halicki gets this he will be heralded as a boxing star of the first order.

—X—

McCormick, who played with the Bucknell team way back in 1924 when the Bisons defeated the hitherto undefeated Rutgers aggregation in a surprising upset, is a light heavyweight puncher. He is fast on his feet and is a hard man to hit. He has power behind his own drives which spell devastation to anyone who stops them.

—X—

"Maj" Kozik, the third member of the trio, also fights as a light heavyweight. He is a little inexperienced but is training seriously every day. Under the tutelage of "Lou" Mutzel, Kozik ought to develop and some day he may represent Bucknell in intercollegiate competition.

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

Real Red Hot Tunes
YOUR DOGS
JUST WON'T BEHAVE
HEAR
DAN GREGORY
AND HIS Victor Recording Orchestra
AT THE
JUNIOR PROM
FEB. 15, 1929 TUSTIN GYM

Charlotte Gilbert Relates Her First Flying Experience

(Continued from Page 2.)

"Contact," shouted the mechanic—"Contact," repeated the pilot. The engine roared, and we were on our way. The plane taxied across the field, and before I knew it we were in the air, climbing higher and higher. Our altitude during the entire flight varied from 2,000 to 5,000 feet.

We made a preliminary circle of the field and then started on our eastward flight—a flight that was merely part of the day's work for my companions, but a glorious adventure for me.

The time of our take-off was 1:30 o'clock. Two hours and 50 minutes later, or at 4:20 o'clock, we landed at Farmingdale, L. I., at the Fairchild factory. East of Greensburg, after we had been in the air 20 minutes, we passed, and left far behind us the Pennsylvania train that had left Pittsburgh at 1 o'clock and which was due to arrive at the Pennsylvania station in New York City at 12:10 that night. This instance of cutting train time by something like 11 hours is only one of aviation's many achievements.

Although we traveled at more than a hundred miles an hour I gained no impression of great speed. Rather it seemed as though we were suspended in the air while the landscape flowed by beneath us. The noise of the motor made talking somewhat difficult, but with a map and by constantly looking out of the windows we were able to tell where we were most of the time.

Even at an altitude of 2,000 feet houses began to look like toys, and cities and towns resembled the cardboard villages we used to build beneath our Christmas trees. State highways were narrow white ribbons winding about, and automobiles looked like little black bugs rushing back and forth. Railroad trains looked as though they had been built for a race of Pygmies.

Our route, much traveled by planes, was eastward on an almost straight line between McKeesport and Reading, after which we veered slightly northward.

The mountains of Allegheny county became hills, and the hills became mere nothings. There was a light covering of snow on the mountains, and the leafless trees gave them an appearance of being covered with fuzz. Occasional evergreens relieved the dull purple gray.

Although the weather was slightly misty the sun shone at our right and helped to keep us warm. For a time we could see the plane's shadow on the ground to our left.

After we had passed over Johnstown we came to the nemesis of flyers— the Pennsylvania mountains. They stretch out, ridge after ridge, for 110 miles, and require an hour to cross. Like a succession of ocean waves, crest upon crest, the crests purple, the narrow valleys between them green, they cover Cambria, Blair, Huntingdon, Juniata, Perry, Cumberland and Dauphin counties. Usually the flying here is very rough, and in bad weather it is dangerous to risk getting across. There is no place where an emergency landing can be made, and only an occasional farm house can be seen. We were fortunate in having good weather for our crossing, and by climbing to an altitude of 4,000 feet we escaped the bumpiness.

We sighted a branch of the Juniata river, passed to the left of Carlisle, and at 2:45 o'clock crossed the Susquehanna at Harrisburg. The character of the country was now quite different from that of central and western Pennsylvania. The flat farm lands resembled a mosaic table top as far as we could see.

Lebanon was the first large city we passed after leaving Harrisburg, and then at 3:10 o'clock, Reading with its familiar pagoda on old Mt. Penn came into view. Although the three of us looked very carefully we could find no trace of the Reading airport.

Very shortly after we had left Reading behind us they told me we were over Boyertown. Perhaps it was because our altitude was now close to 5,000 feet that I couldn't recognize my own home town.

From here the country was very much alike—all flat farmland in a checkerboard of fields. At 3:30 o'clock, exactly two hours after our take-off, we crossed the Delaware river into New Jersey, at Raven Rock, near Lambertville. The Jersey landscape resembled very closely that of eastern Pennsylvania, until we began to approach the more populous northern end.

At Hadley field, the air mail terminal near New Brunswick, we saw our first and only plane in flight. It was headed toward the field and was flying about 2,000 feet below us. As we drew nearer to the Atlantic Ocean the air became very cloudy, although we could still distinguish ships in the water beneath us.

Flying over Brooklyn we attained a speed of 138 miles an hour. We passed over Coney Island and Jamaica, and saw the Curtiss Flying field, distinguished by a large silver-colored tower. In contrast to the snow covered mountains of western Pennsylvania here we saw golfers enjoying a game.

Soon the huge Fairchild factory came into sight, and we drew closer and closer to the earth. The landing, like the take-off, was over before I realized it, for I had rather expected a bump as we hit the ground. After a short wait in the offices of the factory, where 1,200 planes will be built next year, we were on our way into New York City and home. It was rather an anticlimax to creep along in a prosaic railroad train after traveling up in the clouds.

It is interesting to note that the propeller and landing gear of our plane were made here in our own section of the country—in Pittsburgh. The wings can be folded back to conserve hangar space. The cabin seats seven, six passengers and the pilot. The passengers are seated in four individual metal seats and a continuous double seat across the rear of the cabin. All seats are upholstered, and the sides and roof of the cabin are upholstered in leather. The floor is covered with carpet, and the windows are of non-shatterable glass. The cabin is entered by two doors on the right hand side.

Fairchild 71's were used to rescue the Bremen flyers from ice-bound Greenly Island. A Fairchild 71 carried Mears and Collyer around the world in 23 days, and one of these planes has gone with Commander Byrd to the South Pole. Lady Heath, now on a visit to this country, has been flying a Fairchild. And if ever this writer gets to the point where she has $20,000 to spend, there'll be a Fairchild plane parked beside the family Ford.

Bettis field, my hosts on my first flight tell me, has wonderful possibilities and will soon be the biggest passenger terminal in western Pennsylvania.—McKeesport Daily News.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

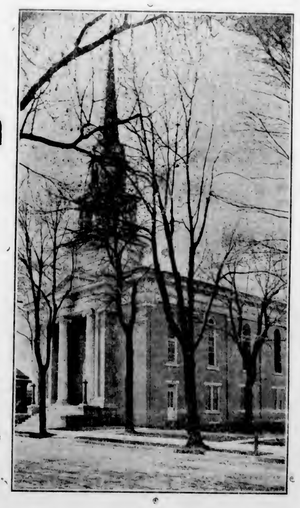
The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

LEARN THE PIANO IN TEN LESSONS
TENOR-BANJO OR MANDOLIN IN FIVE LESSONS
Without nerve-racking, heart-breaking scales and exercises. You are taught to play by note in regular professional sheet style. In your very first lesson you will be able to play a popular number by note.
SEND FOR IT ON APPROVAL
The "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is the title of this method. Eight years were required to perfect this great work. The entire course with the necessary examination sheets is bound in one volume. The first lesson is unsealed which the student may examine and be his own "JUDGE and JURY." The later part of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is sealed
If you the student returning any copy of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" with the seal un-broken we will refund in full all money paid.
This amazing Self-Instructor will be sent anywhere You do not need to send any money. When you receive this new method of teaching music, deposit with the Postman the sum of ten dollars. If you are not entirely satisfied, the money paid will be returned in full, upon written request. The Publishers are anxious to place this "Self-Instructor" in the hands of music lovers all over the country, and are in a position to make an attractive proposition to agents. Send for your copy today. Address: The "Hallmark Self Instructor" Station 41, Post Office Box 141, New York, N. Y.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

SUNDAY VESPERS
First Presbyterian Church
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Every Sunday Afternoon at Four O'clock Until April
A Strong Program of Out-of-town Speakers, With Special Musical Features
SOME OF THE SPEAKERS
Jan. 20---Rev. W. C. Covert, D. D., of Phila., General Secretary of the Board of Christian Education, of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.
Jan. 27---Prof. Chas. Lose, Blind Lecturer, popular at all Teacher's Institutes. Formerly Supt. of Williamsport Schools and Lock Haven Normal.
Feb. 3--Rev. G. Morris Smith, D.D., the new President of Susquehanna University.
March 17---Rev. L. S. Mudge, D. D., L L. D., Stated Clerk of the Gen. Assembly.
March 24---Rev. E. W. Hunt, D. D., L. L. D, President Bucknell University.
WATCH THE BUCKNELLIAN FOR WEEKLY ANNOUNCEMENTS



B. U. COURT STAR DECIDES TO JOIN CUPID'S LINE-UP

Bernard Klosterman of Covington, Kentucky, Bucknell University basketball ace has caged another field goal, this time with the aid of Dan Cupid. According to a news dispatch in the Vineland, N. J., Herald, Mrs. B. G. Fuller of Vineland announced the engagement of her daughter, Emalyn to Bernard Klosterman of Bucknell University.

The wedding will take place in June immediately following Klosterman's graduation from Bucknell. The announcement of the engagement of this couple came as a surprise to the friends of Klosterman at Bucknell.

Klosterman, who is a senior this year, has been a well known athlete at Bucknell for the past four years. He is probably Bucknell's greatest basketball player since the days when Christy Matheson used to cavort around the court for the old Bison institution.

During the past two football seasons Klosterman has been a member of Coach Snavely's Bucknell football team. He saw action in several games at the end position.

However, his star shines brightest at Bucknell in basketball. He has played as a Bison guard on Coach Plant's quintet for three seasons. The present campaign is his last in varsity competition and he is the mainstay of the team. He recently was shifted to a forward post where he has been performing well.

Klosterman is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity at Bucknell. He is also a member of the Druids, an honorary fraternity on the Bucknell campus.

Miss Fuller is a graduate of the Detroit, Michigan, High School, where she prepared for Bucknell. She attended Bucknell for two years and transferred to another institution. During her freshman year at Bucknell Miss Fuller was chosen as Miss Popularity. She is a member of the Kappa Delta sorority.

She is now attending the Marjorie Webster Finishing School in Washington, D. C., where she is scheduled to graduate in June.

ORATORICAL CONTEST WILL BE HELD AGAIN

(Continued from Page 1.)

to $1500, according to the ratings given the different national finalists.

Colleges may be enrolled in the contest by action of either a college official or a student. Entries close March 15. The spokesman for each college must be designated by April 15. Regional semi-finals will be held April 27.

The national finalists of 1928 were: Carl Albert, University of Oklahoma, winner of first place; Herbert Wenig, Stanford University, winner of second place; Allan Frew, Davidson College, North Carolina, winner of third place; Lee F. Lybarger Jr., Bucknell University, winner of fourth place; William H. Conley, Loyola University, Chicago, winner of fifth place; Philip H. Glatfelter, Princeton University, winner of sixth place; and Paul V. Keyser Jr., Massachusetts Institute of Tecnology, winner of seventh place.

Pictorial Section To Be Discontinued

The Bucknellan announces with regret the discontinuance of its pictorial section. This pictorial feature was secured from a new advertising company that was attempting to "sell" the college advertising field to big business, and thus to divert to the college publications some of the national advertising now placed in magazines and newspapers. With a college population of something like 700,600 students, American colleges represent a truly profitable field for advertising. To make the new venture successful, however, it was necessary to secure the cooperation of at least fifty Class A colleges. This proved to be impossible because of the aggressive and unreasonable opposition of one of the older advertising concerns specializing in college advertising, and it became necessary to discontinue publication. The Bucknellian regrets exceedingly that it is no longer possible to secure this feature for its readers.

Rube—"Do you use butter knives at your place?"

Ben—"No, but don't tell—you know how those things spread."

Dr. Rice Gives Talk On Health to Women

Dr. John W. Rice addressed the entire women student body at a meeting in the new dormitory living room, Monday evening, January 14. The timely subject of "Health and Hygiene' was discussed.

Stressing not only the particular need for care during the present wave of influenza, Dr. Rice also offered methods for taking precaution. Such valuable preventatives as fresh air, exercise, regular and substantial food, plenty of water and sleep were suggested by him, or those who would be healthy. He impressed upon the gathering the importance of keeping free from colds to insure immunity from other diseases.

The Athletic Association has been promoting these health talks in connection with the health contest.

DEAN TALKS TO CLASS ABOUT APPRECIATION

(Continued from Page 1)

great importance. There is no standard by which one can test the measure of appreciation; the only test which the teacher can use is whether or not her pupils want more. If they do, then she has accomplished her purpose."

In order to illustrate his statements, the speaker read a passage from the Bible three times. First, he read it without comment; then he explained the meaning of each sentence as he went through it the second time. Thus interpreted, its meaning was made clear, and it could be fully appreciated when read the third time. The dean closed his talk with the recital of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar"—a poem written by a man who knew how to appreciate and enjoy the beautiful things in life.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON
GRAND OPENING—WEEK OF JANUARY 21.
VITAPHONE AND MOVIETONE
TALKING PICTURES.
Now Look At Our Program For The Opening Week of "Talking Pictures."
MONDAY and TUESDAY—JAN. 21-22
WILLIAM HAINES in
"ALIAS JIMMY VALENTINE"
A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Talking Picture.
NOTE—This picture now playing Astor Theatre, New York at $2.00.
WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY—JAN. 23-24
The Hero of "Wings" in his First Paramount Talking Picture
CHARLES "BUDDY" ROGERS in "VARSITY"
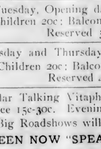
With MARY BRIAN
What You SEE You HEAR.
COMING—FRIDAY and SATURDAY—JAN. 25-26
A Wm. Fox Special Talking Picture.
"MOTHER MACHREE"
With BENNET and McLAGLEN
Also HIGH CLASS TALKING Comedies and FOX MOVIETONE. News will be played with the Feature Pictures daily.
SPECIAL Low Prices will be charged.
Monday and Tuesday, Opening days—Matinee 15c and 30c. Evening—Children 20c; Balcony 30c; Main Floor 40c. Reserved 50c.
Wednesday and Thursday—Matinee 15c-30c. Evenings—Children 20c; Balcony 30c; Main Floor 35c. Reserved 40c.
Our Regular Talking Vitaphone and Movietone prices will be—Matinee 15c-30c. Evenings: 20c-30c-35c-40c.
Except Big Roadshows will have to charge 50c.
OUR SCREEN NOW "SPEAKS" AND "SHOWS."

HERMAN & LEISER
NOW SHOWING
New Spring Dresses
at $10.00 and $15.00 each
in the new Spring colors.
ANNUAL JANUARY WHITE SALE
Starts Saturday, January 19th.

ANNOUNCING
OUR
January Clearance Sale
20 Per Cent. Reduction on all HABERDASHERY
25 Per Cent. Reduction on all SUITS, OVERCOATS and TOP COATS
Montgomery's
OF BUCKNELL



CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits $160,000.00
Deposits $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

TWENTY YEARS-- "On The Quadrangle"

The original College Inn was established on its present site approximately twenty years ago. It had spent two years of its infancy as Bucknell's first canteen of consequence. What offspring came from this little venture, for Bucknell has now become a habitat of small shopkeepers, an institution of Christian education and peanut, pop, and pimp-stick peddlers. The College Inn has outgrown its swaddling clothes of a small wooden shack and has tried to keep pace in our growth and raiment with a bigger and better Bucknell. Your patronage---we thank you---has made it, and your future support will determine its fate.

Payne, '29.

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

AVOID A WAITING LINE
MAIL YOUR CHECK TO REGISTRAR

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

BRING ON COLGATE
TOMORROW NIGHT
L. H. S. GYM

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 24, 1929. NUMBER 16

Mind a Function Of Brain, Claims Dr. H. B. Pike

Psyciatrist, In Second Lecture, Explains The Structure Of Control Areas

"The mind as a functional structure" was the subject of the second of a series of lectures dealing with mental pathology, given by Dr. H. B. Pike last Thursday afternoon, January 17, in the Biology lecture room.

"The mind is the function of the brain," explained Dr. Pike, who is psychiatrist at the Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases. "It is just as much a function of the brain as respiration is a function of the lungs, and digestion, of the alimentary tract."

In his first lecture, one week before, Dr. Pike discussed the history of mental ailments, and sketched the methods and procedure in use at the Danville institution. In his second lecture, the psychiatrist went into an explanation of the structure of the body with reference to mental and nervous faculties, and explained the mechanical machinery.

As is his annual custom, he produced the human brain which has become familiar to Bucknell students who make a practice of hearing him every year. He explained its structure, and pointed out the various areas of control in the cerebral cortex.

The lecturer then went into a more or less technical explanation of the working of the nervous system.

The brain and the nerve or spinal cord are made up of microscopic cells. Modern methods of diagnosis make possible the detection of any set of cells that fail to perform its usual functions.

The brain is incased in a triple

(Continued on last page)

Rev. Wm. C. Covert Speaks at Vespers

The second series of Sunday afternoon Vespers during the winter seasons has opened in the Presbyterian Church of Lewisburg. The speaker last Sunday afternoon was the Rev. William C. Covert, D. D., general secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education, one of the major boards of that church. He stressed the prime importance in these days of Christianizing the sources of education, because of inherent perils in present-day democracy, and in popular education.

At the close of that address, the teachers of the Sunday School, and some from the day-school as well, together with the student group of that church, met Dr. Covert at an informal tea, served in the church parlors, where he answered many questions about his work and education in general.

The speaker for next Sunday is Prof. Chas. Lose, of Montoursville, the blind and popular lecturer on many a platform, especially at Teacher's Institutes. He was at one time the superintendent of the schools of Williamsport, and later became the head of the Lock Haven Normal. He is an orator of no mean ability, and will speak on "A Blind Man's Outing." The service is at four o'clock, and lasts about an hour. The Male Chorus of the Lewisburg Evangelical Church will furnish the music.

7500 B. U. Calendars For'29 Issued To Date by Registrar

More than 7500 Bucknell calendars for 1929 were sent out by Registrar H. Walter Holter and his assistants during the past several weeks. Approximately 4500 of these were sent to Bucknell University alumni, the others going to parents and friends of the students.

The postage for sending the calendars amounted to $225, each calendar requiring three cents for postage.

Students who have not yet obtained their calendars may have them if they call at the Registrar's office, where a new shipment has been received.

FINANCE STUDENTS ORGANIZE; TO HEAR FAMOUS SPEAKERS

Last week, headed by Professor R. L. Matz, a group of Commerce and Finance students met and organized a Commerce and Finance club. This not only includes Commerce and Finance students, but is open to any student majoring in economics.

Prof. Matz has long hoped to organize a club of this sort. His students at this time, seemed in hearty accord with the idea, and proved it by the large turnout at the meeting. There are approximately 80 students eligible for membership in the club, and it is hoped that everyone who can will join.

The purpose of the club is to hear speakers on different economic questions. Prof. Matz understands the routine in obtaining these speakers, and in all events will secure interesting talkers.

At the first meeting the following officers were elected: Robert Payne, president; Harold Dayton, vice president; James Simpson, secretary; Harry Walter, treasurer.

Accountants' Bureau Helps Applicants to Select Course And Obtain Good Position

Since Bucknell introduced a commerce and finance course last fall, this information, received from "The American Institute of Accountants," might prove helpful to students selecting a course.

"During the past year the bureau has received applications from men in 81 colleges. Many of the successful applicants have not studied technical accounting subjects. Technical study is valuable if it has been combined with studies in English, mathematics, economics, and other cultural subjects, and if technical subjects are available. The man who expects to enter an accountant's office, should elect then, not, however, to the exclusion of a proper proportion of other studies."

They further state: "A minimum salary of $125 a month is promised applicants who are placed. The period of employment is three years, subject to satisfactory conduct and demonstration of capability for the work. The training of an accountant can be used to great advantage in most executive positions. Professional practice itself, if a man finds himself adopted to it, offers an interesting and a remunerative career." Further details may be obtained from "The American Institute of Accountants," Bureau for Placements, 135 Cedar St., New York.

Penn Owes Her Present School System To Thaddeus Stevens, Says Dr. Lawson

That Thaddeus Stevens, as a champion of free education, made possible the establishment of our free school system in Pennsylvania, and as an indefatigable fighter for the freedom of the slave helped to bring about the abolition of slavery in this country, was the statement made by Professor George B. Lawson in his address to the Education Club, Wednesday evening, January 16.

"Thaddeus Stevens was a man of indomitable courage and tremendous endurance," said the speaker. "He was conspicuous for his bravery, and devoted all his energy to productive public service. He was a genius of war and of victory, a prophet of enlightenment and of freedom, the friend of the suffering, and a defender of the oppressed. His heart grew inflamed at the injustice of slavery. Without his sagacious wisdom and resistless determination, the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia which led to Lincoln's great proclamation would never have come about."

Professor Lawson divided the career of Stevens into three important periods. The first period had to do with his work in the assembly of Pennsylvania as a champion of

(Continued on last page.)

Dr. S. C. Ogburn Tells Sigma Beta Chis Why Youth Walks a Mile For a Camel

Sigma Beta Chi listened to a very interesting talk at its regular meeting on Monday evening, January 21, in the Chemistry building. At this meeting, Dr. Ogburn told of the process for making the famous Prince Albert smoking tobacco, and the "Camels" for which the youth of today would walk a mile.

The magnitude of the tobacco industry as outlined by Dr. Ogburn is very far in advance of the ideas of the ordinary person. This is readily realized when we consider that a Post Office erected in Winston-Salem, N. C., at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars was paid for in 48 hours by the sale of revenue stamps placed on the Prince Albert tobacco and the Camels made in that period of time in that city.

The process of manufacture was described from the cutting of the tobacco plant in the field to the shipping of the finished products. Of course the intermediate steps where the tobacco is mixed by the negroes, (mostly barefoot) with the ingredients such as licorice, and bay rum, and other flavors, and the rolling of the cigarettes was explained and was listened to with much interest. An interesting scene was presented where the negroes or other workmen recover the cigarettes which happen to be missed by the cutter and which are at times 8 to 10 feet long, and with the cigarette coiled as a rope, smoke it for days at a time without the light being extinguished. This is one conception of a long smoke.

Another phase of southern industry which was presented during the same evening by Dr. Ogburn was the manufacture of cotton fabrics. This was presented in a very interesting and logical manner from the planting of the cotton seeds to the finished "Haines" knitted garments. So far as the chemistry was concerned, this was by far the more important topic, but due to the intricacy of the process it was a bit more technical but was, never the less, very interesting.

As a continuation of the history of Chemistry started at an earlier meeting, D. N. Brown, '30, gave a summary of the history of Chemistry and its developments from the beginning of the 14th century to the present time. From it we learn that the Greeks were very much in favor of having others do the work while they, themselves, propounde dtheory. We find that others of the great men like Lavoisier believed in extra curricular activities. Priestly wrote in his diary concerning oxygen to the effect that this gas would perhaps be obtained in such quantities as to be a luxury used only by the wealthy, since at that time only two mice beside himself had breathed of it.

The members of Sigma Beta Chi would like to have a larger general attendance at these meetings because they feel that it is type of material which is both interesting and instructing.

Two Gunmen Get 80c In a Daring Hold-up

Following an unexpected gun shot, a masked bandit with a slouch hat nonchalantly stepped out of the dark alley in the rear of the Mayo's Tea Room Sunday night at just 10:30 and ordered two Bucknell boys to "put 'em up." Four frightened hands reached for sky hooks and simultaneously sandwiches and milk bottles hit the pavement. The nervy hold-up man jabbed a "gat" into the chest of one of the boys with precision, and rapidly searched his pockets. The other victim was overhauled next, and then the two were ordered to make tracks for the S. A. E. house.

Entering their fraternity house eighty cents poorer, George Klein and "Dartmouth Bob" Thompson told their troubles to the seemingly astonished brothers and that ain't all. They then made a hurried exit, well fortified with a double-barreled shotgun and a 45 repeater, to scour Union County for the culprit.

In the meantime, "Red" Koser and "Whitey" Purnell, practical jokers since they first got together in the first grades of Lewisburg, have put their heads together to dope out their next job.

Local Broadcasting Station May Be Eliminated From Air

WJBU, Bucknell broadcasting station, is faced by possible elimination from the air if the recommendation of O. H. Caldwell, federal radio commissioner for the first zone, prevails.

Testifying before the House merchant marine and fisheries committee, recently, Caldwell suggested that stations having power of from 50 to 500 watts be eliminated to make room for local stations with wattage of 50 down.

According to Caldwell there are hundreds of applicants for local stations that will go unheeded unless some such action is taken.

The Bucknell station operates on 100 watts. It is not known how much weight will be placed on Caldwell's recommendations.

PAY BILLS EARLY

Registrar H. W. Holter announces that bills for the next semester's expenses will be placed in the mail this week.

Students who desire to pay their bills in full may mail their checks to the Registrar and thus avoid a long wait in line at the office.

All students will enroll on Friday, February 1, or on Saturday, February 2.

Colored Syncopators Will Play For Prom

Life, rythm, and harmony have been guaranteed by "Jelly Roll" Morton and his "Red Hot Peppers" for the Junior Prom on the night of February 15, in the new dining hall at the Women's College. The colored leader and his musicians have consented to stop over in Lewisburg on their way south where they are scheduled to play many times.

These syncopators record regularly for the Victor Recording Company. Their latest pieces are: "Shreveport" and "Shoeshiners' Drag."

"Jelly Roll" Morton is the originator of the "Stomp," that new dance which has every one on his toes. His orchestra is considered the best colored orchestra in the country. They hail from Sacramento, Cal., and are coming to Bucknell direct from a long engagement in Chicago.

Bucknellians may expect a variety of the very latest in syncopation, in negro harmony, and in feature dancing.

By changing the date of the Junior Prom, a change originally brought about by the great amount of sickness on the campus, the committee, of which Wilson Rise, is the chairman has been able to greatly perfect first plans.

Local Alumni Group To Give Plays Feb. 15

The February meeting of the Bucknell Alumnae Club of Lewisburg will be held Friday evening, February 15, in the organ room in Larison Hall. A play will be presented under the direction of Miss Kathryn Glase, '25. Other attractive features are being planned for the meeting.

PROF. WHYTE TALKS ON LIFE OF ROBERT BURNS

Professor James P. Whyte gave a short talk on the "Life and Philosophy of Robert Burns" at upper-class chapel on Thursday morning, January 17.

The talk was especially appropriate since we shall celebrate the anniversary of Burns' death on Friday, January 25.

ALTON KEMP IMPROVING

Alton R. Kemp, '32, who was taken to the Geisinger Hospital in Danville last week, following an attack of renal calculus, was reported slightly improved yesterday. That he is on the mend seemed to be indicated by the gradual but steady improvement he has shown.

Members of the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity visited their pledge brother last Saturday.

"Ned" Raker,'30,to Represent B. U. in Oratorical Contest

The Executive and Representative Committee of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Association met in the new dormitory for women on Saturday, Jan. 19. The colleges represented were Muhlenburg, Franklin and Marshall, Ursinus, Gettysburg, and Bucknell.

At this meeting it was announced that the Eastern Pennsylvania Oratorical contest will be held on the second Monday in March. Ned Raker, '30, was elected to represent Bucknell at this contest.

DR. AND MRS. HUNT WILL FINISH TRIP TO COAST BY RAIL

Proceeding by rail from New Orleans, President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt expect to arrive in Pasadena, Cal., before the end of the month. Following the grounding of the Dollar liner, President Adams outside the breakwater at the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal, Dr. and Mrs. Hunt were taken ashore with the other passengers, and for several days stayed at the Hotel Washington at Colon.

A cable received by Miss Mary Hunt stated that Pres. and Mrs. Hunt secured passage aboard a steamship bound for New Orleans, and planned to entrain from that city for the coast.

The President Garfield, sister ship to the President Adams which ran on a reef at the Atlantic entrance to the Panama Canal, and on which Pres. and Mrs. Hunt were passengers, was slightly damaged when it ran on the Nassau shoals off Florida. Eighty-three passengers were taken from the disabled steamship.

Tugs have been successful in moving the liner to deeper water, and it is probable that the President Garfield will be able to continue her round-the-world cruise.

Frill and Frown Initiates 7 Co-eds; Members Give Play; Table Party at 'Sem'

Frill and Frown, girl's dramatic society, received seven students into membership at initiation, held Friday evening, January 18, in the play room of the new dormitory.

The new members are: "Betty" Jane Rodenbeck, '31, and Bettina Bucknam, Virginia Kandle, Helen Kelly, Grace Link, Mary Smith, and Louise Ziegler, all of '32.

Following dinner at which the actives and "biddies" banqueted together at a long table in the "Sem" dining room, the initiation service took place. Upon its completion, the entire group was entertained by a presentation of "Aria de Capo," a fantasy written by the capricious pen of Edna St. Vincent Millay. The parts of Pierrot and Columbine were played by Janet Bingman, '30, and "Betty" Dill, '31; those of Corydon and Thrysis, by Mary Mumma, '30, and Jessie Fielding, '29.

Men's Glee Club Primed For State Song Fest in Feb.

Carnegie Hall Will Be Scene Of Inter-collegiate Contest; State 2 Years Winner

The Bucknell Glee Club, composed of more than forty members, is practicing at least three times each week for the Pennsylvania State Championships, which will be held on February 22 in Pittsburgh. Director Ralph Hartz is priming the men to pry the titular crown from the head of Penn State, whose club has won it for the last two years. The relationship between State and Bucknell glee clubs is similar to that of their football teams in former years. State has held the edge over the Bisons, even though at times it was small. But with the turning of the tides of fortune on the gridiron, the hopes of the Glee Club men have increased, and they are out to duplicate in tuxedos what their brothers did in moleskins.

When the club appears on the stage of Carnegie Hall on the night of Washington's Birthday, facing Pittsburgh's most critical musical audience, the singers will be competing against six of the most accomplished glee clubs in the State. In addition to Penn State, which is so good that it spent the summer in Europe, appearing in various capitols, there will be the clubs of Pitt, Washington and Jefferson, Juniata, Alleghany, and Carnegie Tech.

The Bucknell club will consist of about thirty-two men when it leaves Lewisburg on February 20, in its private de luxe bus, which will include the entertainers, as well as the singers. A performance will be given that night in Dormont, and one the following night in Parnassus. On Saturday, the day after the intercollegiates, the club will wind up its short trip with a concert in Hollidaysburg.

Theta Alpha Phi To Initiate With State

Professor A. C. Cloetingh, of Penn State College, grand secretary and treasurer of Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatic fraternity, was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Pennsylvania Alpha chapter at the May-Mar tea room, Saturday, January 19.

Professor James P. Whyte, Assistant Professors Harry L. Warfel, and Willard C. Smith also were guests.

Theta Alpha Phi is composed of students who have achieved distinction in dramatic interpretation. The members of the Bucknell chapter are Victor Meyer, '29, president; Ora Louise Cooper, '29, and "Betty" Siegfried, '29.

Plans for the improvement of the chapter were discussed at Saturday's meeting. Arrangements were made to hold joint initiation for the Bucknell chapter and the Penn State chapter at Penn State.

Chemistry Thesis On Platinum Metals Written by "Bud" Reismeyer, '28, Published

The first article from the graduate chemical engineering department and the fifth article to be published by Dr. Ogburn on the general subject of the Platinum Metals appeared in the December issue of The Journal of the American Chemical Society.

This article, published by Dr. Ogburn in collaboration with A. H. Reismeyer, M. S., '28, on the subject of, "The Quantitative Determination of Palladium by means of 6-Nitroquinoline," was taken from a thesis submitted by Mr. Reismeyer to the Faculty of Bucknell University in partial fulfilment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Science in Chemistry.

Published in the leading research publication in the world, the article has already been abstracted in four foreign languages and has attracted the attention of one reviewer who suggests that the method can be employed as a good short means of laboratory separation of palladium from the other members of the platinum group. The same reviewer advises that this process can well be included in text-books in the analytical procedure for separation of this metal.

At the present time, the research work on the platinum metals is being carried on in the graduate department by L. H. Miller, B. S. in Ch. E., '28, whose problem is "The Quantitative Separation of Osmium by means of Strychnine sulfate from platinum and platinum metals." This problem involves intricate and tedious laboratory technique but presents an interesting problem from a scientific point of view.

The November issue of the Journal of Chemical Education contained an extensive article on "The Platinum Metals" by Dr. S. C. Ogburn Jr.

This article, the fourth published by Dr. Ogburn on the subject of the Platinum Metals, was taken from an

(Continued on last page.)

Eloise Bailey, '29, spent last week-end at her home in Williamsport.

* * * *

Joe Clark, '30, has been ill in the infirmary with an attack of the "flu."

* * * *

Eunice Swan, '32, was the only inmate of the women's infirmary last Friday.

* * * *

Esther O. Blenis, '31, was forced to go home Tuesday for an operation for appendicitis.

* * * *

Madeline Hartman, '28, who is now attending State, spent the week-end with friends at Bucknell.

* * * *

When it's time for sorority dances in the "gym" the chapter roll miraculously increases somewhat.

* * * *

Marian Ash, '32, who has been home for several days on account of illness, is now back at school.

* * * *

Mrs. Jacob Shaffer, of Reading, visited her granddaughter, Alice Shaffer, '32, at the "Sem" last week-end.

* * * *

John R. Bower, '30, attended the midyear formal dance at Cedarcrest College in Allentown on Friday, January 18.

* * * *

"Sully" Sullivan, frosh football athlete is out of the infirmary, after having tackled the grippe and thrown it for a loss.

* * * *

Dr. and Mrs. E. K. Lawson, of Harrisburg, visited their son, Kirby Lawson, '32, at the Delta Sigma house on a recent week-end.

* * * *

Rodger Stillman, '32, has returned to Bucknell after being bedfast at his home near Wilkes-Barre for many days with tonsilitis and quinsy.

* * * *

"Jessie" James, '32, mistook the Mathematics Club for the Senior Tribunal. Well, that is better than taking the Senior Tribunal to be the "math" club.

* * * *

A "Semite" received E-plus on a test and wondered what the mark meant. "Oh," said her friend, "it probably means that the worst is yet to come."

* * * *

"Polly" Boles, "Kit" Balliet, "Betty" Griffith, "Gert" Downs, and Mrs. Benjamin Stillwaggon were among the alumnae who spent last week-end here, the Pi Phi dance being the chief attraction.

* * * *

The warm spring-like weather of last Saturday led a co-ed to remark that she already had spring fever. This is probably the earliest date on which anyone has ever been afflicted with this form of disease.

* * * *

Gordon K. Adams, '30, is limited to fifteen words a day. He has a mild throat defect and in order to get rid of it, Doctor Fowle advised him to say not more than fifteen words a day, so "Gord" writes it all.

* * * *

Another inter-collegiate record shattered! "Mel" Shuttlesworth, '28, graduate student, had 13 cuts last week due to the sickness of his profs. That left only two hours of work to worry about. Some people have all the luck!

* * * *

Several "Semites" are obtaining their hour's exercise, according to the rules of the health contest, by taking evening hikes around the four-mile. Nor does the cold weather stop them. The colder it is, the better they seem to like it.

* * * *

In connection with one of the plays being studied by his class in early drama, Professor W. H. Coleman remarked that the surest way to make a woman do a thing is to tell her not to do it. Might not this formula also work with the men?

* * * *

Attention movie fans! A vitaphone will be installed at the Bijou Theatre in Milton for the January 21th performance. Better yet, however, the Orpheum expects to open Monday with a vitaphone to show that wonderful picture "Submarine."

* * * *

We hear that cheering under the leadership of the co-eds is being instituted at Penn State. Why might not Bucknell co-eds also be given the chance to demonstrate their abilities as cheer leaders? No doubt they would prove as successful as the men.

"Toots" Thomas has recovered from the flu, which has confined her to the infirmary for the past week.

* * * *

Since "Dot" Berlin, '31, got her new victrola, she finds she has many friends who are musically inclined.

* * * *

"Jiggs"—Sigma Chi mascot, seems to have deserted the campus of late. Perhaps "Dockey" Davis flunked him in forestry.

* * * *

"Johnnie" Bridegum, '29, has received a tempting offer of employment in German East Africa, and he may soon forsake us for the jungle.

* * * *

For the first time since the holidays the Women's Infirmary was bereft of occupants when Dorothy Grimshaw, '31, left it on Monday.

* * * *

"Sandy" Moore has been elected manager of the Sigma Chi basketball team. The "Sigs" should find lots of games on hand, as "Sandy" is an experienced manager.

* * * *

The joys of being photographed aren't all they might be, especially when someone reminds you of the fact that the tie you are wearing belongs to your roommate.

* * * *

One of the waitresses at the "Sem" counted the steps taken in the actual serving of a noon-day meal recently. She said that they totaled 1600, not including of course any preliminary preparations.

* * * *

The combined efforts of Miss Ruhl and Mrs. Beatty failed to produce a man on second floor of Bucknell Cottage the other night. Little did they know that the deep, supposedly masculine, voice belonged to "Mid" Headings, '29, who was merely entertaining a few of the co-eds on that floor.

* * * *

What a lot of neck-stretching there was last Wednesday when the exam. schedule was posted in Old Main. Crowding, standing on tip-toe, attempting to get a look over the top of the crowd, jotting down of notes, and then a smile of exultation as prospects for a few days of vacation were confirmed by the schedule.

* * * *

It is interesting to note that the majority of students who attended the meeting of the Biology Society last Wednesday evening were men, while the girls were in the great majority at the meeting of the Education Club that same evening. Evidently the tastes of the men, as a whole, tend toward biology, while the girls are more interested in education.

* * * *

Janet Bingman, '30, Ruth MacFarland, '30, Millard Shipman,'27, "Bill" Nolan, '31, Victor Meyer, '29, and "Phil" Murray, '29, took the walk on parts of noblemen and ladies in the banquet scene of Genevieve Hamner's production of Macbeth, which was given a week ago Tuesday evening in Sunbury. The men did not catch cold although their costumes were much abbreviated.

* * * *

The Fellowship Circle found on Thursday evening at the Fellowship dinner in the May-Mar that "Phil" Murray, '29, is a very adept and witty toastmaster.

* * * *

Due to Prof. C. R. Johnson's illness, Prof. Ninkoff has been conducting a joint class of all the first-year sociology students at four o'clock on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons.

* * * *

A "Semite" found her bureau in a disturbed condition when she came from classes one day, and immediately suspected that some one had been prowling about her room. She was much relieved to learn that it was but the cleaning woman who had come in to wash her mirror, and found it necessary to remove the numerous snapshots and dance programs before she could apply her cloth to the glass.

* * * *

Prof. J. P. Whyte, professor of public speaking, has been honored in being asked to speak on the "Life of Robert Burns," Friday evening January 25, at the annual banquet and meeting of the Albany Scottish Club. The occasion is the 170th anniversary of the most beloved of all Scottish characters.

Prof. Whyte will speak January 24, at Stroudsburg, addressing both the Kiwanis Club and the State Teachers Normal. From there he will entrain for Albany.

Alumni Notes

Major John C. Groff, '05

Major John C. Groff, 45, who died in the University Hospital, Philadelphia, recently, was one of the leading members of the Chester County bar and was prominent as a soldier.

He was born in Lewisburg, a son of Dr. George G. and Margaret Palmer Groff, his father having been a professor in Bucknell University. The son was graduated from Bucknell University in the class of 1905, and came to West Chester, where he studied law in the office of Samuel D. Ramsey.

From his early manhood, he was interested in military affairs, having joined Company A, Twelfth Regiment, N. G. P., while at Bucknell. He saw service on the Mexican border during 1916-17, serving as Trial Judge Advocate of the Seventh Division.

He entered the World War as captain of Company I, Sixth Pennsylvania Infantry, and upon reorganization of the Twenty-eighth Division at Camp Hancock, was assigned to the 103d Ammunition Train, commanding Company B. He served as Trial Judge Advocate of the Twenty-eighth Division at Camp Hancock. In France he was assigned to command Companies A and B and was placed in charge of the ammunition supply of the division, serving from July 11 to August 8. He was commissioned major March 5, 1919.

He was a member of the Union League, Philadelphia; West Chester Golf and Country Clubs, Masonic Fraternity, Bernard F. Schlegel Post, American Legion, of which he had served as commander; The Officers Club of the Twenty-eighth Division, and other organizations. At Bucknell he was chosen a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity.

He married Miss Margaretta Lee, daughter of Charles B. Lee, of West Chester.—Public Ledger.

Mrs. C. W. Guinter, '05

The Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Guinter, who leave shortly for their mission field in Nigeria, Africa, were the guests of honor at a farewell reception, held recently by the congregation of the First Evangelical church.

Rev. and Mrs. Guinter will leave soon for New York city from where they will sail within a few days for Africa. Their voyage will cover almost a month before they reach their station and they will not return for three years unless illness makes it necessary. Rev. and Mrs. Guinter have been working in Africa for twenty-two years but have spent the past eighteen months here because of operations which both were forced to undergo.—Williamsport Sun.

Ned F. Wagner, ex-'12

Ned F. Wagner, (Bucknell, ex-'12), was installed as post commander together with other officers at a recent session of the Clyde F. Mowrer Post No. 323, American Legion, in Watsontown. Joseph D. Fox, district deputy, and a Milton resident, installed the officers for 1929. The annual banquet of the post will be held in February. C. G. Stager, P. C., is chairman of the banquet committee. The quota for the post membership this year will be sixty-five.
—Sunbury Item.

Romain C. Hassrick, '06

Romain C. Hassrick, (Bucknell, '06), former chief of the Bureau of Legal Aid and for many years active in American Legion affairs, was installed recently as chef de gare of Le Grande Voiture of the Pennsylvania State "Forty and Eight." The ceremonies were part of the organization's annual banquet, held in the Stephen Girard Hotel, 2027 Chestnut street.

Grand Chef de Gare William H. Yeager and other grand officers participated and assisted in the installation. Mr. Hassrick in an address announced a program of activity for the voiture which will be presented to the Executive Committee.
—Public Ledger.

Oliver J. Decker, Esq., '00

Oliver J. Decker, Esq., '00, who is president of the Lycoming County Bar Association, presided at the annual dinner of that association held in Williamsport recently. Mr. Decker was elected president of the association while he was on the Pacific coast last winter, recuperating from a serious illness.

Miss Sarah I. Van Gundy, '09

Miss Sarah VanGundy, Inst. '84, College, '09, a native of Lewisburg and member of a family of educators, died recently at Washington, D. C. She was a teacher at the National Cathedral School in the capitol. Death came after an illness of two weeks.

The elderly teacher was well known in Lewisburg, being a Bucknell graduate, and maintaining a summer home in that town across from the Women's College building at the University. She was born in Lewisburg, the daughter of the late Christian VanGundy, who was a Union county commissioner and taught in Lewisburg schools. Miss VanGundy was buried in the Lewisburg cemetery on Sunday, December 9.
—Sunbury Item.

He married Miss Margaretta Lee, daughter of Charles B. Lee, of West Chester.—Public Ledger.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Quick on the trigger!
DON'T ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Eternal Pencils $7.50
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

You will find here a group of shoes assembled especially to meet the college man's ideas of style and good taste. They are the result of a 30-year acquaintance with well-dressed college men's preferences.
John Ward MEN'S SHOES
See them on display at MONTGOMERY, & CO.

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Reblocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

WAINIES

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that it now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
George Wright, '30

Brother Carol Muchlin, '28, of Dickinson, paid us a visit while here over the week-end.

"Bob" Cassidy, Phi Kappa Sigma from Dickinson, spent Saturday and Sunday with us.

Brother "Eddie" Hoffman, '29, is again with us after a weeks illness.

Brother Seymour A. Purdy, '31, was welcomed to our midst after a short seige in the Zeigler Infirmary. It was reported that they had to throw him out.

Harry Hogeman, Phi Kappa Sigma of Dickinson was here over the week-end.

SIGMA CHI
"Tommy" MacLeod, '31

Kappa chapter had as its guests on Friday night the presidents of all the fraternities on the campus. Pledges Paul Smidt and Sam Hoak entertained between courses with a vocal duet that brought down the house. Our guests thought that the songsters were trying to be funny—we know better.

After the meal, a medley of old songs of the fraternities represented was played on the piano by pledge "Del" Higgins.

"Sandy" Moore has been elected manager of the "Sig" basketball team and is arranging a schedule of out-of-town games to prepare the team for its tough inter-fraternity league schedule.

Kappa was saddened during the week by the news of the death of Brother Webster Calvin, ex-'02, at his home in Hollidaysburg. A nephew of the deceased, "Matt" Calvin, '32, is now a pledge at the house.

Cooper French, crack Penn State halfback, and George Barr, Penn State tennis ace, spent the week-end at the house, accompanied by two other State boys.

Brother "Ollie" Miller, '31, spent several days in Philadelphia on business. "Ollie" was an important witness in a major civil law suit. His testimony was the punch that won the battle.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
Benjamin Kupstas, '29

Brother Prof. Coleman was a dinner guest at the house Thursday and Friday.

George Klien and "Bob" Thompson met a gentleman in the alley below the May-Mar Sunday night who relieved them of a little palooka. The hunters of the house were called into service with their shot-guns but the culprit could not be located. Brother Klien did not sleep well during the night but won back his usual nonchalant air with the coming of dawn.

Brother "Shorty" Parmley drove up from Mahoney City, Sunday and spent the afternoon with the boys.

What with "stiffs," ghosts, holdups, and the murder of a prominent man, things have been quite lively around the house this week. The boys are prepared for almost anything in the way of murders and ghosts.

DELTA SIGMA
Philip G. Murray, '29

Delta Sigma extends to Brother Henry Fessler and his family deepest sympathy upon the death of his father, Mr. H. G. Fessler. Mr. Fessler was the friend of all the boys and his passing is a matter of deep regret to the fraternity.

Brother "Tubby" Johnston, '28, spent the week-end at the house.

Pledge "Johnny" Knight has been entertaining the boys at meal time lately by rendering vocal selections. All the boys recognize the words, but sometimes it is rather difficult to place the tunes. "Nightie" hits all the sharps and flats, but his voice is very natural.

Chief Hayes Aurand awoke the boys the other night to see the grist mill burn down. Some of the more guilty brothers, upon suddenly beholding the flames in the dark, thought themselves on the road to eternal perdition.

Borther Harry R. Warfel was a recent guest at dinner.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Brother "Fred" Heather Jr., dedicated his new church in Brady, last Sunlay. Mr. Heather worked very hard for such an occasion to come about. It marks another successful step in his Christian work. Lambda Chi is very proud of "Freddie" and follows his work with keen interest.

"Andy" Lobel is able to get around again after having spent a few days in the infirmary suffering with a sprained ankle which he received in the basketball game between Milton High School and the fraternity.

Brothers Cox and Moerschbacher are back with us again after having spent the past week in the infirmary.

"Monk" Sydlak was a guest at the house last Sunday.

Brothers Barton and Nicholson journeyed to Callinswood, N. J., last Friday where they spent the week-end at "Nick's" home.

Plans are being made for our formal dinner dance which is to be held February 2. It is to be a closed affair.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Karl C. Albig, '29

Brother "Spike" Hann visited with friends in Williamsport over Saturday and Sunday.

Brother "Red" Swope of State College, Pa. was a guest of the chapter over the week-end.

Iota is very glad to announce that pledge Alton Kemp, '32 is rapidly recovering from his serious illness.

O'Brien's Tea Room was chartered Saturday from 3 to 4:30 p. m. where a few Semites were entertained for the afternoon.

The interior of the house has been re-papered and new furnishings added to the card room.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Miss Lucille Smith of Susquehanna University was the guest of Theta U. for dinner last Saturday evening.

John Bower, '30, spent last week-end in Allentown. He was a guest of Delta Beta chapter of Muhlenburg, and attended the midyear formal dance at Cedarcrest College.

"Art" Shorts, '30, who spent a short time in the infirmary is back at the house again looking as healthy as usual.

"Ted" Mitchell, '29, took "Art's" place in the infirmary, however. The chapter wishes their master a speedy recovery.

ALPHA CHI MU
J. N. Feaster, '30

Professor and Mrs. F. A. Sprague, Miss Mary Gertrude Dunkel, '29, Miss Caroline Davison, '30, and Miss Alice Frazee, '32, were dinner guests Sunday, January 20.

Mr. and Mrs. John Plant were guests of the fraternity on Wednesday evening, January 16.

"Bob" Pollock, '30, spent the majority of last week and a portion of this in the infirmary.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Shickshinny motored down on Sunday and brought their son "Johnny" Anderson, '31, back to school in time for the finals. All the fellows were glad to see "Andy's" improved condition after his recent attack of pneumonia.

"Buck" Taylor, '30, spoke at a Union Christian Endeavor Meeting held at the Lutheran Church in Bloomsburg on Sunday, January 20.

KAPPA GAMMA
J. M. Paige, '32

Due to the formal installation into the fraternal ranks of Phi Kappa, which will take place February 8 and 9, the active chapter is kept very busy. All the boys are preparing for this event.

"Mickey" Mermon, '29, spent the week-end in Nesquehoning on a business trip.

"Joe" Czarnecki, '32, spent the week-end with his parents in Reading.

James Dibiaso, '30, visited his home in Minersville over the week-end.

The fraternity basketball team journeyed to Ashland Saturday and played the St. Joseph's High School quintet. The end of an interesting and exciting game found us on the short side of the 26-24 score.

PI BETA PHI
Rhoda Herr, '29

Marion Izzard, '30, is attending Miss Ilman's College in Philadelphia. Margaret Schuyler, '30, is attending Rutgers College in New Brunswick, N. J. Evelyn Johnson, '30, is studying at Beaver College, Jenkintown; and Ruth McAllister, '30, is at Ohio State.

Mrs. Edward F. White, of Indianapolis, Ind., the newly elected president of the Federated Women's Clubs of the United States, the largest organization of women in the world, is a member of Iowa Zeta chapter at the University of Iowa. Mrs. White, who was initiated into Pi Beta Phi in 1895 is also a graduate of the law school of the University of Iowa.

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge is a member of Vermont Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi at the University of Vermont. Her successor in the White House,

(Continued on page 7)

"It's no the richt club, laddie!"

If you ever play St. Andrews, the cradle of Gowf, don't be surprised if your aged caddie silently passes you the · · · · · · · when you asked for your · · · · · · · Don't argue with fifty years of seeing the best of 'em come and go.

And don't feel insulted if we tell you something about your taste in cigarettes, because we were making them before you were born.

We know, for instance, that when you say, "I like mild cigarettes"—you don't mean it at all.

You really mean (dinna be fash, now!) that you like the full and free taste of good tobacco, smooth enough to be classed as mild, but not so mild that the flavor and richness get lost. Isn't that so? Then, you'd "rather have a Chesterfield," and the sooner the better.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet.. THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Read The Bucknellian

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

O'BRIEN'S
Corner
6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
ICE CREAM SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—13—

EVERY NOW AND THEN THE NUMEROUS MAGAZINES DEALING WITH THE PROMOTION OF BUSINESS PUBLISH ARTICLES WHICH ARE UNIVERSAL IN THEIR APPEAL, AND WHICH CAN BE APPLIED TO ALL BUSINESSES. SUCH AN ARTICLE APPEARED IN THE JANUARY NINTH ISSUE OF "ADVERTISING AND SELLING." IT IS ENTITLED "TEN EARMARKS OF A GOOD ADVERTISEMENT," AND WAS WRITTEN BY ALLEN T. MOORE.

ACCORDING TO MR. MOORE THE "TEN EARMARKS" ARE:

1. IT GETS ITSELF SEEN.
2. IT QUICKLY CONTACTS A READER-INTEREST.
3. IT WINS CONFIDENCE.
4. IT IS EXPLICIT.
5. IT CREATES A NEED.
6. IT CONSUMMATES A SALE.
7. IT IS MEMORABLE.
8. IT PLAYS ITS PART AS THE ADVERTISER'S REPRESENTATIVE.
9. IT IS A UNIT WITH WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE, AND IS TO FOLLOW—NOT A TRIBUTE TO SOME SUDDEN DESIRE TO BE DIFFERENT.
10. IT IS FOUNDED ON GOOD SENSE.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

—OR "SCHOOL SPIRIT"

Last week we chanted a somewhat satirical plaint anent the subject of "fool spirit." But we readily conceded, at the time, that there does exist such a thing as genuine school spirit, although it is much less in evidence than is the noisy usurper which usually struts in its jacket. Having only lampooned the blatant one in our previous article, we shall here, if our readers can bear the subject for a few paragraphs further, attempt to set forth some of the positive and constructive aspects of the case as we see it.

First of all, and emphatically, we deny that college spirit is necessarily or even usually connected with shouting, cheering, or even "supporting the team." This may be heresy, but, if so, it is a heresy well vindicated by facts. The spirit which is manifested in the stadium by a total (though, thank God, a temporary) suspension of all those habits of action which normally distinguish civilized men—that spirit, we repeat, is not Bucknell spirit, even though a large amount of the latter variety may be mixed with it. It is mostly an expression of the spectators' instinct for melodrama, for action and struggle, for organized conflict against an enemy: it is mostly mob spirit. We are not trying to stigmatize this instinct, for it seems to be a natural one in human beings: we are merely asserting that it is not synonymous with college spirit. Athletic contests would be dull affairs, indeed, (even if they could exist at all) without this desire for conflict. But the urge to express the instinct through violent physical demonstrations appears to be operating to a much lesser degree at Bucknell than some of our self-appointed guardians of patriotism are satisfied with. Ergo, the numerous attacks upon the college "spirit" of our students.

Where do these attacks originate? By whom are they launched? Answering the latter question, we should say, largely by alumni and by our athletic coaches. But the utterances of alumni and coaches on such a subject should not always be taken at their face values. The alumni are looking back at their Alma Mater and her struggles and triumphs, through that romantic and sentimental haze which always accompanies retrospection: while the athletic situation as viewed by the coaches is unavoidably colored by the latters' economic and occupational interest. The alumni are too far away to see accurately: the coaches are too near by.

What, then, should we propose as a sound and rational attitude toward the alleged "spirit," or rather voice-culture, which our critics believe ought to accompany games and contests? Simply this: Use common sense. Accept the unpleasant fact that not even temporary enthusiasm, much less college spirit, can be manufactured to order. Cease these naive paternalistic efforts to elicit greater volumes of noise. Let the freshmen go to the games or stay away, as they see fit (for they really are pretty nearly grown up, after all.) Let the upper-classmen sit with girls or without them, just as they like. Give the best seats in the stadium to the student body. Try to schedule at least a few important games at home. (Of course, in order to do this latter, it would be necessary to set aside economic and financial considerations to some extent, and to act on the principle that, since the various forms of athletic competition were originally introduced as purely student activities, and since even now every student is required to help support them, they ought to be managed so as to consider his interests to a large extent.)

These are the changes in policy which we should recommend as being most conducive to a common-sense attitude—as being the most practical and effective means of getting, in plain terms, more noise out of the students at football and other games. But suppose these methods fail too. Suppose the cheer-leaders continue to be humiliated by vast silences which are interrupted only by their own agonized cries to "Talk it up, gang! Talk it up!" Well, in that case we still have a suggestion ready. If, when real incentives to undergraduate support and enthusiasm are substituted for the present futile efforts to hound and hector and coerce the students into using their lungs—if, after this change has been made (providing stubbornness ever allows it to be made), student "spirit" still does not increase, we should then advise the coaches and the alumni to give up their effort as a bad job. And not only to give up, but actually to sing hosannas and to rejoice in their own failure, as being an evidence that civilization is beginning to appear on the college campus of today! For whether we have success or failure in our strivings after more and louder cheering, we must remember that college loyalty is not, anyway, in the keeping of the Athletic Association. Noise is not spirit; cheering, whether organized or unorganized, is not loyalty. In the light of these facts, any effort by any means, to get mere sound-waves out of the student body, looks supremely childish and asinine. Yet this effort is perennially in the foreground. Do we see great anxiety being manifested by the alumni, because Bucknell is still full of provincialism; because the Philistine is still abroad on the campus; because the events of life come and go for many a student, without ever exciting a questioning thought as to their real value? Do the coaches address chapel sessions or other student audiences and denounce the intellectual apathy shown in the fact that no more than a handful of students ever attend an intercollegiate debate? Our critics say a great deal concerning the students who are so lacking in "spirit" that they stay away from pep meetings and basketball games. But do the same critics ever say anything of the ones who are so carried away by interest in sports that they flunk the majority of their regular courses?

Athletics were introduced originally to serve as a diversion for the college—and have affairs now reached the point where college is tolerated simply to serve as an excuse for the athletics? We are determined to be optimistic about it—we do not believe that matters have yet gone that far. But there are dangers ahead, and there are dangers present. We believe that the best way to avoid these menaces lies in recapturing, if possible, the true meaning of college spirit, and in holding to that conception with all the strength that we can call up. What the true conception is, has been expressed elsewhere so much more strongly than we could do it, that we are going to close by quoting that statement here:

"In the first place, college spirit is not mere voice culture. The man who yells until his face is purple and his throat is a candidate for the rest cure is not necessarily displaying college spirit—though he may possess it. . . .

"True college spirit is found in the man whose heart has warmed to the love of his college, whose eyes have caught the vision of the ideals that the college possesses, whose brain has thought over and understood these ideals until they have become very fibre of his being. This man will yell not for the selfish pleasure of wallowing in sentimentality, but for the solid glory of his college; will run and leap, will edit the paper, with the desire to make and keep the college in the front rank of athletic, social, and intellectual life; will study hard that the college may not be disgraced through him; will conduct himself like a gentleman that no one may sneer at the institution which has sponsored him. . . And above all, he will never forget the gleam of idealism that he received in the old halls, the vision of his chance to serve his fellows. The man who does these things, who thinks these things, has true college spirit."

HAIL GULLIVER!

Behold, a column! A real, honest-to-goodness colyum! That's what the Bucknellian is going to have. Not any of your rare (we mean half-baked) "personal items," nor, again, any of those paragraphs, or other "features" which should be included in a department entitled (to parody Huddeman-Julius) "What the Editor is Swearing About." Not any of these things, indeed, but something which we hope will resemble a little—in form if in nothing else—those daily collections of familiar essays, witty poems, crackling satire, and general space-filler, which are conducted by recognized "colyumists."

This new column is really one last desperate effort on the part of the Bucknellian to shake the hay-seed out of its hair, to throw off some of the country newspaper characteristics which have been the targets of much and well-deserved criticism from its readers. Gulliver has an awful responsibility settled on his head, but he will do his best.

But here is the great big important thing: no column can be much good if only one or two persons contribute to it. Those among our readers who are acquainted with the regular work of writers like Christopher Morley, Don Marquis, H. I. Phillips, and some of the other metropolitan column conductors, will not need to be informed that even these "big guns" are very dependent on contributions from persons in their newspaper audience.

Everybody on the campus—or nearly everybody—is dissatisfied with something. Gulliver invites him to express his dissatisfaction as much as he likes—only stipulating that he do it satirically rather than seriously. The famous traveler will be in particular ecstacy if a few clever and kind individuals will supply him more or less regularly with their ebullitions, published under standing pseudonyms.

OH DEAR!

Another club has been organized on the campus. Another! The zeal of students for getting together and founding clubs is surpassed only by the zeal of already united students for getting Greek letters and turning their clubs into really aristocratic fraternities. Both of these phenomena are to be seen every little while. This latest organization is a department club and will bring its members into closer contact with a man whom we consider one of the finest professors at Bucknell, so it will doubtless do a real work. But. . . . We can't help wondering where this thing is going to stop. The answer is probably that it isn't going to stop. There are still so many chances left for starting new movements and for getting old ones canonized by having them assume the majesty conferred by the Hellenic alphabet!

Let's see. The W. C. T. U. might be petitioned for a chapter at the Sem, and in due time after the installation, its letters could be translated into Greek. The members of the Ministerial Association wear keys on their watch chains—why should not these pulpit-pounders be Hellenized likewise? And the Y. M. C. A.—oh, the "imcas" ought to have Greek letters, by all means! It might help to increase their popularity—although, as things look just now, their organization would probably not win any popularity contests even then. There is no reason why the Baptist C. E. should not become an exclusive honorary fraternity—or the Commuters' League, either. And those two mystic societies (we forget their esoteric names) which divide the Glee Club, need only some Grecian symbols and a little correspondence with Balfour or with Burr, Patterson, and What-Have-You, and their suddenly exalted members will be in a position to present their lady friends with "The Gift that Only a Fraternity Man Can Give." We are certain, also, that a branch of the State Grange would feel quite at home on our campus; and we think that Elmer Gantry might be persuaded to install a chapter of his "National Association for the Purification of Art and the Press." The local organization of the latter would probably be known as "The Bucknell Association for the Purification of the Belle Hop and the Bucknellian."

All these suggestions seem to us very well worth while. To be sure, we have always felt that our campus is, perhaps, a trifle over-organized, but still—with such a host of magnificent opportunities. . . .

North Western Claims Co-eds Of 47 Varieties

Northwestern for her pretty girls! That's a notorious truth. Slim, shining little legs tripping up and down the rickety wooden steps of U. H. Frantic, starry-eyed co-eds dashing off to meetings, notebooks in one hand, lipsticks in the other. Gorgeous, sleepy-eyed things, incredibly slangy, witty, satirical, underdressed. "They were liberal, individual, grown up," says Bernard De Voto, former faculty member, in the January College Humor. "Here were enthusiasm and open-mindedness and sophistication. They preserved, and at Northwestern monopolized, the eagerness and arrogance of youth that have immemorially signified college.

Men Mere Adolescents

"As for the men, I spent my time at the dormitories and the fraternity houses. I went with them to movies and restaurants and speakeasies. I joined their bull sessions. They were likable boys, companiable boys—but only boys. Where were the generous, preposterous, passionate midnight arguments that enlarged the soul? Where were the hot lusts for knowledge, sprung from a roommate's air of superiority, or a drowsing professor, or some obscure, probably lascivious allusion in a text? Where were the sparks that set youth championing anarchy or socialism or decadence? I do not say they were not at Northwestern, but they were not visible. The individual did not appear; the man who expressed a preference for golf or Sanscrit over homecoming and indulged it without shame, who went walking at sunrise because that was his whim or indulged himself with the ladies of the street corner because that was his whim also. There was no individual. The dreadful Philistinism of adolescence was on them, and overlaying it was a Philistinism more discouraging still. A shadow lay across the Evanston campus, the notched, half Gothic shadow of the buildings that were rising on East Chicago Avenue downtown. Northwestern boys moved with uplifted eyes toward the school of commerce. It was the launching of Becoming.

Ain't It Fine Today?

Sure, this world is full of trouble—
I ain't said it ain't,
Lord, I've had enough, an' double,
Reason for complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me,
Skies were often grey;
Thorns an' brambles have beat me
On the road—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

It's today that I am livin'
Not a month ago,
Havin', losin', takin', givin',
As time wills it so.
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow
Fell across the way;
It may rain again tomorrow,
It may rain—but, say,
Ain't it fine today!

—Douglas Mallock.

Advice to Wives

If at first you don't succeed, cry, cry again. —Life.

"and remember! the January Sale of Florsheim Shoes dear! Eight-Eighty Five a pair you know!"

J. F. Prowant Co.

LEWISBURG, PA.

Great states from wheat seeds

IT was unprofitable wilderness, most men thought. But James J. Hill had faith that it could grow wheat and so he built his railroad. Settlers turned the waste-land into wheat-land, the wheat into wealth, the wealth into great western states.

Faith in the economic future still points the way. Right now men in the Bell System are planting the seeds of vast possibilities for even better communication.

Out of the belief that the public needs a broader use of the telephone is growing a constantly improved long distance telephone service. Like the railroads of an earlier day, this service is now tapping and helping to develop rich new territories of commerce.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

The following letter, received by the editor a few days ago, is published here as an explanation of the creation of this new column:

Sir: Since everybody pretends to trouble you with his grievances and follies, I have thought I might claim the privilege of a Bucknellian reader, and put in my share among the rest.

Being last year in England, I heard only derogatory talk concerning the sad state of humour in American colleges, in Bucknell particularly. Of a restless and inquisitive nature, I resolved to visit your University and satisfy myself whether or not humourous writing had reached the low condition that had been reported in my native land. Since my coming to Bucknell, a very learned gentleman has showed me copies of your excellent weekly, the Bucknellian. The perusal of them has more than encouraged me as to the availability of fine satirical talent here in your University. But as to the Hilltop Briefs, your Grace, I am forced to report a feeling of mixed wrath and amusement. Such childish prattle about non-essentials have I found nowhere except in the social columns of the Sunbury Item. Infantile humour is indeed befouling the columns. This same gentleman, whom I have previously mentioned, showed me the Belle Hop! !

My purpose, which I pray will find favor with you, is this: to have the use of one column each week in your estimable publication, for the bringing to light of such satirical matter as I find in my rambles about your campus. I shall be most gracious if anyone, having brought forth a humorous verse, comment, or other critical witticism, will mail it to Gulliver, care of the Bucknellian, Lewisburg. He has beforehand my profuse thanks. Almost any amount of liberty will be granted those who assist in my search and who turn in their findings. Everything will be published over a fictitious appellation of the author's choice.

I entreat, therefore, that you will condescend to grant me my favor. Certain samples of my earlier researches are enclosed herewith. I am, with greatest respect, your grace's most dutiful and most humble servant,

Gulliver.

On Dormitory Noises
(A Steele from Addison)

This letter came into Gulliver's hands recently. It is in protest to the noises prevalent in our dormitories today. Consider the writer's word carefully. Here is the letter:

Dear Sir:-

I am a freshman who would like to turn my hand to any honest bit of work to enable myself to earn a few extra pennies. The idea which I am about to give you is likewise of vital importance to that part of the student body now living on the Hill and at the Women's College.

The post at which I aim is the Comptroller—General of Dormitory Noises, which noises are at the present writing under no manner of rules, discipline, or control. The average student may now disturb the stillness of the dormitory with the raucous notes of a trumpet or the wailing bleat of a saxaphone at almost any time his asinine mind is moved to do so. The less talented ones resort to a Victrola, which sends forth the syncopated strains of "Don't Hold Anything" or "You're the Cream in My Coffee." I propose, as a remedy to this situation, to allow none of these instruments to be used unless previously tuned and licensed by me so as to suit the ears of those who wish to study. I readily admit that there is music in these sounds individually, but the galaxy of sounds now existing in our midst is entirely too disturbing. The slamming of doors and the breaking of transoms is an interrupting element which can be legislated against.

The leather-lunged individual who haunts our dormitories is another nuisance who must be curbed before long. His boisterous yells from one room to another cause no end of disturbance for his fellow students. This is extremely annoying to everyone, and a man like me could remedy this condition if given the proper authority.

Very sincerely yours,
Johnny Pumphandle.
A Pome

I hear in the chamber above me,
The chatter of frightened feet,
The sound of plaster falling,
And high-pitched voices—sweet.

A scream and then a scurry,
I can tell by the running feet
That a poor, dead, little mousey
Is found in someone's suite.

Annette Loss.

STUDENT FELLOWSHIP BANQUETS AT MAY-MAR

The May-Mar tea room was the scene of jollity and song last Thursday night when 60 members of the Student Fellowship and guests gathered around the tables and enjoyed a dinner given to them by an unknown friend. The guests were Prof. and Mrs. C. M. Bond, Dean Amelia E. Clark, and Prof. M. F. Nimkoff. After a brief word of welcome from the president, Lillian Mattick, '30, a violin solo was played by F. P. Jeckel, '32, accompanied by George Farrell, '29. Then the program was turned over to "Phil" Murray, '29, the toast-master, who introduced each after-dinner speaker by some very applicable jokes. The chief speech was given by Fred Heather, '30, who spoke on "What he hoped the Ministry would mean to him." The banquet was closed with a frienship circle service.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

The boys are over-joyed at present. You see, the new dishes came.

On Sunday, January 20, the boys were pleased to entertain at dinner, Prof. and Mrs. F. G. Burpee, Prof. and Mrs. G. M. Kunkle, and Mr. and Mrs. Nogle.

Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Sprague, Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Childs, and Mr. and Mrs. Hess were our guests at dinner on Sunday, January 13.

"Bill" Brastow and "Art" Stutzman are the P. L. T. indoor golf champions, having defeated all but one of five teams competing for the high honors.

"Gus" Rausch, '28, was with us over the week-end. It certainly is great to see some of the fellows drop in occasionally.

MU PHI EPSILON
Lillian Mattick, '30

An "Evening of Opera" was thoroughly enjoyed by all those present at the fourth recital given by the members of Mu Phi Epsilon, on Monday evening at 7:30 in the organ room of the Seminary, at which time the members of Phi Mu Alpha were entertained.

Those who took part in the recital were: Miss Inez Robison, '28, Ruth Evans, '30, Ann Schulz, '30, Katharine Boyer, '29, Miss Helen Tollefson. These entertainers gave selections from the operas "Semiramide"—Rossini; "I Vespri Siciliani"—Verdi; "Tannhauser"—Wagner; "Les Huguenots"—Meyerbeer; "Gianni Schicchi"—Puccini; "Les Pecheurs de Perles"—Bizet; "Flying Dutchman"—Wagner-Liszt; "Herodiade" — Massenet. The program was concluded by a selection from "Pagliacci" by Leoncavllo, sung by Albert Weidensaul, '29, in a costume similar to that used in the formal presentation of the opera. Following the recital, the girls served a delightful lunch, consisting of chicken salad, rolls, angel-food cake, and coffee.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

Ornithologists Find 161 Species in 1928

The past year was a significant one to local ornithologists because the college bird list mounted to unprecedented heights. One hundred and sixty-one species of birds were recorded for the twelve months of 1928.

Two birds never before reported from this region were added to the local check list. One of these was a Caspian tern, which wandered here after being banded in Michigan. Communication with the Biological Survey identified it. The second was an Arctic three-toed woodpecker, observed in the Winfield hills by Professor N. H. Stewart. It was an accidental visitant from the north, possibly driven south by one of the autumnal storms.

Another feature of the past year was a visit last spring by a flock of whistling swans. They made one of their very infrequent stops here, when forced down by a severe windstorm. It was estimated that it was only the third time in twenty years that these huge, dazzling white birds had been seen here.

The pileated woodpecker, a permanent but rare resident of this state was observed within a mile of the college, being seen at the Montandon marsh, probably on a brief excursion from the wilder portion of Montour.

The wild turkey still haunts the evergreen forests to the north, and was twice seen early last winter. Its tracks in the snow have been found frequently on class trips to White Deer. Here in the sheltered valleys the bird lover may find robins and flickers even in midwinter, while the charming notes of the bluejay repay one for the journey.

One of the smallest and rarest of our winter visitants recorded is the red-breasted nuthatch, a relative of our noisy campus friend, the white-breasted nuthatch which amuses everyone by climbing about the trees—head downward.

Judge Lincoln S. Walter, '86

Former Judge Lincoln S. Walter, '86, of Mount Carmel, has recently been quite ill and has been receiving treatment in a Philadelphia hospital and also at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Judge Walter is the father of several sons, who are also Bucknellians. L. S. Walter, '30, is one of them.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

ROOM FOR RENT—Inquire Mrs. Ida B. Henry, 11 Walker Street, Lewisburg, Pa. Opposite Chemical Lab.

SPECIAL OPPORTUNITY—for college students interested in life insurance business. Part time for present and leading to permanent position. For particulars write or interview D. E. Edmondson, Gen. Agent, Danville, Pa.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at

Wagner's Quality Grocery

We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.

Also Dishes for Rent.

WEST SIDE PARK
BERWICK, PA.
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30th
THE INCOMPARABLE
MAL HALLETT
AND HIS Columbia Recording
ORCHESTRA

Your only chance to hear this Orchestra that always packs the Ball Room. This tour does not include any place nearer West Side Park than Allentown.

ANNOUNCEMENT IS MADE OF GRAD'S. ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Thornton of Philadelphia announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Idewyn Sippel Thorton and Earl Sylvester Dunlap of Conshohocken, formerly of Montoursville. Mr. Dunlap, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Dunlap of Montoursville, is a graduate of Bucknell University, class of 1924 and is a member of the Beta Kappa and Pi Delta Epsilon fraternities. No date has been set for the wedding.—Williamsport Sun.

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men't Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING 419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE Next to the Gift Shop

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

FOR
Maximum Protection at Minimum Cost, Buy Your Insurance from
THE
Philadelphia Life Ins. Co.
D. E. EDMONDSON, Gen. Mgr.
Danville, Pa.

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

The above picture showing "The Handy Man" getting in a few mean blows with "Girl of My Dreams" will give you some idea of what you're missing if you don't make that Pi Delt Dance on Friday, Feb. 8, in Tustin Gym.

LET'S GO KID!
THE JUNIOR PROM
FEATURING
Jelly-Roll Morton
AND HIS
Red-Hot Peppers

"ORIGINATOR OF THE STOMP"
NEW DINING HALL
FEB. 15, 1929 $5.00

Bisons Meet Colgate Five Here On Friday Night

Coach Plant Will Send Strong Team Against Invading Quintet

Keen Battle Anticipated Between Rangy Centers; Bollerman, Hamilton's Pivot Star, Has 3-inch Heighth Advantage Over Seiler; Both Are Three Year Veterans

The Bucknell basketball team will face a strong Colgate University court five tomorrow evening at the New High School gymnasium. This will be Bucknell's third home contest of the season, having already played Western Maryland and Schuylkill on home soil. The Colgate game is the gem of the home card.

In an effort to win this game Coach Plant will send his strongest team on the court. "Cal" Smith and "Bernie" Klosterman will be at the forward posts with Seiler at center and Captain Woodring and Wadsworth playing guards. This is the strongest combination that Plant has had in some time.

Captain Woodring has been playing sensationally of late and his work has featured every home contest. He is the defensive star of the team, guarding opposing players in an impressive manner. He also contributes his quota of points on the offense.

"Bernie" Klosterman recently was shifted to a forward post and has teamed up well with "Cal" Smith, both these men are performing creditably. Klosterman, possessing natural basketball qualities, is enjoying one of his best seasons on the court.

Reports from Hamilton have it that Colgate is represented this winter by a strong court team. There are several veterans on it who have been starring recently in New York circles. Colgate is sure to give Bucknell plenty of trouble when the two teams face each other tomorrow evening.

A merry battle is anticipated when stars and have been for three years. Seiler, veteran Bucknell pivot man, stands six feet three inches from the ground and has been a mainstay on the Bucknell team during the past against each other. Both men are the two opposing centers line up two seasons.

Seiler has been playing creditably in every game so far this winter and is the leading individual scorer for the Bisons.. He is a fine pivot man, possessing all the needed qualifications.

Bollerman Is Colgate Star

Bollerman, Colgate center, is also a three year veteran. He is captain of the Maroon court five this winter and the team has been built around him. Bollerman is six feet six inches tall.

It is interesting to note that Bollerman was a member of the Hackensack, N. J., High School basketball team when that aggregation snapped Passaic's 159 straight victories with a 38-34 win over the Bergen County High School five. Passaic had gone through undefeated for five years and during that period had gained the unthought of total of 159 consecutive wins. Bollerman performed sensationally against Passaic that night and played a large part in bringing about the downfall of the hitherto unbeaten Passaic five. That memorable game between Passaic and Hackensack was staged in Hackensack, N. J., four years ago.

Coach Plant will rely on Mitchell to substitute for any of the forwards. He has been going good lately as his performance last week indicated. Kostas and Kammire will be the other reserves.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElligot

Frank Lepore of Pittston recently joined the Bucknell ring squad at the Tustin gym. The presence of Lepore will considerably strengthen the Bucknell ring team. He is a boxing veteran, having been a member of Bucknell's first ring squad last winter. He is a middleweight boxer, possessing a sturdy punch. His aggressive spirit indicates that he is a typical ring aspirant. Although he weighs close to 160, Lepore is very fast on his feet and is a deceptive dodger.

—B—

Last winter Lepore trounced a hopelessly outclassed opponent from Rutgers with apparent ease. He simply toyed with his Jersey rival, outpointing him in all the departments of the game. However, he was no match for the far famed Dave Beloff of Temple who defeated Lepore after a classy fight. Beloff however was an Olympic boxing champion two years ago and is also student coach at Temple. He was a more experienced ringman than Lepore and it was evident before the fight that Lepore was in for a beating. Lepore knew this but never said a word. Nonchalant and unassuming are some of his characteristics which represent self possession. Lepore put up a noble fight but in the end was forced to surrender to a more experienced and older boxer.

—B—

Lepore has been in training for the 1929 ring campaign since football season. During the fall, he would take daily runs into the country in order to keep in condition. Now he indulges in a different sort of outdoor recreation. He goes ice skating. Last week when there was ice on Buffalo Creek, Lepore could be seen every day skimming over the glassy surface, gliding along at an amazing speed. He says that ice skating is one of the best ways to maintain your wind.

—B—

Frank Storaci, last year's ring captain, has decided to fight again this winter. Storaci will be a valuable addition to the team. He is a clever and experienced boxer, fighting in the 145 pound class. What tends to make Storaci greater is the fact that hehas grit and determination.

Halicki Will Join St. Louis Cardinals

Edward H. Halicki, Bucknell University's great athlete, will join the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League in June. Halicki, who is a senior this year, has been a member of the Bucknell diamond nine during the past two seasons. The coming campaign will be his last in varsity competition.

Halicki is a pitcher, but when not toiling on the mound he patrols an outfield berth. He is a fine batter and a consistent fielder. His main asset, though, is his pitching ability. It will be in the role of a moundsman that Halicki will join St. Louis.

During his freshman year at Bucknell, Halicki attracted the attention of several big league scouts by his diamond exploits. Rogers Hornsby, at that time manager of the St. Louis Nationals, saw Halicki in action and was impressed by the youthful collegian.

He immediately advised officials of the St. Louis National League Club to sign Halicki as soon as possible. Halicki was approached by representatives of the Cardinals who offered the Bucknell star a contract. However, Halicki absolutely refused all offers, stating that he intended to finish his college course before entering professional ranks.

Scouts Trail Halicki

Since that time, major league scouts representing the St. Louis Cardinals have been on Halicki's trail, but not until recently were they assured that Halicki would become a member of their outfit. Several other clubs also tried to lure Halicki into their fold but the Bucknell ace ignored all bids.

Halicki's statement recently dispelled all hopes other major league teams had of acquiring him. He merely declared that he would join the St. Louis Cardinals as a pitcher early in June. No contract was signed but an agreement was made.

During a period of two years on the diamond, Halicki has won twenty victories as contrasted with four setbacks.

Strange as it may seem, two of the four games lost by Halicki were against Albright College of Meyerstown, Pa. An interesting feature of those two games was the fact that on both occasions Halicki was pitted against Roy Sherrid, now the property of the New York Yankees.

Halicki is twenty-two years old, weighs 185 pounds, and is 5 feet 11 inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Hanover Township High School, where he was a star in all sports. During his scholastic career Halicki garnered twelve varsity letters, representing four each in baseball, basketball, and football.

Six-Time Captain

What is claimed to be an Eastern scholastic athletic record was established by Halicki when a junior and senior in high school. During those two years Halicki captained all three major sports teams, baseball, basketball, and football. He was outstanding on the football team for four years.

At Bucknell, Halicki does not wholly confine his athletic ability to baseball, as he is also a star on the gridiron and on the court. He played on the Bucknell basketball team for two years at forward. He deserted the court this winter to put more time on his studies.

He may enter the ring at Bucknell as a light heavyweight on the boxing team. Bucknell needs another competent fighter that will aid the team during the coming intercollegiate meet.

Halicki was at his best as a football player at Bucknell. During his freshman year he captained the yearling eleven and played one of the halfback posts.

Makes Bison Eleven

He lived up to the impressive record that he established when a freshman the following year, when he easily qualified for a berth on the Bucknell varsity eleven, then coached by Charles Moran.

During his second season on the Bucknell gridiron team, Halicki established an intercollegiate placement kicking record, booting nineteen straight points after touchdowns. He also scored a touchdown in Bucknell's victory over Penn State.

He captained the Bucknell varsity eleven last fall and closed his brilliant gridiron career in a blaze of glory against Temple on Thanksgiving Day by booting the extra point that tied the Philadelphians in the last minute of play.

—New York World.

Inter-Sorority Basketball To be Sponsored by W. A. A.

Although the season's schedule has not yet been announced, much interest is being shown in the inter-sorority basketball contests.

Beginning this week, regular practices will be held in Tustin Gym. Practice hours will be from 11 to 12:30 a. m. on Saturdays, and from 8:30 to 10 on Tuesday evenings. The season promises to be as successful as was that of the hockey tournament.

The hockey awards for the members of the championship team have arrived and will soon be presented. They are gold pins in the form of hockey sticks. B. U., '28, will be engraved on them.

MODEL LEAGUE TO MEET

Arrangements have been made to hold a local peace contest in the college chapel, at Albright, at which time the winners will be chosen to represent the college at the Model League of Nations Assembly to be held at Vassar College, sometime in February.

BELL RINGS OUT OF TURN

For nine minutes on a recent Saturday night the bell on top of Packer Hall at Lehigh University clamored continuously. What may have caused the bell to toll neither the night watchman nor the superintendent of grounds could explain. Even the Lehigh Railroad, which controls the ringing of the bell by electrical connections from its general office,could not understadd the nine minute concert. The fire department telephoned the college to inquire what the trouble was, but no one knew. Ever since its little spree, the bell has been ringing according to schedule as though nothing had happened.

Students who flock to the new high school gym Friday will be in for a treat. Colgate will be the attraction and a stirring game is anticipated. The big Maroon team from Hamilton, N. Y., boasted of a formidable team this winter that is able to give any college team hereabouts a stiff tussle. Watch Bollerman, giant Colgate center, and see what you think of him.

After the Colgate game there will not be any more contests on the court until February 6, at which time Coach Plant's men will invade Tigertown to grapple with the Princeton College quintet on the court.

PhiGam and S. A. E. Basketeers Triumph

Four more fraternity court teams swung into action last Monday evening at the Tustin Gym when the Phi Gamma Delta and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon basketball fives were respective winners over the quintets representing Kappa Gamma and Phi Lambda Theta.

The Phi Gams defeated the Kappa Gams by a 21-16 margin while the S. A. Es. trounced the Phi Lambda Thetas by a 43-12 score. The first game was a long drawn out affair, with the winners outplaying their rivals all the way through.

The Kappa Gammas played listless ball except for an exhibition put on by Joe Spadafora, who was the life of the losing team. "Spady" kept his team in the game by virtue of his brilliant individual play. He was the high scorer for his team, caging five field goals and a trio of fouls for a 13 point total.

Spadafora was the only member of the losing quintet who was able to register a field goal. "Slim" Mezza contributed the rest of the loser's points by caging three free throws. The losers had many chances to score but they threw them away.

"Willie" McFarland, a freshman, showed his Phi Gam team how to cage the field goals as he tossed in four double deckers and a trio of fouls totaling eleven points. "Mac" also played a fine court game.

Mahood and Mitchell, with five points each, were the other luminaries for the winning quintet.

"FIJIS" ON THE TOP

The box scores:

Phi Gams	Field	Foul	Total
Mitchell, f	2	1	5
McFarland, f	3	3	11
Hayman, f	0	0	0
Wagner, c	0	0	0
Mahood, g	1	3	5
Marter, g	0	0	0
Total	7	7	21
Kappa Gams	Field	Foul	Total
Spadafora, f	5	3	13
Blondo, f	0	0	0
Mezza, c	0	3	3
Canfield, f	0	0	0
Trudenak, g	0	0	0
Andrews, g	0	0	0
Merman, g	0	0	0
Staddard, g	0	0	0
Total	5	6	16
Phi Gams		8	13—21
Kappa Gams		6	10—16

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki. Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

(Continued on last page.)

Bucknell Tossers Hit Stride; Defeat Schuylkill, by 41-35

Haines' Uncanny Shooting Makes B. U. Step To Avert Disaster, Though Plantmen Hold Lead From Beginning Of Contest; Both Teams Show Power In Offensive Play

The Bucknell University basketball team gained its second home victory of the season last Thursday evening at the new high school gym, vanquishing the Schuylkill College quintet in a fast game by a 41-35 margin.

During the first half the game was featured by the uncanny basket shooting of Haines of Schuylkill who kept his team in the running with a surprising series of field goals.

Both teams presented fine offenses but the defenses were somewhat weak as is indicated by the score. At half time Bucknell lead 23-16. During the last period the losers outscored their Bison rivals 19-18 but were unable to overcome the lead.

Seiler High Scorer

"Archie" Seiler, Coach Plant's pivot ace, was again the center of the Bucknell attack. Seiler ran wild to cage seven field goals and four fouls for an 18 point total. Seiler's playing was a feature of the game as many of his double deckers came as the results of long distance heaves. In the last two games Seiler has scored a total of 34 points. Two weeks ago playing against Western Maryland, Seiler registered 16 points.

Coach Plant's quintet worked smoothly during the entire game. The grey thatched mentor employed only one substitute, Mitchell replacing Klosterman late in the first period.

Coach "Doggy" Julian of Schuylkill also used but one emergency man, Snader taking Neff's place when the latter was ordered out of the game because of fouls late in the tussle. Neff, who hails from Sunbury, played a bang up game until he was withdrawn.

Haines however was the big gun on the Schuylkill team. The Reading forward was on last Thursday and he demonstrated his ability to sink in the long ones. Seiler and Haines each caged seven field goals but Seiler's quartet of fouls gave him the individual scoring honors for the evening.

Woodring's Work Impressive

Captain Woodring of Bucknell treated the spectators to a rare exhibition of airtight defensive work. The Bison leader lurked around the enemy basket in order to frustrate all hostile scoring endeavor. Woodring also came down the floor on two occasions to cage a pair of field goals.

The Schuylkill triumph marks the second time this season that the Plantmen have taken the measure of an opposing team at home. The Bucknell five has shown a reversal of form and are now playing headsup ball.

SEILER SHINES AGAIN!

The box score:

Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Smith, f	4	0	8
Klosterman, f	1	2	4
Mitchell, f	0	0	0
Seiler, c	7	4	18
Wadsworth, g	2	1	5
Woodring, g	2	2	6
Total	16	9	41
Schuylkill	Field	Foul	Total
Firing, f	1	0	2
Haines, f	7	2	16
Neff, c	3	1	7
Snader, c	1	1	3
Diebert, g	0	6	6
Purnell, g	0	1	1
Total	12	11	35

Score by periods:

Bucknell	23	18—41
Schuylkill	16	19—35

Referee—Bryan. Scorer—McElligot.

ACCOUNTING AT LAFAYETTE

The council committee at Lafayette College has recommended a course in accounting for social chairmen. All chairmen of class dances and banquets, as well as heads of other activities, will be asked to take brief instruction in accounting and the keeping of books.

F. & M. CALLS OFF STRIKE

The students of Franklin and Marshall College, after being refused a longer Christmas vacation, made an attempt to arouse enough sentiment for a general student strike. After a conference with the president of the college, the Student Senator ordered the attempt abandoned.

LOST

AN OPPORTUNITY IF YOU DO NOT USE OUR CLASSIFIED AD. COLUMN.

AT THE TREMENDOUS COST OF ONE CENT PER WORD YOU CAN SEND A MESSAGE TO TWO THOUSAND OR MORE PERSONS.

STUDENTS WISHING ROOMS, OR DESIRING TO CHANGE THE PRESENT ONE, WILL DO WELL BY TRYING A CLASSIFIED AD.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR THE TUTORS AND THOSE WISHING TO BE TUTORED TO BECOME ACQUAINTED THROUGH THESE ADS.

THIS COLUMN CAN'T HELP BUT BRING RESULTS, TRY IT.

PHONE 351 OR WRITE IN CARE OF BOX X, LEWISBURG, AND ASK FOR THE "CLASSIFIED AD DEPARTMENT." TRAINED BUSINESS ASSISTANTS WILL BE GLAD TO TAKE CARE OF YOU.

Why The Thrones In Our Class Rooms?

If the reader has ever had occasion to wander through the upper halls of "Old Main," he has discovered two large rooms on opposite sides of the hall on the second floor, which are known by the respective names of Euepia and Theta Alpha. Stepping inside one of them, he is met by an odd sight. At the far side of the room is a low platform. In the middle of this throne-like elevation stands a large, much-carved desk which, by its very appearance, seems to carry great authority. On either side of this seat of judgement are two other desks—more modest in size and decoration, but still authoritative-looking.

What Means All This?

What is the meaning of this strange arrangement of furniture? Why do the busts of Cicero and Virgil gaze stolidly down from the wall above the platform? These are recitation rooms—what can such dignified appointments and such impressive names have to do with the listless students who sit whispering, yawning, or frankly slumbering in the benches of the halls? Obviously the rooms have a history.

The first catalog of the University at Lewisburg was published in 1850. In this volume are mentioned three literary societies—one composed of faculty members, and the other two of students. Although the first-named has no bearing upon our present problem, it is interesting to note something of its character. The organization was known by the sonorous title of "The Society for Moral and Religious Research." Contemporary with this were numerous academic organizations of the same kind. In fact, most of the European universities of the time had their "Societies for Moral and Religious Research." They were very learned groups, and the University at Lewisburg was taking no "back seat" in this respect. The second catalog of the University—published in 1851-52—mentions the two student societies by name. And as one would guess from the names of the rooms in "Old Main," they were Euepia and Theta Alpha, respectively.

L'Ancien Regime

The files of the Orange and Blue—the little four-page ancestor of the Bucknellian—tell the story of these societies' activity during the latter period of their existence. Debating seems to have been their foremost interest. The members who made up the audience at these meetings were seated along the sides of the room, in rows of large armed chairs, which were arranged to face the middle. Behind the big central desk on the platform sat the judge of the contest, with the "fries" placed at the lesser desks on his right hand and left. The whole must have resembled a contest of the old German "Meistersingers," with the Gemerke—or platform for critics—at one end of the hall, and the singer—in this case, the orator—standing in front of the sounding-board at the other.

The Greeks Invade

It was in the early years of the twentieth century that these societies finally ceased to be. The University had been very small up to that time, but during the "nineties" and nineteen hundreds, a new growth commence.. Until then the Sigma Chi, Phi Gamma Delta, and Phi Kappa Psi fraternities had been the only ones on the campus. None of the chapters boasted more than 10 members. But now a number of new organizations began to spring up. The Pi Beta Phi came in '95, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon, in '92, and others followed rapidly. The old interest in literary matters was being transformed into a new one concerned with social activities and athletics. Thus in the early nineteen hundreds Euepia and Theta Alpha came to the end of their existence. Spasmodic efforts to revive them were never successful. Along with them into oblivion went the old literary publication of the undergraduates, the Bucknell Mirror. Near the end of the latter's life there was established a new publication, the Orange and Blue, which was to grow into the present Bucknellian.

Tradition Marches On

Forms and bodies pass away, but true spirit remains. Thus it has been in Bucknell history. Euepia, Theta Alpha, and the Mirror had a common object—the stimulation of self expression at Bucknell. Although none of these forms of encouragement has been functioning in many years, the idea by which they were motivated seems to have survived. Three years ago the Mirror was practically reincarnated in the shape of Bucknell Verse, and twelve months after that event old Euepia and Theta Alpha had a similar rebirth in Sigma Tau Delta, the professional English fraternity. It is needless to lament the passing of our ancient institutions. Their material forms alone have been lost, and the latter have disappeared only when they were definitely outmoded, and in order to give way to modern and better adapted ones. Let us not fear for our traditions. The real tradition lives not in the external organizations of an activity, but in its spirit. And the spirit does not die.

ELIZABETH WALKER,'24, NOW MRS. H. B. INGALLS

In the historic Memorial Chapel at Valley Forge Miss Elizabeth Sanford Walker, '24, niece of Mr. and Mrs. William Mezick of Farmingdale, New Jersey, was married Friday, December the 28, to Mr. Harold Brown Ingalls, son of Mr. George Everett Ingalls, of Cleveland, Ohio. The Rev. Henry Pitney Van Dusen of Union Theological Seminary officiated, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Herbert Burk, rector of the Chapel.

The bridal party included the sister of the bride, Mrs. Clifton L. Buckley of Bristol, Pa., as matron of honor, and Mr. T. Sheldon Turner of Swarthmore, Pa., as best man. Mr. Francis E. Walker escorted his sister, the bride, who was becomingly gowned in blue satin and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Buckley, dressed in a fawn colored gown, carried ophelia roses.

After a small reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hill Collins, Jr., at Bryn Mawr, Mr. and Mrs. Ingalls left for a short wedding trip. They will be at home after January 15 at Hampton Bay, Long Island, New York.

What the Colleges Are Doing

Franklin and Marshall recently received the generous donation of $250,000 from the president of the board of trustees, which amount has already been put to excellent use by inaugurating the building of a chemical and biological laboratory. Dr. H. H. Apple, president of the college, turned over the first spadeful of earth at an informal ceremony on December 19, and they are hoping that the new lab will be ready for occupation by September 1, 1929.

—B—

Attendants at the Senior Ball at Penn State will jazz to the strains of the Silvertown Cord Orchestra in the Recreation Hall this coming Friday night. The Silver Masked Tenor will also entertain those present with selections of his own choosing.

—B—

The 2,000 students and instructors of the University of Idaho stood between vaccination or isolation here over the Christmas holidays, following discovery of a case of smallpox on the campus. The student indignation was of no avail, for President Kelly ordered all students and instructors to report for vaccination or fourteen-day quarantine at the university infirmary.

—B—

Ten Haverford faculty members and eleven members of the board of managers have been included in the 1928-1929 issue of the Who's Who in America.

—B—

By recommendation of the student council, Dean C. W. Wendell, of Yale, announced that upperclassmen of the first and second rank would be given unlimited cuts for the rest of the academic year. Sophomores with very high marks were also extended this privilege. It is thought that this will be an incentive to better and higher marks.

—B—

"The Valiant" was the most successful of the four one-act plays presented by the Drama class of Swarthmore college given in the production of the Curtain Theater. This play received the best and most sympathetic response from the audience.

—B—

Rutgers University was quite fortunate in having T. A. Daly, renowned writer and humorist, as a speaker in a chapel service, just a short time ago. Daly places his emphasis on the poems of the Irish and the Italians.

A three-passenger biplane owned by a freshman at the University of South Dakota enables him to spend every week-end at his home, seventy miles away from the college, and yet be on time for the 7:50 classes on Monday mornings.

—B—

Allegheny is rejoicing that two new buildings, costing $310,000 are being completed on her campus. Arter Hall, to be used principally for the study of foreign languages, will also have a unique feature in that it will house a "little theatre" in the basement of the building. The second building, a memorial to Jacob Caflisch, will house 125 freshmen. It is their newest dormitory.

—B—

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

Mrs. Herbert Hoover, is a member of the Stanford University chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Mary M. Wolfe, M. D., '96, superintendent of the State Village at Laureton, addressed the members of the Lewisburg chapter of the D. A. R. at their January meeting on "The Significance of Being a Daughter of the American Revolution." Dr. Wolfe entered her talk on the individual's obligation to take part in all political elections.

Elizabeth F. Spyker, '19, is vice-president of the Pennsylvania central section of the American Legion Auxiliary. Miss Spyker has been elected one of the four Pennsylvania Auxiliary delegates to the National Defense conference to be held in Washington, D. C., the latter part of this month.

Mrs. Lewis E. Theiss, regent of Shikelimo Chapter, D. A. R. is a delegate to the Thirty-Eighth National Congress of the Society that meets in Washington, D. C. in April.

Mrs. Florence Clum Temple, '12, died September 24, 1928 after a short illness which resulted in paralysis. Mrs. Clum had served for many years as circulation manager of the fraternity magazine, the Arrow and had a wide acquaintance among the seventy-six chapters of the fraternity. At the time of her death she was teaching in Philadelphia where she had gone from the Stevens High School for Girls in Lancaster, Pa., where she had been teaching civics and American history.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
"Betty" Fries, '31

"Jo" Schilling, '29, must not have found State College as alluring as the Alma Mater since she spent but a day there and brought "State" back to Bucknell on Sunday.

"Sally" Porter, '29, was called to her home in Juniata last week because of the death of a close friend.

"Inky" Robison, '28, who teaches in Lewisburg was the house guest of Ruth McFarland, '29, recently. Inez thoroughly approves of the new dining room.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta chapter is making preparations for a formal dance to be held in Tustin Gymnasium on February 2. Several alumnae declared their intention of returning. "Betty" Davis, '28, has stated definitely that she is coming from Cleveland for the big affair. "GG" Guilford, '27, is looked for, while many from around Philadelphia expect to be on hand.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

The actives pleasantly entertained the patronesses and pledges at a bridge party on Saturday afternoon, January 19, in the organ room. Prizes were won by Mrs. Frank E. Burpee and by Lois Baker, '31. Consolation prizes were given to Mrs. C. M. Schuyler, and Ruth Schreiber, '32.

BETA KAPPA
Jack Crittenden, '31

The chapter was pleased with a visit of Brother Robert Jones, '30. "Bob" came back to register for the next semester, having transferred back to Bucknell after attending St. Thomas College in Scranton.

The house quintet has been practicing regularly, led by captain "Hammer" Huffman, '30. We are going to have a show this year. "Count" Sherwood, '31, has been selected as manager.

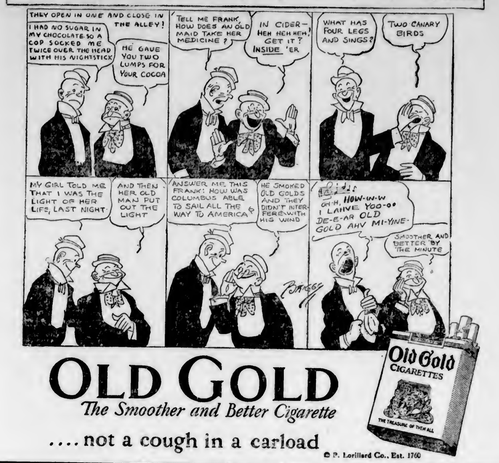
All in attendance last Saturday night enjoyed the "ball." The orchestra was hot and so were the doggies. Even one freshman was heard to say that "he was in voluptuous ecstasies."

"Hail" Downer, '29, has a bad knee, the result of overtraining, as he claims. He and "Soup" Posten, '30, together with "Tugy" Atwood, '31, can be seen daily togging down the road to Winfield in their track outfits.

J. R. Weber, '28, who insists that he is working off his master's degree in the chem. lab. says he is qualified to make his challenge of having driven between Sunbury and Lewisburg more than any other man, woman, or child.

MRS. FRANK B. EMERY, '00, TO AID DEFENSE COUNCIL

Mrs. Frank B. Emery, (Gertrude Ross, '00), presided at the recent Harrisburg meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary, of which she is state president. She was chosen as a delegate to the National Defence Conference, which will be held in Washington, D. C., the latter part of January. Miss Elizabeth F. Spyker, '19, of Lewisburg, who is president of the central section of the state auxiliary, was another delegate chosen to attend this conference.



Frank and Ernest : : : : : : : : By BRIGGS
THEY OPEN IN ONE AND CLOSE IN THE ALLEY!
I HAD NO SUGAR IN MY CHOCOLATE SO A COP SOCKED ME TWICE OVER THE HEAD WITH HIS NIGHTSTICK
HE GAVE YOU TWO LUMPS FOR YOUR COCOA
TELL ME FRANK HOW DOES AN OLD MAID TAKE HER MEDICINE?
IN CIDER— HEH HEH HEH! GET IT? INSIDE 'ER.
WHAT HAS FOUR LEGS AND SINGS?
TWO CANARY BIRDS
MY GIRL TOLD ME THAT I WAS THE LIGHT OF HER LIFE, LAST NIGHT
AND THEN HER OLD MAN PUT OUT THE LIGHT
ANSWER ME! THIS FRANK! HOW WAS COLUMBUS ABLE TO SAIL ALL THE WAY TO AMERICA?
HE SMOKED OLD GOLDS AND THEY BLEW HIM FER-WITH HIS WIND!
HOW-W-W DO I LAWNE YOU-O-O DE-E-AR OLD GOLD AHY MI-YNE-
SOOTHER AND EASIER TO THE TASTE
Old Gold CIGARETTES
THE TREASURE OF THE SIERRAS

OLD GOLD

The Smoother and Better Cigarette

.... not a cough in a carload

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

THE PURITY

CANDY ICE CREAM and Toasted Sandwiches

BECHTEL BROS.

319 Market Street.

J. C. REEDY

Dealer in Furniture and Carpets

530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller

Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry

318 Market Street

LEWISBURG, PA.

FLOWERS AT MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES

Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.

Corsages a Specialty

Member of F. T. D. Asso.

Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company

Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.

A representative will call upon request.

431 439 Hepburn Street

WILLIAMSPORT, PA.

Phone 7158

LEARN THE PIANO IN TEN LESSONS

TENOR-BANJO OR MANDOLIN IN FIVE LESSONS

Without nerve-racking, heart-breaking scales and exercises. You are taught to play by note in regular professional chord style. In your very first lesson you will be able to play a popular number by note.

SEND FOR IT ON APPROVAL

The "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is the title of this method. Eight years were required to perfect this great work. The entire course, with all necessary examination sheets is bound in one volume. The first lesson is unsealed which the student may examine and be his own JUDGE and JURY. The later part of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" is sealed.

Upon the student returning any copy of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" with the seal unbroken, we will refund in full all money paid.

This amazing Self-Instructor will be sent anywhere. You do not need to send any money. When you receive this new method of teaching made, deposit with the Postman the sum of ten dollars. If you are not entirely satisfied, the money paid will be returned in full, upon written request. The Publishers are anxious to place this "Self-Instructor" in the hands of music lovers all over the country, and are in a position to make an attractive proposition to agents. Send for your copy today. Address The "Hallmark Self-Instructor" Station G, Post Office Box 111, New York, N. Y.

The Union National Bank

LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

If It's Properly Laundered

IT'S BEEN TO THE

PEERLESS LAUNDRY

14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

AT LEWISBURG, PA.

EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President

Address

H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Phi Gam and S. A. E. Basketeers Triumph

(Continued from page 6)

Second Game A Runaway

The second game resulted in a runaway for the S. A. E. team. Led by Clark Hinkle, who scored 16 points, the winners rode roughshod over a weak Phi Lambda Theta team, burying them under a landslide of field goals and fouls. During the first quarter, the winners were hard pressed but soon hit their stride and gradually drew away from their exhausted rivals.

Clark Hinkle, the Ohio youth who played sensational ball on the freshman football team last fall, was unstoppable that evening. His sixteen points represented six field goals and a quartet of free tosses. Wilbur Ammerman, with eleven points, was Hinkle's closest rival for individual honors. "Joe" Kastrava played a bangup game at the pivot post.

WON BY A BIG MARGIN

Phi Lambda Theta	Field	Foul	Total
Trostle, f	1	1	3
Johnson, f	0	0	0
Travelpiece, f	0	0	0
Welker, f	0	0	0
Longstretch, c	1	0	2
Paul, g	2	3	7
Humphreys, g	0	0	0
Koehler, g	0	0	0
Total	4	4	12
S. A. E's.	Field	Foul	Total
Hitchens, f	1	1	3
Shuman, f	1	0	2
Hinkle, f	6	4	16
Chieff, f	2	1	5
Kastrava, c	3	0	6
Ammerman, g	5	1	11
C. Jones, g	0	0	0
T. Jones, g	0	0	0
Total	18	7	43

Score by periods:

Phi Lambda Theta	7	5—12
S. A. E's.	19	24—43

Referee—"Arch" Seiler. Scorer—"Mac" McElgot.

Professor G. C. L. Reimer, of Clarion, former professor of German at Bucknell University, visited with friends in Lewisburg, Friday, January 18.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

REISMEYER, '28, WRITES THESIS ON CHEMISTRY

(Continued from Page 1.)

address delivered before the Central Pennsylvania Section of the American Chemical Society at their meeting in May at Lewisburg.

Opening with a definition of the term "noble metal," the author logically developed his article dealing with a historical sketch of the discovery and early uses of platinum, mentioning that the metal was used to "counterfeit" gold coins actually increasing the value of the coins about six-fold on the present current value of platinum. The article then continues with a discussion of the values and uses of platinum, properties of the metals included in the platinum group, a separation and analysis of these metals, in which is included the semi-quantitative for analysis as developed by the author.

Dr. Ogburn has received many well-earned commendations on this timely and well developed publication from other workers engaged on problems allied to the platinum group.

"MIND IS THE FUNCTION OF BRAIN:" DR. PIKE

(Continued from Page 1.)

sheath of connective tissue called the meninges. This tough coat is protective. Dr. Pike demonstrated that the brain is bilateral and convoluted.

Definite lobes of the brain have definite functions. For example, motor areas are in the forepart of the brain, the auditory area at the sides, while the region of sight is located at the back.

The center of speech, developing only on one side of the brain, affords a side of dominance for the individual.

WINGERT, '72, AGAIN HEADS CO. ASSOCIATION

John Wingert, (Bucknell, '72), prominent Union County farmer, was re-elected president of the Union County Agricultural Extension Association at the annual meeting in the court house at Lewisburg recently. He has been president for ten years, almost the entire period of the organization's history, and desired to turn over the work to some other person, but the association was unanimous in its desire that he be retained.—Sunbury Item.

Dr. Stewart Issues Pamphlet on Reptiles

"Reptiles of Pennsylvania" is the title of a pamphlet by Professor N. H. Stewart, that has just come from the press.

It contains a classification of the reptiles and includes a description and notes on the life history and habits of each of the thirteen snakes, two lizards, and eight turtles found in the Lewisburg district. In addition it includes notes on those reptiles not occuring here, but reported from other sections of the state.

This pamphlet will be particularly valuable to students of natural history in this state, and together with Dr. Stewart's previous papers on the "amphibia of Pennsylvania" and "Fishes of the Upper Susquehanna Basin" gives a comprehensive checklist of the cold-blooded vertebrates of this region.

DEAN CLARK SPEAKS

"The richest personality on the campus is not to be judged by his list of activities, but by that particular activity which he places in the foreground," said Dean Amelia E. Clark in her talk to the students in upper-class chapel, Tuesday morning, January 22.

Dean Clark characterized the semester examination period as "that time at which we take inventory of our mental equipment." She added "during the past semester we have had to make a choice between various activities, not necessarily between worthy and unworthy ones, but between worthy and less worthy ones. We are now at the point when we shall learn whether or not we have chosen wisely."

PENN. SCHOOL SYSTEM STARTED BY STEVENS

(Continued from Page 1.)

free education. When a measure was passed in this state organizing a system of common schools, a storm of opposition arose on all sides. A year later, in 1853, Stevens came along, struck out this bill, and substituted another for the free school system that we now have. Thus did he achieve much for the commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

The second period of his career had to do with his work in Congress. He was sent to Congress in 1849. Here he showed himself to be an indefatigable fighter for what he believed was right. He had the clear vision of the prophet and finally achieved victory.

"The third and last period of the career of this great man is coincident with the reconstruction period of our nation. It was at this time that he helped to guide the destinies of a great republic to a safe future. The power of command and undiminished authority which he exercised was remarkable. He continued his duties up to the very last, and when death finally claimed him, he passed away calmly and serenely. In accordance with his request, he was buried in a graveyard where the dead of every race and color have been laid. He was a genius in his own way. His eloquence, logic, wit, courage, and relentless tenacity—all these qualities made him a great man."

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

Sticky, sticky, greasy tar,
How we wonder where you are.
In the streets you calmly lie,
And mark our clothes as we go by.

* * * *

Multiplication is vexation,
Division is as bad.
Exams o'ertake us twice a year,
And that's what makes us mad.

This Should Be of Interest to Each and Every One of You

Your health problems are easy to solve with this drugless method.

Chiropractic can assure you of results that will amaze you.

NO CHARGE FOR CONSULTATION.

CHAS. S. HARTMAN, D. C.
CHIROPRACTOR
Palmer 3 Yr. Graduate.
Over Krauser's Drug Store MILTON.

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON
THE HOME OF "VITAPHONE and "MOVIETONE" TALKING PICTURES.
LAST TIME TODAY—THURSDAY, JAN. 24.
The Hero of "Wings" in his first Paramount Talking Picture.
"V ARSITY
With MARY BRIAN
A Real College Drama.
TOMORROW and SATURDAY—JAN. 25-26.
A Win Fox Movietone Special
"MOTHER MACHREE"
With BELLE BENNETT, VICTOR McLAGLEN, AND OTHERS
Everybody Should SEE and HEAR this Picture.
COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY—JAN. 28-29.
MADGE BELLAMY in "MOTHER KNOWS BEST"
A Win Fox Movietone Talking Picture
13 Big Reels. DON'T MISS IT.
Our Screen SPEAKS and SINGS Now.
COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY—JAN. 30-31.
A Paramount Special Synchronized Music Score and Sound Effects
"DOCKS OF NEW YORK"
With GEORGE BANCROFF, BETTY COMPSON and OTHER GREAT CAST
Prices—Matinee: 2:30. 15c and 30c. Evenings: 7:00 and 9:00. 20c—30c—35c.

HERMAN & LEISER
FINAL CLEARANCE
OF
Misses' and Women's Coats
BEGINS
THIS FRIDAY MORNING
at one-half their regular price
Now Showing New Spring Sport Coats

ANNOUNCING
OUR
January Clearance Sale
20 Per Cent. Reduction on all HABERDASHERY
25 Per Cent. Reduction on all SUITS, OVERCOATS and TOP COATS
Montgomery's
OF BUCKNELL

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits $160,000.00
Deposits $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

CLOTHES
Ready-made And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

The College Inn and Sanitation

The flu epidemic emphasizes the importance of healthful living. Two important rules of a sanitary eating place are ventilating and dishwashing equipment. The College Inn is equipped with two tall chimneys used exclusively to provide a continual fresh air supply in conjunction with a large ventilator on the roof. To supply boiling water for dishwashing, steam table, and the Hoffman pressing machine, we maintain a Frick Horizontal Type boiler, twelve horse power at an average pressure of eighty pounds. Two student janitors clean the place thoroughly twice a day. There has been no known case of mortality among several generations of student customers.

"On The Quadrangle"

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

DON'T FORGET!
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
ARE ENROLLMENT DAYS

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

MARS! WHO'S MARS?
LOOK FOR ANSWER
ON EDITORIAL PAGE

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, JANUARY 31, 1929. NUMBER 17

Dr. and Mrs. Hunt Resume Journey, Following Wreck

Leave Canal Zone By Steamship Sailing to New Orleans; Then By Train to Coast

President Emory W. Hunt has written the following letter to his niece, Miss Mary Hunt, our college registar. It will be of interest to Bucknellians, and is printed in full:

We sailed from New York January third on the President Adams of the Dollar Line of round-the-world ships. After a comfortable four days, for the Atlantic, including Cape Hatteras, and an interesting twelve hours in Havana, we were due to pass through the Canal Friday, the eleventh. We missed it by about a mile. I had risen early to observe our approach and could see the harbor lights which were very distinct, marking the course. By some failure of what in college we call "guidance" these were ignored and by "self-determination" we went "on the rocks" literally. That they were of coral formation and of great interest to the Biology department did not help us at all.

We were taken off the ship in small boats, which gave us reason to be grateful that the sea was not heavier, and deposited on a tug which took us safely to the Cristobal docks. Autos brought us to the Hotel Washington, modern and comfortable, built and owned by the U. S. Government, facing the Caribbean Sea and fanned by the steady tradewind. Here we are the guests of the Dollar Line until we can move on. Everything possible is done for us to make up for the mishap. We shall not go through the Canal, but their local manager placed a car at our disposal for the auto trip of seven miles to the Gatun

(Continued on last page.)

Bucknellian Editors Learn How It's Done

Through the kindness of Edgar Taft Stevenson, '03, owner and publisher of the Titusville Herald, two members of the staff of the Bucknellian, Charles E. Mohr, '30, and George H. Van Tuyl, '31, were enabled to attend the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, held at the Penn-Harris hotel in Harrisburg last Friday and Saturday. They were accompanied by Professor Lewis E. Theiss, faculty adviser for the Bucknellian.

Permission for outsiders to attend the convention, which was a privilege quite out of the usual, was obtained by Mr. Stevenson some months ago, and the Bucknellian representatives went to Harrisburg as his guests.

Most of the newspapers of the state were represented at the gathering, as well as the Associated Press and the United Press. In the five sessions and three dinners or luncheons that made up the conference.

(Continued on last page)

Miss Martin and Her Staff Ready For Honors' Students

Miss Elian J. Martin, Bucknell librarian, and her assistants are busy preparing the Bucknell Carnegie Library for the work of the coming semester. The members of the library staff are making plans to cooperate with the students who will study in the English Honors Course during the rest of the term. Work tables will be placed on the balcony for the use of these students.

Staff members are also busy removing the 1500 books that were placed on reserve during the last semester, and putting in on reserve the 1500 books that will be used by the students in this semester's work.

W. A. A. To Give Health Play

The Women's Athletic Association is planning a playlet to be given soon. It is a health skit by Barbara Abel, entitled "Gym and Jerry." The cast is being selected and rehearsals will begin as soon as examinations are over.

The Association will also sponsor a tea-dance. The date has not yet been announced, but the dance will take place during the latter part of February.

New Bucknell View Book Will Be Ready Next Week

The Bucknell Book of Views for 1929-1930 will be issued sometime during the next week, according to Registrar H. W. Holter.

The new book will include a number of improvements. Some of the pictures formerly printed in a two-tone effect will be reproduced in colors. The new book will also contain other attractions.

Bucknell to Play Fordam In Gotham

Bucknell University's 1929 football team will play the Fordham College eleven on November 23 at the Polo Grounds in New York City.

The Bucknell football schedule, which was recently released did not list a game for the Saturday before Thanksgiving. The game with Fordham has been arranged since the schedule was given out. This will be Bucknell's first appearance in football in New York City in more than a decade.

The Polo Grounds, where the Fordham-Bucknell game will be played next fall, is the home baseball grounds of the New York Giants of the National League. It is estimated that more than 55,000 people can witness a football game there. Two years ago the Army and the Navy staged their annual game at the Polo grounds before 57,000 enthusiastic fans.

The addition of Fordham to Bucknell's list of football games completes the Bison's 1929 grid schedule. The Bucknell football card now includes ten games, four of which will be staged at home, while the remaining six will be decided on foreign soil.

Want a Real Shave? Try a B. U. Barber

The Bucknell University Extension Department will offer during the next semester a course in Sanitation and Hygiene for barbers. The new course will be taught by John Winter Rice, Ph. D., professor of bacteriology.

The course has been organized in response to the demand of local barbers for some instruction in bacteriology as it effects the barber, his shop, and his patron. A course in hygiene for barbers has been given before in connection with evening public schools in Pittsburgh, but Bucknell is thought to be the first university too add this subject to its curriculum.

Enrollment in the course will be limited to about fifteen or twenty barbers from Lewisburg and the nearby towns of Milton, Watsontown, Northumberland, and Sunbury. The first class will be held Monday evening, February 4, in room 2 in the Biology Annex. The student-barbers will meet for two hours every Mon-

(Continued on last page.)

"Best Place For Contacts Is College," Says Whyte

"The dominant ambition of your life will determine the contacts that you will make," said Prof. J. P. Whyte in his address on "Contacts" to the Baptist C. U. last Sunday evening at which meeting there were 75 in attendance. "It is up to you to decide what type of contacts you are going to make while here in college. There is no other place where the opportunities will be so numerous to make the best and most advantageous contacts with those around us. Be friends, not only in a limited group, but with those outside the group, your instructors, your books, your surroundings."

"Ken" Vandekree, '31, was the leader of the evening. The worship service was followed by a social gathering, which ended at 7:30.

Chem. Engineers To Go On Trip

The chemical engineers are already beginning to plan for their trip to Pittsburgh next month. They are going to leave for the "Smoky City" a week before the rest of us go home for Easter vacation, and will spend about ten days in observation in and about Pittsburgh. We're sorry we're not all chemical engineers!

Thos. J. Baldridge Promoted to Seat In Superior Court

Leaving B. U. Before Graduation, He Became Lawyer, Judge, Pa. Attorney General

Thomas J. Baldridge, ex-'95, attorney general for Pennsylvania, has just been appointed by Governor John S. Fisher to a position on the superior court bench of this state. Mr. Baldridge takes the judgeship left vacant by the death of Judge John J. Henderson.

Judge Baldridge is a native of Hollidaysburg. After he left Bucknell, he studied law and was admitted to the Pennsylvania bar. He rapidly rose to high standing among the lawyers of the state, and was elected to a judgeship in the Blair County courts. Later he was re-elected. From this position he was elevated to the attorney generalship by Governor Fisher, when the latter selected his original cabinet. This present promotion of Judge Baldridge is the first change in the Governor's cabinet.

Judge Baldridge has always been a loyal alumnus, and is interested in the welfare of his Alma Mater. Two years ago Bucknell conferred upon him at commencement the degree D. C. L.

President G. M. Smith To Speak at Vespers

Bucknell should have more than a passing interest in the speaker next Sunday at the four o'clock Vesper Service in the local Presbyterian Church, as it will introduce to Lewisburg and Bucknellians Dr. G. Morris Smith, the new president of Susquehanna University, who has already made a name for himself in the college world.

Dr. Smith is one of the youngest college presidents in the country, being still in his thirties. He occupied a prominent pulpit in the Lutheran denomination before he came to Susquehanna, and has a charming personality as well as a platform eloquence that is most pleasing and persuasive. His topic on Sunday will be "God's Ambassadors." The Ministerial Association of Bucknell is especially invited, although this address is by no means only for that class of hearers. The quartette choir of the church will furnish the music.

At last Sunday's service, a very large audience was present to hear the Rev. Chas. Bowers, of Sunbury, deliver a telling message on "The Church of Today," in place of Prof. Chas. Lose, who was detained by illness. Prof. Lose will come at a later date.

Frank M. Lepore, '30, To Head Boxing Team

Bucknell University's 1929 boxing team will be captained by Frank Lepore, of Pittston. He was elected Monday night at a meeting of the lettermen who compose the Bison ring team. The captain-elect, who is a junior, was a member of Bucknell's first intercollegiate ring team last winter. As he is only a third-year man he will be eligible for varsity competition again next winter.

Last year Lepore fought in the middleweight class. He defeated an opponent from Rutgers, but in the Tommie bout was outpointed by Dave Beloff, a former Olympic boxer.

Lepore will represent Bucknell in the ring this winter as a 145-pound boxer. He has trained down to that limit by steady workouts every day. The middleweight berth, left vacant by Lepore, will be taken by Major Kozik or Wilbur Ammerman.

Lepore is 20 years old, weighs 148 pounds, and is five feet nine and one-half inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at the Pittston High School, where he played on the football team. He has never gone in for the grid game at Bucknell, confining his athletic activities wholly to boxing.

Lepore is a member of Pi Delta Omicron, an honorary fraternity on the Bucknell campus. He succeeds Frank Storaci of Trenton, N. J., as captain.

Class Boxing Meet To Be on Monday, In the Gymnasium

"Eddie" Halicki Will Be Referee; Coaches Snavely and Reed Will Act As Judges

Bucknell University's second annual inter-class boxing meet will be held in the Tustin Gymnasium next Monday evening. This meet will be conducted in accordance with the inter-collegiate boxing rules. Each bout will consist of three two-minute rounds.

"Eddie" Halicki, who captained Bucknell's 1923 football team, will referee these bouts. Carl G. Snavely and Max Reed, Bucknell football coaches, will act as the judges.

There will be bouts staged in all classes, from the 115-pound division to the heavyweight class. The bouts will start at 8:15 on Monday evening.

The boxing schedule was released on Tuesday, after having been approved by Professor Benjamin W. Griffith, graduate manager of athletics. The schedule follows:

February 4—Inter-class meet at home; February 14—Manhattan College at home; February 22—Pennsylvania Military College at Chester; February 27—Catholic University at home; March 8—Temple University at Philadelphia.

English Dept. Adonis Almost a Movie Star

It now transpires that our newest member of the Department of English barely escaped being a movie star. This modest young man has kept his light under a bushel, apparently, but an interested friend sent us a clipping from a newspaper published in Providence, R. I., where our new instructor in English attended college. We print it verbatim:

Byron Sharpe Hollingshead, 19 Hillside road, Mt. Kisco, is one of the ten college men at Brown University selected by First National Pictures and College Humor as a typical college man, with personality, character, and photographic possibilities. Almost five hundred feet of film was made of each student and will be shown in theatres all over the United States.

Hollingshead is a junior at Brown University and excels in football. While he was not one of the ten man selected by First National and College Humor to be sent to Burbank, California, for work in the movies with Colleen Moore, Richard Barthelmess, Milton Sills, Harry Langdon, Ken Maynard and other stars, he was one of the few men selected for final judges' decision.

Rice Tells Milk Men How Bacteria Do Harm

Professor John W. Rice addressed the Pennsylvania Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors which met in the rooms of the Public Service Commission, Harrisburg, January 23-24.

"The Reducing Powers of Bacteria that Have Been Isolated from Milk and Milk Products" was the title of the paper presented by Dr. Rice, reporting for the committee of methods for the bacterial analysis of milk and milk products. All the work for the report was performed at the bacteriology laboratory, Bucknell.

He demonstrated the fact that the usual methylene blue reduction test for grading raw milk, while it may still be used to determine its salesability, is not an accurate test for the number of bacteria in milk. He showed that different forms of bacteria show different time reaction in this reductase test.

The present investigation received its initial impetus at the meeting of the Association in 1927 when a grant of $100 was made for the continuance of this experiment.

The grant made possible the purchase of a total of 57 species of bacteria, from the American Type Culture Collection of the John McCormick Institute of Chicago; from the Tister Institute of London; and from a private collection. These strains of bacteria were isolated from milk

(Continued on last page.)

Banker Leroy T. Butler, '97 To Address Finance Club

Leroy T. Butler, '97, of the Lewisburg Union National Bank, will speak at the meeting of the Commerce and Finance Club, at 7 o'clock Monday evening, February 4. The meeting will be held in room 6 in the Biology Building.

Mr. Butler will speak on "The Opportunities In Banking." Business matters that were postponed from the last meeting will be rettled at the meeting Monday night.

Frosh Beat Keystone: Win Five Straight

The undefeated Bucknell freshmen basketball team extended its string of victories to five straight triumphs here last Thursday evening by defeating a formidable Keystone Academy quintet in a fast game, 27-24. Keystone, unbeaten in five starts, received its first setback of the season in this game.

"Bill" Chenoweth, a former William Penn basketball star, went on a scoring rampage and tallied 14 points, which was more than half of his team's total score. Chenoweth was at his best near the close of the game when he tossed in a flurry of field goals which assured his team a victory.

Harry Fry, elongated Bucknell yearling center, was runner-up to Chenoweth for scoring honors, with seven points. Stonebreaker and Borelli did commendable work at the guard posts. The two Bison safety men broke up many enemy plays.

Score by periods:

B. U. Frosh	12	15—27
Keystone A.	8	16—24

Referee—Gerhart.

Mrs. C. M. Steese Now Justice of Peace

On Monday, December 31, 1928, Governor Fisher appointed Mrs. Ruth M. Steese, of Mifflinburg, as Justice of the Peace for that borough to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of her husband, C. M. Steese. This appointment was confirmed by the Senate on Tuesday. It will be effective as soon as Mrs. Steese takes the oath of office before the Recorder of Deeds of Union County, and will run until the first Monday in January 1930.

Mrs. Steese is a graduate of Irving College and Bucknell University, and is fully capable to fulfill the duties of this office. During the past five years she assisted her husband in handling many of the matters which came before him, and she is therefore familiar with the work.

Mrs. Steese will maintain her office at 413 Chestnut St., Mifflinburg, where she will also conduct Mr. Steese's Bonding and Insurance office.—Sunbury Item.

Earl A. Morton, Esq., '05, Now Bank Vice President

Earl A. Morton, '05, has just been elected to a vice presidency in the Commonwealth Trust Company, of Pittsburgh. For the past half dozen years he has been trust officer of that institution. After leaving college, Mr. Morton studied law and became a practicing attorney. Later he entered the banking field, and his legal training fitted him excellently for the position as trust officer to which he was elected. He has won his promotion to a vice presidency by able and faithful work.

Mr. Morton is a very loyal alumnus. He gets back to commencement nearly every year, and has been a vigorous supporter of his Alma Mater in all her recent drives for funds. He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

Ruth Leitzel, '23, Engaged

Miss Ruth Ellen Leitzel, prominent Lewisburg girl, is engaged to Dr. Roderick Ross MacNeil of Reading, according to an announcement made by the young woman's mother, Mrs. Alice Leitzel.

Miss Leitzel is a Bucknell graduate, 1923, and a member of the Delta Delta Delta sorority. She is now head of the home economics department at a Reading high school. Dr. MacNeil is a graduate of Western Ontario University.

Bisons Triumph In Colgate Game By 1 Point Margin

Eleven Hundred Excited Rooters Witness Titanic Struggle In Season's Closest Game

An inspired Bucknell basketball team, led by its valiant center, "Archie" Seiler, vanquished a powerful Colgate College quintet at the new high school gymnasium last Thursday evening in the fastest court game seen in these parts in years. The final score showed the Bucknell team out in front by the slim margin of 30-29.

Sensational field goals by "Bernie" Klosterman and "Ted" Mitchell in the last few minutes of play provided the Bucknell team with the margin of victory. Klosterman caged his field goal from the middle of the floor while Mitchell sank a heart-breaker from an extremely difficult angle.

The game was a thriller from start to finish, 1100 enthusiastic spectators packing the sidelines of Lewisburg's new court to witness two of the greatest college basketball teams in action. And the overflow crowd, seeking excitement, was not disappointed. The game was replete with dazzling passing, whirlwind dribbling, and breath-taking field goals.

The spectators were on edge during the entire affair. The thrilling exhibition was featured by tense situations. The issue was ever in doubt. It was not until the final bell was sounded that a Bucknell victory was assured. During the second half the lead changed hands on several occasions. As the game was rapidly

(Continued on last page.)

Junior Prom Dance In New Dining Hall

The new dining hall at the Women's College will be the scene of the Junior Prom on February 15, it was announced by Wilson Rise, chairman of the Prom committee. Permission to use the "Sem's" new eating quarters for the outstanding social event of the year was obtained from Dean Amelia Clark. This year's Junior Prom will be the first and the last dance, however, to be held in the dining hall.

The decorating committee, headed by Emilie Maxwell, will have to complete plans following evening dinner at the "Sem." The spaciousness and dignity of the dining hall together with the committee's plans for decorating are expected to lend additional interest to the affair.

"Jelly Roll" Morton and his Red Hot Peppers will furnish the harmonizing rythm, and will provide the dancers with an endless variety of features.

Mu Phi Epsilon Members To Give Public Concert

Mu Phi Epsilon will give a public concert, under the direction of Miss Lulu E. Coe, chairman of the program committee on February 18, at 8 p. m. in Bucknell Hall. The program is to consist of duets, vocal and instrumental; solos, vocal and instrumental; some solos to be given in costume. The University Women's quartet will also appear.

There will be a free-will offering, the proceeds of which will be sent to the National Council for the endowment fund. Look for a detailed program in the next issue of the Bucknellian.

Bucknellian Born in Burma

A cablegram was received here recently stating that a daughter had been born to Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. Leaber on December 15, at Rangoon, Burma. The little girl has been named Patricia Ann.

Before her marriage Mrs. Leaber was Miss Evelyn McGann, '18. She left this country a year ago and was married to Mr. Leaber after reaching Rangoon.

Mr. Leaber, who was graduated in 1919, is assistant manager of the Branch Bank of the National City Bank of New York, which is located at Burma.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Robert L. Lyon, '29 208 S. 7th St. Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor	Clarence W. Cranford, '29
Assistant Managing Editors	Virginia Smoot, '30 Helen Boll, '30
News Editor	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Assistant News Editors	Jane G. Foust, '29 Trimble Kisley, '31 Bertha Gaventa, '30
Sports Editor	J. Warren McHilleot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	R. Bartuff Kneer, '31 Thomas McLeod, '31 Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Women's College Editor	Jessie R. Fielding, '29
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Pigeon, '30 Frances Kernohan, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30 Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Nathaniel Gizzler, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32

CALENDAR

Saturday, February second, 8 to 11:45—Alpha Chi Omega formal dance in Tustin Gymnasium, 6 to 11:45—Lambda Chi Alpha formal dinner dance.

Monday, February fourth, 8 a. m.—Second semester begins.

MARS LAUGHS

Mars laughs. A mocking, malevolent laugh, dripping like venom from his lips. He laughs exultingly, baring his foul gums in delight, and then with a leer of satisfaction sucks the clotting blood from his fingers. He is not a pleasant fellow, this god, even though he has put aside his steel jacket for a modern business suit and has fastened a very respectable-looking laboratory apron about his waist. On the contrary he is a loathsome figure, but he has won a right to his present laughter, and we spring across the floor and grasp his sticky hand.

What is Mars laughing at? He is laughing at the human race. Have not the great and small nations of the world barely finished signing a solemn agreement to outlaw War? And are they not at the present moment putting the spare room in order, so that the outlawed fellow may come back and try their hospitality again? Try their hospitality, forsooth! Eat them out of house and home, slaughter them man and child, pull down their property, bind the remnant of them under a frightful debt, and then retire temporarily to laugh and lick his fingers!

The god may well laugh. In spite of our self-satisfaction, war is coming again, swooping down upon a world helpless beneath its fury. The administration newspapers which shouted for the Kellogg Treaty, turned the next day to support the bill which provides for the construction of fifteen new cruisers. The editors explain, of course, that this bill is not a gesture of defiance or of militarism. When we build these cruisers, we shall not even be thinking of war. Of course not—that is not what cruisers are used for, at all! But let the editors and those who believe them be as serene as they like, war is coming again, and we doubt if the imagination exists which can picture the wake of horror and annihilation which it will leave behind it. President-elect Hoover, himself, has said, "The next war will be the graveyard of civilization." However, you may be inclined to discount general statements and personal opinions. We are willing that you should. But can you discount facts; can you disagree with statistics, especially when they are presented by authorities of the highest sort? Here are two dispatches which have just come to our hand:

"The Wall Street Journal calls attention to figures recently given out by the national Government. The budget calls for the raising of $3,601,-000,000 in 1930. Of this amount, $3,016,000,000 is to pay for past wars and to prepare for future wars, while only $585,000,000 goes to all phases and activities of the civil government. This is in the proportion of five to one, or five out of six dollars spent for war."

That is the milder of the two statements. Here is the other:

"Dr. Hilton Ira Jones, research chemist, announces that scientists have invented a poison gas that will destroy whole armies, and a metal twice as strong as steel but only half as heavy as aluminum. The gas is called cacodyl isocyanide. Dr. Jones says: 'War will never again be fought with shot and shell. It cannot be, for it is now much cheaper to destroy life wholesale with this new gas. It may be manufactured at the rate of thousands of tons a day and it costs much less than powder and cannon, yet it will destroy armies more thoroughly, more effectively, and more quickly. With the new metal, beryllium, a 400-horsepower airplane motor might be built and yet be so light that a man could pick it up and walk away with it.'"

Laugh, Mars. Laugh, old boy. We must even laugh with you.

To The Editor

May I correct statements which have recently appeared concerning the following:

1. The Y. M. C. A. is not solely responsible for the success of the B. U.-in-Brazil project. We were represented on the committee composed of members of all the religious organizations on the campus.

2. Other organizations than the "Y" import speakers to talk on religious phases of our life. For instance, Arthur Rugh was brought here by the B. U.-in-Brazil committee, and A. K. Foster by the administration. The "Y" supported both of these men.

3. The "Y" has tried on two occampus. He is dated up two years in advance. The "Y" would have imported Stephen Wise here this spring had it not learned in due time that the Sociological Society had made such plans.

4. The purpose of the Y. M. C. A. is not "to think as they do, and then to make all others believe the same way." There is this clause in the purpose, "To challenge all members of the University to a personal commitment to this type of Christian living." This challenge is to be made by the students' personal living.

The suggestion made by an "associate" in the Bucknellian concerning student vote on a tentative list of speakers has real possibilities, and I should like to talk to the author as to further plans.

The Y. M. C. A., like the Student Council and Senior Council, should be reorganized better to fit the needs and demands of the student body. The "Y" does not aim to bring unfruitful and unwanted speakers to the campus, nor to transform students into pious individuals who can not play cards or dance. We should like to organize into fellowship, men on the campus who are looking for the experiences in collegiate life which are most elevating, and which mold the individual into a well-balanced character. The "Y" is willing to admit the possibility that our present methods are not meeting these needs adequately. We may be all wrong in our methods, and if so, we are ready for advice.

The Cabinet meets on Mondays at 7:00 p. m. in the "Y" room. Nothing would please us more than to meet with a group of interested students who have a constructive plan in mind. Personally, I will talk things over with any student who will make arrangements, that a "Y" of which you will be proud may be established.

Sincerely,
Frank B. Loper.

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

The following is a little premature, since exams are not yet over, but read it and take the moral to heart.

I'll Booze No More

The break of day was coming fast,
As thru the mists of Third street passed
A youth, who bore 'mid snow and ice
A jag, such as he had borne twice
The week before.

His brow was sad; his eye beneath
Rolled like a colt upon the heath;
And like a broken fog-horn rung
The accents of that muddled tongue,
"I want some more."

"O stay!" his girl had said, "And rest
Thy dizzy head upon my breast!"
A gleam rose in the sad blue eye,
But still he answered with a sigh,
"Show me the door."

"Try not the 'house'!" fair Doris said,
"There'll fall a tempest on your head
For news like this spreads far and wide."
But loud the braggart voice replied,
"I'll make them sore."

"Beware of Prexy's withering frown
For he will fire you out of town!"
This was Doris' last goodnight;
The youth replied, without much fright,
"He's fired before."

Prexy's summons came next day.
Still drunk upon his bed he lay,
And from his lips as hot as fire,
An oath fell with a sadness dire,
"O nevermore!"

—Izzy Wright.

Ah, Watson, a gem from the Hill-top Briefs!

"A 'Semite' found her bureau in a distrubed condition when she came from classes one day, and immediately suspected that some one had been prowling about her room. She was much relieved to learn that it was just the cleaning woman who had come in to wash her mirror and found it necessary to remove the numerous snapshots and dance programs before she could apply her cloth to the glass."

A marvelous piece of deduction on the "Semite's" part! "Some one had been prowling about her room." Might not it have been the wind? And the cleaning woman came in to wash the mirror, did she? Impossible, that's never done!

Hilltop Brief editor, why don't you print next week the story about the freshman who didn't recognize his room because the floor had been swept, or something equally as suitable for maturing minds?

Real Folks at Home (The Piano Mover) : By BRIGGS

WE'RE JUST IN THE PIT, RUN DOWN TO MRS. MURPHY'S AND BRING ME UP A PINT OF MILK
I WILL NOT.. I DIDN'T COME HOME TO BREAK MY BACK CARRYIN' THINGS UP AND DOWN STAIRS
WE MAY MOVE FOR BABY CAROL AND TWO UPRIGHTS!
THAT'S NOTHING FOR A BIG STRONG MAN LIKE THE LORD OF YOU
OUCH!!!
WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH YOUR BACK PA?
THAT HELPER OF MINE ALMOST KILLED ME! THAT'S WHAT'S THE MATTER SAINTS ALIVE!!
HE'S AT THE FRONT END AND STARTS COUGHING AND WHEN HE LETS GO THE WHOLE PIANO FALLS ON ME BACK
IT'S A WONDER YOU AIN'T KILT
HE'LL SMOKE NOTHIN' BUT OLD GOLDS FROM THIS DAY ON IF I HAVE TO BUY 'EM FER 'IM
I'LL PUT IT WITH THE REST AFTER SUPPER
Old Gold CIGARETTES

© P. Lorillard Co. Est. 1760

... not a cough in a carload

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, and his complete orchestra, will broadcast the OLD GOLD hour every Tuesday starting Feb. 5th, from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over entire network of Columbia Broadcasting System.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

Pi Delta Epsilon Dance—February 8th
Junior Prom—February 15th

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

PITT THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

Hair Cut 35c
at ANGSTADT'S
NEXT TO NICKOLETTE

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM — SUNDAES
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan SAFETY PENCILS $7.50

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Wards are preeminent as the shoes that college men prefer.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
See them on display at
MONTGOMERY & CO.

LEARN THE PIANO IN TEN LESSONS
TENOR-BANJO OR MANDOLIN IN FIVE LESSONS
Without nerve-racking, heart-breaking scales and exercises. You are taught to play by note in regular professional chord style. In your very first lesson you will be able to play a popular number by note.
SEND FOR IT ON APPROVAL
The "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is the title of this method. Eight years were required to perfect this great work. The entire course with the necessary examination sheets, is bound in one volume. The first lesson is unsealed which the student may examine and he his own "JUDGE and JURY." The later part of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor," is sealed.
Upon the student returning any copy of the "Hallmark Self-Instructor" with the seal un-broken, we will refund in full all money paid.
This amazing Self-Instructor will be sent anywhere. You do not need to send any money. When you receive this new method of teaching music, deposit with the Postman the sum of ten dollars. If you are not entirely satisfied, the money paid will be returned in full, upon written request. The Publishers are anxious to place this "Self-Instructor" in the hands of music lovers all over the country, and are in a position to make an attractive proposition to agents. Send for your copy today. Address The "Hallmark Self-Instructor" Station G, Post Office Box 111, New York, N. Y.

"and remember! the January Sale of Florsheim Shoes dear! Eight-Eighty Five a pair you know!"

J. F. Prowant Co.
LEWISBURG, PA.

With the Fraternities

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

Professor M. F. Nimkoff was our guest for dinner on Sunday.

The billiard room is being entirely redecorated by the pledges, under the direction of their president, Henry Bloss. A modernistic design of black and gold predominates. The room will be refitted with furniture and a new table.

Louis Woodring has been elected president of Kappa chapter for the next semester. He succeeds Paul Fink, whose term of office has been one of the most successful in years.

That's all, as the brothers have all been studying hard for the exams.

BETA KAPPA
Christian Guken, '30

The house has been unusually quiet the past few days, due to the final exams.

Brother Floyd Smith says he never thought there was so much to learn in so short a time.

Brother Benford visited his home in Latrobe over the week-end. Everything running along smoothly in his absence, so he says.

Brother "Phil" Campbell drove over from Danville on Tuesday and spent the evening with the boys.

Over the week-end, brother "Ken" Stero and "Bill" Miller journeyed to their homes in Unionville and Pottsville.

The basketball team has had numerous workouts and according to manager P. D. Sherwood, the prospects look very good.

Brother "Bob" Tate visited Newfoundland for a few days.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

Pennsylvania Beta chapter of Pi Beta Phi entertained at a formal dance on Saturday, January 19, in Tustin Gymnasium. The gymnasium was decorated with a drop-ceiling of variegated serpentines. Music was furnished by "Red" Hitchen and his band.

The active chapter and its many friends constituted a capacity crowd, and despite slight irregularities of floor and temperature, the evening was acclaimed a huge success.

Meredith Scott, '28, entertained at her home in New York, on Saturday, January 26, in honor of the recently announced engagement of Blanche Thompson, '27, and Thomas Duffield Hann, '27.

Alice Sweeley, '31, spent the past week-end at her home in Williamsport.

Reba Decker, Dorothy Levegood, and Sybil Williams, all of '30, and Eleanor Buckholz, '31, are the only members of the chapter fortunate enough to have exam schedules which permit them to spend this week at home.

"Betty" Mills, '29, upheld the athletic honor of the fraternity and took her twelve o'clock permission, last Friday night, to go skiing.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
"Betty" Fries, '31

Blanche Lewis, '30, takes the prize for being lucky. Blanche's examinations were over on Monday and she was able to go to her home in Doylestown that same day.

Miss Jessie Pangburn was a recent visitor to the suite.

Our appetites have been appeased by the welcome five-pound box of candy. "Peg" Bunting, '31, was the guilty party.

"Betty" Figner, '30, treated her family to a visit when she spent last week-end in Harrisburg. "Betty" is beginning to form "Sally" Porter's bad habit of spending about five days of the week at Bucknell.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

The chapter enjoyed a five-pound box of candy last week. The pin which Esther Lewis, '30, is wearing is the reason for the sweets.

Beta Kappa will lose two active members by graduation at the end of the semester. They are "Kitty" Boyer and "Peg" Ferguson. "Kitty" will take up a position in the Reading schools, while "Peg" will remain at home with her mother, who is ill.

Marie Helwig, '28, visited the chapter the week-end of January 26.

Surprise Party for Miss Ruhl

Miss Esther Ruhl, nurse at the Women's College, was given a surprise birthday in her room in Bucknell Cottage, Saturday evening, January 26. Her parents who were visiting her that day attended the party. The others who were present were Mrs. A. M. Beatty, Miss Charlotte Armstrong, Miss Elva Brakeman, and Madeline Waldherr, '31. Miss Ruhl received several gifts, among them a box of candy, a plant, and a bouquet of flowers.

Read The Bucknellian

Dozen B. U. Grads Got Ph. D. at Penn

The University of Pennsylvania has just published a bulletin on its 954 "Doctors of Philosophy of the Graduate School." The list includes twelve Bucknell graduates.

In Botany there is Heber Wilkinson Youngken, professor of botany, pharmacognesy, and materia medica, and head of the department of materia medica, Massachusetts School of Pharmacy, Boston, Mass.

In Education there are Emmanuel Wilson Cober, principal of the Holmes Platoon School, Pittsburgh, and Herbert Baldwin Moyer, superintendent of schools, Quakertown.

In English there is Ezra Lerman, principal of the Cumberland Valley State Normal School, Shippensburg. In Greek there is Mary Bartol formerly professor of Latin and Greek, head of the department of Latin and Greek, Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., now Mrs. Lewis E. Theiss of Lewisburg. In Latin there is Bessie Rebecca Burchett, head of the department of foreign languages, South Philadelphia High School for Girls, Philadelphia.

In Mathematics there is Perry Aquila Caris, assistant professor of mathematics, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia.

In Philosophy there are Joseph Evans Sagebeer, attorney, 1204 Land Title Building, Philadelphia, also a member of the Law Committee of the Northern Baptist Convention; Theodore Heysham, engaged in research work in religious education, 225 Jacoby St., Norristown; George Cash Horter, pastor of the Baptist church, Painted Post, N. Y.; and William Theodore Paullin, member of the firm Kelsey, Paullin, and Johnston, attorney-at-law, Oakland Bank Building, Oakland California. Dr. Paullin also received in 1922 the degree of J. D. from the University of Chicago.

In Zoology there is Ezra Allen, formerly professor of Biology at Ursinus College, Collegeville.

Of these Dr. Sagebeer was the first to earn his Ph. D., receiving it in 1891, and Professor Caris the latest, getting his in 1925.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

THE PURITY

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1897. Lewisburg, Pa.

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Eastman Kodaks and Films.

FLAVIO'S FINEST FANCY FRUIT

Snipe-hunting, as a sport, is rarely indulged in more than once in one life time. For wisdom comes to the eager freshman as he crouches under the chill night sky, holding till dawn a large and very empty bag.

And wisdom comes to the smoker, too, who "holds the bag" until common sense tells him to expect a lot more than mildness in his cigarettes. Practically all cigarettes are mild—certainly Chesterfields are, but it's the upstanding character, flavor and satisfying taste that put it in a class alone.

Once you've put this "satisfy kind" to the proof you'll have but one reply to future invitations to snipe-hunts:

"Thanks, I'd rather have a Chesterfield!"

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

WAINIES

CANDY ICE CREAM
and
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

Rubbers and Arctics
Keep the feet warm and dry. Colds come from wet feet, and wet feet are unnecessary.
Come In and We Will Prove It.
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. P. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men's Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING 419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE Next to the Gift Shop

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

Dr. and Mrs. Hunt Resume Journey

(Continued from page 6)

Locks which raise them to the level of Gatun Lake, from which other locks lower them to the Pacific. The operation of the locks seems a marvel of simplicity.

The President Adams was pulled from her rocky cradle by tugs and the tide Friday night. After a few days of rest at the Cristobal docks she was towed through the Canal to Balboa where there is an adequate dry dock. It is reported that she will not be able to take her passengers to California.

At any rate we do not care to wait here longer. The climate is not so exhilarating as the zero weather we hear you are enjoying. We like this for a few days, but enough is plenty. We have enjoyed the experience. We have reason enough for gratitude that it was not worse, as it might easily have been. It was a mild type of shipwreck; but it was not really restful.

The Steamship Line sends us who so choose to New Orleans by the United Fruit Company ship and thence to our destination, Pasadena, by the Southern Pacific Railroad. There we take up again the main business of resting.

WANT A REAL SHAVE?
TRY A B. U. BARBER

(Continued from Page 1.)

day evening for the next fifteen weeks.

Part I, or the Barber's Sanitary Code, will deal with essentials in bacteriology as they effect the barber, his shop, and his patron. This will include the story of the microbe, a study of the bacteria of aggression, the conditions favorable for the growth of bacteria, agencies of destruction of bacteria, disease producing organisms that are encountered in the average day's work of the barber, infection, or the development of diseases in the individual, immunity, or the protection a person has against disease, bacteriology as applied to the barber's trade, and the barber shop.

Part II, or Hygiene for the Barber, will consist of a study of the skin, the anatomical structure of the head and face, disorders of the skin of the face due to faulty function of the sebaceous glands, congestion disorders of the skin, dermatitis, or inflammations of the skin, regional over-development of the skin, unusual pigmentation, or coloring, of the skin, response of the hair to tonics and stimulants, diseases of the hair and hair follicles, and parasitic diseases of the hair and scalp.

The course will be both novel and practical in that it will be of real value to barbers along a line that has long been in need of research.

RICE TELLS MILK MEN
HOW BACTERIA DO HARM

(Continued from Page 1.)

or milk products, or were such species as could easily gain entrance into a milk supply in the ordinary dairy procedure.

With these strains skim milk was innoculated and incubated in order to find the length of time taken by individual organisms to reduce the methylene blue in the reductase test. Factors were so variable that definite conclusions could not be reached. But it was clearly shown that the usual reductase test is not an adequate one in determining the number of bacteria in milk. Also, the experiments have opened new avenues of approach and raised new problems in the analysis of milk and milk products.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Reblocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Key Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Why Life Insurance?

1. To protect your earning power.
2. To cover the cost of your college education to those who made it possible.
3. To protect yourself and build up an estate which will have collateral value.
4. To provide a sum for your own use by systematic saving.
5. To provide in case of sickness or disability a regular income.

Get this valuable business asset while the rates are low. $10,000 with the Philadelphia Life at the age of 21 will cost $80 annually.

A special policy for the college man. For further particulars write

Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

BISONS TRIUMPH IN COLGATE GAME

(Continued from Page 1)

drawing to a close the two teams were fighting neck and neck.

Lead Changes Hands

The players of both aggregations were tired. However, they still retained that record pace which provided the spectators with lightning action. Five minutes yet remained to be played when Hagy, star Colgate forward, caged a field goal, which sent his team out in front 25-24. With their backs to the wall, Coach Plant's men made their last desperate rally which finally culminated in a victory.

"Archie" Seiler, veteran Bucknell pivot man, took possession of the ball in mid court. A skillful and well directed pass to Woodring who in turn retossed the ball to Seiler resulted in a field goal for the home team. Seiler caged the ball underneath his own basket from a very difficult position.

On the next tap off Klosterman got the ball and dribbled to the center of the court. There he executed a daring move that turned out to be a successful venture. He arched the ball high and far and it swished through the Bucknell basket without touching the rim, amid a roar of cheers from the Bucknell rooters.

At this period Colgate took time out. Captain Bollerman assembled his men and gave them a few instructions. Then play was resumed. Bollerman was the master of the tap off this time and he recovered the ball. He released a fine pass to Bonacker who tried for a field goal from a difficult angle.

Mitchell Increases Lead

Klosterman caught the ball when it had decided to stay out of the basket after circling the rim. He dribbled a few paces and then shot a pass to Mitchell. Bucknell's football center then dribbled through the entire Colgate team and caged a field goal from an angle. Mitchell's score enabled Bucknell to lead at the time by five points.

The Colgate players took on a new lease of life and made things interesting for their opponents during those last two hectic minutes of play. The lead was reduced to one point when Captain Bollerman and Cynoske registered field goals in rapid succession.

The last fifteen seconds of play were a nightmare. Colgate fought desperately to retrieve the ball but the Bucknell players managed to elude the clutches of the Colgate clan and when the final whistle blew the winners had the ball in their possession. Seiler was fouled just when the game ended but he was so happy that he never even tried for the free toss.

The lineup:

Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Smith, f	0	0	0
Jefferies, f	3	0	6
Klosterman, f	1	1	3
Mitchell, f	4	1	9
Seiler, c	2	1	5
Wadsworth, g	3	1	7
Woodring, g	13	4	30
Total	Field	Foul	Total
Colgate	2	0	4
Cynoske, f	3	0	6
Bonacher, f	2	1	5
Bollerman, c	3	1	7
Capes, g	0	0	0
Walsh, g	2	3	7
Total	12	5	29
Bucknell	11	19	—30
Colgate	18	11	—29

Referee—Good. Umpire—Langren. Scorer—McElligot.

There are some advantages to a college education. We hear of a college grad who never says "Gittup" to his horse. It's "Yea, team, let's go!" —Exchange.

BUCKNELLIAN EDITORS LEARN HOW IT'S DONE

(Continued from Page 1.)

all sorts of questions that concern newspapers were discussed. Scores of newspaper men, from all sections of the state, related their experiences and told about their methods. Many topics vital to the welfare of the press were on the program for formal discussion and were dealt with thoroughly. The Bucknellian's representatives heard much that will be of use to them in the conduct of our college paper.

The high spots of the convention, socially, were the big banquet on Friday night, and the press association luncheons on Saturday. The Bucknell party attended the Associated Press luncheons.

Mr. Stevenson, who began his newspaper career as a reporter on the Bucknellian (called in his day The Orange and Blue), has had a quarter of a century of experience in newspaper work, and has risen from a reporter's job to an editorship and then to the ownership of an important daily paper. Mr. Stevenson likes our college paper and has repeatedly shown his interest in the Journalism work at Bucknell. He has also proved his loyalty to his Alma Mater by sending his eldest son, James B. Stevenson, '22, here to college.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

ROOM FOR RENT—Inquire Mrs. Ida B. Henry, 11 Walker Street, Lewisburg, Pa. Opposite Chemical Lab.

SPECIAL OPPORTUNITY—for college students interested in life insurance business. Part time for present and leading to permanent position. For particulars write or interview D. E. Edmundson, Gen. Agent, Danville, Pa.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY, THURSDAY, JAN. 31
A Paramount Special.
GEORGE BANCROFT in "THE DOCKS OF NEW YORK"
With BETTY COMPSON
SEE and HEAR—The Fox Movietone
"The Riorita Girls" and another Movietone Reel.

COMING—FRIDAY and SATURDAY FEB. 1-2
SEE and HEAR on The VITAPHONE
RICHARD BARTHELMESS in "SCARLET SEAS"
With BETTY COMPSON

COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY, FEB. 4-5
On the Vitaphone with Music Score
JOHN BARRYMORE in
"TEMPEST"
It's the $2.00 Broadway Triumph.

COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY FEB. 6-7
SEE and HEAR on VITAPHONE
Talking—Singing—Playing
"MANHATTAN COCKTAIL"
With NANCY CARROLL, RICHARD ARLER and PAUL LUKAS
What You SEE You HEAR.
Everybody Saying the same thing.
Vitaphone and Movietone are so clear at BIJOU.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Cigaretts Dignified by Cloistered Chemistry Discourse

Bucknell's debt to her filthy weed advertisers—a canteen at every corner—was further liquidated in a recent discussion on tobacco by one of her leading chemists. He revealed secrets of a delicate aroma hitherto unknown to the general public, or how colored feet became fragrant. He explained that the nearer a product came to the fringe of morality, the higher it was taxed. The mental association of smoking tobacco and old rags led to a further discussion on cotton fabrics or synthetic cigarettes. The meeting adjourned with a resolution to follow the College Inn rule—walk a mile for your Camels.

"On The Quadrangle"
Payne '09.

A Golfer's Ambition

I'd like to be a could-be,
If I couldn't be an are;
For a could-be is a may-be
With a chance of making par.

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
SPECIAL SILK SALE
Saturday and Monday, Feb. 2 and 4

Weighted Flat Crepe of exceptional value in the following Spring shades: Black, Navy, Mother Goose, Chin Chin Blue, Peach Blow, Helvetia, Coya, Marron Glase, Rose Beigle and Adannia, at the special price

$1.39 the yard

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

FOOTBALL CANDIDATES MEET IN TUSTIN GYM SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

4th PI DELT DANCE TOMORROW NIGHT TUSTIN GYM

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1929. NUMBER 18

Enthusiastic Spectators Enjoy Second B. U. Boxing Tournament Between Classes In All Weights

Ten Bouts Staged in Tustin Gym Monday Eve by 115-pounders To Heavyweight Boxers

FOOTBALL MEN JUDGE

Musser, Snavely, Reed, And Halicki in Charge

Bucknell University's second interclass boxing tournament was staged in Tustin Gym last Monday evening before an overflow crowd of orange and blue spectators. Ten bouts were put on and each combat provided the onlookers with plenty of action. Classes in all weights from the 115-pound class to the heavyweight division were represented.

"Eddie" Halicki, 1929 football captain, was the referee, while Coaches Carl Snavely and Max Reed acted as the judges. "Mal" Musser introduced the fighters. The first bout that was staged was between "Nick" LaFerrara and "Lou" Trippolilli. The more experienced LaFerrara easily outpointed his rival of the 115-pound class but the vanquished ring warrior put up a valiant fight.

Following the LaFerrara-Trippolilli fracas "Johnny" Stabile and "Rog" Davis, representatives of the 125-pound division, exchanged blows. This bout went the required distance of three rounds and the judges awarded their decision in favor of Davis.

"Bob" Smith and "Mickey" Boerner followed Davis and Stabile in the squared circle and also mixed it up as 125-pound contenders. The bout was stopped late in the second round and Boerner was declared the winner.

Storaci Thrills Crowd

"Ken" Vandenbree and "Charley" Dice were next introduced to the crowd and the two ringmen went at it fast and furious for a time. After three rounds of punching the two judges awarded the verdict to Vandenbree. Frank Storaci and Charley

(Continued on page 5)

Bucknell Courtsters Beat Ursinus, 31-28

Opponents Strong on Defense; Bisons Take Early Lead

The Bucknell basketball team opened its second road trip of the season in a successful manner last Tuesday evening at Collegeville, defeating the Ursinus College quintet in a closely contested game. The final score revealed the Bison tossers as winners by a 31-28 margin.

"Archie" Seiler continued his sensational scoring spurt, tallying eight field goals and one foul for a 17 point total. Seiler was the high scorer of the evening. Captain "Lou" Woodring caged two field goals and a like number of fouls for six points. Mitchell was next in line with a pair of field goals and a lone free toss.

Ursinus put up a game battle but was finally forced to surrender to the superior Plant forces. The Collegeville quintet was materially weakened during this game as they played without the services of the star performer, Captain Newcomer.

The Bison courtmen forged into the lead early in the game and at half time were out in front by an 18-12

(Continued on page 5)

Between Room Mates

An interesting fact came to light the other day when the editor-in-chief of the Bucknellian for the second semester was made known. The new editor, C. W. Cranford, '29, is a room-mate of the business manager, "Pee-Wee" Feaster, '30. Both are students for the ministry, and are fraternity brothers.

It is an interesting coincidence that the holders of the highest positions on the two departments of the Bucknellian should be so intimately associated.

Fourth Annual P.D.E. Dance To Be Held on Friday Night

The Fourth Annual Pi Delta Epsilon dance will be staged to-morrow night in Tustin Gym to the music of Wainwright's Blue Band. This affair has acquired an atmosphere all its own, throughout the four successful years since its inception as an annual all-college function.

The Moyer Co., of Wapwallopen, will be in charge of the decorations and something unique is promised.

The admission price is always limited to a dollar-fifty, with the proceeds being used as prizes for the yearly Pi Delt Editorial Contest, staged every spring.

The dance will be later than usual, 8:30 to 11:30, to accommodate the varsity basketballers who will, as is customary, be admitted free of charge.

Thanksgiving Recess Omitted For 1929-30 According to Catalog

The Bucknell University catalogue for 1928-1929 is now being published and will be ready for distribution in about two weeks.

The new catalogue will make its appearance in a new cover, the dull brown one that has been used for several years having been discarded in favor of a gray one. The Bucknell seal will be embossed on the cover and thus add to the general improvement in the appearance of the bulletin.

The catalogue includes the college calendar for 1929-1930, in which a number of changes have been made. The Thanksgiving recess has been omitted for 1929, with Thanksgiving Day being the only holiday granted, inasmuch as there will be a football game at home on that date.

There will be a short vacation between semesters. The second semester will begin on Wednesday, February 5. Enrollment for the second semester will take place on Tuesday, February 4.

The spring vacation will begin on April 12 and will end on April 22.

The change in entrance requirements is listed in the catalogue as are the changes in the various courses, including those in the education, engineering, and commerce and finance courses.

Kappa Gamma Installation Will be Finished This Week

The Kappa Gamma fraternity is to become Phi Kappa this week-end. The local Catholic group will be installed in the largest Catholic national fraternity on Saturday, February 9. The installation ceremony will be held in the afternoon and will be followed in the evening by a dance in the chapter house. The installation will be completed on the following day when the Kappa Gamma boys will celebrate their entrance into Phi Kappa with an installation banquet which will be held at the Lewisburg Club.

Extension Course for Barbers Draws Numerous Applicants

Bucknell University's extension course in Hygiene and Sanitation for barbers opened Monday evening, February 4. Professor John W. Rice, Ph. D., is teaching this course which Bucknell is believed to be the first college to offer.

Barbers at Monday night's class consisted of men from Watsontown, Mifflinburg, Lewisburg, Sunbury, and Northumberland. The enrollment for the course has not yet been completed. Interested persons may make arrangements with Prof. Rice to enjoy the semester's work.

Dr. Lund to Speak at Methodist S. S.

Professor Frederick Lund will lead a discussion on "The Psychological Aspect of Prayer" in Professor R. L. Matz' Sunday School class at the Methodist church next Sunday, February 10, at 9:30. All students are cordially invited to attend.

German Club to Hear J. Bucher, Feb. 18

Soldier of Fortune Spoke Here Last Year to Big Audience

Mr. John George Bucher, traveler and soldier of fortune, who lectured on Germany, before a crowded house last year, will again visit Bucknell on February 18, to deliver an address on the same general topic. His illustrated lecture will be, as last year, under the auspices of Der Deutsche Verein. Mr. Bucher is vibrant with personality and is a charming speaker, delighting the many students who heard him last winter. His lecture this year will be of entirely new material, being based on a fifth visit to Germany during the past summer.

Mr. Bucher was born and educated in Philadelphia. His ancestors fought in the French-Indian Wars and in the American Revolution. He is a newspaper correspondent, soldier of fortune and lecturer. He saw service overseas during the World War and after the Armistice spent much time in Central Europe doing relief work.

Since 1921 he has devoted his entire time to travel, study, and lecturing on the Central European Nations. He has traveled widely in Germany, Finland, Esthonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Jugoslavia, Italy, Austria, as well as France and England. His information is up-to-date and he combines the picturesque and medieval Germany with the latest and most authentic data of present-day conditions in Europe.

Mr. Bucher is lecturing under the auspices of the German Club, and the Bureau of Commercial Economics of Washington, which is a philanthropic educational institution with alliances with over thirty of the governments of the world. Its work is to introduce nations to each other, to disclose by lectures and motion pictures the scenery, the industries, the natural resources, and the customs of the peoples of one nation to those of another, thus promoting internation-

(Continued on last page.)

R. Butler Extols Banking Opportunities In Address to Commerce and Finance Club

Before a large group of Commerce and Finance students a very interesting talk was given by Roy Butler, Monday night, not only concerning the "Opportunities in Banking," but also of the rise of many Bucknell graduates and the Lewisburg banks. The data given were not only from his own thirty-two years of banking experiences, but included information received from various sources, such as: a branch of the Federal Reserve Bank in Philadelphia, the American Banking Institute, and Bucknell graduates, who have been successful in their respective fields.

"Are there opportunities in banking?" Broadly speaking banking is a necessity. We find in all our activities more or less intricate systems of rules, laws, etc., for our guidance and regulation. Our relations with each other have necessitated and given rise to vast systems of laws governing our every sphere of action. Without them we would be in hopeless disorder—indeed we would probably have wars to the point of extermination. With them we get along with each other fairly well.

The banking occupation is compared to the doctor and again to religion. We find the latter two in every country of the world, so it is with banking. The banker has to do with every activity among men. Trading in kind or barter is practically impossible today. How could the quarryman in Vermont trade

(Continued on last page.)

C. W. Cranford, '29, Heads Bucknellian

General Shake-up in News Staff As Seniors Retire from Duty

According to the custom initiated by the Bucknellian a year or two ago, the latter's affairs will be, during the second semester, in the hands of a new staff of editors. Most of the seniors are retiring at this time, while a number of the reporters are being elevated to staff positions. The retiring editor, "Bob" Lyon, '29, will remain with the paper for a week or two longer, while arrangements are being completed for the regional convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association, which is to be held at Bucknell this month. When this matter is taken care of, his position will be taken by C. W. Cranford, '29, who has filled the position of managing editor during the past two semesters. The other members of the new staff are listed below:

Asst. Editor-in-Chief...C. E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor...Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors
Thomas MacLeod, '31
Dorothy Davies, '30
A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor.....Frennie Eisley, '31
Assistant News Editors—
Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Blair Hazen, '31
Sports Editor.....J. W. McElligot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors—
Kenneth Vandenbree, '31
R. B. Koser, '31
Women's College Editor—
Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor...Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editor...Elizabeth Figner, '30

The business staff will not be changed since it is appointed for the entire year.

Reporters selected from the news-writing class include: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; H. M. Graham, '31; H. T. Hogan, '29; K. A. Leach, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; N. D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb. '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

D.A.R. Chapter Hears Prof. Harry Robbins

Speaking on "The History of Literature and the Literature of History," Professor H. W. Robbins, head of the English department, addressed the annual open meeting of the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution last Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Rahl, South Front street.

Doctor Robbins discussed the new style of fictionalized biography. He showed that the recent biographical works are usually more readable, fairer in their treatment of the subject, and less prejudiced than the older biographies, but are often inclined toward the sensational and perhaps not quite so accurate.

The speaker made specific references to Strachey's "Queen Victoria" and his "Elizabeth and Essex," and also to Woodward's "George Washington" and "Meet General Grant." He pointed out that these books would be read by future generations as works of literature as well as for the historical data they contain.

There were about eighty at the meeting, including ten gentlemen, guests of D. A. R. members. Milton, Mifflinburg, and other surrounding towns had representatives present.

Tribunal Requires Frosh to Tote Signs

The feminine element of the freshman class giggled, the men scowled, muttered, and then hissed as the announcement of the sign-toting ruling was made in the yearling's chapel last Tuesday. By that edict all first year males were required to carry on their backs, size three by six, signs bearing their names and room numbers.

This rule was made and enforced for one week at the first of the year. Why is it repeated?

Because—(The first is the reason the senior tribunal makes public; the last, the underlying motive of the regulation).

1. Certain frosh have not been "speaking up" to their superiors. The rule is a punishment.

2. About fifteen freshmen are entering Bucknell at the first of the second semester. They are, most of them, mid-year high school graduates, because some high schools still graduate classes twice yearly. For disciplinary and other reasons various upper-classmen would like to know who and where they are. Thus the name tags.

B. U. Basketeers Bow to Tigers In Close Game on Foreign Court; Lead Changed Hands Frequently

Princeton in the Front at Half By 2 Point Margin; Adds to Score in Final Period

SEILER AND CAREY STAR

Athletic Relations Renewed Between the Universities

The renewal of athletic relations with Princeton University culminated in a 27-17 court win for the Tigers over the Bucknell quintet last evening in a basketball game that was staged in Tigertown.

The losers furnished the home team with plenty of opposition during the first half with "Archie" Seiler leading the attack. At half time Princeton was ahead by a mere margin of two points. However during the first period the lead changed hands on several occasions.

"Archie" Seiler, Bucknell's star pivot man, again led the offensive attack for the Bisons with a trio of field goals and a lone foul for a seven point total. Paul Carey matched Seiler's scoring performance with a like number of points. Seiler and Carey were the high scorers for their respective teams.

"Mike" Miles, Princeton's great football player, performed at a guard post along with "Eddie" Wittmer, another fine Tiger gridiron luminary. "Eddie" is a brother to "Al" Wittmer, a former all-American at Princeton.

This was Princeton's first court game in two weeks as the Tiger athletes have been confined to their books during the last fortnight.

First Half Close

The Bucknell team, displaying fine defensive work during the first half, held its opponents in check during the first twenty minutes of play. However, when the second period got under way, the winners gradually increased their lead and when the final whistle blew indicating the close of the game, the Tigertown court representatives were out in front by a 10-point margin.

Courses Announced In First Folder Of B.U. Summer Session

The director of the Bucknell Summer Session, Associate Professor John H. Eisenhauer, has just issued a preliminary announcement of the coming summer session. This is an attractive four-page folder that tells in a general way what students may expect to find at the summer session. The courses to be offered are listed in full. There are more than sixty of them, and they are grouped under the following heads: athletic coaching, biology, chemistry, education, English, French, geography and history, social science, Latin, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, and physics.

There is to be a demonstration school under the direction of Professor Frank G. Davis, which will be one of the few demonstration schools of secondary level in the State. In this school teachers can obtain the necessary amount of practice teaching required by the State.

The cost of tuition is $8 a semester hour. Board and room for the six weeks will cost $60. The college dormitories will be used to house students, and the new dining room will be used to board them.

The matter of entertainment has not been overlooked, for there will be the usual number of excursions and out-of-door events. Professor Norman H. Stewart will conduct out-of-door classes in nature study.

Seven Seniors Are Named For English Honors Course

Professor H. W. Robbins, head of the Department of English, announces that seven students majoring in English have qualified to read for honors. These are Eloise Bailey, Paul E. Fink, Jane G. Foust, A. Elizabeth Frederick, Jean H. Wood, Alfred H. Rawlinson, and Josephine M. Roberts, all seniors.

These seven students are exempt from all classes this semester. They read along prescribed lines in English, and hold consultations at intervals with their instructors. They are permitted to attend classes if they so desire, but are to receive no grades in these classes.

This is the first time this system has been tried at Bucknell. It is like the honors course at Swarthmore.

Journal of Education Offers Many Features in Jan. Issue

The Bucknell Journal of Education for the month of January is now ready for distribution. This issue contains many interesting articles by members of the faculty and also by several of the education students.

A special feature of the journal is an article by Dr. Norman H. Stewart on "What the Teaching of Science Has Taught Me." Problems which Dr. Stewart encountered in his classes are freely discussed together with the position which the teachers sometime take in regard to these problems.

Dr. Frank G. Davis has written concerning "The new Bucknell Curriculum in Education." Other features are "Bucknell at the P. S. E. A." by Professor L. L. Rockwell, and "How I Came to Write for Boys," by Professor L. E. Theiss.

Faculty Are Guests of "Sem"

The new dining room had many faculty visitors at Sunday dinner. Among the guests were Mrs. W. E. Martin, Prof. and Mrs. G. B. Lawson, Prof. and Mrs. N. H. Stewart, Prof. and Mrs. H. W. Robbins, Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Sprague, Prof. and Mrs. L. L. Rockwell, Prof. H. T. Colestock, Prof. and Mrs. B. W. Griffiths, and son Dan, Prof. and Mrs. F. H. Eland, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Snavely, Assistant Professor and Mrs. W. C. Smith, Prof. and Mrs. F. G. Davis, Miss Jean Heller, and Miss Eliza Martin.

Sophmore Cotillion To Be Held March 23

The Sophomore Cotillion will be held in the Tustin gymnasium on March 23, according to Joseph Lewis, chairman of the committee.

A meeting of the various chairmen and their assistants was held in Bucknell Hall on Tuesday afternoon. Preliminary plans were made which if carried out, promise to make this Cotillion the most outstanding one in the history of the various sophomore classes.

The sophomores plan to mark time until after the junior class stages its Prom and then go to work in earnest.

Many innovations are planned for the Cotillion, but the success of the entire affair depends upon a mysterious factor which the committee will not divulge. If this materializes, as the sophomores believe it will, it will probably be the most amazing coup sprung on any campus this year. The committee promises to break its silence on it in the Bucknellian soon. The entire Sophomore Cotillion committee is: Joseph Lewis, chairman of the committee: advertising committee: Thomas MacLeod, chairman, Adelaide Clarke, William Miller, William Thompson; decoration committee: Robert Keenan, chairman, Mary Gross, Helen Jones, Betty Edmunds, Chris Kammire; orchestra committee: Edward Smalstig, chairman, Helen Mowry, William Wahlner, Robert Tooney; program committee: Anthony Slate, chairman, Betty Rodenbeck, Samuel Schiro; ticket committee: Shourds, chairman, Ruth De Turk, Fred Votaw, Clyde Miller, John Anderson.

J. M. Wilson is New Trustee

John M. Wilson, '97, was elected to the Board of Trustees to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. W. W. Klechner. Mr. Wilson is a prominent business executive of Pittsburgh.

June Crispin, '32, transferred to Ursinus College at the end of last semester.

* * * *

Kathryn Gammons, of Scranton, Pa., has entered as a freshman this semester.

* * * *

Anne Schultz, '30, has transferred to the University of Pittsburgh to be nearer home.

* * * *

Some of the professors really seemed sad to part with their last semester's classes.

* * * *

Exams, heart failure, shaking knees, empty heads, sleepless nights, wearied nerves—synonyms in college life.

* * * *

"There ain't no justice." Imagine staying up until stx a. m. to finish a notebook and then have the teacher not call for it!

* * * *

Lorraine Flynn, '30, had the fortune, or misfortune, whichever way you look at it, of having all her exams over the first three days.

* * * *

Someone not only "licked the flowers" off the punch-bowl at the Pi Phi formal but, in their anxiety to get the last drop, knocked the whole bottom out of the bowl.

* * * *

We hear that the Junior Prom is to be in the new dining room at the "Sem." That sounds very well but it's quite a shame to deprive the boys and girls of their "walk home."

"Hunty" McNally expects to spend the second semester "breaking into print." "Hunty's" father is a newspaper man, and "Hunty" expects to work as a reporter on a paper in the western part of the state.

* * * *

"Al" Weidensaul: (to a little dog that wandered into a class room) "Get out of here! Get out! I don't want you in here!"

Fair "Semite": "Why don't you pick on someone your own size, Al?"

* * * *

Guy Payne, College Inn proprietor, has furnished Bucknell football enthusiasts with a fascinating pastime. Youthful athletes of both sexes spend much time making two miniature football teams, behind a plate-glass window, kick a tiny football, when they move a lever.

* * * *

When the new semester begins, students on the campus will miss one happy face, that of the congenial "Bill" Coffman, '29. "Bill" who rooms in the College Inn, will be at his home in Bloomsburg until he finds a position. Next year he expects to teach, although his location has not yet been decided.

* * * *

The "Semites" are having regular basketball practices in preparation for the inter-sorority games which will be played this semester. The practices are being held in Tustin gym under the direction of Miss Alma Ebeling, instructor in physical education for women.

Alumni Notes

Ruth M. Lupold, ex-'25

Miss Ruth M. Lupold, ex-'25, has had a remarkably successful career with the Montgomery Ward and Company organization, and now, according to the Sunbury Item, in less than one year after she entered the service of the company, she is assistant director of personnel for the entire organization.

She is the daughter of J. W. Lupold, chief dispatcher of the Sunbury division, P. R. R. In describing her rise the P. R. R. News says: "In May, 1928, she entered the service of Montgomery Ward and Company as cashier of their local store in Sunbury. In less than one year she has advanced to the national headquarters at Chicago, as assistant director of personnel for the entire organization. Merit tells the story.

"Six weeks after launching her business career, Miss Lupold was promoted to cashier of the local store in Sunbury. The same caliber of work that won her first promotion brought her to the office of personnel director for the Baltimore District of the organization in October, 1928. Her success in this role led to her appointment as assistant director of personnel for the entire organization, on January 17. She is one of the youngest women of Sunbury to take her place among the women of the country who are demonstrating 'women's place in business.' "

George R. Bliss, '03

George R. Bliss, '03, was recently elected to the California State Assembly, from the Santa Barbara district.

Mr. Bliss is the owner of a considerable fruit ranch. He comes of an old Bucknell family. His grandfather, Dr. George Ripley Bliss, for whom he is named, was Bucknell's first professor. He built the house now owned by the McClures, on University avenue. Among his sons were Tasker H. Bliss, ex-'73, who was chief of staff of the U. S. Army, in the World War. Another son was Henry Harmon Bliss, '70, who was a distinguished patent lawyer in Washington. He was the father of George Ripley Bliss, the California rancher who has just been elected to the state legislature.

George Bliss' wife was Ruth Shorkley, '05, of Lewisburg, whose ancestors were the real founders of Bucknell.

Oliver J. Decker, Esq., '00

Oliver J. Decker, Esq., '00, of Williamsport, who is a member of the Bucknell Board of Trustees, recently delivered the Founders' Day address for the Kappa Sigma fraternity at the Hotel LaSalle in Chicago.

Mr. Decker is one of the five national officers of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. He has been interested in fraternity work ever since his undergraduate days. For many years he was a section chief in his fraternity. He has been steadily advanced in office until he is now a member of the governing board. Last year, while he was in California regaining his strength after a critical operation, he was chosen by the lawyers of Lycoming County as president of the Lycoming County Bar association.

Frederick V. Follmer, '06

Bucknell is well represented in the Milton Chamber of Commerce. At a special meeting of the board of directors held recently, Frederick V. Follmer, '06, was elected president of the organization and Berkley V. Hastings, ex-'13, was chosen as second vice president. That gives Bucknell two of the four officers of the organization.

Dr. Robert B. McCay, '96

Dr. Robert Burns McCay, '96, was elected secretary of the Northumberland County Medical Society for the current year, at a meeting of that organization held recently in the Masonic Temple in Sunbury. Dr. Mark K. Gass, '22, one of the young physicians of the county, was elected as first vice president.

Lee Francis Lybarger Jr., '28

Lee Francis Lybarger Jr., '28, has just become a justice of the peace. The announcement was made on February first by Governor John S. Fisher.

Mr. Lybarger succeeds his father in this position. The elder Mr. Lybarger, who is an attorney in Mifflinburg, has just resigned from the office to which his son succeeded.

All Bucknellians of recent years will know Lee Francis Lybarger Jr. For several years he was the mainstay of the Bucknell debating team.

Miss Carrie Purdy, Inst., '84

Miss Carrie Purdy, Institute, '84, of Sunbury, who has long been prominent in missionary and charitable work, will soon leave her home in Sunbury, according to the Sunbury Daily, to pursue an advanced course in education at Columbia University.

Miss Purdy has been back in Sunbury for the past two years while on a leave of absence granted her from her duties as superintendent of the Sarah L. Keen College for Girls in Mexico City. She will be engaged in study at Columbia University until June, when she expects to return to Mexico.

Miss Purdy is a sister of Truman and Hiram Purdy, both of whom are Bucknellians.

The Sun Will Shine Again

And this for comfort thou must know,
Times that are ill won't still be so;
Clouds will not ever pour down rain;
A sullen day will clear again.
—Herrick.

Harvard Experiments With Student 'House'

Can the great American university regain the benefits of close social contacts enjoyed by the small college and at the same time retain the advantages of its own superior facilities? A $3,000,000 environment is being undertaken by Harvard University to answer this question. It involves perhaps the nearest approach to the English college system yet undertaken in the United States. As explained by A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard, the plan, which is financed by an anonymous gift, contemplates the establishment of a "hall" or "house" accommodating from 200 to 300 students. Much more than a dormitory, such a unit will provide a dining hall and club-room and living quarters for its own dean and staff of tutors.

While constituting, in one sense, a college within a college, the proposed house will be only the center, not the circumference, of it is members' associations. They will attend university lectures, retain membership in clubs, and participate in athletics and other student activities. Moreover, they will be drawn from all strata of the student body; such mixing of varied interests is expected to prove one of the plan's major benefits. Already, by relaxation of rules enforcing attendance at lectures and by development of its tutorial system, Harvard has gone a long way toward helping the student to recognize a responsibility he must in any case ultimately accept—that of educating himself. This experiment, it is hoped, will be the capstone of that program.

Increasingly recognition is being given to the fact that the mechanics of education can be overemphasized. Providing fine equipment and talented instructors does not suffice if the student refuses to make full use of them. Some current educational efforts are assigning a larger role to the human factor. President Garfield is credited with saying that a log with a teacher on one end and a pupil on the other might be a university.

Any one who has watched the Oxford or Cambridge system in operation will hope that more than one such unit will be tried before judgment is rendered. In England, rivalry between colleges within the university, both in sports and studies, adds greatly to the value of the system. As Dr. Lowell recognizes, much will depend on the wisdom with which the Harvard venture is conducted. It might be unwise to make an undergraduate in the United States pay a fine for being outside the college walls after 10 p. m., or to print the rules governing his conduct in Latin.

But if a genuine community of scholarship can be built up, if the power known as "college spirit" in its better manifestations can be developed, if the sense of mutual responsibility which puts a moral compulsion on the slacker student can be attained, if pupils can discover that tutors are also worthy opponents at tennis and fine hosts at breakfast, if athletics can find that esthetics sometimes make good friends, if there can be high talk in friends' rooms after dinner of politics, religion, and literature—if those things can be, the "house" will prove an intellectual and social home—a veritable alma mater—and the experiment a success.—The Christian Science Monitor.

New Word in Surgery

"Where have you been?"
"In the hospital getting censored."
"Censored?"
"Yes, I had several important parts cut out."—Tennessee Star.

Co-eds Must Share Date Expenses Soon

Lancelot should never have started it in the first place. Except for Adam, he made more misery for mankind than any man in history. He was the great medieval authority on the etiquette of gallantry, and the deplorable institutions which he originated have left young men impoverished ever since. Where is the fair damsel of King Arthur's day who waited patiently for some knight errant to kill the dragon at her front door? She has been replaced on the scale of human evolution by a new type of feminism.

The young woman of today has no time for ogres or dragons. She does not sit at home in the castle watching wistfully for the glitter of golden armor on the hilltop. Any young gentleman hoping to rescue her must use the telephone to find her and wrack the engine of his car to catch her. When he reaches her at last, he hands out his last "five" for an evening's entertainment, and leaves her that night, to spend the rest of the week nosing around a hamburger shop for sustenance. This young man decides that it is absolutely imperious that he land a job. He applies for the position of elevator boy in a downtown office building, and learns that every position is filled by a girl. He seeks a job in a check room or a restaurant and discovers that women have taken everything everywhere.

He reads in an economic textbook that "any position which can be filled by a woman will not be filled by a man. Wages for women are lower, and a man can't underbid them." He gives up hope and becomes a socialist and a woman-hater. He begins to think that some philosopher of the Stone Age must have thought out the oft-repeated phrase: "It's the woman who pays."

There is a movement afoot upon the campus for an equal sharing of expenses between men and women. The idea is no doubt commendable from the masculine point of view. But there is a taint of graft to the scheme which makes it esthetically wrong.—The Minnesota Daily.

Read The Bucknellian

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Eternal-Pencils 1928
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Wards are preeminent as the shoes that college men prefer.
John Ward MEN'S SHOES
See them on display at
MONTGOMERY & CO.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

WAINIES

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wo nder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be yours by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

We are glad to welcome back into our midst Brother Erney, '30, who has been ill with the "flu" for three weeks.

Brother Koegel, '30, spent a week-end at his home in Lehighton.

Brothers Hermeane, '31, and Davidson, '30, and pledge brother Palmer, '32, visited Bloomsburg recently.

"Tom" Horan, '23, paid us a visit recently.

The chapter entertained as guests Sunday, Professor and Mrs. S. C. Ogburn and son, and the Misses Marie Conditt, Dorothy Levegood, and Dorothea Flint.

The house seemed rather deserted over the week-end. Among those who journeyed home were brothers Erney, Snauffer, and Meadowcroft; and pledges Pierce, Hepler, MacMurray, Carleton, Palmer, and McKelvy.

Brother George Stout, '28, is now connected with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in New York City.

Recent visitors at the house were Milliard, ex-'30, "Skipper" Smith, from the West Virginia chapter, brother James, from Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and brother Leslie of the Denison chapter.

Brother Davidson, '30, and pledge Palmer attended a formal dance at Bloomsburg State Teachers College last Saturday.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Roger Davis, '32

Brother Moerschbacker was finally forced to go home to recover his health after having spent a great deal of time in the infirmary. It is hoped that he will be able to be back with us in the near future.

Brother "Bill" Cox has been confined to the infirmary since January 18, suffering from an infection of the ear, believed to be a result of the grippe.

Brothers Lobel, Hambacker, and Davis were fortunate enough to be able to spend a few days at home between semesters.

Pledge brother Hughes was the guest of "Johnny" Hatten, Friday and Saturday, at his home in Edwardsville, Pa.

The first "special feature dance" of the year will go down in the annals of the house as one of the best of its kind ever held. More than 50 couples attended. Every one caught the spirit of the occasion and joined in "making whoopee" right merrily. The interest in the festive occasion was made keener by the presence of a great many of our alumni brothers as well as many guests.

Some of the alumni present were: "Bill" Muthard, '28, "Red" Dorsett, ex-'28, and Francis Wood, '28.

"Jim" Smith, of Allentown, was the guest of brother Muthard. "Bob" Jordon of Wilkes-Barre was the guest of pledge brother "Don" Mills.

We were also honored by the presence of a great many out-of-town girls, many of them were the guests of fellows who had been able to go home between semesters. Some of these "home town" girls were: Miss Charlotte Morgan, of Plymouth, Pa.; Miss Lucile Willoughby, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Miss Dorothy Levers, of Milton; Miss Dorothy Philips, of Sunbury, Miss Kathryn Balliet, of Milton.

The rythmn for the occasion was furnished by "Eddie" Hoffman and his band. The chaperones were: Prof. and Mrs. R. L. Matz, Instructor and Mrs. R. F. Hartz, and Mrs. Albert Johnson.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

Having finished their exams early many of the boys went home for the week-end.

We are sorry to say that pledge brother Benjamin Wahrman will not be with us this semester. He was called home, due to sickness in the family.

Pledge brother Kemp is improving slowly at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital. He expects to be home in about ten days.

Evan R. Thomas was at home almost a week, having finished his exams on Monday.

Brothers "Spike" Hahn and Paul Crago spent the week-end in Williamsport.

Now that Federal Court has concluded, most of the boys must look elsewhere for diversion.

The new basketball equipment arriving, the five is ready for action against all comers.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

T. U. O. welcomes back Ramon de Filippo, '30, of Elmira, N. Y., and Bernard W. Brown, of Franklin, Pa. "Flip" left college last year to attend Syracuse. During the past semester he coached a basketball team in Elmira. Since leaving college, pledge brother Brown has been doing chemical work.

"Ted" Mitchell, '29, Shirley Leavitt, '32, and "Fred" Locke, '31, returned from New York last Monday much the worse for wear. While in New York they "took in" some of Broadway's best shows.

Now that examinations are over, the "vic" is going day and night. A few of the boys got together and bought Beethoven's fifth Symphony. The chapter is proud of this new addition to its list of classical records.

Our alumnae visitors last week-end were "Vince" McHall, '28, "Dick" Vastine, '27, and James Caldwell, '27.

ALPHA CHI MU
John Anderson, '31

All the fellows were surprised and delighted on Thursday evening when "Dick" Howell, '31, walked into the house. "Dick" was so absent-minded that he forgot to come back when the Christmas vacation ended, (no doubt he has been head over heels in!—umber).

William Curnow, who has been transferred here from Lafayette, was a visitor at the house Sunday afternoon and evening.

"Pee-Wee" Feaster, "Dusty" Rhodes, "Eldy Ward," "Piano Player" (?) Hadsall, "Bunny" Benson, Clarence Cranford, William Shure, Lyle Jackson, "Al" Brenner, Roger Stillman, and "Giant" Truscott, all decided to try some home-cooking this last week-end.

Those who did not go hame, went to "Bill" Shures???

BETA KAPPA
"Chris" Gerken, '30

Brother Benford spent the past week in the infirmary. We hope to have him back with us soon.

Brother Streitz made a hurried visit to Clayton, N. J., over the week-end and from reports, a good time was had by all.

William Gerken, of Brooklyn, N. Y. spent a few days at the house.

Brother "Phil" Campbell dropped in to see the boys last Friday evening.

Pledge brothers Beckwith and Gray Visited Scranton and according to Gray, the company up there is fine.

We are glad to have Brother Jones back with us. He spent the past semester at St. Thomas College.

Brother Lare visited his home in Luzerne recently.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

Helen Steinhilper, '29, spent the week-end in Williamsport.

Mary Gross and Esther Hipple, '31, spent last week-end "down the line," at their homes in Harrisburg and Lancaster, respectively.

"Dot" Levegood, '30, spent several days last week, at her home in Williamsport.

Eleanor Buchholz, '31, "visited" the University last Saturday morning, when she drove back from her home in Bathmare, to take a conflict exam.

"Dot" Showalter, '31, spent the week-end with her parents at her home in Mifflinburg.

Marie Trunk, '31, came back last Saturday after spending a couple of days in Reading with her mother, Mrs. William Trunk.

Frances Davison, '31, was visited by Eleanor Harper, ex-'31, this last week-end.

"Dot" Strohm, '32, is forced to leave us this semester, due to the illness of her mother.

With the close of the last semester, Eleanor Winslow, '29, was added to the list of alumnae.

The second semester election of officers was held on Tuesday night.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Elizabeth Fries, '31

Mary Tyler, '29, and Beulah Lesher, '30, took advantage of having fortunate examination schedules by visiting their homes for several days.

We are all sorry to lose "Kitty" Wagner, '28, who has finished her course, and is leaving college the end of this semester.

Evidently examinations were too much for Marie Walbert, '30, as she went home sick last week. We are hoping that she will be back again in a few days.

Virginia Smoot, '30, strained her ankle while coasting, but she reports that it will soon be as good as new again.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Helen E. Bell, '30

Eta's formal dance was held in Tustin gym Saturday evening, February 2, as a fitting climax to a

(Continued on page 7)

"Such popularity must be deserved!"

To an outsider, the time and trouble taken to produce a Chesterfield might seem as unnecessary as the sabre-scars so proudly worn by students of pre-war Heidelberg. But popularity is much the same the world over — you don't get it for nothing.

But any short-cuts in the time it takes to cure and mellow the Chesterfield tobaccos, or one step the less in blending and balancing them — would end up in something that wasn't Chesterfield. And you wouldn't like that.

So we'll stick to our old system—getting the right tobaccos, blending them the Chesterfield way, never sacrificing character, body, flavor to mere mildness.

We want to keep our popularity, now that we've earned it—and we know no better way than to keep on earning it!

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet.. THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

New Word in Surgery

"Where have you been?"
"In the hospital getting censored."
"Censored?"
"Yes, I had several important parts cut out."—Tennessee Star.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

ICE CREAM
O'BRIEN'S
Corner
6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC
AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—14—
Advertise Now for the Second Semester

THE BUCKNELLIAN
In the Heart of the Keystone State

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief Robert L. Lyon, '29, 208 S. 7th St., Phone 217-R-2
Business Manager John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 191
Assistant Editor-in-chief Jean H. Wood, '29
Managing Editor Clarence W. Cranford, '29
Assistant Managing Editors Virginia Smoot, '29, Helen Bell, '30
News Editor Charles E. Mohr, '29
Assistant News Editors Jane G. Foust, '29, Trennie Ebeley, '31, Bertha Gaventa, '30
Sports Editor J. Warren McElgot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors E. Burtoff Koser, '31, Thomas McLeod, '31
Women's College Editor Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Exchange Editor Jessie E. Fielding, '29
Column Editors Lillian Mattick, '30, Elizabeth Figner, '30, Frances Kernohan, '30

Business Staff

Advertising Manager W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager John Snyder, '30, Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers George DeLancey, '32, Nathaniel Glazier, '32, Walter H. Grim, '32, Benjamin Wahrman, '32

CALENDAR

—February 8 to February 15—

Friday, February 8, 7:30 to 10:30—Pi Delta Epsilon informal lance in Tustin Gym.

Saturday, February 9, 8 to 10:30—Sigma Sigma Delta pledge party to the actives in the play room.
8 to 11:15—Delta Sigma informal dance.
8 to 11:15—Kappa Delta Rho informal dance.
8 to 11:15—Phi Kappa informal dance.

Tuesday, February 12, 7:30—Alumnae Club meeting in the organ room.

What the Colleges Are Doing

"A" In Every Course

For the first time in the history of Stanford University a student shot academic par throughout his scholastic career.

Arthur F. Scotten has graduated with a straigh: A grade in every unit of the 180 required for a diploma. Scotten made the varsity fencing team and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. His home is in Pasadena.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

It is surprising that Stanford has never before produced a student brilliant enough to make a straight A grade for the entire college course. There have been several straight A students at Bucknell. It would be interesting if the record books could be looked over and the number of such students here definitely ascertained.

—O—

Cornell Students Manage Hotel

From the Targum we learn that the student body at Northwestern College will be divided into five classes next fall. The classes will be freshman, sophomore, middlers, junior, and senior. This will be done, probably, to carry out the funny paper idea that all students spend at least five years in college.

Students in the course on hotel management conducted by Cornell University at Ithaca took over all phases of the operation of the Hotel Astor on Monday, November 12. The students devoted special attention this year to studying the methods of serving big dinners and handling big public functions.—Exchange.

We wonder if they made any progress toward inventing some sort of system that will prevent the guests from carrying all the towels away from the hotel.

—O—

State Co-ed Devours 12 Hot Dogs

A Penn State co-ed recently chewed her way to a hot dog crown, by devouring twelve of the sandwiches at one sitting. When the bell rang for the close of the contest, the conquering co-ed rather nimbly ran away for her evening meal. May the gods help her future husband who may attempt to keep her.

—O—

An International Relations Club

A few more weeks and Ursinus College will be able to add an International Relations Club to its rapidly growing list or organizations engaging in extra-curricular activities. With the ever increasing importance of international affairs, the need for, and the advantage of, encouraging such a club have long been felt on the local campus. Successful cooperation by members of the student body and faculty has made this desire a reality.

—O—

Pitt Has a Commons Room

Some symbols representing all the outstanding universities will be placed in the great Commons Room of the Cathedral of Learning, at Pitt. One of the most interesting symbols up to the present time is a stone from the University of Cracow, which was the Alma Mater of the Astronomer, Copernicus, who attended Cracow in the latter part of the fifteenth century.

—O—

Temple To Have Medicine Building

A new school of medicine will be erected at Temple University. It will be six stories high and will contain ample room for exhaustive research work. The Cromwell Memorial Gates will be erected at the entrance of the Professional School, which will be greatly improved for the fall term. These buildings are largely made possible through gifts of the alumni of the institution.

—X—

Texas Has Sleeping Classes

Texas University has at last filled a long felt need in the modern campus curriculumn, for it now has a class that meets with the open purpose of spending it's hour in sleep.

—X—

Iowa Debators go to England

The University of Iowa will send a debating team to England in May, according to an announcement made by Prof. A. Craig Baird, of the Department of Speech, who is director of debate. The team will meet seven or eight of the representative English universities, including London, Edinburg, Oxford, and Cambridge.

—X—

Dutch Dates At Northwestern

An attempt at Northwestern to establish a "Dutch" system of dating where men and women would share equally in the expenses resulted in two poorly attended dances. . . . .

Although women are getting more and more into salaried positions that make them partly or totally independent, it will be a long time before they will give up the security of having a man to fall back on when they tire of their work or develop a strong penchant for homes and babies. Letting the boy friend pay for the movie is one way of training the husband to pay the rent or taxes. Students at Northwestern were flying in the face of human nature. It is not surprising that they failed.

—The Daily Iowan.

THIS BELIEVING WORLD

This story was told on the Ohio State Campus when Michigan and Ohio State met on the football field:

The incident happened upon the occasion of the Michigan-Ohio State game here six years ago. Coach Fielding H. Yost of Michigan, who is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity, is in the habit of dropping around to the local chapter house when in Columbus.

Upon this occasion his knock was answered by a freshman who seemed to have a considerable amount of self-assurance for a pledge.

"I'm Fielding H. Yost, the Michigan Coach," said Coach Yost by way of a self-introduction.

"That so?" drawled the freshman, puffing out a cloud of cigarette smoke. "Come on in and sit down, then I'll tell one."

Read the Bucknellian.

THEM PATHS!

Let the gods lament! No, it really isn't necessary for them—we had nearly forgotten, they don't have to walk on those paths. What is this editorial for? It is frankly to fill up a few inches of space left in the make-up. It couldn't possibly have any other attainable objective, because its subject is the paths of the Bucknell campus, and one really couldn't expect an editorial to have any positive effect on that situation. Weather gods and janitors do not read editorials, and if they did, could it be expected that such an admirable coalition as they have constructed should be broken up for no better purpose than to supply an opportunity for undergraduates to mount and descend the hill without either suffering broken necks or contracting pneumonia? No, of course not; that is quite beyond reason.

The janitors of our worthy college seem to have been infected by the Coolidge policy of economy in spending. They are saving sand with remarkable success. Great progressive improvement is also being demonstrated in this conservation of natural resources. When the writer entered Bucknell, the janitors used to be terribly wasteful of this good soil. They scattered it right and left on the icy paths. But nothing like that today! We very much doubt if more than a quart of the precious substance has been lost on the campus highways this year. This policy is a little hard on the students—but then, what's the Infirmary for?

THE ONLY TRUE SUCCESS

It's a great mistake to measure success by material results. They are all right as far as they go, but they ought to take their proper place. Over and above material things are the things of the intellect, and over and above the things of the intellect are the things of the spirit. If you forget these you won't realize true joy and happiness. If you find them, it will make no difference whether you arrive at high place. You will have had a large measure of happiness. —William E. Knox.

At the December meeting of the Board of Trustees a retirement fund was voted for Mrs. Mary Stoner Gretzinger, widow of Registrar Wm. C. Gretzinger. Mrs. Gretzinger has been engaged in the library at Bucknell for several years.

Distortions From Omar Khayyam

A Brace of Trippers underneath a Bough,
Some Orange Peel, some Gasper Cards—and Thou
Breaststanding bellows straight from 21-0
Make every glade a little Hell enow.

Some for the Cottage Tea-Gardens; and some
Each for the People's Palace to come
All and the Rest, and let the Devil by
Can hear the Waiter's call deceive drum.

Look of the Summer God beyond us, Low
Lost for evermore for. Watch, and see her blow
The Orange Pips from her ensanguined mouth
And all the debris of her picnic throw.

Think, from each reeking Charabanc-eseral,
The whole of Summer, shrieking Night and Day,
How Tripper after Tripper, with his girl,
Will litter every lane, and go his way.

I often think I never see so red
As when I walk where scattered stems have bled
To satisfy some Vandal's wanton greed,
And trampled lies each lovely Blossom's head.

But when at dusk, O Tripper, you shall pass
Among the Peel and Paper on the grass,
Then may you trip indeed on battered tins
And cut yourself upon your broken glass!

Barbara Euphan Todd in London Morning Post.

SARAH BERNHARDT, '21 ENGAGED TO DR. E. DERR

At a dinner party in Lewisburg recently, Miss Adaline Bernhardt announced the engagement of her sister, Sarah, to Dr. E. S. Derr, now practicing dentistry in the Union county town, says the Sunbury Item. There were 18 guests present at the party, held at the Bernhardt home, North Second street.

Each place at the table had a card in the form of a basket hidden in the napkin. On the card was the happy announcement. Miss Bernhardt is a Bucknell graduate, active in civic work, member of the Presbyterian church and is now teaching school in Milton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bernhardt.

Dr. Derr is a native of Lewistown. He was graduated from the University of Pittsburgh dental school andis located in Lewisburg. The date for the wedding has not yet been announced.

Always Not?

The answer of Life to the charge of the pessimists that the younger generation is not what it used to be is that it never was.

OUR YESTERDAYS

There come to all moments of despair, when the skies are gray and life seems hardly worth the living. Then it is that we are apt to wander down Memory's Lane. Down over the lane where, in fancy, we dream again of the times when our laughter was gay and spontaneous. A lane which leads us into the land of idealism and romance—the realm of our yesterdays. A realm tinged with the magic color of gold, peopled with men of honor and women of virtue, and bordered with the subtle mystery of purple hills.

In our yesterdays we built mansions and castles of wondrous beauty and strength, founded upon integrity and virtue; we sincerely believed in the ultimate triumph of those who were "good" and honest. Those of us who are sane yet believe that honesty, not as a matter of policy but as a matter of self-preservation, is the best course of human action; but many of us are skeptical as to the implications of being "good."

In all truth we know that our dreams rarely come true; one by one our castles have tumbled down and our illusions have been shattered. By dire experience we have learned that the sweetest portion of dreaming is—dreaming; and that most of our failures were because we learned to dream and thus found a cheap way to enjoy prizes we lacked the enterprise to win.

But why dream of and regret our yesterdays?—sweet though they may have been. If we would put ourselves in the way of present greatest happiness, we must forget yesterday, work today, and plan for tomorrow; with no fears for the future and no vain regrets for the past. Then it may be that golden moments will come to us once again, and life hold for us a semblance of the dreams of our yesterdays. And who is surer to enjoy these semblances of our later years than he who is in attune with and loves the simple things of life? He who is in partnership with the wind, the rain, and the soil; who lives each day wholly, honestly, and completely; who makes his prayer humbly and sincerely to his conception of God, and asks only for that which he has earned?

For far too many of us the Land of Heart's Desire lies "over the hills and far away," far beyond the sunset, a land free from all the petty annoyances, real or fancied, of our homes and environments. Certainly, we think, in some distant clime there must be a happier abode than ours. We do but fool ourselves. We yearn to live in our yesterdays, which were never real. May it not be that the real Land of Heart's Desire lies right about us, and that our own home may be the very center of it?

—The Kalends.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Attention Football Men!

All varsity football men are expected to report at the Tustin Gym on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for the initial spring practice of the season. Coach Snavely wants every man who expects to go out for varsity football in the fall to be on hand Saturday afternoon.

It pays to advertise.

"WHISPER IT TO YOUR FRIENDS ··· THE JANUARY SALE IS ON NOW FLORSHEIM SHOES $6 EIGHT-EIGHTY-FIVE A PAIR!"

J. F. Prowant Co.

LEWISBURG, PA.

From old kettle to new world

SOMEBODY has to believe in the big possibilities of little things. James Watt saw the lid of his tea-kettle dance—and today our civilization is built largely on steam.

In the field of communication, Bell saw the possibilities of a little vibrating diaphragm. Today from the telephone at his elbow a man talks to his next-door neighbor or across the continent, just as he chooses.

Men in the telephone industry, in commercial and administrative as well as technical work, are constantly proving that little suggestions, little ideas, little changes, when smoothly fitted into the comprehensive plan, may be big in possibilities of better public service.

BELL SYSTEM

A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

Had Fannie Hurst Been Mother Goose

Jack and Jill went up the hill. Jack, swarthy, heavy-set, sensuous. A leer on his lips. Perspiration. Muscles standing out on hairy arms.

Jill, dainty, innocent. Red lips. Carmine lips. Kiss proof. Feet like magnolia blossoms. Hands—the whiteness marred by dishwater. Greasy, grey, dishwater.

Went up the hill. Slowly. Jill's hand in Jack's. A fried egg resting on a piece of ham.

To fetch a pail of water. Water. Clear water. Fresh water. Water that quenches thirst, cleanses filth. Bathes wounds. Bleeding wounds. Wounds of the dying man. Jack tried to kiss Jill. Overcome by desire. Smother her in his hot kisses. Jill's fist on Jack's jaw.

Jack fell down. Down. Down. Down. To the earth. The earth from which he sprang. Nasty, black earth. Angleworms. Prostrate. Head on rock. Large rock. Oh, blood! Cruel blood! Young blood! Jack broke his crown. Cruel wound in young flesh.

Jill! Ah, Jill! In fact, pint! Jill horrified at her deed. Sobbing. Penitent. Contrite. Also sobbing.

Jill. Came tumbling after. You hear the echo of her fall resounding from rock to rock. Tree to tree. Boulder to boulder. Resounding.

Jill. Open arms. Open lips. Nursing broken crown. You don't hear Jack kicking, either.

Ah! Ah, ah, ah, ah, ah, ah! Jack! Jill! Ah!

L-u-u-u-v-e-!!! —Hannie First.

A Little Ditty Entitled "The College Commuter"

The college commuter is a subject upon which I am most highly qualified to write—I being one of this hated, looked-down-upon, unbearable clan. The performance of the college commuter is a hard one, with no intermission between acts. He must be up before the sun, gulp down his breakfast, and half-clothed, half-awake, dash from ten to twenty blocks for his train. If he is lucky he catches the last car, rushes for a seat, and, having found one, discovers that he has left his commuter's pass on the bureau, together with his dink, (if he is a frosh), and suspenders, (if he is a pessimist).

When he arrives at the college he discovers that he has left his books on the train. Thus a grand and glorious day of mistakes follows. He is "sent up" for having his coat unbuttoned. (there have been no buttons on it since the last dance). He is called upon and called down by his relentless profs for this and that and the other thing.

The "commutator," as he is sometimes called, is quiet, peaceful, and harmless. He treads his way among his daily tasks with a smile upon his pain-wracked face, asking no favors and fearing no one, (except upperclassmen, professors, co-eds, etc.).

He is usually very near-sighted and forgetful, but his is the stuff of which this most progressive nation is built? ? ? You will find him in every walk of life. (He can't afford to ride). He is a most cheerful and helpful soul. Would there were more of his kind!

—Jake Feldspar.

A Nightmare from the Finals English 001

1. Do you agree with Jane Austen about this P. and P. business?

2. What connection did Dryden have with the Pseud-Classical movement, or was it the Pseudo-Isidorian Decretals? Substitute in the first equation.

3. What do YOU think about Hydrotaphia? Yes or no.

4. Quote about ninety lines at random from Boccacio's Decameron, "Pilgrim's Progress" also acceptable.

5. "I never cared much for the heroic couplet; it has a lousy effect." Do you think Pope was justified? Illustrate by quoting freely from "Duncaid."

6. The ballad has been called the mother of English poetry. Not to stir up any scandal or anything, but how do you feel about that? Feel at liberty to quote.

Remember this is an English examination!

Answer all.

—Gulliver.

After some thought, Gulliver has decided to sponsor a prize contest. The prize, to be announced later, will be awarded by competent judges, to be anounced later, to the student appending the most original note to a final exam paper.

This semester's winners were selected from certain English examination papers. Here are the winning notes:

First prize—"If you had a son like me, would you shoot him?"

Second prize—"I enjoyed your course, and also your exam. Good-bye! !"

Third prize—"Had a peach of a time in your class this term. You are quite witty, in case you don't know it!"

—Gulliver.

BOXING TOURNAMENT STAGED FOR CLASSES

(Continued from Page 1.)

Hughes furnished the crowd with some amusement in their fight. Storaci, who captained the boxing team last winter, easily defeated the inexperienced Hughes. During most of the affair Storaci merely toyed with his game rival.

Rupert Cicero and John Appleby drew the assignment to fight in the 145-pound class. Cicero, with a dazzling display of footwork and a deadly assortment of punches, defeated Appleby in rather an easy fashion. Cicero, a quiet and unassuming chap, made a name for himself that night, with the brilliant exhibition that he gave. He punched hard and often and his deceptive footwork helped him out of several dangerous situations.

Another bout in the 145-pound division was staged when captain Frank Lepore and Frank Guidotti faced each other. Lepore, who was recently elected to lead the 1929 Bucknell boxing team, won with apparent ease over the outclassed Guidotti. The latter put up a game battle and furnished Lepore with plenty of opposition until the last gong had sounded.

The 155-pound bout was the thriller of the evening. "Maj" Kozik,of baseball fame, and "Bud" Ammerman, Bucknell football man, treated the crowd to a fast and furious exhibition of blow exchanging. Both men hit with their right and left and the two took lots of punishment. Kozik landed more blows because of the fact that he swung more. On several occasions he missed the object of his punches. When it was all over, Coaches Snavely and Reed got their heads together and decided in favor of Kozik.

The light heavyweight bout of the evening was between "Lou" Mutzel and Sam Hoak. Mutzel simply played with his game but inexperienced rival and there was no question but that he was the winner once the bout was under way. Hoak showed lots of fight and spirit and promises to develop into a first class boxer.

Jones Trounces Egel

"Pottsville" Jones, Bison football guard and Norman Egel clashed in the battle for heavyweight honors. Jones, revealing the experience that he gained in the ring last winter, outpointed Egel in a three round affair. It was apparent that Jones did not extend himself as he took things rather easy during the bout. Jones won the referees' decision but Egel must be commended for the brave stand that he put up.

This ended Bucknell's second interclass boxing meet. The results of the matches will furnish Coaches Plant and Musser with a definite idea as to the relative strength of the team. Bucknell's intercollegiate boxing season will be officially ushered in on February 14, at which time the Bison ringmen will face the Manhattan College glove artists in an intercollegiate meet which will be staged in the new high school gym.

Senator Andrew J. Sordoni

Senator Andrew J. Sordoni, of Kingston, who is a member of the Bucknell Board of Trustees, is apparently on the way to be a telephone magnate. He has for some time been the owner of the Commonwealth Telephone Company, and quite recently he acquired the Luzerne County Telephone Company. He intends to merge the two.

Miss Martin Talks On Use of Library

Miss Eliza J. Martin, University librarian, addressed two of Professor F. H. Lund's classes recently on how to use the library. The applied psychology class listened to Miss Martin on Monday morning, the class in abnormal psychology hearing her Tuesday morning.

During the coming semester Professor Lund intends to stress outside reading as the best way for the thorough study and understanding of a subject. Feeling that the average college student knows very little about the proper way to use the library, Professor Lund asked Miss Martin to address his classes. The librarian, willingly responding, dwelt at length on the arrangement of the library, the use of the card index system, and other methods for facilitating reference and research work.

"Y" Mid-Winter Conference To Meet at Buck Hill Falls

The Mid-winter Conference for the Middle Atlantic district of the Y. M. C. A. will be held at Buck Hill Falls Inn, Cresco, during the week-end of February 15, 16, 17.

An exceptional list of outstanding speakers has been engaged, including Pitt Van Deusen, Kirby Paige, and Norman Thomas. "The Necessity for a New Social Order" will be the title of Mr. Thomas' address

Half a dozen Bucknell students are expected to make the trip, probably by car. At least one member of the faculty will also represent Bucknell.

Mu Phi to Present Recital In Bucknell Hall on Feb. 18

Piano duets, solos, quartet selections, and vocal duets will feature the recital to be given by Mu Phi Epsilon on February 18, at 8 o'clock in Bucknell Hall. The personnel of the program includes Miss Melrose, Miss Tollefson, Miss Coe, Inez Robinson, '28, Ruth Evans, Louise Reinhart, and Lillian Mattick, all of '30.

Several costume numbers will be presented by Miss Melrose, Inez Robison, and Ruth Evans.

Police Interfere at Harvard

Police interference with student activities at Harvard has become a disgusting habit. Several years ago the police censored the Lampoon, and this year they have gone in for dramatic criticism. "Fiesta," which the Harvard Dramatic Club produced at great expense this year, was barred from Boston, following an unfavorable report upon its first showing in Cambridge. The police claim to have found lines outdoing their own notorious publication for obscenity, and this of course could not be tolerated.

BUCKNELL COURTSTERS ROUT URSINUS, 31-28

(Continued from Page 1)

margin. During the last period Ursinus staged a belated rally but could not summon up enough reserve strength to overtake the leaders.

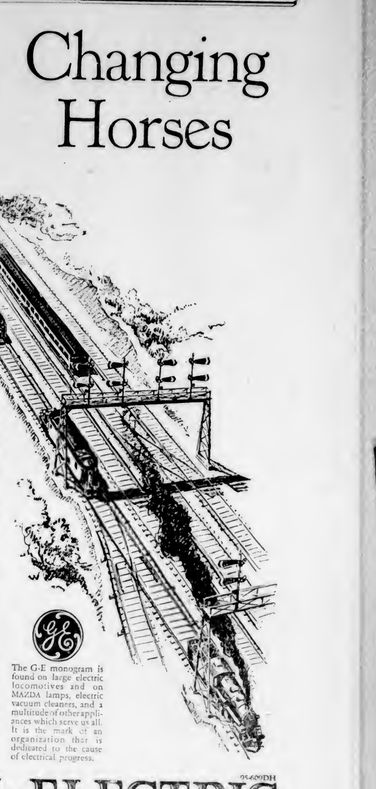
This game marked Bucknell's fourth court victory in the last four starts. The lineup:

Bucknell		Ursinus
Mitchell	forward	Young
Smith	forward	Spurner
Seiler	center	Egge
Wadsworth	guard	Shink
Woodring	guard	Strine

Field goals—Mitchell, 2; Klosterman, Seiler, 8; Woodring, 2; Spurner, 4; Egge, Shink, 3; Strine, 3. Foul goals—Mitchell, Klosterman, Seiler, Woodring, 2; Young, 3; Spurner, Shink, Strine, 3. Substitution—Klosterman for Smith. Referee—Emory.

WEST SIDE PARK, Berwick, Pa.
Wednesday, February 13th
VALENTINE DANCE
C. LLOYD MAJOR
AND HIS
12 Musical Fiends 12
A VALENTINE FOR EVERY DANCER
Find your Valentine for the First Dance after Intermission.
There will be Free Valentines---Valentine Horns.
Ladies 50c. Dancing 9 to 1. Gentlemen $1

Changing Horses



AT the portals of our large cities—New York, Baltimore, Detroit, and soon Cleveland—a semaphore halts a luxurious flyer drawn by a puffing steam engine. A simple switching maneuver, and electricity takes charge. A giant electric locomotive, quickly under way, glides silently into the home stretch with its long string of Pullmans.

Like a thoroughbred it makes the run—tirelessly. Passengers alight in a clean terminal—clean because there is no smoke or soot.

Another milestone in transportation—another event in the life of the iron horse!

Civilization is progressing, with electricity in the van. How far this advance will take us, is a problem for our future leaders. It is for them to develop and utilize new applications of electricity—the force that is pointing the way over uncharted courses, not only in railroading, but in every phase of progress.

The G-E monogram is found on large electric locomotives and on MAZDA lamps, electric vacuum cleaners, and a multitude of other appliances which serve us all. It is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to the cause of electrical progress.

2249DH

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

Who?---A couple of celebrities.
Where to?---
The Pi Delt Dance
Friday Evening, Feb. 8th
The Blue Band
Subscription One-fifty

SPORTS

W. AND J. LINE UP AGAINST B. U. FIVE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Home Game To Culminate Stiff Schedule on Foreign Courts; Keen Battle Anticipated

After playing Ursinus, Princeton, and Penn A. C. in three successive days the Bucknell basketball team now looks forward to games with Washington and Jefferson, Georgetown, George Washington, and Western Maryland.

Friday evening at the high school gym, Bucknell will play its fourth game at home, with Washington and Jefferson as the attraction. An overflow crowd is expected to attend this game as it brings together two old time rivals. W. & J., coached by Andy Kerr, is represented by a fast court team this winter. The Washington outfit recently swung into action after its progress had been impeded for a time by the flu epidemic.

The Bison basketeers will rest up on Sunday but Monday will find them in Washington, where they are scheduled to play Georgetown. The Catholic lads have a powerful team as usual this winter, having already lowered the colors of N. Y. U. A merry battle is expected when the Bisons and the Hilltoppers line up against each other. Last winter in a tilt that was staged in Washington, Georgetown nosed out Bucknell by a four-point margin.

A Patriotic Contest

Tuesday evening will find the Bucknell quintet ready to battle the George Washington cagers for court honors. This floor tussle with George Washington will be staged on Abraham Lincoln's birthday. Both teams anticipate a victory, so consequently there will be a treat in store for the fans who attend this game.

The next day Coach Plant and his men will motor to Westminster, where the Bison cagers are scheduled to play Western Maryland in a return contest. A few weeks ago Bucknell trounced the Western Maryland courtmen here in Lewisburg. Since that time the Westminster collegians have been considerably strengthened, and Coach Plant's cohorts expect a stiff battle when they face the Maryland five.

After the Western Maryland affair Coach Plant's men will return to Lewisburg to resume their studies. They will not play another court game until February 19, at which time the Bison floormen are scheduled to battle Juniata at Huntingdon.

Coach Plant will rely on the same players that have composed the Bison squad all season. Klosterman is sure of starting at the forward post, with either "Ted" Mitchell or "Cal" Smith as his running mate. Both Smith and Mitchell played in the Colgate game. Mitchell's last-minute field goal decided the issue in favor of Bucknell against the New York State collegians.

Mitchell may draw the assignment instead of Smith as Klosterman's running mate. "Ted" has recently whipped himself into excellent condition.

Seller is a fixture at the center post, as he has been for the past three years. The veteran pivot man has lost none of his old time cunning and is continuing his brilliant basketball career this season. Seller was the high scorer in the Colgate tussle.

Two Fine Guards

In Captain "Lou" Woodring and Welland Wadsworth, Coach Plant has two of the finest guards in college ranks this year. Both men are scoring threats, as has been indicated by their performances in the past. Woodring is an excellent defensive player, possessing the ability to break up enemy plays at opportune moments. In addition to this, Woodring is a deceptive dribbler and an accurate passer. Wadsworth is playing like a seasoned veteran.

For emergency duty Coach Plant will depend on Norman Ross, "Tony" Kostos and "Lou" Jefferies. Jefferies recently rejoined the team after having been confined to the sidelines for a short period with a sprained ankle. Jefferies is a forward and was one of the main cogs on Coach Musser's yearling five last winter.

An All-Star Campus Soccer Team Chosen

The Inter-fraternity Soccer League has drawn to a close, recognizing the Non-Fraternity team campus champions and winners of the trophy cup. Out of the organized competition which the league has fostered, has come the urge to have Bucknell represented in inter-collegiate soccer. Rumors at the gym and on the Hill have it that next fall the Orange and Blue will be sported by a varsity soccer team playing a schedule including prominent teams. With this in mind, the Bucknellian presents an all-star line-up selected from the fourteen teams in the Inter-Fraternity League this season. This all-fraternity team was selected by "Ken" Vandenbree, with the aid of several of the leading players on the campus, and is based upon the playing of the individual men in league games. Due regard has been given to the work of the players in important contests and to their team work ability. Good forwards are comparatively plentiful, but there appears to be a great dearth of brilliant fullbacks and goal-tenders. An all-star second team has been selected and special mention has been given to other above-average players.

The following are the selections for an all-fraternity team:

First Team		Second Team
Seiler, P. G. D.	Goal	Shuman, S. A. E.
Mohr, T. U. O.	R. H. B.	Rawlinson, A. C. M.
Longstretch, P. L.	R. F. B.	T.
Yust, P. K. P.	L. H. B.	Coates, D. S.
A. Fleming, T. U. O.	R. H. B.	Borella, N. Fr.
Pederson, D. S.	C. H. B.	Sposato, T. U. O.
McHenry, P. K. P.	L. H. B.	Biondo, K. G. O. R.
Shourds, P. K. P.	L. H. B.	Kohler, K. D. R.
Smith, D. S.	C. F.	D. Fleming, T. U. O.
Simonetti, N. Fr.	L. I.	Franzino, N. Fr.
Doty, T. U. O.	O. L.	Griffiths, T. U. O.

Honorable mention: Goal, Fessler, D. S.; Gilmour, P. K. P.; Fullbacks: Hughes, A. C. M.; Halfbacks: Jefferies, D. S.; Ebner, T. U. O.; Bridegum, T. U. O.; Line: Horter, D. S.; Hamon, P. G. D.; Loper, T. U. O.; Dibiaso, K. G.; G. Simpson, D. S.; Bremer, A. C. M.; Murray, D. S.; Stambaugh, P. K. P.; Ely, D. S.; Lehman, T. U. O.; Guldotti, N. Fr.; Orr, P. G. D.; Glazier, N. Fr.

W. A. A. Selects Cast For Health Play; To Sponsor Tea Dance February 23

The leading roles in the health skit, "Gym and Jerry," which the Women's Athletic Association is preparing, will be taken by Mary Smith, '32, Mae Button, '32, Doris Anthony, '32, and Frances Kernohan, '30.

The date for the tea-dance which the Association is sponsoring has been set for February 23. It will be held in the recreation room.

Duquesne Students Give Three Plays

The Duquesne University School of Drama and Speech Arts recently gave its mid-winter entertainment, consisting of three one-act plays: "Henry VI," "Heirs At Law," and "The Bishop's Candlesticks."

FROSH DRIBBLERS DOWN STATE; CAGE 6TH STRAIGHT WIN

Undefeated "Baby Bisons" Bury Opponents under Avalanche Of Field Goals, 52-33

Bucknell University's undefeated freshmen quintet gained its sixth victory in six starts last Saturday afternoon at State College, vanquishing the Penn State yearlings by the big margin of 52-33. Coach Musser's basketeers hit their stride early in the game, and after the first few minutes of play had elapsed the winners had forged into a lead that was never even threatened.

At one time during the first half the Mussermen ran wild and scored 20 points before their opponents were able to get a single tally. It was a comparatively easy victory for the "Baby Bisons", the winners leading at half time by a 27-7 count.

"Bill" Chenoweth and Harry Fry captured the scoring honors for the day with 32 points between them. Chenoweth tallied eight field goals and two fouls for an eighteen-point total, while Fry managed to cage seven double deckers.

Griffith played a fine game as Chenoweth's running mate and contributed seven points to his team's total score. Stonebreaker and Borella, Bison yearling guards, performed creditably at their defensive posts and both figured in the scoring.

Coach Musser employed four substitutes and this quartet played well before the Penn State audience. Logan, Coates, Mills, and Wetzel were inserted in the lineup by Coach Musser.

Bucknell's freshmen mentor is to be commended on his recent performance of turning out two yearling teams that have taken the measure of Penn State's freshmen on two occasions. Last fall Musser's freshman football eleven downed the "Baby Lions" 13-0.

The lineup:

Penn State	Positions	Bucknell
Davis	Forward	Chenoweth
Taney	Forward	Griffith
Hammond	Center	Fry
Engle	Guard	Borella
Sooper	Guard	Stonebreaker

Field goals—Fry, 7; Chenoweth, 8; Borella, 4; Griffith, 3; Stonebreaker, 1; Davis, Brand for Hamilton, Tomb for Davis. Bucknell: Mills for Borella, Borella for Griffith, Wetzel for Stonebreaker, Logan for Mills. Reese for Chenoweth, Coates for Borella. Referee—Good, Williamsport.

Student Tells of African Experiences

The campus of Georgetown University is showing signs of much excitement. Robert Douglas, '32, has been relating some of his thrilling experiences while in Africa as a member of the exploring party under the direction of Martin Johnson. His latest story is about the lack of lamb chops and roast beef, and how they ate gazelle chops which were taken from a buck that Dick shot while looking for the much-needed supply for dinner.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Athletics at U. of P. Net Over a Million

For the first time in the history of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania, the receipts for all sports passed the million mark, according to a financial report issued by the Council on Athletics covering the academic year 1927-28.

The receipts from sixteen sports were $1,089,352.65 and the expenditures, including guarantees to visiting teams, $681,827.87, the net-profit being $407,524.78. The payment of sinking fund, mortgage interest, office administration, taxes, water rent and similar items change the profit into a net loss of a little more than $11,000.

The total revenue from football was $936,838.56, the largest in the history of the sport. The expenditures including the guarantees—paid to visiting teams were $476,335, leaving a net profit of $460,503.56.

The basketball receipts reached the unheard of total of $79,715.30. The expenditures including guarantees reached a total of $54,961.04, leaving a profit of $24,754.26.

Baseball, once one of the best paying sports outside of football, showed a greater loss than ever before, the amount being $15,739.25. Track lost $27,007.09 despite receipts of $16,157.28, the major portion of which came from the annual relay carnival. Rain last April on both days of the carnival wrought havoc with the gate receipts, thus causing track to show a heavy loss.

Commuters Don't Waste Time

The Commuter's School is the latest educational venture in Southern California, says the Los Angeles Times. Several educational institutions in this section have combined to offer courses to subordinates for study while traveling to and from their work.

The school, begun this fall, seeks to put to more profitable use the time usually spent in playing cards or in worthless reading, and is open to all who ride in the cars of the Pacific Electric Railway. Fees are small. The pupil is self-taught, but may consult an instructor if he wishes. Text books are small and easy to carry.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElgot

The prospects for a successful boxing season at Bucknell are exceedingly bright, judging by the veteran material that is available. Coaches Plant and Musser are sending 20 ring aspirants through intensive workouts and drills every afternoon at the Tustin Gym. The squad will not be cut until after the inter-class meet is staged.

—B—

Foremost among the candidates this year is "Lou" Mutzel, who fights in the light heavyweight division. Mutzel outclassed all his opponents last winter in intercollegiate competition. He is still undefeated. He received his early ring experience at Bellefonte Academy, where he was an all-around athlete. Mutzel was a member of the Bellefonte football team of 1926, the eleven that won the mythical prep school championship of the country.

—B—

Frank Storaci, who captained the boxing team last winter, has decided to fight in the 125-pound class this winter. During the past year he lost several pounds and this necessitates his deserting the 145-pound class. He expects a successful season, hoping that his progress will not be impeded by injuries as it was last winter.

—B—

Another fine ring prospect is the diminutive Nicholas LaFerrara. Last winter Nick was a member of Bucknell's first intercollegiate ring team, and was one of its most consistent performers. He fights in the 115-pound class. His early fistic education was received at the Trenton High School.

—B—

Other 1928 ring veterans who will be seen in action again this winter are Frank Lepore, of Pittston, "Pottsville" Jones, of Llewellyn, Frank Guidotti, Johnny Stabile of Trenton, and "Bob" Smith, of Wanamtown. Under the careful training of Coaches Plant and Musser these enthusiastic ring aspirants should win great success in the squared circle again this winter.

—B—

The Bucknell basketball team has been scheduled to play seven games in eight days. This is one of the most difficult assignments that a college basketball team has ever had to face. Contests with Ursinus, Penn A. C., Princeton, Washington and Jefferson, Georgetown, George Washington, and Western Maryland will be played in an eight-day period.

—B—

Welland Wadsworth, of McGraw, N. Y., a football letterman, has recently been winning further athletic laurels on the court. The versatile New York State lad is one of the chief cogs in the Bison basketball machine this winter. Since the first game Wadsworth has been performing in a sensational manner. He is a good defensive player, excelling in the art of breaking up enemy plays. On the offense he always contributes his quota of points.

—B—

Bucknell athletic followers were recently informed of the fact that Frank Lepore, of Pittston, was elected to captain Bucknell's 1929 ring team. The selection of Lepore is a popular one, as he is a favorite among his boxing teammates. He has all the qualifications that make a leader and is equally sure of the making the team. He is a real gentleman, a real student, and a real athlete.

Chinese Student Writes Back

To see thousands of his countrymen ruthlessly slain by Nationalistic gun boats, his closest friend and companions killed by drunken soldiers, and to have to go about in the hostile community incognito, are but a few of the experiences of Su-Lee Chang, a graduate of Haverford. With his brother, '24, he is preparing a book on China and her problems. The book will deal primarily with the history of China's political life, and the problems confronting China today.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

LET'S GO, KID!
THE JUNIOR PROM
FEATURING
Jelly-Roll Morton
AND HIS
Red-Hot Peppers
"ORIGINATOR OF THE STOMP"
NEW DINING HALL
FEB. 15, 1929 $5.00

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

"John Brown's Body" by S. V. Binet

REVIEWED BY ESTHER HERITAGE, '29

This book is not the mere catalo-guing of the events of the Civil War; it is not even a long poem on slavery or secession; it is not the ranting of an abolitionist, or the slow drawl of a southern slave owner berating the opposite side. It is a finely drawn picture of human emotions that become strangers to us in the battle smoke, emotions that warp and bend at the thought of a battle in our own back yard, emotions in a hundred different forms.

"A shawled old woman
Sits on a curbstone calling the evening news.
War, to her, is a good day when papers sell
Or a bad day when papers don't.
War is fat black type.
Anything's realer than war."

What was war to Jack Ellyat, the Connecticut lad, and to his bronzed statue of Phaeton on top of the clock? Nothing but a name at first, a family discussion. Yet finally that great force that swept all people before it, sucked him in, and at last he was to understand the meaning of those rumbling war horses in the sky:

"Horses of anger, trampling, horses of anger
Trampling behind the sky in ominous cadence
Beat of the heavy hooves like metal on metal
Trampling something down. . . ."

War for Luke Breckenridge was just a chance to kill a wood-full of Kelcey's.

"You know who we air goin' to fight outside?
I heard it was the British. Air that so?"
"Hell, no," said Luke, with scorn.
"Dunno's I rightly know just who they air." . . .
"Well," said Jim soothingly,
"Reckon it don't rightly matter
Long as the Kelcey's take the other side."

Spade, the fugitive slave, struggling his way north to freedom's land only wanted the chance to "git him a mule and a coal-black gal." Instead, he found "some mighty quick-actin' people, and some mighty rash-tempered dogs."

So, on and on; Benet picks up a thread of life here, and another there, and as his story progresses, in some miraculous fashion we do not entirely lose sight of a single character.

Probably the best bit in the whole poem is that fragile description of the love of Melora Vilas and Jack Ellyat.

"It was the hour
When the heat is out of the gold of afternoon
And the cooled gold has not yet turned into grey,
The hour of the paused tide, neither flow nor ebb,
The flower beginning to close but not yet closed."
"Then she took her shadow into the house with her
But he still stood looking where the shadows had touched."

And over the battle smoke, over the Southern Sally Dupris, with her eyes "neither black nor grey," over the slaves in the cabins, over the spies in the woods, over the generals on the field and Lincoln in the White House, hovers the spirit of John Brown, the straying ghost walker with a ghostly gun.

And while the prophets shudder or adore
Before the flame, hoping it will give ear,
If you at last must have a word to say,
Say neither, in their way,
"It is a deadly magic and accursed"
Nor "It is blest," but only "It is here."

For while the body of John Brown lay a-mouldering in the grave, his soul went marching on. With this march comes "John Brown's Body," the re-telling of an old, old story, the re-living of spent emotions and new pain and new ecstasy arising out of the white hollow bones of an old, dead hero.

Reformers Prescribe Collegiate Remedies

We are living in an age of patent-medicine remedies in the field of education. The various projects for achieving the millenium in our colleges are exceeded in number and absurdity only by the plans for world peace and brotherhood. Perhaps this is due to the fact that no one has offered a hundred thousand dollars for a prize-winning solution of collegiate problems. At any rate, the general consensus of opinion among the medicine men is that whatever is wrong with the colleges can be swiftly and thoroughly remedied by a plan. According to Professor Munro of Harvard, the only necessary qualification for an educational expert is that he be "a glib fellow away from home."

Some Would Abolish Football

We find this type of faker present in several violent forms. We have the abolitionists, who believe that the perfect college may be developed by abolishing football, fraternities, lectures, or examinations. As substitutes they offer intramural sports, social equality, intensive classroom work, and original research. Unfortunately these cure-alls have proved themselves effective only on paper. Then there are the vocationalists, who have carried their democratic deification of "working one's way through college" to the point of founding part-time institutions. By this novel method the best features of both vocational and cultural education are sacrificed.

A third group of reformers seek Parnassus by means of questionnaires, orientation courses, and free advice to freshmen. Their theory is that the best way to discover the true purpose of a college education is to catalogue and analyze the written replies of questionnaire victims. The right way to set the freshman on the high road to knowledge is to give him a course covering the history of civilization or the philosophy of life. To prevent him from making any mistakes, there shall be student and faculty advisers who will instill into his young and innocent mind their mature wisdom. These systems have all been tried over a number of years, but as yet they have not sensibly effected the maladjustment or imbecility of the average student body. . . .

State Universities Expel Many

The state universities are forced to cure their digestive troubles by expelling a large proportion of each class annually. The endowed institutions protect themselves by strictly limiting their enrollment. . . .

According to legitimate (!) educational theorists, the deficiency is not one of system, organization, or program, but of personnel. Teaching is not a matter of methodology but rather one of personality. The institution which handpicks its student body and selects its faculty with a consideration of human as well as of scholarly values will achieve true distinction. The college which seeks after a perfection by plan, and neglects the individual and personal element, can never reach its objective—however lofty its aim may be.

—The Daily Princetonian.

A Willing Worker

They were bargaining for a cow.
"How much milk does she give?" asked the prospective buyer.
"I don't rightly know," answered the farmer who owned her, "but she's a darn good-natured critter and she'll give all she can."

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

strenuous week of finals. More than 100 couples tripped the light fantastic to the harmonizing syncopation of Roger Wainwright's Blue Band. A profusion of green and white chepe paper hid the familiar rafters of the gym. The dance was chaperoned by Dean Amelia Clark, and Miss Helen Tollefson.

June Foust, '29, gave an afternoon bridge party in the suite on Tuesday, February 5, for the out-going officers.

Probably the best bit in the whole poem is that fragile description of the love of Melora Vilas and Jack Ellyat.

PHI MU

Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

Many of the girls managed to take vacations between semesters. The fortunate ones who found their exam schedules arranged so conveniently were Mary Bennett, '30, Helen Kellogg, '32, Lucy Lanyon, '32, Anne Sprout, '31, Martha Woerner, '31, Miriam Watkins, '30, Helen Walters, '32, Emma Shoff, '31, and "Frannie" Saul, '29.

Laura Grove, '28, who is teaching at Wellsboro, visited the suite on February third.

Agnes Jones, '32, had as her guest during the recent week-end, Miss Charlotte Morgan, of Plymouth.

Esther Williams, '32, will not return for the second semester. Esther is planning to go in training in September. We wish her much success.

"Jimmary," the protege of Mary Wagner, is suffering with a slight cold. We wish him a speedy recovery.

ZETA GAMMA TAU

Nan Lee Thomas, '31

We are still anxiously waiting to have "Betty" Webster, '30, return to us. "Betty" has been ill since the Xmas holidays with a nervous breakdown, and is now at her home in Harrisburg.

"Micky" Stafford, '31, is very ill at her home in town. It is likely that "Micky's" illness will prevent her from attending classes for a few weeks.

"Lee" Munkel has decided that she needs a rest, so she is leaving us this semester. "Lee" expects to return next fall.

Gertrude Gardner, '25, was a visitor at the suite during the week-end. Gertrude teaches at Danville.

The suite was quite deserted during the week-end. "Connie" Hulick, '31, was the sole occupant.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Meribah Gardiner and Anne Evans, both of '30, were fortunate enough to be able to spend a few days at home during exams.

Sarah Collner, "Betty" Frederick, Ruth Wentworth, and Eva Mae Folsom attended the Alpha Chi Omega formal dance as guests last Saturday night.

We were happy to have Marian Hendrickson, '28, stop into see us for a few hours last Saturday morning. She is teaching in the high school at Leck Kill this year.

Doris Miller, '31, spent last week-end in Lawrenceville, Pa.

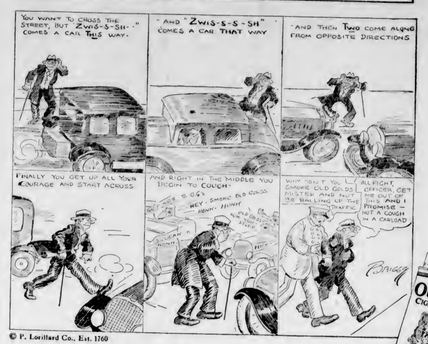
Read The Bucknellian

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men't Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING 419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE Next to the Gift Shop

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

Why Life Insurance?
1. To protect your earning power.
2. To cover the cost of your college education to those who made it possible.
3. To protect yourself and build up an estate which will have collateral value.
4. To provide a sum for your own use by systematic saving.
5. To provide in case of sickness or disability a regular income.
Get this valuable business asset while the rates are low. $10,000 with the Philadelphia Life at the age of 21 will cost $80 annually.
A special policy for the college man. For further particulars write
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

When a Feller Needs a Friend : : : By BRIGGS



YOU WANNT TO CROSS THE STREET, BUT ZWIS-S-SH- COMES A CAR THIS WAY.
"AND "ZWIS-S-SH" COMES A CAR THAT WAY
"AND THEN TWO COME ALONG FROM OPPOSITE DIRECTIONS
FINALLY YOU GET UP ALL YOUR COURAGE AND START ACROSS AND RIGHT IN THE MIDDLE YOU BEGIN TO COUGH-
NOW YOU'RE STUCK! ALRIGHT SMOKE OLD GOLDS AND GET CAUGHT IN A CARLOAD
Old Gold CIGARETTES

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

. . . not a cough in a carload

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, and his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour every Tuesday from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over entire network of Columbia Broadcasting System.

"I'll teach you to kiss my daughter!"
"You're too late, I've learned already."
—Exchange.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

School of Nursing of Yale University
A Profession for the College Woman
interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.
The twenty-eight months course, profiting an intensive and varied experience through the case study method, leads to the degree of
BACHELOR OF NURSING
Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.
The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.
For catalog and information address:
The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN :: CONNECTICUT

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Philly River Race Recalls Local "Navy"

Many Bucknell students are not aware that Bucknell ever had a "navy," or that boating was once a favorite sport in this region. When the old Shamokin dam at Sunbury was intact, the rivers above that town were ideal for boat racing, and many were the contests staged there. The following clipping from the Sunbury Item tells something about those days.

Pages of Sunbury sporting history were turned back forty years when four bewhiskered men, the famous Passaic rowing crew which participated in the national river regatta held on the Susquehanna here forty years ago, appeared before the judges stand during a river racing event at Philadelphia on Saturday.

The quartet, who it was announced had won the four-man championship in the rowing events during the big national event here in 1888, drew a salvo of applause when in regulation rowing attire, they entered a boat and did a quarter of a mile spin.

Mention of the occurence in the sporting sections of Philadelphia newspapers Sunday brought back vivid memories to older residents of the city.

The Passaic crew who won fame in the Sunbury regatta and who appeared at the Schuylkill river sculling event the other day comprised: Bow, John Cramberry; No. 2, Fred Freeman; No. 3, Charles J. Lunjack, and stroke, Mat T. Quigley. After the photographers finished their stuff the crew proceeded down the river. All looked hale and hearty despite their years.

They recalled the presence of the famous Cornell crew for the Sunbury regatta and their rigorous training opposite the old Dreisbach saw mill along the river front. They also remembered the remark of the Cornell coach that the river here offered the best three mile rowing course in the country. That was in the days before the old dam was carried away.

The races were held from the upper point of Island Park to a point near the Reading railroad bridge.

Gamblers were here in profusion for the regatta and all sorts of skin games flourished along the river front. A large grand stand was erected by the late William Mann in River Park.

The regatta was held when boating was the favorite sporting pastime in this vicinity. The old fola Boat Club, whose home, then located along the river front, now stands on Railroad avenue, below the old "cattle pen," a shabby and decrepit structure, was a prominent local organization. The club later purchased a lot at Front and Line streets, where the home of Mrs. Maude Bennett is located, with the intention of building another home, but that plan never materialized. The real estate was sold at a handsome profit only a few years ago.

Harry W. Guyer was one of the most prominent of the scullers of that day. Others were the late David H. Koch, former Congressman and major domo of the city parks; the late Major Heim and the lamented Judge Harold McClure.

Mr. Babbitt, manager of a refining company which maintained offices where the present Armstrong drug store stands, was another of those enthusiastic scullers and he met his death when the shell into which he was strapped overturned along the river front between Market and Chestnut streets.

"Y" Leaders Retreat To Cabin In Narrows

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet spent the week-end in a "retreat," at a cabin in the Seven-mile Narrows. "Bill" Wilson, executive secretary of the Middle Atlantic Field Council, was the guest of the cabinet.

Seven students and two faculty members made up the party which set up camp Saturday at the summer cottage of Mr. L. E. Bechtel, located at the Joyce Kilmer forest monument.

During the lengthy meetings the cabinet was able to sift out their problems and attack them deliberately. They considered a list of speakers for the coming semester, "Y" meetings for the student body, the coming Latin-American conference, a new financial policy, and other related subjects.

The "Y" leaders returned Sunday afternoon, after doing their daily "good turn" by putting back on the road an auto that had wandered off into the snow.

Dean R. H. Rivenburg, Professors O. S. Groner, and L. L. Rockwell, and Mr. Guy Payne supplied transportation for the campers.

COMMERCE AND FINANCE CLUB HEARS ROY BUTLER

(Continued from Page 1.)

granite for oranges with the orange grower in Florida? The oranges would probably freeze or rot before they reached Vermont. So the banker comes into use in this manner. A business so universal, so big, so necessary—growing in its units and multiplying in its activities must offer opportunities.

What Are Banking Opportunities?

Let us reflect a moment on this small town. In 1897 when I began work in a Lewisburg bank, there were two banks in town. Now there are three. There were nine employees, three or 33⅓ being college graduates. Today there are 21 employees, 7 or 33⅓ being college graduates. This is an unusual coincidence. Banking conditions have grown by leaps and bounds. At that the activities were purely commercial banking, now they cover practically every field in banking.

You say you want a better job than one in a small town bank. That is not the idea in banking. You might better start in a small town bank, and advancing rapidly, you could get a position in a larger bank. It is harder to do this in a bank, where a thousand men are employed and where you find stiff opposition.

Through the bank other opportunities arise, you meet people and sometimes may be offered a better job in some other line of work. In this case if you have a particular selling ability, a bond salesmanship or life insurance might interest you. Some Bucknell graduates have made successes in these fields. Then again as I recollect, I know young men, who have had bank training, to have made successes in divergent fields because of their experience in the local bank. Still, you might like investment banking. The person I will refer to is Stephen Gardner Duncan, a Bucknell graduate and a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is a vice president with Jenney & Co. of Philadelphia. Along with him, only in a different field is Oscar N. Rambo. He is also a vice president in the firm. Mr. Duncan is a statistician of high ability and has learned much about investment banking.

Other Successful Bucknellians

Here is another Bucknell graduate whose work differs a shade from that of Mr. Duncan and Mr. Rambo. He is none other than R. L. Rooke, who graduated as an electrical engineer. He is dealing in the stock exchange and is now representing his firm on the floor of the exchange.

Louis Roeby, a graduate and trustee of the University, is president and director of another Philadelphia bank.

Walter S. Wilcox, a Bucknell graduate and former registrar here, is also president of one and director in another Philadelphia bank.

Chester Leaber, also a graduate, took up foreign banking with the National City Bank of New York, the largest bank in the United States. He has since been located in England, and now in Asia, from where I have heard he will later go to a South American branch. He must be prospering because he has sent back to the states for his best girl. They are happily married—and that is something which should appeal to our coeducational school.

In all of this I have said nothing about salaries. Banks are not big payers, but I thoroughly believe there are real opportunities in this work. If a young man is interested enough in this work and gives it a fair trial, I am sure he will have not tried in vain.

GERMAN CLUB TO HEAR J. BUCHER, FEB. 18

(Continued from page 6)

al good will and friendship. Its films are shown in all parts of the world—free.

It has a corps of many speakers and during the months of November 1st, 1927, to May 1st, 1928, gave 700 free lectures in 600 cities and towns of the United States. In addition to the lecture service, the Bureau has many millions of feet of film, all of scenic or educational value from all parts of the world that are available to members of the Bureau. The Bureau of Commercial Economics is an altruistic educational institution without capital stock and not operated for profit. It is supported by voluntary contribution and memberships.

Social Hour Precedes Service At Epworth League on Sunday

Another of the popular fellowship services will be held by the Epworth League of the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, February 10, at 5:30 p. m.

Following a social hour at which a light luncheon will be served a special service featured by music and stereoptican slides will be held. All who were present at a similar service in the fall will not miss this one.

W.A.A. Discontinues Contest Started During "Flu" Scare

The semites who went out for bigger and better constitutions during January, which was the Health Month sponsored by the Athletic Association, may now eat sweets between meals or "reach for a Lucky" instead. "Jerry" Fortner, '29, president of the Association, says that the contest has been discontinued, since there is no longer any danger of a "flu" epidemic at Bucknell.

Girls may receive signs "More Fruit," "Less Flu," "Hikes Every Day," "Six Glasses of Water," etc., for room decorations by applying at the office, but the Association regrets that no prize will be given this year. However, the contest, which was held earlier than usual, proved of real benefit to the co-eds at a time when sickness prevailed everywhere.

When you get so wise that you think that there is nothing else for you to learn, hang a crepe on your nose. Your brain is already dead!

—Orange and Blue.

THREE SCARLET FEVER VICTIMS OCCUPY SUITE

Three Bucknellians have begun a period of inactivity to last about three weeks. They are down at the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary, with a private nurse, their own suite, and quite a bit of attention. But all this is not of their own doing. Light attacks of scarlet fever are to blame.

The members of this unlucky trio are: P. J. Andrews, '32; C. H. Reed, '29; and R. J. Thompson, '31. Reports state that their conditions are satisfactory.

Nothing Else Left to Do

We were recently told the sad case of a Scotchman who became engaged to a girl who got so fat he wanted to break off the engagement. But the girl couldn't get the ring off, so he had to marry her.

—Kingston Standard.

R. W. Cox Forced To Go Home

R. William Cox, '31, left yesterday noon for his home in Franklin, to recuperate from an ear operation that he underwent over a week ago. "Bill" will not return this semester, but next fall will see him back on the Bucknell campus.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at

Wagner's Quality Grocery

We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.

Also Dishes for Rent.

Good Work Reasonable

Picture Frames
MADE TO ORDER
ALSO
EASEL FRAMES
Will call upon request of post card.
LESTER L. WILSON
108 Third St. Mifflinburg, Pa.

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY—ON THE VITAPHONE
SEE and HEAR them Talking—Singing—Dancing in
"MANHATTAN COCKTAIL"
With NANCY CARROLL, RICHARD ARLEN, and PAUL LUKAS

TOMORROW and SATURDAY. SEE and HEAR
A Fox Movietone Special.
"AIR CIRCUS"
A Smashing, Crashing Drama of Young America in the Air.
With LOUISE DRESSER, DAVID ROLLINS, SUE CAROL and ARTHUR LAKE
Synchronized Music Score and Sound Effects.

NEXT MONDAY and TUESDAY—FEB. 11-12
"FAZIL"
The year's best Love Drama.
A Wm. Fox Big Movietone Special.
With marvelous Synchronized Music and Sound Effects.
With CHARLES FARRELL and GRETA NISSEN
You must SEE it.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
SPECIAL ASSORRMENT
Silk Dresses
at $9.75 ea.
A new lot this week of 50 dresses for the Junior, small Miss and larger women, in the newest Spring styles of Georgette, Flat Crepe and the new Printed Crepe all at one price,
$9.75 each.

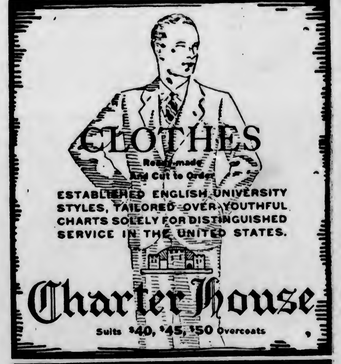
SEMESTER SMOKE

Once again we face that semi-annual puzzle of assigning hours of labor to several students, who, by necessity of the semester system never work the same shift on succeeding days. Tradition tells us that the Semester System was originated by an aged and asinine professor in retaliation for the theft of his wig. A responsive bray from professors in a similar state of mind and the system was inflicted on student-kind. The price of being an academic conformist is an unnatural system used in no other line of endeavor whereby interest dwindles in various subjects by reason of a lack of continuity. It is a scatter-brained and dragged-out system with more unfinished business than reservations on a peace treaty. It is a steady-by-jerk-system whereby you sprint one mile and loaf the next, where you lay aside a book for two days just as it gets interesting, where the comedy is inserted between the main feature picture, where WJZ and KDKA uses a certain channel on alternate days, and where the doctor changes his office hours every day with spirits ferminti prescriptions on Tuesday and Thursday from three to five. Only a professor with an extraordinary memory and a super-efficient file system could recall where he left the World War in the mind of his students in the previous lecture, and even then he couldn't prove it by the class.

While we have all the admiration and respect possible for our faculty and are aware that "its head is of fine gold" yet we are not unmindful that its feet is a mixture of iron and clay. We have several times witnessed the revision of the final dogmatic theories of education and science, and we would like to offer a motion that a rough box be ordered for the Semester System. While undoubtedly it is set to the latest rag-time we still have a fondness for the old tune on page 1909.

We admit that it is quite presumptuous for a mere layman to question the wisdom of a college faculty, and we readily confess that it is probably our own dumbness—an inferiority complex exposed to the old term system—that we fail to relish the better quality of old wine in new skins.

THE COLLEGE INN
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"



CLOTHES
Ready-made
Any Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

L. ALUMNI ASSOC.
URG. PA.

LEFT! RIGHT! LEFT! MARCHING? NO—BLOWS IN TONITE'S ARENA TILT

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 14, 1929. NUMBER 19

BECOME PROM-INENT BY PROM-PT PROM-ISE TO PROM-ENADE AT PROM

Free Toss Gives B. U. Five 1 Point Win Over W. & J.

Bison Supporters Cheer Wildly As Seiler Cages Foul To Break Up 29-29 Tie

In a game that was replete with thrills from start to finish, the Bucknell basketball team vanquished a powerful Washington and Jefferson court outfit at the new high school gymnasium last Friday evening by the slim margin of 30-29. A foul shot made good by Archie Seiler in the last minute of play broke a 29-29 deadlock, and won the game for Bucknell.

The Bison quintet, tired and weary after playing three games on foreign courts on three successive nights, nevertheless played whirlwind ball during the first half. They forged into the lead early in the game. "Bernie" Klosterman led the Bucknell attack during the opening period with nine points, representing four field goals and one foul. At half time W. and J. trailed by a 20-14 count.

During the last period the Washington courtmen staged a spirited rally, which almost swept them to victory. During the closing minutes of the struggle, Coach "Andy" Kerr's eagemen took the lead when Gilchrist cut the cords for a two-pointer from a difficult angle. "Ted" Mitchell came to the rescue with a thrilling field goal, which swished through the net from near the middle of the court.

Losers Tie Score

Mitchell's timely goal gave Bucknell a one-point lead. The crowd was in a frenzy when Robinson was granted a free toss after being fouled, and made good his solitary toss. On the next tap-off Seiler managed to grasp the ball near the center of the court. He dribbled toward his own basket. In an attempt to impede Seiler's progress, Gilchrist fouled Bucknell's pivot man.

Seiler had already caged four fouls in five tries. The huge crowd was deathly silent as Seiler prepared to try for his free throw. When Seiler's toss swished through the net for the

(Continued on page 5)

Interclass Boxing Proceeds Published

Budget Does Not Include Ring Game in Official Sports

The proceeds of the interclass boxing tournament were made public this week by the Physical Education Department of Bucknell University. Coaches Plant and Musser of the Bison boxing team submit the following financial account of the ring meet staged here last week. In doing this the ring mentors are anxious to show the students of Bucknell just where the money goes in this boxing enterprise. Boxing is not listed as an official college sport as yet and therefore is not classified in the budget.

Figures reveal that $117.95 was taken in at the interclass bouts. Expenses totaled $4.10 and the final proceeds were released at $113.85. This money will be used for boxing equipment and other expenses. Boxing has not been established as a thriving sport yet and may not for some years th come. Coaches Plant and Musser are building the ring sport little by little and every year will see it progressing at Bucknell.

To establish this sport on a firm basis the profits from the bouts must be expended. Just now boxing is on a 50-50 paying basis at Bucknell but in years to come the ring sport should be well established here and should be listed as one of our official sports.

The financial account of the interclass bouts follow:

Money taken in	$117.95
Expenses—
Posters	4.00
Talcom Powder	.10
Amount on hand	$113.85

Blind Student is Class President

Herbert Geisler, a blind student at the University of Chicago, has been recently elected president of the senior law class.

$10 Piano Fee

The School of Music must ask the small fee of $10.00 (not including drayage) for use of pianos at dances of various campus organizations to help defray expenses for repair and upkeep.

Insufficient Funds Force Co-ed Debaters To Cancel Road Trip

The members of the women's debating team have been forced to give up the planned western trip on account of lack of funds. The negative team was scheduled to debate with the University of Pittsburgh, Ohio Wesleyan, and Wittenburg College. Since the expenses would amount to at least $50 for each girl, the trip has been indefinitely postponed.

The exact dates for the debates to be held at home are not known. The negative team expects to debate with Ursinus, Temple, University of Pittsburgh, and Syracuse University.

The opponents of the affirmative team will be students from Trinity Penn State, Elmira, and possibly New York University. The debate which was to have been held on February 20, has been postponed until the first week of March.

The girls are working under the direction of Professor W. H. Coleman, director of debate, and are very efficiently managed by Esther Girton, '29.

Dr. Pike Discusses Perception Defects

Illusions and Hallucinations Are Listed Under Disorders

"The Disorders of Perception" was the subject of the fourth of a series of six lectures dealing with mental pathology given by Dr. H. B. Pike, of the Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases, in the Biology lecture room, Thursday afternoon, February 7.

"The object of all functions is the regulation of the acts of the individual to best adapt himself to his environment," said Dr. Pike. "First, a man must know his environment, and secondly, he must know himself."

"The acts of the individual are controlled by his conscious mind through his thinking, his emotions, and his will. The first step in the development of thinking is the sensation, an impression made on an organ of sense. The second step is perception, or conscious meaning of the causes of our sensations. This meaning should appear when a child is three months of age."

Under disorders of perception, Dr. Pike listed illusions and hallucinations. An illusion is an accurate, inexact perception. The qualities of the objects perceived are presented

(Continued on page 3)

Frosh Faces Wyoming Tomorrow Afternoon

The Bucknell freshmen basketball team will face the Wyoming Seminary court five tomorrow afternoon at the Tustin Gymnasium at 4:15 it was announced here today by Coach Malcolm Musser. The yearlings are enjoying a highly successful season, having already gained six victories in seven starts.

These six wins came in rapid succession. The Baby Bisons were subdued on the court this winter only by the Mansfield Normal cagers. Last Friday the Mansfield teachers halted the Mussermen after six consecutive wins.

Little is known of Wyoming's court strength this winter but the visitors are sure to furnish Musser's cohorts with plenty of opposition. Wyoming always has a good court team and this season should not be an exception.

Coach Musser will probably start the same team tomorrow that has been intact all season. Chenoweth and Griffith will be assigned duty at the forward posts with Fry at center and Stonebreaker and Borella at the guard berths.

"Romantic Germany" Will Be the Subject Of Mr. Bucher's Lecture Monday Evening

"Romantic Germany" is the subject of the illustrated lecture which Mr. John G. Bucher will deliver next Monday evening, February 18, under the auspices of the Deutsche Verein. The lecture, which includes moving pictures and colored slides, will be held in the auditorium of the Engineering Building, beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

Mr. Bucher's lecture this year will consist of entirely new material, being based on his fifth visit to Germany, made during the past summer. His information is timely and includes a survey of Germany from the medieval period to the present-day.

For the eight past years this lecturer, traveler, and soldier of fortune has devoted his entire time to travel, study, and lectures on the nations of Central Europe. He has traveled widely in Germany, Finland, Esthonia Lativia, Lithuania, Poland, Jugoslavia, Italy, and Austria, as well as in France and England. In addition, Mr. Bucher saw service overseas during the World War, and after the Armistice was signed spent considerable time doing relief work in Central Europe.

Mr. Bucher is traveling under the auspices of the Bureau of Commercial Economics of Washington, a philanthropic educational institution having alliances with over thirty of the governments of the world. With a large corp of speakers ad millions of feet of film of scenic or educational nature, this institution is engaged in promoting international good-will and friendship.

Mr. John G. Bucher

"Becky," Martyred to Science, Passes On

Hang up the crepe and tread softly—for "Becky" is dead! Of course you know "Becky!" Don't you remember when you were taking freshman English in Biology 32, and you were so sure that the professor was about to call on you (you hadn't even "cracked" the book the night before) when suddenly a most fearful cry arose from the depths of the building and penetrated even as far as room 32? You were mighty thankful for "Becky" then!

To those who never has occasion to appreciate "Becky," she was just a little eight-year old sheep, imprisoned in the basement of Biology Building for experimental purposes. About a year ago "Becky" became blind, but the loss of her eyesight did not affect her voice because she bleated ever. And now she is dead. Poor "Becky." But "Becky" has a successor—Evangeline, aged 2. Her voice is weak. But perhaps she, too, some day, will raise her voice as if in protest at the English professor's declamations.

Cap and Dagger will Stage Try-outs on Monday to Fill Four Vacancies in the Club

At the monthly meeting of Cap and Dagger on Monday evening, at the Delta Sigma house, Blair Hazen, '31, was elected to the office of vice president-treasurer, which was left vacant by the graduation of R. H. Coleman, '29.

Due to the four vacancies in the organization, it was deemed necessary to hold Cap and Dagger try-outs on Monday evening, February 18. All men desiring to try out will meet with Cap and Dagger members in Bucknell Hall on Monday evening at 7:30 for the first try-out. A second try-out will be held later.

Plans for entrance into the Intercollegiate Dramatic Contest were discussed, and arrangements made for the staging of several plays in the near future.

Girls' Glee Club Prepares For Concerts Next Month

The Women's Glee Club is holding regular rehearsals in preparation for the concert to be given in Milton early next month. Following the Milton concert, the same program will be given in Lewisburg. The special chorus will give several selections, in addition to those sung by the entire club. The organization is also planning to broadcast in the near future.

Weekly rehearsals of the combined glee clubs are being held in Bucknell Hall, under the direction of Director R. F. Hartz.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Practice Teachers Begin Observation

Students observing and practice-teaching in Milton and Lewisburg during the second semester began their work during the past week.

The class in student-teaching has been divided into two sections, one of which carries on its work in Lewisburg while the other section works in the Milton schools. The students observe one or two hours a day as their schedule permits, and are then required to teach, under supervision for ten hours. This work requires knowledge of pupils, grading, and examination.

Professor Frank G. Davis, in order to facilitate the work of student-observation, gave a course last semester entitled "Problems of the Training Teacher." Through this course the instructors are more ably equipped to handle the inexperienced observers. Superintendent Carl L. Millward has charge of those students doing student-teaching in Milton, while Professor F. G. Davis supervises the Lewisburg teachers-to-be.

Clarence Cranford Speaks To Large Baptist Group On "Doing the Impossible"

"See the invisible; do the impossible" was the subject of Clarence Cranford's talk to the Baptist C. E. on Sunday evening. The invisible, "Cranny" interpreted in terms of vision, drawing a line between the immediately visible and the vaguely visible. He referred to the Wright brothers and Abraham Lincoln as examples. Commenting upon an editorial of recent date which denied that there could ever be a wireless world, "Cranny" challenged his audience to vision such a world.

The speaker recalled the song sung by the Americans who, after both the Panama and the French companies had abandoned the task of digging the Panama canal, succeeded in doing the impossible.

More than one hundred were present at the first C. E. gathering to be held in the church proper. An organ prelude was played by Charles Rivenburg, '29. Lillian Mattick sang a solo, and the meeting was concluded by a violin solo by Frank Jeckel, '31.

Publishers Present 355 Books To B. U. Education Library

The Education Department wishes to announce the extension of the Education library. The department gratefully recognizes the receipt of 355 textbooks from different publishing companies. Forty-seven of these were received from the MacMillan publishing company.

Everyone is invited to inspect the library and the education students are especially urged to familiarize themselves with the new books.

Education Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Education Club, Thursday night, February 21, at 7:30 o'clock in room 6 in the Biology Building. Dr. R. H. Rivenburg and Professor C. H. Richardson will speak.

Junior Prom Offers Colored Orchestra As Feature Friday

Final preparations have been made for the Junior Prom, which is to be held in the new dining hall for women on Friday evening, February 15. "Jelly Roll" Morton and his "Red Hot Peppers" will provide the syncopation for the dancers. The colored leader and his harmony makers hail from California, and are stopping off at Lewisburg on their way to the South.

An unexpected innovation in this year's prom came in the form of permission to use the "Sem's" new eating quarters, but it is understood that the prom will be the first and last dance to be held in the dining hall.

The Junior Prom committee, headed by Wilson Rise, has made elaborate preparations in an endeavor to make this social event surpass all others of its kind.

Representatives of all the fraternity groups on the campus together with non-fraternity members were selected the early part of this year.

J. Colledge to Direct B. U. Men's Glee Club

Concert at Geisinger to Precede Intercollegiate Song Fest

The B. U. Glee Club is undergoing intensive practice for the Third Annual Pennsylvania State Glee Club Cintest, which will be held in Carnegie Hall in Pittsburgh on February 22. Director Ralph Hartz is in charge. Bucknell will have to face six of the best glee clubs in the state, including Penn State, Carnegie Tech, Juniata, University of Pittsburgh, W. and J., and Allegheny.

The club will give a concert at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville on Tuesday night to tune up for the titular quest.

Director Hartz has reduced his squad of candidates from 46 men to the required 32.

In the championship contest all the glee clubs have to be led by a student director. James Colledge, '31, has been selected by Mr. Hartz to guide the destinies of the Bucknell men.

The club will leave Wednesday morning in its de luxe motor coach for Parnassus where it will give its first concert of the trip that night. On Thursday it will appear in Dormont, and will compete for the state title on the following night.

The four day tour will wind up with a performance in Hollidaysburg on Saturday.

'Y Cabinet Withdraws From Budget Support

"That the Bucknell Y. M. C. A. recommend to the budget committee that its share be removed from the student body," was the motion passed at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, at its meeting at the College Inn, Monday evening.

This revolutionary step will eliminate compulsory support from the men of the student body, and give those who are interested and active in the "Y" program an opportunity to share in its support.

This is the second important financial move under president Frank Loper's administration. About a year ago, the "Y" cabinet adopted the policy of spending the whole sum received from the student budget on the campus. Prior to that time the "Y" had used this sum for outside work as well.

Next year the "Y" will raise its budget by a financial drive, the returns to be used for adding to the furnishing of the "Y" room as well as for the usual running expenses.

Prof. W. Coleman Invited to Join Bread Loaf Staff

English School's Summer Faculty Includes Men Distinguished In Their Own Field

William Harold Coleman, A. M., professor in the English Department at Bucknell, has been invited to join the faculty of the Bread Loaf School of English for the session to be held during the coming summer. Bucknell University is highly honored as a result of the selection, inasmuch as the staff of the Bread Loaf School of English, located at Bread Loaf, Vermont, is composed of carefully selected professors of English who have attained distinction in their particular field.

The Bread Loaf School of English, which is affiliated with Middlebury College, although it has its own buildings and instructors, is one of the best-known schools in this country. Established ten years ago, its purpose is to bring together scholars, writers, and teachers of English.

Among the distinguished men who make up its staff are Doctor Fred Lewis Pattie, formerly professor of American literature at Penn State College, Dallas Lore Sharp, professor of English at Boston University, Grant Overton, formerly the fiction editor of Collier's Magazine, Professor Kenneth H. Murdock, of Harvard University, Sharon Brown, professor of English at Brown University, Professor Robert M. Gay, of Simmons College, and Professor Grover, of Rollins College, who occupies the chair of Professor of Books, the only one of its kind in existence.

A conference of writers is held at the school each year at the close of the six weeks' session.

During the course of the session various well-known writers visit the school and give lectures for the students. The lecturers scheduled for the 1929 session include: Robert Frost, Edward Markham, Sinclair Lewis, Alfred M. Hitchcock, and William W. Ellsworth.

Spaniards to Attend Y. M. C. A. Conference

Pan-American Relations Will Be Big Topic For Discussion

Ten or more Latin-Americans who are studying in American schools, along with several speakers of note will be the speakers of a Y. M. C. A. conference to be held here during the week-end of March 8, 9, and 10.

This conference is to be conducted not only for those interested in "Y" and Christian fellowship work, but will be so conducted as to have a special interest for all students.

Some of the speeches are to be given in Spanish, with a summary in English by an interpreter. Students of history, economics, sociology, education, and political science will find the lectures both interesting and helpful as the conference will be a frank discussion of such questions as the following:

"The Historic Background of Pan-American Relations" by Prof. Paul V. Shaw, Columbia University.

"Observations Regarding Pan-American Friendship," by Prof. Arratia, Temple University.

"Helps and Hindrances to Pan-American Student Fellowship," by Chas. D. Hurrey, National Y. M. C. A.

Other leaders of the conference will be Nevin Sayre, president of "The World Tomorrow," and a well known liberal leader; Charles Corbitt, Christian World Education secretary.

Reward!

A reward is offered for information about, or the return of "Patty" a yellow Irish terrier, belonging to "Betty" Lawson, 150 Brown street. Patricia was last seen Sunday morning on 4th street. "Patty" may be identified by two license tags tied to a green collar. The 1929 license is No. 856. Phone any information to 312.

Pittsburgh Claims Prominent B. U. Men

City Paper Calls Attention To Success of Many Bisons

For many years Bucknell men have been attracting attention in Pittsburgh, but it was left to the Pittsburgh Press to bring the matter vividly to the attention of Pittsburgh folks by an article it published on February 5, calling attention to a number of outstanding Pittsburghers who are Bucknell men. The article follows:

When the late Christy Matthewson was a student at Bucknell University, no one—not even himself—dreamed he would develop into the most famous baseball pitcher in his day. For then, Christy was a football star of first magnitude. While in college it was said of him that he could kick a football "farther north" than any other man alive, although not yet had he attained anywhere near the prominence that came to him in later years, in the field of sport on the diamond.

It is not generally known in these parts that Harry B. Wassell, one of Pittsburgh's leading members of the bar, was a contemporary of Matthewson at Bucknell. The fact of the matter is that Mr. Wassell, I have been informed, was student manager of the team on which Christy was one of the star members as a football player. Mr. Wassell is a director of the American Mond Nickel Co., and other large corporations, in addition to pursuing his calling as a lawyer.

* * * *

Speaking of these two recalls that my attention was directed recently to the fact that quite a few Bucknell men are holding down responsible positions here, the most recent addition to its local hall of notables, perhaps, being Earl A. Morton, trust officer of the Commonwealth Trust Co., who recently was elected to a vice presidency in George D. Edwards' thriving institution. Mr. Morton has been with the Commonwealth a matter of half a dozen years and he isn't what you would consider as an old man by any means, having been graduated from Bucknell with the class of 1905.

* * * *

Another Pittsburgh member of that same class at Bucknell was Roy G. Bostwick of Thorp, Bostwick, Stewart & Reed, attorneys-at-law. Bostwick is a director of the Wilkinsburg Bank. Elkanah B. Hulley, nephew of Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president of the John B. Stetson University, at Deland, Florida, also is a Bucknellian —class of 1907. Hulley probably has built and sold more residences in Pittsburgh and vicinity than any other individual residing in the city. He is a director in the Dormont Savings & Trust Co.

* * * *

James B. Stevenson of the George K. Stevenson Co., grocers, is a Bucknellian—class of 1882—and is a director of the East End Savings & Trust Co. Carl C. Law, president of the Peoples National Bank of Ellwood City, was a student at Bucknell about the time of Stevenson, in the class of 1885. Mr. Law, it may be mentioned, was captain of Bucknell's first football team. The story goes that Bucknell's first game of football was played in Lewisburg against Lafayette College in 1883. Lafayette had played a few games and, therefore, had an advantage. According to Mr. Law, at the end of the first half the score was Lafayette 40, Bucknell 0. But Captain Law's boys had learned something about the game during the first period and in the second period the score was Lafayette 0, Bucknell 0. Those boys evidently were glad they didn't have to play a third.

* * * *

One of the best-known Bucknellites in the city is John T. Shirley, general agent of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, in the Clark Building. Shirley was one of the originators of the idea of the Mathewson memorial gateway to the Bucknell memorial stadium, erected by the National and American League Baseball Clubs in 1928, in memory of Matthewson. The stadium, situated on the west-end of the 200-acre campus, is said to have the most beautiful setting of any stadium in this part of the country.

* * * *

John M. Wilson, president of the National Supply Company, director of the First National Bank at Pittsburgh, and the Peoples Savings & Trust Co., is another Bucknell product, having been graduated in the class of 1897. He was graduated also from Harvard Law School before entering the employ of the National Supply Company. Wilson was a Bucknell football player of note, having participated in many famous games of the nineties. Edward P. Griffiths, class of 1904, general counsel of the Philadelphia Co., and Andrew R. Mathieson, director of welfare work for the Carnegie Steel Company, are additional prominent Bucknellians in Pittsburgh.

* * * *

Incidentally, Griffiths, Wilson, Wassell, Hulley, and Morton are members of the Bucknell chapter of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, in which President Coolidge and his son John were initiated at their alma mater, Amherst College. Phi Gamma Delta is of particular interest to Western Pennsylvania because it was founded in 1848 at old Jefferson College, Canonsburg, now combined with Washington & Jefferson. Bostwick and Shirley are members of Kappa Sigma fraternity, while Law, Stevenson, and Mathieson claim allegiance to Sigma Chi.

This story would not be complete without mentioning the fact that Honorable Thomas J. Baldridge of Hollidaysburg, former judge of Blair county, now attorney general of Pennsylvania, and appointed by Judge Henderson on the Superior Bench here, was a student at Bucknell. Judge Baldridge and Messrs. Wilson, Shirley, Elkanah B. Hulley, and Bostwick, are Western Pennsylvania members of Bucknell's board of trustees.

Air-minded Syracuse Co-eds To Organize a Flying Club

Twenty-five Syracuse University co-eds have announced their intentions of forming a flying club and today were looking over the facilities offered by the municipal airport. Formation of the club was expected next week.

Miss Barbara Hoyt, sister of Gwynn Hoyt, general manager of the General Aviation Company, together with Catherine Ruland were in charge of preliminary arrangements. Some of the co-eds will take the ground course while awaiting formation of the club.

Electrical Engineers Improve B.U. Station

With a view to improving the quality and efficiency of the Bucknell radio broadcasting station, WJBU, the members of the technical staff of the station are constantly at work in the control room on the ground floor of East Wing. Minor detailed improvements are made as soon as new values are found, and the response from the radio audience tells of added range and tone quality as a result.

The Electrical Engineering Department is working under a handicap in that all funds for the maintainance of the station must come from within the department. At present a land wire from the new Lewisburg High School is needed. Most of our indoor athletic activity is centered in this new gymnasium, and the radio station loses many chances to serve the University and the radio audience because this land wire cannot be set up.

The university and the high school would profit a great deal should they supply the funds needed to string this needed link in the broadcasting system, as the lack of this wire is the only factor that prevents the station from broadcasting every important event which takes place in the new gymnasium.

Assistant Professor G. A. Iriand and Peter Barzileski, an assistant in the Electrical Engineering Department, have just completed a new short-wave receiver for use in the control room. The receiver employes tuned radio-frequency plug-in coils and two screen-grid vacuum tubes. Amplification is provided by a four-stage resistance-coupled amplifier.

Will Rogers Says—

"There is some nuts got a habit here in New York," says the New York Sun, of Will Rogers, who pokes fun at the men who go bareheaded—"I really doubt if it has reached your town, for most of your states have asylums. It's to go bareheaded on the streets. Now, he has worn something on his head ever since his mother tied a hood under his chin, but he has never attracted any attention, so he lets it rain down his neck to show people that he bathes."

"If your head hasn't got enough in it to carry a hat, why all the sunshine on it in the world won't do it any good. Every time a woman leaves off something, she looks better, but every time a man leaves off something he looks worse."

About Mistakes

About mistakes, it's funny. You got to make your own; and not only that, if you try to keep people from making their's they get mad.

—Edna Ferber.

Popularity Rules Drawn Up by Co-eds

"Y" President Heads Committee On "10 Commandments" at U. C.

"The Ten Commandments of Popularity" were drawn up recently by the co-eds of the University of Cincinnati, led by the president of the Young Women's Christian Association, who is also sports editor of the college paper. They are:

I. Always be a lady. Use good taste in selecting your clothes and do not let actions belie that taste.

II. Always be a good sport. Do what the majority wants, but not to the detriment of your own convictions and ideals.

III. Handing a line is helpful. Even if you are not the type, this "you-great-big-wonderful-boy" stuff does get over, used in moderation, of course.

IV. Play tennis, golf, bridge, swim, and dance. If not all, then do these two certainly—play bridge and dance.

V. Read the papers. Know your current events, politics, and athletics. It is well to be able to converse on serious subjects as well as light ones.

VI. Do not "neck." If a girl is charming and peppy enough to interest a boy, she need not worry about being the gold-digger type.

VII. Do not kiss promiscuously. There is no harm in kissing a boy of whom you are particularly fond.

VIII. Dress attractively, but not necessarily expensively.

IX. A boy notices the general effect you produce, so be pretty as you can, but do not make up heavily.

X. First, last, and always—be feminine.—Vassar Miscellany.

Dr. Stewart is Host To Fifty White Rats

Professor Norman H. Stewart has turned the basement of his cozy home into a spacious apartment house for white rats. Professor Stewart is always working to give his students the best material for their work, and is at present preparing for his course in histology. In this course, which deals with a study of the tissues of the body, the best results are obtained from the study of fresh specimens. White rats reproduce very rapidly, and thus are capable of keeping the department supplied with material. Up to the present time, Dr. Stewart has raised about 50 of the mammals for the use of his third year group. Each of the families is confined to a large box containing food and water and a plentiful supply of material for burrowing. The animals are very tame and very interesting, as the point their quiveringly inquisitive noses into ones hand or run up the sleeves of their visitors, poking their snowy whiskers here and there about them and looking up at one with their rose-colored eyes.

Madeline Waldherr Teaches In Local Leadership School

It is of interest to know that Madeline Waldherr, '31, assistant nurse at Women's College, is teaching in the Standard Leadership Training School, which is being conducted by the Lewisburg Council of Religious Education for a period of five weeks. The courses offered in this school are among those required by the International Council of Religious Education for a Standard Training Diploma. Miss Waldherr is teaching a course in primary materials and methods. She is well qualified for the position, having had considerable experience in church and young people's work.

What Goes Up Will Come Down

The airman was explaining the use of the parachute to a group of sightseers.

"And what would happen if the parachute failed to open after you jumped off?" asked a listener.

"Oh, that wouldn't stop me!" replied the airman. "I'd come down just the same." —Wall St. Journal.

It pays to advertise.

You will find here a group of shoes assembled especially to meet the college man's ideas of style and good taste. They are the result of a 30-year acquaintance with well-dressed college men's preferences.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at MONTGOMERY & CO.

PITT THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
DON'T ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan PENS-PENCILS
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1928
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

WAINIES

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wo nder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank bel w and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Pennsylvania Gamma takes great pleasure in announcing the pledging of James Braddock Stevenson, of Titusville, Pa.

Mystery! mystery! At last the cigar box mystery has been solved. Ask Fritz.

Many of the brothers who journeyed to their homes between semesters have all returned including "Toga" Stephens. We feared that he might not return and to say the least his failure to appear until the second semester was well under way caused us no little consternation.

Brother Williams journeyed to Philadelphia during the week seeking admission to Hahnemann Medical School. He also attended the Arts Ball held at the Philadelphia School of Industrial Arts. "Al" tells us that also among those present was our beloved friend, and former political science teacher, Burns Drum.

Brother "Dutch" Keller is again with us after an absence of one semester spent at Temple. Needless to say he is glad to be back where he understands the language.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

Brother "Bill" O'Brien celebrated his coming of age on Monday night with a "chicken 'n waffle dinner" at his home. Brothers Paul Johnson, Paul Fink, Marty Hogan, and "Tommy" MacLeod aided in fittingly celebrating the event.

The chapter now believes that good things come in pairs for the cigars were on Charlie Frampton, '31, Sunday in honor of his birthday.

Brothers "Ed" Bollinger and "Bud" Konkle represented the house in what, from all reports, was one of the "swellest" parties ever thrown in Philadelphia. The high-stepping pair were away from Friday to Monday, returning safely, despite the perils of the big city, with many tales to tell.

Brother "Line" Walters and some of his more intimate friends have a decided "Penn Hall" complex as a result of the week-end social activities.

The chapter mourns the death of brother Fred W. Wagner of Bradford, Pa., who was a real friend and brother.

"Johnny" McNally, one of our leading journalistic lights, has left us to assume reportial duties with the Pittsburgh Press. Another brother who will be among the missing for the remainder of the year is "Bill" Greet, who has left to give the bears and bulls a workout in Wall Street.

Brother and Mrs. A. G. Stoughton, alumni secretary, and Miss "Polly" Belles, '28, were guests for dinner on Sunday. Mrs. Stoughton treated the boys to a musicale during the afternoon.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

"Jimmy" Martin, a brother from the Pittsburgh chapter, spent a few days at the house last week.

We entertained several friends from Penn State last week-end. Those stopping over were Brothers Bender and Hepenstall; Bushnell, a S. A. E. pledge, and Holker, a Phi Kappa.

Brothers Koegel and Reinheimer journeyed to Lehighton for the week-end.

Pledge Bernard attended a dance at Mansfield State Teachers' College Friday.

Brother Long passed the week-end at his home in Muncy.

Brother Meadowcroft, '31, paid a visit to Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Pledge Brother "Charlie" Mills spent the week-end with his parents at Athens, Pa.

Pledge Brother "Johnny" Downey spent a few days at his home in Bloomfield, Pa.

Brother "Al" Abbott spent the week-end at his home in Nanticoke.

Brother Karl Wilson, ex-'30, was a guest at the house over the week-end.

Brother "Bob" Barton and pledge brother "Jack" Barton spent the week-end at Bloomsburg, doing some research work.

"Bucky" Harris gave the fellows at the house a break by spending last week-end at his home in Plymouth, Pa.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

The house held an informal college dance Saturday night. The music was furnished by "Al" Hoffman and his band.

Brother "Ed" Glover, '30, entertained friends over the week-end.

Brother "Bob" Payne, '30, had a "caller" from Scranton to the dance Saturday night.

A few of the boys were back visiting over the week-end. Those present were: Donald Wagner, '27, and Preston Geist, '27. Donald Wagner brought with him Thomas A. Bonner of Clemson University, N. Carolina.

Pledge brother Carl Fenner, '32, suffered a broken nose in the game with Sigma Beta Delta Thursday night, which we won 26-21.

Miles Huntingdon, '28, was back at the house Saturday for the dance; in the meantime he learned a few card tricks.

The house extends its sympathy to brother Karl Albig, '29, in the recent death of his father. Karl was called home last week upon receiving word of his serious illness.

We extend our greetings and best wishes to our neighbors in recently becoming a member of the Phi Kappa.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

During hours of recreation, the sweet notes of a tenor banjo can be to the lobby of the Theta U. house, heard resounding from the kitchen "Reg" Gaylord, '29, recently acquired the ancient banjo that is the cause of so much disturbance.

"Dick" Vastine, '27, returned last Friday, and spent a few hours at the house.

Pledge brother Vance I. Iddings, '32, was confined to the infirmary for a short time.

A wee insignificant mouse was seen roaming around the house one day last week, and since that time mighty hunters armed with traps of all sorts and sizes have been seeking this mouse, but in vain.

It is hoped that the condition of Rael Ralston, '32, who is now confined to the infirmary, will improve rapidly.

Among Theta U's. alumni guests this past week-end was John M. Lenox, '24, who is now working in the Philadelphia General Hospital.

W. H. Fisher of Iota Alpha chapter, located at State College, was the guest of T. U. O. last Sunday.

James O'Brien, Harold Ulrich, and Gerald McCarthy of "State" spent the past week-end at the house.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

We take great pleasure in announcing the pledging of William J. Curnow of Shickshinny, Pa. "Feaster the Subtle," has officially nicknamed our new pledge—"Colonel."

Pledge brother Stillman, '32, enjoyed a Y. W. dance this past week-end at Mansfield State Teachers' College.

Brothers Lingle and Ward journeyed to the former's home in Harrisburg last Friday. Their intention was to hear "Jelly Roll" Morton play for a club dance, but due to auto trouble the band did not arrive. We hope that he will have no engine trouble on the 15th.

Mr. Franklin of Wilkes-Barre, visited the house the past week-end as the guest of brother Jackson, '31.

Society Notes. ???

A new and exclusive society has been organized under the name of the "F. and M. S. P." Charter members are brothers Minick, Hauber, Pollock, Shure, and Cranford. "Penurious Pee-Wee" Feaster has been appointed financial adviser for the club. We expect great things of this tricky society.

BETA KAPPA
"Chris" Gerken, '30

Eta chapter takes great pleasure in announcing the pledging of James Eccles of Pittsburgh.

Brother McClure spent the week-end at Maytown.

Brother Crittenden journeyed to Philadelphia to attend a dance there.

Brother Weber has promised that he will never try to start his car in the same way that he did the other night, before he takes out some insurance.

Brother Atwood spent the week-end in Bloomsburg and Berwick and from his appearances, he must have enjoyed himself.

Brother Snyder visited Pittsburgh.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Eva Mae Folsom, '31, has had to leave us for a semester. A farewell party was held in her honor after the regular meeting last week. Games and "eats" were the main features of the affair. We shall miss "Snooks"

(Continued on Page 7.)

Have you a "camera taste"?

The Hindu Fakir tosses a rope into the air, swarms up said rope hand over hand, and pulls it in after him. Marvelous! One skeptical tourist took a snapshot of the miracle. Result: no miracle, no climb, nothing.

You can't photograph a cigarette's flavor, of course. Can't taste it, either, if it isn't there. Mildness can be overdone, you know — to the point where there's no taste at all. But never in Chesterfields. They've got flavor and body, and it doesn't take a hypnotist to prove it.

Not that there's even a hint of harshness in Chesterfield. There's none smoother. But all the full, rich, subtly blended tobacco flavors are kept intact to do their pleasant duty—to satisfy.

Isn't that what a cigarette is for?

CHESTERFIELD
MILD *enough for anybody..and yet..*THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

"Now I know what death feels like," said the unfortunate man as a flask slipped out of his hip pocket and crashed on the cement sidewalk. "I just felt the spirit leave me."

—Exchange.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
ICE CREAM SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—15—

DO NEWSPAPER ADS PAY?

THE FOLLOWING ITEM FROM THE SUNBURY "ITEM" SHOWS THE EFFICACY OF ADVERTISING:

ONE OF THE LARGEST NEWSPAPERS ADVERTISING APPROPRIATIONS EVER DEVOTED TO A SINGLE PRODUCT WILL BE SPENT BY THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY IN 1929 TO PROMOTE THE SALE OF "LUCKY STRIKE" CIGARETTES. GEORGE W. HILL, PRESIDENT OF THE COMPANY, ANNOUNCED TODAY THAT NEXT YEAR'S DIRECT ADVERTISING BUDGET FOR ITS PRINCIPAL BRAND OF CIGARETTES WILL TOTAL $12,300,000. THIS SUM DOES NOT INCLUDE SALES OR TRADE EXPENSES.

MORE THAN HALF OF THIS ENTIRE APPROPRIATION WILL BE ALLOTTED TO NEWSPAPERS. IT WILL INCLUDE PRACTICALLY EVERY DAILY IN THE UNITED STATES. THE NEWSPAPERS APPROPRIATION WILL BE MORE THAN DOUBLE THE NEXT LARGEST ALLOTMENT, WHICH IS FOR OUTDOOR ADVERTISING, AND MORE THAN TEN TIMES AS GREAT AS THE AMOUNT THAT WILL BE SPENT FOR RADIO BROADCASTING IN WHICH THE COMPANY IS A PIONEER.

THE $12,000,000 APPROPRIATION WILL INCLUDE: DAILY NEWSPAPERS, $6,500,000; MAGAZINES, $1,200,000; BILLBOARDS, $3,000,000; STORE HELPS, $1,000,000; RADIO $600,000.

"THIS DIVISION OF OUR ADVERTISING BUDGET" SAID MR. HILL TODAY, "IS BASED ON THE CONTINUED EXPERIENCE OF THE AMERICAN TOBACCO COMPANY WITH LARGE SCALE ADVERTISING WHICH HAS SATISFACTORILY DEMONSTRATED THAT NEWSPAPERS OFFER THE MOST EFFECTIVE MEDIUM OF APPEAL."

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief — Clarence W. Cranford, '29, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 191
Assistant Editor-in-chief — Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor — Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors — Thomas McLeod, '31; Dorothy Davies, '30; A. E. Frederick, '29; Fennie Ehrley, '31
News Editor — Van Lee Thomas, '30
Assistant News Editors — Blair Hazen, '31; J. Warren McElgot, '30
Sports Editor — Kenneth Vandenbrew, '31; H. Bartlett Kiser, '31
Assistant Sports Editors — Virginia E. Smoot, '30; Lillian Mattick, '30
Women's College Editor — Elizabeth Tigner, '30
Exchange Editor
Column Editors

Business Staff

Advertising Manager — W. C. Emmitt, '30; John Snyder, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager — Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31

Assistant Circulation Managers

George DeLancey, '32; Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Glatzer, '32; Benjamin Wahrman, '32
Frank Koehler, '32

CALENDAR

Thursday, February 14—Boxing match, Bucknell vs. Manhattan College, 8:30 p. m., Lewisburg High School gymnasium.

Friday, February 15—Junior Prom, 9 p. m., new Dining Hall.

Saturday, February 16—College Girls At Home, Living room of new dormitory, 8-10 p. m.

Monday, February 18—Mu Phi Epsilon concert 8:15 p. m., Bucknell Hall.

German Club Meeting, Illustrated Lecture by John George Bucher on "Romantic Germany," Engineering Building.

Tuesday, February 19—Campus Club meeting 7:30 p. m., in playroom.

Wednesday, February 20—Athletic Association meeting, 6:45 in playroom.

Thursday, February 21—Baptist Student Dinner.

A PLEA FOR MORE COLLEGE CYNICS

"Wal now, the way I look ut this here matter is jest this way: these yere smart-elick cynics in them 'ere highfalutin colleges is jest a-tryin' ta show off." And quaint old Uncle Ebenezer spat resoundingly upon the back of the yellow "hawn pup" in front of him, and shifted his cud of "bacey" in the usual literary fashion. He doubtless also shifted his false teeth, his seat on the cracker barrel, his cars, his hat, perhaps even his eyebrows—everything that required only a minimum of physical energy—everything, anyway, except his point of view, which it is a question of honor among the Uncle Ebenezer type of sage philosophers never to alter. However, by the time these translocations were satisfactorily accomplished, the diction of the philosophic group had probably included certain terms the mentioning of which would bar the passage of this issue of the Bucknellian through the mails. Therefore, we ourselves shall execute a shift, and consult the opinion of an eminent educator.

President Hopkins of Dartmouth is the author of a pronouncement to the effect that cynicism, pessimism, misanthropy, do not represent a normal attitude of youth. "For youth to assume these is an affectation." The eminent educator agrees with the cracker barrel Aristotles. This is settling the question easily. Also it is settling it dogmatically, and there are those who disagree.

The editor of The Dartmouth, commenting on President Hopkins' remarks, says that perhaps the college man is cynical because he is tired. "It is no new thing to complain of the hectic 'busy-ness' of the modern campus, with its manifold engrossing 'activities' which devour the hours of the collegiate day. Yet just this may quite conceivably be at the root of the present childish worship of the God of Disillusionment." The Dartmouth editor, you observe, agrees with what his prexy implies: that the "worship" of disillusionment is "childish."

The editor of the Daily Princetonian is farther away in geographical distance; he dares heave a bigger stone. "President Hopkins says this cynicism must stop. Which immediately reminds us of poor King Canute ordering the waves to recede. For weal or woe, higher education is going to show a young man the logical fallacy or plain factual error of certain of his former beliefs. Whereupon that young man is going to throw them overboard with a whoop of joy." The gentleman at Princeton continues with this idea. The negative attitude of cynicism, he suggests, is merely filling an inevitable period of interregnum between the ideals which the student learned in Sunday School and the far more stable ones which he is going to construct for himself.

Here are several opinions based on several points of view. Uncle Ebenezer knows little or nothing about the situation, and we can throw him overboard with a real "whoop of joy." There are hundreds of thousands of these Ebenezers in the land, though many of them live in metropolitan cities. President Hopkins knows a great deal about the matter, but his point of view, and consequently his remedy, is too god-like. It is too sweeping, too paternalistic. His words are hardly to be told from those of the average Y. M. C. A. lecturer. Although desiring to avoid injustice, we wonder if the distinguished educator wasn't thinking, when he wrote them, of how they would sound when quoted in newspaper editorials. Furthermore, his attitude is quite as sweepingly destructive as any of the cynicisms of his most moronic sophomores. As for the two student editors, we are inclined to believe that both of them have crept near the truth but that neither has gone far enough. They are too desirous of classifying all their fellows together. Consequently, it is only their closer acquaintance with the subject that saves them from going overboard with Ebenezer.

The Dartmouth is correct in what it says. We have no doubt that many of our college cynics are merely tired. "Activities" plus pleasures—both strenuous and both requiring much time—are not the things which make a student rise at the first summons of the alarm on Monday morning, and show extreme energy in assaulting his regular studies. The insistent demands of that "regular work" upon him, while he is in the blue-Monday state of mind, will arouse only bitterness and inevitable cynicism. But this explanation does not cover the whole situation of which President Hopkins is complaining.

The Princeton editor is probably near the central truth. Cynicism is a transitional condition, based on that disillusionment for which the college classes are themselves partly responsible. In saying this we are not attacking the college for breaking idols; we are defending the right of the student to have his disillusionment and to enjoy it in tranquillity. Unfortunately, no more than a few students will ever realize and use that right. But the effect of its enjoyment upon those few is such that the outside world hears of it and rejoins by storming loudly against the "pessimistic college youth of today." All along the line, from Ebenezer, through the women's clubs, to Prexy Hopkins, the tempest gathers its frowning clouds.

So we venture to disagree with all the observers quoted above. We are not attacking student cynicism, with President Hopkins; we are not seeking to explain it, with the Dartmouth; we are not even attempting to excuse it, as does the Princetonian. We are advocating it! Cynicism in the temporary form in which it is usually found among college undergraduates seems to us to be a sign of mental health. Cynicism means dissatisfaction, and dissatisfaction means sooner or later an attempt at improvement. Student pessimism tends to change gradually into meliorism. But the former attitude is not an affectation, President Hopkins to the contrary notwithstanding. Nor is it superficially to be charged up to mere "tiredness." It is a natural result of new knowledge and new habits of thought—the Princetonian is right there—but the transition to that result is not so easy a thing to accomplish as that worthy publication appears to think. The average young man does not throw his old beliefs overboard "with a whoop of joy." His public announcements of changed attitude may be accompanied by what amounts to a whoop, but during the solitary times: the walks up the hill to get a library book in the evening; the moments in lecture when some remark of the professor has sent one's mind off, out of the classroom, on an exploration trip of its own; those silent night hours after everyone else on the floor is asleep—those hours when the mercury contracts, but the soul expands;—during these times the student's philosophy is shaping. It is not forming with shouts, but with pain and bitterness and perplexity, with distraction sometimes, and always with labor. And if it is ever to be worth anything in a positive way, it will hardly escape at least a transitional period of cynicism. President Hopkins may order the waves to recede if he likes, but he can gain little by it. The thing he would destroy has its own place and its own usefulness. Let there be more college cynics, not fewer!

WELL—TOODLE OODLE

And now, down at the bottom of the column, we make all conventional preparations and go into a farewell editorial. The retiring editor has had a most hectic and delightful time frolicking on this page during the past half-dozen months. He is now to have a less hectic but an equally delightful time frolicking off the page. This job of being an editor is all right and lots of fun, but it is no rest cure. Not that we're contemplating attending anything of that nature now, either, but we do hope that we'll have enough time from now until June so that we can actually commence going to college again. That is something we haven't done since our freshman year.

We have no platitudinous advice to leave behind us for future editors—who of course would pay not the slightest attention to it anyway. We are not even going to sum up the numerous disabilities of college life which we have been mentioning from time to time recently. Only this request—give the editors who follow, a break—at least as decent a one as you have given the retiring editor. He has received from a number of individuals, both students and faculty members, a very helpful cooperation, and he has been deeply appreciative of it.

And one thing more. Like Washington himself in his Farewell Address, we say earnestly to all eligible but as yet unconquered males and females—avoid all entangling alliances! Well—toodle oodle.

FATIGUE

I'm tired—
Those little devils sitting on my head
Drive me wild with their hammering.
I can't hold still—
My muscles twitch and writhe under my skin,
My joints scream with the agony of vessels broken in a hurricane
I pay my strength to drag my feet along.
Houses smirk at me,
Behind their silly porches, in shuttered cynicism
Trees and people rush at me
In zig-zag flashes of heat.

My mind is blankness
And blackness, slashed with dizzily careening comets
And searing, blinding ideas.
O God! this heat—
This must be madness,
Or death—
—or Hell—
i can't go on
I've got to stop and rest—
—rest—?
I'm just dog-tired I guess. —by Eloise Bailey, '29.

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

Although this makes only the fourth week that Gulliver has gabbled, he has already sprung into national prominence. You doubt this, do you? Well, turn to page 141 of the "Saturday Evening Post" for the week of February 9. Behold!

And like other popular stars, Gulliver receives just tons of "fan mail" weekly. Thus we have the following talks:

With Our Correspondents

To the editor of Gulliver's Gabbles:
Sir:

Are you a Republican or Democrat? Perhaps you might even be of a socialistic turn of mind. We understand that Bucknell is accused in neighboring communities of being a "hotbed of socialism." Are you responsible or will you point your trusty pen in defense of her fair name as the institution for "Christian Education?" There is surely a challenge for you!

Coolidge economy is never applied to words and meetings from our recent observation. We are in favor of this added task for you—shorten committee meetings and have fewer of them. Elbert Hubbard's definition of a committee you will recall is "a body requiring three weeks to do that which one man could do in one day." We would almost be ready to abolish committees.

Our recent request of a faculty-student committee (which, by the way, is rightly named in giving the faculty precedence), as to dance rules required four meetings to get anywhere—a record for long-windedness! One of the fellows on the committee related to us that, by actual count, for every five minutes that a student spoke some faculty member took thirty of these precious divisions of time to counsel, advise, explain, interpret, and finally decide against whatever was proposed. How tempus fugits!

—Major Heddake.

What office under Gulliver's regime do you want Major?

Yes, since coming to these United States, Gulliver has looked thoroughly into parties, platforms, and politics. He has decided to join the one in accord with his ideas and policies, the Roger's Anti-Bunk party. Will, Gulliver salutes you. And the Lord knows that there is ample opportunity to spread your doctrines here in Bucknell!

So, you see, we can't point our pen in defense of her fair name, etc., and still be within our chosen party's lines.

Dear Gulliver:

Are you going to pay any attention to sports in your rather abbreviated column? I am not a sports writer, but just one of those fanatics who sit on the side lines and, obeying the coaches, "yelling myself hoarse." Therefore I should be happy to see some ink splashes from your pen on this hobby of mine. How about the prize fights the other night?

Would not a past generation of Bucknellians turn over in their graves if they knew that Tustin Gymnasium housed such an ungentlemanly twenty fellows as were there the other night, throwing leather at each other? S'awful!

As an esthete, along with my propensities for following the physical side of collegiate life, I could not but marvel at the lack of showmanship displayed in the ring dress of the gladiators. Only two of the twenty wore anything but the usual virgin white costume. The little fellow with the brilliantly striped trunks took our eye at once. His pants brought a louder cheer from the gallery than any other single attraction of the evening. Then another old hand at this swat game broke the monotony of white with dark trunks initialed on the left leg. That is an idea! When we cannot understand the name given by our embryo Joe Humphreys, or pronounce it again if we did understand it, just think what a boon it would be to our line of chatter during the intermissions to comment on the footwork of G. J. as opposed to the mid-section pounding of H. Z. Those initialed trunks we would favor from many points of view. Let us have a little of the haberdasher's art in the ring.

—Mnop

Gulliver intends to pay attention to sports, both indoor and out, and some not recognized by the Intercollegiate A. A.

Married Undergrads Ousted

The administration at Washington and Jefferson College doesn't believe that married students can study. A new rule is to go into effect that married undergraduates will automatically be dropped. A college romance must needs be that and nothing else.

Among the Book Stalls

Miss Margaret Lawson, instructor in education, together with Miss Dorothy Petgen, made a study of the uses of leisure in the principal countries of Europe. In a book entitled, "Leisure and Its Uses," Miss Petgen and Mr. Herbert May, who directed the study, have noted the uses of leisure in foreign countries. In the foreword written by Mr. May he says, "In the spring of 1926, the Playground and Recreation Association of America requested that I organize and direct a study of leisure time activities in the principal countries of Europe. Scope and method were left entirely to my judgment. I selected as my assistants, Miss Dorothy Petgen and Miss Margaret Lawson. Miss Lawson accompanied Miss Petgen during the first six months of the study in Europe and has given valuable assistance in consultations over the collected material in America."

The following review of the book was published in the New York Times.

LEISURE AND ITS USE. Some International observations. By Herbert L. May and Dorothy Petgen. 268 pp. New York: A. S. Barnes & Co. $2.

Social workers of all sorts, as well as those members of the laity who are interested in the subject of recreation and its significance, will find this well-packed book very much worth while, although its particular appeal and value are for those who are devoting themselves to study, observation and application of the principles, methods, and possibilities of play and the enjoyment of leisure. For all who are engaged in this new profession either as students or workers it will be especially valuable, since it is international in its scope. It presents a study of how the peoples of all the important countries of Europe use their spare time and go about the diversion of holiday-making, and there is a final chapter on recreation in the United States.

The work was undertaken at the request of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, which asked Mr. May to "organize and direct a study of leisure-time activities in the principal countries of Europe." He asked Miss Petgen to undertake the work of investigation, observation, and collection of notes in Europe, and she devoted a year and a half to this study. He compliments warmly her "ability as an interviewer, a student, and an interpreter of conditions." She carried on her research in England, France, Germany, Belgium, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, Austria, and Italy, and the authors in their account of the situation in each case endeavor to portray and interpret briefly the special factors of race and social, economic and other conditions which differentiate and deeply influence the matter of leisure and its use in each country. Miss Petgen says that she and her aide, Miss Margaret Lawson, began their work in a very humble frame of mind, being wholly under the superstition prevalent in this country of "the better life of Europe," but that they soon became skeptical of its truth and presently discarded it altogether. What they finally did was to try to understand each country and then get down to the fundamentals beneath its development of the methods by which it seeks recreation. Of the organized play which has had such rapid and immense development in this country they found comparatively little.—New York Times.

Faculty members granted absences for graduate study were Associate Professor Frank Sprague, Spanish; Assistant Professor John Gold, mathematics; and Assistant Professor D. M. Griffith, civil engineering.

PUBLIC CONCERT
MU PHI EPSILON
BUCKNELL HALL
FEBRUARY 18th, 8 P. M.
Benefit Endowment Fund

WEST SIDE PARK
BERWICK, PA.
Wednesday, February 20
MAL HALLET
AND HIS ORCHESTRA
Ladies 50c Dancing 9 to 1 Gentlemen $1

One Week Only
All SUITS
OVERCOATS
TOP COATS
25 Per Ct. Off
J. F. PROWANT CO.

Football Men Drill For Coming Season

Spring football practice started here last Saturday with several Bucknell varsity and freshman players reporting for the initial workout. Carl G. Snavely, head Bison football coach, was on hand to give his gridiron aspirants their early instructions.

Max Reed, newly-appointed line coach, assisted Coach Snavely in the initial workouts. This will be Reed's first season as Bucknell's assistant football coach. He is a former Bison football captain, piloting the Bucknell eleven of 1923.

The first practice session of the season consisted merely of a drill in the fundamentals of the game. The Bison mentor is anxious to obtain a definite idea as to the relative strength of his men early in the year. Freshmen from last fall's yearling squad are now eligible for varsity competition, and Coach Snavely is desirous of seeing these new men work out.

An innovation to spring football at Bucknell was introduced here last Saturday by Coach Snavely in calling for gridiron workouts at such an early date. Coach Snavely's latest move is evidently a wise one as he will have plenty of time to determine future plans.

During the week, Coach Snavely plans on having a meeting of quarterbacks who will assemble with their coach. Practice will be held every Saturday afternoon in the Tustin Gymnasium until the weather is favorable enough to work outdoors.

Prof. Colestock Speaks At Bangor Meetings

At the educational meeting of the borough institute held at Bangor, in Northampton County, over the week-end of February 9, Professor H. T. Colestock was one of the main speakers. Prof. Colestock delivered three addresses. "Another Side of the American Revolution," was the topic of the address given Friday evening, February 9, and on Saturday forenoon he spoke on, "What I Would Say to My Boy's Teachers," and "Mental Attitudes as Factors in Teaching."

Read The Bucknellian

FREE TOSS GIVES B. U. VICTORY OVER W. & J.

(Continued from Page 1.)

point that meant victory, the Bucknell delegation broke into a tempest of applause.

Bisons Keep Lead

A minute yet remained to play, and the Bucknell team saved the lead by holding the ball in enemy territory. The final whistle blew as the W. and J. courtmen were vainly trying to get hold of the ball.

Hoskins, with eight points, was the outstanding star for the Presidents' team. The diminutive forward shot three field goals and two fouls, and in addition played a fine floor game. Robinson and Gilchrist also performed creditably, matching Hoskins' scoring efforts with a like number of points.

Seiler and Klosterman Star

Seiler and Klosterman were the high scorers of the game with nine points each. Seiler's total included two field goals and five fouls while Klosterman caged a quartet of twin-pointers and a lone free toss.

Wadsworth and Captain Woodring played their usual fine game at the guard posts. Wadsworth contributed seven points to the Bison' total. Woodring did good work in guarding. The line-up follows:

Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Mitchell, f	1	2	4
Klosterman, f	4	1	9
Ross, f	0	0	0
Seiler, c	2	5	9
Woodring, g	0	1	1
Wadsworth, g	3	1	7
Total	10	10	30
W & J.	Field	Foul	Total
Lewis, f	0	0	0
Hoskins, f	3	2	8
Robinson, f	3	2	8
Sanders, c	0	0	0
McMunn, g	0	1	1
McKissock, g	1	2	4
Gilchrist, g	3	2	8
Total	10	9	29

Score by periods:

Bucknell	10	10—30
W. & J.	14	15—29

Referee—Langren.
Scorer—McElgot.

R. Henry Coleman, '29

R. Henry Coleman, '29, left recently for Richmond, Virginia, where he will begin his work in the selling department of a well-known refrigerator concern which has added six selected college men to its staff.

K. D. R. AND CAMPUS FIVE DEFEATED IN COURT GAME

In a double-header staged at the Tustin Gymnasium last Monday evening, the Campus Five was defeated by Phi Kappa Psi, 29-23, in the first game, while the Phi Kappas conquered the Kappa Delta Rho quintet in the nightcap by a 33-24 score.

The first game was productive of many fine plays. The winners led at half time by two points and increased this margin considerably during the final period.

Kempler and Guidotti shared the scoring honors for the winners with nine points apiece. Frost figured in the scoring column with a trio of field goals. "Sam" Wooley, although on the losing team, was the high scorer of the game, with four field goals and a pair of fouls.

Phi Kappas Rally To Win

Staging a belated rally in the second half, the Phi Kappas went on a scoring rampage to chalk up a 33-24 win over the K. D. R's. The losers were ahead at the end of the first half by a 17-16 margin, but later in the game Trudinak, Spadafora, and Mezza hit their stride. This trio tallied all the points registered by the winners.

Spadafora continued his scoring spurt, caging seven field goals and two fouls, for 16 points. Trudinak was right behind him with a 12 point total.

Score by periods:

Phi Psis	13	10—23
Campus Five	15	14—29

* * * *

Phi Kappas	16	17—33
K. D. R's.	17	7—24

Referee—"Eddie" Halleni.
Scorer—"Mac" McElgot.

Bucknell Defeats George Washington

The Bucknell basketball team defeated George Washington University quintet on Abraham Lincoln's birthday by a 48-19 margin. The Bucknell five assumed an early lead and was out in front at all stages of the game. The losers were always trailing. The George Washington game was the first contest on Bucknell's third road trip of the season.

Renovated 'Y' Room To Be Opened Monday

Men living on the Hill will, in the near future, have a suitable reception room in which they can entertain their guests. The Y. M. C. A. room on the first floor of West College is being renovated and refurnished for this purpose and to provide an ideal place for "Y" meetings.

The new reception room will be formally opened on Monday, February 25, at the installation service of active members of the Y. M. C. A. The funds necessary for this needed improvement have been raised by the members of the Y. M. C. A., who sent out letters to a selected number of alumni and trustees. The sum of $300.00 has already been received from these sources.

New furniture is being bought, and a dark maroon rug has been ordered from a Pittsburgh firm. Floor sockets have been installed for floor lamps, and the woodwork has all been sanded and varnished. The walls and ceiling have been refinished in buff "wall-tex," similar to the walls of the new dining room of the Women's College. The room when opened will present an attractive appearance.

Lewisburg Alumnae Members Entertained With Two Plays And Music at Their Meeting

The Bucknell Alumnae Club of Lewisburg met Tuesday evening in the organ room of Larison Hall. The meeting was presided over by Miss Jessie Pangburn, the president of the club. It was announced at the meeting that the secretary of the club, Mrs. Comstock, is seriously ill in the Geisinger Memorial Hospital, and it was decided that a letter of cheer should be sent to her.

The feature of the evening was a presentation of two delightful one-act plays, "The Bandit" and "The Love Story." The members of the club played the various parts. Between the plays, Mrs. Harold Eisley sang a solo, "Glorious Night," and Miss Tollefson gave a piano selection.

At the end of the meeting refreshments were served by the committee.

It pays to advertise.

R. Dillworth and Miss Tollefson Entertain in Frosh Chapel

The freshmen were entertained in Tuesday's chapel by an alumnus, Robert Dillworth, '27, and an instructor in the School of Music, Miss Helen Tollefson.

Mr. Dillworth, who is now connected with the Harrisburg Civic Opera Company, sang "Honor and Arms," from Handel's "Sampson." Miss Tollefson played two numbers on the piano, the first "Tambourin," by Rameau and Gadowsky, and the second, "Rhapsody," by Brahms.

During the chapel, President Chas. M. Stump announced that all frosh rules would be off from six o'clock Friday night until eight Saturday morning because of the Junior Prom.

Wife Proposes an Impossibility

"A good husband should give his wife all the money she wants," she argued.

"There ain't that much money," he answered.

DR. PIKE DISCUSSES PERCEPTION DEFECTS

(Continued from Page 1)

in a form which is unreal. The condition, however, is an absolute reality to the patient.

Hallucinations differ from illusions in that there is no reality whatsoever in the perceptions which form the hallucination. Hallucinations of hearing and sight may occur in the same person.

Dr. Pike told of the man in bed who insisted that he saw white kittens with pink umbrellas over their heads playing leapfrog and saying, "have another drink." Hallucinations of smell and taste are always disagreeable. Hallucinations in regard to touch are called Haptic, those in regard to muscles, Muscular, and those of sound, Auditory.

In addition to sensation and perception, the first two steps in the development of thinking, are those of memory, ideation, reasoning, and judgment.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

GIRLS!
We have just rseceived another shipment of
Low, All Rubber Arctics
These Arctics are light in weight, fit well and will make a pleasing appearance. They come in tan and gun-metal.
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

BUCKNELL,
"IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS,
AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS

BUCKNELL—
CLEAN SPORTS,
RECREATION
FOR ALL,
REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

TO THE REGISTRAR:—
Please send the New Catologue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:
M.....
.....
.....
M.....
.....
.....
(Signed).....

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your cooperation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

B. U. Glove Team Meets Manhattan Tonight in Initial Ring Contest

Seven Bouts Are Scheduled; LaFerrara, Storaci, Lepore, Mutzel, And Jones Are Slated To Face Invading Boxers: 125 and 160-lb. Defenders Yet To Be Chosen

The Bucknell University boxing team will usher in its 1929 ring season tonight at the new high school gymnasium, facing the Manhatten College glove artists of New York City. Coaches Plant and Musser have sent their ring aspirants through intensive workouts this week in order that they may be in shape for the opening grind.

The interclass bouts, which were staged at the Tustin Gymnasium last week, were put on for the purpose of selecting the ring team which will represent Bucknell in the squared circle this winter. The outcome of this meet gave the Bison mentors a definite idea of the relative strength of their men.

Seven Bouts Scheduled

The Manhatten meet will consist of seven bouts, including all weights. "Nick" LaFerrara will represent Bucknell in the 115-pound class against a Manhatten opponent. LaFerrara is a ring veteran from last year and has again qualified for a berth on the Bison ring squad. He easily outpointed his closest rival in the interclass meet here last Monday.

Four contenders loom up for the 125-pound division. The quartet includes "Mickey" Boerner, "Bo'b" Smith, "Rog" Davis, and "Johnny" Stabile. Boerner will likely get the assignment in the Manhatten tussle.

Frank Storaci, who captained the Bucknell ring team last winter, will fight in the 135-pound division. Storaci easily qualified for a permanent position on the team. Storaci hails from Trenton, N. J.

Captain Lepore is Ready

Captain Frank Lepore, a ring veteran who was recently elected to lead the 1929 team, will be Bucknell's 145-pound boxer. Lepore is a steady fighter possessing a deadly punch.

Either "Bud" Ammerman or "Maj" Kozik will represent Bucknell as the 160-pound puncher. Both have revealed exceptional talent in practice, and the coaches are still undecided as to who will draw the assignment. Kozik has the edge over Ammerman as he defeated the Tyrone youth in an interclass scrap.

"Lou" Mutzel of Lancaster, another experienced ring veteran, will fight in the light-heavyweight class. Mutzel is one of the finest boxers on the squad. His early fistic education was obtained at Bellefonte Academy, where he prepared for Bucknell.

The heavyweight honors will be assigned to "Pottsville" Jones. Jones like Mutzel, is a veteran and the two are still undefeated in collegiate ring competition. Jones has trained down to the 190-pound limit and appears fit for another good campaign.

Houck to Referee

Coach Plant announced recently that Leo Houck, Penn State boxing coach, will referee the Manhatten-Bucknell boxing meet.

Boxing was introduced at Bucknell on an intercollegiate scale last winter by Coach John D. Plant. The ring sport is already a popular one at the Lewisburg institution, and an overflow crowd is expected to pack the high school gymnasium tonight to witness Bucknell's first intercollegiate boxing match.

L. C. A. and Demies Win Over Opponents

Kappa Sig and P. L. T. Succumb When Victors go on Rampage

The Lambda Chi Alpha basketball team, four time winners of the interfraternity court flag, successfully opened its 1929 season last night at the Tustin Gym, vanquishing the Kappa Sigma quintet by the decisive margin of 36-13.

Led by their gallant center "Hod" Ellor, who scored 15 points, the winners rode rough shod over the hitherto unbeaten Kappa Sigs. The losers, with one victory to their credit, put up a game battle but were hopelessly outclassed by the veteran Lambda Chi performers.

By playing in last evening's game, Felix McCormick, Bison football star, established a new record in the interfraternity court sport at Bucknell. This is McCormick's fifth year as a regular on the Lambda Chi floor outfit. His exhibition last night dispelled all fears that the versatile McCormick was on the downward grade.

McCormick Predicts Another

McCormick did not extend himself last evening and he never does until the going is rough. Like "Heinie" Groh of the New York Giants and "Babe" Ruth of the Yanks, McCormick is what is termed a "money player." When the points are needed, the all around Bloomfield athlete is right there to contribute them. During the four seasons as a star member of the Lambda Chi team his aggregation has copped the flag four consecutive times. The present campaign is a doubtful one but the veteran McCormick predicts that another fraternity silver cup will be added to the Lambda Chi's collection.

The winners were furnished with plenty of opposition during the first two periods but managed to be out in front at half time by a 17-11 margin.

The sharpshooting of "Hod" Ellor featured the contest. Ellor caged many sensational field goals and played a commendable defensive game. "Jim" Williams and Wilbur Wentz shared the honors for the losing aggregation. "Bob" Hepler also distinguished himself by playing a bangup game at the center post.

Demies Win Easily

The second game was another runaway with the Demies outscoring the Phi Lambda Thetas by a 49-36 margin. This was a high scoring contest and the Demies' total is the high scoring mark of the season so far.

It was simply a case of "too much Ely and Snyder." These two Delta Sigmas scored 36 points between them, the same total tallied by the entire Phi Lambda team. Ely, a former Peddie athlete, caged eight field goals and two fouls while Snyder contributed nine double deckers. "Phil" Murray got into the game in the last few minutes of play and broke into the scoring column with a creditable goal from the field.

"Johnny" Longstretch kept his team in the running by virtue of his fine floor work. Longstretch went on a scoring rampage to tally 16 points. Many of his scores were realized after he had taken long shots. His defensive work was good and he excelled in the art of passing.

"FELIX" STILL GOING STRONG

The lineup:

Lambda Chi	Field	Foul	Total
McCormick, f	3	2	8
Beckley, f	5	1	11
Ellor, c	6	3	15
Downey, g	1	0	2
Lobel, g	0	0	0
Total	15	6	36
Kappa Sigs	Field	Foul	Total
Williams, f	1	1	3
Wentz, f	2	0	4
R. Hepler, c	1	2	4
Davidson, c	0	0	0
E. Hepler, g	0	0	0
McMurray, g	1	0	2
Total	5	3	13
Score by periods:
Lambda Chi	17		19—36
Kappa Sig	11		2—13

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki.
Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

"TOO MUCH ELY AND SNYDER"

Phi Lambda Theta	Field	Foul	Total
Davis, f	3	1	7
Travelpiece, f	0	0	0
Frostel, f	3	0
Longstretch, c	7	2	16
Paul, g	3	1	7
Welker, g	0	0	0
Koehler, g	0	0	0
Bailey, g	0	0	0
Total	16	4	36
Demies	Field	Foul	Total
Snyder, f	9	0	18
Hill, f	2	0	4
Murray, f	1	0	2
Ely, c	8	2	18
Coates, g	2	1	5
Wadsworth, g	1	0	2
Total	23	3	49
Score by periods:
P. L. T.	15		21—36
Demies	27		22—49

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki.
Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

T. U. O. Noses Out Campus Five, 34-27

DeFillippo Breaks Loose to Cage Many Sensational Field Goals

Led by its great center, Ramon De Fillippo, the Theta Upsilon Omega basketball team gained its first victory of the current campaign last Thursday evening at the Tustin gymnasium, vanquishing the Campus Five by a 34-27 count.

De Fillippo was by far the outstanding star of the game. "The Elmira Flash" electrified the crowd with a startling exhibition of passing, dribbling, and shooting. He was the high scorer of the game, with 13 points representing five field goals and three fouls. In addition he contributed many fine passes which were converted into scores for the winners. "Flip" was closely guarded all evening, but on several occasions broke away to thrill the crowd with sensational field goals.

Doty, at a guard post, and Griffith, a forward, were the other stars for the winning cage team. Kempler of the Campus Five, turned in a brilliant playing performance. He was the leading scorer for his team with three field goals and a like number of fouls.

THETA U. WINS FIRST VICTORY

The line-up:

T. U. O.	Field	Foul	Total
Beckerman, f	1	2	4
Fleming, f	1	0	2
Griffith, f	2	2	6
De Fillippo, c	5	3	13
Bridegum, g	0	0	0
Ebner, g	1	0	2
Doty, g	3	1	7
Total	13	8	34
Campus Five	Field	Foul	Total
Rupp, f	2	0	4
Kempler, f	3	3	9
Frost, c	1	1	3
Guidotti, g	1	1	3
Fisher, g	1	2	4
Franzino, g	0	1	1
Cipko	1	1	3
Total	9	9	27
Score by periods:
T. U. O.	15		19—34
Campus Five	9		17—27

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki.
Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElligot

Ramon De Fillippo is back at Bucknell for second semester. He arrived last Monday and enrolled the following day. It was evident that he was present at the T. U. O.-Campus Five game last Thursday when the Mitchell troops gained a creditable victory over the non-frats.

—B—

At last Thursday evening's game he thrilled the crowd with a thrilling exhibition of real basketball. He convinced his onlookers that he has lost none of the skill that he has exhibited during the past two years. He's still the same old dependable player.

—B—

"Flip" who is more familiarly known as "The Elmira Flash" has been a fraternity basketball sattelite at Bucknell for the past few years. When only a freshman at the Lewisburg institution he led a non-frat team to a league win. The Non-frats were defeated by the ever dependable Lambda Chis in the finals.

—B—

Last winter he established a record that has never been equaled. He tallied the amazing total of 58 points in one game. He was the highest individual scorer in the league during the 1928 season and piloted the T. U. O. team to its first league flag.

—B—

De Fillippo is 22 years old, weighs 164 pounds, and is five feet ten and one half inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at Elmira Free Academy where he was an all around athlete. During his high school days "Flip" was known in Central New York as a great football player. As an elusive and shifty halfback, he led the Elmira team to several victories over rival aggregations. He received a signal honor in his senior year when he qualified for a berth as all-state halfback and was named captain of the mythical eleven. He has a brother who is now a star forward on the Syracuse University varsity quintet. When he is graduated from Bucknell, De Fillippo expects to enter Fordham Law School.

B. U. Five Forges Ahead to Defeat Penn A. C. 30-25

Woodring Leads Bisons Scoring Over Ex-College Stars; Game Ended Second Road Trip

The accurate foul shooting of Captain "Lou" Woodring and "Archie" Seiler enabled the Bucknell basketball team to conquer the Penn A. C. courtmen last Thursday evening on the losers' home court by a 30-25 score. The Bison captain caged six free tosses in six attempts, while Seiler looped in five charity throws in six chances.

The Penn A. C. team forged into the lead early in the game when Thomas caged a field goal and a foul. However, this lead was reduced when Captain Woodring registered a basket and a pair of fouls. Then the Bisons went on a scoring rampage and at half time were ahead by nine points. The losers outscored the visitors in the last period by four points, but fell five tallies short of tying the score.

Penn A. C., with a formidable array of ex-college stars, furnished the Bisons with plenty of trouble, as the winners were forced to travel at top speed in order to win. This victory ended Bucknell's second road trip of the season, the Bisons gaining victories over Penn A. C. and Ursinus, but losing to Princeton.

Captain Woodring led the Bucknell quintet in scoring, with three field goals and six fouls for a 12 point total. Seiler was right behind his captain with a trio of twin-pointers and five free tosses.

Wooley, a former Temple court star, and Lindsay, former Penn athlete, were the big guns for the losers.

(Continued on Page 7.)

K. D. R. Triumphs Over S. B. D. Five

Newly Organized Frat Team Shows Great Promise in Game

The second game on last Thursday evening's program brought together the basketball teams representing the Kappa Delta Rho and the Sigma Beta Delta fraternities. The new fraternity players showed up fine in their first appearance on the court.

At the end of the first quarter the Sigma Betas were in front by two points. However, more experience and better team work ultimately triumphed. At the end of the game the K. D. R's. were leading by 26-21. The Sigma Betas are to be complimented for putting up such a good battle. The new frat players had never played together before, but last Thursday they performed like veterans.

Frank Storaci Stars

Although on the losing team, Frank Storaci, Bucknell's boxing star, was the individual luminary of the game. Storaci played in a phenomenal manner against the winners and led both teams in scoring. During the course of the game Storaci caged five field goals and a trio of free tosses, for 13 points. Many of his twin-pointers came as the results of long distance tosses.

Snyder, of the winners, was runner-up to Storaci for scoring honors, with 11 points. Joe Lewis, a new player, also did creditable work for the winning combination.

STORACI HIGH SCORER

The line-up:

S. B. D.	Field	Foul	Total
Storaci, f	5	3	13
Jablonski, f	1	0	2
Sterling, c	1	0	2
Leonard, g	0	1	1
M. Wagner, g	0	0	0
C. Wagner, g	1	1	3
Total	8	5	21
K. D. R.	Field	Foul	Total
Snyder, f	4	3	11
Fenner, f	0	0	0
Lewis, f	3	0	6
Heim, c	3	1	7
Varner, g	0	0	0
Warren, g	1	0	2
Haefle, g	0	0	0
Total	11	4	26
Score by periods:
S. B. D.	12		9—21
K. D. R.	15		11—26

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki.
Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

This evening at the Tustin Gymnasium, Coach Plant's Bucknell boxers will swing into fistic action against Manhatten College of New York. An overflow crowd is expected to attend these matches as the ring sport is a popular one on the Bucknell campus. Coach Plant has drilled his men intensively this week so that they will all be ready when the gong rings tonight.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

The Season's Feature
Jelly-Roll Morton
AND HIS
Red-Hot Peppers
THE JUNIOR PROM
NEW DINING HALL
February 15th, 1929
nine to one
Toll---Five Bucks

Hilltop Briefs

Miss Mary Evans, '29, spent the week-end at State College.

• • • •

Miss Madeline Hartman, of State College, spent the week-end at Bucknell.

• • • •

Phoebe Evans, '30, entertained her family from Saint Clair, here last Sunday.

• • • •

Helen Leininger spent the week-end of February 8 at her home in Reading.

• • • •

Alice Shaffer, '32, has returned to college after a period of illness at her home.

• • • •

"Mid" Headings, '29, spent the week-end of the 8th at her home in McAlisterville.

• • • •

Dorothy Berlin, '31, and Margaret Fox, '32, have been confined to the Women's infirmary during the past week.

• • • •

"Toots" Thomas, '29, spent last week-end in Lock Haven with "Kate" Winner, '28. The inseparables were together for a few days at least.

• • • •

"Eddie" Hoffman transported his gang of noisemakers to McAdoo the other evening to supply music for a coal-crackers' reunion.

• • • •

Doris Miller, '31, spent the week-end of February 2 in Lawrenceville, Pa., where she visited a friend at the Mansfield Normal School.

• • • •

A bright freshman suggests that the Bucknell debating society debate the question: "Does the Dieting of Women Reduce the Farmers' Income."

• • • •

The members of one of Professor Meyer Nimkoff's sociology classes have been finding out a lot about their fears and the things which arouse them to anger.

• • • •

"Ernie" Hambacker, '30, has been forced to discontinue his studies at Bucknell. He will take charge of an automotive supply store in his home town, Bloomfield, N. J.

• • • •

It is interesting to know that Old Main, which is both a beautiful and artistic building, was designed by the same architect who designed the capitol at Washington.

• • • •

"Johnny" Lenox, '24, visited his T. U. O. brothers this week-end. "Johnny" is an interne at Jefferson Hospital, Philadelphia. One visitor brings another it seems.

The students reading for honors in English must feel very much above the rest of us now that they are privileged to do their reading up on the balcony of the library.

• • • •

The girls living on the first floor of Bucknell Cottage are very musical in their tastes. Although there are only nine girls on the floor, they have five victrolas among them.

• • • •

A new plan of inviting several different members of the faculty to dinner in the pleasant new dining room at the Seminary on each Sunday, was initiated this last Sunday, February 10.

• • • •

Way down east in Singapore! "Stud" Pyle, '30, was accosted by strangers the other evening who were surprised to find him in America so far from his native land. Just another case of mistaken identity.

• • • •

Fried potatoes, boiled potatoes, creamed potatoes, but no mashed potatoes! This has been the cry of the "Semites" for the past week due to the fact that the potatoe masher in the Seminary kitchen has been broken.

• • • •

Last Thursday afternoon, for the first time, there was a good attendance at Dr. Pike's lecture course. Perhaps exams made some individuals feel that they were in need of some information about the symptoms of feeble-mindedness and insanity.

• • • •

"Kitty" Bossler and "Betty" Davis both of '28, spent last week-end here. "Kitty" is teaching school in Bordentown, N. J., and "Betty" is doing social service work in Cleveland, in conjunction with A. M. work at Western Reserve.

• • • •

"Ted" Mitchell renewed his acquaintance with "Andy" Kerr, coach at Washington and Jefferson, when the latter was in town last week. At an informal luncheon, "Ted" and "Andy" replayed the East-West game and talked over their glorious trip to California at Christmas time.

• • • •

Since there were a number of faculty guests at dinner at the "Sem" last Sunday, and since more girls stayed here over the week-end than usual, some unfortunate "Semites" were unable to find seats at the regular small round tables, and had to be served at the long waitress table. When they all got seated, it looked like one of those old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner parties. The only thing lacking was a nicely browned turkey.

B. U. FIVE DEFEATS PENN A. C., 30-25

(Continued from page 6)

These two players scored twelve points between them.

6 OUT OF 6 FOR "WOODIE"

The line-up:

Bucknell		Penn A. C.
Mitchell	forward	Nyland
Klosterman	forward	Wooley
Seiler	center	Thomas
Wadsworth	guard	Foley
Woodring	guard	Lindsay

Field goals—Klosterman, 2; Seiler, 3; Wadsworth, Woodring, 3; Nyland, Wooley, 3; Thomas, Lindsay, 2; Nutlia, 2. Foul goals—Seiler, 5; Wadsworth, Woodring, 6; Nyland, 2; Thomas, 2; Foley, Lindlay, 2. Substitutions—Foley for Davenport, McLaughlin for Thomas, Robinhold for Davenport, Thomas for McLaughlin, Foley for Nyland, Nutlia for Wooley, Smith for Klosterman. Referee—Arnold. Umpire—Lewis.

Pi Delt Dance is Big Success

The Pi Delta Epsilon informal dance held Friday evening, February 8 in Tustin Gymnasium was a successfully passed milestone in journalistic history.

With the good news of the B. U.-W. and J. score to add pep to the dancers, the Blue Band executed one of its prime performances of the season. The team appeared after the game, and with the large crowd of students, helped to make the fourth annual P. D. E. dance a real success.

Professor and Mrs. L. E. Theiss and Assistant Professor and Mrs. C. W. Smith were chaperons.

Read the Bucknellian.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

this year, but we hope to see her back again next September.

Two of our pledges are seriously ill. "Betty" Arnold, '32, has been in the Geisinger Hospital since before exams. Meribah Gardiner, '30, was operated upon last week for appendicitis, and is in a serious condition at a hospital in Mount Holly, New Jersey. We trust that both of them will be better soon, and able to be with us again.

The pledges entertained the actives at a jolly St. Valentine's party last Saturday night in the playroom of the new dorm. The evening passed quickly in playing games, fortunetelling, and dancing.

Darktown Equivocation

"Is you gwine to pay me dat dollah you owes?"

"I ain't sayin' I ain't."

"Look a heah, man, I ain't ask you is you ain't; I ask you ain't you is."

"Folks, how can I make Whoopee up here . . . when down in front the 'coughers' are whooping?"

EDDIE CANTOR
Peculiar American comedian starring in the glorious new production, "Whoopee."

"Maybe the audience would be grateful if I stepped to the footlights some night and voiced the above protest about the 'coughing chorus' down in front.

"But that wouldn't be kind and it wouldn't be just. The cougher doesn't cough in public on purpose. He can't help it. It embarrasses him as much as it annoys his neighbors.

"What he needs, to avoid that throat tickle, is an introduction to OLD GOLDS."

(SIGNED) Eddie Cantor

Why not a cough in a carload?

OLD GOLD Cigarettes are blended from HEART-LEAF tobacco, the finest Nature grows. Selected for silkiness and ripeness from the heart of the tobacco plant. Aged and mellowed extra long in a temperature of mid-July sunshine to insure that honey-like smoothness.

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, and his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour every Tuesday from 9 to 10 P.M., Eastern Standard Time, over entire network of Columbia Broadcasting System.

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

eat a chocolate . . . light an Old Gold . . . and enjoy both!

Advertise in The Bucknellian

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

THE PURITY

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men's Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING
419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE
Next to the Gift Shop

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

Why Life Insurance?
1. To protect your earning power.
2. To cover the cost of your college education to those who made it possible.
3. To protect yourself and build up an estate which will have collateral value.
4. To provide a sum for your own use by systematic saving.
5. To provide in case of sickness or disability a regular income.
Get this valuable business asset while the rates are low. $10,000 with the Philadelphia Life at the age of 21 will cost $80 annually.
A special policy for the college man. For further particulars write
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

Frosh Meet Defeat On Mansfield Court

First Setback In Seven Starts Is Record For Mussermen

Bucknell University's freshmen basketeers trekked to Mansfield on Friday night and there met defeat at the hands of the Mansfield State Normal School quintet by a 36-22 score. After annexing six impressive victories in an equal number of starts, Coach Musser's boys felt the first sting of defeat on the up-state court. The game was fast and rough, and after the first few moments of play it became give and take, with the yearlings getting the margin of free throws.

Chenoweth, while emerging as the high scorer for his team, was handicapped in his shooting by the low rafters which arched the court. Griffith and Fry eaged two double deckers while Mills, entering in the midst of the fracas, accounted for three points. Meanwhile, "Dutch" Borella and Merle Stonebreaker, at the guard posts, gave a fine exhibition of defensive work, time and again breaking up the Mansfield plays and working the ball down the court. Augustine, Mansfield star forward, was the luminary for the winners, scoring seventeen points. Wetzel and Hepler breaking in late in the game, performed very creditably for the frosh.

Yearling Forwards Star

The remainder of the freshmen schedule, to be played on regulation courts, should prove impressive, as Coach Musser has developed a trio of brilliat forwards in Chenoweth, Griffith, and Mills. Harry Fry, at center, proves to be versatility personified, scoring and guarding equally well. Borella and Stonebreaker have given excellent accounts for themselves back-court and a wealth of substitute material is available among the members of the yearling squad. The line-up:

Mansfield		Bucknell
Brace	forward	Chenoweth
Augustine	forward	Griffth
Miller	center	Fry
Kelly	guard	Borelli
L. Allis	guard	Stonebreaker

Field goals—Chenoweth, 5; Griffith, 2; Fry, 2; Mills, 1; Brace, 3; Augustine, 8; Miller, 3; Kelly, 1; L. Allis, 1. Foul goals: Mills; Fry; Kelly; Augustine; Brace. Substitutions—Wetzel for Chenoweth. Mills for Griffith, Heplar for Mills; Simms for Brace, Weeks for Augustine, Lutz for Miller, E. Allis for Kelly, Strun for L. Allis. Referee—Conahel. Scorer—Wagner and Davis.

What the Colleges Are Doing

Motion Pictures Prevent Argument

To save any argument with members of his football team as to whether or not they did the right things in the football game just finished, Coach Ganthier, of Ohio Wesleyan University, has moving pictures taken at each football game. Then he gathers the team together to see themselves in action, and no alibis are possible.

—X—

18th Annual Production

The eighteenth annual production of the Holy Cross Dramatic Society of Holy Cross College was presented in Fenwick Hall, on February 7, 8, and 11. The Philharmonic Orchestra entertained the audience between the various presentations with music in harmony with the spirit of the selections from Shakespeare that were to follow.

—X—

Alumna Wins Prize

Mrs. Frazer, an alumna of Western Maryland College, recently received a notice from the Eastern Shore Historical Society that her colonial play "Seventy-Seven" was a prize winner in the contest conducted by the society. The play has been purchased with the privilege of copyright, and will be produced later in Baltimore.

—X—

1223 Articles Published

Members of the faculty of the University of California wrote 1,223 books, articles, and scientific reviews during the fiscal year, 1927-28.

—X—

Biopsychological Lab. at Mt. Holyoke

An entirely new college unit, as yet unknown in the curriculum of any institution in the United States, or, in its particular emphasis of any institution in the civilized world, was established at Mount Holyoke College at the beginning of the second semester on February 4, under the direction of Prof. Latterson, head of the Department of Romance Languages. This is the biophysical or biopsychological linguistic laboratory course, open to honor students in modern languages.

Bucknell Professors Conduct Extension Courses in 6 Towns

Bucknell University professors are now conducting extension courses in Williamsport, Sunbury, Treverton, Shenandoah, Pottsville, and Danville, according to Professor J. H. Eisenhauer, director of the Bucknell University Extension Department.

There are no set requirements for students who desire to take these courses, the only prerequisite being ability to do the work in the course. The courses are given one night a week.

Courses now being given in Shenandoah include a course in forestry taught by Professor N. F. Davis, one in college algebra taught by Professor C. H. Richardson, one in teachers' composition by Assistant Professor H. R. Warfel, one in French by Professor B. W. Griffith, one in the functioning of the human body by Professor J. W. Rice, and one in American biography by Professor H. T. Colestock.

At Williamsport, Professor N. H. Stewart conducts a course in biology and Instructor W. T. Johnson teaches a history course. Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff is giving a course in sociology at Danville. Professor F. H. Lamb is conducting a course in abnormal psychology at Treverton. Assistant Professor H. R. Warfel has a class in advanced composition at Pottsville.

Great Mental Tests Imposed on Students

Two great tests in mental discipline are accuracy and honesty. It is far better to master a few subjects thoroughly than to have a mass of generalizations about many subjects. The world will have little use for those who are right only a part of the time. Whatever may be the standards of the classroom, practical life will require something more than 60 per cent or 70 per cent for a passing mark. The standards of the world are not like those set by the faculty, but more closely resemble those set by the student body themselves. They are not at all content with a member of the musical organizations who can strike only 90 per cent of the notes. They do not tolerate the man on the diamond who catches only 80 per cent of the balls. The standards which the student body set are high. They want accuracy that is well-nigh complete. They apply the same standards to candor and honesty. Bluff and pretense may be permitted in the classroom; but in their relations with each other students regard such practices with contempt, and those who resort to them are properly considered to be cheap. They may be willing to view with considerable tolerance those who break the rules of the school, but they will not fail to mete out condemnation and penalty to those who break the rules of training. When the world holds its examinations it will require the same standards of accuracy and honesty which student bodies impose upon themselves. Unless the mind is brought under such training and discipline as will enable it to acquire these standards at an early period, the grave danger increases that they may never be acquired.

—President Coolidge.

Mother of Mrs. W. Coleman Dies Suddenly at Her Home

Mrs. William H. Coleman was called to her home at Mystic, Conn., recently on account of the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. Clara M. Wilcox, widow of the late Captain Rowland H. Wilcox.

Mrs. Coleman left Lewisburg immediately upon learning of her mother's serious illness with pleuropneumonia, and arrived at her mother's home ten minutes after her mother had passed away.

Mrs. Wilcox was a descendant of a prominent Virginian family and through her mother claimed direct relationship with Martha Custis. She visited her daughter here frequently and leaves many friends in Lewisburg who will mourn her passing.

MEMBERS HOLD CEREMONIES AT MILTON

Philip Neisser, '32, Arthur Guldin, '32, William Genne, '31, George Abernathy, '32, Keith Haines, '31, and Walter Graham, '32, members of the "Y" cabinet, journeyed to Milton recently and conducted induction ceremonies for the new members of the Milton Hi-Y club.

The Hi-Y club is an organization of high school members of the Y. M. C. A.

Read The Bucknellian

Chemists to Possess Own Book Collection

Miss Wright is Cataloguing The Department's Books

The library of the Chemistry Department is being catalogued and arranged by Miss Mary Wright, assistant librarian of the Carnegie Library. Miss Wright has been at the work since the beginning of January, and while the task is still unfinished, most of the books have been marked and catalogued. The pamphlets and magazines are not yet arranged. A small card filing cabinet has been purchased and the catalogue cards are being filed in it.

It has been the custom of the main library to send all the chemical books down to the chemical building. These books, together with those collected by the chemistry department itself, now make up a considerable collection. It was decided to have them catalogued and arranged for the greater convenience of those who use them.

The chemistry library is located in a small room at the head of the stairs on the right-hand side of the building. There are shelves around the walls of the room for the books, and in the center are reading tables.

Miss Wright has been assisted in the work by some of the chemistry students.

Antippe, New Co-ed, Lives In Harris Hall

She is named "antippe" after Socrates' wife, and she resides in room 33, Harris Hall.

She is "at home" to callers from 2 to 4 in the afternoon, but you are warned not to handle her. No, she is not dangerous, but handling is not good for white rats, and her owner will allow no one to pick her up. Of course, if you just want to pat her head—

Antippe made her appearance at the Women's College Tuesday evening, and has already become acquainted with most of the girls. She is a little late in starting the semester but Ann Binley, her guardian, feels certain she will get along all right.

Unfortunately, the new "co-ed" has not won the full confidence of all the girls as yet. They make friendly advances but at the same time, they beg Ann to be sure not to let her run around loose.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at

Wagner's Quality Grocery

We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.

Also Dishes for Rent.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

HOME OF VITAPHONE AND MOVIETONE
LAST TIME TODAY—THURSDAY, FEB. 14
RICHARD DIX with "RUTH ELDER" in
"MORAN OF THE MARINES"
Also SEE and HEAR Clark and McCullough—A Movietone Talking Comedy and Another Talking Act.

TOMORROW and SATURDAY—FEB. 15-16.
SEE and HEAR on the VITAPHONE
A Flaming Flapper in a Ritzie Riot.
Modern Youth With Brakes Off.
A Merry Mad Whirl with the Dancing Frails.
Is She Hot? Does She Step? Has She IT? Has She Pep?
—COME and SEE—
"NAUGHTY BABY"
With ALICE WHITE and JACK MULHALL"
With Marvelous Synchronized Vitaphone Music and Sound Effects. Don't Miss It.

COMING—MONDAY and TUESDAY ONLY, FEB. 18-19.
Girls! Boys! And Everybody. Look! Look!
Who's Coming Just For 2 Days.
The IT! GIRL—CLARA BOW
in Elinor Glynn's latest love charge! Bigger and Better than "IT."
Also SEE and HEAR Two Movietone Talking Comedys
"Music Shoppe" and "Winnie Lightner."

COMING—WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, FEB. 20-21.
See and HEAR Wm. Fox Movietone BIG SPECIAL
You've seen POPULAR DANCES—the Minuet; the Waltz; the Tango; the Fox Trot; the Charleston; the Black Bottom; the Varsity Drag—and NOW—
LATEST and MOST POPULAR OF ALL. SEE
"THE RED DANCE"
With DOLORES DEL RIO, CHARLES FARRELL, and IVAN LILOW.
You'll Be Sorry If You Miss This One.

Mu Phi Musicale on Feb. 18 Presents Unique Features

Psi chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon invites the public to attend a recital to be given by them in Bucknell Hall on Monday evening, February 18, at 8 o'clock. Familiar compositions of Schubert, Braga, Moszkowski, Rachmaninoff, and others will be presented. Unusual interest will be added by the singing in costume of Japanese songs by Ruth Evans, '30, and Indian numbers by Inez Robison, '28. In addition, Miss Melicent Melrose will render the Garden Scene from "Faust." A silver offering will be taken, for the benefit of the endowment fund.

Geo. Washington is Subject Of Rev. Sanborn's Address

The Presbyterian Vesper Service this Sunday will hear of "George Washington, American" from the Rev. Moore Sanborne, LL. D., of Muncy. Dr. Sanborne pleased so well his hearers last year at these services that he is one of the few speakers invited to return this year. His vivid portrayal of the lives of America's great men reveals unusual platform ability and always draws favorable comment from those that hear him. The service is at four o'clock and the West Milton Male Chorus will be the musical feature this week.

Professor Millward, of Milton, gave a very pleasing address last Sunday, that showed close observations along religious lines. His hearers were delighted with his coming.

Correct Hen Talk

They were arguing as to whether it was correct to say of a hen "She is sitting" or "She is setting."

"That question," said the farmer, "don't interest me at all. What I wants to know when I hear a hen cackle is whether she is laying or lying."—Pearson's Weekly, London.

Good Work Reasonable

Picture Frames
MADE TO ORDER ALSO
EASEL FRAMES
Will call upon request of post card.
LESTER L. WILSON
108 Third St. Mifflinburg, Pa.

This Should Be of Interest to Each and Every One of You

Your health problems are easy to solve with this drugless method.

Chiropractic can assure you of results that will amaze you.

NO CHARGE FOR CONSULTATION.

CHAS. S. HARMAN, D. C.
CHIROPRACTOR
Palmer 3 Yr. Graduate.
Over Krauser's Drug Store MILTON.

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
SPECIAL ASSORRMENT
Silk Dresses
at $9.75 ea.
A new lot this week of 50 dresses for the Junior, small Miss and larger women, in the newest Spring styles of Georgette, Flat Crepe and the new Printed Crepe all at one price,
$9.75 each.

CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

GENER
LEWIS

NERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
WISBURG, PA.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR B. U. BOOK OF VERSE DUE BY MARCH 1

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1929. NUMBER 20

BULLETS WILL TRY TO PIERCE BISONS SAT.—L. H. S. GYM

Lions Claw Bison Basketeers At State College; Score 42-29

Bucknell Five Meets Reverse After Beating Juniata Tuesday Night, 36-18

After winning nine out of their last ten games the Bucknell basketball team was stopped at State College last night where the Penn State quintet repulsed the Plantmen to gain a 42-29 victory.

The game was close and thrilling up until the last four minutes of play. Then the Bison defense sagged and the Penn State basketeers rolled up enough field goals to win by a 13 point margin. Penn State led at the end of the first half by an 18-11 advantage.

"Bernie" Klosterman and "Archie" Seiler led the offensive attack for the Bisons with 23 points between them. Klosterman tallied six field goals for a twelve point total while Seiler registered a trio of double deckers and five free throws.

Mazzes with 14 points was the star for the winning Penn State five. Steve Hamas, State's all around athlete, also performed creditably at a guard berth.

The lineup:

Penn State	Field	Foul	Total
Reinhold, f	2	0	4
Mazzes, f	7	0	14
Reilly, c	2	1	5
Browne, c	0	1	1
Hamas, g	2	3	7
Stahley, g	5	1	11
Totals	18	6	42
Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Mitchell, f	2	1	5
Klosterman, f	6	0	12
Ross, f	0	0	0
Seiler, c	5	1	11
Wadsworth, g	0	0	0
Kostos, g	0	0	0
Woolring, g	0	1	1
Totals	11	7	29
Penn State	18	24	42
Bucknell	11	18	29

Referee—Mark Good.

Time of periods—10 minute quarters.

8 Faculty Singers Make Formal Debut

Newly Formed Double Quartet Appears at Methodist Church

The newly-organized Bucknell faculty double quartette made its initial public appearance last Friday night, when its members sang at the men's dinner in the Beaver Memorial Methodist church. More than fifty men of the church were present.

Professor Nelson F. Davis exhibited his very interesting collection of stereopticon pictures of old Lewisburg. He showed pictures of the college as it was three-quarters of a century ago, of the old canal, the old bridge, the river, and surrounding scenes. His pictures of old time students and teachers caused much merriment, especially those of the bearded sophomores of last century. Dr. Davis was introduced by Professor Frank M. Simpson.

Songs were sung, both before and after the showing of pictures, by the faculty singers. These were Director Ralph H. Hartz and Prof. L. E. Theiss, first tenors; Prof. R. L. Matz and Assistant Prof. W. T. MacCreadie, second tenors; Professors L. L. Rockwell and N. H. Stewart, first basses; and Coach Carl Snavely and Mr. J. E. Harkless, second basses. Mrs. Harkless played accompaniments. Attorney H. L. Showalter was toastmaster and kept things moving briskly.

The ladies of the church, under the leadership of Mrs. Elizabeth Bates Hoffman, served a delightful meal.

EDUCATION MEETING TO BE HELD TONIGHT

The Education Club will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in room 6 in the Biology Building.

Dean R. H. Rivenburg will discuss "The Matchless Opportunity" and Prof. C. H. Richardson will speak on "Teaching and Training." From their wealth of experience as educators, these speakers will undoubtedly have inspiring messages for the club. Members of the Education Club and their friends are urged to be present.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Frosh vs. Soph Court Game To Be Staged on Friday

The annual freshman-sophomore basketball game will be staged at the Tustin gym tomorrow afternoon, Coach "Mal" Musser will probably start the same quintet that he has been using all season. Chenoweth and Griffith will see action at the forward posts with Fry at center and Stonebraker and Borella playing guard.

The sophomores will depend on Ross, Lobel, Jefferies, Mitchell, Ammerman, and a number of other second year men. The game should be an interesting one as it will be a battle between two traditional rivals. The freshmen have won seven games in eight starts so far this season.

Mr. Bucher Portrays An Ancient Germany

Witty Speaker Calls Attention To a Romantic Germany

The wit and humor of Mr. John George Bucher attracted many students to his lecture, Monday evening, February 18, in the Engineering Building. The theme of the lecture was "Romantic Germany." Professor Leo L. Rockwell introduced the speaker.

"We are here to-night not for business, politics, or anything pertaining to them. To-night we are in search of romance. We are interested in the old, and not the new, in this search," said Mr. Bucher, and then proceeded by means of the stereopticon lantern and the moving-picture machine to take his audience into the romantic laud of Germany. From medieval bridge to old market-place, old churches, high city gates, ancient Roman palaces, and beautiful ruins, Mr. Bucher led the interested group of students. "Romantic Germany" was certainly the appropriate name for the lecture. The old fortresses, narrow streets, and ancient wine-shops stood out in sharp contrast to the modern traffic cops. One city after another was shown.

"Leipsig," exulsined Mr. Bucher, "is a city of leisure. The modern buildings are arranged in keeping with the beautiful, ancient buildings of the 12th century."

One of the most interesting things shown was the Butcher's Guild House which is supposed to be the most beautiful type of architecture in the world. The "Inverted Sugar Loaf" was another curious type of medieval building. The "Emperor's House," so called because its owner filled it with statues of the famous emperors, was next shown.

One of the last cities to be visited was that in which Martin Luther was born, and the simple little room in which he translated the Bible was shown. By means of the moving-picture machine, the realistic life of Germany with its romantic background was pictured. High mountains, sleeping streams, and beautiful flower gardens were given their share in the interesting story of "Romantic Germany."

Phi Mu Alpha Offers Cup in Song Contest

Plans for the Inter-fraternity Glee Club Contest to be held in the Baptist church on March 14, are nearing completion, and all women fraternities and a majority of the men's fraternities are eager to win the cups that are being offered by Phi Mu Alpha symphonia fraternity for the winners of the contest.

The purpose of this contest is to improve school spirit, and to encourage group singing. This is a new line of inter-fraternity activity. The various fraternities on the campus have taken a keen interest in inter-fraternity sports, and it is hoped that in singing, which is as much a part of college life as sports, that a similar interest will be shown.

According to the rules set down by those sponsoring the contest, the fraternity glee clubs are to be composed of not more than 30 members.

College Girls Make Efficient Hostesses

The college girls proved charming hostesses to the faculty members and their wives at their annual formal reception which was held on Saturday evening, February 16, in the living room of the new dormitory.

Dean Amelia E. Clark, Helen Steehliper, '29, Mrs. Jennie D. Phillips, and "Betty" Siegfried, '29, were in the receiving line, but all of the girls took the responsibility for making their guests feel "at home."

During the evening Frill and Frown presented a short comedy, "The Mollusk," by Edna St. Vincent Millay which was well received. Those who took part were: "Betty" Dill, '31, Janet Bingaman, '30, "Betty" Sale, '29, Jessie Fielding, '29, and Mary Mumma, '30.

Later the girls escorted their guests downstairs to the playroom, where the sophomore girls, dressed in Japanese costumes, served delicious refreshments.

STUDENTS TRY FOR HONORS IN ENGLISH

SENIORS who, because of high scholastic standing, have been selected to try for honors in English. They are excused from all classes in order that they may devote their entire time to reading. They are, from left to right, Alfred H. Rawlinson, Shanghai, China, Jean H. Wood, Chicago, Ill., Paul E. Fink, Jeannette, Pa. Josephine M. Roberts, Sayre, Pa., and Jane G. Foust, Greensburg, Pa. Eloise Bailey, Williamsport, has also been selected to try for honors, but no cut of her was available.

21 Students Meet Honors Standard In English Course

Six Seniors Included in First Group to Read for Honors In History of Bucknell

The seven seniors selected to read for honors in English in lieu of all other work during the second semester of 1928-29 are: Eloise Bailey, Paul Fink, Jane Foust, Elizabeth Frederick, Alfred Rawlinson, Jean Wood, and Josephine Roberts. Six of these students are now reading for honors in English, Elizabeth Frederick having resigned from the group.

According to Dr. H. R. Robbins, head of the English department, the aim of honors reading is to give the exceptionally brilliant, scholarly, or dependable student an opportunity to work independently and broaden his outlook in literature by wide reading covering superficially as to compass but intensively as to books read the entire field of English and American literature, correlating the work done in previous courses in English and filling in the gaps between such courses.

Responsibility for the work of the course rests entirely upon the students, the professors taking part primarily in an advisory capacity. Discussion of the week's reading will take place at the weekly meetings of the Honors Seminar, at which time each student will be assigned fifteen minutes to bring before the class his reactions to the reading of the week. Absence from any meeting of the seminar will be a very serious matter—equivalent to fifteen cuts! Three or four members of the semi-

(Continued on page 5)

B. U. Book of Verse

The English department has announced that contributions for the 1929 Bucknell Book of Verse must be submitted before March 1. There is no limit to the number of poems which may be sumitted by any one student, and it is hoped that a large amount of verse will be received. Students of all departments are urged to try their hand at writing poetry with a view to having it printed in the Book of Verse. Careful consideration will be given to each poem submitted. So get your pen and paper, summon the muses, and make your contribution to a bigger and better collection of B. U. poetry.

This will be the third annual book of verse. The two past editions have evoked a large amount of admiration and praise. Many poems have been reprinted by other publications. Carl Sandburg, said by some to be America's foremost living poet, commended the poetry which B. U. students have produced in the Bucknell Book of Verse.

New Filing Cabinet Placed in Library

Latest Addition to Library Has Many Distinct Advantages

A new card filing cabinet has arrived at the Library. It provides space for 160 drawers, and is made in two sections so that it can be expanded, or so that one section of it can be moved elsewhere if it is necessary. With the small cabinets now in use, it has been necessary to have too many cards in each drawer. "It is not right to have the drawers so crowded," said Miss Eliza Martin, librarian, showing how full the drawers were.

The new cabinet is made of quartered oak, in antique finish, to match the rest of the library furniture. There are compartments for the drawers, and at the bottom are small cupboards. The new case has several distinct advantages over the old ones. There is no space underneath to catch dust, for the cabinet is flush with the floor. Also, the new arrangement will be less back-breaking, for the drawers do not extend down so far, but instead are arranged higher.

In the spring, Miss Martin and her assistants are going to re-arrange the biography books differently; each biography will be placed among the books dealing with the subject in which the person did the greatest work. If a man is noted for his work in biology, for example, his biography will be placed among the books on biology.

Dr. H. H. Pike Explains Memory As Fact Fixation

Transformation of Personality Is a Well-Known Disorder Of Organic Memory

"Memory is the process of fixation, conservation, and reproduction of the various impressions," said Dr. H. B. Pike, psychiatrist at the Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases, in his fifth lecture on "Mental Pathology" given in the Biology lecture room, Thursday afternoon, February 14.

Dr. Pike will give the last of a series of six lectures Thursday afternoon, February 21.

In last Thursday's lecture Dr. Pike discussed the two types of memory and their disorders. The first type is known as environmental memory. The most common disorder of environmental memory is called amnesia. Amnesia may be of one of two types, anterograde amnesia, or loss of memory of a recent happening, or it may be retrograde amnesia, which is the loss of memory of remote events. In this latter connection Dr. Pike cited the case of the man who could tell about the Civil War, but couldn't remember that his wife was dead.

Accoriing to Dr. Pike, 16 per cent of the patients admitted to the Danville State Hospital last year were in the senile class.

The organic memory consists of all the recognized impressions coming from the various portions of the body. It is really the foundations of the personality. Transformation of personality is one of the well-known

(Continued on page 5)

Thirty Men Chosen For Glee Club Tour

The Bucknell Glee Club left at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday morning for a four-days' concert tour in the western part of the state and the intercollegiate glee club championship contest in Pittsburgh.

Director Ralph Hartz selected 30 men from the candidates to make the trip. This group has been practicing daily for the past month and Bucknell is sure to make a creditable showing in the meet.

The club gave a short concert on Tuesday morning at freshman chapel and a successful performance that night at the Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville.

The men chosen to make the trip are: McLure, Fessler, Ferrell, Seidel, Genne, Conrow, Robb, Frampton, MacLeod, Trostel, Pierro, Haines, Sachs, Rishell, Pratt, Colledge, Benford, Mitchell, Graham, Moyer, Bollinger, Stretz, Hazen, Nowland, G. DeLaney, W. DeLaney, Randall, Winner, Koyen, and Ralston.

Arthur Brandon Will Enter B. U. As Instructor

Graduate Student of 1926-1927 To Teach Business English Classes in the Fall

A new instructor in the course in Commerce and Finance is coming to Bucknell next year. Arthur Leon Brandon, who was a graduate student here in 1926-27, is coming back to teach Business English. The classes in economics, and commerce and finance have grown rapidly within the last year, and Professors E. M. Heim and R. L. Matz have found it necessary to have assistance. So Mr. Brandon has been chosen to take over some of the work of that department, and will come next September.

Mr. Brandon is a graduate of Brooddus College at Philippi, West Virginia. After his graduation, he stayed there for several years as athletic manager. In 1926-27, he took one year of graduate work in English here at Bucknell, and had the degree of Master of Arts conferred on him in August, 1927. Since that time he has been teaching at the Oklahoma Baptist University.

Mr. Brandon married a Bucknell girl, Margaret Weddell, who was graduated in 1916.

In conjunction with his work in the course in Commerce and Finance, Mr. Brandon will take over part of the publicity work of the Alumni office. He did this work while he was here in 1926-27, and will therefore be of great assistance.

The economics classes have become unwieldy for two professors to handle. There are now about 450 students taking work in that department, and in one class there are 63 students. Sixty-five undergraduates are majoring in commerce and finance, while the majority of the others are either majoring or minoring in economics.

Alden Davies, Tenor, To Give Concert Here

Ladies of Presbyterian Church Secure Former Bucknellian

Alden Davies, one of America's leading younger tenors, has been secured by the Ladies Aid Society of the Lewisburg Presbyterian Church for a concert to be given on March 21. The recital by Mr. Davies will be one of the major musical events in this part of Pennsylvania this winter.

Mr. Davies will be remembered by many local folks, for he is a graduate of Bucknell University in the class of 1919. During his years in college Mr. Davies took an active part in the glee club, oratoria, and operetta societies. Like an earlier Bucknellian, Paul Althouse, Mr. Davies attracted much attention in his college days because of his sweet lyric voice.

In recent years Mr. Davies has studied under the leading teachers in New York and Boston, and has enriched to perfection his native gift of song. Interestingly enough, last Sunday Mr. Davies, who is now in New York City, was the soloist in the Marble Collegiate Church where Paul Althouse sang.

After leaving Bucknell, Mr. Davies went to the Harvard University School of Business Administration. There he sang in the University Glee Club. Among his engagements have been notable appearances in Boston and New York. One of these was as guest soloist with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. It will be remembered that Professor David Moyer was the guest soloist with this orchestra during the past winter.

It should be a distinct pleasure for Lewisburgians and Bucknellians to have Alden Davies return to sing again for them.

REV. W. MUDGE TO SPEAK

At the Presbyterian Vesper Service this coming Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, the Rev William L. Mudge, of Harrisburg, executive secretary of the Penna. Council of Churches, will speak on "The Challenge of Co-operative Christianity."

Miss Louise Wallace of Wyoming, visited her sister "Peg" Wallace, '29, last week-end.

• • • •

Miss Haidee I. Wilson, of Cedar Crest, Allentown, visited Beulah Lesher, '30, last week-end.

• • • •

"Ginny" Smoot, '30, and Jean Colvin, '31, entertained their mothers from Scranton last week-end.

• • • •

Mrs. J. R. Hipple, of Lancaster, spent the week-end with her daughter, Esther Hipple, '31.

• • • •

Ann Binley recently made the discovery that her pet white rat, "Xantippe," will eat potatoes.

• • • •

Fallen arches seem to be an epidemic at the Women's College. Four cases have developed within the last week.

• • • •

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Holt, of Oaklane, Philadelphia, spent Saturday with their daughter, Dorothy Holt, '30.

• • • •

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ruhl, of Hartleton, spent Sunday with their daughter, Miss Ruhl, the nurse in charge of the Women's Infirmary.

• • • •

"Sam" Schiro, while performing his duties in the new dining hall, has collected to date souvenirs that range from love letters to wearing apparel.

• • • •

Now that the final grades have been made known, some of us are offering suggestions to Professor Lund for his next lecture on "Why We Weep."

• • • •

The newly-elected house president of Harris Hall, "Dot" Lemon, and the proctors from the three floors, held their first house meeting last Sunday evening.

• • • •

Mrs. F. Howard Bolger, Mrs. Frank Harrison, Mrs. Joseph Crowe, and Mrs. Charles Valerous of Norway, Pa., spent the week-end with Mary Bolger, '32.

• • • •

Meribah Gardiner, '30, will not be able to come back to school any more this year. She is now in a Mt. Holly hospital, recuperating from an appendicitis operation.

• • • •

Miss Elizabeth Rhodes, the national inspector of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity, will visit the Bucknell chapter for a few days during the week beginning February 25.

• • • •

Martha Warner, '31, recently won a contest to see who could stay in at O'Brien's the longest. She claims that she spent seven hours there without any time out.

• • • •

The English honors students enjoyed an afternoon of tea mingled with English reports and discussion at Professor L. L. Rockwell's home on Thursday, February 14.

• • • •

The increased amount of mail and packages at the "Sem" postoffice last Thursday reminded us that it was February 14. Cupid is no doubt worn out from his over-exercise.

• • • •

New decorations in the form of two small palm trees, one on each side of the entrance into the new dining room of the Women's College add to the attractiveness of the room.

• • • •

Dean R. H. Rivenburg had a busy social evening last Friday. He went to the first show of the movies, and then helped chaperone the Junior Prom until one o'clock in the morning.

• • • •

John Mertz, '32, spent last week-end in Philadelphia. He said that he visited a number of places of interest including the jail. It seems as though "Johnny" forgot that there were such things as traffic lights.

• • • •

Spring is surely on the way! Professor N. H. Stewart tells his classes that more than ten different species of birds have been seen lately on or near the campus and that more are returning from the south every day.

• • • •

Exams are over, but their memory is fresh enough in our minds to enable us to appreciate the following:

It was the last lecture of the term, and the professor was urging his students to put all their time in preparation for the final examinations. "The examination questions are now in the hands of the printer," he said. "Now are there any more questions that you want answered?" Voice from the back row (after a moment's silence), "Who is the printer?"

• • • •

"Lou" Marchesano, ex-'30, returned to see the Bucknell pugilists fight it out with the Manhattan glove-tossers, and was well pleased with the achievements of his former team mates.

• • • •

Two co-eds were talking about what they wished to do after they graduated from college. "I'd like to get an M. A.," said one. "So would I," said her friend, "with an 'n' added to it."

• • • •

Co-eds are already beginning to count the time before Easter vacation. Doubtless many of them are thinking about the new hats and dresses which they hope to acquire during the vacation.

• • • •

Now that rubber tips have been put on some of the chairs in the new "Sem" dining room, the noise made by the scraping of the chairs on the floor has been greatly reduced. Here is a case where little things make a big difference.

• • • •

Since "Jelly Roll" Morton has packed up his bags and gone, we hear that he possessed two diamond teeth. Imagine, one of the wonders of the world within our midst and most of us entirely ignorant of it.

• • • •

The letter-carrier was heavy-laden when he reached the T. U. O. house on Valentine's day. The cause, of course, was "Bill" Waldner, who received many cards and packages and one exceptionally large and highly perfumed missive.

• • • •

Professor Norman H. Stewart is adding interest to his weekly lectures in vertebrate zoology by having refreshments served to his class at the end of each lecture hour on every Wednesday afternoon. This is an excellent way of combining business with pleasure.

• • • •

The ice cream which was left from the College Girls' Reception to the faculty was sold at the price of two for five, and we didn't find out about it until Sunday morning! We had a dime in our coat pocket, too, which would have purchased four roses or bells of ice cream!

• • • •

Ralph Simonetti, '31, the genial youth who hails from Elkland, is proud of his home town. Ralph recently won first prize in a contest sponsored by the newspapers of the home community. The prize was awarded for the best paper written on the subject, "Why I Like To Live in Elkland."

• • • •

"Danny" Mendicino, '30, is about to pay an odd bet. He made a bet that the coaching of a certain popular co-ed would not be sufficient to make a stupid sophomore pass his course. The course was passed, and now Dan swears that his bet was only an excuse to give the fair damsel a box of candy.

• • • •

College Girls' reception to the faculty was very successful this year, in spite of the fact that it wasn't held in Larison Hall. There it took place in both the parlor and the organ room and, as one of the faculty was heard to remark, one could tell the same joke to twice the number of people.

• • • •

For the first time in their experience at Bucknell, "Semites" living in Larison and Harris Hall have attended a dance held in a "Sem" building. According to what they say, it was a great relief not to have to worry about arriving at the dance with noses made shiny and hair mussed by the night breezes.

• • • •

A highly authorative voice, coming over the telephone the other evening, commanded Gordon Adams, '30, to ascertain whether or not the street lights were functioning. Gordon, eager to please, upon replying in the affirmative was politely told to restrain himself from ever blowing them out.

• • • •

Two co-eds have solved the problem of how warm to keep their room by buying a thermometer which they have nailed near the door. The thermometer is constantly consulted, and if the room is a few degrees warmer or colder than it should be, the window goes up or comes down, as is the case, and there it remains until the correct temperature has been obtained.

• • • •

Principal Hughes of Bellefonte Academy, was an interested spectator at the Manhattan-Bucknell boxing match. Perhaps he remembered the occasion of Bucknell's first invasion, three years ago, into the realm of fisticuffs, when Bellefonte disposed of the Orange and Blue glove-tossers by the score of 5-2.

• • • •

The co-eds were conspicuous by their absence at the boxing match last Thursday. Two explanations have been offered. The first is that those girls who had received Prom bids were busy getting in shape for the event, and secondly, those who hadn't were not going to miss a chance of going by not being home when some last-minute Romeos called them up.

• • • •

Professor James P. Whyte went to Wilkes-Barre a week ago Tuesday to address the Boy Scout executives who met at that place. The district executives have been meeting at Bucknell, and their speakers have been chosen from among the members of our faculty. At this meeting in Wilkes-Barre, Prof. Whyte was the principle speaker on the program.

• • • •

A week ago Sunday night "Betty" Fries, '31, and some friends were driving through Muncy when an automobile collided head-on with the one in which they were riding. One side of the B. U. co-ed's car was badly damaged, but no one was injured. The next day, however, "Betty" had to trek up to Muncy and swear to a Justice of the Peace that what her friends and a certain handsome state trooper said was true.

• • • •

Two of our more ambitious students have been supporting some of their monetary calls by running the famous "Brass Rail Canteen" at 1 East Wing. Their varied and attractive stock vies for popularity with the "Big Arrow" shop in East College, "Shelly" Lee's West Wing Wigwam, and the combined efforts of Messrs. Meeker and "Hot-Foot" Hughes in East College.

• • • •

The Coffee and Toast Club, which meets promptly at midnight in room 12 East Wing, to discuss the problems of the day, recently added "Tiny" Lenhard and "Micky" Boerner, both of '32, to its rostrum of sundry and distinguished members. The qualifications for membership require a capacity of three cups of coffee per time and an ability to purvey much "bull."

• • • •

Some of us have been noticing the home-like atmosphere and the evidences of taste and ingenuity which some of the rooms on the Hill present. They remind us of the now famous "Ten East Wing" which "Ken" Slifer, '26, transformed into the most attractive den on the Hill. This same room is now occupied by Frank Storaci and Johnny Stabile, who keep up the tradition. Harold Giger, Charley Thompson, and Fritz Votaw take the prize in West College, with their wicker furniture and artistic pencil sketches as outstanding features. Jimmy Shuman and "Cort" Smith have covered their walls and ceiling with every imaginable type and color of pictures and posters. The resulting atmosphere is strikingly cozy, and a few throw rugs and a comfortable easy chair combine to make all East College envious.

• • • •

Dr. N. H. Stewart has rats in his cellar, Dr. J. W. Rice has sheep in the Biology Building, and a wily freshman wants to know who has "bats in his belfry."

• • • •

Three "Semites" rejoiced one evening at the sight of letters in their mail boxes. Three dials were twirled, three knobs turned, and the letters pulled out with much expectation. A united groan from the "Semites:" "They're only music bills."

JUDGE A. JOHNSON, '96 DELIVERS RADIO SPEECH

Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson, '96, was "on the air" on Lincoln's birthday, when he spoke at the broadcasting station of Strawbridge and Clothier in Philadelphia. He spoke about the great emancipation, and had an unseen audience of probably five million hearers. Judge Johnson has frequently broadcast, and has a voice that carries well.

It pays to advertise.

You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Ward's are preeminent as the shoes that college men prefer.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at

MONTGOMERY & CO.

College and Fraternity Printing

Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.

Call and see Samples.

University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!

Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.

To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!

It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!

Swan SELF-FILLING PENCILS

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier

The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.

We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.

Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

WAINIES

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

Crozer Theological Seminary

ition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Instructor and Mrs. B. A. Hollingshead were the guests of the chapter for dinner last Sunday.

Brother "Link" Bennett, who is now a student of dentistry at Temple, came in accompanied by a few of his friends from that institution, Mr. Rankin Watson, Mr. Franklin Campbell, and Mr. Richard Bell, to attend the Junior Prom. "Link" has been a frequent visitor since his matriculation at Temple. Who can blame him?

Brother Gittens and pledge brother Ellenberger journeyed to Harrisburg on Thursday, but, of course, returned in time for the Prom. Since Ellenberger has returned, he has eased our minds by telling us that he expects to spend a few days with us.

Through the medium of a Valentine, we have discovered that brother Stambaugh plays a musical instrument. Unassuming as ever, "Duke" believes the missive must have been missent.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

Kappa chapter takes great pleasure in announcing the initiation of the following men: Philip Frederick, '31, Delazon Higgins, '31, John Linkfield, '31, Justin Masters, and Paul Schmidt, '31.

"Lou" Marchesano, ex-'30, former Bucknell ring-star, dropped in to see us over the week-end. Marlhesano left his position in New York City to see his last year's teammates in the opening boxing meet of the season.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Alpha Phi chapter takes great pleasure in announcing the pledging of "Ray" Wetzel, '32.

Brother Keenan, '31, and pledge brother Palmer, '32, attended a dance at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College, Saturday.

We were very glad to have brother Beddow with us over the week-end. "Spike" has been at Camp Devitt for the past four months. He hopes to be back in school next fall.

Brother Davidson, '30, spent the week-end at the home of pledge brother Hepler, '32, in Williamsport.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

Pledges Marston and Lawson spent the week-end with their parents in Harrisburg.

Alfred Jacobs, '23, paid the house a visit during the week.

Brother "Spence" Hill, '30, made his weekly trip to Williamsport.

Fritz Jacobs, '29, recently addressed the Parent Teachers Association at Phoenixville.

Fred Votaw, '31, was the guest of pledge John Knight of Williamsport over the week-end.

"Bob" Dilworth, '27, representative of the Bell Telephone Company of Harrisburg visited us during the week.

"Redge" Hughes, '32, was pleasantly surprised when his brother from Philadelphia paid him a visit over the week-end.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Kochler, '32

Many of the boys were back at the house over the week-end. Brother Paul Beaver, '28, paid us a visit. "Beav" is teaching in the Bellefonte High School. "Lou" Fox came up from Philadelphia, where he is enrolled in the Temple Dental School. Lou brought with him Mr. Watson, a fraternity brother. Brother "Jack" Steely, '26, who works for McClintock-Marshall Co. in Pottstown, Pa., returned to his home in Lewisburg and also paid the house a visit.

Brother Karl Albig, '29, returned to school, after having been home two weeks, because of the death of his father.

We are pleased to make a correction. Pledge brother Benjamin Wahrman, '32, returned unexpectedly on Sunday. Although he has some work to make up, the vacation gave him a chance to "rest up" a bit.

Brother Frank Zimmerman, '30, had an out-of-town caller over the week-end.

Brother "Jim" Warren and "Ed" Glover spent the week-end at Mansfield State Teachers' College. They attended the annual Sophomore dance there.

Pledge brother Russel Bing was home for a few days of last week. He returned Sunday afternoon.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

John R. Bower, '30, was elected president and Lawrence P. Martin, '31, was elected vice president of the chapter on Tuesday, February 9.

W. C. McGinness of Pittsburgh, national president of Theta Upsilon Omega, was a guest of the chapter last Tuesday.

Miss Lucille Smith of Susquehanna University was a guest of Theta U. at dinner last week-end.

The parents of Ralph Dunfee, '32, motored from Monroeton, last Sunday.

Assistant Prof. and Mrs. Gold and Assistant Prof. and Mrs. Schuyler were guests of Theta U. for dinner Sunday.

Miss Haidee Wilson of Cedar Crest College was the guest of Theta U. for dinner Sunday.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

The whole house is settling down to its regular routine after the excitement of the installation festivities. While the pledges are sporting new pins, the wearing of the new Phi Kappa badges by the actives bids adieu to old Kappa Gamma.

Phi Kappa had visitors over the week-end. We were pleased to entertain a few of the boys from Gamma chapter at State College.

Business called "Gene" Mirarchi, '29, to Philadelphia over the week-end.

"Rom" Nayfield, '32, made his weekly journey to Mount Carmel.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

Guy Rousch, '28, paid the boys a short impromptu visit on Monday, February 18.

Last week the treat was on Brother John N. Stack, '29, in the form of ice cream, celebrating his birthday.

Pledge John Mootz, '32, and Brothers Clyde Miller, '31, and C. Lewis Emery, '31, attended a dance at the Chestnut Hill Academy, on the week-end of February 9. They all report a wonderful time.

The pledges have planned a delightful afternoon for Saturday in the form of a Tea Dance. Yes, and "Curley" Miller is going to entertain.

BETA KAPPA
"Chris" Gerken, '30

Brother Ray Johnson dropped in unexpectedly over the week-end and all the boys were very glad to welcome him back. We hope this will not be his last visit.

Mr. Smith, coach of Wyoming Seminary's basketball team stayed at the house after the game Friday.

Brothers Tate and Huffman desired a change in scenery so they went to their homes in Allenwood and Watsontown.

To all appearances, pledge-brother Wager knows his olives.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

The entire chapter spent the greater part of last week entertaining our province president, Mrs. Harry A. Bissel. A tea was held for Mrs. Bissel, in the livingrooms of the new dormitory, on Monday afternoon, February 11, at which the patronesses, alumnae, faculty wives, and Dean Amelia Clark were guests.

Invitations have been received to the wedding of Blanch J. Thompson, '27, to Mr. Thomas Duffield Hann Jr., on Saturday, March the second, in the First Baptist Church, at Hightstown, New Jersey.

"Merf" Scott and "Babs" Reifsnyder, both of '28, spent last week-end in town, and were among the guests at the annual Junior Prom.

"Betty" Huxley, '30, was a guest, this last week-end, at Colgate's Winter Carnival. Friends are anxiously awaiting the picture of Betty a' la tobogan, which she promises is going to appear in the retogravure section of the New York Times.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
"Betty" Fries, '31

Tau chapter takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Virginia Kandle, '32.

Mary Tyler, '29, spent the week-end in Altoona visiting her parents.

Josephine Schilling, '29, paid another one of her numerous visits to State College over the week-end.

Yolanda Frank, '28, of Williamsport came back to visit us this week-end.

SIGMA BETA DELTA
C. M. Leonard, '31

Sigma Beta Delta is now established at 222 Market street. The new apartment was obtained shortly after the Christmas holidays. Furnishings and equipment have been installed and the fraternity is advancing in a steady manner.

(Continued on Page 7.)

Ever sigh for a little real action?

The hard-looking stranger only yawned at the pay-day activities of Red Gulch.

Piqued at his indifference, several citizens asked why, if Red Gulch wasn't tough enough to interest him, he didn't go back where he came from.

"I cain't," the stranger drawled. "That place is so all-fired hard, they kicked all us sissies out"!

A clear case of relativity. If you've smoked merely mild cigarettes all your life, you can't imagine how much you'd cotton to a cigarette that's mild and something more! We refer, as you guess, to Chesterfield.

For mild as they are, they satisfy. You know you're smoking them — and you're right glad of it. They're rich with taste, tobacco taste. They . . . there's no other word, and no other cigarette that fits it . . . they satisfy.

CHESTERFIELD

MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAYS

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—15—

PERSISTENCE IN ADVERTISING

ROGER W. BABSON, THE GREAT MODERN STATISTICAL WIZARD, USES THE FOLLOWING ILLUSTRATION TO SHOW THE NEED OF PERSISTENCE IN ADVERTISING:

"OLD AESOP TELLS A FABLE ABOUT A CROW, HALF DEAD WITH THIRST, WHO CAME UPON A PITCHER WHICH HAD ONCE BEEN FULL OF WATER. HOWEVER, WHEN THE CROW PUTS ITS BEAK INTO THE MOUTH OF THE PITCHER, HE FOUND THAT ONLY VERY LITTLE WATER WAS LEFT IN IT, AND HE COULD NOT REACH FAR ENOUGH DOWN TO GET AT IT. HE TRIED AND TRIED, BUT AT LAST HAD TO GIVE UP IN DESPAIR. THEN AN IDEA CAME TO HIM, AND HE TOOK A PEBBLE AND DROPPED IT INTO THE PITCHER. HE KEPT DROPPING PEBBLES INTO THE PITCHER ONE AFTER ANOTHER. AT LAST HE SAW THE WATER MOUNT UP NEARER, AND AFTER THROWING A FEW MORE PEBBLES HE WAS ABLE TO QUENCH HIS THIRST AND SAVE HIS LIFE. THE TROUBLE WITH MANY ADVERTISERS IS THAT THEY GIVE UP DROPPING IN PEBBLES JUST BEFORE THE WATER REACHES THEM. IT OFTEN IS A MATTER OF PERSISTENCE."

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief Clarence W. Cranford, '29, Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Business Manager John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors Thomas McLeod, '31, Dorothy Davies, '30, A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor Trennie Risley, '31
Assistant News Editors Nan Lee Thomas, '30, Blair Bazen, '31
Sports Editor J. Warren McElhoe, '30, Kenneth Vandenbrew, '31, R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Assistant Sports Editors
Women's College Editor Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors Elizabeth Figner, '30

Business Staff
W. C. Bamitt, '30
Advertising Manager
Assistant Advertising Manager John Snyder, '30, Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32, Nathaniel Glazier, '32, Walter H. Grim, '32, Benjamin Wahrman, '32, Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Bell, '31; E. Dill, '31; F. R. Fries, '31; H. M. Graham, '31; H. T. Hogan, '29; K. A. Leech, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; N. D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Thursday, February 21—Baptist Student Dinner.

Friday, February 22—Phi Gamma Delta formal dinner dance, 5:30-11:45 p. m.
T. U. O. informal dance, 7:30-10:30 p. m.
Sigma Sigma Delta party in the playroom, 8-11 p. m.

Saturday, February 23—Frill and Frown informal dance, Tustin Gym., 8-11 p. m.
S. A. E. informal dance, 8-11:15 p. m.
Phi Lambda Theta tea dance.
Kappa Sigma informal dance, 8-11:15 p. m.
Lambda Chi Alpha informal dance, 8-11:15 p. m.

Thursday, February 28—Artist Course, Harp ensemble, Baptist church, 8 p. m.

IN DEFENSE OF THE JUNIOR PROM

That the administration requested the presence of state troopers and federal prohibition officers at the Junior Prom on February 15 has been the impression conveyed in statements appearing in recent issues of various newspapers. In defense of the administration, of the Junior Prom committee, and of Bucknell's moral standard, let it be said that there is not one grain of truth to the statements.

The prom was chaperoned by Dean R. H. Rivenburg, Dean Amelia E. Clark, and Dr. and Mrs. N. H. Stewart. Dean Rivenburg says regarding the rumor, "The statements were absolutely false. Nothing of the sort was ever dreamed of by either Dean Clark or myself. The statement was evidently issued by somebody with the deliberate intent to injure the University. There is not one iota of truth in it."

Dean Clark says, "There were no state troopers or prohibition officers at the Junior Prom, and I did not request the presence of any." According to Miss Clark, the only officers whose presence was requested were Mr. Hayes Aurand the night watchman, and Mr. Robert Simons, the local officer, who was on hand to regulate traffic and keep cars out of the south drive.

Dr. Norman Stewart has stated that he knew nothing of the presence of either federal or state officials by request, nor was there need of any. Wilson Rise, '30, chairman of the prom committee, expressed his ignorance of the source of the rumor, declaring that the statement was without truth.

Such slanderous rumors featured on the first page of state newspapers give a bad impression of the University, and cast shadows on the high moral standard which has always existed at Bucknell. City papers, quick to seize any statement which tends to be colorful or startling, often without verifying the truth of the statement, are slow to correct such an impression. It is therefore up to each student as a loyal Bucknellian to let it be known that such false statements are without foundation.

NOW BRING ON THE VISITORS

The Y. M. C. A., that organization which has had to take so much "riding," promises to bring a much needed improvement to the Hill. Those of us who have lived on the Hill remember with what chagrin we led our visitors through the dark, bare halls of the dormitory to our room, the only place in which we could receive them. Our humility was even greater if among our visitors was Mother or some other woman friend. We could only make apologies for our limited means of entertainment, and until our guests had departed, pray that a kind God would prevent the raucous laughter and the "dormitory French" which is so often heard in the men's dormitories. Happy were we if we were members or pledges of some fraternity at whose house we could entertain visitors. The only salvation for those who did not have access to a fraternity house was to have no guests.

The Y. M. C. A., realizing this situation, has set about to correct it, and at the present time, its room in West College is undergoing a complete renovation. When the improvements are completed, the room promises to be the most attractive on the Hill; a room in which any B. U. student can be proud to receive his visitors. The walls and ceiling, refinished in buff "wall-tex," make a very pleasing appearance, and with the woodwork sanded and varnished, and the addition of new rugs and new furniture, the room produces a cheerful effect.

So the men on the Hill may sigh with relief since, thanks to the "Y," they now have a suitable place in which they may receive those who visit them.

LOOKING BACKWARD

The Editor wanted some ideas about which to write editorials, so he searched through the Bucknellian files to find what those who have gone before wrote about. In doing so, he became very much interested in some of the news which pictured the Bucknell campus of the past. That interest was so great that he decided to pass on some of the interesting bits of history. Going back to 1924, he chose from each year the Bucknellian which was printed on about the same date as that of this issue. Extracts from the principal news stories follow, and will undoubtedly be of interest to both students and faculty.

—FIVE YEARS AGO—
(Issue of Monday, February 25, 1924.)

In the first game of the season before the local student body, the Bison basketball quintet defeated the fast Pitt five by a 22-10 score at Milton on Saturday night. The team played good basketball and deserved the victory, Fritzinger again starring for the individual honors. Bucknell presented an almost impenetrable defense with the result that Pitt was able to get but few close shots, Butler and Wilsbach holding their fast forwards away from the netted hoop at all times.

—O—

The Bucknell campus has been buzzing ever since Monday night, when the Bucknellian appeared with a list of twenty-seven questions upon every conceivable topic of both student and faculty interest. Some of the questions have been under discussion on the campus many weeks and others are comparatively new. A few of them are strangers to the minds of the students and professors. But nearly all the questions are being debated with great fervor. Question 24 is causing the greatest discussion. It follows: Is not the flunking of more than 50 per cent of the class a reflection upon a professor's merit?

—O—

Theta Upsilon, the new fraternity fostered by the National Inter-fraternity Conference, held its first conclave at the Beta Kappa Psi fraternity on February 21, 22, and 23 for the purpose of perfecting the details of its organization, the election of national officers, and the appointment of committees.

—FOUR YEARS AGO—
(Issue of January 27, 1925.)

Shadow bands, said by astronomers to be visible only during a total eclipse, were seen here Saturday morning at 9:30 a. m., while the eclipse was at its height. Beautifully clear weather made observations perfect. Students turned out almost en masse just as the moon seemed to curve into the path of the sun's rays. From the tops of college buildings, from the dormitory windows facing the sun, and from every vantage point on the campus unobstructed by trees or buildings, hundreds of students gazed at the sun through smoked windowpanes, photo films, and special binoculars. At 9:40 a. m., Professors William C. Bartol and Lewis E. Theiss, standing on Tustin Field, saw narrow shadow bands, separated from each other by only a few inches, moving slowly eastward and stretching north and south. On the Hill, Professor H. S. Everett, director of the observatory, while standing back of the building, likewise saw shadow bands about two inches in width moving southeast. Several students with him saw these same phantom bands described by Dr. David P. Todd, emeritus professor of astronomy at Amherst, as "jumping rabbits."

Professor O. S. Groner with two students made the trip to Elmira into the path of totality. He described the eclipse, which lasted about a minute and twenty seconds, as very striking. During the total phase, while everything was in total darkness, they could see stars very bright. Professor Groner took several photos of the eclipse with exposures of from five to twenty-five seconds.

—THREE YEARS AGO—
(Issue of Wednesday, February 10, 1926.)

The will of Mrs. Katherine B. Larison, who died recently at the home of Professor and Mrs. W. G. Owens where she had lived for many years, makes Bucknell University the chief beneficiary. Although the estate is not yet settled, Dr. John T. Judd, treasurer of the University whom the will names as executor, has stated that he expects the gift to amount to at least twenty thousand dollars.

—O—

The staff of the Belle Hop has completed plans for a dance to be held on March 27. The winner of the popularity contest which is to decide Bucknell's most popular co-ed will be announced at this dance.

—TWO YEARS AGO—
(Issue of February 24, 1927.)

Frill and Frown sent its audience away from Bucknell Hall with sides aching from laughter on Saturday evening, February 19, when the girl's dramatic society entertained with an evening of one-act plays. "Hearts," "The Maker of Dreams," and "The Pot Boiler" made up the repertoire.

—ONE YEAR AGO—
(Issue of February 9, 1928.)

Official moving day for those members of the "Sem" planning to make the new women's dormitory their home for the next few months, was held on Wednesday, February 8. It was thought for a while that the date for the grand exodus would have to be postponed, because of the fact that the water boilers had not arrived. However, at a meeting called by Dean Clark on February 6, the women planning to move voted to do so on the day originally set, whether they were able to obtain aqua torrida or not.

—O—

Rabbi Charles Mantinband, of the Congregation Beth Hasholom of Williamsport was the speaker at the vesper service held in the Presbyterian Church, Sunday afternoon, February 5. Rabbi Mantinband spoke on the subject of "Faith in God," and he showed how faith has developed. He pointed out, also, how our conception of God has grown, an dhe discussed the Jews' attitude toward God.

B.U. Bookshelf

THE BUCK IN THE SNOW
By Edna St. Vincent Millay
Reviewed by Paul Flak, '29

At the same time last year that Carl Sandburg stepped forth and sang, "Good Morning, America," in his old undiscipined craftsmanlike manner, Edna St. Vincent Millay produced her first book of poems in five years. "The Buck in the Snow" is a collection of lyrics which Miss Millay has been writing during this period. As is customary with the poetry of Miss Millay, this volume maintains its usual high standard of dignity of form and manner, and shows the effect of much poetic discipline.

Ever since Miss Millay published her famous "Renascence" at the age of twenty, in 1912, the reading public has looked forward to seeing more of her work. She has attained a freshness and directness in her poetry that is unusual. She never allows the bondage of rhyme to control her writing; all she desires is to drive home her points of beauty and wit in the form of pure song. Miss Millay is a worshipper first of all at the shrine of beauty. She has many beautiful and daring thoughts; she is the type of modernist who seeks to cut through the sham of our Puritan-like false modesty and lay bare the eternal truth of beauty, which she believes is the basis of real happiness in this world. It is freedom, the freedom of rapture and joy, that she is seeking. The oft-quoted quatrain from "A Few Figs from Thistles" shows this spirit:

"My candle burns at both ends;
It will not last the night;
But ah, my foes, and oh, my friends—
It gives a lovely light."

"The Buck in the Snow" carries on this ideal of beauty worship. In her simple straight-forward manner, Miss Millay sets forth the contention that it is better to be alive than to be dead. It grieves her to think that it is necessary for us all to end our destinies in a grave. The following, from "A Dirge Without Music," illustrates this attitude:

"Down, down, down into the darkness of the grave
Gently they go, the beautiful, the tender, the kind;
Quietly they go, the intelligent, the witty, the brave.
I know. But I do not approve. And I am not resigned."

Miss Millay loves life for its beauty, which she finds in definite objects, not in abstractions. It is about such definite objects that most of the poems in this volume are written. She knows that these objects are all mortal, that they must die, and because she knows this, she loves them all the more while they do live. She is awed by death—she cannot understand it. In the title-poem, "The Buck in the Snow," she expresses her wonder at both life and death:

"How strange a thing is death, bringing to his knees, bringing to his antlers
The buck in the snow.
How strange a thing—a mile away by now, it may be,
Under the heavy hemlocks that as the moments pass
Shift their loads a little, letting fall a feather of snow—
Life, looking out attentive from the eyes of the doe."

In her sonnets, Miss Millay has reached a stateliness of almost unparalleled thought and beauty. Here, again, she expresses her philosophy that life is better than death. Speaking of this life, she says:

"So fair to me thy vineyards, nor less fair
So bright this earthly blossom spiked with care,
This harvest hung behind the boughs of pain,
Needs must I gather, guessing by the stain
I bleed, but know not wherefore, know not where."

But, that she was not so pagan, not so immoral in her thought, as many believed her to be, is shown by the beautiful sonnet, "To Jesus on His Birthday."

"For this you bled upon the bitter tree;
A yard of tinsel ribbon bought and sold;
A paper wreath; a day at home for me.
The merry bells ring out, the people kneel;
Up goes the man of God before the crowd;
With voice of honey and with eyes of steel
He drones your humble gospel to the proud.
Nobody listens. Less than the wind that blows
Are all your words to us you died to save.
O Prince of Peace! O Sharon's dewy Rose!
How mute you lie within your shallow grave.
The stone the angel rolled away with tears
Is back upon your mouth these thousand years."

Where can one find a finer example of pure worship than this? Certainly, it is frankly satirical of our treatment of Christ's birthday, as it is satirical of the church. Nevertheless, looking closer, we discern in Miss Millay a fine vein of devotion to what is pure and good and beautiful. After all, what else is religion?

It pays to advertise.

Troboscope Installed

Consistent with its policy of keeping abreast of improvements and inventions of the times, the Electrical Engineering Department has installed the newest apparatus for mensuring the speed of motors. This machine is the neon stroboscope, made by the General Electric Company. An eight-inch disc is bolted to the end of the motor-shaft. This disc is divided into eight alternate black and white sectors. The broad ray from the neon tube in the stroboscope plays upon the disc as the motor whirls it around and the "slip" in the induction motor may be observed and recorded.

LEWISBURG'S PUBLIC UTILITIES AN APPRECIATION

In its relations to Public Service Corporations, Lewisburg is exceptionally fortunate. Three out of four of its public utilities are owned and controlled by local capital. It is to be congratulated even more in the character and courtesy of their officials. By efficient and economical management, they have always charged lower rates than the neighboring towns and at the same time served their stockholders well. Owners of local stock have consistently refused to betray the interests of the town to outside exploitation, despite much pressure and personal sacrifice. The Water Company alone, blessed and sanctified, aided and abetted by the Public Service Commission, has an inclination and public license to rook us—a super-financed corporation where the rates never cease from rising and the chlorine is at rest.

The College Inn management has known and enjoyed unusual pleasant business relations with three of these fine men for over twenty years, men who have proven themselves far more than fair weather friends. It only pays its moral obligations to these patient and long suffering public service officials when it turns back to give thanks to Mr. John P. Ruhl, Mr. D. P. Higgins, and Dr. John T. Judd.

Our first and only employer in Lewisburg, when the College Inn management was a night telephone operator where his daily naps were often disturbed by noisy professors, was the manager of the Buffalo Valley Telephone Co. Mr. Ruhl still remains the same modest gentleman we first knew him—steady, substantial, dependable, generous, always busy about his master's business—a satisfied telephone subscriber.

Mr. Higgins first crossed our path as the important custodian of various epistles that bridged the gap with inspirational and financial resources back home. He even brought us loving letters from old sweethearts of our high school days until our neglect caused them to fade from the picture. For even in that ancient time a bird in the hand was worth two—well—where did you leave them and why? As a Post Master he was obliging, pleasant, and even sympathetic when we called three times the same day for the letter that did not arrive. Time has only mellowed this fine public-spirited man until today as manager of the Citizens Electric Co. this corporation enjoys the esteem and good will of the entire community.

Dr. Judd, our University Pastor and an executive of nearly everything in Lewisburg worth while, both in things present and things to come—in short, Lewisburg's foremost citizen. Time and our own verbal limitations and the necessary restrictions of advertising space would fail to tell or even start in extolling the worth and virtues of this beloved man. A man of vision—serious and sincere, yet a lover of humor; a successful man of business, whose judgment is much respected and faithful steward of the King's Business; a Pastor Emeritus and a pastor at large who doesn't know how to retire: an ideal citizen of the present Kingdom and the Kingdom to come; unselfish and steadfast to his numerous friends, with sympathy and aid for the weak and heavy laden. One whom it is entirely safe to praise while living, without fear that any of his subsequent conduct will reverse your decision, certain that no front page scandal will ever say that he played the game unfairly, confident that his good name will not be marred by any posthumous revelations or critics. We can only briefly state that he has been a good and faithful public servant, that he has fought a good fight and that he is making a strong finish, that he has been a good Samaritan, lo these many years, for Lewisburg and Bucknell and even unto the ends of the earth.

THE COLLEGE INN
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"

Continued Another Week

All SUITS
OVERCOATS
TOP COATS

25 Per Ct. Off

J. F. PROWANT CO.

New Book of Views May Now Be Secured

A distinctive new Bucknell viewbook for 1929 has just been issued and can be procured at the Registrar's office. It is an entirely different publication from last year's and shows much alteration both in make-up and contents. Its main feature is the use of two color printing, something not attempted hitherto in Bucknell's publications.

The new booklet is entitled "Bucknell University," in contrast with the "Life at Bucknell" of 1928. It is smaller both in page size, type size, and number of pages and cuts than the previous book.

The frontispiece, the view of Old Main used on last year's calendar, is done in red and black ink. On the page opposite, the reading matter begins. This material, with some changes, is like that of last year. The campus and equipment of the University is described and the reader is given a brief glimpse of college life.

In the lower outside corner of every page of reading matter appears a small drawing printed in red. These cuts show the 1905 gates, the Observatory, and other points of interest about the campus.

Only eight of the thirty-three photographs that appeared in last year's viewbook are included in the latest edition. Among the new pictures are those of the new dormitory and a new view of the stadium, the latter taking up the two pages in the center of the book.

The booklet was printed and bound by the Williamsport Printing and Binding Company. It was prepared by Professor Lewis E. Theiss.

Health Skit Given At W. A. A. Meeting

The Women's Athletic Association gave a health skit last night at 7 o'clock in the playroom of the new dormitory.

The play called "Gym and Jerry," by Barbara Abel, was both amusing and instructive, involving the reform of Jerry, a modern girl, whose part was taken by Mary Smith, '32. "Jerry wouldn't have anything to do with health because she thought it was "just" exercise and diet and sensible shoes, so she was tried before the Judge ("Fran" Kernohan, '30), and accused by Posture, Feet, Weight, and Stomach. She is rescued by the Spirit of Something Else ("Betty" Jane Rodenbeck, '31), and placed on parole, promising to return to the Judge in one year, healthier, better, and prettier. The complaining witness and she become good friends and together with the recreation spirits, proceed along the road to health. Of course its only a dream on "Jerry's" part but maybe it does work.

"Jerry" Fortner, '29, president of the Association, and Miss Alma Ebeling, physical education instructor, gave out the hockey pins to the winners of the inter-fraternity games —the Alpha Chi Omegas.

On Saturday afternoon, March 2, the Women's Athletic Association is sponsoring a tea dance to be held in the playroom. "Eddie" Hoffman's 3-piece orchestra will furnish the music and tickets are only 50 cents. "Em" Maxwell, '30, is in charge and everyone is assured a good time.

Prof. Rockwell Pays Tribute to Lessing

Paying tribute to Lessing on his bi-centennial anniversary, on Tuesday, February 12, in upper-class chapel, Professor Leo L. Rockwell discussed the character and work of the man who has been called by Macauley, "the first critic of Europe."

Professor Rockwell, however, discussed not his work as a critic but as "the great modern religious prophet with an undying thirst for truth and great keeness of intellect." Lessing was the greatest of German rationalists who trusted in human reason for solving everything, but who went even further than that.

In discussing his religious viewpoint, Prof. Rockwell continued, "Lessng opposed the viewpoints of people who said that the New Testament was not true because it contradicts itself, and believed that the contradiction in it proves trueness rather than falsity."

One of Lessing's most famous works is "Nathan, the Wise" from which "The Ring Parable" has been taken.

Co-eds Oppose Smoking Room

Sorority women on the campus of Denver University have publicly announced their opinions on smoking for women. The suggestion of a smoking room for women was met with a storm of hearty disapproval.

Wm. Kinsloe, ex-'95, Dies; Named Mountain in Alaska

William D. Kinsloe, ex-'95, died suddenly at his home in Huntingdon, on January 17.

He was a varsity football player in college and a fine athlete. Leaving Bucknell before graduation, he took the medical course at Hahnmann College, Philadelphia, from which he was graduated. Later he practiced his profession at Denver, Colo.

Joining the Alaska gold rush he spent two years in the Yukon Valley. During this exploratory period he located and named a new mountain peak, which had never been charter before.

Upon his return to the States he engaged in business. He was an officer in the Beaver Grocery Co., wholesale grocers, at Mount Union, Pa. He was a member of Sigma Chi.

His nephew, John Kinsloe, is a member of the present freshman Class.

B. U. Delegates Hear Noted Men at 'Y' Meet

Ten Bucknellians attended the Y. M. C. A. Midwinter Conference on the Christian Technique of Living, held at the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, last week-end, February 15, 16, 17.

Two hundred and fifty students and faculty members assembled from the colleges and universities of the Middle Atlantic district. They were guided in their thinking by a corp of exceptionally fine speakers.

Stanley High, probably most completely won his audience in his address "The Viewpoint of the Journalist on the Technique of being a World Christian."

Norman Thomas, likewise was well received, his subject being "The Necessity of a New Social Order." Mr. Thomas displayed the same keen wit and sparkling humor that so impressed his audiences at Bucknell.

"Pin" VanDusen, of the Union Theological Seminary, New York City, twice addressed the Conference and clearly demonstrated that his fame as a preacher is well deserved.

Dr. Albert Parker Fitch, of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church, New York City opened the conference with a thought provoking address, "Why a Christian Technique of Living?"

Allan K. Chalmers, student pastor of Johns Hopkins University, led the conference in devotions, speaking on the subject, "Escaping from God."

Professor Charles M. Bond was the chairman of the meetings of faculty members, student pastors, and association secretaries.

Who's Who AT B. U.

If you want a picture of the original "little girl who is seen and not heard," here she is. "Jerry" is little, but oh my! She was girls' class treasurer in her sophomore year, and was also a member of the Pan-Hellenic board, of the Education Club, and the Y. W. C. A. Commission.

"Jerry" Fortner, '29

But it is in athletics that "Jerry" shines brightest. She specializes in hockey, basketball, and hiking. At present she is the capable head of the Women's Athletic Association. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega fraternity.

High School Alumni Dance Will Be Staged March 2

Permission has been obtained for "Sem" girls to attend the Lewisburg High School Alumni dance which is to be held in the new high school gymnasium, Saturday, March 2, from 8:30 to 11:45. The music will be furnished by the Blue Band. The subscription price is one dollar per couple, and the proceeds will be used to purchase new equipment for the high school. It is hoped that enough money will be taken in to buy a large stage curtain.

Tickets are on sale at Montgomery's clothing store. The committee in charge of the dance is made up of William Speer, '19, "Sid" Thomas, and Frederick Lehman, '30.

Program Brightened By Use of Costumes

The members of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music fraternity, gave a delightful concert on Monday evening, February 18, in Bucknell Hall. Several of the numbers were given in costume. The "Garden Scene" from "Faust", given by Miss Meliicent Melrose, was especially effective.

Miss Inez Robison, '28, in costume gave a group of Indian songs, and Miss Ruth Evans, '30, also in costume, gave two Japanese songs: "A Japanese Fantasy" and "Japanese Love Song."

Miss Lillian Mattick, '30, sang "La Seranata" by Braga. Miss Louise Reinhart, '30, accompanied Miss Mattick with a violin obligato. The complete program follows:

Ave Maria ..... Schubert
Come Down, Laughing Streamlet..... Spross
Miss Lillian Mattick, '29, Miss Ruth Evans, '30, Miss Inez Robison, '28, Miss Louise Reinhart, '30
La Serenata ..... Braga
Miss Lillian Mattick
Violin Obligato—Miss Reinhart
Polonaise Op. 11, No. 1...Moszkowski
Miss Mildred Headings
Giorno d'orrore—
from "Semiramide" ..... Rossini
Miss Ined Robison, Miss Ruth Evans
Romance ..... Rachmaninoff
Valse ..... Rachmaninoff
Miss Helen Tollefson, Miss Lulu Coe
*Japanese Love Song ..... Brake
*A Japanese Fantasy ..... Terry
Miss Ruth Evans
*By the Waters of Minnetonka ..... Lieurance
*By the Land of the Sky Blue Water ..... Cadman
*Pale Moon ..... Logan
Miss Inez Robison
*Garden Scene—
from "Faust" ..... Gounod
Miss Melicent Melrose
*Sung in costume.

Town Women Observe World Day of Prayer

Seventy-five women of this community met in the Baptist church last Friday, February 15, at 3 o'clock, to observe the Annual World Day of Prayer for Missions. The formal opening exercises were led by Mrs. Griffith, president of the Missionary Society of the Baptist church. This meeting embraced all sects, and all seven churches of Lewisburg were represented.

Mrs. Owens then told something about the limited knowledge of the women of Africa, who live in comparative darkness as to the world outside of their specific tribe. "They are absolutely unconscious of the fact that there are actually other women in the world, and their desire for knowledge is astounding," said Mrs. Owens, in her talk. "Members of the World Federation, who were working in a single village, taught these women about the Day of Prayer and about the infinite number of women who take part in its observance, by a pageant which was presented in costumes, representing the various nations of the world," continued Mrs. Owens.

The proceeds from the free-will offering were to be given to the work among the American Indians. This Interdenominational Federation is sponsoring an educational movement which is accomplishing great things for the American natives. Public schools are being built by the government, and mission schools are being conducted by the Religious Education department of the Federation. Along this line, Mrs. Beatty related a story of a certain Indian chief, Jack Frost. Then followed a season of prayer, considering all mission fields of the world.

Miss Melrose sang a solo, and Grace Fithian, '32, recited a poem dedicated to the occasion.

Baptist Student Dinner Will Be Given Tonight

The ninth annual student fellowship dinner for Baptist students will be held in the Chapel of the Baptist church tonight at six o'clock. Invitations have been sent to all students who are affiliated in any way with the Baptist church, and a large group of students are expected to be present.

The speaker will be the Rev. A. Herbert Haslam, '23, of the Tioga Baptist church, Philadelphia. He is one of the younger ministers of Philadelphia, and has been very successful in building up the young people's society of his church. He is a forceful speaker, and Baptist students are promised a treat in hearing him.

Harry Lee Smith, '11, was recently elected principal of the Pottstown High School.

STUDENTS QUALIFY FOR ENGLISH HONORS COURSE
(Continued from Page 1.)

nar will be allowed to present their contributions in the form of a paper each week. This paper will be submitted to a designated professor.

During the last week in May each member of the group will be given an oral examination, which may be two hours in length, conducted by all the participating professors. Those attaining a grade of 90% in this examination will be granted the degree of A. B. "with honors in English". Those failing to attain a grade of 90% but making a passable showing will be granted the ordinary A. B. degree. If any should fail to make a passable showing, they will be required to repeat one semester of regular work.

No student will be allowed to pursue the work of any other course than the Honors Seminar, for credit, during the semester; but students may attend, as auditors, any classes which they may desire to attend. They should consult with the professors in charge of such classes before entering, so that their status may be understood. No cards will be issued for such courses, but the names of students eligible to attend as such auditors have been announced to the faculty. Attendance at meetings of other classes than the Honors Seminar is not required.

Students whose names are on the following lists are those whose attainments up to the present time are such as to render it probable that they will be eligible to read for honors during their last semester in college. Candidates must be A. B. students majoring in English with a general average of 80% and an average of 80% in English (including one course in advanced composition) and an "A" in one course numbered above 250.

Juniors majoring in English who have taken advanced composition and attained an average of "B" with an "A" in one course in advanced literature: Davies, Dorothy; Feaster, John; Kernohan, Frances; Patchen, Dorothy.

Sophomores registered for the A. B. degree who have attained an average of "B" in English and an "A" in one three-hour course: Ballinger, Winona; Booth, Ethel A.; Burlew, John; Eisenhower, Marian; Elsley, Trennie; Griffith, Nancy; Grove, Robert; Haynes, Kenneth; Logosch, Dorothy; MacLeod, Thomas F.; Marsh, Sarah C.; Rinker, Ned; Rodenbeck, Betty; Sweeley, Alice M.; Waldherr, Madaline; White, Elinor; Wilson, Mary Elizabeth; Zimmerman, Margaret.

Freshmen registered for the A. B. degree who have attained an "A" in one three-hour course in English: Taylor, Ruth C.; Walker, Francis E.; Wood, William H.

DR. PIKE SAYS MEMORY IS ONLY FACT FIXATION
(Continued from Page 1)

disorders of organic memory. The famous case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde is frequently quoted as an example of transformation of personality. A definite amnesia always accompanies this. Dr. Pike told of the interesting case of a certain patient at Danville, who is suffering from this particular disorder. At times she believes that she is Mary, Queen of Scots, while at other times she is certain that she is a goddess.

In the disorder known as depersonalization, the individual believes that certain organs in his body have undergone a change, or have disappeared. A certain lady who was suffering from depersonalization refused to look into a mirror for three years, because she believed that her eyes had been displaced by those of a big black cat.

The man who has a psychopathic personality is really a moral imbecile. Although he may be brilliant, he lacks judgment. He is always inconsistent in his conduct with the ideals which he represents. A large percentage of the criminal class is in this group, which often includes the drug addicts, alcoholic inebriates, and prostitutes.

It is possible to discover the psychopathic child when he is six years old. At that time one may tell what crime he will commit. If children suffering from that disorder are treated while they are young they may be cured or changed.

39 Year Generation

Statistics now show that a college generation is about 39 years, for the present student body of Swarthmore includes 36 children or grandchildren of Swarthmore alumni. The parents range from the class of 1881 to 1909.

Junior Prom Draws Over 200 Couples

While saxaphones moaned, flying feet sped through the hours at the annual Junior Prom held in the new dining hall for women Friday evening, February 15. More than 200 couples were on hand at Bucknell's biggest social event of the year. The prom was chaperoned by Dean R. H. Rivenburg, Dean Amelia Clark, and Professor and Mrs. N. H. Stewart.

"Jelly Roll" Morton and his Red Hot Peppers provided a variety of features for the dancers. Under a canopy of bright colored balloons, the colored leader and his harmony makers delighted their listeners with clever interpretations of well-known jazz hits.

The prom was the first and last dance to be held in the new "Sem" eating quarters, and it was the ideal place for so formal an affair. The hall was adequately illuminated by the skylights, and the lights at either end of the room. Wilson Rise, chairman of the committee which consisted of a representative from each of the fraternity and non-fraternity groups on the campus, was greatly responsible for the success of the Junior Prom.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

THE SOPHOMORE
GALA EVENT OF SOCIAL SEASON
COTILLION
March 23d
BY TRADITION IN
Tustin Gymnasium

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

Bisons Trounce Manhattan Foes In Seven Bouts

Storaci's Kayo Features Meet As Others B. U. Ringsters Score Decisive Wins

A Bison victory in every one of the seven bouts staged last Thursday evening at the new high school gymnasium, enabled Coach Plant's mittmen to whitewash the Manhattan College boxers of New York City, before a large crowd. This meet marked the initiation of Bucknell's second intercollegiate ring season.

Showing greater superiority in all the departments of the fistic game, the Plant punchers thoroughly trounced their New York City rivals. Six of the bouts were won by a wide margin while the seventh resulted in a Bucknell victory after an extra round of fighting.

It was "Pottsville" Jones, who experienced the closest call of the evening. It took the "pride of the coal regions" an extra round to obtain the favorable decision of the judges. "Pottsville's" fight with his opponent was a toss up for the first three rounds. "Tony" Dacunto displayed fine fistic ability in holding the Bucknell heavyweight in check for the required time of the bout.

In the extra period Jones came back like a lion and punched his way to a belated victory. Thus Jones was once more restored to the good graces of his doubting admirers. In winning this bout, Jones also kept untarnished, his undefeated collegiate fistic record.

LaFerrara Wins First

The first six fights were full of action and pep. "Nick" LaFerrara, Bucknell's crafty 115-pounder, gave his team a one-bout lead by trouncing his rival in rather an easy fashion. "Ray" Murphy is a good fighter, but it was just an unfortunate thing that he was pitted against LaFerrara last Thursday. "The Trenton Flash," exhibiting a clever display of footwork and punching, dazzled his rival who was able to take lots of punishment. Murphy got in a few slight blows but these were overshadowed by LaFerrara's all around work. The Trenton leather pusher was by far the winner.

"Mickey" Boerner, a yearling boxer, representing the 125-pound class, received his baptism of ring fire when he faced Charley McGuirk of Manhattan. The two ring aspirants went at it fast and furious for awhile but near the end of the fight both parties seemed to be tired. "Mickey" was proclaimed the winner.

Because of the fact that he was over weight, Mike Orlandi, Manhattan's 135-pounder, was forced to forfeit his bout to Frank Storaci, the most versatile of Bucknell ringmen. But this did not stop Storaci from giving his heavier opponent a sound trouncing. In fact, referee Houck was compelled to stop the one-sided exhibition early in the second round. Storaci was awarded the decision in form of a technical knockout.

Lepore Also Wins

Captain Lepore, of Bucknell, and James Kearney of Manhattan entered the ring when Storaci and Orlandi withdrew. Lepore was the recipient of a few minor blows but he gave more than he took. He pounded his opponent into submission and after the second round had started, there was no doubt as to who the winner was. Kearney a tall, rangy youth, put up a game fight and managed to leave his mark on one of Lepore's eyes. But Lepore in return heaped blow after blow on Kearney's body.

The surprise of the evening occurred when Wilbur Ammerman, "The Tyrone Mauler," vanquished "Danny" Curtin of Manhattan in a scheduled three-round affair. Ammerman, who is a new addition to Coach Plant's ring team, started off like a cyclone and never allowed his opponent to take the lead. Ammerman received a few hard blows, but he can take 'em and then smile. He winced a couple of times when he was hit pretty hard, but he went right back at the work at hand and in the end he had his opponent groggy. Toward the close of the bout, Ammerman packed in a few severe wallops. The loser took his beating like a man and received a great ovation from the crowd.

John Cosgrove, of Manhattan, was unlucky enough to pick "Lou" Mutzel for an opponent. "Lou" outclassed his rival in every department of the game. He landed a blow whenever he wanted to and a Bucknell victory was never in doubt. At one time in the second round Mutzel floored Cosgrove for a count of six.

Jones Wins Final

The wind-up bout of the evening was between "Pottsville" Jones and "Tony" Dacunto for the heavyweight honors. Jones found himself in the extra period and got his right jab working to a good advantage. When the judges awarded Jones a victory, it marked Bucknell's seventh of the evening. It was a clean sweep all around.

The meet was conducted in accordance with inter-collegiate rules. Leo Houck, Penn State boxing coach, was the third man in the ring. John Swank and Harry Frank, of Lancaster, were the judges.

Lambda Chi Bows To Fijis in Extra Period

Ballentine's Overhead Field Goal Nets Single Point Victory

A marvellous over-the-head shot, which resulted in a field goal, by Floyd Ballentine in the last five seconds of play enabled the Phi Gamma Delta basketball team to conquer the Lambda Chi Alpha court five in a surprising upset by the slim advantage of 36-35. Before Ballentine caged his sensational two-pointer the Lambda Chis were ahead by a 35-34 margin.

"Andy" Lobel, the pride of Bloomfield, N. J., had swished the net for the field goal just before Ballentine contributed his winning throw. Before Lobel had scored, Kammire caged a charity toss to break a 33-33 deadlock that had existed since the end of the required time to play. The two great court teams had battled neck and neck for four periods and when the final whistle blew, the rival aggregations were tie for scoring honors.

An extra period was necessary and after a short rest the tired knights of the court lined up against each other, both aggregations seeking premier honors. It was a thriller to watch, that last five minutes of hectic play. The Phi Gam supporters went wild when Kammire's successful free toss released the stalemate. A moment later pandoranium reigned in the Lambda Chi section when the valuable Lobel registered a goal from the field which put his team out in front by a one point margin.

A Thrilling Finish

Lobel's late field goal set the stage for Ballentine's dramatic act. With a one point lead the Lambda Chis were determined to keep the lead by holding the ball in their possession. On the tap off following Lobel's score both teams fought like fury to get the ball. Only ten seconds remained to be played when "Don" Kammire emerged from a fighting group of rival basketeers with the ball in his possession. There was only one hope for a victory and that was to hurl the ball in the general direction of the basket. There was nothing else to do. It was up to Kammire to act immediately.

Although he was much nearer the enemy's basket than he was of his own, Kammire whipped the ball through the air toward the rim of the Phi Gam basket. The ball almost went through the rim and net but after circling the edges for a teasing second the spheriod decided to stay out. The Phi Gam rooters groaned. All was lost. But no—a figure was seen to race under the Phi Gam basket grasp the ball as it came down and continuing at full speed threw the ball over his head without even looking at the basket and scored the field goal that gave the Phi Gams their greatest victory in the history of inter-fraternity basketball at Bucknell.

This fleet-footed phantom was none other than Floyd Ballentine, the serious-minded forward for the Phi Gamma Delta five. And it was this same Ballentine who played phenominally all through the contest. The crafty floor runner was the highest individual scorer of the game with seven field goals and four fouls for an eighteen point total. Any player who can score eighteen points against the Lambda Chis can consider himself a mighty fine basketeer. Ballentine, in addition to his impressive scoring performance, played a fine floor game, passing and dribbling with equal ability.

Kammire Hits Stride

The accurate field goal tossing of "Don" Kammire was another chief cause for the Lambda Chi defeat. Kammire, who was a forward on the

(Continued on Page 7.)

Yearlings Chalk Up 42-28 Win In Fast Game With Wyoming Sem

Consistent Scoring by Chenoweth and Fry Plus Good Defense Work Spelled Defeat for Speedy Kingston Court Five In Spite of Ragged Passwork by Frosh

The Wyoming Seminary quintet, of Kingston, fell heir to the lesser share on Friday afternoon when the Bucknell freshmen basketball team took them in tow by a 46-28 score. The game was fast and interesting, the score at half time standing at 14-12 with the frosh holding the advantage. Wyoming presented a fine team of fast and accurate floor men, but the heavy scoring of Chenoweth and Fry coupled with the stone-wall defense of Borella and Stonebreaker proved to be an unsurmountable barrier to a Seminary victory.

Griffith acquitted himself well at a forward post, working with Chenoweth, who annexed twenty points for his team. Harry Fry contributed seven field goals and two fouls totaling sixteen points, in addition to turning in a creditable floor game at the pivot post. Borella and Stonebreaker proved to be the anchor men of Coach Musser's five, time and again breaking up the play of the visiting aggregation. The frosh showed flashes of ragged pass-work, while the Kingston boys treated the spectators to a lesson in speed and accuracy which only the steadiness of the yearling guards made futile. Levy, scoring Wyoming guard, tallied eleven points, seven of them via the free-throw route.

Mills, Wetzel, and Marter saw action during the last half of the game and gave good accounts of themselves when the visiting five were making their last dash for victory. "Chuck" Titus handled the game in a creditable manner, keeping it fast and interesting. The score:

Bucknell Frosh	Field	Foul	Total
Chenoweth, f	8	4	20
Griffith, f	0	1	1
Mills, f	1	0	2
Fry, c	7	2	16
Stonebreaker, g	0	4	4
Borella, g	1	1	3
Marter, g	0	0	0
Wetzel, g	0	0	0
Total	17	12	46
Wyoming Sem.	Field	Foul	Total
Reese, f	2	0	4
Bailey, f	2	1	5
Patten, f	0	0	0
Pough, f	1	1	3
Miller, c	2	1	5
Walker, g	0	0	0
Levy, g	2	7	11
McKeg, g	0	0	0
Bunnell, g	0	0	0
Total	9	10	28

Referee—Titus. Scorer—McElligot and Wagner.

S. A. E. and Fiji Rise In League Standing

The Sigma Alpha Epsilon and the Phi Gamma Delta basketball teams were respective winners over the Sigma Chi and Beta Kappa quintets last Friday night in the Tustin gym. The S. A. E's. beat the Sigs by a 42-19 margin while the Phi Gams vanquished the Beta Kappas by a 34-9 advantage.

Both games were slow affairs. The S. A. E's. led by their star forward Chief gained an easy win over the Sigma Chis. Ammerman was high scorer in this game with 13 points. However Captain Chief of the S. A. E's. was the individual star of the game playing well on the defense and scored 11 points. Hoak played best for the losers.

Ballentine and Kammire were the big guns for the Phi Gamas in their triumph over the Beta Kappas. Kammire tallied six field goals while Ballentine caged five double deckers and a foul.

The score by periods:

S. A. E.	14	28—42
Sigma Chi	4	15—19
Phi Gams	21	13—34
Beta Kappa	7	2— 9

Referee—Titus.
Scorer—McElligot.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElligot

Our hats off to the Manhattan boxers. If courage and fighting spirit make ring champions, then the New York City boys are in a class by themselves. Every one of the Manhattan men put up a game but losing fight. Bucknell appreciates such spirit. The onlookers were impressed by the manly defense and applauded the fighting Manhattan fighters after every bout.

—B—

"Lou" Mutzel was kind to his ring rival. The Lancaster puncher had Cosgrove at his mercy from the start, but did not take advantage of his easy opportunity. Such is true Bucknell sportsmanship. Mutzel won a place in the hearts of every Bucknell fan who saw him toy with his hopelessly outclassed partner. It was no wonder then at the end of the ring meet that Cosgrove approached Mutzel and expressed his appreciation.

—B—

Frank Storaci, Bucknell's 135-pounder, obtained the only technical knockout last Thursday. Storaci's pedformance in his bout with Orlandi dispelled all fears that he was on the downward grade. Frank came back last Thursday. Coach Plant can depend upon him to carry through the rest of the season. Storaci is a senior.

—B—

It is a great achievement to be a three-letter man in college. Welland Wadsworth, of McGraw, N. Y., excels in football, basketball, and track. Last fall he played at a wing post on the Bison eleven. He is now a varsity member of Bucknell's basketball quintet. He has been a guard on the Bison court team during the entire season.

—B—

Wadsworth has the distinction of being a straight "A" student. When the semester grades were given out last Friday, Wadsworth was awarded 5 "A" grades.

—B—

"What's the matter with "Pottsville" was a query that was heard while the Jones-Dacunto fight was in progress. Jones didn't unearth anything during the first three rounds but came back like a bear in the extra period to garner a well-earned triumph. Jones was approached the next day by one of his admirers.

"What's the matter?" he was asked. "Why didn't you use your right jab?"

"Aw" replied Jones, nonchalantly, "I'm saving it for the Junior Prom."

—B—

Speaking of boxing bouts, Jones will face an acid test tomorrow when he faces Walt Layer, the crack P. M. C. heavyweight. Layer is the amateur intercollegiate champion of the middle Atlantic states. He has been winning all his fights with ease this winter, and probably expects to upset Jones. If Jones beats Layer, he will have achieved something. And Jones is determined to pull the unexpected. He is still undefeated in ring competition in college circles.

—B—

Bucknell will face an old rival here on Saturday evening, when Gettysburg comes to town for a basketball game. Gettysburg defeated Bucknell on the gridiron last fall, and the Bisons hope to obtain revenge. A court victory will furnish Bucknell with some consolation for last fall's unexpected setback.

Bison Mittmen Face P.M.C. in Dual Meet

Coach Plant To Use Same Glove Artists Who Met Manhattan

Fresh from a 7-0 victory over the Manhattan boxers, Coach Plant's Bucknell mittmen will face an acid test tomorrow evening when they exchange blows with Pennsylvania Military College in a dual meet. Coach Plant was evidently pleased with the work of his men in the Manhattan engagement and he will probably send the same glove artists against the P. M. C. fighters.

"Nick" LaFerrara, will open the fight as Bucknell's 115-pounder. "Mickey" Boerner will follow LaFerrara in the ring to protect his 125-pound rights. Frank Storaci is scheduled to exchange wallops with the P. M. C. 135-pounder. Captain Frank Lepore, of Pittston, will battle his 145-pound rival. Lepore received a minor eye injury last Thursday but he expects to be fit for duty tomorrow. Lepore easily won his fight against his Manhattan foe. Wilbur Ammerman is the 160-pound Bucknell boxer, and is rapidly developing into a good puncher.

"Lou" Mutzel, of Lancaster, will defend his light heavyweight supremacy. He has something like 20 straight wins to his credit, not all of which were obtained in college ranks. He is a classy boxer and is one of the mainstays of the Bucknell team. "Pottsville" Jones, of Llewellyn, will fight as Bucknell's heavyweight against Walt Layer. Jones will have to be at his best tomorrow.

Gettysburg Five Oppose Bisons Here Saturday

Plantmen, Undefeated on Home Court, Determined To Keep Record Unblemished

Bucknell's fifth home court game of the season will be staged at the new high school gymnasium on Saturday evening with Gettysburg. The battlefield warriors have won several games so far this winter, and stiff opposition is expected from them.

Bucknell, with an undefeated home record, is determined to keep that record intact. Another large crowd is expected to attend this game.

Last fall Gettysburg defeated Bucknell on the gridiron in a surprising upset. This defeat spoiled a perfectly good season for the Bucknell Bisons. A Bucknell victory on Saturday will furnish the Bison followers with some consolation for last fall's setback.

Coach Plant will probably start the same lineup that he has been using right along. "Ted" Mitchell and "Bernie" Klosterman will be assigned to duty at the forward berths, with Seller at the pivot post. Captain Woodring and Wadsworth will play at the guard berths. Excellent emergency material will be available in "Lou" Jefferies, "Tony" Kostos, and Norman Ross.

The man who hid behind a woman's skirt was formerly called a coward; today he is called a magician.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes
LEWISBURG, PA.

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

Penn State Lauded As College Prototype

Bucknell students have a very high regard for our neighboring institution of learning, Pennsylvania State College, but few of us are aware of the place in educational history that Penn State really holds. We think of her as "just another state college," not realizing that she is the prototype of all state colleges. Yet Pennsylvania State College, as is shown by the following extract from the Public Ledger, was the very first institution of this sort to come into existence and her success led to the founding of similar schools in other states. The article follows:

An event of national importance took place here just seventy years ago today. Regarded then as an experiment, the event was really the start for the great chain of landgrant colleges and universities of the United States which now enroll about 60 per cent of all the college men and women of the country.

Came to College in Bob-sleds

When sixty-nine young men aspiring to become scientific farmers rolled out to the deep straw of a caravan of bob-sleds following a twenty-five-mile ride through deep snowdrifts from the nearest railroad station at Spruce Creek, they were enrolled as students in what is said to be the first school of its kind in the United States. They arrived on February 16, 1859.

As the group of "bobs" wound its way up the Nittany Valley it presented a striking picture with the young adventurers, their bowler hats, "telescope" handbags, and high crowned trunks and bundles of bedding. Contrasted to the modern Penn State student arriving by the thousands on cushioned and inclosed busses and attired in the latest campus toggery, the original sixty-eight would certainly be regarded as a sorry looking group.

But these young men of 1859 had seen a vision, along with great leaders of that day, and were out to help the scientists determine how the tillers of the soil could better meet the increasing demands for foodstuffs to be used by the rapidly growing population of the country. They were on a real adventure, and despite some adverse criticism and no knowledge of the outcome, they went into the new game with both feet.

Work was the Order of the Day

Work, and plenty of it, was the order of the day for the budding young scientists in agriculture. It was a twelve-hour day, three hours of work on the college farms and nine hours in laboratories and lecture rooms. Every student received practical instruction in farm work, and put into practice what he learned in the laboratories.

The youths represented thirty-eight of the sixty-seven Pennsylvania counties, and before the year was out their number had swelled to 119, and in 1861 the first graduation from an American two-year course in scientific agriculture took place here. Eleven men constituted the first graduating class, and death came to the last of them only a few years ago.

Coincident to the celebration today of the seventieth anniversary of its opening is the recent announcement that Old Main Building, which during the first thirty years of the college was the only academic building on the campus, is to be torn down next summer and rebuilt with the same weathered limestone to carry on the ancient traditions of the college. It has been vacated by student classes, and its upper floors were long ago condemned as unsafe.

T. U. O. TAKES GAME FROM A. X. M., 39-19

The T. U. O. basketball team won another interfraternity game last Monday, downing the Alpha Chi Mu quintet in rather an easy fashion, 39-19. The winners led at half time by a 13-7 advantage. The T. U. O. men hit their stride in the last period and rolled up a score.

"Flip" De Fillipo was the outstanding player for the winners, with seven field goals and a lone foul. "Flip" once more thrilled the crowd with a brilliant floor performance.

John Bridegum, T. U. O. guard, was again held scoreless by the opposition.

Score:	FG.	F.	Total
T. U. O.	19	1	39
A. X. M.	7	5	19

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki.
Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

"How much is venison?"
"Two bucks."
"Rather deer isn't it?"

College News Sent From 38 Stations

Radio is rapidly gaining recognition in the colleges, both as a medium for broadcasting college activities and as a course of study for those who wish to make it their life work. Many of the larger stations are employing only college men in the capacity of announcer or director —men who have had microphone experience.

There are now sixty-three college radio stations in the United States. This is particularly remarkable, since it must be remembered that radio as a college institution is comparatively new. The colleges broadcast lectures, educational talks, talent recruited from the student body, etc. Some of the schools have large and beautiful studios with a staff of artists equal to any commercial station.

College Humor Magazine has arranged with the cooperation of one thousand or more colleges throughout the United States and Canada, a service called the Collegiate News Flashes, being a digest of all the college news of national import. This service is now being broadcast by the majority of these stations and it is enthusiastically received by radio fans.

The news flashes feature oddities in the news, such as the heaviest man in the United States playing football, or a student who has never received less than an A in any college study, or important medical discoveries by some professor, or unusual housing conditions, fraternity and sorority news, legislative moves that bear on scholastic matters, news about enrollments, athletics, etc., in brief, news of national interest that is not carried in the daily papers.

The majority of the college radio stations broadcasting these news flashes are located in the south and west. New York state has two of such stations, one at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, and the other at St. Lawrence University in Canton. None of Pennsylvania's college radio stations are receiving the Collegiate News Flashes which are broadcast from thirty-eight of the sixty-three college radio stations in the United States.

LAMBDA CHI BOWS TO FIJIS IN EXTRA PERIOD

(Continued from page 3.)

Bucknell varsity five last winter, was at his best on Monday evening towering above the pack with an amazing exhibition of field goal tossing. "Don" caged five field goals, all of which were the results of long shots. He sank them from all angles, and they sneaked through the net as clean as a whistle.

But that is not all. Let us introduce next—"Dink" Hamon, a freshman, who was inserted in the contest during the second half to guard the dangerous Felix McCormick who had registered four field goals in the opening period. Believe it or not—Hamon held McCormick scoreless by trailing him in an ever stubborn manner. He stuck to McCormick like Mutt sticks to Jeff, and as a result the Bloomfield sensation went scoreless during the last period and also the extra session.

"Hal" Mitchell and "Cy" Marter also performed creditably for the winners. Marter, another yearling, played a bang-up game at the guard post and managed to snare a pair of field goals on the offense.

Ellor is Courageous

"Bert" Ellor, the Lambda Chi's brilliant center, was not in shape to play but he stayed in during the whole game. He was suffering from a bad abcess but he played on pure grit. His presence in the game undoubtedly inspired the team. The commendable work of Lobel and Downey at the guard berths was largely responsible for the Lambda Chi uprising in the second half. During the last two periods Lobel and Downey scored eight points between them. Lobel's score came in the extra session, while Downey registered a trio of double deckers during the course of the second half.

Score by periods:

Lambda Chis	19	14	2—35
Phi Gams	14	19	3—36

Referee—Halicki. Scorer—McElligot.

The Pursuit of Knowledge

Bucket Shop proprietor (lecturing his corps of salesmen)—"All my success, all my financial prestige, I owe to one thing alone—pluck, pluck, pluck."

Salesman—"But how are we to find the right people to pluck?"

W. C. Shure Licensed To Preach

William C. Shure, '29, of 142 Catawissa avenue, Sunbury, has just been licensed by the Methodist Episcopal Church to preach. This privilege was granted at a meeting of the Fourth Quarterly Conference, held by District Superintendent M. E. Swartz, in the St. John's Methodist Church in Sunbury, on February 12. The action was taken by unanimous vote of the Conference. After his graduation from Bucknell, Shure expects to enter the Drew Theological School.

Among the stewards chosen for the coming year was Hiram L. Purdy, '98, who was elected as reserve district steward.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

The fraternity takes pleasure in announcing the following pledges: Edward C. Jennings, '32, Medford, N. J.; John W. Krueges, '32, Summit Hill, Pa.; Harry R. Faller, '32, Port Jervis, N. J.; Kennith L. Sherer, '32, Knoxville, Pa.; Bruce T. Selbensperger, '32, Summit Hill, Pa.; Donald D. Borella, '32, Trenton, N. J.

Brothers Frank S. Storaci, '29, Trenton, N. J.; and Mason C. Wagner, '31, White Deer, Pa., were formally initiated during the last month.

Read the Bucknellian.

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men's Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING PROMPT SERVICE
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

Why Life Insurance?
1. To protect your earning power.
2. To cover the cost of your college education to those who made it possible.
3. To protect yourself and build up an estate which will have collateral value.
4. To provide a sum for your own use by systematic saving.
5. To provide in case of sickness or disability a regular income.
Get this valuable business asset while the rates are low. $10,000 with the Philadelphia Life at the age of 21 will cost $80 annually. A special policy for the college man. For further particulars write
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS

BUCKNELL— CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your cooperation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:-
Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:
M.....
.....
.....
M.....
.....
.....
(Signed).....

Fred Heather's Ranshaw Church Opened Jan. 20

Small Congregation, Led By Student Pastor, Erects $24,000 Structure

January 20 was a big day in the history of the Johnson City Methodist Church, at Ranshaw, Pa., and it was also a big day in the life of Fred H. Heather, '30. On that day, a new $24,000 structure was dedicated and formally opened for public worship. The new church building stands in the little town of 1500 people, most of whom are miners, as a memorial to the sacrifice and work of the small congregation and to the untiring efforts and dynamic leadership of their leader, Fred Heather. Facing what seemed to be an impossible task, Bucknell's "red-headed preacher" went into the coal region adjoining Shamokin to serve the Methdist people at Ranshaw. He at once realized that the small one-roomed building which had been erected in 1900 at the cost of only $1,050 was inadequate to meet the needs of the community. In the face of terrible industrial conditions, a movement was begun to secure a new church. The first nine months netted $3,000 in cash toward the new building. Because of the demands which the project made upon his time, Fred was forced to leave school for a semester in order to devote his entire time to the undertaking.

The old church stood on a corner lot where the present church stands. In order to build the new structure and yet continue services, a group of men from the church moved the little building to the back of the lot. A building commitee was appointed, and designs and plans were drawn up by Mr. Malcolm Clingen, of Milton. The contract was given to Mr. Joseph Oshinskie, of Ranshaw, and in May, 1928, work was begun on the new church. This was completed in time to be dedicated on January 20 of this year.

The new structure is gothic in type, and is built of brick veneer. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 200. The far-sightedness of the group is evidenced by the fact that provision has been made for the installation of a pipe-organ at some future date. The equipment is modern in every respect. The basement contains a social hall, and has a modern stage for dramatics. A special room and a kitchen are included for the benefit of the ladies of the church.

That the congregation fully appreciates what Fred has done for them is shown by the fact that the members and friends of the church have placed a stained glass window in the chancel in his honor.

THIS IS THE CHURCH THAT FRED BUILT

NEW JOHNSON CITY METHODIST CHURCH erected at a cost of $24,000. The building project was carried to completion under the leadership of Fred H. Heather Jr., '30, who is serving the congregation as student pastor.

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

TO THE MUNE or MUNE MAADNESS

How bewtiful is this here nite,
How brite the starz du shine,
All natur slepes in trankiliniss,
But this loan hart of mine.

Our dorg has kwit a-barkin' now,
Att the studunts passin' bi,
Heze gazin' at the far of mune
With eam and plassid i.

Wen vuin the, thou pail face thing,
A-hangin in the skize,
Upward on wild untramled wing
Mi thauts cuts dust and flize.

O kud I kwit this klod of kla,
And sore abuv the croud,
Ide baith mi sole in heggstazy
In yonder fleasy cloud.

How can the poits hiborn sole
Mix with erth's vulgar cru?
Wud it not rather fli awa
And hide from mortle vu?

Ah yes! had I a pare of wings
To go to yunder mune,
I gess side jest as soon sta thar
From now until next June.

And thar a-rovin' up and down
Thru purty flowers ide go,
Or listen to the tinklin' rills
Wot from the mountings flo.
Or something to that effect.

—Izzy Wright.

TELEPHONIC TACT

A modern minister was giving some advice over the telephone to an erring member of his congregation. This man owned a factory in which the conditions were not to the minister's liking. Under the stress of the moment his emotions got the better of him and he launched forth into a veritable sermon:

"You big hero you, you remind me of a certain universally prominent figure. Yes, you're right, it has points on its head and holds fire in its hand with immunity. It subtly lures and welcomes innocent men into a realm of vice and agony. Why it even——"

Here his wife interrupted him: "Harvey, remember that he contributed $500 to our church, and oh Harvey, I need a new coat so badly."

With amazing presence of mind in the face of such a crisis the minister turned again to the phone and spoke in a soothing tone of voice: "Of course you realize that the figure I compared you to could be no other than the Statue of Liberty. Goodbye.

—Kane Unable.

From a report of a lecture in the local campus weekly comes this:

"Dr. Blank told of the man in bed who insisted that he saw white kittens with pink umbrellas over their heads playing leapfrog and saying, 'Have another drink!'

Yes, Doctor, DO have another drink.

Sunbury Papers Please Copy

A law passed in 1770, and never repealed, is causing some apprehension among scheming women of France since it was recently brought to light by a Paris newspaper. It declares that "any one who enticed into marriage a male subject of his majesty by means of rouge or scent, or artificial teeth, or false hair, shoes with high heels, crinolines or false hips, will be prosecuted for fraud and the marriage will be declared null and void."—Hartford Courant.

Meat Being So Expensive

"They say meat eaters are more active as a rule than vegetarians."

"Well, they gotta be to get the meat to eat."

115 Students Attain 85 Per Cent. Average

The list of students having an average of 85 per cent for the first semester of 1928-1929 has been compiled by Miss Mary H. Hunt, recorder. The following 115 students attained that average:

A. J. Abbott, '29; G. L. Abernethy, '32; R. B. Albright, '30; C. P. Bailey, '29; E. Bailey, W '29; H. R. Baker, '30; P. M. Barzilaski, '29; M. E. Bennett, W '30; C. A. L. Bickel, '32; A. V. Boerner, '32; J. R. Bower, '30; F. C. Bowers, '30; J. E. Bridegum, '30; D. N. Brown, '30; B. Buckham, W '32; J. S. Burlew, '31; G. Carnes, W '30; L. R. Carstater, W '29; H. G. P. Coates, '32; R. H. Coleman, '29; J. B. Cook, '29; D. M. Davies, W '30; D. J. Davis, '32; C. E. Davison, W '30; D. Deacon, W '29; G. K. Dean, '32; M. G. Dunkle, W '29; N. Egel, '31; H. Eisenberg, '32; T. E. Eisley, W '31; D. J. Evans, '32; M. Evans, W '32; H. C. Eyster, '32; J. N. Feaster, '30; P. E. Fink, '29; J. G. Foust, W '29; A. E. Frederick, W '29; J. R. Goodlander, '29; N. L. Griffith, W '31; D. M. Grimshaw, W '31; M. G. Groner, '31; R. D. Grove, '31; F. A. Guldin, '32; G. D. Haase, W '32; V. Hall, W '30; J. E. Harkless, '29; F. C. Hauber, '30; M. J. Headings, W '29; T. R. Hepler, '32; E. Heritage, W '29; E. I. Humphreys, W '29; E. S. Keim, W '30; R. E. Kizer, W '30; K. E. Klingman, W '29; L. L. Lake, '30; M. V. Laning, W '30; F. E. Lehman, '30; J. F. Lehman, '31; D. Levegood, W '30; R. G. Lingle, '30; G. M. Link, W '32; J. P. Logan, '32; D. E. Long, '30; J. Longstretch, '32; H. L. Manley, W '32; S. G. Marsh, W '31; L. E. Mattick, W '30; H. C. Menges, W '29; D. C. Miller, W '31; C. E. Mohr, '30; R. T. Nicholson, '29; D. L. Patchen, W '30; S. A. Porter, W '29; M. J. Potter, '30; B. C. Pratt, '32; J. E. Rank, '29; E. F. Reno, W '30; L. C. Rinck, W '30; H. M. Ritter, W '30; C. H. Rivenburg, '29; B. J. Rodenbeck, W '31; E. H. Sele, W '29; G. A. Schaun, W '30; J. J. Shields, '31; E. K. Shoff, W '31; E. J. Smalstig, '31; H. R. Smith, '29; R. E. Snauffer, '29; J. M. Snyder, '30; A. M. Sprout, W '31; L. E. Stark, W '32; H. G. Steinhilper, W '29; H. B. Stere, '29; J. B. Stevenson; '32; F. M. Stringer, W '30; E. C. Strock, '32; A. M. Sweeley, W '31; R. C. Taylor, W '32; S. E. Throne, W '30; E. L. Tomb, W '32; H. K. Tomb, W '32; W. B. Wadsworth, '30; M. L. Waldherr, W '31; F. E. Walker, '32; M. Wallace, W '29; F. M. Weibel, W '31; R. Wetzel, '32; I. R. Wiggins, W '30; E. W. Wilkinson' '29; J. H. Wood, W '29; W. H. Wood, '32; S. H. Woolley, '32; F. A. Yorty, '32; F. A. Yorty, W '29; W. F. Yust, '31; M. I. Zimmerman, W '31.

Sigma Tau Delta Discusses Biography at Recent Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, was held in the recreation room of the new dormitory, Wednesday evening, February 13, 1929.

The open fireplace with the chairs drawn about it gave to the meeting an informal atmosphere. The program consisted for the most part of biographies; there were also a few papers on other subjects presented. A general discussion followed the reading of the contributions. The topic for next month's meeting was announced by the chairman of the program committee as "Disillusionment."

Prof. Bond Attends Meeting At Crozer

Professor Charles M. Bond attended a conference at Crozer Seminary last Friday as one of its representatives men from the East. The purpose of the conference was to initiate an endowment drive for the Edward B. Pollard Memorial Fund of $50,000, which is to be raised at Crozer. The initial drive will be followed by a series of similar drives for funds until the permanent endowment is brought up to $1,000,000.

On Friday evening, Professor Bond left Crozer for Buck Hill Falls, where, as a Bucknell representative, he spent Saturday and Sunday at a conference for the Y. M. C. A. men, faculty, and students of the middle Atlantic field. At this conference he was leader of the faculty group.

Such men as Norman Thomas, Albert Parker Fitch, Stanley High, and Henry Pitt Van Dusen were on the program as principal speakers. The conference was under the personal supervision of L. C. "Bill" Wilson, executive secretary of the student division of the Y. M. C. A. in the Middle Atlantic field.

"SEM" CLASS PARTIES SLATED FOR MARCH 8

The date for the Sophomore-Senior and Freshman-Junior parties at the "Sem" has been set for Friday evening, March 8. Plans are being formed to make both affairs most enjoyable.

These two parties have become very popular annual events. The Freshman-Junior party usually takes the form of a mock Junior Prom, while at the Sophomore-Senior party the seniors bestow friendship circle pins upon their sister classmates.

"Dear, dear, you mustn't play with daddy's razor, baby! Mother has a can of peaches to open."

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

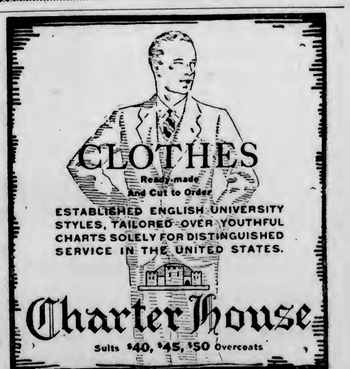
When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
We are again running a
SPECIAL ASSORTMENT
Silk Dresses
at $9.75 ea.
For the
Junior, small Miss and larger women, in the newest Spring styles of Georgette, Flat Crepe and the new Printed Crepe all at one price,
$9.75 each.
A new lot this week

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits $160,000.00
Deposits $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

DATE UP YOUR SEMITE NOW!
For the Lewisburg High School
ALUMNI DANCE
HIGH SCHOOL GYM, MAR. 2
BLUE BAND
$1.00 Per Couple
Tickets on sale at Montgomery & Co.'s
[Faculty permission has been secured for College Women to attend this function.]



CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY LEWISBURG, PENNA.

HARP ENSEMBLE AT BAPTIST CHURCH TONIGHT—8:15 P. M.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

ALL CONTRIBUTIONS FOR BUCKNELL VERSE DUE TOMORROW

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1929. NUMBER 22

Mutzel Scores Kayo as Bison Boxers Lose 4-3

Catholic University Glove Artists Outpoint Jones, Ammerman, Boerner, and LaFerrara

IS FIRST B. U. DEFEAT

A knockout victory by "Lou" Mutzel over McGrath featured Catholic University's 4-3 victory over the Bucknell boxing team at the new high school gymnasium last night. The meet was decided when Malovitch of the winners outpointed "Pottsville" Jones for the heavyweight honors.

Prior to Malovitch's triumph over Jones each team had won three bouts. Mutzel's victory was the gem of the evening. Coach Snavely's big football guard toyed with his ring rival in the first round only to come back like a lion in the second period. It was the second period that Mutzel unleashed a volley of deadly blows to the body and face. A terrific right to the jaw blasted all hopes that his rival had for winning. Down went McGrath in a crumpled heap and he was still in the dark when the referee had counted ten.

Mutzel's blows came in all directions during the second round. He had his left-handed rival startled and dazzled. The loser could not hit because his blows were warded off with apparent ease by the powerful Lancaster youth. McGrath, a southpaw, put up a fine battle in the opening round, but Mutzel's mighty right swung into action in the second period and this brought about the defeat for Catholic U's. 175p-ounder.

LaFerrara Loses First Bout

The winners gained victories in the first two bouts. In the 115-pound class, Depasquale outpointed the game "Nick" LaFarrara in a bout that went the regulation three rounds. LaFerrara fought hard but

(Continued on page 5)

C. Lloyd Major Signs To Play for Cotillion

Leader and Band Win Decision Over "Jelly Roll" Morton

With the signing of C. Lloyd Major and His Band the Sophomore Cotillion committee scored one of the neatest "beats" in years and practically assured the success of the dance.

When Major and "Jelly-Roll" Morton met in a battle of music at West Side Park, Berwick, two weeks ago it was to settle a much-discussed dispute as to which possessed the better band. The decision was reached by popular applause and for the first time in years the dusky "Jelly-Roll" was forced to accept second place.

Chairman Edward Smalstig of the Music Committee immediately negotiated with Major for the Sophomore Cotillion, but it was not until the beginning of the week that the contract was bound.

Fully realizing the exceptionally fine Prom that the Juniors held several weeks ago with Morton as the attraction, the sophomores feel that with C. Lloyd Major they can even surpass the upper-classmen's dance festival.

Rather than break the old tradition of staging the Cotillion in the Tustin Gymnasium the sophomores will throw their party there and, according to Robert Keenan, who is in charge of the decorations, the old place won't look the same when his committee gets through with it.

A. A. Tea Dance to Be Held Saturday in the Playroom

On Saturday afternoon, March 2, the Women's Athletic Association will hold a tea dance in the playroom of the new dormitory. Those who attended the W. A. A. tea dance last year in the "Sem" living room will remember what a success was made of the affair.

"Eddie" Hoffman is going to put pep into the dance and "Em" Maxwell, '30, will see to the other necessary details. Tickets, which are only fifty cents, may be obtained from any council member.

Bucknell Verse

Last call for contributions for the 1929 Bucknell Book of Verse has been issued by the English Department.

Friday, March 1, is the deadline.

The student body as a whole is invited to add to the growing collection of Bucknell Verse. No limit has been placed on the number of poems that may be submitted by an individual. As in former years the volume will be edited by members of the English Department.

This will be the fourth annual volume. The three past editions attained a very high critical reputation, one noted author having pronounced the second volume the finest undergraduate publication that had crossed his desk. It is to be hoped that this year's volume will attain the same high standard.

The size and scope of the publication will remain about the same as that of former years. However, if increased contributions warrant, enlargement will be made. However, quality alone will determine whether compositions are accepted.

Bucknell is Center Of District I. N. A. Convention Saturday

Bucknell University was host to the delegates to the District Three Convention of the Inter-collegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States held here Saturday, February 23. Representatives of The Dickinsonian, The Gettysburgian, the Schuylkill News, and the Bucknellian attended the conference.

John N. Feaster, '30, business manager of the Bucknellian, presided over the general session held Saturday afternoon in the playroom in the new dormitory. At that time Calvin Schultz, circulation manager of The Dickinsonian discussed the difficulties that the business staff of a paper must face. After telling of the progress made by his paper in a financial way during the past year he brought to light some of the problems of circulation.

Dean B. Armold, retiring editor of The Gettysburgian introduced "Dutch" Grimm, the new editor-in-chief, who described the manner in which his paper obtains alumni subscriptions and gave an account of that paper's system of obtaining cuts and news.

Miss Marian Sloyer, of the Schuylkill News told of the troubles incurred by her paper in its attempt to get news. The merger of Schuylkill and Albright Colleges was completed recently and has complicated the journalistic situation at that place.

In the informal discussion that followed, plans for creating a better circulation system, keeping a permanent file of exchanges, and methods for obtaining advertisements in small towns were brought to the attention of the embryo journalists.

The delegates were the guests of the Bucknellian at a dinner in the

(Continued on last page.)

MARTHA RICE SUSTAINS GASH IN LEG FROM SLED

Martha Jane Rice, eight year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Rice, was a patient in the Zeigler Memorial Infirmary for a short time recently after she had sustained a badly gashed leg while coasting on college hill.

The little girl upset her sled in order to avoid hitting a tree. The broken pieces of sled inflicted a wound which required about 40 stitches to close. Her condition is improving nicely.

Prof. Smith to Speak

The Epworth League service at the Methodist Church promises to be of unusual interest next Sunday evening when Prof. C. W. Smith of the English Department will speak on the subject, "Christ in the World's Literature." The meeting is held at 6:30.

Radio Announcers Tryout For WJBU Station Friday

Tryouts for the position of radio announcer in the studio of station WJBU will be held in the studio on the fourth floor of the Engineering Building on Friday afternoon, March 8, at three o'clock.

The position is open to sophomores and juniors. If you have a resonant voice with personality in its tone, hand in your name at the Electrical Engineering office in room 13, Main. The above mentioned voice qualities and the ability to carry on the work in the studio will be judged by a competent committee on Friday. This is the first time that the position of announcer has been open to the student body.

State Glee Club Wins Pittsburgh Contest

B. U. Men Make Fine Showing But Lose Lead for Want of A Better School Song

For the third successive year the Penn State glee club won the state championship at Pittsburgh, but unlike other years it was so hard pressed by the Bucknell songsters that it was necessary for the judges to stay out for an overtime session to make their choice. The Bucknell club covered themselves with glory by their fine showing against their more mature and experienced rivals and if they had possessed a better school song might have downed the Nittany Lions.

Each glee club was required to sing three numbers under the direction of a student leader, a choice song, the prize song which each club had to sing, and a school song. Bucknell went into the lead by rendering a vigorous reading of the Bullard war-horse, "Winter Song" and despite the fine work of the other six organizations, the Bisons were in the van at the end of the first group of songs.

State Ties B. U.

Penn State went into a tie for first place with Bucknell as the result of an exceptionally well-delivered number in the prize song group, while Bucknell was able to keep its lead over the other contestants. The crushing blow was the school song, which dropped the Bucknellians from the top to fourth place in the judges' opinions. Here it was not the quality of the blended voices that spelled disaster, but the song itself. Never before was Bucknell's need of a good,

(Continued on page 5)

Men Debaters Plan For Trips in March

"In like a lamb; out like a lion," characterize the month of March, but it is hoped that the Bucknell debating teams will change the proverb to read, "In like a lion; out like a lion," for this March holds many verbal combats in store for both teams, affirmative and negative.

The B. U. men's affirmative team will make a tour from March 6 to March 11, debating the teams of Franklin and Marshal, Ursinus, Albright, and Western Maryland.

The negative team will make an extensive trip from March 20 to March 30, encountering teams from University of Maine, Middlebury, Colby, New York University, Hobart, Clark, and Williams.

Between the two trips Bucknell students will be given an opportunity to hear the affirmative team debate when Bucknell meets Temple at Bucknell on March 15.

Pig Paraders Receive Cold Reception In Higher Intellectual Campus Groups

Pigs is pigs! And they feel right at home on the Bucknell campus. At least they did, until two got lost behind the library and began to cry for mother.

It was this way. Ma Pig and Pa Pig and four little grunters left the barnyard the other day and began to explore a bit. They waddled over toward the infirmary, but were shooed away because some patients were trying to sleep. Not in the least daunted, they set out, as many other gormands have done, for Guy Payne's. Even there they found a cold reception. (It was not near meal time yet). Seeking companionship, the Pig family toddled over to the Engineering Building, but they couldn't get in because they didn't know the password.

Then began the "Pig Parade," down the path towards the library. Pa led, and behind him in single file lumbered the others, Ma bring up the rear. But somehow two tiny toddlers couldn't keep up, and then

(Continued on page 8)

Ensemble of Seven Noted Women Harpists Will Appear at Baptist Church Tonight

Rare Treat Promised Students When Group Plays at Regular Artists Course Concert

The Dorothy Johnstone-Baseler Harp Ensemble will give a concert tonight at the Lewisburg Baptist church at 8:15 p. m. This concert is one of the regular numbers of the Artists Course entertainments scheduled by the Dramatic and Literary Board, and is therefore open to all students upon presentation of budget tickets.

This group of noted harpists is headed by Mrs. Dorothy Johnstone-Baseler, who is regarded as the foremost harp player in Philadelphia, and who has long been noted as a harp soloist.

The entire ensemble consists of seven harpists. All are women. The appearance of these seven players, with their beautiful instruments, is most striking. So, too, is the volume of the music produced by so many instruments. Music lovers are sure to enjoy a rare treat at this concert.

Mrs. Baseler's ensemble has played in many cities, and has appeared be-

(Continued on page 2)

Students May Tryout For Nat'l Oratorical Contest on March 19

Bucknell's representative to the Fifth National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution will be chosen at an open contest to be held in Bucknell Hall, Tuesday, March 19, at 7:30 o'clock.

Contestants will hand their names and subjects to Professor James P. Whyte on or before March 12.

The orations must be original, must not require more than ten minutes for delivery, and must be on any one of the following subjects:

The Constitution.
Washington and the Constitution.
Hamilton and the Constitution.
Jefferson and the Constitution.
Marshall and the Constitution.
Franklin and the Constitution.
Madison and the Constitution.
Webster and the Constitution.
Lincoln and the Constitution.

The fact that a student participated in a preceding National Intercollegiate Contest does not disqualify him from taking part in the 1929 contest.

Bucknell Places Twice

Bucknell's representative, Lee Francis Lybarger, won fourth place in the contest last year, after gaining first place in the regional finals, held here last spring. Bucknell has been twice represented in the final contest in Los Angeles. T. Burns Drum took part in the finals at Los Angeles the year before last and captured sixth place.

The nation has been divided into seven regions for the purpose of the contest. The colleges in each region compete among themselves to determine the finalists for each region. The regional finalists compete late in May to determine the one speaker from each region who is to have a place in the National finals. A place in the National finals automatically carries with it an award ranging from $350 to $1500, according to the ratings given the different national finalists.

The orations must be of such a character as to increase interest in and respect for the Constitution of the United States.

Math Club to Meet

Professor F. M. Simpson will speak to the Mathematics club on Monday night, March 4, at 7:30 o'clock in Main 1. The subject of Professor Simpson's talk will be, "Dimentional Equations: Their Function." All members of the Mathematics club are especially urged to be present, and an invitation is likewise extended to other members of the student body.

Latin-Americans Meet At B. U. March 8-10

Men Familiar with Pan-American Problems to Guide the Group

Plans for the Pan-American conference to be held here on March 8, 9, and 10 are rapidly nearing completion. The committee in charge, in conjunction with several faculty members is now at work choosing several delegates from Bucknell who will represent the U. S. and Canada in the conference.

It has not been definitely decided as yet in just what form the discussions will take place but they will all be very informal and open to the student body, and the public in general.

A few of the speeches will be in Spanish and an interpreter will later give a resume of these speeches. Ten or more Latin-Americans who are studying in American schools will be present at the conference.

Prof. Paul Shaw of Columbia University, one of the speakers secured for the conference has the advantage of having spent several years in South America and is a thorough student of Pan-American problems.

Prof. Arratia of Temple University, another speaker, is a native of Chile and has had several years experience as a student and a teacher in this country. He is therefore well prepared to give a fair minded presentation of Pan-American problems.

Mr. R. B. Alvarez who is president of Yale Cosmopolitan Club, and an Argentine graduate student has also consented to come to B. U. as a representative. Alvarez is preparing to do Christian work in Chile.

Charles D. Hurrey, who will be one of the most experienced speakers at the conference has spent three years in South America and has been studying the Pan-American question both from the European and American viewpoint.

Some of the faculty members who are working in conjunction with the Y. M. C. A. committee are Prof. H. T. Colestock, Assistant Prof. O. W. Elsbree, Prof. H. T. Childs, Prof. C. M. Bond, Assistant Prof. Helen E. Sprague, and Assistant Prof. Vera C. Rockwell.

Mr. J. Bucher Speaks On Czecho-Slovakia

For its regular monthly meeting the Campus Club on February 19 secured the services of Mr. John George Bucher, lecturer on European countries, who had come to Bucknell to speak to Der Deutsche Verein on the preceding evening about Germany. Mr. Bucher talked to the Campus Club about Czecho-Slovakia. The meeting was necessarily held in the auditorium of the Engineering Building, in order that moving pictures might be shown.

To make his address the more easily understood, Mr. Bucher first briefly described Czecho-Slovakia, telling something of its history, and presenting several maps which explained some of the geographic and commercial problems with which this new country has to contend. Then followed an endless array of magnificent colored pictures, interspersed with strips of moving picture film, that showed the beauties of this romantic country, the charm of its cities, and the attractiveness of its people. Mr. Bucher's photographs are really notable. He has spent many years in collecting them. His lectures are more than ordinarily interesting because he not only describes his pictures, but weaves a vast amount of information into his talk.

Students Burned As Leak Results In Gas Explosion

Hand Extinguishers Put Out Fire Which Does $150 Damages; Furnace Lately Overhauled

31 WINDOWS SHATTERED

Two Bucknellians, F. D. Meeker, '30, and J. R. Weber, '28, a graduate student in chemistry, were badly burned about the face and hands, and damage estimated at $150 was done to the organic chemistry laboratory, in the Chemistry building late last Monday afternoon by a violent explosion of gasoline vapor escaping from a broken pipe connection and ignited by the heat from a cooling muffle furnace.

The fire which followed the explosion was quickly put out by students with hand extinguishers before the Lewisburg Fire Department arrived.

Both victims are in the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary, where it was stated that their condition was not alarming, but that some time must elapse before the burns will be healed. Though the burns are severe enough, it is fortunate that both students escaped with as slight injuries as they did, for the flame in which they were caught was fully twenty feet long.

Furnace Overhauled

The furnace which set off the gasair-vapor mixture was purchased several years ago by Professor W. G. Owens of the chemistry department and was used by his classes in metallurgy. For the last three years, the furnace has been used in heat treating and calcining, and only seniors and graduate students have been permitted to work with it. Last week the furnace was overhauled.

At that time the valves were cleaned and tightened, the pump adjusted, and the furnace reinforced with iron bands. It was in good working condition, according to a statement

(Continued on page 5)

Escaping of Steam Causes False Alarm

Smoke Seen by Chief Aurand Is Found To Be Steam

"It never rains but, it pours." The Chemistry Building, for the second time was the scene of commotion when last Tuesday evening about 24 hours after the disasterous explosion a second report of fire was broadcast. Tuesday's report proved false, however.

Chief Hayes Aurand, of Lewisburg, noticed smoke issuing from the gable on the right hand dormer on the front of the laboratory building which had been closed for the night. He immediately became alarmed and went to Prof. W. G. Owens' home. Prof. Owens was not at home, and Aurand telephoned Prof. O. S. Groner, but was unable to locate him.

Aurand finally succeeded in informing Prof. S. C. Ogburn of the trouble. Prof. Ogburn hurried to the building and found that it was not smoke, but steam that was issuing from an excess overflow pipe on the exterior of the building.

The steam ascended to the cornice of the building following the eaves up to the point of the gable and due to the heavy atmosphere it floated forth looking very much like smoke.

Cap and Dagger Selects 3 Men from Eight Entries

As a result of the final Cap and Dagger tryouts held Monday evening, February 25, three men were awarded positions in the society. The men selected are T. H. Wingate, '31, E. K. Lawson, '32, and W. F. Hopper, '32. These men were selected from eight entries who had survived the first elimination on Monday, February 18, when eleven students tried for positions.

Efforts and attentions are now confined to and concentrated upon a program for the remainder of the school year.

"Judy" Robertson, '30, spent the week-end at her home in Merchantville, N. J.

* * * *

Eleanor Buckholz spent the week-end of February 22 at her home in Baltimore, Md.

* * * *

"Sally" Bray, '32, attended the Junior Prom at Lafayette College, Easton, on Friday evening.

* * * *

The members of psychology 101 learned Tuesday that is possible to be left-eyed as well as left handed.

* * * *

John C. Pyle, '30, recently made a trip to the automobile show in Milton, where he unexpectedly met an old friend.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Soars and Miss Ella Shields of Muncy were guests of Miss Lulu Coe on Sunday, February 17.

* * * *

Dorothy Showalter, '31, spent the week-end at Lafayette College, Easton, where she attended the Junior Prom on Friday evening.

* * * *

The study of psychology has led Ramon De Filippo, '30, and "Nipper" Thoman, '31, to have some heated arguments about human anatomy.

* * * *

The alcove in the hall of third floor Harris has been converted into a locker and dressing room for the use of gym girls who commute.

* * * *

Prof. Frank Davis took his class in secondary education to visit the Bloomsburg Normal School, Bloomsburg, Pa., on Wednesday, February 20.

* * * *

Mrs. Harry Trunk, of Coatesville, Pa., spent Wednesday, Febuary 20 with her daughter, Marie Trunk, '31. Later Marie went home for the week-end.

* * * *

Most freshmen fellows are rather thoughtless but how could one be so unceremonious as to tumble in such a manner as to upset Mary Bennett, '30. These icy paths!

* * * *

Fortunately for "Lee" McKaig and "Dot" Berlin, snow does not often fall in this part of the country. As it is, they are hobbling around on crutches as a result of trying to ski.

* * * *

"I flatter myself that, as the saying goes, honesty is printed on my face."

"Well-er-yes, perhaps—with some allowance for typographical errors."

* * * *

Nan Lee Thomas, '30, has decided to make use of her room on third floor Annex once more. The infirmary was getting dull, and Nan Lee missed the cat menagerie of which the third floor so proudly boasts.

* * * *

The editorial, "Them Paths," which appeared in the Bucknellian a week or so ago struck a responsive chord in more than one heart. We would suggest, however, adding a discussion of "Them Steps" to the above topic of "Them Pathe."

* * * *

Esther Girton, '29, spent the week-end of February 10, at her home in Bloomsburg, Pa. She is fortunate in being one of these people whose homes are near enough to enable thm to spend a week-end there now and then.

* * * *

What would the fussers do without that free half hour from ten to ten-thirty on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday? They can be seen in empty classrooms, at the Inn, in the library, and lounging around the halls, making the most of those few precious moments.

* * * *

The secondary education class, under the supervision of Professor Frank G. Davis, left Wednesday morning at nine o'clock, for Bloomsburg, where the members visited the Bloomsburg High School and observed the various classes. The Bucknell students were entertained at a luncheon at the State Teachers' College of that place.

* * * *

Jiggs, the police dog, knows where to go when he's hungry. Almost every day, around dinner time, he appears at the door of the "Sem" kitchen, and patiently waits there until "chef" gives him a juicy bone which he carries off to some favorite spot to enjoy at his leisure.

* * * *

Elsie Randall, '30, was fortunate in having her parents visit her over the last week-end.

* * * *

Nan Lee Thomas, '30, spent two days in the "Sem" infirmary last week, taking care of a bad cold.

* * * *

Speaking of advanced degrees, a co-ed says that she hopes to get an M. R. S. after she graduates from college.

* * * *

Bright student—"You're just like an airplane."

is friend—"Why, because I fly so high?"

Bright student—"No, you're no use on earth."

* * * *

Lionel J. Wilson, James B. Stevenson, and William H. Wood, all of '32, visited at the Wood home in Muncy during the last week-end, and enjoyed skiing, tobogganing, and other winter sports at Eagles Mere.

* * * *

Virginia Hall, '30, attended the Alpha Omicron Pi dance at the University of Pennsylvania, Saturday evening, February 23. "Ginny" was visiting Catherine Cawley, '27, who is working for a master's degree in the University of Pennsylvania.

* * * *

Kenneth Rounsley, '29, and Kenneth Vandenbree, '31, journeyed to Harrisburg last Friday and spent the week-end at the home of the first mentioned "thumb-tourist." A round of good times was enjoyed, culminating in a fine chicken dinner.

* * * *

Clarence Cranford, '29, and Philip Murray, '29, were popular speakers at the Young People's Rally held at Picture Rocks on Friday night. Margaret B. Erb proved an efficient chaperone for the occasion, and Roberta Slifer, '31, guided the destiny of the group as chauffeur.

* * * *

As one "Semite" remarked: "Somebody must have it in for our University, to spread false rumors like the one about prohibition officers being stationed here the night of the Junior Prom." Whoever that "somebody" is, we'd surely have it in for him, if we knew who he is.

* * * *

The members of the class in vertebrate zoology were disappointed in not being able to go on the field trip which they had planned for last Saturday. Such a thing as a little snow or cold weather does not hold them back, however, and they will make the trip as soon as the weather permits.

* * * *

Marie Trunk, '31, spent the week-end at Mercersburg Academy, Chambersburg, in order to attend the Mid-winter Prom, there, on Friday evening. Marie reports having had a splendid time except for one disappointment—"the favors were corsages which wilted after the second dance."

* * * *

A co-ed remarked that it takes her only about an hour longer to travel from Lewisburg to her home in Baltimore than it takes her friend to travel to Tamaqua which is only seventy miles from Lewisburg. Evidently we can't always judge the time it takes to travel by the distance one has to cover.

* * * *

Speaking of coincidences, a co-ed took out a book from the library in the University Book Store last week. And a few minutes later discovered that the picture of the same story was being shown at the Orpheum that week. She spent the next two or three days trying to decide whether to read the book first or wait until she had seen the picture.

* * * *

Washington's Birthday means a lot to the freshmen boys but the girls at the "Sem" look forward to Febusual anticipation. No—not for the ruary 22 with rather more than the same reason! They have a formal dinner, you see, including candy hatchets and red, white, and blue ice cream.

* * * *

"Jack" Volgarino, '31, diminutive Demi pledge, was the recipient of many humorous quips at the Delta Sigma tea dance last Saturday. It seems that Jack invited a girl to dance with him and, during the Terpsichorean activity, a gentleman who claimed to be "her man" entered upon the scene—much to the embarassment of the Mount Holly sophomore.

* * * *

For four weeks Bower House has been without hot water. When baths are to be taken, any number of its occupants can be seen scurrying to the School of Music with a Boston bag in one hand and a cake of soap in the other. But, no joking, the situation is getting to be a bit annoying, it's sufferers report.

* * * *

Only one mail delivery was made to the "Sem" on Washington's birthday. The mail girls had to get the afternoon and evening mail from the lock box down at the town post office. The "Semites" bemoaned the fact that they got no newspapers or packages that day, all because George Washington was born on February 22.

Guide for Men Issued On Calling Technic

The following article was published in the February 16 issue of the Wilson Billboard under the title of "Rules for a young man about to make his first call at Wilson." We reprint the article in the hope that it may be of some help to Bucknellians who desire to know the proper procedure to follow when calling at the "Sem."

1. If walking, proceed slowly and deliberately to the dormitory so that the top gallery—that is to say windows of the upper stories which are usually held at a premium on such occasion—may have a full view of your apparel, of your physiognomy, as well as of your figure.

2. If you are fortunate enough to possess a car, whether it is a roadster, a sedan, or a tin can, be not overly modest about it, but ride around the campus confidently, keeping your audience in suspense as long as possible as to your destination. Also this will give your girl friend time to compose herself and to powder her nose.

3. If you are not too painfully shy, it always makes a good impression to tip your hat, or, if you do not have one, to bow politely to those on the top gallery. Do not, however, wave; you will be thought fresh. At least show that you appreciate all the attention you are receiving.

4. It is a good move to ask directions of the girls you see out walking, if you have plenty of time to spare; they will be glad to help you, and it will give them some practice in conversing with the opposite sex.

5. Do not be alarmed if you hear remarks of a personal nature directed at yourself as you approach the dormitory; only remember that the whole college is watching you, and mind your manners.

You can be only pleased if what you hear is complimentary; that is some such thing as this: "My dear, he's cute!" or, if of this nature: "She must be robbing the cradle." Remember that the top gallery is only jealous of your 'girl friend.'

6. Do not expect to summon Her by yelling at the top gallery. Keep in mind that she thinks you have not seen her among her friends at the windows. Besides, she would be embarrassed.

7. While waiting in the parlor, pretend not to notice the heads that peep around the doorway, or the whispered comments that reach your ears. Be nonchalant, for whatever may be your defects, you will be considered either a paragon of beauty, or of morals and personality, because you are a man.

8. Do not be surprised if your girl friend brings in a roommate, a suite mate or two, and several best friends to be introduced. Give them your nicest smiles: you are not obliged to ask them out to dinner too.

Three Necessary Books

"Dey is three books necessary when you comes to dis church," said the colored preacher to his flock—"de Bible, de hymn book and de pocket-book. I wants you all to see you has 'em with you next Sunday."

Lehigh Students' Age Is Steadily Decreases

In 20 years the students of Lehigh will all be wheeled to classes in baby carriages and will weigh no more than a feather. This is a conclusion that may be drawn from statistics recently compiled from the last four classes entering Lehigh, says the Brown and White.

The average age of the class of 1928 is 21.78 years. The age of the classes following for the next three years decreases annually: 1929—20.79; 1930—20.01; 1931—18.96. This alone is peculiar but when it is known that the average weight also decreases from 146.98 lbs. in the class of 1928 to 142.32 lbs. in the class of 1931, the foregoing conclusion is even better shown. However the average height for three years starting in 1928 to 1930 increases fourteen hundredths of an inch.

Further consideration of the statistics show that the average age of all students in the University in September 1927 was 20.03 years; height was 68.50; weight was 143.70 lbs.

At the end of the college year in June 1928, 6,429 patients had received treatment at the medical dispensary of which 1,357 received surgical dressings; 4,050 medical treatments were given while 442 visited the dispensary for advice.

Rooms Made Attractive For Commuters in Dorm

Several decisive steps were taken recently by the Commuters' League of Bucknell with the aid of the administration.

Furnishings have been secured for the Commuters' rooms in the new dormitory. The lounge has been furnished with wicker suites which correspond to those used in the play room. The study has been fitted out with attractive desks and chairs for the benefit of those who wish to study. In addition, the small rooms on the ground floor of the new dormitory have been furnished as bedrooms for those commuters who wish at any time to remain over night.

Dean Amelia E. Clark conferred with the league members at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the organization on February 6; at that time arrangements were made for the purchase of a few additional necessities.

It pays to advertise.

You will find only the most approved street and dress shoes in John Wards. They have been grouped here especially for college men. For 30 years, John Wards have been the college man's shoe.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at MONTGOMERY & CO. LEWISBURG, PA.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men't Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING 419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE Next to the Gift Shop

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Pennsylvania Gamma takes pleasure in announcing a formal "Sem" dance to be held at the chapter house Friday evening, March 1. "Eddie" Hoffman and his Victor Recording Orchestra will be featured.

The annual Founders' Day Banquet was held at the house Tuesday evening. Among the prominent alumni present were brothers W. C. Bartol, J. M. Wolfe, and Walter Frick.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. O'Connor, the parents of pledge brother O'Connor, were the guests of the chapter over the week-end.

Brothers Shourds and Bunting spent the week-end in the Garden State, visiting their families in Trenton.

Brother Gilmour journeyed to Philadelphia on business over the past week-end with several friends.

The hare of the folks at home was too much for Brother Purdy, so Penn Yan, N. Y. was graced by the presence of our erstwhile engineer.

Brother Poynter, thinking one of Harry Billy's windows past its stage of usefulness, unlimbered his left arm with a beautiful peg, removing and completely destroying said window.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

Grand Praetor Justin Kunkle dropped in unexpectedly to see the boys on Sunday afternoon.

The house was rather quiet during the week-end with two men at Chester with the boxing team, two at State with the basketeers, and five in Pittsburgh with the glee club.

"Wally" Diehl stopped at the house to see the boys during the week-end. Diehl is working in Philadelphia, anxiously awaiting the football season, when he will be out to retain his all-American professional honors.

The first dance of the second semester will be held on March 16, according to "Line" Walters, chairman of the dance committee. "Line" has labelled the affair the "Hi-Jackers' Hop" and the details certainly sound good.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Last Friday night the active chapter of Alpha Phi were very pleasurably entertained by their pledges. A smoker, enlivened by a short skit and Kappa Sigma songs, made up the program. Brothers Benjamin Griffith and Walter Blair attended.

A "Sem" dance was held last Saturday evening in true Kappa Sigma style. Many guests including Miss Brooks and Miss Stainton, who acted as chaperones, were present. Music was provided by "Dan" Nesbit of Sunbury.

Brothers "Don" Reichard, ex-'30, and Charles Miller, ex-'30, were visitors at the house last Tuesday. "Don" has been working in Big Horn, Wyoming.

"Lindy" Carlton, '32, is back with us again after an absence of a week. We are glad that he was able to return to college.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

Lester Ely, '32, of Hightstown spent the week-end with his parents.

"Chip" Sorter, '30, visited friends in Doylestown over the week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. Lund were guests at dinner on Sunday.

Miss Brooks chaperoned a tea dance Saturday afternoon.

"Less" Pederson, '32, spent the week-end with his parents at Staten Island.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

The George Washington dance held at the house Saturday night was truly a holiday affair. It really did honor to the father of our country.

Dean Amelia Clark and Miss Lawson chaperoned, while "Don" Haver and his band from Bloomsburg supplied the syncopation for the occasion.

Cadets Georges and Morrison of Massanutten Military Academy, Woodstock, Va., were the guests of brother "Tony" Slate over the week-end.

Walter Sturmer of Collinswood, New Jersey visited brother Nicholson last week.

"Tony" Lysowski was the guest of brother Linden for a few days last week.

The parents of pledge brother Hatton visited the house for a few hours last Sunday.

Brother Francis L. Wood, '28, of Elmira, N. Y., paid us another short visit last week.

Brothers Browns, Tuzinski, and Nowicki enjoyed the winter sports at Eagles Mere, last Sunday.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

Iota of Kappa Delta Rho is pleased to announce the pledging of Clarence "Budd" Turner, '32, of Pottersville, N. Y.

Brothers "Ed" Yawars, '30, and Fred Allan, '30, visited their respective homes over the week-end. We can't see why they must both be away at the same time.

D. A. Arnold and J. N. Grimm of Pi chapter at Gettysburg were visitors at the house during the I. N. A., District 3 convention here at Bucknell. A few more of the boys dropped in on their way to the game Saturday night.

Pledge brother "Ben" Wahrman, '32, is right there when it comes to entertaining out of town girls.

Brother Paul Crigo, '30, journeyed to Carbondale, Pa., to visit his relatives.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Theta U. threw an Apache dance last Friday evening. It proved to be the most colorful dance held at the house this year. The chaperons were Brother and Mrs. W. H. Schuyler and Instructor and Mrs. C. J. Martz. Music was furnished by Hoffman's Orchestra.

Mother Miller, Professor and Mrs. R. L. Matz and Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff were guests at the house for dinner last Sunday.

The parents of John L. Kohl, '32, and a friend, Wr. Benjamin, drove from Clark's Summit last Sunday and spent a short time at the house.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

Pledge brother Guy Dean entertained his father and sister at the house last week-end. The Deans made the trip from their home in Trenton by automobile.

Pledge brother Rhodes and brother Howell visited the home of the former in Bloomsburg on Saturday, and reported everything "blooming."

Brother Truscott gave the State Capital a treat when he made his appearance there last Saturday and Sunday.

Leo Hadsall, a cousin of Brother Hadsall, '30, and a former student at this institution, visited the latter last week. Mr. Hadsall is teaching in the Junior High School at Trenton, N. J.

Mr. John McIntyre of Athens, Pa., paid an impromptu visit to Eldy Ward, '30, on Sunday.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

"Doc" Serino, '28 and "Dove" Stiller were week-end guests at the house. They are students at the Jefferson Medical School in Philadelphia.

R. S. Cooney, '31, did not make his regular Saturday night visit to Selinsgrove. The boys are wondering if there is anything wrong.

James Dibiaso, '30, "Slim" Mezza, '32, and "Steve" Trudnak, '32, are complaining of sore feet. We all know that it is only the after effect of traveling via the "shoe-leather express."

"Gene" Mirarchi, '29, did not miss going on his regular weekly trip to Kulpmont, Pa.

* * * *

PHI LAMBDA THETA
John J. Mootz, '32

Leland Bennett, '27, who is teaching in Plymouth, visited the house over the week-end.

The pledges gave a tea dance on Saturday afternoon, "Curley" Miller producing hot dance music for the occasion. Mrs. Kunkel was the chaperone.

Brothers Hazen, Trostel, and pledge Kayen returned from the glee club trip to Pittsburgh and report having an enjoyable time.

Pledge brother Fetter visited his brother in Girardville last week-end.

Lamar Davis, '32, is recovering from an injured ankle which he received in the Alpha Chi Mu game.

Brother John Stack and pledge brother Fred Koeckert went to Philadelphia on business last Friday. It is generally thought that it was very important business.

BETA KAPPA
"Chris" Gerken, '30

Eta chapter wishes to extend to brother Floyd Smith its deepest sympathy upon the death of his brother.

Due to the glee club trip, brothers Benford, Streitz, and McLure have been among the missing.

Brother Schaffer dropped in to see the boys last Saturday evening on his way back to his home in Latrobe.

Last Tuesday evening the actives were entertained by the pledges. They held a smoker and things ran

(Continued on Page 7.)

March 23d

THE
GRAND MAESTRO OF DANCE LAND
C. LLOYD MAJOR
AND
His Eleven Lieutenants
WILL FURNISH MUSIC IN TUSTIN GYMNASIUM
FOR THE ANNUAL SOPHOMORE COTILLION
SUBSCRIPTION - TWO FIFTY

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1887 Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAYS

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—16—

THE DOLDRUMS OF THE ADVERTISERS

MANY TIMES THE ADVERTISERS COMPLAIN THAT ADVERTISING IS USELESS, AND THEY PLAN TO EITHER REDUCE IT OR ELSE ABOLISH IT ALTOGETHER. MR. BABSON CLAIMS THAT WHEN A MAN THINKS THIS WAY ONE OF FOUR THINGS IS THE TROUBLE:

WHEN A MAN SAYS THIS, I KNOW THAT ONE OF FOUR THINGS IS THE TROUBLE. (1) EITHER HIS ADVERTISING IS NOT APPEALING TO THE FUNDAMENTAL EMOTIONS, AND, THEREFORE, NOT CAUSING A DESIRE FOR HIS PRODUCTS; (2) HE IS NOT ADAPTING HIS ADVERTISING TO THE NATURE OF HIS PRODUCT; (3) HE IS NOT ADVERTISING IN THE CHANNELS BEST SUITED FOR HIS PARTICULAR GOODS; OR (4)—WHICH IS MOST PROBABLE— HE HAS NOT BEEN ADVERTISING LONG ENOUGH TO GET ACCUMULATIVE RESULTS, WHICH MEAN GREAT SALES INCREASES. ANY ONE OF THESE FOUR THINGS MAY BE THE TROUBLE. CONSULTATION WITH SOME GOOD ADVERTISING AGENCY OR NEWSPAPER WOULD BE VERY HELPFUL IN SUCH CASES. MOST OFTEN I HAVE FOUND THE TROUBLE TO BE THAT THE BUSINESS MAN HAS NOT KEPT AT HIS ADVERTISING FOR A LONG ENOUGH PERIOD.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Clarence W. Cranford, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 191
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 191
Secretary to Business Manager	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Charles E. Moir, '30
Managing Editor	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Thomas McLeod, '31 Dorothy Davies, '30 A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor	Trenale Elsley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Hazen, '31
Sports Editor	J. Warren McIlgiot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandenbree, '31 R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Figner, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30
Circulation Manager	Frederick M. Locke, '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Glatter, '32	Benjamin Wahrman, '32
	Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; R. Hill, '31; E. E. Fries, '31; H. M. Graham, '31; H. T. Hogan, '29; K. A. Leach, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; N. D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. R. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Friday, March 1—Delta Sigma Play, Bucknell Hall, 8 p. m.
Phi Kappa Psi college formal, 8-11:45.
Sophomore Class party, 8-9:15, Baptist church.
Saturday, March 2—W. A. A. Tea Dance, 2:30-5:30, Playroom in new dormitory.
Zeta Gamma Tau formal, 8-11:45. Playroom in new dormitory.
Druid Dance, 8-11:15, Tustin Gymnasium.
High School dance, 8-11:30.
Beta Kappa formal, 8-11:15 p. m.
Alpha Chi Mu sleigh ride to Forest House, 2-11 p. m.
Monday, March 4—Phi Mu tea, 4-5:30 p. m., Living room.
Thursday, March 7—Girls' Glee Club Concert at Milton.
Frill and Frown play, 8 p. m., Bucknell Hall.

ANOTHER ONE ON CHAPEL

Because it felt that student opinion concerning compulsory chapel should be brought to the attention of the Bucknell faculty, the faculty-student committee on cooperation has proposed certain recommendations which, if adopted, would entirely change the nature of next year's chapel services. The committee does not desire to go further in the matter, but hopes that the faculty will give the recommendations serious consideration. Obviously, any action on this matter would have to be deferred until the return of President Emory W. Hunt.

The proposed changes provide for the same number of services as at present. One service, however, (according to the recommendations) would be an all-college assembly at which the attendance of the entire student body and faculty would be required. This would not be a religious service in any sense of the word. It would be a coming together of the personnel of the University for the presentation of campus issues such as athletics and the like. The other service would be a purely religious service at which the attendance would be voluntary. This service, the committee suggests, would be held in Bucknell Hall.

It would be fatuous to attempt to present in the limited space of an editorial an adequate argument either for or against the suggested changes. In fairness to the system as it exists, this should be said in its defense. Bucknell is a denominational institution. As such, religion has, or should have, a very real place on its campus. Chapel seems to be the one outstanding expression of this factor in which the administration has a part. Furthermore, the student realizes this before he comes here, and agrees to it by making Bucknell his choice. Again, it may be said that the students of the campus come together in meeting too few times now, and by making one service voluntary, the number of college assemblies would be cut in half.

However, students feel that chapel, as it is now, is defeating its own purpose which is primarily that of a worship service. Students of all denominations and sects are compelled to participate in a type of service in which they may not believe. Their dislike of this compulsion is evidenced in many ways: inattention, whispering, back row studying, and restlessness. Even the handful of faculty members present give frank evidences of boredom during the service. If one did wish to worship, it would be an impossibility to do so in the midst of such conditions. One wonders, also, if it is ever possible for a person to become worshipful in Commencement Hall. A service in Bucknell Hall to which only those who wished would come would offer increased possibilities for religious expression through worship. It seems inconsistent that a liberal University should demand that its students come together twice a week whether they wish to or not, whether they are religiously inclined or not, to take part in a meeting which is definitely religious in its nature. Compulsion in such matters can serve only to antagonize the students.

The fate of the recommendations, of course, lies with the faculty. Already, the Student Council of Religious Activities has voted to go on record as favoring the new plans. It is a matter of conjecture, but one feels quite certain that the majority of the students would approve the plan by which there would be one compulsory college assembly and one voluntary religious service each week.

COLLEGIATE, COLLEGIATE

"Garters—are the things we never wear—and we haven't any use for red-hot-flannels. . . ." The American college authorities haven't heard the above-quoted tuneful protestations concerning the collegiate wardrobe for some time, and naturally they're getting a little nervous. Couldn't blame 'em. Are the jubilant, carefree collegians as "collegiate" as they were won't to be two or three years ago? The garter companies' ads claim they are not. The authorities want to know. And when college authorities want to know something, there is only one thing to do. They've done it. They've sent out another questionnaire.

To be specific, Dean Henry Grattan Doyle of George Washington University has sent it out. And four hundred other deans have received it. The nature of the quiz is about what would be expected. "Is neatness of appearance typical of your student body?" "Does the psychological attitude of your student body approve of slouchy habits of dress and conduct or neat habits?" And more of the same. Dean Doyle has had some of the inevitable replies. A typical one comes from Wesleyan: "The present generation of students here are well-dressed, well-behaved, a very different type from what we had twenty-five years ago." What did Dean Doyle expect? Are the suffering deans going to tell him that their respective student bodies are not the very best ever? There has been one exception. Harvard, with her characteristic individuality, has refused to answer the questionnaire.

And Harvard is right. The "real" college student—if we mean the typical one—exists only in College Humor and in the collegian comedies. The student seen on the campus is a different—and far less glamorous—creature. In fact he is just a human being. He may wear garters or he may not. He may wear a "coon" coat, or he may not be able to afford one. He may study, be courteous, tip a hip flask, raise poultry for fun and profit. Or he may not. But he'll do what he does, because he was born that way or because he got that way; he will do it as any other normal human does it—and not as a "college student" does it. Because, after all, college students are human. They may not look it when they're wearing their fur coats, but they are just the same. But Dean Doyle doesn't seem to know this fact. He still thinks that people can be poured into the trite but very handy old mold. He still thinks "collegians" are a different kind of animal. Or maybe he just likes to give questionnaires. It doesn't make much difference. We hope he has a lot of fun either way.

R. L.

THE DELUSION OF BEING FREE

Should any group of people be asked what they would do if each one of the group should inherit a fortune, no doubt the answers of most of them would be that they would travel. Further questioning would undoubtedly develop the fact that most of their ideas of travel would be vague and hazy. They would like to travel—where? Anywhere, it would seem, just to get away from the humdrum of existence and be "free."

Well, what is freedom? How many of us know when we do or when we do not have it? Seemingly, if superficial definitions are accepted, freedom is a something which one must have before anything worth-while can be accomplished. "If I were only free, what might I not do?" Which is tommyrot! For the truth of the matter is that the greatest of human achievements have been accomplished by those fettered with mental and physical handicaps and adverse circumstances.

Carlyle was afflicted with domestic discord and his own miserable disposition. Beethoven composed the greatest of his symphonies when stone-deaf. Oscar Wilde wrote the most powerful of his poems, "The Ballad of Reading Gaol," while behind prison bars. Robert Louis Stevenson did his best work when dying with tuberculosis. Edison deaf, Milton blind, Burns uneducated, Franklin self-taught—all intellectual giants it is true, but yet not "free" in the sense that so many of us whine about. And so we do but delude ourselves when idly dreaming of what we could or would do "if only we were free."

Freedom, if anything, is a state of mind—a mind that keeps itself free from discontent, that will not allow itself to be defeated by untoward circumstances. Is it not true that when we desire most to "get away" from everything and everyone, we are but fatuously endeavoring to get away from ourselves?—and that is impossible. For whether our mental flight ascends to the heights of heaven or descends to the depths of hell, we cannot escape ourselves. The inescapable truth remains that when we realize we are not all that we hoped to be, when we feel that we are not enjoying the pleasures that we believe should be ours, it is not because we have not been "free" to do so. It is because we have been false to our ideals, unworthy of our aspirations, and inferior to our dreams.

—The Kalends.

THE MOON CHILD

Her horse was striped lightning
Prancing madly in the sky,
And her coach a downy pillow
Which the west wind carried by.
In her eyes, the light of heaven
Twinkled iridescent stars
And her hair, the gold of evening
When the sun puts up the bars.
Every autumn she went sailing
Riding on a crescent moon,
For her sail, a silken kerchief
And her oar, a silver spoon,
And she sang to all the fishes
Swimming in the Milky Way
As she passed the Greater Dipper
On her journey thru the Bay.
From the purple shadowed twilight
In the "Country n'eer come True"
Sailed the lonely moon-child's cradle
In a midnight sea of blue.
All the night she rocked and paddled
While her boat dipped in the foam
'Till the sun became resplendent
And the moon-child hurried home.

—Esther Heritage, '29

B.U. Bookshelf

THE WANDERER
(By Alain-Fournier.)

Houghton Mifflin Co., 1929, $2.50.

Reviewed by Kenneth Haines, '31

Shortly before Alain-Fournier perished at Saint-Remy during that eventful catastrophe of 1914, he published a novel—inspired by his own life, and reflecting in it the homesickness of his own soul. "Le Grand Meaulnes" it was called, in which, as he once remarked in speaking of his characters, "he hardly knew whether he was Meaulnes or young Seurel or Frantz or the writer of the book." Fournier's own life, perhaps because he always retained the vision of youth, would sound like a book. But one of his adventures is significant. Once, in Paris, he had chanced upon a marvelously beautiful girl whom he had followed, and with whom he had in time become intimate. He thought he had at last found "the life of his Paradise." But the girl, realizing the foolishness of such a friendship, left Paris, and later was married. Fournier was crushed, but the beautiful girl never ceased to live in his memory. Like an echo from the past she again appears as Yvonne de Galais in "Le Grand Meaulnes," and thanks to the "great adventure" of his life, we have a beautiful novel.

In Francoise Delisle's charming translation of "Le Grand Meaulnes" which he has called "The Wanderer," Meaulnes steps with enchanting vigor from the French to claim equal honors in English. The boy, Augustine Meaulnes, arriving at a Higher Elementary school of rural France strikes up a close friendship with Francois Seurel, a son of the schoolmaster, who throughout tempers Meaulne's ideas with common sense. Ever the adventurer, Augustin, in a strange way, soon meets the beautiful Yvonne at the marriage feast of her brother Frantz and falls in love with her. But complications arise: Frantz's betrothed unwittingly forsakes him, and the young man after attempting suicide, disappears; Meaulnes is separated from Yvonne, and though he seeks diligently cannot find her. At length he meets Frantz and swears to stand by him. But Frantz again disappears and Meaulnes is goes to Paris where he is told that Yvonne has married. Grief-stricken he seeks solace in a love affair with Valentine, the betrothed of Frantz. Meaulnes does not know her identity, but when he discovers the truth he leaves her, and she tells him she will surely become a "bad girl."

In the meantime Francois has found Yvonne—still unmarried. And naturally, it is only a short time before Augustin marries her. But Augustin, troubled about the fate of Valentine and true to his oath to Frantz, leaves his new found happiness vowing not to return until he has reunited the lovers.. This he finally does, but when he returns Yvonne is dead, but has left him a baby daughter.

Meaulnes, it is true, had failed to bring himself happiness, but he had at least been true, to his own soul. And therein lies the charm, which Fournier has so delicately woven into the trivial details of life as he knew it. The suspense of its mysterious silence makes the book appealingly human. For the work abounds in veiled silences, which are so artfully illuminated that the reader be not startled, yet expectant. In this Fournier is a superb craftsman, disdaining the sudden and hair-breadth revelation. Perhaps, we may even see in this a forecast of the novel of tomorrow wherein writers may reveal their souls with impunity. To him who reads to appreciate the tragic but beautiful revelations of the human soul, the memory of "The Wanderer" will not die.

HARP ENSEMBLE PLAYS AT BAPTIST CHURCH
(Continued from Page 1.)

fore many distinguished audiences, and in the homes of many notable persons. Press reports from Washington, Philadelphia, York, Atlantic City, Wilkes-Barre, and many other cities are unanimous in their enthusiastic applause of this organization.

Bucknellians should have a special interest in Mrs. Baseler's ensemble, because the director is herself the daughter of a Bucknellian. Mrs. Baseler's mother is Mrs. Hettie Johnstone, of Cynwyd, who attended the Bucknell Institute in the early days, having graduated with the Class of 1865. Mrs. Baseler is also related to Professor William C. Bartol.

The Ensemble will be assisted by Mae Ebrey Hotz, soprano, of Philadelphia. Miss Helen Tollefson, talented pianist, of the Bucknell University School of Music will accompany the artists.

Miss Brown Visits B. U.

On Monday and Tuesday of last week, the Y. W. C. A. had as its guest, Miss Alice Brown, a traveling secretary who came here from the conference at Buck Hill Falls to discover and help problems on this campus.

THE FLORSHEIM SHOE

To wear Florsheim shoes is to enjoy the best there is in shoe making.

Most Styles $10

FOR SALE BY

J. F. PROWANT CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.

The Florsheim Shoe

One way to trap a beaver

Not everybody in the Hudson's Bay Company was a trapper, any more than everybody in the Bell System is a telephone engineer.

The Hudson's Bay people trapped a good many beavers in the company offices, where the skilful financing and careful business management served to back up the men actually on the front lines. Organized activity succeeded then just as it does today. The men who put up telephone lines can work the better because back of them are other men who painstakingly design and make their equipment, and still other men who correlate all these activities into a smoothly meshing plan.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

Well, dr. reading public, please note the new ornament on the Gabbles' column, a really distinctive cut. It is a little large, perhaps, but that means Gulliver won't have to gabble so much to fill up his allotted space in this publication, the weekly "Bucknellian." He'll try to get a smaller cut, though, just for variety.

I always enjoy hearing from my friends and well-wishers. There is nothing like a pleasant personal letter to cheer one up, especially if one has been mistreated and pushed out on the last page of the paper, as per last week.

And don't forget, folks, if you have anything in which you think I would be interested, and my interests are many, my address is "Gulliver, care of the Bucknellian, Lewisburg." Drop yr. letter in the box and dear old Uncle Sam'l. will do the rest.

Love,
Gulliver.

* * * *

Description of a Queer College Bahnk-on-Nehlle.

My Dear Friend Gulliver:

Since my last communication to you, dear chap, I have had a most singular experience! Most singular, indeed! You would never guess! I paid a visit to one of those old-fashioned "colleges" that are still being run along the same lines that they were founded on—some of them more than a hundred years ago! There are very few of them now extant, and I was indeed fortunate to run across this one. It really is not a college, being more on the order of a kindergarten, but all the people there are Christian Scientists, so they THINK it is a college!

It is called "Bahnk-on-Nehlle," and is very attractively situated on the banks of that old, romantic river, Nehlle. A most curious institution, Gulliver, most curious! You would be so amused could you but visit the place. A relic of the past, dear chap! One can hardly believe that one is living in a modern age when one becomes imbued with the atmosphere at Bahnk-on-Nehlle. Indeed, the air itself is MUSTY!

Upon wandering across the campus soon after my arrival at this ancient place, I perceived gamboling upon the snow—(or, I should say, in the snow, for it was at least four feet deep),—a great concourse of young men—some of them at least twenty—and whom I conceived to be students—clad very sparsely in cotton shirts, sleeveless, running trunks, legless, and canvas shoes. That, dear Gulliver, was the limit of their apparel. And, dear chap, to add to this phenomenon, it was fully ten degrees below zero! To say that I was confounded would be putting it too mildly! Verily, I was alarmed for a moment, fearing that I had wandered into Danville by error! However, upon inquiry, I learned that this is the favorite winter sport of the students, who like nothing better of a frigid winter day that to remove as much of their clothing as the authorities will possibly countenance, and run about on this field in pursuit of a ball nearly the size of a pumpkin. Oh it is rare sport dear Gulliver—rare in every sense of the word! It develops their constitution, breaks their knee-caps, legs, arms, ankles, collar-bones, or what-have-you, and those that aren't already laid up in the tiny hospital there with triple pneumonia, pernicious anemia, fractured skulls, or broken necks, as a result of this fool past-time, soon will be. The faculty really does not approve of the students jeopardizing their health in this way, or taking time for it from other worth-while things, but you know that a student body can have just about whatever it wants if it goes after it in the right way. Then too, it provides a paying position for half a dozen athletic instructors—for you see, the school has so much money that it simply cannot get rid of it in ordinary ways. Twelve new dormitories for the men have recently been erected, to say nothing of new gymnasiums for both men and women, and they have even taken over the support of some one-horse school in South America, but still the money comes flowing in, and no way to dispose of it. So they resort to little pieces of ingeniousness like hiring athletic instructors at fabulous stipends to chase the students around that old cornfield every time they get the chance. Unique, eh? Phooy!

Another peculiar thing that was inadvertantly called to my attention by a long, lean, cynical sophomore, I think you call them, was a rather interesting piece of news about an "epidemic" that passed through the school a short time ago. I was much amused at this. There was an epidemic, and yet there wasn't. It was handled in a very efficient and consistent manner, as everything in that place is handled. There were about seventeen professors laid up with this infernal malady, and more than one-third of the students, but in a published article, the school authorities—(those that weren't so sick they couldn't talk)—denied the existence of any epidemic. Marvelous! As I say, the business was handled very consistently. Oh, very! The students were permitted to cancel one of their big dances, a Promenade, or something of the sort, to prevent the spread of this epidemic that the authorities insisted did not exist, and were still permitted to attend classes every day, and their chapel services on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Now wasn't that SO considerate? They did not have to run any risk of spreading the disease by holding their dance, but at the same time they were not compelled to suffer any intellectual loss by having their classes cancelled, nor to be deprived of the rich—(oh, so rich—and how!) —spiritual benefit they obtain through their chapel services.

Altogether, dear chap, I was greatly intrigued by my visit to Bahnk-on-Nehlle. A most sinister institution, and most curious, I'll be bound. Believe me, my friend, if they ever regain consciousness at that place, there will be big things done!

Ever thine,
Louis Quatorze.

STATE GLEE CLUB WINS PITTSBURGH CONTEST
(Continued from page 1)

vigorous song so much in evidence. Tech's "Dear Old Carnegie Tech," Penn State's "Blue and White," and Washington and Jefferson's "Alma Mater" earned them places above the Bucknell club.

The quality of the Bucknell singing was the best that has ever been produced by any of our glee clubs and is a direct reflection of the work of Director Ralph Hartz. Starting the season with only a few veterans as a legacy from last year's club, Professor Hartz has moulded an organization that can favorably compare with any college glee club in the East. Penn State's club is regarded as one of the best in the country and last summer toured the European continent and when Dr. Grant, State's director, admits that he feared Bucknell until the judges gave their decision, it speaks volumns for the quality of the men themselves and the man in back of them.

Although the annual contest is only four years old, the mammoth Carnegie Hall was entirely sold out and it may be necessary to stage it in Pittsburgh's Mosque in the future. Western Pennsylvania alumni supported their school in loyal fashion by having a large delegation at the contest.

In addition to competing for the state title, the glee club gave three very successful concerts along the way. Its de luxe motor coach left Lewisburg early Wednesday morning and made the 240 mile trip through the mountains to Dormont, where the club gave its initial performance. The next stop was at Parnassus and from there the club went direct to Pittsburgh for the titular contest. A concert was given in Holidaysburg on Saturday night on the way home, and the club made the remainder of the trip during the night, arriving in town early Sunday morning.

Student Volunteers To Confer

The annual Student Volunteer conference will be held at Princeton, N. J., March 1, 2, and 3. Internationally known scientists and missionaries will be the speakers. Robert E. Speer, one of Princeton's best football men of years past, and until recently moderator of the Presbyterian church, will address the group.

TWO STUDENTS BURNED IN CHEM. LAB. FIRE
(Continued from Page 1.)

made by a member of the chemistry department faculty. The furnace was fed from a five gallon gasoline tank, ten feet away. The fuel was fed in under pressure.

Monday afternoon the furnace was used from 2 to 5 o'clock in an experiment, the calcining of aluminum hydrate, and at the latter hour those in charge had quit work, cut off all valves in both furnace and tank, and had allowed the furnace to begin to cool.

Meeker Discovers Leakage

At 5:20 Meeker, in another part of the chemistry building, heard the hissing noise of gas vapor escaping from the line between the supply tank and the furnace. The break through which the vapor was escaping must have been made, therefore, sometime in the twenty minutes following the departure of those who had been using the furnace in the afternoon and the arrival of Meeker. Hearing the noise, Meeker called to Weber to come and help him stop the leakage. Weber, seeing the source of the trouble, placed one hand over the break and with the other began to release the pressure on the gas-line, but before he could do so the entire mixture, which by this time, a minute or so after Meeker discovered the break, had filled the entire laboratory, ignited from the yet warm furnace. There was an instantaneous flash, followed by a roar and a great concussion, which burst 31 window panes, broke six window sashes, and forced the locks on three nearby doors.

Weber and Meeker instinctively dashed out of the laboratory and past Professor S. C. Ogburn and others who came running to the scene as soon as they heard the noise.

Extinguishers Play on Flames

It was but a matter of a few seconds until a dozen or more fire extinguishers were being played on the flames, as every laboratory in the building is equipped with an extinguisher. Professors Ogburn and Stewart, the latter in the biology building, reached telephones at the same time and notified th Lwisburg Fire Department, which arrived to see smouldering embers.

Both victims state that they felt no sensation of noise or force as the explosion occurred all about them. All they remember before running is seeing a large sheet of flame. Their injuries are first and second degree burns.

That the damage was not greater is due to the fact that the furnace was in the only fireproof room of the building. Each of the four walls of the room are of concrete.

MUTZEL SCORES KAYO BUT B. U. LOSES 4-3
(Continued from Page 1)

was no match for his more experienced rival.

Catholic U. made it two straight when DiGiacomo outboxed "Mickey" Boerner for the 135-pound supremacy. The two punchers fought on even terms for three rounds and an extra period was necessary. In the deciding round DiGiacomo won over Boerner by a shade.

Storaci Wins Easily

Frank Storaci, one of Bucknell's classiest boxers, chalked up the first Bison triumph of the evening when he gained an easy ring victory over Captain Maguire of the visitors. Storaci, with a clever exhibition of footwork and punch landing, had his opponent on the defense from the start of the bout. This win was Storaci's third of the season.

Captain Frank Lepore's decisive victory over Blasi in the 145-pound battle deadlocked the score at 2-2. Lepore won over his rival by a wide margin. Captain Lepore had his man groggy as early as the second round but he did not take advatage of his helpless rival.

Lepore is to be praised for not only winning his fight but also for the true sportsmanship that he displayed. The Pittston youth could have easily put away his groggy rival in the third had he chose to. But Lepore let his ring partner stay in the ring for the three rounds. During the third period Lepore merely toyed with his hopelessly outclassed puncher. The valiant Bucknell captain was tendered a great ovation when the bout was over.

Ammerman a Game Loser

Wilbur Ammerman of Tyrone, fighting in the 160-pound class, was defeated by Fullam of the Capitol City who was the victor in every round. If gameness ever won a battle then Ammerman was supreme last night. He took lots of punishment without showing the slightest signs of whimpering. He managed to get a few good blows in during the bout of which his ring rival was the unwilling recipient.

"Lou" Mutzel's knockout triumph deadlocked the count again but Malovitch provided his teammates with their third victory of the season, when he outpointed "Pottsville" Jones in three rounds of fighting.

Prior to this meet both teams had been undefeated. Catholic University had scored victories over Temple and Washington and Lee while the Bucknell ringmen had vanquished both Manhattan and P. M. C.

Assistant Manager of Bell Telephone Co. To Address Commerce and Finance Club

E. S. Philbrick, assistant manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, will speak to the commerce and finance students on Friday evening, March 1, at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held in room 6 in the Biology Building.

Mr. Philbrick will speak on "The Possibilities of a College Graduate in the Telephone Business." As Mr. Philbrick has been with the Bell Telephone Company for many years, his lecture, based on well-rounded-out facts and statistics, should hold unusual interest for Bucknell students.

At the last meeting of the commerce and finance students, Roy Butler, of the Lewisburg National Bank, spoke to the students on the future possibilities in banking. All students majoring in economics or desiring to enter the field of business should "get in" on these interesting lectures.

Pigs Parade Around Campus
(Continued from page 1)

the rumpus began. Ma and Pa tried to find the stragglers, while in the meantime the other pair got lost. And such a lot of grunting and bellowing! Even Professor Whyte, with all his oratory, could not make them desist. "Most pig-headed class I ever had," he was heard to say.

But finally the whole happy family gathered 'round the festive board underneath the windows of West College and the cares of the strenous day were forgotten.

(Editor's note. Payne, '09, served ham for supper.)

Basket Ball
BUCKNELL vs. JUNIATA
Wednesday, March 6, 1929
At the New High School Gym

Stop! Look! Listen!

Now is the time to buy that special policy, which we offer to college men. Provide yourself with a regular income in case of disability, protect your interests, and prepare for your future. Our rates are exceptionally low. Your first payment extended until September 1. The best service at your command, through our special representative, a trained life insurance man. For details write or call

Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

JOE PAIGE
AT THE COLLEGE INN BARBER SHOP
TUESDAYS, THURSDAYS, SATURDAYS
HAIR BOBBING A SPECIALTY

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

PITT THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52

DATE UP YOUR SEMITE NOW!
For the Lewisburg High School
ALUMNI DANCE
HIGH SCHOOL GYM, MAR. 2
BLUE BAND
$1.00 Per Couple
Tickets on sale at Montgomery & Co.'s

[Faculty permission has been secured for College Women to attend this function.]

The Druids
WILL HOLD AN INFORMAL DANCE
IN THE
TUSTIN GYMNASIUM
Saturday, March 2, 1929
8 P. M.
SUBSCRIPTION $1.50
EDDIE HOFFMAN'S ORCHESTRA

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

Bisons and Owls Meet in Annual Court Struggle

Each Team Gained a One Point Victory over Rival in 1927; Play Schuylkill Tonight

Games with Temple and Schuylkill on foreign courts feature Bucknell's basketball schedule this week. Tonight at Reading, the Plantmen will face the Schuylkill College cagemen in the return engagement between the two teams. Several weeks ago Bucknell defeated the Reading Collegians here at the new high school gymnasium by a 41-36 score.

A triumph for Coach Plant's troops tonight will provide Bucknell with a clean sweep in its series with Schuylkill this year. Last fall Coach Snavely's gridders chalked up a 7-0 win over the Schuylkill football team in the first game of the season.

Tomorrow night, at Philadelphia, Bucknell will line up against an old foe, Temple. During the past two years the Bison and the Owl have met four times on the court. In three of these games the Philadelphians were victorious.

Divide 1927 Series

In 1927 Bucknell and Temple played a home and home series. The Cherry and White court warriors captured a one point victory in a contest that was staged in Lewisburg. Three weeks later the Thundering Herd invaded Philadelphia and turned the tables. This time Temple was the recipient of a one point defeat. "Bud" Frable, a sub forward from Latrobe, won fame in this contest when he caged the winning field goal in the last minute of play.

Last year Temple conquered the Bisons on the floor on two occasions. Both victories were easy wins for the Owl courtmen. Their star last year was Harry Litwack who is now the captain of the Cherry and White court outfit.

Coach Plant will start the same five men tomorrow which has been playing right along now. The quintet is composed of Mitchell and Klosterman, forwards; Seiler, center, and Wadsworth and Captain Woodring, guards.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElligot

"Lou" Jefferies of Port Norris, N. J., is rapidly developing into a first class basketball player. Under the careful eye of Coach John Plant, he has been converted into a promising floor man this season. He is only a sophomore and is still eligible for two years of varsity competition in basketball.

—B—

Jefferies was a member of the sophomore team last Friday when that aggregation was trounced by the freshmen. "Jeff" jumped center for the second-year team.

—B—

Last spring Jefferies pitched on the Bucknell yearling nine. He is a southpaw. When he was not on the mound "Jeff" covered the initial sack, where he played in a creditable manner.

—B—

Jefferies prepared for Bucknell at Port Norris N. J. High School, where he played on the diamond and the basketball court. He pitched and played in the outfield for the baseball nine, while he was a forward on the quintet.

—B—

Wilbur Ammerman, "The Tyrone Mauler" is surprising Bucknell fandom this year in the ring. Ammerman is Bucknell's 160-pound representative. In the two bouts which he has been in, he acquitted himself well.

—B—

"Maj" Kozik is looking forward with impatience to baseball season. As a member of the Bucknell yearling team last Spring Kozik was one of the leading batters on the nine. He specialized in extra base clouting. He will be eligible for varsity competition this spring.

—B—

Ramon DeFillippo is still pleasing fraternity basketball fans at the Tustin Gym this year. He is the center of the T. U. O. quintet. "Flip" is the leading scorer for his aggregation so far this season.

Frosh Courtmen Trim Rival Sophs, 43-18

Fry is High Scorer for Yearlings As 12 Men See Action

After electing William Chenoweth of Harrisburg to lead the team during the remainder of the season, the Bucknell yearling court men proceeded to trounce the Bison sophomores last Friday afternoon at the Tustin Gym by a 43-18 score. The winners assumed an early lead and were out in front at all stages of the game.

Coach Musser employed 12 yearling tossers during the course of the affair. He tried out a new combination composed of Mills and Chenoweth at forwards, Fry at center, and Stonebreaker and Marter playing guards. This quintet played well while in the game.

Harry Fry of Picture Rocks was the high scorer of the tussle with four field goals and a lone foul for a nine point total. He was closely pursued by Marter who tallied a quartet of field goals. Mills and Borella were tied with seven points each.

Tony "Burleigh" Slate contributed eight of the losers total points. Slate registered four field goals. The losers were confined to eight field goals half of which were collected by the Bison halfback.

In winning this tussle the yearlings scored their first victory of the year over their traditional rivals the sophomores. Last fall in their annual football tilt staged on Armistice Day the second year men conquered the freshmen gridders by a 20-0 margin. It was during this game that Cleon Boston scored two touchdowns which aided materially in the soph's overwhelming triumph.

The line-up:

Bucknell Sophs	Field	Foul	Total
Slate, f	4	0	8
Beckley, f	1	0	2
Jefferies, c	1	0	2
Brumbaugh, g	0	0	0
Lobel, g	0	1	1
Ross, f	2	1	5
Total	8	2	18
Bucknell Frosh	Field	Foul	Total
Mills, f	2	3	7
Griffiths, f	0	1	1
Fry, c	4	1	9
Marter, g	4	1	9
Coates, g	0	0	0
Wetzel, f	0	1	1
Chenoweth, f	1	2	4
Borella, c	3	1	7
Stonebreaker, g	2	2	6
Hepler, g	0	0	0
Total	16	11	43

Score by periods:

Sophomores	6	12—18
Freshmen	18	25—43

Referee—Halicki.

Time of periods—10 minute quarters.

What the Colleges Are Doing

"Y" Entertains Jail Birds

The Y. M. C. A. of the Religious Education Department of Juniata College, under the direction of Frederic Witmer, '30, took a program to the inmates of the Huntingdon County jail last Sunday night. The program was received with great enthusiasm.

—O—

Orders for Hand-made Jewelry

Another unique method of earning one's way through college has been disclosed by Anne Dudley Blitz, dean of women at the University of Minnesota. Dean Blitz says that she earned expenses by filling orders for hand-made jewelry. She has continued this work as a hobby.

—C—

Throw Paper on Floor!

"Throw waste paper on the floor, instead of throwing it into the proper receptacles" is the singular request of the dean of Western Reserve University, "because a cluttered floor tends to give the college a more business-like air."

—O—

Lafayette Placement Bureau

The recently organized placement bureau of Lafayette College has completed the accumulation of records of the members of the senior class and is now ready to begin the work of finding positions for graduates of the institution. Many alumni of the college have applied for registration in the lists, and it is expected that within a few years, when a large number of records have been accumulated, the bureau will be of great service to graduates.

—O—

3,800 Miles in 16 Days

Three thousand eight hundred miles in sixteen days was the record set by the Elena, two-masted schooner owned by William N. Bell, graduated from Haverford in '00, in winning the first transatlantic ocean race since 1905. The Elena raced in the class for boats over 55 feet in length for the cup offered by Alfonso XIII, King of Spain.

—B—

Washington's Property Identified

Washington and Jefferson may well be proud of the fact, that has recently been announced—George Washington once owned many acres of the land in Washington county, Pennsylvania—part of which property is now within the bounds of the W. and J. campus.

—X—

Aero Club at Cooper Union

Students of Cooper Union are taking initial steps in the latest fad among the colleges. They are organizing an Aero Club, for the benefit of those who desire to take up flying as an extra-curricular activity.

—X—

Indiana Co-eds Restricted

Co-eds at the University of Indiana are forbidden to ride in a student's car unless they have their parents in the car or have at least obtained a special permission from the dean.

—X—

Chubby Co-eds are Studious

Statistics of the University of Arizona show that the chubby co-eds are very studious. Quoting from the physical director of that University, "The slender co-ed is more popular and therefore takes more interest in social doings." Perhaps the unpopular cherub takes her revenge scholastically.

—X—

Forty-one Colleges Represented

Forty-one colleges were represented at the student meeting held at Buck Hill Falls Inn, under the auspices of the Middle Atlantic Field Council of the Y. M. C. A. The outstanding speakers were: Dr. Albert Parker Fitch, pastor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church of New York; Norman Thomas, Socialistic candidate for the presidency, in the last election; Stanley High, editor of the Christian Herald; and Henry Pitt Van Dusen, a professor at Union Theological Seminary.

—X—

Debt Liquidation Day

Capital University has one holiday in the year that is not eagerly awaited by the collegians. That is "Debt Liquidation Day," when creditors appear before their debtors and demand payment without embarrassment.

—X—

Nowadays when a girl gets her neck broken in an automobile we don't know whether the car was wrecked or not.

Gettysburg Bullets Break Bison's Brilliant Home Winning Streak

Plantmen Hold Opponents in Check During First Half But Lose Out in Final Frame; Battlefield Quintet Cages Eight Foul Throws To Aid in 37-28 Victory

A fast traveling Gettysburg College quintet broke Bucknell's home winning streak at the new high school gymnasium last Saturday evening before a large crowd, winning from the Bison court team by a 37-28 margin. The losers fought hard during the first half and held the opposition in check. During the greater part of the opening period the Bucknell five was in the lead. At half time the battlefield courtsters led by a slim 15-14 advantage.

During the final period the winners staged a rally which produced several field goals. Passing and dribbling with amazing accuracy, Coach Bream's men forged ahead of the Bisons and when the final whistle blew, were in front by a nine-point margin.

Foul Goals Help Winners

The ability of Gulian and Hoke, of Gettysburg, to cage foul throws was largely responsible for the victory. Gulian threw four fouls while Hoke contributed five. Although he was not the high scorer of the contest, Gulian was the individual star for the winning quintet. Gullan playing at a guard post, was invincible on the defense. He broke up play after play and also made several passes which were converted into field goals. Last fall it was Gulian who threw that 45-yard pass to McMillan which brought about the defeat of Bucknell.

Cramer was the recipient of the high scoring honors of the contest, with 15 points which represented six field goals and three fouls. Of these tallies 13 were registered in the last half. Cramer bore the brunt of the attack during the last part of the game. Several of his double-deckers were realized in the closing minutes of play.

Seiler and Woodring Star

Archie Seiler, veteran Bison center, was the leading scorer for the losers. Seiler contributed 13 points to Bucknell and played a fine floor game. Captain "Lou" Woodring was a tower of strength on the defense.

During the closing minutes of play Bucknell came within four points of tieing the score, but field goals by Gulian and Cramer clinched the victory for Gettysburg.

The line-up:

Gettysburg	Field	Foul	Total
Cramer, f	6	3	15
Haller, f	4	1	9
Hoke, c	0	5	5
McMillan, g	0	0	0
Gulian, g	2	4	8
Total	12	13	37
Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Mitchell, f	1	0	2
Klosterman, f	2	0	4
Ross, f	0	0	0
Seiler, c	5	3	13
Woodring, g	3	3	9
Wadsworth, g	0	0	0
Kostas, g	0	0	0
Total	11	6	28

Score by periods:

Gettysburg	15	22—37
Bucknell	14	14—28

Referee—Van Why.

Scorer—McElligot.

College Social Life Studied by Students

Of particular interest to all who interested in student life at Bucknell is a course in social ethics of college life which is being given this semester by Professor Charles M. Bond. An important purpose of this course is to develop a scientific technique for the study of social ethics in various areas of social experience.

The textbook used by the class is called "Undergraduates." It gives the results of a survey of twenty-three colleges and universities, of which Bucknell is one, and sets forth many interesting facts gained from the study of the various campuses. Other sources of information are studies made by Professor Bond of student life at the University of Chicago, at other universities of the Middle West, and here at Bucknell. While the present study includes only the area of college life, nevertheless the technique can be used for various areas of social experience.

The class is planning to make a first-hand study of our own life at Bucknell, including the major types of college activities. The survey on the student attitude toward honesty used in certain classes last semester will be used again under the direction of this class, with the hope of gathering sufficient data by the end of the semester to make possible an intelligent study of the honesty attitude of Bucknell students. Other departments will cooperate with the Department of Religious Education in this part of the work.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company

Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.

A representative will call upon request.

431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

Theta U. Registers Victory Over Demies

Eight Free Tosses Aid Winning Team to Down Rivals, 28-21

The undefeated Theta Upsilon Omega basketball team continued its winning streak at the Tustin Gym last Monday evening by conquering the Delta Sigma court five 28-21 in a hard fought contest. Assuming an early lead, the winners kept ahead of the Demies after the first five minutes of play. The losers drew first blood when "Hen" Wadsworth tossed in a field goal from mid-floor.

Then the T. U. O. aggregation began to function. Led by the sensational DeFillippo, who is the mainstay of the Theta U. team, the winners forged into the lead, never to be led. Both teams tallied ten field goals but the T. U. O's. won the game because of their superior ability from the foul line.

The Demies caged only one free toss while the winning courtmen registered eight charity throws. De Fillippo contributed five of these during the course of the game. He only had five chances for foul goals and he made them all good which increased the score for his team.

"Flip" Again Stars

"The Elmira Flash" was the individual star of the game and was also the high scorer of the contest. "Flip" captured the scoring honors by collecting three field goals in addition to his quintet of fouls. The playing of Doty, Griffith, and Ebner also featured the contest. For the

(Continued on Page 7.)

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Bison Ringsters Score Easy 6-1 Win Over P.M.C.

The Bison boxers invaded Chester last Friday evening, where they chalked up a 6-1 victory at the expense of the Pennsylvania Military College ringmen. Only four bouts were staged, three of which resulted in Bison victories.

"Nick" LaFerrara, Bucknell's 115-pounder, was without an opponent and consequently the judges awarded him a forfeit victory. "Mickey" Boerner's man was overweight, and Bucknell was awarded a second score. However, Boerner and Kane, his over-weight rival, put on an exhibition bout, and Boerner won.

Frank Storaci opposed Montrezza for the 135-pound laurels. Storaci was in condition and won easily.

Lepore Wins Again

The fourth bout was between Captain Frank Lepore of Bucknell and Ehrig of the homesters. Lepore chalked up his second ring triumph of the season. He outclassed Ehrig, and when the final whistle blew had his opponent groggy.

Wilbur Ammerman fought his 160-pound rival hard for three rounds, but the judges' decision favored the P. M. C. boxer. Consequently Diago accounted for the only P. M. C. victory.

"Lou" Mutzel and "Pottsville" Jones were ready for ring duty but no opponent was available. Therefore the two Bucknell huskies were awarded forfeit victories.

J. Laventhal, ex-'25, Named Assistant City Editor of The Record

Mr. Jesse Laventhal, ex-'25, is soon to become assistant city editor of the Philadelphia Record. Mr. Laventhal is at present in Lewisburg recuperating from a recent illness. He has been a member of the Record staff for some months past, and when he reports for duty at the end of this week, he will assume his new duties as assistant city editor.

Mr. Laventhal is another of the boys who worked on the staff of the Bucknellian who are climbing up in the world of journalism. He was news editor on our college paper during his student days. He has continued steadily in journalistic work, and has won a very enviable reputation in Philadelphia for the high quality of his work. It was Mr. Laventhal who unearthed the material that resulted in the disclosures of irregularities in the building and loan organizations in Philadelphia, and brought about an investigation that sent perhaps a dozen men to prison and resulted in a cleaning up of a bad situation in that city. Mr. Laventhal toured the state with Governor Gifford Pinchot, when the latter made the rounds of the state institutions just before he went out of office. He has covered many other notable assignments and written some of the biggest stories that have turned up in recent months in Philadelphia.

Mr. Laventhal began his newspaper career as an office boy with the Public Ledger. That opened the way to a cub reportership on the Philadelphia Inquirer. While working on the Inquirer he did part-time work at Temple University. Then he came to Bucknell, entering with the class of 1925. At Bucknell he was local correspondent for the three Philadelphia morning newspapers, and also worked for the Sunbury and Williamsport papers, as well as doing his work for the Bucknellian.

Mr. Laventhal did not finish his course here, but discontinued his college work to re-enter newspaper work in Philadelphia. The Inquirer had kept his place open for him, and for some months he was with that paper. His first step upward was when he went to the Evening Bulletin as a rewrite man. It was while he was on the Bulletin that he unearthed the building and loan scandal, and for days he beat every other paper in Philadelphia on the story. Thereafter the Bulletin kept him steadily on financial stories, a field of writing which Mr. Laventhal did not particularly like. An opportunity was presented to become editor of a run-down little city weekly and he took it. The sheet was sold to a new owner and Mr. Laventhal went back to the Bulletin. Soon after the Record was purchased by Mr. David Stern, Mr. Laventhal was invited to become a member of its staff. The owners were trying to build up the paper, and were getting together a new staff. Mr. Laventhal has done such outstanding work that he has now been selected as an assistant to the city editor.

Infirmary Business Lags But Quarantine Continues

There may be prosperity abroad in the land, but none of it seems to have reached the Zeigler Memorial Infirmary. Business at that establishment is simply "rotten." Aside from those unfortunates quarantined with scarlet fever, there have been but six overnight patients in the infirmary during the past week.

Those now occupying the home for the disabled are: James Eccles, '32, who is suffering with an infected knee, and Salvatore Franzino, '31, who is down with the grippe. Upstairs in the isolation ward are four scarlet fever patients. Clifford H. Reed, '29, has ended his quarantine period and was discharged Tuesday.

Since last Thursday the following have marked time in the infirmary: Robert Ingals, '31, who was gassed with nitrogen dioxide last Friday in the chemical laboratory and was taken to the infirmary for a day; H. F. Young, who was sick with La Grippe; and Emory Andrews, '31, in with a touch of the same disease.

COLLEGE "Y" MEN ASSIST AT LOCAL SCOUT TROOP

Boy Scout troop number 14, of the Lewisburg Baptist Church is led by active members of the Bucknell Y. M. C. A. Professor Charles M. Bond is scoutmaster of the local scouts. His assistants are Geddes W. Simpson, '29, Charles Mohr, '30, and Alex Fleming, '31.

Troop 14 is considered a crack troop and won third place in the council inter-troop contest held recently at Milton. Troop meetings are held every Friday night.

"Grandfather Clause" Criticised in Article By Prof. C. M. Bond

An article by Professor Charles M. Bond, entitled "More About the Grandfather Clause" has appeared in the February issue of The World Tomorrow. The article is based on his work in Ohio University, one of the oldest state universities of the Middle West, and is a follow-up of Walter Ludwig's article "The Grandfather Clause Becomes Collegiate," which appeared in the January issue of the magazine, and which deals with the ruling made five years ago that prevents colored students in West Virginia from entering Ohio University.

In the article Professor Bond comments on the type of negro found in the university before the ruling was passed. It is his belief that the negroes compared favorably with any other group of students on the campus. He mentions several instances of negroes of particularly fine character who were barely tolerated and often treated unkindly by the white students.

Such a race attitude was not held, however, by all the white students on the campus. Those who resented the persecution did nothing about it, probably because of fear of social ostracism. "Indifference or impotence, therefore," the author concludes, "coupled with intolerance and lack of appreciation based upon an unwillingness to study the facts and act accordingly, seems to be the only possible conclusion with reference to the white student attitude toward negroes in one of our typical state institutions of higher education."

Irma Hargreaves, '31, Has Sinus Operation

Early this week it was learned that Irma M. Hargreaves, '31, is confined to St. Joseph's Hospital in Patterson, New Jersey, where she is recovering from a number of painful operations. During examination week Irma was confined to the Women's College Infirmary. At the end of that time she was given a week of vacation by Dr. L. P. Fowle, upon the recommendation of Miss Ruhl, Women's College nurse. After returning to her home in Patterson, Irma was again taken ill and a throat operation was performed. Further trouble developed and she was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was found necessary to operate for a painful sinus condition. At present the hospital charts report her condition as very favorable, although she has a good bit of discomfort.

Irma Hargreaves prepared for Bucknell at East Side High Tchool, in Patterson, New Jersey, where she was an honor student for four years. On this campus she has established an enviable record scholastically. Irma is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity.

THETA U. REGISTERS VICTORY OVER DEMIES

(Continued from Page 6.)

first time this season Bridegum, high scoring T. U. O. guard, was on the sidelines where he watched his teammates romp to a victory.

A stonewall guarding defense put up by "Hen" Wadsworth of the losers kept the score down considerably. Wadsworth was invincible on the defense, breaking up many enemy plays. The versatile Wadsworth also caged a trio of long distance field goals for a six point total. "Cal" Smith topped the scorers for the losing quintet with nine points.

The line-up:

T. U. O.	Field	Foul	Total
Griffith, f	2	0	4
Fleming, f	2	0	4
Beckerman, f	1	0	2
De Fillippo, c	3	5	11
Ebner, g	1	0	2
Doty, g	1	3	5
Total	10	8	28
Demies	Field	Foul	Total
Snyder, f	1	0	2
Smith, f	4	1	9
Ely, c	0	0	0
Wadsworth, g	3	0	6
Coates, g	2	0	4
Total	10	1	21

Score by periods:

T. U. O.	18	10—28
Demies	12	9—21

Referee—"Eddie" Halicki.

Scorer—"Mac" McElligot.

'Y' ENTERTAINS ORPHANS AT PARTY ON SATURDAY

The Y. W. C. A. entertained the orphans on Saturday afternoon at a George Washington party held at the Orphanage. Games and refreshments were the main attractions, and the girls returned feeling that they enjoyed themselves as much as the delighted youngstres.

"If the cougher in the 4th row will come to the stage door . . . there's a carton of Old Golds waiting for him!"

W. C. FIELDS
Comedian extraordinary featured in the second edition of the "Vanities."

"Of course, I've never said the above! But how I've been tempted to, when a heavy bass whoop or a shrill soprano bark has drowned out my best wise-crack.

"But it isn't good cricket to publicly embarrass a cougher. He isn't barking on purpose. He needs quiet, friendly counsel. He should, in confidence, be told to smoke OLD GOLDS.

"You'll enjoy the show better . . . and so will I . . . if we can just get this tip over to him. For, from my own experience with this smooth and throat-easy cigarette, I don't believe there's a cough in a capacity house-ful of them."

(SIGNED) W. C. Fields

Why not a cough in a carload?

OLD GOLD cigarettes are blended from HEART-LEAF tobacco, the finest Nature grows . . . Selected for silkiness and ripeness from the heart of the tobacco plant . . . Aged and mellowed extra long in a temperature of mid-July sunshine to insure that honey-like smoothness.

Onyone Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, with his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour every Tuesday, from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over entire network of Columbia Broadcasting System.

eat a chocolate . . . light an Old Gold . . . and enjoy both!

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

along very smoothly under the guidance of their president, Beckwith. We all hope Gray did not lose anything on account of his indulging in a "mild" sort of pastime.

Brother Tate drove to Newfoundland, Pa., and from his appearances had a fine time.

Brother Miller wentto his home in Pottsville.

Feeling in need of a change of scenery, brother Lair went to his home in Luzerne and pledge brother Shippa to his home in Nanticoke.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Elizabeth Fries, '31

Tau chapter takes pleasure in announcing that Miss Sarah Wolfe has consented to become a patroness.

"Peg" Bunting, '31, spent the week-end visiting her parents in Doylestown.

"Sally" Porter, '29, spent the week-end in Altoona.

"Betty" Fries, '31, visited Williamsport on Sunday.

BRIEFS

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

Miss Elizabeth Rhodes, council delegate of the National Council was the guest of Eta for several days last week. A tea in her honor was held on Tuesday, February 19, to which our patronesses, Dean Amelia Clark, and rpersenstatives of the other women's fraternities were invited. Wednesday afternoor, a bridge was given with Miss Rhodes as guest of honor.

Eta takes great pleasure in announcing the initiation into active membership of Caroline Keiser, '31.

St. Valentine has promised the suite a five-pound box of candy, all because "Betty" Wilson, '31, is now wearing a "Demie" pin.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

The chapter sympathizes with Phoebe Evans, '30, who was called home recently by the sudden death of her uncle. Our sincerest sympathy is also extended to Mrs. Chas. Lontz, our alumnae advisor, whose father died last week.

"Polly" Pyle, ex-'30, visited the chapter the week-end of February 22. "Polly" is taking a secretarial course at Beacon College, Wilmington, Delaware.

Mary Williams, '29, visited friends in Pittsburgh over the week-end of February 22. Mary reports a very enjoyable time and expresses a new found liking for Italian spaghetti and "coffee."

Emma Shoff, '31, spent the week-end of February 22 at Mercersburg Academy.

Mary Bennett, '30, and Janice Booker, '30, entertained guests from Princeton University during the past week-end.

Mary Wagner reports that "Jimary" is recovering from her cold and will soon be out.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Adelaide M. Clark, '31

Gertrude Gardner, '24, spent a little while in the suite on Sunday, February 24.

"Kitty" Hallier, ex-'28, paid the suite a fleeting visit on Saturday, February 23. "Kitty" is doing extension work on the Hill.

On Saturday afternoon, February 23, a tea was held in the parlors of the new dormitory, in honor of the patronesses and alumnae.

June Reidler, '31, entertained her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Reidler of Orwigsburg over the week-end.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy Davies, '30

Virginia Hall, '30, spent last week-end in Philadelphia visiting "Cay" Cawley, '27, who is taking work at the U. of P.

Last Friday night the chapter celebrated George Washington's birthday by having a Poverty Party in the playroom of the "new dorm." Everyone came in rags and tatters and patches, making the room look like the camp at Valley Forge. Lemonade and cookies were the poverty refreshments, but there was plenty of them, so no one suffered from hunger.

We were glad to hear from Meriah Gardiner, '30, and "Betty" Arnold, '32, that they are both rapidly improving.

Co-Eds Don Formal Dress For Washington's Birthday

On Friday evening, February 22, Bucknell co-eds celebrated the birthday anniversary of the "father of his country" by gathering around the festive board in formal dress.

Candles and skylight lighting produced a pleasing effect, and the food was delicious. Songs both patriotic and popular were sung between courses, and tiny candy hatchets made appropriate favors.

Crozer Theological Seminary
ition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WAINIES

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

GIRLS!
We have just rsceived another shipment of
Low, All Rubber Arctics
These Arctics are light in weight, fit well and will make a pleasing appearance. They come in tan and gun-metal.
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

Demies Celebrate 30th Founders' Day

The Delta Sigma fraternity will hold its thirtieth annual Founders' Day on Saturday, March the second. Each year since the fraternity was founded the old grads have come back to this gala event. Last year the chapter welcomed back fifty-one who had graduated from Bucknell and found Demie spirit strong enough to call them back for a reunion.

This season's gathering is expected to surpass even the success of former occasions. The committee for the celebration is headed by Henry Fessler, '29, with John Snyder, '30, and George H. Van Tuyl, '31 as committeemen.

The festivity will begin on Friday evening when the traditional Demie play will be given in Bucknell Hall. This will be the eighteenth annual Demie play, and is under the direction of Wilson Rise, '30. The play "Tommy" has been selected and the cast includes H. Victor Meyer, '29, Edythe Evans, '29, Gordon Sorter, '30, Mary Smith, '30, William F. De Lancey, '31, Philip Neiser, '32, John Snyder, '30, and Roberta S. Slifer, '31.

After the play, the actives and alumni will assemble at the fraternity house for a smoker and "bull session," an event to which many alumni look forward for the rehashing of old times.

On Saturday morning the alumni will meet with the active chapter in closed convention session. Saturday evening the grand Founders' Day banquet will be held at the Lewisburg Club. "United States" Smith, '08, will act as toastmaster. Paul Abraham, '10, is the president of the alumni group.

Frosh Spurt From Behind To Down Peddie by 1 Point

The Bucknell freshmen basketball team defeated Peddie last evening at Hightstown, N. J., when "Bull" Chenoweth of Harrisburg caged a last minute field goal which provided the visitors with a thrilling 41-40 triumph. Harry Fry tossed in a foul during the closing minutes of play which aided in the victorious rush of the winners.

Peddie, with several impressive victories over many prep school and college freshmen aggregations, started off at top speed and at half time the Mussermen were trailing by a 26-20 score. Staging a second period rally the winners outscored the losers during the last half by a 21-14 margin. This spurt enabled the Bison yearlings to vanquish the homesters.

Harry Fry, star Bison pivot man from Picture Rocks, ran away with the scoring honors of the evening with seventeen points representing eight field goals and one charity toss. Captain Chenoweth trailed his teammate with eight tallies.

Austin and Collins with 23 points between them were the out-standing stars for the losers.

PROF. EYSTER TO SPEAK AT BEAVER S. S. SUNDAY

Professor W. H. Eyster will talk to Profesor R. L. Matz' Bible class at the Beaver Memorial church on March 3 on the subject, "Is there a Conflict between Evolution and Genesis?"

BUCKNELL IS CENTER OF I. N. A. CONVENTION

(Continued from Page 1)

College Inn, following the afternoon meeting. Clarence W. Cranford, '29, toastmaster, introduced Byron S. Hollinshead, of the English Department at Bucknell, and Robert L. Lyon, '29, retiring editor of the Bucknellian, who were the speakers for the occasion.

Mr. Hollinshead spoke on "The College Newspaper," and drew a vivid picture of a college newspaper that might be brought into being. By his definition, "the main function of a liberal college is to promote intellectual interest, to set a student on the road to learning, and to open to him wider fields of vision and appreciation. A college newspaper may assist in this process by crystalizing the influence of one's fellow students, and by making that influence mean something.

"The college newspaper can fulfill its function only by appointing to its editorial staff those men who are the intellectual leaders of the campus. These men should be constantly on the lookout for new ideas in the field of science, religion, and politics, for colleges are great proving grounds for new theories.

"A college newspaper should not worry about circulation, about advertising, or personals. It is better to have one hundred students intellectually stirred by the paper than to have a thousand subscribers who have an apathetic liking for news of the "old Hill." Positions on the paper should be open to all classes and departments of students. Editorships should be determined on the basis of merit alone.

"We talk so much about free speech here in the United States and have so little of it. In Germany, it is said, one may think freely, but must obey the conventions physically; in France, one may have freedom physically, but must think conventionally; in England, one has a little of both, and in the United States, neither. The college newspaper should be a constructive influence for new and better ideas, and unhampered by the sway of partisan influence or authority."

"The Opportunity of the College Newspaper" was the subject chosen by "Bob" Lyon, '29, for his talk to the students. "Bob" described the attitude of college students today as one of passivity, first toward intellectual matters, then toward everything in general—an attitude of uncritical acceptance of all that comes. Such a state of mental passivity may be effectively attacked by the college newspaper.

"The campus newspaper must perform all the obvious duties: it must get the news, it must gegt all of it and get it accurately; it must come out on time; it must give service to its advertisers. But the college paper has a higher function to take care of—it must declare an unfaltering war on the provincialism, the passivity of the campus. Above everything else the college paper should have an intelligent editorial policy. In order to do this the editorial columns must adopt a policy of taking a positive stand on all questions affecting student life.

"In order to fulfill this obligation the editorial page of the student publication will have to be active, not passive. It will have to be fearless, even while restrained by the rules of good taste. Its positions on all questions will have to be based on logic, not on generalization and emotionalizations. The editorial must be intelligent. It must deal with questions of real significance.

"The college editor must dare to be a realist if he is to become a constructive force on the campus. He must dare to be a radical sometimes, and a revolutionist. The constructive college editor must also do some unconventional things at times. He must dare to be interested in intellectual matters, even on a campus where a reputation for such an interest is fatal, or nearly so, to social prestige and popularity."

Following the dinner the delegates were the guests of Bucknell University at the basketball game between Bucknell and Gettysburg.

Have You Chosen Your Life Work?

In the Field of Health Service

The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers through well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean.

Harvard University Dental School,
Longwood Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

TODAY—THURSDAY—FEBRUARY 28
POLA NEGRI in
"THE WOMAN FROM MOSCOW"
With NORMAN KERRY
And SEE and HEAR "Clark and Mc Cullough" All Talking Movietone Comedy.

TOMORROW and SATURDAY, MARCH 1-2
See and Hear on "The Vitaphone"
The Greatest Air Epic Ever Screened.
RAMON NAVARRO in "THE FLYING FLEET"
It's Navarro's greatest performance since "Ben Hur" Without doubt the Best Aviation Picture thus far.
Note—"Flying Fleet" produced with co-operation of U. S. Navy. Be sure to see it.

NEXT MONDAY and TUESDAY, MARCH 4-5
GIRLS! BOYS! And Everybody. Don't fail to see
"TWO LOVERS"
With RONALD COLMAN and VILMA BANKY
With Marvelous Synchronized Music and Sound Effects.

NEXT WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, MARCH 6-7
SEE and HEAR COLLEEN MOORE in "SYNTHETIC IN"
See and Hear their voices with sychronized musical score and sound effects.
Also the first of the "COLLEGIANS" Series.

WATCH FOR THIS MONTH AND THEREAFTER
Here's a few Specials for this Month.
First 100% All Talking Outdoor Picture
"IN OLD ARIZONA"
"SHOPWORN ANGEL" see and hear Nancy Carrol Singing
100% All Talking Paramount Special, "INTERFERENCE."
JOHN GILBERT in "MASKS OF THE DEVIL"
"LUCKY BOY" All Talking, Singing, and Dancing.
Nothing but the best will be shown, with short Movietone Talking Comedy's and cuts daily with Feature Picture Program.

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
DOUBLE DOLLAR DAYS
FRIDAY AND SATURDAY
MARCH 1 and 2
Come in and look over the many bargains offered for these days
NOW SHOWING A LARGE LINE OF NEW Spring Tweed and Dress Coats

Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2
2 MONTGOMERY'S BIG DOLLAR DAYS 2
THEY will be days of savings for hundreds of Bucknell students. Share in the savings. Cut classes if you must, because no matter what you buy your savings will be BIG! You know by past experience that when MONTGOMERY'S say a thing they surely mean it. Let this sale again convince you.

SHIRTS Plain and Fancy Broadcloth $1.00
HOSIERY Fancy and Plain Silk and Wool 2 for $1.00
SWEATERS Fancy and Choker Half Price
YOUR CHOICE OF ANY Winter Suit, Top Coat, or Overcoat VALUES UP TO $55.00 $22.50
Trench Coats $15.50 to $20.00 Values $13.50 $10 to $12 Values $6.75
Men's and Ladies' Suede Jackets and Leather Coats $10.00
SHIRTS Regular $2.50 and $3.00 Values 3 for $5.00
TIES Ties from regular $1 & $1.50 stock 2 for $1.00
PAJAMAS Fancy and Plain Color in all styles 3 for $5.00
Any article not on special sale, 10 per cent. discount for these two days only. No Goods Charged.
MONTGOMERY'S, Lewisburg, Penna.

CLOTHES
Ready-made And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, HEARTY WELCOME TO PAN-AMERICAN DELEGATES!

The Bucknellian
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

B. U.—URSINUS GAME POSTPONED; URSINUS IS UNDER QUARANTINE

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 7, 1929. NUMBER 22

Large Audience Hears Harpists; Soprano Pleases

D. Johnstone-Baseler, Leader Of Ensemble, Tendered Big Ovation in Solo Number

Bucknellians enjoyed the most unique musical program yet presented by the Artists Course—the concert given by the Dorothy Johnstone-Baseler Harp Ensemble in the Baptist church, Thursday evening, February 28. The five harpists were assisted by Mae Ebrey Hotz, soprano, of Philadelphia, and Miss Helen Tollefson, accompanist, of the Bucknell School of Music.

The ensemble, led by Mrs. Dorothy Johnstone-Baseler, daughter of a Bucknellian, and regarded as the foremost harp soloist in Philadelphia, played a remarkable program.

The artists wore flowing Grecian robes and together with their beautiful instruments they presented a striking appearance.

They opened their concert with a group of four short and delightful numbers. These included "Prelude," by Tournier; "Serenade," by Verdalle; "Zephers," by Hasselmans, and "Menuette," by Hochstein. The audience was particularly pleased with the "Menuette."

Mrs. Hotz Wins Great Applause

Mrs. Hotz immediately won her audience with her gracious smile and

(Continued on last page.)

REV. H. BABCOCK CHIEF SPEAKER AT "Y" ROOM OPENING

Men To Have Suitable Quarters For Entertaining Guests And for Recreation

Reverend H. F. Babcock will be the chief speaker at the formal opening of the new "Y" room next Monday evening, March 11, at 7:30. Refreshments will be served after the address.

The men of the student body are invited to this opening service of the new reception room. President Frank B. Loper will conduct an initiation ceremony for active members at this time.

Rev. H. F. Babcock who left his charge at the local Methodist church last spring is a favorite with the students, and it will give many the pleasure to renew their acquaintance with him.

The need of a men's reception room has been keenly felt for a number of years especially by the non-fraternity men. The Y. M. C. A. perceived the need and raised money to fit out their meeting room to serve the purpose. Writing to a select group of alumni who responded generously.

The delay in opening the new reception room was due to the failure of the rugs and furniture to arrive according to schedule. They have arrived and are in readiness for the opening.

BELLE HOP'S SPRING ISSUE OUT THIS WEEK

The March issue of the Belle Hop made its appearance this week. This is the fifth number and is the Spring issue. It contains a number of interesting features, several cartoons, and a quantity of lively jokes. The Belle Hop staff would like to receive more contributions from the undergraduate students, and any original material will be gladly received.

Unique Program to Feature Gathering of German Club

The next meeting of the German Club, to be held at the Women's College Monday evening, March 11, will have a varied program. A spelling match, a guessing contest dealing with pictures of famous Germans, a comic recitation by Mr. Gublin, and other games will make up the program.

Members will respond to roll-call by reciting a verse from a German poem.

Several important reports will be made at the business session.

G. Abernethy to Represent B. U. in Oratorical Meet For Eastern Pennsylvania

George L. Abernethy, '32, has been selected to represent Bucknell University in the contest of the Eastern Pennsylvania Oratorical Union to be held in Bucknell Hall, Monday evening, March 11, at 8:15 o'clock.

Abernethy was chosen as Bucknell's representative at a meeting of the Bucknell contestants held in Bucknell Hall, Thursday evening, February 28. While attending high school in New York City he participated in the regional semi-finals of the National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution.

Muhlenberg, Ursinus, Gettysburg, Franklin and Marshall, Juniata, Albright, and Bucknell will be represented in the contest Monday night. Each college will send one speaker. There will be no admission charge.

Fraternity Songsters Vie for Loving Cup

Groups To Sing Fraternity Song, School Song, and Alma Mater

Thursday evening, March 14, at 8 o'clock, the Song Contest sponsored by the sororities and eight fraternities, will be held in the Baptist Church. There is much interest shown in this contest, and it is hoped that a fine crowd will be out to hear the various groups. Each group will sing three songs: (a) The Alma Mater, (b) a school song, (c) a fraternity song. A silver cup will be given to that sorority and fraternity which presents the best group-singing. The committee on this contest, composed of a representative from each group met on Saturday, March 2, to decide upon the judes. It was announced that Miss Burns, superintendent of music in the Lewisburg schools, Prof. Allison, professor of music at Susquehanna University, and Prof. Rothenbery of Sunbury, will be the judges.

Rivenburg Heads Air Program of WJBU

Many Request Numbers Played; "Al" Weidensaul Sings

Charles H. Rivenburg, a senior in the Bucknell University School of Music broadcast a program of organ music over WJBU, Thursday evening, February 28. Albert Weidensaul, also a senior in the School of Music, sang two solos. The program was broadcast from the organ room in Larison Hall.

Mr. Rivenburg received a number of requests for numbers during the recital and played several of them. Request numbers sent in before the next recital will be welcomed in making up the next organ program.

Included in Mr. Rivenburg's program were "Hosanna," by Paul Wachs; "To A Wild Rose," by Edward MacDowell; "Echoes Of Spring," by Rudolf Friml; "Prelude in C Minor," by Bach; "March of the Magi," by Theodore Dubois; "Fanfare," by Lemmens; "From the Land of the Sky-Blue Waters," and "At Dawning," by Cadman. The request numbers included "Gypsy Love Song," "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," and "Roses of Picardy." "At Evening," by Dudley Buck, and "Jubilate Deo" by Silver, concluded the program.

Mr. Weidensaul sang "Absent," by Metcalf, and "Mighty Lak a Rose," by Nevin.

D. Wolverton Teaches Rich Students In Foreign School

Miss Dorothy Wolverton, '28, of Sunbury, who went last year to Albania, to be a teacher in the Kyrias Institute at Tirana, has written an interesting letter to her friends in Sunbury, according to the Sunbury Item, in which she tells of the beauties of Albania.

The richest children of Albania attend the institute to gain education, she writes. Two princesses are attending the English class. One is eleven years old, the other nine. It is necessary to tell one of the princess in French the meaning of the English. In turn she translates it into Albania. Most of the pupils speak English well, considering that they speak French and Italian also. They greatly enjoy American games.

President Hunt Approves New Dance Rules Advocated by Faculty-Student Committee

Hours For Men's Social Functions Extended To 11:45 O'clock: Spirit Of Cooperation Prevails In Representative Group; No Yelling Will Be Tolerated

President Emory W. Hunt has approved the new dance standards as drawn up by the Student-Faculty Committee on Activities, and as approved by the Faculty on February 6th. These new standards which were presented to the Committee on Student Activities at the request of the Student body by the representatives of the men's and women's student government organizations make the conduct of dances a matter of student control and responsibility primarily.

The Standards read as listed:

A. No fraternity will tolerate the use of liquor at fraternity affairs.

B. Each fraternity shall be permitted to hold at most four dances each semester, three of which college women may attend. These dances shall be held only on Friday or Saturday nights, or on the night preceding a holiday or vacation.

C. One dance each semester may continue until 1:00 a. m., and the others until 11:45 o'clock p. m. The dances attended by college women shall be held subject to special rules governing college women.

D. Each fraternity shall be permitted once during the college year to hold a week-end function extending over two nights and the intervening day. Out-of-town guests at these functions shall be lodged at approved homes of private families, or at approved lodging houses. Chaperonage for the day shall be approved by the Faculty-Student Committee on Student Activities. This function shall be one of the four permitted dances.

E. The week-end fraternity functions which extend over two nights and the intervening day must be held while college is in session.

F. No fraternity shall hold more than one dance at the time of the Junior Prom, the Sophomore Cotillion, or the Freshman Hop.

G. Chaperons at fraternity social functions shall be expected to report to the chairman of the social committee or the president of the fraternity of any act on the part of any participant which does not meet with their approval.

I.—When reports are necessary from the chaperons, they shall be made to the Chairman of the Student Activities Committee.

(Continued on last page.)

Bucknell Professors At N. E. A. Meeting

George Strayer, John Dewey, and Cameron Beck Among 10,000 Noted Educators Present

The Superintendents Section of the National Education Association of America met in its annual conference in Cleveland, Ohio, from February 21 to February 28. Professors Frank G. Davis and John H. Eisenhauer were present from Bucknell. They report a successful week of sessions during which addresses were given by America's most prominent educators.

The general theme of the conference was, "How Can Public Schools Better Serve Democracy and Increasingly Produce Higher Types of Citizens?" Among the most outstanding speakers were George D. Strayer, of Columbia University; J. A. H. Keith, Pennsylvania Superintendent of Public Instruction; Cameron Beck, Personnel Director of the New York Exchange; and John Dewey, the greatest philosopher of American education.

The general sessions were held in Cleveland's largest hotel, with the main assemblies in the Municipal Auditorium, the arena of which seats 14,000. The conference was attended chiefly by men in the key educational positions of the country, and is undoubtedly the most significant of its kind held in America. There was an approximate attendance of 10,000. There is a possibility that next year's conference will be held in Atlantic City.

Season's Greatest Crowd Hears Dr. Swain's Vespers

The Presbyterian Vesper Service last Sunday afternoon brought out the largest audience of the season that nearly filled the large auditorium, to hear the Rev. James Ramsey Swain, D. D., in his exposition of the Twenty-Third Psalm, dressed in the costume of a Syrian shepherd, and with all the accoutrements of the shepherd life.

The speaker next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock is Dr. George Earl Raiguel, of Philadelphia, well known lecturer on travel and foreign affairs. His topic will be "The United States in World Affairs." Dr. Raiguel has traveled all over the world in pursuit of material for his travel lectures, and knows as few men know the inner affairs of the nations. He is an internationalist, in the highest sense, and will bring to Lewisburg on Sunday a message of real import that is most opportune at the beginning of a new administration.

Telephone Progress Pictured to C. and F.

E. S. Philbrick Tells Students How New Men Are Trained In The "Bell" Way

At the meeting of Commerce and Finance students last Friday night, E. S. Philbrick told of the formation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company of America and also gave some interesting points on the possibilities for a college graduate to obtain a position with them. The lecture was very interesting as it contained not only facts about the company, but also contained good advice for anyone.

"The present telephone system in Pennsylvania began 53 years ago in Philadelphia. In the beginning there were numerous individual concerns operating lines in a small territory. They gradually consolidated into the one great American Telephone and Telegraph system.

Laboratory in New York

"The company maintains a Bell Laboratory in New York City, where 4,000 scientists are employed to discover and try out new ideas for better communication. Mr. Philbrick further stated that at a distance of 50 mile intervals they have installed repeater stations. These stations are mere forms of amplification when calling long distances. The voice enters and leaves at the same tone quality and clearness at which it was spoken.

"Every year about eighty students are chosen from eastern colleges. The school might be either large or small. They are then 'put in the pot' and taken to Philadelphia where they receive eight weeks training the 'Bell Way.' The men hear lectures and make trips to acquaint themselves with the work Understand, these eighty men include technical as well as commercial workers.

The salary to begin with is $30 per week, and it increases after six months to $33, and at the end of the first year to $36. At the end of this time the man either proves or disproves his worth to the company. If he proves his worth, his wages are raised periodically."

DRUID DANCE A SUCCESS

The annual dance given by the Druids, an honorary sophomore fraternity, was held in Tustin Gymnasium, Saturday evening, March 2. Fraternity banners and crepe paper of orange and black, the fraternity colors, decorated the gymnasium. "Eddie" Hoffman, plus an unusually slippery floor, lent local color to the scene, and a peppy time of real Druid style occupied four hours of dancing.

Attention, Radio Announcers!

Sophomores and juniors desiring to try out for the position of radio announcer in the studio of station WJBU will hand in their names at the Electrical Engineering office in room 13, Main building.

Tryouts will be held in the studio on the fourth floor of the Engineering building tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock.

Explosion Victims Rapidly Recovering

Meeker Better, But Weber Must Remain for Several Weeks

F. D. Meeker, '30, and J. R. Weber, '28, graduate student in chemistry, were described by Dr. L. P. Fowle, University physician, as "making satisfactory recoveries" from the burns they received in the explosion and fire in the Chemistry building a week ago last Monday.

Dr. Fowle states that, unless something unlooked for occurs, Meeker will be discharged from the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary within a week. Weber, the more seriously burned of the two, will remain in the infirmary for a week or ten days after Meeker's discharge.

The organic chemistry laboratory, in which the explosion occurred, has been repaired and is again in use. It was necessary to replaster the walls and ceiling, to repaint the entire room, and to replace the thirty-one window panes and seven frames that were blown out. The crew of men under the direction of Professor F. E. Burpee made remarkably good time in the restoration of the laboratory.

Library Adds Books Thru Memorial Fund

Fifteen Recent Novels Purchased From Gift of Class of '24

Fifteen books of recent fiction arrived at the Carnegie Library last week. The books were purchased with the interest from the Memorial Fund of the Class of 1924. The new books are: Warwick Deeping's "Old Pybus;" Temple Bailey's "Silver Slippers;" John Galsworthy's "Siren Song;" "All Kneeling," by Anne Parrish; "The Children," by Edith Wharton; "Harness," by A. H. Gibbs; "Miss Anne Spragg," by Louis Bromfield; "Brook Evans," by Susan Glaspell; "Silas Bradford's Boy," by Joseph C. Lincoln; "Green Murder Case," by S. S. Van Dine; Christopher Wren's "Beau Ideal;" Ludwig Lewesohn's "The Island Within;" "Two Flights Up," by Mary Roberts Rinehart;" "Age of Reason," by Phillip Gibbs, and "The Foolish Virgin," by Kathleen Norris.

The Class of 1924 established this Memorial Fund for the purchase of books of fiction and travel. Each year the interest from the fund is spent for recent fiction. The above list of fifteen books recently bought represents the expenditure of just a part of this year's interest. Since there is still some money with which to buy more books, Miss Eliza Martin, librarian, said that she will be very glad of any suggestions from the students as to books they want to read or wish to have placed on the fiction shelves of the library. If you have any suggestions, please write the title and the name of the author on a slip of paper, and hand it in at the desk at the library.

Walter Holter, 2 Years Old, Dies At Geisinger Hospital

Walter L. Holter, two year-old son of Registrar and Mrs. H. W. Holter died Friday afternoon, March 1, in the Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville, following a blood transfusion operation at the beginning of the week. Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel gave of his blood in a vain attempt to save the child's life.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the late home on South Fourth street. Rev. L. E. Wellver, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated. Interment was made in Lewisburg Cemetery.

Latin-American Delegates Meet Here Tomorrow

Conference to Open With Dinner At College Inn; Speeches and Discussions Planned

The Pan-American Conference will open to-morrow evening at 7:00 when the delegates and leaders will gather at dinner in the College Inn. Fred Heather, '30, will make the address of welcome. At 9:00 o'clock a reception will be given by the Conference Committee and the Y. M. C. A. cabinet.

A group of nine upper-classmen will represent Bucknell at the meetings. They are: Clyde Bailey, '29; M. G. Bianchi, '29; J. N. Feaster, '30; Paul Fink, '29, Fred Heather, '30; Edgar Lare, '30; Melvin Shuttlesworth, '28; H. R. Smith, '29, and James Williams, '29. Kimball Miller, '29, is chairman of the conference.

Well-known Men to Attend

The conference will be publicly opened Saturday morning at nine when delegates, leaders, students, and faculty members will crowd Bucknell Hall to hear addresses by the conference leaders. An exceptional array of speakers will present problems of Latin American relations. They are Prof. Paul Shaw of Columbia University, Prof. Arratia

(Continued on page 5)

GRIDDERS START INTENSIVE DRILL FOR FALL GAMES

Coach Snavely Gives Reasons For Spring Practice; First Real Workout Saturday

Spring football practice will start in earnest at Bucknell on Saturday afternoon it was announced here today by Head Coach Carl G. Snavely. The serious Bison mentor urges that every candidate cooperate with him in the coming grind. Coach Snavely lists a number of important reasons why spring training is an essential need in college football today.

Statistics reveal that in the fall when school is resumed there are only 90 hours of practice left until the end of the season.

Forty or more men must be placed in positions and tried out to find the best combinations.

There are 25 to 40 offensive maneuvers to be taught to each candidate, each involving complicated and precise assignments.

Many defensive ideas to be perfected by each individual.

New plays to be experimented with.

Opponents' plays and methods have to be studied during the season.

A coach cannot possibly fill all these duties in the regulation season. Therefore spring practice is vitally necessary. Every leading coach in the country earnestly advocates spring training.

The only time when new combinations, new plays, and new ideas can be tried out is in the spring. Fall offers only time for perfecting previously tested ideas.

The first outdoor session of the spring season will be staged on Loomis Field on Saturday afternoon. Every man who is a candidate for the 1929 football team is expected to report at the Tustin Gym on Saturday afternoon ready for the first real workout of the year.

FACULTY CONFERENCE MEETS IN HARRISBURG

The third annual Faculty Conference of Eastern Pennsylvania will convene at the Penn-Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, on March 9. The attention of the conference this year will center about important aspects of education, such as "Administrative Responsibility for Christian Education In Colleges and Universities," and "Faculty and Student Responsibility for the Development of Positive Christian Character." Each problem on the program will be presented by the leader, after which the problem will be considered by the group as a whole.

Jean Wood, '29, spent the week-end at her home in Chicago.

* * * *

Marie Walbert, '30, went on the excursion to New York the week-end of March 1.

* * * *

"Fred Locke, '21, again made a trip to New York City to view Broadway's best in the theatre line.

* * * *

Miss Beatrice Smith of Moorestown, N. J., spent the week-end with her sister, Barbara Smith, '32.

* * * *

Prof. W. H. Eyster has been taking his botany classes out on frequent field hikes this past week.

* * * *

The offices of Mrs. Clara Sale, dietitian of Women's College, have been brightened up by the addition of new curtains at the windows.

* * * *

Ruth de Turke, '31, was called home to Reading last Sunday night by the critical condition of her grandmother.

* * * *

Miss Naomi Samuels, the sister of "Bill" Samuels, ex-'29, of Nanticoke, spent the week-end here as the guest of "Toots" Thomas, '29.

* * * *

Alice Sweeley, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Williamsport. Alice says that the distance between Lewisburg and Williamsport is only a matter of "miles."

* * * *

Dorothy Harpster, '31, visited her parents in Allenwood, last week-end. This was her regular monthly visit, for "Dot" considers it necessary to go home at least once every month.

* * * *

Members of the faculty living at the Bower House are celebrating. It's like this: for the past seven weeks the hot water system has been "on the blink" but last Saturday the plumber fixed things and everyone is happy.

* * * *

The junior girls are bustling around the "Sem" going through all kinds of peculiar actions, peculiar at least to the freshmen. The mock-Junior Prom is this week-end and there are all kinds of interesting plans afoot.

* * * *

The "Semites" who are fortunate enough to possess radio sets made use of them last Monday to hear the inauguration at Washington, and had better success with their sets than with the one up in Commencement Hall.

* * * *

Angel food cake for dinner and devil's food cake for lunch, and both on the same day. Such a strange combination was had by the "Semites" the other Sunday, and both kinds of cake, they declared, were unusually good.

* * * *

Katherine Forrest, '32, spent last week-end at her home in Bellwood, Pa. Katherine said that it was the first time she had been home since Christmas vacation, and that this was rather unusual for her, as last semester she went home nearly every week-end.

Prof. C. R. Johnson's class in Sociology has been carrying on an interesting and heated discussion on capital punishment. It's better than a session of the United States Congress.

* * * *

Professor W. H. Coleman concluded his talk in chapel Thursday morning with "We, who are about to die, salute you!" From the number of tests given this week, most of the instructors have convinced us that they are very much alive.

* * * *

The Toast and Coffee Club held its regular weekly meeting last Thursday night in room 12 East Wing. The guests of honor were "Wes" Wilkes and "Joe" Reno, both of Trenton. "Tiny" Lenhart acted as host. Frank Storaci poured and "Johnnie" Stabile flonted. After a long session of bedtime stories and such, the meeting adjourned—peacefully.

* * * *

Many of our learned faculty were present at the Catholic-Bucknell bouts last week and three of them ventured to escort their fair ladies to the exhibition. What we can't understand, though, is why one professor dashed wildly out at the end of the second bout. Perhaps he forgot to fix the furnace.

* * * *

Prof. W. H. Eyster explained to his botany class one day that many plants got their names because of the superstitions. "For instance," he said, "rattlesnake weed got its name because people believed that if a few of its leaves were laid on a snake bite, the wound would be cured." When he had finished, a co-ed asked seriously, "Does it really work?"

* * * *

Co-eds living in Bucknell Cottage were awakened the other night by a loud crash sounding near their windows. They discovered the next morning that part of one of the chimneys on the building had crumbled and fallen, the bricks being scattered on the ground—their falling being responsible for the crash.

* * * *

"Betty" Sale and Alta Vosburg, '29, and Charles Mohr and Charles Snyder, '30—members of the class in vertebrate zoology—went on a field trip to White Deer last Saturday. The trip was under the direction of Professor Norman H. Stewart. Although it was rather a wet one, the hikers reported a good time. Also they caught several salamanders and saw twelve different species of birds.

* * * *

"Lou" Kessler, '30, who commutes from Northumberland, looked out of a window of the botany lab. the other day to discover that her car, which she had parked near the building at the top of a grade, had disappeared. A search revealed the machine standing in the ditch at the foot of the hill, near the Sigma Chi house. Evidently the brakes had not held, and the car had started off on a journey of its own. It had been halted in its course by a tree. It took the combined efforts of several men to pull the unruly machine from the ditch.

"Peg" Horner, ex-'31, Now Mrs. Wm. Millward

Miss Margaret Horner, ex-'31, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Horner, of Derry, Pa., and William N. Millward, '28, son of Superintendent and Mrs. Carl L. Millward, of Milton, were united in marriage at the Trinity Lutheran parsonage at Milton, Saturday evening, February 23.

The young couple were attended by Miss Lorraine Martin, ex-'28, of Pittston, and Montgomery Marsh, '28, of New York City.

Following the ceremony the newly-wedded couple attended the Frill and Frown dance in Tustin Gymnasium.

Mrs. Millward was a member of the Frill and Frown Dramatic club. She is a reader of exceptional ability and attended a dramatic school in Pittsburgh after leaving Bucknell at the end of last year.

Mr. Millward is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity. He is now a member of the high school faculty at Galeton, Pa., where the young couple will make their home.

Hotel manager (hearing knock on door) "What is it?"

Negro—"Telegram, boss."

Manager—"Shove it under the door."

Negro—"Ah, can't boss—its on a tray."

Lambda Chis Wallop KDRs By 55-12 As Beckley Stars

The Lambda Chi Alpha quintet continued its winning ways last Tuesday evening at the Tustin gym, downing the Kappa Delta Rho cagemen by a 55-12 margin. The winners were always ahead and their lead was never in danger.

"Eddie" Beckley with eighteen points topped the scorers for the evening. Although he only played one half of the game McCormick contributed four field goals and three fouls.

"Burly" Slate and Lobel were the other stars for the winners. Lewis with a trio of field goals was the lone star for the losers.

The score by periods:

Lambda Chis	26	29—55
K. D. R's.	7	5—12

Referee—Halicki.
Scorer—McElligot.

Reconciliation Trip to New York

The annual Reconciliation Trip to New York will be made this year from March 8 to 10. These trips are conducted by the College Y. M. C. A. and should be of interest to all students in the school, but especially those who are taking sociology. The trip will include a visit to hte stock exchange, various radical headquarters, and the unemployment sections.

Mrs. L. C. Hylbert, '02, Succumbs in China

Mrs. Charity Margaret Runyan Hylbert, '02, wife of L. C. Hylbert, '05, died in Shanghai, China, on February 24, of cancer.

Both Mrs. Hylbert and her husband were greatly interested in missions. Soon after his graduation from Bucknell, Mr. Hylbert went to China. He married Miss Frances Race, of the Class of 1902, who died some years later. Mr. Hylbert then married Miss Runyan, also of the same class. They have been in China for many years. Mr. Hylbert is secretary of the American Baptist Missionary Society. Mrs. Hylbert was prominent in the American community in Shanghai. She was a member of the board of the Chinese Woman's College at Nanking, and the Chinese Women's College at Shanghai. She was buried in China.

Miss Eliza J. Martin, Bucknell librarian, has just received from Dr. Mabel Grier Lesher, '01, a letter concerning Mrs. Lewis C. Hylbert, '02, a note of whose death in China appears in the foregoing news item. Mrs. Hylbert had a host of friends among our alumni, to whom this note to Miss Martin will be of especial interest.

The Mrs. Keen mentioned in the letter is the widow of Charles S. Keen, '99, who had a notable career in work in China. He was one of the foremost American scholars of the Chinese language.

Miss Martin's letter follows:

Yesterday morning we received a letter from Lewis Hylbert, stating that Margaret had not been well for some time and that he had insisted that she go to the hospital for a thorough examination. She did so in December, and her case was diagnosed as sprue, and later blood tests revealed typhoid also. This letter was dated January 19, and stated that she had then been in the hospital three weeks and was doing as well as could be expected; that she had been given her first meal that morning and they hoped to have her back home in two more weeks.

This word came yesterday morning and around 5 p. m. Mrs. Keen (Charlie Keen's widow) phoned me from Philadelphia and asked whether or not I had seen yesterday morning's Ledger, as it contained the notice of Margaret Hylbert's death the day before, February 24. It certainly comes as a great shock and seems difficult to realize.

She has been doing a very valuable work for various institutions for higher education of Chinese women, this past two years especially. The Chinese recognized her sound judgment and sought her appointment and advice. She was on the board of trustees of Ginling College; on the board of the Shanghai Baptist College (Women's Section); a member of the Board of the Women's Christian Medical College and Margaret Williamson Hospital, Shanghai; on the Board of the Shanghai American School (for American children) and was chairman of the Literature Department of the American Woman's Club of Shanghai, and also a member of the Shanghai branch of the American Association of University Women.

She just reveled in planning policies and solving problems. I am glad her value was recognized. Have written the above for the sake of her friends whom you may have opportunity to reach.

"MAL" MUSSER NAMED CAPTAIN OF TROOP D

Malcolm E. Musser, '18, assistant instructor of physical education at Bucknell University, has assumed his duties as Captain of Troop D, 103rd Cavalry of the National Guards. He succeeds Captain A. A. Everetts, who resigned recently.

With Captain Musser at the head of the troop a number of sports, including polo, fencing, basketball, and boxing, will be introduced.

Bucknell's Tonsorial Class Is in Favor of Barber Bill

Bucknell's class in barber sanitation and hygiene took a stand in favor of the proposed sanitary barber bill in a vote taken at the University Monday night.

The object of the proposed barber bill is to promote the public health and safety by providing for the examination and licensure of those who desire to engage in the occupation of barbering, providing for the appointment, by the Governor, of an examining board. Defining the powers and duties of such board, regulating barber shops, barber schools and barber colleges and apprentices and students there in and providing pehalties.

The Lewisburg members of this class who are working for the passage of this bill are: Oliver Heiter, Pierce Heiter, A. W. Farley, and John Farley.

Kind traveler: (seeing a parked car): "Do you need any help?"

Voice from within: "We are getting along nicely, thank you.

You will find here a group of shoes assembled especially to meet the college man's ideas of style and good taste. They are the result of a 30-year acquaintance with well-dressed college men's preferences.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at MONTGOMERY & CO.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men's Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING 419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE Next to the Gift Shop

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Judging from the consensus of opinion, the formal held at the chapter house Friday last was a howling success.

Brothers Andoy and Dodge from Penn State were among the out-of-town guests Friday, and expressed their admiration for the high class of co-eds represented. No doubt they will come back for more. They always do.

Brother "Link" Bennett returned to Christianity over the week-end, reporting all is well in Palestine where he is attending Temple.

Mr. John Cahill from Pen Yan, that quaint Chinese town in New York State, was the guest of brother Purdy over the week-end.

Pledge brothers Porter and Binder grabbed the local freight, sometimes called an excursion train, and gave New York City a break last Sunday.

Graham Mezzine from Colgate was our welcome guest over the week-end.

Brother Stone, tiring of the local atmosphere, spent the week-end at Dickinson.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

Kappa chapter mourns the death of brother Earl B. West, '17, of Penn Grove, N. J.

Brother James Ellery, '30, has been selected by the active chapter to represent Kappa at the national Sigma Chi convention, which will be held in Oregon this June.

Brothers Paul Fink, DeWitt Rosendale, and Allan Konkle helped the Pennsy make its excursion to the Big City a success by patronizing it during the week-end.

"Ollie" Miller lured "Charlie" Frampton down to Mt. Carmel for the week-end for some "anthracite" atmosphere. "And a little child shall lead them."

"Tommy" MacLeod packed up his cartooning paraphernalia last week and went on the road, giving performances in Pottsgrove, Watsontown, and Washingtonville.

"Bob" Sweitzer has been among the missing for the greater part of the week due to inhaling too many "flu" bugs.

"Don" Diehl and "Mike" Waldner succumbed and went "Home" for the week-end. But, that's ceased to be news—it's now a habit.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Brother "Gus" Shorts, '25, paid us a visit Saturday and Sunday. He is now at Dickinson Law School in Carlisle.

Another welcome visitor was brother "Tom" Horan, '24.

Pledges Mac Murray and Hepler entertained as their guests for the week-end, "Jim" Chambers and Thomas Lamb of State College.

Pledge brothers Sweet and Apuzzo "hummed" to New York Saturday. They were lucky in getting a ride from Lewisburg to Newark.

Brother Davis of the Pitt chapter stopped in the house Saturday.

Brothers Reinheimer, '29, and Koegel, '30, spent the week-end at their homes in Lehighton, and brother Williams, '29, and pledge "Dan" Pierce journeyed to Lansford Saturday.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
Benjamin Kupstas, '29

The house had as their guests over the past week-end, Cadets Seconi, Seise, McKibben, and Reily who arrived Friday evening from the Massanutten Military Academy, Virginia. The boys attended the dance at the High School Gym, Saturday evening and seemed favorably impressed with Bucknell's social life.

The boys were forced to resort to cold showers and beards the first of the week because of a break in the heater. Necessary repairs have been made and shaving has been resumed.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

Founders' Day festivities began at 8 o'clock Friday evening with the play. After the play a smoker was held at the house at which time many of the old "grads" renewed friendships. The ball session continued until the wee hours of the morning. Saturday morning many of the alumni visited the campus and places about Lewisburg which brought back fond recollections of their college days. Promptly at four-thirty p. m. the business meeting of the alumni was called to order and officers were elected for the ensuing year. In the evening the Thirtieth Annual Founders' Day banquet was held at the Lewisburg Club. The toastmaster S. M. Smith, '07, introduced the various speakers of the evening and put much pep and humor into the occasion. There were about thirty-two alumni back on Founders' Day. The guests of honor were Arthur R. Priest, executive secretary of Phi Delta Theta and Dean Hoffman, province president of Phi Delta Theta. The meeting adjourned about eleven o'clock to be continued at the house until morning.

The following alumni returned: R. D. Smink, '26; F. E. Johnston Jr., '28; Joe Williams, '28; M. Frable, '28; H. Pierson, '28; D. Bahr, '28; L. Davis, '27; G. McCune, '27; D. Webster, '27; P. Weaner, '22; S. H. Smith, '07; E. Kohler, '21; C. Lindig, '24; R. Smith, 26; M. Drum, '02; E. Ross, '22; E. Worthington, '22; I. Dewitt, '00; R. Dilworth, '27; A. Jacobs, 23; L. Ulmer, '02; C. Roller, '27; C. Sprout, '08; J. Rice, '14; R. F. Hamblin Jr., '14; J. Eisenhauer, '05; F. Davis, '11; L. Leighton, '20; C. Smith, D. Haviland, '28; and J. Sugden, '27.

Brother R. G. Pierson, '01, was unable to attend the Founders' Day celebration, so he visited us during the early part of the week.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Dr. Colestock dined at the house last Tuesday evening, after which he joined the "gang" in their march up to the Tustin Gym to witness the basketball game between Lambda Chi and K. D. R. Brother Colestock is one of Lambda Chis most earnest boosters.

Brother Norman Ross is on the trips with the varsity basketball squad.

Pledge brother "Don" Mills was on the trip with the Freshman basketball squad last week.

Brother Karl Wilson, ex-'30, visited the house last week.

Brother Browne spent a few days last week visiting his brother and brother "Art" Harris, ex-'27, and wife.

Pledge brother Downey and Cummings spent last Thursday at their homes in Shenandoah.

Pledge brother "Charlie" Mills of Athens was the guest of the Barton brothers "Bob" and "Jack" at their home in Bloomsburg.

Brother Wermuth spent last week-end at his home in Nanticoke.

Pledge brother Hatton also visited the Wyoming Valley when he spent last week-end at his home in Edwardsville.

Brother Nowicki spent an enjoyable week-end with his former colleagues at Scranton.

Brother Smith, Conway, Nowicki, Filer, and pledge brother Hatten motored to Elmira, N. Y. Monday and visited brothers Francis Wood, '28, and Louis Dorssett, ex-'28.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

A few of the boys journeyed to Philadelphia to see the Bucknell-Temple basketball game. While there they visited Lou Fox, a former K. D. R. at Bucknell.

Brother Frank Zimmerman was called home last Friday because of the death of his grandmother.

Brothers Professor Ellsbree and "Al" Fogelsanger paid a visit to the house Saturday and Sunday respectively.

Pledge brother George S. Garrigen spent the week-end with his parents at Hillside, N. J. George is evidently suffering from a red-haired complex.

Brother Jack Davis visited friends in Pittsburgh.

Brothers "Ed" Yawars, Karl Albig, and Blythe Evans were in New York on Saturday and Sunday. Past plans indicated short trips to Ellis Island, the Aquarium, and Brooklyn to visit old friends.

Brother "Ed" Glover visited his parents at Knoxville.

Pledge brother Howard Heim added a collegiate atmosphere to his home at Treverton, Pa., over the week-end.

Brother "Bob" Payne is still being deluged by visitors from Scranton.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

T. U. O. announces with pleasure the initiation into active membership of Thomas J. Shutt, '29, and Frank P. Jeckel, '32.

R. D. Giacomo and Father De Lane, of Catholic University, were the guests at the T. U. O. house on Wednesday, February 27.

"Joe" Reno, of Trenton, N. J., and Frank Storaci, '29, were guests of Theta U. for dinner last Saturday evening.

Theta U. had as its guests last Sunday brother and Mrs. F. H. Land, Miss A. B. Stainton, and Miss M. Brooks.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

Miss Laura Yeisley visited brother Benson last week-end. Miss Yeisley is a graduate of Bloomsburg State Teachers' College and at the present time is teaching at Tatamy, Pa.

Brother Jackson gave in to his old habit once again and decided to go home last Saturday.

The fellows were surprised and delighted Friday when brother Harold Jordan, '28, walked in unexpectedly. "Hal" is stationed at Nyack, N. Y., with the Bell Telephone Co.

John MacIntyre of Athens, Pa. again visited the house Sunday and took brother Lingle to Williamsport in the afternoon.

Brothers Shure and Hauber journeyed to Milton Sunday afternoon and joined in a lemon hunt.

About fifty persons attended the annual sleigh-riding party and "Gormandizers Picnic" of the fraternity which was held last Saturday at the Forrest House away up on Sand Mountain. The trip was made in trucks instead of the good old-fashioned sleighs, but no one minded that. The weather at first was a little doubtful but as the day progressed the sun came out and cleared the sky. The scenery was exceptionally wonderful and the eats were great. Prof. and Mrs. Rockwell chaperoned the affair.

Judging by the amount of food consumed, "a good time was had by all." What a guilty conscience some people must have when they think of the starving Armenians!

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

"Lou" Cerase, '29, spent the week-end with relatives in Harrisburg.

"Paddy" Canfield, '32, made a journey to his home at New Philadelphia and spent the week-end with his parents.

The whole house sympathizes with "Gene" Mirachi, '29, for the loss of his new hat. After some very serious discussion it was decided to provide him with an attachable hat strap to wear, soldier-like, while walking across the bridge. By so doing, we hope to cheat the river.

Some of the pledges, accompanied by "Steve" Trudnak, '32, on the piano, have formed a quartette. The boys find their selections very entertaining. (?)

PFI LAMBDA THETA
John J. Moetz, '32

Spring must certainly be close at hand, for many of the boys deserted the house over the week-end to pay visits to their respective homes.

"Gib" Frith, '27, spent the week-end at the house (?), having come to Lewisburg to attend the Zeta Gamma Tau formal dance on Saturday.

"Bill" Brastow, '31, and "Hal" Trostel, '31, are now in the typewriter business, i. e., they rebuild old ones. My advice, however, is, "don't buy one, or even borrow one they have rebuilt." They used everything from a fountain pen to a crow-bar and sledge-hammer in their first attempt. Of course, practice makes perfect.

While the laundry is remodeling wrinkled and soiled stiff-bosomed shirts, and the tailors are doing their stuff on tux suits, the boys are making final preparations for their "Sem" formal to be held on Saturday night, March 9. The Blue Band will officiate.

BETA KAPPA
Christian Gerken, '30

A "Sem" dance was held last Saturday evening in true Beta Kappa style. Many guests were in attendance, including Prof. and Mrs. Garman and Miss Tollefson who acted as chaperones. The music was furnished by Dan Nesbitt of Sunbury.

Eta chapter awaits the time when brother J. R. Weber will be with us again. He was severely burned by the explosion in the chemistry building and has been in the Infirmary ever since.

Brother P. L. Patton, '27, drove up Friday from Pennsgrove where he is working in the Du Pont laboratories.

Pledge brother Beckwith entertained Miss Elsie Reese of Scranton who came down for the dance.

Brother Campbell dropped in to see us last Wednesday evening.

Brother "Gene" Carstater, '26, spent the week-end at the house after a hard week teaching school.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Blanche Thompson, '28, to Thomas D. Hann Jr., on March 2, in the First Baptist church, at Hightstown, New Jersey.

Helen Steinhilper, '29, was the only member of the active chapter who attended the ceremony. She reports a most auspicious beginning of Blanche's marital life.

Mrs. Kenneth Sliffer, formerly Caryl Dutton, '27, spent last week-end with her many friends in the University.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gross and daughter Lenore, of Harrisburg, visited their daughter, Mary, '31, on Sunday. The visit was partially a failure, since they forgot the cake they intended to bring.

"Dot" Jones, and "Connie" Williamson, both of '32, spent the week-end at "Dot's" home in Wilkes-Barre.

"Jo" Bair, '32, spent last week-end at her home in Lancaster.

"Betty" Mills, '29, attended the Phi Psi Founders' Day dance at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., on Saturday night.

Rhoda Herr, '29, spent last week-end in Philadelphia as a guest of Fern McNeal, '27.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

Hera day, March first, was begun according to custom by an early morning meeting in the suite. Eta's celebration this year took a different form than that in preceding years. Each member of the chapter took a hand in making supplies for a needy hospital in New York City.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

Monday, March4, marked the seventy-seventh anniversary of the founding of Phi Mu. The fraternity, which is the second oldest secret organization for women, was founded in 1852 at Wesleyan College, Macon, Georgia. It was established as the Philomathean, but in 1904 it became Phi Mu. Beta Kappa chapter was formed from the local Eta Sigma, organized at Bucknell in 1915 and installed as a chapter in Phi Mu in 1922.

On Monday afternoon the chapter held a tea in the living room of the new dormitory. The patronesses of the chapter and the women members of the faculty were guests. The active members presented an attractive silver tea urn to the suite as a Founders' Day gift.

Martha Thomas, '28, and Marie Helwig, '28, visited the suite on Sunday, March 3.

(Continued on Page 7.)

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—17—

THE IMPORTANCE OF NEWSPAPER ADS.

THE "CHICAGO EVENING AMERICAN" RECENTLY CONDUCTED A SURVEY AMONG ITS HOUSEWIFE READERS, AND OBTAINED ASTOUNDING RESULTS. IT WAS FOUND THAT 87.50% OF THEIR HOUSEWIFE-READERS, BY THEIR OWN ACKNOWLEDGMENT, READ ADVERTISING WHEN PLANNING SHOPPING TRIPS.

TODAY, IT IS GENERALLY CONCEDED THAT MOST PEOPLE PAY AS MUCH ATTENTION TO THE ADVERTISING COLUMNS AS TO THE NEWS AND EDITORIALS IN THE NEWSPAPERS.

THE WESTINGHOUSE ELECTRIC AND MANUFACTURING CO. IS QUICK TO SENSE THE WORTH OF ADVERTISING, AND THEY PLAN TO USE THREE TIMES AS MUCH NEWSPAPER SPACE AS FORMERLY IN THEIR REGULAR ADVERTISING PROGRAM. THERE, MOREOVER, IS A WIDESPREAD DEMAND FOR IT BY THE COMPANY'S SALES REPRESENTATIVES IN EVERY PART OF THE COUNTRY.

THE ADVERTISING MANAGER OF WESTINGHOUSE SAYS: "THE PAST TWO YEARS HAVE BEEN FOR US A CRUCIAL TEST OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING AND THE FACT THAT WE ARE TREBLING OUR PROGRAM THIS YEAR IS SUFFICIENT PROOF OF THE ADVERTISING POWER OF THE NATION'S NEWSPAPERS."

AUTOMOBILE MANUFACTURERS ARE DOING MORE NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING THAN FORMERLY. SO, TOO, ARE THE CONCERNS HANDLING FOODSTUFFS, BOTH PACKERS AND CANNERS AND THE SMALL, LOCAL GROCERIES.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1887

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Clarence W. Cranford, '29 Alpha Chi Nu House Phone 194
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Charles R. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Thomas McLeod, '31 Dorothy Davies, '30 A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor	Tremie Elsley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Hazen, '31 H. M. Grubbs, '31
Sports Editor	J. Warren McElligot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandenbree, '31 R. Burtuff Kuser, '31
Women's College Editor	Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '29
Column Editors	Elizabeth Figner, '30
	Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Hamitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30
Circulation Manager	Frederick M. Locke, '31 George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
	Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Nathaniel Glazier, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Reginaldo Wahrman, '32 Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Bell, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. B. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Lesch, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Friday, March 8—Mock Junior Prom.
Senior-Sophomore Party.

Saturday, March 9—Sigma Sigma Delta formal dance in the playroom. 8-11:45.
Phi Lambda Theta formal dance. 7:45-11:45.

Wednesday, March 13—Girls' Debate with Ursinus.

Thursday, March 14—Pan-Hellenic Song Contest, Baptist Church, 8 p. m.

WELCOME TO BUCKNELL

Latin-American students, welcome! Bucknell opens her doors to you. We know that you will bring to us fresh attitudes and ideas concerning that part of the country from which you come. We feel that you will welcome our points of view. We expect your visit to mean much to Bucknell. Help us to make it mean much to you. We are pleased to include in our welcome those who are to appear on the program of the conference. The hope is that a broader understanding on the part of all concerned will result from your visit to us.

CONCERNING THOSE PATHS

Please! Can't someone do something about the condition of the paths on the Hill. Many of us have dreams of visiting China some day, but when we go, we'd much rather go by way of the earth's surface than to go straight through. Perhaps we're mistaken, but we feel the scenic attractions are more beautiful the former way. But if the paths on the Hill remain in the condition in which they are now, we may have no choice in the matter. Perhaps we're harping on one subject, but we challenge anyone to put on a pair of good shoes and walk on the path from the library to the College Inn on these warm days when the water oozes up out of the ground to turn the good old firm terra cotta into a mass of sticky mud. Or go down the Hill from Old Main to the entrance to the campus right opposite the President's home, and join the hopping procession by making frog-like leaps over miniature rivulets. And the worst is yet to come, as spring rains and a warm sun unite to make a bad condition worse.

We do not intend to go far in our demands. We will leave it to some Bucknellian Editor of the future to plead for cement paths, but it does seem that it would be possible to produce a more firm footing by the use of a few loads of slag or whatever one uses for such a purpose. Either such an improvement must be made or else students will be forced to go in for hip-boots and an enlarged vocabulary.

WONDER WHAT AN 'ABSENTEE "PREXY" THINKS ABOUT

It is only with the utmost audacity that a mere student dares express what the President of his Alma Mater might be thinking while enjoying a well-earned rest away from the Institution. But the generation of today has been told so many times that it is audacious to the extreme that it is beginning to believe it—and believing it, to live up to its reputation. One proof is this editorial. But, honestly, might these not be some of the thoughts which passed through our beloved "Prexy's" mind as he rested in the warmth of the California sun?

"March! Time to return to Bucknell and work. Wonder how things have been going since I left? Pretty good, reports say. I knew they would with the Dean in charge. A good Dean that! And a good faculty! Knows how to cooperate! You know, this job of President isn't so easy. Have to please three groups. There's the faculty—one of the finest under God's heaven—but with a point of view which, fine as it is, is sometimes contrary to the point of view of the second group—the students. Great hunch, those students! Often their judgments are immature, but they are worth consideration. And then there are the trustees. A third point of view! And I have to harmonize all three. Yessir, it's a big job. The appreciation which everyone shows makes it easier, though. Take that song Dr. Bartol and Prof. Stolz wrote about me! Showed a big spirit of their part. And I'm glad Bartol mentioned "the million dollar stunt." Not because I'm conceited. Anyone who knows me knows better than that. But because it may wake others up to the bigness of my task. Maybe it will make some realize how minor their grievances are.

Just received a letter saying that the new catalogues are being distributed. I suppose a good many students will be angry when they notice that they have to return from the Christmas holiday on New Year's day. And I can't blame them so much. If I were a student, I'd hate to have to spend New Year's Day traveling so as to be back for classes on January second. A lot of families I know make a big day of that holiday. Well, maybe something can be done about it in 1931-32. And take this matter of having school on Good Friday! As some of the students have pointed out in the Bucknellian, that isn't so good for a school which advertises itself as the College for Christian education. Of course, if we gave the students a holiday everytime they wanted one, there wouldn't be any school. But perhaps we can still make improvements in the way in which we distribute out vacation days.

Say, I just happened to think! That book I was reading this morning said something which would serve as an excellent nucleus for a chapel speech. Guess I'll quit my random thinking and get the exact quotation I have in mind. The students will expect something good when I get back. I'll be pretty busy with others things then, so I'll work out that chapel talk now. Let's see, where did I lay that book?"

I WOULD, BUT.....

"It is always possible," says Henry Van Dyke in one of his more recent books, "To offer a perfectly plausible excuse for doing anything you want to do, or for leaving undone whatever you wish to avoid. Nothing could be simpler. First decide what you want to do, and supply the reason afterwards." And then in a list which he makes, he shows how excuses are woven into the fabric of our daily living. We have, he says,

"No time to live.....Because we must make money.

No time for our friends.....Because we have so many social duties.

No time for thought.....Because we must talk continuously.

No time to grow.....Because we must "express ourselves."

No time for service.....Because we must always be pleasing ourselves.

No time for health.....Because we must be famous.

No time for love.....Because we will not forget our proud selves.

Empty churches .....Because of crowded beaches and beaches.

God forgotten.....Because of our preoccupation with idle affairs."

We are not going to preach and use "excuses" as our text, but in order that we may ask ourselves whether or not we are avoiding some of the greater things of Bucknell in order to carry out secondary obligations, we print our own list. In general, if one is observant, one finds that here at Bucknell we have. . . .

No time to study.....Because we must fulfill our social obligations.

No time to be constructive.....Because we must be "riding" everything.

No time to be different.....Because we must "rate."

No time to think.....Because it takes so long to get out our assignments.

No chance to vote for the best man.....Because we must be loyal to our fraternity clique.

No time to get culture.....Because we must get technical knowledge in some one special line.

Not enough money to send a girl's debating team on a western trip.....Because we need the money for more important items (Perhaps such as a high fence around the stadium).

No chance to be truly democratic.....Because we must live according to certain levels which have been created by fraternities and sororities.

No ambition to work in certain courses..... Because the professor is not interesting even though he does "know his stuff."

No desire to refrain from hollering at dances .....Because the administration has no right to compel us to keep silent and we must assert our independence.

But why go on with the list? Each can think of others which may and should be added. Some may be indignant that some things have been mentioned in the list in the way they have. Most will agree that all are plausible excuses, BUT.....

THEY ARE EXCUSES.

There are times when human words were best not spoken. They are so inadequate as a means of expression. But the Bucknellian wishes to extend to Registrar and Mrs. H. W. Holter its sincerest sympathy in the loss of their son, Walter, Jr.

To The Editor

To the Editor:

At last, the Spring issue of Bucknell's illustrious humor folio has been published with its customary irregularites by the young hopefuls who are Belle Hopping through college by passively pushing the pen. Should one in a moment of weakness use either Bon Ami or Dutch Cleanser on the external or internal portions of so notorious a publication, put out by an egotistical group of low humorists, there would not even be a border left. It is impossible to even flatter the staff to the extent of calling their scintillating frippery, "Agreeable Rattle."

To all outward appearances the sheet is published whenever Lord Cardigan can locate another struggling activity to ride. What college, pray, did the titled gentleman, or rather, fossil, flunk out of? If it was the Garden of Eden or some other chosen spot, why not return to it, and possibly with a struggle the university could survive the less.

The Alumni Monthly would doubtless cherish this worthy publication as a supplement, for without the aid of alumni and ex-officios the folder would be devoid of pictures, rhyme, and precious tid-bits and experiences recalled from the dear old college days. Positions of alumni correspondents are to be desired by many who miraculously escaped being bumped out of college, and, now, safely on the outside seize every opportunity to ride persons and things which failed to line up with their particular way of thinking and doing. A complete publication of the works of Y. E. F. is to be desired, in spite of the fact that very "frag" fragments appear on every other page of the wagish comic editor. Evidentally this method is cheaper than the hound volume. When in doubt those Belle Hopping through college publish a poem by Y. E. F. The profusion of outside talent is an extremely delicate way of nosing it abroad that there is a paucity of talent on the undergraduate staff. If the Belle Hop staff was not such a cliquey and family affair, contributions from other sources might be forthcoming, and who knows but that in time and with seasoning, other eligible individuals might become equally as egotistical and as lordly as ye editor and his bosom cohort.

What Brazil ever did to the Belle Hoppers is hard to say, but evidently ye ed. was hoaxed by a pair of Brazilian rubber heels, and they gave. But, be that as it may, the university goes on just as well between publications of this spasmodic slaughter as at the time of its issuance. However, of course, should the little number be discontinued because of ill health, some darlings might have to leave college because they could no longer Belle Hop through.

Committee on College Employment.

P. S. We know what the answer is; if we, as up and coming humorists, would work out on the situation, there might be an improvement.

Democracy versus Oligarchy!

To the Editor of the Bucknellian.

Dear sir:

According to the Bucknell catalog, this university is described as, "a school for Christian education," which in its own way sounds extremely correct and proper, and with which the majority of people agree. It seems sort of a boast or slogan, one that would appear exceedingly becoming engraved in stone over the door of a chapel. There is no doubt that this expression of Bucknell's high ideal along educational lines is one to be admired, but those who see to the fact that this ideal is yearly placed in the catalog, seem to have lost sight of the practical side of the question. When one turns to the calendar, he will at once notice that our spring vacation begins at noon on the day before Easter. Of course, to those students who do not live more than six hours traveling distance from home, the date of closing does not matter, nevertheless, there are many students here who are quite a distance from their homes, and who will find it quite inconvenient. Although this is a Pennsylvania school there are many students from other states, and it will be these students who must suffer from the non-practical date set. If one arrives home at two o'clock in the morning he feels very little like attending church the next morning, and then there are many who feel that attending classes on Good Friday is not an excellent example of Christian education. All in all, it would not be so much trouble to commence the Spring vacation two or three days earlier, for the corresponding few days could be removed from the end, which would not change the length of the vacation, and at the same time would make us at least more consistent.

A Church-going Freshman.

Editor's Note—It is our ambition to have the Bucknellian reflect student opinion in so far as it is possible. It is with this in mind that letters to the Editor are published. They do not necessarily represent the policy of the editorial staff.

Read The Bucknellian

THE FLORSHEIM SHOE

To wear Florsheim shoes is to enjoy the best there is in shoe making.

Most Styles $10

FOR SALE BY

J. F. PROWANT CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.

"Tommy", Delta Sig Play, Stars V. Meyer

With the presentation of the play, "Tommy," the Delta Sigma fraternity initiated its thirtieth annual Founders' Day celebration in Bucknell Hall last Friday evening. The lead in the play was taken by Victor Meyer, '29, who interpreted his part excellently. His portrayal of the intoxicated boy-friend in the third act was one of the best pieces of acting seen recently on the campus. Edythe Evans, '29, acting opposite Meyer, contributed much to the success of the play. William R. DeLancey, '31, was acclaimed by many as the star of the presentation. In his performance as "David Tuttle" he showed himself a master. Gordon Sortor, '30, gave a creditable account of himself as the likeable, if forward rival to "Tommy." Mary Smith, '30, seemed made for her part as the wife of "Mr. Thurber," which latter role was portrayed by Philip Neiser, '32. "Phil" kept the audience in stitches all evening.

John Snyder, '30, showed his ability by his succesful acting of his part as "Judge Wilson." Roberta Slifer, '31, appeared in the shortest role of the evening as "Mrs. Wilson," and proved her ability by making even this small part stand out as a creditable unit in this fine play. Wilson R'se, '29, directed the play and to him goes much of the credit for its success.

An empire hung on that strap

THE hitch must be right, the pack must be tight. On details such as that hung the attainment of the day's goal and the final success of the expedition.

Lewis and Clark, first Americans to cross the continent, knew the importance of "trifles" in the concerted plan. They saw to it their equipment was right, they supervised every step from man-power to pack-horse-power, they applied sure knowledge and constant vigilance to their task.

Today's leaders in business have the same point of view.

Men in the Bell System, exploring new country, take infinite pains in preparation. They work toward the smooth coordination of engineering, manufacturing, warehousing, accounting, finance, public service.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

GULLIVER THANKS—

here and now, an oldtimer in the humor game. The Belle Hop, and nothing less. The old funnyman's felicitations are most appreciated, even though parts of his publication are not. (Treason!) It's a serious business, this trying to be funny, isn't it?

Again, thank you, Bell Captain.

The appropriate song for this time of year is, "Chloe, the Song of the Swamp, or a Little Ballad of the Campus Paths." On the hill, at least, the highway IS the happy way.

Gulliver supposes that it's up to him to say something witty about spring, a young man's thoughts, and a' that. But why bother about saying anything? One has but to look around to see the effects of the season.

But there is one matter that the faculty-student committee has overlooked when laying down it's thou-shalt-nots, and Gulliver rejoices in that fact. Sshush, this is it—the unchaperoned condition of the girl's new dormitory parlor. Quite a slip there, committee. That failure on your part is being taken advantage of by the campus wise ones.

Well, committee, now that Gulliver has told you, you'll probably remedy that condition by supplying a chaperone for every davenport. But the ha-ha is on you. It'll be nice and warm and dry outside by the time you are ready to put the ban on.

Attention, Faculty!

Dear John Gulliver:

I have just been granted authority by the Federal Prohibition Officer to broadcast on a ripple length of twenty three bicycles. Now that you are tuned in to this station (not connected in any way with the police) I have a few bedtime stories for the night watchman. Who ever thinks of these poor souls anyway? They must lead a lonesome life greeting only milkmen and passing the time of morning with belated husbands kept out by board meetings! Isn't it awful!

But really Gertrude, I have the GRANDest news for you! Just to think that we are granted the freedom of the press in your PRICIOUS COLumn and we do not even have to SIGN our names. But I must give you the news. Yesterday I overheard three of our DEAR professors talking about writing to you. It seems they to like the idea of seeing their writing printed and no names necessary except those DARling ones you give people. Now that is my donation of dirt for you and then I have a question for you too! Why do you not ask some of these poor souls (Professors, not night watchmen) for contributions to your column. Just think of all the gossip you might get and all the tongues you might start buzzing with faculty articles in your writings. I REALLY believe they would help the column, Gully old boy! You can't tell what some of them are thinking sometimes you know. We all say things when we mean something else—don't we? Now let's see you get big-hearted and offer a line or two to our oppressed oppressors.

—General Debility.

Indeed, profs, Gulliver is only too glad to invite you to use his column. You must, with your penetrating minds, get an awful laugh at some of the things that go on at this here institution. Let's hear from you.

(Note to the student body. This is just another way to get a drag. Start a column in the paper. Invite your profs to write for it. Use their stuff without editing it. Smooth, eh what? But don't tell that we let you in on this.)

Further Epistolary Matter

Dear Gulliver:

I heard in an English lecture the other day that we should "cultivate our emotions to write poetry." Truly I was glad that one of our English profs had at last said something I could understand. I have cultivated my emotions (but not written poetry) for twenty years and I feel that I am no less than an authority.

Now there are two main ways of cultivating emotion: dry farming and irrigation. But since irrigation is used only in the Aleutian Islands I will dismiss that phase for the time being.

Essentially the procedure is as follows:

1. Take some healthy and selected emotion seeds (usually gathered around rocking chairs in the middle of dark rooms or near collar buttons which have rolled under dressers).

2. Rinse well in cold water. This may dampen ardour and cool passion but they are objectionable anyway.)

3. Plant in long furrows about two inches deep and forget them for two weeks.

4. On the fourteenth day creep out before dawn with a large tin can.

5. Cut off the now lively emotions and pen them in the can.

6. Enter the house, place can full of emotions on shelf above your head, and proceed to write poetry under pent up emotion.

In case you fail to obtain any suitable emotions by following my instructions, almost equally favorable results can be obtained by writing under an electric light.

—Kane Unable.

Gulliver is in receipt of another letter telling more about that queer college, Babuk-on-Nehile. Watch for it next week.—Adv.

Bisons Snow Under Juniata, 50 to 27

The Bucknell basketball team chalked up its eleventh triumph of the season last evening at the new high school gymnasium, snowing under the Juniata College quintet by a 50-27 margin. The winners assumed an early lead and were out in front at all stages of the game.

A flurry of field goals in the first ten minutes of play by Captain Woodring, Seiler, and Klosterman enabled the winners to take a commanding lead which was never even threatened during the remainder of the game.

At half time the Plantmen had outscored the visitors 30-8. During the final period Coach Plant employed several substitutes all of whom performed creditably.

"Burly" Almost Scores

"Burly" Slate was inserted in the game late in the second half in place of Mitchell. This marked Burly's first appearance as a varsity basketball player this year. Slate almost scored a field goal in the closing minutes of play but fate intervened and consequently the burly youth had to be content with "goose eggs" after his name in the box score.

"Archie" Seiler, with his brilliant college basketball career rapidly drawing to a close, captured the high scoring honors for the evening with 16 points, representing six field goals and a quartet of fouls. After being held scoreless at Temple last Friday, Seiler ran wild here last night.

"Bernie" Klosterman gave Seiler a merry chase for scoring honors with 14 points, including six field goals and two fouls. Klosterman was withdrawn from the tussle during the second period.

Captain "Lou" Woodring played one of the best games of his career. "Woody" passed and dribbled with his usual brilliancy last evening much to the discomfort of the enemy team. On the offense the Bison captain contributed 11 points to Bucknell's total score.

Andrews Runs Wild

Andrews, a forward, was the high scorer for the losers with 15 points. The Juniata cager tossed in several sensational shots. Holsinger, the losers' center, played an impressive game at the pivot post until he was forced out of action by accumulating an excessive number of personal fouls.

Score by periods:

Bucknell	30	20—50
Juniata	9	19—27

Wanted—the names of those students in school who own an aeroplane or intend to purchase one this spring. Also, the names of those students who hold pilot licenses. Address all communications to Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

Who's Who AT B. U.

Kimball D. Miller

Very much in prominence this week is Kimball Miller, chairman of the committee that is staging the Pan-American Conference.

This is not the first time that "Kim" has capably handled positions of responsibility. He has had a place on the Junior Prom committee and on the L'Agenda staff. Also he is a member of the "Y" Cabinet and is Sigma Alpha Epsilon's caterer. In his sophomore year "Red" became a Friar.

"Kim" has also been making a name for himself on the cinder paths. "Red" ranks high as a quarter-miler and has earned his "B". He has been a member of the track team for the past three years.

PAN-AMERICAN LEADERS MEET HERE ON FRIDAY

(Continued from page 1)

of Temple University, and Mr. R. B. Alvarez, an Argentine graduate student. Charles D. Hurrey will probably preside over the conference.

At ten o'clock the meeting will adjourn to the playroom of the New dormitory. Here an informal round-table discussion will provide an opportunity for the Latin-American students to present their views of the problems affecting the relationship of North and South America.

Again at two o'clock the delegates from Bucknell will meet with their guests in round-table discussion. It is at these meetings that the Bucknellians, all of whom are keen students of Pan-American affairs, will weigh the arguments of the visitors.

The Y. W. C. A. will entertain the group at tea Saturday afternoon at four-thirty o'clock. The final basketball game of the season between Bucknell and Ursinus, will be witnessed by the delegates and leaders.

Charles D. Hurrey will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church, Sunday morning at 10:30. Mr. Hurrey is a brilliant speaker, and his three years' experience in South America will enable him to speak with authority on the Christian aspect of Pan-American relations.

A few of the leaders and students will remain here until Sunday evening and conduct services at Epworth League and the evening worship at the Methodist Church.

The program follows:

Friday, 7:00 p. m.—Dinner at College Inn.

8:30—Informal reception, Bucknell Hall.

Saturday, 9:00 a. m.—Open meeting in Bucknell Hall. Addresses by leaders.

10:00 a. m.—Informal Round-table Discussion—Play Room.

2:00 p. m.—Round table Discussion. Reception Room, new dormitory.

4:30 p. m.—Tea served by Y. W. C. A.

Sunday, 10:30 a. m.—Morning Service at Baptist Church led by Dr. Charles D. Hurrey.

6:30 p. m.—Epworth League led by Conference Leader, Methodist Church.

7:30 p. m.—"The Christian Aspect of Pan-American Relations, Methodist Church.

"Cause of Insanity", Dr. Pike's New Topic

Dr. H. B. Pike continued the series of lectures that he is giving on "Mental Pathology" when he spoke to an interested audience in the lecture room of the Biology Building, Thursday afternoon, February 28.

"Why Are Individuals Insane?" was discussed by Dr. Pike who defined insanity as "a prolonged departure from an individual's normal feeling, thinking, and acting, as a result of which the individual is no longer able to adapt himself to his environment."

There is a great difference between mental disease and insanity—the one is a cause, the other an effect. Insanity is a legal term and not a mental one. According to Dr. Pike, sixty per cent of our criminals are mentally diseased, insane, or epileptic.

In 1927 there were 300,000 insane people in institutions. This number is more than one half that of the students in our universities and colleges and larger than our standing army.

A man is always the product of his ancestors and of his environment. Fifty per cent of all individuals in insane asylums have a definite history of mental defects in their make-up.

Have You Chosen Your Life Work in the Field of Health Service?

The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean

Harvard University Dental School
Longwood Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
combination of
Colgate Theological Seminary
and
Rochester Theological Seminary introduces itself to the Students of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
who are looking forward to training for RELIGIOUS LEADERSHIP
at home, or abroad.
Correspondence solicited.
Clarence A. Barbour, President
Thomas Wearing, Dean
Glenn B. Ewell, Associate Dean

Stop! Look! Listen!

Now is the time to buy that special policy, which we offer to college men. Provide yourself with a regular income in case of disability, protect your interests, and prepare for your future. Our rates are exceptionally low. Your first payment extended until September 1. The best service at your command, through our special representative, a trained life insurance man. For details write or call

Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Generating Brain Power

BRAIN power, not horsepower, is the chief operating requirement of the electrical industry.

This requirement must be continuously anticipated to provide leaders for the future. Accordingly, each year, more than 400 picked college graduates come to the General Electric Company for a post-graduate course in electrical science.

With a faculty including inventors and engineers of international distinction, something more than electrical knowledge is imparted to these young men. Here they also find inspiration which prepares them for leadership in this electrical age.

You will see this monogram on the powerful motors of an electric locomotive and on the convenience outlet where you plug in a floor lamp—always and everywhere it is a safe guide to electrical quality and dependability.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK
95-637DH

B. U. Five Drops Game to Temple By 34-18 Count

Woodring and Ross Share Bison Scoring Honors; Plantmen Trounce Schuylkill

After gaining their tenth court victory of the season at the expense of the Schuylkill College quintet last Thursday evening at Reading, the Bucknell cagemen journeyed to Philadelphia on Friday where they dropped a 18-34 decision to the formidable Temple basketeers. The winners gained an early lead which was never once threatened. This marked the last 1929 court game for the Owl quintet.

Captain Harry Litwack, playing his last game for his Alma Mater, brought to a successful close his long and colorful career on the court as a collegiate performer. From the field, Litwack tossed in five valuable field goals while from the penalty mark the Temple star registered seven charity tosses. Litwack's scoring performance which totaled 17 points was the best individual output of the evening.

Jack Bonner was runnerup to Litwack for scoring honors with 13 points, representing six double deckers and a lone foul. Godfrey was third in line for scoring honors by producing five field goals and two fouls for a 12 point total.

Temple Leads At Half

The Bucknell cagemen fought hard throughout the battle only to be repulsed by a more experienced team. Led by Captain Woodring who tallied eight points, the Bisons were consistent scorers. Temple's early lead enabled the winners to lead at half time by a 21-10 margin.

During the final period the Bucknell players staged a belated scoring spurt which brought them within 14 points of their rivals. However as the game wanned the winners increased their lead considerably and when the final whistle blew the Owls were out in front by a 24 point advantage.

Norman Ross and Captain Woodring shared the scoring honors for Bucknell with eight points apiece Both Ross and Woodring registered a trio of field goals and a pair of free tosses. "Hernie" Klosterman registered three double deckers and did also Wadsworth. For the first time this season "Archie" Seller, star Bison pivot man, was held without a field goal. However Seller managed to break into the scoring column by tallying a quartet of fouls.

Bisons Trounce Schuylkill

Bucknell defeated Schuylkill on Wednesday evening 42-29. This game marked the second court contest between the two colleges this winer. In a game that was staged in Lewisburg earlier in the season Bucknell chalked up a 41-36 victory over the Reading collegians.

Bucknell was ahead at all stages of the ame. During the first half the losers threatened the Bisons lead on several occasions. At half time Coach Plant's men led by a 23-20 score.

The line-up of the Temple game:

Temple	Field	Foul	Total
Stamberg, f	4	0	8
Godfrey, f	5	2	12
Bonner, c	6	1	13
Litwack, g	7	7	17
Wearshing, g	1	0	2
Rothstein, f	3	0	6
Pearson, f	0	0	0
Tomlin, c	0	0	0
Feinberg, g	0	0	0
Wastin, g	0	2	0
Totals	24	10	58
Bucknell	Field	Foul	Total
Mitchell, f	1	0	2
Klosterman, f	3	0	6
Seller, c	0	4	4
Ross, f	3	2	8
Wadsworth, g	3	0	6
Woodring, g	3	2	8
Totals	13	8	34

Referee—Kelly.
Umpire—Glassett.

EDW. COLESTOCK STARS AS NAVY WHIPS HARVARD

Edward Colestock, son of Dr. H. T. Colestock of Bucknell faculty, and well-known in Lewisburg, was the outstanding star in the Navy's basketball game with Harvard at Annapolis on Saturday.

Navy defeated Harvard, 43-20, and Colestock is credited with twenty points, the largest score made by any midshipman during the present court season. During his high school days here he was one of the leading scorers in this section.

The Baltimore Sun in commenting on the game stated that "Colestock did every thing just about right."
—Lewisburg Journal.

B. U. Plays Ursinus In Last Court Game

Woodring, Seiler, Klosterman, And Mitchell to Close Court Careers Saturday Night

Four Bucknell basketball regulars will bring to a close their collegiate court careers on Saturday evening at the Tustin Gym when the Plantmen face the Ursinus College quintet. The four include Captain "Lou" Woodring, "Archie" Seiler, "Bernie" Klosterman and "Tel" Mitchell.

Seiler, Woodring, and Klosterman are three year veterans, Mitchell has been a member of the Bison court team for three years, but did not play regularly until this season. Mitchell is now a star forward on Coach Plant's quintet.

Captain Woodring has played at a guard post on the Bucknell teams of 1927, '28, and '29. During his freshman year at Bucknell he was a regular guard on the yearling five. He has been a consistent player throughout his whole career and he will be missed next season.

Klosterman another three year veteran played along side of Woodring as a guard until this season when Coach Plant relegated the Kentucky youth to a forward post.

Seiler High Scorer

Seiler captained the Bison quintet last season and has been its most consistent scorer for three years. During his freshman year at Bucknell, Seiler captained the yearling five and performed at the pivot post. His highest individual scoring performance occured in the Schuylkill game last year when the Hawley youth ran wild to amass 34 points.

Bucknell defeated Ursinus several weeks ago 31-28 in a court contest that was staged in Collegeville. The Plantmen expect to close their season in a successful manner on Saturday by scoring another win over the Ursinus cagemen.

Court and Ring

By "Mac" McElgot

Winter sports at Bucknell will be concluded this week when the boxing and basketball teams finish their schedules. The Bison ringmen will meet Temple in the season's final while the Orange and Blue quintet will face Ursinus in the windup court game of the year.

* * * *

Norman Ross, the Gloucester, Massachusetts boy who is making good at Bucknell, distinguished himself last Friday evening against Temple. Ross was sent into the court tussle with the Owls as a sub forward. He emerged along with Captain Woodring as the Bisons' high scorer. Both "Woody" and "Rossy" tallied eight points. Ross is only a sophomore and is valuable material for next year's court team. He has been a member of Coach Plant's Bucknell quintet all winter.

* * * *

Ross does not confine his athletic talent wholly to basketball as he is also a stellar satellite on both the diamond and the gridiron. Last fall Ross was a member of Coach Snavely's varsity eleven and saw action in several important games. Ross was stationed at the quarterback post when sent into a tussle by the Bison football mentor. He will likely be seen in action on the diamond having played third base on the yearling nine.

* * * *

"Lou" Mutzel, Bucknell's classy light heavyweight, is also enjoying a highly successful season. Mutzel has won three bouts so far this winter and Bucknell fans look forward to him to win another tomorrow. Mutzel defeated Brown of Temple last year here in Lewisburg in a clash for the light heavyweight honors. Mutzel will face this same Brown tomorrow evening in Philadelphia.

* * *

An indication that the ring sport is a popular one at Bucknell became evident here last week when several hundreds packed the new high school gym to witness the fistic clash between Bucknell and Catholic University. Seven bouts were staged and there was action in everyone. The onlookers by far got their money's worth.

* * * *

Captain Frank Lepore will lead his Bucknell ring team against Temple tomorrow night. Lepore as usual will represent Bucknell as its 145-pound contender. The Pittston youth has been in excellent shape all season. He has won three bouts so far by wide margins. His undefeated 1929 record is still intact but it will be threatened tomorrow by a Temple rival who will hope to subdue Lepore.

HE PLAYED IN 98 VARSITY GAMES

By "Mac" McElgot

"Records are made only to be broken." In these words a modern proverbialist added to the long list of morals another great proverb. Both Franklin of the 18th century and Aesop of the ancient world neglected to note this one. And it's a good thing that they did.

An Unbroken Record

For Andrew R. E. Wyant, '82, a 62-year old Chicago physician has defied the man who composed that saying "Records are made only to be broken." And why shouldn't he? Wyant has set a record in football that has never been and will never be equaled. The former college football star now resides in Chicago, Ill., where he is a noted physician and surgeon. And what is more he boasts of a brother who is now a congressman in Washington.

Wyant played football in the days when the game resembled a miniature war. He was in the limelight back in the eighties and nineties when football was in its experimental stage. "It was a real game then," says Wyant, who played the sport for the fun that he got out of it.

Wyant created a remarkable gridiron record that has never even been threatened by a competitor. He played in 98 consecutive football games in seven straight years and was never once removed from his post in the line. He played in every game from beginning to end in those 98 memorable tussles. Such a record is little less than miraculous. Yet it has been done and it is the proud Wyant who holds the undisputed but envied record which will be preserved forever.

Few Eligibility Regulations

During the period when he played college football a player could perform for as many seasons as he chose. There were no freshmen rulings and no transferring regulations. A college grider could play in one college and than migrate to another university where he might see action on the gridiron for four more seasons.

The closest that a player could get to Wyant's unsurmountable record
(Continued on Page 7.)

Crack Frosh Cagers Gain Tenth Victory

Harry Fry Makes 10 Field Goals As Yearling Team Piles Up 41-28 Score At W. M. I.

Coach "Mal" Musser's crack Bucknell freshmen basketball team gained its tenth victory in eleven starts last Thursday evening at Wehonah, N. J. where the Baby Bisons conquered the Wenonah Military Academy quintet by a 41-28 score. Field goals by Harry Fry and "Bill" Chenoweth provided the winners with an early lead which the Mussermen held throughout the game.

After scoring 17 points against Peddie the evening before, Harry Fry, the freshmen team's pivot ace came back again on Thursday to toss in ten field goals and a foul for a 21 point total. Several of Fry's double deckers were the results of sensational plays.

Marter and Chenoweth were next in line for scoring honors with eight points each. The visitors collected 17 field goals, ten of which were contributed by Fry, who went on a scoring rampage.
(Continued on Page 7.)

Ringsters Meet Temple in Last Boxing Contest

Owls Recently Lost To Catholic University by 5-2 Decision; Seven Bouts Scheduled

The Bucknell boxing team will endeavor to close its 1929 ring season successfully tomorrow evening at Philadelphia by taking the measure of the Temple ring aspirants. Bucknell has so far registered ring triumphs over Manhattan College and P. M. C. by considerable margins. Last week the Bisons' chances for an undefeated season were undermined when the Catholic University punchers chalked up a thrilling 4-3 decision over Coach Plant's boxers.

The meet was not decided in favor of the visitors until "Pottsville" Jones lost the heavyweight decision to Malovitch of Catholic U. in the last bout of the evening.

Indications are that Coach Plant will start the same seven men who have seen fistic action in the three
(Continued on Page 7.)

Say, fellers—

Confidentially, what paregoric is to colic-y babies, so

C. LLOYD MAJOR

and His Blues-Blowing Band

will be to your hot-heeled hoofer in the Sem. Buzz her now for the twenty-third in the gym.

Terpsichoreanly yours,

THE SOPHS

P. S.—Only two and a half iron men.

Small Boy Glimpses Life of "Semites" As He Sells Magazines

I wonder what he's thinking of?—The little boy who sells magazines at the "Sem." Does he envy the "big boys" who are permitted to take these lovely creatures to dances, games, shows, etc? Does he envy the person who is able to thrill a "Semite" by writing a letter to her? As he hears girls called to the telephone and sees girls reading letters from their boy-friends, does he wish he lived in the same world as the college folks?

He probably brags to his playmates about what goes on at the "Sem." There, he is on a more intimate footing than any other member of his sex. His calling hours are unlimited—breakfast, lunch, or dinner hour. He watches the girls go to meals hungry and come back happy. Occasionally his heart contracts when a "co-ed" buys one of his magazines.

Can it be possible that the fraternity boys are jealous of him? Do they begrudge him the close contacts of the "Sem" which are forbidden them?

At any rate, the boy's eyes hold depths of wisdom and now and then a knowing smile spreads over his face as he watches the endless procession of girls hurrying past him.

H. Allsworth Challenges Campus Checker Players

Harry Allsworth, '29, acknowledged champion checker player of the Sigma Chi fraternity, stands ready to defend his claim on the campus title.

Harry has just emerged from a strenuous season at the Sig house where he captured an informal tournament from the clever moves of players such as "Lou" Mutzel, "Sam" Hoak, "Joe" Crowe, Gene Sullivan, and others.

Allsworth has all the necessary attributes of a champion checkerer, being possessed with a facile brain, dextrous fingers, and a fine competitive spirit.

Contestants for the belt which Harry claims may have a match at any time and at any place, with their choice of men and boards, by getting in touch with "Sam" Hoak, who is guiding Allsworth's destinies.

Mrs. N. F. Davis Lectured On Palestine, Friday Night

Mrs. Nelson F. Davis, who in company with a number of friends toured the Holy Land last summer gave an illustrated lecture on Palestine, Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Davis' views and slides were purchased when she was in Palestine and are therefore up-to-date. The lecture was of special interest occuring as it did in the Lenten season.

Comptroller's Mother, Mrs. S. C. Ranck, Dies

Comptroller Dayton L. Ranck suffered the loss of his mother, Mrs. Sarah C. Ranck, of Milton, on Tuesday last. She died at her own home, shortly before eight o'clock in the morning. She was 71 years of age, and had been ill for many months. She is survived by her husband and three children. Interment was made in the Highland Cemetery, at New Columbia, Thursday, February 28.

The college extends its sincere sympathy to Comptroller Ranck in his bereavement.

ROBERT KIRKER, EX-'31, TAKES HIS OWN LIFE

Robert M. Kirker, ex-'31, was found dead in his room at his home in Franklin last week with a bullet through his heart. He had committed suicide.

Kirker, an honor student in his high school class, had always been a resident of Franklin. He spent a year and a half at Bucknell, making many friends. He did not return to college after last Christmas vacation.

It is believed that ill health had brought him to the despondent state that caused him to take his own life.

LAFAYETTE STUDENT REFUSES P. B. K. BID

Of the eight men at Lafayette College, bid last week to Phi Beta Kappa, one, a junior, has declined the honor of membership.

Philip H. Kable, of York, refused the highest honor given by the college for scholastic attainment in the arts and science college. Kable has received a grade of "A" in every subject he has studied. He refused to give a reason for his decision.

Bucknellian's Record Of 98 Varsity Games Is Not Yet Equaled

(Continued from page 6)

now would be to play seven years of football with some college team and with the Army. This would probably consist of 56 games, at the most 60. And now most of the colleges in the United States have installed a three-year rule which eliminates freshmen from varsity competition.

Therefore in this way Wyant's record is safe. But when one takes into consideration the fact that Wyant was never removed from a game in his seven years of playing it is truly remarkable. Wyant's record will go unparalleled forever.

A Bucknell Grad

Wyant began his record breaking career at Bucknell University in 1888. He played for a period of four seasons on the Bison elevens of 1888, '89, '90, and '91. He performed in the line as a guard and tackle. His excellent playing aided Bucknell in many historical football triumphs. At the Lewisburg institution Wyant had ambitions to become a physician.

When he was graduated from Bucknell in 1892 he decided to continue his medical studies at the University of Chicago.

In 1892 he enrolled at the "Windy City" institution and there continued his colorful football career. He was a member of the University of Chicago's first football team which was captained and coached by Alonza Stagg. During his stay at Chicago, Wyant played as a guard, a tackle, and a center.

In 1894 Wyant was elected to captain the eleven and became its regular center. It was in the fall of 1894 that Wyant brought to a close his remarkable career of playing 55 consecutive football games.

"During my football career the game was not quite so refined as it is today," recently remarked the famous Chicago doctor, "That was the era when mass formations were the main plays."

"'Battering rams' and 'flying wedges' and the so called murderous 'tackle back' plays were the most popular. Deaths were not infrequent happenings and tragic injuries were common occurences. Yet, someway, somehow, I never had to be taken out of a game because of illness and injury and I played throughout every minute of everyone of those 98 games over a span of seven successive years."

Today the famous Doctor Wyant is a powerful man of 62. He is still hale and hearty. He claims that he has never missed a day's work since the time that he completed his medical studies at the University of Chicago.

CRACK FROSH CAGERS GAIN TENTH VICTORY

(Continued from Page 6.)

The freshmen basketball team will officially bring their successful 1929 court season to a close tomorrow and Saturday on a road trip. Tomorrow evening at Freeland, Musser's pupils will face Freeland Military Academy while on Saturday the Bison cagemen will play Wyoming Seminary in a return engagement between the two teams.

The line-up:

R. U. Frosh		Wenonah A.
Chenoweth	forward	Bream
Griffith	forward	Oklawicz
Fry	center	Nesbitt
Stonebreaker	guard	Renshaw
Marter	guard	Gilbert
Bucknell Frosh	25	16—41
Wenonah	14	14—28

Field goals—Chenoweth 4; Fry 10; Marter 3; Bream 3; Oklawicz, Nesbitt 2; Gilbert 2; Schuman 2. Foul goals—Stonebreaker, Fry, Marter 2; Mills 2; Bream, Oklawicz 3; Nesbitt, Renshaw, Gilbert, Schuman. Substitutions—Mills for Griffith, Schuman for Oklawicz. Referee—Henry.

B. U. BOXERS OPPOSE TEMPLE IN LAST MEET

(Continued from Page 6.)

meets already staged. The seven include "Nick" LaFerrara, 115-pounds, "Al" Boerner, 125-pounds, Frank Storaci, 135 pounds, Captain Frank Lepore, 145 pounds, Wilbur Ammerman, 160 pounds, "Lou" Mutzel, 175 pounds, and "Pottsville" Jones, heavyweight.

Temple lost its last two boxing engagements. Two weeks ago Catholic U. downed the Owls by a 5-2 margin while last week the Temple mittmen bowed to the Penn State glove artists, 4-3.

Jack Sprat did join a "frat"
On that his wife was keen.
And now on both the wife and Spratt.
A "frat" pin can be seen.

Address to The Bucknellian

But who wants a "fairly good egg"?

When his Lordship the Bishop asked his guest how he enjoyed the breakfast egg, that timid—but always truthful—young curate replied: "Parts of it were excellent, sir!"

Now isn't that just like saying that such-and-such a cigarette is mild? Mildness in tobacco is not to be despised, but is it the ne plus ultra, the summum bonum, the . . . in plain English, is that all you ask from your cigarette? We think not.

Take Chesterfield's mildness for granted, and get the full relish of its rich, real taste under your tongue. That's its difference from the common run—all the difference between plus and minus. Chesterfields are mild . . . and yet they satisfy!

CHESTERFIELD

MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

Helen Kellogg, '32, and Miriam Watkins, '30, spent the week-end of March 2 at their homes.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha of Sigma Sigma Delta is very happy to announce the initiation of the following girls into active membership on February 26: Ruth Carstater and Elinor Doerr, '29, Hanna Dennin and Anne Evans, '30, and Doris Miller, '31. Ercil Bates entertained us at her home for the evening, and following the initiation service, we had a social hour.

We were very glad to have Leah Decker come back to visit us a week or so ago. Leah graduated in 1927, and is now teaching at Altoona.

The Sophomore Cotillion
Will be in the gym.
Go ask your girl-friend;
Keep her dancing in trim.

Girls' Glee Club To Give Concert In Milton Church

The Girls' Glee Club will give a concert in the Methodist Church at Milton, Thursday evening, March 7. The concert is the first of the season to be given by this organization, and promises to be well worth hearing.

School of Nursing of Yale University

A Profession for the College Woman

interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.

The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method,

leads to the degree of

BACHELOR OF NURSING

Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.

The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.

For catalog and information address:

The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN :: CONNECTICUT

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diploma.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WAINIES

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

The
WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S
Corner
6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC
AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
ICE CREAM SUNDAES

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

A. R. Priest Scores College Fraternities As Mere Social Units

Delta Sigma's guest of honor at its thirtieth annual Founders' Day banquet was Mr. Arthur R. Priest, who for many years has been the executive secretary of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

Mr. Priest has had perhaps more experience with college fraternities than any other individual in the country today. He has in past years made a study of the situation and has formed some very definite opinions of what a fraternity ought to be.

Many college students believe that a fraternity is but a social institution, making no attempt to go beyond this field. Mr. Priest minced no words in denouncing this attitude: "I would not work two minutes more for Phi Delta Theta, if I thought that it was only a social institution." He further stated that college fraternities are undergoing a transition at the present time. They are beginning to realize that they owe something to other than their own membership. The National Inter-Fraternity Council has made a step in this direction.

Ideally, the fraternity of the future will be a small, homogenious group of individuals who realize their obligations, first to themselves and then to others. They will strive to advance themselves mutually in all fields. Scholarship will not be one of the least of these, nor will social prestige nor yet extra-fraternal activities. Some older man will live in the house to aid those who need it—the English Don system.

Usefulness to others is an ideal worth striving for in the future, and Mr. Priest's presentation of this ideal conception is of great significance to the Bucknell campus.

Zoologists Collect Data Despite Storm

Half a dozen youthful naturalists from Biology 302 braved the snowstorm Saturday morning, March 2, hiking into the beautiful White Deer valley, with Prof. Norman H. Stewart as their guide.

The party reached Watsontown by bus and while crossing the Susquehanna to White Deer five American mergansers were sighted near shore, dexterously diving after fish.

The blanket of snow made travel precarious, but it recorded the activities of the woods-dwellers. A frightened rabbit bounded away ahead of the party—eight feet in a jump, and up hill at that.

A slippery descent down a valley bordered by towering hemlocks brought the hikers to a pretty camp site beneath one of those huge drooping evergreens, beside a tumbling mountain brook.

But a barrage of snow from the sheltering tree sent the students scurrying to an open spot. Here a roaring fire soon banished cold and dampness and an abundance of ham, sausage, sandwiches, and fruit soon rumored the party's palates.

In spite of the steady flutter of clinging, wet snowflakes, ten winter birds of different species were identified. Upturned faces registered alertness as a flock of sixty horned larks darted by overhead, whistling their high pitched melody.

A solitary song sparrow was chased out of a hedge row. Then over the hill swirled a cloud of pine finches, and dropped into the weeds close to the hikers.

Returning, the zoologists paused along a small stream where every stone seemed to shelter a wriggling salamander. A few deft stabs and several "duskies" were added to the collection.

The Lady—How much money has my husband got in the bank?

Bank Official—We are not permitted to tell you that, madam.

The Lady—But isn't that just what you were here for. Aren't you the teller?

Alpha Chi Captures Two Court Games In Sorority Contest

The basketball teams representing the seven sororities and the team representing the non-sorority girls are now engaged in vigorous competition to gain possession of the plaque that is offered annually by the Women's Athletic Association to the team winning the championship in the girls' league.

Each year the teams are formed into two leagues. In the semi-finals the winning team in each league plays the team that won second place in that league. The two winning teams then play for the championship. The Pi Beta Phi team won the plaque last year.

In the game played Saturday afternoon the Alpha Chi Omega team defeated the Kappa Delta team. On Tuesday night the Alpha Chi team was victorious over the non-fraternity team while the Zeta Gamma Tau team defeated the Sigma Sigma Delta team.

The schedule is as follows:
March 9—Delta Delta Delta and Zeta Gamma Tau.
March 12—Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Chi Omega.
Phi Mu and Sigma Sigma Delta.
March 16—Kappa Delta and non-fraternity.
March 19—Pi Beta Phi and non-fraternity.
Sigma Sigma Delta and Delta Delta Delta.
March 23—Phi Mu and Zeta Gamma Tau.

Motion Pictures at C. E.

Motion pictures will be the feature offered by the Baptist C. E. this Sunday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The program committee has announced that a new machine has been procured, and the first reel will be on hand for March 10. "The Passion Play" and other Biblical pictures are being secured for use throughout the year. There will be no stereoptican slides, but actual motion pictures.

PRES. HUNT APPROVES NEW DANCE STANDARDS

(Continued from page 1)

2.—These reports shall be heard by the Committee which shall recommend definite action to the administration.

H. The decorations shall be left to the discretion of the group holding the function, with due consideration for the wishes of the chaperons.

I. Yelling at dances shall not be permitted. Applause shall be restricted to handclapping.

The person primarily responsible for the dance in its entirety shall be the social chairman of the function, or in case of his absence, a responsible person so delegated by the president of the organization giving the function. Notice of infringement of the above mentioned rules shall come first to the social chairman of his substitute, and if adequate action is not immediately taken, the faculty chaperons shall take the necessary measures.

A change will be noted in the rule on decorations.

The dance hours as indicated are not at the present time applicable to the resident women students.

During the month of February the Student-Faculty Committee on Activities had several sessions at which was evident a fine spirit of cooperation and mutual interest for the direct purpose of evolving a set of dance standards acceptable to both faculty and student groups. The members of the committee are: Dean Amelia E. Clark, Chairman; Dean R. H. Rivenburg; Dr. N. H. Stewart; Mr. John Plant; Prof. B. W. Griffith; Dr. L. L. Rockwell; Mrs. N. F. Davis; Prof. C. M. Bond; Dr. J. W. Rice; Prof. P. G. Stolz; Mr. A. G. Stoughton; Miss Alma Ebeling; M. Quinn; J. Minick; F. B. Loper; H. A. Wadsworth; G. H. Varner; C. M. Stump; Miss H. G. Steinhilper; Miss J. R. Fielding; Miss F. K. Kernohan.

HARP ENSEMBLE PLAYS BEFORE LARGE AUDIENCE

(Continued from Page 1)

then captivated it with her finely modulated soprano voice. Brahms' "Slumber Song" was her first of a group of three songs which included "L'Oiseau Bleu," by Dalcroze, and "Slumber Reigns," by Gretchaninoff. With her wide range of tones Mrs. Hotz artistically interpreted the "Aria from Carmen," which was followed by "The Little Shepherd Song," by Winter-Watts, and "Nature's Holiday," by Hageman. For an encore Mrs. Hotz sang the always pleasing "Moon Marketing."

Mrs. Baseler played as a solo the "Fantasie," by DuBois in which her ability as a harpist of note was clearly evident.

"Water Nymphs," by Thorne, "XVIIth Century Dance," by Grandjany, and "Russian Song" by Hass comprised a group of harp selections by the ensemble that was particularly well received by the audience. As an encore the ensemble repeated the "Russian Song."

B. K. AND CAMPUS FIVE COME OUT VICTORIOUS

Two more games in the Inter-fraternity League were staged last Monday evening at the Tustin Gym, when the Beta Kappas and the Campus Five were respective winners over the Kappa Delta Rho and the Phi Lambda Thetas.

In the first game Fenner emerged as high scorer with seven points. Hoffman and Crittendon, of the winners, registered six points each. The final score indicated that the Beta Kappas had trounced the K. D. R's. by a 17-15 margin.

In the final game of the evening the Campus Five chalked up an easy 29-14 win over the Phi Lambda Thetas.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

"Home of Vitaphone and Movietone"
LAST TIME TODAY—WITH VITAPHONE
COLLEEN MOORE in "SYNTHETIC SIN"
Also "The Collegians"

TOMORROW and SATURDAY, MARCH 8-9
Jane Grey's Latest Story
"AVALANCHE"
With JACK HOLT, DORIS HILL, and BACLANOVA
Also 2-act Talking Movietone Acts.

COMING MONDAY and TUESDAY, MARCH 11-12
SEE and HEAR on the Vitaphone
EMIL JANNINGS At His Latest and Best
"SINS OF THE FATHER"

COMING WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, MAR. 13-14
See and Hear NANCY CARROLL: Singing and Talking in "THE SHOPWORN ANGEL"
Also "The Collegians" every Wednesday and Thursday.

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, MARCH 15-16
First 100% ALL TALKING Outdoor Picture.
"IN THE OLD ARIZONA"
A Movietone.
Big Special now on the 6th week in the Fox Locust Theatre, Philadelphia. Don't miss it.

A FULL LINE OF NEW SPRING DRESSES FOR EASTER
Will arrive Wednesday, March 13th
Grand Opening
Thursday and Friday
March 14 and 15
A FULL LINE OF SPRING MILLINERY
KRAUSE STYLE SHOP
Open Evenings Next to the Gift Shop

West Side Park
BERWICK, PA.
Attend the Big St. Patrick's Carnival Dance
Wednesday, March 13th
"JELLY ROLL" MORTON
and His Red-Hot Peppers
Unquestioned King of Blues and Stomps. Unrivalled Masters of Melody. Considered one of the twelve best orchestras in America. Hear their late Victor records. Hear them in person at West Side Park, St. Patrick's Carnival. After intermission Confetti, Serpentines, Souvenirs, etc., free.
LADIES 50c. GENTLEMEN $1.00
Dancing 9 to 1

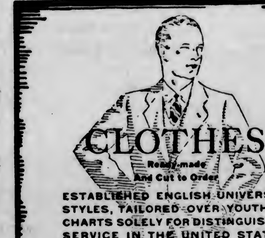
The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

CHIROPRACTIC
What is it?
IT IS NOT Medicine, Osteopathy, Massage or surgery.
IT IS the foremost drugless health science of the present day.
Thousands of others have found it so after everything else failed.
Regardless of what your particular trouble has been called, be it acute or chronic, your chances for permanent, lasting results are 10 to 1 under Chiropractic Adjustments.
Consult as regarding your ailments, start taking adjustments today, and get well.
No charge for consultation.
CHAS. S. HARMAN, D. C.
CHIROPRACTOR
Palmer 3 Yr. Graduate.
Over Krauser's Drug Store MILTON.

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
50 New Dresses
FOR THIS WEEK
No two alike
Georgette, Flat Crepe, and Printed Crepe
at $9.75 each



CLOTHES
Ready-made
And Cut to Order
ESTABLISHED ENGLISH UNIVERSITY STYLES, TAILORED OVER YOUTHFUL CHARTS SOLELY FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE IN THE UNITED STATES.
Charter House
Suits $40, $45, $50 Overcoats

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT
OUR STORE IS THE
Charter House
OF LEWISBURG
The character of the suits and overcoats tailored by Charter House will earn your most sincere liking.
Montgomery & Co.
The College Man's Store

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC. LEWISBURG, PA.

What—B. U.—Debates Temple
Where?—Bucknell Hall
When?—March 15—8:15 P. M.

The Bucknellian
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

—B. U.—Temple Debate—
Only Home Debate For Men.
Let's Pack Bucknell Hall

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 14, 1929. NUMBER 23

B. U. Boxers Win Penn A. C. Cup, Beat Temple, 4-3

"Pottsville" Jones Clinches Meet In Extra Round as Storaci, Lepore, and Mutzel Win

Battered into submission in the first round by "Whitey" Anderson, "Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell heavyweight boxer, rallied in the final three periods to pound his way to an extra-round victory over his Cherry and White foe, and in so doing he gave the Bucknell boxing team a 4-3 triumph over the Temple mittmen last Friday evening at the Penn A. C. ring. Three minutes later Captain Frank Lepore, grinning from ear to ear, was the proud recipient of a huge silver loving cup, contributed by the Penn A. C. to the winner in the dual meet between Temple and Bucknell.

This ring triumph provided Bucknell followers with enough consolation to wipe out the sting of the recent basketball defeat.

The "Iron Man" Stunt

The fight between "Pottsville" Jones and "Whitey" Anderson was the deciding bout of the evening. Both teams had chalked up three victories before Jones and Anderson exchanged blows. Anderson had already won the 160 bout, flooring Ammerman in 38 seconds. "Ammie" took the count after Anderson drove a terrific right to his jaw.

After Mutzel defeated Brown in an extra-round battle, Anderson put on the gloves again to test his strength against Jones. The "Iron Man" stunt succeeds sometimes, but last Friday at Temple Anderson's attempted feat failed.

Although he was outweighed by Jones by almost 30 pounds, the plucky Temple fistman surprised his adversary in the first round by getting in some telling blows. Jones

(Continued on last page.)

Geneva Contestant Wins Oratorical Meet

George Abernethy, '32, Fails To Place Among Winners

Mr. J. Dodds, of Geneva College, with an exceptionally fine talk on "Equalitarianism," was declared the winner of the Pennsylvania Oratorical Union Contest held last Monday evening in Bucknell Hall, before a small but enthusiastic audience. Mr. J. McDowell, of Grove City College who spoke on "The India Road," and Mr. S. V. Printz, of Muhlenburg, who gave an oration on "China's Covered Wagon" were declared winners of second and third places respectively.

The judges, the Honorable Lee Francis Lybarger, and Professor F. P. Boyer, of Mifflinburg, and C. Warren Gutelius, of Northumberland, were confronted with the difficult task of selecting the winners from a fine roster of seven speakers who spoke well on a diversity of topics.

Bucknell's representative, Mr. G. L. Abernethy, '32, failed to win a place, but is to be congratulated for his good showing against more experienced orators.

A .R. Rawlinson, '29, served as chairman of the contest which was attended by representatives of Gettysburg, Juniata, Grove City, Geneva, Muhlenburg, Ursinus, and Bucknell.

Dean Rivenburg And Prof. Richardson Are Speakers At B. U. Education Meeting

The Education Club met on Thursday evening, March 7, at 7:30 in Biology 6 with Dean R. H. Rivenburg and Professor C. H. Richardson as the speakers. Dean Rivenburg spoke on "The Matchless Opportunity," stressing the unlimited possibility for character formation in the teaching profession. The keynote of his talk was "Teachers are building a human cathedral whose spires reach to heaven and whose influence extends around the world."

Professor Richardsons' topic was "Teachers In Training." His discussion centered around the qualifications for the ideal teacher as a guide to prospective educators

Latin-American Students and Leaders Convene at Bucknell

FRATERNITIES TO COMPETE FOR CUP IN SONG CONTEST

Separate Loving Cup to be Given Sorority With Most Points: Three Judges Chosen

The inter-fraternity Song Contest will take place Thursday night, March 14, at eight o'clock in the Baptist Church. The fraternities will vie with each other in competition for the silver loving-cup which will be given to that fraternity which presents the best group-singing. The sororities also will be represented in this contest, and a separate cup will be presented to that sorority which gains the most points.

Each organization will sing the Alma Mater, a school song, and a fraternity song. The contesting groups will be judged by the point system. The following persons have consented to act as judges: Professor Allison, of Susquehanna University; Miss Burns, superintendent of music in the Lewisburg public schools; and Professor Rothenburg of Sunbury.

Keen interest has been shown in this contest by the various groups, and it is expected that the contest will be continued each year.

Co-ed Forensic Team Meets Temple Friday

The debate of the women's negative debating team which was scheduled with Ursinus for Thursday night has been postponed on account of the epidemic of scarlet fever which has quarantined that school.

The negative team will take a trip to Philadelphia to debate with Temple, Friday, March 15. The members of this team are Ruth de Turke, '31, Grace Schaum, '30, and Trennie Eisley, '31. Miss M. K. Brooks will chaperone the girls. The question for debate is, "Resolved: that the American Jury system should be abolished."

A debate between Bucknell and the University of Pittsburg will be held here March 21. On March 26, Bucknell will debate Elmira at Elmira and on the following day, New York University at New York.

There will be a debate with State College after the spring holidays, but the date has not yet been set.

Rev. A. G. Lawson Dies At Age Of 87 On March 8

The Rev. Albert G. Lawson, D. D., father of our Professor George B. Lawson, died on Friday, March 8, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. W. Ayer, at Newton Centre, Mass. He was 87 years old. He was buried from the Park Avenue Baptist Church on Monday afternoon. The funeral was private.

Prof. Gold Speaks at Conference

On Saturday, March 9, Professor John S. Gold, of the Department of Mathematics at Bucknell, addressed the Northeast Convention District of the Pennsylvania State Education Association held at Sunbury. His subject was, "What I Expect High School Students to Know in Mathematics When They Enter College."

To Debate Temple

What will in all probability be the only home appearance of the men's debating team during the season of 1928-1929 will occur on March 15, at 8:15 p. m. in Bucknell Hall, when representatives from Bucknell meet a team from Temple on the question, Resolved: That the American Jury System Should Be Abolished. The Temple team will be composed of Charles Collins, George H. Parsons, and William A. Ramon. Bucknell's side will most likely be upheld by E. C. Strock, '32, N. T. Raker, '31, and D. J. Evans, '32.

Pres. Hunt Describes Shipwreck DeLuxe

Impact when Liner Grounded, Not as Great as Reported

After experiencing what he describes as a "shipwreck de luxe," President Emory W. Hunt is once more back at Bucknell, and has already taken up the reins he laid down at the end of December. The friendly suns of California have tanned his cheeks, and his ten weeks of vacation have restored the color of health. Dr. Hunt says he is vastly improved by his visit to the "golden West," and is ready for a strenuous sequester of work.

When asked what was the outstanding event of his trip, President Hunt replied, "Being shipwrecked, of course. Even if it was a shipwreck de luxe, it had some thrills in it. And had conditions been only a trifle different, we might have had a very exciting time of it.

Press Exaggerates Story of Wreck

"We were approaching the eastern end of the Panama Canal. I wanted to witness our entrance into the canal, so I got up early and went on deck. I walked forward and took a position in the bow, where I could see everything. It was before six o'clock and still dark. The guide lights were perfectly clear, for the visibility was excellent. Yet some-

(Continued on page 5)

A Future Bucknellian

If you want to see President Emory W. Hunt smile, just call him "grandfather." To be sure, he has been a grandfather for a number of years, but he is even more of a grandfather now; for his youngest daughter, Mrs. Caroline Hunt Mahaffey, '25, is now the mother of a fine little girl. The baby was born on Wednesday, at Pittsburgh. Mother and daughter are both reported as doing well. Mrs. Emory Hunt, who has just been on an extended visit to the West with Dr. Hunt, stopped off at Pittsburgh on the return trip, and has been with Mrs. Mahaffey during the past few days.

The father of the new baby, who was affectionately known to his Phi Gam brothers and others as "Bill" Mahaffey, was also a member of the Class of 1925. He is in business in Pittsburgh.

JACK CRITTENDEN TO BE ANNOUNCER FOR STATION WJBU

Sophomore Selected from Seven Candidates in Elimination Contest on Friday

The voice that will announce the programs for station WJBU next year will be that of Jack Crittendom, '31, who was selected for the position as a result of his showing in the elimination contest held in the studio of the Engineering Building Friday afternoon.

Seven contestants were heard and judged by Professor J. P. Whyte, Professor Simpson, and Assistant Professor Irland.

Heretofore it has been the custom for the radio announcer to be selected from the corps of the Electrical Engineering Department assistants. During 1927 and 1928, Albert Lauderbaugh, '27, capably performed the task at the microphone as well as managing the work of the studio and its program. During the past semester John Weber, '28, has announced the familiar, "This is station WJBU, Bucknell University, at Lewisburg, Pennsylvania,—in the heart of the keystone state."

The idea of selecting next year's announcer by the competitive method is an innovation which will give the radio audience the best program director that the school can produce.

Next Wednesday WJBU will broadcast a program of organ music by Charles Rivenburg, '29, and vocal selections by Albert Weidensaul, '29.

Belle Hop Honored By Eastern Comics

In a letter received last week by the editor of the Belle Hop, Bucknell's own "joke book" was invited to membership in the Associated College Comics of the East. This organization of college humorous publications maintains a high standard of entrance requirements, and an invitation to membership in it is considered much in the light of the Pulitzer Prize by the comic journalists. The purpose of the organization is the fostering of new ideas, both of a literary and business nature, and the advantages of membership are immense.

Among the comics listed on the membership roll are such nationally prominent magazines as the Princeton Tiger, Harvard Lampoon, Yale Record, Brown Jug, Pennsylvania Punch Bowl, and Froth of Penn State.

LIBRARY ACQUIRES NEW COVERS FOR MAGAZINES

The latest addition to the library improvements is a set of eighteen leatheroid magazine covers. These covers are so arranged that the magazines can be easily changed when each new issue arrives, and they will adequately protect the magazines while they are on the racks.

The covers are blue, with the name of the magazine and our library printed on them in gilt. Eighteen of the periodicals on the rack in the magazine room now proudly wear these new covers.

Six Foreign Nations Represented In Pan-American Conference Here

Students Picture Yankees They Have Known; "Interference" Discussed Pro and Con

"Get rid of the idea that Latin-America is inferior to the United States, that it has nothing to offer us. The lure of South America to the Yankee is a powerful one," declared Charles D. Hurrey, at the Baptist Church, Sunday morning, March 10, in an address that summarized the thought of the Pan-American Conference.

"President-elect Hoover, as an engineer, undoubtedly felt the lure of South America's great resources. President Roosevelt, as an explorer, responded to it when he ventured where white man had never trod."

Tantalizing Problems to Solve

"South America is tantalizing to the sociologist," continued Mr. Hurrey. "The settlement of its race-problem is a matter of unparalleled importance." The agriculturist finds it alluring, a continent of infinite possibilities. And the educator discovers as great opportunities as in any part of the world."

Not least are the moral and religious problems of these young nations. South America is experiencing the rise of a feminist movement, and a passion for reality in a religion unburdened by ecclesiastical machinery.

An address by Prof. Paul Shaw of Columbia University, before a large audience in Bucknell Hall, Saturday morning, marked the public opening of the Pan-American Conference.

Strengthen Latin-American Culture

Prof. Shaw emphasized the great difference between the United States and Latin America and issued a warning against American business methods. "Don't try to make American's out of Latin-Americans in order to sell them Fords. The only way to

(Continued on last page.)

Positions Open

Professor Frank G. Davis, head of the Education Department at Bucknell, announces that he has received a number of requests for the names of girls desiring positions as counselors in summer camps for girls. Students who wish to apply for positions may obtain application blanks at the Education office in Main college.

Alden Davies, Tenor, To Give Concert Here

Soloist Took His First Singing Lessons Under Prof. Stolz

Alden Davies, tenor, who is to be presented by the Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church, Lewisburg, on Thursday evening, March 21, is rapidly becoming known as one of the best tenors in the East. Mr. Davies recently filled an engagement in Birmingham, Alabama, and his engagements during the next month include Forest Hills, Long Island, Branford, Conn.; Newport, R. I.; and Boston.

Mr. Davies has been engaged for the coming year as soloist in the quartette of the Memorial Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, N. Y. This position is regarded in musical circles as one of the most important in Greater New York. During the past season Mr. Davies was presented in a series of radio recitals by the Mason and Hamlin Piano Company over W. N. A. C., Boston.

A Bucknell Graduate

Mr. Davies is a graduate of Bucknell University, and took his first singing lessons under Professor Paul Stolz, director of the Bucknell School of Music. To Professor Stolz Mr. Davies gives a large share of credit for the success he has since enjoyed, for, said he, "Professor Stolz gave me lessons which were easily on a par with ones I later paid for at the rate of twenty dollars each in New York and Boston." At Bucknell Mr.

(Continued on page 5)

Dr. Gordon Of Cornell To Address Students

"Heredity and color pattern in tropical fishes," will be the subject of an illustrated lecture which Dr. Myron Gordon, of Cornell University, will present at the meeting of the Biological Society, next Wednesday evening, March 20, at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Gordon was enthusiastically received when he presented the same lecture at one of the sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, in New York last winter.

The inheritance of color pattern, Dr. Gordon explains, using beautifully colored slides, is governed by laws similar to those operating in the color inheritance of plants. Members of the Biological Society will be admitted by membership card. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged to visitors.

FIRST CALL FOR TRACK CANDIDATES IS ISSUED

The first call for varsity track candidates was issued here this week by Coach John D. Plant. The gray thatched court mentor will now turn his attention to the cinder path sport. Coach Plant urges that all those who intend to try out for a berth on the track team this year to report at the Tustin gym this week for the initial workout. John Farrow of Haddonfield, N. J., will captain the track team during the coming season. The prospects are bright for a successful season as many of last year's veterans are eligible for varsity competition again this spring.

He Did It Up Well

Somewhere in Texas a jaded collegian attended a spooning party and later in the evening—probably earlier in the morning—hung himself, thus completing a real job of necking.

Welland Wadsworth To Captain B. U. Five

Seven Varsity Insignias Awarded At a Meeting of Letter Men

Bucknell University's 1930 basketball team will be captained by Welland Wadsworth of McGraw, N. Y., it was announced here today following a meeting of the letter men who played on the Bison court team this winter. The captain-elect, who is a junior, has played on the Bucknell five now for the past two seasons. Next winter will be his last in varsity competition and he is expected to be the kingpin of the Orange and Blue quintet.

During his freshman year at Bucknell, Wadsworth played on the yearling cage five at a guard post. He was heralded as promising varsity material and he lived up to promising predictions by qualifying for a berth on the Bucknell five last winter.

Wadsworth does not confine his athletic ability wholly to basketball as he is also a star on the gridiron and on the track. In fact he is one of the few three lettermen in college.

For two seasons Wadsworth has been a letterman in football. He is an end and is one of the fastest wingmen on the team. He will also be eligible for football again next fall. Wadsworth was a member of both the yearling football and track teams during his freshman year at the Lewisburg institution.

Wadsworth is 22 years old, weighs 180 pounds and is five feet eleven and one half inches tall. He prepared for Bucknell at McGraw, N. Y.. High School where he was a star in all sports.

A Student—Athlete

Wadsworth is also a straight "A" student at Bucknell which indicates that he shines both in the class room and on the athletic field. When the semester grades were given out several weeks ago Wadsworth was the proud recipient of 5 "A's." The student-athlete has been an honor student at Bucknell since his enrollment at Bucknell.

"Waddy" is a member of the Delta Sigma fraternity and also the Druids, an honorary sophomore fraternity on the Bucknell campus. He also be-

(Continued on page 5)

B. U. Chemists Make Survey of Graduates' Work from 1913-1928

Data Obtained by Dr. S. Ogburn Shows That Majority of Men Use Technical Knowledge

Cooperating with the Chemical Engineering Alumni Association of Bucknell University, an extensive survey has been conducted in order to determine the nature of the professions in which the graduates of the Chemical Engineering Department are engaged. It was largely due to the numerous requests from various colleges and universities, contemplating the institution of a Chemical Engineering Course, for such a directory, that this analysis has been made.

This survey has been conducted by Dr. S. C. Ogburn Jr., head of the Chemical Engineering Department of Bucknell University, and some interesting facts have been obtained. The material for this study has been collected from University Alumni records, and from personal communications, and gives an authentic record of all the men who have graduated from the department with a degree of B. S. in Ch. E., since the institution of the course in 1913, until 1928.

The entire number of graduates during the interval named has been divided roughly into three divisions: (a) those having occupations in which their professional training predominates; (b) those having occupations in which their professional training does not predominate; and (c) those for whom no occupational record could be obtained. These divisions are further sub-divided according to the specific type of occupation, and in each of these latter cases the percentage of the entire graduate body from the department in this field of endeavor was determined.

The following is a summary of the data obtained:

Occupations in which the professional training predominates.

a. Chemical Engineers and Industrial Chemists 49.74%
b. Research Chemists 6.38%
c. Teachers of Chemistry 11.34%
d. Chemical Salesmen 4.26%
e. Chemical Lawyers 0.71%
Total 72.43%

Occupations in which the professional training does not predominate.

a. Industrial work, non-chemical 4.88%
b. Non-industrial, non-chemical 12.05%
Total 16.93%
c. No occupational record available 10.64%

It should be noted that this data covers the period from 1913 to 1928 inclusive. A consideration of these facts presented will show that the greater majority of the graduates from the Department are using their technical knowledge in their present occupation. Only 16.93% of the entire graduate body have abandoned the field of chemical endeavor and for 10.64% no occupational record could be obtained. Of these 10.64% it is quite probable that one-half of the number are actively engaged in professional chemical work. The outstanding fact shown was that out of approximately 150 graduates of the Chemical Engineering Department, 72.43% of these are actively engaged in professional chemical work.

Men Students Less Serious Than Women

Are men or women more serious college students? The following responses were received from Theil College professors, according to the Theilensian:

"While no sweeping statement is justifiable, it is my observation that women students are generally more serious in their school work than men. They are commonly more concerned in determining just what is expected, and then do the task more promptly and thoroughly. It seems to me that, generally speaking, women students enjoy reading more than men."

* * * *

"There is great variation in the ability of both men and women. Norsworthy makes the statement: 'The differences of man from man and woman from woman in any trait is almost as great as the differences between the sexes in that trait. Experimental studies indicate that men excel in certain subjects and women in others, and that the variation is greater in men than in women. These studies are by no means conclusive."

* * * *

"To answer the question we must rely wholly on empirical methods. There is no criterion or unit of measure by which such a personal quality can be evaluated. To rely on personal judgment, governed by countless frailties of the mind, is quite unsatisfactory. Decision in this case may be biased in many ways. In the first place, we might possess a natural or acquired prejudice of which we are not aware. Then, too, there might be a failure to distinguish this trait from others closely related to it. Nevertheless, my experience leads me to the conclusion that women are more serious as students. I believe there are logical reasons for the tendency. I think, however, these conditions are waning."

* * * *

"Women are more serious college students than men. Women, in general, are truer to form. They tend more to the average. Reliable data shows that there are not as many women geniuses as men; nor are there as many feebleminded or insane women as there are men. The difference between men and women as students is not due to capacity, but to the difference in previous training and present circumstances. Girls have a more gentle training which makes them somewhat more docile and responsive to assignments. There is less distraction in and closer supervision of girls' study hour. Among men, 'the grind' is perhaps, a little less popular than the studious young woman among her associates."

Dr. S. C. Smith, '01, Engaged By E. R. Squibb to Broadcast Lectures on Heart Disease

Dr. Samuel Colvin Smith, '01, noted heart specialist and author of some very widely-read books on the heart, has been engaged by E. R. Squibb & Sons, chemists and manufacturers of medical preparations, to broadcast talks on the heart and how to keep it healthy. These should be very worthwhile addresses, particularly in these days of haste and drive, when heart disease is increasing more rapidly than almost any other ailment.

Dr. Smith, as an undergraduate at Bucknell, displayed such ability in college dramatics that his friends fully expected he would go on the stage. Instead, he turned to medicine and became one of Bucknell's outstanding physicians. His works on the heart are known all over the world. Dr. Smith is a member of Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He married a Bucknell girl, Louise Warriner, Institute 1900.

Kappa Sigma House Damaged by Flames

Fire, probably caused by pouring hot ashes near a waste paper barrel at the rear of the Kappa Sigma fraternity house last Thursday resulted in $150 damage to the structure, and due to the prevailing high winds endangered the nearby buildings. Most of the damage is covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered at about 2:30 last Thursday by Mrs. Elizabeth Bennage, the Kappa Sigma cook. The flames were creeping up the rear wall of the wooden addition that contains the storage room of the first floor, and a large bedroom on the tp floor. The Lewisburg Fire Co. was immediately notified. Pending the arrival of the fire truck, the Kappa Sigma men, aided by men from the nearby fraternities tried to check the flames by chemicals and buckets of water. After responding to the call, the fire company quickly quenched the flames by the use of their large chemical tank.

The section of the fraternity house damaged by the flames is, unlike the rest of the structure, built of wood. Luckily the fire was discovered before it had been able to make much headway, or the high winds that prevailed on the day of the fire might have quickly destroyed the entire building, not to speak of the nearby buildings.

The recent fire was the second one that the Kappa Sigma fraternity has had this school year. Early on the morning of October 16, while the men were asleep in the dormitory above the storage room and kitchen, a fire broke out which resulted in a damage of $1000.00.

Some of the damage done last Thursday was caused by chemicals and water soaking into groceries in the storage room. Fortunately, it was not necessary to suspend the dining room service as was the case last fall.

Prof. Kirkbride Dies

Professor Raymond Kirkbride, the originator of the student foreign study plan and member of the modern language department of the University of Delaware, died on March 1, at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore.

Co-eds Don Tuxedos To Lend Formality To Mock Junior Prom

Many Faculty Members Receive The Dancers Who Represent All Classes and Types

Bucknell men all over the campus were deprived of precious tuxedos by junior co-eds on Friday, March 8, just before the Mock Junior Prom, a "take-off" on the now famous Prom staged by the Junior class a few weeks ago, was to take place. It was held in the old dining room at the Women's College, and in place of balloons, paper bags full of air were strung around the piano, where Hazel Gravell, of Lewisburg, "tickled the ivories."

It was quite a formal affair, however, not only the aristocracy but all classes and types were represented including pirates, sailors, farmers, bathing beauties, South Sea islanders and Bucknellians. The costumes were original, to say the least (which is really all that could be said of some!) and many were really clever. Ruth Wentworth as Dean Clark, and "Betty" Figner as "Betty" Lawson, were exact reproductions. "Prexy," Dean Rivenburg, and several members of the faculty also added dignity (?) to the occasion. Vegetable corsages sent by thoughtful "boy friends" made the freshmen happy, and punch, ice cream, cakes and peanuts appeased their appetites. After the last dance the juniors took their girls over to the playroom to look in on the Senior-Sophomore party. "Betty" Huxley ably took the place of Wilson Rise as chairman, while "Peg" McGeary had charge of refreshments, and "Mim" Johnson of decorations. Programs were green in honor of the frosh guests.

In the playroom the seniors and sophomores also spent the evening dancing and consuming caramel sundaes. Their costumes were decidedly "evening," and were charming in color and design.

The friendship circle pins, which the Seniors give every year to the sophomores, were especially pretty this year, being of silver with filigree work and tiny bows. The seniors seemed equally pleased with their gifts, and attributed the success of the party to the chairman, "Betty" Humphreys.

Sunday Meal Served Abed, New Luxury at Bryn Mawr

The millennium is surely almost on our heels. Life is becoming increasingly easy even for this easy-accustomed generation. The Bryn Mawr League announces that, beginning next Sunday, breakfast will be served in bed on Sunday mornings between 10 and 12 to those who are willing to pay its representatives a small sum, a very small sum, for this almost inestimable luxury. The breakfast will be small in size, too, consisting of fruit, coffee, toast and jam, probably. The price will have to be increased, of course, for those who wish such breakfast delicacies as caviar or pie. But whatever we may order, we can now rest peacefully in bed, secure in the knowledge of getting something to eat before the awful hour of 1:15.

—Bryn Mawr College News.

"FORGIVE US OUR DEBTS" IS MOTION PICTURE AT C. E.

A new motion picture machine, the latest addition of the Baptist church, was successfully demonstrated last Sunday evening at the regular Christian Endeavor meeting at 6:30, when the film "Forgive Us Our Debts" was shown. The committee in charge was hoping to have as its first production "The Passion Play" but was unable to procure it in time for the first presentation. However, all those interested may look for notice of the coming of that picture to the C. E. in the near future.

Engagement of Florence Utt To Brown Focht Announced

The engagement of Miss Florence Rebecca Utt, '26, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Utt, of Bloomsburg, to Brown Focht, '28, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. K. Focht, of Lewisburg, was announced by Miss Utt's mother at a dinner recently.

Miss Utt is a graduate of Bloomsburg High School and Bucknell University, and is a member of Phi Mu sorority. She is a teacher in Bloomsburg Senior High School.

Mr. Focht was graduated from Mercersburg Academy and Bucknell University. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He is now vice president and contributing editor of the Lewisburg Saturday News.

Blue Key Chapters Meet

The Owl chapter of the Blue Key —located at Temple University, entertained the Blue Key chapters of the University of Pennsylvania, and of Drexel at a dinner last Wednesday for the purpose of promoting a better feeling between the students of the three schools.

For many years John Wards have been the college man's shoe. Here you may select, from a variety of styles, those which particularly suit your individual taste.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

Hp J. Nogel Eye Service
H.J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
Girls' Dresses, Men't Suits Dry Cleaned $1.00
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Reblocked
OPEN EVENING 419 Market Street
PROMPT SERVICE Next to the Gift Shop

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted —that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan PENS-PENCILS
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wo nder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank belo w and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Receiving news of the critical illness of his father, brother purdy made a hurried trip to his home in Pen Yan, N. Y., last Tuesday. We all hope that Mr. Purdy will have a speedy recovery.

Mr. Alden Halsinger and Mr. William Eisenhart, of the Juniata basketball team, friends of brother Stone, spent Wednesday evening with us. We have learned from these former class-mates of Art's at Juniata that he cut quite a figure on that campus.

When the high powered and superpoor radio, installed in Commencement Hall on Monday to pick up the inauguration ceremonies, proved to be a complete fizzle, the radio at the house came to the rescue. Pofessor Ellsbree seemed to enjoy it as did many others who formed quite an audience. When baseball season comes around the Phi Psi house will no doubt become quite popular. A bleacher is to be constructed upon the site of the old college Smoke Shop.

Brother "Dick" Johnson, who is with the Bell Telephone Co., of Harrisburg, dropped in Friday and took dinner with us.

Pledge brother Ellenberger, of course, spent the week-end in Harrisburg.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas Mac Leod, '31

The chapter enjoyed a week-end visit from brother Paul Shaw of Columbia University, one of the leaders of the Pan-American Conference.

Brother and Mrs. Alfred Stoughton and the Misses Frances Stringer, Ora Cooper, and Ruth Andrews were guests for Sunday dinner.

According to "Line" Walters, chairman of the social committee, the first dance of this semester, which will be held on Saturday is going to be a corker. With the rhythm supplied by "Art" Zeller's Melodians and some unique decorative effects, the occasion promises to live up to all of Lincoln's advance reports.

Brother "Wally" Diehl surprised us with a Sunday visit. "Wally" had to talk with his digits for his voice was lost in the Penn A. C. on Friday night when the Bisons dropped to the Owls.

Brothers "Don" Diehl, "Mike" Waldner, Paul Seidel, and Jim Ellery made the Bloomsburg Normal School dance a big success on Friday night by their presence.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Guests at the house over the week-end were Mr. Toledo from the University of Pennsylvania, and Mr. E. W. Hooker from Moravian College, and Mr. Alverey from Yale University. They attended the Pan-American Conference.

Brother Dayton, '31, visited Plainfield over the week-end.

Pledge Anderson, '32, journeyed to Wilkes-Barre Saturday to spend Saturday and Sunday at home.

Brother Davidson, '30, and pledge Palmer, '32, attended a dance at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College, last Saturday.

"Tom" Keeler, '30, attended the Sophomore Hop and the Alpha Tau Omega dance at Penn State last week-end.

Pledge "Joe" Mac Murray, '32, spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Williamsport.

Pledge Gerhart reports having a pleasant week-end in Philadelphia.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

Seventy-three years ago at the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa, eight young men founded Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Last Saturday, March 9, 103 chapters throughout the United States celebrated that day as the aniversary of the founding of the fraternity.

Pennsylvania Zeta celebrated the day with a banquet Saturday evening at which alumni and actives gathered to sing the old songs and tell the older stories.

George Bellak, told once more of the baseball game with State in his Junior year, when he pitched Bucknell to a 3-2 win. A group over by the fireplace stops an active to ask how Harvey's hotel business is getting along, and "Jack" Gardner keeps the bunch in an uproar telling how "Charlie" Williamson and "Vic" Vickeroy drove a Ford under the culvert using the walk instead of the street and what President Hunt said about boys who behaved in that manner. And so it was on into the night.

Professor W. H. Coleman held sway as toastmaster at the banquet, and Lew Fields could have done no better. "Ned" Raker, '31, did the back-slapping speech for the actives, while "Ed" Innes, '08, and Grant Painter, '17, represented the alumni.

The old timers back for the week-end included "Bob" Black, John Carlisle, Roy Butler, W. H. Coleman, M. O. Etzweiler, Carlton Gardner, E. R. Innes, Grant Painter, George Bellak, Fred Moore, "Tarp" Coleman, Francis Lybarger, Henry Coleman, and "Lou" Trax. Guests and alumni of other chapters who spent Founders' Day with Penna. Zeta were Harold Stull of Penn State, and Lyle Spangler of University of Pittsburgh.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

"Pledge" Hughes, '32, visited his parents in Philadelphia over the week-end.

Professor Simpson and family were guests at dinner on Sundya.

"Bill" Winner, '32, made his weekly trip to Williamsport.

William Delancey, '31, has kindly consented to give the boys at the "house" a lecture on "sound investments."

Arthur Randall, '32, spent the week-end with his parents at Fairfield, Conn.

George DeLancey, '32, visited his parents in Phillipsburg over the week-end.

"Cross" Smith, '31, transacted business in Danville during the past week.

"Curly" Miller furnished the music for the tea dance Saturday afternoon.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

David Thomas of Kingston, spent the week-end at the house, as the guest of pledge brother John Hatten.

Brother "Bob" and pledge brother "Jack" Barton spent the week-end at their home in Bloomsburg.

Brother Richard Nicholson spent last week-end at his home in Collinswood, N. J.

Brother Felix MacCormick witnessed the bouts between Temple and Bucknell, last Friday.

The chapter had the pleasure of entertaining two of the South American students who were attending the Pan-American conference held on our campus last week-end. The one, Alberto Graf of Chili, is a student at Cornell University. The other, Juan Magnana of Peru, is a student at Washington College. The fellows at the house enjoyed their stay a great deal, especially our pre-legal students who kept their time well occupied discussing the diplomatic problems between the two continents.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

Brothers Karl Albig, '29, and "Spike" Hahn, '29, journeyed to Philadelphia Saturday to witness the Bucknell-Temple boxing meet. "Spike" still maintains that he will make a better doctor than he would a pugilist, but we can't see how he would make either.

Pledge brother Gene Beard succumbed to the old gag of homesickness again, and immediately went home. We are inclined to believe it is something else.

Brother "Zeke" Varner surprised everyone at the house and went to Wilkes-Barre over the week-end. "Zeke" usually travels west as far as Johnstown.

Pledge brother Willard Phillips entertained callers from Scranton on Sunday. We are not saying who took one of the party up to the "Sem"— Consequently they were delayed in starting back.

Brother Frank Zimmerman must have gotten "hot" on the "old sax" up at State last week-end. Reports have it that Hitchens' hand went over big.

Brother Paul Crago asserts that he "bummed" one hundred and eighty miles over the week-end, which includes a trip to State for the "dances" there.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

Prof. Paul G. Stolz gave a talk on the appreciation of music before the active chapter and pledges of T. U. O. on Tuesday evening, March 6, in which he stated that to appreciate music it is not necessary to know the mechanics of music, but that a better appreciation may be had by knowing the form, history, and instrumentation of selections. The purpose of the talk was to explain certain details of classical records that have lately been added to Theta U's. library of records.

Immediately following the talk on music the house gave a smoker at which the pledges entertained.

Prof. R. B. Alvarez, and Leopold Caban, participants in the Pan-American conference proved to be very interesting guests of T. U. O. last week-end. Their descriptions of South America have almost induced some of the brothers to seek the torrid climate.

The house has established French, German, and Spanish tables in the dining room and conversation proves interesting if one sits at the right table.

Miss Lucille Smith of Susquehanna University was a guest of T. U. O. for dinner last Sunday.

Brother "Judge" Bower spent last week-end at his home in Reading.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

Miss Myrtle Lingle motored up from Harrisburg Sunday to visit her brother, Glen Lingle for a few hours.

Brothers Swartz and Brenner visited their respective homes over the week-end. The former's home being in Urban, Pa., and the latter's in Kingston, Pa.

Brother Jackson attended a sorority dance at Bloomsburg State Teachers' College last Friday, and then journeyed on to Wilkes-Barre where he stayed until Sunday evening.

Pledge brother Curnow couldn't concentrate on the books last Sunday afternoon, so he decided to "bum" home. Anderson acted as his travelling companion.

On Monday, March 4, Miss Catherine Bishop and Miss Ruth Chambers, students at Goucher College in Baltimore, Maryland, visited the house as guests of brother "Eldy" Ward.

The pledges all paid Sunbury a midnight visit last Saturday. ???

PHI LAMBDA THETA
John J. Mootz, '32

The mid-year formal dance which was held on Saturday night proved a huge success. It was chaperoned by Miss Stainton and Miss Brooks. The torrid music by the Blue Band did a lot to make the dance the success it was.

Mr. Charles Shelley of Pottsville was a guest at the house over the week-end.

We take great pleasure in announcing that a new member has been added to our roll.—"Curses," a full blooded terrior, (?) picked up in the wilds of Seventh street by brother Stutzman.

Brother Shoemaker spent a few days reclining in the warm sun-parlor at the infirmary last week.

BETA KAPPA
Christian Gerken, '30

Eta chapter was very glad to see brother Floyd Smith return to the house after an absence of almost two weeks. His mother and Miss Grace Guignon came with him and will remain in Lewisburg indefinitely.

Brother John Weber is still convalescing in the infirmary due to the burns he received in the explosion. He is coming along in fine shape and it will not be long before he will be back working hard for his master's degree.

Brother "Bob" Tate visited his home in Allenwood over the week-end.

Pledge brother "Tom" Welschans went to his home in Montgomery and when he returned he was rarin' to go for the card game that he had missed.

Due to the hunting expedition of brother "Bob" Jones and pledge brother Gray, the house is now the possessor of fourteen bats.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

Alice Sweeley, '31, made her weekly week-end visit to her home in Williamsport.

Mrs. Norman S. Huxley, of Wilmington, Delaware, spent last week-end with her daughter, Betty.

In defiance of Palmolive's motto, "Keep that school-girl complexion," Ruth Edwards, '30, presented the suite with a five pound box of candy.

Sybil Williams, '30, broke the local monotony, and spent last week-end at her home, in Nanticoke.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Virginia Smoot, '30

A number of Tau's members took advantage of a pleasant week-end to 'go places."

"Sally" Porter, '29, spent the week-end at her home in Altoona.

"Dot" Wilson, '30, favored the coal regions with a visit.

Beulah Lesher, '30, surprised us this week with a T. U. O. pin.

"Fran" Kernohan, '30, has been confined to her bed for several days with neuritis. We hope she will soon be fully recovered.

"Kay" Glase, '25, recently made a visit to the suite.

KAPPA DELTA
C. Davison, '30

The patronesses of Phi Tau were entertained by the chapter at a bridge and tea on the afternoon of March 5 in the living room of the new dormitory.

Ruth Evans spent the week-end at her home in Nanticoke.

Our thoughts are with "Pinky" Lemon who was called home last week-end by the illness of her father.

(Continued on Page 7.)

No Blarney—they Satisfy!

The Blarney Stone still does business at the old stand. You tip the guide to hold onto your heels, lean far over the castle wall, and print a respectful smack upon the famous relic. Thereafter you can charm the birds out of the trees; you can talk anybody out of anything, even to switching his favorite cigarette.

Unfortunately, the writer has never had this privilege, and his effort to make you see the light and light a Chesterfield must limit itself to a plain quotation of cigarette fact, namely:

"We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price."

Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

If that isn't the last word on the subject of smoking, your correspondent engages to eat the Blarney Stone upon his very next trip to the Emerald Isle.

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis B. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Clarence W. Cranford, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Thomas McLeod, '31 Dorothy Davies, '30 A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor	Trennie Elsley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Baum, '31 H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor	J. Warren McHugel, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandenbree, '31 R. Hartuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Figner, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30 Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Nathaniel Glazier, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benhamin Wahrman, '32 Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. B. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leach, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Friday, March 15—Men's Debate, Temple vs. Bucknell, Bucknell Hall, 8:15 p. m.
8-11:45—Kappa Delta Rho formal dance.
Saturday, March 16—7:45-10:45 Phi Mu informal dance in the playroom.
8-11:15—Sigma Chi informal dance.
Monday, March 18—7:30, Mu Phi Epsilon song recital, Baptist Church.
Tuesday, March 19—7:30, Campus Club meeting, Bucknell Hall.
Wednesday, March 20—8:30, Biology Society illustrated lecture by Dr. M. Gordon, Biology Building, Room 6.
Thursday, March 21—8:00, Girls' Debate, Bucknell vs. University of Pittsburg, Bucknell Hall.
8:00, Fellowship Meeting, Playroom.

BACK IN THE B. U. FOLD

Applause .... cheers .... whistles .... students and faculty on their feet .... even a book or two thrown into the air .... "Prexy" was back—and had risen to address the upper-class chapel. We almost forget what he said. It was so good to see him back and to see him looking so well that we just about forgot to listen. Not entirely was this the case, for as students got out the slickers to keep off the Spring rain yesterday, they thought of the weather in Southern California which, according to President Hunt, is described by the native Californian as being either perfect or unusual. A place for tired and retired saints, he termed that part of the nation where he has spent several weeks during the winter months, but as his voice rang out in challenging tones, one gathered the impression that Rather it was a case of "masterful 'Prex' is he."

He, by no means, falls within either category.

Yes, "Prexy" is back, and if it weren't an improper thing for sophisticated students to do, we'd unite in a "long live 'Prexy.'"

THE BUCKNELL SUCCESS

Bucknell took a pioneer step when she invited South American students to meet in conference here. While Cornell can boast of meetings of a somewhat similar nature in a League of Nations which was held there recently, Bucknell is the first to hold a conference of the type which convened on the campus Friday, Saturday, and Sunday. During one of the many discussions, one of the visitors expressed his pleasure at the "Bucknell experiment." Mr. Arridia, a native of Chile and now teaching Spanish Literature at Temple University, insisted that a more appropriate phrase would be the "Bucknell success."

For it was a success. In many ways, this was true. Not only was it the first time Bucknell had a chance to get first hand information from its southern neighbors, but it was the initial opportunity afforded to the Latin-American students of meeting together to talk over their own problems. Many intensive discussions among the students from the South American countries showed how grateful they were for the privilege of discussing problems concerning their native countries with others who also come from Latin-American states. Their discussions, both among themselves and with the Bucknell representatives, aimed at light rather than heat (the characteristic of so many college discussions).

One thing which the conference did was to show the vital interest which Bucknell students showed in the actual conditions in South America and of the relationships between Latin-America and the United States. This was indicated by the discussions in the various fraternity houses between the members and Latin-American students who were entertained. One such discussion lasted till 2 a. m. In every case where Latin-American students were housed in fraternity homes, they were bombarded with innumerable questions, and interesting discussions ensued.

The visitors themselves were enthusiastic over the results of the conference. Points of view were shared. New problems were considered, and old problems were approached from new angles. It is to be lamented that such a large number of our own students did not realize the importance of the meetings until they were ended. A somewhat similar conference is being planned for next year—this conference to probably deal with the Orient. It certainly will be beneficial to invite Chinese, Japanese, and other students from the Oriental countries to meet here with us and give us first-hand information concerning the conditions in the far East. It is to be hoped that next year more Bucknell students will take advantage of the opportunities which such a conference brings to our campus.

"HE WHO WOULD BE CHIEFEST SHALL BE SERVANT OF ALL"

"Well done thou good and faithful servant.... enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." And when Dr. Albert Gallatin Lawson, father of Professor George B. Lawson, answered the final call, the world lost a servant and a leader. Many members of the Bucknell community will recall the little man with his snowy hair, radiating a personality which won the friendship of all who knew him. To us his greatest attribute was that he was the father of our own Professor of philosophy, but the world outside will mourn him as one who has contributed more than his share for the good of those whom he served.

Albert Lawson first saw the light of day on June 5, 1852 in the little town of Poughkeepsie, N. Y. As soon as he was ready for his college course, he chose Colgate as his Alma Mater. Since his graduation from there, the University has twice honored him—once with an honorable A. M. and later with the degree of Doctor of Divinity. In 1862, he was ordained into the Baptist Ministry. During his active ministry, he served in many important pastorates, among them Perth Amboy, N. J., Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Brooklyn, N. Y., Camden, N.J., and Newark, N. J.

His ability was finally to lead him into greater fields of service. For some time he served as Secretary of the Board of Managers of the American Baptist Missionary Union. Later he accepted the chairmanship of the Administrative Committee of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America. Following that, he became president of the Baptist Education Society of the state of New York. Since 1922, he had been serving as Chairman of the Publication committee of the American Baptist Publication Society.

Few can boast of a greater leadership than was exercised by Dr. Lawson. He did not allow advancing age to lessen his service. That he may be completely happy, we hope that the life beyond will offer him greater opportunity for service.

GULLIVER'S GABBLES

For the benefit of those contributing to the Bucknell Book of Worse, and for the benefit of other spring poets, Gulliver humbly submits the following list of rimes.

-ling. Bing, cling, fling, king, ping, ring, sing, spring, sting, string, thing, wring, and zing.

-ove. Dove, glove, love, shove, above, below, unglove, foxglove, pigskin glove, and turtleove.

-oon. Boon, coon, croon, June, loon, moon, prune, spoon, swoon, baboon, bassoon, cocoon, harpoon, toy balloon, honeymoon, and raccoon.

-iss. Bliss, kiss, miss, hiss, this, remiss, and remorse.

(that, these, those), abyss, dismiss, And others.

ad, in the Bucknellian:

"Wanted—the names of those students in school who own an aeroplane or intend to purchase one this spring. Also, the names of those students who hold pilot licenses. Address all communications to Box X, Lewisburg, Pa."

Mr. X must think Bucknell is an engineers' school. Who here needs a pilot's license except, in some cases, dance chaperons? But this is treason. What we meant to say is that Gulliver already has a pilot's license and furthermore, that he has practically decided to charter the Graf Zepplin for the remainder of the year. Yes, it must be admitted, Gulliver has joined the uplift league and, as usual, he goes into things on a large scale. What he plans is this: to hold fraternity dances aboard the Zeppelin in the sky, which, it is hoped, will bring about a higher standard of conduct at these affairs.

A Letter From Louis

Hy Dear Friend Gulliver:

Since you last heard from me, old fellow, I have again been a visitor at Bahnk-on-Nehlle, that curious institution—mistermed a college—which I described to you in part a few weeks ago.

My friends at Bahnk-on-Nehlle invited me to a dance. They got me a partner—one of the coy, painted, enchantresses that lives in the Female Institute, I think they call it, and who attends the same classes as the men—and together we went to the affair. It was most interesting, I assure you, dear chap, most interesting! The couples, and nobody comes unless with a partner—you'd think all of the students were married because of the way they pair off—well, nevertheless, the couples assembled in a big, bare, barnlike structure, entirely devoid of decoration inside. This lack of color and attractiveness was seemingly overlooked, though, by most dancers. Off at one end of the hall were four older people who sat there the entire evening, not once cracking a smile, mind you, and seemingly unaware of that which was going on. I perceived that one of them moved an eyelash when the crowd grew a bit hilarious, but otherwise their only movements consisted in extending their open right hands to the dancers at the opening and closing of the dance. Nobody can give a satisfactory explanation for their presence, but I managed to learn that the party could not go on without them and that they are at the dance to be revered and respected.

The dance—I doubt the correctness of this term—was revealing to me in many ways. Among the more important things that I discovered was the customary and locally acceptible method of dancing—a method which has been passe in the best circles for three years at least. Grasp your partner in any fashion and, when the music starts, begin to hop up and down rapidly. It is not necessary that you and your partner jump simultaneously, either. Perform the movement violently—the higher you leap the better—and, lo behold, ye are dancing! That is, according to any good Bahnk-on-Nehllian.

But, if you ever go there to dance, beware of the faux pas of which I was guilty. I made the grievous error of smiling as I was dancing. That is not done at Bahnk-on-Nehlle, absolutely not! All the while one is keeping up the pogo-stick motion that I mentioned above, one must wear on his face a glum and sour look. Either do that or look blank, much of the latter is being done there. Once in a great while it is permissable to let out a war whoop, but don't let the old people at the end of the hall hear you as it hurts their ears. Everybody lets out several of these savage cries during the course of the evening. Don't ask me why!

As a whole, the dance was rather dull, don't you know, except for a charming bit of conversation with a young man who had a high brow and a rather intelligent expression—a man apart from the rest of the Bahnk-on-Nehllians. This fellow told me something that amazed me greatly, the fact that everybody at Bahnk-on-Nehlle is so studious and brilliant that no one flunks out. Of course, it may take some students five or six years to graduate, but that is usually caused by an unlooked-for event which has upset that person's normal life. Quite a few students, I learned, are expelled for various violations of the rules, but no one, I repeat this, is ever expelled because he flunks out. Wonderful!

Gully, I am just so embued with interest for dear, old, musty Bahnk-on-Nehlle that I could ramble on for ever. I must cease, though, because you probably don't want to be bothered any longer. I will write you again, perhaps, and tell you how well every Bahnk-on-Nehllian dresses and other items that have attracted my attention.

Affectionately,
Louis Quatorze.

REV. L. S. MUDGE SPEAKS ON CHURCH AND PUBLIC

At the Presbyterian Vesper Service this Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, the Rev. L. S. Mudge, D. D., L. L. D., of Philadelphia, the Stated Clerk of their General Assembly, will speak on "The Church and the Republic." He will preach at the morning service at 10:45 o'clock on "Presbyterian Loyalty."

Dr. Mudge was at one time pastor of the First Church of Lancaster, then of the Pine Street Church, Harrisburg, and has always been a popular preacher. He is at present the highest paid executive in the church, and this is his first visit to Lewisburg. All Presbyterian students, as well as others, are urged to hear him at one of the services. This should be a real red letter day for that church.

A large and appreciative audience heard Dr. Raiguel, of Philadelphia, outline the policies of the new administration at Washington.

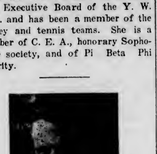
Who's Who AT B. U.

Helen G. Steinhilper, '29

Introducing Miss Helen G. Steinhilper, better known to her friends as "Goddard of the Doabler Eight" and to some few "Semites" as the stern head of Student Senate.

That Helen has executive ability there is no doubt and her work on the women's debating team has enabled her to speak for herself.

She has been a member of the Student Executive Board of the Y. W. C. A. and has been a member of the hockey and tennis teams. She is a member of C. E. A., honorary Sophomore society, and of Pi Beta Phi sorority.



George N. Ballentine, '29

Athlete, adventurer, scientist—that's George N. Ballentine, or just "Bally" to most of us.

Tennis is "Bally's" favorite form of athletic recreation, and his prowess with the racquet has earned him a berth on the varsity tennis team for the past three years. And he shines on the basketball floor as well, playing brilliantly on the strong Phi Gamma Delta quintet.

Every vacation finds George out on some expedition of exploration. He knows the forests like a woodsman, and his canoeing itinerary covers the Susquehanna river from its source to the Chesapeake.

But "Bally" is making his mark in the field of science. Not content with the responsibility of assisting Professor W. W. Eyster in botany, he is spending most of his spare moments in scientific research. He has that true scientific attitude that seems to characterize biological work at Bucknell, so just watch him.

"Betty" Siegfried

"Betty" holds a leading part on Bucknell's stage, at present presiding over Frill and Frown, girls' dramatic society. She is also a member of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary national dramatic fraternity. Aside from these interests, "Betty" has acted on the Y. W. Commission and Cabinet, and sang in the Girls' Glee Club for three years. She is a member of Kappa Delta sorority.

TO THE WIND

Oh, wind, when in the storm you rage
And wreck the ships at sea,
Or when the trees and cities
You twist fantastically—
Then sadness is your gift to me
And I become your slave,
I to my master give the name
Of vengeful hearted knave.

But when you softly come again
In gently blowing breeze,
You make the spring music sound
Like angel hands at organ keys.
And when you bring sweet opiates
Of flowers' perfumed blend—
'Tis then, oh wind, you are to me
Not master, but my friend.

—Kenneth Vandenbree, '31.

There must be lots of money in the show business. Few get out of it with any for themselves.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—18—

THE PLEASURE RESULTING FROM WORK WELL DONE IS WORTH WHILE. TO DEVELOP THE BEST EQUIPPED RAILROAD, TO CONDUCT THE MOST SUCCESSFUL BANK, TO CREATE A GREAT STORE WHERE PRINCIPLE NEVER YIELDS TO MERE MONEY GETTING, TO CREATE AN ENVIRONMENT FOR THE YOUNG MAN OR WOMAN JUST ENTERING A BUSINESS CAREER THAT WILL BE AN INCENTIVE TO DO GREATER THINGS, BECOME A PLEASURE AND REMUNERATION FAR BEYOND A MONEY VALUE. IT IS AS GREAT A THING TO DEVELOP MERCHANDISE OF CHARACTER AND BEAUTY AS TO PAINT A FINE PICTURE, CARVE A BEAUTIFUL STATUE, OR WRITE A GOOD BOOK. TO SOME MANUFACTURERS A CARPET IS JUST A CARPET, A PIECE OF GINGHAM IS ONLY A PIECE OF GINGHAM. BUT WITH THE DESIRE TO MAKE THE BEST—CARPET OR A PIECE OF GINGHAM CAN BECOME A WORK OF ART.

—JOHN G. SHEDD.

"Prexy" Is Tendered A Rousing Welcome In Chapel Tuesday

Pres. Hunt Gives a Few Details Regarding His Recent Trip

Cheers rent the air, and the entire student body and faculty rose to their feet in upper-class chapel on Tuesday to welcome back President Emory Hunt, who has not taken his customary place on the platform for more than two months.

President Hunt expressed his joy on returning again after his long absence, and told some interesting experiences that occurred to him on his trip. He expressed his belief that the more one travels in the United States the more one realizes what a wonderful country it is, its rarities, its developments, and its possibilities and opportunities for service.

It is not what we count in ourselves that really amounts to anything, he continued, but what we make ourselves count in others. The sign of character is not what we don't do but what we do and the important thing is to fill in our life with good, for life is a matter of addition and not subtraction.

Women's Glee Club Appears In Milton

The Girls' Glee Club gave its first concert of the season in the Methodist Church at Milton, Thursday evening, March 7. The selections were all well rendered, and were enjoyed by an appreciative audience.

The program began with three numbers sung by the Glee Club: "Song of Joy," "Hark to the Mandolin", and "Carmen Waltz Song." This was followed by a solo, "La Serenata" sung by Lillian Mattick, '30, and accompanied by a violin obligato played by Louise Rinehart, '30. Following this the quartet which is made up of Lillian Mattick, '30, Carolyn Keiser, '31, Ruth Evans, '29, and Louise Rinehart, '30, gave three selections: "Sylvia," "Days of Long Ago," and "Lindy." Next came a reading which was given by Constance Hulick, '31.

The second part of the program was opened with two numbers, "A Japanese Fantasy," and "A Jananese Love Song," which were sung by Ruth Evans. Miss Evans was dressed in Japanese costume and acted the part of a maid of Japan very effectively. Next came another reading, and then two more selections by the quartet: "Come Down, Laughing Streamlet" and "Where the Lazy Mississippi Flows." The last three numbers on the program, sung by the glee club, were "Slave Song," "Japanese Sunset," and "Minor and Major."

GERMAN CLUB MEETS

The March meeting of Der Deutsche Verein was held in the playroom of the new dormitory, on Monday evening, March 11. After an interesting discussion of German men who won fame in the world of letters the club turned their attention to the solving of some fascinating German puzzles.

ALDEN DAVIES, TENOR, TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

(Continued from Page 1)

Davies sang in the Glee Club, the Operetta Society, and the Oratorio Society.

Mr. Davies was born in Dickson City, near Scranton, and there took part as a boy in the Welsh Eisteddfods. Always believing that music should be an avocation rather than a business, Mr. Davies has never yielded to the many requests made of him to devote his entire time to music. Having achieved a very important and responsible position in the Old Colony Investment Corporation of Boston and New York, Mr. Davies finds business too enticing to forego it entirely. And yet he has been fortunate enough to win in music a success that is worthy of a strictly professional musician.

Mr. Davies' tentative program has been received. It will include the favorite aria "If With All Your Hearts" from Elijah; a group of German lieder, drawn from the works of Schubert, Brahms, and Hugo Wolf. Since Mr. Davies is a lyric tenor, he has naturally chosen several songs in the lighter vein. His program will certainly win popular approval as well as measuring up to the highest musical standards.

In college Mr. Davies was a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. Besides his many musical activities, Mr. Davies won prizes in public speaking. He took part in every such contest in which he was eligible. Mr. Davies possesses a rich and vivid personality, and he wins his audience quickly and sincerely.

Commerce and Finance Students Draw Up By-laws; Prof. Matz Speaks To Group

The few students who attended the meeting of the Commerce and Finance Club on Friday, March 8, were rather disappointed by the small number present. This new organization, which lines up very well with the new business course, has exceptional possibilities, and promises helpful aid to its members.

President R. L. Payne, '29, presided over the meeting. The by-laws drawn up by James Simpson, '31, were read and approved as corrected. They follow:

1. The name of this organization shall be "The Commerce and Finance Club" of Bucknell University.

2. The membership shall be limited to those students in the Commerce and Finance Department, and to those majoring in Economics.

3. There shall be no set time for meetings, but the date of each meeting shall be announced beforehand.

4. Dues amounting to fifty cents per semester shall be required for membership. Such money to be used for the betterment of the club and each individual.

5. The officers of the club shall be: president, vice president, secretary, and treasurer; all to be assisted by such committees as the club shall see fit to appoint.

6. These officers shall serve for one semester; to be elected at the last meeting of each semester.

Professor R. L. Matz gave a very interesting and informal talk to the group. He told of the speakers whom he planned to have here in the near future, and announced that the next one would be a man from the General Electric Corporation who will be with us on the fifteenth of this month.

The faculty adviser pointed out to those present the desirabilty of pushing this club forward to a place of prominence among the school's activities. For those students who plan to enter the business world. This organization will offer a great opportunity for contacts with real business men. Beside the contacts with business personalities, direct information concerning the intricate mechanism of our economic life is available for those who interest themselves. It will mean opportunities opened up, chances for employment bettered, and an insight into something very practical. These ends are to be accomplished by bringing big business men here to talk to the students.

PRES. HUNT DESCRIBES SHIPWRECK DE LUXE

(Continued from Page 1.)

how we were a mile off our course. While I was watching, the ship came to a sudden stop. But the impact with the rock we hit was not at all as described in press despatches. There wasn't enough of a jar to knock a nickel off the rail. Nor was the captain pitched overboard, as the newspaper stories said. The fact is that the captain was in bed. He had been up late the night before, and was probably asleep when we struck. He came out on deck soon enough, clad in his pajamas, and when he saw what had happened, he leaped overboard and swam to shore, which was hardly farther away than a ship's length. Then he telephoned for help, and came back later with a rescuing tug.

"It was in making the transfer to the tug that the thrill came. The weather was calm enough, yet the sea was rolling under the trade wind, and the little boat into which they lowered us was tossed about lively in it. To those unaccustomed to the sea, this experience must have been alarming enough. We had to row to the tug, which must have been nearly a mile distant, and had there been a heavier sea things might not have been so pleasant. As it was, we got ashore safely and without difficulty. But just the same, it was an experience none too good for one's nerves."

President Adams Badly Damaged

At Cristobal the passengers were cared for at the Washington Hotel, as has already been related in the Bucknellian. They spent five days there. Meantime, their stranded ship, the President Adams, was floated and towed through the canal to Balboa, where there is a dry dock. The hull was bent so badly that the engines were forced out of alignment, and the ship could not travel under her own power.

Dr. and Mrs. Hunt decided to go to New Orleans by boat and sailed on a smaller ship that was very unsteady in comparison with the President Adams. The trip was distressing to Mrs. Hunt, who does not like the sea, but Dr. Hunt is a good sailor and thoroughly enjoyed the passage. Two days were spent in New Orleans and then the travelers again started west, this time in a drawing room on the Sunset Limited, of the Southern Pacific Railroad. That journey they found very interesting.

Travel Through Desert Country

"It was pleasing because it was new," said Dr. Hunt. "I have crossed the country on practically all the other railroads, but had never been across on the Southern Pacific. The trip is a startling contrast to journies I have made on the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific, for instance. On those roads one traverses vast stretches of magnificent mountain lands. But on this trip we rode through the desert. First, we passed through great stretches of swamp. Then we struck mountains, and finally we reached the desert. For hundreds and hundreds of miles we rode through this desert country. It was intensely interesting."

The stay in Pasadena was pleasant but uneventful. Dr. and Mrs. Hunt had delightful quarters in an apartment hotel. Almost daily Mrs. Hunt's sister, Mrs. Joseph Bond, came with her car and her chauffeur, and the little party drove through the mountains and valleys of southern California. It was thoroughly delightful and wonderfully restful. It must have been attractive, for Dr. Hunt refused to alter his routine long enough to go over to the Pacific and do some deep sea fishing, as he was invited to do. He did, however, go over to Los Angeles to attend a dinner given in his honor by alumni of Denison University.

The journey home was made by the Santa Fe to the Middle West, where a change was made to trains to Columbus, where the Hunts have a daughter, Mrs. Harriet Richards. Mrs. Hunt left her husband at Pittsburgh, to visit her other daughter, Mrs. Caroline Mahaffey, while President Hunt came on to Lewisburg alone. Now that it is all over, he probably is glad enough that he was shipwrecked. For it isn't everybody you know, that can take part in a de luxe edition of a wreck at sea.

The sound of hand-clapping made all the "Semites" and faculty guests in the "Sem" dining hall last Sunday look toward the door. At the sight of President Emory W. Hunt standing in the doorway, the clapping was taken up by everyone in the dining room, and chairs were pushed back as the diners rose to their feet to honor our returned president.

Read the Bucknellian.

Tryouts Scheduled

Bucknell's representative to the Regional Oratorical Contest will be selected next Tuesday evening, March 19, at 7:30 p. m., in Bucknell Hall, in the preliminary try-outs to be held under the direction of Prof. J. P. Whyte.

Each aspirant is required to talk five minutes on the subject of the Constitution. Manner of presentation, limitation of subject, and tonal qualities will be deciding factors in the choosing of the representative.

The man selected will then compete, at a date and place to be announced, against the representatives of many Pennsylvanian colleges in the Regional contest, for the privilege of competing in the National finals to be held this summer in California.

Bucknell men in recent years have been very successful, T. Burns Drum, '26, and Lee Francis Lybarger Jr., '28, both winning their regional contests and later traveling to California to place highly in the national finals.

WELLAND WADSWORTH TO CAPTAIN B. U. FIVE

(Continued from Page 1.)

longs to the Bucknell "B" club, an organization confined to those who have won a major letter in some major sport.

Seven Letters Awarded

Seven Bucknell court players and the student manager were voted letters by the athletic council this week. The following men were awarded the coveted varsity insignia: Captain Louis Woodring, Reynoldsville, Pa.; Captain-elect Welland Wadsworth, McGraw N. Y.; Bernard Klosterman, Covington, Ky.; Frederick Mitchell, Madison, N. J.; Archie Seiler, Hawley, Pa.; Frank Kostos, Mt. Carmel, Pa.; Norman Ross, Gloucester, Mass. and Student Manager John Danes Hubbard, New York City.

Even Break On Trip Closes Frosh Season As Chenoweth Stars

Freeland Academy Tastes Defeat But Wyoming Subdues Frosh

The Bucknell freshmen basketball team closed a highly successful court season over the week-end by breaking even in a pair of contests. On Friday evening at Freeland the Mussermen subdued the Freeland Academy quintet by a 44-36 count. On the following evening the Bison yearlings traveled to Kingston where they were repulsed by the Wyoming Seminary court warriors. The final score in the game was 66-39.

Playing a classy brand of basketball against Freeland the winners took the lead early in the game and were always ahead. At half time Freeland trailed 23-16.

"Bill" Chenoweth was the individual star in this tussle, scoring a total of 19 points representing nine field goals.

After winning over Wyoming Seminary here in Lewisburg several weeks ago the Mussermen were forced to bow to the Kingston lads last Saturday. However, during the course of the game, Captain Chenoweth went on another scoring rampage this time to tally 17 points representing eight field goals and one foul. "Don" Mills was runnerup to Chenoweth for scoring honors with five double deckers and a trio of charity tosses.

The scores by periods:

B. U. Freshmen	23	21—44
Freeland A.	16	20—36
B. U. Freshmen	16	23—39
Wyoming Sem.	31	35—66

It pays to advertise.

THE FLORSHEIM SHOE

To wear Florsheim shoes is to enjoy the best there is in shoe making.

Most Styles $10

FOR SALE BY

J. F. PROWANT CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Florsheim SHOE

Have You Chosen Your Life Work in the Field of Health Service?

The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean

Harvard University Dental School,
Longwood Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

THE PURITY

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
combination of
Colgate Theological Seminary and Rochester Theological Seminary
introduces itself to the Students of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
who are looking forward to training for RELIGIOUS LEADERSHIP
at home, or abroad.
Correspondence solicited.
Clarence A. Barbour, President
Thomas Wearing, Dean
Glenn B. Ewell, Associate Dean

HERE IT IS!!
Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!
AMOUNT - - - - - - - - $10,000.00
ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)
Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

A FULL LINE OF NEW SPRING DRESSES FOR EASTER
Will arrive Wednesday, March 20th
Grand Opening
Thursday & Friday Evenings
March 21 and 22
A FULL LINE OF SPRING MILLINERY
Also Hand-painted Gifts of all kinds
KRAUSE'S STYLE SHOP
Open Evenings Next to the Gift Shop

Cafeteria Costs

What are the comparative costs of service restaurants, boarding clubs, and cafeterias in a college town? The Service Restaurant or Hotel Dining Room, with a more or less uncertain amount of business must of necessity charge higher rates or pass into the obituary column. The boarding club with a steady business and a conservative rebate for absences and the cafeteria are quite evenly matched in cost. A boarding club has advantages in fellowship, good walking exercise, and usually the motherly care of some fine matron. The College Inn Cafeteria contrasts this with saving of time, meal time at your convenience, larger variety of food, beverages, and desserts, smaller sums of money expended at one time and a broader and changing fellowship. Our system attracts faculty groups, commuters, and regular students. The appetite and the purse can readily adjust itself in a cafeteria. The College Inn allows a ten per cent reduction on all coupon books. Bucknell needs all kinds of feed bags on various occasions. We will welcome you any time that a change of pasture will improve your jaded appetite.

The College Inn
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
PAYNE, '09

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

B. U. Basketeers Emerge Victors In Eleven Out of Nineteen Games

Bisons 51-33 Victory over Western Maryland is High Scoring Mark; One Point Triumphs Over Colgate and W. and J.
Feature Plantmen's Court Season

Bucknell's court victory over Juniata last week enabled the Bison basketball men to close their season in a successful manner. During the course of the campaign just ended, they won eleven victories in nineteen games.

Thrilling one-point triumphs over Colgate and W. & J. featured the Bison's court season. Colgate was defeated here by Captain Woodring's men by 30-29 on January 25, while several weeks later the Bisons won from Andy Kerr's men by the same margin.

The high scoring mark of the season was established in the first Western Maryland game, when Bucknell buried her opponents under an avalanche of field goals and won by 51-33. The Bisons almost matched this performance against Juniata last week, but fell four points short of surpassing their early season high scoring mark.

Temple scored the most points against Bucknell, when the Owls ran wild to vanquish the Plantmen 58-34. Early in the season Fordham ran up 55 points on the Orange and Blue basketeers. A surprising 30-25 victory over the Penn A. C. was the feature of Bucknell's list of foreign games.

Statistics, compiled by "Mac" McEligot, sports editor of the Bucknellian, show that the Bison quintet outscored its opponents by 654 to 625.

Archie Seiler, for the third year in succession, was the high scorer for the Orange and Blue. Seiler averaged from 12 to 14 points a game. Captain "Lou" Woodring and "Bernie" Klosterman contributed heavily to the Bisons' offensive attack.

Welland Wadsworth and "Fred" Mitchell, the other Bucknell court regulars, contributed their quota of points. Coach Plant will lose four of his five regulars through graduation this spring. Wadsworth will be the sole survivor for varsity competition next winter. The record follows:

Bucknell
27	C. C. N. Y.	44
31	Seton Hall	33
30	Fordham	55
34	Army	35
51	Western Maryland	33
41	Schuylkill	36
30	Colgate	29
32	Ursinus	25
17	Princeton	27
30	Penn A. C.	25
30	W. & J.	29
49	George Washington	18
34	Western Maryland	26
36	Juniata	15
29	Penn State	41
28	Gettysburg	37
41	Schuylkill	29
34	Temple	58
50	Juniata	27
	Opponents	625

Theta U. Takes Lead Flogging S.A.E., 16-14

With first place at stake, the Theta Upsilon Omega basketball team vanquished the S. A. E. quintet last Thursday evening at the Tustin Gym by 16-14 in a contest that was replete with thrills. The capacity crowd that attended saw Ramon DeFillippo, of the winners, stage one of the cleverest exhibitions of basketball seen in these parts in years. "The Elmira Flash" captured high scoring honors of the evening.

Looming up as the S. A. E. hero was "Jim" Shuman, of Landisburg, who played amazingly well for the losing quintet. Although Shuman played only five minutes during the second half he accumulated half the field goals that his team registered. Believe it or not, as Ripley says, the losers collected only four field goals. Two of these were tossed in by Shuman.

Shuman Stars For Losers

From an exceedingly difficult angle, the Landisburg youth released a toss for the basket which found its way within the netted loop. Toward the close of the game Shuman dribbled half the length of the floor to register another two points which reduced the T. U. O. lead to a mere field goal.

With the T. U. O. men leading by a 16-14 margin the last minute of play was a hectic one. The final whistle blew with the ball in T. U. O. possession.

"Eddie" Halicki and Clark Hinkle managed to sink a field goal apiece in addition to a pair of fouls. Halicki played a fine floor game.

"Flip" Stars as Usual

DeFillippo was in the contest for three quarters. His last foul on Ammerman necessitated his retirement. With "Flip" gone, the T. U. Os. were handicapped, yet they managed to maintain their lead. During the closing minutes of play the margin, representing the T. U. O. lead, was rapidly reduced, but the final whistle found the T. U. O. team still ahead.

"Flip" tossed in two field goals and a like number of fouls, for a six point total. He registered a field goal in the first half that was a beauty, shooting the ball while out of position, from a difficult angle. The toss went in without touching the rim. The teamwork of the T. U. O. men was the big factor in their triumph.

Score by periods.

S. A. E.	6	8—14
T. U. O.	12	4—16

Referee—"Archie" Seiler.
Scorer—"Mac" McEligot.

You can easily tell the modern mother and daughter apart. The mother is the one who looks so young.

Boxing Report Shows A Deficit of $8.42

The report of the proceeds of the Bison boxing team made public this week by Coaches Plant and Musser of the Physical Education Department of Bucknell University reveal a loss to February 20, 1929, of $8.42. The loss on the meet with Manhattan College was $66.15. The total deficit of $126.27 was, with the use of the proceeds from the interclass tournament, reduced to $8.42. The complete report follows:

Receipts Manhattan Meet	$321.50
Expenses:
Guarantee to Manhattan	250.00
Referee and expenses	20.00
Judges and expenses	50.00
Programs	6.50
Posters for advertising	4.00
Rent for high school gym	30.00
Meals for team and officials	24.90
Telegram for judge (Lancaster)	.30
Phone for police (Harrisburg)	.65
Phone for Judge (Harrisburg)	.65
Phone for Referee State College	.65
Tickets (1500) Holter (No charge)
Total Expenses of Meet	$387.65
Loss on Manhattan Meet	$ 66.15
Other Expenses:
7 pairs boxing shoes	$35.00
7 pairs socks and supporters	3.90
6 pairs flappers	4.75
Lumber to repair ring	1.50
Nails and rubber pads for ring	1.00
Buckets and tire tape	1.35
Crepe paper (decorate ring)	.60
Stamps	1.00
3 Special Del. letters	.36
Postage	.08
Telegrams (Plant)	.54
Telegram (P. M. C.)	.35
Telegram (West. Md.)	.35
Telegram 2 (Cath. U.)	.85
Telegram (for shoes)	1.20
Telegram (for shoes 2)	1.20
Telegram (for flappers)	.61
Blue strips on flappers	.50
Phone calls (Georgetown)	1.20
Phone calls (P. M. C.)	2.20
Phone calls (Manhattan)	1.25
Flapper shipment	.14
Miscellaneous	.50
Other Expense Total	$ 60.12
Total Deficit	$126.27
Bal. from Int. Class meet	$117.85
Total loss to Feb. 20, 1929	$ 8.42

Students Attend Inauguration

Susquehanna University was well represented at the inauguration of Herbert Hoover. Several scores of students, chiefly men, took advantage of the special train to Washington to witness Hoover taking the presidential oath.

Read The Bucknellian

Harold Clough, ex-'30, Joins Rochester Nine

Bucknell again has produced an athlete who will go to the ranks of professional baseball. Harold E. Clough, ex-'30, of Wisconsco, is in Florida at the present time, training for action with the Rochester team of the International League.

Clough, who is following the lead of Christy Matthewson, Bert Daniels, Eddie Halicki, and other Bison diamond stars, finished his second year of work at Bucknell last June. He was the best of Coach Snavely's crew and his work at third base and with the hat was a pleasure to all who saw him in action. When September came, Harold was short of funds, and in spite of his honor-roll work scholastically, was unable to return to the Hill with his friends.

Letters have come from Clough from time to time during the year, and they tell of his disappointment at not being back in college. He is missed as much as he misses Bucknell, and his friends here wish him luck, along with every good thing that can come to one of the finest men who ever donned a Bucknell uniform. Clough's brother was a member of the St. Louis Cardinals, world champions in 1926.

Tri Delta Defeats Zeta Gamma, 20-14

On Saturday, March 9, another lap in the sorority basketball contest was covered when Delta Delta Delta team defeated the Zeta Gamma Tau team with a score of 20-14. The contest is becoming very keen, and much interest is being shown by all sororities as well as by a group of players representing the non-sorority girls.

The Women's Athletic Association is sponsoring the contest, and is offering a plaque to that team winning the championship. The teams are formed into two leagues. In the semi-finals the winning team in each league plays the team that won second place in that league. The two winning teams then play for the championship.

The remainder of the schedule is as follows:

March 16—Kappa Delta and non-fraternity.
March 19—Pi Beta Phi and non-fraternity.
March 19—Sigma Sigma Delta and non-fraternity.
March 23—Zeta Gamma Tau and Phi Mu.
March 26—Finals.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Gentleman, Scholar and Boxer

By "Mac" McEligot

Several years ago a serious minded Trenton youth aspired to go to college. His greatest ambition then, as now, was to become a celebrated doctor. He had no money but he was confident that within a year's time he would be able to send himself to college.

As an amateur boxer, he earned enough money in one year to provide him with a year's education in college. So it was that in the fall of 1925 this young man, who was destined to become Bucknell's first boxing captain, jumped off the train at the Reading station and remarked, "So this is Lewisburg." His name was Frank Storaci.

Frank's boxing talent escaped the public eye for two years, as the ring sport was not introduced at Bucknell until last winter. Storaci however played baseball here during the spring of his freshman year. He played in several games at the third base post.

The following year Storaci deserted the diamond and gave all his time to his books. Ever since his enrollment at Bucknell this lad has been an honor student.

Storaci will enter medical college next fall. He will probably matriculate at Jefferson. His scholastic record warrents him a chance at a good medical college.

Bucknell's First Ring Captain

Storaci's first chance for athletic fame at Bucknell came last winter, when Coach John D. Plant introduced boxing on an inter-collegiate scale. Storaci was unanimously elected by his teammates to captain the first Bison ring team. He piloted the 1928 ring squad through a successful season and Bucknell retained boxing because it proved to be a success.

Last winter Storaci was severely handicapped all season by a sprained ankle. He did not have a fair chance to demonstrate his boxing prowess, as he was unable to fall back on his clever footwork. This winter it was different. Storaci came into his own. He participated in four intercollegiate ring engagements and won them all. He outpointed every one of his four rivals by large margins. He subdued opponents representing Manhattan, P. M. C., Catholic University, and Temple.

A Fitting Climax

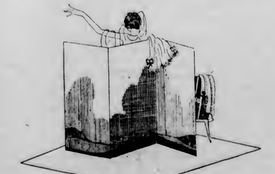
Last Friday night Storaci brought his collegiate ring career to a close by a fine performance. He literally "brought the house down" at the

(Continued on Page 7.)

The Early Worm Catches the Classiest Birds

So Grab Your Sheba As She Comes Down the Hill

AND WHEN THE TWENTY-THIRD ARRIVES



You will enjoy one of the Best Dances of Your College Life

IN TUSTIN GYM

At the SOPHOMORE COTILLION

"The Ghost of Kirk Castle"

Being the Story of a Real Irish Ghost and How It was Finally Laid
By VIRGINIA WALLIS, '28

Editor's Note:—

Virginia Dare Wallis graduated from Bucknell with the class of 1928. While a student, she was well known for her literary ability publishing some very fine poetry in "Bucknell Verse," and being an outstanding member of Sigma Tau Delta, the professional English fraternity. Miss Wallis is now a member of the faculty of the Johnsonburg High School. The following story, written in the Saint Patrick's Day spirit, is certain to charm all who read it.

Pull up your chairs, my pretties, and you too, Pat and Molly, an' I'll tell you a story in pay for my keep til I av somewhat more to give you. Blessings on you. It is no' every family that 'ud keep a poor man on credit. But it's a rich man I'll be when my Jeannie is better, and then we'll be after traveling to Dublin for ribbons and dodads for the young uns and things more substantial for you.

The Church family is kin to me, but how, I'll not be after telling you. It's me that would ave the whole caboodle of you asleep on my hands an I did. But I do say that the family's relation to me—so you have no call to disbelieve my story.

Old Jim Chuch, we calls it Church over there, though it's Kirk in good Irish, went to the States early, but I'll not be after aving you think ut were the potato famine that stirred his stumps from Ireland. By his own tell, it were adventure that carried him away from Erin. He soon found a Scotch lassie that he liked fair to middling and settled down, for it's not a deal of adventuring you'll get done with a family. He lived like a gentleman as best he could and turned a neat penny by hook or crook when he was pinched. Always he was for telling of his estate in the good land, and since there was no one to gainsay him, it went for truth. He talked of going back some day, but what with his easiness of mind and his wife's hating to spend the money, he never did get to see his homeland before he passed over.

The family spread and multiplied until there was little Jean, the likliest mavoreen that ever stood at my knee. A lovely young lady she grew to be with locks as bright as the side of a copper kettle, and eyes the blue of Lough Leane. She was the one that could see Lepracauns and goblins and fun in the gloomiest day. Her lips were red as ripe berries and were always assaying pretty things as though she'd a taken a nip of the Blarney Stone if she'd ever had a chance to kiss it. But her head was full of cold Scotch sense, and she was after having a career and would have none of the handsome lads that came acourting to her door.

One fine day, Miss Jean had word of a fortune in Ireland that was hers for the asking of it. She came to me, being the oldest av the relation, to ask advice. I told her the tale that I'd hearn told when I was wee, how Old Jom had come over for adventure and left his estate to take on by itself.

"Well," said she, "More than like it is overrun with woods and taxes, and I'm not the one to claim such a fortune. I'm all for seeing the place first."

Now I forgot to tell you that what with good Scotch sense and better Irish luck, the family had put by more than was needful for everyday comfort, and it had been all left to Jean.

"Now would you be willin," says she, "To go to Ireland with me and see the place sort of incognito?"—meaning that we're not to make our coming known to the Lord Mayor of Dublin—or something like that.

"Be dad, and I am," says I, "Though its a shame not to let them know we're coming."

Then she explains as how they might hold us for the taxes, and I gave in to her. Och, the head that lass has by her. I knew 'twerent any use to be arguin' with her for her eyes were already seeing fairies while she figured traveling rates.

Being born to the soil so as to speak, the ship an the seas was sort of exciting. I found me an old Scotchman to pal with, and what with praising our own countries and belaboring England its a wonder and a blessing we were not both nigh to deafness. Jean, bless her soul, had pretty near every man on board at her beck and call 'fore we'd left harbor just for the very sweetness of her. But no, she'd have none for special—not even the captain though he was a likely looking chap with a twinkle in his eye.

Once upon dry land we went straight for Killarney, and then to Lough Leane where we heard the castle was. We asked our directions of the good folk along the way, but many of them did not know of it. And some did know for their eyes 'ud flash when we put the question to them, but they'd say they didna get ore far from home and didna know the country of Leane—then they'd mutter and cross themselves. One honest man says to ask at Muckross Abbey by the side of Middle Leane—the fathers might tell us, but as for him, he was God-fearing but didna have too good a hold on Heaven. So we went to the Abbey on Middle Leane and asked of a gray old priest who promised to guide us, after a deal of coaxing and a small consideration.

I didna half believe there'd be a castle, so I waren't prepared for what we found, but I could see Jean was, for her fine eyes were misty as Lough Leane in the mornin. But be Jabbers! Arearing its head from the lake was a rocky cliff, and the castle sat atop of it like a crown roast of mutton. Grim and brown it was, and half hid by a snarl of holly and rowan. Out of the north wall was a tower with a red peaked roof.

"In these parts we call it 'Slieve Mish,' the Hill of Phantoms," says the priest, crossing himself hurriedly.

"And now, why's that?" says I, as I turned to him. He was staring at the round tower, his eyes popped far out of his head, and his mouth wide enough to swallow a pint. I looked to see what he was after seeing and so did Jean, but all we spotted was a flash of light in the tower, which as Jean said, was a sunbeam from the west asneaking a peek out of the north window very like. The old priest mumbled something about vespers and started back to the abbey, his skirts afittering in the breeze, faster than I would a thought he could travel. Jean and I followed after we had another look at the tower and the sunset.

The good souls at the Abbey gave us supper and lodging for the night. After supper, the whole company sat around and talked on comfortable things, crops, and religion and such like. And then Jean said out of a clear sky,—

"Asking your pardon for changing the conversation, but why do you call the hill over the lake "The Hill of Phantoms?"

No one answered until a gray old father spoke up. He was an old man—if he'd come up for a day he'd come up for eighty.

"I was born in these parts, and ever since I was wee, the place has been haunted, and there's no getting away from it."

"Haunted?" says Jean quicklike, "Haunted? How?"

"It's again' our faith to speak on it," says the old father, pausing and lowering his voice, and in the pause I heard our guide breath deep. "But the tower is sometimes bright with lights, and they say a ghost walks at twilight in the tower chapel."

Says Jean after a minute, "I'd like to be exploring it by daylight. Is there any place a body might stay near here?"

"You could have the boarders' cottage," says the gray priest, "It's little used now. Brothers useri to come for a week of meditation, but there is not such much of that done nowadays."

A bargain was struck, and the next day we moves into our new quarters.

(To be concluded next week.)

GENTLEMAN, SCHOLAR AND BOXER—STORACI

(Continued from Page 6.)

Penn A. C. outboxing his ring opponent in the classiest engagement of the evening. That started the Bucknell team on the road to victory.

Storaci says he will never don the gloves again. He says he is through. He has been a clean fighter. Every man that was pitted against him this year has congratulated him on his sportsmanship. Storaci shows the way, and every one of the other Bucknell boxers is a clean hard fighter.

"Boys, I'm Through"

There is some sentiment connected with Storaci's retirement. When he walked to the dressing room at the Penn A. C. last Friday night after the bouts, he said in a clear cut way, "Boys, I'm through."

Maybe in the distant future we shall see this same Storaci as a rising young doctor. He possesses the qualifications that assure a man success. But whatever Storaci's future is, right now he is one of the Bucknell's finest athletes. Some one coined the phrase several years ago about a certain individual who was "a gentleman and a scholar." This phrase fits Storaci well.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

PHI MU

Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter announces with pleasure the initiation into active membership, on March 7 of Christeen Cornelly, '30, and Martha Warner, '31.

Mary Bennett, '30, entertained her parents the week-end of March 9.

"Katie" and Alma Reitz visited the suite on Sunday, March 10.

The engagement of "Floss" Utt, '26, and Brown Focht, '28, was announced at a formal dinner party at her home in Bloomsburg on March 9. Oella Kisor, '29, and Mary Williams, '29, were among the guests.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha's big social event of the year is now a thing of the past. Last Saturday night we held our formal dance in the recreation room of the new dormitory. Crepe paper petals changed the electric lights into rose flowers, and lavender and rose streamers strung across the ceiling made the room fairy-like. About thirty couples danced away a happy evening to the music furnished by the Black and White Campus Owls. Three out-of-town guests from Susquehanna University were present: Dorothy Goff, Vera Burns, and Grace Detweiler, two of them being representatives from Beta chapter. Professor and Mrs. W. H. Eyster and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith were the chaperons.

MU PHI EPSILON

Lillian Mattick, '30

Miss Inez Robison, '28, will present a programme, one of a series conducted by Mu Phi Epsilon, in the Baptist church next Monday evening, March 18, at 8 o'clock. She will be assisted by Mildred Headings, '29, also a member of Mu Phi. This recital is to be open to the public.

Announcement is also made of the recent election of Dorothy Showalter, '31, to membership in Mu Phi Epsilon. Dorothy has made her place as a pianist in the musical life of Bucknell.

MADGE BELLAMY . . . Beautiful Fox star in her latest release, "Mother Knows Best."

He coughed ..the Villain!

and the love scene had to be taken all over!

Madge Bellamy explains the growing popularity of Old Golds in Hollywood

"The 'hero' in a movie may easily become the 'villain' if he coughs at the wrong time. A cough isn't ever nice, but when it interrupts the taking of a movie scene, it's a calamity!

"The high tension of movie work makes smoking a vital relaxation. But we relax with OLD GOLDS. They're as smooth as the polished manner of Adolphe Menjou, who himself is an OLD GOLD fan.

"While they're the most enjoyable of cigarettes, OLD GOLDS mean absolute 'fade-out' for throat-scratch and smoker's cough."

Madge Bellamy

Why not a cough in a carload...?

OLD GOLD cigarettes are blended from HEART-LEAF tobacco, the finest Nature grows . . . Selected for silkiness and ripeness from the heart of the tobacco plant . . . Aged and mellowed extra long in a temperature of mid-July sunshine to insure that honey-like smoothness.

ON YOUR RADIO . . . OLD GOLD PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, with his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour every Tuesday, from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over the entire network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

eat a chocolate, light an Old Gold, and enjoy both!

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

WAINIES

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked. Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

Harry Allsworth, '29, Loses Checker Crown

"Le roi est mort! Vive le roi!" The checker king has been uncrowned. Harry Allsworth, '29, crowned too soon. Only a short week ago he toppled the last tottering contender for the championship of the Sigma Chi house, and stepping forth with a confident swagger, he challenged all comers to sweep his little wooden counters off the checkered board.

And that's exactly what happened. It didn't take all comers to do it, either. To speak to the point, it took just one special student, Maurice Freed, Penn State, '28, who is doing work in education at Bucknell this semester, to do it. The classic match took place at the "Sig" house last Friday morning—only one day after the Herculean Harry had announced his claim on the campus championship, through these columns. For 45 minutes the two valiants swayed and struggled, their intellects keenly alert, sweat standing on their manly brows—while all the Sig brothers pressed closely around the battle ground, breathless, tense, strained, watching, watching, as their hero labored to break from the figurative grasp of his too able non-fraternity opponent.

The final result was sickeningly decisive—four victories for Freed and one tie-game. So now a new cham-peen stalks through the streets of quaint old L-burg, his head set haughtily upon his broad shoulders as he disdainfully challenges all who may dare to risk their prestige in checkers against his might. Long live Freed! Long live the new champ! A big whistle-yell for the heroic. Undefeated—make him hear it—all ready—hip, hip!

For the benefit of those incorrigibly courageous individuals who are willing to risk everything in a death struggle with this stupendously menacing checker shark, we will supply the information that he is to be found on almost any afternoon at the May-Mar Tea Room, where he is willing to test the metal of all who may come.

Adjustment To New Ideas, Big Problem

"The greatest problem before the people of today is making harmonies and happy adjustments to new ideas," declared Prof. H. T. Colestock in chapel on Thursday, March 7. All through the centuries great men have suffered and been prosecuted because people did not maintain an open mind. Forty men bound themselves not to eat or drink until they had taken the life of another man, Paul, the great teacher; Jesus was persecuted on the cross because the people would not accept his belief, and Socrates, the great philosopher, was forced to drink hemlock because people refused to try to adjust themselves to his ideals.

In our life today we should think for ourselves instead of looking to the past to do our thinking for us, and in politics, in industry and in religion especially we should make adjustments to new truths, for a closed mind always leads to inquisition.

ALANSON JOHNSON DIES AT LAURELTON FRIDAY

Alanson Johnson, father of Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson, died at the home of his son, Elmer Johnson in Laurelton, Tuesday evening, from infirmities due to old age.

Mr. Johnson was a member of a well-known old family. He was born in the upper part of Union County February 26, 1847. Most of his life was spent in farming. He served in the Civil War and engaged in several important battles.

The deceased is also the grandfather of Thelma Showalter, '29. He is survived by his wife, three sons, and three daughters, one of whom is Albert W. Johnson, trustee of Bucknell University.

Funeral services are to be held from his son's home in Laurelton, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

PAN-AMERICANS MEET HERE DURING WEEK-END

(Continued from Page 1.)

prevent denationalization is to get these people to strengthen their own culture."

A banquet at the College Inn was the first event of this unique conference—unique because for the first time a group of Latin-American students and professors assembled at an American university to consider problems vitally concerning both parties. The plan of the conference originated and was developed here, in the Y. M. C. A. cabinet, and its success was made possible by the co-operation of the national council of the Y. M. C. A.

Plain Speaking at Round Table

The roundtable discussions were one of the features of the meetings. At these sessions the Latin-Americans not only presented the problems and complaints of their individual countries, but also had an opportunity to discuss their relationship with each other. Here too the Bucknell students of Latin American affairs weighed the evidence for and against America's "interference" in the affairs of her neighbors to the south.

The opportunity which the conference offered to visualize the American Yankee from the Latin-American point of view was of inestimatable value.

Not only in the formal discussions of the conference but in the various groups in fraternity houses were the outstanding personalities of the Latin representatives evidenced.

Six Nations Represented

These guests represented six foreign countries. Ricardo B. Alvarez of Argentine, who is now studying at Yale, delighted audiences at the local churches and in the fraternities with sacred music and songs in Spanish.

Leopoldo Caban of Porto Rico is now studying for the ministry in Gettysburg College. Jose Floriano de Teleolo of Brazil is a dental student at the University of Pennsylvania. Roberto M. Hooker of Moravian College comes from Nicaragua. Juan E. Maguina of Peru is a student at Washington College. Another Porto Rican representative was Connie Lopez of Lafayette College. Lopez intends to become a medical missionary.

Chile had a very interesting representative in Ramiro Arriaia, professor of Spanish at Temple University. Other representatives from Chile were Alberto Graf Marin of Cornell and Salvador Dinamarea of the University of Pennsylvania.

Among the important constructive suggestions offered during the conference are the following:

1. Each country should attack only its own problems.
2. Men should be intelligently trained in national leadership.
3. An agency for spreading intelligent Pan-Latin propoganda is needed.
4. Spanish-American literary courses should be further introduced into North American universities.
5. There ought to be an exchange of graduate students and professors between universities in North and South America.
6. Graduate schools should be established in South America.
7. Scientific research and experimental stations should be promoted in South America.
8. The more careful selection of diplomats would eliminate many embarrassing situations.
9. Such projects as "Bucknell in Brazil" should be repeated.

Factors Leading To Ill Feeling

Factors that tend to produce ill feeling between North and South America were brought to light not only in the round table discussions but also the addresses. Conditions that lead to distrust of the United States by South America may be summed up in the following:

1. There is general misrepresentation of South America in moving pictures.
2. The Monroe Doctrine is undefined, and South Americans feel subjugated by it.
3. A few North American missionaries have antagonized Latin Americans.
4. American imperialism creates hatred in smaller nations.
5. There are still unsettled boundary problems in South America.
6. The protective tariff of the United States arouses the antagonism of Southern peoples.
7. Excessive nationalisms prevent the growth of good will.
8. The absence of the United States from the League of Nations hinders mutual trust.
9. Several Latin-American countries have rather unstable forms of government.
10. Latin - American commerce lacks standardization.

John N. Feaster, '30, as a Bucknell delegate to the conference, has summerized the conference as follows:

"The conference was a great adventure among the vital problems of a great continent. It was guided by keen intellects and by souls overflowing with a real love for country and right. The abstractions of brotherhood and patriotism became more meaningful when one rubbed elbows with students from many countries. The demand for the acknowledgment of the supremacy of right over might and the prime necessity for personality struck a responsive chord. It was a great revelation that these men of varied backgrounds were learned to differ, but determined to love.' "

B. U. BOXERS WIN PENN A. C. CUP

(Continued from Page 1.)

was outclassed by his rival during the opening period, and it was evident that the Bucknell heavyweight must rally considerable if he expected to win.

Unleashing a terrific body attack on his rival, Jones fought his way back in the second round and was again in the running for premier honors. The third period was also a disasterous one for his clever Cherry and White foe. Anderson fairly wilted under the powerful blows delivered by Jones to the body and face. A beaten man in the first round, the fighting Welchman had come back to punch his opponent to submission.

"Pottsville" Comes Through

When the third round was terminated, the judges ordered another round to determine the decision. Jones was now at his best. He overwhelmed the Temple boxer with a series of hard blows.

Jones was awarded the judges' decision and his last-minute triumph gave his teammates a 4-3 victory.

Temple captured the first two bouts of the meet. "Eddie" Cudden, captain of the Owl squad, easily whipped "Nick" LaFerrara in a fight that went three rounds. The plucky LaFerrara was in the fight from start to finish, however, and managed to get in a few blows, but none had any telling effect on the more experienced Cudden.

Dribben Trounces Boerner

Temple made it two straight when Dribben outboxed Boerner of Bucknell in a three-round engagement. Dribben was too clever for the Bison 125-pounder.

The third bout of the evening featured the classy Frank Storaci and "Bill" Demas. Storaci, in the last ring engagement of his college career, trounced Demas after three rounds of clever boxing. Storaci's victory enabled the Bucknell team to fight its way back in the running. Demas was bewildered by the deceptive punches that Storaci landed. The Bucknell 135-pounder dazzled his rival with a puzzling display of footwork.

Captain Lepore Wins Again

Captain Frank Lepore evened accounts at two all when he fought his way to an extra-round triumph over Kutcher. The Bison leader and his Temple opponent fought each other to a standstill for three rounds and an extra session was necessary. Lepore came back with vengeance and pounded his rival hard. He had his man groggy when the fourth session ended. The final gong found Kutcher against the ropes. Lepore was awarded the decision.

Then came "Whitey" Anderson, seeking the 160-pound laurels. Anderson was pitted against the less experienced "Hut" Ammerman, who was not in the ring long enough even to display his wares. The cunning Anderson caught the Tyrone Mauler off his guard less than 40 seconds after the fight started and drove his right to Ammerman's jaw. Ammerman took the count.

Mutzel Outboxes Brown

Temple was in the lead 3-2 when Mutzel of Bucknell faced the formidable Brown in the clash for light heavyweight honors. Brown was the master of the situation during the opening round, but Mutzel began to fight in the second stanza and after that held Brown even. After the three rounds were ended, the judges decided on another round. Mutzel went to work in the extra session. Although he did not knock Brown out, he did outbox him in the deciding round by a large margin. The bout ended with Mutzel way ahead. Mutzel's timely triumph enabled Bucknell to knot the count again, this time at 3-3. Thus the stage was set for Jones' dramatic effort.

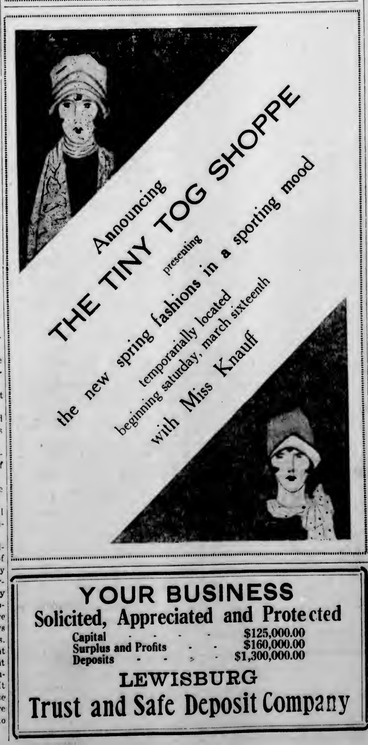
MRS. RAYMOND M. WEST IMPROVING GRADUALLY

Mrs. R. M. West, wife of Rev. R. M. West, pastor of the Lewisburg Baptist Church, is a patient in the Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville where she was taken two weeks ago. Mrs. West underwent a serious operation followed by two blood transfusions. Although her condition is serious, she is making some progress.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

EASTER, MARCH 31st
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00. Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop



YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital . . . $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits . . . $160,000.00
Deposits . . . $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

CHIROPRACTIC
What is it?
IT IS NOT Medicine, Osteopathy, Massage or surgery.
IT IS the foremost drugless health science of the present day.
Thousands of others have found it so after everything else failed.
Regardless of what your particular trouble has been called, be it acute or chronic, your chances for permanent, lasting results are 10 to 1 under Chiropractic Adjustments.
Consult us regarding your ailments, start taking adjustments today, and get well.
No charge for consultation.
CHAS. S. HARMAN, D. C.
CHIROPRACTOR
Palmer 3 Yr. Graduate.
Over Krauser's Drug Store MILTON.

WHILE THEY LAST
OUR FULL LINE OF
LEATHER COATS & JACKETS
for both boys and girls at
20 Per Cent Reduction
Now is a good time to get a Leather Garment at a very Low Price.
W. L. DONEHOWER
"VARSITY OUTFITTER"
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

BOSTONIANS—Famous Shoes for Men

Two Million Men Prefer Them
Priced from $7.50 to $9.00
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

HERMAN & LEISER
New Spring Coats
100 New Spring styles to choose from. Materials are Broad Cloth, Poiret-Sheen, Kasha and Tweed mixtures, in a price range from
$15.00 to $47.50
NEW COOLIE COATS of Black Rayon, embroidered in pretty colors,
At $5.50 each

West Side Park
BERWICK, PA.
THE McENELLY ORCHESTRA
CONCERT AND DANCE
Wednesday, March 20
Concert 8.30 to 9 Dancing 9 to 1
LADIES 75c. GENTLEMEN $1.25

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

HEAR ALDEN DAVIES, '19
TONIGHT AT 8:15:
PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1929. NUMBER 24.

SOPHOMORES! CHOOSE MAJORS AND MINORS BY SPRING VACATION

Debaters Lose To Pittsburgh; Defeat Temple

Co-ed Negative Team Drops 3-0 Meet as Affirmative Trio Wins at Philadelphia

The Bucknell women's affirmative debating team opened their debating season in Bucknell Hall last evening when they were defeated by the women's negative debating team of the University of Pittsburgh by a score of 3-0. Last Friday night the Bucknell women's negative debating team defeated the team representing Tmple University by a score of 3-0 at Philadelphia, while the Bucknell men's affirmative team lost to Temple by a 2-1 decision in Bucknell Hall.

The Bucknell team was composed last night of Agnes Garrity, '32, "Betty" Dill, '31, and Esther Girton, '29. The members of the University of Pittsburgh team were Lillian Demestichas, Elizabeth Smith, and Alice McAfee.

Alfred Rawlinson, '29, manager of intercollegiate debating at Bucknell, served as chairman of the debate.

The judges were Superintendent Carl L. Millward, of Milton, Attorney J. P. Carpenter, of Sunbury, and Mr. Daniel P. Glover, of Lewisburg.

Well earned victory came to the Bucknell women's negative debating team when they met the Temple women's affirmative team Friday, March 15, at Philadelphia.

The team is composed of Ruth De Turke, '31, Grace Schaum, '30, and Frennie Eisley, '31. A great deal of credit is due them since they defeated one of the greatest eastern teams by a score of 3-0. Temple's debating teams have been unequaled and they have won for themselves a title of wide repute. By defeating them the Bucknell girls have added another "feather to the cap" of their Alma Mater.

The Bucknell men's affirmative team was defeated by the Temple men's negative team by a 2 to 1 de-

(Continued on last page.)

GLEE CLUB STARTS LONG ROAD TRIP

Fifty Performances Scheduled As Group Invades 3 States

The mens' glee club, still fresh from its triumphant tour of the western part of the state, is being primed by Director Ralph Hartz for its fifteen-day journey through Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, which will start on March 30. This trip will be the longest one ever undertaken by any Bucknell organization and will include approximately fifty performances before an estimated audience of 27,000 people.

Director Hartz is training his men daily in his studio at the school of music and three times each week as a group in Bucknell Hall. The quality of the vocal work is improving and the work of the club as a whole marks it as the best in the history of the school.

The feature entertainers have been keeping in trim by giving performances in Lewisburg and near-by towns. The violin work of James Colledge, the readings by Kenneth Haynes, and popular songs by George Streltz, add immeasurably to the Bucknell program and enables the glee club to present the most varied entertainment of any college glee club.

In addition to the chorus work, much of the credit for the club's fine reputation as a singing organization belongs to Henry Fessler and Charles Frampton, the soloists, and to George Ferrell, accompanist and president of the organization.

Illustrated Lecture

"The Biology of Human Relationship" will be the subject of Prof. J. W. Rice's illustrated lecture to the Freshman "Y" Cabinet, next Tuesday evening, March 26, at 8:00, in B6. There will be several reels of moving pictures tracing man's embryological development. The meeting will be open to the student body.

A CHALLENGE TO 1932

According to a tradition as antique as Old Main, the freshman class should prevent the president of the sophomore class from attending the Cotillion, Saturday evening, March 23.

If Glenn Varner is not on the floor of Tustin Gymnasium at 10 p. m., any freshman and his sugar may enter with the compliments of the class of 1931.

Are you men or mice, frosh?

Sophmores Promise Big Time At Annual Cotillion In Tustin

C. Lloyd Major to Furnish Music; Nature of Decorations Is Still a Mystery

According to "Joe" Lewis, chairman of the Sophomore Cotillion committee, the social affair of the second-year class which will be held in the gymnasium on the twenty-third promises to exceed all other Cotillions in music, decorations, and features.

The Sophomores got away to a good start in booking the famed C. Lloyd Major and his Merry Musicians to furnish the necessary leather-provoking atmosphere. Major, because of his recent victory over "Jelly-Roll" Morton in Berwick's battle of music, is one of the most sought-after bands in the east at the present time, and his presence on the campus is a big feather in the sophomores' cap.

The nature of the decorations also remains shrouded in mystery, but if one can believe Rodney Keenan, who has charge of the decorations, the gymnasium will resemble a Broadway night-club more than a Temple of Torso-Twisting.

Tickets, which at two-fifty are practically given away in view of the quality received, have been placed on sale in every fraternity house, as well as with all sororities and non-fraternity groups by "Red" Shourds, who is in charge of their distribution.

Those of the committee having tickets to sell are: "Eddie" Smallstig, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; "Bill" Waldner, Theta Upsilon Omega; Robert Cooney, Phi Kappa; Helen Mowry, Kappa Delta; "Tommy" MacLeod, Sigma Chi; Adelaide Clark, Zeta Gamma Tau; William Miller, Beta Kappa; Charles Thompson, non-frat; Merrill Shourds, Phi Kappa Psi; Fred Votaw, Delta Sigma; Clyde Miller, Phi Lambda Theta; Ruth De Turke, non-sorority; John Anderson, Alpha Chi Mu; Robert Keenan, Kappa Sigma; Mary Gross, Pi Beta Phi; "Betty" Edmunds, Alpha Chi Omega; Helen Jones, Phi Mu; "Don" Kammire, Phi Gamma Delta; "Tony" Slate, Lambda Chi Alpha; S. Schiro, Sigma Beta Delta; "Betty" Rodenbeck, Tri-Delt; "Jo" Lewis, Kappa Delta Rho.

GENERAL ELECTRICMAN ADDRESSES C. & F. CLUB

Mr. Frederick Tells of Opportunities in the Field Open to College Men

Mr. M. L. Frederick, of the General Electric Company at Schenectady, N. Y., visited Bucknell on Friday, March 15, and spoke to a group of about seventy-five commerce and finance students. Mr. Frederick gave an excellent description of the General Electric Company and the work it is doing in the electrical field. He also emphasized the opportunities for college men that his company provides through its business training course. This course covers a period of two years. "The company needs about ninety non-technical men," Mr. Frederick said, "who will be taken on this summer. They will be thoroughly trained in different departments and will be paid while they learn."

A number of senior men arranged for interviews with Mr. Frederick.

Pan-Hellenic Board Meets

The Pan-Hellenic Association recently met to announce the new elections to the board, and to discuss new plans for the coming year.

There will be a few changes in the rushing rules for the fall rushing, these changes to be announced later.

Glenn Varner, Soph President, Eludes Yearling Band To Stage Timely Getaway

Rear Door of Phi Psi House Offers Means of Escape As Frosh Guard Front

The customary attempt of the freshmen to "get" the sophomore class president before the Sophomore Cotillion failed last Monday evening, when a large band of yearlings stormed the Phi Kappa Psi house in a vain endeavor to capture Glenn Varner, '31, and thus prevent him from attending the dance next Saturday night.

Varner, who was aware that the freshmen were waiting their chance to capture him, was escorted by a dozen sophomores from the Kappa Delta Rho house to the Phi Psi house to attend a meeting of the Friars. No attempt was then made to capture him, but a large band of the yearlings, learning of his location, descended in a body from the Hill and surrounded the Phi Psi house. Others followed later until at 9:30 o'clock there was a large representation from the class of '32 present.

Frosh Expelled from House

Some of them entered the building but were quickly expelled by the sight of sophomores armed with clubs and by the timely advice of "Mike" Stump, the freshman president, who was vainly trying to remain true to his class and to the Phi Psi pledge pin that he wore.

The number of the freshmen decreased until at 11:30 o'clock few remained. At about this time, Varner made his escape through a rear door of the fraternity house and went to the Kappa Delta Rho house. He was followed by two freshmen but easily shook them off. His whereabouts is not generally known. It is thought by many that he left town early Tuesday morning.

Monday evening proved unbeneficial for many of them in more ways than one, as a considerable number of the yearlings found their rooms "stacked" when they returned to the hill.

Snavely To Conduct Coaching School Here

Summer Session Course Will Be Given in the Afternoon

Carl G. Snavely, Bucknell football coach, will be in charge of the football coaching school this summer during the Bucknell summer sessions it was announced here this week.

The course will extend from July 1 to August 9. Coach Snavely will offer the course in the afternoon so that it will be possible to take other work in the morning.

Last summer the football coaching school was staged under the direction of Glenn Warner of Stanford and Bob Zuppke of Illinois. It was the latter coach who turned out the celebrated "Red" Grange, one of the greatest backfield men of all time.

Started at B. U. in 1927

Summer football coaching was first introduced at Bucknell in 1927, with the famous Knute Rockne of Notre Dame in charge of Bucknell's gridiron coaching school.

Carl Snavely was one of the first coaches in America to appreciate the possibilities of the spinner type of offense and no coach has developed it to a more effective combination of deception and power. During the two years that Snavely has been at Bucknell the Bucknell team has risen

(Continued on last page.)

Disillusionment Discussed By Sigma Tau Delta Group

The regular monthly meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, was held at the home of "Betty" Sale, '29, Wednesday evening, March 13, 1929.

The topic of the meeting was "Disillusionment," and several members submitted papers. A general discussion of the topic followed the reading of the contributions, and each member gave his or her idea of disillusionment. The discussion was most interesting and was enjoyed by all present. The subject for next month's meeting was announced as "Renaissance"—an appropriate subject for this season of the year.

Majors And Minors Must Be Chosen By Vacation Time

New Rule Applies To All Sophomore Candidates for A. B. or B. S. Degree

Beginning with this semester, all candidates for the degrees of Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science in Education will be required to choose majors and minors before spring vacation of sophomore year. Freshmen may make their choice this month or defer it until any time before April 1, 1930.

The cards on which choice of major and minors is indicated may be obtained at the office of the Dean of the college, and must be filed with him by March 30. Each student should secure two cards and present them first for the signatures of the heads of the minor departments, requesting that the courses recommended for the satisfaction of the minor requirements be noted by the minor department heads on the back of the cards. The cards should then be taken to the head of the major department, who will not sign them until they have been filled out by the minor departments, but will retain one completed card for his files.

Signed
H. W. Robbins, Chairman, Committee on Admission and Registration.

Vocational Openings Revealed To Co-eds

Miss Jackson, Personnel Expert, Holds Conferences with Girls

Miss Florence Jackson, consultant to the Personnel Bureau of Wellesley College,is visiting the Women's College where she is meeting the women students in an effort to put them in touch with vocational opportunities other than teaching.

For fourteen years, Miss Jackson was the director of the Appointment Bureau of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union of Boston, during which time she acted as lecturer and vocational consultant for women at a number of college and universities, and was responsible for the placement and consulting service offered by the Union. At some time during the period she was president of the National Committee of the Bureaus of Occupation, National Chairman of the Vocational Committee of the American Association of University Women, and Chairman of the Vocational Committee of the Boston Branch.

Has Given Many Lectures

From 1925-1928, she was Associate in the Personnel Bureau of Wellesley College, and lecturer and Vocational

(Continued on last page.)

Fred Heather Tells Class Of His Church

Fred H. Heather, '30, who is serving as student pastor of the Johnson City Methodist Church, at Ranshaw, Pa., met last Wednesday, March 13, with the class which is taking the course in the church school, and explained to its members in a most interesting way the problem of church school organization as faced and met by him in his work as student pastor.

Mr. Heather first described the departmental organization of the Sunday school as it was before he came to the church. Then he described the revised program, the main purpose of which is to make the school a working and vital part of the church. Formerly the Sunday school was almost entirely separate from the church—a most unfavorable condition, and one which is being corrected by many churches. Although not perfect by any means, the present organization of the church school is a great improvement over the old one, and Fred is continuing to work for its further improvement.

The discussion was both interesting and helpful to the members of the class, inasmuch as Fred demonstrated to them the actual working of the principles about which they have been studying.

ALDEN DAVIES, '19
Tenor soloist who will give a concert at the Presbyterian Church tonight.

Alden Davies, '19, To Give Song Recital In Lewisburg Tonight

Bucknell Graduate Will Present A Program Similar to One Acclaimed by Critics

Tonight in the Lewisburg Presbyterian Church at eight fifteen, Alden Davies, the noted tenor who graduated from Bucknell University, will offer a song recital that will prove to be one of the notable events of the musical season. The concert is sponsored by the Ladies' Aid Society.

Coming with Mr. Davies is Edward Hart, one of the leading young pianists now before the public. Only two weeks ago Mr. Hart returned from a tour of California and other western states as accompanist for Mme. Marguerite Metzanour of the Metropolitan Opera Company. He is also accompanist for Elsa Alsen, Mme. D'Alvarez, and other leading artists. He will play as solos in tonight's program two compositions by Debussy, "Ballade" and "Jardins sous la pluie."

Variety of Songs

Mr. Davies will offer an interesting variety of songs in his program. His numbers range from the classics of Mendelssohn and Schubert to recent compositions by Rachmaninoff and Richard Kountz. With some slight varintion, this program is the one which led the Boston critics to acclaim unanimously the musical intelligence, versatility, technical excellence, and beautiful tone qualities of Mr. Davies.

Mr. Davies was graduated from Bucknell in 1919, both from the College and the School of Music. During the war he served as a second lieutenant in the Army after winning a commission at Plattsburg. His studies, although interrupted by this army service, were completed with his original college class. After leaving Bucknell, Mr. Davies taught at Manlius Academy for a year; then he attended the School of Business Administration at Harvard University. During these student years he continued his musical studies. As a climax to his studies in Boston came the invitation from the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra that he be a guest soloist. Later

(Continued on last page.)

"A Blind Man's Outing" Is Subject Of Address By Blind Educator At Vespers

Next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock, the last of the speakers of the season at the Vesper Services of the Presbyterian Church will be heard, in the person of Prof. Chas. Lose, of Montoursville, who will speak upon "A Blind Man's Outing." This is the address postponed from January because of his illness. Prof. Lose is an educator of note who was formerly the superintendent of Schools of Williamsport, and then principal of the Lock Haven Normal School. When stricken with blindness, he was compelled to give up active teaching work, but continued his work as a lecturer.

The final Vesper Service will be held on Easter afternoon, when the choir, augmented by other singers, will render the beautiful Cantata by Dubois: "The Seven Last Words from the Cross."

K.D. and Theta U. Win Loving Cups In Song Contest

Ten Fraternities Represented In Joint Choral Festival, The First of its Kind

The Kappa Delta and Theta Upsilon Omega fraternities carried off the silver loving-cups at the interfraternity song contest, held in the Baptist Church, Thursday evening, March 14. Four men's fraternities, Theta Upsilon Omega, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, and Delta Sigma were represented in this contest. Of the women's fraternities, six were represented: Kappa Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Phi Mu, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Chi Omega, and Zeta Gamma Tau. Each group gave three numbers (1) a fraternity song, (2) the Alma Mater, and (3) a college song. The fraternity songs of the winning groups were "Hail, Theta U." and "The White Rose."

Large Audience

The church was filled with enthusiastic Bucknell students, faculty, and town people whose interest in the contest was very keen. Director Ralph Hartz was chairman of the evening, and introduced the judges who were: Dr. H. A. Allison of Susquehanna University, Miss Cunningham of Sunbury, and Professor I. W. Rothenberg of Sunbury.

President Emory W. Hunt awarded the cups to the winning groups and in a very effective manner expressed his appreciation of the good sportsmanship and democracy of the group as represented by the audience. Dr. Hunt expressed his fondness for serenades,and in a reminiscent manner related some of the incidents of his college days. He also depicted the effectiveness of such a contest and prophesied that in the future men's and women's fraternities will be more closely linked by such contests. Dr. Hunt spoke of

(Continued on last page)

BIOLOGISTS HEAR DR. MYRON GORDON

Definite Types of Color Pattern Inherited in Tropical Fish

That definite types of color pattern are inherited in cross breeding color varieties of a single species of tropical fish, was shown by Dr. Myron Gordon, of Cornell, in an address to a large audience at the meeting of the Biological Society, in B6 last evening.

Dr. Gordon used a set of beautifully colored slides, including inheritance charts, and painted photographs and antochromes. His illustrations showed that not only is there normal inheritance in which the males of the first generation resemble the mother, but also there is a "criss-cross" inheritance.

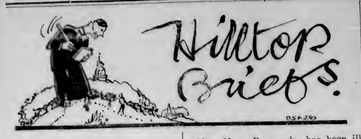
There is a definite relation to sex in the criss-cross inheritance, the males of the first generation resembling not the father but the mother, and the females resembling the father. Moreover there is a constant ratio of 3 to 1 inheritance.

Platypoecilus, a mexican top-minnow, was chosen for the experimental work at Cornell because it was known to have fifteen color patterns, and was common as an ornamental animal. Accordingly its care was well understood.

By crossing two species from different genera, Dr. Gordon got hybrids with abnormal structures and extreme coloration. That raises the question whether these varieties in nature are hybrids.

Easter Cantata To Be Given At Methodist Church Sunday

Next Sunday evening the choir of the Methodist Church will present its annual Easter cantata. The choir will render as its musical contribution this year Dudley Buck's "The Story of the Cross." This Methodist musical organization is one of the most active in the town, and can be depended upon to give a fine interpretation of Mr. Buck's fine arrangement of the Easter story in anthem and solo form.



One co-ed asked six men to go to a dance. No, they weren't all for herself.

* * * *

Grace Roberts, '30, has been confined to the infirmary for the past few days.

* * * *

Rhoda Herr, '29, is spending a few weeks at her home in Millersville, due to illness.

* * * *

"Betty" Webster, '30, has left school for the rest of this semester on account of illness.

* * * *

"Betty" Huxley, '30, entertained her mother from Coatesville here for several days last week.

* * * *

Mrs. D. J. Stringer, of Coatesville, paid a week-end visit to her daughter, Frances Stringer, '30.

* * * *

Mrs. S. H. Bailey of Williamsport spent Saturday, March 15, with her daughter, Eloise Bailey, '29.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Gammons of Scranton spent the week-end with their daughter, Katherine Gammons, '32.

* * * *

"Jelly Roll" Phle, '30, is becoming a connoisseur of dance orchestras. Ptle recently went to Bloomsburg to hear an orchestra of note.

* * * *

Sarah Collner, '29, spent last week-end at Susquehanna University, where she was the guest of Dorothy and Ruth Goff.

* * * *

Jane Foust, '29, spent the week-end at Dickinson, where she attended the Pi Beta Phi formal dance as a guest of Miss Catherine Porter.

* * * *

Dorothy Lemon, '29, accompanied by her mother, has returned to college after the death of her father. We extend our sympathy to her and her mother.

* * * *

Miss Madeline Hartman, of State College, a former student at Bucknell, spent the week-end here and attended the Phi Mu formal dance Friday evening.

* * * *

The roof of the new dining room was put to good use the other night when "Semites" went out upon it to view the aurora borealis which was lighting up the sky.

* * * *

Sunday, Saint Patrick's day, was celebrated at the "Sem" by a delicious chicken dinner. The tables and food were tinted in all shades of green for the occasion.

* * * *

Religious education classes are busy filling out honesty questionnaires again to see if their views on the subject have changed since they last filled them out.

* * * *

The increasing number of students, who are learning the square dance leaves no doubt as to the benefits to be derived from a thorough knowledge of this tersichorean puzzle.

* * * *

Adelaide Clark, '31, who has been ill at her home in Carbondale for a few days, returned to college on Thursday evening. Adelaide has been suffering from an attack of grippe.

* * * *

Professor Norman H. Stewart took his zoology class on a hike to the marsh the other day. The members of the class returned with enthusiastic accounts of the birds they had seen, among which were the robin, the cardinal, and the song sparrow.

Mrs. Mary Derr, who has been ill for some time, is now able to be up and around. Mrs. Derr is the daughter of Mrs. A. M. Beatty and often visits Bucknell, of which she is an alumnae.

* * * *

In response to "Prexy's" suggestion to the inter-fraternity glee clubs last Thursday, a number of "Romeos" serenaded the women in the seminary. Their advice is to carry umbrellas.

* * * *

Prof. Charles Bonil's class in the church school work spent a very interesting, profitable period on a recent Wednesday morning listening to "Red" Heather's account of his work down at Johnson City.

* * * *

Wyoming Seminary knew "Hank" Graham, '31, as a "smooth" worker but little did they suspect him of being so utterly slick as he recently proved to be. Anyway the cigars were good and well appreciated.

* * * *

Fern Reno, '30, recently received four letters from home, and all on tht same day. But Fern, whose home is in Brazil, isn't any more fortunate than the rest of us, for she hears from her folks only once every two weeks.

* * * *

The girls taking home economics have been trying their hand at cooking lately. The results have been most favorable, too, according to the samples of their cooking which they have handed around among their friends.

* * * *

A co-ed recently received an envelope in which was enclosed ten dollars along with the words, "From a friend." Others of us wouldn't mind if more of our friends were as generous as this, especially just before vacation.

* * * *

"I wonder how I look when I'm asleep?" This is no longer a question in "Reggie" Gaylord's mind. Morpheus has the laugh on him now. The other day, a mischievous T. U. O. snapped a picture of "Reggie" as he was peacefully slumbering in an arm chair.

* * * *

The girls who live in Harris Hall have learned something more about the cause of their lack of heat. There is a well somewhere which fills up whenever it rains, and before we can get any heat that water must be pumped out. "Bill" Ware is the one who can do this for us, so we are pinning all our hope on "Bill."

* * * *

A co-ed recently received a post card from a B. U. graduate of last year. On the card was written the following:

"Did you receive my letter from Mexico? Am now in Colorado. Going to New Mexico soon. Write me at Dallas."

Now which place, we wonder, does the writer of this letter intend to make his headquarters?

* * * *

Russel Bing, '32, commonly called "the general," because of his fine work at Valley Forge, recently returned home, from a weary pilgrimage to Sunbury, to find his entire belongings and furnishings attractively arranged in a most convenient location. The general did not appreciate the joke, and among other things, he threatened to put on the gloves with any and all comers, including "Cherub" Lenhard, whom he seriously suspects of having had something to do with the deed.

MASS EDUCATION RESPONSIBLE FOR DROP IN SALARIES

Dr. Harold F. Clark, Professor of Education at Teachers' College, Columbia University, has just issued the preliminary report on an extended investigation which he has been making into the financial returns of college education.

Dr. Clark explained that he was not attempting to discourage men and women interested in liberal studies from attending college, but he emphasized that such an education would be of little value to the persons who wished to be financially successful through the prestige of a university training.

He said mass education was largely responsible for the decrease of the earning power of educated persons. The educational system cannot afford to be expanded indefinitely unless there is a corresponding expansion in the number of occupations toward which it leads, he asserted. Economic maladjustment will be the ultimate result of this trend in the United States, he held.

There are about 800,000 students in the United States in institutions of or above college grade," he continued. "A large proportion, if not most, of these are preparing for the professions of law, medicine, engineering in all its branches, teaching, ministry, dentistry, architecture, journalism, and so on. The total employed in all these professions in America is about twice this number.

"Wages, including salaries, are governed by the supply for service in relation to the demand. Is it a reasonable question to ask what will happen to professional salaries when the 800,000 goes to 1,000,000 and to 1,500,000, as it surely will? Even of the almost 4,000,000 high school students the attempt seems to be to try to get as many as possible in the professions and clerical occupations.

"You cannot train 100,000 people for 90,000 jobs without creating pressure to decrease the remuneration of the 90,000. Education is just as much a commodity as wheat and must be governed by the laws of economics. You cannot have the present percentage in high schools and expect them all to go into the 'higher callings.' If all tried to do so, salaries would drop to unbelievable levels. The higher callings might even be more overcrowded than the field of unskilled labor is today."

Dr. Clark criticized the "college-persuasive" high school principals and educators as the real "educational criminals who are overcrowding the profession."

Dr. Clark, who came to Teachers College last Fall to find the relation between "higher education and the average American's earning power," has spent the greater part of the time comparing results in individual cases, especially in regard to the teaching profession. In a detailed report to be presented to the school authorities at the end of the year he will probably recommend a system of State control to limit the number of persons studying for the professions in order to keep the salaries from dropping lower and lower.

Schooling has tremendous powers of directing people into channels other than the most productive ones and doubtless had that effect at times in the past. It is inevitable that in future it will be used for educating a very much larger proportion of the population."

—New York Times.

They're dancing, they're dancing,
Tho' the music is so slow.
He hears her gentle voice complaining,
When he steps on her toe.

Many Professors Address Prof. Matz's Bible Class

Under the leadership of Prof. Matz, a Men's Bible School class was started at the Methodist Church this semester. This class is composed of college students, and the attendance has been very pleasing. It is the policy of the class to bring in outside speakers to discuss questions for which they are most fitted. Recent speakers include Dr. Laud, on the "Psychology of Prayer;" Dr. Eyster, on "Genesis and Evolution;" and Dr. Ogburn, on "Science and Religion."

The Easter discussion will be led by Prof. Matz next Sunday. The class meets at 9:40 a. m. All interested students are cordially invited to attend and take part in the discussions.

It pays to advertise.

You will find the finest leathers and most correct lines in John Ward shoes. A wide variety of lasts, specially selected and designed for college men's wear.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Kaatman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan PENS-PENCILS
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1867. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wo nder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

Education Students Observe In Classes

Recently fifteen Education students left for Bloomsburg where they spent the day in observation of the classes of the Bloomsburg Junior and Senior High Schools. Professor Frank G. Davis accompanied them.

When the students arrived at the school, the principal gave definite assignments of observation to them. These assignments were made according to the interest in the subject taught, as expressed by the student. At noon the observing party were guests of the Bloomsburg State Teachers' College. After lunching at the college, the students returned to the high school where more observations were made.

The high school of Bloomsburg is a thoroughly equipped modern school. The work observed was of very high quality. The attitude of the pupils was that of interest and activity, and a fine spirit was shown in all classes.

The high school co-operates with the State Teachers' College in the preparation and training of the State Teachers' College students. Many of the teachers in the high school act as training-teachers for the Teachers' College students, and have had special training in their work. It is interesting to note that a considerable number of the teachers in the State Teachers' College are Bucknell graduates or are individuals who are working toward degrees at Bucknell. In the high school, the contract system is used in some classes, and the Morrisonian plan in others.

The Bucknell students thoroughly enjoyed the trip, and were invited to visit the school again.

Poise is that quality in a woman which prevents her from being embarrassed on the windiest day.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Pennsylvania Gamma takes great pleasure in announcing the birthday anniversary of Prospective Brother Martin Bell Christy Jr., the famous bridge builder.

The lure of the business world was too much for brother Purdy. We were all sorry to see him leave us Wednesday last, and wish him all the success in the world.

Brothers Paynter and Wilson spent Friday with the latter's folks in Harrisburg.

Mr. William Diamant, Mr. Richard Flickinger, Mr. Al Bender, and Mr. Foster Wakefield, D. U's. from Penn State, were the guests of the house over Saturday and Sunday. Business which was given as the cause of their visit, proved very profitable.

Brother Hemp, who is now with the Pennsylvania Department of Health, dropped in Wednesday to let us know that he is still alive and kicking.

Mr. F. W. Given and Mr. Jack Nicholson of Dickinson Seminary took dinner with us last Saturday.

Former coach "Hank" Hangartner made occasional visits to the house during his recent sojourn in Lewisburg.

Alden Davies, well known tenor, who sings tonight at the First Presbyterian Church, is not only a graduate of Bucknell, but is also a loyal member of Pennsylvania Gamma.

The following is coming to be the usual way of closing the Phi Psi column:- Pledge brother Ellenberger spent the week-end in Harrisburg.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Brother Horton was pleasantly surprised to receive a visit from his parents last Sunday. Other guests at dinner Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Hepler of Glenside, who came up to see their son Edgar.

Brother "Bill" Koegel, '30, spent the week-end at his home in Lehighton.

Visitors at the house during the week were brother Beddow, ex-'29, and brother "Jim" Martin of the Pittsburg chapter.

"Tom" Keeler, '30, went to Mt. Holly, N. J., over the week-end.

Brother Long, '29, spent Saturday at his home in Muncy.

Pledge "Bob" Hepler went to Williamsport to spend Saturday and Sunday.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

Dr. Frank O. Erb, professor of religious education at the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School, was a guest of the fraternity for two days during the past week.

"Les" Ely, '32, made his fortnightly pilgrimage to Hightstown, Friday.

Dr. John W. Elliott, of Glenside, dropped in for a chat Thursday afternoon. Dr. Elliott was the feature speaker at a dinner at the Lewisburg High School.

"Chip" Sorter, '30, is keeping busy working out plans for an elaborate spring house party. All details are settled, except "Chip" hasn't as yet decided whether Paul Whiteman or the Orthophonic Victrola will furnish the necessary syncopation.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

The pledges will hold a "smoker" at the house next Monday evening.

Coach Hangartner was a guest at the house on Saturday and Sunday.

Pledge brother John Downey spent last week-end at Punxsutawney, visiting a brother-in-law.

Pledge brother Rodger Davis spent the week-end as the guest of Hurt Pratt, at his home in Harrisburg.

Delta Zets will hold an informal dance at the house on Friday evening. "Eddie" Hoffman and his recording orchestra will furnish the music.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

A tea dance was given by the pledges of Theta U. for the active men last Saturday afternoon. The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Miller. Music was furnished by "Eddie" Hoffman's Big Four.

Prof. and Mrs. F. M. Simpson, and Prof. and Mrs. O. S. Groner were guests of T. U. O. for dinner last Sunday.

The parents of David J. Phillips, '30, motored from West Uttiston last Sunday, and spent the afternoon at the house.

Mrs. A. W. Johnson was a guest of Theta U. last Saturday afternoon.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

"Bill" Shure, '30, made his debut in the preaching game Sunday when he preached morning and evening in his home church, the St. John's Methodist Church, Sunbury. A large congregation heard him at both services. "Von" Hauber, who wended his way to Sunbury to hear "Bill," reports that "Chaplain" Shure gave a good account of himself.

"Al" Rawlinson, '29, presided over the High School league debate at Lock Haven last Saturday evening, while "Pee-Wee" Feaster, '30, journeyed to Williamsport to perform the same duty.

"Yank" Minnick, '29, sprained his ankle while playing baseball the other day.

Glen Lingle, pledge brother Curnow, and Anderson all felt the call of "home sweet home" last week-end.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

The house was very quiet over the week-end. The whole active chapter journeyed to State College to help the Gamma boys in some of their initiation ceremonies. For once, the pledges reigned supreme.

The boys gave a party in honor of R. S. Cooney, '31, and "Mickey" Mermon, '29. Both these boys reached their twenty-first birthday last Tuesday, and the event was fittingly celebrated.

Ray Wolslegal, '32, journeyed to Owego, N. Y., and spent the week-end with his parents.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
John J. Mootz, '32

Pledge Howard Koyer, '32, spent the week-end in Perth Amboy, N. J., attending the wedding of his sister.

Pledges John Fetter, Lamar Davis, and "Phil" Shepler, all of the class of '32, went as usual to their respective homes for the week-end.

Mr. Clyde L. Emery visited his sons, Paul and Lewis Jr., on Wednesday.

Brother Lewis Emery, '31, spent a few days in the infirmary with an attack of grippe.

Pledge John Mootz, '32, spent the week-end partly in Pottsville with his parents, and partly in Reading with friends.

Brother "Hal" Trostel, '32, returned late Sunday night after a strenuous week-end in Arenstdville and suburban villages.

Brother "Bill" Brastow, '31, has turned his attention from repairing useless typewriters to that of song writing, producing two admirable fraternity songs within the past week.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Virginia Smoot, '30

Mrs. John Plant gave a delightful bridge for the chapter at her home on Sixth street on Saturday evening, March 16. Gertrude Brooks, '30, carried off the prize.

Our thoughts are with "Edo" George, '32, who was called home last week by the illness of her father.

Marie Walbert, '30, and "Betty" Fries, '31, were the lucky ones who went home last week-end.

"Joe" Schilling, "Sally" Porter, and Mary Tyler, all of '29, entertained special friends over the week-end.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

Mrs. John Plant gave a very delightful bridge party on March 11, at which Dean Amelia Clark and the chapter were guests.

Eta takes pleasure in congratulating Caroline Keiser, '31, on her bid to Mu Phi.

The last two Sundays an old custom of meeting in the suite Sunday afternoons for an informal get-together has been revived and so far very successfully. The first Sunday several faculty members were guests. The second gathering was given by the actives to the pledges.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa

Beta Kappa chapter announces with pleasure the pledging of Grace Shaum, '30, of Sunbury, on March 19.

The chapter held an informal dance in the recreation room of the new dormitory on March 16. Green lights and shamrocks paid tribute to St. Patrick, and a good old Irish spirit of jollity prevailed. Professor and Mrs. J. H. Eisenhauer and Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Hartz were chaperons and "Red" Hitchens furnished the music. Alumnae and guests who attended the dance were Martha Rider, of Berwick, Enza Wilson, of Lewistown, Marian Grove, of Lewisburg, Gladys Rees and Beryl Morgan, of Nanticoke, "Mim" Burns, '28, "Floss" Utt, '26, Helen Grove, '26, Laura Grave, '28, Martha Thomas, '28, and "Barb" Wagner, ex-'30.

Janice Booker, '29, attended the Junior Prom at Princeton University on March 18.

Flora Williams, '32, entertained her sister, Grace, during the week-end of March 16.

June McHose, '29, was pleasantly surprised on Sunday, March 17, when her family made her an unexpected visit.

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Adelaide Clark, '31

Genevieve Punches, '28, was a visitor at the suite on Saturday.

Ruth Avery, '30, and Barbara Smith, '32, spent the week-end in Harrisburg. They bring back good reports of "Betty" Webster, ex-'30.

St. Patrick reigned at a bridge party held in the suite on Saturday afternoon. Eleven guests were present. The first prize went to Mildred Gommer, '30.

Mild, yes; but there's no Scotch in the flavor!

A well known golf pro recently returned from a vacation in Glasgow, his home town, relates a current golf magazine. "Well," he was asked, "how did the boys treat you back home?" "Verra reluctantly!" said he. Well might some smokers likewise reply if asked about their cigarette, we imagine. Mild, of course (most cigarettes are, today), but "verra reluctant" when it comes to delivering taste and body and character.

Chesterfields were blended to supply just that "body" which so many "mild" cigarettes lack. For in addition to that desirable blandness there is a distinct "edge" to its smooth, mellow flavor which is just what the smoke appetite craves.

Mild—yes; just that mildness which everyone wants—but something more, something plus—character! The character that makes Chesterfields par for cigarettes. They satisfy!

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet..THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

Seven Naturalists Invade White Deer

Again the weatherman conspired—in vain. Seven intrepid naturalists from Biology 302 started out last Saturday morning in face of snow flurries and a biting north wind for another field trip.

Then the weatherman relented. Brilliant blue skies welcomed the systematic zoologists as their cars approached the white pine forests around the old White Deer furnace.

A flock of a dozen robins, harbingers of our elusive spring, fluttered about in the road ahead of the party. A lone horned lark hurried by overhead, and in an orchard a flock of bluejays— gay marauders of the wild—chimed their melodious call.

J. Wingert, '72, Addresses Lewisburg Rotary Club On Country-Town Relationship

At the dinner recently given by the Lewisburg Rotary Club to the farmers of this district, one of the chief speakers was John H. Wingert, '72, who for many years has been president of the Union County Agricultural Extension Association. Mr. Wingert spoke at length on the relation of town and county and closed his talk with this bit of verse:

'If a Rotarian meets a Farmer coming thru his rye,
If he greets the farmer, no one questions why;
Everybody loves the farmer, do you wonder why?
On him all our hopes depend for bread, meat, and pie.

Chemical Students To Visit 14 Plants On Pittsburg Trip

Eleven chemical engineers, under the direction of Dr. S. C. Ogburn Jr., will entrain Sunday, March 25 for Pittsburgh and vicinity, where during their ten-day stay they will visit 14 manufacturing plants to study fabricating methods and problems.

The trip is required as a regular part of the work in Chemistry 310, and is intended to co-ordinate the theory of the class room with the practices of the manufacturing world. Each student is given two particular tasks to perform and detailed reports on these are due one week after returning to Lewisburg.

One is a flow sheet, accurately designed, showing the individual units of operation and their relation to the finished products of an assigned plant. The second requirement is the preparation and presentation of a complete paper on the principles of chemical engineering economics, which are of importance to the particular industry studied. These include an intelligent discussion of the plant lay-out, location, and design; the problems of management and labor; and the sale and distribution of the finished product.

The trip contemplated this year is the third such trip taken by Bucknell chemical engineers. Last year a ten-day study was made of representative industries in and around New York City, with the added advantage of being enrolled in a short student course given in conjunction with the Eleventh Exposition of Chemical Industries, held at the Grand Central Palace, New York City. The first trip, two years ago, included ten days in the Philadelphia district.

If a business man meets a farmer in the village town,
Does he shun the farmer and pass him with a frown?
No! he doesn't, and no one wonders why,
They all crowd about the farmer for they need his rye."

Other Bucknellians who spoke were the Honorable James F. McClure, ex-'13, who is president of the Rotary Club, and Attorney Cloyd N. Steininger, '02, who is president of the Lewisburg Club and spoke for that organization.

Two little co-eds, one stormy night,
Began to quarrel and then to fight.
One had a date, the other had none,
And that's the way the quarrel begun.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief — Clarence W. Cranford, '29, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief — Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor — Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors — Thomas McLeod, '31; Dorothy Davies, '30; A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor — Treasie Elsler, '31
Assistant News Editors — Nan Lee Thomas, '30; Blair Hixson, '31; H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor — J. Warren McHugo, '30
Assistant Sports Editors — Kenneth Vandenbree, '31; R. Bartuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor — Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor — Lillian Mattick, '29
Column Editors — Elizabeth Figner, '30

Business Staff

Advertising Manager — W. C. Ehmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager — John Snyder, '30
Circulation Manager — Frederick M. Locke, '31; George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers — George DeLaney, '32; Walter H. Grim, '32; Nathaniel Glazier, '32; Benjamin Wahrman, '32; Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leach, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Friday, March 22—C. E. A. formal, 8-11:45 p. m.
Tustin Gymnasium.
Sigma Alpha Epsilon informal, 7:30-10:30 p. m.
Lambda Chi Alpha informal, 7:30-10:30 p. m.
Phi Gamma Delta informal, 7:30-10:30 p. m.
Beta Kappa informal, 8-11:15 p. m.
Saturday, March 23—Sophomore Cotillion, 8-11:45.
Tustin Gymnasium.
Thursday, March 28—"An Evening with Dickens," Dr. F. H. Wade, 8 p. m., Baptist Church. Artist Course.
Saturday, March 30—Spring vacation begins, 12 M.

THE QUESTION AGAIN

Some students asked the question—others answered it. Is Bucknell a University or a prep school? If the escapade of Monday night is the answer, then the answer is—prep school. Really, to designate the painting of slanderous statements upon sidewalks as a prep-school act is to insult any good prep school. And what a beautiful way to attain one's end! Just why a group which evidently stoutly claims to be a University of culture should stoop to such a method is a puzzle indeed. Such procedure doesn't prove anything. Nor does it gain anything. Rather, it defeats its own purpose (we assume there was a purpose).

We are not denying students the right to object to things which they feel are undesirable. We sincerely hope they will object. And that there are certain undesirable elements we do not attempt to deny. But why can't the objections be made in an above-board fashion? The Administration in the past has been known to correct certain defects at the suggestions of students. Can we not hope it will do so in the future? We demand a square deal from those in authority. Should we be less square in presenting our grievances?

Sure, bring on your criticisms—grievances. Present them in a square fashion and we'll yell, "bravo." But resort to Monday night's method and we'll say (quoting a student whose remark was overheard), "Lord, but that's little."

W. J. B. U.

About four years ago, Bucknell University began an experiment which has been carried on in growing proportions ever since. WJBU was started by the Electrical Engineering Department of the University, and has been maintained by a large share of the allowance to that department. In order to grasp the situation, several ideas should be understood.

1. Several rumors have been given out concerning the possibility of suppressing stations the size of WJBU. The one maintained that stations that size were too small to be allowed to survive. Another held that WJBU was too large and strong to be countenanced. In all probability, stations that size will always exist; these rumors can hardly be treated except as such.

2. Our broadcasting station is owned by the Electrical Engineering Department. Each department of the University is given an allowance each year for improvement of their equipment. For the last four years a large share of the Electrical Engineering allowance, probably totaling to several thousands of dollars, has been used for WJBU. This has both purchased the equipment and carried the expense of putting on the programs.

3. During these four years, the broadcasting has improved materially. The power has increased to 100 kilowatts. The equipment has been broadened; there are several studios and auditoriums equipped for broadcasting. The programs are much better in quality than they have ever been.

4. WJBU is, in name at least, a University station. It is an excellent advertising medium for Bucknell. It affords a fine opportunity for bettering the reputation of the School of Music Department of Oral English, and all parts of the University.

5. There is much talent on the campus. More than enough to carry the whole broadcasting program, can easily be obtained.

6. The majority of the broadcasting has been done by organizations not connected with the University, such as jazz orchestras from small nearby cities.

7. There is a great deal of misunderstanding concerning broadcasting. The Electrical Engineering Department thinks that it is not receiving cooperation from other departments of the University, and these departments think the Electrical Engineering Department is too particular concerning material. As a matter of fact, the officials of the station are only too willing to put on the air anything that the arts departments can produce.

There we have the situation. Now wouldn't it be much more satisfactory for the University, itself, to take over the station, really sponsor it, maintain (in addition to the already excellent officials) a program director who can easily get the available talent, assure the life of the station, and make WJBU—"in the heart of the Keystone state" —a really creditable advertisement for Bucknell University?

"IS BUCKNELL A UNIVERSITY OR A PREP SCHOOL?"

By Assistant Professor C. Willard Smith

One morning last week at about three minutes of eight (the time I usually cross Bull Run on my way to "eight-o'clocks") my pedagogical pondering of the imponderable (we faculty people are always supposed to have our thoughts centered upon some noble abstraction) was interrupted by a large placard nailed to one of the Kappa Sig's trees. The placard asked me point blank, "Is Bucknell a University or a prep school?" (I think I quote correctly.) A little farther on another tree swayed in the morning breeze with a repetition of the question. I was being quizzed, and rather early in the morning at that. I was caught, in other words, without anything to tack up in reply. But I thought about the question from time to time during the morning and I expected to have a look at it again on the way home to luncheon. In the meantime, however, someone, either a landscape architect or one of those strange beings who look upon such questions as dangerous, had removed the placard. It seems to me worthwhile to keep the question alive.

Whose question it was I can't be sure, nor can I be wholly certain that my interpretation of it is correct. Through conversation with several individuals whom I chanced to meet, I gathered that the idea originated with the students, and that behind the placard lay some misunderstanding between faculty and student-body. I have interpreted the question as follows: Is Bucknell an institution in which students are to be permitted to govern themselves and to enjoy comparative independence of action, or is Bucknell an institution in which students do no more than they are told to do? I am not attempting to define the terms UNIVERSITY and PREP SCHOOL. I am attempting to get at the real meaning of the question, to discover its implications. Furthermore, I don't know whether the question refers to "dance rules" which in the opinion of certain individuals seem to stand for Bucknell itself, or whether it refers to the work which we as students and faculty attempt to do together. There is on every college faculty and in every student body a group of people who cleave to the idea that the intellectual life of any educational institution is its most important concern. It is with work as well as frivolity in mind that I should like to add a few paragraphs of opinion founded upon certain curious observations I have been able to make in regard to the question "University or prep-school?" These observations concern only four parts of the problem which confronts us; they are: the class-room, student dramatics, conduct at dances, and the "cut system." I do not pretend, therefore, that these observations are in any sense an adequate answer to the whole question, but I feel that they are definitely parts of the answer for which we are all searching.

A Class "Goes University"

A few years ago one of my classes in English 102 happened to be comparatively small; it was composed of eight men. The term began in an overly work-a-day manner, but, because of our small number, we became acquainted with each other quite rapidly; things began to get a bit more clubby; some of the old prep-school attitude between student and instructor began to slip away. We decided that, if we were ever going to learn to write, we must talk —and talk we did about everything under the sun, even to the point of running quite frequently way over the time limit for the last class period in the morning (believe it or not!) We were actually coming to college (going university). One day I felt so optimistic about the way things were going that I thought it might be a good idea to cast all formality aside and hold our class from that day on in my office about the table. There we could read and discuss our papers informally, criticize each others' methods of writing, question each other's ideas. We tried it. Freedom, independence of action! At the end of our first informal meeting I questioned different members of the group as to their reactions. I was both disappointed and surprised to find them in agreement that there was something about the class-room method with the instructor in his pulpit that they liked better, "This way we don't know what to do; that way you can ask us questions and sort of tell us what to do." Back we went to the class-room, and to a definite amount of being told what to do! But we had been a university for one day.

Concerning B. U. Theatrics

One day last fall a student dropped in at my office to talk of this and that. We drifted to a subject which interested both of us, dramatics at Bucknell. He said, "I think there ought to be a man or woman (of the faculty) definitely in charge of all the work in dramatics at Bucknell; the students don't seem to be interested in progress or real theatrical excellence." I answered, "No, it seems to me that students themselves ought to have enough interest and initiative to do something well entirely on their own, and that their freedom from faculty interference of any kind is just the thing that will give them real zest and enthusiasm for the task. Furthermore, I have seen at another college one student theatrical organization succeed so well in its enterprise that it is now able to pack the house, literally, for six nights (at a dollar a ticket)every time it puts on a bill." I dislike giving up my opinion, but I must confess that I can't feel optimistic about this year's dramatic production; certainly it does not convince the college audience that our plays are performances that no one can afford to miss—nor does it transcend the work of former years. We are simply allowing a great deal of splendid talent to go to waste, because our dramatic societies won't concentrate upon the theatre as an art, and because they refuse to take rehearsals any more seriously than a ride in the Milton bus. To be quite specific, I can't understand what determined veneration for things long since makes a group of spirited young men and women play every play they produce before the same set of rickety, moth-eaten, tacky, tipsy, queasy, old scenery, as if it were impossible to get something else: newspapers, sheets, towels, screens, wrapping paper, or the blank wall of Bucknell Hall, anything else! Is Bucknell a university or a prep school?

And Now About "Whooppee"

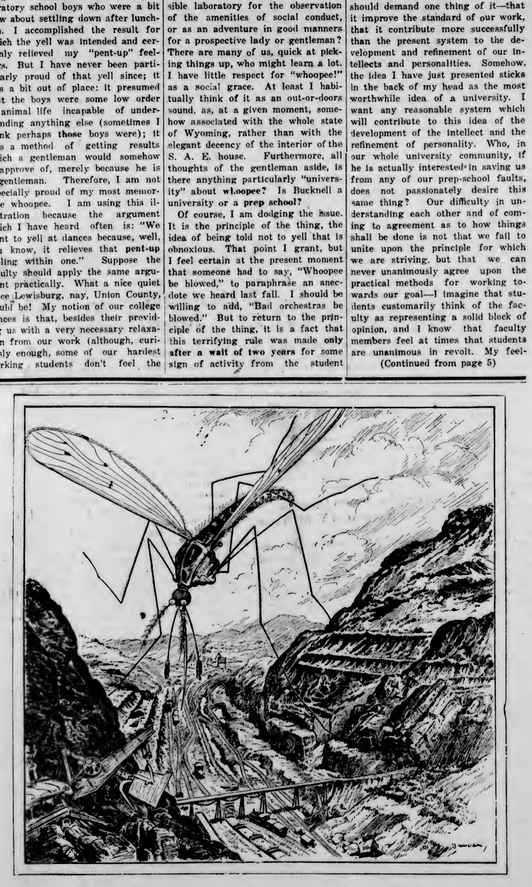
But what about the "Whooppee!" question? The question worthwhile? I have talked to a good many students about the "dance rules" and have noticed that these conversations sooner or later center themselves about the yelling problem. The students with whom I have conversed will bear out what I say here, I am sure. I am rather fond of yelling myself. I can vividly recall one occasion when I yelled at the top of my lungs at a study (?)-hall-full of preparatory school boys who were a bit slow about settling down after luncheon. I accomplished the result for which the yell was intended and certainly relieved my "pent-up" feelings. But I have never been particularly proud of that yell since; it was a bit out of place: it presumed that the boys were some low order of animal life incapable of understanding anything else (sometimes I think perhaps these boys were); it was a method of getting results which a gentleman would somehow disapprove of, merely because he is a gentleman. Therefore, I am not especially proud of my most memorable whoopee. I am using this illustration because the argument which I have heard often is: "We want to yell at dances because, well, you know, it relieves that pent-up feeling within one." Suppose the faculty should apply the same argument practically. What a nice quiet place Lewisburg, nay, Union County, would be! My notion of our college dances is that, besides their providing us with a very necessary relaxation from our work (although, curiously enough, some of our hardest working students don't feel the necessity of continual relaxation of this kind) they should provide us with a social experience which will turn us into ladies and gentlemen with certain standards of behavior and conduct which will distinguish us as having profited (socially) by our having been college men and women. I am conservative enough to believe that the graces and courtesies (even those of a former generation) are rather worth cultivating, and I am practical enough to believe that the man or woman out of college needs to know the manners and courtesies of people both older, younger, than himself, and of different social station (up and down) from his own. "A man's a man for a' that," of course, but—! A gentleman, I suppose a lady also, habitually cultivates the courtesy of self-control, rather than louder and grosser ways of relieving his "pent-up" feelings, because he knows he must live as gracefully as possible in a world of all kinds of people. He is likely to be ashamed rather than proud when he allows his pent-ups to get the better of him in a situation which demands grace and courtesy—IS IT UNREASONABLE, therefore, to think of the dance as the best possible laboratory for the observation of the amenities of social conduct, or as an adventure in good manners for a prospective lady or gentleman? There are many of us, quick at picking things up, who might learn a lot. I have little respect for "whoopee!" as a social grace. At least I habitually think of it as an out-or-doors sound, as, at a given moment, somehow associated with the whole state of Wyoming, rather than with the elegant decency of the interior of the S. A. E. house. Furthermore, all thoughts of the gentleman aside, is there anything particularly "university" about whoopee? Is Bucknell a university or a prep school?

Of course, I am dodging the issue. It is the principle of the thing, the idea of being told not to yell that is obnoxious. That point I grant, but I feel certain at the present moment that someone had to say, "Whoopee be blowed," to paraphraise an anecdote we heard last fall. I should be willing to add, "Bad orchestras be blowed." But to return to the principle of the thing, it is a fact that this terrifying rule was made only after a wait of two years for some sign of activity from the student body. It is with all of these facts in mind, the adventures of a class in English 102, the experience of theatrical organizations, and the religious zeal of the devotees of Whoopee, that I rise to state my opinion. I think we need to get over being a prep-school in at least three ways.

Let's Cut the Cuts

But someone said to me just this morning (Monday, if you are interested) that the placards have something to do with a student demand for the repeal of the cut system. To be frank, I should like to see the cut system repealed myself. There is a good deal of unnecessary concentration upon making sure of one's cuts that might be turned into more interesting channels. An abolition of the cut-system would make a student absolutely responsible for coming to class, and it would put the instructor on his mettle. That is the ideal of the abolitionists, I imagine. I should like to try out the scheme, for, in spite of the disappointments I have attempted to indicate in the above paragraphs, I still have hope, a great deal of hope that something will come along to set us on our feet. I don't know how the abolitionists' scheme would work out; I should demand one thing of it—that it improve the standard of our work, that it contribute more successfully than the present system to the development and refinement of our intellects and personalities. Somehow, the idea I have just presented sticks in the back of my head as the most worthwhile idea of a university. I want any reasonable system which will contribute to this idea of the development of the intellect and the refinement of personality. Who, in our whole university community, if he is actually interested in saving us from any of our prep-school faults, does not passionately desire this same thing? Our difficulty in understanding each other and of coming to agreement as to how things shall be done is not that we fail to unite upon the principle for which we are striving, but that we can never unanimously agree upon the practical methods for working towards our goal—I imagine that students customarily think of the faculty as representing a solid block of opinion, and I know that faculty members feel at times that students are unanimous in revolt. My feel-

(Continued from Page 5)



...but a mosquito blocked the way

THE Panama Canal diggers had engineering brains and money aplenty. But they were blocked by the malaria and yellow-fever bearing mosquitoes, which killed men by thousands.

Then Gorgas stamped out the mosquito. The fever was conquered. The Canal was completed.

The importance of little things is recognized in the telephone industry too.

Effective service to the public is possible only when every step from purchase of raw material to the operator's "Number, please" has been cared for

This is work for men who can sense the relations between seemingly unrelated factors, men with the vision to see a possible mountain-barrier in a mole-hill—and with the resourcefulness to surmount it.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

SCANDAL HINTED AT IN FIST TEAM MONEY REPORT

PHIZZ ED DEPARTMENT HAS MISSAPPROPRIATED FUNDS, COMMITTEE ASSERTS

That full explanation be made by the Phizz Ed Department concerning four items listed in the report of the financial standing of the boxing team published in last week's Bucknellian was the request of the Student Morals committee of the local A. H. M. Y. yesterday. The committee avers that certain monies were appropriated to no good use and insist that the Phizz Ed Department make clear the meaning and import of the following items, printed on page 6, column 2, in the Bucknellian of March 14.

6 pairs flappers $4.75
Telegram (for flappers) ..... .61
Blue strips on flappers ..... .50
Flapper shipment ..... .14

The petition of the A. H. M. Y. committee requests of the Phizz Ed department four things, namely, that the department publish:

1. The names of the flappers.
2. Their ages and addresses.
3. Their pictures.
4. Information as to what became of them after the match.

It is further pointed out by the committee that if so much had not been spent on said flappers the boxing deficit would have been a mere $2.42 instead of the $8.42 as reported last week.

The program this week comes to you over the purple network of the Irrational Broadcasting Company and Assorted Radio Stations. There will be a brief pause for station announcements.

This is station WHOA, broadcasting on a wave length of 14 life cycles of the amoeba, by authority of the Federal What—Ho Commission. We will continue with the Irrational Broadcasting Company.

Tonight we are broadcasting a round by round, blow by blow account of that annual classic, the Sophomore Cotillion. The defender, F. E. Male, popularly known as "Babe," has just entered the ring and has been tendered a big ovation by the crowd.

Here comes the contender, H. E. Man, called "Smooth" for short. He is smiling and confident. Both fighters are dressed fit to kill.

While we are waiting for the bell we will describe the huge crowd here tonight. In the best ringside seats we see four of the most popular people in this section, the chaperons. They are eager-eyed and alert now, but just you wait!

The timekeeper tonight is C. Lloyd Major, the referee, Daniel Cupid.

Round one! The fighters come together in a corner of the ring, spar around a bit, and finally fall into a clinch as the bell rings. Your announcer calls this round a draw.

Round two. Without waiting for preliminaries, they clinch again. Babe seems to be getting Smooth's range. A queer light is coming into the latter's eyes. He smiles happily, delivers a verbal barrage at Babe, who blushes and smiles in return. The fighters are sparring in a corner as the bell stops round two. Babe given this round.

Round three. The pugilists are late in starting. They appear to have been somewhere in the between-round intermission. Babe draws Smooth off in a corner and there the fighters fall into the closest clinch so far in this battle of the ages. (Twenty and eighteen, we think.) Both boxers show poor footwork. They are practically motionless now. Ah! Babe seems to be dragging Smooth around by the ear and making him follow her lead. The bell clangs several times before the couple hears it. Again Babe's round.

Round four. The bell has been clanging away for four minutes now and neither Smooth nor Babe has shown up! Hold on! The referee is stepping to the center of the ring and signalling for silence. He gives the Smooth-Babe fight to Babe! She has your announcer's congratulations!

That concludes the broadcasting from WHOA.

—Ophelia Pulse.

Well well, Ophelia, Gulliver welcomes you to his long and distinguished list of contributors. May you do better next time!

Inez Robison, Alto, Delights Audience

Miss Lulu Coe is Accompanist: Mildred Headings, '29, Plays

Miss Inez Robison, '28, presented an attractive program of songs, one of a series conducted by Psi chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, in the Lewisburg Baptist Church, Monday evening, March 18. She was assisted by Miss Mildred Headings, '29, pianist, and Miss Lulu Coe, of the Bucknell School of Music, accompanist.

Miss Robison who was graduated from Bucknell last year is now teaching music in the Lewisburg High School.

Miss Robison opened her program with a group of three songs, "Oh Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me," by Handel; "Nymphs and Shepherds," by Purcell; and "So Sweete Is She," an Old English air.

Brahms' "Sapphic Ode," "Schlummerlied," by Franz, and Schubert's "Serenade" made up the second group.

Miss Headings played two piano solos, "Largo-Sonata op. 7," by Beethoven, and "Fantasie D Minor," by Mozart.

"Air de Salome-'Herodiade'" by Massenet, sung by Miss Robison, was well received by the rather small but appreciative audience.

The last group of songs on the singer's program included "Cry of Rachel," by Salter; "Spirit Flower," by Campbell-Tipton, and "Still as Night," by Bohm.

Alpha Chi Defeats Pi Phi To Top League

On Tuesday night, March 19, the Pi Beta Phi team defeated the non-sorority girls, and the Sigma Sigma Delta team bowed in defeat to the Delta Delta Delta team. On Saturday, March 23, the Zeta Gamma Tau's play against the Phi Mu team. This game marks the end of the preliminaries, and the final games will be held March 26.

Last week, the strong Alpha Chi Omega team defeated the Pi Beta Phi team with a score of 39-31. This was a decidedly "nip and tuck" game, both teams being almost equal in strength and skill. At the end of the first half, the Alpha Chi Omegas were ahead of their opponents by one basket. This game marked the close of a very successful week for the Alpha Chi Omega team, having won all games in League I.

Initiation Marks Opening Of Renovated Y. M. Room

An impressive initiation for active members marked the formal opening of the newly renovated "Y" Room, Monday evening, March 11.

The new members were addressed briefly by Dean R. H. Rivenburg, Professors C. M. Bond, O. S. Groner, and N. H. Stewart. Reverend Babcock was called to attend a conference, accordingly the plans for the meeting had to be altered at the last moment.

At the last cabinet meeting president Loper reviewed the work of the "Y" during the last year, touching upon the cabinet retreat, the renovation of the "Y" Room, the staging of the Latin-American Conference, and withdrawing from the Student Budget.

Plans for the present semester include the annual election of officers the first week in April, a group of speakers on relations of men and women, addresses by foreign leaders of the World Student Christian Federation visiting this country, and a retreat of the old and new cabinets.

VOCATIONAL OPENINGS REVEALED TO CO-EDS

(Continued from Page 1.)

Consultant at Mount Holyoke and at Bradford Academy. She also was Vocational Lecturer at Lindenwood College and at the Women's College of the University of Delaware. She lectured less regularly at a number of other schools, colleges, and universities. During the past year she has been acting-president of the Eastern College Personnel Officer's Association.

This is the first time Miss Jackson has visited Bucknell and the women students are responding to her lectures in a very enthusiastic manner. Miss Jackson is finding that she is meeting a real need at the Women's College. She is arranging personal conferences with many of the girls. These conferences each last one-half hour.

On Wednesday evening, March 20, Miss Jackson lectured to the women student body in the living-room of the new dormitory.

R. Bailey Addresses Chemical Fraternity

Prof. Rhodes and E. C. Metcalf To Attend Convention

Sigma Beta Chi, professional chemical fraternity, presented Mr. R. N. Bailey of the Robinson Manufacturing Company, of Muney, Pennsylvania, as the speaker at an open meeting held in the lecture room of the chemistry laboratory, Monday evening, March 18.

A group of approximately fifty students listened with interest to Mr. Bailey's discussion of Chemical Processing Equipment with special reference to the grading and classifying equipment used in this connection. Mr. Bailey has been connected with the Robinson Manufacturing Company for a number of years and has been doing a large amount of work on these particular kinds of machinery. For this reason he was able to point out explicit instances of particular interest because of the unique problems which were presented when attempting to classify some materials. One peculiar type of classification was that of classifying cigars by machinery, where the light reflected from the surface of the cigars caused different levers to be set into motion, and the cigars to be removed thereby to certain compartments with others of their own particular depth of color.

In addition to this citing of specific cases of separations, descriptions of various screens particularly adapted for the separation of grains of different shapes were given, and show the exactness to which separations may be effected. From a consideration of the material presented it is quite evident that the success of a chemical plant depends largely on the careful choice of the machinery in that plant.

Electrical Engineers Assured Positions

That those men who will receive degrees in Electrical Engineering this June are already assured of positions after graduation was the announcement of Professor W. K. Rhodes yesterday. The engineers have accepted positions with the largest concerns in the American electrical field.

Professor Rhodes and E. C. Metcalf, '30, president of the local branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, will attend the Cincinnati convention of the Institute Friday and Saturday.

The fact that two months before graduation, Professor Rhodes went on to say, all Bucknell electrical engineers had been offered jobs, was but further indication of the high rating that large industrial concerns place on Bucknell trained men.

During the World War, Bucknell was on the government list of schools having accredited electrical engineering courses, the list being compiled by the committee on Education of the War Department.

Furthermore, Bucknell electrical engineers who make application for civil service positions are always accepted as coming from an accredited engineering school.

Williamsport, Mt.Carmel Win Debate Semi-Finals

The results of the semi-finals eliminations in the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating League, held Friday evening, March 15, disclose Williamsport and Mt. Carmel as winners. The negative and affirmative teams of Williamsport defeated both teams of Lock Haven, and those of Mt. Carmel won from Sunbury.

Williamsport and Mt. Carmel will engage in a dual debate for the championship of the league, on Friday evening, March 22. The question for debate will be, "Resolved, that waterpower projects should be developed and operated by state and federal governments rather than by private interests." The victor will be awarded the Lee Francis Lybarger cup, a trophy awarded by Bucknell each year.

The Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating League is sponsored by Bucknell men interested in debating. The league is now enjoying its fourth successful year.

Math Club Lecture

"Other Worlds Than Ours," an illustrated lecture by Prof. John Gold, will be presented at the meeting of the Math Club Monday evening, March 25, at 7:30, in the Observatory. Everyone is welcome.

"IS BUCKNELL A UNIVERSITY OR A PREP SCHOOL?"

(Continued from Page 4.)

ing in regard to the "cut system" may meet with opposition both in student and faculty minds, for none of us knows as yet whether it is a practicable idea for Bucknell or not.

My answer to that early-morning quiz is, then, that I think we show ourselves possessed with a prep-school attitude of mind in these four matters, specifically, in the particular observations which I have made in the above paragraphs—These observations leave out a good deal, nor are there enough of them to warrant this article as the expression of a scientific judgment. The air on that morning when I first read the question, "Is Bucknell a university or a prep school?" was seductively spring-like, and had we not suffered a relapse of shivering winter weather, had my furnace been at all willing to rise to the occasion, I doubt whether I should have attempted to warm myself with the problem which definitely confronts us.

Omaha Students Harken to Curfew

A notice recently appeared in the W. C. T. U. editorial column to the effect that, all students of the University of Omaha, under age, found on the streets after the curfew tolls, will be arrested.

Wanted

A biology teacher for a position in Porto Rico. The person applying should have a bit of the missionary spirit. Information may be secured at the Education Office.

The movies are good now in Milton; They're movies that I'd like to see; But I'm out of cash now, dear parents; So please send some money to me.

Flowers for Easter
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Place Your Order Early
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

THE PURITY

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

THE FLORSHEIM SHOE

To wear Florsheim shoes is to enjoy the best there is in shoe making.

Most Styles $10

FOR SALE BY
J. F. PROWANT CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Florsheim Shoe

Have You Chosen Your Life Work in the Field of Health Service?

The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.

Write for details and admission requirements to
Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean
Harvard University Dental School,
Longwood Avenue, BOSTON, MASS.

"Prexy" Hunt

The College Inn welcomes you back to old Bucknell town, and rejoices that a vacation has renewed your strength and emphasized once more your genial smile. As an unofficial observer of your administration, we feel it a high privilege and pleasure to have crossed your path many times, and, like the common people of old, we have heard you gladly. Bucknellians and Baptists everywhere are to be congratulated that the foremost democrat of the Northern Baptist Convention has given his prestige and ripened experience in piloting Pennsylvania's foremost Baptist University, an institution most synonymous with democracy. From a ring-side seat we have watched your battle for a bigger and finer Bucknell, not tossed to and fro by every theory of education, choosing your seconds with care, and courageously and courteously rejecting other seconds, whose free-will offerings would have marred the high calling of an unblemished Bucknell.

We congratulate you on the growth of new buildings, equipment, endowment, and attendance; on the new blood and traditions you have brought to Bucknell: on higher salaries to the faculty; for cleaner athletics and the elimination of brutal hazing; for your unstinted and unselfish praise and cooperation with all your co-laborers, and for a Bucknell much better and more favorably known. We trust that the good work may continue with the splendid cooperation that you have received from the Board of Trustees and Faculty, until the present accomplishments may sink into insignificance. While we recognize that there will always be honest and frank differences of opinion, especially in a brain factory, a few embryo critics on the campus should in all fairness be given a generous rebate from the Registrar's office for values not received; but as for the College Inn and Payne, '09, our proxy is for "Prexy," and we are proud to confess it before the world.

The College Inn
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
PAYNE, '09

SAVE YOUR MONEY DURING VACATION TO BUY A TICKET TO THE FRESHMAN HOP

April 26th

TUSTIN GYMNASIUM

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

B. U.'s Glove Team Registers But One Setback During 1929

Penn A. C. Cup Won by Bisons Following 4-3 Victory Over Temple in Feature Meet

Three victories and one defeat compose the record of the 1929 Bucknell boxing team. Coach Plant's men gained victories over Manhattan, P. M. C., and Temple, while their only defeat was sustained at the hands of Catholic University.

John D. Plant, who introduced the ring sport on an intercollegiate scale at Bucknell last winter, must be given great credit for the team that he moulded this winter. Each of the seven boxers who composed the Bison ring squad this year is an experienced man and a dangerous puncher.

Captain Lepore led his men to a 7-0 triumph over the Manhatten team in the opening engagement of the campaign. This victory was followed by a 6-1 win over the P. M. C. glove artists.

Catholic University invaded Lewisburg on February 27, and snapped the Bisons winning streak at two straight. But it was only after a hard battle that the Washington collegians emerged victorious.

Three members of the Bucknell ring team went through the entire campaign undefeated. They are Captain Frank Lepore, "Lou" Mutzel, and Frank Storaci. They defeated four representatives from other colleges.

Storaci was the only ring man who won his bouts during the regulation time. Lepore and Mutzel were extended in the Temple meet, each one having to fight an extra round to gain the decision.

"Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell heavyweight, registered three victories with one setback during the season. He wound up his season's work by outboxing Anderson of Temple, thus assuring Bucknell a victory over her Owl foes.

LaFarrara and Boerner broke even during the season, each winning two bouts and losing a like number. Ammerman fought his way to one victory in four starts. However, Ammerman with further seasoning should develop. He is looked upon as a bright prospect for next year's team.

The record follows:

7—Bucknell	Manhattan—0
6—Bucknell	P. M. C.—1
3—Bucknell	Catholic U.—4
4—Bucknell	Temple—3
20—Bucknell	Opponents—8

Individual records:

	W.	L.	P. C.
Captain Lepore	4	0	1000
Mutzel	4	0	1000
Storaci	4	0	1000
Jones	3	1	750
Boerner	2	2	500
LaFerrara	2	2	500
Ammerman	1	3	250

"Sig" Checker Player Continues To Lose

Harry Allsworth nearly became the champion of Eastern Pennsylvania on a recent Friday afternoon.

Harry's defiance to the campus players, issued in a recent Bucknellian by his crafty manager, Sam Hoak, was read by an expert in Lansford on Friday morning. He immediately set out by machine for Lewisburg, a distance of 70 miles. Harry was deep in study after the light noon-day meal to which he limits himself in order to keep in the best of condition for the strenuous campaign that he must face across the boards, when the house bell rang. The stranger introduced himself as the unquestional champion of Eastern Pennsylvania and challenged Allsworth to a ten-game bout to decide both titles. Harry was naturally surprised but displayed his famous competitive spirit by taking on the stranger without a moment's hesitation.

For several hours the two experts moved and jumped from squares to squares without either having a decided advantage. However, with the score four-all, and one game in a draw, the unknown marvel executed an intricate move that won the tenth and decising game.

Before leaving for his long trip home, the stranger complimented Harry on his remarkable showing against him and added that he had experienced more trouble in downing the Sig star than he had in winning the sectional championship.

DIAMOND DUST

By "Mac" McEligot

The prospects for a successful baseball season at Bucknell are exceedingly bright, judging by the veteran material that will be available when Coach Snavely issues the first call for diamond candidates next week.

* * * *

From last year's squad Coach Snavely has lost "Mose" Quinn, Felix McCormick, Harold Clough, "Art" Restelli, "Hen" Thomas, "Slim" Bennett, and "Ben" Haldy. The players from the 1928 team who will be eligible again this spring are Captain "Chuck" Jones, "Eddie" Halicki, Archie Seiler, George James, and "Ted" Mitchell.

* * * *

Coach Snavely also has good freshmen talent, including Kozik, Ross, Lobel, Linkfield, Jefferies, Shuman, Brumbaugh, Leymen, and Ammerman. Ammerman will probably be the varsity catcher this spring, succeeding "Mose" Quinn, who did the bulk of the backstopping work last spring.

* * * *

The mound staff will be built around Halicki who will patrol an outfield berth when not tolling on the mound. He is a consistent hitter. Halicki is 22 years old and weighs 185 pounds.

* * * *

Other mound candidates will be Linkfield and Jefferies. Both were twirlers on the yearling nine last spring Linkfield tosses them up with his right arm while Jefferies is a southpaw. "Jeff" has fine control. He combines speed with a varied assortment of puzzling curves.

* * * *

Coach Snavely will be confronted with the difficult task of forming an infield. Captain Jones is the lone survivor of the 1928 inner defense. Jones will play shortstop again this year. He is a good fielder and hitter. Brumbaugh, Lobel, and Ross will be infield candidates.

* * * *

Roy Sherrid, of Norristown, former Albright College pitcher, is attracting the attention of Manager Miller Huggins at the New York Yankee's training camp at St. Petersburg, Florida. Sherrid, it will be remembered, was a star pitcher at the Myerstown institution. During the past two seasons Sherrid's right arm brought about the downfall of the Bucknell baseball team on two occasions. In 1927 the Albright hinger shut out Coach Blair's men by 4-0, allowing only four hits. Last year the budding Yankee star whitewashed the Bison batsmen 3-0. During the course of this game Sherrid limited the losers to three bingles.

* * * *

"Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell boxer, will soon discard the padded gloves in favor of the cinder path. Jones goes in for the weight competitions. He will be primed to put the shot this spring and may also throw the javelin.

* * * *

"Eddie" Halicki, Bucknell moundsman, will soon start to work out for the approaching baseball season. He is expected to be the mainstay of the Bucknell baseball team this spring. He will divide his time between the pitcher's box and in the outfield. Unlike most pitchers, "Eddie" is an excellent hitter. This popular Bison athlete will join the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League in June.

* * * *

Nick Borelli, former Muhlenburg College athlete, is another collegian who is making good in the big league training camps this spring. Borelli is an infielder, playing at the shortstop post. Last spring he was the star player on Muhlenburg's undefeated diamond aggregation. He is well known here, having played against Bucknell on the basketball court several times. In 1927 he was a member of the Muhlenburg court five which lost to Coach Plant's tossers in a game staged in the Tustin Gym. Borelli play at a guard post that night. He impressed the onlookers with a favorable exhibition of court talent. His timely hitting and flashy fielding have made a good impression on Connie Mack, who will in all probability retain him for the coming season.

Frank Lepore Names 4 Temple Boxers On Bison All-Opponent Arena Outfit

Bucknell University's all-opponent team was selected here this week by Frank Lepore, captain of the Bison mittmen. Lepore picks four Temple, two Catholic U., and one P. M. C. men to represent the squad. Manhattan is the only team that is not represented.

The team follows:

115-pound class—Cudden, Temple.
125-pound class—Dribben, Temple.
135-pound class—Montromezza, P. M. C.
145-pound class—Kutcher, Temple.
160-pound class—McGrath, Catholic U.
175-pound class—Brown, Temple.
Heavyweight—Malovitch, Catholic U.

Must File Motive for Degree

The faculty of Lehigh University decided recently that beginning with this spring, candidates for graduation on University Day will be required to file with the Registrar on or before May 15 a written motive of candidacy for the degree. Students who fail to comply with this requirement will not be permitted to graduate until the next succeeding Graduation Day.

Expert observation—If their legs have seams, they're stockings.

Sigs Down Demies, 26-22, As Lambda Chis Also Win In Inter-Fraternity Games

In one of the most surprising upsets of the season the Sigma Chi basketball team defeated the Delta Sigma quintet last Monday evening at the Tustin gym by a 26-22 count. At half time the losers were ahead by a 10-8 margin.

During the final period the winners put on a spurt which carried them to an unexpected triumph. Johnson was the high scorer for the winning "Sigs" while Hoak and Walters played exceptionally well.

In the second game of the evening the Lambda Chi court men experienced little difficulty in overwhelming the Beta Kappas. It was a romp-over for the four-time champs.

Temple's "Prexy" is Honored

The Kiwanis Distinguished Service Medal, awarded annually by the Philadelphia Kiwanis Club to the Philadelphian who has rendered the most conspicuous public service to the community during the year was presented to President Charles E. Beury, of Temple University, on March 5, at a luncheon at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel.

The only difference between a modern co-ed and a seventeenth century pirate, is that the pirate is dead.

Bellefonte Team Decisively Downs Frosh Boxers, 7-1

The Bucknell freshmen boxing team traveled to Bellefonte last Friday evening, where they met defeat at the hands of the Bellefonte Academy ringmen in a dual meet, 7-1. "Jimmie" Tripolilili, the diminutive Elmira lad, was the only Bison who was able to chalk up a win.

"Trip" gave his team a good start by trouncing Caldus, of Bellefonte, for the 115-pound laurels in the opening bout. Tripolilili outboxed his ring opponent by a large margin. He won each of the three rounds and had Caldus groggy. "Trip's" victory marks him as a promising candidate for next winter's ring team at Bucknell.

Each of the eight bouts was a scrappy affair. "Dick" Clap, fighting in the 160-pound class, almost trimmed his rival, Brown, but a last period rally enabled Brown to gain the verdict. Gnidotti and Solomon staged a merry battle for premier honors in the 155-pound class, the latter finally winning.

"Norm" Egel represented Bucknell in the 175-pound class against "Spooks" Temple. Temple won, but was extended. The Bison puncher fought a good battle. Captain Buckley, of Bellefonte, won two battles during the course of the evening. After outboxing "Bob" Smith in the 125-pound class, Buckley defeated Rupert Cicero in the 135-pound division. Cicero fought Buckley to a standstill during the first round, but after that wilted before the hard blows of his more experienced adversary.

The lineup:

115-pound class—Terpolilili, Bucknell vs. Caldes, Bellefonte, won by Terpolilili.

125-pound class—Smith, Bucknell vs. Buckley, Bellefonte, won by Buckley.

135-pound class—Cicero, Bucknell vs. Buckley, won by Buckley.

145-pound class—Appleby, Bucknell vs. Ducanis, Bellefonte, won by Ducanis.

155-pound class—Guidotti, Bucknell vs. Solomon, Bellefonte, won by Solomon.

160-pound class—Klapp, Bucknell vs. Brown, Bellefonte, won by Brown.

175-pound class—Egel, Bucknell vs. Temple, Bellefonte, won by Temple.

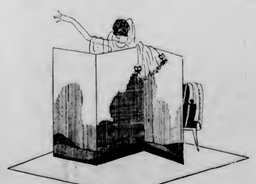
Unlimited class—Hoak, Bucknell vs. Sample, Bellefonte, won by Sample.

Referee—Ginsberg, State College. Judges—Ward, Bellefonte; Madera, State College.

The Early Worm Catches the Classiest Birds

So Grab Your Sheba As She Comes Down the Hill

AND WHEN THE TWENTY-THIRD ARRIVES



You will enjoy one of the Best Dances of Your College Life

IN TUSTIN GYM

At the SOPHOMORE COTILLION

"The Ghost of Kirk Castle"

Being the Story of a Real Irish Ghost and How It was Finally Laid

By VIRGINIA WALLIS, '28

(Concluded from last week.)

About noon we started for the castle, the old grey priest ahobbling along part the way. He didna say much, but walked arm and arm with Jean and me and begged of us that we'd be back along of twilight. We carried a chopper and a delver, and with a deal of swearing on my part and a deal of sighing on Jean's, we cut through the bothy wood. And it was ill enough to push again' the branches, let alone getting loose from the wee hands of goblins that reached out to catch us. Going was pretty hard as we got near the top, so I lopped two straight limbs from a tree and sneidded them into canes and we went on.

The gates of the castle were rusted, and hung down like hound ears. The front door stood open, but no human foot had left a mark on its crumbled stoop for many a year. The dust flew as we went in, and slithered down on us until we looked like dusty millers. It was all a jumble though there was nary a bit o' furniture or fixin's in the place. There was a great hall below, with a gallery all around it, and the round tower opened out into the gallery.

"Uncle Pat," says Jean to me, "You remember Grandpa Jim. Why did he ever leave this lovely place for the States?"

"Well, dearie, there ain't usually any tellin' of the actions of an Irishman, but he had it that he went for adventure."

"Seems like he'd have adventure enough at home," says she.

We went to the Abbey long before twilight, but the next day Jean was all for goin' in the morning and staying all the day.

"But," says I, "There's nothing to be looking after—no furniture, no pictures, no books."

"Maybe there is and maybe there ain't," says she, and she was just that obstinant, so we went.

Along in the late afternoon, says Jean to me, says she, "I'll be going up to the chapel I guess."

And says I, "Och, rest a wee, and we'" be calling it a day."

But no, she would be after having her way, and I could no more than let her. Pretty soon she called down from above, "Uncle Pat, fetch a candle, will you? It's as dark as a stack o' cats up here. There isn't any western window at all—just one to the north."

I was ahurrying with it as best as I could, what with every little draught trying to quinch it, and I was thinking of what a pass I'd be in if I sneezed from the dust and put out the candle, when I heard the coldest screech to light on mortal ears. My heart says to my toes, "Face about," but my head says, "No, your Jeanttie is up there." With all this debate o' the spirit, I was at the gallery stair. I looked up and there was Jean astanding by the railing agripping it with all her little might, and back of her was a brown shadow that backed away as I climbed higher.

I took her in my arms, "And what's been afrighting my lovely Jeannie when her old uncle's around to help her," says I. She laughed a little then, and the blue went away from her lips.

"It were 'tall and brown," says she, "and it laid its hands on my shoulders."

I slid an eye to see, and sure enough, there were twó handprints, like fluffy brown mold, and when she wasn't anoticin' I whiffed them away.

"And it smelled awful," says she, "I can still smell it, can't you?"

"Divel I can't," says I, "for the smell of burning wool." And there was that candle on the railing aniping merrily at the elbow of my coat sleeve.

"Let's be going," says she.

"Let's," says I.

Next morning we looked at the chapel by daylight. There was nary a thing in it, but it warn't dusty as down stair was. The floor was shiny white marble, and near the door were three brown stains.

Says Jean, says she, "We'll look again at evening."

We skirmished around all day until sundown, and I was hoping that Jean had mislaid it in her mind to go to the tower again. But no.

"Let's go up now," says she.

Up we went with the candle aflittering and afluttering. I was for watching the steps, when Jean clutched my arm. I looked up. There standing in the doorway above us with its hands stretched to us, was a tall brown thing. It looked soft and wooly like some of the darling's old toys. And such a stench I've never met with before or since.

We backed down the stairs and out to the yard.

"You saw it," gasped Jean.

"I did that," says I, a deal louder than was needful, to keep my teeth from wobbling.

We tells the Father Dominick about it that night, and he stroked his chin with a thin brown finger and says, "Hmm-hmnn," says he, "maybe some one's after playing a trick on you."

"Maybe they'd better not be," says Jean, and her eyes flashed Scotch right then.

In the morning Jean pulls me aside and says as how this thing's got to be settled—mean if it has a natural reason behind it or no. Says she, "We'll sprinkle sand on the chapel floor, and give it a whole day and a night to do its dirty deed."

We spread the sand on even, beginning with the far wall and backing to the door. Then we went to talk to the echoes that live in the gaps of Lough Leane.

Says I, the next day, "Let's na go up so early. Like as no a real ghost doesna like to be doubted, and he'll be grouchy so early of a morning."

"Like as no," says Jean.

So we puttered and puttered until high noon. Says I, "We might as well be after going."

There was no sand tracked down the stairs as I feared, and there were no prints of hoofies as I thought there might be, for it looked like the Divel's own business to me. In the sand on the floor were little ripples as if a deeshy daushy cotton wrapper had trailed through it.

"The wind," says Jean.

"The wind no," says I. "It's a string of letters."

"Sure enough, and you're right," says she, and stoops over them to make out what they were. "J e e a i s-m w i r r a-g i t," spells she. "Jeea is mwirra git.' Now what's that—and on the end it says 'Brian.'"

"That's what old Jim would be after saying in fun when he would be meaning 'good morning'" says I.

"Maybe Father Dominick would know," says she.

"Maybe so," says I.

Togither we trots back to the Abbey for the Father. It was a goodish piece, and the sun was setting when we reached the tower again.

"This is the time the ghost walks," Jean reminded us lightlike.

The Father just clutched his crucifix and hobbled on, but no one said a word as we went astepping up the stair to the gallery. The tower was filled with a stilly green light and we almost crossed the door before we saw it. It was standing on the spot of the three brown stains, and with a rope was trailing letters in the sand. When it saw us it drew aside and motioned with a long arm to the letters.

"Jeea is mwirra git," spelled the old Father. "That is Irish for 'God and Mary bless you.' And then it says in English, 'I pay my thanks to Jim Kirk. Now I rest. Brian K.' Ah yes, now I remember," says he.

The ghost nodded its head and clapped his hands silent like. Then with a sound like the woosh of silk, the sand was swept into a corner. The ghost leaped to the brown stains, and through the floor he went and drew the spots with him. Father Dominick stooped over the place and with his silver cross high over his head, he chanted something low and terrible, and it's not for the likes of you nor me to know what he said.

We left the Abbey slow and quiet like leaving a grave, and we all breathed easy again when we saw the windows of the Abbey aglinting red with the evening sun.

"You say you know," reminds Jean as we walked.

"Yes, yes, I had it mislaid in my mind for many a year and it's me that will be atelling you all about it after supper. For I tell you, lassie, there be things physical and things spiritual, and one is a strain upon the other. Just now I need refreshment."

That evening in the Abbey, when the candles were lighted and a peat sod was on the fire, Father Dominick told us the story.

"Long afore I was born," says he, "there were in Ireland the straw boys. They traveled in bands and wore skirts and straw masks. They went about the land robbing the rich, and an unholy terror they put on everyone. Now Brian Kirk was good to his tenants and hadn't met with much trouble, but onst they asked more than he could give. That night the straw boys came—ten of them.

Brian fought them. Back from the door they pushed him, up the gallery steps they forced him, and into the chapel they fought him, and then he had to give up and was killed, and the brown stains on the marble were very like from his blood. Brian left a wife and two little lassies. The inheritance would have gone clear and clean to his nephew James Kirk, but the lad would not have it, and what did he do but go to work and make that place turn out money for the widow. Then he sold all the land and buildings but the castle, sent the lady back to her father with money to keep her the days of her life, and went away—no one knew where. I was a slip of a lad when he left, and the castle was haunted at the time, but Jim was for pooh-poohing the idea. More than like it was the spirit of Brian trying to thank Jim that drove Jim out."

Jean had a funny look out of her eyes, when he finished. Suddenlike she laughed, and then she laughed harder, and harder, until the tears were running down her cheeks. And we laughed with her, for she was always the one to see a joke on herself. But then she sobbed and nothing we said would quiet her. And so she was for two days, and all the saints relics and the prayers of the good Fathers could do nothing for her. And her face grayed with the hurt of her, but she could not stop the sobbing.

"It must be her nerves," said good Father Dominick, "And there's a doctor that's fine on 'em at the St. John of God's near Dublin."

So we took her there to pay the price of laying a ghost. But doctor Donald O'Neil says as how she will soon be better—that her Scotch grit was too hard on her Irish nerves, and that it's the Dominie himself that he'll be after thanking for directing so sweet a mavoreen to him. But I says not to mind a little thing like that. There's a deal too much thanking in Ireland to suit me.

—THE END—

And Still They Come

Two hundred and twenty-one undergraduates of Lehigh University comprising slightly less than one-sixth of the student body have relatives who are alumni of Lehigh, according to statistics compiled by the dean's office. Fifty-seven of this number are sons of alumni, 50 are cousins, and a few are brother-in-laws. There are six sets of brothers and several cousins at Lehigh at the present time. There are also two sets of uncles and nephews at Lehigh and in one case the uncle is in a lower class than the nephew.

Girls Study Engineering

Engineering, as well as many other manly fields, is undergoing invasions from the fairer sex. Three girls are included in the 410 pupils enrolled in the freshman engineering course at Ohio State University.

J. M. Park Recalls Croquet in the '70s

Reacting to an article by Will Rogers, John M. Park, ex-'81, of Montandon sent an article to the Bucknellian in which he gives an interesting look into the distant past. In his article, the cowboy humorist remarked that "a college president's work nowadays consists of thinking up new things for the students to play with that looks like studying." He further remarked on "croquet for amusement in the seventies," and it was this last comment which was the chief factor in causing Mr. Park to recall B. U. as he knew it as a student. The alumnus writes:

"The freshman class of '81, numbered seventeen, and was, at that time, a large class. I remember of two croquet sets owned by the students. In the evening after recitations, we amused ourselves playing croquet. Those fortunate enough to have invitations downtown played on the beautiful lawns there."

Mr. Park continues: "As a student of the University of Lewisburg in 1874-75 when Professor W. E. Martin was principal, and then in '76 and '77 when I was finishing the work of the preparatory department, and entering college as a freshman, I was given a glimpse of the tasks of those in charge. How to inspire, direct, and instruct the willing, the slow, the indifferent minds, and restrain the wayward were some problems in those days."

Mr. Park is a great believer in education, and can boast of having put five of his sons through Bucknell.

Privileges Granted Semites At Student Gov't Meeting

On Wednesday evening, March 6, the president of student government called a meeting of the women students which proved pleasant for two reasons. First, the rule which formerly prevented "Semites" from eating anywhere out of town except in a few specified and approved places, was rescinded, and the place of eating is now left up to the discretion of the student.

Another reason was the granting of extra late dates. Junior girls are now allowed to have one extra 11 o'clock date a month, Sophomores two ten-thirty dates and Freshmen one ten-thirty.

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

The Union National Bank

LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WAINIES

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL BY EATING GENEROUS SLICES OF BUTTER KRUST BREAD

C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

GEORGE S. JOHNSON

Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.

LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM at the MAY-MAR

SPECIAL PRICES ON Bridge and Desk Lamps WE DELIVER W.H. Zearfoss & Co. next door to Lewisburg National Bank

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

Galloway's Coal ANSWERS THE BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company

Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.

A representative will call upon request.

431-439 Hepburn Street WILLIAMSPORT, PA. Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S Corner 6th and Market Sts. FREE MUSIC AND DANCING LIGHT LUNCH ICE CREAM SUNDAES

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—19—

IN GRATITUDE TO PRINTING

MEN HAVE ADVERTISED FOR AGES. THE FIRST KNOWN ADVERTISEMENT IS A SHEET OF PAPYRUS PRESERVED IN THE BRITISH MUSEUM, DATED ABOUT 3000, B. C., WHICH OFFERS A REWARD FOR A RUNAWAY SLAVE. ADVERTISING, HOWEVER, WAS MORE OR LESS OF A DESULTORY AFFAIR UNTIL THE ADVENT OF THE ERA OF PRINTING. LATELY, THE RADIO HAD BEEN USED TO ADVERTISE, BUT THIS MEDIUM CAN HARDLY SURPASS THE PRINTED PAGE IN EFFECTIVENESS. GOOD PRINTING IS A PRIME PREREQUISITE OF AN APPEALING AD.

SINCE PRINTING IS SO IMPORTANT, IT WOULD NOT BE AMISS TO QUOTE THE WORDS OF SAVAGE: "THE ART OF PRINTING IS THE MOST IMPORTANT INVENTION THAT WAS EVER INTRODUCED INTO THE WORLD—IN ITS EFFECTS ON THE HUMAN MIND; AND, OF CONSEQUENCE, ON ALL CIVILIZED SOCIETY. IT PRESERVES AND DISSEMINATES ALL DISCOVERIES AND IMPROVEMENTS IN THE ARTS AND SCIENCES; IT COMMEMORATES ALL OTHER INVENTIONS; IT HANDS DOWN TO POSTERITY EVERY IMPORTANT EVENT; IT IMMORTALIZES THE ACTIONS OF THE GREAT AND GOOD; AND, ABOVE ALL, IT EXTENDS AND DIFFUSES THE WORD OF GOD TO ALL MANKIND."

Drama Club Presents Two Plays At Bucknell Hall On Guest Night

Tuesday night, March 19, was Guest Night with the Campus Club at Bucknell Hall. An evening of splendid entertainment was furnished by the Drama Club of the Campus Club. The Drama Club presented two plays: A "Japanese Play" and a very humorous sketch entitled, "Suppressed Desires."

Those who participated in the "Japanese Play" were Miss M. K. Brooks, Mrs. W. H. Schuyler, Miss A. M. Ebeling, and Philip Neisser, '32. The scenic background of this play was especially pretty.

The second play given kept the audience in an uproar of laughter throughout the entire performance. Miss Helen Tollefson impersonated a character who was an enthusiast over the new theory of psychology. Assistant Professor C. Willard Smith took the part of the victim of her scientific research. Miss Mary Wright was quite humorous in the role of a visitor in the enthusiast's home, and whose dream, in its interpretation, provoked much mirth.

The Campus Club was very glad to welcome back Mrs. Emory W. Hunt, who presided over the meeting in her official capacity as president of the club.

Before the opening of the program, Miss Tollefson gave some very delightful piano selections.

"Jim" Williams Wins Oratorical Contest

James G. Williams, '29, came through with flying colors Tuesday night to win the coveted place as Bucknell's representative in the Regional Oratorical Contest on the Constitution. "Jimmy" presented his material with all the polish and ease which he has acquired during his three years of public speaking here at Bucknell. He took for his topic "Marshall and The Constitution," and drove home his message with fire and personality which should bring him success in the next step of the road toward the national finals. Williams has been a member of the debating team for two years, after having been a member of the squad during his freshman year.

The three other aspirants for the honor were unusually fine, and deserve much credit for their work. Arthur Guldin, '32, presented an exceptionally good speech, while George Abernethy, '32, and Madeline Waldherr, '31, also made good bids for the guerdon.

Bucknellians are all behind "Jimmy" Williams in his effort to emulate T. Burns Drum, '26, and Lee Francis Lybarger, '28, who were very successful in the oratorical contests of the last two years.

ALDEN DAVIES, TENOR, TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

(Continued from Page 1.)

this invitation was repeated. This success is unusual; especially when it is realized that Mr. Davies has not passed his thirty-first birthday.

The possessor of a pleasing and radiant personality, Mr. Davies quickly puts his audience in harmony with himself. He enunciates clearly and distinctly so that his audience is never at a loss to follow both the musical and verbal thought and emotion of the composition.

The complete program follows.

I.

If with all your hearts (from "Elijah") ..... Mendelssohn
Oh, Sleep (from "Semele").....Handel-Dresel
Come and trip it...Handel-Carmichael
Mr. Davies

II.

Morgen ..... Richard Strauss
Youth at the Spring ..... Schubert
Liebesfeier ..... Felix Weingartner
To the Children ..... Rachmaninoff
Morning Hymn ..... Henschel
Mr. Davies

III.

Ballade ..... Debussy
Gardens in the rain ..... Debussy
Mr. Hart

IV.

Princesita ..... Padilla
Contemplation ..... Widor
Vainement (from "Le Roi d'Ys")—Lalo
Mr. Davies

V.

Iris ..... Daniel Wolf
Blue are her eyes ..... Winter Watts
Clorinda ..... Orlando Morgan
The Sleigh ..... Richard Kountz
Mr. Davies

"I say, professor, I need a little light on this subject."

"Might I suggest a little reflection."

Many Noted Educators To Serve On Staff Of Bucknell's Summer Session This Year

A number of noted educators from well-known schools and colleges will serve on the staff of the Bucknell Summer Session this year, according to an announcement made today by Associate Professor John H. Eisenhauer, director of the session.

Among the eminent professors who will conduct summer courses here are men and women who have attained distinction in their particular fields. Dr. John R. Bacher, who received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Oxford University, and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from the University of Pennsylvania, is a member of the History Department at the University of Pennsylvania. He served on the staff of the Bucknell Summer Session last year and made a very favorable impression. He will teach several history courses this summer.

Dr. Atwood To Teach Geography

Dr. Rollin Atwood, spent a year doing graduate work at the University of Manchester. He received his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Clark University. Dr. Atwood is assistant professor of Economic Geography at the University of Florida and will conduct a course in geography here.

Willis Thomson, principal of the Osaac E. Young Junior High School at New Rochelle, New York, is directing his school in accordance with the newest methods and ideas in education. He has been doing graduate work at Columbia University. Mr. Thomson was a member of the summer session staff last summer. He will teach education.

Harlan Crowell, assistant superintendent of schools at Stamford, Connecticut, received both his Bachelor of Science degree and his Master of Science degree from Harvard. Mr. Crowell has had very successful public school experience in the New England states. Mr. Crowell will conduct a course in education.

Montfort Melchoir, superintendent of instruction at Girard College in Philadelphia, has served on the staff of the Bucknell Summer Session for the past seven years. Mr. Melchoir will teach history.

Raymond P. Maronpot, head of the Department of Modern Languages at R. M. C., Durfee High School, at Fall River, Massachusetts, has served successfully in the schools of Pennsylvania as well as Massachusetts, and is considered one of the best secondary school teachers of modern languages.

A. M. Weaver, superintendent of schools in Williamsport received his Doctor of Pedagogy degree from Bucknell University in 1927. He served first as principal of the Williamsport High School and was later made superintendent of schools.

Miss Bertha Graham, who is head of the Department of English in the Hightstown High School at Hightstown, New Jersey, will give a course in the methods of teaching junior and senior high school English.

Approximately sixty courses will be offered in the session this summer. They have been conveniently listed under the following heads: athletic coaching, biology, chemistry, education, English, French, history, geography, social science, Latin, mathematics, philosophy, psychology, and physics.

SNAVELY TO CONDUCT COACHING SCHOOL HERE

(Continued from Page 1.)

to a place in the first rank of eastern college football teams.

Snavely Has Enviable Record

The unparalleled record of Snavely's prep school teams during the five years prior to his coming to Bucknell is further proof of the soundness of the system which he will teach in this course. In those five years his teams won five national interscholastic championships by winning every prep school game played, which included five intersectional championship contests, as well as winning and tying twenty-nine of thirty-two games with major college freshman or college varsity teams, for a total of forty-three victories, two ties and three defeats. In one season of nine games they scored 156 points while holding their opponents scoreless for the season. Nineteen of Mr. Snavely's prep school players have become college captains and twelve of them have been recognized as all-America players.

In addition to a thorough explanation of his own methods, Mr. Snavely will devote some time to a discussion of the systems of several other prominent coaches with which he has become familiar through his wide experience as a scout. "Pop" Warner once stated that Snavely's scouting reports were the best he had ever seen.

The course will consist of lectures, field demonstration, open discussion and private consultation on the various phases of the game including selection of the team, fundamentals, general defense, special defences, offense, plays, strategy, keeping and using records, planning practices, scouting, handling during a game, conditioning, treating injuries, equipment, etc.

CO-ED DEBATERS WIN FROM TEMPLE TEAM

(Continued from Page 1)

sision at a debate held in Bucknell Hall, Friday, March 15.

Dean R. H. Rivenburg acted as chairman of the debate. The judges were Rev. Charles R. Bowers, Mr. E. Warren Gutelius, and Mr. D. H. Lehman.

The members of the team, Edgar Lare, '30, Ned T. Raker, '31, and David Evans, '32, accompanied by their coach, Professor W. H. Coleman, left Monday noon for a two weeks' trip through the New England states, where they will meet some of the foremost debating teams in the east. The men will not return to school until after spring vacation.

The Bucknell women's negative debating team will leave Tuesday for the Elmira College for Women where they will debate Tuesday evening. On Wednesday evening they will debate the girls' team of New York University at New York City. They will be chaperoned by Dean Amelia E. Clark.

Advertize in The Bucknellian

SEMI-FINALS WILL BE PLAYED OFF NEXT WEEK

The semi finals of the inter-fraternity basketball league will be staged at the Tustin Gym on Monday evening. The finals will take place on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, if a third game is necessary.

The Phi Gamma Deltas clinched first place in League No. 1, while the T. U. O's. came out first in League No. 2. On Monday evening the T. U. O's. will play the Lambda Chi's, while the Phi Gams will face the S. A. E's.

Captain Halicki's S. A. E. team gained undisputed possession of first place last night when the Alpha Chi Mu's staged a surprising upset to nose out the Demies in an extra period game by a two point margin. "Chuck" Titus tossed in the field goal which decided the issue in favor of the "fighting parsons." The T. U. O's. vanquished the Sigma Chi's and the S. A. E's. took the Phi Psis into camp on the same evening.

M. F. NIMKOFF TO TALK TO FELLOWSHIP GROUP

Tonight, March 21, at 7:30, the Christian Fellowship is holding its regular meeting in the playroom of the new dormitory. Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff will be the speaker.

He is well known to the students of sociology and religious education, and will undoubtedly have much of interest to say to the group. This meeting is not confined to the members of the Christian Fellowship. An invitation is extended to all students who are interested.

Read the Bucknellian.

Trustee Tries New Way To Help College; Gives It a Cemetery

Where there's a will there's a way, as the following article from the Williamsport Sun well illustrates:

To help Washburn college live after his death, A. B. Whiting, one of its trustees for half a century, bequeathed it a cemetery.

The idea providing the school an income from the sale of burial lots came to him in a dream years ago. The college has a 160-acre campus and he proposed to other members of the board of trustees that the "south eighty," a prairie at the time, be set aside for the dead.

The board rejected his plan, so he carried it out alone by buying a tract several times as large and creating the Mount Hope cemetery.

A substantial income from the sale of lots in Mount Hope is expected for at least 200 years. More than half of it, in accordance with Mr. Whiting's will, goes to Washburn college. The balance is shared equally by the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. Whiting, a native of Vermont, was a pioneer Kansas farmer and miller. His homestead, staked out near Fort Riley in 1856, five years before Kansas was admitted to statehood, was the furtherest western outpost of civilization in Kansas territory. He remained active in business until his death a few months ago at the age of 93.

KAPPA DELTA AND T. U. O. WIN SILVER LOVING CUPS

(Continued from Page 1)

the contest as an expression of the interest which the fraternities have in their Alma Mater.

"Chuck" Rivenburg Plays Organ

The audience could scarcely wait for the awarding of the cups, so great was the interest shown. The cups are of beautiful silver, and are delicately wrought. During the intermission, Charles Rivenburg, '29, gave several organ selections.

The contest proved to be a tremendous success surpassing those of former years. It is quite likely that a similar contest will be held each year, and a greater effort will be made to have each fraternity represented.

New Room Added To Registrar's Office

Work in Registrar H. W. Holter's offices has been greatly facilitated by the addition of another room. Prior to the annexation of the new room work was to a certain extent difficult because of congestion. The new room was given a bright, cheery appearance by the re-dressing of the walls, and the installation of lighting fixtures and new woodwork, including a hardwood floor.

In addition to the room, an ample store-room was built in the basement directly below the Registrar's offices. Here there is plenty of room to keep materials.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

Get your Kodak out!

Count on us for Kodak Film -- Expert Finishing

and with SPRING AND TENNIS

so near at hand, just dig up your old Racquet now and let us restring it today. Don't be caught unprepared when the season opens.

W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
combination of
Colgate Theological Seminary and Rochester Theological Seminary introduces itself to the Students of BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY who are looking forward to training for RELIGIOUS LEADERSHIP
at home, or abroad.
Correspondence solicited.
Clarence A. Barbour, President
Thomas Wearing, Dean
Glenn B. Ewell, Associate Dean

HERE IT IS!!
Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!
AMOUNT - - - - - $10,000.00
ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)
Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

A FULL LINE OF NEW SPRING DRESSES FOR EASTER
Will arrive Wednesday, March 20th
Grand Opening
Thursday & Friday Evenings
March 21 and 22
A FULL LINE OF SPRING MILLINERY
Also Hand-painted Gifts of all kinds
KRAUSE'S STYLE SHOP
Open Evenings Next to the Gift Shop

HERMAN & LEISER
Gordon Thread Silk Hose in the New Spring Shades are shown in Chiffon, service weight and heavy thread silk, at $1.40 to $2.50 a Pair
75 New Spring Dresses
NO TWO ALIKE, AT
$9.75 Each

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

ATTENTION GIRLS ATTENTION
Let us store your Winter Fur Coat away for the season.
We are equipped for up-to-date storage. Insurance carried on each coat.
NOW IS THE TIME TO DO IT.
KRAUSE'S STORAGE 419 MARKET ST. Next to the Gift Shop

EASTER, MARCH 31ST
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00. Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

ATHLETIC COUNCIL
LEWISBURG, PA.

HEAR DR. F. W. WADE LECTURE ON DICKENS TONIGHT AT 8:15

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1929. NUMBER 25

WRITE AN EDITORIAL AND WIN A PRIZE FROM THE PI DELTS

T. U. O. Captures First Game by Score of 23-20

Large Crowd Sees S. A. E's. Lose Opener Altho Two Theta U. Players are Injured

A valiant band of fighting Theta Upsilon Omega courtmen, beseiged by injuries that rendered almost helpless two of its finest players, rose to great heights last evening at the Tustin Gymnasium where, before an enthusiastic crowd of 800 spectators, they lowered the colors of a fast traveling and experienced Sigma Alpha Epsilon quintet by a 23-20 margin.

On Monday evening this same T. U. O. five had fought its way to a thrilling 26-25 triumph over the Lambda Chi cagemen, thus eliminating the four-time champs from the running for this year's flag. Late yesterday afternoon, on the eve of the crucial series, "Doug" Fleming, star T. U. O. forward, was definitely pronounced out of the line-up which would face Captain Halicki's men.

(Continued on last page.)

11 B.U. ENGINEERS TAKE TEN DAY TRIP

Prof. Ogburn and His Class To Visit Fourteen Plants

The eleven chemical engineers, under the direction of Prof. S. C. Ogburn Jr., who left early Sunday morning for a ten-day stay in Pittsburgh, plan to visit 14 manufacturing plants to study fabricating methods and problems.

The itinerary follows: March 25—Aluminum Co. of America, New Kensington; March 26, a. m.—National Tube Co., McKeesport; March 26, p. m.—American Sheet and Tin Plate Co., McKeesport; March 27, a. m.—Carnegie Steel, Clairton; March 27, p. m.—Carnegie By-Products, Clairton; March 28, a. m.—Mellon Institute Industrial Research, Pittsburgh; March 28, p. m.—U. S. Bureau of Mines Experimental Station, Pittsburgh; March 29, a. m.—American Window Glass Co., Jeanette; March 29, p. m.—Pittsburgh Electrial Furnace Corporation, Pittsburgh; March 30, a. m.—Harbison-Walker Refractories Co., Hays; March 30, a. m.—Jones and Loughlin Steel Co., Pittsburgh; April 1, a. m.—Strung and Sons Soap Manufacturers, Pittsburgh; April 1, p. m.—Blaw Knox Co., Blawnox; April 2—H. J. Heinz and Co., Pittsburgh.

The students, all members of Prof. Ogburn's chemistry 310 class, who are making the trip are: J. H. Bastian, J. B. Cook, D. L. Faul, S. F. Hepp, W. D. Hoy, E. L. Klinger, A. F. Little, H. Snyder, H. B. Stere, A. Eschelmaer, J. M. Harrison, all of '29. They are making the Downtown, Y. M. C. A., Pittsburgh, their headquarters.

William Pickens, Negro Orator, Will Speak Here

Sociological Society Books Yale's Prize Orator for April 15

The Bucknell Sociological Society announces the coming of William Pickens, probably the leading negro orator of the day, to Bucknell, Monday evening, April 15. Mr. Pickens is the field secretary for the Society for the Advancement of Colored People. He will address the College in Commencement Hall.

The negro orator while at Yale made Phi Beta Kappa in two years. He was proclaimed Yale's prize orator. With his ready wit and earnest manner, he holds his audience, as it were, in the palm of his hand.

The Sociological Society hopes that Commencement Hall will be packed to hear the message of the noted negro.

DR. F. H. WADE TO GIVE LECTURE ON CHAS. DICKENS

Illustrative Impersonations To Aid in Portraying Famous Characters of Novels

Dr. Francis Henry Wade, who is presented by the Artist Course at Bucknell, will give a lecture on "An Evening with Dickens" tonight at 8 o'clock in the Baptist Church. The addition of illustrative impersonations will add much to the interest of the entertainment.

Dr. Wade's lecture will have a distinct educational value since it will present to those who have neither the time nor the inclination to familiarize themselves with the novels of Dickens, those characters whose names are familiar household words and are constantly mentioned in speech and writing. Through Dr. Wade's lecture students will be enabled to obtain a knowledge of the men and women of Dickens which could otherwise be acquired only by weeks and months of attentive reading.

Dr. Wade's great and constantly growing success is proof of his ability. His work is unique and wholly different from that of anyone else. While his entertainments are all illustrated by a great number of most artistic lantern slides, they are not dependent in the slightest degree upon those illustrations for their attractiveness and interest.

As an educator Dr. Wade fills an important place and has a high value, which is recognized by leading colleges and schools in this country.

In a most attractive manner Dr. Wade imparts a vast amount of valuable information so skillfully blended with humor and interesting reminiscences that his hearers acquire, insensibly a thorough knowledge of the subject treated.

Dr. Wade is noted for his remarkable mastery of the tragedy and comedy of Charles Dickens, and impersonates the characters of Dickens with rare force of identification and spontaneity.

Glenn Varner, Garbed in Female Attire, Enters Cotillion After Battling Frosh

Disguised as a woman, Glenn Varner, '31, the sophomore president evaded a cordon of yearlings stationed at the door of Tustin Gymnasium to prevent him from attending the Sophomore Cotillion last Saturday evening, and made his appearance on the dance floor at 8:30 p. m.

Varner had a narrow escape from being captured on the Monday preceding the Cotillion, when a first year band cornered him in the Phi Kappa Psi house. After his escape he secluded himself in Johnstown where his folks live and remained there until last Saturday.

While enroute from Johnstown Varner stopped in Mifflinburg and donned his female attire. He drove up to the gymnasium and attempted to enter, but some of the freshmen who had been stationed at the front door recognized him and a battle royal followed. He escaped only with the timely aid of some of his classmates who rushed him up the stairs and on to the floor.

Varner's presence along with the clemency of the evening, and the best in decorations and music made the sophomores' dance a success. C. Lloyd Major and his Merry Musicians with their large array of features lived up to their reputation as an unexcelled orchestra, and with Tustin gymnasium cleverly decorated in orchid and yellow, a pleasing atmosphere for dancing was created.

Although Varner's idea in breaking the resistance of the freshmen is novel, his plans were not entirely unknown. The March 23 issue of the Sunbury Item carried the following statement, "Varner will be disguised as a fair damsel and will attempt to pass the Frosh cordon in that manner."

The leader of the sophomores enacted the Cinderella act in the way of losing a slipper. This slipper was, unlike the original Cinderella slipper, made of dark brown leather and perhaps the one who returns it will, like the virtuous prince, receive a reward.

The fellows who invented swimming must have been two Scotchmen when they came to a toll bridge.

Alpha Chi Mu and Alpha Chi Omega Lead Men's and Women's Groups Scholastically

Alpha Chi Mu and Alpha Chi Omega lead the men's and women's fraternities, respectively, in the scholarship average for the first semester, according to the statistics just released from the recorder's office.

Alpha Chi Mu, with an average of 78.8 per cent has held this position for four consecutive years. Alpha Chi Omega, with an average of 80.71 leads all campus groups and obtains an advantage over other women's fraternities for the Pan-Hellenic silver loving cup. This cup is offered each year to that women's fraternity which has the highest average for one year. The group winning the cup for three consecutive years has permanent possession of it. The Zeta Gamma Tau fraternity won the cup in 1927-28.

The scholarship averages for the first semester of the college year 1928-1929 are as follows:

	No. Men	Average Men	No. Women	Average Women	Total No.	Class Average
Freshman Class	284	69.81	109	77.88	393	71.96
Sophomore Class	161	71.8	95	76.68	256	73.61
Junior Class	108	75.21	107	78.01	215	76.66
Senior Class	114	78.09	66	80.76	180	79.07
College Totals	667	72.57	377	77.85	1044	74.48

The scholarship averages for the first semester of the college year 1928-1929 for the fraternity groups, not including pledges and non-fraternity groups, are as follows:

Men's Fraternities

Alpha Chi Mu	78.8
Delta Sigma	76.04
Theta Upsilon Omega	75.4
Kappa Sigma	74.61
Kappa Delta Rho	74.47
Phi Gamma Delta	74.18
Lambda Chi Alpha	74.15
Beta Kappa	73.11
Phi Kappa Psi	72.66
Sigma Beta Delta	72.44
Phi Lambda Theta	71.99
Sigma Alpha Epsilon	71.74
Average of men of Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes	74.62
Average of women of Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes	78.21
Average of men and women of Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes	76.11
Phi Kappa	71.65
Sigma Chi	70.54
All fraternity men	73.69
All non-fraternity men	72.23

Women's Fraternities

Alpha Chi Omega	80.71
Sigma Sigma Delta	79.58
Phi Mu	79.42
Pi Beta Phi	78.85
Delta Delta Delta	78.63
Zeta Gamma Tau	77.73
Kappa Delta	76.05
Non-Fraternity women	78.65
Average of women of Sophomore, Junior and Senior Classes	78.21

It should be noted that the average of the fraternity and non-fraternity groups are based upon the averages of the Sophomore, Junior, and Senior Classes. This method is adopted because no Freshman is permitted to be a member of a fraternity.

Editorial Contest Announced by P.D.E.

Any Student Eligible To Write Except Member of Pi Delt

Get the old brain to working. Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity, announces its annual editorial contest which will be held immediately following the Spring vacation. The contest did not receive the interest it should have last year due to restriction of the subject matter. In order that each one might feel free to write on any subject which he might choose, there are to be no restrictions as to subject matter for this year's contest. The editorial contest is open to all Bucknell students except the members of Pi Delta Epsilon.

More exact data concerning the rules of the contest will be printed in a future issue of the Bucknellian. Each editorial should be about regulation size—that is, somewhere around 500 words. The editorials are to be handed to some Pi Delta Epsilon member in good form. The editorials are to be judged by Professors of the English Department. In order that perfect fairness may feature the judging, each editorial will bear a number, and the judges will indicate which number won the contest.

The winner of the contest will receive a prize from Pi Delta Epsilon of $15 and the second best editorial will bring its author a $10 greenback. The prize-winning editorials will be printed in the Bucknellian.

One Act Play To Be Given By B. U. Dramatic Clubs In Contest at Gettysburg

"The House With the Twisty Windows," an episode in one act, by Mary Pakington, will represent Bucknell at the Intercollegiate Dramatic Contest to be held in Gettysburg, April 26, 27, and 28. The play will be produced under the combined efforts of Cap and Dagger and Frill and Frown.

Selections for the various roles were made on Monday evening at Bucknell Hall by means of tryouts. Those selected for parts were: Philip Neisser, '32, as James Roper; Millard Shipman, Charlie Clive; Elizabeth Sale, Lady Ponting; Elizabeth Siegfried, Heather Sorrell; Janet Bingman, Anne Sorrell; Blair Hazen, Derrick Moore. The production will be directed by Millard Shipman, who played in the same play under the direction of a Broadway director and producer.

Deer Have Parasites, Professor Believes

Dr. Norman H. Stewart Presents Theory to Game Commission

That the deer are dying from Myiasis, an ailment similar to "blind staggers in sheep, caused by the irritation of the maggots or larvae of the fly Cephenomyia," was the theory presented by Professor Norman H. Stewart to the members of the State Game Commission last Thursday, March 21.

Experts from state departments as well as members of the U. S. Biological Survey, met with the Commission to study the cause of widespread death of deer in this state, and particularly in Clearfield County, where scores of deer have been found dead in early spring. At the invitation of Dr. W. D. Sutton, Chief of Research and Information of the Game Commission, Prof. Stewart, Geddes Simpson, '29, and Chas. Mohr, '30, drove to Harrisburg and met with the Game Commission.

Starvation and poisoning were considered two of the most probable causes of death until Prof. Stewart suggested the possibility of an internal parasite, and produced the maggots taken from the nasal cavity of a deer that had apparently starved to death. The fact that food was discovered in the deer's stomach tended to discredit the starvation theory.

While Dr. Stewart did not deny that deer might be starving to death, he presented a new theory that aroused the interest of the game commissioners and experts to such an extent that they have arranged to send carcasses to Bucknell for examination.

In addition, Prof. Stewart and Geddes Simpson, who discovered the presence of the maggots in the dead deer, will probably make a trip into the affected areas of the state, next week.

BERKS COUNTY ALUMNI PLAN SPRING BANQUET

The Berks County Alumni Association of Bucknell University has sent out very attractive invitations to its annual Easter banquet which will be held at the Wyomissing Club, Friday, April 5, at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Norman H. Stewart, of Bucknell, and Mr. Galen Jones, of the Reading Senior High School, will be guests at the banquet.

Bucknellians planning to attend the banquet are requested to notify Miss Angaline Kissinger, Mercer and Luzerne streets, Reading, Pa., before April 2. The cost will be two dollars a plate.

Twenty-Four Poems Chosen For 1929 Bucknell Verse

Eloise Bailey, '29, Will Have Five Poems in This Year's Book

The members of the English Department announce the selection of twenty-four poems for publication in "Bucknell Verse for 1929." The poems were chosen from the contributions submitted as has been customary for the past three years.

The following authors will be represented in the book: Eloise Bailey, '29, five poems; Anne Binley, '32, two; Elizabeth Frederick, '29, two; Louise Graeff, '29, two; Esther Ann Hopkins, '30, two; Grace Link, '32, two; Charles H. Rivenburg, '29, two; Francis M. Stringer, '30, one; Nan Lee Thomas, '30, two; Kenneth Vandenbree, '31, one; Mildred F. Walton, '32, one; Francis C. Moerschbacher, '31, one; Ora Louise Cooper, '29, one.

Those students whose poems have been chosen for publication are requested to confer with Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel at his office in Biology 31, before the Easter recess.

RUSSIAN COUNT WILL SPEAK HERE ON REVOLUTION

Count Ilya Tolstoy To Interpret Father's Works and Analyze Results of the Revolt

Count Ilya Tolstoy, second son of Leo Tolstoy, is coming to Bucknell some time during the month of April. Count Tolstoy, who is engaged in a lecture tour of the United States during 1929-1930, the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Leo Tolstoy, will speak at Bucknell in the latter part of next month.

Bucknellians will have the privilege of hearing Count Tolstoy interpret the work and writings of Leo Tolstoy and give his analysis of the results of the revolution in Russia.

Count Ilya Tolstoy very closely resembles his father in his writings and has, in addition an unusual facility in expressing himself in speech. To hear him is to gain an insight into the real character of the Russian people, such as no one else could give us.

The Count has a perfect command of the English language which he has spoken since early youth. He has lived among all classes of the Russian people and knows how to interpret them to English speaking peoples.

The sincerity and integrity of Count Tolstoy have made a tremendous impression upon his audiences. He is opposed to both Monarchism and Bolshevism and advocates for Russia a representative form of government.

Men Debaters Win 3 Out of 4; Girls Split Even

Negative Team Defeats N. Y. U., Middlebury, and U. of Maine; Co-eds Win From Elmira

The Bucknell men's negative debating team consisting of Edgar Lare, '30, Ned T. Raker, '31, and David Evans, '32, won three out of their first four debates on their New England trip and thus lived up to the high standard set by Bucknell debating teams in the past. The women's affirmative team consisting of Agnes Garrity, '32, "Betty" Dill, '31, and Esther Girton, '29, won their debate with the Elmira College for Women at Elmira, Tuesday night, and lost to New York University at New York City last evening.

The men debaters lost to Colby College and won from the University of Maine, Middlebury College, and New York University.

Although none of the members of the Bucknell team have had previous debating experience, the team argued on a qustion that has many possibilities of tripping up, and can be approached from many angles: "Resolved, that the American jury system should be abolished." The Bucknell representation took the negative side of the question.

(Continued on last page)

GLEE CLUB STARTS FIFTEEN DAY TRIP

Krayon Kracks, Vocal, Guitar, And Violin Solos Scheduled

The mens' glee club will leave Saturday for its fifteen-day journey through Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware. The trip will be the longest one ever undertakn by a Bucknell organization.

The trip will include performances in Norristown, Brighton, Vineland, Ocean City, Clayton, Reading, Elizabeth, Morristown, Hightstown, Staten Island, Hillside, and Woodbury.

Roy Goodfellow, '29, will produce the Krayon Kracks that add to the popularity of the glee club program. A quartette composed of H. Fessler, '29, J. Rishel, '32, A. Randall, '32, and H. Benford, '32, will sing several songs. George Streit, '31, will play popular songs on the guitar. James Colledge, '31, will play a violin solo.

Henry Fessler, '29, will serve as soloist for the club. George Ferrell, Jr., '29, president of the organization, will do the accompanying.

The program will be opened by the singing of "Come, Bucknell Warriors!," followed by "Hail, Bucknell!," which has been dedicated to President Emory W. Hunt.

"Narcissus" Ford Wrecks Delicate Bridge Enabling Salamanders To Take To Water

Three a. m., twenty miles back in the mountains on a back road, and starting to rain. Chas. Mohr, '30, and his two cronies, "Speck" Lehman, '31, and "Tommy" Little, '31, were on their way back from another salamander hunt in Narcissus —the Ford.

On the floor stood a can full of spotted salamanders, big black "lizards" eight inches long, with two rows of bright yellow spots down the back. They had been captured from several mountain ponds, where such salamanders come at night in early spring to mate and lay their eggs. Then Narcissus rebelled. The magneto faltered and the battery failed. Then an unforseen mishole swallowed Narcissus to the axles.

In two hours and twenty minutes the trio hoisted the car, using a twenty foot tree trunk for a lever, and a pile of stones for a fulcrum. A base of stones was built beneath the wheels as they were slowly wrested from the mud.

The muddy ruts were paved with flat stones, over the twenty yards between the mudhole and a plank bridge across a mountain brook. Ahead lay good road.

At 5:30 "Speck" took the wheel, a spin of the crank, the engine roared, and Narcissus thundered down the stone paved road, ricocheting from side to side.

"Good road ahead" yelled "Speck," as he tore onto the bridge. A skidding of loose boards and Narcissus went careening over the side. As the door flew open the can of spotted salamanders spilled into the stream —a night's labor gone. One front wheel was resting in the creek, the other clung to the remnants of the bridge.

"I'll lift it back" offered "Tommy" Little. He did, with the aid of "Speck" and "Charlie", the twenty-foot lever, and a couple of planks. Six-thirty a. m. found Narcissus back on the road and the bridge again in position.

As "Charlie" stooped to spin the crank, "Speck" turned on the battery, stepped on the starter, and the engine roared. The dive from the bridge had brought the battery and magneto to life.

"Good road ahead," the highway through the Narrows this time. The tired trio munched away on a couple of sandwiches as "Speck," piloting the car homeward, kneeled on the seat so he could see through the cleared portion of the rain-spattered windshield.

Hilltop Briefs.

Helen Steinhilper, '29, spent the week-end with relatives in Williamsport, Pa.

• • • •

Prof. F. E. Burpee and family are planning to spend the Easter vacation in Erie.

• • • •

Mrs. C. L. Trunk of Coatesville, Pa., spent Sunday with her daughter, Marie Trunk, '31.

• • • •

Muriel Hoyle has gone to her home in Wellesley Hills, Mass., due to a bad case of grippe.

• • • •

Miss Eleanore Gross of Harrisburg, spent the week-end with her sister, Mary Gross, '31.

• • • •

The trouble with these people who lose their temper so often is that they always find it again.

• • • •

Miss Lucille Smith, of Susquehanna University, spent the week-end as the guest of Dorothy Stenger, '30.

• • • •

Professor W. H. Eyster took one of his botany classes on a hike to the Montandon marsh one day last week.

• • • •

Miss "Pud" Hughes of State College, and a former student of Bucknell, spent the week-end with Janice Booker, '30.

• • • •

Miss Ethlyn Saricks of Freeland spent the week-end as a guest of "Toots" Thomas. Ethlyn attended Bucknell last semester.

• • • •

A dinner party of six in honor of the birthday of Mary Smith, '32, was held on Tuesday evening, March 19, in the "Sem" dining room.

Miriam M. Adams, ex-'31, paid her old friends a visit Sunday. Although "Mim" enjoys her work at Drexel, she misses the friendships she made last year.

• • • •

One co-ed has the following schedule for the week: four tests, two term papers, and one report. She, at least, will welcome vacation with open arms.

• • • •

Everyone is looking forward to, and talking about, the Easter vacation which is now so near. Many are the plans which are being made for those valuable ten days at home.

• • • •

Beulah Lesher, '30, has a pet white rat which likes to crawl up her sleeve while she studies. The other day, while Beulah was busy with her books, the rat, for want of something better to do, chewed off her fingernail. "It was just one of his clever tricks," Beulah says.

• • • •

It has been suggested that instead of saying "hello" or "good morning" to our friends on our way up the Hill each morning, we greet them with "How's your temper this morning?" or, "Have you gotten over your grouch of yesterday?" Not such a bad suggestion. We might try it and see how it works out.

• • • •

Miss Mary Louise Leslie, Kappa Delta national inspector, is spending several days with Phi Tau chapter. A formal dinner in her honor was held by the actives and pledges, Wednesday evening, March 20, in the dining room of the "Sem." The tables were trimmed in green and white, which are the colors of the Kappa Delta fraternity.

Some do combine forces and undertake the high-speed activities of their youthful competition, but failing to maintain the essential speed, they drop out exhausted. These are the bitterest against the revolt.

And in spite of it all, youth swings away, straight down the middle of the road, on the search for truth and beauty—now divested of their mournful and dutiful trappings. Harold Stearns waves a slightly pink banner at the head of the party, and poor fools like me trail along at the tail of the procession stealing a crumb now and then from the bulging knapsack of the leaders.

Among the Book Stalls

AMERICA AND THE YOUNG INTELLECTUAL
By Harold Stearns
Reviewed by "Jo" Roberts, '29

Not for a long time has any writer dared to set forth the truth of the conflict between youth and the preceding generation, yet Mr. Stearns has presented the situation in his essay, "America and the Young Intellectual," appearing in the same book of the same title. "What the New Generation Expects of Society" is an apt substitute for a thought-provoking theme, interesting youth and age alike.

The essay contains the cream of the whole matter. To quote:

"The young revolte's . . . . . revolt simply at the hallowness and hypocrisy of the standards they are supposed to worship. They revolt not in order to avoid discipline, but in order to take the first step toward a real discipline, i. e., a discipline based as far as may be on the truth . . . . They revolt because they passionately want the opportunity to do honest work, serious work, intelligent work . . . . . and such work is impossible unless they are free."

Mid - Victorian unwholesomeness flourished beneath flickering gaslights. The new invention served many purposes, mostly those of concealment. Life, doubts of religion, sex and science were tabooed subjects. But now we know about these things—we have mussed the facts together and made the oft repeated finger-wave at old assumptions and inhibitions. A few psychologists served to relieve the more or less torpid atmosphere surrounding the gay nineties and early years of the twentieth century. Their statements were scant preparation for the amazing revolt of American youth against its home, institution, country, and parents were scandalized and horrified to see their young flouting convention and casting off the shackles of tradition. "We suspect that beneath the ostensible reasons lie others—fear primarily, fear that an honest attempt to understand our point of view might make them deeply uncomfortable and dissatisfied."

Back of their humor lurked a great deal of envy, I believe, as well. They were reared in an age of repression, and the flock of unexpected ducklings they have hatched amazes them as much as they must have astonished their own parents before them. The coward always has a lurking admiration for the person who can "get away with things"—social cowards are no exception, and here is a generation of red-blooded, far from burnt-out men and women, aching to join youth in its freedom.

What the Colleges Are Doing

Dramatic Contest at Gettysburg

Eleven colleges, members of the Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Dramatic Association, are entered in the annual dramatic contest that is to be held at Gettysburg College, April 25, 26, and 27. This contest, which is the largest one of its kind in the East and possibly in the United States, will attract many visitors to the college campus during the three days.

—X—

Chinese Students Have Their Say

No instructor may long remain on the faculty of Hau College, China, without the approval of the student body. The washers desired to have a student government just like these of the American colleges, and they have one. Regardless of the wishes of the instructors, what the students want they take.

—X—

Scarlet For Women Haters

Whenever a fair co-ed at Denver University sees a red lapel-button, she hies her to more agreeable grounds, for the vermillion disk is the sign of a "woman hater." Members of this laudable society must never be seen talking to a woman, except on very urgent business, and of course dates are absolutely tahoo. The scarlet circle is highly valued and esteemed—by those who wear it.

—X—

Australians Visit N. Y. U.

Delegates of thirty-seven colleges and schools of Australia, one hundred and sixty representatives, visited the campus of New York University this past week. The Young Australia League is responsible for the tour. They have already toured the United States and are ready for their trip to England and Europe.

—X—

Lafayette Students Receive Aid

The American Banker's Association Foundation has allocated to Lafayette College a loan scholarship of two hundred and fifty dollars for the school year beginning in the fall of 1929. The scholarship is for a student in the Department of Economics and will be awarded to a student of aptitude who is depending wholly or in part upon his own labor to continue his studies.

—X—

Blacksmith To Be Central Figure

A blacksmith welding the final link in a double chain, making them one, will be the central figure at a ceremony on Albright College campus on June 1.

The ceremony will take place in the presence of the fraternities of the original Albright College, Myerstown, and Schuylkill College, Reading, renamed "Albright" after the merging of the two institutions last fall.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Looking Backward

Five Years Ago

Issue of March 31, 1924.

A man of eighty-one years of age with a build and a voice of steel spoke Wednesday to the Bucknell students. That man was Dr. Russell Conwell, famous for his "Acres of Diamonds," a lecture that he has delivered six thousand and some odd times. The "old man" of Temple University stopped off on his way from Williamsport to Philadelphia to speak at Bucknell. His visit, with but one-half hours notice, filled old Bucknell Hall to overflowing.

Fours Years Ago

Issue of March 24, 1925.

Dr. Freeman Loomis, first professor of Modern Languages at Bucknell University, and organizer of the department of Modern Languages, died in New York City last week and was buried in the family burial plot in the Lewisburg cemetery on Friday, March 20, with the Rev. Dr. John T. Judd, treasurer of the University, conducting the service. The Rev. Dr. Raymond West, the college pastor, read from the Scriptures. Dean Rivenburg, members of the Senior Council, and a number of old friends were at the burial, together with the brother of the deceased, Andrew Gregg Loomis, '95, who brought the body to Lewisburg from New York. Professor Loomis' entire working life was passed with some connection with Bucknell. He was the son of one of the University's most distinguished presidents, Justin R. Loomis.

Three Years Ago

Issue of March 24, 1926.

The annual dinner social for Bucknell juniors and seniors took place in the Lewisburg Baptist church, Friday evening, March 19, with Dr. Edward B. Pollard of Crozer Theological Seminary, as the speaker of the evening. During the evening, "Johnny" Gilmour sang "Roses of Memory" and this was followed by two vocal selections by "Midge" Fox. "Eddie" Watson delighted the students with several readings.

Two Years Ago

Issue of March 20, 1927.

"Bernie" Klosterman, varsity basket-ball guard, has regained the use of his left hand the wrist of which was fractured in the Temple-Bucknell game. In a few more weeks, "Bernie" expects to be among the 1927 football candidates who are now having indoor training under Coach Carl Snavely.

—X—

One Year Ago

Issue of March 28, 1928.

Because of being under quarantine for mumps and scarlet fever, five "Bucknellians" will have to spend their Easter vacation in the college infirmaries. Pauline Ware, '28, "Tom" Keeler, '30, and Floyd Smith, '29, are isolated with scarlet fever, while Jean Little, '28, and Geldes Simpson, '29, have the mumps.

Quens Convenes at State

Delegates to the national conventionof Quens, national honorary sophomore activities fraternity for women, assembled on the Penn State campus last week-end for their fourth annual convention, as guests of the local Delta chapter. About forty delegates were present. Quens was established at the University of Pittsburgh in 1924 for the purpose of fostering leadership and scholarship and participation in activities among the freshmen women.

—X—

Ursinus Closes Early

To cope more effectively with a very serious scarlet fever epidemic, Ursinus College closed down for the Easter vacation period a week ago last Thursday. All the students are required to go to their homes and the dormitories will be fumigated during the vacation.

On the campus, or for formal occasions, John Wards have been the authentic footwear for many years.

Our styles are designed especially to meet the college man's requirements.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892 Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wo nder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank bel w and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

At the special request of P. Lorillard and Co., the manufacturers of Old Gold cigarettes, and with the much sought-after permission of Adolph Menjou, the first victim, a blind fold test was conducted upon the spacious terrace which gently rolls in graceful ondulations from the marble stairway of the Phi Psi house to the concrete highway of Third Avenue. The birds were singing, and the sun was sinking in the west as the test was brought to a close with exemplary results for Old Golds with the pouring of tea by "Amonia" Katchner.

Brother Alden Davies, the well-known tenor, who gave such a delightful performance at the First Presbyterian Church, Thursday evening, made several visits to the house during his brief stay with us.

Brother Carol R. Macklem, of Dickinson, spent Friday at the house.

Mr. Graham Mezzine and Mr. Al Bender, Betas from Colgate, were recent week-end visitors.

Brothers "Dutch" Keller and "Ernie" Woerner witnessed the intercollegiate championship boxing bouts at State College last week-end.

Brother "Link" Bennett was our welcome guest over last week-end. The Temple Easter recess afforded "Link" the opportunity to attend the Sophomore Cotillion.

"Peachy" Kling, Bucknell's ever popular trainer, took dinner with us on Sunday.

Of course, the usual conclusion: Pledge brother Ellenberger spent the week-end in Harrisburg.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

Brothers Mutzel, Moore, Schmidt, Kostes, and pledge brothers Crowe, Hoak, and Sullivan, spent the week-end at Penn State. The big intercollegiate boxing championships were the attraction.

The chapter was greatly surprised and gratified to find that Don Diehl had one day last week cleaned up his room.

Charlie Frampton succumbed to the urge for some home cooking and spent the week-end in Punxsutawney.

"Ollie" Miller played host to a bevy of beautiful damsels from Shamokin on Sunday.

"Jerry" Breslin, ex-'30, returned to the campus after a long absence to visit "Tony" Kostos on Sunday.

Uhlard Hangartner, former football coach, visited Bucknell last week and made the house his home during his several days stay.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

"Ed" Williams and "Tom" Dell of Beckley College were guests of "Jim" Williams, '29, over the week-end.

Brother John Middleton, '28, spent a few days with us last week. John is now located in Cleveland.

Guests for dinner Sunday, were Mr and Mrs. Hepler and Miss Violet Hill. The Heplers came from Williamsport to see their son, Bob.

Brother Erney and pledge brother Pierce spent the week-end at Penn State. They went up to see the intercollegiate boxing bouts.

Brother Reinheimer went to Leighton Friday to spend Saturday and Sunday at home.

Brother Davidson, '30, spent the week-end at his home in Dormont.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

"Phil" Neisser, '32, visited his parents in Philadelphia over the week-end.

John Horter, '29, spent several days with his parents at Painted Post.

P. G. Murray, '29, is recuperating at his home in Staten Island after spending a few days in the infirmary.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Brother "Red" Dorsett, ex-'29, and Francis L. Wood, '28, motored from their homes in Elmira, N. Y., to spend the week-end at the house and to "take in" the Sophomore Cotillion, and our informal "Sem" dance which was held Friday evening. Brother "Sib" Sefton of Omicron chapter at Cornell University came down with "Red" and "Nowlie." He is a student of the law school at Cornell.

Brother Karl Wilson, ex-'30, stopped at the house last week while doing some business in Lewisburg.

Pledge brother "Charlie" Mills and brother "Dutch" Evans spent the week-end with "Bob" Barton at his home in Bloomsburg.

"Freddie" Heather is endeavoring to boost the athletic standards as well as the religious and social standards at Shamokin. The fellows at the house helped him out a little, last week, when they sent a team down to play the St. Anthony Church team.

The merriment at our dance, Friday night, was heightened by the presence of brother "Bill" Cox, ex-'31, who was forced to leave school last semester because of an ear infection. The fellows certainly were glad to see him back again. He hopes to be able to start in again next fall.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

"Zeke" Varner, '31, the sophomore president, made his get-away last Tuesday morning by way of Mifflinburg. "Zeke" traveled on to Johnstown, where he spent the remainder of the week in seclusion. Dressed as a girl and led into the Cotillion by a stranger, he fooled the Frosh. However, he just escaped being caught.

"Zeke" returned with his girl and friends, and entertained them at the house over the week-end.

Brother "Jo" Lewis entertained friends from State on Sunday.

Marian Hughes, an ex-Bucknell student and "Dick" Marshall attended the Cotillion Saturday night.

Brother Lester George, '26, visited the house Sunday.

Brother Professor Ellsbree spoke at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

President and Mrs. Emory W. Hunt, and Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Fowle were guests of Theta U. for dinner last Sunday.

Theta U. announces with pleasure the pledging of "Tiny" Lenhart, '32.

Brother Harry McKeehan, ex-'29, and Kently R. Jones of Wyoming, spent a few hours at the house last Sunday evening.

Miss Lucille Smith of Susquehanna University was a guest of Theta Upsilon Omega for dinner last Sunday.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

Feaster, '30, and Rawlinson, '29, were chairmen at the inter-scholastic debate finals between Berwick and Williamsport High Schools. Berwick won the championship of the league. Feaster presided in Williamsport and Rawlinson in Berwick.

"Bill" Shure, '30, unexpectedly turned Baptist and preached in the Turbotville Baptist Church last Sunday. This was formerly the charge of our late brother Clayton Hill.

With much singing (?) and many wisecracks (??) Hauber, Shure, Young, and Cranford made their way to State College last Sunday afternoon. "Cranny" addressed the State College B. Y. P. U. in the evening.

"Bunny" Benson, '30, skipped out to Tatamy, Pa., to spend the week-end with a friend.

BETA KAPPA
Jack Crittenden, '31

The house dance last Friday was a howling (?) success. Among the out-of-town guests was Miss Ruth Kuhlman of Norristown, Mr. and Mrs. Harkless and Mr. and Mrs. Kunkle were guests as chaperons. Hot music was doled out by "Red" Hitchens.

The chapter is glad to see John R. Weber, '28, back to his books again. He has also resumed his position as radio announcer at the University station, WJBU, for the rest of the year. He is ably assisted by "Bob" Jones, '30, and Jack Crittenden, '31.

We are glad to announce several new additions to the growing zoo of "Bob" Jones, '30. This past week has left the zoo richer by a dozen snakes, a turtle and some polywogs. More power to you, Bob!

"Shellie" Lee, '31, was recently visited by his father. He claims a good time was had by all.

Among the senior chemical engineers visiting Pittsburgh are H. B. Stere, '29, and H. M. Snyder, '29.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

Lenore Gross and Mary Reynolds, of Harrisburg, spent last week-end as guests of Mary Gross, '31, while they looked the university over. The Sophomore Cotillion, and the S. A. E. dance offered a basis of criticism for the social affairs.

Rhoda Herr, '29, has been home for the past two weeks, on account of illness. At present it looks as though the illness would permit her present state of leisure to exist until the Easter holidays. We sincerely hope she will have fully recuperated before the next issue of this publication.

Alice Sweeley, '31, broke a very solemn promise and spent last week-end at her home in Williamsport. She had agreed to save us the embarrassment of having to announce this monotonous fact again, but the temptation was evidently too strong.

The chapter takes this opportunity to offer rather belated, but nevertheless sincere congratulations to Marie Trunk, '31, on being bid to membership in Frill and Frown.

Pa. Beta chapter announces the initiation of Ruth Andrews, '29, and Eleanor Buckholz, '31. Initiation was held at the home of Mrs. William Leiser, 37, North Fourth street. The alumnae present were Mrs. T. B. Drum and Mrs. J. R. Crossgrove.

The annual banquet in honor of the pledges, was held last Thursday evening at the May-Mar Tea Room. Mrs. T. B. Drum was toast-mistress, and the alumnae were represented by Miss Eliza Martin. "Betty" Sale, '29, Ruth Edwards, '30, Elizabeth Dill, '31, and Rachel Gawthrap, '32, were representatives of the various classes.

"Fran" Davison, Mary Gross, and Esther Hipple all of '31, were forced to go to the unusual bother of giving their rooms a complete renovation, last week, when they all became martyr's to the cause of Bucknell's forensic success and gave their rooms to the University of Pittsburgh debaters.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

Everyone is looking forward to our Province convention which is to be held at Lambda, Syracuse, N. Y., April 6, 7, and 8. Ethel Henion and Helen Bell are officially representing the chapter. "Jo" Roberts and Alice Corbett are going. Jane Shrum, '27, is to be there as delegate from the Pittsburgh alumnae club.

The tea on Sunday was enjoyed by all. This time Dean Amelia E. Clark and her mother, Mrs. Clark were our guests. "Fran" Kernohan, Helen W. Jones, "Sally" Hawes, "Peg" McGeary, Jennie Owens, and Esther Girton were among the guests present.

"Bobby" Sliffer spent the week-end at State College as a delegate to the annual convention of Quens, national honorary sophomore fraternity, sister fraternity to the Druids. It is hoped that a chapter will be started here sometime in the near future.

A college is a human hothouse specializing in the sheltered rearing of persons who would be normal if they were left alone.

"Will the gentleman who just coughed, kindly step to the box office . . . for a package of Old Golds?"

"Of course, I have never said just those words from the stage—but in all kindness I have often wanted to offer this friendly help to some poor fellow whose cough was interrupting the show and spoiling the enjoyment of those around him.

"A year or so ago, the makers of OLD GOLD ran some ads on the disturbing effect of coughing in theatres. As an actor, I was grateful for those ads. I am more grateful now that OLD GOLD has invited stage folk to help them bring 'first aid' information to our unhappy friends the 'theatre-coughers.'

"My own advice is that prevention is the best aid. The kind of prevention that smoking OLD GOLDS gives. Harsh tobacco irritates the throat, and that causes coughing. Changing to OLD GOLDS soothes the throat and removes the cause of the 'cough tickle.'"

(SIGNED) Groucho Marx

GROUCHO MARX of the Four Marx Brothers now starring in one of the biggest Broadway hits of the year "Animal Crackers."

Why not a cough in a carload?

OLD GOLD cigarettes are blended from HEART-LEAF tobacco, the finest Nature grows. Selected for silkiness and ripeness from the heart of the tobacco plant. Mellowed extra long in a temperature of mid-July sunshine to insure that honey-like smoothness.

On your Radio . . . OLD GOLD—PAUL WHITEMAN HOUR . . . Paul Whiteman, King of Jazz, with his complete orchestra, broadcasts the OLD GOLD hour every Tuesday, from 9 to 10 P. M., Eastern Standard Time, over entire network of Columbia Broadcasting System.

eat a chocolate, light an Old Gold, and enjoy both!

© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Church School Class Does Practical Work

The class which is taking the course in the church school, taught by Professor Charles M. Bond, is receiving valuable experience by doing some practical work in addition to its regular class work. The course is a new one this semester, and includes the study of the church vacation school, the week-day school of religion, and the Sunday school. It aims to prepare college students for service in such schools, for lay leadership in church school education, and for graduate work in religious education.

The class is acting as a practical laboratory, and as such is considering certain educational problems. These problems are presented by Allen Grinsted, '31, who is employed for the semester as director of religious education in the First Presbyterian Church of Milton, which at present is without a pastor.

Mr. Grinsted spends not only his Sundays in Milton, but parts of week days as well. He visits the homes of the members of the school, arranges for special programs, and is of general assistance to the church. Certain problems have arisen in connection with his work, which Mr. Grinsted has been invited to lay before the class. In return, the members of the class are making suggestions and offering what assistance they can toward the solution of these problems. It is possible that a delegation from the class may be sent to Milton with Mr. Grinsted some Sunday, in order to gain a better idea of just what he is doing.

Several members of the class are serving as student pastors, and are also bringing in practical problems. Thus the class is having experience which should be of real help to its members.

Bryn Mawr Takes Up Pipes

Bryn Mawr girls have discarded the obsolete and archaic fad of smoking cigarettes. The intelligencia now smile on the pipe, but—it must be a wee pipe, dainty and slender, with a small bowl. None of those vulgar cornobs!

English Singers Give Last Concert

The Engglish Singers of London will give the last of a series of the Rutgers University winter concerts next Thursday night. This group, consisting of three women and three men, sits around a table and sings without any accompaniment or direction.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Clarence W. Cranford, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Dorothy Davies, '30 A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor	Trennie Bisley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Hazen, '31 H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor	J. Warren McElgot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandenbree, '31 E. Burtoff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Figner, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Thamitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30
Circulation Manager	Frederick M. Locke, '31 George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Nathaniel Gluter, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32 Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leach, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Thursday, March 28—"An Evening with Dickens," Dr. F. H. Wade, 8:00 p. m., Baptist Church, Artist Course.
Men's Inter-Fraternity Basketball Finals—Theta Upsilon Omega vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Saturday, March 30—Spring Vacation begins, 12 M.

Tuesday, April 9—Spring Vacation ends.
Alumnae Club meeting, 7:30 p. m., Larison Hall, organ room.

Friday, April 12—Pi Beta Phi informal, 7:30-10:30 p. m., Playroom in the new dormitory.
Theta Upsilon Omega informal, 7:30-10:30.

Saturday, April 13—Alpha Chi Omega informal, 8:00-11:15 p. m., Playroom in the new dormitory.
Delta Delta Delta formal, 8:00-11:45 p. m., Tustin gymnasium.
Campus Club meeting, 7:30 p. m., Playroom in the new dormitory.

"ASK ME ANOTHER"

The professors are doing it so, why can't the Buckellian? From every angle questions come flying at students this week as a parting shot before they grab that homeward-bound train. Sure, we're speaking of mid-semesters. But this isn't an editorial about the value of mid-semester examinations. In a sense, it really isn't an editorial. It's just a little introduction to a bit of a scheme which has to do with asking questions. The professors aren't to have all the fun. The Bucknellian wants the joy of asking questions, too.

The scheme concerns itself with the knowledge, or rather the lack of knowledge, which the average Bucknell student has about his Alma Mater. This average student we're talking about comes to Bucknell, he graduates at the end of four years (at least we assume he does), and he knows rather completely the history of four years of the College. But when it comes to knowing the history of Bucknell and its achievements since it was chartered in 1846 to the time of his entrance, usually the knowledge of Mr. Average Student is hazardously little. And when someone asks, "What important men has Bucknell produced?" a broad smile spreads over his face as he hastens to reply, "Why, Christy Mathewson, and—and—er—and—well, Christy Mathewson."

Fame has crowned the efforts of many men who have stepped into life from the Bucknell campus. Many great men have been connected with the growing University. Bucknell may well boast of its history. And in order to bring some of the high points in this history to the attention of the campus, the Bucknellian plans to include an "Ask Me Another" column in its pages each week. Here goes for the first one. How many can you answer? The answers are to be found elsewhere on this page.

1. What man who was later to become president of the United States sat on the platform of Commencement Hall at Bucknell's first Commencement exercises?
2. What man of World War fame was a Bucknell boy?
3. Why are Bucknell warriors called "Bisons?"
4. What noted Bucknellian placed the slate on the steeple of the Lewisburg Baptist church?
5. What man now on the Bucknell faculty held the Bucknell pole vault record for twenty-two years?
6. What Bucknellian wrote the words and music of the hymns "Shall We Gather at the River?" and "Where is My Wandering Boy Tonight?"
7. What was meant by the "University boardwalk?"
8. What noted architect designed "Old Main?"
9. What noted man was the first foreigner ever to join a fraternity at Bucknell?

The Bucknellian wishes to extend its sympathy to Assistant Librarian, Mary B. Wright, in the death of her father, William Wright.

FIRE!

One fire extinguisher for ninety-seven rooms in a dry old structure filled with careless students! Think what this means in case of fire!

Yes, that condition exists right here at Bucknell, in West College. And it ought to be remedied immediately.

This is not an attempt on the part of the Bucknellian to be an alarmist. We do not continually cry "Wolf!" This editorial is written simply to call to the attention of our readers in general and of those in authority in particular what a serious condition exists here in our midst.

Upon investigation the following is what we find. In West College, a brick-faced structure with a wooden interior, built in 1900, there is one fire extinguisher for ninety-seven rooms. It is not an exaggeration to say that at least one half of the residents of that dormitory do not know where that lone extinguisher is hanging.

There are two main fire hazards here. First there is the menace of the careless smoker. Second, and far more important, there is the menace of old-fashioned electric wiring. When the lighting system in West College was installed, not a great deal was known about proper insulation and the like, and students are continually tampering with the fuse boxes.

What has been said applies directly to West College, but both these hazards exist in varying degrees in every building on the Hill and in every fraternity house in Lewisburg. Old Main, for example, is a notorious fire-trap.

No doubt, once upon a time the buildings had more satisfactory protective systems. However students abused the safeguards by dumping the extinguishers and unwinding the hose. The apparatus thus destroyed was never fully replaced.

The recent fire in the Chemistry building emphasizes the fact that fire may break out anywhere at any time. Other colleges and schools have recently suffered greater losses from fire than has Bucknell. For instance, the burning of the Greene School of Science at Princeton and the partial destruction of Rivenburg Hall at Peddie are but a few of the examples that could be given.

Now here, in our humble opinion, are a few things that should be done at Bucknell. The dormitories should be equipped with extinguishers or a hose on every floor. This equipment should be inspected at regular intervals, and tampering with it should be made a serious offense, punishable by expulsion from the University. It should be made clear to the student body that when a person meddles with fire-fighting apparatus he is endangering human life and property.

These precautions would result in greater safety for the students and in lessened fire insurance rates for the university.

One fire extinguisher for ninety-seven rooms in a dry old structure filled with careless students! Common sense says that action on this matter should be taken without delay. J. S.

NO SATURDAY CLASSES

Many students and professors on the campus are of the opinion that Bucknell would do well to follow the example set by several outstanding colleges of the country and do away with Saturday classes. They advance many good arguments for their stand and aver that the advantages are numerous, but only some of the obviously important ones will be mentioned here.

Both students and professors, they argue, would benefit from the advantages coming from a five-day schedule. A full day of freedom from class routine on Saturday would not only enable the student to devote the whole day either to preparation of work for the next week's classes or to recreation in the form of hikes, gymnasium workouts, or games. It would also give the professor not merely leisure time, but time to devote to wider study or to get started on that book he had always wanted to write these many years on a certain neglected phase of history or some worthwhile line of human endeavor.

As it is, the professor cuts Saturday classes more than any other classes. But the professor is not at fault. It is the fault of the present system. And it becomes obvious that the system ought to be changed to accommodate the many professors who go away during the week-end to work in behalf of the University, or the many professors who desire to work on literary projects in order to bring prestige to both themselves and Bucknell.

Saturday classes compel many students to prepare their Monday's assignments on Sunday. Thus students are of necessity forced to violate the spirit of the Sabbath. Many must stay away from church and Sunday school. Personal observations have borne out the fact that the average attendance at the Sunday religious services is not what it should be, and in some cases, is very small. Students generally devote Sunday afternoon to walking, reading, or writing letters. In order to have Sunday afternoon free they prepare assignments during the morning, and so cannot attend religious services. It is simply a matter of not having sufficient time to do all the things they must do during the week-end.

In addition to the benefits that would accrue to faculty and students in the way of more time for study, research, and service, the adherents of the five-day class scheme also point out the advantages during the football season, the convenience for those who are working their way through college, the greater opportunity for social activities, the chance for an occasional dash home to cast off that feeling of homesickness and depression, the helpful psychological effect of breaking-up the burden of carrying a heavy class schedule. Furthermore, with a five-day week it would be possible to confine inter-fraternity athletic contests largely to Saturday.

To have no Saturday classes, then, would seem to bring practical benefits. But how to bring this about? A petition circulated among students and professors would accurately test the general consensus on this vital question, and, if favorably received, would tend to bring the matter to the forefront. If the student shows that he is in favor of abolishing Saturday classes and is backed up by a sufficient portion of the faculty, there could really be no reason why Saturday classes should not be discarded. A. E. B.

Answers
ASK ME ANOTHER

1. The Hon. James Buchanan, He was a member of the original Board of Curators of the University. At Bucknell's first commencement, he made the motion to confer the degrees upon the graduates.
2. Tasker H. Bliss, ex-'73, was chief of staff during the World War. He was brevetted General of the U. S. Army, and is one of the very few men who have attained that supreme rank in America. He was a member of the Allied Conference, of the Supreme War Council in Paris, of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, and was awarded the Distinguished Service medal. He left Bucknell before he graduated to accept a cadetship at West Point, and was the first Bucknell man to win a cadetship at West Point. His father, George R. Bliss, was a Bucknell professor. His boyhood home was the present McClure house which his father built.
3. This was once the stamping ground of the eastern buffaloes. The last bison in the east was shot by Col. John Kelly, a Revolutionary War hero, a few miles west of Lewisburg, January 19, 1801.
4. When no steeplejack could be found who would slate the steeple, President Justin R. Loomis (President of Bucknell from 1858 to 1879) went aloft and put on the slates. Dr. Loomis himself drew the plans of the new Baptist edifice.
5. Dr. Lewis E. Theiss. During his student days here, he was captain of the track team.
6. Dr. Robert Lowry, an honor man of the class of 1854, and a Grand President of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity, wrote "Shall We Gather at the River" in 1864. He wrote "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" while he was professor of Belles Lettres at Bucknell. The hymn was composed in the house which is now the home of Professor W. C. Bartol.
7. This was board sidewalk that originally led up to the University grounds from fourth and St. George streets, there being no University Avenue then.
8. The very noted architect, Thomas U. Walter who designed the dome and the senate wing of the Capitol at Washington, Girard College, and other notable structures. He supervised the construction of "Old Main" without a penny of pay as a gift to the young University.
9. Dr. Shaw Loo, '64, who is physician to the King of Burma. He joined Phi Kappa Psi, and Miss Helen Hunt, daughter of "Proxy" Hunt, upon her return to Burma a few years ago took a Phi Psi pin to Dr. Loo as a gift from the Bucknell chapter.

HERMAN & LEISER

New Coats For Easter Wear

a large selection to chose from this week at a price range from

$10.00 to $47.50

Over 100 Dresses

to choose from at one price
NO TWO ALIKE, AT

$9.75 Each

BOSTONIANS—Famous Shoes for Men

Two Million Men Prefer Them
Priced from $7.50 to $9.00

Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—20—

MR. JOHN H. PATTERSON, FOUNDER OF THE NATIONAL CASH REGISTER CO., HAS ORIGINATED THE FOLLOWING AS RULES FOR WRITING COPY:

1. KNOW YOUR SUBJECT.
2. USE SHORT WORDS.
3. WRITE SHORT SENTENCES.
4. MAKE PARAGRAPHS SHORT.
5. USE BIG IDEAS.
6. PUT ONLY ONE THOUGHT IN EACH SENTENCE.
7. WRITE SO THAT A CHILD WILL UNDERSTAND IT.
8. SAY PRECISELY WHAT YOU MEAN.
9. BE BRIEF.
10. BE LOGICAL.
11. TELL THE TRUTH.
12. NEVER EXAGGERATE.
13. DON'T IMITATE.
14. BE ENTHUSIASTIC.
15. WRITE TO IMPRESS THE READER, NOT TO EXPRESS YOURSELF OR IMPRESS A COMPETITOR.

Lachrymose

One lovely evening last week as Gulliver sauntered nonchalantly into the sanctum sanctorum of the Bucknellian, he noticed the high priest intently staring at a typewritten letter. Now being awfully inquisitive, or inquisitively awful, as you like it, Gulliver could not help but peer over the editor's left shoulder and catch the following phrases.

"....plagiarism....letter of Ophelia Pulse.....in "Gulliver's Gabbles"—contains a great many parts that are almost word for word copy of a program that is broadcast over WLW.—Victor record entitled "Twisting the Dials".....many more similarities."

"....such actions as this tend to lower our paper..... Let's hope that Ophelia gives the authors due credit when their material is used in the future. It is a fine thing to be humorous, but it is much finer to use original humor, rather than that of someone else. Signed, A Sophomore."

Shocked, dumfounded, aghast, Gulliver knew not where to turn. He stood paralyzed with the dreadful thought that Contributor Pulse had plagiarized! Yes, PLAGIARIZED, if the letter was to be believed. And, oh gawd, she'd flunk the course! Think of it, she would flunk out! Gulliver was utterly crushed.

Then he suddenly came to life and dashed out in search of Ophelia, the wrtech. He found her at a soda fountain eating a fudge sundae, and without delay he broke the terrible news.

Well, kind reader, just to get you over this touching part as quickly as we can, we'll tell you the bare facts. Ophelia simply broke down and bawled. Big salt tears rolled down her face and splashed in the sundae dish.

"It isn't so! Don't believe it!" she sobbed, huge vitaphone sobs. "I have been framed. Please, please say you don't believe it! Oh, the brute, to implicate that I plagarized!"

"Now, now, Miss Pulse," soothed Gulliver, "Calm yourself and tell me the truth."

"It—it, it's this way." Sob. "I listened to WLW one night and heard the words "Irrational Broadcasting Company and Assorted Radio Stations." I thought they were funny and used them, for why not? "Sob, two sobe. "That's all I heard. As for "Twitching the Dials," that is something I know nothing about. Booh-hoo. I've told you the truth, s' help me Hannah!"

Then she literally burst out in a flood of tears. People were crowding around, and the situation was becoming more and more embarassing.

"Jeest," thought Gulliver, "Jeest, I'd better make me getaway." And so he did.

That's the story. Now, Mr. A Sophomore, a few words to you personally.

Gulliver likes your style. Your communication was funny, and if you practice a while longer, Gulliver may take a chance and publish something of yours in toto. Keep up the good work and more power to you, old bean, Gulliver needs you!!

STOP "STOPS"

Gulliver's Latest Welfare Movement

Dear reader, Gulliver has once again joined the ranks of the willing welfare workers. This time the movement was percipitated by the following telegram received from Heehocken, Hawaii.

"Dear Gulliver stop stop playing around with trivial subjects stop start campaign for stopping stops stop when stops stop spoiling sense of telegrams mistakes will stop stop start campaign immediately stop don't stop until stops are stopped stop.

Wehicki Lulu."

Here is a campaign worthy of our steel. Our slogan "start stopping 'stops'" will soon ring throughout the land from a thousand eager lips. Our statistician has calculated that 1,288,719 minutes will be saved every day if people are freed from puzzling over stops in their telegrams. It is Gulliver's lot to give, and give 'till it hurts, so we now offer a means to accomplish this saving and free the world from the curse of stops. Six days and nights we racked our brains to find this solution and success has, at last, crowned our efforts. We propose to insert "gooey" in all telegrams instead of "stop."

Nope!

H. Warfel Addresses Milton Women's Club

Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel, of the English Department, was the principal speaker at the meeting of the Woman's Club of Milton, Tuesday evening, March 26. "Changing Fashions of Fiction," was the topic of Mr. Warfel's interesting discussion which was very well received by an enthusiastic audience.

Mr. Warfel has been much in demand as a speaker before groups interested in literature. Among his recent engagements have been talks to the Clio Club of Williamsport and the Lewisburg Campus Club.

"A novel follows rather than creates the thoughts of the age in which it is written," said the speaker. "Today we have a changed spiritual attitude and thus a new type of novel. Our present-day fiction is inclined to be sociological rather than romantic. Writers are now trying to combat the social evils of our time, and not just exhibit them. We may go back to the old type of story. Willa Cather's 'Death Comes For Archbishop' and Honore Willsie Morrow's stories are tendencies in that direction and there are other hopeful signs that we are getting back to romance again."

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

Sing a song of dating
In a parlor full of chairs,
Four and twenty students
Sitting off in pairs.
When the door was opened,
The pairs were plainly seen.
Wasn't that a pleasant sight
To set before the Dean?

—B—

A—stands for art which we study with care;
B—for the books which so often we tear;
C—for the classes that all must attend;
D—for the dresses the co-eds all lend;
E—for condition, a very low grade;
F—for a failure, the lowest mark made;
G—for gymnasium, a new one we need;
H—for the history books that we must read;
I—for infirmary, our home when we're ill;
J—for the juniors we meet on the Hill;
K—for the keys, our L'Agenda and such;
L—for the library, we visit so much;
M—for the Music School here at Bucknell;
N—for the notes that we seldom take well;
O—for the organ which very few play;
P—for the President, we love and obey;
Q—for the quiet so hard to maintain;
R—for the rules which will drive us insane;
S—for the Stadium, "skippers" and "Sem;"
T—for the teachers, we often condemn;
U—for the usual events of the day;
V—for vacations, the time when we play;
W—for the work which we all do to live;
X—for Xerxes we knew in Greek Civ;
Y—for the yelling, prohibited now;
Z—for zoology, we like it and how!

—B—

A Latin student went to class
And with him went his pony.
The lad did read, and ere did pass,
But called all Latin Baloney.

—B—

Hey, buddy, got a match?
No, but you can use my lighter.
Don't kid me, how can I pick my teeth with a lighter?

—X—

Classmate, spare that frosh,
Touch not his manly brow.
In youth he was my friend,
And I'll protect him now.

Nuther Pome

If I could cast you wholly from my mind,
Forget your swooning eyes, your odorous hair,
Your ever curious fingers tracing where
The first fine wrinkles faintly lined
My forehead, I should leave behind
The cool repose of moonlight and the flare
Of morning: I should no longer care
For reasonable madness of that kind.

Now that you with casual steps have gone,
I do not ask to lose your memory,
Nor to erase the tracing you have left
Upon my spirit; for if that were done,
I think I would be as a stagnant sea,
Utterly unscarred and terribly bereft.

—Mustapha Jaggon

Who's Who AT B. U.

"Betty" McHose

"Betty" June is a bundle of pep, good nature and efficiency, and is one of those people who have made a lot out of college life. In her freshman year she was a member of the Y. W. C. A. Commission and of the debating team where she demonstrated her ability to "talk on her feet." Last year she was secretary of Y. W. and president of the junior girls. She sang in the girls' glee club for three years, and served on the Pan-Hellenic Council during the last two. "Betty" is bound to make a mark in the world.

"GLOOMY GUS" FLEMING SAVES A FEW SHEKELS

"Doug" Fleming, T. U. O. forward, who found himself famous overnight as a result of the basket he sank in the final seconds of the hectic semi-finals with the Lambda Chis, made the following remark, upon receiving the congratulations of his team-mates: "Well, anyway, I won't have to pay to see the finals."

The boys have dubbed him "Gloomy Gus."

Spring is Here; Mr. Squirrel Starts Construction Work

He wasn't very big, but he was a persistent little creature, bound and determined to accomplish what he had set out to do. He was engaged in making a nest, which happened to be in a spot that was rather difficult to reach—under the eaves of a building. Why he chose that particular spot is hard to say; perhaps he considered it safer than a tree.

He had found some straw and dry grass which he had succeeded in carrying as far as the fire escape railing of the building in which his nest was located. The grass had become wound around the iron railing, and, balanced precariously upon the latter, he was tugging with might and main to pull his unwieldy burden loose. More than once it seemed as though he would lose his balance and "fall overboard." Finally, however, the grass became disentangled. Mr. Squirrel took a firm hold on his burden—there was so much of it that parts of it were trailing several inches behind him—rested for a minute, and once more started on his journey.

Slowly and carefully he made his way down the fire escape to the ground, around the corner to the other side of the building, and up the vines with which that particular side was covered. The trailing ends of the grass caught in the vines; he carefully pulled until they came loose. Time and again he nearly lost his precious burden and was forced to stop and take a fresh grip on it. Once, in jumping from one vine to another, he nearly missed his footing. Only narrowly did he escape a disastrous fall. Every few seconds he was forced to stop and rest. If only he had discarded part of his unwieldy burden, he would have found his journey much easier—but no, he must carry the whole thing, or none at all.

Finally, after a hard and perilous climb, he reached the hole under the eaves, into which he disappeared headfirst with a last triumphant flirt of his bushy tail. He had made his journey successfully, and in so doing had accomplished a feat worthy of praise.

Easy On Paddles

This year will probably be one of the most momentous in the fraternity history of Allegheny College, for during the Initiation and Hell Week period, all of the Greek organizations cut down very materially the amount of paddling that was to be done. The Alpha Chi Rhos had no paddling whatsoever during Hell Week, and the Sigma Alpha Epsilon abolished the use of the paddle in future years at their meeting last week.

Read the Bucknellian.

B. U. Math Students Get Peep at Stars

An illustrated lecture on Astronomy was given by Assistant Professor J. S. Gold last Monday evening at 7:30 in the Bucknell Observatory before a selected group of mathematics students.

The purpose of the lecture was to give the students an idea of astronomy from a purely descriptive viewpoint. Colored slides were imported for the occasion to illustrate such things as sun spots, the distribution of the stars, and the size and motion of the planets.

Assistant Professor Gold presented a similar lecture before a large group of students in the Williamsport High School last Monday afternoon. This lecture was sponsored by the high school mathematics club.

Students of Spanish Entertain the Rockwells

The girls of Mrs. Rockwell's class in Spanish composition entertained Professor and Mrs. L. L. Rockwell at dinner on Saturday evening, March 23 in the "Semi" dining room. The twelve hostesses had a daintily decorated table for the occasion, and of course all conversation was in Spanish.

THE FLORSHEIM SHOE

To wear Florsheim shoes is to enjoy the best there is in shoe making.

Most Styles $10

FOR SALE BY
J. F. PROWANT CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Florsheim Shoe

The Things That Endure

Honor and truth and manhood—
These are the things that stand,
Though the sneer and jibe of the cynic tribe
Are loud through the width of the land.
The scoffer may lord it an hour on earth,
And a lie may live for a day.
But truth and honor and manly worth
Are things that endure alway.

—Ted Olson in Ben Franklin Witness.

THE PURITY

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

Flowers for Easter
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Place Your Order Early
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

Have you chosen your life work?
In the field of health service The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.
Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean
HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Longwood Ave. Boston, Mass.

Student Song Fest

The recent musical contest of various fraternities at the Baptist Church was a credit indeed to its chief promoter, Prof. Ralph Hartz, and a pleasure par excellence to the large audience. It was one of the most enjoyable musical program ever staged by Bucknell talent; and like the interfraternity basketball games, good sportsmanship heartily applauded the winners. The class and comeliness of Bucknell womanhood and the typical fraternity songs of the men was a picture of Bucknell College life at its best. A fine demonstration to the personal popularity of President Hunt made a fitting climax to this most pleasing event, as it greeted him in one of his happiest moods. Let us have more inspiration from song and less from inspired sign painters.

"A little more love and a little less hate,
A little more neighborly chat at the gate,
A little more flowers on the pathway of life,
A little less on coffins at the end of the strife."

The College Inn
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
PAYNE, '09

SAVE YOUR MONEY DURING VACATION TO BUY A TICKET TO THE FRESHMAN HOP

April 26th

TUSTIN GYMNASIUM

SUBSCRIPTION $2.00

Lambda Chi, Four Times Champs, Nosed Out By Theta U., 26-25

"Doug" Fleming, '32, Cages Field Goal from Center of Court In Last Second of Play for Sensational Finish

Believe it or not, the Lambda Chis are beaten!! It seems incredible, but it is true. During the past four court seasons the Lambda Chis have had a monopoly on Bucknell's fraternity basketball championships. Felix McCormick's men have won four championship flags in the last four years and were looking forward to another one in 1929.

It has almost been taken for granted that the Lambda Chis can never be beat. Every year they inherit phenomenal basketball talent to replace the old stars that graduate. Since 1925, when the Lambda Chis won their first flag, they were aided by such stars as Harold McCleary, Guy Beaver, Norman Karmilowicz, Felix McCormick, "Pud" Blazis, Bert Ellor, "Andy" Lobel, "Eddie" Beckley and many others who have all contributed winning efforts.

The Lambda Chis had been dubbed the greatest "money players" in the league. Two years ago McCormick's men defeated the Campus Five for the league championship by last minute rallies. For two years in succession the four time champions took the measure of the Sigma Chis by desperate last minute uprisings. It is said that in one championship game two years ago the Lambda Chis needed eight points to win and only a minute was left to play. The Lambda Chis got those eight points all within the space of sixty seconds. They wrested the championship from a supposedly superior Sigma Chi court outfit.

The Downfall of the Champs

But to get back to the story. The Lambda Chis are a beaten team and will not be eligible for this year's championship. Their string of yearly conquests was cut short in a sensational manner last Monday evening at the Tustin Gym when a fighting Theta Upsilon Omega court team upset the four-time champions in the last second of play, 26-25.

An unknown and unheralded freshman brought about the downfall of the formidable champs by caging a long distance field goal in the final second of play. The Lambda Chis were leading by a 25-24 margin. Only ten seconds remained to be played when—a center ball was called after Griffith's timely field goal had reduced the winners' lead to one point.

The opposing centers were Bert Ellor and George Ebner. Both men had played well all evening and were very tired. Ebner got the jump, but his pass was intercepted by an enemy forward. Quick as lightning, Ebner was on the man with the ball.

A Freshman Did It

Another jump ball was called. This time Ebner recovered the ball in mid-floor. He shot a pass to "Doug" Fleming, who was urged to try for a field goal. "Doug" was past the center of the court but had to act instantly. He looped the ball high into the air and as it left his hands, the final whistle blew. One second later, the ball nestled itself within the confines of the T. U. O. basket for the field goal that won the game and brought to a close the Lambda Chis supremacy on the court.

One cannot fully describe the scene that followed. Every one of the T. U. O. members rushed out on the floor and hugged each player on the winning team. Fleming was lauded not only by his fraternity brothers but also by the enthusiastic spectators.

Ebner a Hero in Victory

The gaunt figure of George Ebner, aided materially in the Theta U's unexpected win. Ebner played the best game of his long career last Monday evening against the defeated champions. During the first half the Bridgeton youth registered all his team's points. In the opening session "Ebbie" caged four field goals which gave his team a total of eight points at the end of the first half.

In the meantime the Lambda Chis had scored 13 tallies and at half time McCormick's five was out in front by a 13-8 score. A last period rally culminated in the scoring of 18 points for the T. U. O. five. The Lambda Chis tallied only 12 points during the final canto, and consequently were outscored by six points.

Four of Ebner's five field goals were registered from behind his own foul line. In the first half the winners' center tossed in a pair of double-deckers from the middle of the floor. His floor work was of an outstanding nature and his guarding was excellent.

Much praise must be given Ramon DeFillippo. "Flip" left a sick bed at the Zeigler infirmary at eight o'clock, in time to don a uniform to help his teammates in action.

"Flip" Is Crippled

"Flip" was a sorry figure to watch that night. He was severely handicapped by an infected elbow which prevented him from making any field goals. He could hardly raise his injured right wing, but went into the fray with plenty of grit and determination. He entered the contest late in the first half and his presence in the game immediately instilled spirit and confidence in the T. U. O. team.

DeFilippo passed with uncanny accuracy. He did not choose to shoot. He guarded McCormick closely and as a result the Bloomfield veteran was never allowed to break away. For three years "Flip" had waited for this victory.

Griffith Also Stars

"Bill" Griffith, who tallied a field goal in the last half minute of play, was one of the leading performers of the evening. Both Griffith and Fleming tallied five points each. DeFillippo managed to sink in one free charity toss which proved to be an important edition to the T. U. O's. total points. Doty matched both Griffith and Fleming with a like number of tallies. "Johnny" Bridegum, formidable Theta U. guard was again held scoreless.

McCormick and Beckley were the offensive stars for the losers. "Mac" contributed eight points, representing three field goals and two fouls, while Beckley tossed in a trio of double-deckers and a lone free toss. Bert Ellor was a tower of strength at the center post but was outscored by Ebner, his brilliant pivot rival.

The line-up:

Lambda Chis	Field	Foul	Total
McCormick, f	3	2	8
Beckley, f	3	1	7
Ellor, c	2	0	4
Downey, g	1	1	3
Lobel, g	1	1	3
Total	10	5	25
T. U. O.	Field	Foul	Total
Fleming, f	2	1	5
Griffith, f	2	1	5
Ebner, c	5	0	10
De Fillippo, g	0	1	1
Doty, g	2	1	5
Bridegum, g	0	0	0
Total	11	4	26

Score by periods:

Lambda Chis	13	12—25
T. U. O.	8	18—26

Referee—Van Why.
Scorer—McEligot.

Prof. Bond Attends 'Y' Meeting At F. & M.

Professor Charles M. Bond spent Friday and Saturday, March 15 and 16, at Franklin and Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa., where he attended a series of meetings which were held by the Y. M. C. A. of the Middle Atlantic field.

The first meeting was held by a research commission of the Middle Atlantic field. The council is composed of about twenty students, faculty members, and Y. M. C. A. secretaries. Its purpose is to make a study of the conferences held in the Middle Atlantic states under the direction of the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., and allied organizations.

The commission is under the direction of Mr. Wellington H. Tinker, the inter-collegiate Y. M. C. A. secretary for New York City. Such questions were considered as the number of conferences that have been held in this area, statistics of attendance, the nature of the programs, and the reasons for holding the conferences. An attempt was made by the commission to construct a measurement device for the evaluation of the conferences.

Professor Bond also attended an executive committee meeting of the Middle Atlantic field Council. Charles Mohr, '30, was also present at this meeting. The committee is responsible for the development of Y. M. C. A. work in colleges in the interim between the annual conferences which are held at Eagles Mere. Through the student associations of this area the council employs a staff of five men, among them Mr. I. C. Wilson and Mr. H. B. Ingalls, both of whom have visited Bucknell.

Hot Water Brings Vacation

University of Kansas students have a unique way of getting vacations. Each morning as the flu doctor made his rounds of the fraternity houses the boys proceeded to pour hot water down the throats of the pledges. The number of high temperatures was so startling that the school was dismissed for ten days.

1929 All-Fraternity Court Five Chosen

McCormick, Halicki, DeFillippo, Ellor, and Jones Place

Bucknell University's 1929 all-fraternity basketball team has been chosen by "Mac" McEligot, sports editor of the Bucknellian who picks two quintets, a first and a second team. In addition there are several other players in the honorable mention list.

Three fraternities are represented on the first team, two each from Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Lambda Chi Alpha and one from Theta Upsilon Omega. McEligot's second team is made up of players from four different fraternities.

In selecting the official mythical quintet, McEligot was confronted with an exceedingly difficult task. The chooser was forced to see every game played in the league during the season, in order to obtain a thorough estimate of each team and of each individual player.

When the season was completed last week, it was necessary to consult the records of each performer. The following teams were selected solely upon the records of each player.

The all-fraternity forwards this year are Felix McCormick of Lambda Chi Alpha and "Eddie" Halicki of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Both players are outstanding performers.

Felix McCormick

McCormick is an outstanding fraternity basketball player. He can dribble, pass, and shoot. When points are needed, McCormick is on the spot to contribute them.

For a period of five seasons McCormick has been a member of championship Lambda Chi outfits. Three years ago he virtually won the championship for his quintet by caging field goals at opportune moments in the final game of the series.

"Eddie" Halicki

Halicki, McCormick's running mate is just about "Mac's" equal. Halicki is playing his first season with the Sigma Alpha five. During the past two court campaigns, "Eddie" has been a varsity member of Coach Plant's Bucknell varsity court team. "Eddie" is a dangerous offensive threat. His best point is his ability to cage long throws. He can sink them from all angles. He has lots of fight and always keeps his team in the game by driving them hard.

"Bert" Ellor

For the pivot berth, McEligot has selected "Bert" Ellor of Bloomfield, N. J. Ellor is a member of the Lambda Chi quintet. He combines natural ability and experience. He is a valuable tap off man and usually gets the jump on his rival center. Ellor is a six-foter and this enables him to leap higher than most of his opponents. He can guard his man well, and is right there with the field goals.

McEligot has chosen "Flip" DeFillippo and "Pottsville" Jones as the all-fraternity guards. Both men are players of more than ordinary ability. The two guards are experienced.

Ramon DeFillippo

DeFillippo, of the Theta Upsilon team is Bucknell's leading fraternity basketball player. He is an excellent dribbler and passer and possesses an eagle eye for the basket. He can sink them in from all angles of the court. The Theta U. team is built around the Elmira boy. It is largely due to his great work that the Theta U. team went through the present campaign with an unblemished record.

"Pottsville" Jones

DeFillippo's running mate is "Pottsville Jones. During the past court season Jones has shown his admirers that he can not only play football remarkably well but also basketball. During the campaign just ended the "Pottsville Mauler" was the kingpin of the S. A. E. defense.

Jones is a player of the old type. He is built for guard work. During the season Jones tried only twice to register goals from the field. "Pottsville" contributed several passing efforts that brought scores for his team. His passes are sharp and accurate.

The Second Team

McEligot's second team is composed of Ammerman and Ballentine, forwards; Kammire, center, and Wadsworth and L. Wilson, guards. Ammerman is a clever court artist and Ballentine is not far behind him. Kammire is a great center and a consistent offensive scorer. Wadsworth and Wilson are effective guards and are selected because of their aggressiveness, experience, and team worth.

The all-fraternity teams follow:

First Team

Felix McCormick, forward ....L. C. A.
Edward Halicki, forward .....S. A. E.
Bert Ellor, center .....L. C. A.
Ramon DeFillippo, guard .....T. U. O.
"Pottsville" Jones, guard ....S. A. E.

Second Team

Wilbur Ammerman, forward..S. A. E.
George Ballentine, forward...P. G. D.
Don Kammire, center .....P. G. D.
Henry Wadsworth, guard .....D. S.
Lee Wilson, guard .....P. K. P.

Honorable Mention—Hinkle, Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Titus, Alpha Chi Mu; Kempler, Campus Five; Houk, Sigma Chi; Longstretch, Phi Lambda Theta; Hoffman, Beta Kappa; Ebner, Theta Upsilon Omega; Williams, Kappa Sigma; Brumbaugh, Phi Kappa Psi; Beckley, Lambda Chi Alpha; Lobel, Lambda Chi Alpha; Johnson, Sigma Chi; Spadafora, Phi Kappa; Storaci, Sigma Beta Delta; Snyder, Kappa Delta Rho; Shuman, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Bucknellian Has Honeymoon In Hospital For Two Weeks

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Mackenzie, of Pasadena, California, enjoyed an unusual honeymoon recently when they spent two weeks on cots in a hospital after they had been injured in an automobile accident.

Mr. Mackenzie, a graduate of Bucknell University with the class of 1926 and a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, with his bride, the former Miss Ruth Rowland, was returning by motor from a wedding trip to San Francisco when his car was forced off the highway. The newly wedded couple were so seriously injured that they were forced to spend the last two weeks of their honeymoon in a hospital.

DIAMOND DUST

By "Mac" McEligot

Major Kozik, the Babe Ruth of the freshmen team last spring, will be a promising candidate for an outfield berth on the Bucknell varsity nine. Kozik, who is a sophomore, has played baseball for a number of years. He is a finished diamond performer, excelling in all the departments of the game.

• • • •

Kozik received his early diamond training at Wilkes-Barre where he played for several summers in the county league. While only a kid of 14 years, "Koz" was playing with all the semi pro players around. He could always hit and that's what counts in baseball. Last season his fifth in the county league, he batted .408 in ten games.

• • • •

"Koz" played with two aggregations last summer. He attended the Bucknell summer session and played with the Lewisburg A. C. for a few months. He patrols an outfield berth and batted fourth in the line-up. He hit at a .350 clip for the Lewisburg team.

• • • •

Most of Kozik's drives are good for extra bases. He meets the ball squarely and usually hits it on the line. Kozik contributed several extra base hits for the freshmen nine last spring. He hits them hard and often. He swings his whole body and the terrific impact that occurs when the bat meets the horsehide usually results in a lengthy drive.

• • • •

Last season in a game with the Penn State freshmen, Kozik drove out five hits in six trips to the plate. Among his collection were two homers and a double. His boundary belts were long drives over the left fielder's head. Kozik made the circuit each time with ease.

• • • •

During the 1928 freshmen diamond season Kozik batted around .650. He hit safely in every game played and his fielding was of an impressive nature. He roams the pastures in the outfield a la Eddie Roush of the New York Giants. He is equipped with a powerful throwing arm which is capable of mowing down would be base runners who dare stretch a hit on the experienced Kozik.

• • • •

Kozik is also a flashy fielder. He can go far to either his right or left for fly balls which he usually converts into putouts. He has an outstanding way of catching fly balls which reminds the onlooker if he is a baseball fan, of Rabbitt Maranville of the Boston Braves. "Koz" generally catches the elevated hits in his bosom. It is a treat to watch him do it.

• • • •

Kozik is 21 years old, weights 185 pounds and is five feet ten and one half inches tall. Despite his excessive weight he is amazingly fast. He prepared for Bucknell at Wilkes-Barre High School and Wyoming Seminary where he was a baseball player of the first order. Kozik does not confine his athletic ability.

(Continued on Page 7.)

S. A. E. Triumphs Over Fiji Five, 31-18

Ammerman and Kammire Star For Respective Teams

Led by Wilbur Ammerman, who scored 14 points, the Sigma Alpha Epsilon basketball team eliminated the Phi Gamma Delta quintet in the semi-finals Monday evening by a 31-18 score. During the first half the losers furnished the S. A. E. team with plenty of opposition, but in the final period the winners gradually pilled up a lead.

The half time score showed the S. A. E. players out in front by the slim margin of 9-8. However "Bud" Ammerman and Clark Hinkle hit their strides in the final chukker, and the Phi Gams were forced to bow before Captain Halicki's men.

Another feature of the game was a field goal contributed by "Pottsville" Jones in the second period. The coal region youth dribbled down the floor and caged a twin-pointer from a difficult angle. Jones was the defensive star of the S. A. E. team. His passes were sharp and accurate and he broke up many enemy plays.

Wilbur Ammerman enjoyed one of the best nights of his court career. The Tyrone pugilist came through with four field goals and six fouls, for a 14-point total. Many of Ammerman's goals came as the results of long distance heaves.

Clark Hinkle, the Ohio speed merchant, was runner-up to Ammerman for scoring honors, with eight tallies. "Hink" caged a pair of field goals and a quartet of fouls. Captain "Eddie" Halicki performed admirably at the guard post and kept his team fighting from start to finish.

George Klein, the pride of Wilkes-Barre, contributed a pair of field goals to his team's total score. He also registered a foul.

A hero in defeat was "Don" Kammire, the Phi Gams valiant center. Kammire put on a brilliant exhibition of basketball and scored ten points. Four field goals and a pair of charity tosses represented Kammire's offensive performance for the evening. On the defense "Don" was a bulwark of strength. He also got the jump on his rival at the pivot post almost every time.

Score by periods:

S. A. E.	9	22—31
Phi Gams	8	10—18

PITT THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

SPECIAL PRICES ON Bridge and Desk Lamps WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

Galloway's Coal ANSWERS THE BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM — FREE MUSIC AND DANCING — SUNDAES
LIGHT LUNCH

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WAINIES

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

Rev. Condict, '08, Sends B. U. Buddha

Fifteen Inch Brass Image Sent To Pres. Hunt; Letter Tells Of its Unusual Value

Although Bucknell is a Christian institution, it now possesses a brass image of Buddha, which was sent to us by the Rev. E. Carroll Condict of the class of 1908, who is a missionary at Thayetmyo, Burma. The image is now in the Bucknell library. Dr. Emory W. Hunt recently received a letter from Mr. Condict telling more about this Buddha. His own words best describe the image and how it was obtained:

"Dear Dr. Hunt:

Thank you for your letters of November 20 and 26 and the copy of the Bucknellian. Am glad the image is safely there. My brother-in-law offered to have his packers pack and send it. The enclosed paper dated September 1917 tells you something about the image. It is very difficult to get a brass image of that size which has been in a Buddhist monastery. When I got it here one of my servants took some tamerind and cleaned off the dirt. I believe a lemon and salt is useful in removing the tarnish if you wish him to appear brilliant. The image of Gotama sitting is the most common and there are thousands of such images in Burma of various sizes and material; and thousands of pictures of such images. And Bucknell now has one to remind Bucknellians there of the Bucknellians in Burma who are bringing to others Him who came that we might have a more abundant life. I hope it will speak of the needs of Burma."

The other paper he mentions says:

"It is a brass image of Buddha, 15 inches high. I got him to show to you and let him preach to you about the people in the village from which he came, and their needs. When I first saw him he looked quite dull and stupid. He has been shined up till now he looks quite bright and brilliant. His village is only about 30 miles from Thayetmyo but I have had so many places to go to that I was in Burma almost five years before seeing his village and making his acquaintance. It is quite a large Chin village. Just outside the gate is a large white stone statue of Buddha. Near it is a building in ruins. Formerly a Buddhist priest lived there and used it for a school. He had over 20 pupils. About four years ago he died. The villagers never called another priest to succeed him. I climbed up into the school and saw 6 brass images of Buddha. I coveted one to take to America. I asked them if they would sell me one. 'No!' they couldn't do that because they had given them to the phoongyi and it would give them bad luck. But they would give me one. I have been rejoicing ever since for it would be almost impossible to get one at a Burman village. The Burmans are too strong Buddhists.

During the day we got acquainted with the people and told them of Jesus and His power to save. At night the preacher and I held a meeting in the center of the village. Over eighty came and listened well. It was a joy to be able to give them the opportunity of hearing the message. But the joy was mingled with sorrow at the thought of how few opportunities they will have of hearing the message of salvation.

Yes. That is only a brass lifeless image. But being dead he yet speaketh of the situation in that village. It is typical of the situation in many Chin villages."

U. of Missouri Faculty Dismissed

The executive board of curators of the University of Missouri today ordered the dismissal of three faculty members whom the board held responsible for recent circulation of questionnaires among students asking intimate questions as to sex and marriage.

Those dismissed are Max F. Meyer, professor of experimental psychology; Harmon D. Degraff, assistant professor of sociology, and O. H. Mowrer, student assistant in psychology.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Can't Even Talk

What with all this chatter of bachelor's clubs around the states, comes the fiat from the University of Detroit to the effect that any and all co-eds of the institution who are detected conversing with any male students of the same school face a penalty of expulsion. This protective measure was necessitated by the unruly attitude the minority party assumed.

Emil Kontz, ex-'28, Tells Of His Life And Studies At University Of Budapest

President Emory Hunt recently received a letter from Emil Kontz, ex-'28, who is now studying in Budapest, Hungary. In it, Emil gives an interesting account of his experiences in the Hungarian University situated in Budapest. Those who remember the studious president of Bucknell's Y. M. C. A. a couple of years ago will be glad to learn of his life in the European Institution. He writes:

VIII. Jozsef Korut 65,
Budapest, Hungary,
February 25, 1929.

President Emory W. Hunt
Bucknell University,
Lewisburg, Penna.
My dear President Hunt:

I just finished reading your serious, straightforward article on "Our Loyalties" which appeared in a recent issue of the Watchman-Examiner. I found the article full of stimulating thoughts and challenging ideas. For one thing, it reminded me of "my loyalties," among others those I owe toward you and Bucknell; to you I shall ever remain deeply indebted for the many kindnesses you showed toward me, while to Bucknell I am trying to be loyal by living up to those noble ideas she taught me for three years.

You may be interested to know something of how I am spending my time here in Hungary. I was fortunate enough to secure a Fellowship to the University of Budapest through the Institute of International Education. I am enrolled at the College of Arts and take courses in Hungarian literature and history, 27 hours in all. In addition to this, I teach English at a branch of the University, the Institute of social science. I have three courses in English: English grammar, English literature, and American History, six hours in all. So, I have 33 hours each week in Hungarian and English, plenty to keep me busy always. But I enjoy my work thoroughly and like to be "on the job."

I supplement my academic work by doing some social research on the side. Through a friend at the Ministry of Education I have made some good connections and thus I am admitted to many places where I can study social conditions at first hand. Already I have visited many factories, welfare institutions, hospitals, libraries, museums, schools, and churches. I have been to the homes of rich and poor, the educated and illiterate, the polished city-gentleman and the simple country peasant. These experiences have given me a depr insight into the real social life of the Hungarian people, and I have a new appreciation of their education and culture.

Wherever I go I am received cordially, not only because I am an American but even more so because I am an American whose forefathers were Hungarians. Thus I represent the period of transition which bridges the old and the new Hungarian civilization. I frequently have opportunity to speak at various meetings about America, where I try to give a true description and a fair interpretation of life in our great United States. Thus I do my little bit in bringing about a more sympathetic attitude and closer friendly relation between America and Hungary. Often I preach at the various Baptist churches here and while I give the Gospel message I also tell the folks about our wonderful Baptist movement in America. The Baptists in Hungary compromise a small—about 12,000—but rapidly growing group of devoted Christians. Much more could be accomplished if our more able American brothers would "lend a hand."

Several weeks ago I had the unique experience of visiting Tiszakarad, the little village where my dear parents were born. It was a touching moment when I first caught a glimpse of the village, several large clusters of small one-story, white-washed, thatched-roof cottages, snugly situated at the foot of a mountain, right on the banks of the winding Tisza-Theiss river. Then I met the relatives and friends—That was a very happy occasion—many of them who bid farewell to my parents when they left for America 40 years ago. It had an impressive sensation for me to be in the town, in the street, in the very house where my parents lived long years ago. This visit shall ever be a cherished and oft-recalled picture in the hall of my memory.

During the Christmas holidays I made an extended tour through the eastern part of the country. I stopped awhile at the principle towns and cities, and in every case the mayor was kind enough to show me the notable sights and institutions there. At Sarospatak I was in a college whose history dates back 400 years and at Rakozi I went through a fort standing since the XIIth century. At Ozd was the coal mine and at Diosgyor was the state steel mill, both of them the second largest of their kind on the Continent.

I have a great liking for Budapest. It is a truly beautiful city: on the one side of the wide Danube is Pest, this is the busy metropolis where one finds large business houses, heavy troffic, speedy taxis, subways, and hurrying crowds; on the other side of the river is Buda, the residential section with its long avenues, beautiful homes and large parks with groves and gardens. On the Pest bank is the classical gothic Hungarian Parliament, while opposite on a high promontory is the stately Royal Castle. Budapest combines what is new and practical in a modern city with that which is charming in an old historic center. Nature and man have made it the "Queen of the Danube."

I am returning to the States in June and plan to enter one of our Baptist Seminaries in the Fall. I pray the Lord's abundant blessings upon you and upon the work at Bucknell.

Yours very respectfully,
Emil Kontz.

Prof. Theiss Addresses Local Boy Scout Troop

Professor Lewis E. Theiss gave a talk on the history of the region surrounding Lewisburg at the last meeting of Boy Scout Troop number 14.

Professor Theiss told how Captain John Brady, Colonel John Brady, and other Pennsylvania pioneers had settled in this community. He also described the "Big Runaway" which occured about a year after the Wyoming Massacre.

"What could be more nerve-racking than to Black Bottom with a man with a wooden leg?" says Perey.

DIAMOND DUST
(Continued from Page 6.)

wholly to the diamond game at Bucknell as he is also a member of Coach Snavely's football eleven.

• • • •

Kozik did not even go out for football during his freshmen year, but in the freshmen-sophomore game Coach Snavely saw his worth and advised him to come out for the team. Last spring he reported for spring practice and in the fall qualified for a berth on the squad. The first gridiron engagement that he was even in was the Lehigh game in which contest Kozik performed creditably.

• • • •

Kozik started the Dickinson game last November and played impressively until withdrawn for a more experienced man. He is now faithfully engaged in spring football training and is earnestly striving to master the intricacies of the gridiron game. He has natural ability and all he needs is consistant practice which will provide him with the needed experience.

• • • •

Kozik is a fine defensive man, a timely blocker and a clean tackler. He has played better on the defense this spring than on the offense. He works hard and is willing to learn. He listens intentiively to all that Coach Snavely has to say and is always eager to accept suggestions. In this way Kozik's future is predicted to be a promising one both in football and baseball. Already he is a finished ball tosser both in the field and at the bat.

• • • •

It will not be a surprise if Kozik the slugger some day makes the big league grade. During his stay with the County League team, "Koz" attracted the attention of several minor league scouts. He has not been approached yet and will not desert the college campus until he finishes his pre-medical course. He is intent on graduating before listening to offers made by professional teams.

Little Bo Peep has lost her sleep
Because of the Sophomore Cotillion.
Boys leave her alone, let her stay home.
She's only one of a million!

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS

BUCKNELL—CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your cooperation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:
Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:
M .....
.....
.....
M .....
.....
.....
(Signed).....

Alden Davies Gives Fine Song Recital

Alden Davies, tenor, and graduate of Bucknell University with the class of 1919, presented a song recital in the Lewisburg Presbyterian church, Thursday evening, March 21, that was one of the most notable events of the musical season at Bucknell. Mr. Davies was assisted by Edward Hart, pianist.

Mr. Davies was very enthusiastically received in upper-class chapel Thursday morning, when he sang several short selections for the student body.

Mr. Davies' program Thursday night presented an interesting variety of songs, the numbers rangeing from the classics of Mendelssohn and Schubert to recent compositions by Rachmaninoff and Richard Kountz.

Although a number of Mr. Davies' songs were in the lighter vein his program won the approval of his audience and measured up to the high musical standard that he had set as guest soloist with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Hart, who is one of the leading young pianists now before the public, played as solos two compositions by Debussy, "Ballade," and "Jardins sous la pluie."

ALDEN DAVIES SINGS FOR CHAPEL SERVICE

The student body was unusually fortunate on Thursday, March 21, in upper-class chapel by having Alden Davies, '19, sing several selections.

Mr. Davies sang "Charity" by Huldman, "I Have Heard You Singing," by Harry Coates, and the "Morning Hymn" by Pendel. Mr. Davies came to Lewisburg primarily to give a concert in the Presbyterian church, but at the request of assistant professor Harry R. Warfel consented to sing in chapel.

Mt. Carmel Wins Debating Contest for Coveted Cup

Mount Carmel emerged victorious from the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating Contest, sponsored by Bucknell University, when they defeated Williamsport on Friday evening, March 22. Mount Carmel will be awarded the Lee Francis Lybarger trophy, presented each year to the winner of the contest. The teams of both Williamsport and Mount Carmel will be the guests of the Bucknell sponsors at a banquet which will be held in the near future.

Williamsport, for the past several years, has always managed to keep in the running until the finals, then to be vanquished by their last existing foe. This year proved no exception for them. The question debated was, "Resolved, that water power projects should be owned and operated by federal and state governments instead of by private interests."

Freshmen Cabinet Presents Dr. J. W. Rice as Lecturer

On Tuesday evening in B6, Professor John W. Rice, '14, delivered an illustrated lecture on "The Biology of Human Relations," under the auspices of the freshmen Y. M. C. A. cabinet of which Walter Grimm, '32, is president.

About sixty young men took advantage of the opportunity presented by the "Y" organization. Dr. Rice gave an especially fine talk on the ever-present problem of biological human relations and his presentation was vivified by the use of two reels of moving pictures. This lecture was a part of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet's plan to place itself at the service of the student body in aiding them to solve vital problems.

15 FRESHMEN INVITED TO JOIN THE FRIARS

The Friars, national honorary sophomore fraternity, successfully bid 15 candidates, from the freshman class, last Monday morning, when the formal rushing season came to a close. Those privileged to wear the coveted white ribbon are: E. R. Beard, B. W. Brown, E. E. Burdage, C. L. Goodwin, J. Griffiths, R. G. Hamer, J.R. Hatton, C. N. Hoak, F. Koehler, J. H. McMurray, D. S. Mills, J. B. Stevenson, E. C. Sullivan, W. N. Sweet, and W. A. Wilkinson.

These men will be initiated during the month of May at which time they will take over the active control of the organization and make plans for next year's activities.

"I hear your grandpa's a sexagenarian."

"Oh, my—I should says so—he's just awful, in spite of his age."

The hole in the doughnut was invented by some fresh air fiend.

Summer Session Catalogues Ready for Distribution at The Registrar's Office

The Bucknell University Summer Session Catalogues containing information about the summer sessions, the week-end school, and the extension courses are now available. Copies of the bulletin were placed today in Registrar W. H. Holter's office and in the summer session office. Students desiring catalogues may obtain them by calling at the registrar's office or at the office of the director of the summer session.

The Summer Session of 1929 will begin on Monday, July 1, and continue until Friday, August 9. The Session will be open to teachers, undergraduates, graduate students, high school graduates, and auditors.

During the course of the session students will have the opportunity to make supervised trips to Gettysburg, Eagles Mere, the Pennsylvania State Forest Reserve, Kitchen's Creek, Penn's Cave, Woodward Cave, and Blue Hill.

BRIDEGUM COMES THROUGH

By "Mac" McElgot

One of the sidelights of last evening's game between the Theta U's. and the S. A. E's. was brought to light here today when it was found that Johnny Bridegum, who had not scored a point for two seasons, came through with a valuable field goal last evening which aided materially in the T. U. O's. notable win.

Johnny said that he had waited a long time for that field goal and was glad to have made it in the championship game. When asked why he couldn't score, Johnny complained that a jinx had been relentlessly pursuing him now for two years.

After scoring in a sensational manner last evening Bridegum is confident now that he has shaken off the dreaded jinx that has lurked near him for so long a period.

Bridegum is a quiet and unassuming chap who hails from Hainsport, N. J. He is commonly known as the "Hainsport Youth." He is a civil engineering student and last semester his name was on the honor roll.

He has been a faithful T. U. O. player for three seasons, and has played on first place teams and on cellar aggregations. But to him every game is the same—he is always in there fighting.

A little humor, mixed with sentiment, is connected with Johnny's recent scoring act. Early today a certain admirer of Bridegum in Nutley, N. J., will receive a telegram sent out from Lewisburg, Pa. This happy message will bear the following words:

"Theta U's, win—Bridegum finally scores."

The recipient of said message will probably read it, shout with joy and then breath a sigh of relief. The suspense was over—"Bridegum had scored!!"—Yes—that certain Nutleyite had waited for two long years to receive that telegram.

MEN DEBATERS WIN 3 AS GIRLS SPLIT EVEN

(Continued from Page 1)

Prof. W. H. Coleman and his team left Lewisburg on Monday, March 18 for Waterville, Me., and because they missed train connections in Boston, they did not arrive at Colby College until a short time before the hour set for their first debate, on Tuesday evening.

The Bucknell team lost this debate when the judges gave a 2-1 decision to the Colby team.

The next contest scheduled was with the University of Maine at Orono, Me. This team is regarded as the strongest in the state, but the Bison trio defeated them by a score of 3-0.

Leaving Orono immediately after the debate, the team traveled to Middlebury, Vt., where on March 22, they met and defeated the Middlebury College team by a 2-1 decision of the judges.

The following contest of the Bucknell trio is regarded by Prof. Coleman as one of the cleverest debates he has ever attended. This debate which was vividly described by Prof. Coleman in the upper-class chapel last Tuesday was with New York University in New York City on March 25. It was agreed before this contest that the vote of the audience would decide the debate, and although it would seem natural for the New York audience to be prejudiced against the Bucknell team because of their viewpoint in the argument, and a natural tendency to be true to the local boys, when the decision was called for, all of the members of the audience with the exception of two voted for the Bucknell team.

Tonight the men's team will have their last debate of the season when they meet Williams College at Williamstown, Massachusetts.

Alpha Chi and Phi Mu Win in Court Games

The Alpha Chi Omega and the Phi Mu basketball teams were respective winners over the Delta Delta Delta and the Zeta Gamma Tau girls Tuesday night in the Tustin gymnasium. The Alpha Chis won by a 33-26 score while the Phi Mus beat the Zeta Gamma Taus, 16-4.

Both victories were hard fought. The Tri Delt-Alpha Chi game was the first of the elimination series, the remaining of which will be played after the holidays.

"Betty" Rodenbeck, '31, and "Peg" Bunting, '31, as forwards for the Tri-Delts did much towards bringing up their score during the last quarter of the game. "Polly" Brick, '31, was high scorer for the Alpha Chis. The winning of this game puts the Alpha Chi team in line for the trophy.

At the end of the first quarter of the Phi Mu-Zeta Gamma Tau game, the score was 2-2 and it looked as if it was going to be a close fight. The team work of both teams was rather wild and irregular but in the second half, Phi Mu rallied, and by the aid of Doris Anthony, '32, who scored 10 points, won by a 16-4 margin. This puts Phi Mu in first place in League II with a chance to play in the elimination games. Their first game of this series will be with the Pi Beta Phis. The winner of this game will play the Alpha Chis in the finals.

Edna Craft, '30, Elected President of Y. W. C. A.

Edna M. Craft, '30, was elected president of the Y. W. C. A. for the coming year as a result of the elections held at the Women's College yesterday. Other officers are: "Bobby" Slifer, '31, vice president; Ruth Christian, '32, secretary; and Helen W. Jones, '31, treasurer.

Since her freshman year "Eddie" Craft has been active in "Y" circles at the "Sem," being president of the freshman commission, and a member of the cabinet her sophomore and junior years. Last year she was sent as delegate to the Detroit convention, and represented the sophomore girls at the annual Eagles Mere conference. "Eddie" is also active in the W. A. A., of which organization she is treasurer.

T. U. O. CAPTURES 1ST BY SCORE OF 23-20

(Continued from Page 1.)

He had received a minor shoulder injury in the Lambda Chi game.

This indeed was a crushing blow. For on Monday evening Fleming, standing in midcourt, had caged the last second field goal that had enabled DeFillippo's team to bring to a thrilling close the Lambda Chi's supremacy on the court.

Two Players Crippled

Last evening the winners started with two of their best men on the bench. Besides Fleming, Ramon DeFillippo, Bucknell's greatest fraternity basketball player of all time, was also on the sidelines when the opening whistle blew. But once the game was under way the lure of fraternity loyalty was too great for the valiant "Flip" to resist.

Although suffering from a severely infected elbow, the determined DeFillippo, hopelessly crippled for offensive work, reported to the referee ready to break into action.

The undefeated T. U. Os., instilled with further spirit, took on a new lease of life. Both teams fought like fury during the first half which ended 16-8 with the winners at the short end of the score.

During the opening period the losers had assumed a commanding lead mainly through the phenomenal scoring efforts of "Bail" Ammerman, the Tyrone sharpshooter. Ammerman played himself out during the hectic first period, during which he amassed a total of nine points, representing four field goals and a lone charity toss.

The former New York Military Academy schoolboy sensation was unstopable during the 20 minutes that represented the first half. On two occasions Ammerman tossed in double deckers while traveling at full speed. Another pair of field goals were registered by Ammerman from difficult side angles.

In all the S. A. E. star was responsible for more than half the points that his team scored during that exciting first chukker. Klein, lanky center, contributed to the S. A. E. scoring column in the initial stanza by caging a neat twin decker from under the basket. Captain "Eddie" Halicki, provided the losers with their only other first period field goal in the closing minutes of the first half. The versatile Hinkle was guarded closely and his offensive efforts were represented only by a pair of foul throws.

Winners Trail At Half Time

When the final whistle blew indicating the close of the first half the S. A. E. team had doubled the score on the conquerors of the Lambda Chis. While the losers were gathering 16 points, the Mitchelmen, in the meantime, had piled up eight tallies.

"Bill" Griffith registered two field goals and a foul during the opening session while Doty was the only other T. U. O. to tally a double decker.

During the final twenty minutes the winners staged the same kind of a Garrison finish that had swept them to a triumph over the Lambda Chis on evenings before. "Bill" Griffith, who played a bangup game during the entire tussle, came through with another pair of field goals while Beckerman, Doty, and Bridegum tallied one double decker each.

It was Griffith, who in the last minute of play, dropped in the field goal which assured the T. U. O. men a victory. Griffith, traveling down floor in the direction of his basket at top speed, released a toss for the basket which was good for two points.

The last minute of play was a bitterly fought one. The S. A. Es., with defeat staring them in the face, tried in vain to sink in long ones. Ammerman and Jones missed heartbreakers and when the shrill of the final whistle was heard the T. U. Os. were in possession of the ball.

"Bill" Griffith was the big hero in the T. U. Os. victory. The Nesquehoning youth captured the high scoring honors of the game with fohr field goals and a trio of fouls, totaling 11 points. Griffith's dribbling was excellent and his passes were accurate. He tossed in field goals in an amazing manner which furnished the crowd with several thrills. Griffith, like DeFillippo, was a member of the Campus Five when that aggregation was tossed out by the Lambda Chis in two championship games a few years back.

Ammerman Again Stars

The offensive attack of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon team was centered around Wilbur Ammerman, who accounted for a quartet of field goals and a foul for a nine point total. All of Ammerman's offensive contributions came in the first half.

Captain "Eddie" Halleki kept his team in the game every minute by driving them with relentless force. The fine Bison athlete tossed in a pair o ffield goals and a foul for five points which aided his team materially.

"Flip" DeFillippo, although he did not score any field goals, played one of the best games of his career. His injured arm rendered him helpless so far as scoring field goals was concerned. However his worth to his team was brought out in his sharp and accurate passes and his fine all around teamwork and judgment.

Tonight at the Tustin Gymnasium the second game of the series will be played. If the T. U. Os. win they will receive the cup. If Captain Halicki's quintet wins, another game todetermine the championship will be necessary.

The line-up:

Theta U's.	Field	Foul	Total
Beckerman, f	1	0	2
Griffith, f	4	3	11
Ebner, c	0	3	3
De Fillippo, c	0	1	1
Doty, g	2	0	4
Bridegum, g	0	0	2
Total	8	7	23

S. A. E's.	Field	Foul	Total
Ammerman, f	4	1	9
Hinkle, f	0	2	2
Klein, c	2	0	4
Halleki, g	2	1	5
T. Jones, g	0	0	0
C. Jones, g	0	0	0
Total	8	4	20

Score by periods:

T. U. O.	8	15—23
S. A. E.	16	4—20

Referee—Van Why.
Scorer—"Mac" McElgot.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

ATTENTION GIRLS ATTENTION
Let us store your Winter Fur Coat away for the season.
We are equipped for up-to-date storage. Insurance carried on each coat.
NOW IS THE TIME TO DO IT.
KRAUSE'S STORAGE 419 MARKET ST. Next to the Gift Shop

Get your Kodak out!
Count on us for Kodak Film -- Expert Finishing

and with
SPRING AND TENNIS
so near at hand, just dig up your old Racquet now and let us restring it today. Don't be caught unprepared when the season opens.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
announces the following gifts-
$1,250,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr. to purchase a New Campus and erect New Buildings.
$ 460,000 from Alumni and Friends to provide additional educational facilities, including the Rauschenbuach Endowed Memorial Lectureship
These new advantages will be used to improve and enhance the educational objectives
Graduate Scholarships ($400 each) and Fellowships ($1200 each) for advanced specialized study.
See 1928-29 Catalogue for details.

HERE IT IS!!
Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!
AMOUNT - - - - - - - - $10,000.00
ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)
Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

EASTER, MARCH 31st
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00. Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand Printed Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

Spring
That magic word that means flowers, green grass and new clothes. Your spring recess will soon be here -are you ready to meet the occasion
Smart new sport suits with knickers, sweaters, golf hose, sport shoes, shirts and ties-everything to make up the best Spring Ensemble to your taste, and your type.
You'll be able to make plenty of "Whooppee" if attired in one of our new sport outfits during vacation.
Montgomery's
AT BUCKNELL

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC. LEWISBURG, PA.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., FRIDAY, APRIL 12, 1929. NUMBER 26

HEAR COLORED ORATOR MONDAY NIGHT—8:15 COMMENCEMENT HALL

FIRST BASEBALL GAME B. U. vs. ALBRIGHT SATURDAY AFTERNOON

House Passes Bill to Subsidize High School Training Teachers

Prof. F. G. Davis Recommended Plan in 1927 After a 3-year Study of State Situation

EDUCATORS NOW AWAIT GOVERNOR'S SIGNATURE

A bill providing for the "payment to certain school districts of moneys for the compensation of teachers and administrators of high schools engaged in training student-teachers of accredited colleges and universities" passed the state House of Representatives approved the bill, and it now tatives yesterday. A week ago the awaits the signature of the governor.

Such a scheme for subsidizing training teachers in high schools was recommended by Prof. F. G. Davis, head of the Department of Education at Bucknell, at a meeting of college teachers of education in Pennsylvania which met at Harrisburg in December 1927. The suggestion came as a result of a three-year study made by Prof. Davis of the practice teaching situation in the state. College professors at the Harrisburg gathering expressed their approval of the recommendation, and a committee was appointed to confer with the state superintendent. Included in this committee with Prof. Davis were: Dr. W. O. Allen, Lafayette College; Dr. F. H. Kramer, Gettysburg College; and Dr. F. A. Henke, Allegheny College.

Prof. Davis Is Instrumental

Prof. Davis was not only the originator of the plan for compensating the state training teachers, but was very instrumental in placing the bill before the legislative bodies, and securing its passage. Together with Prof. J. H. Eisenhauer, who accom-

(Continued on last page.)

MR. BUCHER WILL SPEAK HERE AGAIN

"Classic Germany" to be Subject Of Talk on November 11

John George Bucher, whose lectures on Germany have proved so delightful to Bucknell audiences, has been secured by Professor L. L. Rockwell for another appearance on the campus next fall.

Mr. Bucher will speak on November 11, on the subject "Classic Germany." Last year he discussed modern Germany; this year his lecture was on "Romantic Germany," with views of many of the picturesque old cities.

Next year he will discuss and present in pictures the artistic contribution of Germany to the world, with views of famous German paintings, statues, and the like.

It seems peculiarly fitting that Mr. Bucher, whose lectures are promoted by the Bureau of Commercial Economics of the national department of public instruction in the interests of international understanding, should offer this contribution to mutual knowledge and understanding between Germany and the United States on the evening of Armistice Day.

1929 COMPLETE SCHEDULE OF B. U. SPORTS JUST RELEASED

W. L. Donehower, the Varsity Athletic Outfitter has published a handy and complete schedule of all the 1929 spring and summer sports at Bucknell. This schedule covers varsity baseball, freshman baseball, varsity tennis and track sports.

A wide distribution of these schedules has been made on the Hill and to the fraternity houses. Additional copies can however be obtained at Donehowers—424-426, Market street, Lewisburg.

"VINCE" McHAIL, '28, IS SUCCESSFUL COACH

Vincent P. McHail, who last summer was located in Milton, this year successfully coached the debating team of Mount Carmel High School to victory.

Mr. McHail is an instructor in Mt. Carmel High, and while he was a student at Bucknell University, he was editor of the Bucknellian, the college paper.—Sunbury Daily.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Well Known Lecturer To Address Students Here Next Thursday

Sherwood Eddy, Noted Author, Expects To Be On Campus

Sherwood Eddy, internationally known author, traveler, and lecturer, is expected at Bucknell next Thursday, according to the plans announced by president Frank B. Loper, at the meeting of the "Y" cabinet, Wednesday evening.

Mr. Eddy will spend Tuesday and Wednesday at State College, and hopes to be able to spend a day or possibly two on the local campus before leaving for a series of meetings in the Middle West.

The student world knows Sherwood Eddy as a prolific author and dynamic lecturer. His recent books "Sex and Youth" and "Religion and Social Justice" have been enthusiastically received. As a lecturer he has been very much in demand at the larger student conferences.

Outside the student world Mr. Eddy is best known as a traveler and student of world economics. For the past five or six summers he has led seminar groups through Europe, making a first hand study of social, industrial, and political situations. These seminars have included students, professors, and national leaders.

As a manufacturer, Sherwood Eddy has put into practice his conception of a Christian technique in industry. He has accepted no profits from his business over a score of years, turning all excess proceeds to the support of social, economics, and religious enterprises. Mr. Eddy visits the colleges without financial remuneration, requiring only his local expenses.

Y. W. Cabinets Plan Trout Run Retreat

Miss Bessie Traber, Teacher In The Philippines To Speak

The old and new Y. W. C. A. cabinets will retreat to Trout Run the week-end of April 20 it was announced by Edna Craft, '30, who is in charge of the program. Miss Bessie Traber of Philadelphia who will be the guest of the "Y" at that time is a missionary at Doane's School for girls in the Philippines, and is home on a furlough. Dean Amelia Clark will likewise be a guest during the week-end.

The girls will leave Saturday noon for Trout Run, where they have been granted the use of Dr. West's and Prof. Warfel's cabins. Miss Traber will speak to the group Saturday night and also Sunday afternoon, leading them also in their discussions, and aiding them with their plans for the coming year with a view to strengthening the position of the organization on the campus.

Dean Amelia Clark will lead the group in devotionals on Sunday morning, and will undoubtedly be of invaluable assistance in helping the cabinets to map out a program for the coming year.

Louise Rinck is in charge of the eats, and though all requests for "favorite dishes" come to her, she has a substatial committee to do the work. Marie Trunk will be responsible for assigning sleeping quarters, and Carolyn Keiser is in charge of the music.

WEIDENSAUL TO TEACH IN LEWISBURG SCHOOL

At the meeting of the Lewisburg Board of Education held last week, Albert G. Weidensaul, '29, was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Verna Medley, teacher of mathematics and geography in the seventh and eighth grades in the South Ward building, Lewisburg.

Mr. Weidensaul, who will be graduated from Bucknell in June, will assist the supervisor of music in the Lewisburg schools, in addition to teaching the regular subjects.

Taylor-Mohr Tied In "Y. M." Elections

Yust, Neisser, and Lord Elected To Fill Other Offices

The Y. M. C. A. elections for the ensuing year were held yesterday resulting in a tie between Charles Mohr, '30, and Raymond Taylor, '30, for president, and the election of Frederick Yust, '31, vice president, Philip Neisser, '32, secretary, and Donald Lord, '31, treasurer.

The candidates picked by the Seniors of the present "Y" cabinet and the faculty advisors, Prof. C. M. Bond and Prof. O. S. Groner were: president, Charles Mohr and "Ray" Taylor; vice president, Frederick Yust, '31, William Genne, '31, and Alan Grinsted, '31; secretary, Philip Neisser, '32, George Abernathy, '32, and Arthur Gulden, '32; treasurer, Clement C. Jablonski, '32, and Donald Lord, '31.

The draw between Mohr and Taylor will be decided in a vote to be taken in the near future. The balloting yesterday was held in the hall of Main College near the bulletin board between the hours of 10:30 A. M. and 1:00 P. M.

The officers whose terms expire at the end of the present semester are president, Frank B. Loper, '29; vice president, Raymond Taylor, '30; secretary, John Anderson, '31; and treasurer, Paul Fink, '29.

Enrollment Limited For Summer Course In Practice Teaching

Students desiring to enroll for the Bucknell Summer School with a view to taking the work in the demonstration school are urged to see Professor J. H. Eisenhauer in the Summer Session office in Main building as soon as possible.

"The ability to take care of those who wish to enroll is limited," said Professor Eisenhauer today. "The number of students we can accommodate is determined by the number of grade school children who will attend the demonstration school and thus serve as subject material. Those desiring to enroll should indicate that fact as soon as possible."

A number of undergraduates have already signified their intention of taking their practice teaching work in this manner.

The advanced registration in the Summer Sessions has been very gratifying. At the present time the enrollment is double what it was at this same time last year.

STATION MASTER SAYS GO; HEPP IS AGREEABLE

An all too conscientious station master nearly broke up Prof. S. C. Ogburn Jr's, pilgrimage to the manufacturing district of Pittsburgh last week.

Fred Hepp, '29, along with 10 other chemical engineers, all members of Prof. Ogburn's chemistry 310 class, had spent a profitable but weary day inspecting manufacturing plants and digesting data concerning plant design, operating costs, and what-not. Fred decided that a bit of rest would not be amiss, so while waiting for the train at Wilson, Pa., that would carry the party back to headquarters in Pittsburgh, he stretched out on a spacious but shop worn bench.

Mr. station master, referring to part 7, section 21, concerning damage to R. R. property, promptly requested Mr. Hepp to leave silently and without ado.

Mr. Hepp with ten stalwarts to back him up, politely refused. Mr. station master threatened to call a train crew. Mr. Hepp left. It was an embarassing situation!

However, aside from this, the trip was both pleasant and profitable. In all, 14 plants were visited and helpful data secured, to be used as the basis of future class room discussion.

The party was entertained by A. H. Reismeyer, '28, at dinner and a general get-together at the Keystone Athletic Club on last Tuesday evening.

KNOWN AS "THE BLACK DEMOSTHENES"

William Pickens, Field Worker for the National Society for Advancement of Colored People, nationally known as an educator and Public Speaker, who will speak in Commencement Hall, Monday evening at 8:15.

Colored Orator Will Treat With Negro Question

Wm. Pickens, Noted Educator, To Tell Bucknell Students Problems of His Race

TALENTED AFRICAN IS AUTHOR OF MANY BOOKS

William Pickens who comes to speak to Bucknell students in Commencement Hall, Monday night at 8:15, boasts of an unusual record. A descendant of a race of people who during the slave days were so illiterate that (as he points out in his autobiography) there were "Negroes who had been induced to go to Africa under the persuasion that bread trees grew there right on the brink of molasses ponds, and wild pigs with knives and forks sticking in their backs trotted around ready baked," this brilliant negro has risen to great heights in the educational world. The grandson of an African slave women whose back had been broken by a "flogging" at the hands of a cruel master, he holds an A. M. an Litt. D., and an L. L. D.

From his earliest years, Mr. Pickens has been an eager scholar. As a youngster, he was accustomed to read his lessons over three times at the end of which he could recite them ver batim. In spite of the fact that a negro was supposed to be unable to think, the boy Pickens recalls only once when he received less than 100 in arithmetic and always his mark in Latin was perfect.

After working his way through high school, he applied for admittance at Talladega College in Alabama, and showed such mastery of

(Continued on last page.)

Dr. Wade Interprets Dickens' Characters

Gives Murder of Nancy Sikes and Trial for Breach of Promise

On Thursday evening, March 28, a novel entertainment came to Hackneli in the form of an impersonation of Dickens' characters by Dr. Francis Henry Wade, a well-known author and lecturer. Dr. Wade came under the auspices of the Artist Course committee, and his entertainment was the first literary one which Bucknell has had this year.

Dr. Wade's renditions were rather unusual. He represented effectively the whimsicalities of the various characters which Charles Dickens has so delightfully drawn.

Dr. Wade led his audience from comedy to tragedy, and he made his auditors feel the human sympathy which the author develops for his characters. Especially interesting was his rendition of the murder of Nancy Sikes, from "Oliver Twist." The tragedy of this scene was keenly felt by the audience, and its realistic intensity drew great applause from the listeners.

From sympathy to laughter, Dr. Wade took his audience, and comedy was at its height in his recitation of the trial of the suit for breach of promise of marriage in the "Pickwick Papers."

Dr. Wade gave his audience a greater understanding of the oddities of the novelist's characters by his realistic imitation. He revived the characters and made the audience live in a Dicken's world, a delightful world of eccentric and bizarre figures.

On Friday, March 29, Dr. Wade spoke to students of osciology. He delighted them with his keen wit.

Y. W. Cabinet Announced At Tea Given at Home Of Dean Amelia M. Clark

At a tea given at the home of Dean Amelia Clark it was announced that the following girls would serve on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet for 1930: Program, "Edo" George; Social, "Dot" Showalter; and Music, "Mid" Walton. The general plan for the cabinet has been changed, and instead of having a large number serve on the board, many of the committees have been eliminated, while the duties will be assumed by the officers.

The secretary will be chairman of publicity, and the treasurer will have complete charge of the financia program. A new feature will be the presence on the cabinet of the president of the Commuter's League, and as usual the president of the Freshmen Commission will sit with the group.

Debaters Break Even On New England Trip

Annual Banquet Will be Held at Cameron House Tonight

The Bucknell men's debating team debating the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that the American jury system should be abolished," and consisting of Edgar Lare, '30, Ned T. Raker, '31, and David Evans, '32, finished their New England trip with a final score of having won three, lost three, and tied one debate.

The team left Lewisburg on March 18 on a two weeks trip. They were defeated by Colby College team, and won decisions over the University of Maine, Middlebury College, and New York University.

The Bucknell trio met Hobart College team in Geneva, N. Y., and lost the debate by a 2-1 decision. From Geneva they traveled to Clark College and were again defeated 2-1. The debate with Clark was held in a high school about thirty miles from the college and the audience numbering two hundred was composed of children ranging in age from 6 to 16.

The last debate of the trip, with Williams College at Williamstown, Massachusetts, on March 28, resulted in a tie.

While the Bucknell team was debating with New York University and during the speech of Lare, a member of the audience stood up and interrupted proceedings by giving his opinion on the Sacco-Vanzetti case that held the interest of the world about a year ago. The radical who might have started a "free for all" argument was hurriedly removed.

While in New York city the members of the team met the world famous Dr. Fosdick and later met Dr. W. L. Moody, son of the noted evangelist.

The members of the Bucknell debating teams will enjoy their annual banquet tonight at the Cameron House. The Lee Francis Lybarger debating cup will be presented to the Mount Carmel High School debaters who were the winners in the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating League.

MRS. McCORMICK HAS ARTICLE IN MAGAZINE

Mrs. McCormick who gave her course on the "Art of Living" last year at Bucknell, has an article, "The Terrors of Getting Engaged" in the April issue of the Catholic World. This article was taken from the first lecture in her course given to the students at Bucknell. Mrs. McCormick is an Episcopalean, but finds the Catholic World sympathetic to her ideas on marriage. Most magazines now are producing such ultra-modern ideas on that line.

DR. C. ARBUCKLE TALKS IN CHAPEL

Challenges Students To Have The Courage To Believe

"All great achievements are made by believers," said Dr. C. N. Arbuckle, of the Newton Theological Seminary, at Newton Center, Mass., who addressed the students in upper-class chapel, Thursday, April 11. Dr. Arbuckle's witty and vital remarks were well received by his audience.

"The young man of today complains that he is forced to make many important decisions before he is well equipped to do so," he said. "But only the young have the courage to enter some professions. Only the young have the courage to believe some of the great truths of life, and if a man doesn't marry while he is young he'll lose his courage to do that."

After speaking briefly of the modern technique of wooing, Dr. Arbuckle pointed out the value of having some beliefs in a world that is as misty as ours. "We must make some assumptions in the field of theology. It's just as easy to believe that there is something beyond life as it is to believe that there is nothing, but the man who believes that there is something beyond will have a much happier life than the agnostic who will find little comfort in is belief.

"The question that faces young people today is, can you be sport enough to believe that which you think in your heart is true and that for which you long? Do you have the courage to take a moral risk?"

BURPEE AND KONKLE HEADS OF MOTOR CLUB

Prof. F. E. Burpee, of Bucknell University, was elected president of the Lewisburg Motor association at a recent meeting held in the engineering building of the University. Instructor George M. Konkle was chosen treasurer. There are now 300 members in the organization.

Professors Invest in Pontiacs

Two Bucknell professors took advantage of the opportunity accorded by the Spring vacation and purchased new automobiles.

Professor M. L. Drum began driving his new Pontiac coach last week while Professor S. C. Ogburn initiated his new Pontiac sedan.

Chaplain Shrum, '08, Addresses Clio Club On Patriotic Ideals

Bucknell students who have always received Lieutenant Commander R. W. Shrum, '08, so cordially, when he has spoken in chapel, will be interested in the following account from the Williamsport Sun, of his recent talk to the Williamsport Clio Club.

That it has ever been the abiding heritage of women to carry the burden of providing ideals was stressed recently in an address before the Clio club by Lieutenant Commander Reuben W. Shrum, chaplain of the presidental yacht Mayflower at the Woman's club house.

With the specific topic "Woman and Patriotic Ideals," Lieutenant-Commander Shrum developed many thoughts of artistic and patriotic ideals, as well as those of faith and morals.

In spite of the great changes that have come about during the past few years and particularly since the closing of the World War, said Chaplain Shrum, women do stand for the very finest in life and are necessarily back of all great progressive activities and particularly those in the religious field. In closing, the speaker pointed out that it behooves us to recall that men shall not live by bread alone; that it is always necessary to have a great idealism.

Lieutenant-Commander Shrum is well known in this city, where he has spoken before. Since the decommission order of President Hoover for the Mayflower, Chaplain Shrum will be re-located. Until June 15, he expects to remain in Washington as chaplain of the Navy Yard and Naval Hospital, after which date he has been ordered to report aboard the U. S. S. West Virginia, flagship of the battle division of the Pacific fleet. He will join his new ship in San Francsco.

Lieutenant-Commander Shrum is a graduate of Bucknell University and Princeton Theological seminary. He was pastor of the United Presbyterian church, Jersey City, but a short time when he entered into the World War, and was commissioned as a chaplain in the United States Navy.

In 1922 he was ordered to the U. S. S. Pittsburgh. At that time the Pittsburgh was flag ship of American forces operating in European waters. Chaplain Shrum was attached to this cruiser from 1922 to 1924, during which time the U. S. naval forces in the Mediterranean took part in the allied occupation of Constantinople following the Smyrna disaster; they also cruised some 30,000 miles and touched sixty-five ports of Europe, Asia Minor, and northern Africa. In 1924 Chaplain Shrum was ordered back to America and has been attached to the Navy Yard at Washington with special duty aboard the presidential yacht, U. S. S. Mayflower.

Two B. U. Barristers Figure in Same Suit

Two Bucknellians, George E. Deppen, '94, and Federal Judge Albert W. Johnson, '96, recently figured in an interesting legal case that is reported in the following article, from the Sunbury Item.

A decision by Referee in Bankruptcy George E. Deppen, of this city, was upheld in an opinion filed by U. S. Judge Albert W. Johnson, of Lewisburg, in federal court recently, in the case of the H. W. Moore, Co., Inc., bankrupt, of Bloomsburg.

Dan R. Erdman, of this city, is trustee of the More Company and the fight over the issue involved has been waged for more than two years.

The Magee Carpet Company, of Bloomsburg, owes some $7000 to the Moore Company, which it was desirous and willing to pay. The Bloomsburg Brick Company has a bill of $1230.70 against the Moore Company.

Attorney A. W. Duy, for the brick people, sought to get the full claim paid out of the Magee cash, under a clause in the Magee contract, favoring Bloomsburg creditors of the Moore Company.

Referee Deppen, who is represented by the law firm of Knight and Taggart of this city, and Senator W. H. Hackenburg, of Milton, decided that the $7,000 cash from the carpet company would have to go in with the other assets for distribution to all the creditors share ad share alike, with no favoritism toward any of them.

This position was upheld by the court in his opinion filed. The case is the first of its kind to be heard in Pennsylvania.

Six Per Cent on Probation

Six per cent of the co-eds enrolled in Indiana University are on probation this semester for poor scholarship.

Prof. F. A. Sprague Writes Of Bucknellians He Has Met

John Feaster, '30, has received an interesting letter from Professor F. A. Sprague, who is now on a leave of absence from Bucknell, and is studying for his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin. During the course of his letter professor Sprague mentions several Bucknellians and says:

"I ate dinner tonight at the cafeteria with Mr. Hirt, '26, from Altoona, who is here in the Law School. I often see him around the campus and we talk over the Bucknellian and its news together.

Last night I attended the initial showing of a new "talkie" at the Orpheum Theatre, featuring the Waring's Pennsylvanians and was interested to see Frank Hower at the piano. You remember Hower was a freshman last year at Bucknell playing with Noble's Orchestra. The picture was "Syncopation."

No doubt you have all enjoyed the recent vacation and it won't be long now until plans for Commencement will begin. My regards to all my friends at Bucknell."

'Dot' Wolverton Tells Of Albanian Schools

Bucknell students will be interested in the following letter, from a former Bucknell student, Miss Dorothy Wolverton, '28, to Ruth Schaum, sister of Grace Schaum, '30. Miss Wolverton, it will be remembered, is teaching in Albania. The letter follows:

Dear Ruth:

Just wish you could have been along the first day we arrived in Albania. We were met on the boat by an Albanian business man, a friend of the Directrix of our school. He helped us into a tiny row boat to shore, through the customs office, then his office to await a perfectly good Ford (European built with a steering wheel on the right hand side.) While sitting in this "stuffy, hot, rough room that someone had attempted to paper and weren't sure which kind of wall paper they cared for most, (for there were many spectmens stuck on the four walls), we were offered coffee—an Albanian custom as common as saying "howdy" in America. With perspiration just pouring off and wishing we'd been offered some Canada Dry or an ice cold lemonade instead of hot coffee—it's not American coffee either, it's Turkish powdered made with plenty of sugar in a tiny enamel pot scarcely the size of our ordinary tea cup with a long handle. The recipe for it is like "knit one, purl one," the water boils, put in three or four teaspoons of coffee and as many lumps of sugar, let come to a boil, draw from fire, shake down, let boil three times with a shake down between every one, then serve in tiny cups scarcely larger than thimbles, (you can't get your nose in).

We watched many Albanians come and go in the office. By their words and glances we decided that we were the topic of conversation. Never having heard a word of this strange language before we carefully listened for words to recognize. The first ones we tried to distinguish were the words for "yes" and "no." "Po" seemed to be the most commonly expressed and with voice intonations that expressed an affirmative reply, it was always accompanied with the negative shake of the head. This proved to be the case as we now learn and "Yo" is the negative reply and is accompanied by our affirmative nod of the head.

The Albanian vocabulary is not a large one but includes many beautiful expressions for wearing new clothing, going places, moving into a new house, oh! everything.

Yes, and they have examinations in Albania, too. They take on quite a serious air and frighten these highly nervous children almost sick. That is the most exciting thing they have to think about. America can never tell me that Americans are getting too nervous from "fast living;" but I should be tempted to uphold the latter in preference to excitement over nothing. The written exams were held together in the large dining room. The tables were long enough to seat nicely six girls at each table. For the written ones each teacher had to make a separate copy of the questions for each pupil. Carbon paper is very poor here so this was a quite a tedious job.

I certainly won't be able to see any room for complaints from any of the U. S. school children again when I know under what conditions children are working for an education here. There have been great text book difficulties, and two of my classes have been struggling with a single text book for all to use, including myself.

Must close now, Ruth. Will write more later.

Dot.

Former Bucknellian Is Responsible for Bald Eagle District

Bucknell students have for many years spent much time in study and recreation in the mountains of Union County, wherein are some of the finest of the State forests. Not all Bucknell students, however, know that these fine forests are under the direct supervision of a Bucknell man, District Forester Raymond B. Winter, who, in addition to being a graduate of the State Forest School at Mont Alto, also attended Bucknell as a member of the Students Army Training Corps during the war.

Mr. Winter is doing some interesting things in his forest, the Bald Eagle forest, this spring, as this article from the Sunbury Item indicates. Incidentally, Mr. Winter has jurisdiction over the second largest forest tract in the state, the Bald eagle forest lying in four counties.

One hundred thousand trees will be planted this season by a crew of ten men under the direction of a supervisor and considerable experimental work with chestnut and other trees are among the activities listed for the spring and summer by Raymond B. Winter, Mifflinburg, who is district forester in charge of the Bald Eagle district.

This extensive program will be carried out through the Department of Forests and Waters, under which bureau Mr. Winters serves. In addition, a campaign of watchfulness against the spring fire season is now being mapped out.

Three towermen will be placed on regular duty effective April 1, in the Bald Eagle district. There will also be three emergency rangers stationed at outlying points in addition to the regular seven rangers now working.

There are 118,974 acres of State owned forests in Mr. Winter's district and he must also look out for fires in some 160,000 acres of privately owned forests. Although several small woodland blazes have already occurred in his district this year, the danger will not materialize until April. During that month all over the state many fires usually rage. The woods are dry and rangers must be constantly on the alert to prevent fires from gaining a start. The Bald Eagle district has a favorable record and in comparison to other sections of the state, but few serious blazes occurred in this section during 1928.

Included in the district are Union and Snyder counties, and several townships in Centre and Clinton counties.

Ray Carlston, a senior at the Mt. Alto State Forestry school, will be sent to Mifflinburg next month to assist Mr. Winter in his work. Among the various trees which will be planted under Mr. Winter's direction, are principally red and white pines, Japanese larch and Norway spruce. Experimental work will be carried on with oriental species of the chestnut tree.

Mr. Winter is a native of Lycoming county. He was graduated from Mt. Alto in 1910 and has served in the State's employment since that time. He was the first district forester in Warren county and was stationed in the office at Harrisburg for a year. Most of the time however, he has been directing forestry work in the Bald Eagle district. He served in the United States Army during the World War and feels the happiest when trudging through the thick forest lands.

Delaware Receives $100,000 Organ

The former Longwood organ, one of the best in the country, has been donated to Delaware University by Mr. Du Pont. The organ is at present in the Longwood conservatory gardens of Mr. Du Pont. This organ complete will cost well over $100,000. Thus the University of Delaware will have one of the finest college organs.

Rats, $2—Hitch-hiker's Equipment

"Speedy" Ramsden, (John G., '31) of Dickinson University, recently hitch-hiked to Canada with six white rats in a cage. Hatless, and with a capital of two dollars, last year's "most popular" frosh went to Acton, Ontario.

B. U. Professers Speak at Scouts' Monthly Seminar

The scout executives of Central Pennsylvania held their regular monthly seminar at Bucknell University.

The high spots of the meeting were two addresses, "Fundamentals of Education," delivered by Prof. F. G. Davis and "Methods of Teaching," by Prof. Eisenhauer. Both are members of the university faculty.

The next seminar will be held April 18 and 19 at the Harrisburg Area Council Camp.

June 14 and 15 are the dates set for the Susquehanna Valley Area Council Jamboree. The Central Pennsylvania Jamboree is scheduled for the 28 and 29 of the same month.

—Sunbury Item.

"Professor," said the student, "I don't think I deserved a zero on this paper."

"Neither do I," said the professor, "but it was the lowest I could give you, and I had to put some mark on your paper."

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites. Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Pens-Pencils
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

For many years John Wards have been the college man's shoe. Here you may select, from a variety of styles, those which particularly suit your individual taste.
John Ward Men's Shoes
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J. NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1867 Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

FUNNY THINGS FRESHMEN HAVE DONE

BY A. E. BRENNER, '29

Here at Bucknell freshmen often do very strange things. Just why freshmen do these odd things no one exactly knows. Some say they do them in an effort to be collegiate; others do them because of their desire to be consciously different. Whatever the reasons may be, certainly new comers on the campus frequently do some curious things.

For instance, have you ever heard of the freshmen who wrote a letter to himself? If not, then consider the psychological effect that must have resulted when this particular freshmen wrote a letter to himself because he was homesick and wanted to hear from some one. When he received the letter he read that he was well and happy. If one may believe this freshman's statement, he immediately began to feel well and happy again because, since he had received a letter from himself saying that he was well and happy, how could he be otherwise? It must have been the truth.

At the present time there is a student at Bucknell who, when he was a freshman, took a room on the first floor of East College. Each year he has moved up one floor, until today, as a senior, he is living on the fourth floor.

Another freshmen kept a chart of the number of hours he slept during his first year here. This chart was so arranged that it indicated the day and the number of hours he devoted to sleep. Hours of sleep for a day ranged from none to fourteen. He slept the fourteen hours following a fraternity hazing party; the night he didn't sleep he stayed up and played poker for pennies.

Then there is the freshman who was caught by a sophomore breaking seven freshmen rules simultaneously. Names musn't be mentioned, but he was in the Class of '27, was an engineer, and had red hair. Incidentally his sobriquet was "Red." These are the rules he was violating at one time: he was "fussing," he wore colored socks, did not have a "dink" but was bare-headed, had his hands in his pockets, wore a colored tie, was smoking a cigarette, and did not speak. It was a case for council, and the report is that the case was well handled.

There is also the lamentable story of the freshman who bought the radiator in his room for three dollars, and who also signed up for a course in Roman band instruments under Professor Ballentine.

Several years ago a certain braggart freshman vowed that when the time arrived for the frosh-soph class scrap he would capture at least three sophomores. On the day of the fight this freshman was a few seconds late for the start. In mad haste he rushed from the dormitory down the hill toward Loomis field. Just before reaching the field, however, he stumbled and fell, and was unconscious for the next two hours. He did not even get into the fight.

Then there is the story of the freshman who averred he received an "A" in a course he never took. He had registered for the course, but had dropped it a week later. Somehow or other, he claims, his name was not removed from the records of the professor in the course, and his record being a clean one, he received an "A."

Consider also the case of the freshman who was so religiously inclined that he refused to study or read the newspapers on Sunday. He would always wait until the stroke of twelve Sunday night before he commenced to prepare his Monday assignment.

During the present freshmen class elections at the beginning of the year, a freshman by the name of James was nominated for the office of treasurer. Someone shouted at the meeting, "Let's elect 'Jesse' James our treasurer!" It so followed that he was promptly elected by popular acclamation.

CLASS MEMORIALS

by Elizabeth Figner

WRITTEN FOR THE CLASS IN FEATURE WRITING

"Classes come and classes go, But their memory goes on forever."

Many classes of Bucknell University, not wishing to be forgotten, have established memorials which have been in the forms of trees, gates, plaques, liberty bonds, and the like. These mementos may be found on or about the Bucknell campus with the exception of one memorial which is on the nearby peak of Mount Montour.

Until 1920 the establishment of the class memorials was managed entirely by the students. The faculty merely offered advice. The plans were financed by the members of the graduating class who each paid a small sum of money to the class president or to the class memorial committee.

Not every class presented a memorial to the University. Often plans were neglected or were unfruitful. A number of classes, however, did establish class memorials.

The mementos created previous to 1920 took the form of tablets or markers, and the following memorials may be found on the Bucknell campus: the 1865 class tree near the senior path; the 1875 class plaque on Old Main; the 1876 class tree near Loomis Field; a plaque on Old Main by the class of 1890; the ivy on Old Main planted by the class of 1899; the 1901 class tree close to the men's entrance to the campus; the stone gates opposite Bucknell Hall, given by the class of 1902; the class of 1904 memorial steps in front of Old Main, and tree near the 1902 stones; the 1905 memorial gates near Professor W. C. Bartel's home; a bridge in front of the Chemistry Building by the class of 1906; the clock on West College by the class of 1907; the 1908 memorial gates by the Chemistry Building; the cupola on the top of East College by the class of 1909; the sundial on the Quadrangle by the class of 1910; the cupola on Old Main by the class of 1911; the original system of class bells by the class of 1912; the lighting system in the library by the class of 1913; the 1917 class memorial gate at the entrance of Larison Hall; and the 1919 class memorial marker to Bucknell's World War dead, near the main entrance to the campus.

The class of 1874 adopted as their memorial a pine tree near Old Main. This tree, which stood in front of East Wing, has disappeared. The class of 1916 presented Liberty Bonds worth $450 to the University as their memorial.

The class of 1872, wishing to be original, established as their memorial a mound of stones. This cairn, however, was built on the top of Montour Mountain by the members of that class. It doubtless still remains today, although few know of its existence.

No definite plans were made for the payment for the 1919 class memorial, which is the tablet to the World War dead near the main entrance. At the request of the contractor, Professor M. L. Drum investigated, and found a fund had been collected, and that there was a balance in the Student Voluntary Budget for the memorial. The amount was insufficient, however, and letters were sent to the members of the class who had not previously made contributions. The amount was finally collected, and the debt paid.

Since that time in order that similar circumstances should not occur, the matter of the class memorials has been under faculty supervision. Now the student budget sets aside a sum of money each year as the class memorial fund. This money is interested in productive endowment for the University, unless the class requests other application of its fund. The amount now in the memorial reserve fund is, according to the reports of Treasurer J. T. Judd, $6,001. In addition to this, Professor Drum has $1,349.86 which is the amount to be used for the 1928 class memorial.

There are only a few classes under the present system that have specified a definite use for their portions of the reserve fund. The class of 1924 presented the Bucknell Library with a sum of money to be spent annually for books of travel and fiction. The class of 1927 bought books for the English Department, and the class of 1928 authorized that a sum of money be held until the new gymnasium is completed. At that time a gate or some sort of equipment will be presented to the University as the 1928 class memorial.

Thus we see that from time to time many gifts have been presented to the University by graduating classes. As a result there is a stronger and closer bond between the alumni and the undergraduate students.

Read the Bucknellian.

Whither away, Sir Knight?

There's a knightly warrior, immortalized by Mr. Stephen Leacock, who under the stress of intense excitement "mounted his horse and rode away in all directions." Whether he ever arrived is not recorded.

To us, this giddy hero is a perfect example of how not to make cigarettes. We hold that a cigarette is a smoke, and a good smoke is a blessing, so to that end alone have Chesterfields been ripened, blended and manufactured.

Mild as they are, not a jot of the true, rich tobacco flavor has been lost. When the best tobaccos on the market are bought you can be certain they'll deliver the taste. Chesterfields are as natural as a field of sweet clover; and they satisfy the taste superlatively well, always!

Once a man has checked up on the above pleasant news, there'll be no "riding away in all directions" for him!

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet..THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

B.U. Bookshelf

The Treasure House of Martin Hews

(by E. Phillips Oppenhiem)

Little, Brown and Co., 1929, $2.00

Reviewed by Kenneth Haynes, '31

When Mr. Oppenheim's thrilling mystery of Martin Hews ran serially in Collier's last year, it was known as "The Master of Sinister House." But since Little, Brown and Co., have put the story within its present purple binding, it has been titled "The Treasure House of Martin Hews." As far as titles go, both of these are artful enough to attract a prospective reader. However, whenever one of Mr. Oppenheim's manuscripts finds publication on American soil, his readers do not bother their heads about what it is called. They read it. "It is by Oppenheim," they say. That is enough; they are satisfied. Then they relax and await his next revelation in mystery.

This time our English friend has done something a trifle more unusual, and his "dear readers" have simply devoured it. In "The Treasure House" they have found a dexterous handling of a London gang war, a struggle between master minds, and murder. All of which the author is competent in making realistic, and which he intensifies by causing the Major Owston of the story to narrate it in the first person.

"Man is either a hunter, a lover, or a treasurer seeker." Martin Hews is the latter. From his motor-propelled cripple's chair at the fortified Breezeley Mansion, the legless master mind directs movements against the rival gang headed by Joseph, who is out for revenge because Martin Hews has deliberately starved his mother to death. Martin hires Major Owston—an army officer who has been in trouble—as a special agent to seek out Joseph.

As it happens, Major Owston (who isn't such a bad fellow after all) isn't very particular how he risks his life, and is forever being led into unseen traps prepared by the enemy. But he always manages to escape serious harm. How the Major searches for the illusive Joseph, who always eludes him by the use of clever disguises; and how he falls in love with Beatrice Essiter, the neice of Martin Hews, who later turns out to be Joseph's sister, carries the story through nearly four hundred exciting pages.

Throughout these pages, whether intentionally or otherwise, Mr. Oppenhiem has often stressed the wages of vanity. Likewise he has been inclined to concede his evil characters a marked sense of ego, which is lacking in his more moral personifications. In addition, he has taken care to define those characters vividly, and has devised specious motives for them in order to make their actions seem natural and unforced. But to attempt to moralize is perhaps to destroy the spirit of the novel. For "The Treasure House of Martin Hews" was written largely to entertain. When one picks it up, he has in his hand Mr. Oppenhiem's best novel since "The Great Impersonation."

The Lewisburg Journal, In Reminiscence Column, Notes Bucknellian's Birth

The Lewisburg Journal recently reprinted from its issue of March 12, 1897, the following items of interest to Bucknellians:

The Orange and Blue is the name of a bright and spicy four page weekly that made its first appearance on Tuesday morning. The paper is published by the students of Bucknell during the college year. (The Orange and Blue is the present Bucknellian).

Pennsylvania Beta chapter of the Pi Beta Phi fraternity entertained the members of different secret organizations of Bucknell, at the cosy home of Dr. William Leiser on last Friday evening. Mrs. Leiser received, assisted by Mrs. Lincoln Hully and Miss Allen. The fraternities having representation during the evening were Phi Kappa Psi, Sigma Chi, Phi Gamma Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, and Kappa Sigma.

From its issue of March 19, 1909, the Journal reprints this item about the treasurer of Bucknell University.

The congregation of the Lewisburg Baptist church at a recent meeting voted almost unanimously to not accept the resignation of their pastor, which was presented by Rev. Judd at a recent Sunday service.

One Quarter Time Spent in Work

The Syracuse Daily Orange announces recent findings to the effect that the average person spends 2,232 hours each year in work, or the equivalent of one-quarter of the time. It advocates a professor of leisure who would instruct students in ways to spend their leisure time in profit. It seems as though they are bound to find some way to make as work even when we're resting.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Clarence W. Cranford, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-Chief	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Dorothy Davies, '30 A. E. Frederick, '29
News Editor	Trennie Risley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Hazen, '31 H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor	J. Warren McElligot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandebbree, '31 R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Virginia R. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Figner, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30 Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Nathaniel Glazier, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32 Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leach, '30; F. M. Locke, '31; P. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '31.

CALENDAR

Friday, April 12—Pi Beta Phi informal, 7:30-10:30 p. m. Playroom in the new dormitory.

Theta Upsilon Omega informal, 7:30-10:30.

Saturday, April 13—Alpha Chi Omega informal, 8:00-11:45 p. m. Playroom in the new dormitory.

Delta Delta Delta formal, 8:00-11:45 p. m Tustin gymnasium.

Campus Club meeting, 7:30 p. m., Playroom in the new dormitory.

Monday, April 15—Sociology Society—William Pickens. Commencement Hall.

Tuesday, April 16—Campus Club meeting, 7:30 p. m. Playroom.

Thursday, April 18—Sherwood Eddy, 7:30 p. m. Bucknell Hall.

CONCERNING "BIG" MEN

Not a student in the class knew the answer. That is, all save one, and when this fact became apparent to the teacher (one J. S. Pleasant), he turned to the trio "colored" boy who was that one and said, "Well, 'Always Ready' will take it." "Always Ready" was William Pickens, later to become one of America's foremost orators, who is to address Bucknell students Monday night in Commencement Hall.

In bringing "The Black Demosthenes" (as he is sometimes termed), to Bucknell the Sociological Society is once more bringing a top-notcher to the campus, because William Pickens has always remained "ready." He was ready enough to enter Talladega College as a sophomore without ever having been a freshman. He was ready enough to win "straight—A" honors in Yale University where he was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa after two years. His readiness caused him to win the Yale oratorical contest his first year at the University. And now he is ready to represent the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, a position which, in order to accept he resigned the vice presidency of Morgan College in Baltimore.

A faculty member recently lamented the fact that so few "big" people are brought to speak to Bucknell students. He added that there was danger that soon the students might be unable to recognize a "big" man if they were to see one unless more such men are invited here. The Sociological Society boasts of bringing "big" men for the students to hear, such as the late Thomas Mott Osborne, Herbert Adams Gibbons, Norman Thomas, and others. William Pickens promises to be of the same high calibre, and Bucknell students should be ready to grasp the opportunity to hear him.

Furthermore, this Society intends to keep to the policy of inviting nationally and inter-nationally famous men. Already, Rabbi Wise of New York City has promised to appear at Bucknell some time during the first semester of next year.

With the coming of Pickens, the Sociological Department will have brought two noted men to Bucknell this year, the other being Norman Thomas. If other departments would follow suit and endeavor to secure a "big" man each semester, Bucknell would be brought into contact with great minds. Perhaps the new life which they could bring to us would aid the University to grow out of its traditional provincialism.

THIS TENNIS RACKET

The opening of the tennis season at Bucknell invariably brings with it the perennial irritation relevant to the use of the campus tennis courts. As the situation now stands, indeed as it has stood for several years past, there seem to be no rules and regulations whatever regarding the length of time a non-varsity tennis player may use a tennis court. The crux of the whole irritating situation lies in the lack of any sort of rules which will give opportunity for more students to use the courts.

Ever since the courts were constructed, it has been the common practice for students to obtain a court and use it until they almost drop from exhaustion or must hasten away to class. No matter how many others are waiting, court players seem to take the stand that the court is personal property. Sad to relate, a sort of greed, peculiar to tennis players only, seems to fasten itself upon some of our tennis players once they have stepped out upon a tennis court. This greed was very much evidenced the other day when two players alone held a court for two hours, while three other couples were waiting to use that court.

Common courtesy ought to indicate that when other players have waited at a court for some time the court ought to be surrendered to them for a while at least. However, courtesy is ofttimes wholly lacking in some players. For this reason a few rules such as are found in operation upon most city and country-club tennis courts would go far in relieving the existing irritation caused by the prolonged use of tennis courts on the campus.

1. No players to play more than two consecutive sets when other players are waiting for the court.

2. In case of a 6-6 tie, no set to last longer than nine up.

3. Waiting players to get courts in the order in which they arrived at the field.

If these rules were sanctioned by the Athletic Council, or whoever has charge of the tennis courts, court privileges would undoubtably be enjoyed by more students. In addition, such regulations would remove the irritation felt by many players regarding the prolonged use of courts.

A. E. B.

WANTED—A $15 IDEA

Spring vacation! No eight o'clocks! Opportunity to catch up with some much needed sleep! Picture yourself awakening each morning last week—and just lying there stretching—sort of "coming to by degrees." And then in spite of yourself your thoughts flew back to B. U. campus and you were thinking of Bucknell as it is. And as you wriggled into a more snug position 'tween the snowy sheets, you found you were thinking of some change you'd like to make which you felt would help to make Bucknell the place you wish it were. Or perhaps as fragrant whiffs of bacon and coffee came up to you and decided it was time to "hop out," some other idea came into your head. It may turn out to be a $15 idea. The way to find out is to incorporate the idea or ideas into an editorial and then hand your editorial to some member of Pi Delta Epsilon, honorary journalistic fraternity, as soon as possible.

Sure enough, you guessed it right. It's the annual P. D. E. editorial contest, and any subject may be treated. The editorials will be judged impartially by members of the English faculty, and the prize-winning ones will be printed in the Bucknellian. So bring on your ideas. Prizes of $15 and $10 are being offered.

Evidence seems to point to the fact that many B. U. students would be glad of a chance to express their opinions. Pi Delta Epsilon offers such students a good channel by which these opinions may be expressed. So trot out those ideas that came to you during the vacation when you had time to think things through. And if they are worth editorial treatment, grab some paper and a pencil and write them down. Who knows but maybe your idea and your method of treatment may convince the judges that you have contributed the best editorial of them all.

"ASK ME ANOTHER"

(Answers elsewhere on this page.)

1. Who may be called the father of football at Bucknell?
2. What happened to the original bell which hung in the steeple of the Lewisburg Baptist church?
3. What local merchant once played baseball in the big leagues?
4. Who was Bucknell's first professional coach?
5. What Bucknell President later became ambassador to Germany?
6. How many Baptist colleges of major rank are there?
7. What man connected with Bucknell was a member of President Lincoln's cabinet?
8. How many men were left in college during the Civil war after the men students had finished enlisting?
9. How many women students served as nurses during the Civil war?
10. How high did the water rise in the flood of 1889?

Answers
ASK ME ANOTHER

1. The Rev. Dr. Howland Hanson, ex-'91, student pastor at Des Moines University. He was the first student to attend Bucknell who really knew anything about football, and he really was the first man to give our team a correct idea of how to play the game.

2. When the original church structure was dismantled, the college students took the bell, suspended it between two trees on the campus, and to celebrate the fourth of July (college sessions being longer then) pounded on it during the night until they cracked it. Fearing the probable consequences, they raised before morning enough money to pay for a new bell (the one which now hangs in the present church belfry.)

3. Walter Blair, town grocer. He was a regular catcher with the New York Americans.

4. George Hoskins, now trainer for the Cincinnati "Reds." Under his coaching, Bucknell's track team in eight consecutive years (1897-1904) six times won first place in the University of Pennsylvania Relay Carnivals, were second once, and once ran third.

5. Dr. David Jayne Hill, '74. He was also minister to Switzerland and the Netherlands, and first Assistant Secretary of State for the United States. When Prince Henry, brother of Emperor William of Germany, visited this country, Dr. Hill accompanied him as the representative of the United States.

6. Twenty-one. They include Bates, Brown, Bucknell, Carleton, University of Chicago, Colby, Colgate, Denison, Franklin, Grand Island, Hillsdale, Kalamazoo, Kueka, Linfield, Ottawa, Redlands, Rochester, Shurtleff, Sioux Falls, Des Moines, and William Jewell.

7. Simon Cameron, who was a member of the Bucknell University Board of Curators. He was Secretary of war.

8. Only seven. One of these, Frederick K. Fowler, '69, was already a veteran, so disabled that he could no longer serve as a soldier. He was so shot to pieces at the second battle of Bull Run that the students nicknamed him "Bullets" Fowler.

9. Four. They were Sarah Dysart, '56, Annie Bell, '58, Eliza Houghton, and Belle Vorse, ex-'55, the latter two being Lewisburg girls.

10. The water reached the chapel steps. The Seminary was almost surrounded by water. University Avenue was entirely under water, and persons going from the College to the center of the town could do so only on the railroad track which was barely out of water.

To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I read in the Bucknellian at frequent intervals an advertisement put forward by the University, to interest prospective students. Among other things it mentions clean sports as one of the characteristics of our University. The truth of this statement was severely questioned by a group of men who represent a portion of Bucknell's realm of sports. I refer to the Interfraternity Basketball Championship finals—"The scratch-as-scratch-can" between "SOME AWFUL EGGS" and "THE UGLY ONIONS."

When two teams put the possession of a piece of metal above fraternity honor and sportsmanship, when individuals on the teams almost come to blows during the game, when the teams hammer, push, trip, and do all manner of unsportsmanlike acts, then I believe the score should be reported as touchdowns or that certain guardians and custodians of our sports should wake up and take care of the situation.

Perhaps some one will say this is not representative of Bucknell varsities but I will ask this innocent person to glance over the two teams. At least half the men playing in those final games are representing or have represented Bucknell in varsity sports of some kind. I have talked it over with fellows who have observed the same thing (so I am not alone in what I say) namely, that these men have done the same thing in varsity sports even when serving in the capacity of leaders.

I think the majority of the students want clean athletics. There is entirely too much emphasis on the "winning of the old game." The primary purposes of athletics should

(Continued on Page 5.)

HERMAN & LEISER

New styles this week in Pastel Shades and Combination Sleeveless and Long Sleeved Dresses
at $5.00 each

Chiffons, Flat Crepe and Georgette in the newest creations of Ensembles and Combinations at $9.75 Each

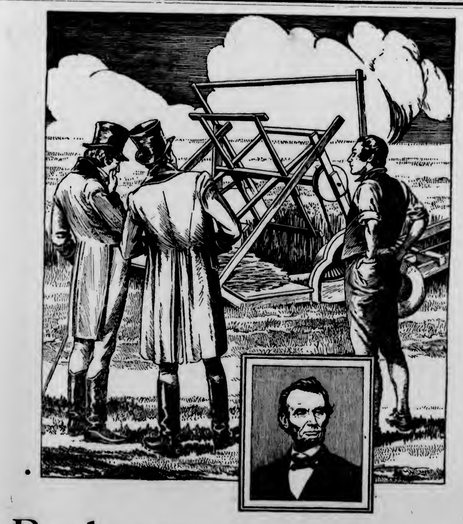
YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

Have you chosen your life work?
In that field of health service The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough well-balanced courses in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.
Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean
HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Longwood Ave. Boston, Mass.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.



Both were emancipators

While Lincoln was freeing the slaves by war, McCormick by his invention of the reaper was freeing the farmers from needless toil.

The telephone today is adding to man s freedom by saving time and effort on a scale unknown in earlier civilizations.

Itself an expression of progress, the telephone offers increasing opportunities to men who look and plan ahead. Workers in the Bell System, whether in technical or business activities, are constantly developing the vision into the fact of better public service.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Who's Who AT B. U.

Jean H. Wood

As Texas would say, "Give this little girl a big hand," for she is something different in the line of coeds. Tiny, quiet, sweet, and demure, "Jeanie" doesn't say much, but accomplishes a whole lot. She is a mighty clever girl, and though her intellectual ability seems to know no limits, she doesn't make it felt by her words or actions.

Just at present Jean is reading for honors in English but her list of past activities includes participation in class hockey, membership in the Education Club, Student Executive Board, Secretary of Junior girls, contributor to Bucknell Verse, besides all her journalistic work. She was a member of both the Bucknellian and D'Agenda staffs and is a writer of no mean ability. "Quality not quantity" is a trite but true characterization, and despite the fact that she comes from Chicago, "little Jean" is every inch a lady. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega fraternity.

Alfred Harris Rawlinson

Debating's most prominent devotee is Alfred H. Rawlinson, known to his brothers of Alpha Chi Mu and to his host of friends as "Rawly."

He is not just prominent, but also amazingly active in advancing, organizing and guiding the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Debating League, leading Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary debating fraternity and managing Bucknell debating. "Al" was one of the celebrated trio who met and defeated the distinguished Oxford debaters last fall.

"Rawly" resigned his place on the team when he was chosen to try for honors in English. His standing in the literary field may be gauged by his position as president of Sigma Tau Delta, professional English fraternity.

But "Rawly" has turned his thoughts toward another field—law. He is one of the leaders of Pi Delta Omicron, honorary pre-legal fraternity. He has hopes of entering law school next fall.

That New Spring Made-To-Measure SUIT

$25.00 to $50.00
Fit Guaranteed

J. F. PROWANT CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Help initiate a Bucknell Tradition
Be present at the
FIRST ANNUAL
INTER-FRATERNITY BALL
"Whitey" Kauffman
and
His Victor Recording Orchestra
APRIL 19, 1929
Tustin Gymnasium 9 P.M. to 1 A.M.

Have a good vacation? No thanks, just had one. (At this the crowd roars, "Take him out!")

I imagine they work you pretty hard at college, don't they? My dear sir, you must have misunderstood me. I said I went to Bucknell. (This is the last straw!)

Yep, the above stuff is BAD, there is no doubt about it. But cheer up, kind reader, the Belle Hop, out this week, is full of material that will tickle your funny bone. But, mixed in with the assortment of wise ones printed in that magazine, you will find lots of trash almost as bad as that which Gulliver unearths.

—G—

Post Vacation Statistics

1107 students return to college fatigued and in need of a complete rest.

1106 would have liked to remain at home.

1 is crazy to get to work. (Darn crazy!)

67 men have lost their fraternity pins.

108 co-eds have made easily-broken resolutions.

2018 parents again have the use of the family car.

1107 students have computed the exact number of days until the term is over.

50 drowsy professors are attempting to "give the dope" to a like number of nodding classes.

1107 Bucknellians would gladly shoot Gulliver at sight for such atrocities as this.

—G—

Contortionists, Acrobats, or Dancers?

Dear Gulliver:

It was a hard job to address even you as "dear" in my present state of mind. In fact, any tests made on my temper and muscles would break all known thermometers, machines or what have you. I might even go so far as to say that I am HOT!

I have just been to a dance at least that is how it was advertised. My reactions are peculiar—even to me, a confirmed and able self-analyist. I don't think it was a dance at all. Perhaps ten of the one hundred and fifty couples there thought it was a dance—and the other hundred and forty used it as an excuse. Never in my life have I seen such evortings, jumpings, gymnastics, exercisings, contortions, and idiotics. My God! It cannot be described: strangle holds, double Nelsons, headlocks, necks out of place, arms akimbo, legs spraddled, hips out of joint, and torsos twisted beyond recognition as such. And you tell me it was a dance! Even the Marx Brothers know better!

From the side lines of this encounter, which had any battle royal that was ever staged beaten eight ways, one could imagine a puppet show with the operators gone frantic with St. Vitus dance, delirium tremens, and palsy at one and the same time. If that is dancing I am a Chinese mandarin. The question remains, what is a dance and why?

Sympathetically,
Oliver DeKampus.

IDRIS JONES TO LEAD BAPTIST C. E. SUNDAY

The Baptist Sunday School will have as its leader and speaker this coming Sunday, Idris Jones, '31. A brief, devotional program has been arranged. An interesting feature of the program will be two organ selections by Marian Eisenhauer, '31.

The Sunday School committee is actively engaged in directing the devotional program preceding the lesson studies. This committee is composed of students and supplies a student leader every Sunday. "Joe" Cochrane, '32, was the leader on Palm Sunday.

TO THE EDITOR
(Continued from Page 4.)

be, I think most people will agree, the building of sound bodies and recreation. The winning of the game should be secondary but college students think they must have brilliant victories to take back home to the "folks." Colleges, too, have come to emphasize winning because of the advertisement it gives the college and also th huge increase in gate receipts.

Bucknell is no better or no worse than any other college or university. If school spirit means anything it means clean sportsmanlike games. Let us try to have them in the future.

Signed, A Junior.

Scientific Papers Read at Penn State

Professor N. H. Stewart, Geddes W. Simpson, '29, and Charles Mohr '30, presented scientific papers at the fifth annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science, held at State College, Friday and Saturday, March 29 and 30.

The Academy includes approximately 350 members, about one-third of whom attended the sessions. Prof. Stewart, the third president of the organization met with the Executive Committee Friday morning.

"Cephenomyia, a Probable Cause of Death Among Deer," was the subject of Prof. Stewart's paper. The discovery of larvae in a dead deer was described, and the theory presented that the parasite worries the animals to such an extent that resting and feeding are almost impossible. Accordingly, large numbers of young deer have died, to all appearances from starvation, but actually from the irritatio nof the larvae in the nasal cavity.

Geddes W. Simpson spoke on "The Distribution of Fish in a Typical Pennsylvania Stream" explaining the most significant findings from the Buffalo Creek survey made last fall.

The necessity of a study of the life of a stream before stocking with fish was stressed. Scores of cans of "crappie" bass have been dumped into Buffalo Creek but apparently have served merely as food for the pickerel. This paper was of particular interest to the sportsmen from State College who are planning to plant trout in one of their streams.

"Notes on the Habits of Amphibia in Winter" was the title of the paper presented by Charles Mohr. Salamanders received most attention in this report, thirteen species being noted under winter conditions.

A new species for this region was reported—the marbled salamander. The larvae of this species had puzzled local zoologists, and were identified for the first time this spring.

Sheik Sam says if he got eight hours of sleep a night he would die of sleeping sickness.—Texas Ranger.

"You married me for my money!"
"Well, I've earned it."
—Texas Ranger.

LILLIAN STARK, '32, WINS SPRING OUTFIT

Miss Lillian Starks, a Bucknell student and resident of Milton, won first place in a contest held by the Milton merchants and will receive a complete Spring outfit. Second prize was awarded to Miss Mary Teufel, Milton, who wins $25 while third award goes to Mrs. Mary Spotts, McEwensville, who also gets $25.
—Sunbury Item.

It pays to advertise.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

THE PURITY

Back to Bucknell and A Fresh Start

All College Curriculums are divided into three parts: Fall, Winter, and Spring and the finest of these succeeds the Easter Vacation. The finest weather, the finest hikes, the finest friendships and the finest times for study—if it weren't for Spring Fever. Ah, there's the rub and The COLLEGE INN offers the remedy. A little recreation every day, a few moments of relaxation between classes, a refreshing drink or a light lunch, a little social chat, or music or a dance—all await your pleasure at the INN. You will forget your trouble and tired feelings, your next class will find you ready with vim and renewed energy. You are welcome here financially flat or flush, for THE COLLEGE INN management doesn't rate its customers by their financial standing but is among you as one who likes to serve the needs of all classes of students without undue regard for profits. We invite you to pause and refresh yourself for a fresh start anytime that suits your need and convenience.

The College Inn
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
PAYNE, '09

Conquering the Cascades

Snow falls every month in the year where the Great Northern crosses the Cascades. Steep, tortuous grades increase the difficulty of the railroading problem. Nature has stubbornly resisted man's effort to conquer the range.

In January, 1929, the new Cascade tunnel was opened. Man, with electricity as an ally, had conquered the Cascades.

The eight-mile bore was driven in three years—a record impossible without electric power. And electrification has been extended to the entire 75-mile route through the mountains.

The conquests of electricity on the land and on the sea, in the air, and underground, are making practicable the impossibilities of yesterday. As our vision encompasses wider horizons, electricity appears as a vital contribution to future industrial progress and human welfare.

95-652D11
GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

Nineteen Games Are Scheduled For Bucknell's Baseball Team

Temple Owls Clash With Bisons At Memorial Stadium May 18: Seven Home Contests

Bucknell University's 1929 baseball schedule was released here this week by Student Manager Benjamin Kupstas, '29, after it had been approved by Professor B. W. Griffith, Graduate Manager of Athletics. Kupstas has booked 19 games, 7 of which will be played at home while the remaining 12 will be decided on foreign soil.

The Alumni Day game scheduled for June 11 is still pending. Manager Kupstas is dickering with several college clubs for a contest on that afternoon.

The gem of the home card is a tussle with Temple which will be staged at the Memorial Stadium on Saturday, May 18. Temple and Bucknell are keen rivals in all sports and a great battle is anticipated when the Bisons face the Owls on the diamond.

The Bucknell team will go on three road trips. The southern trip, scheduled for next week, will include games with Navy, Catholic University, Mount St. Mary's and Gettysburg. On the second trip Bucknell will line up against Lafayette, Muhlenberg, and Schuylkill.

The third and last road trip of the season will see the Bison ball tossers in and around New York where the Shawvelymen will cross bats with the Army, Seton Hall, Fordham, and New York University.

The complete schedule follows:

Saturday, April 13—Albright at Lewisburg.
Wednesday, April 17—Navy at Annapolis, Md.
Thursday, April 18—Catholic University at Washington, D. C.
Friday, April 19—Mount St. Mary's at Emmitsburg, Md.
Saturday, April 20—Gettysburg at Gettysburg.
Friday, April 26—Lebanon Valley at Lewisburg.
Wednesday, May 1—Lafayette at Easton.
Thursday, May 2—Mühlenberg at Allentown.
Friday May 3—Schuylkill at Reading.
Saturday, May 4—Gettysburg at Lewisburg.
Friday, May 10—Ursinus at Lewisburg.
Saturday, May 18—Temple at Lewisburg.
Wednesday, May 22—Army at West Point, N. Y.
Thursday, May 23—New York University at New York.
Friday, May 24—Fordham at New York.
Saturday, May 25—Seton Hall at East Orange, N. J.
Thursday, May 30—Juniata at Huntingdon.
Saturday, June 1—Schuylkill at Lewisburg.
Tuesday, June 11—Alumni Day at Lewisburg.

Baby Bisons to Face Six Opposing Nines

Francis Moerschbacher, '30, manager of the Bucknell freshmen baseball team for the 1929 season, released the yearling schedule here this week. Six games are listed for the first year men and all these contests will be staged away from home.

The feature of the schedule is a game with the Penn State freshmen which will be staged at State College on April 27. The freshmen will open their season at Factoryville where they will play Keystone Academy, the school made famous by Christy Mathewson who prepared there for his course at Bucknell.

The schedule follows:

April 19—Keystone Academy at Factoryville.
April 20—Wyoming Seminary at Kingston.
April 27—Penn State at State College, (Pending).
May 4—Bellefonte Academy at Bellefonte.
May 11—Mansfield Normal at Mansfield.
May 18—Bloomsburg Normal at Bloomsburg, (Pending).

Swarthmore Retains Fraternities

The motion to abolish all women's fraternities at Swarthmore was voted down by the Pan-Hellenic Council at that place recently. The women were evidently unwilling to do away with their Greek letter clubs.

Diamond Aspirants Have Initial Workout

Albright Plays Here Saturday In First Game of Season

The Bucknell baseball team went through its first practice session of the season last Monday afternoon at the Memorial Stadium in preparation for the Albright College contest which will be staged here on Saturday.

The following players reported for the initial workout of the season: catchers, Ammerman and Long; pitchers, Halicki, Linkfield, and Hoffman; infielders, Captain Charley Jones, Mitchell, Brumbaugh,, Lobel, Shuman, "Pottsville" Jones; outfielders, Kozik, James, Leyman, Convery, and McElligot.

Captain Jones, Halicki, Mitchell, and James are the veterans who played on the varsity nine last spring. Ammerman, Lobel, Brumbaugh, Shuman, Kozik, and Leyman were members of "Mal" Musser's yearling nine last spring. Convery, a senior, played with the Baby Bisons in 1926, three years ago.

Coach Snavely limited the first practice session of the season to batting practice, fielding drill and a short practice game. In the practice contest that followed the fundamental drill the following teams lined up against each other:

Ammerman	catcher	Long
Linkfield	pitcher	Hoffman
Mitchell	1st base	Quinn
Brumbaugh	2nd base	Shuman
Lobel	3rd base	T. Jones
C. Jones	shortstop	Mezn
Kozik	left field	Leyman
James	center field	Convery
Halicki	right field	McElligot

DIAMOND DUST

By "Mac" McElligot

"Pottsville" Jones, Bucknell athlete, received a signal honor last Saturday when the New York Sun published a cartoon of him in his boxing regalia. Feg Murray, sports cartoonist for the Metropolitan Newspaper Service, sketched the interesting picture of the Pottsville youth.

* * * *

Murray portrayed Jones in his regular boxing pose. The caption beneath the drawing read "Pottsville" Jones-Bucknell's all around star." Several other college boxers were also sketched in the same cartoon, including Steve Hamas, of Penn State, Al Lassman of N. Y. U., Sully Montgomery of Centre, Monte Munn of Nebraska, and Ed Garvey of Notre Dame.

* * * *

It looks as though Jones is going to desert the cinder path this season in favor of the diamond. The Pottsville Mauler reported to Coach Snavely at the Memorial Stadium last Monday ready for baseball duty. In the practice game that followed Jones was assigned to cover the hot corner for the second team. So well did Jones do that he is warranted a serious trial for a varsity berth.

* * * *

Jones was a member of the Bucknell yearling nine during the 1927 diamond season. He batted 500 in four games. Restelli and Jones led the yearlings with the stick during that season. Jones is a terrific hitter, clubbing the ball hard and often. He is a heavy willow swinger usually specializing in extra base hits. Jones is also good for a few boundary belts every season.

* * * *

If Jones wins a letter in baseball he will be a three letter man. Already he has garnered varsity insignias in football and boxing. He is a hard and faithful worker and much is expected of him during the coming season.

366 Minutes in Football Games

Three hundred and sixty-six minutes or exactly six hours of football in six conference games is the record this year of Charles Carroll, University of Washington halfback, according to the I. P. of Seattle, Washington. He did not miss a minute of play during the season. This is believed to be a world record for football players, at least in modern times.

Track Squad Drills For Coming Contests

Pole Vaulter Needed; Many Vie For Place in Field Events

Coach John Plant took his Bucknell University track squad out to the stadium for the first time this season on Tuesday. Rain and cold winds confined earlier practice to the Tustin Gymnasium.

The cinder path crew will be captained this year by John G. Farrow, '29, of Haddonfield, New Jersey. "Johnny" shines in the mile and two-mile runs, and has been an inspiration to his teammates for the past two years.

Paul Crago will sport his wares in the 220 and 440 dashes. Geddes Simpson will be out for his old post in the 100 and 220 sprints. Kimball Miller is the best half miler so far, as well as being a power in the 440 class. Spencer Hill will also tear along in the 440 getaway.

"Chuck" Titus, Samuel "Bish" Hughes, Ralph Simonetti are contenders in the 100 yard dash. All three ran for the frosh team last year. Captain Farrow will have as company in the longer runs, Clement Jablonski, who is also a stellar hurdler, John Snyder, and Paul Keever.

The Bucknell jumping bean will in all probability be "Bill" Mackie, who exhibits a fine performance in both the high and broad jumps. Gordon Sortor is another man who will be in action at the pits. Welland Wadsworth, "Pottsville" Jones, Harold Geiger, and George Klein all perform well with the discus, javelin, and shot. Wadsworth, a three-letter man, is the most consistnt performer.

John Pifer, a senior who ran the hurdles to win two varsity letters a year or two back, is again with us and will run the stiles with Jablonski. The pole vault is the weakest point on the field event card, as no outstanding varsity contender has yet appeared to take the place of "Bud" Frable, star vaulter, who graduated last June.

Frosh Have Stars

The freshmen team will probably be built around the group of boys who shone in the inter-fraternity meet last fall. Lester Ely, former Peddie School athlete who won five first places in the campus meet, will try his ability in the discus, javelin, shot, high jump, and hurdles.

Homer Reese and Gene Sullivan are to be reckoned with in the pole vaulting assignment. Reese also does a good job in the high jump pit. Arthur Randall showed up well as a half miler, while Henry Costes, George DeLancey, Arthur Guldin, Donald Borella do well in the longer runs. Guldin is especially proficient in the Marathon treks.

Quinton Hewett, erstwhile Wyoming cowboy, will be seen on the frosh mile run card. Hewett's brother formerly held the New Jersey prep school championship in the mile run while running for the Lawrenceville school.

E. Colestock Will Captain Navy Court Team Next Year

Edward E. Colestock, son of Professor Henry T. Colestock, has been elected captain of the Navy basketball team for next season. The young man is a member of the class of 1930 at the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The newly-elected captain will succeed Clair Lew Miller, of Indiana, who will be graduated this June. Midshipman Colestock plays center on the team. He was a member of the basketball team at Lewisburg High School and of the freshman varsity at Bucknell. At the end of his freshman year here he received an appointment to Annapolis and left Bucknell.

Free!—Airplane Rides

College students are being given free airplane rides through the courtesy of the Parker Pen Company, which is sending its monoplane the "Parkes Duofold" on a tour of southern colleges from Purdue. The plane has so far visited 10 colleges. At Purdue 1,700 students registered for a free "joy ride."

Helen—"Do you suppose that it's true that Myrtle had three telephone calls from boy-friends while Jack was calling on her the other night and that he got so jealous that he proposed then and there?"

Hazel—" Well, I guess I ought to know, dearie—I was all three of 'em!"

Theta U. Downs S. A. E., 28-17, To Win Inter-Fraternity Cup

The Theta Upsilon Omega basketball team captured the 1929 inter-fraternity cup on Good Friday evening by trouncing the S. A. E. cage team in the third and deciding game of the championship series. The final score was 28-17.

On the evening before, the S. A. E. five had evened the series at one all by taking the measure of DeFillippo's men after 40 minutes of hectic play. Captain Halicki's team gained a notable 19-16 victory after a hard fought contest. The former Bison football captain was the star of this game, as he kept his team in the running from start to finish.

"Eddie" accounted for eight of his team's points, by making three field goals and a pair of fouls. Hinkle was next in line with six points, representing two field goals and a like number of free tosses. The losers registered more field goals than did the winners, but the S. A. E. men tossed in seven free throws to the two accumulated by the vanquished qintet.

First Half Close

Friday evening's game was an interesting battle to watch during the first half. The two teams fought on even terms for the first 20 minutes of play, and when the half time whistle blew the T. U. O. boys were leading by a 12-11 margin.

DeFillippo, severely handicapped by an infected elbow, provided the punch for his T. U. O. five during the first half. "Flip" excelled in the art of passing, shooting, and dribbling and also did much to keep up the morale of his team. He gave the spectators an unexpected thrill in the opening period when he caged a long distance shot from beyond the middle of the floor. He was the high scorer for the winners, caging two field goals and a trio of fouls. Griffith, Beckerman, and Doty contributed five points each while Ebner was good for a pair of field goals.

The second half was featured by the playing of Doty, who did much to increase his team's lead.

Wilbur Ammerman was the high scorer for the winners, with eight points. Clarke Hinkle came through with five tallies, while Halicki managed to contribute three charity tosses.

Field Goals Scarce

During the entire game the S. A. E. boys were able to score only three field goals, two of them coming in the first half. They were kept in the running during the first half because of the ability of Ammerman, Hinkle and Halicki to shoot fouls.

The T. U. O. team during the last period gradually drew away from their opponents. When the final whistle blew the winners were enjoying a comfortable lead, made pos-

(Continued on Page 7.)

"Christy" Jr., Observes Diamond Squad Practice

Baseball practice at the Memorial Stadium was interrupted for a short period last Monday afternoon when Christy Mathewson Jr., son of the former Giant pitching ace, landed on a field nearby in his Waco-10 plane.

The offspring of the immortal "Big Six," who lives at Saranac Lake, is visiting friends and relatives in this vicinity. Young Christy is now a licensed operator and is at present located at Elmira, N. Y.

The mother of young Christy, a former Lewisburg woman, still resides in Saranac Lake. Mrs. Mathewson makes frequent visits to her old home town where she renews old acquaintances.

Christy Jr., is well known to Bucknellians who have attended the Lewisburg institution in recent years. He was graduated in 1927 with a civil engineering degree. For a short period he worked in Schenectady but soon was attracted by the lures of the flying game.

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at

Wagner's Quality Grocery

We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.

Also Dishes for Rent.

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL

BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF

BUTTER KRUST BREAD

C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—21—

TRUTH IN ADVERTISING

"TRUTH IS THE SPIRITUAL CORNERSTONE OF LIFE. WE REGARD TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING AS SYNONYMOUS WITH EDUCATION AND A CHIEF CONTRIBUTOR TO THE ENLIGHTENMENT OF PRESENT AND FUTURE GENERATIONS. THE GREATEST PERIL IN THE PATH OF ADVERTISING IS THAT THOSE WHO KNOW ITS POWER, BUT HAVE NO REGARD FOR THE PRINCIPLES UPON WHICH THAT POWER RESTS, WILL ABUSE ADVERTISING BY THE USE OF MISLEADING STATEMENTS, INSINCERE TESTIMONIALS AND EXAGGERATED CLAIMS. THE VERY CORNERSTONE OF ADVERTISING IS THREATENED BY THOSE WHO THUS WILFULLY DEBAUCH IT. I COMMEND THE ATTITUDES OF THOSE PUBLISHERS WHO HAVE REFUSED GREAT CONTRACTS BECAUSE OF INSINCERITY OF STATEMENT, AND TAKE THIS OCCASION TO URGE UPON THOSE WHO USE ADVERTISING, THOSE WHO PRESCRIBE ADVERTISING, AND THOSE WHOSE LIVELIHOOD DEPENDS UPON ADVERTISING, TO FIGHT AGAINST ITS PROSTITUTION."

PORTION OF ADDRESS DELIVERED BY WILFRED W. FRY AT THE LAYING OF THE CORNERSTONE OF THE NEW BUILDING OF N. W. AYER AND SON.

Harvard Cigarette Addicts Bow to Yale, But Threaten to Smoke Them out in 1930

By Nunnally Johnson, The Evening Post's Roving Reporter

As the red sun sank behind the dim horizon yesterday afternoon, casting gaunt shadows over Soldier Field, the cigarette smokers of John Harvard went down in glorious defeat in the big cigarette decathlon, coming out no better than second, while the blue banner of Eli Yale rode high in victory—for Yale was first!

Harvard lost, but Harvard men are still Harvard men, and if their heads are bloody they are still unbowed. Defeat to Harvard is but a sting, a spur, a flick of the whip that brings out the best. Next year is another year, and the grim toesin over Cambridge today is, "Watch Harvard next year!"

It was a green team that Harvard threw on the field yesterday, to engage in the grueling blindfold test. "Butch" Nickerson, the giant right wing, who is expected to be a tower of strength next year, was a gum chewer until this year, when school spirit impelled him to give up pepsin and come out for the big blindfold cigarette team. He hadn't hit his stride it was said; despite a natural aptitude for smoking cigarettes blindfolded, he still lacked experience.

"Next year," he said, "I will smoke all of the cigarettes all of the time, and a cigar, too, because it's for the old school!"

"Butch" Fires the Fans

Even at that, "Butch" put up a smoke that had the galleries in a frenzy. Again and again, as the over-confident team of Yale cigarette addicts relaxed a second, he puffed and puffed and puffed, like an iron man; but time demands its toll, murder will out, youth will tell, and if you want a transfer you'll have to ask the conductor when you pay your fare.

At his right elbow every second of the time was Tizzard—"Biff" Tizzard, '32,—a cool and calculating cigarette smoker. "Tiz," as he is known to his frat brothers, is not a spectacular smoker; he has even been accused of coolerlessness; but the stands noted yesterday that when the pinch came, when a man was needed who could keep his head, good old "Tizn't," as he is called, was always there.

These two bore the brunt of the battle, and if it was a losing battle, still Harvard asks no pity, no sympathy. Its colors may have been lowered, but its honor, the very name of Harvard, floats like a white silken guidon, whipping in the breeze, untouched, unharmed, inumculate.

Yale won because she had the weight, the experience, and the generalship. Furthermore, the team was "pointed," as they say, for Harvard. As everybody knows, the early season smokes with Rutgers, Maine, Stevens, and the Red Star Billiard Academy are little more than incidental to Yale, whose slogan is, "Smoke Harvard out!"

It was a grizzled collection of veterans that Yale trotted out with their eye bandages yesterday. Under the tutelage of Head Grizzle Coach McNutt, the boys went through a seige of grizzling that left them hard and dry and "set." Off cigarettes for two days prior to the contest, so as not to get stale, they plunged into the tilt in the very pink. The exhibition of the first few minutes was a spectacle rarely equaled in cigarette smoking since Miss Millicent Rogers, society belle, Herbert Bayard Swope, international journalist, and Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte reached for a ciggy instead of a Borzoi book.

The tale of the contest was told in those few minutes. Cigarettes flashed like tiny streaks of lightning. Matches fluttered. Smoke rings rose. While the bewildered John Harvards fumbled amateurishly for their coffin-tacks, the New Haven boys took a nice lead, smoking, choosing, discarding with a speed and brilliance that brought the stands to their feet time and again.

Later it was a little more even. Getting their second wind, the Cambridge boys began to smoke nearer their normal speed, and from then on it was more of a contest.

Watch Harvard Next Year!

Immediately after the contest, a "pep" rally was held in the City Hall. Head Coach McNutt spoke at length, and the four class presidents followed. The gist of their remarks may be summed up in a paragraph from an old grad's address:

"Smone, fellows, smoke! Get the old ciggy habit! You big fellows who are too lazy to come out for the team—get a line on yourselves! Every man who smokes is needed! Fellows, it's the old school who calls, the old varsity that needs you. Is Harvard to call in vain? Are you Harvard men at heart? No, I need no answer; Harvard men are still Harvard men—and watch Harvard in the big cigarette pentathlon next year! Look out, Yale!"

According to Coach McNutt, the prospects for next year are great. Two big cigarette smokers from Groton are entering, and the present freshman team contains no fewer than five men who are rated as four-goal handicap cigarette addicts.

"All we ask is co-operation," the grizzled old coach said. "We've got the men, we've got the cigarettes—if the old school will stand behind us, we've got Yale beaten to a frazzle, though I am against boasting."

(Reproduced through courtesy of New York Evening Post.

What the Colleges Are Doing

Three and a Half Months in Africa

The National Student Federation of America through the International Confederation of Students, is offering a unique travel opportunity this summer to American students. This is a tour of three and a half months to South Africa. The party going to South Africa will be composed of both men and women. It will also be an international one since the American group will be joined in England by a party from the International Confederation of Students. It is hoped that all the principal European countries will send representatives to join the tour.

Dickinson Student Receives Honor

Announcement has been made by the Grand Council, Order of the De-Molay, that Paul D. Leedy, a member of the junior class of Dickinson University, has been elected to receive the Demolay Legion of Honor Degree. This is the first time in the history of the college that one of its students has received this honor. The Degree of Legion of Honor is the highest honor that can be conferred on any member of the order and is comparable in DeMolay to the thirty-third degree of Free Masonry.

Western Maryland Rifters Win

Western Maryland completed its schedule of rifle matches last week when it took third place in a telegraphic meet between all the R. O. T. C. rifle squads of the colleges of the Third Corps Area. By virtue of this placement, the college will now have the privilege of entering the National Finals contest to be held within the next few weeks.

Prominent Poet to Speak

Robert Lee Frost, who is considered the most prominent contemporary poet in the United States, will speak to the students at Swarthmore College on April 22. Mr. Frost studied at both Dartmouth and Harvarl but could not survive the drab routine of college life. He spends part of his time now teaching at Amherst College.

Lehigh Campus Is Filmed

A standard length moving picture, filmed on the Lehigh campus and entitled "Hail to Lehigh" is being shown at the State Theater in Bethlehem at regular admission prices. "Many phases of student life at Lehigh will be depicted" says the Brown and White, in comment, "including football games, house parties, banquets, and even picking up girls from the hill-to-hill bridge."

Merrill P. Rassweiler, Son of former B. U. Prof., Wins Honors at Beloit

According to the following newspaper dispatch, Professor G. T. Rassweiler, who was formerly professor of public speaking at Bucknell, is making a great orator of his son. The dispatch follows:

Merrill P. Rassweiler, son of Prof. G. T. Rassweiler, formerly of Bucknell University faculty, and a junior at Beloit College, Beloit, Wis., won first place in the state extemporaneous speaking contest hel dat Lawrence College, Appleton, Wis., last week. Each college represented sent the winner of their local contest and also the man holding second place.

The first and second places at the state contest were both won by Beloit College. Rassweiler taking first place and Mr. Weimer, a senior, taking second place.

Mr. Weimer and Mr. Rassweiler are both in the debating squad and as yet this year Beloit has won all her judged debates and all debates where audience decision was given. Prof. Rassweiler is head of the speech departament at Beloit college.

Prof. Whyte Tells Students Of Three Types of Workers

"The one who succeeds today does a little more than is asked of him," declared Prof. James P. Whyte, member of the Bucknell University faculty and former district governor of Rotary, to Sunbury high school students.

Prof. Whyte's address was the feature of the Easter vacation chapel. An instrumental number and singing of an Easter song concluded the program.

Prof. Whyte declared that in general there were three types of workers in industries as in educational fields. They were those who did more than was set out for them to do, those who did just what they were supposed to do, and those who did not do quite as much.

Sunbury Item.

Dr. R. Grone, ex-'23, Wins Big Promotion

Bucknellians who have always been interested in the Geisinger Hospital at Danville, will have an added interest in that institution now because of the recent announcement that Dr. Robert Y. Grone, ex-'23, has just been promoted to be second in charge of the hospital. The Sunbury Daily prints the following account of Dr. Grone's career.

Dr. Robert Yocum Grone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Grone, West Market street this city who has been a member of the Medical Staff of the Geisinger Memorial Hospital has been appointed assistant surgeon to Dr. Harold L. Foss, Superintendent and Surgical Chief of the institution and will succeed Dr. Enoch H. Adams who resigned his position and left this city last week for Memphis Tennessee. Dr. "Bob" Grone is a young Danville man who is known to every man, woman, and child in this vicinity and his many friends and acquaintances are proud of his rapid rise in his chosen profession. He left his studies in Danville High in 1917 to enter the Naval servce of the country during the world war and after serving two years was discharged from the service. He then attended Bucknell University at Lewisburg for one year, attended Temple University and later graduated from Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia where he received his diploma as a medical doctor. His internship was served at the Geisinger Hospital and he never left the institution, being connected with the Geisinger Hospital ever since his first entrance.

THETA U. WINS INTERFRATERNITY CUP

(Continued from page 6)

sible by the sychronizing teamwork that they employed.

Thus the Theta U. men are the inter-fraternity champions at Bucknell University for 1929, dethroning the Lambda Chis, who were four times winners.

The box scores:

S. A. E.	Field	Foul	Total
Ammerman, f	1	2	4
Hinkle, f	2	2	6
Klein, c	0	0	0
T. Jones, g	0	1	1
C. Jones, g	0	0	0
Halicki, g	3	2	8
Total	6	7	19
T. U. O.	Field	Foul	Total
Griffith, f	2	0	4
Beckerman, f	0	0	0
Ebner, c	2	0	4
DeFillippo, c	0	0	0
Reidegum, g	0	1	1
Fleming, g	1	1	3
Doty, g	2	0	4
Total	7	2	16
S. A. E.		10	9—19
T. U. O.		10	6—16

Referee—Van Why.
Scorer—McElligot.

T. U. O.	Field	Foul	Total
Griffith, f	2	1	5
Fleming, f	1	0	2
Beckerman, f	2	1	5
DeFillippo, c	2	3	7
Ebner, g	2	0	4
Doty, g	2	1	5
Total	11	6	28
S. A. E.	Field	Foul	Total
Ammerman, f	2	4	8
Shuman, f	0	0	0
Halicki, f	0	3	3
Hinkle, c	1	3	5
Klein, g	0	1	1
T. Jones, g	0	0	0
C. Jones, g	0	0	0
Total	3	11	17
T. U. O.		12	16—28
S. A. E.		11	6—17

Referee—Musser.
Scorer—McElligot.

'Tis said the female of the species is more deadly than the male—and some of 'em look it. They appear to have been resurrected from the dead.

—Columbia Jester.

"Yale men decide which is best cigarette...

[Reproduced from the Yale News, Jan. 25, 1929]

A group of Yale upper-classmen comparing the four leading cigarette brands.

OLD GOLD CIGARETTES WIN FIRST IN TESTS AT YALE

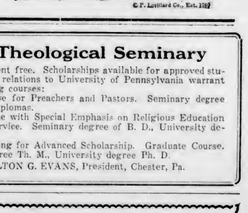
In the recent cigarette test made at the University, OLD GOLDS were chosen by the students as the best. The cigarettes were masked by black labels so that the names of the brands were concealed. Each label was numbered. This was judged to be the most sporting way of testing the merits of the four leading brands. Some 208 Yale students were asked to smoke the four disguised brands without knowing their identity.

They were merely to choose, by number, the one that was most appealing to the taste.

The NEWS supervised the test on January 18 at various fraternity houses and in the NEWS office.

When the votes were recorded it was discovered that OLD GOLD (Cigarette No. 3) had won. Old Gold was given 63 first choices, which was 11 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 2, 34 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 1, and 53 per cent ahead of Cigarette No. 4.

The four leading cigarettes . . . "Masked" with paper sleeves to conceal their brand names.



© P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company

Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.

A representative will call upon request.

431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

WAINIES

GEORGE S. JOHNSON

Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.

LEWISBURG, PA.

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
ICE CREAM SUNDAES

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

WADSWORTH, '30 CHOSEN TO HEAD DIAMOND LEAGUE

Henry Wadsworth, '30, of McGraw, N. Y., was chosen as president of the 1929 inter-fraternity baseball league last Wednesday evening at a meeting of the officials held at the Sigma Chi house. Donald Poynter, '31, of Nutley, N. J., was named as the secretary of the association.

Representatives from every fraternity were present at the meeting and a schedule for the season was drawn up. Two leagues were formed and the games will be played in accordance with the rules of indoor baseball.

In League No. 1, the following fraternities will be represented: Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Kappa, Phi Kappa Psi, Theta Upsilon Omega, Kappa Delta Rho, and Sigma Beta Delta. League No. 2 includes Sigma Chi, Kappa Sigma, Phi Lambda Theta, Alpha Chi Mu, Beta Kappa, Delta Sigma, and Lambda Chi Alpha.

The first games will be played next week. On Wednesday evening there will be four games. The Non-Frats will play the S. A. E. team at Loomis Field. The Phi Kappas will play Phi Gamma Delta at the "Sig" field. The Kappa Sigs and the Sigma Chis will face each other at Loomis field while Phi Lambda Theta will line up against Alpha Chi Mu at the "Sig" field.

On Friday evening the following games will be played:

Phi Kappa Psi vs. T. U. O. at Loomis field.

K. D. R. vs. S. B. D. at the "Sig" field.

Beta Kappa vs. Delta Sigma at Loomis field.

Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Lambda Theta at "Sig" field.

Miss Pangburn Named Head of Alumnae Club

The last meeting of the Bucknell Alumnae Club of Lewisburg for this year took place Tuesday evening, April 10, in the organ room of Larison Hall. The following officers were elected for the year 1929-1930: Miss Jessie Pangburn, president; Miss Catherine Stahl, secretary; Miss Janet Pross, treasurer.

The program committee reported that the following programs have been arranged for the coming year: October will be in the nature of an historical meeting; the December meeting will be a Christmas meeting; in February, a play will be given under the direction of Miss Catherine Glase. The April meeting will be of the most interest to the Bucknell Alumnae of Lewisburg, for it will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the Lewisburg Alumnae Club.

Following the business meeting, a very interesting lecture on "Spring Life" was given by Dr. Norman H. Stewart. Dr. Stewart described the first appearance of various birds, insects, and snakes. He also spoke about the danger of deer parasite. Dr. Stewart is an authority on parasite, and is often consulted by other scientists on this subject.

Miss Ruth Evans gave a delightful vocal solo.

Many Bucknellians Among Local Masons

Bucknellians figured prominently at the recent annual banquet of the local masons, as is shown by the following item from a local paper. The master of ceremonies, and all the singers were Bucknellians, and about half of the directing committee were also.

One of Lewisburg's most important social functions of the season was held recently in the Methodist church social hall where the annual banquet of the Masonic order was held. There were 150 of the members and their wives present and ladies of the church served.

A short address was made by William E. C. Speare, Master, after which a musical program was given by a quartet from Bucknell. The members were Misses Lillian Mattick, Carolyn Keiser, Ruth Evans, and Louise Reinhart. A mixed quartet consisting of Mrs. L. P. Fowle, Mrs. W. A. Blair, Earl Pedigo, and Albert Weidenaul also rendered numbers.

Professor Keener of Susquehanna University, gave a highly entertaining talk, replete with witticisms and kept the audience in a constant state of mirth. Mr. Speare acted as toastmaster.

John: Please be a good sport and—
Joan: I won't. If you don't kiss me Again I'll scream for Mother!
—Wash. & Lee Mink.

CHILDREN ROLL EGGS ON B. U. CAMPUS

The annual egg rolling staged by the American Legion and Auxiliary on the Bucknell campus last Monday was enjoyed by 500 kiddies. Each child got as many eggs as he was able to pick up and a prize or an American flag in addition.

Through the generosity of the Lewisburg business men, 175 prizes were provided for the boys and girls in addition to the prize eggs.

HOUSE PASSES BILL TO SUBSIDIZE TEACHERS

(Continued from Page 1.)

panied him on one of his trips to Harrisburg, Prof. Davis discussed the great value of the bill with the various representatives and senators. Through such legislation, it is believed that better teachers will be able to be procured who will not only show greater interest in the work of training teachers, but who will likewise raise the standard of the work. The committee of which Prof. Davis was a member appointed in December 1927, and continued its work upon request during the succeeding years. Prof. Davis and other members took an active part in keeping the bill before the eyes of the state legislature, and in interesting college faculties.

Dr. Emory W. Hunt, president of the College Presidents Association, and Dr. George L. Omwake, president of Ursinus College, who was secretary of the association and later president, did much to put the project before the legislative bodies. On February 11, 1929, Dr. Omwake and his legislative committee of the college presidents association met with State Superintendent Keith, Deputy Superintendent Ruhl, and State Director of Teacher Training Henry Klowner, and it was agreed that former governor Martin Brumbaugh, president of Juniata College and also a member of the legislative committee should draw up a bill to be submitted to the state superintendent.

Bill Introduced by Senator Earnest

The bill was introduced by Senator Earnest of Harrisburg in the Senate, March 11. Mainly through the efforts of Dr. Omwake and Dr. Linhart of the University of Pittsburgh who met with the education committee of the Senate was the bill finally released from committee.

Through the influence of Judge Albert W. Johnson and Senator Andrew Sardoni, both trustees of Bucknell, and with the timely assistance of Francis T. Baker of Lewisburg, Senator Apple of Sunbury, and Representative Sterling Post, Bucknell, '13, a representative of Northumberland county the bill was passed by both houses.

It pays to advertise.

PICKENS WILL DISCUSS THE NEGRO QUESTION

(Continued from Page 1)

the entrance requirements that he was started by the Administration as a sophomore. After graduating from there, he attended Yale University where he was a straight "A" student and was made a member of Phi Beta Kappa at the end of two years. While at Yale, he won the Oratorical contest and was made class orator.

Since his college days, he has taught foreign languages at Talladega College, has been head of the departments of Greek and Sociology at Wiley University, has been Dean and later vice president of Morgan College in Baltimore and has traveled extensively in Europe. Since 1920, he has been Field Worker for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. He has also written several books, such as: "Breaking Through," "The Heir of Slaves," "The New Negro," and "The Vengeance of the Gods."

Mr. Pickens will probably speak to the Bucknell students on "The Economic Interpretation of the Race Question." His address promises to be both interesting and instructive and the Sociological Society (under whose auspices he is being brought to the campus) is hoping that Commencement Hall will be packed with students Monday night.

PI BETA PHI DEFEATS ALPHA CHIS, 19-16

Having downed the Phi Mu team Thursday night to the tune of 13-10, the Pi Phi basketball team continued its winning streak by defeating the Alpha Chi Omegas in the first game of the inter-sorority finals last night, 19-16.

Eleanor Bucholz, '31, was the high scorer for the winners, while "Polly" Brick captured scoring honors for the Alpha Chis.

The second game in the finals will be played next Tuesday night in the Tustin Gymnasium at 8:00.

Read The Bucknellian

CLASSIFIED ADS.

MEN WHO WANT
SUMMER WORK

See page 131 in the May AMERICAN MAGAZINE

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON

TODAY—SEE and HEAR the original Jazz Singer in his First—Talking, Singing, Joking, Dancing Picture
GEORGE JESSEL in "LUCKY BOY"
And the "Collegians." Prices: 15c, 25c, 35c.

TOMORROW and SATURDAY—SEE and HEAR
The Fox Movietone Picture with marvelous Music and Sound Effects.
"ME GANGSTER"
Prices—15c, 25c, 35c.

NEXT MONDAY and TUESDAY, APRIL 15-16
100% ALL TALKING Paramount Special
"THE CANARY MURDER CASE"
LOOK, OUR PRICES—Matinees: 2:30: 15c, 30c.
Evenings—7:00 and 9:00: 15c, 25c, 35c.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, APRIL 17-18
BEBE DANIELS in
"WHAT A NIGHT"
And the 1929 COLLEGIANS.

MONDAY and TUESDAY, APRIL 22-23
"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"
With TALK, SOUND, and MUSIC
A Paramount Big Special Talking Picture at OUR NEW LOW PRICES.
Matinee: 2:30: 15c and 30c. Evening: 7:00-9:00: 15c, 25c, 35c.

IDEAS
CAMPUS
UNIVERSITY
DISCUSSION. AIMS
OF COLLEGE EDUCATION
THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN
THE SORDID..GET IN ON THIS
EDITORIAL CONTEST THINK!!
WRITE!! RULES..DANCES..THE LIQUOR
QUESTION . AUTOMOBILES . CO-EDUCATION
IS BUCKNELL A..??? ELECTIVES..MAJORS..MINORS
HOUSE PARTIES ..... THE "400" IN COLLEGE .....
ENTRANCE EXAMS ..... ORIENTATION ..... "SYSTEMS"

?

The Pi Delta Epsilon Editorial contest gives every student a chance to "think out loud".....Prizes of Fifteen and Ten Dollars to the First and Second Prize Winners respectively ..... Contest closes May First, 1929. Open to any Student of the University excepting members of P. D. E.....Editorials to be not more than 500 words in length.....Each entrant may submit more than one Editorial..... Only typewritten copy accepted.....The Fraternity reserves the right to publish any or all work submitted.....

Get your Kodak out!

Count on us for Kodak Film -- Expert Finishing

and with
SPRING AND TENNIS

so near at hand, just dig up your old Racquet now and let us restring it today. Don't be caught unprepared when the season opens.

W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]

announces the following gifts-

$1,250,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr. to purchase a New Campus and erect New Buildings.

$ 460,000 from Alumni and Friends to provide additional educational facilities, including the Rauschenbuach Endowed Memorial Lectureship

These new advantages will be used to improve and enhance the educational objectives

Graduate Scholarships ($400 each) and Fellowships ($1200 each) for advanced specialized study.

See 1928-29 Catalogue for details.

HERE IT IS!!
Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!

AMOUNT - - - - - - - - $10,000.00
ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)

Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.

Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

Corn-Cobs

Being "blind folded" is no longer a novelty.

"Walking a mile" is equally irksome.

Luckies are hounding the poor candy makers, so here's a boost for Prince Albert and Edgeworth at their expense.

We have just received a number of Braeburn corn-cob pipes which promise to become more than novelty—as typical of the student youth as his appearance and mannerisms.

Plenty of these Missouri Meerschaums have already wafted their fragrance. What if the campus looks like Pittsburgh at dusk or a fraternity house like London in April.—Whoopee!

Join the crowd—by dropping in for your pipe—it is filled, ready waiting for you.

MONTGOMERY'S
at Bucknell

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

ON TUESDAY—8 P. M.
HEAR B. U. GIRLS DEBATE
GEORGE WASHINGTON U.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

OR—TUESDAY—8 P. M.
HEAR JOINT GLEE CLUBS
SING—BAPTIST CHURCH

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 18, 1929. NUMBER 27

Lybarger Trophy Is Presented At Annual Banquet

Mount Carmel Team Receives Cup as Winners in Central Pennsylvania League

NED RAKER CHOSEN PRESIDENT FOR 1930

The Mount Carmel High School debating team coached by V. W. McHail, '28, was awarded the Lybarger debating trophy at the annual Bucknell debating banquet held in the Cameron House, Friday, April 12. This is the first year that the Mount Carmel debaters have triumphed in the competition in the Central Pennsylvania High School Debating League, a group of sixteen high schools in a league sponsored by Bucknell University.

Guests at the banquet included: Dean Amelia E. Clark, Professor W. H. Coleman, toastmaster and director of debate at Bucknell, the Honorable Lee Francis Lybarger, of Mifflinburg, Alfred R. Rawlinson, '29, president of the league, the Bucknell debaters, the debaters and coaches from Mount Carmel High School and the debaters and coaches from Williamsport High School.

The Lybarger trophy, a beautiful silver cup, is presented to Bucknell each year by the Honorable Lee Francis Lybarger. This is the fourth year that the debating league has been in existence and the eighth cup that Mr. Lybarger has donated in the cause of debating.

The trophy was received by Mr. Rawlinson on behalf of Bucknell and he in turn presented it to Mr. Alfred J. Miller, of the Mount Carmel team.

It was announced at the banquet that Ned T. Raker, '31, will succeed

(Continued on last page.)

Artistry of Grounds Is Highly Commended

Mr. Kline Transplants Flowers From Prof. Burpee's Garden

One of the most beautiful parts of Bucknell's lovely campus owes its origin and development to the constant effort of but two men. The place referred to is the plot of ground to the east of the Engineering building and the men are Professor F. E. Burpee and janitor Ralph Kline.

Visitors never fail to notice the landscaping around the Engineering building. Crowds going to the stadium walk through it and students pass by every day. Last year the magazine Better Homes and Gardens published a photograph of the plot with comments on its artistry. One would hardly realize that five years ago nothing but rank weeds grew where the rose now blooms.

After the Engineering building was completed, Professor Burpee and Mr. Kline were the first to realize that a beautiful garden could be made on the grounds and they forthwith set about to do it. Plants and bulbs were brought from Professor Burpee's own garden and a few flower beds laid out. That was four years ago.

The next year additions were made to the planting scheme by transplanting some shrubs from other parts of the campus. Last year fertilizer was used for the first time. This year the plantings have been enlarged by several new beds and now show signs of being lovlier than ever this summer. All this is due to the planning of Professor Burpee and the painstaking cultivation of Mr. Kline.

No plants or flowers have ever been bought expressly for the plot. All have been transplanted from some place on the campus or from Professor Burpee's home grounds. The only expense to the University has been the purchase of fertilizer.

Asked to tell how the garden was developed, Professor Burpee replied, "Like Topsy, it 'just growed.' " We merely took a sprig from somewhere, stuck it into the ground and placed beside it a stick to keep it straight, and then let nature take her course. There is nothing remarkable about it."

Advertise in The Bucknellian

We'll Greet Mothers May 12

The staff of the Women's College will initiate a new custom on Mother's Day, May 12, when members of the staff will be at home in the afternoon in the living room of the new dormitory to meet the parents of both men and women students. Tea will be served, and students are urged to bring their parents there at that time.

Dr. J. Rice Honored By Recent Dedication Of Dairy Association

Professor's Lab. Experiments And other Public Services Are Highly Commended

Dr. J. W. Rice, professor of bacteriology at Bucknell, was recently honored in having the Fifth Annual Report of the Pennsylvania Association of Dairy and Milk Inspectors dedicated to him.

The dedication includes a picture of Dr. Rice and the words: "To John Winter Rice, educator—sanitarian—cooperator, founder of the course in sanitary milk control, president of Lewisburg Board of Health, president of Milk Control district No. 4, president of our Association 1927-28 as a token of our high regard for his personal character and public services."

The book which is a compilation of articles on milk sanitation contains 283 pages with illustrations and advertisements is sent to the departments of health of every state in the Union, and is placed on the files of all Pennsylvania public libraries.

Dr. Rice's untiring work in the inspection of cattle and dairies in the surrounding country along with his laboratory experiments has not only added to scientific knowledge of sanitary conditions but has had a practical value in greatly reducing the prevalence of bovine tuberculosis in the counties over which he has charge. Charts in the book dedicated to him indicate that since 1926, when Dr. Rice became connected with the association, the rate of tuberculosis in Union and surrounding counties has been reduced from 1-5 per cent to less than 1 per cent.

Nichols to Provide Syncopation at Hop

The frosh, after an exasperating silence of more than a month, have at last sufficiently overcome their secrecy to announce to an eager public that none other than the famous "Nick" Nichols and his Collegians, well-known Harrisburg syncopaters, will positively, without fail, supply the mean and low-down next Friday evening for the annual hop.

Indications point clearly to a pleasant and enjoyable evening for all those who attend, as the large committee, under the leadership of "Slim" Porter, is making every possible effort to make this event one of the outstanding social successes of the year.

To help cover expenses the frosh are reserving a limited number of pasteboards for upperclassmen, at the ridiculously low price of $2.00. These may be obtained at any fraternity house by applying now to the committee representative.

Senior Co-eds Will Revel At Annual Ball Saturday

The annual Senior Ball, given by the girls of the senior class, will be held Saturday evening, April 20, in the living room of the new dormitory. This room is reserved for such functions as the College Girls' Reception and the Senior Ball, which is always a gala event, usually limited to the outgoing class.

The Blue Band will furnish the syncopation, and anyone who is fortunate enough to go with a senior may attend.

"Jo" Roberts, '29, is chairman of the affair, and the following heads of committees have been appointed to help make the Ball a success: decorations, Rhoda Herr; programs, Mary Wagner; chaperons, Louise Greeff; refreshments, Sara Collner; orchestra, Jane Foust.

Class Contests For Oratorical Prizes Scheduled

Open to Sophomores and Juniors Oratory and Debate Awards To Be Presented in June

SOPHOMORES COMPETE ON TUESDAY, APRIL 30

Bucknell sophomores and juniors will have an opportunity to gain experience and recognition along oratorical lines in the class contests to be held during the last part of April and the first of May.

The sophomore contest will be held in Bucknell Hall on Tuesday evening, April 30, at seven thirty o'clock. This contest is for extemporaneous speaking, and therefore only an outline of the speech is required. This outline should be handed to Prof. James P. Whyte the night of the contest. There are two prizes offered for this contest. Only one of these was awarded last year. Grace Anna Schaum received this distinction.

The Junior Exhibition in Oratory is given impetus by two awards, the Gretzinger Prize, and the two Junior Debate Prizes, offering a prize for men and women. The Junior Exhibition will be held on Tuesday, May 7, at seven-thirty in Bucknell Hall, and is open to all juniors who aspire toward distinction in oratory and debate. The same speech may be presented in both the oratory and debate contests. In 1928, the Gretzinger prize was awarded to Gilbert Bishop Moyer, and the debating prizes went to Rowland Henry Coleman and Doris Freton Siner.

Economic Students to Hear Public Accountant Speak

Mr. Ernest Crowthen of Pittsburgh To Tell of Positions Available

Mr. Ernest Crowthen, a public accountant in Pittsburgh, will speak to the commerce and finance students on April 26 on the subject of accounting. Mr. Crowthen is a member of the American Institute of Accountants. He will talk to the students on the opportunities in the field of finance, and particularly in the way of accounting.

The American Institute of Accountants has a plan whereby college students are assigned to positions with accounting firms. They receive a salary of $125 a month, for the first year, and an increase thereafter. If they keep the position three years, they are then qualified to take the civil service (C. P. A.) exam for accountants.

DER DEUTSCHE VEREIN WILL MEET APRIL 22

An important meeting of Der Deutsche Verein will be held Monday evening, April 22, at 7:30 in the play room of the new dormitory. A report of the ritual committee will be presented and a decision made as to the adoption of the proposed ritual.

"DRIPPIN'S" FROM WILLIAM PICKENS

"A negro millionaire is not a millionaire. He's a negro millionaire."

"We don't have a color line in this country, but we have a color border, a no-man's land where the coming and going is easy."

"When a negro goes to a charity organization he rides in a separate elevator, but when he goes to a department store he rides in the same elevator with the white people. In the first place he is coming to get something while in the second case he is coming to leave something."

"A clean negro eating his biscuit in the hotel dining room is more undesirable than a sweating negro in the kitchen handling the patrons' biscuits."

"The whole family's gone to the barber shop so the white man takes up barbering."

"If we keep a thing long enough a reason grows up for it."

"The negro is not opposed when trying to get a place in Heaven, but let him try to get a lot on Main street!"

"Race prejudice is a smoke screen for economic exploitation."

"The tax man is the only one to whom we don't brag about our property."

"Is a black barber more menacing to the social line than a black chambermaid or bell hop?"

"The sentiment that grows around a class is subsequent and secondary. The economic background is primary."

"Race prejudice is not an instinct, it is an inculcation."

"Race pride is an effect, not a cause."

"When the bell hops become financially independent as the barbers have, then there will be laws passed excluding black bell hops from the hotels of the south."

Students Crowd Commencement Hall to Hear William Pickens Interpret Race Problems

Concert at Woodbury Ends Glee Club Trip

Group Is Commended on Sense Of Appreciation of Music

Winding up a 15-day trip at Woodbury, N. J., on April 10, the Men's Glee Club surpassed all former concerts in their performance at the local high school, before an audience of more than 900.

The group visited twelve different towns and cities, giving approximately 20 concerts in all.

The high sense of the appreciation of music as shown by the group was praised in every town, while the interpretation, diction, and shading was greatly commended. Mr. Ralph Hartz, director of the glee club said that in every way the trip was the most successful one ever taken by the club. The support of the alumni was greatly appreciated, for at every concert a number of Bucknellians were in the audience.

Henry Fessler Well Received

Henry Fessler, '29, baritone was the outstanding soloist, and at each concert was tendered a big ovation. "Jim" Colledge, '31, who played several violin selections, likewise received much applause. George Streitz, '31, was especially good in his rendition of various popular songs. Justin Masters, Jean Moyer, and Harry Walters, with their saxaphones and banjo, formed a very good trio. Roy Goodlander, '29, wielded the crayon to advantage, and created much levity by his "Krayon Kracks." Other soloists were "Art" Randall, '32, and Charles Frampton, '31.

Men Are Entertained

At Hightstown and Woodbury, men were entertained at a reception and dance. In every town they were most graciously entertained at private homes.

The men who made the trip are all voice students in the School of Music. They were chosen on the basis of individual try-outs, while scholarship and attendance at practice were also given due consideration.

Delta Kappa Phi Installed on Campus

Sigma Beta Delta Is Now Beta Chapter of National Group

With the inauguration of the Delta Kappa Phi fraternity, on Easter Sunday, the Sigma Beta Delta fraternity of Bucknell University became Beta chapter of the first mentioned organization.

Marshall College, at Huntingdon, West Virginia, was the birthplace of Delta Kappa Phi, and Alpha chapter has its home at that institution. It was at Marshall that the representatives from six college local fraternities, the Bucknell group among them, met early this spring and formulated plans for joining themselves into a national brotherhood. Upon the favorable vote of each of these local bodies, the national organization became a reality on March 31.

The Bucknell chapter was organized late last semester and Clement C. Jablonski, '31, was elected to lead the group as its president. Jablonski is now National Grand Conductor of the new organization, which has chapters in Upper Iowa University, College of Idaho, Cumberland University, University of Utah, in addition to its Alpha and Beta chapters at Marshall College and Bucknell University.

Beta of Delta Kappa Phi is at present considering several sites and houses with a view to establishing a permanent home on the campus.

Wednesday Night Reserved For Local Talent at WJBU

Revision of Broadcasting Schedule Announced by Station Officials

Station WJBU again comes to the fore as part of the regular university life through the initiation of a regular series of programs from the organ room of the School of Music. Charles Rivenburg, '29, is arranging interesting musical programs to be broadcast every Wednesday night. Mr. Rivenburg has taken particular pains to make each program an expression of the worth of the musical life of the school.

The new arrangement of broadcasting divides the local and outside talent programs in two distinct time divisions. All Bucknell talent will find expression through the Wednesday programs and outside talent will go on the air each Friday night.

The Bucknell radio station recently received a great many favorable reports on the quality of the broadcasting of Dr. Picken's lecture last Monday night.

WJBU has become an associate member of the National Association of Broadcasters.

STUDENTS WILL VISIT DANVILLE ON SATURDAY

Members of Prof. F. H. Lund's psychology classes and other students interested in mental diseases will journey to the Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases next Saturday morning where at 10:00 a. m. they will attend a clinic of mental disorders.

The clinic next Saturday will be a summary of the six lectures given at Bucknell this year by Dr. H. B. Pike who has charge of the psychiatry department of the hospital.

Plans have been made to make the trip by busses as it has been made in the past few years.

PASSION PLAY COMING TO THE BAPTIST C. E.

"The Passion Play" will be shown on the screen in the Baptist Christian Endeavor meeting, Sunday evening, April 21, at 6:30 o'clock President "Ray" Taylor has tried several times to get the film, but was unable to do so until this week. The C. E. hopes that a large number of students may be present to see the life of Jesus portrayed upon the screen.

Limits Himself to Economic Issue as the Basis of Social Relations

SUBTLE HUMOR OF YALE MAN WINS AUDIENCE

Racial Superiority Defined By Law of Economic Greatness, Says Noted Negro Orator

"Our social relationships depend upon economic conditions," declared William Pickens, noted colored orator and educator, who spoke to an enthusiastic audience which packed Commencement Hall, Monday night to hear the famous Yale orator give "An Economic Interpretation of the Race Problem." Dr. Pickens came to Bucknell under the auspices of the Bucknell Sociological Society and to Dr. Clarence Johnson, head of the Sociology Department goes the credit for bringing to the Bucknell campus the second big speaker of the year. Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President and former Bucknellian, was the other outstanding speaker brought to the campus by the Sociological Society this year.

Dr. Pickens strengthened his arguments with vivid and vital examples accompanied with a subtle humor that made his hearers gasp for breath between his numerous epigrams on the position of the negro in this country.

Dr. Pickens explained that there are other interpretations than the economic and that the economic interpretation may be applied to any race. On the economic basis we can interpret more things and more of

(Continued on page 8)

Fire in West College Put Out by Students

Origin of Flames a Mystery, As Chief's Theory is Disproved

A score of deep male voices intermingled with the tenor of a few odd freshmen cheered the local fire department as they came chugging up the hill in response to a call last Sunday evening at 11:45 o'clock.

Room 66, on the third floor of West College, occupied by "Joe" Paige, '32, was on fire. "Joe" the college barber, had been out and on his return was greeted by a cloud of smoke. He immediately voiced a loud alarm and his cry was echoed by the throng above and below him. "Fire," shouted Paige. "Fire," shouted the scantily clad students as they ran along the hall.

Something had to be done, and as it was "Joe's" room he took it upon himself to do something. Snatching up a tin waste paper basket he hurriedly filled it with water and returning to his room was about to hurl it through the dense smoke into the two foot flame that was creeping up the radiator when his arms were grabbed. "Joe" was faced by Gene Tuzinski, '31. "Don't throw that water" said Gene, "It'll go through the floor and get my bed clothes wet.

While Tuzinski and Paige were debating about the value and destructive power of water someone thought of the chemical fire extinguisher that was hanging a few feet away.

A short time later the flames were subdued. The fire company arrived and the fire chief, after an investigation of the charred flooring around the steam radiator declared that the flames were probably due to a cigarette being thrown into the crevice between the steam pipe and the flooring. But "Joe" doesn't smoke and so the origin of the flames that caused the $5.00 damage is still shrouded in mystery.

Paintings to be Displayed at State

A set of seven paintings depicting the most famous flights in the history of aeronautics will be displayed at the Carnegie Library at Penn State this coming week. The pictures are prints from the original drawings produced to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of flight.

Ercil Bates, '30, spent the Easter vacation with "Jerry" Welchons, '30, at the latter's home in Punxsutawney, Pa. During the week Ercil visited Pittsburgh for the first time, besides seeing some lovely scenery on her trip from Lewisburg across the western part of the state. Easter meant a great deal to "Jerry" for this year was the first time in six years that she has been home for the holiday.

* * * *

The sudden influx of visitors in Annex Sunday night annoyed the residents of that place immensely, but it wasn't until Monday morning that they discovered the cause of the visit. There had actually been a fire up the hill and the poor girls were too incensed at the noise made by the visitors to ask questions—and so they missed the fire. Curiosity does not always kill the cat.

* * * *

The "Big Parade" has commenced! The warm weather has brought a whole flock of silver-tongued, glibe salesmen to our peaceful campus to barter for our leisure summer hours. Representatives for magazines, silk socks, saucepans and what have you are being solicited and the renumeration ranges anywhere from full tuition to a chance to retire comfortably in six months.

* * * *

"Ted" Mitchell spent the holidays at the famous "Pat" O'Brien Agricultural Camp in Madison, N. J., getting into shape for the coming baseball season. The camp is a prominent rendezvous for athletes of all sports, including many football stars and boxers of note, who get ready for approaching campaigns by taking the rest cure offered there during the summer months.

* * * *

While Alice Corbett, '30, was attending the Alpha Chi Omega convention at Syracuse this vacation she had the luck to see a number of her old friends who were with the Oberlin Glee Club, which was giving a concert in Syracuse at the same time that the convention was being held. Alice attended Oberlin for two years before coming to Bucknell.

* * * *

A co-ed tells of how the train in which she was returning to Bucknell after vacation misbehaved in a very queer way. Twice the engine "ran away" from the cars, and it was necessary to stop the train, back up the engine, and hitch it on again. "The second time it happened," said the co-ed, "I began to wonder if I would reach Lewisburg that night."

* * * *

Mary Mumma and Ruth Wiggins, '30, had an interesting time after the Alpha Chi dance Saturday night. They started at 11:00 p. m. to drive to Harrisburg and arrived, after various experiments in automobile anatomy, at 3:00 a. m. Sunday. The last mile, even, turned out to be a walking tour.

* * * *

At a recent inter-fraternity smoker, a lot of talent, so long hidden under the proverbial bushel, was uncovered when "Turk" Jones and "Gil" Moyer amazed the assemblage with songs sung in a rollicking manner, and "Reg" Gaylord proved himself an impersonator of high calibre.

* * * *

Returning to college after vacation, Edna Cease, '31, had a narrow escape when the car in which she was riding collided with another. Although she was unhurt, Edna is still a little nervous from the shock.

* * * *

Girton Lenhart, '32, was the guest of "Jim" Eccles, '32, in Pittsburgh during vacation. "Tiny" spent an enjoyable afternoon with "Hank" Handgartner, whom he encountered in the Smoky City.

* * * *

The "Semites" are now taking regular seats in the dining hall. There will no longer be a scramble for tables during the week, but over the week-ends we will still have the privilege of sitting where we please.

* * * *

"Stud" Pyle, eminent saxaphonist of Hoffman's orchestra, has lately become exceedingly suspicious of persons hitting him over the head with a blackjack.

* * * *

The lure of the big city was too much for "Davie" Phillips, '30, during Easter Week, so he made his regular pilgrimage as usual to visit his sister in New York City.

* * * *

Miss Ruth Lowenstein of Nanticoke spent the week-end with Mary Reese, '32.

* * * *

Muriel Hoyle, '31, who has been ill for the past month with "flu" at her home in Wellseley Hill, Mass., returned on Saturday, April 13.

* * * *

Dorothy Stenger, '30, spent Saturday in Washington, D. C. "Dot" reports that the cherry blossoms there are beautiful this year.

* * * *

Dorothy Goff, a last year's graduate of Susquehanna University, was a guest of Sarah Collner, '29, over the last week-end.

* * * *

Lillian McClure, '31, of Lancaster, spent several days of the spring vacation at Orange, New Jersey visiting her roommate, Marie Condit, '31.

Bucknell Professors At Alumni Gathering

Professor C. A. Lindemann, Professor and Mrs. John H. Eisenhauer, and Comptroller Dayton L. Ranck were guests at the annual Easter dinner-dance given by the Berks County Alumni Association of Bucknell University at the Wyomissing Club at Reading last Friday night. Professor Lindemann was the speaker for the occasion and was very extremely well received.

Professor Galen Jones, principal of the Reading High School, also spoke. Professor Jones succeeded Professor John Eisenhauer as principal of this high school. Both Professor Eisenhauer and Mr. Ranck have served as president of the Berks County Club.

Dr. J. R. Wood, '94, president of the Reading Club acted as toastmaster. Impromptu speeches were made by Prof. Eisenhauer, Mr. Ranck, Mr. Howard Fisher, and Mr. Alvin Julian, better know as "Doggy" Julian, '23. "Doggy," as athletic coach of Albright College, Reading, said that he felt that Bucknell alumni were especially fortunate in having all of Bucknell's teams come to Reading to play. He praised the amicable relations between the two schools. Bucknell is the opening football attraction on Albright's schedule next fall, the game to be played at Reading.

Miss Rebekah Rentschler, ex-'28, entertained with two violin solos and Miss Mildred Hale, formerly of Milton, and a graduate of the Bucknell School of Music, sang.

The nominating committee's report was accepted and the following officers were elected to serve the club for the coming year: Dr. William Leiser, III, '09, president; Mr. H. Leroy Heller, '21, vice president; and Miss Anne Van Dine, '26, secretary-treasurer. In accepting the presidency, Dr. Leiser spoke very highly of the past year's success under the leadership of Dr. Wood.

Prospects for the coming year are favorable. The supper meetings, begun last year, will be continued under the new set of officers.

Especially delightful was the Easter banquet according to those who were present. Much credit is due to Miss Angeline Kissinger, '22, as chairman of the committee on arrangements.

MISS M. R. UMPLEBY NOW MRS. J. F. FARNSWORTH

Miss Margaret Ruth Umpleby, daughter of C. Q. Umpleby, of Lewisburg, was married to James Fred Farnsworth, '27, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Farnsworth, of Bloomsburg, in the First Methodist Church at Bloomsburg, Tuesday, April 2.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Tubbs, of Baltimore, Md. They left the same day for a honeymoon trip to Baltimore.

Mrs. Farnsworth is a graduate of the Wilkes-Barre High School and Wyoming Seminary Business School. For several years she has been an assistant in the office of Dean Rivenburg.

The groom was graduated from the Bloomsburg High School and Bucknell University. He is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity. Mr. Farnsworth is an instructor in electrical engineering at Bucknell.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth will reside in Lewisburg during the present school year.

Some Joker Suggests $5.50 Fee for Hopping

Some joker in the New Hampshire legislature has proposed a license fee for hitch-hikers amounting to $5.50 per person. According to newspaper reports another measure was also proposed that would require them to display two headlights and a tail light when travelling at night.

No cause for laughter is contained in the pending Pennsylvania bill, however. It follows the example of New Jersey in forbidding this most pleasant, inexpensive and diverting form of travel.

"When it becomes a crime," complains The Dickinsonian, student newspaper of Dickinson College, "for a clean-cut, intelligent, honest college boy to ask a passing motorist for the means to get to his home and parents during a brief vacaiton period, then it is time to question the discretion of the legislative bodies."

—The New Student.

"Oh, Mabel, you've got a special delivery letter over at the house marked 'Private and Personal.'"

"What did it say?"—Texas Ranger.

Party Is Expensive Affair For Columbia Sophs - $2500

The freshman and sophomore classes at Columbia University learned that brawls cost just as much as balls, when they were informed that they owed the Hotel Plaza just $2500 for a little party that they staged in the rink and gold room of that building last week.

It all happened in the course of the annual freshman-sophomore fight. The sophomores were so indiscreet as to capture 16 freshmen, manacled them, and then take them to the Hotel Plaza where the sophomores were enjoying a banquet.

When the freshman rescue parties arrived the battle started. The collegians spent 30 minutes in smashing crockery, denting walls, and bloodying the floor. Although it was merely a friendly college contest, the manager of the hotel estimated the cost at $2500 and before the triumphant sophomores left the scene of battle they paid a $250 deposit on their bill.

Read The Bucknellian

You will find the finest leathers and most correct lines in John Ward shoes. A wide variety of lasts, specially selected and designed for college men's wear.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan LEVER FILL PENS-PENCILS
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Kastman Kodaks and Films.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892. Lewisburg, Pa.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Reblocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

The District Council of Phi Kappa Psi held at the Franklin and Marshall chapter in Lancaster, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week was graced by brothers McClain, Stambaugh, and Hartman, who formed Gamma's delegation.

Brother R. B. Mulkie, '94, of Union City, Pa., drove in for the ball game on Saturday, and, although unable to spend any time with us, assured us that he would return in the near future.

Brothers Verona, Milliken, Lewis Laugher, De Grange, and Blanken, all from Allegheny College were our honored guests on Sunday.

Brother "High Pockets" Hulick, Johnson, who is with the Bell Telewho is now attending Harvard Business School, and brother "meat" phone Company of Harrisburg, were with us for a few days last week.

We knew that Graham Mezzine, our Beta boy friend from Colgate, would not miss the Pi Phi dance, and in that no one was disappointed.

Brother Carol Macklem from Dickinson returned with our delegates from the convention to spend several days with us.

Pledge brother Ellenberger is still commuting.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '30

When the boys returned to the house from the recent vacation they found that it had been redecorated throughout in blue and gold. To house manager, Harry Walter, goes the credit for this pleasant surprise.

Harry Allsworth has been playing the part of host to "Ed" Eisaman of Duke University during the past week.

Now that brothers Frampton, Bolinger, Seidel, Masters, Walters, and pledge brother Rischell have returned from the Glee Club trip, the quality of the after dinner singing is expected to improve.

Brothers "Don" Diehl and Paul Seidel were in Philadelphia over the week-end, surveying one of the get-rich-quick propositions offered annually to the graduating class.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

Since Saturday was such a beautiful day, "Bill" Brastow, '31, and his cohorts decided that the grounds surrounding the house should be in keeping with the day. Hence, much labor and much improvement.

Clyde P. Bailey, '29, and "Mel" Paul, '29, tired of the daily routine of school work, so they journeyed to Brooksville, Pa., over the week-end to transact some important business.

Final preparations and finishing touches are in full swing to make the "Sailor's Fling" the best informal dance held at the house this year. The house will be the port of many "Friendships" on Saturday night when the "fling" will be flung.

Allen Rarig, '29, is at home at present, nursing a badly sprained ankle acquired on the very last day of the Easter vacation.

"Gus" Rousch paid the boys a visit Sunday afternoon. At present he is working in Hazleton, and plans several more trips to Lewisburg shortly.

John Fetter, '32, played host to his brother on Sunday afternoon.

Talk about rural wit! The other day a certain pledge asked John N. Stack, '29, this question, "Do you care for a smoke, Stack?" Now, I ask you, "What's to be done in a case like that?"

Friday evening the boys were all smoking expensive cigars. It was "Gib" Frith's way of announcing that "Betty" Webster, '30, is now wearing his pin.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Visitors to the house over the week-end were "Al" Jones, '25, "Jim" Davis, '28, and brother James from the M. I. T. chapter. Brother Keeler, '30, entertained Charles Benton of East Orange for the week-end.

Pledge Hull reports spending an enjoyable Saturday and Sunday in Williamsport.

Brothers "Ev" Davidson, Charles Meadowcraft, "Bill" Edwards, and pledge brothers "Jim" Pierce and "Art" Palmer, all paid a visit to Bloomsburg State Teachers' College Saturday.

"Gene" Long left for New York Saturday and was unable to tell when he would return.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

"Jack" Volgarino, '31, and his corps of freshmen are beautifying the grounds surrounding the house.

"Al" Jacobs, '32, honored us with his presence during the past week.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

The house underwent a thorough renovation during the spring vacation when it received its annual spring house cleaning.

Brothers McCormick, Barton, Conway, and Nicholson spent last week-end at Philadelphia where they witnessed a golf tournament.

Pledge brother "Jack" Barton and some friends enjoyed last week-end at the former's home in Bloomsburg, Pa.

Pledge brother Rodger Davis represented the house when he made the annual spring concert tour with the Glee Club.

Fortunately, everybody at the house was able to spend their spring vacation out of Lewisburg, either at home or visiting. The general line of conversation seems to imply that a good time was had by all.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

An open sport dance was held at the chapter house last Friday evening. Music was furnished by the Blue Band.

Prof. and Mrs. N. H. Stewart and Prof. and Mrs. L. L. Rockwell and Miss Haidee Wilson of Cedar Crest College were guests of the house for dinner last Sunday.

Charles Shelley of Pottsville spent last week-end as a guest of T. U. O.

A special dinner was given by the chapter last evening to celebrate the recent basketball victory.

Later in the evening the Phi Gams were the guests at a smoker.

"Charlie" Mohr attended the Pennsylvania Academy of Science meetings, at State College, March 29, and 30, and spent the greater part of the spring recess collecting salamanders. Charlie is rapidly becoming a menace to each and every salamander in the surrounding country.

Theta U. announces with pleasure the initiation into active membership of Ramon DeFillippo, '30.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

After going to Geisinger Hospital for an X-ray of the knee, "Dick" Howell was ordered to the infirmary for treatment.

We also find brother Breuner on the list of the disabled. While playing baseball last week-end, "Al" sprained his ankle and was taken to the infirmary Sunday evening.

Pledge brother Curnow arrived home from the glee club trip last Sunday and reports a very enjoyable time.

Mrs. C. G. Sale, Miss Elizabeth Sale, George Sale, Miss Caroline Davison, and Miss Mary Bolger were dinner guests last Sunday.

We were favored with many visitors last Sunday, among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Shure of Sunbury, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Shickshinny, Pa., Miss Hodsall and some friends from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and "Bud" Williams with some friends from Williamsport.

Brother Cranford preached in Turbotville Sunday morning and in Muncy in the evening.

During the Easter holidays the house received some very pleasing improvements. The upstairs hall was papered and a new floor was put down. The front half of the third floor was converted into a card room, while the other half was floored and is being used for the storage of baggage.

Brother "Yank" Minnick did not go home for his vacation, but spent a few days in Coudersport with "Yon" Hauber.

Brother Lingle and some friends attended a dinner and card party at brother "Hal" Webbers home in Harrisburg last week.

Believe it or not, the report was rampant a few days ago that someone had seen pledge brother Phillps working.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

Brothers Flynn, Panaccion, Milburne, Ulrich, Carr, Monoghan, and Suma of State College stopped at the house while enroute to Harrisburg.

Pledge brothers Trudnak and Mezza journeyed to Mocanaqua last Saturday. They report a wonderful trip.

Pledge "Rom" Nayfield was visited by his parents last Sunday.

"Mickey" Merman and "Bill" Horan have taken up horse-back riding. They now know why cow-boys walk so funny.

"A la Scarntonian"—

Who were the two pledges who stole the active men's dates the other night? Be patient gentle reader, you'll hear more about this—

BETA KAPPA
"Jack" Crittenden, '31

The house was certainly dreary and empty during the vacation. Among those who did not go home were Earle Morse, '32, and brother Floyd Smith, '29.

Eta chapter takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of Stanley O. Dietrich, '31, of Norristown.

The chapter was pleased with a visit from Mrs. E. Morse of New York City, mother of Earle Morse, '32.

"Jack" Crittenden, '31, spent a part of his vacation in Norristown.

Now that Hartz's yodelers have returned, the quiet and solitude of the house has been broken. However, all work and no play—.

The chapter had as a recent dinner guest, Mrs. E. Morse of New York City, the mother of Earle Morse, '32.

The fraternity baseball team is rapidly forming. Manager "Count" Sherwood, '31, reports a large and promising turnout. He says he has a perfect "battery" on hand, and a "million dollar infield."

It's a habit—brother's Tate, '29, and Hoffman, '30, journeyed to their homes in Allenwood and Watsontown, respectively.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

With hearts eager for new learning and minds filled with many new ideas, the various members of the chapter returned from the recent spring, vacation—. New learning refers to the reading of poetry about spring, and though "new ideas" were, gleaned from the latest shows, and other collegiate enthusiasts.

Mary Gross, '31, in spite of all previous knowledge of Scranton, spent the last few days of vacation with Grace Mathewson, '31, in that "despriet" city.

"Happy" Cooper, '29, got back several days late, and is one of the few people we know, who admits that she would have been willing to have the last vacation continue for about eight more weeks.

We believe that Frances Davison, '31, deserves due credit for the most worthwhile use of her vacation days. For we are certain, that she, has absorbed more "new ideas" than any other single active or pledge.

The last few days have been spent in more than usual activity. Pi Beta has been having the unusual pleasure of a visit from the Grand President of Pi Beta Phi, Miss Amy B. Anken.

The chapter gave a formal dinner for Miss Anken, on Tuesday evening, in the Methodist church, and entertained the alumni members and the patronesses of the fraternity at a tea, in her honor, in the living-room of the new dormitory, on Wednesday afternoon.

The whole chapter is glad to see Rhoda Herr, '29, back again, and to know that she has practically recovered from her recent illness.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
"Betty" Fries, '31

Tau chapter of Delta Delta Delta held a formal dance in Tustin gym.

(Continued on Page 6.)

"Enough is enough!"

The great moment may come at a "modernistic" symphony for piccolo and factory whistle, or it might arrive in a tobacco shop—that glorious instant when the healthy citizen boots out polite pretense and announces, "Enough is enough! Give me music I can understand; give me a cigarette I can really taste, or stop the show!"

You can't blame him. Cigarettes, like music, are supposed to give pleasure; if they don't they're flat, and that's all there is to it.

Now, Chesterfields are made for the express purpose of satisfying the taste. They have the requisite mildness, but not carried to the vanishing point. Starting with the finest tobaccos we can buy, we've added a blend that keeps the best of their flavors intact.

That's the whole story, of which the happy ending is, "I'd rather have a Chesterfield!"

CHESTERFIELD
MILD enough for anybody..and yet.. THEY SATISFY
LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM — FREE MUSIC AND DANCING — SUNDAES
LIGHT LUNCH

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief — Clarence W. Cranford, '29, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief — Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor — Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors — Dorothy Davies, '30; A. E. Frederick, '29; Frederick M. Locke, '31
News Editor — Trennie Kisley, '31
Assistant News Editors — Nan Lee Thomas, '30; Blair Hazen, '31; H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor — J. Warren McHugh, '30
Assistant Sports Editors — Kenneth Vandenbree, '31; R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor — Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor — Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors — Elizabeth Pigner, '30

Business Staff

Advertising Manager — W. C. Hamitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager — John Snyder, '30; Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31

Assistant Circulation Managers

George DeLancey, '32 — Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Ginzler, '32 — Benjamin Wahrman, '32
Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leech, '30; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '32.

CALENDAR

Friday, April 19—Inter-fraternity Ball, 8:00-11:45 o'clock, Tustin Gymnasium

Saturday, April 20—Mu Phi Epsilon bridge, 2:30-5:30 o'clock, Music School.
Phi Gamma Delta informal dance, 8:00-11:15 o'clock.
Sigma Chi informal dance, 8:00-11:15 o'clock.
Phi Lambda Theta town dance, 8:15-11:15.
Alpha Chi Mu formal dance, 8:00-11:45.
Senior Ball, 8:00-11:45 o'clock, living room of the new dormitory.
Y. W. C. A. Retreat—Front Run.

Monday, April 22—Mu Phi Epsilon Recital, 7:30 o'clock, Organ room.

Tuesday, April 23—Girls' Debate with George Washington University, 8:00 o'clock, Bucknell Hall.
Joint Glee Club Concert, 8:00 o'clock, Baptist Church.

Thursday, April 25—Sherwood Eddy, 7:30 o'clock. Commencement Hall.
Kappa Delta Pledge Tea, 3:30-5:30 o'clock. New Dormitory.

"ASK ME ANOTHER"

(Answers appear elsewhere on this page.)

1. What Bucknell president built the Kappa Sigma house and with what did he pay for its construction?
2. Who is Mong Shaw Loo?
3. What is the name of the township in which Bucknell and the stadium are located?
4. What famous ball player who pitched the Cincinnati "Reds" to a championship was a Bucknell boy?
5. What was the Bucknell bicycle club?
6. What man long connected with the University drew the plans and had charge of the erection of the Bucknell observatory?
7. Where was the original "Female Seminary?"
8. What man connected with Bucknell built the Engineering Building at a saving of $100,000 to the University?

NOW FOR ANOTHER SPEAKER

Pickens has come and gone. The response of the students seems to indicate an eagerness on the part of Bucknellians to hear the ideas of leaders from the outside. Next we are to have the privilege of hearing the courageous Sherwood Eddy. We would not disparage Eddy or his message. On the contrary, we would give credit to the "Y" for bringing him to the campus. But Mr. Eddy's ideas will probably be along the lines of sociology. And while we are grateful for (and dare we say in need of) the sociological ideas which a Dr. Pickens or a Sherwood Eddy is able to bring us, would it not be well to bring in next one who is versed in other matters? As a definite suggestion, why not invite a nationally known legislator to come and give us an insight into the inner workings of politics?

That politics needs college men is the opinion of no less a personage than President Herbert Hoover. Commenting recently in the Yale Daily News upon "the need for college graduates in national and State politics," Mr. Hoover said:

"The need for college graduates in State and national politics is simply the need for trained minds and formed characters that exists in all departments of modern life....The increasing complex structure of society requires more and more of the technical skill and of the cultural background that the colleges undertake to provide....As politics is but one aspect of the social order, its need of men of special educational equipment is as obvious as this need is now in business or the professions."

In a more recent issue of the Yale Daily News (April 15), the need of college men in politics was stressed by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York. This legislator declares (according to a reprint in the New York Times):

"Occasionally the newspapers still herald the political rise of a man who has not had a formal college education. It is a phenomenon, however, that we witness with increasing rarity. The change has in part been brought about by the greater facilities of securing a college education which most young men enjoy today....In a larger measure responsibilty for the change is chargeable to the need in politics for the type of preparation which a college does, or at least, can provide. How to collect information, how to organize it, how to draw all the conclusions it warrants—these are skills which are requisite in every political office and skills which a college is equipped to provide... We need in public life not men who know one thing or another, but men who are equipped to learn new facts and solve new problems. A good college can turn out such individuals.... Politics and office-holding are by no means synonomous. There are many who are engaged in politics for the sake of what they can give rather than what they can get."

Bucknell has sent and will continue to send men into politics. Many of the students at present have their eyes turned toward a life spent in political service. These students—in fact, the entire campus would undoubtedly welcome the chance to hear a noted legislator tell about the problems with which he deals. If such a man with sufficient fame to challenge the student interest were obtained, many might be jarred out of the popular conception of politics which is so commonly held. Just who would be responsible for the securing of such a man is a question. Perhaps the Political Science Department could perform the same service to the school that the Sociology Department performed in bringing William Pickens to the campus.

LEARNING BY BEING BURNT

Last Sunday night in the twelfth hour there was great excitement and turmoil in West College. A student walked into his room to be greeted by smoke and flame. Fire! Fortunately the blaze was discovered early enough to be extinguished without much difficulty, but as short and as apparently trivial as this incident seems, it is an ominous indication of what might have happened. It brought out several facts, among which are the following.

First. It was shown that fires can start in a building that to a hasty glance looks fairly fire-proof, and that they can start in the most unexpected places. This particular fire, for instance, began under the floor near a heating system pipe. Yes, to repeat, they CAN start and WILL start as long as students are using the buildings.

Second. When the floor was torn up in the region of the fire, it was found that the boards for several feet around the pipe were dry rotted. When handled, they crumbled into powder. Ideal tinder for a conflagration!

Third. Sunday's fire brought to light a second fire extinguisher in West College. The Bucknellian had editorially declared some weeks ago that there was but one in the building. The correction is accepted. There are two extinguishers in West College and no more. But still, two fire extinguishers for ninety-seven rooms in a dry old structure filled with careless students is not adequate protection. For minimum safety there should be at least one on every floor!

There you have it: fires start, the building is fine fuel, and not enough fire-fighting equipment is to be had.

What should be done? The answer, as was given in a previous issue, is, "The dormitories should be equipped with extinguishers or a hose on every floor. This equipment should be inspected at regular intervals, and tampering with it should be made a serious offense, punishable by expulsion from the University."

Man will always be a careless creature, it seems, so the only remedy is to counteract his carelessness with precaution.

From some corners will come, no doubt, the hush-hush words of timid and penurious administrative officials, which, in effect will be, "Keep this fire stuff out of the Bucknellian or the insurance men and state inspectors will be on us and there will be trouble."

Yes, keep this talk out of the Bucknellian and pay the price—the Red Spectre's own price—in property and perhaps lives. J. B. S.

GOLFERS WHO CAN'T GOLF

Fellow golfers, it's plainly obvious that Bucknell doesn't have a golf course? Isn't it just as obvious, though, that the need for a golf course, although not an urgent one, is apparent and even desirable? A goodly number of our own professors have said themselves that they would like to see a golf course here, and have indicated their willingness to take advantage of a course were one placed at their disposal. Many students, too, have said that they would like to see a course somewhere on the campus or on adjacent farm land which, because of its undulating nature, is so adaptable to golfing.

Indeed, facilities for golfing are woefully lacking both within and near Lewisburg. The nearest golf course is located at Milton, but that is too far away to be immediately useful. Besides, it is private grounds, and only those who belong to the club that maintains it can readily obtain permission to use it. But a golfer, like a fisherman, must have his fun, and so in lieu of a regular golf course, Loomis field and other open spaces are utilized by our golfers to keep up their game.

We are fully aware of the fact that the whole thing comes down to the fact that the University itself can not well afford to spend a lot of money for something that is not urgently needed by all the students and which would yield no pecuniary return. The University has lots of other things for which it ought to spend its money. Yet it really wouldn't be necessary to spend any money at all on a golf course, if those students who want a golf course would do the work on it themselves and put it in condition, provided that we got the land from the University. Surely, on our 200 acres a fitting stretch of land could be found to meet the requirements of a golf course.

It wouldn't have to be a large plot, but just big enough to lay out a nine-hole course or at least seven. If we could get the use of a piece of land from the University, we golfers who really want a course could get out on Saturday afternoons and locate the greens and fix up the fairways.

And so it is suggested that we call a meeting of all golfers and approach the proper authorities concerning the use of a small plot of land out in the fields near the stadium. If we show the right spirit and go about it with earnestness, there is no apparent reason why we shouldn't soon have a golf course of our own right at hand. A. E. B.

Answers
ASK ME ANOTHER

1. President H. H. Malcolm who served the University as "Prexy" from 1851 to 1858. He paid for the construction with the royalties from his Bible dictionary which was probably the first book of its kind in the market. Dr. Malcolm realized a royalty of four cents on each dictionary sold.
2. Mong Shaw Loo (unless he has died recently) is the oldest living graduate of Bucknell. He was born in Moulmein, Burma, February 11, 1839. He came to Lewisburg in 1858, seven years after the first class had graduated from the University of Lewisburg. When he returned to Burma, he carried to King Kingdon an autographed letter from President Andrew Johnson.
3. East Buffalo township.
4. W. P. Rhines. He played center in 1887 against Major John Price Jackson in the second football game Bucknell played with State College.
5. This was a club formed when the high-wheeled bicycle came into usage. A. Lincoln Moore, later to win a seat in the legislature of New Jersey, won the championships of Union and Northumberland counties, making the record run of a mile in 2 minutes and 30 seconds. John William Meixell, of Lewisburg, once competed with a running horse and beat his opponent in a quarter-mile race at the Lewisburg fair. (We are unable to learn if the administration put a ban on bicycles.)
6. Professor W. C. Bartol. Before becoming a professor, he worked as an architect for his father.
7. Before the University had any buildings for the accommodation of its women students, the female members of the Institution occupied a building that was later called the Buffalo House. This hostelry stood on the site now occupied by the home of the Hon. B. S. Fecht, at Second and St. Louis streets.
8. Professor F. E. Burpee. He erected the building for half the amount named in the lowest bid of the contractors who sought the contract.

New Version, Old Query

Which came first—the can opener or the can? —Heywood Broun.

HERMAN & LEISER

New Ensembles this week of Georgette and Flat Crepe
at $9.75 and $15.00 each

Special for Saturday, April 20
5 ply 35 x 35 Luncheon Cloth, assorted color border and check at 22c Each

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

Have you chosen your life work?
In the field of health service The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers a thoroughly well-balanced course in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.
Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean
HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Longwood Ave. Boston, Mass.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

Help initiate a Bucknell Tradition
Be present at the
First Annual
Inter-Fraternity Ball
"Whitey" Kauffman
and
His Victor Recording Orchestra
APRIL 19, 1929
Tustin Gymnasium 9 P. M. to 1 A. M.

Paint

Dear Gulliver:

Paint? You know I think color is a most interesting subject. It has had such a colorful historical background. Born in ancient Phoenicia, it quickly came to caress kingly contours and queenly bosoms till Democracy gave it to the world and made its use universal. Many are the applications of colors both as dyes and paints. The chemist has romantically taken from coal tar—in color, black, which they tell us is the absence of color—all the colors of the rainbow and has bedecked milady, whether college girl, maid, or factory girl, more beautifully than any queen of yore. The same chemist also gives to our edibles color, which psychologically effects our palates. Then going to the realm of paint we surely find applications galore. There is general painting. To take a homely example —Pa, painting the barn or chicken coop (invariably red is used in this case, although if he were the intense patriot a good Republican should be, he surely would use blue and white along with that revolutionary color). Under this class comes all structural paintings, such as cozy love-nests and those that are something else. Then there is artistic painting, such as Rembrandt and say, John Held Jr. indulge in, to go from the sublime to the ridiculous. Then there is the painting of the human torso for which the vanishing American is famous. A carry over of this, of course, is female painting for reclamation purposes, a direct result of the modern materialistic trend that utilizes all empty or waste places. This diversion of the "fare" sex (courtesy of Y. E. F.) is one example of the results of mass production of heavy pigments.

Perhaps a pertinent question will be interposed here: What is the idea of this subterfuge? Is the writer a Bolshevik, propagandist, or a Duco salesman? Neither. I only want to show that all these varieties of painting do not afford a classification for the one I am about to mention. The most singular application of pigment I have ever seen is the deep fascist drab which has been displayed about the campus recently, much to the indignation of certain sensitive people. I have watched the comments. Most of them have been fair and sane, although a gentleman did try to assure us that we are still in collegiate circles, by giving us as evidence the fact that even if Maine farmers didn't like Bucknell argumentation that "New Yawkers" did. Let us remind the gentleman that New York can be convinced of anything if they still believe that brown derbies are the style. I would suggest that the group of men he praises be turned loose to convince Phi Beta Kappa that we should have a chapter at Bucknell if he so firmly believes in our standing. On the whole I suggest that it is better psychology on the part of those "who are supposed to deal in abstractions," to ignore at least deep drab paint, since "the less the pond be stirred up, the clearer it will be."

Signed,
"The Red Duke."

Macaronic

We Rather like
To imagine that
The forward fellow who Comes to our Burrows

Will someday be

A bum
Loafing along the Streets of some large
City, who'll drop his glance
As we proudly pass
In our grand
Rolls Royce

But, probably, he'll become a

Fat
Bank president
Grudgingly granting us
A trifling loan as
We cringe when
The wolf
Knocks.

For such is the way of fate.

(Yes, 'tis true, just as Mrs. Newlywed said to her husband the day before the boss came to supper, "We'd better put on the doggerel not give you the raise." At this the mister up and barl the door, and proceeded to lash his wife until she couldn't stanza badly was she beaten. Ditty regret it? Ode ear yes!)

—G—

Beloved Gulliver,

A month or so ago I was "all hot and bothered." This was caused by a large number of posters reading "Is Bucknell a University of a Prep School?" which appeared all around the campus.

As I strolled down the path I wondered what the motive was behind this display. Today I reached a conclusion, and in hope of relieving the burden of anxiety from pallied minds, if any, I am going to tell you all about it.

As soon as I saw the signs I struck upon a course of action. Before three weeks were gone I had found that there had been only six students who had remained in their rooms the evening the signs were tacked up. Naturally, I deduced that the only reason there were any at all in their rooms was that they wished to divert all suspicion away from themselves. Therefore I questioned these six, although I must admit that I had little success. All six claimed that they had remained in to study. Did you ever hear of such an evident lie?

Somewhat nonplussed, I realized that I could go no farther in this direction. Puzzling over what I should do next, I suddenly thought of the signs themselves. Ah! I would attain success by deductive reasoning. Sherlock Holmes isn't the only great detective.

I set down the statement "Is Bucknell a University or a Prep School?" I first noticed that it was in the form of a question. What could that mean? I——I have it! There is a doubt in someone's mind. Yes, but a doubt about what? Prep School —University, University — Prep School? Yes, they must have had a doubt as to whether Bucknell is a Prep School or a University. But why such a doubt? (Here a great light burst upon my brain and I knew the problem was solved). Someone had just learned about the crude and antique hazing and hell week systems still extant at good old B. O.

Yours for research,
Kane Unable.

Canine Combatants Bite Hand That Feeds, When Kenneth Vandenbree Intervenes

It took a dog and a college professor to break the last bit of faith "Ken" Vandebree, '31, had in helping a friend in need. The first bit of provocation for the upset of Vandenbree's idealistic views on the helpful Henry problem came as the direct result of a dog-fight in Guy Payne's pie eating emporium, "On The Quadrangle" one day last week.

"Jiggs," Sigma Chi police dog mascot, came into the Inn a little after nine o'clock with the idea of patronizing the genial manager of the combination hash-house and lounging room. "Jiggs," having more than his share of canabalistic tendancies, and being rather prone to show his fangs, started his meal with a choice bite of John Plant's amiable canine, "Teddy." It seems that Ted had not been brought up in the same sociological primary group as had Jiggs, and therefore resented the latter's canabalistic impulse.

Needless to say, the dogs raised the least bit of noise around their stand at the front of the marble soda fountain. "Ken" Vandenbree, disillusioned chap, had just reported for his hash-tossing job when he recognized the wrathful outbursts of his employers most faithful guest, Teddy. Urged by a desire to be of aid to his furry friend, and remembering the policy of the establishment (which, by the way, always stands by its friends), "Ken" did a "Monte Wells" over the soda fountain and found himself the fifth wheel on the wagon of a doggoned good dog-fight. The excited sophomore was soon at the side of his friend, and wasted no time, but grasped both animals by the ruff of their necks. The pause in dental exchange was but momentary, for Teddy, making a well-directed lunge at his adversary, wrapped his jaws in turn around the index finger of his would-be comrade. The three musketeers, now united by this unfortunate move on the part of the wild-eyed Ted, were soon all on the floor together. Kingly bystanders arose nobly to the occasion by tossing inadequate quantities of water upon the trio. Vandenbree, presenting the biggest bulk to the wavering aim of the water tossers, was the unwelcome recipient of most of the "Adam's ale."

With a disappointed look, and a despairing jerk, "Ken" pulled his injured finger from the vise-like grip of the ungrateful animal. As Dr. Fowle dressed a painful wound on his hand, Vandenbree was heard to mutter between clenched teeth, "Blessed are the peace-makers."

Having been made more comfortable by the visit to the Infirmary, Vandenbree strode jauntily into his eleven-thirty psychology class. Here the straw appeared which broke the back of the lucky-strike. The popular professor of the courses on "Why and Wherefor of Mental Gymnastics" carefully propounded his most interesting question and aimed it at a co-ed just behind the "dogged" Vandenbree. The co-ed, having a throat infection, had lost the use of her voice. Realizing this, and still proving true to his Good Samaritan instincts, "Ken" bravely made an attempt to transmit an understanding of the co-ed's predicament to the professor. "She can't talk." The prof. looked quizzled.—Again, "She lost her voice." Again, desperately, "She has a cold—lost her voice." Finally light dawned. Answered the crafty and witty propounder of psychonalytic doctrines, "Your voice seems good, answer the question yourself."

Thus was broken the spirit of another campus idealist. "Nough said!"

GLEE CLUBS TO GIVE CONCERT IN SAYRE, PA.

The combined glee clubs and the Bucknell Symphony Orchestra will leave Wednesday afternoon for Sayre, Pa., where they will give a concert Wednesday night under the auspices of the Sayre High School Alumni Association.

The men's glee club returned Saturday from a fifteen-day trip through three states where their performances were very well received. The combined glee clubs have been practicing under the direction of Director R. F. Hartz and are in fine form.

Pi Phi Court Team Scores Decisive Win Over Alpha Chi Omega to Win Plaque

"Dot" Showalter's stellar performance in the side-center role, coupled with the phenomenal shooting of "Ray" Gothrop and Eleanor Buckholtz last night spelled victory for the Pi Beta Phi basketball team at the expense of the Alpha Chi Omega courtsters to the tune of a 19-6 score.

The Pi Phi eage crew got off to an early lead and the outcome of the game was never in doubt. In the second half, the Alpha Chis tightened up, allowing only three points to be registered in their opponents' scoring column. The centers for the losing team were responsible for the strong resistance put up the second half. Although the losers displayed remarkable team-work in the forward court, the all around work of an inspired Arrow team put the Pi Beta Phis in possession of the Intersorority plaque.

Dickinson Prof. Lauds Senate

Prof. Leon C. Prince, of Dickinson University, recently elected senator, tells of his favorable surroundings and lauds the senate in an interview with some newspaper men from Philadelphia.

HUGE AUDIENCE HEARS FAMOUS NEGRO ORATOR

(Continued from Page 1)

the relationships than by any other basis. There are twelve million negroes in this country, according to the census, but there are probably more negroes than the census man finds. There are three million mulattoes in the United States at the present time.

Negro Here a Long Time

The negro came to this country a little over three hundred years ago. The white man had been here 12 years when he got tired of doing all the hard work, then he began to bring in some colored people. They became the servant class. The race that takes its living out of another race becomes their superiors. The servant class in England, for example, will always be the servant class, the inferior class, unless a member of that class can migrate to Boston or New York.

No Color Psychosis

We believe falsely that we have a color psychosis against the negro since we get a definite reaction against his black skin. Man acts the way he does toward the negro because he has the mistaken notion that he has an instinctive antipathy toward the negro.

Those people with the economic advantage are always the better people. Never was the ruling class economically inferior to the ruled class.

We say that we do not accept the negro socially, that we can have no sex relations with a negro, and yet there are 100,000 mulattoes in Mississippi.

Explains Racial Superiority

Racial superiority can be explained by the law of economic greatness. Racial superiority never goes far against its own economic advantage.

The superior race never takes the handicap. In an athletic race the superior always takes the handicap but not so in the contest of life.

Booker Washington used to tell of the educational conditions in Mississippi. There they appropriated $10 or $12 for a white child's education and only $1 for the negro's. Booker Washington used to say that the colored child must have ten or twelve times as much brains as a white child, since it took that many times as much money to educate the white child as it does the colored child.

Race Pride is an Effect

Race pride is an effect, not a cause. It is inevitable under certain conditions. The white people have a basis for their pride. They are always saying to the colored people "You don't have enough race pride." But just let the white man change places with the negro for a generation and then see who has the race pride. Let him ride in the day coach, and the negro in the pullman, let him sit in the peanut gallery and the negro in the best seats of the orchestra—then who will have the race pride!

In the religious life the white man is willing that the colored man should aim at the comforts and goods of the next world, but the white man wants to master the economic good of this world. We are willing that the negro should keep his eyes on the distant future, but the white man plans for his comfort in the present.

Our Colored Border

We talk about a color line, but we don't have one in America. Instead, we have a penumbral color border.

Economic relations will determine even the features of a race. An island was discovered on which lived two distinct types of people. It was a case of the superior race and the inferior race. One type was good-looking, had fine features, and was mentally alert; the other was weak, stooped, and dull. On investigation it was discovered that they were of the same blood. One had been for generations economically the leaders.

It has been remarked how different a negro congregation looks today from what it did 30 years ago. Most beauty is made and the negro is coming to have better clothes.

During the last 300 years the superior race has not refrained from mixing its blood with the inferior race if it did not involve a mixing of economic rights.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
Clarence A. Barbour, D. D., LL. D., President
THE CHURCH OF YESTERDAY
had its greatest influence when the "Parson" was the best educated man in his community.
THE CHURCH OF TOMORROW
can afford to accept as its leaders only those having the most complete professional training, including graduation from a standard college, and theological seminary.
Co-educational

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

MOTHER'S PIES

No one can cook like mother we've all agreed. The argument holds good until courtesy from the new son-in-law turns to frankness. It is when comparative criticism throws its spot light on this generation of can openers and delicatessen dieticians and the modern connoisseurs of bridge and cigarettes that mother's cooking ain't what she used to be. Some critics with the inspiration of the family cook as their background of experience imagine wonderful improvements in the management of the COLLEGE INN that would ensue from their ownership. It is a trivial matter that they have had no successful experience to prove their theories. We who have borne the heat and burden of the day and half the night, who have abased ourselves through all the lean vacations, who have suffered the loss of many things from stock-holders not of record, we are incompetent and unprofitable servants, despite our good intentions. We are somewhat aware of our shortcomings and promise that when we garner a few shekels that we can call our own, some of our own ideals and those of our friends—the critics—will come to pass. Meanwhile we trust that the COLLEGE INN service is worthy of its hire.

The College Inn
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
PAYNE, '09

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
Lewisburg, Pa.

THE PURITY

MAKE MERRY AT THE FRESHMAN HOP
APRIL 26th
To the strains of
NICK NICHOLS and His Collegians
TUSTIN GYMNASIUM
THE SAD NEWS $2.00

LONE RUN SCORED IN PITCHING DUEL AS BISONS WIN

"Eddie" Halicki Strikes Out 13 To Savidge's Seven

An infield single by Major Kozik in the fourth inning, that allowed Captain "Chuck" Jones to score from third base, enabled the Bucknell baseball team to conquer the Albright College nine by the lowest of scores, 1-0, last Saturday afternoon at the Memorial Stadium. The contest was a pitching duel between "Eddie" Halicki of Bucknell and "Johnny" Savidge of Albright.

Both twirlers were in rare form. Halicki held the losers to six hits, which were all scattered. He issued only one pass, that coming in the first inning when Crittendon worked the Bison flinger for a base on balls. His control was almost perfect. He had his fast ball working with a zip, and he threw up a varied assortment of curves to the enemy hitters. Curiously enough, half of the losers' hits were made by Savidge, the losing moundsman. The Albright tosser tagged Halicki for a trio of safe blows, including one double. Abel drove out a pair of bingles, while Karlip accounted for the other Albright hit.

On the other hand, Savidge limited the Bucknell batters to four safe bingles, including one extra base hit by Jones. However, Savidge faltered in the fourth stanza when a walk, a passed ball, and Kozik's hit enabled the Bison team to score the only run of the game.

Halicki was a trifle careless with Crittendon, the first Albright batter, who worked him for a pass. Paul sacrificed, Halicki to Mitchell, Crittendon scampering to second. Crittendon raced to third while Brumbaugh was throwing out Clemons. Lobel ended the inning by tossing out Karlip.

Jones Gets Double

In the resident half of the initial frame, Brumbaugh hoisted to Bruner for a starter. James struck out on three pitched balls. "Chuck" Jones propelled a double to left for the first Bucknell hit of the season. Ammerman rolled to Abel.

The losers could do nothing with Halicki in the second chapter, Vickery hit front of the plate and was thrown out by the alert Ammerman. Abel released a single to right for Albright's first bingle. Hanger struck out, while Bruner also surrendered on strikes.

Savidge retired the homesters in order. Kozik bounced to Abel, while Lobel was thrown out by Savidge. "Pottsville" Jones ingloriously fanned to end the inning.

Savidge hauled a bat to the plate in the third inning and walloped a double over Jones' head in right. Crittendon elevated to Mitchell. While Halicki was tossing out Paul, Savidge advanced to third. Kozik came in fast to make a remarkable catch of Clemens' short fly.

Once again Savidge retired the Bison batsmen in order. Mitchell's best effort was a strikeout. Halicki was whipped out by Karlip, while Brumbaugh fouled to Karlip.

Halicki assumed complete mastery of the mound in the first half of the fourth inning by retiring the Albright side on strikes. Karlip was Halicki's third strikeout victim of the game. Vickery also gave up on strikes, Halicki made it three straight by whiffing Abel.

Kozik's Hit Scores Jones

The winners scored the only run of the game in their half of the fourth inning. After Clemens had thrown out James, Captain Jones drew a pass. Ammerman drove a terrific liner at the pitcher who nabbed the speeding ball. In an effort to double Jones off first, Savidge threw wild and Jones scampered to second. On a passed ball the Bison leader advanced to third. He scored when Major Kozik beat out a hit to the shortstop which the pitcher had deflected while trying to field the ball. Lobel fouled to Crittendon.

T. Jones Makes Remarkable Catch

Anxious to deadlock the count in their half of the fifth inning, the Albright batters were unable to tally. Hanger was Halicki's fourth consecutive strikeout victim. Captain Jones made a fine stop of Bruner's grass cutter back of third and threw him out. Savidge singled to left for his second hit of the game. "Pottsville" Jones made a wonderful diving gloved hand catch of Crittendon's harsh liner drive in deep right field.

Savidge turned back three Bucknell batters in order in the fifth inning. "Pottsville" rolled to Savidge who tossed him out. Mitchell lifted to Karlip while Halicki gave up on strikes.

Halicki again set the Albright batters down on strikes in the sixth inning. Paul and Clemens whiffed in rapid succession. Karlip dashed a single to port but he was left stranded on the initial sack when Vickery fanned.

The winners staged an uprising in their half of the inning but failed to score. After Karlip winged out Brumbaugh, James was safe on Clemons' error. "Chuck" Jones worked Savidge for another pass, which sent James to second. The bases became full when Ammerman dropped a Texas League single in short right field. Kozik, who two innings before had driven in the only run of the game, was a strikeout victim for Savidge. The nightmare for Albright was over when Lobel hit in front of the plate and Crittendon, the brainy Myerstown catcher, touched the home plate which automatically chased James from third base.

Halicki Fans Another

The Albright batters tried hard in the seventh inning but Halicki and his men were too good for them. Kozik made another one of his fancy catches by capturing Abel's hoist. Hanger struck out, while Bruner duplicated this feat.

Savidge made fast work of Captain Jones' men in the home half of the inning. "Pottsville" grounded to Clemons just before Mitchell had allowed Savidge to strike him out. Savidge tossed out Halicki.

Savidge opened the eighth inning with a sizzling single to left, his third hit of the game. James, roaming the center field pasture, camped under Crittendon's hoist. Paul bounded to Lobel, who tagged Savidge who made a wild dash for third. Lobel whipped out Clemons on a fine play.

The winners threatened to increase their one run lead in the last half of the canto. Sterling pitching in the pinches by Savidge frustrated the Bison rally which appeared dangerous at the time. The fleet-footed Brumbaugh was safe on Abel's error. James stole second unmolested. Crittendon, crafty Albright catcher, caught Brumbaugh napping off third with a fine peg to Karlip. "Chuck" Jones was called out on strikes and the inning was terminated when Maslow popped out Ammerman from deep short.

Abel Hits Another

The first half of the ninth inning opened with Karlip at bat. Halicki fanned Karlip on three pitched balls. Maslow was thrown out by Lobel. Abel knifed a single to left for Albright's sixth hit of the game. The contest ended a moment later when Halicki registered his thirteenth strikeout at the expense of the bewildered Sprague.

In all, the winners collected four safe bingles to the six accumulated by the visitors. Halicki fanned 13 opposing hitsmiths and dealt out only one base on balls. The Bucknell batters faced Savidge 1 times during the game while 33 hostile swingers batted against Halicki. Savidge fanned seven Bisons and issued two bases on balls. Captain Jones received both free passes to first base from Savidge.

The box score:

Albright	AB	R	H	Po	A	E
Crittendon, c	3	0	0	8	2	0
Paul, lf	3	0	0	0	0	0
Clemens, 2b	4	0	0	0	1	1
Karlip, 3b	4	0	1	3	2	0
Vickery, ss	3	0	0	0	0	0
Maslow, ss	1	0	0	0	1	0
Abel, 1b	4	0	2	11	0	1
Hanger, rf	3	0	0	0	0	0
Sprague, rf	1	0	0	0	0	0
Bruner, cf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Savidge, p	3	0	1	1	3	0
Total	32	0	6	24	9	2

Bucknell	AB	R	H	Po	A	E
Brumbaugh, 2b	4	0	0	0	1	0
James, cf	4	0	1	1	0	0
C. Jones, ss	2	1	1	0	1	0
Ammerman, c	4	0	1	11	3	0
Kozik, lf	3	0	1	2	0	0
Lobel, 3b	3	0	0	1	2	0
T. Jones, rf	3	0	0	1	0	0
Leyman, rf	0	0	0	0	0	0
Mitchell, 1b	3	0	0	11	0	0
Halicki, p	3	0	0	0	2	0
Total	29	1	4	27	9	0

Score by innings:

Albright	000	000	000—0
Bucknell	000	100	00x—1

Two-base hits—C. Jones, Savidge. Sacrifice hit—Paul. Stolen bases—Karlip, Brumbaugh, James. Struck out by Halicki—13; by Savidge—7 Base on balls—off Halicki—1; off Savidge—2. Passed ball—Crittendon. Umpire—Martz. Scorer—McEligot. Time of game—2 hours.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

BISONS TO PLAY CATHOLIC UNIV. THIS AFTERNOON

Diamond Squad Away on 4-Day Southern Road Trip

The Bucknell baseball team, havin played the Navy yesterday, will line up against the Catholic University nine at Washington this afternoon. Coach Snavely's men are now away on a road trip which began yesterday and will be terminated on Saturday.

Four games are scheduled on this annual southern trip, including contests with the Nevy, Catholic University, Mt. St. Mary's, and Gettysburg. On Friday afternoon the Bison diamond nine will face Mt. St. Mary's at Emmitsburg, Md., while on Saturday they will line up against Gettysburg in the battlefield town.

Coach Snavely will rely on Halicki, Linkfield, and Jefferies to shoulder the mound responsibilities, with Hoffman in reserve. The catching department will be ably taken care of by Wilbur Ammerman, who has a capable understudy in Long.

The infield will be composed of Mitchell, Brumbaugh, and Lobel on the bases, and Captain Jones patrolling the shortstop post. "Lefty" James will be stationed in center field, and will be flanked on his right by either "Pottsville" Jones or Leyman, and on his left by Major Kozik, the heavy hitting slugger from Wilkes-Barre.

Last spring Bucknell was defeated both by Catholic U. and the Navy in hard-fought struggles. Navy eked out a thrilling 9-8 win after Bucknell had led at the end of the sixth inning by six runs. Catholic U. also staged a belated rally to nose out the Snavelymen 7-5.

DIAMOND DUST

By "Mac" McElgot

An indication that the St. Louis Cardinals will have a star pitcher in the making became evident last Saturday when "Eddie" Halicki turned in one of his best pitched games of his long and colorful career. The former Bison football captain shut out the Albright College nine, allowing only six hits and issuing but one pass. During the course of the game the Bison flinger struck out 13 opposing batsmen. Only two enemy players got as far as third, and no Albright man got past second base after the third inning.

* * * *

"Pottsville" Jones contributed the fielding feature of the game in the fifth inning, when he made a sensational diving catch of Crittendon's low liner in deep right field, which was labeled a hit. An Albright man was on first at the time and had Crittendon's hit eluded Jones, the enemy base runner would have probably scored. Crittendon picked out one to his liking and drove the ball on a line just inside the right field foul line. At the crack of the bat, Jones raced in pursuit of the speeding ball. When it seemed impossible to catch the ball before it reached the ground the Pottsville youth launched himself forward and dived for the hit. In some way Jones clutched the ball and held it. He went sprawling on the ground and rolled over and over but held the horsehide in his gloved hand. He was tendered a tremendous ovation when he trotted in to the Bucknell bench.

Captain Jones, besides scoring the winning run of the game, drove out a double and drew two passes. In the field Jones had only one chance, which he accepted in a successful manner. He threw an Albright batter out from deep short after making a good stop of the drive. Jones batted an even 500 for the day, hitting safely once, striking out once, and drawing a pair of passes.

* * * *

Bucknell was held to four hits by Savidge, who mowed down the Bison hitters with his dazzling speed ball and a startling change of pace. "Chuck" Jones doubled to left in the initial canto for Bucknell's first hit of the game. The three other hits were evenly divided among Ammerman, James, and Kozik.

* * * *

Winning the Albright game enabled Halicki to obtain some consolation over previous season losses. Two years ago Halicki pitching for Bucknell, was defeated by Albright 4-0. Last spring the Bison mound ace was pitted against Roy Sherrid, now a member of the New York Yankees. Sherrid outpitched Halicki, to gain a notable 3-0 triumph. "Eddie" turned the tables last Saturday, administering some of their own medicine to the Albright crew.

* * * *

Major Kozik of Wilkes-Barre had the honor of driving Bucknell's first 1929 run over the plate. In the fourth inning, with "Chuck" Jones on third, Kozik larruped a lightning drive past the pitcher. Savidge impeded the progress of the hard hit ball in an endeavor to field the drive. The ball was hit too hard to handle

(Continued on Page 7.)

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

nasium on Saturday evening, April 13. E. Roger Wainwright and his Blue Band furnished the music. Miss Amelia E. Clark and Miss Melicent Melrose chaperoned.

Tau chapter was glad to welcome back several alumnae members who returned for the dance. They were "Nan" Kennedy, '28, "Sally" Heysham, '28, and "Kitty" Smith, '27.

"Betty" Tanger, '31, had as her guest over the week-end, Helen Frederick from Schuylkill College.

Heslee Wilson of Cedar Crest was the guest of Beulah Lesher, '30, this past week-end.

Emilie Trump of Haldon Heights, New Jersey, visited Helen Kelley, '32.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

Ethel Henion, Helen Bell, and Alice Corbett represented Eta chapter at the Atlantic Province Convention held at Syracuse University the latter part of spring vacation. The group was particularly fortunate in having several members of the national council present. Delegates were sent from both active and alumnae chapters and clubs within the province.

Jane Shrum, '27, was a delegate from the Pittsburgh club. She spent a few days in Buffalo as the guest of Edna Craft, '30, before attending the convention.

"Jo" Roberts, '29, surprised everyone by driving up from her home in Sayre on Sunday for the gathering of the convention at Krebs at Skaneatilis Lake.

The last informal dance of the year, held Saturday, April 13, in the playroom proved a great success. "Eddie" Hoffman outdid himself in the way of providing music. Among the guests present were Edythe Evans' sister, and Eleanor Lewis. Grace Grier came all the way from Woodbury to attend the affair, and spent a few days in our midst.

Eta takes great pleasure in congratulating Edna Craft, '30, on her election to the presidency of the Y. W. C. A., and "Bobby" Slifer, '31, on her election to the vice presidency.

PHI MU
Bertha Gaventa, '30

Beta Kappa chapter was very pleased to have as its guest on Monday and Tuesday, April 15 and 16, Mrs. Charles Ellson, former national president of Phi Mu. On Monday evening a formal dinner was held in her honor at the Cameron House. On Tuesday afternoon the chapter held a tea in the living room of the new dormitory. Mrs. Eidson, Dean Amelia E. Clark and Mary E. Bennett were in the receiving line. Patronesses, representatives and alumnae were guests.

"Frannie" Saul, '29, spent the week-end of April 13 at the home of "Betty" Figner, '30, in Harrisburg.

ZETA GAUMA TAU
Constance Hulick, '31

Zeta Gamma Tau takes great pleasure in announcing Francis Tompkins, '32, as a "biddie."

"Ev" Beckworth, '30, spent several days at the University of Pennsylvania during vacation.

Anne Binley, '32, and "Kitty" Heldt, '29, were the guests of "Johnnie" Johnson over vacation, at Downington, Pa.

"Dot" Cassidy, '32, is resting after the holidays in the Women's infirmary. "Dot" has the grippe. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Anne Binley, '32, was very surprised to learn that classes began Tuesday, April 9, instead of Wednesday, April 10. Anne calmly returned Tuesday evening, consequently cutting 3 classes.

"Kitty" Hallier, ex-'25, paid another of her flying visits to the suite on Saturday, April 13.

A five pound box of candy containing a tiny scroll announced the engagement of "Betty" Webster, ex-'30, and Gilbert Frith, '27, on Tuesday, April 9.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA
Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha chapter is very happy to announce the initiation of Meribah Gardiner, '31, on April 13.

Meribah Gardiner, '31, and Annette Rossiter, ex-'32, spent last week-end with us. We were glad to see them back again, and are sorry that their stay was so short. However, Meribah hopes to be with us again next fall. Annette is now taking music at Beaver College, Jenkintown.

Ered Bates, '30, spent the Easter vacation with "Gerry" Welchons at "Gerry's" home in North Point. They both report a fine time.

"Dot" Davies, '30, visited Beryl Sumerfield, '28, on Easter Monday.

We were glad to hear from Mrs. Beatty that her daughter, Mrs. Morris W. Derr, who is one of our alumnae, was able to go home a few days after Easter, and is improving rapidly.

Ruth Wentworth, '30, brought back to us tidings of our two alumnae who are in Hartford, Conn., "Dot" Gilbert, '27, and Margaret Field, '28.

DELTA KAPPA PHI
C. M. Leonard, '31

Delta Phi has now a new incentive. As a charter chapter of a new national, this former local fraternity is out to prove that its holiday expansion was merited.

Beta chapter takes pleasure in welcoming brother Fred Vitalie, '28, to active membership and in announcing the pledging of Frank Guidotti, '29.

Sympathy is due brother Cyrus Wagner for his loss during Easter vacation. However, we hope that she will guard it well in the big city.

Brother Frank Storaci once more followed up his pet hobby at the Walker-Loughran scrap. Our regret is that he will not be able to use the new pointers in future Bucknell bouts.

One of the boys went to New York last week-end for a Junior Prom. He must like her pretty well.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—22—

"The purpose of Advertising is not to impress the medium on the consumer's mind, BUT THE PRODUCT."

Barron Collier.

(An Ad in the Philadelphia street cars)

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

Driuds to Initiate Fifteen Frosh Soon

The Druids are scheduled for a big blowout in about two weeks, when they intitiate the fifteen men from the freshman class who were elected to membership in this honorary sophomore society just before vacation.

The intitiation is to be held at the Forest House, though the exact date has not yet been selected. It will be followed by one of Mrs. Roadarmel's very best chicken and waffle dinners.

The fifteen pledges are as follows: Alfred Boerner, Ralph Binder, John Downey, Thomas Cummings, Joseph Crowe, Lester Ely, Frank Grubb, Samuel Houk, Clark Hinkle, Warren Heyman, Charles Mills, John Porter, Manuel Shaefer, Merle Stonebreaker, and Cyrus Winter.

The society of Druids is the oldest honorary sophomore society on the campus. It started as a chapter of Theta Delta Tau, a national sophomore society, back in the nineties of the last century. The charter for the chapter was brought here by Walter Hill, son of former President David J. Hill. Several years ago this chapter of Theta Delta Tau was taken into the Druids.

Viola Shore Philosophizes On Love In College Humor

Viola Brothers Shore, philosophizing in her best porch swing manner in the May College Humor, contributes the following items of interest to collegians:

"Love is blind only in front. It has remarkably clear vision in the back of its head.

"Some women marry for love, some for vanity and some for experience, but the greatest number marry so they can sit back in peace and let their chins increase.

"The best two arguments to use on any women should be placed firmly about her shoulders.

"The reason most women are dissatisfied with matrimony is not because they didn't realize the institution was a lottery, but because they were so darned sure they had picked winning numbers."

Read The Bucknellian

Who's Who AT B. U.

Benjamin K. Kupstas

The above cut is a facial study of "Ben" Kupstas, '29, athlete, scholar, philosopher-at-large, and student manager of the Bucknell baseball team. "Ben" has been one of the most popular men on the campus since his freshman year at Bucknell.

In his capacity as pilot of the diamond team this spring "Kup" has already arranged a favorable schedule of 19 games. He is always one of the first ones out for practice every day and has gained the respect of every player.

"Kup" will soon realize his collegiate ambition—that of winning a major "B." B. K.—the B. standing for "Beautiful" was slated to receive his letter as a football player this year but fate intervened as it has a habit of doing. When "Kup" was thrown from the roller coaster at Sans Soul Park at Wilkes-Barre last summer he gained much publicity for himself and for his Alma Mater. As a result of that unfortunate experience "Kup" ended what promised to be a brilliant football career.

Before coming to Bucknell "Kup" studied at Hanover Township High School where he starred in all sports At the present time he is displaying much talent in public speaking and may enter that field.

Although he looks as though he had just stepped out of Fashion Park "Kup" resides at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house where he wisecracks continually for the benefit of his fraternity brothers.

Afternoon's Search Reveals Twenty-eight Dead Deer; Larvae is Undoubted Cause

Unquestionable evidence that great numbers of deer are dying as a result of irritation by the larvae of cephenomyia, a fly, was found last week by Prof. Norman H. Stewart, on a trip to the Clearfield State game refuge.

A party of a dozen men including Prof. Stewart, Professor Anthony, of State College, Geddes W. Simpson, '29, Charles Mohr, '30, and game wardens from Bellefonte, Lock Haven, Williamsport, Clearfield, and Dubois, spent Monday and Tuesday, April 1 and 2 at the three-thousand acre game refuge.

Twenty-eight dead deer were found during an afternoon's search, and the discovery of the larvae of cephenomyia in the dead deer verified Prof. Stewart's early findings.

The examination of the nasal cavity of the animals showed clearly the evidence of intense irritation. The discovery of as many as twenty larvae, each nearly an inch long, in the nasal cavity of a single deer dispelled the doubts of the most questioning.

The animals are so harrassed by the "maggots," similar to those which cause "blind staggers" in sheep, that they appear to be nothing but skin and bones. Their appearance greatly resembled the result of starvation, and before the recent discoveries elaborate plans for studying the food of deer as well as an extensive food planting program were being considered.

That this fly is epidemic, like most flies, is a possibility that may prevent increasing destruction year after year. The next act in this drama will probably be a study of the fly cephenamyia. The older deer appear to be able to prevent the flys from laying their eggs on its nose, the fawns being almost unvariably the victims.

DIAMOND DUST

(Continued from page 6)

and as a result careened off the pitcher's knee. The shortstop fielded it cleanly but his throw to first was too late to catch the fleet-footed Kozik, who reached the bag safely. Kozik was credited with a hit by the official scorer, while Jones tagged the home plate for the only run of the game.

* * * *

"Maj" also distinguished himself in the outfield. He fielded cleanly all the hits that came his way and was credited with two putouts in the box score. In the third inning with Savidge on third Clemons lifted a fly to left which Kozik camped under and captured with ease. Again in the seventh stanza the burly Wilkes-Barre youth was the recipient of a drive that came from the bat of Abel.

* * * *

With the exception of shortstop, every position in the infield was covered by a new man. Mitchell, who formerly patroled an outfield berth, covered the initial sack. Justin Brumbaugh, a star with the yearling nine last spring, was stationed at the middle base. Lobel, of Bloomfield, N. J., guarded the hot corner. Lobel, who is a natural ball player, was a member of Coach Musser's nine in 1928.

* * * *

Force Leyman, the diminutive Bison sophomore, received his baptism of varsity fire in the eighth inning of the Albright game, when Coach Snavely sent him to right field in place of "Pottsville" Jones. Leyman was not confronted with anything to do in the field, while the game was over before his turn to bat came around.

53rd Anniversary

April 17, marks the 53rd anniversary of Juniata College. Fitting commemorative exercises and other features will be part of the program. Dr. Emerson Collins, of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, will be the orator at the Founder's Day exercises.

New Definition of Optimist

"I'a," said Clarence, "what is an optomist?"

"He's a man, son," replied his dad, "who thinks if he tells the back-seat driver to shut up, she'll keep mum for the rest of the trip."

—Cincinnati Enquirer.

B.U.Bookshelf

ACCIDENT
By Arnold Bennett. $2.50
Doubleday, Doran & Company, 1929.
Reviewed by Kenneth Haynes, '31

Pessimists all! Of course, that is generally speaking. There are a few optimists about—those who do not have premonitions of railroad accidents and other dire happenings. But they are comparatively few in number. It is with this larger mass called pessimists that Arnold Bennett concerns himself in "Accident."

When an author attempts to express in writing some of those homely things that each of us have been secretly thinking all our lives, he has to be accurate; accurate because everybody knows his formula, so to speak, and stands ready to check results. In this most recent novel of Mr. Bennett's you will find that "results" do check. You are bound to believe that those inner thoughts of Alan Firth-Walter (the gentleman of leisure with whom "Accident" is most particularly concerned) are not ridiculous, but quite true to human nature. However, unless you are thus disposed to believe, the book will lose a good deal of its charm. For the story is simply told and concerns the events of a two-day trip from Victoria, England, to somewhere along the Riveria in Italy, whither Alan Firth-Walter is traveling to meet his wife.

A seeming lack of plot is satisfied when Mr. Firth-Walter's son, Jack, and his daughter-in-law, Pearl, board the same train and proceed to agree to disagree. Then things start to happen, the most unhappy of which is the railroad accident, which Alan has been afraid would occur ever since he left England. But Mr. Bennett has written of these many complications in such a manner that your eyes must sparkle with humor throughout their recital—unless, of course, you choose to take "Accident" seriously.

Dealing with human nature from a variety of angles, as Mr. Bennett does, his book could not help being thoroughly amusing. Here, then, is an excellent chance to thrill to that new experience.

Tennis Players Plan "Champ-Nit" Tourney

Tennis is to be added to the list of girls' athletic contests. It probably will be the most important activity in that the participants will contest individually and not as groups or teams.

With the exception of last year, Bucknell has long had tennis tournaments. This year Miss Alma Ebeling expects to conduct one in the form of a "Champ-Nit" tournament, which will begin in a few days. The contest is open to any girl who wishes to enter it, and there are no qualifications to bar the way. It is an advantage to the girls that the tournament is not inter-sorority, in which case, only two girls from each group would be allowed to compete, where as any number may take part under the present arrangement.

In the case of the "Champ-Nit" type of tournament, the losers play against each other as well as the winners, eliminating every one until there remains only a champ and a non-champ; namely, the undefeated victor and the victor over the losers.

More will be heard of this experiment when the plans are matured. It will be sponsored by the W. A. A. and under the direction of Miss Ebeling.

A Collegiate Sunday School

A collegiate Sunday school has been started at the Utah Agricultural College. The Sunday school opens later than the rest in the city, so that the students may take advantage of the one chance in the week to sleep late.

He's Still Young

University of Chicago boasts of the oldest Freshman—age 72.

about every event. True to type, Mr. Bennett is faithful to a good many of his English contemporaries by dealing with his native problems. In "Accident" it is the antagonism between capital and the labor party. But aside from all else, to read this "story of an accident" is a unique experience, which up to this time you have had no inkling, could be so thoroughly amusing. Here, then, is an excellent chance to thrill to that new experience.

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS

BUCKNELL— CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your cooperation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:
Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:

M .....
.....
.....
M .....
.....
.....

(Signed) .....

'Tony' Slate Elected Y. M. C. A. President

A "dark horse" in the person of Anthony G. Slate, '30, crashed the bonds of tradition and was elected as next year's leader of the Bucknell Y. M. C. A. in the final elections that were held in the hall of Main College last Tuesday, winning the decision over Raymond Taylor, '30, and Charles Mohr, '30.

Mohr and Taylor had been picked by the seniors of the present "Y" cabinet, and the faculty advisors, Prof. C. M. Bond and Prof. O. S. Groner to run in the elections that were held last Tuesday, April 12. This election proved to be a tie between the cabinet selection, with Slate, a student choice, following closely in the rear.

In support of Slate, a petition was drawn up requesting his admission into the finals held on Tuesday, and as the outcome, Slate won with a small margin over his competitors.

Although the president-elect has not had previous experience in Y. M. C. A. work, his ability along other lines indicates that he will capably fill the position of "Y" leader.

Slate entered Bucknell in 1927 and has proved outstanding in athletics and fraternity matters. The other officers of the student organization that were decided in first election are: Frederick Yust, '31, vice president, Philip Neisser, '32, secretary, and Donald Lord, '31, treasurer.

Inter-Fraternity Dancers To Hear 'Whitey' Kauffman

The Inter-fraternity dance, the first in the history of Bucknell, will be held on Friday evening, April 19, in Tustin Gymnasium. From nine until one, the guests will enjoy dancing to the music of "Whitey" Kauffman and his Victor Recording Orchestra.

For years an inter-fraternity dance has been dreamed of, talked about, and discussed, but this is actually the first one. It is hoped that from now on it will be an annual affair, with the purpose of cultivating a more intimate friendship among the Bucknell fraternities.

Big-4 Will Hear Lecture On Manufacture of Steel

Continuing its program of lectures especially interesting to engineering students, the Big-4 Engineering Society will present, on Tuesday, April 23 at 2:00 p. m., a lecture on the manufacture of steel.

This lecture which is to be accompanied by moving pictures of the process should be of interest to the entire student body, so the afternoon has been selected for its presentation in order that more of those desirous of attending might do so.

The lecture will be presented by a representative of the Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, Pittsburgh, Penna., which is one of the largest individual steel works in this state. It will be held in the auditorium of the Engineering Building, and a general invitation is extended to all.

Co-eds' Negative Forensic Team has One More Debate

The Bucknell women's negative debating team will meet the women's affirmative debating team from George Washington University in a post season debate in Bucknell Hall, Monday evening, April 22, at 8:15 o'clock.

The question for debate will be "Resolved, That the American Jury System Be Abolished." This will be the first home debate for the negative team which is composed of Ruth De Turke, '31, Grace Schaum, '30, and Trennie Eisley, '31.

"Fran" Kernohan Addresses The Girls' League Meeting

Frances K. Kernohan, '30, was the speaker at the meeting of the Girls' League of the Lewisburg High School, Tuesday afternoon, April 15. "Fran's" talk centered about the theme, "Preparing for College."

Mrs. Mathias, Dean of Girls in the Lewisburg High School, conducts the meetings of the Girls' League, and provides a speaker for each meeting. These speakers select topics of interest to girls of high school age.

"Fran" stressed the importance of daily routine study in high school as a preparation for study in college.

Two Now Rated as Champs

"Tubby" Miller, of Lehigh and Barfield, of Princeton, are the only two in the unlimited class of wrestlers resulting from a recent contest. "Tubby" is now rated among the "Champs."

Sherwood Eddy Will Speak Here Thursday

Sherwood Eddy will speak at Bucknell next Thursday evening, April 25, at 7:30 p. m. in Commencement Hall. Mr. Eddy was forced to abandon his plans for a visit today but has arranged to come next week.

"The Relations of Men and Women" will probably be Mr. Eddy's subject, although he may also speak on some phase of international relations. His protests against war are particularly vigorous, and his attacks on R. O. T. C. have won him the title of a "dangerous radical" in militaristic circles.

Mr. Eddy will probably arrive at Bucknell in time to speak at chapel, Thursday morning, and is expected to meet with classes and small groups, Thursday afternoon. His main address will be delivered to the student body at 7:30 p. m. in Commencement Hall.

LYBARGER TROPHY IS PRESENTED AT BANQUET

(Continued from page 1)

A. R. Rawlinson, '29, as president of the Central Pennsylvania High School Debating League.

The Williamsport debaters were coached this year by Professor Paul Cooley, formerly a member of the faculty of Lewisburg High School. During the past four years the Williamsport debaters have reached the finals each season, only to lose to another team.

Bucknell debaters have participated in fourteen debates so far this year. Their record shows six lost, six won, one tie, and one no-decision debate. The women's negative debating team will meet George Washington University, Trinity College, and Penn State in post-season debates.

Neil T. Baker, '31, Edgar Lare, '30, and David Evans, '32, composed both the men's negative and affirmative teams. They scored victories over Western Maryland, the University of Maine, Middlebury College, and New York University. Their debate with Williams College resulted in a tie.

The girls' affirmative team was composed of Agnes Garrity, '32, "Betty" Dill, '31, and Esther Girton, '29, while the girls' negative team was made up of Ruth De Turke, '31, Grace Schaum, '30, and Trennie Eisley, '31. The girls' teams defeated Temple University and Elmira College.

Education Students Visit Williamsport Junior Highs

Twenty-five students in the Junior High School education class journeyed to Williamsport on Tuesday to observe in two of the schools there. At the Curtin Junior High School the Bucknellians were shown through the building, and after observing in various classes they met in the school library where the principal explained to them the details of the curriculum. The group was the guest of the school at lunch.

In the afternoon the students observed in classes at the Roosevelt Junior High School, returning to Lewisburg via a bus in the late afternoon.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

LAST TIME TODAY, THURSDAY, APRIL 18
BEBE DANIELS in
"WHAT A NIGHT"
And Fox Movietone Acts and "The Collegians"

TOMORROW and SATURDAY, APRIL 19-20
SEE and HEAR With Vitaphone
LON CHANEY in
"WEST OF ZANZIBAR"

COMING MONDAY and TUESDAY, APRIL 22-23
The Picture You've Been Waiting For Talking . Singing—Dancing
"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"
See and HEAR Nancy Carroll singing the theme song: "Rosemary" and "Little Irish Rose." Hear Hersholt and Charles Rogers talking from the Screen.
It's the World's Most Amazing Attraction. Be sure to see it.
PRICES ALWAYS: Matinees—2:30—15c and 30c.

Evenings—7:00 and 9:00—15c, 25c, and 35c.
COMING WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, APRIL 24-25
See and HEAR With Vitaphone
NORMA TALMADGE in
"THE WOMAN DISPUTED"

BOSTONIANS— Famous Shoes for Men

Two Million Men Prefer Them
Priced from $7.50 to $9.00
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

IDEAS
CAMPUS
UNIVERSITY
DISCUSSION. AIMS
OF COLLEGE EDUCATION
THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN
THE SORDID..GET IN ON THIS
EDITORIAL CONTEST THINK!!
WRITE!! RULES..DANCES..THE LIQUOR
QUESTION . AUTOMOBILES . CO-EDUCATION
IS BUCKNELL A..??? ELECTIVES..MAJORS..MINORS
HOUSE PARTIES ..... THE "400" IN COLLEGE .....
ENTRANCE EXAMS ..... ORIENTATION ..... "SYSTEMS"

?

The Pi Delta Epsilon Editorial contest gives every student a chance to "think out loud".....Prizes of Fifteen and Ten Dollars to the First and Second Prize Winners respectively ..... Contest closes May First, 1929. Open to any Student of the University excepting members of P. D. E.....Editorials to be not more than 500 words in length.....Each entrant may submit more than one Editorial..... Only typewritten copy accepted.....The Fraternity reserves the right to publish any or all work submitted.....

CHIROPRACTIC
What is it?
IT IS NOT Medicine, Osteopathy, Massage or surgery.
IT IS the foremost drugless health science of the present day.
Thousands of others have found it so after everything else failed.
Regardless of what your particular trouble has been called, be it acute or chronic, your chances for permanent, lasting results are 10 to 1 under Chiropractic Adjustments.
Consult us regarding your ailments, start taking adjustments today, and get well.
No charge for consultation.
CHAS. S. HARMAN, D. C.
CHIROPRACTOR
Palmer 3 Yr. Graduate.
Over Kramer's Drug Store MILTON.

WAINIES

Get your Kodak out!
Count on us for
Kodak Film
Expert Finishing
and with
SPRING AND TENNIS
so tear at hand, just dig up your old Racquet now and let us restring it today. Don't be caught unprepared when the season opens.
W. L. DONEHOWER
ATHLETIC OUTFITTER
424 and 426 Market St. Lewisburg, Pa.

That New Spring Made-To-Measure SUIT
$25.00 to $50.00
Fit Guaranteed
J. F. PROWANT CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

HERE IT IS!!
Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!
AMOUNT - - - - - - - - $10,000.00
ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)
Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

DON'T MISS HEARING COUNT ILYA TOLSTOY TUESDAY EVENING, 8:15

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

SHERWOOD EDDY TONIGHT— 8 P. M. COMMENCEMENT HALL

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, APRIL 25, 1929. NUMBER 28

Count Tolstoy To Lecture Here Tuesday Night

"Russia Since the Revolution" Will be Subject of Address In Artist Course Series

Count Ilya Tolstoy, the famous son of a famous father, will lecture on "Russia Since The Revolution" on Tuesday evening, April 30, at 8:15 o'clock in the Lewisburg Baptist Church. Count Tolstoy, who is the second son of Leo Tolstoy, will speak here under the auspices of the Bucknell Artist Course. Students will be admitted to the lecture on presentation of their budget tickets. A charge of fifty cents will be made for townspeople.

Count Tolstoy is traveling through the United States on a lecture tour during 1929-1930—the hundredth anniversary of the birth of his father. The coming of Count Tolstoy reminds us that one hundred years ago there was born in Russia one who was destined to become more powerful than the Czars through the force of his writings; one who proved more than any other individual in history that the pen is mightier than the sword. His great classics, "War and Peace," "Anna Karenina," "Resurrection," and others soon made him famous throughout the civilized world.

Count Tolstoy closely resembles his father in his writings and has in addition an unusual facility in expressing himself in speech. Students who attend the lecture Tuesday night will have the rare privilege of gaining a real insight into the character of the Russian people.

In commenting upon Count Tolstoy's lecture tour the Oregon Statesman remarked: "The appearance of Count Ilya Tolstoy is strikingly like that of his great father, and gives the impression of one who is a searcher after the best and deepest making the inner man, control the things of life; the things that, in home and reach out and grasp the solution of the brotherhood of man."

Bucknellian Actors Make Fine Showing

Play to be Repeated at Dramatic Contest at Gettysburg

"The House with the Twisty Windows" was enthusiastically received by an audience that packed Bucknell Hall last night. Cap and Dagger and Frill and Frown will represent Bucknell with this one-act play in the annual Intercollegiate Dramatic contest to be held at Gettysburg, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Millard Shipman gives a powerful characterization of Charlie Clive, who is imprisoned with a party of English travelers in Petrograd during the "Red Terror." Shipman brilliantly portrays the lover's frantic fears for Anne Sorrel, Janet Bingman, who he believes is being tortured.

The smooth-working staff includes Philip R. Neisser, Blair Hazen, Betty Sale, Betty Siegfried, and Walter Hopper. The play has been admirably coached by Millard Shipman and represents Bucknell dramatics at its best.

Students Asked to Inform Prof. Davis of Positions

Professor F. G. Davis requests that all students who receive teaching positions, through whatever means, will report them at once to the Appointment Bureau of the Education Department.

The following seniors have been placed in teaching positions for next year: Elizabeth Sale, Westfield, Pa.; Evelyn Fischler, S. Brownsville, Pa.; J. E. Rank, Reading, Pa.; Elizabeth Humphrey, Phillipsburg, Pa.; Anna Elias, Jersey Shore, Pa.; C. H. Rivenburg, Canton, Pa.; Thelma Showalter, Laurelton, Pa.

Sherwood Eddy Speaks at Temple

Last Thursday, Dr. G. S. Eddy, noted traveler and lecturer and also author, discussed the "Revolt of Youth" with the student body of Temple University. The event was sponsored by the Y. M. C. A.

Five New Members Elected At Sigma Tau Delta Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, was held at the home of Assistant Professor C. W. Smith, Wednesday evening, April 17.

At this time the election of new members from the list of those eligible was discussed. The following were elected to membership in the fraternity: Esther Heritage, and Paul Fink, both of '29, and Trennie Eisley, Henry Graham, and Kenneth Haynes, all of '31. Initiation will take place at the next meeting.

Following the election of members, several papers on various subjects were read. The topic of the meeting was "Renaissance," and an informal discussion of this and of other topics of interest took place.

PROFESSORS AID IN SELECTION OF COURSE OF STUDY

Students Having Chosen Major Register with Department Head; Others With Dean

This semester a new registration procedure is being initiated by the faculty. In order that students may more definitely than heretofore have the benefit of the advice and assistance of the departments in which their major work lies, all students who have chosen their majors and minors will register directly with the department heads, or with someone in the department designated by the department head.

The choice of majors and minors, which must be made during the sophomore year at the latest, should be attended to by sophomores who have not yet indicated their choices before the registration period begins. Freshmen may register their choice at this time by applying at the office of the Dean of the College, for the cards to be made out by the departments concerned, securing the approval of the minor departments for their program, and filing the approved minor cards with the head of the major department, and the choice of major and minor card with the Dean.

Registration week begins April 29. During that week those who have filed their choices of majors and minors will report to the heads of their major departments at regular office hours and fill out with him the trial registration blank, which he will keep until next September, when registration will be completed on the two days before the opening of college. Students who have not yet selected their majors and minors will register with Dean Rivenburg as heretofore.

Storks to Vie With Gobblers and Owls

Out of the recent Easter trip of the Glee Club was born a new inner-club organization, "The Storks." The nationalized "Gobblers" and the hooting "Owls" are rival groups already established.

Over five years ago the Gobblers were brought together in the Bucknell Glee Club as an organization for the expression of youth in the club. George Ferrell, '29, the Glee Club president, and Henry M. Fessler, '29, club soloist, are the outstanding Gobblers.

The Owls organization is also a long established group, and the Glee Club's capable manager, John McClure, '29, is the head man in the Owl nest.

The newly formed group, The Storks, was organized by "Eddie" Bollinger, '28, on the last trip, and embraces all of the non-organization club men. All three of these groups contribute strongly to the social experience of the musical organization.

PHI BETA KAPPAS ARE GUESTS OF PRES. HUNT

President Emory W. Hunt was host to the Lewisburg members of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity, at a meeting held at his home on University Avenue, yesterday afternoon. The meeting was called to make plans for the organization of local members of the fraternity.

Musical Clubs Enthusiastically Received At Joint Concert at the Baptist Church

The concert given by the combined musical organizations of the Bucknell School of Music met with the universal approval of the appreciative audience that filled the Baptist Church, Tuesday evening, April 23, when an outstanding musical event of the season was presented under the able leadership of Director Ralph F. Hartz.

The selections given by the combined glee clubs were performed in an excellent manner and showed that they had been carefully prepared. They included "Kyrie Eleison" by Mozart, "Morning", and the "Bridal Chorus," which was sung by request. "The Heavens are Telling," by J. Hayden, the concluding number on the program, was supported by both organ and orchestra, and was most impressive in its effect.

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Grace Jenkins, gave three selections—the "Slave Song," "A Japanese Sunset," and "Minor and Major," all of which were well rendered. In addition to these, the Girls' Quartette sang "Come Down, Laughing Streamlet," "Sylvia," and "Lindy." The quartette consists of Lillian Mattick, '30, Caroline Keiser, '31, Ruth Evans, '30, and Louise Reinhart, '30.

Four numbers were sung by the Men's Glee Club: "Invictus," "Winter Song," "The Long Day Closes," and "Chorus of Peers" (from "Iolanthe"). They were all very well given, and well received.

The Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Miss Charlotte Armstrong, contributed five selections. They were Beethoven's Overture," Bendel's "Grove of Julie," "Asa's Death," "Poem," and "Londonderry Air," Old Irish Melody. As an encore the orchestra played "Danny Boy" which met with enthusiastic response from the audience.

The pianists for the concert were George Ferrell, '29, who accompanied the Men's Glee Club, Mildred Headings, '29, accompanist for the Girls' Glee Club, and Miss Ethel Angstadt, organist. Grace Roberts, '30, and Grace Marsh, '31, were pianists for the orchestra.

The members of the combined glee clubs and the orchestra returned early this morning from Sayre, Pa., where they gave a concert last evening under the auspices of the Sayre High School Alumni Association. It was the first out-of-town concert that the combined musical organizations ever attempted.

Large Big-4 Turnout Enjoys Steel Movies

Mr. Crockett of Laughlin Steel Corp. Addresses Group

One of the most interesting and best attended features of the Big 4 Engineering Society's program for the present year was the presentation of Mr. A. E. Crockett, Manager of the Bureau of Instruction of Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation, of Pittsburgh, Penna.

The Jones and Laughlin Steel Corporation is the largest individual steel manufacturing concern in the United States at the present time. It has been under the direction of Mr. Crockett that the corporation has obtained motion pictures of their processes, from the mining of the ore in Minnesota to the finishing of the steel in Pittsburgh.

Prior to the presentation of the "movies," a general description of the part of the engineer in the work of making steel was given together with a few introductory remarks relative to the correlation of theory to be learned in college with the practical knowledge to be obtained only in the field. A brief description of the pictures was given in order to make their relation to other parts more apparent.

In conclusion, after the three reels of movies had been shown, Mr. Crockett stated emphatically that it is not necessarily the man of high scholastic attainments for whom the industrial world is seeking, but rather the man of honest and upright living who will blend himself with the practical things with which he comes in contact.

McEligot to Edit Freshman Bible; Fred Locke Named Manager for Second Year

The thirty-sixth edition of the Freshman Handbook, more commonly known as the Frosh Bible, is to be edited by J. Warren McEligot, '30, it was announced by "Tony" Slate after a meeting of Y. M. C. A. officials this week. Frederick M. Locke, '31, was selected to manage the publication for the second year.

McEligot plans to conform mainly to the style established by his predecessors, but it is expected that the book will contain a more thorough resume of the year's sporting activities than heretofore in order that the incoming frosh may be more familiar with the prowess of the Orange and the Blue.

Professional Societies Meet

The professional societies of the Cooper Union day and night schools closed an eventful season with a gala joint meeting on Saturday, April 6, when Dr. Harvey N. Davis, recently appointed president of the Stevens Institute of Technology, addressed the assemblage.

German Fraternity Will be Organized

Der Deutsche Verein to Follow Old Student Customs

Der Deutsche Verein has practically completed its plans for forming a German fraternity at Bucknell. At its regular monthly meeting held on Monday evening, April 22, in the recreation room of the New Dormitory, the preparation of the ritual was begun with Professor L. L. Rockwell and J. R. Bower, '30, the committee on ritual, in charge of the discussion. The fraternity, which will probably bear the name "Germania" is to be patterned after the fraternity or "Verbindung" of the German University. The old German student customs will be preserved.

The pin, which the committee has designed, will be in the shape of a shield. It will be of black enamel with gold bands dividing it into three sections. A sword cutting the shield underneath will be fastened to the pin by a gold chain.

The members will include the present membership of Der Deutsche Verein, and all those who will be received each year by invitation. The latter members will be chosen chiefly on the basis of scholarship. This fraternity will be the first of its kind in America, and it is hoped that other German Clubs will join with this new organization to form a national fraternity.

The final adoption of the ritual and organization of the fraternity will be held next Monday evening, April 29, at 8:00 p. m., in the recreation room of the New Dormitory.

"Peg" McGeary, '30, to Head The May Day Festivities Scheduled For May, 18

Saturday, May 18, has been set as the date for the annual May Day fete at Bucknell, it was announced here today. The identity of the girl chosen as May Quen will remain a secret until that time. The election of the queen of 1929 will probably take place early in May.

Margaret McGeary, '29, has been chosen as chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements. She will be assisted by Elizabeth Seigfried, '29, Elizabeth Figner, '30, Evelyn Beckworth, '30, Ann Sprout, '31, Mary Smith, '32, Mildred Casey, '32, Virginia Kandle, '32, Katherine Tomb, '32, and Frances Weibel, '31.

AMONG THE MISSING

Several books are missing from the Education Library which have been in reserve there. Professor F. G. Davis requests those students who have these books to return them at once. He is especially anxious to have the "High School" by Monroe and Weber, returned.

P. D. E. Takes 13 New Men; Holds Annual Initiation

Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity, held informal initiation services during Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of this week. Last night the chapter held its annual banquet and initiation service at the Forest House.

During the past two weeks Assistant Professor C. Williard Smith and Instructor Byron S. Hollinshead were elected honorary members of the fraternity.

The fraternity announces the following pledges: George Van Tuyl, A. C. Smith Jr., Kenneth Vandenbree, Henry Graham, Thomas MacLeod, W. J. McClain, Joseph Nissley, Chris Kammire, and Robert Keenan, all of '31, and John Snyder, Robert Payne, Robert Barton, and Charles Mohr, members of the class of 1930.

LONDON CRITICS PRAISE BOOK BY PROF. ELSBREE

No Adverse Criticisms Offered In Review of Book Gaining Recognition in Europe

Professor Oliver W. Elsbree was recently gratified to learn that one of the world's leading mission magazines contained an appraisal of his book, "The Rise of the Missionary Spirit in America, 1790-1815." The review appears in the April, 1929, issue of the International Review of Missions published quarterly in London and one of the leading journals of its kind in the world. Unlike most reviews of its kind, it offered no adverse criticism. The appraisal says of the book: "This is a well-written and well-documented study of a short period which saw great men and the foundations of a great work.

An introductory chapter that sketches the work of pioneer missionaries in the two preceding centuries—first among the American Indians, then the negro slaves, then the freedmen; for 'foreign missions' in the United States grew directly out of 'home missions.' In his chapter, 'Prophecy, Prayer, and Propaganda,' Dr. Elsbree shows the motive power behind the onward rush of the missionary spirit during this quarter century. It was largely 'the widespread feeling that the time had arrived when obscure Scripture prophecies concerning the last days were beginning to find their fulfillment in current events,' and, 'the millenial glory of the church was about to be ushered in.' The thesis closes with the reminder that we today who cannot accept the theology of the men of that earlier generation may well judge them by their faithfulness to their ideals.

The appearance of the appraisal in the London journal indicates that Dr. Elsbree's book is gaining recognition in Europe. Recently, a German publisher requested a copy of the work. This book, which was Professor Elsbree's doctor's thesis, is having a large sale, especially in the mid-west and south-western states.

It is an interesting thing to note that the first article in the April issue of the International Review of Mission was contributed by the Rev. Mr. Frank J. Rawlinson, '99, father of Alfred Rawlinson, '29.

Hop Plans Complete; Nichols Will Play

The most informal dance of the year, the Freshman Hop, to be staged tomorrow evening in Tustin Gym, will carry the sport idea to a new and pleasing height. The gymnasium is to be transformed into a charming replica of a modish country club, according to the plans issued this morning by "Slim" Porter, general chairman of the event, in order to insure a thorough care-free attitude on the part of the guests.

"Nick" Nichols and his Collegians have been secured to provide the necessary music and all reports show conclusively that the committee made a wise choice in bringing these popular entertainers to this campus for their first all-college appearance.

Read The Bucknellian

"What Am I?" Asks Mr. Eddy In Chapel Talk

Noted International Authority Drives Home Vital Facts About Sex and Youth

"What Am I,?" was the subject chosen by Sherwood Eddy for his forceful and interesting talk to Bucknell students in Commencement Hall this morning. Mr. Eddy was well received by an enthusiastic student body and has promised to conduct an open forum in Bucknell Hall at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Tonight at 8 o'clock in Commencement Hall he will speak on "The Present World Situation" and "The Revolt of Youth," combining two of his internationally famous addresses.

In his talk this morning, Mr. Eddy stressed the idea that a student can't build good character by a wave of the hand or a sudden resolution made after leaving college. According to Mr. Eddy, only one student in nine changes the moral direction of his life after he graduates.

Mr. Eddy cited liberty, equality, and mutual understanding and adjustment on the physical side of life as the cornerstones of a successful marriage.

In his talk tonight Mr. Eddy will further explain some of the problems that modern young people are facing. He will also discuss the conditions in Europe today with especial emphasis on what is going on in Germany and Russia at the present time.

Sherwood Eddy is particularly well qualified to speak authoritatively on modern world conditions. He has recently returned from conducting his eighth annual tour of representative American writers and speakers who have endeavored to make an impartial study of conditions in Europe.

His last journeys have included twenty-two countries of Europe and Asia. In England Mr. Eddy personally interviewed Premier Baldwin,

(Continued on last page.)

Psychology Students Visit Danville Clinic

Hear Lectures and See Actual Cases of the Diseases

Members of Prof. F. H. Lund's psychology classes, and other students interested in mental diseases, numbering approximately 100 persons, attended a clinic of mental disorders at the Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases, on Saturday morning, April 20.

In addition to Bucknell students, the clinic was well attended by students from Susquehanna University and Bloomsburg Normal School, and student nurses from the Geisinger Memorial Hospital in Danville.

All those present, assembled in the auditorium where Dr. Jackson, superintendent of the state hospital in Danville, outlined the history and organization of the Danville State Hospital, and the history of the treatment of mental diseases.

Dr. H. B. Pike, who has charge of the psychiatry department of the hospital, then delivered a lecture on mental diseases, interspersing it with actual cases of the disease discussed.

The cases were representative of visual and auditory hallucinations, depression, imbecility, dementia, and hereditary disorders of the mind.

One of the most startling of the cases presented was that of a patient

(Continued on last page.)

Theta Alpha Phi Pledges Ten Dramatic Artists

Last evening invitations were extended to ten persons to join Theta Alpha Phi, national honorary dramatics fraternity. Those bid included; Janet Bingman, '30, Blair Hazen, '31, Emilie Maxwell, '30, Philip Neisser, '32, Sallie Porter, '29, Elizabeth Sale, '29, Millard Shipman, '29, Mary Williams, '29, Wilson Rise, '30, and Fritz Yust, '31.

"Vic" Meyer, '29, president of the fraternity has announced that there will be a joint initiation with the State College chapter on May 18 at State College.

Hilltop Briefs

Rhoda Herr, '29, spent the week-end at her home in Lancaster, Pa.

* * * *

We do not envy the members of the glee clubs who got back from Sayre at three a. m. last Thursday.

* * * *

Katherine Forrest, '32, was fortunate in having her sister visit her over the last week-end.

* * * *

How about a five day week next fall? Six major football games on foreign soil is no incentive for Saturday classes.

* * * *

Persistent rumor has it that Carl Snavely Jr. walked off with the baseball suit originally intended for "Speck" Lehman.

* * * *

Wanted—several strong armed enthusiasts to split logs. Apply Prof. L. L. Rockwell's back yard any afternoon. No prerequisite necessary.

* * * *

Jean H. Wood, '29, went to Bordentown, N. J.the first part of the week to spend a day or two visiting friends and attending to business.

Students who made the trip to the Danville State Hospital came back enthusiastic over Dr. Pike's work and the service he is rendering.

* * * *

Mrs. C. Smith spent Sunday with her daughter, Olivia Smith, '31. She brought other members of her family with her.

* * * *

"Kay" Hill, '30, Eleanore Johnson, '30, and Dorothy Cassidy, '32, have been confined to the Women's Infirmary for the past week.

* * * *

Ruth James, '32, has been spending a few days at her home in Nanticoke, due to a severe attack of neuralgia.

* * * *

At Barnard, where girls are allowed to smoke, three fires started in one day because of lighted cigarettes which had been left lying around.

* * * *

Tennis rackets are appearing among co-eds, and the "Sem" tennis courts are being rolled down in preparation for the playing of our favorite spring sport. It won't be long now before "Semites" are arising in the early morning hours to wield their rackets for some healthful exercise.

Several student zoologists are making daily trips over to the marsh in search of salamanders, mice, frogs, and other small creatures which inhabit this particular spot. And never do these naturalists return without bringing back with them specimens to add to their collection in the laboratory.

* * * *

Metal strips are being put along the edges of the driveways around Women's Campus to keep vehicles, students, and animals off the grass, which is struggling to grow.

* * * *

"Jiggs," the police dog, gets nothing at the "Sem" kitchen unless he "shakes hands." He knows it too. Barking does no good, and he has probably discovered that less noise and more manners pay in the end.

* * * *

The day the faculty proofs of next semester's schedule came out, the "Semites" had a busy time trying to figure out schedules—that is, the "Semites" who are not to graduate this June found that occupation absorbing.

* * * *

Those of us who are fortunate enough to live near prospective teachers are having offered to us just now free courses in geography. The exact whereabouts of this or that possible "Job" calls forth plenty of geographical discussion.

* * * *

"Marty" Fealty, '27, who has been teaching this year in Brooklyn, Pa. will have a teaching position at Jersey Shore next year, while "Dick" J. Vastine, '27, who has been in Jersey Shore this year will teach in the Milton High School for the term of 1929-30.

* * * *

Professor W. H. Eyster took his botany class on a hike the other day along the river as far as the hydraulic ram. The members of the class returned with enthusiastic accounts of early spring flowers, including the columbine and several others, which they found along the way.

* * * *

The girls in the home economics sewing classes, under the direction of Miss Olive Douglass, are learning how to be real seamstresses. They are malking not only hats and other simple things, but dresses as well, and they are very proud of their handiwork.

state that the time appeared not to be auspicious for a revival. Mr. Grant was then brought to Lewisburg. Here he held meetings in an old log school house that was located on the site of the present Presbyterian parsonage. The success of these meetings was such that in 1845 the Baptists built their own meeting house. This structure stood on the west side of South Third street, where Hasting's shoe shop and Weidensaul's bakery now stand. It was used from that date until 1865, when it was torn down. It is interesting to note that the bell and the huge town clock belonging to this first Baptist church were brought to Lewisburg by canal, and that the clock is the very same one used in the Baptist church today.

Stephen Taylor Chosen

Having created a congregation and erected a meeting house, Mr. Moore and his associates looked around for some one to head the movement to create a college. Dr. Stephen W. Taylor was brought to Lewisburg for the purpose. He had been professor of mathematics and natural philosophy in Madison, now Colgate University, before coming to Lewisburg, and was a man of remarkable executive ability. Through his efforts the campaign for the new school progressed so well that on February 5, 1846, Governor Shunk granted a charter to Bucknell University. This document provided that ground should be purchased and buildings erected after $100,000 had been raised; that a fourth part of this sum should be permanently invested in a productive form; that property should not be mortgaged, or encumbered by debt; and that ten acres should be exempt from taxation. It also provided for the election of a board of trustees not to exceed twenty members.

Within three years the campaign to raise the prescribed fund was completed, and the future of the school assured. Meantime a farm of 73 acres had been purchased from Jackson Forsman and his wife, Mary

(Continued on page 3)

OLD MAIN

BY JOHN E. HARKLESS, '29

Certainly every student and every alumnus of Bucknell appreciates the stately building affectionately known as Old Main. In countless ways it is engraved in their memories in an unforgetable way. Perhaps they have occupied rooms within its walls, attended classes, or transacted business with the administration; or it may be they recall events that took place in the auditorium, not the least of which may have been the dreaded final examinations. With most of them this fine old structure is a symbol fraught with memories of happy days, bitter struggles, joys and sorrows, which accompany every effort for an education. Thus Old Main has come to occupy a place in their affections next to that of the old family homestead.

It is by no means certain, however, that every one fully appreciates what a venerable and magnificent piece of architecture Old Main really is, nor that the students and alumni in general know its history in the building and growing stages. It is with the idea of relating a few of the important phases of its conception, the struggle for financial support, the arrangement for plans, the sources of labor and materials employed and used, as well as to mention briefly the activities of several of the personalities involved in its construction, that this article is written.

The writer first saw Old Main several years ago, when, after a motor trip of several hundred miles in search of the ideal place to live and attend school, he paused in admiration of this building as viewed through the magnificent grove of oaks in the foreground. The immediate impression was one of age, massive detail, and substantial growth, along with a fine respect for the judgment of those who planned the building and selected the site.

Simplicity Prevails

The architecture is striking in the simplicity of its design, which follows the Grecian model, the most impressive part of it being the central portico supported by the four massive pillars. The wings extending to right and left of the central structure lend to the whole design a symmetry and grace of line that cannot fail to delight the aesthetic sense of the observer.

We are indebted to Mrs. Mary Bartol Theiss for an excellent account of the early days of the University, and the incidents mentioned below have in the main been selected from her story published in the Bucknell Alumni Monthly for November, 1924.

The University started under the auspices of the Baptist Church in Lewisburg. It owes its inception and subsequent growth largely to the vision and labor of Mr. James Moore Jr. About 1845 Mr. Moore came to Lewisburg from Milton, where he had attempted to establish a Baptist school. Had it not been for serious financial troubles in the nation at that time, it is entirely probable that Bucknell University might have been located at Milton instead of Lewisburg. The Milton campaign was discontinued, however, and Mr. Moore moved into Buffalo Valley near Lewisburg, where, as he stated at the time, "I determined, God favoring the enterprise, the University should be founded."

1843 Marks Beginning

From this time forth the determination of this courageous leader to found a Baptist school never wavered. Naturally this struggle to start a school was closely connected with the founding of the Baptist Church in Lewisburg, since Mr. Moore took a lively interest in Baptist affairs. The beginning seems to have been in 1843, when an evangelist named Grant was brought in to hold protracted meetings at Milton. He found the church there in such a

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

Quick on the trigger!
Don't ever touch a Swan Eternal Pen to paper unless you want it to write. It always makes its mark instantly.
To anyone who knows fountain pens that fact is a guarantee that the Swan is perfectly made and adjusted—that it won't clog or balk, won't flow unevenly or leak!
It's quick on the trigger, but it never fires until you're ready! Come in and try one. No obligation!
Swan Eternal Pen-Pencil
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1882. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

FLAVIO'S
FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

On the campus, or for formal occasions, John Wards have been the authentic foot-wear for many years.
Our styles are designed especially to meet the college man's requirements.
John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

RULES AND REGULATIONS GOVERNING INTER-FRATERNITY BASEBALL

The same rules and regulations that governed last years playing will govern the playing this year with the following points to be stressed:

A. The pitcher must have one foot in the box at the time that the ball leaves his hand.

B. The pitcher must come to a full stop before delivering the ball. He may not step in the box and pitch at the same time.

C. There will be no stealing of bases, but the runner may advance on a wild throw. This advance is limited to one base over first and all that is possible over second. A runner may not advance on a wild pitch.

D. All teams will use the regular indoor bat.

E. All games will be seven innings in length.

F. The team at bat will hit against its own ball. (This rule will stimulate the use of good balls).

G. All games will start promptly at six o'clock.

H. The umpire will be given credit for one hour of gym work for every game that he officiates in.

I. The umpire to get credit for his work must be on time and report the score of the game to the president the same night.

J. There will be regular semi-finals and finals.

K. No team will be allowed to play with any of their members wearing spiked shoes.

L. Teams not appearing on scheduled dates and time automatically forfeit the game unless prearranged by both managers.

The following men are the managers of their teams and are responsible for the appearance of their team on the dates set forth in the schedule.—S. A. E., Evans; P. G. D., Replogle; K. S., Hepler; P. L. T., Brastow; C. B. D., Wagner; A. X. M., Titus; S. X., Convery; T. U. O., Griffith; K. D. R., Yawars; D. S., Wadsworth, H. E.; B. K., Sherwood; Non Frat., Frandino; L. C. A., Mason; P. K., DiBiaso; P. K. P., Poynter.

All questions and disputes are to be settled by the two managers and the president. The president's word to be final.

Teams		Umpire	Field
Thursday, April 25
(1)	S. A. E. vs. P. G. D.	K. S.	Loomis
(1)	N. F. vs. P. K.	P. L. T.	Sig
(2)	D. S. vs. L. C. A.	P. K. P.	Loomis
(2)	A. X. M. vs. B. K.	K. D. R.	Sig
Monday, April 29
(1)	P. K. P. vs. S. B. D.	A. X. M.	Loomis
(1)	T. U. O. vs. K. D. R.	B. K.	Sig
(2)	P. L. T. vs. D. S.	S. A. E.	Loomis
(2)	S. X. vs. L. C. A.	P. K.	Sig
Wednesday, May 1
(1)	N. F. vs. S. B. D.	P. L. T.	Loomis
(1)	S. A. E vs. K. D. R.	L. C. A.	Sig
(2)	K. S. vs. B. K.	P. K. P.	Loomis
(2)	S. X. vs. D. S.	T. U. O.	Sig
Friday, May 3
(1)	P. G. D. vs. T. U. O.	S. X.	Loomis
(1)	P. K. vs. P. K. P.	B. K.	Sig
(2)	P. L. T. vs. L. C. A.	K. D. R.	Loomis
(2)	K. S. vs. D. S.	S. B. D.	Sig
Monday, May 6
(1)	N. F. vs. P. K. P.	K. S.	Loomis
(1)	S. A. E. vs. T. U. O.	D. S.	Sig
(2)	S. X. vs. B. K.	P. G. D.	Loomis
(2)	A. X. M. vs. L. C. A.	P. K.	Sig
Wednesday, May 8
(1)	P. G. D. vs. K. D. R.	S. X.	Loomis
(1)	P. K. vs. S. B. D.	A. X. M.	Sig
(2)	P. L. T. vs. B. K.	N. F.	Loomis
(2)	K. S. vs. L. C. A.	P. K. P.	Sig
Thursday, May 9
(1)	N. F. vs. T. U. O.	P. L. T.	Loomis
(1)	S. A. E. vs. P. K. P.	B. K.	Sig
(2)	A. X. M. vs. D. S.	K. D. R.	Loomis
Monday, May 13
(1)	P. K. vs. K. D. R.	K. S.	Loomis
(1)	P. G. D. vs. S. B. D.	L. C. A.	Sig
Wednesday, May 15
(1)	N. F. vs. K. D. R.	A. X. M.	Loomis
(1)	S. A. E. vs. S. B. D.	D. S.	Sig
Friday, May 17
(1)	P. G. D. vs. P. K. P.	S. X.	Loomis
(1)	P. K. vs. T. U. O.	P. L. T.	Sig

OLD MAIN

(Continued from page 2.)

Brown, a daughter of John Brown, who owned the old mill which is now the Brady apartments. In February, 1848, ground was broken for the Academy building (now called the Biology Building), and this structure was completed in the spring of 1849. Professors were then engaged, and in the fall of 1849, under the direction of Dr. Taylor, the school was transferred to the new building from the basement of the Baptist church, where classes had been convened since 1846.

Trustees Hold Meeting

About this time the trustees held their meeting in Lewisburg. Among those present were Dr. George Bliss, who was to be professor of Greek, Samuel Cresswell, and Thomas U. Walter, the architect. It is interesting to note that these men arrived at Lewisburg only after a strenuous journey lasting twenty-five hours, and that the trip included a long sleigh ride over the mountains. They arrived at Northumberland so nearly frozen that one of their number had to be carried to the inn. At this particular trustee meeting it was decided to proceed with the construction of Old Main, and on that very day Thomas U. Walter set the stakes that located the building. One can only hazard a guess at what the feelings of these faithful men must have been when they saw gleaming in the snow these stakes, concrete evidence that their dreams were to become realities.

To understand something of the fine architecture of Old Main it is necessary to know something of the history of the man who planned it. Mr. Thomas U. Walter was an architect of national fame, and being a Baptist by faith, he gave his services to the trustees as his contribution to the new college. Just prior to this time he had made the plans for Girard College in Philadelphia, which is said to be the finest example of classic architecture in America. Later Mr. Walter's plans for the extension of the Capitol at Washington were accepted, and he was appointed architect for the United States Government. He went to Washington, where he remained until 1865, during which time he built the senate wing, the Captiol dome, the patent office extension, the treasury, the post office, and the government hospital for the insane.

Thus Old Main can claim the distinction of being planned by one whose name in architecture is immortalized, and as years roll on, and age has added more of its seasoning, this majestic old building will take on more and more dignity and lustre.

Work proceeded rapidly on the building. The West Wing was completed in 1850, and the remainder in 1859. The entire structure, as every one knows was built of red brick. It is 320 feet long and 80 feet wide, and four stories in height. The brick used are of the soft variety, and were probably manufactured locally, since at that time there were brick works convenient to Lewisburg. Some of the finished lumber came from the mills at Picture Rocks, and the rough lumber was probably secured from local mills. The windows and doors were among the first in this section to be machine made. Dr. Lewis Theiss relates an amusing incident that happened when the windows and doors were being moved to Lewisburg from Picture Rocks. A stop had been made along the route, and the window sash were being inspected by some old time carpenters. In discussing the merits of the new sash they contended that these would not last, and were not strong. One of the makers of the work placed a sash on two chairs and stood on it to demonstrate its strength. The old time carpenters were bitter at the innovation, maintaining that these new-fangled sash machines would rob the workingman of his means of livelihood by taking away his job.

Students and Faculty Helped

Of the work and workmen we have been able to learn little, except that wages were very low, and materials very cheap. It is said that some of the students and teachers worked on the building, thereby, adding to their rather meager incomes. It is certain that the structure could not be built today for four times what it cost then.

Steel was used throughout the building to support the upper floors. At that time steel must have been expensive, for the new Bessemer process was unknown, and the age of steel reinforcement had barely started. Usually old buildings were supported by massive brick and stone arches and thick walls.

Coal was used for heat, and the lighting was by means of oil lamps. The brick walls of Old Main are catacombed with flues, and in some of the rooms one can still see evidences of the old lighting system. In the basement also can be found fireplaces, and other reminders of the original arrangements.

Old Main has withstood the ravages of nearly eighty years and hundreds of college boys and, recently renovated, remains a memorial to those who once dreamed of a University at Lewisburg. Probably it will be standing for the next century, for each succeeding generation will realize more and more what it means and has meant to the college and to the great body of alumni. Many famous men have been students within its walls. Students and teachers have come and gone. But Old Main remains and will live in our memories, as a symbol, strong and majestic, of all that is connected by the word Bucknell.

Read The Bucknellian

Wigs and Toupees Rule

Two political parties, the Wigs and the Toupees, control the nominations and elections in all student elections at the University of Ohio.

Northwestern Leads

Of 67 American Universities giving the same psychological test, the rank of Northwestern University freshman class was the highest.

With a cigarette as good as Camels the simple truth is enough

CAMEL
CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown—cured and blended with expert care.
Camels are mild and mellow.
The taste of Camels is smooth and satisfying.
Camels are cool and refreshing.
The fragrance of Camels is always pleasant, indoors or out.
They do not tire the taste nor leave any cigaretty after-taste.

© 1929, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The
WILLIAMSPORT
Printing and Binding
Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis H. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Clarence W. Cranford, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '29 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor	Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Dorothy Davies, '30 A. E. Frederick, '29 Frederick M. Locke, '31
News Editor	Trennie Elsley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Hazen, '31 H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor	J. Warren McHilgot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandenbree, '31 E. Bartlett Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors	Elizabeth Pigner, '29
	Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Hamlitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30 Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager	George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
	Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Nathaniel Glazier, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benjamin Waltrman, '32 Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; J. C. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leech, '30; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '32.

CALENDAR

Thursday, April 25—Sherwood Eddy, 7:30 o'clock. Commencement Hall.

Friday, April 26—Freshman Hop, Tustin Gym. 8-11:45.

Saturday, April 27—Phi Kappa Psi college informal, 8-11:15.

Monday, April 29—Two-piano Recital by Miss Coe and Miss Tolfeson, Baptist Church, 8:15 p. m.

Tuesday, April 30—Count Tolstoy's lecture on "Russia Since the Revolution," 8 p. m. Baptist Church.

SCENIC CLAPTRAP

For many years the dramatic societies of our University have been producing plays in Bucknell Hall before the same set of scenery. This scenery has long since been outworn and is in a state of dilapidation. May I suggest that we produce in the near future a dramatization of the fall of Rome and thus bring about a realistic and complete demolition of that dear old set that has served its purpose all too long. It seems that such a catastrophe would, in the long run, prove to be a God-send.

There has been a recent breaking away from that old traditional scenery. The Campus Club production of "The Flower of Yeddo" and our own dramatic societies' production of "The House with the Twisty Windows," both sported new individual sets. This is a step in the right direction. If our dramatics societies cannot afford to purchase new and variable sets, let's roll up our sleeves and make our own scenery. M. S.

WHY NOT A COURSE IN PLAYWRITING?

Now is the time when courses and schedules for the ensuing college year are selected and formulated. The administrators of a progressive college are constantly on the lookout for new courses that would prove of value to the college curriculum.

Bucknell has an excellent English Department and good courses in writing, including most of the forms of literary composition. However, it seems to me that to round out a well balanced program, the University could well afford to offer an elective course in playwriting. This course would be fundamental in nature, training students in the basic theories of playwriting, and in the actual writing of one-act plays. Perhaps our dramatic societies might cooperate with the writers and produce the best plays written.

At Bucknell there is a true appreciation of good drama, and a sufficient number of students that are interested in playwriting to justify the existence of such a course of study. Why not give those students an opportunity to develop their talents in playwriting, as well as proficiency in exposition or the short story. M. S.

YE "HITCH-HIKERS" BEHOLD

The grand old keystone state of Pennsylvania seems about to have on its books a law against "bumming," or "hitch-hiking," as you choose to call it. Such a law has been passed by the Pennsylvania legislature and needs only the Governor's stamp of approval to go into effect.

How proud our legislators must feel after such tremendous work. What pride they must have in such an achievement. But did they stop to consider just what this law will mean to the thousands of college students in the state. It seems quite evident that they did not. If the Governor approves the measure, it will mean the passing of a most interesting phase of college life.

It will mean that no more on a crisp autumn day will crowds of students take to the road to follow the team to victory. There will be no more vivid tales of adventure on the road; no more recounting the thrills of a big game played on foreign grounds. No more will the home-sick freshman spend a week-end at home. No more will the campus "smooth boy" visit his girl friend in some nearby town. When spring makes the call of the open road more and more poignant, we shall not be able to respond to it. Our wise and learned lawmakers have decreed that Lewisburg is the place where we must stay. If the Governor decrees likewise, Lewisburg WILL be the place where we must stay.

Oh well, let them pass the law. Some day we might by dint of much hard work, and a strong political pull, ourselves be elected to the legislature. Then, if that ever comes to pass, we could take up the "song of the open road." W. W. H.

STOP THE HORSEPLAY!

About this time of year the thoughts of under classmen, as well as turning lightly amorous, turn also to Moving Up Day. And while this subject is in mind, a few suggestions might be in order.

Why not move up and OUT the Senior Tribunal, sophomore rules, and most of the freshman regulations?

Impossible! objects the conservative group. Foolish! cry the thoughtless.

The arguments in favor of retaining the Tribunal and the rules are well known—too well known to be of any value. One can see right through them. "Tradition" is one. Yes, but that tradition is outgrown tradition, tradition established in the rah-rah days of college. High schools and prep schools have taken over that stuff long ago.

"The freshman will get out of hand" is another stock pro-Tribunal argument. No, is the answer, with absolute proof behind it. Give them the dink rule, black ties and socks, and the speaking rule and let the observance of the regulations take care of itself. The few rules will be obeyed. They are enforced this way in other universities, and Bucknellians don't differ widely in nature from any other group of like size.

The methods used by the present Tribunal are no worse than those used in the past, but still they deserve the epithets "horseplay," "roughhousing," and "uncouth rowdyism."

A man behind a paddle will say nasty things to a man without one, but put them both on even terms and ten to one it's a different story.

Yes, it's time Bucknell abolished some of its "middle-western cow college" traditions and became a school for those who are trying to become matured ladies and gentlemen.

If anyone is interested, next week a few concrete facts may be brought into the story to show how ridiculous the Tribunal has made itself at times and what discriminations are practiced.

Move up and OUT the Senior Tribunal, sophomore rules, and most of the freshman regulations!

J. B. S.

"ASK ME ANOTHER"

(Answers appear elsewhere on this page.)

1. It was said of President David Jayne Hill that he was the youngest college president in the United States. How old was he when he was inaugurated as "Prexy" of Bucknell?
2. When was the "University of Lewisburg renamed "the Bucknell University at Lewisburg?"
3. What were Mr. Bucknell's gifts to the University?
4. With whom did Bucknell play her first intercollegiate football game?
5. How did students on the Hill get their water before a water system was installed?
6. What professor claimed that it was impossible to throw a ball in such a way as to make it curve?
7. When and where did Bucknell have its beginning?
8. For what was the bell used which now hangs on the front wall of Old Main and is now rung only on such occasions as Senior Night?

Among the Book Stalls

TELLING THE TRUTH

SEX AND YOUTH. By Sherwood Eddy. New York: Doubleday, Doran & Company. $2 net.

Reviewed by Margaret Sanger in the Saturday Review of Literature

The whole art of living would seem to lie in the skill which each individual must exercise in steering his course between the rocks of license and sands of asceticism. Sexual excess shipwrecks some, and fruitless repressions stop the progress of others. Here is one of the persistent problems of humanity. Each individual must face it anew. Each rising generation is confronted with the menace of spiritual shipwreck. Mankind is in a continual process of reaction against one fatal extreme or the other. Those who look back in retrospect upon the mistakes of their own lives, hopelessly regretting the sins committed or omitted, are often —strange as this fact seems—less anxious than they should be to teach the lesson they have learned to those who are embarking, young and inexperienced, upon the perilous voyage of life. What needless, lamentable repetition of these tragedies might be avoided, if, like Sherwood Eddy, all the middleaged resolved to tell the truth! How many needless heartbreaks spared and how many undreamed-of potentialities for happiness realized if the elder generation would pledge itself to truth-telling on the subject of sex! No longer would the two generations be separated by an impenetrable wall of silence.

Books like Sherwood Eddy's "Sex and Youth" are of immense value—of primary value, it seems to me, in breaking down that age-old wall of silence that stands between parents and children, between the generation of middle age and that of youth. A man of deep spiritual insight, of wide reading, and a profound student of religious psychology, Mr. Eddy recognizes that sex problems of youth constitute the area in life in which there is unquestionably more suffering than in any other. Prejudice in this field, as he points out in his introductory chapter, is supported by the most ancient authority and reinforced by patterns that are built into nervous systems.

Youth must be shown the way between the two extremes mentioned above, the Scylla of sensuality and the Charybdis of license. Truth alone makes us free, rightly insists Mr. Eddy. The great hope for the future lies in abolishing for all time the wall of silence that separates the two generations. When, in the realm of sex, the rising generation can profit by the experience of the older generations, this new fearlessness in truth telling, is more imperative today than ever before. As Mr. Eddy so rightly points out: "No other generation of youth ever had such freedom, and new freedom may be either an emancipating or a devastating thing. . . . No other ever had such high-powered playthings as the auto, the radio, the moving picture, together with so much leisure and spending money. No other was sub-

(Continued from page 6)

Answers
ASK ME ANOTHER

1. He was but 29 years old at the time. (1879).
2. In 1886 after Mr. Bucknell had given half toward a one hundred thousand dollar endowment which had been secured.
3. He built for the University; Bucknell Hall, Bucknell Observatory, East Hall of the Academy building (now the Biology building), the Chemical Laboratory, and Bucknell Cottage at the "Sem." In addition he added $100,000 to the endowment fund, $20,000 to scholarships, $2,000 to establish prizes, and $6,000 to the general improvement fund. His gifts totalled more than $260,000.
4. With Lafayette, Thanksgiving day, 1883. Bucknell with a pick-up team lost to the trained opponents, 59-0.
5. Professor W. C. Bartol, '72, remembers when students had to carry in pitchers or buckets, a distance of 160 feet (Boyers' measurements), from "Pat's Spring" (now filled in) which was located down past the foundry.
6. Dr. James, professor of mathematics. To convince him, three high poles were set in a straight line. Clifton Verner, ex-'82, pitched to Harold McClure. Verner took the pitcher's position back of one of the end poles, and curved the ball around the middle stake, so that it passed the outer ones on a different side. Prof. James was not convinced, declaring it had been an optical illusion.
7. In the basement of the original Baptist church building. The school was opened on October 6, 1846. The teachers of this pioneer school of Bucknell University were Dr. Stephen W. Taylor and his son, Alfred.
9. It was used in the 1860's to summon students to classes and to announce study hours.

Eight O'clock Lectures Broadcast

When Professor T. V. Smith of the University of Chicago holds his philosophy class at 8 a. m., all that is required of the students is that they be in bed and listen. Professor Smith appreciates the fact that it is a trifle early for student philosophers to arise, and in order not to inconvenience them, he is now broadcasting his lectures.

HERMAN & LEISER

Now showing a large line of Summer Tub Dresses and Ensembles
at $1.95 to $9.75 each

Special lot new style
Silk Dresses
at $9.75 Each

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

Have you chosen your life work?
IN THE field of health service The Harvard University Dental School—the oldest dental school connected with any university in the United States—offers thorough, well-balanced training in all branches of dentistry. All modern equipment for practical work under supervision of men high in the profession.
Write for details and admission requirements to Leroy M. S. Miner, Dean
HARVARD UNIVERSITY DENTAL SCHOOL
Longwood Ave. Boston, Mass.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

A vision come true

In a part of Africa little known to the whites, where obscure trails ran, Cecil Rhodes dared to envision a railroad. He lived to build it.

The railroad itself was part of a vaster dream, a dream of a far inland colony linked fast to existing coast settlements by rail and wire communication. And he lived to build Rhodesia.

First the dream, then the reality, is the rule with telephone men too, as they work to greater heights of service. But in between, they know, must come periods of careful planning and smooth coordination of many elements.

Scientific research, manufacturing, plant construction, commercial development, public relations, administration—many varied telephone activities offer a widening opportunity to practical-minded visionaries.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Our Own Exchange Number

Yep, Gulliver, like the staff of his foolish contemporary, the Belle Hop, has got spring fever. Therefore, in order to fill up his agony colyum this week, he has resorted to that mild form of plagiarism called "exchanging."

Now Gulliver knows a guy down in Tiger Town by the name of Diogenes who runs a balderdash column in the Daily Princetonian. Diogenes has sent us up a few what-nots that he and Gully think are rather amusing. What-ho?

Don't Write—Telegraph
A House Party Tale

To Miss Eleanor Ellsworth
GLAD YOU CAN COME TO HOUSE PARTY WILL EXPECT YOU ANON
Fred

To Mr. Frederick Ferguson
WIRE IMMEDIATELY AND TELL ME WHAT CONDITION ANON IS I'VE NEVER BEEN THAT WAY
Eleanor

ANON MEANS SOON, TOUTE DE SUITE ETC.
Fred

To Mr. Frederick Ferguson
IF I AM TO HAVE A WHOLE SUITE SHALL I BRING A PAIR LAVENDER AFTERNOON DRESS
Eleanor

To Miss Eleanor Ellsworth
HOUSE PARTY CALLED OFF DON'T BOTHER
Fred
—Nojak

Free Verse
(Being a cynical saturnalia, and almost too free.)

The spring is here,
The birds are in the trees.
The fences line all of the campus walks.
And squirrels scamper eagerly with knowing leers.
The grass is green,
The trees are budding now.
The water forms in pools on all the walks.
Yes, we're damned sure that Spring has come to stay.
Exams are near.
The seniors' theses due.
The midnight oil is being burned at last.
Bermuda's over. Rain is in the sky.
The heavens lower.
The clouds are fraught with rain.
The clouds drop rain on us with each new day.
Yes, Spring is here. Bring out your rubber boots.
Our heart is sad.
Our feet are always wet.
Our raincoats clearly show the wear and tear.
It's hot today, but we know that won't last.
Oh! To be in Princeton now that Spring is here!
Baloney, Browning. Were you ever in New Jersey?
—Alexander Hall.

AMONG THE BOOK STALLS
(Continued from Page 4.)

jected to the seduction of such commercialized amusements or such a circulation of suggestive and obscene sex literature and periodicals." I think we must admit the truth of this statement. While ignorant censors are suppressing the earnest efforts at truth, they permit without protest the wide circulation of artificial and abnormal sex-stimulants. We are in a period of transition. Never was youth so menaced by imminent shipwreck.

Sherwood Eddy's book is valuable for one quality that is missing from so many books written from the coldly scientific point of view: I mean the quality of wisdom. Science we must have in sex—and scientific truth telling. But poetry we must have as well, and reverence. Mr. Eddy recognizes fully the value of these great spiritual forces. Few men have emphasized as he does the need for a basic equality between men and women, if sexual and social harmony is ever to be attained. "Women are today," he writes with profound insight, "the undiscovered continent of life, the area of highest potentiality of humanity. . . . We have yet to discover the contribution to the common life of an emancipated womanhood, and the two sexes' full cooperation in healthy and equal comradeship."

Bisons Go Scoreless Against Catholic U.

After being rained out at Annapolis last Wednesday the Bucknell baseball team played its first game of the annual Southern trip on Thursday at Washington where the Catholic University nine applied the white wash brush on the Snavelymen to win by a 4-0 score. Hurley, the winning hurler, was in rare form limiting the visitors to but three hits and issuing only one base on balls.

The only Bison batters that were able to solve Hurley's delivery for a single were James, Ammerman, and Brumbaugh, who evenly divided three hits among them. The Washington flinger silenced the rest of the Bison hitters.

Johnny Linkfield started on the mound for the Bucknell nine and twirled six innings. During that period the Catholic swingers fell on him for four runs and seven hits. Linkfield was replaced by Jefferies in the seventh session, and the latter finished the game with nary a hit being chalked up against him.

Mansfield Hits Hard

Mansfield led the batting attack for the winners with a pair of safties, including a long triple. Groffre, crack Catholic shortstop, came through with two singles in three trips to the plate. Walsh, lead-off man for the winners, contributed a triple to his team's cause, which was eventually converted into a run.

The line-up:

Bucknell	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Brumbaugh, 2b	4	0	0	1	3	1
James, cf	4	0	1	1	0	0
C. Jones, ss	4	0	0	1	1	0
Ammerman, c	4	0	1	8	3	0
Kozik, lf	4	0	0	0	0	0
Lobel, 3b	4	0	1	1	0	0
Mitchell, 1b	2	0	1	10	0	0
T. Jones, rf	3	0	0	2	0	0
Linkfield, p	3	0	0	0	1	0
Jefferies, p	0	0	0	0	1	0
Totals	33	0	3	24	9	1

Catholic U.	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Walsh, 3b	4	1	1	1	3	0
E. Casker, rf	3	1	1	2	0	0
Mansfield, 2b	4	1	3	1	4	0
Groffre, ss	3	0	2	2	0	1
Hawk, lf	4	0	0	1	0	0
Mudd, 1b	3	0	0	8	0	0
Flanagan, c	2	1	1	10	2	0
Sweeney, cf	2	0	0	1	0	0
Hurley, p	4	0	0	1	6	1
*DeSopo	0	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	29	4	7	27	9	2

*Ran for Mudd in fifth inning.

Bucknell	000	000	000—0
Catholic U.	100	020	01x—4

Three-base hits—Walsh, Mansfield. Sacrifice—Sweeney. Left on bases—Bucknell, 9; Catholic U., 6. Struck out—by Hurley, 9; by Linkfield, 5; by Jefferies, 1. Bases on balls—off Hurley, 1; off Linkfield, 5; off Jefferies, 1. Passed balls—Flanagan, Ammerman. Hits—off Linkfield, 7 in 6 innings; off Jefferies, 0 in 2. Losing pitcher—Linkfield. Umpire—Watt. Time—2:15.

Men's Bible Class to Hear Prof. M. L. Drum April 28

Professor Martin L. Drum will be the speaker at the meeting of Professor R. L. Matz' Bible class at the Beaver Memorial Church, Sunday morning, April 28. Professor Drum will talk to the students on the subject, "A Layman's View of Immortality." All men students will be welcomed to the class.

Other professors who have addressed this class at past meetings are Prof. S. C. Ogburn, who spoke on "The God of Science," Prof. O. W. Elsbree, whose topic was "The Effect of a College Education on our Religious Faiths," Prof. W. H. Eyster, who talked on "Science and Genesis," and Prof. F. H. Lumi, who chose "The Psychology of Prayer" as his subject.

SENIORS HOLD BALL

The annual formal Senior Ball, held Saturday evening, April 20, in the living room of the new dormitory, was exceedingly delightful in every respect.

The room was decorated with palms and a bank of flowers at the end near the fireplace, where the orchestra was located. Members of the Blue Band once more outdid themselves in their usual rhythmic time, and the very comfortable davenport and chairs placed along the wall were a welcome change from the ordinary camp chair arrangement in the gymnasium.

Due to the small number of senior girls, a number of juniors were invited to be their guests. Professor and Mrs. Martin L. Drum, and Mrs. C. G. Sale were chaperons.

"Jo" Roberts, '29, chairman of the dance and her assisting committees are to be congratulated upon their successful management of the affair.

George Washington Women Down Co-ed Negative Team

The Bucknell women's negative debating team was defeated by the women's affirmative team from George Washington University by a score of 2 to 1 at a post season debate held in Bucknell Hall, Monday evening.

President Emory W. Hunt presided as chairman. The judges were Professor A. H. Allison, of Susquehanna, Attorney M. L. Mitchell, of Williamsport, Mr. R. Bruce Albert, of Bloomsburg.

The George Washington team was composed of Ruth Kernen, Marjorie Mothershead, and Louise Feinstein.

Two-Piano Recital On Monday Evening

The Bucknell University School of Music will present a faculty recital for two pianos at the Baptist Church, Monday evening, April 29, at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Lulu Coe and Miss Helen Tolfeson, pianists, will be assisted by Miss Janet Mensch, organist. The public is cordially invited to attend the concert.

The program will consist of the following numbers:

I. Turkish March—Beethoven-Thern
. Slavic Dance—Dvorak
II. Mother Goose Suite—Ravel
(a) Pavane of the Sleeping Beauty
(b) Hop-o'-My-Thumb
(c) Laideronnette, Empress of the Pagodas
(d) Conversations of Beauty and the Beast
(e) The Fairy Garden
III. (a) Sonata (First movement) —Rogers
(b) Gigue (A minor)—Bach
(c) Humoresque—L'Organo primitivo—Yon
IV. Second Suite—Rachmaninoff
(a) Introduction.
(b) Valse
(c) Romance
(d) Tarantelle

Are There Too Many People in College?

Are too many people going to college? This was the question on which Princeton University and Vassar Colleges took sides in a debate held at Princeton, April 6, 1929. The subject of the debate was "Resolved, that too many people go to college." Princeton took the affirmative side, and Vassar, the negative.

The affirmative debaters held that there are entirely too many loafers in our colleges, who are taking everything that the colleges have to offer, but who are giving nothing in return. Another argument was that prep schools are forced to meet the requirements of college entrance examinations, and in so doing, require their pupils to take courses in which they have no interest. Why not free such schools from these restrictions so that they may better prepare for life those who do not care to go on to college?

In short, why not keep out of college altogether those boys and girls who go simply to have a good time, or because of their parents' wishes, or because of the so-called prestige that a college education is supposed to give one?

The affirmative debaters argued that practically everyone benefits by a college education. No one can go through four years of college without getting something of value out of those four years. Moreover, the contacts that one makes in college broaden his mind and give him a saner view of life. They also help to form one's philosophy of life.

A college education is necessary to fit young people for the responsibilities of citizenship which they must sooner or later meet. Only one per cent of our population attend college at the present time. According to the affirmative side, it would be better for the general welfare of the country if this percentage were increased.

The members of the audience acted as the judges of the debate. The decision was very close, Princeton winning by two votes. Evidently there is much to be said on either side, and it would be interesting to know the opinions of other college folks on this most interesting question.

'Whitey' Kauffman Plays at Ball

"Whitey" Kauffman and his Victor Recording Orchestra, together with approximately one hundred and fifty couples, made Bucknell's first Interfraternity Ball, held on Friday night, April 19, a tremendous success.

To "Mose" Quinn, '29, and his committee of fraternity representatives, goes the credit for initiating this latest of Bucknell traditons.

Belle Hop Tabloid Number Coming Soon

The Belle Hop is coming! During the latter part of next week the last Belle Hop of the year will be distributed. This issue will be a "Tabloid Number" and will feature intimate photographs and actual news about our campus Don Juans, news writers, athletes, professors, students, politicians, "Semites," and whatnot.

The art staff has taken particular pains to portray the actual backgrounds of student life. The editorial crew have worked overtime to dig out the facts about campus characters that no deep, dark secrets may be hidden from the student body. Many startling discoveries will be disclosed, and it is expected that at least half of the Seminary and most of the male population are holding their breath in fear that the secrets of their lives will become common property through the medium of the Tabloid Number of the Belle Hop.

The "Razoo" number has been discontinued in favor of this new and startlingly clever method of laying bare the secrets of the "Sem" and the horrors of the Hill. The Belle Hop staff announces this issue in advance, in order that students who are not regular subscribers to the Belle Hop may order their copies at once.

C. Spencer is Guest Of Sigma Beta Chi

Sigma Beta Chi, local professional fraternity, held its regular social evening, April 22, at the Beta Kappa house.

The chapter was pleased to welcome as its guests, Prof. C. C. Spencer of the Department of Organic Chemistry, Syracuse University; Prof. W. H. Schuyler, Dr. S. C. Ogburn Jr., and Prof. James P. Whyte, all of Bucknell.

An interesting feature of the program was the rendition of several solos of popular numbers on the saw, by Mr. A. F. Yordy of Sunbury. This was followed by a display of magic talent by our well known college magician "Bill" Nolan.

Prof. J. P. Whyte presented an interesting and vitally important side of the question of "Individuality" when he unfolded the quotaton from Burns "O wad some Pow'r the giftie gie us—." Prof. Whyte's talk was filled with the usual amount of classic humor, but throughout there was the one thought—that the real purpose of life, and more especially college life, is the development of individuality, personality, and character.

The social obligations were fulfilled and completed by the serving of refreshments and the general engagement in a free for all discussion.

CRANFORD TO LEAD C. E.

Clarence Cranford, '29, will serve as student-leader of the Sunday School services at the Lewisburg Baptist Church, Sunday morning, April 28. Frank Jeckel, '31, will play a violin solo. Students are invited to attend this service.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
Lewisburg, Pa.

THE PURITY

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
Clarence A. Barbour, D. D., LL. D., President
THE CHURCH OF YESTERDAY
had its greatest influence when the "Parson" was the best educated man in his community.
THE CHURCH OF TOMORROW
can afford to accept as its leaders only those having the most complete professional training, including graduation from a standard college, and theological seminary.
Co-educational

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

"AL" BRUSHWEILER

"Al" hails from Indiana—Hartford City to be exact—and for sometime past has been the College Inn tailor. If by any chance you have never met this apostle of domestic tranquility, you had better wise up and come to college. "Al" is the ever interesting historian of Hoosierland, an actor and student of current events, a keen observer of the highways and byways of life. Versatile and experienced in many lines of work, "Al" has majored on the restoration of lost buttons, reenforcing weak and worn garments, and helping Bucknellians to set the pace for the Joneses. To appreciate this connoisseur of college clothes you must not only see his line but hear his line. "Al" has won his "B" as one of our leading Spanish athletes, and is a PAST MASTER and KEEPER of a well-known pen. A welcome awaits you at any of these sessions that are rapidly solving the world's problems. You'll find him
"NEAR THE COZY CORNER"
The Hill Tailor Shop
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"

MAKE MERRY AT THE FRESHMAN HOP
APRIL 26th
To the strains of
NICK NICHOLS and His Collegians
TUSTIN GYMNASIUM
THE SAD NEWS $2.00

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

JEFFRIES TWIRLS STELLAR BALL AS BISONS WIN, 1-0

Mount St. Mary's Diamond Nine Nets but Three Hits; Lone Run Comes in Ninth

"Lou" Jefferies, of Port Norris, N. J., twirled the Bucknell baseball team to an impressive 1-0 victory over the Mount St. Mary's diamond team last Friday afternoon, at Emmitsburg, Md. In registering this victory, Jefferies blanked the losers in every one of the nine frames and allowed only three hits, two of which were of the scratch variety.

The game was a pitching duel between two southpaws. Jefferies was opposed on the mound by Murphy, crack Mt. St. Mary portside ace. For eight frames both pitchers applied the whitewash brush. Then in the final stanza Murphy faltered long enough for the visitors to score one run. Brumbaugh led off in the ninth inning by shaking up left field with a harsh double. James dropped a beautiful bunt down the third base line which he beat out. Brumbaugh raced to third. A moment later Brumbaugh scored on Captain "Chuck" Jones' sacrifice fly to Valibus.

The losers threatened once in the eighth inning when they advanced a man to third on a single, a sacrifice and an infield out. Brumbaugh quelled this rally by tossing out Ryscavage.

Jefferies in Rare Form

The slim Bucknell left hander had the enemy batsmen at his mercy. Only three balls were hit out of the infield and only a trio of the losers' batters hit safely. Jefferies managed to keep all three hits scattered. The Jersey boy surprised his adversaries by his fine control. During the nine innings he did not issue one free ticket to first base.

The Bucknell batters drove out no more than four safe wallops. These bingles were evenly divided among Brumbaugh, James, Halicki, and Ammerman. Brumbaugh's double was the only extra base hit of the game.

The box score:

Mt. St. Mary	AB	R	H	O	A
Dooley, lf	3	0	0	1	0
M'Garr'n, ss	3	0	0	0	1
Ryan, 3b	4	0	0	1	0
Ryscavage, cf	1	0	0	0	0
Velten, c	3	0	0	14	0
Connell, rf	4	0	1	0	0
Tracy, 2b	4	0	0	2	7
Buckley, 1b	1	0	0	3	0
Murphy, p	3	0	1	0	0
Valibus, rf	1	0	1	1	0
Totals	27	0	3	27	8

Bucknell	AB	R	H	O	A
Brumbaugh, 2b	4	1	1	2	2
James, cf	4	0	1	1	0
C. Jones, ss	2	0	0	0	2
Ammerman, c	3	0	1	9	1
Kozik, lf	4	0	0	2	0
Lobel, 3b	4	0	0	1	1
Halicki, 1b	4	0	1	11	0
Linkfield, rf	3	0	0	1	0
Jefferies, p	3	0	0	0	3
Totals	31	1	4	27	9

Bucknell	000	000	001—1
Mt. St. Mary	000	000	000—0

Errors—Ammerman, C. Jones, Tracy 2; Buckley, 2. Two-base hit—Brumbaugh. Stolen base—Ryscavage. Sacrifice hit—Buckley. Sacrifice fly—C. Jones. Double plays—McGarrigan, Tracy and Buckley; Tracy and Buckley. Struck out—by Murphy 14; by Jefferies 9. Umpires—Ecker. Time—2 hours.

Frosh Triumph Over Wyoming Sem in An Eighth Inning Rally

In a contest that was featured by the brilliant twirling of Forrest Long, the Bucknell freshman baseball team vanquished the Wyoming Seminary nine last Saturday afternoon at Wilkes-Barre by a 7-2 score. The game was scheduled to go seven innings, but at the end of that period the two teams were deadlocked at one run apiece.

Staging a belated rally in their half of the eighth inning, the Bison yearlings scored six runs, which assured them an easy victory. The losers came back in their half of the extra frame to score one run, but Long easily retired the hostile side after that short flare-up.

In winning this game Coach "Mal" Musser presented a new battery, Long and Shaw. Last season these two men formed the battery of Kiski Prep's baseball nine, which won such high recognition on the diamond.

(Continued on Page 7.)

Sigs and Phi Psis Defeat Kappa Sigs and Theta Us

The Sigma Chi baseball team defeated the Kappa Sigs last Friday evening in the opening game of the indoor league. Convery starred for the winners by poling out four hits in four trips to the plate. Crowe and Showalter collected three bingles each. Mutzel was in rare form limiting the losers to but four hits. Seventeen safe blows were collected by the winners off the deliveries of McMurray, the Kappa Sig twirler.

The score by innings:

Sigma Chi	2	1	6	0	8	—	17
Kappa Sigma	0	0	0	2	0	—	2

On the same evening the Phi Psis won over the T. U. O's., 7-4. Wilson on the mound for the winners was the outstanding star of the game. He relieved Stone after the latter had been hit hard.

Bullets Take Bisons Into Camp, 7-3, As Errors Prove Costly

The first baseball road trip of the season was concluded at Gettysburg last Saturday, where the Snavelymen were defeated by the Gettysburg College Bullets by 7-3. "Pidgie" Halicki, star Bison moundsman, was on the hill for the losers, but was the victim of erratic support in the field.

Five errors were chalked up against the Bucknell team, two of the misplays being contributed by Major Kozik. The other Bucknell culprits were Brumbaugh, Lobel, and Chuck Jones.

The Bucknell offense continued its weak hitting, collecting only six safe blows. Kozik managed to drive out a pair of bingles, while four hits were evenly divided among Brumbaugh, Lobel, "Chuck" Jones, and "Pottsville" Jones. Brumbaugh collected his second two-bagger in as many days.

Halicki Pitches Well

Halicki pitched a fine brand of ball and should not have lost. He struck out 12 opposing hitters and issued only two base on balls. In the past two games that he has pitched Halicki has chalked up the amazing total of 25 strikeouts.

Callenger, McCloy, and Welkert hit the hardest for the winners, each of the trio collecting a pair of bingles. Haas, Halicki's hill rival, held the Bucknell batters at bay during the greater part of the game and whiffed ten stickmen.

Gettysburg captured every one of the three major sport games for the 1928-29 season. Last fall Bream's Bullets lowered the colors of the Bisons in one of the surprising upsets of the season, while several weeks later the Bucknell quintet was outscored by the battlefield cage team in a contest that was staged at the Tustin Gym.

The box score:

Bucknell	R	H	O	A	E
Brumbaugh, 2b	0	1	0	2	1
James, cf	1	0	1	0	0
C. Jones, ss	0	1	1	1	1
Ammerman, c	0	0	13	0	0
Lobel, 3b	1	1	0	1	1
Kozik, lf	0	2	0	0	2
Halicki, p	0	0*	0	5	0
Mitchell, 1b	1	0	5	0	0
Jeffries, 1b	0	0	4	0	0
T. Jones, rf	0	1	0	0	0
Linkfield	0	0	0	0	0
Ross	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	4	6	24	9	5

Gettysburg	R	H	O	A	E
Callenger, rf	1	2	1	0	0
McMillan, 1b	0	0	5	1	0
Davis, ss	0	1	2	1	1
McCloy, 3b	1	2	1	2	1
Gulian, 2b	2	1	3	2	1
Stoner, cf	1	1	2	1	0
Roche, lf	1	1	1	0	0
Welkert, c	1	2	10	0	0
Haas, p	0	0	2	1	0
Totals	7	10	27	8	3

*Batted for Jefferies.
*Ross batted for T. Jones.

Bucknell	000	011	001—3
Gettysburg	000	410	20x—7

Two-base hits—Stoner, Roche, Gulian, Welkert, Brumbaugh. Struck out—by Halicki 12, by Haas 10. Base on balls—off Halicki 2, off Haas 4. Stolen base—Callenger, Gulian. Umpires—Kellerf and Shanebrook.

B.U. Racquet Team Opens Season Today Opposing Franklin and Marshall Netmen

Captain George Frost's Bucknell tennis team will usher in its 1929 season this afternoon at the University courts. The Franklin and Marshall netmen will furnish the opposition.

After three weeks of intensive practice sessions, Coach Ballentine is confident that his men are ready for collegiate competition. With four veterans to bank on, the team was easily whipped into shape.

Captain Frost of Asbury Park, N. J., is expected to be the mainstay of the team. This will mark Frost's fourth year as a regular on the Bison squad. During the past two seasons the New Jersey youth has been the most consistent winner for the Orange and Blue on the court.

Second only to Frost is Ramon DeFillippo, the phenomenal basketball player of the T. U. O's. This afternoon "Flip" will appear in a new role, that of a crack tennis player. He has had much experience on the court. "Flip" hails from Elmira and it is said that he is about the best netman in that city. He is fast and wields a wicked racket. His returning cuts are a threatening menace to his opponent who is usually outmaneuvered by the genial Elmira lad.

Father and Son

The third veteran member of the team is George Ballentine of Lewisburg. "Bally's" father is a great tennis player as well as being a fine net coach and his son has inherited all the athletic qualities of his dad. While a student here at Bucknell the elder Ballentine was outstanding as a phenomenal tennis player. In fact, today, the erstwhile Latin professor still can play the best of them to a standstill. Not infrequently does the Bucknell tennis coach defeat some of his younger adversaries.

The younger "Bally" is also a three year veteran. He started his athletic career along with Frost and the two men have won many a match for their Alma Mater. Judging from recent workouts, George Jr. is in for another good season.

Harold Baker of Altoona will draw the assignment as Bucknell's fourth man. Baker, a diminutive youth, is fast and shifty on the court and plays a cool game all the while. He is experienced as he was a member of Coach Ballentine's net team last spring.

The fifth man will probably be Roy Goodlander or "Wally" Wilkinson. The former, a resident of Lock Haven, is improving gradually. He is not a finished product on the court as yet but with constant practice he should develop into one of the finds of the season.

Wilkinson May Qualify

Wilkinson, a senior, will extend Goodlander to the very limit for the simple reason that he is a fine racketeer in all the departments of the game. "Wally" received his early tennis training in Williamsport, his home town. It was there that he learned the rudiments of the game and he has rapidly developed into a consistent performer since his high school days.

Needless to say Goodlander and Wilkinson will be provided with plenty of opportunities to make good during the present season. A flock of tennis matches loom up in the near future and these contests will determine the real strength of the team.

DIAMOND DUST

By "Mac" McElgot

Because of the pernicious machinations of the weather bureau, the Navy-Bucknell game was called off at Annapolis last Wednesday. Ol' Jupe Pluvius has been making it a constant habit to intervene with real baseball weather this spring. On the recent southern trip the Bison ball tossers played three games. Two of these contests were played on dreary dark afternoons while the other was staged in a steady drizzle.

• • • •

"Eddie" Halicki was a victim of circumstances last Saturday. It was no fault of his own that the Bucknell team lost to Gettysburg. "Eddie" fanned 12 hostile hitters but his support in the field went back on him. Five errors are inserted in the Bucknell error column which show that Halicki did not receive airtight support.

• • • •

"Bert" Ellor, Bucknell's star football guard, has at last yielded to the lures of another sport. He is now taking up golf as his favorite outdoor recreation. Ellor was an all state center fielder on the Bloomfield High baseball team in New Jersey back in 1925 but he never went out for the nine at Bucknell. Now he has joined the Milton Country Club, and in all his spare moments, the giant Bert may be seen playing a round of golf with his pal and buddy, Felix McCormick.

• • • •

Forrest Long, twirler for the Bison yearling nine, scored a brilliant 7-2 win over Dow of Wyoming Seminary on Saturday. Long allowed only four bingles and during most of the game silenced the bats of the enemy hitters. Long, who hails from Harrisburg, toiled on the mound for Kiski Prep last spring. He is a right hander with lots of stuff. He has terrific speed and a bewildering change of pace.

Georgetown Grad for Mayor

The Rev. Thomas Brickley, formerly of Georgetown University, one of the best known attorneys of Boston, is being boomed to run for mayor of that city.

Phi Kappas Bunch Bingles To Beat S. A. E. by 11-7

The Phi Kappa fraternity nine humbled the strong S. A. E. sluggers in a slugfest at the "Sig" field, 11-7. An uprising in the second and third innings netted the "Pekays" ten runs. Spadafora led the Phi Kap attack with three hits, while Klosterman was the S. A. E. star. "Pottsville" Jones, S. A. E. coach, used three pitchers in an attempt to down the Phi Kaps.

Phi Kappa	046	001	0—11
S. A. E.	201	003	1—7

Umpire—Stonebreaker.
Scorer—Burbage.

Bucknell Track Team To Compete in 1929 Penn Relay Carnival

Bucknell University's representatives in the annual Penn Relay Carnival this week-end will be a relay team composed of Geddes Simpson, '29, Kimball Miller, '29, Spencer Hill, '30, Paul Crago, '30, and Captain John G. Farrow, '29.

This relay team and alternate were selected at the Memorial Stadium on Saturday afternoon after the quarter-mile run tryouts. Geddes Simpson turned in the best time for the 440 trek, which was the best ever made in a Bucknell-Penn Relay trial. All of the boys ran fine races and are expected to garner a place for the Bison school in the world famous carnival.

Coach John Plant will also enter "Bill" Mackie, '30, in the track meet. Bill will try his wares in both the high jump and broad jump events. Captain Farrow, stellar miler, is expected to lead his five representatives in a fine showing.

During the past week track activities at the Stadium have taken on a business-like air. "Red" Seidel, '29, Sigma Chi varsity aspirant, shows particular ability at the pole-vaulting pit, and is expected to be the Orange and Blue representative in that event.

B. U. NINE MEETS LEBANON VALLEY HERE TOMORROW

Bisons Suffered Two Setbacks At Rivals' Hands Last Year Albright, ex-'30, to Play

The Orange and Blue diamond prancers will face an old baseball foe tomorrow afternoon at the Memorial Stadium when they line up against the crack Lebanon Valley nine from Annville. In recent years the Lebanon team has been a consistent menace to the Bison ball tossers.

Last spring, in a home and home series between the two rivals, Lebanon Valley vanquished the Snavely forces on both occasions. In the first game which was staged at Annville, Captain Quinn's men were turned back after staging a pair of spirited rallies.

The return contest, played in Lewisburg, resulted in a ten-inning victory for the visitors. Bucknell, trailing up to the eighth inning, tied the score, but was unable to push over the needed run before the game went into an extra session.

A Former Bucknellian

When the Lebanon team goes to bat against Bucknell tomorrow afternoon, the first enemy batter to face the Bison flinger will be a former Bucknell man. "Jap" Albright, clever lead-off man for the Annville team, played with the Bucknell freshman football team in 1926. After a semester here, Albright transferred to Lebanon Valley where he made good from the start.

At the Annville institution Albright is one of the few three letter-men in the college. He excels in football, basketball, and baseball. On the football eleven he has been a star halfback for two seasons. He has played consistently at a guard post on the Lebanon basketball five for two campaigns while he is now playing his third year as a regular on the baseball nine.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—23—

IF A LONG STUDY OF BUSINESS AND STATISTICS HAS TAUGHT ME ANYTHING IT IS THAT ADVERTISING IS THE GREATEST BUSINESS FORCE IN THE WORLD. HAD THERE BEEN NO ADVERTISING, AMERICA WOULD BE TODAY ECONOMICALLY WHERE CHINA IS. ADVERTISING IS THE DYNAMO OF BUSINESS AND IS SO BECAUSE IT APPEALS FIRST TO HUMAN FEELINGS, INSTINCTS AND EMOTIONS.

ROGER BABSON.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Start your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles M. Morris, '31

Pennsylvania Gamma takes great pleasure in announcing an informal "Sem" dance to be held at the chapter house Saturday evening following the Freshman Hop. The graceful swaying of the lithe and sylph-like dancing bodies will be caused by the Pennsylvania Ramblers, who will act as rhythm kings for the evening. The dance will be closed.

The annual seven days of continued torment and long suffering is at hand. Some call it "Hell Week," while others call it just plain ? ?!!

Brother Gittins is advocating the sound proof telephone booths for the seminary.

Brother "Sex" Bunting, our illustrious nimrod, like the proverbial dim bulb went out last week.

It is with the deepest regret and with the most profound sorrow that it is our unhappy lot to announce that pledge brother Ellenberger did not spend the week-end in Harrisburg.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

"Mike" Waldner is back with us after spending the past month at home. "Mike's" illness wasn't serious, but long.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hoak were visitors at the house on Sunday night.

Assistant Professor and Mrs. Harry Warfel, Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff, and brother and Mrs. Alfred G. Stoughton were guests for Sunday dinner.

The "Sem" dance on Saturday night was all that had been anticipated. "Eddie" Hoffman and his boys were hot and everybody had a good time. Assistant Professor and Mrs. W. H. Schuyler and Mrs. Jennie Phillips were kind enough to act as chaperons. To the committee of Walters, Brampton, and Sweitzer goes the credit for its success.

Brother "Fred" Rudisill and "Jack" Groome were week-end visitors. "Rudy" found a saxaphone somewhere, and accompanied by Mrs. Stoughton, demonstrated his mastery over the instrument.

Brother "Don" Diehl lured brother "Tony" Kostos over to Danville for the week-end.

Brother Charles Frampton was more or less of a commuter during the week-end. "Sherlock" Konkle, the crafty gum-shoe man, hints at a woman in the case.

Pledge brother "Sam" Hoak surrounded brother "Lou" Mutzel with a bevy of beautiful girls and drove them to Danville on Saturday.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

The Alpha Phi chapter of Kappa Sigma fraternity announces with pleasure the pledging of Quinton Hewitt, '32, of Saratoga, Wyoming.

Brother Koegel spent the week-end at his home in Lehighton.

Miss Sue Mead of Plainfield, New Jersey, was the guest of brother Dayton for dinner Sunday.

We were glad to welcome back brother Long after the southern baseball trip. "Glue" had the misfortune to sprain his ankle, but we hope that it will be in shape soon.

Pledge Hewitt reports having an enjoyable time at Penn Hall last Sunday.

Brother Horton and Davidson and pledge Gerhart journeyed to Bloomsburg last Friday.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

Pledges Lawson and Ely attended the Freshman-Sophomore Hop at Hood College, Frederick, Md.

Woodrow Bryan, '32, visited relatives in Allentown during the past week.

"Pete" Grim, '32, visited his former alma mater Perkiomen at Pennsburg.

W. R. Delancey, '31, visited his parents in Phillipsburg over the week-end.

Fritz Jacobs, '29, spent Sunday in Phoenixville.

John Horter, '29, visited his parents at Painted Post, over the week-end.

Pledge brother Marston, '32, spent Sunday with his parents in Harrisburg.

All arrangements have been completed for Parents' Day Sunday, April 28.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Brothers Abbott, Harris, and Conway spent a pleasant week-end at Elmira, N. Y., where they were the guests of brother "Red" Dorrsett, ex-'31.

Brother Moerschbacher received a pleasant surprise last Sunday afternoon when he was visited by his mother and sisters.

"Johnny" Dexter and Forest Long were dinner guests at the house last Sunday.

Pledge brother Rolger Davis enjoyed the week-end at his home in Plymouth.

Brothers McCormick, Ellor, Nowicki, and pledge brother Schreyer spent the greater part of last week-end at the Milton Golf Club. Some very interesting "Amateur golf tournaments" are taking place among these golf fanatics.

Plans for our house party are beginning to materialize. The date has definitely been decided as May 10 and 11.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

Prof. Colestock was a dinner guest at the house Sunday.

"Paddy" Canfield, '32, journeyed to New Philadelphia where he spent the week-end with his parents.

"Steve" Trudnak, '32, and "Slim" Mezza, '32, were away over the week-end with the freshman baseball team.

When questioned about his missing fraternity pin, "Lou" Ceraso, '29, replied that he lost it. Did he? There will be an investigation.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

The "Sailor's Fling," held on Saturday evening, April 20, was voted the best informal dance of the year, but there still remains the one at house party time when even the "Sailor's Fling" may fade into oblivion.

"Lou" Emery, '31, was the guest of "Art" Stutzman, '29, at Johnstown over the past week-end. Both report having a wonderful time.

"Phil" Sheplar, '32, likewise journeyed away from Lewisburg over the week-end. Yes,—he went to Monessen.

Gamma chapter takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of William S. Pieri, of Monogahela, Pa.

The boys were royally treated to ice cream, coconut cake, and nuts, on Saturday and Sunday by brother "Don" Shoemaker, '31, in celebration of his birthday. Brother Shoemaker was host to his parents on Sunday when they motored from Shenandoah to pay him a visit and extend their congratulations to him.

It is a pleasure to report that by this time Allen Rarig, '29, is able to get about quite well without the use of crutches.

BETA KAPPA
Jack Crittenden, '31

Mr. S. A. Downer of Downer, N. J., and father of H. A. Downer, '29, was a recent dinner guest.

Eta chapter takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of "Lou" Lazzeri, '32. "Lou" claims the smoky city as his home.

The chapter congratulates the members of the Inter-fraternity Council upon the initiative shown in the recent Inter-fraternity Ball.

Brother Lare, '30, announces an informal "Sem" dance on May 4, to be a representative affair.

The contingent headed for Bloomsburg this Saturday now numbers over ten men. Captain Downer reports that all arrangements have been completed.

Brothers Huffman and Tate are still commuting each week-end.

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

"Merf" Scott and "Baba" Riefsnyder, both of '28, spent last week-end with "Kit" Balliet, also '28, in Milton, and likewise visited many of their friends in the University.

"Kitty" Browne and Sybil Williams, '30, and Mary Gross, '31, all enjoyed visits from their family, the past week-end.

Miss Helen Keim, of Williamsport, spent the week-end with her sister, Esther, '30.

Reba Decker, '30, severed her strong ties at this institution for a short visit with her parents, in Williamsport, last week-end.

PHI MU
Bertha L. Gaventa

"Frannie" Saul, '29, had as her guest the week-end of April 20, Miss Sarah Jane Tunis, of Harrisburg.

Marie Helwig, '28, visited the chapter the week-end of April 20.

Miriam Watkins, '30, and Helen Kellogg, '32, spent the recent week-end at their homes.

DELTA KAPPA PHI
C. M. Leonard, '31

Beta chapter takes pleasure in announcing the pledging of R. H. Cicero, '30, of Indiana; S. Franzino, '31, of Lodi, N. J.; and G. A. Huntingdon, '32, of Muncy.

A smoker was held at the fraternity rooms last week-end. Brother "Mace" Wagner, '31, provided a fine lay-out and proved his ability as a "mean chef."

Considerable difficulty was experienced in recognizing one of the pledge brothers during the past week. The disguise, however, did not last long.

Pledge brother Faller's excuse of seeing friends in Pottsville is rapidly losing ground as the trips become more and more numerous.

Manager "Cy" Wagner's baseball outfit was successful in its initial game of the season. The "gem" of the game was provided by "Al" Martin, '29, when he covered most of the infield in a frantic attempt to find second base.

Eta chapter of Delta Kappa Phi was instituted during the last week at Utah Agricultural College.

FROSH TRIUMPH OVER WYOMING SEM., 7-2

(Continued from page 6)

Shaw is an experienced catcher and is a dangerous man with the stick. He handled Long's shoots in excellent fashion and drove out two screaming singles in four trips to the plate.

Long Outpitches Dow

Long was in rare form. He limited the losers to four hits and gave out only one base on balls. He was best in the pinches, when he bore down to retire the losers. Long fairly dazzled the homesters with a varied assortment of curves and hooks. He had his fast ball working with a zip, and as a result the enemy batsmen found it exceedingly hard to fathom his pitches.

Walter Dutchak shared the batting laurels with Shaw, by drilling out a pair of base hits in addition to scoring a run. Dutchak encouraged the eighth inning rally by starting off that frame with a single.

Dow, the Wyoming pitcher, gave Long a great battle until the eighth inning when he blew up, and allowed the Baby Bisons to score six runs.

The line-up:

Bucknell Frosh	AB	R	H	E
Dutchak, cf	4	1	2	0
Glazier, lf	4	1	1	1
Mezza, 1b	4	1	0	0
Hinkle, ss	3	2	1	0
Mills, 3b	4	0	1	1
Fry, rf	4	0	1	0
Hughes, 2b	3	1	0	0
Shaw, c	4	1	2	0
Long, p	4	0	1	0
Totals	34	7	9	2

Wyoming	AB	R	H	E
Seiple, lf	4	0	1	0
Miller, cf	4	0	0	0
Burnell, 3b	4	2	1	0
Polley, rf	4	0	1	0
Davak, 1b	2	0	0	0
Davis, 2b	2	0	0	0
Feldman, ss	3	0	0	0
Walker, c	3	0	0	0
Dow, p	3	0	2	0
Totals	29	2	4	0

Bucknell	000	100	06—7
Wyoming	000	100	01—2

Stolen bases—Hinkle, Dutchak, Dow. Sacrifice hit—Miller. Struck out by Dow 8, by Long 4. Double plays—Long to Mezza to Mills. Shaw to Mezza. Wild pitch—Long. Hit by pitcher—by Long, (Davis). Time of game 2 hours.

CAMPUS NINE'S RALLY DOWNS PHI GAMS, 8-6

The Campus nine defeated the Phi Gamma Delta baseball team in the opening game at Loomis Field on Monday evening, 8-6.

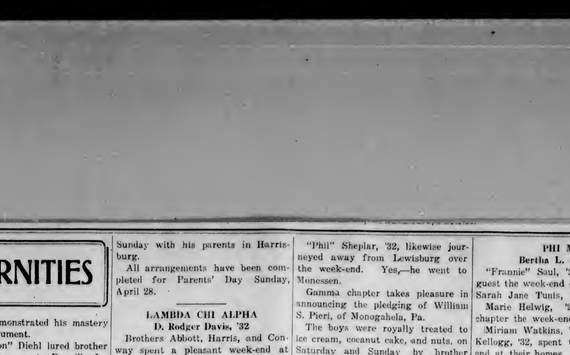
Score by innings:

Campus Nine	030	200	3	—8
Phi Gams	040	200	0	—6

A One Hour Sleeping Course

Sleep, in the form of an afternoon siesta, is an important factor in the college girl's curriculum, according to officials at the Stephens College, Columbia, Mo. Each day, from 1 to 2 p. m., these co-eds sleep. The rest has resulted in marked scholastic improvement.

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS



BUCKNELL— CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your co-operation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:-
Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:
M.....
.....
.....
M.....
.....
.....
(Signed).....

Prof. Griffith Tells Of Work Involved in Making out Schedules

"The graduate manager of athletics must make out not less than twelve major schedules each year. There are two football schedules—one for the varsity and one for the freshman team—and two basebal schedules. There is a schedule for basketball, one for tennis, one for boxing, and so on. Then there are schedules that must be made for inter-fraternity soccer and indoor baseball and basketball contests. These total forty-five in number. These are not arranged by the graduate manager, but must be arranged with reference to his other schedules. So many contests are now held at Bucknell, since athletics for all takes the form of games rather than gymnasium drills, that even if a game were played each day in the year, it would not be possible to hold all the scheduled contests. Hence the necessity of playing more than one game a day."

These are some of the facts that according to the Lewisburg Journal, Graduate Manager Benjamin W. Griffith, of Bucknell, told his fellow Lions at the weekly meeting of the Lions Club at the Cameron House on Monday night.

Big Scramble for Dates

"With hundreds of colleges arranging football schedules, and with but ten games to be scheduled," said Prof. Griffith, "the scramble for dates sometimes becomes amazing. Perhaps a hundred colleges may want to arrange games with Bucknell, while teams that Bucknell most wants to play may already have their schedules filled out. Hence the work of schedule making is pushed farther and farther ahead, and already the making of the 1930 football schedule is well advanced.

"In addition to the very obvious difficulties mentioned, there are others just as real. For instance, it is absolutely necessary to have, during the season, several games sandwiched in that are really 'set-ups.' Without the easy games, when the first-string men can be kept on the sidelines or used for a few minutes only, our team could not go through the season. It would simply be worn out. Often the management is harshly criticized for arranging too stiff a schedule when, as a matter of fact it is an utter impossibility to secure easy games at the dates desired.

Why Not Play Yale?

"Still another thing to be considered is the problem of getting good games for Lewisburg. In the last analysis, football is played for the benefit of the students. Of what use is it to have a good team if there are no good games at home, where all the students can see them? I am often asked why Bucknell does not play Yale or Princeton or other big colleges. I suppose we could arrange games with them. We have played Yale more than once. But under no circumstances could we induce these teams to come to Lewisburg. So our problem is to schedule games with the best teams that we can get to come here. And experience has shown that Lafayette, W. and J., Temple, and State are as good teams as Bucknell can possibly get on her schedule. They draw well here and are willing to play us here."

The Matter of Cost

Prof. Griffith also spoke of the cost of getting teams here and dwelt on this added difficulty in arranging schedules. He told how negotiations are initiated, seldom by letter, but nowadays usually by personal contact with other graduate managers and coaches at the big athletic gatherings in New York and Philadelphia, where all the athletic authorities assemble each year. He said that our latest game with Lafayette on the Bucknell grounds was first suggested at such a meeting more than two years before it was played.

"The difficulties in schedule making are many and real," said Prof. Griffith. "And perhaps the worst difficulty of all is the alumni. They are never satisfied. They always demand that we play this or that team, regardless of all obstacles. It is impossible to satisfy them. If only the alumni would leave us alone and let us go on with our task, we might be able to make even better schedules than we can now arrange. At any rate, we should be grateful for the chance."

Fifty Years of Continuous Service

A testimonial banquet was held by the members of the Anatomical League of Temple University in honor of Dr. Addinwell Hewson, founder and honorary president of the league, who will round out fifty years of continuous service with the close of this present semester as a teacher of anatomy.

Jeffries Makes the Grade

by "Mac" McLigot

It was as a first baseman that Luther Jeffries, the hero of this story, reported to his high school coach one early afternoon in April not so many years ago. The Port Norris mentor looked over his young prospect and sent him through the preliminary paces. It was soon discovered that Jeff could field well but he was woefully weak with the stick.

The captain of the Port Norris team that year was the regular first baseman. As a result "Lou" spent the entire season on the bench, watching his more finished rival go through his paces.

A year passed. "Lou" again reported as a candidate for the team. The high school coach was presented with a perplexing problem. "Lou" tossed them up with his left arm, while he batted from the right side of the plate. Jeff's coach endeavored to change the latter's batting pose from the right side of the plate to the left. After a thorough trial as a left handed hitter it became evident that "Lou" would never do as a portside batter.

Thereafter the slim Jeffries, not a bit disheartened, confined his attention to mound work. Under the careful eye of his coach, this son of an oyster merchant began to show signs of future greatness. He possessed speed, a baffling change of pace, a quick delivery, and a varied assortment of curves and hooks.

Made Good As Pitcher

"Jeff" rapidly developed into the best left-handed pitcher in high school ranks in South Jersey. His lack of control was noticable from the very start, but this fault was greatly overshadowed by his more perfect deliveries which would cause enemy batters to strike out or surrender on meek pop flies.

For two years "Jeff" was the mainstay of Port Norris's pitching staff. One day this young mound ace pitched the Port Norris team to a 3-0 victory over a rival high school nine. "Lou" not only held his opponents to but three scattered hits, but he also drove home every one of his team's three runs with a pair of timely singles. He had learned to bit. "Lou" wound up his scholastic baseball career by winning his last three games in high school ranks.

"You Know the Rest"

Jeffries enrolled as a freshman at Bucknell University. He made good on the freshman team last year as a left handed flinger. Last Friday afternoon "Lou's" greatest college triumph came. Coach Snavely selected Jeffries to stop the Mount Saint Mary's batting attack. Not only did the dark-haired Jersey lad silence the bats of the Emmitsburg nine, but he even shut out his adversaries granting only three hits, and winning a thrilling 1-0 mound duel.

He disproved the popular theory that all southpaws are wild by not issuing a base on balls. And he struck out nine hostile stickmen. "Lou" was confronted with plenty of trouble during the game, but pitched himself out of every difficulty.

Prof. Eisenhauer Speaks On Modern Public School

Professor John H. Eisenhauer was the speaker at the meeting of the Lewisburg Rotary Club held last Thursday evening. Professor Eisenhauer's work keeps him in close contact with the modern public schools and he was thus able to present some first-hand information in regard to the increased attendance in the public schools in this country.

The speaker presented charts to show the tremendous increase in the number of high school students, the increased valuation of school property and other interesting educational material.

Carson-Newman College Represented

Carson-Newman College is represented this session in the world's largest student body of ministers at the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., by fifteen former Carson-Newman men.

What a man thinks of himself is what determines his fate.—Thoreau.

Dr. Prince Gives Series Of Lectures in Sunbury

Fort Augusta Chapter, D. A. R., Sunbury, is pleased to announce a course of lecturers on American History by Dr. Leon C. Prince, Department of History, Dickinson College. Many Bucknell and Lewisburg people will be interested in this lecture course, knowing Dr. Prince's reputation as a scholar and a speaker. The dates and subjects are as follows:

Friday, April 26—"The United States in Our Own Time."

Friday, May 3—"Modern Axes and Ancient Landmarks."

Friday, May 10—"Women in Politics."

At the Court House, Sunbury, 8:00 p. m. Course tickets are $1.50. Single lectures, .75.

WAINIES

Pi Delta Epsilon

Editorial Contest

CLOSES

MAY 1, 1929

First Prize—Fifteen Dollars

Second Prize—Ten Dollars

All men and women students of the University are eligible to competition.

For Rules of Contest, see last week's Bucknellian.

SHERWOOD EDDY SPEAKS

(Continued from page 1)

Lloyd George, Ramsey MacDonald, and other political and industrial leaders, and in Germany he met with President Hindenburg and representatives of the various parties in the Reichstag.

Eddy a Prolific Writer

In years filled with remarkable activity Sherwood Eddy has found time for considerable writing. His most recent book, "Sex and Youth" has been widely acclaimed. It is reviewed in this issue. Other recent books are "Religion and Social Justice," "New Challenges to Faith," "Facing the Crisis," and "Makers of Freedom."

Mr. Eddy was graduated from Yale in 1891. He went to India at his own expense. After fifteen years of work among the students of the Indian Empire, Mr. Eddy was appointed as secretary for Asia for the Y. M. C. A.

PSYCHOLOGY STUDENTS VISIT DANVILLE CLINIC

(Continued from page 1)

who rivals Thomas De Quincey, in that he took 20 to 30 grains of dope, either morphine, or heroin, daily for almost 12 years. But this is only one of the many cases presented, all of which were equally as interesting.

After the lecture, the men were conducted through the men's section of the hospital, and the women through the women's section. This trip gave the students an insight into the treatment and care the patients receive from their entrance until their dismissal.

Patients after being admitted are given a rest and kept under observation for a period of three weeks. During that time their case is very carefully diagnosed, and proper attention and treatment soon given them.

If the patient is capable in any way he is put to work at simple, easy, but helpful work, such as making rugs, small furniture, shirts, socks, harness, and many other useful tasks. The women occupy their time by doing embroidery work, sewing, and weaving.

The Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases is today a fine example of modern treatment of mental disorders.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

BOSTONIANS—Famous Shoes for Men

Two Million Men Prefer Them

Priced from $7.50 to $9.00

Lehman's Shoe Store

Next to the Book Store — Lewisburg, Pa.

Many of the best stories of College Life are told in pictures.

DONEHOWER, The Athletic Outfitter,

presents the best line of Kodaks in Lewisburg. His developing is good and service prompt.

Films at Donehower's are always fresh.

That New Spring Made-To-Measure SUIT

$25.00 to $50.00

Fit Guaranteed

J. F. PROWANT CO.

LEWISBURG, PA.

Crozer Theological Seminary

Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:

I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.

II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.

III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.

Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

HERE IT IS!!

Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!

AMOUNT $10,000.00

ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)

Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.

Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,

DANVILLE, PA.

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

B. U. vs. GETTYSBURG
ON STADIUM FIELD
SATURDAY—2:30 P. M.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

SENIOR CLASS MEETING
TUESDAY AT 4 P. M.
BUCKNELL HALL

VOLUME XXXII — LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 2, 1929. — NUMBER 29

"Jim" Williams Wins First Place Over Six Rivals

Bucknellian Is Given Unanimous Vote of the Three Judges at Lebanon Valley Contest

REPRESENTS THE EAST IN LOS ANGELES MEET

James G. W. Williams, '29, representing Bucknell, attained unusual distinction last Saturday when he was pronounced the winner of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest on the Constitution held at Lebanon Valley College, gaining the decision over representatives from six other Eastern colleges.

The speeches were limited to ten minutes. Williams chose as his special topic "Marshall and the Constitution," and was pronounced the ace by a unanimous vote of the three judges. The winning of the contest makes Williams eligible for entrance into the finals that are to be held in the near future.

Bucknell has for two years been represented in the National contest. Last year Lee Francis Lybarger, Bucknell representative won fourth place in the national contest after gaining first place in the regional contest. T. Burns Drum, also a Bucknell representative, took part in the finals held at Los Angeles the year before last, taking sixth place.

The colleges that were represented in the contest last Saturday were Lebanon Valley, Rutgers, Dickinson, Albright, Juniata, St. Francis, and Bucknell.

I. N. A. Convention Meets at Muhlenberg

Helen Bell and "Bill" Emmitt To Represent the Bucknellian

Helen Bell, '30, and William Emmit, '30, will represent the Bucknellian at the semi-annual convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States which will be held at Muhlenberg and Cedar Crest Colleges Friday and Saturday of this week.

The program for the convention includes several business sessions with reports from the member papers, on problems and achievements of the half-year and the annual election of officers.

Speakers for the event will be President William F. Curtis, of Cedar Crest, President John A. W. Haas, of Muhlenberg, representatives of the "Morning Call" and the United Press, and president of the I. N. A.

Representatives from twenty-six college newspapers are expected to attend.

Esther Girton Elected To Teach English in Bloomsburg School

Esther R. Girton, '29, was elected to teach English in the Bloomsburg High School, at a recent meeting of the school board of that town.

Prof. C. M. Bond is Granted Scholarship For Graduate Study at Univ. of Chicago

Profesor Charles M. Bond was recently granted a scholarship for graduate study by the National Council on Religion in Higher Education. These scholarships or study stipends, which were established by the Council in 1924, are awarded for the completion of graduate work on the part of its Fellows—a group of men and women who are specializing in religious fields, and whose character and lives have exemplified their chosen fields of study and service.

Elected in 1924

Professor Bond was elected a Fellow of the Council in 1924. He had obtained his A. B. degree from Colgate University in 1917, his B. D. degree from Crozer Seminary in 1921, and his M. A. from the University of Pennsylvania in the same year. He is a Phi Beta Kappa. Among the several articles which he has written are "A College Department of Religious Education" which appeared in Religious Education in 1927; "Religion and Education; An Integration," printed in the Crozer Quarterly in 1928; and "How Shall Religion be Taught to College Youth?", printed in the Federal Council Bulletin in 1928. He will continue his post graduate work in the University of Chicago this summer.

The National Council on Religion in Higher Education exists to meet a real need. It is concerned mainly with the task of finding and training those persons who are needed by our institutions of higher learning to represent and interpret religion in a sympathetic and intelligent way. Only men and women of high character and to whom religion is a matter of personal concern and experience are elected as Fellows of the Council. To them are granted scholarships for post graduate study in the best centers of American learning. They are graduated with high degrees, and placed at the service of those institutions of higher learning that are looking for such persons.

Seniors Attention

A very important class meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 7, at 4 p. m. in Bucknell Hall. At this time the disposition of the Class Memorial Fund will be discussed. Mr. Fink, the class treasurer has a very important matter to be brought before the attention of the class. The Alumni Office and the Bucknellian have propositions which will interest all the members of the Class of '29.

J. M. Shipman Wins Honors for Acting In Dramatic Contest

Bucknellians Receive Honorable Mention; Rival Directors Praise Our Cast

The fourth Pennsylvania Inter-collegiate Dramatic Contest, held in Gettysburg, April 26 and 27, was won by the Green Room Club of Franklin and Marshall College, with the play "When the Ship Goes Down," by Harry M'Guire. The Penn State players won second place with their presentation of "Wurzel-Flummery." To the Bucknell group was awarded honorable mention with their presentation of "The House with the Twisty Windows," by Mary Pakington.

The Bucknell cast included "Betty" Siegfried, "Betty" Sale, Janet Bingman, Millard Shipman, Blair Hazen, Walter Hopper, and Philip Neisser. Millard Shipman, who staged and directed the play, was awarded individual honors for best characterization and acting.

The Bucknellians were considered by the E. and M. director as the winners' most dangerous rival, but due to the fact that some of the Bucknell players could not be heard throughout the auditorium during the entirety of their performance their chance for the prize was considerably lessened.

The acting and selection of the play of the Bucknellians was con-

(Continued on last page.)

'Em' Maxwell Elected To Lead Senior Class

Marie Trunk and Mary Smith are Chosen Heads of their Classes

Emilie L. Maxwell, '30, has been reelected president of her class for the coming year. Other officers elected were: Margaret McGeary, vice president; Ruth Edwards, secretary; Ruth Evans, treasurer; and Helen Bell, Eagles Mere delegate.

The class of '31 chose Marie Trunk, president; Helen Moory, vice president; Dorothy Showalter, secretary; and Anna Mae Reese, treasurer.

Mary Smith was elected to lead the present freshmen class during the coming year, while other officers included: Helen Kellogg, vice president, and secretary-treasurer, Virginia Kandle.

Dr. Stewart Named On Advisory Board

Game Commissioners Plan To Investigate Deer Mortality

Professor N. H. Stewart has been appointed a member of the Advisory Committee by the President of the Board of Game Commissioners, according to a communication from the offices of the Commission at Harrisburg.

The committee of five experts will act as a research and fact finding body in the study of the high mortality of deer in this state.

Dr. W. B. Bell, of the U. S. Biological Survey, will be in charge of the work. The committee members are: Dr. M. F. Barnes and Dr. B. S. Fritz of the State Bureau of Animal Industry, Dr. S. W. Fletcher, director of agricultural research, State College, and Dr. N. H. Stewart, Department of Biology, Bucknell University.

The Game Commission is cooperating with this committee, assisting them particularly in field investigations. A careful study of Cephanomyia will probably be made by this group.

Dr. M. G. Filler Now Dickinson's "Prexy"

President Emory W. Hunt and Dean Romeyn H. Rivenburg returned recently from Dickinson College at Carlisle where they represented Bucknell at the inauguration of Dr. Mervin Grant Filler as president of the college on Friday, April 26.

Judge Edward W. Biddle, distinguished Pennsylvania jurist, conducted the induction of the president, and presided over the ceremonies. Noted educators from one hundred and eighteen colleges and universities, coming from thirty-three of the forty-eight states of the Union, attended. Thirty-five college and university presidents were present at the inauguration.

Among the well-known men attending were President Mather, of Lafayette, President Blackwell, of Randolph-Macon, President Denny, of the University of Alabama, President Hanson, of Gettysburg, President Few, of Duke University, President Soper, of Ohio Wesleyan, President Beury, of Temple, Dean Fox, of John Carroll University, Provost J. C. Penniman, of the University of Pennsylvania, and President Ferguson, of Irving College.

Stump Gets to Hop As Frosh Make Merry

The Freshman Hop held in Tustin Gymnasium last Friday evening proved to be a success for the yearlings who provided the time, place, and circumstances for the "merry making," as advertised. "Mike" Stump, freshman president, reached the dance unmolested by sophomores and his presence added confidence to the yearlings who were allowed the abandonment of their customary rules in celebration of the occasion.

"Nick" Nichols and his collegians with their torrid dance music, and the gymnasium cleverly decorated with Japanese lanterns and a false ceiling of dark blue crepe paper created a pleasing atmosphere for dancing.

Stump, fearing that the sophomores would, according to tradition, prevent him from attending the dance, left school for parts unknown on the Wednesday preceding the hop, and did not again reappear until the freshman dance was well under way. At about 9:00 p. m. he walked up the front steps of the gymnasium and across the floor to the orchestra, where his presence was announced.

Chaperons at the dance were Dean R. H. Rivenburg, Dean Amelia E. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Musser, and Mrs. J. W. Little.

Janet Bingman Is Elected President of Frill and Frown

At a recent meeting of Frill and Frown, girls' dramatic organization, officers were elected for the coming year. They are as follows: Janet Bingman, '30, president; Emilie Maxwell, '30, vice president; "Betty" Dill, '31, secretary; Louise Ziegler, '32, and Bettina Buckham, 32, business managers.

Evelyn Beckworth Chairman House Com.

Senate Presents Gold Piece to Helen Steinhilper at Meeting

Evelyn Beckworth, '30, was elected vice president of the Women's Student Government at the regular meeting held at Bucknell Hall last night. Under the new regulation, as vice president Evelyn automatically becomes chairman of the house committee, one of the highest honors to be given any co-ed. Other officers of Student Government elected at this time were: Mildred Walton, '32, secretary, and Dorothy Showalter, '31, treasurer.

To Helen Steinhilper, the outgoing president of the Women's Student Government, the Student Senate presented a ten dollar gold piece in appreciation for the work she had done during the past year.

At the last meeting for this year the formal installation of the president and the following new members of the Women's Student Senate took place: president, Frances Kernohan; Pi Beta Phi: Ruth Edwards, Dorothy Showalter; Delta Delta Delta: Edith George, Frances Kernohan; Kappa Delta: Caroline Davidson, Hilda Gorman; Alpha Chi Omega, Emilie Maxwell, Roberta Slifer; Zeta Gamma Tau: Evelyn Beckworth, Janet Murphy; Phi Mu: Janice Booker, Mildred Walton; Sigma Sigma Delta: Doris Miller, Geraldine Welchons; Non-fraternity: "Kitty" Shortlidge, Agnes Garrity.

May first also saw the "moving-up" of the women's classes. Socially, seniors become alumnae, juniors become seniors; sophomores, juniors, and freshmen attain the title of sophomores.

Following a short but impressive talk by Dean Amelia Clark, outgoing officers passed on their responsibilities to the new officers, urging them to carry on, while respecting the privilege of being a member of that class. The new officers included: senior class president, Emilie Maxwell; junior, Marie Trunk; sophomore, Mary Smith.

"Tony" Slate Meets New Cabinet Members

President "Tony" Slate met with his new cabinet for the first time Monday evening in the "Y" room. Mr. L. C. Wilson, Executive Secretary of the Middle Atlantic Field Council attended the meeting.

Chas. Mohr, '30, was elected council representative for the Bucknell Y. M. C. A. and will represent the local association on the state and district committees for the coming year.

The new cabinet numbers twelve, and includes the following: Fred Heather, Clement Jablonski, Chas. Mohr, and Welland Wadsworth, of the class of 1930; Justin Brumbaugh, C. W. Frampton, W. H. Genne, M. R. Keagy, L. C. Martin, O. B. Richards, and N. C. Ross, of '31, and G. L. Abernethy, '32.

Tabloid Belle Hop Due in A Few Days

The Belle Hop staff is holding its breath in fear that some unlucky student will miss the next number. The Tabloid Number, as it will be called, is just so absolutely good that it will be dangerous to the health of any one missing the magazine, so keen will be his disappointment.

As explained in last week's Bucknellian, the new Belle Hop will positively expose all scandal and news which the Hill and co-ed population has been straining to hear for years. The Belle Hop staff announces publication within the next few days and is warning the campus that delay in ordering a copy will be disasterous.

Gertrude R. Downs, '28, To Marry U. of Wis. Man

Announcement of the engagement of Gertrude Downs, '28, of Ardmore, Pa., to Henry Smith, of Miles, Montana, was made at the Downs' home, Saturday night, April 27.

Miss Downs is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, while Mr. Smith is a member of the Theta Pi fraternity at the University of Wisconsin, of which institution he is a graduate.

Sherwood Eddy Answers Questions On Sex and Youth at Open Forum

Books

Copies of Sherwood Eddy's new work "Sex and Youth" and of other books on social justice, war, and international relations have arrived and will be placed on sale in the corridor of Old Main, Friday.

Land is Purchased For an 18 Hole Golf Course Near Stadium

Judge Albert Johnson Initiated Movement for the Purchase; Faculty Plans Project

Dreams do come true. At least here is one that seems well nigh under way to fruition.

Ten years ago, when President E. W. Hunt accepted the presidency of Bucknell University, he expressed the hope that a golf course might be built on land adjacent to the University. He hoped that the University might be able some day to secure a tract of land and make it possible for the faculty, alumni, and students to organize a golf club.

Caddies, Line Up!

During the years various plans have been formulated for the development of such a course. But various obstacles have intervened to prevent actual construction. Now, however, caddies can plan to form on the right.

Judge Albert W. Johnson, a trustee of the university, initiated a movement for the purchase of the Keyser farm, 90 acres of rolling land adjoining the west end of the university farm. Upon this tract will be built a course and a club house. To Judge Johnson and his friends who have made this purchase possible, all Bucknellians are deeply grateful.

Faculty Takes Interest

Meantime a faculty committee has been active, quietly and energetically, in maturing plans that would be feasible. Professor H. R. Warfel secured the aid of several Williamsport golfers in helping to lay out a course. Professor W. T. MacCreadie

(Continued on last page.)

Dean Makes Study of Co-ed Withdrawals

Miss Pope Finds That 20 to 50 Percent Have Left College

Miss Ruth Vesta Pope, former Dean of Women at Bates College, Lewiston, Maine, and now a graduate student at Columbia University, is spending several days at Bucknell to gather material for a thesis in order to complete work on a doctorate degree.

Miss Pope is visiting selected Baptist colleges of similar conditions, the criteria of which is that these colleges must be representative, co-educational colleges with an enrolment of approximately 250 to 500 women students. Miss Pope is directly concerned with the women students of these colleges. She is attempting to determine the factors that are affecting the elimination of women stu-

(Continued on last page.)

Six Students Speak In Sophomore Contest

Four girls and two boys participated in the annual sophomore public speaking contest held in Bucknell Hall, Tuesday evening. Two prizes will be awarded to the winners, one to the boy and one to the girl. Announcement of the awards will, as usual, be made at the commencement exercises in June.

The speakers and their subjects were as follows: Madeline Waldherr, "Training For Leisure;" Elizabeth Dill, "America's Biggest Problem," Tremie Eisley, "The Call To The Colors;" Marie Trunk, "The Vitaphone;" John Burlew, "The Value of a Liberal Arts Course to a Scientist;" and John Klepper, "The Need for More Honesty in Our Faculty."

Gov. Fisher Becomes Member of "Friars"

Governor John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania was initiated into the Friars on Tuesday afternoon by Thomas MacLeod, president of the Bucknell chapter. Because of the extremely heavy duties of Gov. Fisher at the present time he was unable to attend the formal initiation last night at the Round Top Inn at Muney, but asked that he might be allowed to become affiliated in Harrisburg. Accordingly, Thomas MacLeod, representing the present active chapter, and Nissley Hoak, of the incoming group, went to the Capitol where the ceremonies were performed in the executive chambers.

Governor Fisher expressed his pleasure at becoming a member of such an honorary fraternity as the Friars, stating that he was wholeheartedly in accord with the principles and the ideals of the organization, and stated that he hoped it was in his power to further these to some degree.

President MacLeod pinned a specially made jewelled Friar pin upon the governor's coat, which was a gift from the active chapter in recognition of the latter's fine record as a man and an executive while holding the highest honor that this state has to offer.

Gives Keen Analysis of Present World Situation in Address At Commencement Hall

EUROPE FACES MANY POST-WAR DICTATORS

Discusses Economic Conditions Of the Poor and the Rich

Last Thursday was a busy day for Sherwood Eddy who spoke here three times to enthusiastic audiences composed of students and faculty. The open forum which he conducted in Bucknell Hall in the afternoon was well attended. At this time Mr. Eddy discussed important facts about sex and youth, and about the various phases of marriage.

"The Present World Situation" was the subject of Mr. Eddy's forceful and instructive talk in Commencement Hall, Thursday evening. He discussed the economic and industrial conditions of European countries, including England, France, Germany, Italy, and Russia, and spoke about their crushing war debts, referring especially to Germany's enormous debt which she may never be able entirely to pay off.

Rise of Dictatorship

The rise of dictatorship, according to the speaker, is another characteristic of post-war Europe. Mussolini and his Italian dictatorship is a fine example of this. Not only is there individual distatorship but that of class as well; the latter kind exists in Russia.

The loyalty of many young people to the communistic parties in Russia is remarkable, Mr. Eddy's description of the sacrament made of the pilgrimage of from three to five thousand young people to the tomb of Lenine was very striking.

Poverty and Luxury

Mr. Eddy then discussed the industrial and social problems of our own country. As his own study of economic conditions has revealed to him, the effects of poverty upon the many poor, and of luxury and waste upon the fewer rich are both debasing and debilitating. What is the solution to these problems? Mr. Eddy's conclusion is that there is only one solution: the putting into practice of the principle emphasized in the Sermon on the Mount—the principle of love. This means that there must be full respect for personality, and that it must be applied in every type of human relations.

In the words of Mr. Eddy, "We find in the teaching of Jesus no absolute, mechanical, repressive rules of life, but a single, dynamic and expansive principle of sharing, which is claimed by many to be capable of universal application in every age and under varying conditions."

"Sally" Bray, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Freeland, Pa.

• • • •

"Cricket" Kline, '29, spent the week-end at her home in Lansdale, Pa.

• • • •

"Happy" Cooper, '29, spent Sunday in Mount Carmel, Pa. Yes, "Wally" was there, too!

• • • •

Registration days are with us again, and schedules for next semester hold the center of attention.

• • • •

Eloise Baily, '30, had the pleasure of a visit from her mother over the week-end.

• • • •

Dorothy Holt, '30, attended a dance at State College on Saturday evening.

• • • •

Virginia Hall, '30, drove to Dalton last Sunday, where she spent the day with her aunt.

• • • •

Mrs. W. J. Trunk, of Coatesville, spent several days this week with her daughter, Marie Trunk, '31.

• • • •

The Rev. and Mrs. John Stringer, of Coatesville, spent Wednesday of last week with their daughter, Frances Stringer, '30.

• • • •

A ten-word telegram recently delivered to a prominent junior contained the words: "begged, coaxed, wept, and threatened," among others.

• • • •

Much of that which is missing recently is being laid to the obliging roommate who was home when the old-clothes man called.

• • • •

Marie Fetheroff, '29, spent last week-end at her home in Wanamaker, Pa. She had a fine time, according to all reports.

• • • •

Miss Lucille Smith, of Susquehanna University, spent the week-end here as a guest of Dorothy Stenger, '30.

• • • •

Helen Blecher, '32, has been confined to the Women's Infirmary for the past week with a severe case of tonsilitis.

• • • •

Miss Claire Conway, '05, who is now the head of the English Department of Nanticoke High School spent Sunday with Mrs. Jennie Phillips.

• • • •

"Kay" Leach, '30, was fortunate enough to have one of her poetic offerings published in the Sunday supplement of a metropolitan newspaper.

• • • •

"Bill" Mackie, '30, has taken to water sports. He drags his canoe half of a mile to the river, paddles a bit, and drags it back, calling it a "day's work."

• • • •

"My philosophy of life," said a Bucknell student, "is giving the devil his due."

"Oh," said his friend, "is that why you paid me back my money?"

• • • •

Donald L. Brubaker, '29, has recently started the habit of taking baths with his clothes on. Nobody can blame "Don" though, the baths are compulsory.

• • • •

"Jelly Roll" Pyle, '30, saxaphonist in Hoffman's Orchestra, became so torrid a few weeks ago that he had to take his saxaphone to "Billville" for repairs.

Monday, April 29! Esther Girton had a birthday. At least that is what one might gather from the festivities in Annex, Monday night. The party was quite a success.

• • • •

"Bill" Mackie, '30, who once under duress said he ate no more than a very small humming bird, has disillusioned his friends by going on a strict diet in preparation for the track season.

• • • •

For some interesting news about canoeing in rough weather, shooting rapids in the rain, and all the rest of the details, apply to "Norm" Eagle and "Beanie" Martin—authorities on the subject.

• • • •

Rainy weather would not keep two "co-eds" from going on a picnic Sunday. "Pinky" Lemon and "Jert" Brooks started out with their friends carrying a large box of food, blankets, etc.

• • • •

Virginia Hall, '30, was visited by her parents on Thursday, April 25. It was only a "flying visit," as "Jinny" expressed it, but it was better than none at all, and she made the most of it.

• • • •

Katherine Forrest, '32, spent the last week-end at her home in Bellwood, Pa. She enjoyed her visit, especially as she had not been home for two or three weeks—a rather long time for her to be away.

• • • •

"Dick" Humphreys, '31, was dancing his favorite step in O'Brien's the other day. After watching him for several minutes, a small boy remarked, "Gee, that's worse than the square dances I've seen."

• • • •

Consistent rumor would have us believe that our friend, Sherwood Eldy, displeased the Penn Staters recently and left the lair of the Nittany Lion two jumps ahead of the angry beast.

• • • •

Since "Gert" Rentz's aunt is thinking of buying a new car, the demonstrators of various makes, have been furnishing Gert with transportation to and from school. The latest car was a Packard. Seems as though life will be one long ride for "Gert."

• • • •

"Sally" Collner, '29, who hiked to the top of Montour the other day, now possesses a sunburn of which she would be quite proud of if it were not so sore. But it is fading nicely, and a healthy tan is taking its place.

• • • •

A "Semite" who had never seen a trap before unsuspectingly picked one up while on a botany hike and discovered how it worked when it pinched her finger. Luckily, it was an old rusty one or the results would have been more disastrous.

• • • •

Daylight saving went into effect last Sunday morning, but it didn't bother Lewisburg in the least. Just wait until we plan to go home, though, and have to figure the difference of an hour one way or the other!

• • • •

"Mel" Shuttlesworth, graduate student, fittingly observed the occurence of his natal day last Friday, by attending a surprise party tendered him in the home of friends in Sunbury. "Mel" would make no statement as to the possible number of years spent on this terrestial sphere.

• • • •

Night! Silence. Darkness. Suddenly hushed voices whispering among themselves. Prowlers! Mystery! Breathless stillness broken only by the sound of footsteps. What can this mean? Murder! Robbery! Gee—it's only the S. A. E. pledges on their annual "Hell Week" note hunt.

• • • •

Members of the zoology class were given a treat last Saturday when Professor Norman H. Stewart took them on an all-day outing to White Deer. Besides hiking five or six miles, they hunted salamanders—some of them for the first time—and saw and classified more than forty different kinds of birds.

• • • •

It is requested that young ladies who arise early on Sunday morning to pick violets will refrain from two annoying habits: kindly do not leave in such high and noisy spirits, and please do not develop such an appetite that only onion-flavored refreshments will satisfy.

• • • •

Miss Eliza Martin has been taking her industrious library workers out for some country air lately. She has an appreciation, keener than most of ours, for the beauties of nature and it is a pleasure to enjoy her botanical knowledge demonstrated at first hand.

• • • •

The snow is not all gone yet, as members of the glee clubs can affirm, for they saw large patches of it in the mountains on their way to Smyre last week. Spring is much less advanced in these regions than here; the grass is not green, and very few leaves have yet shown their appearance.

• • • •

Jean H. Wood, '29, visited Mary Fritz, '28, this last week-end. Of course "Fritz" knows all the news now and can stay in Reading a little longer without coming back to learn the news first hand. Naturally we'd like very much to see "Fritz" but we're glad Jean is proving to be such a thorough reporter.

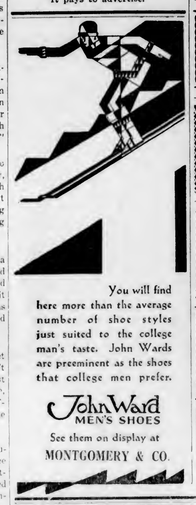
Prof. Charles M. Bond is planning to take his religious education class which is studying the church school down to Shamokin some Sunday soon, to inspect two modern religius education plants in the churches down there. That same day, the group will take a trip over to Johnson City to visit "Red" Heather's church.

• • • •

Two fair co-eds had an interesting time in the I. O. O. F. celebration last Friday. Having taken in all the excitement of Market street—peanuts, balloons, bands, uniforms, and the rest—they went into Newberry's to buy some glue, spending in the transaction the last of their meager resources.

As they came out of the store, the girls saw a particularly inviting torrid canine shoppe across the street. Hungry girls and no money! But still there was the glue. So back went the feminine negotiants, and in short order a lone dime occupied a trench coat pocket where a bottle of glue had been before. One hot dog divided between two girls is better anytime than a sticky bottle of glue.

It pays to advertise.



You will find here more than the average number of shoe styles just suited to the college man's taste. John Wards are preeminent as the shoes that college men prefer.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

See them on display at MONTGOMERY & CO.

PITT THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest Try the Best.

FLOWERS AT MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1897. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

FLAVIO'S FOR FINEST FANCY FRUIT

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President
ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President
JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

Present Day Problems of European Youth Discussed by Dr. Hoffman of Switzerland

On a recent date Dr. Conrad Hoffman of the World's Student Christian Federation, Geneva, Switzerland, delivered a significant address before the New York Student Conference in Schnectady, N. Y. The subject of his address was the present-day problems of the youth of Europe—a subject on which Dr. Hoffman was well qualified to speak, in-as-much as he has spent several years in various European countries studying there very problems.

Since the war, Europe has undergone a most radical change, politically, socially, and morally—according to the speaker. Century-old institutions, traditions, and loyalties have been swept aside, autocratic monarchies have been overthrown, new republics have emerged, revolutionary reforms have created chaos, and the class struggle has been bitter and severe. The struggle for existence is suffocating in the lives of many their creative idealism, leaving materialistic ideals in its wake. In this great upheaval, 300,000,000 men, women, and children have been involved, many of whom have yet to learn that their newly-won freedom is not license, but involves discipline as well.

Effect Upon Youth

What effect is this upheaval having upon the youth of Europe? Caught in contending forces over which they have no power, these young people are bewildered and confused. For many, a sense of insecurity and a loss of direction prevail. To be sure, educational reform has opened the doors of higher educational institutions to thousands who were hitherto deprived of such a privilege. There are twice as many students in Europe today as before the war. But economically Europe cannot support so many intellectually trained people unless there is more outlet abroad for them; hence the resentment against the restrictive immigration laws of our country and other lands. For many, this means unemployment and resultant pessimism.

Many Religious Changes

Changes are taking place in the field of religion as well. In Germany over 1,000,000 church members have severed their connections with the church—a definite acknowledgment of the fact that religion is no longer of any value in their lives. The church is accused of failure in working for social justice, of collusion with the governments before Christianity, socialism and communism are becoming the religion of the and luring the war. In place of masses. In short, Christianity has been tried and has been found wanting.

It is this background of strife and struggle that we must keep in mind if we would understand the problems that the youth of Europe are facing. What are the effects or reactions of this struggle on these young people They are profound and exceedingly important, for in spite of its handicaps, the youth of Europe is responding to its new opportunities and is accomplishing remarkable things.

Appreciation of Work

Tremendous educational reforms are taking place. In Germany, emphasis on purely intellectual training is giving away to a more even development of the mind, soul, and body in the hope of training well-balanced personalities. A new appreciation of work—self activity—has come about. In this educational reform the International Student Service has played an important part. Turkey has adopted our alphabet, thereby replacing the old script which has been in use for centuries. A change of calendar and a new system of weights and measures has followed.

Another great change is that of relations between men and women. Turkish women now go about in public unveiled. The number of university women students has increased enormously. A new and more normal relationship between the sexes has arisen in Europe, and the emancipation of women has indeed come.

Sports Are Popular

Youth has also brought about a new appreciation of outdoor life. Sports and athletic games are very popular, and both boys and girls are developing strong bodies on thousands of athletic fields. Physically, psychologically, and morally, this is of great importance in the character building of Europe.

Much has been accomplished in the field of international cooperation. National barriers are fast breaking down. Student travel, international athletics, scholarships, migration of students—all have had marked influence. Since the war, European students have organized four new international organizations which are now federated in a super-international body under the auspices of the International Committee for Intellectual Cooperation of the League of Nations. Last year the World Youth Peace Conference brought together over 500 representatives from all parts of the world to discuss differences of opinion and the problem of intolerance.

Search for Positive Values

These are the realities that face European youth. The fight is not so much a revolt as a conflict of loyalties—a search for positive values. What have we to say about it? Dr. Hoffman asks. What positive things have we to offer? What has Christianity to offer; can it weather the storm through which it is passing.

"The problem of Europe is our problem," he concludes. "We must go on finding ways of working with our European colleagues which fundamentally are the same for them as for us. The day of physical need is essentially past, but here is a new realm of need where the same active fellowship is necessary, offering opportunity through action to give meaning to that about which we talk so much. What are we going to do about it all? May these days help us to find an answer."

Dr. C. A. Lindemann Describes and Show How Knots are Tied

Square knots, granny knots, millers' knots, star knots, half hitches, long splices, bottle knots, grommets, short splices, and knots simple, complicated, easy to tie, difficult to make knots that might save your life or the lives of others, knots of every sort you ever heard of and ten times as many that you never heard of, these were the things that Dr. Chas. A. Lindemann, professor of pure mathematics at Bucknell, showed his fellow Lions how to tie at the Monday night dinner of the Lions Club last week at the Cameron House according to the Lewisburg Journal.

Most all Lewisburgers know Prof. Lindemann as a most unusually versatile man, but few know that he can tie more knots than probably any other man in the state of Pennsylvania. He has a knot board that he made years ago, that contains more than one hundred knots, and that has never before been exhibited until he consented to tell the Lewisburg Lions about knots and their making.

Professor Lindemann described dozens of different knots, telling how they are ordinarily employed, and making each knot he described, with a piece of line he had brought for that purpose. Many of these knots are of the utmost utility in cases of danger. He showed how to tie a rope fire escape around an unconscious person so that the person can be lowered to the ground in an upright position, with perfect safety, it being absolutely impossible to fall out of the rope or be injured in any way.

He showed how the guides in the Alps tie their ropes about persons they are guiding up the mountains, and said that they will not allow any other sort of knot to be used. He constructed a peculiar knot with three loops in it, which sailors tie about the masthead of a ship after the topmast has been carried away by a storm. To these three loops lies are attached that run to the bow and to the shrouds on either side, thus supporting the mast.

Another knot that Professor Lindemann showed was one that can be quickly tied about two parts of a line that is parting under strain and thus prevent its actual separation. To show how this knot can be used, the speaker told of a safe removal job, in which a great iron safe hung suspended over the sidewalk to which it was being lowered, when the strands of the rope began to give. It was only a question of moments until the line should part completely and the big safe come crashing down. A man stepped from the crowd, seized a rope, quickly fashioned this knot above and below the parting strands and drew it tight, holding the safe unharmed in mid air.

Lieut. Col. Matthew H. Thomlinson, Infantry, will be relieved from his present assignment in the office of the Chief of Infantry at Washington, D. C., about August 15, by order of President Hoover. Following this, Col. Thomlinson will report to Lehigh University as professor and head of the department of military science and tactics.

After all's said and done, the pleasure you get in smoking is what counts

CAMEL
CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels are made of the choicest tobaccos grown.
The Camel blend of Domestic and Turkish tobaccos has never been equaled.
Camels are mild and mellow.
They do not tire the taste.
They leave no cigaretty after-taste.
Camels have a delightful fragrance that is pleasing to everyone.

© 1929, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Capt. H. N. Gilbert Visits Williamsport On Leaveof Absence

Captain Harold N. Gilbert, U. S. A., and Mrs. Gilbert, who was before her marriage, Sara K. Metzger, with their family, have arrived in the city for a three weeks visit with Captain Gilbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Gilbert, 808 Park Place, prior to departure for Manila, Philippine Islands.

Captain and Mrs. Gilbert are both natives of this city. During their school and college days they were both very well known in the city and vicinity.

In recent years Captain Gilbert has served as executive officer of the 30th U. S. Infantry and the large post of the Presidio of San Francisco, California, and the great post of Fort D. A. Russell and the 4th Brigade of the famous Second Division, at Cheyenne, Wyoming.

Captain Gilbert is now on leave of absence prior to sailing from San Francisco on May 25 for a two year tour of duty in the Philippine Islands. The trip from Cheyenne, Wyoming, to this city and back to San Francisco is being made by motor car and when completed will be the fourth coast-to-coast trip made by the captain and his family.

—Williamsport Sun.

Captain Harold Napoleon Gilbert was evidently born to be a soldier. He entered Bucknell with the class of 1919, but left college to enter the Army when the U. S. became a combatant in the World War. He was an excellent mathematician and rose rapidly as a soldier. He came out of that contest a full captain in rank, and remained in the Army. He has held many responsible positions, as the foregoing item from the Williamsport Sun indicates.

Aviator Enters Georgetown U.

Mr. Alfred S. Reynolds, one of the country's well known aviators, has just entered the School of Foreign Service of Georgetown University. He has come from Purdue University.

Early to bed, and early to rise,
Does not seem to suit the modern guys.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

Hungarian Speaks at W. and J.

Dr. Felix Valyi, of Hungary, a noted lecturer on the custome and background of the Orient, addressed the student body of W. and J. at a recent chapel service.

An irate professor of Lafayette College, finding that his class had cut him, proceeded to the fraternity houses, rounded up his students and conducted his class.

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief — Clarence W. Cranford, '29, Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Business Manager — John N. Feaster, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief — Charles E. Mohr, '30
Managing Editor — Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors — Dorothy Davies, '30; A. E. Frederick, '29; Frederick M. Locke, '31; Thomas MacLeod, '31
News Editor — Teannie Risley, '31
Assistant News Editors — Nan Lee Thomas, '30; Blair Hazen, '31; H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor — J. Warren McElgot, '30
Assistant Sports Editors — Kenneth Vandenbree, '31; R. Burluff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor — Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor — Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors — Elizabeth Figner, '30

Business Staff
Advertising Manager — W. C. Dunnitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager — John Snyder, '30; Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers — George DeLancey, '32; Walter H. Grim, '32; Nathaniel Glazier, '32; Benjamin Wahrman, '32; Frank Koehler, '32

Reporters: L. M. Baker, '31; R. E. Ball, '31; E. Dill, '31; E. R. Fries, '31; J. T. Anderson, '31; K. A. Leach, '30; D. Lemon, '29; H. A. Robb, '31; J. B. Stevenson, '32.

CALENDAR

Friday, May 3—Kappa Delta informal. 7:30-10:30, Playroom.
Trinity Debate—Girls—Bucknell Hall, 8 p. m.
Saturday, May 4—Alpha Chi Omega Tea, 2-4 p. m., Living room, new dormitory.
Student Government Executive Council Convention.
Tuesday, May 7—3:5:30—Sigma Sigma Delta Tea for commuters.
Thursday, May 9—Delta Delta Delta Tea, 3:30-6, Living room, new dormitory.

"HONORABLE JUDGES, LADIES, AND GENTLEMEN....."

Behold! The writer of this editorial is about to steal. He is deliberately going to "shop-lift" a paragraph from an editorial which appeared in Tuesday's Penn State Collegian, and make it serve as the lead for this brief dissertation. "After years of futile effort," says the Penn State writer, "Cornell is believed to have solved her debating problem. Like Penn State, the New York institution found it hard to attract her undergraduates to an intercollegiate debate on the benefits of advertising, the advisability of joining the League of Nations, or the merits of a trial by jury. Finally the Ithacan forensic team decided to exchange words with a long-winded foe relative to Cornell's widely-advertised alumni committee on football and the ability or inability of Gil Dobie to produce winning elevens. The proposition, correctly stated, reads: 'Resolved, That Cornell Should Intensify Her Athletic Program.' Which, in the opinion of the Collegian, is an answer to Penn State's prayer for added interest in intercollegiate debating."

Perhaps it may serve as the answer to a similar prayer of Bucknell. Oh, of course the students turned out to hear the B. U.-Oxford debate. Some honestly went to hear the arguments which were presented both for and against the entry of the United States into the League of Nations. But if we're honest with ourselves, we'll have to admit that a goodly number went to see if one of the Britishers would say, "Ah say there old chawp", or because previous Oxford teams had left behind them a reputation for ability to make clever "wisecracks." No one expected a Temple debater to "get off some good ones." A Temple orator talked like a Bucknell speaker would talk. So when Temple debated Bucknell in the only home debate which the men's team had during the second semester, fewer than 50 people were in attendance. Think of it—a student body of a thousand, and less than fifty attending the only men's home debate of the semester. But then, as a collegiate youth might put it, "Who in thunder worries about what they ought to do with the jury?" Of course it is a matter of conjecture, but perhaps a question which treats of a vital campus issue would tend to increase Bucknell's interest in intercollegiate debating.

One could put up with a small attendance at B. U. debates if only there was enough interest in debating to get debaters. Notice what we said in the last paragraph?—the Bucknell men's team. No, not teams—just TEAM. Raker, Lare, and Evans made up the negative team. The affirmative squad was composed of Raker, Lare, and Evans. The task which faced the boys was titanic, and they, measured up to it. The task of the Coach was equally large. Anyone who knows, understands how adequately Professor W. H. Coleman filled the coaching position. But the best coach of debating that one could imagine could not train debaters if he had no debaters to train. Here we are—approximately 800 college men—and yet not enough men tried out for debating to make possible two teams. Of course, such things as other activities take the time of many. But might not part of the trouble lie in the questions which the teams have been asked to debate?

Bucknell boasts of its forensic record of the past few years. It is hoped that the record of the years to come may be equally worthy of our pride. But to have such a record, we need more men who will try out for debate work. If questions of a type which will appeal more to the college students are necessary, let's have such question proposed for debate.

"BUCKNELL MELODY"

"Brahms," says Henry T. Finck in his book, 'Musical Laughs,' "was prejudiced against women pianists. One evening when seated by request next to Teresa Carreno, he commenced a diatribe on his favorite theme. 'I hoped to make my two piano concertos prohibitive for women players, and thought I had succeeded, but—here he gave a desperate groan—'they will play them.' An embarassing silence fell upon the company, but Carreno with her ready tact, took the dilemma by the horns and said, 'But my dear Maestro, here I sit overwhelmed with mortification!' to which Brahms replied, 'My dear child, you don't for a moment suppose that this remark was directed at you; I always look upon you as a man pianist!' "

One wonders what might have been Brahm's reaction could he have heard the Faculty recital for two pianos presented Monday evening in the Baptist church by the Misses Coe and Tollefson assisted by Miss Mench, organist. Might he not have lost some of his prejudice against women pianists? Certainly for those whose appreciation of music is determined by their enjoyment of it rather than their ability to render technical criticism, the concert well deserves editorial appraisal.

One guesses that a tinge of boredom has characterized the reaction of some to certain of the Artist Course numbers. Whatever reactions were called forth by Monday night's program, one is confident that boredom has no place in them. The attitude of the audience seemed to be one of wholehearted response. Whether it was the ringing tones of Thern's transcription of Beethoven's "Turkish March;" whether it was the delicious "Conversations of the Beauty and the Beast" from Ravel's "Mother Goose Suite;" whether it was the soft strains of the first movement of Roger's Sonata lifting one from things "of earth earthy" into a universe of melody; whether it was the poignant sadness which seemed to thread through "Romance" from "Second Suite" by Rachmaninoff; whatever it was, the audience seemed to appreciate the skill and delicacy with which each composition was performed.

As the program of melody came to a close, perhaps the thought of many may have been, "Diamonds.....diamonds in our own back-yard!"

"WHAT TO DO WITH THE TRIBUNAL!"

Recently the Senior Tribunal, august and dignified, has been denounced in these columns. In ringing tones, punctuated with a profusion of exclamation points, but with a noticable scarcity of substantial facts and evidence of thought, it is advocated to do away with the Tribunal, and let rules enforce themselves. Hints of "discrimination," "horseplay," "rough-housing," invite the unthinking reader to rise in righteous wrath, and hang the whole Tribunal.

But the thoughtful reader demands more as a prerequisite to action. He wants a more thoughtful discussion of the whole matter, so let's have it. No harm can come, and much good may result. The case against the Tribunal and the rules will hinge largely upon these questions:

1. Do traditions or sentiments necessarily impede progress? Are they signs of stagnation?
2. Which of the present rules should we discard? Should we have other rules?
3. Will these rules be self-enforcing? If not, by whom shall they be enforced.
4. What agency will take care of offenses such as stealing, destruction to college property, unnecessary noise in dormitories, drinking, etc.
5. How are these matters handled in institutions of the class and size of Bucknell?
6. Would promiscuous hazing come into practice again?
7. And finally—Is the Tribunal really "ridiculous?" Does it "hide behind a paddle and say nasty things?" Does it practice "discrimination?"

Of course the answers to these questions are matters of opinion, but lets have intelligent and thoughtful discussion of them. J. M.

Editor's note—J. M's. editorial is in answer to one by J. B. S. which appeared in this column last week. Next week, J. M. and J. B. S. will again treat the question, each presenting his side of the case after the fashion of "Forum."

W. J. B. U. "IN" THE AIR

Bucknell broadcasting has met the fate finally that threatened it previously, namely certain powers that be. Broadcasting from the organ room was first prohibited during mid-year finals, with the understanding—apparently until this week—that broadcasting might continue after the examinations were over. But this week the order, accompanying a series of reprimands, has been issued that there will be no more broadcasting on Wednesday nights.

This leaves two possibilities for Bucknell broadcasting: (1) Broadcasting from the attic of the Engineering building, and (2) Broadcasting on Friday nights from the organ room.

(1) The Engineering building studio does not have the musical facilities that does the organ room. It eliminates one complete large department from broadcasting—the department that has furnished over half the material broadcast so far. Also, by another of the famous Rules, women students would find it necessary to secure chaperons in order to broadcast.

(2) Broadcasting on Friday nights! Even if the person who would suggest this may have nothing to do on Friday nights, a little observation or "coming to college," as the boys say, would reveal the fact that it is almost impossible to secure people to put on a program on the already overcrowded Friday nights (overcrowded because of more of the famous Rules). People who would be asked to broadcast are those very people who have most to do on Friday nights.

What harm has Wednesday night broadcasting? It has taken less than an hour a week, between eight o'clock and nine o'clock, during quiet (?) hours (so quiet that it has been necessary to post a sign outside the door begging for enough silence to permit broadcasting) when what occupants of the building who were not running around the halls were at the picture-show or on dates.

What will be the result? The ultimatum from the Dean of Women has not only convinced the Engineering Department that cooperation cannot be secured, but it has limited broadcasting from W. J. B. U., "Bucknell University, in the heart of the Keystone state," to other University activities, and jazz orchestras from Sunbury. "Is Bucknell a University?" J. E.

Who's Who AT B. U.

John Goodnow Farrow, '29

John Goodnow Farrow, '29, an Alpha Chi Mu, merits attention because of what he has done and because of what he is. A consistent career in class and varsity track culminated in his election as captain of the 1929 track team. His activities have ranged from capable assistance in the management of the Sophomore Cotillion and Junior Prom to membership on the Inter-Class Council and the Presidency of the Interfraternity Caterers' Club. He has achieved distinction by such diverse paths as the Athletic Editorship of the 1929 L'Agenda and four years of contribution to "Bucknell Verse." He has uniformly evidenced a character of versatility, action and dependability. These traits, coupled with a ready wit have created in the minds of all who know him a sincere and deep respect for John G. Farrow.

B. U. BAND PREPARES FOR JUNE FESTIVITIES

The Bucknell Band, under the able leadership of "Ed" Calhoun of Northumberland, met in Commencement Hall at 7:30 last Monday evening to begin their spring practice in preparation for the ensuing commencement exercises.

The 25 members who attended the practice showed unusual skill in the rendering of their old numbers, considering their lack of practice.

Among the new numbers that were practiced was "Neptune's Carnival" by F. W. Stimson.

HERMAN & LEISER

large assortment this week
Flat Crepe Long and Short Sleeve Dresses in Spring Shades
at $5.00 each

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

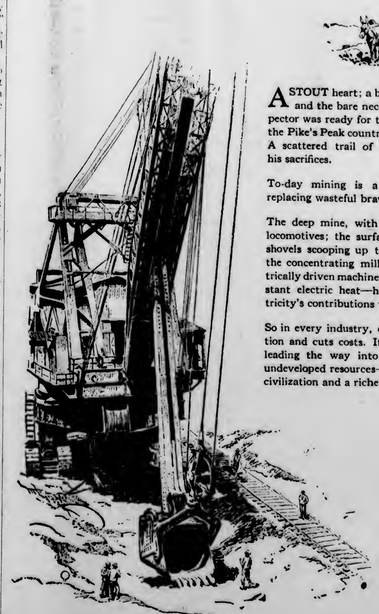
An International University Club
Washington affords an excellent environment for an International University Club, which was recently founded by representatives of five universities. The club is composed of students and faculty members of those universities, who have banded together for the purpose of promoting friendship between foreign students studying in our institutons and their American classmates.

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

MOTHER'S DAY
MAY 12
Wherever She is. We Telegraph Flowers or Potted Plants.
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

THE PURITY

ELECTRICITY—
the modern prospector



A STOUT heart; a burro laden with pick, shovel, and the bare necessities of life; and the prospector was ready for the gold rush—Sutter's Mill, the Pike's Peak country, Cripple Creek, Klondyke. A scattered trail of half-worked claims marked his sacrifices.

To-day mining is a business, with electricity replacing wasteful brawn in mine and mill.

The deep mine, with electric lights, hoists, and locomotives; the surface mine with huge electric shovels scooping up tons of ore in a single bite; the concentrating mill with its batteries of electrically driven machines; the steel mill with its constant electric heat—here are but a few of electricity's contributions to the mineral industries.

So in every industry, electricity increases production and cuts costs. It is the modern prospector, leading the way into wider fields and tapping undeveloped resources—that we may enjoy a finer civilization and a richer, fuller life.

You will find this monogram on powerful motors that drive heavy mining machinery and on tiny motors that drive sewing machines. Both in industry and in the home it is the mark of an organization that is dedicated to electrical progress.

95-65BDH
GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

The latest "wet" movement was launched a few days ago with the formation of the Authors' and Artists' Anti-Prohibition League in New York. Of course, Gulliver, with his background of many a glass of English ale and stout, is in deepest sympathy with the effort. Therefore in order to spread the League's cry, he welcomes to his column a new contributor, Scribbler, and joins with him in the toast

Hail to the Flowing Bowl!

Dear Uncle Gulliver:
If all the land were bread and cheese
And all the seas were ink
And all the sky were apple-pie
What would we have to drink?

Well, what have we, anyway? In the language of the poet—W. C. T. U. edition—"ho, ho, ho, and a bottle of ginger ale, or better still, pasteurized milk." Do not be misled. I am not making sport of the W. C. T. U. It is a worthy organization. It provides our leading locals with wholesome and inexpensive amusement every Tuesday night. Nor will I say anything against Prohibition. This is not an argument. It is a eulogy. I shall eulogize on the degeneration of liquor. No one, I am sure could have the audacity to deny that it has not degenerated.

Now prejudiced as you may be, liquor at its best is an old and to be honored institution. Give King Alcohol his due. He has done his bit for history. He has played his part in poetry and song. He's accountable for fads and fashions. Have you ever seen a girl wearing an earring? Just one, I mean? Do you remember the night that Cleopatra took a pearl from her Ethiopian ear, deliberately melted it and poured it into her wine to drink an unsurpassably romantic toast to the susceptible Mark Anthony? But all this was real liquor. The wine that launched Omar's "Ruby Yacht" would loose the entire American navy from its moorings today. Notice, I have said nothing against Prohibition, but, shades of immortal Bacchus let's have good liquor or none!

The Liquor We Know

Now I would like especially to apply this to the so-called enlightened college student. Excuse it as they may, they are doing them an injustice if they let them go through college thinking that liquor is a bitter, thick, lukewarm something that you buy at somebody's back door, carry around on your hip for several hours, shake yourself loose from the crowd to go around the side of a fraternity house, wade in a pair of silver slippers or patent leather pumps through three or four inches of mud to drink. Or if you can't drink it, for the sake of appearances, gargle it. I repeat it, they are not giving their young people a thoroughly cultural education. When they go on a student cruise around the world they won't know how to act. If a steward hands them a perfectly respectable drink, they will crawl under a table or go behind a door to partake of it. Moreover, these helpless youngsters are being submitted to unparalleled dangers. Why not drink a bottle of respectable, inexpensive iodine and be done with it?

I still say that I am not advocating the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. But why not just provide a medium through which every potential college graduate shall spend at least three months in France, or say Italy, devoting his time and concentration to a course in "drinking as it is done." A sort of extension course to the Floating University. Suppose you sit on Christmas Eve at the dining-room window of the Hotel Plaza in Rome. Discreet music, violins and cellos, covered tables, black and white china, red and ivory candles. The lights flash out. Waiters glide in bearing trays of tall crystal goblets of sparkling, illuminated drinks. Yellow, red, and amber. The tinkle of ice as they glide past you—well, will you let them glide past you or will you stop them and make an intelligent choice?

Christmas morning when you go down into a great, firelit lobby smelling of pine and fir. Great clusters of mistletoe. Big, cozy chairs inviting you. Low, round tables with slim-necked carafes and tiny glasses. When some hospitable party asks you to join them in a toast will you join in gracefully, with savior faire, or will you stick your arm stiffly above your head, lap up a mouthful of the burning stuff, and proceed to spray your astounded hosts?

Ladies Through a Prof's. Eye

It is very obvious to all that the horror with which the administration looks upon liquor makes drinkable otherwise unapproachable stuff. I don't know whether or not a college professor has ever drawn a man of hell and its rivers. But I know what it would look like if he had. The Styx would be a seething flood of brandy, the Lethe a babbling brook of wine, and the loeytus a placid stream of foaming beed. Their banks are lined, I am sure, with the fraternity houses of the Hadeian chapters, best locations, such as the junction of the Lethe and Styx. granted to those that procured their charters first. Visualize, if you can, Home-Coming Day in Hell!

You know, Uncle Gulliver, to foreigners, or I should say cosmopolitans like you and me, there is something tragic in the situation. This interesting Republic is losing out pictorially. Every country has its flower. Every country has its songs. Every country has its drink. What could make a nation renounce this most revealing of symbols?

Beer. You have an English hunt; red coats, sleek hounds, exciting chase, one less fox, and after it all a glass of "jolly good ale and old" before an open fire.

Wine. Side-walk cafes, Bloyse, French eyes under broad-brimmed hats, soldiers in red-lined cloaks. Topsy-turvey, quaintly contorted jazz—and a little more wine.

Vodka and Russia. Booted feet, pounding in the snow. Peasants dancing . . . hearts dancing!

Sake. Yellow-skinned Fishermen watching boats with orange, and red, and brown sails emerge from the gold of the setting sun.

America—the empty chair in the League of Liquors.

But then its none of your affairs, uncle, nor mine.

Your affectionate nephew,
Scribbler.

(P. S. Do you know anything about this Listerine that Americans rave about so? Has it any artistic possibilities? I was tempted to try a bottle, but remembered in time what their near-beer did to me and wisely desisted.—S.)

Musical Comedy to Be Given at High School

"A Dumb Waiter," a musical comedy in two acts by Geoffrey F. Morgan, is to be staged by the Lewisburg High School Alumni Association in its drive to secure funds to purchase a curtain and stage settings for the new Lewisburg high school auditorium. The show will be produced on two nights, Thursday and Friday, May 16 and 17 in the new auditorium.

The choruses for the production are being directed by Abbott G. Bucher, ex-'31, who has produced a number of successful local talent productions in Lewisburg. Miss Inez Robison, '28, of the Lewisburg high school faculty is coaching the cast. Charles F. Lindig, '24, president of the local high school alumni association, is directing publicity and ticket sales for the show.

Bucknell Stars Shine

Four of the five men in the cast are Bucknellians. They are Moe Edwards, '30, who plays the part of Prof. McNoodle, a semi-conscious, bewhiskered, curio collector; Charles Dice, '32, cast as Billy Hunter, a smooth, college boy; Herman Himmelreich, ex-'24, appearing as Henry J. Bannister, a Wall street magnate; and H. U. Heckert, '20, starring as Bert Wilkins, the self-styled dumb waiter.

All the world loves a lover like the hero of the production, who gladly consents to disguise himself as a waiter and serve in the fashionable summer resort hotel of his sweetheart's mother, who disapproves of him. The hilarious complications encountered by the pseudo-waiter form the theme of the comedy which is set off against a background plot involving counterfeiters and secret service men. The play has been liberally edited by the director, Abbott G. Bucher, who has succeeded in introducing a number of the latest musical hits, including "The Broadway Melody," into the chorus parts.

Provisional Certificates

Students who are eligible to receive college provisional certificates may obtain them by calling at the Education office in Main building, Friday morning at 10 o'clock. It is suggested that students who are interested in the matter give attention to it at that time.

Musical Clubs Give Concert in Sayre, Pa.

The combined musical organizations of the Bucknell School of Music gave a concert in Sayre, Pa., Wednesday evening, April 24, under the auspices of the Sayre High School Alumni Association. The concert was greatly enjoyed by a large audience.

The program consisted of the same numbers as those presented the week before in the concert given at Lewisburg, and was well rendered and well received. The concert was given in the new high school auditorium—a hall most attractive in appearance, and modern in every way. The members of the orchestra and glee clubs traveled to Sayre and back in two large buses, in less than four hours.

The ride was a beautiful one over the mountains, and on the higher altitudes large patches of snow, which the sun had not yet succeeded in melting, could be seen. The trip was a most enjoyable one, and the concert—the first out-of-town one ever given by the combined musical organizations—may well be considered a success.

Moerschbacher Elected To Head Pi Delta Epsilon

In a formal meeting of the Bucknell chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalistic fraternity, held at the Forest House on April 24, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Francis C. Moerschbacher, '30; vice president, Arthur M. Shorts, '30; secretary, Wilbur Wentz, '30; treasurer, William C. Emmitt, '30.

Preceding the meeting the active chapter and pledges had partaken of a delightful chicken dinner. Following the elections fifteen men, including two of the faculty members were taken into active membership.

Officers whose terms expire at the end of the present semester are: William G. Jones, vice president; A. J. Abbott; secretary, Gilbert B. Moyer; treasurer, Mario G. Bianchi, all of '29.

Teachers in Luzerne County Hear About Extension Work

Professor J. H. Eisenhauer spent Friday and Saturday, April 26 and 27, in Wilkes-Barre and vicinity. During this time he made several addresses on the extension program at Bucknell. On Friday Professor Eisenhauer spoke in both Nanticoke and Plymouth. On Saturday, before the School Master's Club of Luzerne County he discussed, "Bringing the University to the Student." In his addresses he explained the course which is to be given next semester in the Extension Department on "Teaching Pupils How to Study." It is to be given to teachers of both the grades and high school.

Georgia Tech Professor On Bucknell Summer Staff

Since the publication of the Summer Session Bulletin, a change has been made in the mathematics department of the faculty. Professor John S. Gold will continue his study at the University of Chicago toward his Ph. D. degree and his work in the Summer Session will be handled by Professor J. L. Clayton of Georgia Tech. Mr. Clayton received his A. M. from the University of Michigan. Professor C. H. Richardson says of him: "He is a high-class gentleman, a splendid scholar, and an enthusiastic teacher."

A. A. Backs Tournament; 1st Matches Next Week

The Women's Athletic Association is sponsoring a tennis tournament in which much interest is being shown. Anyone may enter, and the first match must be played before May 6. The following contestants will meet in the first matches: Margaret Pox vs. Mildred Walton; Katherine Hill vs. Betty Jane Rodenbeck; Virginia Babcock vs. Dorothy Showalter; Katherine Gammons vs. Rachel Gawthrop; Roberta Slifer vs. Marian Reber; "Polly" Brick vs. "Betty" Hukley; Martha Varner vs. Muriel Hoyle; Lois Baker vs. "Betty" Wilson; Ruth Schreiber vs. "Kay" Warden.

Bucknellians Are Honored

Bucknellians continue to appear in prominent places in the town's business. At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Lewisburg Gas Company, Dr. J. T. Judd, treasurer of the University, and Professor F. M. Simpson, of the Physics Department, were elected to the board of directors for the ensuing year. C. C. Lesher, Esq., an alumnus, was also chosen.

"Edward A. Irland Announcing"

A competent assistant to the Electrical Engineering Department was added on Monday when a son, Edward Allison, was born to Assistant Professor and Mrs. Irland.

Dr. Lester P. Fowle announced a fine little fellow who tipped the scales at seven and one half pounds. This is the second child with which the popular leader of WJBU.'s destiny has been blessed.

School of Nursing of Yale University
A Profession for the College Woman
Interested in the modern, scientific agencies of social service.
The twenty-eight months course, providing an intensive and varied experience through the case study method,
leads to the degree of
BACHELOR OF NURSING
Present student body includes graduates of leading colleges. Two or more years of approved college work required for admission. A few scholarships available for students with advanced qualifications.
The educational facilities of Yale University are open to qualified students.
For catalog and information address:
The Dean
The SCHOOL of NURSING of YALE UNIVERSITY
NEW HAVEN :: CONNECTICUT

The best is none too good when it comes to a gift for "Sweet-heart", Graduate or Bride.
That is why we invite you to see our stock of Diamonds, Rings, Clocks, Watches, Silverware etc.
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
Clarence A. Barbour, D. D., LL. D., President
THE CHURCH OF YESTERDAY
had its greatest influence when the "Parson" was the best educated man in his community.
THE CHURCH OF TOMORROW
can afford to accept as its leaders only those having the most complete professional training, including graduation from a standard college, and theological seminary.
Co-educational

HERE IT IS GENTLEMEN!
A complete line of Flannels for summer-wear
YOU'LL FIND EVERYTHING IN IT THAT'S NEW. ALL THE WANTED COLORS FOR SUMMER. ALL THE WANTED PATTERNS—FROM THE NEW, WIDE SPACED STRIPS TO THE OLD STAND-BY, PLAIN. A KALEIDOSCOPIC ARRAY, INDEED! DOWN-TO-THE-MINUTE TAILORING, TOO.
J. F. PROWANT CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—24—
"THERE IS NO NECESSITY FOR STRESSING THE IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING—YOUR OWN ADVERTISING. THE PEOPLE IN YOUR COMMUNITY WILL BUY PRODUCTS WHOSE NAMES ARE FAMILIAR AT STORES THEY KNOW. THAT APPLIES TO HATS AS WELL AS BUTTER, TALKING MACHINES, AND TOOTHPASTE. ADVERTISING IS THE DIRECT ROAD TO PROFITS. IT MEANS INCREASED CONFIDENCE IN YOUR STORE, INCREASED DEMAND FOR YOUR PRODUCTS, AND INCREASED SALES.
JOHN B. STETSON.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

GETTYSBURG PLAYS HERE SATURDAY IN RETURN CONTEST

Will Face Muhlenberg Nine This Afternoon in the Last Game Of Three Day Road Trip

After having battled the Lafayette baseball team at Easton yesterday afternoon, Coach Snavely's Bucknell diamond nine will face the Muhlenberg College team this afternoon at Allentown. Muhlenberg, like Lafayette, is a new opponent on the 1929 Bucknell baseball schedule.

Last spring the Allentown collegians went through the season undefeated, winning 14 consecutive contests. But last year they had the celebrated "Nick" Borelli, who joined the Philadelphia Athletics last winter. Borelli is now playing with Portland out on the Pacific coast.

However, it is expected that the Muhlenberg nine will furnish the visitors with plenty of opposition, as they have a hard hitting nine. "Lou" Jeffries, sophomore twirler, may draw the assignment to pitch today. In case Coach Snavely decides to have Jeffries, Linkfield will pitch and "Jeff" will be pitted against Schuylkill tomorrow at Reading.

Last spring Bucknell defeated Schuylkill in an eleven inning game at the stadium. The game was decided in favor of the Bisons when Captain "Mose" Quinn singled to score Hambacker from third base. Hambacker had led the inning off with a triple.

Gettysburg Here Saturday

The Bison tossers will return to the stadium from their three-day tour on Saturday, to engage the Gettysburg nine in the return game between the two teams. Two weeks ago, the Snavelymen lost a 7-3 decision to the battlefield warriors in a tussle that was staged in Gettysburg. In this game Halicki received ragged support from his teammates.

The Gettysburg game on Saturday will mark Bucknell's fourth game in four days.

DIAMOND DUST

By "Mac" McElligot

The familiar figure of Roy Bishop Albright, former Bucknellian, was one of the attractions at the Bucknell-Lebanon Valley game that was staged at the Memorial Stadium last Friday. Albright deserted Bucknell in favor of Lebanon Valley during the winter of 1927. He played with the Bucknell freshmen eleven during the 1926 campaign.

—O—

"Jap" as he is more familiarly known to his Bucknell friends, roomed with Charley Gelbert during his freshmen and sophomore years at the Annville institution. Baseball fans in the college know that Gelbert is now the regular shortstop for the St. Louis Cardinals of the National League. Gelbert deserted the college campus at Lebanon in February, 1928, to join the Rochester Red Wings of the International League. After a season in the minors Gelbert made the grade in the big show and is now holding down a regular berth with the National League champs.

—O—

Between innings, Albright talked extensively about Gelbert's athletic prowess while in college.

"Gelbert is one of the greatest fielding shortstops that I have ever seen in action," said Albright. "He can go far to either his right or left for hard hit balls. He is equipped with a powerful throwing arm. I am fully confident that Gelbert will remain in the select circle."

"Did you notice Wentz, our shortstop? Some say he is even a better fielding shortstop than was Gelbert, when the latter was in college. Wentz is slated to join Rochester in June after he receives his collegiate

Baby Bisons Drop 8-1 Game to Nittany Nine

Dutchak and Fry only Yearlings To Be Credited with a Hit

The Penn State freshmen baseball team triumphed over the Bison yearling nine last Saturday afternoon at State College, 8-1. The losers collected only three hits from the deliveries of Gates, rival moundsman.

Walter Dutchak, former Scranton Central High star, was the only "Baby Bison" who was able to solve Gates' offerings. The crack lead-off man contributed two of his team's three hits. In the fourth inning he drove out a screaming triple to left center. Again in the sixth "Dutch" singled to right for another safety.

Harry Fry, elongated Picture Rocks youth, was credited with the only other Bison bingle. His hit in the fourth inning scored Dutchak with the Bucknell team's only run.

Long started on the mound and pitched for six innings. He was succeeded by Young who finished the game. Both Young and Long were a trifle wild, each man granting four bases on balls. The winners were only able to collect four hits off the combined deliveries of the two Bison twirlers.

WHIPPED BY THE LION

The box score:
Bucknell Frosh	R	H	E
Dutchak, cf	1	2	0
Hinkle, lf	0	0	0
Fry, 1b	0	1	0
Mills, 3b	0	0	0
Trudenak, 2b	0	0	0
Shaw, c	0	0	0
Dunfee, ss	0	0	0
Hughes, rf	0	0	0
Glazier, rf	0	0	0
Long, p	0	0	0
Young, p	1	3	1
Totals	2	6	1
State Frosh	R	H	E
Smith, 2b	2	0	0
Hoapes, 3b	1	0	0
Helms, 1b	2	0	0
Lohr, ss	1	2	2
Riker, cf	1	2	0
Magnotta, lf	1	0	0
Deitrich, rf	0	0	0
Deturk, c	0	0	1
Gates, p	0	0	0
Totals	8	4	3

Score by innings:

Bucknell	000	100	000	—1
State Frosh	200	004	20x	—8

Three-base hits—Dutchak. Sacrifice hit.—Helms. Stolen bases—Fry, Dutchak, Gates, Hoapes. Struck out by Long (2); by Gates (9). Base on balls—off Long (4); off Young (4); off Gates (1). Losing pitcher—Long.

sheepskin. It was also Rochester that lured Gelbert last winter."

—O—

"Pottsville" Jones is in a miserably batting slump. He has collected only one safety in thirteen trips to the plate. And what is more, Jones hasn't been hitting the ball hard. He has trouble in getting the ball out of the infield. Right now his specialty is line drives to the catcher.

—O—

Halicki's feat of striking out 32 opposing batsmen in three games is quite a record for a college hurler. Despite the fact that he has been beaten twice, it was through no fault of his own. In the Gettysburg game his teammates made five errors behind him while last Friday seven misplays found their way into the Bucknell box score.

—O—

A rare pitcher's battle is promised if "Lou" Jeffries of Bucknell faces "Mike" Murburg of Lafayette in a game that will be played in Easton this week. Jeffries is the only Bucknell pitcher with an undefeated record. He defeated Mt. St. Mary's in a pitcher's battle two weeks ago, 1-0. Murburg is a fast ball pitcher and one of the best right handers in college ranks today. He recently scored a 5-2 victory over a hard hit-

W. and J. Racquet Wielders Whitewash Bison Netmen to Tune of 6-0 in Opener

A well drilled Washington and Jefferson tennis team vanquished the Bucknell netmen in the season's opener on Monday afternoon at the University courts. The visitors captured the five singles matches and also annexed the one doubles contest to win by the topheavy score of 6-0.

Even Captain George Frost, veteran of many collegiate court battles, was forced to bow to the superior prowess of his opponent. Bulen sent the winners away with a one point lead when he conquered Frost in a rather easy fashion. The first set resulted in a 6-1 win for Bulen while the W. and J. man decided the match by subduing his rival in the second set by a 6-3 margin.

Ramon DePillippo, Elmira's brilliant athlete, followed in the footsteps of his captain by surrendering to Boyd 6-2 and 7-5 after two hard battles. In the second set Boyd was extended to the very limit to win.

Harold Baker, the pride of Altoona, was next in line to fall before the prowess of a Washington and Jefferson rival. Baker, after losing the first set 6-4, came back to even accounts by winning the next set 7-5. However in the final set Baker lost out, 6-2.

Presidents Increase Lead

Washington and Jefferson made it 4-0 when Sanders defeated Welchons, 6-4 and 6-3. The Presidents increased their lead again after Dom had taken Wilkinson into camp by a decisive count of 6-3 and 6-0.

Playing for the doubles supremacy, Bulen and Boyd easily conquered Frost and Welchons, 6-3 and 6-3. The visiting pair was too good for ting N. Y. U. outfit, limiting the losers to five hits. Murburg prepared for Lafayette at Englewood, N. J. High School where he was a star in all sports.

—O—

Felix McCormick and "Bert" Ellor, relentless followers of golf, are considering an offer to enter a golfing tournament that will decide the championship of Milton. The two Bloomfield boys are expected to enter their names when the final chance is given.

Bucknell Track Team Will Oppose State

Bisons Seek to Avenge Defeats Of Past Years in 6th Meet

The Bucknell track team will open its 1929 season on Saturday at State College, engaging the Penn State cindermen in a dual meet. The meeting Saturday will be the sixth between the two institutions.

During the past five years the State track men have downed Bucknell five times. Last spring Coach Plant's men were defeated by a 115-20 score. It was in this meet that "Wally" Diehl and "Johnny" Farrow starred.

Dethl is gone but we still have Farrow, who is the captain of the track team this year. Farrow, who hails from Haddonfield, is best in the one and two mile runs. Other participants who will see action Saturday are Geddes Simpson, "Clem" Jablonski, "Red" Cragg, "Turk" Miller, "Bill" Mackie, and "Johnnie" Gittins.

Among Penn State's well known athletes who will be pitted against Bucknell are "Steve" Hamas, State's all-around star. Captain Cox and George Offenhauser.

Walters and Hurlburt, '30, To Manage Football Team

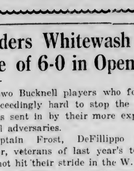
Bucknell University's 1929 football team will be managed by Lincoln Walters of Mount Carmel and James Hurlburt of Bridgeport, Conn., it was announced here this week by Prof. Benjamin Griffith, graduate manager of Athletics.

Both Hurlburt and Walters are members of the graduating class of 1930. The two men have worked for the managership since their freshmen year. Last fall they both acted in the capacity of assistant managers to Norman Benedict.

The two manager system was introduced at Bucknell by Prof. Griffith when he appointed both Hurlburt and Walters to guide the managerial destinies of the Thundering Herd.

If you think you are a success—you aren't. There must always be a larger goal ahead.—J. P. Fleishman.

TENNIS CAPTAIN



George Frost

J. engagement but indications are that when real hot weather sets in this trio will find themselves. Welchons and Wilkinson, new players, performed commendably but are not yet finished products. Summaries:

Bulen, W. and J. defeated Frost, Bucknell, 6-1, 6-3.

Boyd, W. and J. defeated DeFillippo, Bucknell, 6-2, 7-5.

Horan, W. and J. defeated Baker, Bucknell, 6-4, 5-7, 6-2.

Sanders, W. and J. defeated Welchons, Bucknell, 6-4, 6-3.

Dom, W. and J. defeated Wilkinson, Bucknell, 6-3, 6-0.

Doubles—Bulen and Boyd, W. and J. defeated Frost and Welchons, Bucknell, 6-3, 6-3.

TENNIS MATCH CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF RAIN

The tennis match scheduled for last Thursday between Bucknell and Franklin and Marshall was canceled because of rain. Ol' Jupe Pluvius unkindly intervened early in the afternoon, sending down enough water to make a tennis engagement for that day out of the question.

Some fast records have been made on the Primrose Path.—Baltimore Sun.

HALICKI PITCHES GREAT BALL ALTHO BISONS LOSE, 3-0

Fumbles at Crucial Stages Plus Weak Hitting Responsible for Lebanon Valley Defeat

Despite the brilliant pitching performance turned in by "Eddie" Halicki, the Bucknell baseball team dropped another decision last Friday afternoon at the Memorial Stadium, this time to the Lebanon Valley batsmen, who gained a 3-0 victory. The ragged fielding and weak hitting again cost the Bucknell nine a victory.

Halicki held the losers to three hits, which were scattered. Seven Bison errors figured in the scoring. The winners scored their first run in the fourth inning when Wentz scampered across the plate on Zappia's resolute single to left.

The visitors added two more tallies in the sixth, when Wentz and Remlige scored from third on two bad throws by Lobel. The losers never threatened to score, Zappia holding the opposition in check for nine innings.

Bucknell collected only two weak hits. Linkfield beat out a bounder to Wentz in the fourth after the latter had slipped in going ater the ball. James accounted for the only other Bison bingle when he opened the last half of the ninth frame with a hard drive to right field which Petrizio almost captured.

Halicki Fans Seven

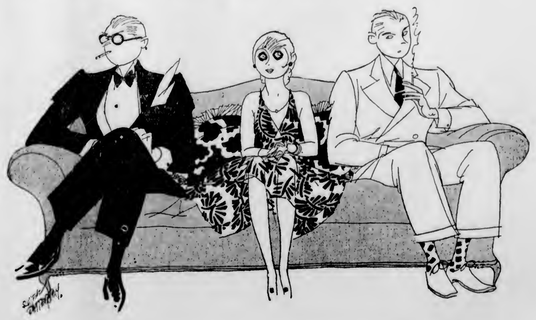
Halicki pitched great ball, striking out seven and issuing only one base on balls. In three games now Halicki has fanned 32 opposing stickmen.

Major Kostik and Johnny Linkfield furnished the fielding features of the game by making spectacular catches afield. Linkfield turned his brilliant catch into a double play by tossing the ball to "Pottsville" Jones at first thereby retiring the base runner who had ventured too far off the sack.

"Pottsville" Jones, playing his first game at the initial sack, startled the crowd by making a pair of errors. One of these misplays came when he mussed up an easy grounder.

(Continued on last page.)

Beautiful but dumb



We are reliably informed that the above familiar phrase is applied mainly to certain poor dears in whom all the pituitary runs to pulchritude. A gargoyle is "int'restin'", at least. Better pick 'em freckled and friendly than lovely but lacking.

And getting our minds back on business . . . innocuous, unmitigated mildness rather palls in a cigarette, too.

Chesterfields are mild, certainly—but "aren't they all"? The point is that Chesterfields are also "int'restin'". They satisfy—and right there is why they gather in the gang.

Taste—the taste and richness of quality tobaccos—that's what matters. And the blend can't be copied; you know you are smoking a Chesterfield, nothing else, at every puff.

CHESTERFIELD

MILD *enough for anybody..and yet..*THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Union National Bank

LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Keep your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI

Charles M. Morris, '31

The informal "Sem" dance held at the chapter house last Saturday went off very quietly, so characteristic of Phi Psi dances.

Mr. Graham Mazeine, who has been known to frequent the Beta house at Colgate, came home for his bi-monthly five day week-end. The Odd Fellows Parade was not the attraction, however.

Mr. Thomas W. Elcher and Mr. Foster Wakefield, D. U's. from State, were again our welcome guests over last week-end.

Mr. Boyd and Mr. Stuart, Betas from W. and J., members of the W. and J. tennis team, visited the house Sunday evening, prior to their encounter with the Bison racqueteers, Monday afternoon.

Brother Hoffman, whose Victor Recording Orchestra played for the Junior Prom at Indiana State Normal last Saturday evening, should have been a plumber. The forgetting of his trumpet when he plays out of town waxes consistent.

The usual conclusion must for the second week in succession be withheld due to the fact that pledge brother Ellenberger did not spend the week-end in Harrisburg.

SIGMA CHI

Thomas MacLeod, '31

Kappa chapter is proud to announce the pledging of Harry Sacks, '32, and Major Kozik, '31. We expect big things of these men.

Mr. and Mrs. Creighton Konkle spent the week-end at the house visiting their son, Allan.

Brothers "Tony" Kostos, "Ollie" Miller, and "Line" Walter spent the week-end at their homes in Mount Carmel.

The old-standbys, "Doc" Speare, "Doc" Gearhart, "Cliff" Reimer, and Albert Johnson spent Sunday afternoon at the house.

If anyone driving a car towards Montoursville is hailed for a ride by a smooth-looking article, please give him a life—its brother Rosendale, the habitual commuter.

Saturday was clean-up day at the house. Brother "Tip" Woodring headed a brush-wielding squad that gave the exterior a good going over, while brother Harry Walter headed the shrubbery planting crew.

KAPPA SIGMA

M. W. Edwards, '30

We were all very glad to hear that brother Williams won first place in the district Oratorical Contest held at Lebanon Valley College last Saturday.

Brother Bianchi was a guest of pledge brother Hepler at his home in Williamsport last week-end.

Pledge "Lindy" Carleton spent Saturday and Sunday at his home in Pennsgrove.

Brother Hepler, '30, was one of the thirty thousand present at the Penn Relays Saturday. He passed Sunday with his parents in Glenside.

Brother Meadowcroft was a guest at a house party at Elmira State Teachers' College last week-end.

Pledge McMurray paid a visit to his home in Williamsport Saturday and Sunday.

Several brothers from the Penn State chapter were guests at the house over the week-end.

Brother Cook reports an enjoyable time spent at Doctor Davis' cabin last week.

DELTA SIGMA

Philip G. Murray, '29

The annual Parents' Day celebration was observed at the house Sunday, April 28, with all due pomp and ceremony. An elaborate dinner was served to our folks at 1 p. m. Following this an informal program was rendered in the living room. The boys entertained with various school and fraternity songs after which the mothers were escorted through the new women's dormitory, while the men folks repaired to the engineering building where a tour of observation was conducted through the kindness and courtesy of Professor Burpee.

Those present were Mrs. H. G. Fessler, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Winner, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hill, Mrs. Chas. Knight, all of Williamsport, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Snyder of Slatington, Professor and Mrs. Frank Simpson and daughter Helen, Rev. and Mrs. Dice of Lewisburg, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. VanTuyl and daughter, Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. Garrison, of New York City, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wadsworth of McGraw, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. C. Marston of Harrisburg, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Smith and daughter, Marie, of Englewood, N. J., Mr. and Mrs. W. R. De Lancey of Phillipsburg, Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Pederson and daughter Evelyn, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Murray, of Staten Island, N. Y.

The Demies are glad to have had so many of the parents as guests for the gala occasion, and sincerely hope that those who found it impossible to be present this year will find the opportunity at some future date to attend the biggest and best event on our social calendar.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA

D. Rodger Davis, '32

Delta Zeta had the pleasure of entertaining last week, four brothers of Alpha-Theta, Zeta chapter of F. and M., all of whom are members of the varsity tennis team. We were glad to find that we were so well represented down at F. and M.

Brother "Rick" Rickenburg, '21, of Patterson, N. J., visited the house last Friday.

"Don" Lewis and friend, Kappa Sigs from Penn State, spent a few hours with "Bucky" Harris last Saturday.

Brothers Zuzinski and Barton spent last week-end at their homes at Nanticoke and Bloomsburg.

Assistant Professor M. F. Nimkoff was a dinner guest at the house last Wednesday.

Brother "Louie" Feit of Pittsburg, '28, visited the house Sunday.

Brother H. W. Weaver, '14, of Pittsburgh was able to stop in at the house for a few hours, Sunday.

Brother Dr. Palmer, '23, who is just completing his internship at a hospital in Patterson, N. J., spent a few hours at the house last Saturday evening.

Pledge brothers Cummings and Mills remained at Penn State after the game last Saturday, where they spent the rest of the week-end at the Zeta, Zeta chapter there.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA

Henry M. Graham, '31

Theta U. announces with pleasure the pledging of Robert J. Crothamel, '32, of Lincoln Park, N. J.

The coming of hell week brings varied amusements and free cigarettes to the actives of T. U. O.

Prof. and Mrs. H. L. Childs were guests of T. U. O. for dinner last Sunday.

Donald L. Brubaker, '29, spent last week-end in Altoona.

Guests of T. U. O. last week-end included brother Vincent W. McHall, '28, John Zlumerfelt of Picture Rocks and Ken Housechild and Lewis Tyron of Union City, N. J.

BETA KAPPA

"Jack" Crittenden, '31

Eta chapter takes great pleasure in announcing the initiation into active membership of Stanley B. Dietrich, '31. Stan is from Norristown, and is taking the A. B. course.

The crew that spent most of Saturday night in Bloomsburg report a rousing reception and a hot dance. One member however, says he was "hooked." Ask "Had" about it.

The house party plans are rapidly nearing completion. The house party function will be held June 1 and 3. Brother Lare and his assistants predict a wonderful time.

Brother Benford, '30, and pledge brother Welchans were seen picking wild flowers late Friday night, near the stadium. Why they had their car we cannot guess!

Among the guests last week-end were brother "Dick" Carvolth, '23, "Phil" Keller, a Lambda Chi from Colgate, brother E. D. Carstater, '26, and brother "Phil" Campbell, '23.

Pledge brothers Lazzari and Wilson promise to be here this week-end, despite the great urge in Bloomsburg.

Brothers "Mooch" Huffman, '30, and "Nye" Tate, '29, were conspicuous by their absence this last week-end.

DELTA DELTA DELTA

"Betty" Fries, '31

On Saturday morning, April 27, Tau chapter held her annual Founders' Day breakfast at Red Rock.

Saturday afternoon, April 27 the pledges gave a tea-dance for the actives in the play-room of the new dormitory. "Red" Hitchens' orchestra furnished the music, and Mrs. Beatty and Mrs. Little chaperoned.

Tau chapter is glad to welcome into active membership, "Betty" Tanger, '31, and Marion Reese, '31, who were initiated Monday evening, April 29.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Margaret B. Erb, '31

Eta's plans for her annual Mother's Day celebration which comes Saturday and Sunday, May 4 and 5, are well under way. The week-end festivities are to open Saturday noon with luncheon at the Seminary dining room. In the afternoon a tea is to be held in the parlors of the new dormitory. Saturday evening, an informal banquet at the "May-Mar" is scheduled. Sunday morning there is to be a breakfast in the suite. Dinner at the Seminary at noon and our usual Sunday afternoon tea in the suite will bring the week-end to a close.

Congratulations are extended to Emilie Maxwell, '30, on her bid to Theta Alpha Phi.

Phoebe Ann Bloomfield, '27, paid us a flying visit accomplishing quite a bit in the short time she was with us.

PHI MU

Bertha L. Gaventa, '30

"Betty" June McHose, '29, spent the week-end of April 27 at the home of Grace Shaum, '30, in Sunbury.

"Floss" Utt, '26, visited the chapter on April 27.

"Frennie" Saul, '29, spent the recent week-end in Harrisburg.

On Friday evening, May 3, the chapter will hold its annual Mothers' banquet at the Manufacturers' Club in Milton.

ZETA GAMMA TAU

Constance Hulick, '31

"Agony" Clark, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Carbondale. Perhaps it would be better to say she spent the time going and coming.

Nan Lee Thomas, '30, drove to Edwardsville Sunday to say "hello" to her family.

"Dot" Robertson, '31, accompanied Naomi Brace, '29, on her weekly visit to Treverton.

PHI KAPPA

J. M. Paige, '32

"Tony" Bowman, of Carnegie Tech, was a Phi Kappa guest over the week-end.

E. Spadafora, '32, entertained some friends from Rome, N. Y., at the house Sunday.

"Ray" Wolsiegal, '32, journeyed to Oswego, N. Y., and spent the week-end with his parents.

"Slim" Mezza, '32, returned to school Tuesday. He had been called home on business.

Zoologists Collect Amphibia from Ponds

Eight zoologists, under the direction of Prof. Norman H. Stewart, started for the mountains in search of adventure, Saturday noon, April 13. Their first findings were in a pond by the side of the road, from which they obtained a large number of lively newts, small lizard-like creatures, their sides spotted with red.

The next stop was made at a cabin half way up the mountain. Here the hungry hikers ate their lunch, after which they made a careful search under stones and logs for salamanders. But the real destination of the party was a small pond still farther up the mountain. While some looked along the edges, others, equipped with hip boots and nets, waded into the water and added to their collection frogs' and salamanders' eggs and hundreds of little tadpoles. It was with reluctance that the hikers finally left this interesting spot and turned toward home.

The day was ideal for a field trip. The colors of spring were everywhere, and especially were the delicate green of new leaves and snowy white of wild cherry blossoms lovely on the hillsides. Every now and then a bluebird, robin, or flicker could be seen, and the cheery notes of the song sparrow sounded continually from the roadside.

Sittig Trio Performs

The Sittig Trio, consisting of a pianist, violinist, and cellist, while filling a return engagement to New York, was the final number in the Star Course of Susquehanna University.

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS

BUCKNELL— CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your cooperation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:

Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:

M.....

.....

.....

M.....

.....

.....

(Signed).....

Bisons Bow 9 to 7 To Lafayette Nine

Paul Srellenburger's home run in the eighth inning that scored "Vince" Chimenti ahead of him enabled the the Lafayette baseball team to vanquish Bucknell 9-7 at Easton yesterday afternoon. The tussle was a hard hitting affair, the Bisons outhitting the undefeated Leopards 13 bingles to 10.

Archie Seller, in his first appearance as a varsity player this season drove out a long home run that figured in the scoring. Ammerman led the batting attack for the Bison team with three solid blows in four trips to the plate.

Captain "Chuck" Jones, "Pottsville" Jones, James, and Halicki each drove out a pair of safeties. Ammerman and James contributed doubles. The Bucknell team played errorless ball afield.

"Eddie" Halicki started on the mound for the losers and went the entire route. Extra base hits by Thompson and Shellenbarger brought about his defeat. Halicki struck out five hostile batters while he was unusually wild issuing seven base on balls.

Campus Nine Vanquishes Phi Kappas-Score, 7-5

The Campus Nine baseball team fought its way back into the running for premier honors last Tuesday evening at Loomis Field when it vanquished the Phi Kappas in a hard fought battle, 7-5. A six-run rally in the second inning provided the winners with enough tallies to win.

Harlan Yust, made an impressive debut with the Campus team by capturing the batting honors of the evening. In four trips to the plate Yust drove out three sizzling singles. He drove in two runs and scored one himself. The former University of Rochester student caught a fine game, handling the deliveries of both Lepore and LaFerrara like a veteran.

Johnnie Klepper furnished the only boundary belt of the tussle when he drove out a home run with two men on the sacks in the second chapter. Herman Stoddard was on the mound for the losers and was opposed by LaFerrara and Lepore. LaFerrara twirled the first five innings and was relieved by Lepore in the sixth. However, the Trenton boy received credit for the victory.

Four Freshmen Speak in Declamation Contest

The finals for men in the Freshman Declamation Contest were held Tuesday in the regular first year chapel in Bucknell Hall when David J. Davis, F. Arthur Guldin, and Francis E. Walker gave their selections. The three women in the contest were heard last Tuesday, April 23. The winner from this combined group of six will be announced at Commencement.

Mr. Davis, the first to speak, gave "I Am an American," by Elias Lieberman. Mr. Guldin delivered "The Spartan to the Gladiators," by Elijah Kellogg. Mr. Walker recited "The Highwayman," by Alfred Noyes. The audience was enthusiastic in its reception of all three, applauding each speaker vigorously.

"SIGS" WIN AS B. K. AND A. X. M. TIE

The Sigma Chi baseball team established a new interfraternity record for scoring on Monday evening when they swamped the Lambda Chis under an avalanche of hits and runs. The final score was 34-0. The game went five innings and then was called on account of darkness. Outstanding in the "Sig" triumph was William "Mutt" Convery. The Perth Amboy lad ran wild to drive out five or six long hits in addition to playing sensationally afield.

On Tuesday evening the Beta Kappas and the Alpha Chi Mus played a nine inning scoreless tie on Loomis Field. Both aggregations exhibited airtight fielding but were woefully weak with the stick.

B. U. COACHES PADDLED INTO DRUID MEMBERSHIP

Three coaches together with thirteen freshmen were introduced to the intricacies of the unadorned paddle, and were acquainted with the secrets of the Druids at that organization's regular initiation held recently. Coaches Plant, Snavely, and Musser should now be able to tell anyone of the hardships endured in the course of being duly enrolled as a member of theDruids, a sophomore honorary fraternity.

I saw two boys a'hailing,
A'hailing to a car,
And saw their hopes a'failing,
When the car drove on too far.

Mr. Crowther Speaks To Economic Classes

Mr. Crowther, a senior member of an accounting firm, spoke to Prof. E. M. Heim's classes in accounting on April 26. His subject was, "Opportunities in Accounting." The talk was brief but to the point. He stressed the fact that a student should not contemplate entering the field of accounting unless he was inclined that way. "Our vocations are determined by our inclinations," were his exact words. Accounting has become a profession and is very necessary to modern business. Mr. Crowther listed some of the qualifications for a prospective candidate; briefly, they are:

1. An appreciation for the necessity of accounting.
2. Natural aptitude.
3. Ability to analyze, and a respect for mathematical exactness.
4. A distinctive personality and the faculty of observation.

The speaker also emphasized the need of a thorough education in the fundamentals and practice of the work.

Mr. Crowther advised those who plan to enter this field of work to do two things: namely, round out your experience by being a "rolling stone" for a few years; and to budget your time. One may lose a little money by being a "rolling stone," but it will be regained in later years because of the broader experience and greater ability." While you are "rolling" you must be wise and stick to the main track, which in this case is accounting.

B. U. PURCHASES LAND FOR 18-HOLE GOLF COURS

(Continued from page 1)

became intensely interested and immediately undertook to take charge of the engineering details of the project. He promptly made a drawing of the tract lying about the stadium. Through the kind offices of O. R. Howard Thomson, Esq., librarian of the Brown Memorial Library, Williamsport, and Mr. Joseph Fleming, physical director of the Williamsport Y. M. C. A., a complete drawing of a nine hole course for that tract was made.

Now, with the acquisition of the larger area, the original plans have been shelved, and a completely new drawing, calling for an eighteen hole course, is being prepared.

It is hoped that a full and complete drawing of the proposed course and a completely formulated tentative plan of organization soon will be ready for study. Professore Warfel, MacCreadie, and Matz are the faculty committee laying plans for this project.

A fair co-ed she made some tarts,
All on a summer's day.
A friend of hers, he ate one tart,
And threw the rest away.

DEAN MAKES STUDY OF CO-ED WITHDRAWALS

(Continued from Page 1)

dents before their graduation from these colleges.

Loss of 20 to 50 Percent

She finds that we are losing from 20 to 50 percent of the women students since 1925, taking into account only the senior class. Miss Pope has 650 case studies from which it is hoped that some light will be thrown upon this problem.

There are several issues of this problem in which Miss Pope is interested. She finds that social background has very little effect upon this problem. Girls from humble homes have as great an opportunity to progress in college as those from wealthy backgrounds. College living conditions are an issue. The fact that the college system produces cooperation among the students or retards this cooperation is a vital factor.

Are Town Girls Handicapped

Miss Pope is interested in finding out whether the student is better when far away from home, and if town girls are handicapped. One of her problems is to compare college grades with high school grades, and the results of college intelligence tests with the results of high school intelligence tests.

One of the most significant facts which Miss Pope has discovered in her research work is that very few girls leave school on account of a breakdown in health. Many drop out because of financial reasons, and occasionally a change in the home circumstances, or different interests formed through vocational guidance cause withdrawal. In the Baptist colleges visited by Miss Pope, she has discovered that those who are asked to leave are few in comparison with those of State Universities. It is very difficult to discover the real reason of withdrawal.

Presidents Show Interest

College presidents are intensely interested in this problem. If the real causes are discussed, some means may be arranged to prevent this gradual increase of withdrawals. It appears that in the colleges which have strict admission requirements, there are very few withdrawals.

Miss Pope's conclusions are at present tentative, but it is hoped that her research work will prove very beneficial to colleges which are troubled with this problem.

"At Bucknell," said Miss Pope, "I have found an intense loyalty, and I particularly appreciate the cooperation which the Women's Senior Committee has given me."

M. J. SHIPMAN WINS HONORS FOR ACTING

(Continued from Page 1)

sidered the best by the directors, who also acted as judges, each director judging every play but his own.

The prize, consisting of the beautiful bronze Samuel French Trophy and a huge loving cup, was competed for by six Pennsylvania colleges. The colleges competing were Franklin and Marshall, Penn State, Grove City, Juniata, St. Joseph's and Bucknell.

The loving cup becomes the permanent property of the winners, but the Samuel French Trophy must be won three times before it becomes permanent property.

The Bucknell players made the trip to Gettysburg by machine, and were accompanied by Prof. and Mrs. W. C. Smith.

HALICKI HURLS GREAT BALL AS BISONS LOSE

(Continued from Page 6.)

ERRORS PROVE COSTLY

The line-up:

Lehanon Valley	R	H	O	A	E
Albright, cf	0	0	0	0	0
Petrizio, rf	0	0	3	1	0
Wentz, ss	2	0	5	2	1
Bendigo, c	1	1	5	0	0
Zappia, p	0	1	0	3	0
Pielli, lf	0	0	2	0	0
Disney, 2b	0	0	3	5	0
Jacks, 3b	0	1	0	3	0
Dennis, 1b	0	0	9	0	1
Totals	3	3	27	14	2

Bucknell	R	H	O	A	E
James, cf	0	1	1	0	0
Lobel, 3b	0	0	1	2	2
Brumbaugh, 2b	0	0	3	2	2
C. Jones, ss	0	0	1	1	0
Halicki, p	0	0	0	3	0
Kozik, lf	0	0	1	0	0
T. Jones 1b	0	0	11	0	2
Linkfield, rf	0	1	2	2	1
Slate, c	0	0	7	0	0
Totals	0	2	27	10	7

Double plays—Linkfield to T. Jones.; Disney to Wentz to Denis. Hits—off Zappia 0; off Halicki 3. Struck out—by Zappia 5; by Halicki 7. Umpire—Mackert. Time—2.05.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

BOSTONIANS—Famous Shoes for Men

Two Million Men Prefer Them
Priced from $7.50 to $9.00
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

Many of the best stories of College Life are told in pictures.
DONEHOWER, The Athletic Outfitter,
presents the best line of Kodaks in Lewisburg. His developing is good and service prompt.
Films at Donehower's are always fresh.

STEININGER'S CAFE
A Good Place to Eat
GOOD FOOD

WAINIES

HERE IT IS!!
Your Life Insurance Problem Solved!
AMOUNT - - - - - - - - $10,000.00
ANNUAL COST - $102.90 (age 21 assumed)
Policy covers for $20,000 in case of accidental death and $100 per month for disability or sickness. This policy is selling fast. Get yours now and enjoy maximum protection at minimum cost. Write or call 309 Danville and our special representative will be at your service.
Philadelphia Life Insurance Co.,
DANVILLE, PA.

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON
LAST TIME TODAY WITH VITAPHONE
Beautiful BILLIE DOVE in Another Exotic Drama—"ADORATION"
TOMORROW AND SATURDAY, MAY 3-4
100% ALL TALKING Paramount Picture.
"THE WOLF OF WALL STREET"
With GEORGE BANCROFT
Supporting Cast: NANCY CARROLL, BACLANOVA and PAUL LUKAS
NOTE: Guaranteed the Best All Talking Picture.
NEXT MONDAY AND TUESDAY, MAY 6-7
The Picture that packed them in on Broadway for Months.
—HERE AT LAST!—
"THE TRAIL OF 98"
With Marvelous Synchronized Music and Sound Effects.
With DOLORES DEL RIO, RALPH FORBES, and KARL DANE
WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY, MAY 9-10
Another Paramount—100% ALL TALKING.
"THE LETTER"
Note Our Prices Always—Including Saturday and Holidays.
Matinees— 2:30: 15c and 30c.
Evenings—7:00 and 9:00: 15c, 25c, 30c

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diploma.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all Kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

FOUNTAIN PEN SALE
The Triangle Stationary Store of the College Inn has decided to concentrate on one or two brands of fountain pens. By convincing facts brought to our attention, we have been converted to that idea. Not less variety of pens but more will result, because each of the several fountain pen companies manufacture a complete line in all prices, styles, and pen points. To scatter our buying overloads our stock and fails to give a complete variety. We are frankly long on pens and short on cash. We are going into reverse with large benefits accruing to our customers...From now on until the end of the school year, we will sell all our standard Chilton pens at 25% below list prices. Chilton pens are noted especially for their large ink capacity. Our Sheaffer and Parker line will be continued on sale at regular prices.
$7.00 Chilton pens reduced to $5.25.
$5.00 Chilton pens reduced to $3.75.
$3.00 Chilton pens reduced to $2.25.
$5.00 Chilton pens reduced to $3.75.
"ON THE QUADRANGLE"

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC. LEWISBURG, PA.

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1929. NUMBER 30

DON'T FORGET MOTHER! SEND A GREETING ON MOTHERS' DAY

TAKE YOUR PARENTS TO THE NEW DORM ON SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Prof. H. L. Childs To Give Course On Goverment

University Plans An Extension Course To Be Held Next Year At Harrisburg

SERIES OF LECTURES WILL BE PRESENTED

Bucknell University will conduct an extension course on Pennsylvania State Government in the Senate Caucus room at Harrisburg from October 1929 to February 1930, according to an announcement made here today.

The Department of Political Science at Bucknell is offering this course for the first time through the generous cooperation of prominent governmental officials. The work of the course will be under the general direction of Professor Harwood L. Childs, head of the Political Science Department.

Lectures To Be Given

In connection with the work of the course a series of lectures dealing with the organization, functions, and current activities of the several governmental departments will be presented. In addition to the lectures the course will also consist of class discussions and reports on textbook assignments and collateral readings.

Any person who can fulfill the entrance requirements of Bucknell University and who desires to attend the lectures and pursue the complete

(Continued on page 5)

Men's Glee Club Ends Season With Banquet

C. W. Frampton, '31, Will Be Installed As President

The men's glee club will bring a very successful season to a fitting close next Thursday evening when its members will enjoy the annual banquet to be held at the Manufacturer's Club of Milton. Officers for the 1929-30 season, elected last week will be installed on this occasion.

The new officers are: president, C. W. Frampton, '31; vice president, K. A. Haynes, '31; secretary, G. A. Streitz, '31; and manager, H. O. Benford, '30.

The club took two major trips this year and participated in the intercollegiate contest in Pittsburgh, besides many overnight trips to nearby towns. The reception accorded them has been unusually pleasing wherever they have performed and Director Ralph F. Hartz said he considered the past season by far the most successful the club has had.

A trip to Lock Haven on Tuesday evening and one to Bloomsburg on May 2, concluded the activities for the year.

Saturday is the Last Day For Students to Register

Registration for those students who have filed their choices of majors and minors will close Saturday noon, according to word received from the Registrar's office today.

Such students have been requested to report to the heads of their major departments at regular office hours and fill out with him the trial registration blank. The trial registration blank will be left with the department head until next September.

The present registration is merely a preliminary registration and will be completed in the fall with the large registration cards are filled out. Monday and Tuesday, September 16 and 17, are the days set aside for fall registration. School will open Wednesday, September 18.

All student registration will be held in Tustin Gymnasium next fall. Under this new plan whereby 20 faculty members are taking care of the preliminary registration it is believed that the work can be accomplished in a much shorter time.

Sunday is Day Set To Welcome Mothers

Women's Staff, House Mothers To Greet Students' Parents

The Administration Group of the Women's College and the House Mothers of the Men's fraternities will be at home to parents of Bucknell students who may be in town for Mothers' Day, May 12, from three to five o'clock, in the living-room of the new dormitory. All students are cordially invited to bring their parents. This will be an informal gathering and will afford opportunity for friendly exchange.

Mothers' Day this year marks the first time for such a custom to be observed here, and the hostesses are anxious to meet as many parents as possible.

It is hoped that in the near future the entire college may meet in reunion on a day set aside by the students and faculty as a Mothers' Day. This day need not be the day set aside as Mothers' Day in the calendar, but may be one which will be most convenient to the faculty and student body.

Views of Old Main May be Obtained from Registrar

Approximately 200 framed pictures of Old Main were sent out by Registrar H. W. Holter this week to various high schools in Pennsylvania and neighboring states.

The pictures, which are in colors, were taken from this and last year's Calendars. They are 11 inches by 14 inches and make very attractive gifts. Students may obtain a limited number of these pictures for $1.25 at the Registrar's office.

No College Paper Has Broken New Ground Says Mr. Beamish at I. N. A. Convention

"No college newspaper has broken new ground, but all are fair imitations of the commercial newspaper." Such was the comment made by Richard Beamish, assistant editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, in addressing the delegates to the annual spring convention of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States which was held at Muhlenberg and Cedar Crest Colleges, May 3, 4, and 5.

Cites Tabloid Papers

Mr. Beamish cited the New York Telegraph, and the tabloid newspaper as examples of papers which had broken away from the ordinary run of commercial papers. "You follow us far too closely, and often we are a bad example." He emphasized the position of the reporter on the staff, for the "literature of tomorrow will follow the reporting of today."

Other speakers were Prof. Anthony Corbiere, faculty advisor of the Muhlenberg Weekly, and Dr. W. F. Curtis, president of Cedar Crest College. L. Earle Winters of Muhlenberg, and convention manager, was toastmaster. Prof. J. M. Lee of New York University was unable to be present.

This convention marked the tenth anniversary of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of the Middle Atlantic States which was formed in May, ten years ago at Swarthmore College. Bucknell was one of the charter members of the association. The convention was called to order Friday afternoon in Muhlenberg Chapel, where an address of welcome was given by Dr. J. W. Haas, president of Muhlenberg College. Following roll call and a business session representatives from the various papers gave reports of their problems and achievements during the past semester. Bucknell was forced to announce the failure of the rotogravure section started in the fall, and explained the opposition offered by national advertisers to the project.

Mr. Angel, editor of the University Hatchet of George Washington University was elected president of the association for the coming year, and L. Earle Winters of Muhlenberg was chosen vice president. According to the constitution the business manager of the George Washington paper automatically becomes secretary-treasurer of the association. At the business session on Saturday three new papers were admitted: The Polytechnic Reporter, the Drexel Triangle, and the Schuylkill News.

It was announced that the fall convention will be held at George Washington University.

Orange and Blue Warriors Tackle Banquet; Formulate Plans for Varsity "B" Club

Both Faculty and Varsity Athletes Enthusiastically Endorse Plan To Have Wearers of Varsity Insignia Firmly Banded; Graduate Athletes Urged to Become Members

Seventy sturdy sons of Old Bucknell met at the Cameron House on Monday evening, to partake of a good dinner, and to discuss the matter of forming a "B" Club. From President Emory W. Hunt, down to the newest freshmen rookies, those who take an active interest in athletics at Bucknell were gathered around the festive board.

Next to the President, who sat at the head of the speakers' table, was Professor James P. Whyte, and at this table, also, were Dean R. H. Rivenburg, Professors F. G. Ballentine, B. W. Griffith, and L. E. Theiss. Representing the coaching staff of the college were Coaches John Plant and Carl Snavely. The press was represented by Mr. Penn Hastings, of the Milton Standard and Mr. Chas. Smith, of the Lewisburg Journal. The Athletic Council was represented by Mr. R. W. Thompson. Alumni Secretary A. G. Stoughton was also present.

"Prexy" Sanctions the Idea

When the cake and ice cream had been tucked away and everybody was feeling good, President Hunt started the oratorical fireworks. He expressed his hearty approval of the movement to form a "B" Club and so add the power of sentiment to that of athletic tradition. Professor James P. Whyte spoke at considerable length about athletics and urged that men of a "B" Club should be more, do more, and know more. Dean Rivenburg was called upon for a few words, by Professor B. W. Griffith, who acted as master of ceremonies, and the coaches also were asked to speak briefly.

The project to form a "B" Club is not new at Bucknell, but this is the first time any real effort has been made to bring the thing about. When the football men played their practice game recently on the campus, at the end of the spring practice period, it was understood that the losers were to dine the winners. The game, however, ended in a tie. Professor B. W. Griffith, graduate manager of athletics, solved the puzzle by having the Athletic Council give the dinner.

Retaining Former Athletes

The thought behind the formation of a "B" Club is the idea of building up a tradition that shall bind Bucknell athletes the more closely to their Alma Mater and that shall give additional prestige and significance to the wearing of the varsity insignia. If such a club is formed, an effort will be made to induce as many graduate varsity men as possible to affiliate with the organization. Annual get-togethers would be held, like Monday night's dinner, at which the older men would pass down to the younger the traditions of track and field.

Prof. Leo Rockwell Conducts Conference

Modern Language Association To Convene Here In Fall

Professor Leo L. Rockwell, head of the German Department at Bucknell University, returned this week from Harrisburg where he attended the spring meeting of the Council of the Pennsylvania State Modern Language Association, of which he is president.

The Council is composed of representatives from Penn State, Dickinson, University of Pittsburgh, Shippensburg State Teachers College, Bucknell, South Hills High School, of Pittsburgh, and the William Penn and John Harris High Schools, of Harrisburg.

The association was organized ten years ago and has been constantly growing. This year it was admitted to representation in the executive council of the National Federation of Modern Language Associations.

At the recent conference held in the State Education Association Building at Harrisburg the future policy of the organization was discussed along with ways and means for improving modern language teaching in the state.

The association through its bulletin which appears four times a year and through its endeavor to raise professional standards is serving the cause of modern language teaching and modern language teachers.

The next council meeting will probably be held at Bucknell on Homecoming Day next fall in connection with the annual Educational Conference.

Miss Coe to Study At Columbia Univ.

The Bucknell School of Music will lose next fall, Miss Lulu Edna Coe, Mus. B., A. B., who is leaving Bucknell in order to take graduate work at Columbia University toward the degree of Master of Arts.

Miss Coe is a graduate of Linfield College, McMennville, Oregon, and the Eastman School of Music, and has been instructor in piano at Bucknell for five years. Besides being connected with the School of Music, Miss Coe has been acting Dean of women during the Summer Sessions since she has been at Bucknell. She will return to Bucknell this following summer to act in her accustomed capacity as Dean of Women during the sessions of the Bucknell Summer School.

L'Agenda for 1930 Ready in Two Weeks

Numerous Changes Are Made In Style and Arrangement

The Bucknell L'Agenda of 1930, which is to contain many original features will be ready for distribution in about two weeks.

The year book is to have an art feature of the figures of bisons, and is to be bound in brown leather with a bison head embossed in gold on the upper left corner of the front cover.

There are to be no individual write-ups for the juniors with the exception of a list of their campus activities. Six individual pictures of juniors will be put on each page; three along the top of the page and three along the bottom, with the activities listed in the center of the page.

The pictures of the campus are to be finished in the "duo-color" process which unifies the scenes portrayed. The book as a whole represents a great deal of individual work by the editor-in-chief, Wilbur Wentz, and the business manager, Donald Kammire.

Reports on Original Research Scheduled

Reports on original research by biological students will feature the final meeting of the Biological Society, in B6, next Wednesday evening at 7:30. At this time the society will elect its officers for next year.

"What is Cephanomyia?" will be the title of a report by Prof. N. H. Stewart. President G. W. Simpson, '29, will speak on the Buffalo Creek Survey. "A New Salamander" will be the subject of a talk by Chas. Mohr, '30. All three of these reports were made at the Pennsylvania Academy of Science meetings at State

"The Birds of the Montandon Marsh" will be reviewed by M. B. Henry, '30. Beulah Lesher, '30, will explain heredity in Drosophila. "The Smallest Amphibian of North America" will be the topic of a report by Alta Vosburg, '29. The meeting will be open to everyone.

MRS. HARRY R. WARFEL UNDERGOES OPERATION

Mrs. Harry R. Warfel, wife of Assistant Professor H. R. Warfel, of Brown street, is a patient in the Geisinger Memorial Hospital at Danville where she underwent an operation Tuesday for the removal of her tonsils.

Education Club

The Bucknell Education Club will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in Biology 6. The members of the club will have the pleasure of hearing a talk by Carroll R. Champlin, who will speak on "The Radiant Teacher."

Operetta is Planned For Annual Festival

May Queen Choice Still Mystery; To Be Announced May 18

Co-eds are rushing to and fro at the "Sem" these days with more than their usual "vim and vigor." "Semites" who are not hurrying to committee meetings or dance rehearsals are stitching gay-colored materials that will eventually be transformed into picturesque costumes. And all because May Day, the most important of all annual events in which the co-eds take the leading role, will be held Saturday afternoon, May 18, at 3 o'clock.

Plans for the fifteenth annual May Day fete at Bucknell, to be given under the direction of Miss Alma M. Ebeling, director of physical education for women, have been practically completed. The portion of the men's campus at the foot of the Hill opposite Bucknell Hall, stretching from the monument to the "Chem" building will serve as the background for the affair.

"Marenka" to be Presented

The operetta "Marenka," by Era Betzner, will be presented in honor of the May Queen. The leading parts will be taken by Ruth James, '32, Frances Weibel, '31, Ruth Evans, '30, and Bettina Buckman, '32. Approximately 50 girls will take part in the various dances that make up the operetta.

Voting for the selection of the May Queen was held in Bucknell Hall last Wednesday evening. The name of the May Queen will not be made known until the time of the crowning. Nineteen girls from the senior class have been selected to attend the Queen as a Court of Honor. The Queen is one of the nineteen girls.

The ushers for the fete will be selected from the girls of the sophomore class.

Each year a large audience composed of relatives and friends of Bucknellians, residents of Lewisburg and neighboring towns, and house-party guests witnesses the crowning of the Queen. A cordial invitation is extended to the general public to attend this year's fete.

"Ray" Taylor, '30, Conducts Two Mothers' Day Services

Raymond Taylor, '30, held a special Mothers' Day program in each of his churches. A large crowd was present at both the Madison and White Hall Churches. During each service, Lillian Mattick, '30, sang several solos. She was accompanied on the piano by Nan Lee Thomas.

After the sermon in which he spoke of Mother's love, "Ray" had all of the mothers who were present come forward where he presented each with a white carnation. Both congregations were much pleased with the service.

Charles E. Mohr Chosen as Editor Of Bucknellian

Dorothy Davies Is Assistant "Ken" Vandenbroe to Cover Bucknell Sporting News

TRENNIE EISLEY, '31, TO RETAIN POSITION

The editorial staff of the Bucknellian will be piloted next semester by Charles E. Mohr, '30, who will take up his duties as editor-in-chief with next week's issue. "Charley" steps up to the chief position from assistant to the editor, which position he has held during this semester. The position which he vacates is to be filled by Dorothy Davies, '30, who has been serving on the managing end of the paper.

Helen E. Bell, '30, will carry on as managing editor, and will be assisted by Frederick M. Locke, '31, and Thomas MacLeod, '31. The news editorship will remain in the hands of Trennie Eisley, '31. She will have as her assistants, Nan Lee Thomas, '30, H. M. Graham, '31, and Blair Hazen, '31.

The antics of the Bison next fall will be watched carefully by Kenneth Vandenbree, '31. "Ken", as sports editor, will be assisted by R. Burtuff Koser, '31, and Lois M. Baker, '31. Miss Baker will report the activities of athletic co-eds. News of the "Sem" will again be covered by Virginia Smoot, '30, who as Women's College editor will be assisted by Elizabeth Figner, '30. The column editors will be Kathryn Leach, '30, and J. B. Stevenson, '32.

Women's Glee Club Has Spring Banquet

Group Presents Baton To Miss Grace Jenkins, Director

The Girls' Glee Club held its annual spring banquet in the Cameron House, Thursday evening, May 2. Dean Amelia E. Clark, Mrs. R. H. Rivenburg, and Mrs. P. G. Stolz were guests.

The five-course dinner was excellent, including roast chicken and all that goes with it. The tables were decorated with candles, with pink and yellow place cards, and with roses of the same color. This touch of color, along with that furnished by the evening dresses of the girls, made the dining room an attractive sight, especially after the candles were lighted.

Josephine Roberts, '29, the retiring president, presented Miss Grace Jenkins, dirctor of the club, with a handsome baton from the members as a token of appreciation for her services. The members of the quartet were each presented with a corsage of forget-me-nots, sweet peas, and roses, in appreciation of the extra work that they have done during the year. This quartet consists of Lillian Mattick, '30, Ruth Evans, '30, Louise Reinhart, '30, and Caroline Keiser, '31.

Lillian Mattick gave a farewell speech to the senior members of the club, after which everyone joined in singing "Come, Bucknell Warriors."

1929 To Have Bucknellian Follow Them; Quinn Appoints Graduation Committees

A special meeting of the Class of 1929 was held on Tuesday afternoon, May 7 in Bucknell Hall. At this meeting president "Mose" Quinn appointed the following members to serve on the committee to determine the class memorial: Eloise Bailey, Ora Louise Cooper, Paul Seidel, "Al" Abbott, and Louis Ceraso.

J. N. Feaster, the business manager of the Bucknellian urged the class to start a precedent by subscribing as a class to the Bucknellian. This suggestion was later made into a motion and the class subscribed to the Bucknellian for the college year 1929-30. This means that the Bucknellian will be sent to every member of the class next year and then towards the end of the year each member of the class will be billed in the usual manner.

A. G. Stoughton, the Alumni Secretary, announced that the class will be formally initiated into the Alumni Association on the afternoon following their rehearsal for graduation. He also announced that the Alumni Office was ready to take orders from those individuals desiring class rings.

Mr. Stoughton stressed the importance of making the president's reception a real class affair. Acting on this last suggestion chairman Quinn appointed Jean Wood, Thelma Showalter, John Farrow, and Frank Loper to serve as a committee to confer with President Hunt about the Senior Reception.

John C. Minnick was unanimously chosen the class's representative to the Alumni Council.

It was announced that Paul Fink has charge of the ordering of the caps and gowns, and "Red" Hitchens of the Commencement Programs.

Mary Bolger, '32, spent the week-end at her home in Norwood, Pa.

* * * *

Kay Leach, '30, spent the week-end at her home in Brookville, Pa.

* * * *

Mary Reese, '32, and Marian Reese, '31, spent the week-end at their home in Danville.

* * * *

Sarah Collner, '29, was called home for a few days last week because of illness in her family.

* * * *

Mary and Margaret Beck left Lewisburg on Friday, May 3, to spend the week-end at West Point.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Taylor of Interville, Pa., spent the week-end with their daughter, Ruth Taylor, '32.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Garrity of Nanty-Glo, spent the week-end with their daughter, Agnes Garrity, '32.

* * * *

Alice Corbett, '30, attended the high school faculty play in Sunbury on Tuesday evening, April 30.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gammons of Scranton spent Sunday with their daughter, Katherine Gammons, '32.

* * * *

Elsie Randall, '30, was fortunate in having her parents from Trenton, N. J., visit her over the last week-end.

* * * *

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Scott of Cranford, New Jersey, spent the week-end with their daughter, Ann Scott, '32.

* * * *

Alice Pyle, '30, was called to her home in Chadd's Ford on Monday, April 29, by the death of her grandmother.

* * * *

Dorothy Harpster, '31, spent the last week-end at her home in Allenwood, Pa. Dorothy is fortunate in being able to go home so often.

* * * *

We hear of a co-ed who has four classes every Saturday to look forward to next semester. We don't blame her for groaning over the prospect.

* * * *

Fern Reno, '30, spent the last week-end in Philadelphia where she visited her sister, Carrie, ex-'30, who is studying at the Philadelphia General Hospital.

Gladys Haase, '32, was surprised with a visit from her parents over the last week-end. Although most unexpected, it was a pleasant surprise to say the least.

* * * *

According to statistics, we had not more than ten clear days last month. We hope that May, with its spring flowers, will set a better record, and give us plenty of warm, clear days.

* * * *

Dorothy Grimshaw, '31, spent the past week-end at her home in Woodlyn, N. J. According to reports, she had a fine time, and wouldn't have minded if the week-end had been a little longer.

* * * *

Professor W. H. Eyster took his botany class on a botany hike to Red Rock the other day, in search of leaves and flowers. The hike was both pleasant and profitable, and more than one spring flower was discovered by the eager naturalists.

* * * *

The "Semites" looked with dismay at the barrels of tar which appeared on the "Sem" campus early this week. They are looking ahead unhappily to the odor of tar and the noise of the steam roller which they learned to know so well last spring.

* * * *

Prof. F. H. Lund reports the following experience while watching the I. O. O. F. parade last week. An old looking old man approached him and inquired, "Do you be an odd Fellow?" Prof. Lund replied with "I may be but I don't belong to the order."

* * * *

Have you heard about "Whiffle?" He's a new pet that the Semites of the new dormitory have adopted. He is a little toy bull dog owned by Marie Trunk, '31. Whiffle is a mischievous little pup—already he has chewed up two galoshes and a pair of rubbers.

* * * *

Among those who attended the Junior Prom at State College on Friday night, May 3 were: "Joe" Robert, '29; "Marg" Budd, '31; Edna Cease, '31; "Lee" McKaig, '31; "Al" Drennen, '31; "Dot" Cooper, '32; Alice Sweeley, '31; "Fran" Davidson, '31; Katherine Gammon, '32; "Jerry" Fortner, '29; "Johnnie" Johnson, '32; Martha Warner, '31; and Mildred Casey, '32.

Dr. W. Devitt Tells Of Tubercular Camp

Dr. William D. Devitt, Bucknell graduate who is an eminent physician and the founder of Devitt's Camp for tubercular that is situated on White Deer mountain not far from the Bucknell Campus, recently spoke before the Tuberculosis Society of Harrisburg in the Harrisburg country club, summarizing the work for humanity that is being done in the sanitarium under his charge.

Dr. Devitt has helped to develop the "Pneumo" treatments, one of the most efficient methods of curing cases of tuberculosis which he uses with very great success in his institution. By this method the affected lung is collapsed by means of air pressure, which rests the diseased parts until they have time to regain their original strength. Exceeding skill is required to use this means of cure.

The department of bacteriology at Bucknell is very appreciative of the cooperation Dr. Devitt has shown in establishing a connection between the Bucknell Bacteriology laboratory and the sanitarium. Once a year the students of Patheogenic Bacteriology spend a full day at the camp, studying the disease in a special clinic. In return the Bucknell laboratories test the milk that comes from the model dairy at the camp.

Dr. Devitt's Camp has a value of $350,000. Much of the equipment represents donations from those interested in the welfare of the camp. The staff of the sanitarium includes three doctors and 13 trained nurses who are under the charge of Dr. Devitt. At the present time there are 150 patients in the 30 small cottages and women's dormitory. The latter accomodates 54 women. A dormitory for men is planned in the near future.

Since the founding of the sanitarium, Dr. Devitt has taken special interest in the Bucknell students who came under his care. No one has been kept from the care he needs because of his inability to pay expenses.

Due to the efficiency of methods and the care given the patients, Dr. Devitt has lost very few cases in his years of practice. Shortly after his graduation from a medical college in Philadelphia in 1902, he started practice in that city. In 1912 he started the camp at Allenwood where his work for humanity is being accomplished.

Dr. Devitt is the father of Helen Devitt, '31, and William Devitt Jr., '27.

ETCHINGS EXHIBITED TO ART STUDENTS

An art exhibit of etchings, at which the work of some of the most noted artists were shown, was given by Mrs. Marion B. Davis, in room 7, Main College last Saturday afternoon for the special benefit of the art department of Bucknell.

The exhibit, consisting entirely of etchings in black and white, brown and white, and colors, represented the work of well-known artists including Simon, Siloski, and Alew, of Czechoslovakia, whose works were borrowed from the Art Gallery of Czechoslovakia, Chicago.

Six etchings of Simon, who is probably the foremost etcher of the present day were included in the exhibit. A small but interested group of people attended.

H. D. BEDFORD NAMED HEAD OF PHI MU ALPHA

On Tuesday evening, April 30, Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia, elected the following officers for the next year, H. D. Benford, president; F. Jeckel, vice president; A. Weidensaul, supreme councilor; C. Frampton, secretary; J. Colledge, treasurer; B. Hazen, warden; and G. Streitz, historian.

Plans for the annual banquet, to be held June 6, are now being formulated. Initiation of new members will also take place within the next moath.

Astronomers Discuss Walking, Cigarettes, And Then Education

Variety is the spice of life. In an astronomy class that was held on the hill recently, a late-comer who was rather excited about his tardiness was asked the distance from the earth to the moon. In a spirit of bravado he answered that it was farther than he cared to walk. The instructor who was in charge of the class in order to be nonchalant at the student's uncalled-for answer started a discussion on walking.

Someone quoted the famous advertisement about walking a mile for a Camel, whereupon the conversation turned to cigarettes and the number sold yearly. This in turn led to a discussion of large industries. It was found that the steel industry was the largest and that the moving picture industry was a close second.

Moving pictures was for awhile the topic of conversation. Someone thought that the "movies" were not inductive of clear thinking and not in the least educational. Education was then discussed. The instructor after giving some of his views on education reminded the students that they were to be given an Astronomy test in the near future. Someone wanted to know what he was to study for the test and so the conversation came back to astronomy.

No Patience with Spring Fever

Spring fever is out of date and there is no excuse for it, declares Dr. R. Adams, head of the department of agriculture and biology, at Penn State.

You will find the finest leathers and most correct lines in John Ward shoes. A wide variety of lasts, specially selected and designed for college men's wear.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES

MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Pa.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1892 Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

FLAVIO'S
FOR
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed Eastman Kodaks and Films

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73 President ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04 Vice President JOHN W. BUCHER Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

Casualties Greatest During the Week-end

Student hikers are out of luck. So much is clear. Legislatures are trying to legislate them out of business, and now comes Mr. Benjamin G. Eynon, registrar of motor vehicles for Pennsylvania, with some distressing figures as to the unhappy nature of week-end travel. Read his statistics and beware!

Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week in which to go automobile riding, while Monday is the safest. Of the total of 2,584 motor vehicle accidents, with 131 deaths, during March, 510, of which 24 were fatal, occurred on Saturdays, Eynon reported.

Sunday was the next most dangerous, with 450 accidents, 25 fatal. Next in order came Wednesday with 346, of which 18 were fatal; Friday, with 333, of which 18 were fatal; Tuesday, 362, of which 13 were fatal; Thursday, 315, 12 fatal; and Monday, with 268 accidents, 10 fatal.

The hours between 4 and 6 p. m. were the most prolific producers of accidents daily. During that time, when workers were hurrying home from work, 19 persons were killed in 493 accidents.

During the still, quiet hours of the night, between 1 and 6 a. m., 16 persons were killed in 146 accidents.

Speeders figured in 313 accidents in which 10 persons were killed. Motorists who did not have the right of way caused one fatal accident out of a total of 235 in which they figured. Reckless drivers who "cut in" caused 107 accidents. Drivers who used the wrong side of the road caused 5 deaths in 270 accidents. Passing on curves or hills, the drivers who did so caused 27 accidents in which 2 persons were killed. Drivers who left the road were involved in 222 accidents, of which 7 were fatal. Failure to signal resulted in 79 accidents, Eynon's report shows.

Eynon notes that in 1757 accidents the motorists were going straight ahead. Failing to signal before making left turns caused 183 accidents, and the same fault in right-hand turns caused 45.

Most of the accidents, 1242, occurred in open country. Sixty-nine persons were killed in such accidents. At street intersections there were 889 crashes, 27 fatal. Five persons were killed in 31 grade crossing accidents. Eighty-three pedestrians were killed out of a total of 71 in which pedestrians were involved.

—Lewisburg Journal.

NEW TABLE TOPS AND DRAPERIES ADDED TO "SEM" DINING HALL

The dining-room of the Women's College has just been equipped with new table tops. These tops are larger than the former ones which enebled only four persons to sit at each table. The new tops now facilitate the seating of six individuals at a table. Accordingly, each waitress serves two tables instead of three.

The dining-room has also been furnished with pretty draperies which add to the pleasant stateliness of the hall.

ENGLISH CLASS HOLDS SESSION AT 'THE RAM'

The combined English 152 classes of Professor H. W. Robbins and Assistant Professor J. D. Phillips and H. R. Warfel, held a picnic Tuesday afternoon at "The Ram," between Lewisburg and Winfield. About thirty-five students enjoyed mushball and a light picnic supper. Assistant Professor H. E. Sprague accompanied the party.

COUNT TOLSTOY IS NOT ABLE TO SPEAK HERE

Count Ilya Tolstoy will not speak at Bucknell this year. Count Tolstoy was scheduled to speak on "Russia Since the Revolution" at the Baptist church last Tuesday night but was unable to keep his engagement.

The Artist Course Board at Bucknell received a wire from Count Tolstoy's manager saying that the serious illness of his wife compelled him to cancel his engagement. Because of a full college calendar it will be impossible to engage him for an appearance here this year.

The last number of Artist Course must of necessity be omitted since it is too late to arrange for another program.

Delta Kappa Phi, Beta Kappa, And "Sigs" Win in Baseball

Four more games of interfraternity baseball were played last evening. On Loomis Field the Delta Kappa Phis defeated the Campus Nine, 11-7, while on the same field the Beta Kappas eked out a thrilling 2-1 victory over the Kappa Sigs.

The championship Sigma Chi team continued its unbroken series of wins by overwhelming the "Demies," 13-3, in a tussle that was staged on the "Sig" field.

Alumni Notes

J. R. Gardiner, '25

Interesting news has reached the Education Office of the advancement of J. R. Gardiner, '25, who begun his teaching career immediately after his graduation from Bucknell and has recently been elected supervising principal of two elementary schools in New York.

Gardner has been teaching for four years and, in the meantime, has gotten his master's degree from Teacher's College, Columbia University. His new position entails two assistants and a clerk. It is the principalship of 1000 pupils. Gardiner's salary will be over three thousand a year.

Susan E. Kennedy

Susan E. Kennedy, daughter of LeRoy Kennedy of Muncy, and a graduate of Bucknell, was united in marriage to Wilbert D. Mosley, of Cheswold, Delaware. The ceremony was performed in the Adventist Tabernacle, assisted by the groom's father, Garfield A. Mosley.

Hazel Kennedy, '29, was maid of honor, and Willard C. Mosley, of Delaware State College, a brother of the groom, was best man.

Two hundred guests attended the reception which followed at the residence of the groom's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Mosley motored to Washington, D. C., and spent the week-end with the bride's uncle, Dr. A. E. Kennedy, after which Mrs. Mosley returned to Glassboro to resume her duties as principal of the Glassboro Lawns School.

Dr. Spenser R. Meeser, '83

Dr. Spenser B. Meeser, '83, who has for many years been a professor at Crozer Theological Seminary, has been asked by the board of trustees to continue his work there, although he has reached the age at which Crozer professors are ordinarily retired.

Professor Meeser has been a very valuable teacher at Crozer. When he reached the retiring age and was preparing to end his teaching career, the administration found it almost impossible to locate a man who could acceptably take his place. As Dr. Meeser is in fine health and his mental powers are undimmed, he was urged to remain at his post for at least one more year.

Professor Meeser, in addition to teaching, has very ably edited the Crozer Quarterly, and has also done much outside preaching.

Rev. George H .Waid, '94

The Rev. George H. Waid, has been acting as ad interim state secretary for the Michigan Baptists from October first 1928, to February first of this year. Mr. Waid did not give up his pastoral duties while acting as a "pinch-hitter" in the secretaryship. The double duty, however, proved quite a task. Mr. Waid is a Crozer man, Class of 1897. He was graduated from Bucknell in 1894.

Rev. Dr. Calvin A. Hare, '77

The Rev. Dr. Calvin A. Hare, '77, who was a professor at Bucknell from 1902 to 1913, is now pastor of the Baptist Church in Metuchen, N. J. He has been pastor there for the past ten years. During that time the church has been freed from debt and many new members have been added.

Dr. Hare, while at Bucknell, lived in the present Kappa Sigma house, which he bought and greatly improved. The grounds were rough in appearance when he purchased them, and he made the fine terrace sloping down to the run on the north side of the house, which has delighted the vision of so many passersby.

While at Bucknell, Dr. Hare also acted as financial secretary and agent in the raising of an increase for the endowment fund.

Rev. Henry Madtes, '82

The Rev. Henry Madtes, '82, died on March first at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. L. Rifenbrick, of Monessen, after an illness of several months.

From Bucknell Mr. Madtes went to Crozer Theological Seminary, from which he was graduated in 1885. All his pastorates were in Pennsylvania, according to the Crozer Bulletin, excepting that with the Third Baptist Church in Cleveland, from 1893 to 1898. For a few years, Mr. Madtes was principle of Hall Institute, at Sharon, while serving as pastor of the Sharpsville Baptist Church.

A year ago illness compelled him to resign his pastorate at Belle Vernon. He then made his home with his widowed daughter, who is head of the Latin Department of the Monessen High School.

Among the Book Stalls

"THE CRADLE OF THE DEEP"
by Joan Lowell
With illustrations by Kurt Wiese.
Reviewed by Kenneth Haynes, '31

In unvarnished terms, "The Cradle of the Deep" is an autobiography of Joan Lowell. But in more collegiate language, it is a really true account of a seafarin' girl's experiences among men of the sea.

All her life—all but eleven months of it—Joan Lowell had spent on her father's ship, the Minnie A. Caine, until that beloved schooner went down to Davy Jones' locker. But while she was sailing the South Seas, with her father at the helm of her "life" boat, Joan was learning about life. And that is what she has tried to pass on to us "landlubbers" in "The Cradle of the Deep"—how she, as a seafaring girl, learned about life.

At the age of two she had learned to say "goddamned wind," and very soon could "spit a curve in the wind" better than some of the sailors on board. The narrow confines of the schooner brought her into constant association with seamen, whose rough ways and speech she could do little else but copy. It was an accomplishment when she could swear for four minutes straight without repeating a word, and steer the boat as well as the most able-bodied of the crew. But Joan's father often disapproved of her "accomplishments" to the tune of a rope's end. For Joan always remembered to obey him after she had forgotten to.

In this fascinating book Joan Lowell is never restrained by conventionalities. And we are glad, when we think of what a drab thing it would have been without the language of the sea to make it real. Mutiny, shanghaied sailors, strip poker, waterspouts, squalls—life is never uneventful on the ocean. But there is an education in it, too. For instance, do you know what ambergris and copra are and their use? Do you know who brought the first ukulele to the South Seas? Joan Lowell learned these and many other things on board the Minnie A. Caine. Let her tell them to you in "The Cradle of the Deep."

CAMEL
CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels contain the choicest tobaccos grown ... expertly blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

They have a welcome mellowness and mildness that you will find in no other cigarette.

Smoke them as often as you like, Camels never tire your taste.

The quality of Camels is never permitted to vary.

Only a superior cigarette could have won and held world leadership for all these years as Camel has done.

You can bank on the quality of a cigarette that continues to be the biggest success in smoking history

© 1929, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S
ICE CREAM — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

Dr. A. E. Finn, '94

Dr. A. E. Finn, '94, has recently been called to the ministry in the important Frankford Baptist Church in Philadelphia. This church is an old organization and goes far back in the history of the city. It has had a succession of noted preachers. Dr. Finn attended Crozer Theological Seminary, after leaving Bucknell, and was graduated there in 1897.

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief — Charles E. Mohr, '30, Theta Upsilon Omega House, Phone 141
Business Manager — John N. Fessler, '30, Alpha Chi Mu House, Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief — Dorothy Davies, '30
Managing Editor — Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors — Frederick M. Locke, '31; Thomas MacLeod, '31
News Editor — Frennie Elsley, '31
Assistant News Editors — Nan Lee Thomas, '30; Blair Hazen, '31; H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor — Kenneth Vandenbroe, '31
Assistant Sports Editors — R. Burtuff Keser, '31; Lois M. Baker, '31
Women's College Editor — Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Ass't. Women's Col. Editor — Elizabeth Pigner, '30
Exchange Editor — Lillian Mattick, '30
Column Editors — James R. Stevenson, '32; Kathryn Leach, '30

Business Staff

Advertising Manager — W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager — John Snyder, '30; Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager — George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31

Assistant Circulation Managers

George DeLancey, '32 — Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Glazier, '32 — Benjamin Waltzman, '32
Frank Koehler, '32

CALENDAR

Thursday, May 9—Delta Delta Delta bridge tea: 3:30 to 5:30 p. m.

Phi Mu bridge: 3 to 5:30, play-room, in new dormitory.

Friday, May 10 and Saturday May 11—Lambda Chi Alpha week-end; Delta Sigma week-end; Phi Gamma Delta week-end; Sigma Alpha Epsilon week-end; Sigma Chi week-end; Phi Kappa Psi week-end; and Theta Upsilon Omega week-end.

A UNIFORM PARENTS' WEEK-END

Members of the staff at the Women's College have announced that they will be "at home" in the living room of the new dormitory on the afternoon of Mothers' Day to meet the parents of both men and women students. This "at home" will initiate a new custom at Bucknell and undoubtedly a worth while one. But the question arises, "how many of the students' parents will be here to take advantage of the opportunity?"

The number of parents who may be expected is necessarily few, for during the pasts weeks many of them have frequented the campus to attend fraternity gatherings in their honor, and they will obviously not be returning to the campus on May 12.

The custom of devoting one week-end to entertaining mothers, or both mothers and fathers has been growing among the men's and women's fraternities. There are however certain flaws in the system as it now stands. In the first place, not all of these week-ends devoted to parents come at the same time. There are seldom any all-college functions to which parents may be taken, so that entertainment is in the main confined to the fraternity. Little opportunity is afforded the parents to meet any members of the faculty or the administration. Outside of an occasional ball game there is nothing going on whereby parents may get a glimpse of our college life.

The desirability of a uniform Parents' Week-end is self-evident, for then the university as well as the individual groups would be honoring their parents at the same time. One entire week-end would be devoted to parents, and nothing else in the way of social functions would be scheduled for that time. If the crowning of the May Queen with the regular pageant could be held then, visitors would have an unusual opportunity to witness one of Bucknell's nicest college acairs. The Saturday evening could well be given over to fraternity banquets, and on the Sunday afternoon parents would be welcomed to the "at home" at the Women's College.

Other colleges have found that a uniform day or week-end of this nature is most advisable, so why not Bucknell? Dad's Day at Penn State is a yearly event at which time fathers hold the center of the stage. Gettysburg, Allegheny, Lehigh, Lafayette, and others are accustomed to set aside one week-end for this purpose. Surely there is one week-end out of the entire year when house parties and other social functions could be put to one side in favor of parents, and why not on Mothers' Day.

H. B.

PROSPECTING FOR STUDENTS

Every week a half-page advertisement appears in this paper sincerely exhorting you to aid in bringing new students to the attention of the University, to aid in infusing the student body with new blood. You are urged to do your bit for your alma mater by sending in the names of students whom you believe will make good material for the class of 1933.

Through this advertisement the administration gives you an opportunity to choose your own company for the next one, two, or three years. Instead of having class-mates forcibly thrust upon you, you may decide for yourself whom you would like to have for your friends and associates. You are given a chance to select men and women of good character, and high moral standards, like yourself, for your associates.

Not only that, but the more prospective students the University can get in touch with, the finer may be the selective process so that only the best of the lot may be admitted. In this way the general standard of the University may be raised. Of course, the smaller the group of would-be students, the less chance there is for selection. Some chaff as well as wheat will be admitted.

So if you are a true Bucknellian you will cut out the printed form, jot down the names and addresses of several prospective students, and turn it into the Registrar's office as soon as you can. Who knows but what you may be instrumental in bringing to Bucknell a future President of the United States or another Christy Mathewson?

A. E. B.

"DOCTOR"

College graduates are supposedly a little above the great average, but anyone who received letters of application blanks, or other forms of correspondence in which it is necessary for the writer to list names of people, will find the major portion of Bucknell seniors, at least, badly deficient in bare knowledge of terms of address. There are several errors that are made more or less regularly by Bucknell seniors, and of course would be made by the lower classes, which have been listed by observing many of the blanks which have been filled out by this year's graduating class, and it is the purpose of this editorial to point these out.

First of all, the title "Doctor" is badly misused. It is the opinion of the writer that a surprisingly large number of college students do not know that this title is acquired only by a degree being granted by some college or university. It seems to be the opinion of some that any head of department or administrative officer is entitled to be called "Doctor." The annual Bucknell catalogue lists all members of the administration and faculty with their degrees, and is a dependable reference.

Next, the title "Professor" is mostly misused. When a person holds a professorship or a "chair," he ranks as a Professor, and not until then. It is possible and very probable, in many institutions, that Doctors are not yet Professors. The catalogue can be referred to in this matter, also. Besides this, many residents of one-horse towns have the habit of compromising high school principals or teachers by calling them "Professor." No member of a secondary school faculty is ever a Professor.

There is no such a man as "Mr. Smith." He is "Mr. A. C. Smith," or has some other appropriate initials. It is very improper to omit or insert ate initials. It is very improper to omit initials or insert incorrect ones. Every man has a right to expect his name to be properly used.

A woman is always Mrs., Miss, or Dr. If it is desirable to name her office, it is proper to say Dean, Prof., etc. It should be kept in mind, however, that these are only offices, and not titles to names. In speaking of a Dean, for instance, one should give him the title which his name commands, such as "Dr. J. M. Jones," or "Mr. J. M. Jones," using "Dean J. M. Jones" only when citing the office in the institution of higher learning.

Who's Who AT B. U.

Clarence W. Cranford

With this issue of the Bucknellian "Cranny" makes his adieu as editor. Although coming to college with no previous knowledge of journalism he so mastered this subject that by his senior year he has the distinction of having been editor of more school publications than any other man in his class. Twice "Cranny" edited the "Frosh Bible." It was he who was called upon to be the editor of the first Y's Owl to be published by the Y. M. C. A. In his senior year "C. W. C." was given the coveted position of editor-in-chief of the Bucknellian.

Cranford's success in religious work has been as eminent as that in the field of journalism. He has served on the Y. M. C. A. cabinets, taken an active part in the Ministerial Association, and was president of both the Baptist Christian Endeavor and the Student Council of Religious Activities.

"Cranny's" versatility expresses itself in his personality as well as by his activities. He has the happy faculty of making friends with many and various sorts of people. If he cannot win one by his clever speeches he resorts to his artistry with the piano or to his never-failing wisecracks.

Next year "Cranny" will attend Crozer Theological Seminary where he will prepare himself for the Baptist Ministry.

Cranford is a member of the Alpha Chi Mu and the Pi Delta Epsilon fraternities.

HERMAN & LEISER

now showing a large line of
Sleeveless Dresses of Flat Crepe and Prints
at $5.00 each

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected
Capital - - - $125,000.00
Surplus and Profits - - $160,000.00
Deposits - - - - $1,300,000.00
LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

Willie's Mistake

Little boy named Willie Wright
Found a stick of dynamite.
Slammed it down upon a rock—
Funeral service—ten o'clock.

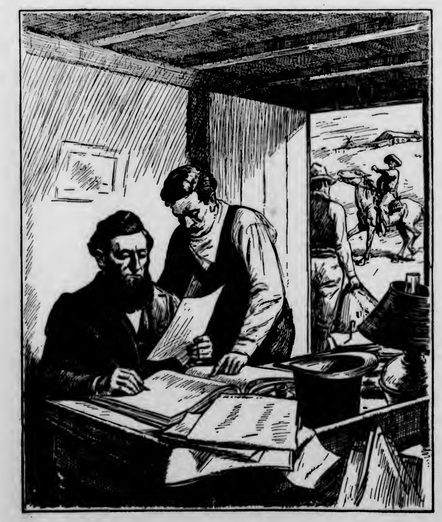
Pupil's Grammar

Teacher: "I have went. Now that's wrong, isn't it?"
Pupil: "Yes, ma'am."
Teacher: "Why is it wrong?"
Pupil: "Because you ain't went yet!"

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

MOTHER'S DAY
MAY 12
Wherever She is. We Telegraph Flowers or Potted Plants.
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

THE PURITY



They gave the express rider a good start

Henry Wells, developing the mail and express business of Wells Fargo, knew the necessity of careful preparation and alert management. Communication was more than the picturesque racing of pony express riders; behind the scenes there was always the systematic planning of routes, the watchful inspection of outposts and men. Communication today is immeasurably faster than it was then, thanks to electricity. And to a vastly greater degree has the work of preparation behind the scenes become important.

In the Bell System, management must constantly look ahead to provide the sinews of service against growing public demand—material and men must be mobilized to extend and keep open the lines of communication.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

To The Editor

Dear Bucknellian:

Permit a word to J. E. with reference to the problem of broadcasting Larison Hall is primarily a dormitory, and those who have rooms there are entitled to be protected against the disturbance of their work.

The organ was placed there not because the location is ideal, but because no better place was available. The music students have cheerfully adjusted their use of it to the dormitory conditions.

Permission to broadcast from that room was given for Friday night in the first place, and no conference was had with reference to changing to Wednesday night.

A large number of students by this time understand that no one person is responsible for regulations which safeguard conflicting interests. "First get your facts."

Also, allow me to reply to J. E.'s final query. No, Bucknell is not a university. Like a number of other institutions, in its first ambitious days, the founders embedded that word in the charter. Modern usage clearly distinguishes, because of organization and purpose, between the university and the college. In spite of its legal title Bucknell is a college.

Emory W. Hunt.

To "J. E.":

If "Bucknell broadcasting has met the fate finally that threatened it previously, namely certain powers that be," the 'power' is the Women's Student Government, and not the Dean of Women.

The Dean is merely the means through which this organization has expressed itself upon receiving complaints from the residents of Larison who live in the vicinity of the Organ Room.

The evening quiet hours, according to Student Government ruling, passed by the student body, are from 7:30 to 9:30. This ruling does not eliminate broadcasting from the Organ Room. The period from 9:30 to 10:30 is under no restrictions any night of the week. Would not this hour be even more convenient?

We would suggest that before any more rash accusations are made that there be a proper investigation and understanding of the situation.

Constructively, we suggest the Baptist Church as having the necessary musical equipment minus any restrictive factors. The church has always shown itself willing to cooperate with any student activity.

Women's Student Senate.

DR. MARY VAN UXEM TALKS ON SOCIOLOGY

"A social worker must be as harmless as a dove and as wise as a serpent," said Dr. Mary Van Uxem, assistant superintendent of the Laurelton State Village, who spoke to sociology students in Professor Clarence Johnson's classes this morning.

Dr. Van Uxem ably pointed out "The Opportunities in the Field of Social Work" and gave numerous illustrations to make her points clear and interesting.

A real social worker should have a good education and a large amount of common sense, according to Dr. Van Uxem. A practical course in sociology with several courses in abnormal and educational psychology are invaluable. Tact is, of course, an essential part of the social worker's make-up. Today, the large social organizations are demanding at least one year of training after the usual college course.

Read The Bucknellian

HELL WEEK SOLILOQUY
By A. Frosh

Monday evening:
"One day gone already. Well, it isn't so bad, in fact, I sort of enjoyed it."
Tuesday evening:
"Another day gone. I guess freshmen need a certain amount of this stuff, but....."
Wednesday evening:
"This is only Wednesday. This foolishness does get tiresome, but I think it's all in the attitude you take."
Thursday evening:
"Only two more days. K @ ? !!!"
Friday evening:
"Only twenty-four more hours!..... .....those Sophomores! I'm damn sure there won't be a Hell Week when I'm an active. ** @ ! ! ?"
Saturday evening:
"Ah-h-h-hhh! All over. What a relief, but I guess freshmen do need a certain amount of that stuff."

IDLE ATHLETES INTRODUCE NEW MAJOR SPORT HERE

A new excitement, introduced a placing bridge, poker, the "Sem," and Sunbury for an evening's entertainment, is "throwing-tennis-balls-in-the-waste-basket." This major sport has just been introduced by those football men who were not out for baseball and by those golf men who are waiting for the course to be constructed. As the name implies, the object of the game is to throw tennis balls into a waste basket, which is best placed on the desk in the corner or on the dresser if the desk is in use. The game is very adaptable to all conditions and to all people. For instance, variation may be secured by using lacrosse, polo, squash-racket, hand, or basketballs, or by using different types of baskets, as flower, steel, egg, or wicker, but wicker baskets are not recommended since they break easily and one is liable to waste baskets.

A team has already been formed, and as the first step in establishing the game on a sure footing, a call for managerial candidates has been issued. Thus far the candidates have been busy making fourths at bridge, calling 180 for the coaches, running out for sandwiches for the team, or typing term reports for members of the squad. Intensive work will not start until a few days before examinations, when the candidates will be expected to keep the game going steadily.

Frank Hower, ex-'31, Plays in 'Syncopation'

Frank Hower, ex-'31, popular campus leader of last year visited this vicinity last week via the Vitaphone presentation of "Syncopation," offered at the Strand in Sunbury. Hower is the regular pianist with Warings Pennsylvanians, who were featured in this production.

Since leaving school last June at the close of his freshman year, he has been connected with these popular entertainers and has traveled far and wide with the musical comedy, "Hello Yourself" which played to capacity audiences both on Broadway and on the road. In addition to playing in musical comedy and motion pictures, Hower has spent much time on the vaudeville circuits.

Frank has signified his intention of returning to school next fall to continue his studies. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta, social fraternity, and the Friars, national sophomore honorary fraternity.

Prof. Bond is Speaker At Baptist Anniversary

Professor C. M. Bond spoke yesterday afternoon at the 55th Anniversary of the Reading Baptist Association on "Fundamental Needs of Life Through Religious Education." The anniversary services were held at Nesquehoning, Pa., Tuesday and Wednesday, May 7 and 8, and was attended by representatives from various parts of the state.

On Tuesday, May 7, Naomi Knapp gave an address at the afternoon session on missions in India. Miss Knapp, who has served as a missionary in India for several years, is taking work at Bucknell this year. She expects to return to India in the near future to continue her work there.

B. U. Golfers Repelled In Milton Invasion

Halicki and Ziegler Score Only Bucknell Win, 3-0

A group of Bucknell golf enthusiasts, led by McCormick and Ellor, invaded Milton yesterday afternoon seeking laurels on the links. However, the Bison clubbers bowed before the superior prowess of the Milton Country Club golfers.

In an effort to gain some recognition on the links, the Bucknell "golf bugs" lured "Eddie" Halicki away from his baseball duties to take part in the match. The star Bison athlete, who will join the St. Louis Cardinals in June, was in rare form.

Halicki and his talented partner "Zig" Ziegler defeated Klinger and Housel of Milton 3-0 for the only Bison win of the afternoon. Ziegler, who is probably the dean of Bucknell golf players at the present time, put on the best exhibition of the tournament. He was ably aided by Halicki in the Bison's lone triumph.

McCormick and Quinn Lose

In the three other matches Bucknell was beaten. McCormick and Quinn dropped a 3-0 decision to Butler and Adam of Milton. Hastings and Sears of the nearby town vanquished "Bud" Brown and "Ted" Mitchell of the Lewisburg institution by a like score. "Bill" Madison and Prof. MacCreadie lost to Krebs and Brautigan who scored another 3-0 verdict.

Lesser and Hamon played Heinan and Hastings of Milton but when the deadline of this week's Bucknellian had arrived, the results of this match had not yet been announced.

Golf is rapidly becoming popular at Bucknell. A golf course has been recently purchased and this indicates that the famous Scotch game is being encouraged at the Bison college. Furthermore, Prof. James P. Whyte is behind the project strongly and will lend untiring aid to see it firmly established here.

C. Johnson Decides, "Not A Cough in A Carload"

"I'd walk a mile for a class at Professor Johnson's" is the sentiment of the students in Sociology 204 who had their 9 o'clock Saturday class at the home of Professor and Mrs. Clarence Johnson on South Fifth street yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock.

Professor Johnson showed a number of colored slides that he made while in Europe during the World War and discussed each one while Mrs. Johnson served delicious refreshments. Those who were fortunate enough to be present say to prospective students, "You'd better take Sociology. It satisfies!"

OUR "SCOTTY" WHYTE TO TALK TO KIWANIANS

Professor James P. Whyte left today for Mount Carmel where he will speak tonight at the annual dinner given by the Kiwanis Club of Mount Carmel to the teachers in the Mount Carmel public schools.

"How Big Are You?", is the subject upon which Professor Whyte will speak at this important event of the Kiwanis Club.

ONLY TWO CONTESTANTS SPEAK AT JUNIOR "EX"

Grace A. Schaum, '30, and Joseph E. Gilmour, '30, were the only two contestants in the Junior Exhibition in Oratory held in Bucknell Hall Tuesday evening.

"Resolved, That The American Jury System Be Retained," was the subject chosen by Grace Schaum, while Joseph Gilmour spoke on "The Arguments Against Companiate Marriage."

The Junior Debate prizes will, as usual, be awarded at the Commencement exercises in June.

ENGINEERING SCHOOL PUBLISHES BULLETIN

The Bulletin of Information on the Department of Engineering for May, 1929, has just been published. This bulletin contains interesting information concerning the Chemical, Civil, Electrical, and Mechanical Departments.

This issue is much larger than the preceding ones have been and contains a number of new cuts. It gives a detailed conspectus of the courses of each department.

Mulvihill to Speak at B. U.

Prof. Harwood L. Childs has announced that Francis J. Mulvihill of Harrisburg will speak to the class in Municipal Government, Tuesday morning at nine o'clock, in Biology 6. He will speak on the subject, "City Planning in Pennsylvania."

Who's Who AT B. U.

Josephine M. Roberts

"Jo" Roberts, the perennial blond of Alpha Chi Omega, has such a long list of activities to her credit that one wonders how she ever found time to do any studying, but study she must have because she is one of the six seniors studying for Honors in English.

"Jo" is as versatile as she is popular. She has been a contributor to our own Bucknell Verse, secretary of the English Department, Women's College Editor on the Bucknellian, president of the girls' glee club, a member of the cast of "39 East," and a member of Sigma Tau Delta. Her latest position was that of chairman of the Senior Ball.

"Jo" dances as well as she reads poetry in addition to being a member of the college intelligensia. Her plans after graduation are rather indefinite although at present most of her time is being taken by the freshmen.

Jane G. Foust

Jane Foust, house president of the new dormitory, would serve as a fine example of the representative college girl. Jane has made a reputation for herself scholastically and has managed at the same time to take part in more than the usual amount of extra-curricular activities.

She was president of her class during her sophomore year, a member of the girls' glee club and the special chorus during her junior year, and has played inter-class and fraternity hockey. She was a charter member of Sigma Tau Delta and during the past year she served as the fraternity's editor. She has also served as an assistant news editor of the Bucknellian.

Jane has followed in the footsteps of her sister, Mary Graybill Foust, '27, who was one of Bucknell's leading literary lights. Jane is now studying in the English Honors Course. She is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity.

PROF. H. L. CHILDS TO GIVE NEW COURSE

(Continued from Page 1)

course of study, may take the course for credit either towards a Bachelor of Arts or a Bachelor of Science degree. Other persons, regardless of their previous training, may attend the lectures and participate in the course to the extent desired.

Classes Begin October 2

Classes will begin on October 2 and will be held every two weeks thereafter until February 19, 1930. Information concerning tuition charges and academic credit may be obtained from John H. Elsenhauer, Director of the Extension Department at Bucknell.

Professor Childs is well qualified to conduct a course in political science. He was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1919 with an A. B. degree. While at Dartmouth Professor Childs majored in political science. From 1919 until 1921 Professor Childs taught economics at Dartmouth where he obtained his master's degree.

After spending a year in study at Harvard University Professor Childs went to Syracuse University in 1922 and taught there until 1924. For one year he did research work with the National Industrial Conference Board in New York City. From 1925 until 1927 Professor Childs taught political science at William and Mary College. After studying at Chicago University from 1927-1928 he received his Ph. D. degree and came to Bucknell last fall.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 7.)

ZETA GAMMA TAU
Connie Hulick, '31

Genevieve Punches, '28, who is teaching in Williamsport spent last Saturday and Sunday with us.

Frances Tompkins, '32, was the guest of June Reifler, '30, this past week-end.

A book entitled "Early Pictorial Life of Famous Women" appeared in the suite a few days ago. Much to our surprise and interest it contained some of our first poses before the camera.

Saturday we hiked out to the "ram" for supper and to hold the annual Pledge Masquerade. The pledges proved to be very amusing performers.

Amending the Old Proverb

Half a loaf is not better for some people, according to the Wall St. Journal. They want to loaf all the time.

FLORSHEIMS Make Fast Friends

Your feet will appreciate Florsheim shoes so much that you will want no others. It'll be Florsheim's every time if you give your feet their choice.

Most Styles
$10
"For the Man Who Cares"

J. F. Prowant Co.
LEWISBURG, PA.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
"COLGATE-ROCHESTER" means
a religious and cultural atmosphere
a thoroughly experienced and technically educated Faculty
a curriculm, revised in 1929, capable of adjustment to individual needs abundant opportunitiee for supervised observation, and practical experience in religious and social work an ample and modern library for research work

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

WAINIES

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants

—25—

THERE IS INCREASED BUSINESS TO BE HAD THROUGH A MORE AGGRESSIVE AND PERSISTENT APPEAL TO MEN—THE RETAIL DEALER WILL FIND HIS EFFORTS PRODUCTIVE IF HE WILL KEEP HAMMERING HOME A TIMELY THOUGHT, A SEASONABLE STYLE SUGGESTION—ONE REASON AFTER ANOTHER WHY HIS ARTICLES OFFER MONEY'S WORTH AND MORE. NEWSPAPER ADVERTISEMENTS GIVE THE DEALER AN OPPORTUNITY TO DIRECT A FRESH, NEW APPEAL FOR THE SEASON—OFFERING CRISP, CONVINCING REASONS WHY HIS GOODS SHOULD BE SELECTED.

WM. FLORSHEIM.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

TRIO OF HOME RUNS SPELL DEFEAT FOR BISONS IN EIGHTH

Muhlenberg Nine Takes Lead as Jeffries Weakens; Kimble's Hit Decides the Game

The Muhlenberg College baseball team vanquished Bucknell on the diamond last Thursday at Allentown, 5-3. A trio of home runs in the eighth inning by Evans, Kimble, and Kreisher enabled the winners to eke out a win.

Bucknell was leading until that fatal eighth frame. Jeffries had pitched great ball for seven frames, limiting the homesters to two runs and three hits. Evans started the fireworks in the eighth with a boundary belt to right field. Before Jeffries had retired the side, both Kimble and Kreisher had nicked the Bison left hander for round trip blows. It was Kimble's home run which decided the game in favor of the Allentown collegians.

Both sides erred once but outside of this the fielding was sharp and clean. "Pottsville" Jones, playing second base for the first time, was rather strange in his new position, making the only Bucknell miscue.

"Pottsville" Jones led the batting attack for the losers by lining out two solid hits in four trips to the plate. Both of Jones' bingles were harsh line drives to right field.

THE FATAL EIGHTH

The box score:

Bucknell	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
James cf	4	0	0	4	0	0
Lobel, 3b	4	1	1	1	2	0
C. Jones, ss	5	0	1	0	0	0
Ammerman, c	4	0	0	7	3	0
Halicki, 1b	4	0	1	10	1	0
Seiler, rf	3	0	1	1	0	0
T. Jones, 2b	4	1	2	0	1	1
Kozik, lf	3	1	1	1	0	0
Jeffries, p	3	0	1	0	1	0
Totals	34	3	8	24	8	1

Muhlenberg	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Pascall, ss	4	0	0	1	1	0
Steinhier, 3b	3	1	0	1	0	0
Evans, c	3	2	2	10	1	0
Kimble, p	4	1	1	0	2	1
Jacobs, 1b	4	0	2	6	1	0
Emple, lf	4	0	0	2	0	0
Kreisher, cf	3	1	1	3	0	0
Smith, 2b	3	0	0	3	3	0
Borelli, rf	3	0	1	1	0	0
Totals	31	5	7	27	8	1

Bucknell ..... 100 200 000—3
Muhlenberg ..... 002 000 03x—5

Home Runs—Evans, Kimble, and Kreisher. Left on bases—Bucknell 8, Muhlenberg 4. Struck out—by Kimble7, Jeffries 8. Bases on balls—off Kimble 2, Jeffries 3. Passed ball—Evans. Sacrifices — Jeffries, Kreisher.

Schuylkill Downs B. U. Squad, 13-10

In a free mitting affair, Schuylkill downed Bucknell 13-10 last Friday in a diamond tilt that was staged at Reading. The game was called because of cold weather in the eighth inning.

Linkfield pitched the first five innings for Bucknell and was shelled off the mound. The Schuylkill batters were in a hitting mood that day, collecting 12 hits off the combined deliveries of Linkfield and Shuman. Shuman pitched the last two innings for Bucknell and his deliveries were hit fairly hard.

Anthony "Burly" Slate, came through with his first hit of the season when, in the role of a pinch hitter in the eighth inning, he greeted the opposing pitcher with a terrific line single through the middle of the diamond.

"Pottsville" Hits Hard

"Pottsville" Jones, continued his batting spurt by driving out two more safeties. Among his collection

(Continued on last page.)

Freshman Diamond Team Defeats Bellefonte 6-1 in Week-end Contest on Foreign Soil

The Bucknell freshmen baseball team turned in the only Bison triumph over the week-end. Although the varsity lost four straight and the track team was snowed under by Penn State, Coach Musser's resolute yearlings managed to chalk up a 6-1 triumph over Bellefonte Academy. Bellefonte defeated the Mussermen on the gridiron last fall so last Saturday's victory furnished the "Baby Bisons" with some consolation over the football setback.

Mound duty for Bucknell was assigned to the burly Steve Trudinak, who pitched airtight ball. Only seven scattered hits were collected off his deliveries while he fanned 14 opposing batsmen. Steve, a speed ball merchant, had his fast ball working with a zip and this factor caused many Bellefonte players to surrender on strikes.

The only run scored by the losers came in the fourth inning when Lamarick tripled and scored on Sample's single. The Bison frosh scored a trio of runs in the third inning by bunching two hits with a pair of passes.

Trudinak's Pitching Features

Trudinak was opposed on the mound by Vavra, another fast ball hurler. Vavra, who also plays football, was found for nine solid hits, three of which were collected by Harry Fry, elongated Bison first sacker. The Picture Rocks boy drove out a brace of singles and a long triple. Clark Hinkle, shortstopping wizard, collected two safe bingles and played a commendable game in the field.

Trudinak's control was flawless as the big moundsman did not issue a base on balls. On the other hand, Vavra gave out three free tickets to first base.

The box score:

B. U. Frosh	AB	R	H	E
Dutchak, cf	3	2	0	0
Hinkle, ss	5	2	2	0
Mills, 3b	5	1	1	0
Fry, 1b	4	1	3	0
Mezzn, 2b	5	0	1	1
Glnsler, lf	2	0	1	0
Cummings, lf	2	0	0	0
Young, rf	4	0	1	0
Shaw, c	3	0	0	0
Trudinack, p	4	0	0	0
Totals	37	6	9	1

Bellefonte	AB	R	H	E
Ducanis, 3b	4	0	0	1
Riedes, 2b	4	0	0	0
Temple, c	4	0	1	0
Sample, rf	4	0	2	0
Lamarck, 1b	4	1	2	1
Hardy, lf	4	0	0	0
Walker, cf	1	0	0	0
Leach, cf	2	0	0	0
Carney, ss	3	0	1	1
Vavra, p	2	0	1	0
Totals	32	1	7	3

Score by innings:

B. U. Frosh	003	010	101—6
Bellefonte	000	100	000—1

Two-base hit—Lamarck. Three-base hits—Fry, Lamarck, Temple. Stolen base—Dutchak. Sacrifices—Fry, Vavra, Ducanis. Struck out by Trudinak (14); by Vavra (8). Walked by Vavra (3). Double play—Riedes to Temple to Riedes. Time of game—2 hrs.

State Track Squad Jolts Bisons, 116-19

Bucknell's track aspirations received a rude jolt on Saturday at State College when the Bison cinder path artists were submerged by the crack Penn State trackmen in a dual meet, 116-19. This marked the second time in two years that the Nittany Lions have passed the century mark in points tallied against Bucknell in track.

"Bill" Mackie, of Port Washington, N. Y., was the only Bison who was able to qualify for a first place. Bill outjumped all competitors to win premier honors in the high jump. Bucknell's track ace also captured a second place in the broad jump.

Les Ely, former Peddie athlete, was runner-up to Mackie in the high jump. Ely's mark was tied by Mobley, who shared second place honors with him.

Musser, of the Nittany Lions, broke the javelin record at Penn State by tossing the spear 187 feet. Captain "Bill" Cox easily captured the two mile event while "Steve" Hamas, State's all-around star won the shot put. Abernathy, Wadsworth, Gittens, and Simpson all won third place qualifications for Bucknell.

The summary:

120 High Hurdles—Mobley, State, first; Stoddart, State, second; Abernathy, Bucknell, third. Time 17 3-5 seconds.

100-Yard Dash—Mowie, State.

Mile Run—Offenhauser, State.

440-Yard Dash—Hidinger, State, first; Flenniken, State, second; Simpson, Bucknell, third. Time, 51 sec.

220-Low Hurdles—Marzucco, State.

Shot Put—Hamas, State.

Hammer Throw — Morrill, State, first; Shawley, State, second; Wadsworth, Bucknell, third. Distance, 148 feet, 6 inches.

Half Mile Run—Offenhauser, State.

Two Mile Run—Cox, State.

Discus Throw — Shawley, State, first; Geiger, Bucknell, second; Wadsworth, Bucknell, third. Distance 126 feet 4 inches.

Javelin Throw—Won by Musser, State; second, Hamas, State; third, Gittens, Bucknell. Distance, 187 feet (new Penn State record).

Broad jump—Won by Browne, State; second, Mackie, Bucknell; third, Mobley, State. Distance, 21 feet 5 1-4 inches.

High Jump—Won by Mackie, Bucknell; Ely and Mobley tied for second. Height 5 feet 7 inches.

220-Yard Dasr—Won by Bowie, State; second, Hidinger, State; third, Simpson, Bucknell. Time 22 3-5 sec.

Pole Vault—La Costa, State.

"Photoplay Appreciation"

A new course, called "Photoplay Appreciation" will be offered in the College of Liberal Arts, at the University of Southern California soon.

B. U. NINE DROPS 6TH STRAIGHT TO GETTYSBURG, 10-4

Ragged Fielding Features Game As Opponents Solve Halicki's Delivery; Lobel Stars

After losing to Lafayette, Muhlenberg, and Schuylkill on successive days the Bucknell nine returned to the Memorial Stadium last Saturday afternoon to receive its fourth setback in as many days and its sixth straight loss. Ira Plank's Gettysburg Bullets, which defeated the Bisons in a diamond engagement earlier in the season, made it two straight by forcing the locals into submission, 10 runs to 4.

"Eddie" Halicki bedecked the hill for the homesters and although hit rather freely, went the entire route. The Gettysburg batters solved his deliveries for 12 hits, which were used in the manufacturing of 10 runs. Halicki pitched great ball in spots but was unsupported. Seven miscues crept into the Bison box score and these errors encouraged a Gettysburg victory.

The two Jones boys were the main culprits who were responsible for Bucknell's ragged play afield. Captain "Chuck" had two misplays chalked up against him while "Pottsville" ingloriously dropped two easy tosses at first base.

After Jones dropped his second toss at the initial sack, Coach Snavely relegated him to the outfield. Here the coal region lad managed to capture a long fly and he almost made a shoestring catch of another one.

Lobel Gets Four Hits

Lobel led the batting attack for the winners, with four singles in as many trips to the plate. Andy drove in a run and scored one himself. This game marked Lobel's best day with the stick since the season opened.

"Pottsville" Jones extended his batting spree to four games in a row by driving out three timely bingles in four visits to the platter. Jones' total bases for the day were four as he drove out one extra base hit, a

(Continued on last page.)

BUCKNELL'S JUVENILE DIAMOND ACE

BY "MAC" McELIGOT

A few years ago Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants introduced a youngster to major league fans who was destined to have a brilliant big league career. The lad was only 17 years of age but he "broke in" with fast company in a rather sensational manner. The latest addition to the McGraw forces batted 383 as a pinch hitter that season and played commendably in the outfield whenever assigned pasture duty.

That was back in 1926. Now this same youngster, Melvin Ott by name only twenty years of age is one of the regular outfielders on the Metropolitan nine. Last season he played regularly and batted well over 300. McGraw calls him the greatest natural ball player that he ever saw. He bids fair to rival the records established by the one and only "Ty" Cobb, who was the greatest ball player that ever lived.

John McGraw may have his juvenile star in Melvin Ott but Coach Snavely of the Bucknell baseball team can boast of a youngster who is only 17 years of age yet has already played in a few college diamond engagements. Among the members of the Bucknell baseball squad is a certain "Jimmy" Shuman, who has just reached his seventeenth milestone. He is by far the youngest player on the Bison squad. One of the veterans affectionately referred to "Jimmy" as the "Baby of the Bisons."

A High School Captain at 15

"Jimmy" entered Bucknell when he was only 15 years of age. He was graduated from Landisburg High School in June 1927. During the spring of that year he captained his high school baseball team, an aggregation that won much fame in and around Harrisburg. It was a signal honor for Shuman to captain a high school team when only 15 years of age.

But "Jimmy" is different. He was in high school when he was 12 years old and made the scholastic nine at the early age of 13. Usually 13 is regarded as unlucky but not so for "Jimmy." Because Shuman's athletic career started when he reached that dreaded number in years.

"Jimmy's" father is an ardent baseball fan. In fact the elder Shuman was a great catcher in his day. He had a chance to try his talent in minor league circles but the Landisburg gentleman was too busy with other occupations. He has always been a teacher and an advisor to his son, "Jimmy." The Bucknell youth tells us that it was due to his father that he acquired what he now knows about baseball.

Shuman's first collegiate baseball education was obtained last spring while a member of the Bison freshman nine. He had just turned 16 last April when he was assigned to cover the second sack in a game with the Penn State freshmen. Shuman made good from the start, his first official act being a long double which figured in the scoring.

Before the season had ended the Landisburg youth had contributed another two-base hit to his team's cause.

As a yearling last season, Shuman was the junior member of Musser's freshmen squad. He played throughout the season and batted well over 300. His fielding was of a noteworthy nature as he had no errors chalked up against him in any game in which he participated.

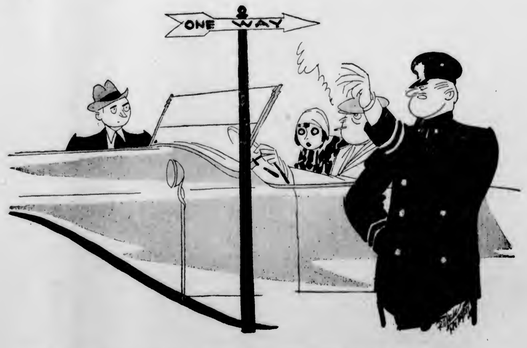
When Coach Snavely issued the first call for varsity candidates this spring, the youngster Shuman was the first on hand to receive a suit. He showed up well in the initial practice sessions but his baptism of varsity fire was postponed until the game with the championship Lafayette nine.

Shuman Makes Impressive Debut

Last Wednesday afternoon at Easton, "Jimmy" received his first chance to make good. Coach Snavely delegated him to cover the middle sack. Shuman, not a bit over anxious, went out on that field at Easton and played like a veteran. The undefeated Lafayette team could not

(Continued on last page.)

Why one-way Street?



"Well, I'm only goin' one way!" replied the legendary motorist to the amazed John Law.

A laudable principle—if applied in the right direction . . . exactly as our long experience in cigarette making assures us that the only avenue to enduring popularity is a one-way street.

All the arrows along Chesterfield's route, from plantation to pocket, point directly to taste. No left turns into insipidity—no detours around the plain duty of good tobaccos—to SATISFY.

An overdose of analogy, perhaps, but you get our drift: Chesterfields are mild—but mildness is not overdone; they're never flat. Naturally smooth, aromatic tobaccos are so blended that every last atom of their flavor is delivered to the smoker.

Here is that very rare bird, a cigarette that does satisfy.

CHESTERFIELD

MILD enough for anybody . . and yet . . THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.

Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.

Keep your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles McD. Morris, '31

"Whatever I am or whatever I may be, I owe to my Mother" found expression last Sunday in the form of a fitting ceremony dedicated to our mothers. Brother McClain handled the situation admirably, and it is to him that we owe our sincerest appreciation for the outstanding Mothers' Day celebration in Pennsylvania Gamma's history.

At this time of the year the young men of Phi Psi are gently turning their thoughts to that crowning event in Bucknell's social season which is looked forward to for many moons by every fraternity man—the Spring house party. The services of Peck Mills and his band of a thousand melodies have been secured to aid us in tripping the light fantastic.

Brothers Marlink Stevens, Ernie Woerner, and "Sex" Bunting, finding Lewisburg too slow for them Sunday afternoon hunted up some old friends of theirs, and went places.

Brother Keller, who prepped at Temple last semester was called to Quakertown on business. He says he had to see a man about a horse.

Pledge brothers Porter and Binder also went home to see a man about a horse.

Brother Hurlburt covered some territory over last week-end. Penn State drew him to its Prom on Friday. We saw a little of him on Saturday but he was off on Sunday again with pledge brother Ellenberger for Harrisburg.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

The big storm last week certainly gave the boys something to do. All the mud and water that swept down from the Hill apparently had our cellar as its final destination. Attired in anything obtainable, the gang labored far into the morning, shovelling, shovelling, and shovelling.

An inkling of brother Kostof's secret social life was revealed on Sunday when he was visited by a trio of beautiful girls from Mount Carmel. Brothers Miller and Walter showed the true fraternity spirit by taking the extra two, enabling Tony to devote his undivided attention to the lucky third one.

And, speaking of women, a fellow in Harrisburg named "Sully" wants to see brother Diehl.

Brother Frampton was one of those in the exodus to Harrisburg for the week-end. What dual lives some boys live!

Saturday passed and Sunday was drawing to a close, but still brother Rosendale was in town. The sporting element were beginning to lay bets that his record was going by the boards. However, just as the sun was dipping, "Rosey" started on his weekly pilgrimage to Montoursville, and his record was strengthened.

An air of expectancy hangs over the house, the boys are in their shirt-sleeves, and the fair Semites are not getting much of a break—for Friday and Saturday comes the House Party.

With brothers Benedict and Walter in charge of the Big Time, and "Ted" Brownagle and His Band booked for the music, everybody is anticipating the best party in years.

PHI GAMMA DELTA
Chris Kammire, '31

Delta chapter of Phi Gamma Delta entertained at the chapter house on Sunday in commemoration of Mothers Day. The members of the chapter were pleasantly surprised by the large number of parents who came to spend the day with their sons, for the gathering was the largest that it as been our fortune to have in many years.

After a delightful dinner the guests were entertained with a pleasing program of music presented by the actives with the assistance of Miss Mellcent Melrose, of the Bucknell School of Music.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
W. J. Chenoweth, '32

The annual Mothers' Day program was held on May 4, at the chapter house. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Lewisson, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Long, Mr. and Mrs. Goodlander, Mr. and Mrs. Klein, Martin and Mildred Klein, Mr. and Mrs. Boyar and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Piersley, Mr. and Mrs. Fox and daughter, Mrs. Ammerman, Mrs. Hamer, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mrs. Koser, Mrs. Purnell, Mother Miller, Mr. and Mrs. K. Miller, Mrs. Farrell, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Reynolds, Misses Charlotte, Margaret, and Ruth Evans, and Mother Bell.

Brothers "Jim" Shuman, "Eddie" Halicki, "Chuck" Jones, and "Pottsville" Jones were away last week on the varsity baseball trip. They returned Friday.

The majority of the brothers attended the Junior Prom at State. Yes, brother "Charlie" Snyder went.

Now that "Hell Week" is over the actives and pledges are getting ready for the house party this coming Friday and Saturday, May 10-11.

KAPPA SIGMA
M. W. Edwards, '30

Brother Long, '29, was away for several days last week on the Senior Mechanical Engineering trip. "Gene" visited several industrial plants in Elmira, Corning, and Painted Post, and was a dinner guest at the Elmira State Reformatory, Friday evening.

Brothers Reinheimer and Koegel spent the week-end at their homes in Lehighton.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

We are sorry to lose Lester Ely, '32, who has accepted a position in Hightstown, N. J.

Spence Hill, '30, has been confined to his home in Williamsport all week because of a minor operation.

Social chairman "Chip" Sorter, '30, is busy making the final preparations for the House Party.

Here's something extraordinary! Fritz Jacobs, '29, spent the week-end in Phoenixville.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Pledge brother Charles Mills spent the week-end at his home in Athens.

Pledge brother Rodger Davis went to his home at Plymouth Sunday with brother Durbin, '29, who stopped here on his way home from the Junior Prom at State College.

"Ikey" Shaffer attended the Junior Prom at State College, Friday evening. According to "Ike," the music sure was warm.

"Johnny" Seigh, "Nick" Nicholson, and "Don" Mills attended the Junior Prom at the State Teachers' College, Lock Haven, on Saturday evening, May 4.

Mr. Evans, father of "Dutch" Evans, was a guest at the house Friday evening, May 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyer and Mr. and Mrs. Miller were dinner guests at the house Sunday, May 5.

Brother Claire Peppard, national traveling secretary, spent the last week-end at the house.

Traditional "Hell Week" is in full swing. The freshmen say that they are having the hottest time since they came to school.

Brother Barlow, chairman of the Decoration committee, has been making elaborate plans for the week-end party on May 10 and 11. The affair promises to be a gala event. Paul Zimmerman and his Easterners, direct from Broadway, will furnish the music.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

Brother "Bill" Laning, '27, who is working with the Bell Telephone Company, spent the past week-end with us.

Miss Myrtle Lingle drove up from Harrisburg last Sunday evening and spent a few moments with her brother, "our own" brother G. L. Two young ladies accompanied Glen's sister on the trip.

"Cliff" Wester, '27, our haughty school teacher from Port Matilda, Pa., stopped in at the house on April 27. "Cliff" is expecting a position in Bloomsburg next year, and while here he drove to that city to look into the matter.

Pledge brother Philips journeyed to the State Capitol on Saturday to give the Governor a "break," but that mighty official must have been warned of the visit for he was away.

Last week was Hell-Week for the pledges, and this week is Hell-Week for the actives, who must listen to the hair-raising experiences of the "frosh" while on the note hunt.

Brother "Johnny" Farrow and pledge brothers Hughes and Wentzel took part in the track meet at State last Saturday.

Wanted: position as night nurse. Can furnish references. Call 000 and ask for S. G.???

The annual pledge banquet will be held tomorrow evening.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

"Ben" Forsythe and "Si" Holcombe, from Gamma chapter at State College, dropped in to say "hello" to the boys Sunday night.

"Mickey" Mermon, '29, and "Gene" Mirarchi, '29, visited their respective homes over the week-end.

"Percy" Andrews, '32, visited some of his relatives at Jersey Shore Saturday.

"Ray" Wolslegal, '32, entertained some friends from Oswego, N. Y., at the house Sunday.

PHI LAMBDA THETA
Blair I. Hazen, '31

Brothers R. F. Humphreys, '31, Eugene Miller, '31, and pledge brother last week in celebration of their sister Fred Koeckert, '32, were the donors of ice cream, cake, and pie spective birthdays.

The parents and friends of pledge brother Fred Koeckert, '32, motored from Perth Amboy, N. J. to spend last week-end with him.

The tea dance held on Saturday afternoon of May 4, at which "Red" Hitchins furnished the required syncopation, was quite a success and was enjoyed by all present. Mrs. F. E. Burpee served in the capacity of chaperone.

As a result of recent elections, the following brothers will serve Gamma chapter for the following year: president, Gordon Koehler, '30; vice president, William Brastow, '31; treasurer, Louis Emery, '31; recording secretary, Russell Ramsey, '31; corresponding secretary, Harold Trostel, '31; warden, Richard Humphreys, '31, and caterer, Paul Emery, '31.

Brother Harry Erikson, '31, was the guest of brother Warren Welker, '30, at the latter's home in Mowry, Pa.

Brother "Hal" Trostel, '31, and pledge brother John Mootz, '32, spent last week-end at their respective homes.

Brother "Bill" Emmitt, '30, spent the week-end in Allentown, attending the I. N. A. conference held there. It's no joke, either!

PI BETA PHI
Elizabeth Dill, '31

The chapter was the thankful recipient of a lovely box of candy, from our last year's president, Gertrude Downs in honor of the announcement of her engagement to Mr. Henry Smith, of Miles, Montana.

Junior Prom at State College, this last week-end, proved a big attraction.

It is reported that "Coon Sanders" has lately been elevated to the same level as "Eddie" Hoffman's" and "Red" Hitchens" world-known orchestras, so it is little wonder that Bucknell experienced a little migration movement. "Fran" Davison, '31, Alice Sweeley, '31, Betty Purdy, '32, Esther Fry, '32, and Marian Ash, '32, were among the sisters and pledge-sisters at the big dance.

In spite of Sunday being Mothers' Day, at the "Sem," "Kay" Hill, '30, Kitty Brown, '30, and Esther Hipple, '31, were the ones fortunate enough to entertain their parents last week-end.

"Kitty" Brown, '30, Reba Decker, '29, and Mary Gross, '31, answered the call of the "old home town" and spent the week-end in Burnside, Williamsport, and Harrisburg, respectively.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Betty Fries, '31

The suite was almost deserted over the week-end since so many of the girls decided to take advantage of the fine weather and spend the week-end elsewhere.

"Joe" Schilling, '29, spent the week-end at State College where she attended the Junior Prom.

"Peg" Bunting, '31, and Blanche Lewis, '30, went home to Doylestown for the week-end.

Mary Tyler, '29, and Esther Johnson, '30, spent the week-end visiting their parents in Altoona.

"Sally" Porter, '29, and "Betty" Tangier, '31, had the pleasure of having their mothers visit them this week-end.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

The second annual Mothers' week-end came to a very successful close last Sunday, May 5. All the affairs were well handled and showed evidence of much hard work. Mrs. Sale provided a lovely luncheon at the Seminary on Saturday noon. The banquet at the "May-Mar" Saturday evening was enjoyed by all. Violets and pink roses furnished the color scheme. "Polly" Brick, Jean Wood, "Judy" Robertson, Mrs. M. C. Bailey and Alice Corbett gave toasts.

The pledges headed by "Em" Maxwell, '30, outdid themselves on the breakfast in the suite Sunday morning. Helen Bell, '30, engineered the week-end but the whole chapter pitched in and everyone helped to make it a week-end the Mothers would remember long after they had gone.

The Mothers who were here included Mrs. R. L. Babcock of Absecon, N. J.; Mrs. M. C. Bailey of Williamsport; Mrs. W. R. Bray of Freeland; Mrs. W. H. Devitt of Devitt's Camp; Mrs. F. O. Erb of Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. E. E. Evans of Tamaqua; Mrs. Groover of Lewisburg; Mrs. B. C. Henion of Merchantville, N. J.; Mrs. W. A. Laning of Pittsburgh; Mrs. H. B. Maxwell of Marion; Mrs. W. J. Mumma of Harrisburg; Mrs. S. B. Potter; Mrs. L. P. Randall of Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. W. W. Robertson of Merchantville, N. J.; Mrs. E. S. Slifer of Woodbury, N. J.; Mrs. W. F. Thomas of Hazelton; Mrs. A. H. Wallace of Wyoming; Mrs. W. Weidemann of Glenside, and Mrs. H. E. Wilson of Woodbury, N. J.

Helen Bell, '30, spent the week-end at Muhlenberg representing the Bucknellian at the I. N. A. Convention.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

The chapter held its annual Mothers' banquet on Friday evening, May 3, in the Manufacturers' Club at Milton. About thirty guests attended. Phoebe Evans, '30, and Mirry Sheehan, '32, delighted with solos and the pledges gave some of the impromptu speeches for which they are famous.

Silver nut spoons were presented to the guests. The tables were attractively decorated with pink roses and purple delphinium. The affair was unanimously judged as the best that the chapter has ever held and everyone reports a thoroughly enjoyable time.

The engagement of Mary Dwyer, '28, to Ray Daggs, '26, was announced at a bridge party at the Daggs home in Pottstown recently. Several Bucknellians were present at the announcement. "Betty" Hettinger, '28, Ruth Heritage, '28, "Betty" Shull, ex-'30, and Martha Thomas, '28. The wedding will take place on June 14. We extend our best wishes.

"Kay" Rodgers, '32, visited Muhlenberg College during the week-end of May 4.

Pictures of Old Main on Sale at the Registrar's Office.

The Pictures appearing on this and last year's Calendars can now be had, framed, for $1.25 each.

Films on Teaching Will be Shown Here

Eastman Representative Plans To Spend May 23 on Campus

A representative of the Eastman Teaching Films, Incorporated has been secured by the Education Department to spend May 23 at Bucknell for a day of demonstrations. He will show several teaching films throughout the day as well as in the evening.

Bucknell is fortunate in having these films to show to her education students. In a study of the potential values of the teaching film made this year by "the Nation's Schools" results were obtained of unusual consequence to the education world.

Tests were made with 5,500 school children to show the value of motion picture methods in minimizing grade failures. The results show that classroom films can raise pupil's marks by an average of 24 per cent, and actually save $3,000,000 a year to a city the size of Chicago.

Motion pictures make definite contributions to education in presenting precise ideas, they are an instrument for maintaining an open mind for the teacher who can learn to operate them. They are found to be effective and adoptable to all types of teaching.

These films to be shown here on May 23 have been carefully chosen and were made under the direction of Dr. Thomas E. Finegan, formerly deputy commissioner of education in New York State and superintendent of public instruction in Pennsylvania.

Bisons Face Ursinus Tomorrow Afternoon

Coach Snavely's Bucknell baseball nine will seek its third victory of the season tomorrow afternoon at the Memorial Stadium when they line up against the Ursinus College ball tossers of Collegeville.

Last spring Bucknell defeated her Ursinus adversaries in a diamond contest that was staged at the stadium. The tussle was a heavy hitting affair with both teams hitting the deliveries of the opposing pitchers freely.

"Eddie" Halicki, star Bison pitcher, will probably draw the assignment to go to the hill against the visiting nine. Wilbur Ammerman will be stationed behind the plate to receive Halicki's slants. The game will be called at three o'clock.

Mr. Bruce Snowden Speaks to Chemists

Mr. Bruce Snowdon from the National Association Institute of Dyeing and Cleaning, Silver Spring, Maryland, spoke to the members of Sigma Beta Chi, local professional chemical fraternity, on Friday evening, May 3. Mr. Snowdon is also a Research Associate for the Celanese Corporation of America.

Mr. Snowdon gave as his general topic "The Cleaning and Dyeing of Textile Fabrics," but preliminary to the specific discussion he gave some general discussion concerning the relation of chemistry to the cleaning and dyeing processes, and pointed out the very important fact that there are very few textile chemists available today.

The several synthetic fibers were discussed, with a brief outline of the general method of preparation of each, their value as textile materials and some of their properties by which the several varieties of synthetic silk may be distinguished. The methods used in the cleaning and dyeing operations were explained in a very logical manner, and a number of dyed and printed fabrics of the Celanese variety of synthetic silk were presented for inspection.

Three Bucknellians Attend Conference at Gettysburg

Chas. Mohr, '30, Marvel Keagy, '31, and Donald Lord, '31, attended the Officers Training Conference held by the State Student Y. M. C. A., at Gettysburg College, May 3, 4, 5. Prof. C. M. Bond represented the faculty group.

Dr. Henry H. Crane, popular Scranton pastor, was the leading speaker of the conference. President H. W. A. Hanson of Gettysburg College made the closing address.

Chas. Mohr, council representative of the Bucknell association, was elected treasurer of the State Student Council. A hundred students, representing the colleges of eastern Pennsylvania, attended the conference.

SCHUYLKILL DEFEATS BUCKNELL SQUAD, 13-10

(Continued from page 6.)

was a two-base blow. Seiler also collected a double. So far on the trip Jones' batting had been the feature. He started off slowly but has hit his stride.

Wilbur Ammerman, former New York Military Academy athlete, also contributed a pair of bingles to the Bucknell team's offensive attack.

ONLY THREE RUNS BEHIND

The box score:

Bucknell	R	H	O	A	E
James, cf	1	1	0	0	0
Lobel, 3b	1	1	1	2	1
C. Jones, ss	1	1	1	3	2
Ammerman, c	1	2	2	2	0
Halicki, 1b	1	1	10	0	0
Seiler, rf	1	1	0	0	0
T. Jones, 2b	1	2	2	1	0
Kozik, lf	1	1	4	0	0
Linkfield, p	1	1	1	4	0
Shuman, p	0	0	0	1	0
Slate	1	1	0	0	0
Totals	10	12	21	13	3

Schuylkill	R	H	O	A	E
L. Snader, c	1	0	7	1	0
J. Kopp, c	0	0	1	0	0
Andrews, cf	1	1	0	1	0
Royj, ss	3	2	1	2	3
White, lf	2	2	2	0	1
T. Boyle, 1b	2	2	8	0	0
B. Kopp, p	0	2	0	1	0
Purnell, 2b	1	2	3	0	0
Emmett, 3b	1	0	1	5	1
Schaeffer, rf	2	1	1	0	0
Totals	13	12	24	10	5

Slate batted for Shuman in eighth and singled.

Bucknell	020	000	08—10
Schuylkill	021	006	4x—13

Two-base hits—Purnell, T. Boyle, Seiler, T. Jones. Sacrifice hit—C. Schaeffer. Sacrifice fly — White. Stolen bases—White, Boyle. Double play—Linkfield and Halicki. Hits—off Linkfield, 9 in 6 innings; off Shuman, 3 in 1 inning. First base on balls—by Linkfield 7; by Shuman 1; by B. Kopp 7. Hit by pitcher—by B. Kopp: T. Jones, Lobel. Struck out—by Linkfield 2; by B. Kopp 6. Left on bases—Bucknell 1; Schuylkill 9. Wild pitch—Linkfield. Umpires Burnett and Buckley. Time—2 hr.

B. U. DROPS SIXTH STRAIGHT TO BULLETS

(Continued from page 6.)

long double to right in the sixth inning.

A lightning double play, Davis to Gulian to McMillan, was the fielding feature of the game. McCloy, with three hits, was the batting star for the winners.

ONE BY ONE THEY SLIP BY

The box score:

Gettysburg	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
Challenger, rf	3	2	1	1	0	0
McMillan, 1b	4	1	0	11	0	0
Davis, ss	3	1	1	1	3	0
McCloy, 3b	5	3	3	3	0	0
Gulian, 2b	5	1	2	6	1	1
Stoner, cf	4	1	2	0	0	0
Roche, lf	5	1	2	1	1	0
Weikert, c	5	0	1	3	0	0
Utz, p	5	0	0	1	3	0
Totals	39	10	12	27	8	1

Bucknell	AB	R	H	PO	A	E
James, cf	4	2	2	1	0	0
Lobel, 3b	4	1	1	1	0	1
Brumbaugh, 2b	3	0	1	3	1	1
C. Jones, ss	4	0	0	1	0	2
Ammerman, lf	4	0	1	4	0	0
Seiler, rf	4	1	1	2	0	0
T. Jones, 1b	4	0	3	9	0	2
Halicki, p	4	0	0	1	4	0
Mitchell, c	3	0	1	5	1	1
Totals	34	4	13	27	6	7

Score by innings:

Gettysburg	110	002	303—10
Bucknell	010	020	100— 4

Two-base hits—T. Jones, Roche, Gulian (2). Three-base hits—James (2). Sacrifice hit—Challenger, McMillan, Davis, Stoner, Mitchell. Stolen bases—McCloy, Gulian. Double play—Davis to Gulian to McMillan. Struck out by Halicki, 6; by Utz, 3. Base on balls off Halicki, 2; off Utz 1.

Sigma Chis Now Head League; Defeat Beta Kappas by 7-4

The Sigma Chi baseball team assumed undisputed control of first place in their league by defeating the Beta Kappas on Tuesday evening at Loomis Field, 7-4. "Lou" Mutzel did the pitching for the winners while Huffman toed the slab for the losing nine. Mutzel, besides pitching a fine game, treated himself to a pair of base hits.

Sam Hoak drove out a long home run in the first inning which was the only boundary belt of the game.

The score by innings:

Sigma Chi	200	014	0—7
Beta Kappa	020	002	0—4

Batteries—Sigma Chi: Mutzel and Crowe; Beta Kappa: Huffman and Posten.

Tennis Team Stages Comeback to Win, 5-2

Juniata Is Outclassed by Bison Netmen in Matches Yesterday

A rejuvenated Bison tennis team, inspired by the winning and productive efforts of Captain George Frost, Ramon De Filippo, Wally Wilkinson, and Bill Welchons, vanquished a stubborn Juniata foe yesterday afternoon on the University courts by a 5-2 advantage.

Outstanding in the Bucknell victory was Captain Frost, whose remarkable net skill was demonstrated to the very utmost before a bewildered Juniata opponent. Frost easily outclassed Caulton, his opponent in the singles match, by the scores of 6-4 and 6-0.

DeFilippo followed Frost in the singles match and conquered Flory 6-2 and 6-3 after losing the first set 4-6. Welchons made it three straight for Bucknell by taking the measure of Underkoffler, 4-6, 6-1, and 6-2.

The initial Juniata triumph of the afternoon was registered when Baker of Bucknell surrendered to Longwell, his Juniata adversary, 6-3 and 6-3. Wally Wilkinson increased the Bucknell lead again when he subdued Grossnickle 6-2 and 6-3. Wilkinson won the first and last sets while Grossnickle managed to insert a 6-2 victory between the Bucknell racqueteer's two triumphs.

Doubles Are Divided

The Bison netmen broke even in their doubles matches. The reliable Captain Frost, paired off with the versatile Bill Welchons, combined efforts and ability to vanquish Flory and Longwell. The final match of the afternoon was decided when DeFilippo and Baker dropped a 6-3 and 6-1 verdict to Underkoffler and Grossnickle.

The summaries:

Singles—Frost, Bucknell defeated Caulton, Juniata, 6-4; 6-0.

De Filippo, Bucknell defeated Flory Juniata, 4-6; 6-2; 6-3.

Longwell, Juniata defeated Baker, Bucknell, 6-3; 6-3.

Welchons, Bucknell defeated Underkoffler, 4-6; 6-1; 6-2.

Wilkinson, Bucknell defeated Grossnickle, 6-2; 2-6; 6-3.

Doubless—Frost and Welchons, Bucknell defeated Flory and Longwell of Juniata, 6-2; 6-1.

Underkoffler and Grossnickle of Juniata defeated DeFilippo and Baker, Bucknell, 6-3; 6-1.

Language Departments Meet At Enoch Perrine Library

The staffs of the English, French, Greek, Spanish, Latin, and German Departments met recently in the Enoch Perrine Memorial Library in the Biology Building to discuss the needs and projects of the various language departments at Bucknell.

Plans for the improvement of these departments were discussed at the meeting. Three Language Conferences of this type will be held at Bucknell each year to develop methods for raising the standards of the language departments here.

BUCKNELL'S JUVENILE DIAMOND ACE—SHUMAN

(Continued from page 6.)

scare him. He stood up to the plate when at bat and managed to coax a pair of passes from the Leopard pitcher. In the field, Shuman performed in a faultless manner. Not an error was chalked up against him. He was a vital part of that machine that almost took the measure of the powerful Easton aggregation.

Last Friday Shuman was again called upon by Coach Snavely to perform. This time the Bison mentor called Shuman to the mound to stem the tide. Schuylkill was hitting hard and it was up to Shuman to silence their bats. The youthful Bison, in the role of the moundsman, accended the knob and quelled the rally. He pitched two innings and his work was of an impressive nature.

Now Shuman is awaiting his third chance which will present itself in the near future. His recent performance has provided him with a permanent position on the Bison squad. With two years to go yet, Shuman should develop into one of Bucknell's diamond satellites. He's only 17 years of age—so give him a chance.

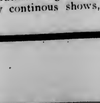
PROF. H. R. WARFEL ADDRESSES CLIO CLUB

Assistant Professor H. R. Warfel was the speaker at the annual breakfast of the Clio Club of Williamsport held in the Women's Club Building at that place yesterday.

Professor Warfel's subject was "Changing Fashions in Fiction." Last fall Professor Warfel addressed the Clio Club and was so well received that he was scheduled for a return engagement.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.



The best is none too good when it comes to a gift for "Sweet-heart", Graduate or Bride.

That is why we invite you to see our stock of Diamonds, Rings, Clocks, Watches, Silverware etc.

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

Dance or Dinner Music To Hire

At a Moderate Price

We will RENT a Phonograph—Electric Pick-up Instrument of largest capacity furnishing ample volume for

Dinner-Dance Programs

At a price to make such features more frequent in the Fraternity circles of Bucknell. We will be glad to quote rates.

W. L. DONEHOWER
Local Phonograph-Radio Dealer
424 MARKET ST., LEWISBURG, PA.

"MOTHERS DAY"

Youth blossoms into manhood on our Hill-top,
And time flies swiftly e'er our work is done.
We build upon our yesterdays, and surely
Our lives are molded by each battle won.

A Mother's eye has watched each footstep's pointing;
A Mother's heart has felt each joy, each pain;
A Mother's prayer in faith guides every motive;
A Mother's love calls home her youth again.

Youth's sacrifices all were paid by Mother,
Her loving guidance all our moments bless.
—Each battle won gives back in simple measure.
—Each victory for us, is her success.

By One of the Force.

The College Inn

BIJOU THEATRE
MILTON

TODAY, THURSDAY MAY 9
100% All Talking—All Powerful
JEANNE EAGELS "THE LETTER"

FRIDAY and SATURDAY, MAY 10-11
A Wm. Fox Movietone with Sound and Music.
VICTOR McLAGLEN in "STRONG BOY"

NEXT MONDAY and TUESDAY, MAY 13-14
100% All Talking Picture
"DOCTOR'S SECRET"
One of the BEST All Talking Pictures.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, MAY 15-16
D. W. Griffith's "THE BATTLE OF THE SEXES"
With Sound Effects and Musical Synchronization.

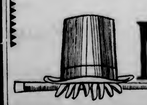
COMING ATTRACTIONS—MAY 20-21
FRED WARING'S PENNSYLVANIANS in "SYNCOPATION"
All Talking—All Singing—All Playing.
RICHARD DIX in "REDSKIN"; with Vitaphone.
RICHARD BARTHELMESS
in His First Talking and Singing Production
"WEARY RIVER"
MILTON SILLS
in His First Talking and Best Picture
"BARKER"

MAKE Bijou your Meeting Place where high class Vitaphone and Movietone Talking Pictures are shown at Special Low admission prices. Matinee: 2:30—15c, 30c. Evening: 7:00 and 9:00. Saturday continous shows, 2:30 till 11:30. Prices: 5c, 25c, 35c.

House Parties

This week-end will be a merry one for most of the fraternity groups at Bucknell. The sugar's coming in—Soup and Fish one night—sport clothes the other night (providing old man Pluvius permits)—dancing to the tunes of red-hot rythm. All combined to make a "Wow" of a party.

Here's your chance—since the faculty ruling on yelling or making "whopee"——drop in and let us hear you yell your orders for your House Party requirements.



MONTGOMERY'S
at Bucknell

THE GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
HEAR DADDY GEORGE
THURSDAY EVE., MAY 23
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
BUCKNELL HALL—8:15

The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY

VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1929. NUMBER 31

ANNUAL MAY DAY FETE
SATURDAY AFTERNOON
MAY 18—3 P. M.

Annual May Fete Will Take Place Saturday, May 18

Nineteen Seniors Selected For Court: One of the Group To Be Crowned Queen

50 GIRLS HAVE PARTS IN OPERETTA DANCES

The May Queen, whose identity will remain a secret until her triumphal entry at the beginning of the fifteenth annual May fete, will be crowned this Saturday afternoon on the men's campus opposite the home of President Hunt at three o'clock, amidst a picturesque background of flowers and pretty co-eds.

Nineteen attendants from the senior class have been chosen to form the Court of Honor. The Queen is one of the nineteen. The names of these attendants have just been divulged. They are: Helen Steinhilper, Rhoda Herr, Mary Elizabeth Evans, Thelma Showalter, Jessie Fielding, Mary Slifer, Sara Porter, Louise Graef, Betty Siegfried, Jinny Moser, Jane Foust, Jean Wood, Eloise Bailey, Mary Wagner, Oella Kisor, Frannie Saul, Naomi Brace, Sara Collner, and Esther Girton.

In conjunction with the crowning of the May Queen, will be given a light operetta, entitled "Marenka." The chief participants in this operetta are: Ruth James, '32, Frances Weibel, '31, Louise Reinhardt, '30, and Bettina Buehman, '32. Approximately 50 girls will take part in the various dances that make up the operetta.

Operetta To Tell Story

The operetta tells of Honza who is in love with Marenka, (little Mary) the heroine; but Tatinek (little

(Continued on page 5)

Bucknell Student Strikes Bicyclist

Melvin Paul Runs Down Boy; Victim on Way to Recovery

The condition of Ralph Singley, eleven-year-old Lewisburg boy who received a fracture of the skull when he was knocked from his bicycle late Monday afternoon by a car driven by Melvin W. Paul, '29, is "definitely improved," according to Dr. L. P. Fowle, University physician, yesterday evening. Dr. Fowle is in close touch with the case, the patient now being in the Geisinger hospital in Danville.

At eight o'clock this morning the boy had not entirely regained consciousness, remaining in a state of coma most of the time. Last night it was stated by Dr. Fowle that the prospects for the lad's ultimate recovery were more hopeful than they have been at any time since the accident, and his condition this morning was practically the same.

Paul, a member of the Phi Lambda Theta fraternity and whose home is in Plymouth, Pa., has remained at the hospital to be near the injured lad almost constantly since Monday night.

The Singley boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Singley, the former being manager of the local Western Union telegraph office, was riding his bicycle on Seventh street, going toward Market, and had just reached the intersection of St. George street when the Ford coupe driven by Paul approached, traveling in the opposite direction. The younger lad seemingly became confused, and manoeuvred around so that, acording to the driver of the car, he was on the wrong side of the street when he was struck in such a manner that he was thrown head first to the pavement. The car did not pass over him, witnesses said.

Driving slowly at the time, Paul stopped the car within a few feet. Young Singley was unconscious and bleeding from the ears when picked up. Paul helped to take the boy to the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary where he was attended by Dr. Fowle. On the advice of the latter, the injured child was taken to the Geisinger hospital later in the evening in the community ambulance.

The car driven by Paul is owned by Miss Viola Hockenberry, daughter

(Continued on last page.)

Reports on Original Research are Given

Charles Mohr Elected President Of Biological Society

Seven reports on student research were made at the meeting of the Biological Society, last evening in B6, at 7:30.

New officers of the society, elected last night are as follows: president, Charles E. Mohr, '30; vice president, Maynard B. Henry, '30; secretary, A. Beulah Lesher, '30; and treasurer, Kenneth J. Beckerman, '31.

"The present status of Cephenomyia" was the paper presented by the retiring president, Geddes W. Simpson, '29. He reported on the discovery of the deer parasite in six parts of the state, and explained plans for pushing the research work on the problem.

A hundred and seventeen birds are recorded within the confines of the Montandon marsh according to a report made by Maynard Henry, '30. An unusual method of capillary injection was explained by John Snyder, '30, in a talk on histological technique. A paper on the "Wild Flowers of May" was presented by Miriam Groner, '31, who discussed their classifications.

"Our Smallest Amphibian" was the subject of Alta Vosburg, '29. She reported on the habits of the spring peeper. A. Beulah Lesher, '30, presented a paper on modern aspects of genetics, explaining its significance in every aspect of biology. "A New Salamander" was reported by Chas. Mohr, '30, who illustrated his talk with actual salamander eggs and several species of live salamanders.

Small Colleges Minus Religion

In an interview at Ohio University, recently, Clarence Darrow, the noted criminal lawyer and lecturer, stated that he was in favor of smaller colleges if they omitted religion.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

Campus Club Lawn Party For Seniors on Tuesday

Every year the faculty women of the Campus Club give a reception to the girls of the outgoing class. This year it is to be held on Tuesday afternoon, May 21, on the lawn of Mrs. Hunt's home. It is always a most enjoyable affair, and only once has it been necessary to have it indoors because of unfavorable weather. We hope that the streak of "Tuesday rain" will surely stop before next week.

Mrs. Ziegler Gives New Sterilizer to Memorial Infirmary

Modern Electrical Equipment Is The Best Known to Science; To be Ready Within Week

Through the generosity of Mrs. Weston Ziegler, the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary, a memorial to Mrs. Ziegler's husband, has recently been presented with the very latest in electric sterilizing equipment. This apparatus is the best known to modern science, and makes the Bucknell Infirmary for men, as far as equipment is concerned, the equal of any college or university infirmary in its class in the United States.

The new apparatus includes an instrument sterilizer, a pressure autoclave, a water sterilizer, and a water still. As all the new devices are electric, an additional power line is being run to the Infirmary. It is expected that the equipment will be in use within a week.

Ever since the infirmary was remodeled and refurnished, Mrs. Ziegler has taken the greatest interest in its upkeep. She has seen to it that the institution is well supplied with all equipment necessary for giving Bucknell students the best medical care. For instance, a large van drove up to the infirmary on the first day of January of this year and a load of sheets, blankets, towels, and other goods was taken from it. All that was a New Year's present from Mrs. Ziegler. And the infirmary receives similar welcome gifts quite often, and always from the same source.

Frosh to Discard Dinks and Rules On Monday Eve

Senior Tribunal To Frown Upon Too Boisterous Activities And Punish Offenders

RUNNING OF GAUNTLET TO END FROSH YEAR

The date for Senior Night, with all its gauntlet running, dink burning, sophomore chasing, and other celebration, has been set by the Senior Tribunal for next Monday night, May 20. Regulations for the ceremonies of the evening, as set by the Tribunal, are as follows:

"At eight-thirty the freshmen will meet in the quadrangle. They must each have a short hand paddle not over two feet long or shorter than eighteen inches. They will march down to the gym, escorted by upperclassmen, where there will be a roll call of every man in the class. Then events will take their customary Senior Night course.

"There must be absolutely no destruction of property, either of the townspeople or of the college. Severe penalties will be dealt out to anyone, whether freshman or not, who is caught doing this. There must be no stacking or rooms or decorating of the campus in any manner."

As has been the custom in the past, the upperclassmen will probably form a gauntlet extending across

(Continued on page 5)

Parents' "At Home" Brings Many Guests

Faculty Members, House Mothers Greet Visitors At Sem

On Sunday afternoon of Mother's Day, May 12, the Administration Group of the Women's College and the house mother's of the men's fraternities set a precedent for a new custom on the campus by holding an "At Home" for all parents in the living room of the new dormitory from three to five o'clock. Dean Amelia E. Clark, Mrs. George G. Sale, Mrs. Juanita Manning, Mrs. Anna M. Beatty, Mrs. Susan Little, Mrs. Bessie G. Bell, Mrs. George Miller, and Miss Majel Brooks acted as hostesses.

Despite the storm and the fact that many of the fraternities had previously observed Mother's Day, a number of mothers—and a few "dads" too—attended the delightfully informal gathering. Refreshments were served in the form of punch and wafers. "Parents' Day" will doubtless soon be added to Bucknell's list of splendid traditions.

Committee Selects Comedy To be Presented June 10

"The Family Upstairs," a comedy of home life by Harry Delf, was selected by the committee on plays as the play to be presented on June 10, as part of the Commencement Week program.

The cast selected for the play is, Victor Meyer, as Charles Grant; Frederick Yust, Mr. Heller; Grace Link, Annabelle, the baby sister; Louise Zeigler, Louise Heller, the elder sister; John Dexter, Willie Heller, the brother; Mary Smith, Mrs. Heller; Constance Hulick, Miss Calahan; and Elizabeth Siegfried, Mrs. Grant.

Cap and Dagger held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening, May 9, at Bucknell Hall and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: president, Wilson Rise, '30; vice president-treasurer, John Volgarino, '31; and secretary, John Dexter, '32.

MATHEWSON MEMORIAL SERVICE TO BE HELD

Plans are being made for a memorial service to be held on Sunday, May 26, at the grave of Christy Mathewson, ex-'02, in the Lewisburg cemetery.

A large delegation of ex-service men and baseball men are expected to attend the services. It has been announced that moving pictures are to be taken of the service for the use of a photo-news service.

Scout Executives to Hold Seminar at Bucknell Today

"Civic Service" To Be Discussed By Delegates From 14 Councils

"Civic Service" was the subject of the Scout Executives Seminar held at Bucknell today under the direction of Executive Taylor, of the Susquehanna Valley Council.

The district governors of the Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions clubs, and a representative from each club attended the Seminar. Scout executives from fourteen councils are included in these training conferences, coming from councils as widely separated as Altoona and Lebanon, Potter and Cumberland Valley.

The Bucknell Seminar is one of three in Pennsylvania and was organized by Executive Taylor last year. Nine meetings are held during the year; two members of the University faculty addressing each session. The other seminars are held at Johns Hopkins University and the University of Pittsburgh.

1929 Bucknell Verse Now Ready for Sale

Undergraduate Poetic Efforts Show Varied Interests

Bucknell Verse for 1929, the fourth annual volume, was published this week by the English Department of the University, and will be on sale at 50c a copy at the office of Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel, on the third floor of the Biology Building, and at the University Book Store. The book contains 36 compositions by 17 undergraduates contributors, of whom seven are seniors, four are juniors, three are sophomores, and three are freshmen.

A complete review of the volume by Dr. H. W. Robbins will be found on page 5 of this issue of the Bucknellian.

In an after-word the judges explain: "The publication of collegiate verse has become so common within the past few years that this fourth annual collection of verse written by students of Bucknell University needs neither introduction nor apology. As in the past, we have limited rigorously the number of poems to be printed, with the purpose of exhibiting the range rather than the fecundity of our students."

Major credit for the successful publication of the book must be given to Assistant Professor Harry R. Warfel and Professor Harry W. Robbins, of the English Department. Assistant Professor Warfel assumed the task of collecting the contributions, providing the judges with copies, and distributing the books. For the past four years Dr. Robbins has, without charge, performed the entire work of setting-up and making-up the volume.

The judges of this year's volumes were Professors H. W. Robbins, W. H. Coleman, Leo L. Rockwell, and Assistant Professors Harry R. Warfel, Jennie D. Phillips, and Charles W. Smith.

PROF. C. R. JOHNSON SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Professor Clarence Johnson spoke in upper class chapel Tuesday morning. He took as a subject the Mohammedan mosque which was built fifteen hundred years ago as the Christian church of St. Sophia. It is one of the most beautiful buildings in the world.

Prof. Johnson described the beggars who turn their backs to the beautiful edifice and beg for paltry coins. He compared this spectacle to our college life when so many students turn their backs to the best things in life, and devote their time to things of little importance. "I think," he concluded, "The finest thing that can come to you in your college life is an increasing knowledge of the life and teachings of Jesus, to give you courage to fight the battles of life."

Enter Byron Sharpe, Jr.

A son, weighing eight pounds, was born to Instructor and Mrs. Byron Sharpe Hollinshead, Tuesday morning at the Geisinger Hospital in Danville. The baby has been given the name of Byron Sharpe Hollinshead, Junior.

Founder of Miniature Republic Will Speak in Chapel Thursday

Daddy George To Tell of Civic And Economic Phases of Life in the Village

CHILDREN PAID TO GO TO SCHOOL HALF DAY

Citizens Are Self - Governing; "Nothing Without Labor"

"Daddy" (William R.) George, the founder of the George Junior Republic at Freeville, N. Y., in 1895, will speak to faculty and students at Bucknell in chapel on Thursday, May 23, and he will also lecture in the evening in Bucknell Hall. More than 3000 children have come and gone from the George Junior Republic in the 34 years of its existence, and William R. George has always been just "Daddy" to them.

Is a Miniature Republic

The George Junior Republic is the only place of its kind in the country where children are paid to go to school. The republic is modelled after a typical village in the United States, with the exception that residents reach full citizenship at the age of 16 years instead of 21 years as is true in the national government. The village is a miniature republic, and although on a smaller scale, all affairs, both economic and civic, are conducted just as in the national government. The George Junior Republic purposes to prepare children for citizenship, and with that thought and ideal in view William R. George conceived the idea of young people governing themselves.

In 1890 Mr. George started a fresh air camp for boys and girls, but it was not until July 10, 1895 that the George Junior Republic had its beginning. Five boys who during the summer had resided at the fresh air camp were the pioneer citizens of the republic, and under "Daddy's" direction elected their first officers.

Strictly Self-Governing

The republic is absolutely self-governing, and no person over 21 years of age has any voice in the making or enforcing of the laws of that community. The laws are those

(Continued on last page.)

Bucknellians in "Y" Room

Hereafter a limited number of copies of the Bucknellian will be placed in the "Y" Room on Thursday afternoons. By reading the Bucknellian in that room the non-fraternity men will be able to get the news while it is still "news." They will however, receive their copies through the mail as before.

Prominent Speakers To Come To Campus For Commencement

Dr. David Robertson, Chaplain R. W. Shrum, and others to Receive Honorary Degrees

Dr. David Allan Robertson, assistant director of the American Council on Education, of Washington, D. C., will be the main speaker on the commencement week program. Dr. Robertson addressed the Educational Conference which was held here last fall, and is well known for his participation and work in educational fields.

The commencement week program will include a number of very interesting features. Some of them are: the baccalaureate sermon, delivered by President Hunt, the Sunday night oratorio, Verdi's "Requiem," which will be held in the Baptist church, the Cap and Dagger play, the Alumni Ball, the Corporation dinner, the commencement exercises, and the conferring of honorary degrees.

Honorary degrees will be conferred upon the following men: President M. G. Filler, of Dickinson College; Captain Reuben W. Shrum, of Washington, D. C., who is a Bucknell graduate; Dr. David A. Robertson, of Washington, D. C.; David Montfort Medeholr, head of the department of History at Gerard College, and Supervisor or High School Instruction; and James Allen Jackson, superintendent of the Danville State Hospital for Mental Diseases.

The degrees conferred will be as follows: LL.D. to President Filler; D.D. to Captain Shrum; Litt.D. to Dr. Robertson; Sc.D. to Dr. Jackson; and Dr. of Pedagogy to D. M. Melchior.

A departure from an old custom will be that of having the Corporation dinner in the New Dining Hall instead of in Tustin Gymnasium as in previous years.

League Lays Plans For 40th Anniversary

Fred Heather, '30, Will Address Group; Special Music

The fortieth anniversary of the organization of the Epworth League will be celebrated at the evening service in the Beaver Memorial Methodist Church which will be entirely in charge of the young people. An attractive program of music and other features has been arranged. The newly elected president of the Methodist Student Council, Mr. Wm. Shure, will preside. A choir of young people will furnish music. The service will be at 7:30. The program:

Organ Prelude ..... Chas. Rivenburg
Devotions ..... Wm. Shure
Music by Trumpet Trio.
Address—"The One Thing"
—Fred Heather
Violin Solo ..... Frank Jeckel
Candle-light Installation Service of New officers.
Music by Girls' Quartette.
Organ Postlude ..... Chas. Rivenburg

The following persons were elected to serve on the Methodist Student Council at the Epworth League:

President, Wm. Shure; first vice president, Grace Fithian; second vice president, Chas. Titus; third vice president, Eleanor Slater; fourth vice president, Ruth Taylor; fifth vice president, Arthur Shorts; secretary-treasurer, Thelma Showalter; pianist, Delazon Higgins; assistant pianist, Ida Beyer.

High Schools to Vie For Track Honors

Trophy Will Be Presented To Winning School, Also Medals

The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association will hold its annual track and field meet for District No. 4, at the Bucknell Stadium, next Saturday, May 18.

Among the high schools to be represented in the meet are Lewisburg, Sunbury, Northumberland, Westfield, Milton, Selinsgrove, Mifflinburg, Muncy, Picture Rocks, and Williamsport.

A trophy will be awarded to the high school winning the meet, and medals are to be given to contestants who place first, second, or third in each event.

The field events scheduled are running high jump, running broad jump, discus throw, javelin throw, shot put, and pole vault. The track events are, 220-yard dash, 220-yard hurdles, 440-yard run, 880-yard run, 100-yard dash, and relay races.

For the past number of years the track meets have been largely attended by Bucknell students. In the 1927 meet won by Lock Haven High School, Graham of Chester set a new secondary school record for the broad jump.

John Plant, director of physical education has acted as an official at a number of past meets and will probably be present next Saturday to aid in the running off of the events.

Lock Haven athletes will not enter the contest this year but will probably have their own local field day.

To Grant Athletic Diplomas

According to the plans drawn up by the letter club of Tulane University athletic diplomas will be granted to graduating students who have won varsity sport letters while at the University.

Dorothy Holt, '30, spent the week-end at State College, Pa.

• • • •

Olivia Smith, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Nanticoke.

• • • •

"Mid" Headings, '29, visited her parents in McAlisterville last week-end.

• • • •

"Dot" Robertson, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Blair's Mills.

• • • •

Doris Anthony, '32, spent the week-end at her home in Edgewater Park, New Jersey.

• • • •

Virginia Cowell, '31, has been chosen to represent the new junior class at the Eaglesmere convention.

• • • •

Miss Eleanor Winslow, '28, returned to Bucknell for the week-end to attend the Phi Gam week-end party.

• • • •

Prof. Charles Bond's class on the Church School will journey to Shamokin and Johnston City Saturday, May 25.

• • • •

"Marty" Von Nelda, '29, suffered a sprained ankle, when she fell down the steps at the Delta Sigma house Friday night.

• • • •

"Mary Lib" Evans, '29, is going to spend the coming school year teaching in the high school of her home town, Jeanette.

• • • •

Rhoda Herr, '29, has secured a position to teach history and English in the high school of her home town, Lancaster, for next year.

• • • •

Dr. T. F. Hamblin professor emeritus of Greek, spoke to a number of Professor O. W. Elsbree's history classes on Monday morning, May 13, on current political problems.

• • • •

Jean Wood, '29, spent last week-end with Eloise Bailey, '29, at the latter's home in Williamsport. The girls report a very good time, a few more hours sleep, and an especially long ride.

• • • •

"I made out the final exam for this course this morning," and "I have here a copy of your final exam," are remarks which greet us in some of our classes. Do the professors mean to be tantalizing, or are they merely warning us that the Day of Judgment is drawing nigh?

Edna Cease, '31, had the pleasure of a visit from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Cease of Wilkes-Barre. Edna enjoyed a picnic dinner with her family.

• • • •

One co-ed recently spent seven and a half consecutive hours in the library. She says that she accomplished a lot, and we don't wonder that she considered it a day well spent.

• • • •

White rats have become popular around the "Sem" lately. Several co-eds keep or have kept one or more of these odd pets, and just at present Marie Fetherolf, '29, owns two of which she is quite proud.

• • • •

"Dot" Berlin couldn't wait till Thursday to celebrate her birthday She had a feed Sunday night where the guests managed to consume two canes, two pots of coffee and a quart jar of pickles, to say nothing of the other things.

• • • •

The members of Professor N. H. Stewart's zoology class have at least one advantage over the classes of former years. They are the first to have the cat to dissect and study, and they are finding it very interesting.

• • • •

Prof. W. H. Eyster held up a specimen of Bishop's Cap and asked his botany class what it was. One of the students answered, though not loudly enough for the professor to hear, "Oh, yes, that's Bishop's Whiskers."

• • • •

"Frankie" Stringer, '30, Betty Huxley, '30, and Mary Bolger, '32, attended the house party at Colgate University last week-end. On Friday night they attended the Junior Prom, on Saturday afternoon a tea dance, and an informal dance in the evening.

• • • •

Prof. H. T. Colestock had an errand to do in Philadelphia during the week-end of May 4-5, so he drove down Saturday morning and took three "Semites" with him. The fortunate girls were Fern Reno and Blanche Lewis, both of '30, and "Dot" Grimshaw, '31. Fern spent the week-end with her sister, Carrie, ex-'30, who is in training at the Philadelphia General Hospital. "Dot" and Blanche spent the time at home. The week-enders came back Sunday afternoon.

B.U.Bookshelf

DODSWORTH
By Sinclair Lewis
Harcourt, Brace & Co., 1929, $2.50.
Reviewed by Kenneth Haynes, '31

If the name Sinclair Lewis has formerly proved rather sensational to the more puritanical minds, here's a new Lewis "preachment" with a good bit of his usual thunder left out. A book that may even be read by Sunday school teachers without a qualm!

"Dodsworth" is a novel that you would recognize anywhere as a Lewis concoction, whether his name was appended to it or not. For the zenith of Main Street is everywhere in evidence, and so are the Main street characters. Sam Dodsworth, the Yale "grad" who tries to take his beloved zenith with him everywhere he goes, is typical.

You like Sam; Mr. Lewis wants you to. And you feel sorry for him as he follows his pretty wife about Europe like a poodle dog on a leash. And what of that pretty wife—Fran Dodsworth! She is a much more difficult individual to find affection for. Fran is one of those Main Streeters who hates zenith and everything else which isn't ultra—socially inclined. Tempermental, always unsatisfied, she pursuades Sam to take her to Europe where her vanity promptly satiates itself in a circle of admirers, or more nearly—lovers.

Up to the point when Sam Dodsworth grows tired of being just "Fran's hubby," and decides to lead his own life, we wonder why Mr. Lewis didn't call his book "Fran Dodsworth." But then we realize that Mr. Lewis means to show something akin to the effect that "even a worm will turn."

Mr. Lewis has created a very living novel of natural events, and has colored them with those tints of reality which only an artist can achieve. And, "to boot," he has included such a wealth of interesting travel talk, that one could never acquire on a mere Cook's Tour. While Sam Dodsworth is learning that he must eat with his left hand, and that elevators must be called "lifts," Dodsworth takes on the tone of a Baedeker. In fact, as an aid to learning just what Europeans think of "we Americans," and just how one should retaliate, Mr. Lewis' latest book might be recommended as a Bon Voyage gift.

Speaker Discusses A Radiant Teacher

Carroll R. Champlin of the faculty of Pennsylvania State College addressed the Education Club last Thursday evening, May 9, on the subject "The Radiant Teacher." Mr. Champlin is especially qualified to speak on such a subject since he has, to a marked degree, the attributes he assigned to a successful leader of education. "Being a good teacher of a superior type is, after all, one's greatest objective. The preeminent quality of good teaching is radiance—educational, social, physical, moral, mental, and personal radiance." Professor Champlin also brought out forcefully the consummate attributes of a radiant teacher, the most important of which is a bounliess professional enthusiasm.

After the address, which was enthusiastically received, the Club held a brief business meeting with Roy Goodlander, '29, president of the Club, presiding. At the last meeting of the year on May 23 the annual election of officers will take place.

Cyclist Club is Formed

Not to be outdone by the University of Illinois, which has its roller skating club, the University of Oklahoma has formed a cyclist club. Incidentally the club is to have bicycle picnics in the moonlight.

Prof. C. Bond Addresses Father and Son Meeting On the "Worth of A Boy"

"The Worth of a Boy" was the subject of an address given by Professor C. M. Bond, Monday afternoon, May 6, at a father and son meeting held at the Salem Reformed Church in Shamokin. In his address Professor Bond set forth certain principles of religious education in an attempt to popularize religion as applied to the relationship between father and son.

The meeting was held in the modern plant of the Salem Reformed Church, which has been built up under the direction of its pastor, Rev. A. F. Dietz. An invitation has been extended to the class in the church school to visit this plant in the near future. The group also plans to visit at this time the new plant of the Lincoln Avenue M. E. Church at Shamokin, and Fred Heather's new church at Johnson City.

"Honest Chief, I ain't no crook. We boys wuz just playin' let's go in and out the winder, and I wuz it."

On the campus, or for formal occasions, John Wards have been the authentic footwear for many years.

Our styles are designed especially to meet the college man's requirements.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMRY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

To Discuss National Defense

Scott W. Lucas, national Judge advocate of the American Legion, and Kirby Page, one of the most widely known American pacifists, will discuss the question of National Defense from their personal viewpoints at 9-State Campus at Geneva College, during the 8-day session between June 12 and 20. These two men are of the ablest authority in America on the respective sides of the Problem of national preparedness.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1902. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

FLAVIO'S
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing, Alterations for men and women, Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

Have you heard about the Scotchman that sat up all night watching his wife's vanishing cream?

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Eastman Kodaks and Films.

College and Fraternity Printing
Dance Programs
Stationery
Lab. Covers
Theme Sheets
Books, Papers
All kinds of Special Forms.
Call and see Samples.
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Keep your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. R. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-five Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — JOHN W. BUCHER, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles McD. Morris, '31

Pennsylvania Gamma wishes to take this opportunity to express its appreciation for the gift received from the ladies attending the week-end party. The fact that it has proven so useful already is enough evidence that it was well received.

Mrs. William Gretzinger, the Little Mother of Phi Psi was our honor guest over the week-end. There is not a Phi Psi of recent years from Bucknell who does not have a warm spot in his heart for her. The Mothers of each of us were entertained last Sunday, while this Sunday was honored by the presence of the Mother of all of us.

Among the alumni who attended the preliminary Symposium held over last week-end were Brothers "Link" Bennett, Ralph Dunkle, "Lew" Kesler, "Bean" Springer, and O. T. Sommerville.

Although the general public has been unable to learn through the medium of the local periodical regarding the standing of the house baseball team, it is interesting to note that we have yet to lose a game.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
W. J. Chenoweth, '32

The annual house party was enjoyed by all, including Zeigler. Many of the alumni returned to the chapter house for this affair.

It is the opinion of the brothers that "Stew" Black has one "hot" band.

Now that the week-end festivities are ended, the fellows are again "hitting" the books.

DELTA SIGMA
Philip G. Murray, '29

The annual "Demle" house party week-end has come and gone and the general concensus of opinion is "better than ever." Friday evening the lid was pried off to the tunes and rythm of the Merrymakers from Harrisburg. Saturday evening an informal sport dance was enjoyed by all. The Sylvanians from Lebanon were responsible for the flying feet and graceful motions of the young apaches.

The house was decorated under the supervision of "Chip" Sortor to represent an Arab tent. Everyone seemed pleased with the results achieved and accordingly behaved as young Arabs will. Competition was keen in the contest for chief sheik and a decision will be rendered later.

Among the harem were Cornelia Collier and Miriam Godley from Elmira College, Margaret McGeary, Margaret Erb, Mary Cotner from Phoenixville, Edna Craft, Marion Izard from Philadelphia, Esther Lewis, Marie Condit, Olive Fetterman from Williamsport, Margaret Bunting, Virginia Haviland, from Cornell University, Edith Hoare from Haddon Heights, N. J., Frances Kernohan, Ruth Wiggins, Martha Von Neida, Frances Saul, Esther Clark, Betty Wilson, Roberta Slifer, Ruth Campbell, Maxine Sharmon from Philipsburg, Emma Sheff, Nan Lee Thomas, Sarah Foreman from Hightstown, N. J., and Mary Laning.

Each sheik provided his favorite sheba with a boudoir (?) clock which was pronounced to be "Oh gee! just darling."

The details of the glorious week-end were carefully and efficiently inspected by the Misses Ebeling, Stainton, and Brooks.

We were glad to welcome back for the week-end brothers Humphreys, '28, Dilworth, '27, Cangline, ex-'31, and Purkes, '26. None of these boys has forgotten his whoopee days, and all took pleasure in making 1929 House Party better than ever.

Delta Sigma is grieved that Ralph Nickerson, '30, found it essential to leave school for the balance of the semester due to the very serious illness of his father in Hillside, N. J.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

The sixteenth annual house party of Delta Zeta was held last week-end. The scene of this event, the most gala of the season, lay in a large garden surrounded by a small stone wall while overhead was a white lattice roof adorned with roses of every color. Color was everywhere within and about the garden. Off in a corner of this shady bower could be seen Paul Zimmerman and his All Easterners—straight from Broadway—who kept us merry with the latest "Broadway Melodies."

Rumor has it that a gayer house party than this one has never been witnessed at Delta Zeta. The truth of such a statement was confirmed by the reports of many of our alumni and guests.

Among the alumni who were fortunate enough to be able to join in making merry with us were Brothers "Bill" Muthard, '28, "Dizz" Dietz, '21, Francis Wood, '28, "Red" Dorsett, ex-'29, Karl Wilson, ex-'30, M. S. Davies, '26, and Brothers McNeil and Deihel, of Penn State. Many of them brought friends with them. Some of them were "Jack" Zanger, '28, Beta Phi Pi of Dartmouth, "Joe" Moershbacher of Bellefonte Academy, Charles Shick, Chi Psi of Rutgers, George Vedder of Elmira, N. Y. and Charles Ehler of Gloucester, Massachusettes. Of course, everyone was accompanied by a member of the opposite sex, and we certainly had a beautiful array. One will not very easily forget the friends and good times associated with this party.

KAPPA DELTA RHO
Frank Koehler, '32

It is needless to say that every one enjoyed the successful house party over the last week-end. "Doc" Getkins and his band played for the occasion. There were many of the boys back with their girl friends to participate in the revelry. Those present were: "Jeff" Miers, Pittsburgh, "Sock" Wagner, Altoona, "Monk" Wisehaupt, and "Tiny" Kemery, both of Philadelphia, "Pres" Geist, Williamsport, "Lou" Fox, Temple Medical School of Philadelphia, "Bud" Marley, Johnstown; "Judge" Steese and wife of Harrisburg; "Bill" Dewitt, Philadelphia; burg; Myles Huntington of Mifflin-"Jerry" Bates, Treverton; "Chick" Lontz, Milton; and "Bill" Marley, Johnstown.

"Maj" Kemp, ex-'32, drove in from Rochester. Kemp is feeling fine after his escapade on the campus.

"Red" Swager was over from State to help make "whoopee."

The house is pleased to announce the pledging of Roger Stillman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. "Rog" is quite a lad and is destined to fill "Jo" Albig's place as the house "cut-up." Like "Jo," he plays the trumpet.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

The spring house part of Theta Upsilon Omega was held at the chapter house last Friday and Saturday. The music was furnished by "Russ" Shuttlesworth and his "Purple and Gold" dance band. Faculty guests were Prof. and Mrs. F. H. Lund, Assistant Prof. and Mrs. J. S. Gold, Assistant Prof. and Mrs. W. H. Schuyler and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Miller. Mother Miller was also a guest of the chapter.

In the order of events was included a formal dinner and dance on Friday evening, a lawn fete and tea on Saturday afternoon, and a buffet supper and informal dance on Saturday evening.

A committee consisting of John C. Pyle, '30, Kenneth J. Beckerman, '31, and Frederick M.Locke, '31, functioned to make the past week-end a huge success for the members of the chapter, as the house party was considered the best that has been given by Zeta Alpha.

Out of town guests included Misses Haidee I. Wilson of Reading, M. J. Higlow of Rochester, K. Lieber of Kearney, N. J., A. C. Lieber also of Kearny, N. J., L. Barto of Watsontown, Margaret Daniels of Pittsburgh, Lucille Smith of Kingston, Mary McDonald of Harrisburg, Margaret Miller of Northumberland, Jean Zeltzinger of Mount Carmel, Virginia Snow of Pitman, N. J., Mr. Charles Shelley of Pottsville, and Mr. L. F. Leahy of Elmira, N. Y. Alumni who attended were "Vince" McHall, '28, "Dick" Vastine, '27, Ross Hagerman, '25, and Edward Robb, '25.

ALPHA CHI MU
John T. Anderson, '31

"The best friend you have on earth is your Mother." Last Sunday, Mothers' Day was observed at the house, and although not all our mothers were present, we most happily welcomed those who honored us with their presence. Those with us were: Mr. and Mrs. Shure of Sunbury, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Lingle of Harrisburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Anderson of Shickshinny, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Dean of Trenton, N. J.; Mrs. Henry of Lewisburg; and Mrs. Shields and son of Pittsburgh, Pa.

On Friday, May 10, the pledges honored the actives with a very delightful banquet. Pledge brothers Parsons, Philips, and Rhodes had charge of the affair and they proved to be a very successful committee. After a savory spread, toastmaster Philips introduced the principal speaker, Dean Rivenburg, who gave a very interesting talk. Our other guests were Brothers Johnson, Miller, Groner, and Lewis.

"Bob" Albright, '30, is getting all the "breaks." He received a telegram a few days ago which contained some very good news. He has been accepted as trumpet player with an orchestra that is to make four trips to Europe during the summer!

"What-sa-matter," asks S. G., "doesn't anyone want a night nurse?"

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

Herman Stoddard, '31, journeyed to Elmira, N. Y., and spent the week-end with his parents.

"Slim" Mezza, '32, and "Steve" Trudinak, '32, returned from Mansfield Sunday afternoon. They said that "relatives" kept them from returning with the freshman team Saturday night.

"Paddy" Canfield, '32, visited his home in New Philadelphia, Saturday.

"Lou" Ceraso, '29, entertained his folks from Vandergrift, Pa., at the house Sunday. Later he and "Gene" Mirarchi, '29, drove to Philadelphia along with some friends who had visited him.

BETA KAPPA
Christian Gerken, '30

Last Sunday, Eta chapter held its Mothers' Day celebration and as all the guests said, it was a huge success. The house never before held such a large group and a more cordial atmosphere could not possibly have been desired. Among the guests were: Prof. and Mrs. Harkless, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hartz, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Beckworth, Mr. and Mrs. Gerken, Miss Esther Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins, Miss M. Hawkins, Mr. and Mrs. Lare, Miss R. Lare, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Tate, Mrs. Hoch, Mrs. Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Benford, Mr. and Mrs. Stere, Miss Stere, Mrs. Stutzman, Mrs. Shippo, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Welshans.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Elizabeth Fries, '31

On Thursday, May 9, Tau chapter gave a bridge tea to the patronesses, alumnae, and women of the faculty. "Betty" Jane Rodenbeck, '31, worked hard on the affair and with cooperation from the weather man, the afternoon was made very enjoyable.

A number of girls returned to Bucknell over the week-end to attend house parties. Among them were: "Shorty" Miller Warner, '26, Helen Fassett, ex-'30, and Mary Hess, ex-'31.

Haidee Wilson, of Cedar Crest, was a guest of Beulah Lesher, '30.

Marie Walbert, '30, attended house party at Muhlenberg last week-end.

"Sally" Porter, '29, went home

(Continued on Page 7.)

It's your opinion that interests us because we make Camels for you to smoke and enjoy

CAMEL
CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

The world's largest group of tobacco experts . . . one brand . . . one quality . . . one size package . . . everything concentrated on Camel goodness.

The smoothness and mildness of Camels are possible only through the use of choicest tobaccos.

The most skilful blending gives Camels an individuality of taste that is beyond imitation.

They have a mellowness that you have never known in any other cigarette, regardless of price.

Camels never tire your taste or leave an unpleasant after-taste.

© 1929, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W.H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

O'BRIEN'S
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
ICE CREAM
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH
SUNDAES

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President
Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY

Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief Charles E. Mohr, '29
Theta Upsilon Omega House
Phone 144

Business Manager John N. Feaster, '29
Alpha Chi Mu House
Phone 194

Assistant Editor in-chief Dorothy Davies, '30
Managing Editor Helen E. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors Frederick M. Locke, '31
Thomas MacLeod, '31
News Editor Tremble Ebsley, '31
Nan Lee Thomas, '30
Assistant News Editors Blair Hazen, '31
H. M. Graham, '31
Sports Editor Kenneth Vandenbree, '31
Assistant Sports Editors H. Burtniff Koser, '31
Lois M. Baker, '31
Women's College Editor Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Ass't. Women's Col. Editor Elizabeth Flgner, '30
Exchange Editor Lilling Mattick, '29
Column Editors James B. Stevenson, '32
Kathryn Leech, '30

Business Staff

Advertising Manager W. C. Emmitt, '30
John Snyder, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager Frederick M. Locke, '31
Circulation Manager George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLancey, '32 Walter H. Grim, '32
Nathaniel Glunter, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32
Frank Koehler, '32

CALENDAR

Friday, May 17—Kappa Sigma Lawn Party.
Phi Lambda Theta formal.
Sigma Sigma Delta informal in the playroom, 7:30-10:30 p. m.

Saturday, May 18—Kappa Sigma Lawn Party.
Phi Lambda Theta informal.
Phi Mu informal in the playroom, 7:45-10:45 p. m.
May Day, 3:00 p. m., front campus.

Monday, May 20—Mu Phi Epsilon Recital, 7 p. m., at School of Music.
Methodist hike at 4 p. m.

Tuesday, May 21—Campus Club Lawn Party, 3:30 p. m. Mrs. Hunt's.
"Daddy" (Mr. William R.) George, 8:15, p. m., Bucknell Hall.

Thursday, May 23—Eastman Kodak Co.'s Educational Program.

PRELUDE

The new Bucknellian staff cannot turn to its new duties without a word of recognition for the retiring editor. Clarence Cranford, during his year as managing editor and his term as editor-in-chief brought to the Bucknellian a standard of journalism that would be difficult to raise. He had the rare ability of combining a pleasing "make-up" and a trustworthy crystalization of student opinion.

The new staff is taking up the reins with this issue. It is not, in fact, a "new" staff. The editors have worked up through the ranks. Most of them are familiar with their duties. Accordingly, as soon as the staff can coordinate its efforts it hopes to raise the curtain on a year that will compare favorably with any in the history of the college weekly.

The Bucknellian aims to be a real community paper—not only a chronicle of college events, but also a mouthpiece of student opinion. To this end the student body may lend a hand. Letters on any subject are always welcomed. Of course the communications must bear the writer's signatures, but these will be withheld from publication if desired. "Gulliver's Gabbles" offers another opportunity for the expression of student attitudes. In addition, contributions to the editorial columns are occasionally received. Here are three avenues of expression opened to the student writer. May we have your cooperation?

Besides producing a paper that is "newsy" and typographically pleasing, the staff's objective will be the advancement of the University in every possible way. While following its policy of an active program of thought provocation in student affairs, the staff hopes to refrain from destructive criticism believing that such a policy is detrimental to the best interests of collegiate journalism.

"DADDY" GEORGE

Three children have called him "Daddy." Three thousand children have years later gone out into the world to live a well-disciplined life, honoring that same "Daddy" who conceived an ideal, believed in it, fought for it, suffered for it, and finally achieved. A remarkable man—yes, and one whose life has been spent in doing the impossible.

On July 10, 1895 five boys laid the foundations of the George Junior Republic, and when four of these pioneer citizens returned to the Republic for their thirtieth anniversary, they came with enviable records. All had made good, but in the meantime many more citizens had filled responsible positions, and by their conduct and works had established the worth of the "world's smallest republic." "Daddy" and his Republic were not slow to gain national prominence, and his experiment is self-government was copied all over the country.

Thomas Mott Osburn made a detailed study of the social sanitorium carried on in connection with the civic life of the colony, and from the Republic gained ideas for prison reforms. College student government bodies owe their origin to William R. ("Daddy") George.

To have men of such national prominence visit Bucknell is encouraging. We hope that the Administration will continue to present outstanding figures of the present day.

NO NEWS IS BAD NEWS

That college students may be able to quote history fluently but be flagrantly innocent of contemporary events, is the indictment made by many employers of college men and women. The person fresh from the campus, they complain, "doesn't know what its all about" as far as present day knowledge is concerned.

How many collegians as much as glance at a worth while magazine once a week? Are most students as far behind as the student who enthusiastically announced the other day that America was to have a Taj Mahal? But perhaps we hadn't heard about it before.

No, we are not soliciting subscriptions for "current events." But we do feel that too few students save any time for worth while magazine reading. Acquaintance with the very complete and varied array of magazines that "adorns" our library reading room would be a tremendous undertaking, but reading should cover, at least sketchily, the different phases of modern life, such as national and world politics, science, art, and literature.

An hour a week devoted to the perusal of such periodicals could not fail to widen and freshen any student's outlook. And it might even enliven conversation a bit. Is no one ever bored by the vapid discussion of tests, sports, and dates?

*****

"The seventh day was the Sabbath" and in it there are voluminous newspapers. Otherwise our knowledge of the news would be a deep, black void. Even a child can understand pictures. No doubt the rotogravure section was designed as a time-saving device for college students. Perhaps we're a bit cynical because our own rotogravure offspring was so short-lived.

Why not spend a few minutes every day reading at least the headlines of a big city newspaper. There could be found in each fraternity some philanthropic individual who would underwrite the subscription.

*****

Perhaps all that's needed is a bit of sensationalism on the part of a speaker. At any rate Bucknell readers came suddenly to life recently and in a few hours eagerly bought the entire stock of Sherwood Eddy pamphlets offered for sale.

That seems to indicate a little interest. And besides purchasing a hundred copies of "Sex and Youth" they found use for nearly as many copies of "Am I Getting an Education?" and "What Does Religion Mean To Me?" That's really encouraging, providing that the pamphlets are more than decorations for book shelves.

The profit on the sale of these booklets—a cent a copy—has been generously contributed by the Y. M. C. A. for the purchase of several library copies of Sherwood Eddy's "Sex and Youth." We must commend the "Y" for its contribution to our library.

GOING UP?

An aviator of the U. S. Navy passed the 39,000 feet altitude mark last week. Many a student wishes he could get seven and a half miles away without getting anywhere.

*****

But how about some of our local fliers and our flying alumni trying for a few altitude records? Of course we get a vicarious thrill watching the daredevils manoeuver inside the stadium, or scrape the top of Old Main and caress the tree tops. Quite so, but we're very content to let the experience be a vicarious one. Most cities prohibit stunt flying or even flying at low altitudes over their environs. Could we follow suit?

*****

The staff newspaper reader reports that the Graf Zeppelin, giant German dirigible, was scheduled to start for America last night.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Stephen Vincent Binet's book of verse, "John Brown's Body," won the Pulitzer prize last week. This volume was issued as a book-of-the-month last August. It was reviewed in the Bucknellian a few months ago.

*****

"Main Street" received quite a reception in student circles. "Dodsworth" is Sinclair Lewis' most recent offering. If you haven't read it, the review in this issue will interest you.

*****

Sinclair Lewis is the only writer who ever refused to accept one of the Pulitzer prizes in journalism and letters. He turned down the award in 1926 when it was offered for his novel "Arrowsmith."

*****

"Scarlet Sister Mary" by Julia Peterkin was named the prize novel, and "Street Scene" by Elmer Rice was indicated as the drama to win the award provided by Joseph Pulitzer's will.

"THE DARK AGES"

That august body, the Senior Tribunal, has decreed that there shall be no destruction of property on Senior Night. That was very considerate. But why not show some concern for freshman property, or rather, anatomy?

*****

The introduction of the gauntlet at Bucknell was a rather startling reversion to the middle ages of college tradition. Hazing on a large scale is an inexcusable anachronism.

*****

Perhaps the ten second sprinter could run the gauntlet comparatively unscathed. But how about the slow traveling fellow who is probably much less able to stand the terrific drubbing than the athlete. Of course, varsity men are never permitted to undergo such rigors. The University could not afford to have one of them disabled.

*****

If the purpose of the gauntlet is to so tire out the freshmen that they'll crawl off to bed, why not give them a water fight on Loomis field or chase them around the track at the stadium till they're sufficiently fatigued?

*****

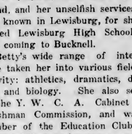
As far as that goes, everyone knows that a handful of weak-minded upper classmen wreck more property than the entire freshman class.

Who's Who AT B. U.

Elizabeth Hornby Sale, '29

"Betty" is that tall, quiet, stately-looking person who is awfully wise, yet as full of fun as she is of ability. Her profound understanding and gentle sympathy make her a splendid friend, and her unselfish services are well known in Lewisburg, for she attended Lewisburg High School before coming to Bucknell.

"Betty's wide range of interests have taken her into various fields of activity: athletics, dramatics, debating, and biology. She also served on the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and Freshman Commission, and was a member of the Education Club and Biological Society for two years. Her athletics included both hockey and basketball. This year "Betty" has figured prominently in several of Frill and Frown's plays. She is planning to teach English next year at Westfield, Pennsylvania, but we are glad that she still has a family here to bring her back to Lewisburg. "Betty" is a member of Pi Beta Phi, and of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity.



Geddes W. Simpson, '29

We are pleased to present this week a happy combination of banker, student, and athlete—Geddes W. Simpson.

Geddes' mathematical proficiency has made him a valuable bank employee. He has further shown his financial astuteness as a member of the Junior Prom Committee, as treasurer of the freshman class and of his fraternity, Delta Sigma. In view of such accomplishments we were ready to predict a brilliant financial career, —but he has other plans.

Simpson has been president not only of Pi Mu Epsilon, honorary mathematics fraternity, but of the Biological Society as well. And here lies his interest. For two years he has been an assistant in the zoology laboratory and last year he discovered Cephenomyia, calling it to the attention of Professor N. H. Stewart who recognized its possible significance in the death of deer. Geddes is a member of the Pennsylvania Academy of Science and addressed that body at its last meeting. Last year Simpson was a member of the "Y" cabinet, and headed the Freshman Week Committee.

Simpson's versatility extends to athletics. As a sprinter he is without a peer among Bucknell trackmen, this being his third year on the varsity. Then too, he won mention on the mythical all-fraternity soccer team last fall.

That reads like a well-rounded catalogue of activities. It is, and it assures us, that when this reserved but very accomplished naturalist continues his biological studies at Cornell next year he will win greater laurels and still more friends.

Eloise Bailey, '29

Eloise, of the dark eyes and curly hair, is no "small" contribution of Williamsport to Bucknell. She's full of pep and temperament, and her activities are wide and varied.

After being on the Freshman Y. W. C. A. Commission, she joined the Education Club, played hockey, and worked on the Bucknellian staff. In her Junior year she sang in the Glee Club and served on the Prom Committee. She has been a contributor to the Bucknell Book of Verse for three years. In her spare time she reads for honors in English; she is a member of the Alpha Chi Omega fraternity, and of Sigma Tau Delta, the professional English fraternity.

Read the Bucknellian.

BUCKNELL VERSE

REVIEWED BY DR. H. W. ROBBINS,
Head of the English Department.

"Bucknell Verse" comes out this year with a larger number of poems of a slightly better quality than those published last year. Of the seventeen contributors, seven are seniors, whose seventeen pieces make up about half the volume; four are juniors, with eight poems to their credit; three are sophomores, contributing four poems; and three are freshmen, whose contributions number seven.

Eloise Bailey Writes Five

The five poems of Eloise Bailey are featured at the beginning of the volume, and taken together form the best group. Individually best is perhaps the "Dream of Italia Mia," purely descriptive and finely imaginative, with a rhythm that sings itself and effective employment of feminine endings in the couplet rime. Of the others, two are in blank verse mingling the subjective and the descriptive in subject matter; and one is impressionistic, in free verse.

The four contributions of John Farrow show more versatility than his previous offerings. Two in formal rhyme have the tang of the sea that we have come to associate with his verse, of which one, "Dream Market,' is delicately imaginative. Two others, "Shuttle" and "Knock-Outs," in free verse, are philosophical and somewhat bizarre, respectively.

Represented by but two selections, Louise Graef shows in them a subtlety that makes one wish to read more of her verse. "Last Lilacs" combines deliciously the flower motif, erotic element, and haunting echoes of classical mythology. Less complicated but no less subtle, "The Piper" shows an even more delicate handling of similar motives. Both poems are formal, but the first mentioned shows a marked degree of mastery of metrical and rhyme-effects.

"Corn Growers"

"Half-Forgotten Melody" and the "Corn Growers," by Charles Rivenburg, are in formal and free verse respectively. The first is somewhat conventional, but the second is vigorous and original.

Conventional in both form and subject are the two contributions of Elizabeth Frederick. "Sunrise" is somewhat more effective than "The Vesper Song," reflecting some elemental feeling.

Jean Wood and Ora Cooper have one poem apiece in the collection. Miss Wood's "Shadows" is an effective descriptive bit in formal verse. Miss Cooper's "Relinquishment" is a sonnet that awakes Shakespearean reminiscences that are not at all to her discredit.

Turning to the contributions from the junior class, we find four by Nan Lee Thomas, two by Esther Hopkins, and one each by Dorothy Patchen and Frances Stringer. All those by Miss Thomas are in free verse. Most striking in its basic figure is the one entitled "Carelessness," but richer in content, and perhaps more effective, is "Irony." An effective combination of rimed and unrimed verses is seen in Miss Patchen's "Incomprehension." Didatic, but pleasing in its moral presentaton, is Miss Stringer's "Tomorrow." Miss Hopkins's contributions are in free verse: "Parsimony," interestingly didatic in substance; and "I Have Not Traveled," a detailed presentation of the significance that even insensate life may have for the stay-at-home.

Three Sophomore Contributors

The sophomore contributors are Marie Condit, Francis Moerschbacher, and Kenneth Vandenbree. The latter's two poems, "Retrieve" and "If," are love lyrics in free verse. Miss Condit's "Disembodiment" is an interesting conceit in quatrains. Mr. Moerschbacher's "Exoneration" is an allegory, also in quatrains.

Grace Link heads the list of freshman contributors with four pieces: "To One I Loved" and "Time" in free verse (the latter an epigram), and "Interlude" in quatrains and "Futility" in couplets. The last two are poems of disillusionment, both with effective intermingling of nature elements in the manner of the pathetic fallacy. Anne Binley has two free-verse contributions: "Moth and Flame," giving a new turn to an old idea, and "Last Laugh," which is an epigram. Mildred Walton's "Mutation" voices the disillusionment of a lover.

Altogether it may be said that this fourth volume of verse produced by Bucknell undergraduates shows no signs of diminution of interest in the poetic art among our students.

HERMAN & LEISER

Special Showing Rayon
Silk Lingerie at $1.00 per Garment

See window display of the new Undergarments. You'll marvel at their beauty and quality at such a low price.

Stepins, Bloomers, Envelope Chemise and several styles of Union Suits, all at $1.00 each

Summer
Florsheim Shoes

Styles for men who dress their feet for good appearance-who know new smart shoes are important. Florsheim again offers the finest and best new models-new leather.

Call and let us show you

most styles $10.00

J. F. PROWANT CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

Mournful Biologists Bury Departed Stiff

Last Rites Impressively Given By Head Man "Judge" Bower

His Royal Highness, the King-Stiff of the anatomy department, was buried with ceremony and pomp appropriate to his station last Tuesday afternoon, May 14. The Royal Interment took place behind the Foundry with an imposing and distinguished group of mourners in attendance.

The ceremony occurred only after a very solemn and dignified funeral procession from the lower floor of the Biology Building to the aforementioned burial ground. The mournful procession was led by "Judge" Bower, master of ceremonies, who wore an imposing mourning cape and carried an open anatomy book from which he read the funeral services at the place of burial.

Following the master of ceremonies, in the procession across the awe-struck campus, came "Benny" Fenechal, chief grave-digger, who carried two shovels, the weapons of interment. Close behind was the royal casket, reverently borne by "Brute" Bowers and "Jim" Ellory in which reposed the remains of King Cadaver who had culminated at last his usefulness and service in the realm of anatomy. To complete the funeral procession, the chief mourners sorrowfully followed the casket. They evidently felt very deeply—at least as much was indicated by their reverent and downcast mein—the solemnity of the occasion.

Simple Ceremony at Grave

Upon reaching the chosen burial ground, a beautiful spot behind the Foundry, overlooking the river and the adjoining landscape, the funeral procession halted. With due care the grave was dug and the casket lowered to its final resting place. The "Judge" then reverently read a portion of the burial service from the Gray's Anatomy while the mourners with sorrowing hands placed dandelions and violets upon the grave—carrying out the blue and gold color scheme of the landscape. With a few very well-chosen Latin phrases by the master of ceremonies the service was concluded and the funeral pilgrimage wended its way back to the realm of anatomy.

Clifford Gordon Talks in Chapel

Gifford Gordon, "of Australia and America" addressed upperclass chapel this morning. His forceful presentation of an outsider's attitude toward our eighteenth amendment won the hearty applause of the student body.

That America's prestige is sufficient to swing the world to prohibition, was Mr. Gordon's statement. He further declared that every move made by America, in any field whatsoever, affects Australia within twenty-four hours.

"Australia was forced to sit up and take notice when America passed the Volstead Act ten years ago. She is wondering how sincere America is."

"Australia is just 691 square miles larger than the United States" was the astounding statement that Mr. Gordon fired at his audience. Moreover, ninety-eight percent of Australia's population is white, and ninety-seven percent English-speaking.

MAY DAY FETE SATURDAY, MAY 18

(Continued from Page 1)

father), the father of Honza, and Maminka (little mother), the mother of Marenka, must needs separate the young lovers in spite of the protestations of the villagers. Marenka, who is the most popular girl in the village, has a large dowry, but Honza, though good and handsome, has none. When Honza and Marenka are discovered, declaring their love, their parents banish them from the May-day celebration, and Tatinek, to make sure that his commands are obeyed, guards his door. Not to be outdone, Maminka stations herself before her door, and both fall asleep.

As Maminka sleeps, she has a vision of spring. She sees the struggle between spring and winter and rejoices when spring is victorious. She gazes with deep interest as people from many lands come with happy faces and in strange costumes to welcome smiling spring.

Then the village youths depart with Honza to gather their tokens which they present to their sweethearts on their return. Only Honza and Maminka are sad during the gay festivities.

To the surprise of all, Maminka relents, her heart having been softened by the vision of spring which she had seen in her dream. She intercedes with Tatinek for the unhappy lovers. Appeased by these overtures, the susceptible Tatinek consents to the match and the whole village rejoices with the gay young lovers.

Large Committee at Work

The committee in charge of the exercises, under the direction of Miss Alma M. Ebeling, director of physical education for women, are as follows: chairman, "Peg" McGeary; play, Betty Siegfried; dance groups, Betty Figner; publicity, Evelyn Beckworth; finances, Frances Weibel; property, Mary Smith; chairs, Mildred Casey; music, Virginia Kandle; costumes, Kathryn Tomb; programs and ushers, Ann Sprout.

JANE BEAKLY, '28, VISITS ALMA MATER

Jane Beakly, '28, affectionately known to her Phi Mu sisters as "Jane-us" visited the campus last week-end for respite from her pedagogical duties as high school teacher in her home town, Vineland, N. J.

Jane is to be particularly remembered as the first co-ed ever to become assistant to the editor of the Bucknellian after efficiently holding many other positions on the publication. Her undergraduate activities extended to other forms of journalistic endeavor. L'Agenda of 1928 saw her name inscribed as a member of the staff and she edited the Journal of Education.

Miss Beakly also was a member of the Student "Ex" and the Women's Athlete Association, besides being elected to the professional English fraternity, Sigma Tau Delta, her sophomore year.

S. S. Enrollment Grows

Prof. J. H. Elsenhauer, director of the summer session announced today that the enrollment for the annual summer session reached the total of 87 of which 47 are registered for the course in practice teaching. Records show that the enrollment at this time last year totalled but 36.

Mastery of Fate

The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars,
But in ourselves that we are underlings. —Shakespeare.

Educational Films To be Shown May 23

Eastman Co. Representative To Present Pictures of Value To Prospective Teachers

The Education Department has completed its plans for presenting the films on teaching which will be shown here next Thursday, May 23. A representative of the Eastman Teachings Films, Incorporated will show these pictures in the various education classes throughout the day. In the evening a general demonstration will be given in Biology 6.

These films will represent the result of extensive study and experiment, and should be valuable to prospective educators. After extensive tests it has been shown that a marked superiority of class work is done by children taught with films. As much as a 33 percent gain has been made. These tests have been inclusive enough for the obtaining of accurate results. They have included 5,500 school children whose failures in school were greatly minimized by this method. The economic value, too, is proportionate. There has been as much as a $3,000,000 saving for one year in a large city.

The films are of standard size and of "safety" material, so that they can be projected in the class rooms without the introduction of projection booths. Teachers can easily learn to operate them, and even pupils can be instructed in their simple mechanism. They can, of course, be adapted to all kinds of teaching, and to any subject of the curriculum.

A statement from a late issue of "Nation's Schools" explains their value. "These films are not a panacea to be submitted for present instrumentalities of the school, nor as a means of revolutionizing the aims of education, but as an addition to the present teaching devices that may help in the attainment of currently accepted goals."

MR. PIM PASSES BY; HOUNDED BY CURS

Mr. Pim has passed by, a martyr to science.

Mr. Pim was bitten in the neck a few week ago by some gentlemen from the College Inn. His injury got infected and, as he was a fairly old fellow anyway, it was decided to remove him from this sphere and at the same time advance the cause of science.

So Mr. Pim was given over to the trained hands of Professor J. W. Rice. Dr. Rice, last Saturday, chloroformed him, used his body in a demonstration before two classes, and that was the end of Mr. Pim.

Yes, Mr. Pim was the nine-year-old Sealyham who resided at the Ziegler Memorial Infirmary. He had been, in his prime, a blue ribbon winner in the New York dog show. He was bought by a dog fancier from Danville, who gave him, in his declining years, to Doctor L. P. Fowle. About two weeks ago he got into an argument with Ted and T-Bone, College Inn canines, from whose jaws he received the gash that hastened his end.

Yet Mr. Pim did not die in vain; several pre-medical students will be the wiser from the lectures in which he was the demonstratee.

Tried Friends

The friends thou hast and their adoption tried,
Grapple them to thy soul with hooks of steel. —Shakespeare.

FROSH TO DISCARD DINKS AND RULES

(Continued from Page 1)

Loomis field and the frosh will be required to run through it. After finishing that ordeal, tradition has it that the gentlemen of the Class of 1932 will burn their dinks and set out in quest of stray sophomores. In years gone by it has proven most unfortunate for any sophomore to be apprehended. With the force of numbers behind them, freshmen have been known to compel sophomores to undertake all kinds of hazardous and embarassing feats.

When Tuesday morning dawns, there will be no one under freshman roles, except those who are unfortunate enough to fall in very bad graces with the Senior Tribunal. All the sophomores will automatically become juniors and the juniors will become seniors as a result of next Monday evening's events.

The above photograph shows "Kitty" Smith, 1927 Bucknell May Queen and her court. Last year Ruth Cooper was chosen May Queen but no photograph of the Court is available. Of course the identity of the Queen for May Day 1929 will not be revealed until Saturday.

PITT
THE TAILOR
After You Have Tried the Rest
Try the Best.

THE PURITY

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 MARKET STREET
LEWISBURG, PA.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52.

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
"COLGATE-ROCHESTER" means
a religious and cultural atmosphere
a thoroughly experienced and technically educated Faculty
a curriculm, revised in 1929, capable of adjustment to individual needs abundant opportunities for supervised observation, and practical experience in religious and social work an ample and modern library for research work

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

WAINIES

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

Talks to
Lewisburg
Merchants

– 26 –

THE TEST OF ADVERTISING IS: HOW MUCH WILL IT SELL? CONSISTENT DAY AFTER DAY TELLING ABOUT THE STORE AND WHAT IT HAS TO SELL IS THE KIND OF ADVERTISING THAT BUILDS UP BUSINESS. IN ORDER TO GET THE MOST OUT OF ADVERTISING AN ADVERTISING PLAN SHOULD BE RIGIDLY FOLLOWED AND THE ADVERTISING APPROPRIATION SHOULD NEITHER BE EXCEEDED OR SKIMPED. THE MAIN THING IS TO BE CONSISTENT. DON'T TALK "LOW PRICE" ONE DAY AND "HIGH QUALITY" THE NEXT. FOR AFTER ALL ADVERTISING MUST ESTABLISH CONFIDENCE. IF IT FAILS IN THIS, IT IS WORSE THAN NO ADVERTISING AT ALL.

FREDERICK B. PATTERSON,
President, The National Cash Register Co.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AT BUCKNELL

Baseball Team To Oppose Five Strong Rivals

West Point, N. Y. U., Fordham, And Seton Hall to be Met On New York Trip

CHERRY AND WHITE HERE THIS SATURDAY

Bucknell will entertain the Temple University baseball team at the Memorial Stadium on Saturday. The Temple nine boasts an impressive record thus far, but the Bison team, now settled down to a steadier pace may be relied upon to give the Owl men a hard tussle for honors."Eddie" Halicki will in all probability go into action in the pitcher's box against the Cherry and White, with either Mitchell or Ammerman doing the backstop work.

Start Road Trip

Next Tuesday the Orange and Blue ball tossers will leave for an extended Eastern trip. On Wednesday, feat of both our football and basketball teams by taking the West Point Cadets in tow, on the diamond.

Old Man Knickerbocker will lend his spirit to the entertainment of the Bucknell nine in New York City, where the Bison tossers will go into action against the New York University ball club on Thursday. Untired by the rant and tear of the Big City, the Bucknell boys will appear against the Fordham University team on the latter's home grounds in Little Old New York.

Oppose Seton Hall College

On Friday the Bucknell team will face Seton Hall College and her diamond crew at East Orange, New Jersey, prior to the return home for all the joys of final examinations.

Luther Jeffries, star Bison pitcher, who pitched two of the games resulting in Bucknell victories, as well as old faithful "Eddie" Halicki and John Linkfield will make up Coach Snavely's pitching staff, while the teams roster boasts three good receivers in Mitchell, Ammerman, and Slate.

Captain "Charley" Jones will lead his team in an effort to bring up the average of his aggregation before the Bucknell season comes to a close.

Wyoming Outclasses Yearling Track Team

Henry Coates is High Scorer For Bisons; Sullivan Ties For 1st in Pole Vault

The Bucknell University frosh track team returned to Lewisburg Friday night bearing the news of defeat at the hands of the Wyoming Seminary track and field club by a 98-19 score.

The frosh, weakened by fellows who at the last minute chose house party before track were woefully outclassed by the well-balanced Kingston team. Kingston sported a pair of stars in Moses, 26-year-old distance man who broke his school's record in the half mile. Moses ran the half-canto in 2:2 2-5, breaking a record which the Wyoming teams have not passed for twenty-one years. Moses also arose from the bull rushed of obscurity to capture the mile run. It was not so easy for him to take the latter event, as Henry Coates, Bison yearling star miler pressed him hard and lost out by mere inches at the tape.

Another big reason for the Wyoming fete-day answers to the name of Potoski. The Polish lad romped off with first honors in the 100 yd. dash, broad jump, high and low hurdles, and tied for first in the pole vault. Potoski, who was born two years before his stellar team-mate, Moses, is a veritable Barney Berlinger in embryo.

Coates Leads Bisons

Henry Coates carried off high scoring honors for the Bucknell yearlings by virtue of his place as runner up to Moses in the mile and half-mile. Coates ran a pretty race each time, losing out only after a gritty spurt to the tape.

Gene Sullivan, Sigma Chi pole vaulter, soared upward to the eleven foot mark to tie with two Wyoming men for first honrs. Sullivan also showed his wares on the cinder path when he took third place in the 220 low hurdle race. "Sully" made the stile race in good form and his two exhibitions in the spiked-toe art show great promise.

Potoski Stars

Potoski copped first honors in the broad jump along with his other triumphs, but his jump of twenty feet nine inches was only inches ahead of the third place mark of

Inter-Collegiates To Test Real Strength Of John Plant's Cinder Path Artists

On Saturday the Bucknell track and field aggregation will trek to Carlisle where the varsity knights of the spiked toe will compete with ten other colleges in the Central Pennsylvania Inter-Collegiate track and field meet.

In spite of defeat at the hands of men under the Blue and White of Penn State two weeks ago, the Bucknell team looks toward victory in this meet with her neighbors.

Coach John Plant has entered a formidable team against the fleet-footed field. When Bucknell thinks of baseball, she breathes the name, "Christy Mathewson," when she thrills at football, the name "Wally" Deihl finds preeminance, and when the track season rolls around, the name of "Bud" Frable is in keeping with the game. In losing Frable by graduation, the track team lost its high scorer and best bet in the pole-vault, discus and javelin. However, the Plantmen are developing men to fill the place of this individual star. Paul Seidel is to top the vault bar for the Bisons.

Three in Weight Events

Welland Wadsworth is entered in the javelin and weight events, as is Harold Geiger and his team mate George Klein. Wadsworth, who was out of training for a week because of illness, has been training for the meet and is expected to take honors in his events. Geiger made good against the State men, and will probably come through for the Bison honors.

"Bill" Mackie, who took first in the Penn State meet in the high jump against a classy field, will scintilate for the Orange and Blue in that event as well as in the broad jump, where he also stars.

Geddes Simpson, is entered to do the fast work of the meet in the 100, and 220 yard dashes. Simpson has run the century tear in a bit over ten seconds and is to be depended upon to come through. "Sammy" Hughes and "Johnny" Gittens will also run the 100. Gittens hurls the javelin, in addition to his running ability. "Ken" Vandenbree will see action in the dashes.

Miller and Hill in Quarter Mile

Kimball Miller and Spencer Hill are entered to run in the quarter mile run, and can be counted upon to give a good account of themselves. Miller, however, is at his best in the 880 run, and will give his opponents a run for their money. Paul Crago, who has not been out for three weeks because of a pulled muscle in his right leg, may be able to be whipped into shape to run the 440 and 880 yd. dashes, in which events he has been up with the leaders.

Clement Jablonski will run both hurdle events for the Orange and Blue, and John Peifer is also entered to take the stiles.

Farrow in Mile Run

Captain John Farrow is expected to set a flashy example to his men as he runs the mile and two mile classic. Farrow has a long, easy, powerful stride that stands him in good stead in the distance runs.

Ralph Simonetti has developed into a pretty 440 man as well as a good hurdler, and is entered to compete in those events. Frank Kostos has been turning his ability to the cinder path and will run in the middle distance races.

Ridgeway Hughes, another scintilating Bucknell frosh. Hughes, the acme of broad jumping perfection in form, is looked to as a fine prospect for the coming varsity season.

George Abernethy's loose-limbed ability in the high hurdle business brought the Bison crew another third place, while Homer Reese emulated the South African savages to draw a second place for his mates' score.

"Tiny" Lenhart put his five hundred odd pounds of manhood behind the shot and was successful to the extent of second honors in that event.

Barbarin, elongated high jumper managed to take a place from the Wyoming boys in his event and gave the Plantmen an additional point.

The frosh have two more meets scheduled, and as House Party will probably draw no more interest this season, it is expected that the fine aggregation will take the field in each meet.

Four Games Played In"Sem"Tournament

"Mid" Walton, "Ray" Gawthrop, Martha Warner, and "Betty" Wilson Are Winners

The weather man doesn't seem to approve of Women's tennis tournaments. Anyway he has sent so much rain that only four games have been possible. The girls are getting anxious to finish the contest.

In the games that have been played, Mildred Walton defeated Margaret Fox, "Ray" Gawthrop defeated Katherine Gammon, Martha Warner won from Muriel Hoyle and Ruth Schreiber was defeated by "Betty" Wilson.

The latter is a tennis player of no mean ability, having won the junior championship of the Southern New Jersey League, last summer.

The girls who have entered the tournament are: Margaret Fox, Mildred Walton, "Kay" Hill, Betty Jane Rodenbeck, Virginia Babcock, "Dot" Showalter, Katherine Gammons, "Ray" Gawthrop, "Bobby" Slifer, Marion Raber, "Polly" Brick, "Betty" Huxley, Martha Warner, Muriel Hoyle, "Betty" Wilson, and Ruth Schreiber.

The remaining games will be played this week if the weather is suitable and the elimination series will be staged next week.

How To Sleep!

A course in sleep is now being offered at the University of Texas for those students who are not physically capable of participating in the physical training exercises. They report to the gym, and in the lieu of three hours a week of calisthenics, they are put to bed and taught how to sleep properly.

Students Write Plays

The Curtain Theater of Swarthmore college presented recently an unusual program of one-act plays. These were five one-act plays selected from a large number submitted in a student competition which was held a short time ago.

Pity the pawnbroker. Think of the watches he has to set back in this day-light saving business.

B. U. Ball Team Rallies in Ninth; Down Ursinus

Bucknell Emerges from Batting Slump to Wrest Victory from Diamond Rivals, 8-6

E. HALICKI RELIEVES JEFFRIES IN NINTH

Bucknell University's Bison diamond crew came through in the last half of the ninth inning to wrest victory from the Ursinus College nine by an 8-6 score last Friday. Luther Jeffries, port-sider, started on the mound for the Orange and Blue and pitched fine ball until he was relieved by Halicki in the ninth. Ursinus nicked Jeffries for seven scattered hits, while the Bucknell team drove out eight hits to score an equal number of runs.

Jeffries' stellar southpaw tactics accounted for seven Ursinus casualties by the strike-out route, while he issued but one free pass. "Lou" stood out in striking contrast to the visiting hurler, who walked nine batters and was touched for four extra base hits as well as a quartet of singles.

Jones Scores Jones

Bucknell scored first in the first canto when Captain Charley Jones crossed the plate on "Pottsville" Jones' sharp two-bagger over the hot box, after drawing a base on balls and advancing to third via a stolen base and Lobel's sacrifice hit. In the second inning, Halicki walked and scored when "Barrel" Mitchell drove out a long two base hit. Mitchell tore in with the third run of the game when Justin Brumbaugh came through with a timely sacrifice fly to right field.

Sterner, Ursinus lead off man, made his team's first entry in the scoring column in the third inning as the result of his single and Meckley's texas leaguer. Sterner crossed the plate again in the fifth and then

(Continued on Page 7.)

SPortraits

By Kenyon

This is our first night on the job, and we wonder how good old "Mac" McElligot ever wrote this whole sport page single handed. He did a good job, fellows, and we're stopping here long enough to tell the world that "Mac" has the stuff, and this page is going to miss him. Good luck, "Mac!"

• • • •

Hello, and good-bye! William Lester Ely came back this week to bid us au revoir. "Les" had rather a whirlwind year here at Bucknell. Soon after his entrance last fall, he made a name for himself in track annals by reason of his stellar performance in the Inter-Fraternity Track Meet. Competing under the red and black of Delta Sigma, Ely copped five first places for a total of twenty-five points. No wonder the Demies won the meet! Through the year Ely continued to show his worth, in personality. Besides scintilating in the inter-fraternity sports, he was a member of the frosh basketball squad. The Druids claimed him as a brother and he now bears the triangle brand of Druid bond. (Only last week "Les" took second place in the high jump at State). "Les" and his folks saw fit for him to leave college for a time, and Ely now has a position with a banking firm, and the Hightstown youth attends school at night. Here's Luck!

• • • •

No! Absolutely, no! Even if our friend "Vince" McHail says that "Pottsville" Jones will say good-bye to the Bucknellian, we say, "no." Tom Jones happens to be leading the team in batting at the present time, and we find that very much to his credit.

• • • •

"Eddie" Halicki deserves more than a word of praise for his showing in the pitcher's box this season. When a man is credited with anywhere from seven to twelve strike-outs in a game, walks a minimum of batters, turns in a good pitcher's average at bat, and plays other assignments equally well, what more can be said but that he is a doggoned good man. His team has had more than its share of hard luck and errors, all of which present a mighty poor hackground for a pitcher, but,—Hit 'em hard, "Eddie!"

• • • •

Luther Jeffries is a man for any ball club to reckon with, if it expects to oppose his slants. "Lou" turns in a good game from his position on the mound. He struck out four men in short order against the Ursinus hopes the other day. That is just a bit of his work in that game. "Lou" is modest, so methe even the column writer had better not say too much. Just watch "Lou" Jeffries.

• • • •

Once in a while one hears along drawn "h-o-y, h-o-y" from the center field section of Coach Snavely's ball field. That is about all the attention most of us pay to that part of a Bucknell game. However, let a man hit a baseball in the direction of center field,—and no one will pay attention then, either. The crowd just yawns and says, "That's in the well." George K. James is the gentleman who conducts the centerfield area for the Bison diamond crew.

• • • •

George Frost, we nominate him for mention with our Orange and Blue sports representatives. George captains the tennis team. The team has just caught its stride, and Frost is the man to lead it to a successful season. Lead on, Sir George.

• • • •

It is too bad that all of the Bucknell folks could not have heard Captain "Johnny" Farrow talk to his team after their defeat at the hands of Penn State last week. Farrow sure does his share to bring victory within the grasp of his team, and he is an inspiraton to the men. Even in defeat, he puts pep and the urge to work for vetory into his followers.

Since the colleges have voted for brunettes, the blondes feel that they have "dyed" in vain.

"Chesterfield preferred!"

The story is told that a certain man once importuned a famous financier for a loan involving a considerable amount of money. "I cannot give you the cash," the magnate is said to have replied, "but I'll let you walk arm in arm with me across the floor of the Stock Exchange."

Pardon our enthusiasm, but it's a good deal like that with a man and his cigarette. To be seen smoking a Chesterfield, for example, is to be marked as a gentleman, a scholar, and a judge of good tobacco!

Kentucky Colonel or swashbuckling corporal in the Royal Mounted—Wall Street magnate or dashing cowman of Cheyenne—a Chesterfield smoker is entitled to respect (and yes, even credit!) from his fellows.

Go where you will, you'll find Chesterfield everywhere admitted to the inner circle of those in the know. Such endorsement was earned—by good tobacco and taste—with six million voting.

CHESTERFIELD

MILD *enough for anybody..and yet..*THEY SATISFY

LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.

CXXX

The sun, it is a dazzling orb
Whose rays we all are trying to absorb.

Not so my girl friend's lamps
And neither are her lips so red as other vamps'.

Whiter than snow; to her bosom that line does not apply;

Her hair I cannot praise without a mighty lie,

It grows up straight and long and dank,

I'm saying this because I simply must be frank.

Now cheeks I've seen like luscious fruit,

But her's are simply cheeks and they must suit.

That scintillating, captivating aroma
For which so many of my manly sex fall over

Is absent from her precious self.

I love to hear her speak, but here I pause,

To say her voice hath music, is simply applesauce.

The say that in etheral joy the goddesses on high do trip,

But when my baby starts to skip,
She makes a very earthly clatter,
Accompanied by incessant patter.
And yet to other nymphs, my fancy ne'er shall flit,
For this ungainly little maid has her full share of "it."

—Ben Wizedupp.

The above atrocity was found one morning on Gulliver's doorstep. It bore a label reading, "Paraphrase of One of Shakespeare's Sonnets." The tone of the thing smacked of Izzy Wright, one-time contributor to this column, but since Ben signed it, it must be his. The odds are, if Ben's goil fren' finds what his real name is, she'll smack somewhat or something of Ben Wizedupp.

THE WEEK-END PARTY AS OTHERS HEAR IT

The faculty car gets this—

"A well-ordered affair, with strict observance of all rules, especially sections 3 and 4 of article IX, but with a slight fracture of regulation 7 in amendment 18."

"Everybody had a good time, but a few alumni messed things up occasionally. The decorations were lovely."

To a friend and confident—

"A helluva lively party with plenty of good-looking frails. Boy, was I tight—!"

There was a young man named Pepys
Who was fond of taking long slepys.
His classes he cut
Which seems all right but
When reproached with this sin he wepys.

There was a young man named Morris
Who had a beautiful dapple grey horris.
To a co-ed he lent it
Its back, she bent it
And to straighten it he had to use forris.

Will we never reach the bottom of this colyum?

Haverford and Swarthmore Debate

For the first time in the history of the two Colleges, forensic relations between Haverford and Swarthmore were established last week when a split team debate on the question, "Resolved: that fraternities should be abolished in American Colleges of less than one thousand students," was held before a large audience in the Bond Memorial. The audience voted positively.

Donald M. Johnson, '24

Word has been received in Lewisburg of the admittance of Donald M. Johnson, '24, son of Federal Judge and Mrs. Albert W. Johnson, to the bar of the Pennsylvania supreme court in Pittsburgh this week. The young attorney plans to enter a law office at Scranton.

Urges Correlation Of College Courses

"An Experiment in Correlation and Organization of Courses at the College Level," an article by Professor C. M. Bond, has appeared in the May number of Christian Education. In this article Professor Bond discusses the necessity for the reorganization of religious education courses in the attempt to bring about the standardization of the teaching of religion in our colleges.

As the results of certain surveys show, according to the writer, the question of aims and methods for the teaching of religion in colleges is very confusing. There is a very great diversity of courses offered in most religious education departments, and no standardization in the matter of giving college credit for the work done in these departments.

The reorganization of this department which has been going on at Bucknell is next explained. Five other departments now count courses in religion as applicable towards the satisfaction of major groups in those departments, and several courses in religious education are credited in the department of education, English, sociology, and philosophy. Why not go further in this matter of correlation, and make it possible for a student preparing for some profession to get an introduction to the religious subjects at the same time and in the same courses by which he satisfies his major course requirements?

The second major emphasis of the article is in the field of methodology. The question is asked as to how an experience centered method can be used in a course which professes to be a study of biblical literature. This difficulty has already been overcome to a certain degree. The classes taking these courses have come to the conclusion that there is much in the social teachings of the Bible that is applicable to our modern life.

"While the experience method is certainly not a fool-proof one," the writer concludes, "nevertheless we have found that it seems to be the common sense method of dealing with historical subject matter in social ethics, whether that subject matter be ancient or modern."

B. U. BALL TEAM RALLIES IN NINTH

(Continued from page 6.)

the Bison crew tallied its fourth and fifth runs on C. Jones' double to the left garden, and "Eddie" Halicki's pretty three base drive. Captain Jones and Seiler made the tallies.

Jeffries Stars

In the sixth and seventh innings, Jeffries treated the spectators to an exhibition of his mound work when he struck out four of the six batters who faced him. In the seventh he forced all three outs by delivering tantalizing slants that went, all three, for gently-wafted pop-flies to Jones and Brumbaugh.

Halicki Warms Up

As the ninth inning opened, with the score 5-2 in favor of the home team, the Ursinus team threw a stampede into the Bison herd with a total result of four additional runs. Young got on by virtue of his single and was advanced to second as Schink grounded to Brumbaugh. He scored on Bateman's hit. Peters, batting for Coble, drove out a sharp hit through the pitcher's box. Coach Snavely gave "Eddie" Halicki the rest of the inning to work out in the box, and Jeffries took his place on the first sack. Hunter faced Halicki and got to first safely when a futile attempt was made to nab Bateman at the plate. Karpenin made a stab at winning his own game by driving in Peters and Hunter to put his team in the lead. Halicki sat the next man down on strikes and teased the third out via an easy fly to the infield, thus putting a halt to further Ursinus scores.

Halicki Comes Through

With the game in the fire, Brumbaugh started the Bucknell rally with a good single. In an attempt at a double play, he was put out as Lobel sprinted to first. C. Jones proved a bit too anxious and fanned. "Pottsville" Jones scored Lobel from second on a long hit over center field. "Lefty" James waited out the Ursinus pitcher and was walked. Seiler Kozik was put in to run for Jones, only to run, I let it rain, and when it wants to snow, I let it snow."

The box score:

Bucknell	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Brumbaugh, ss	4	0	1	3	0	0
Lobel, 3b	4	1	0	0	2	0
C. Jones, 2b	4	2	1	3	2	0
T. Jones, rf	5	0	2	1	0	0
James, cf	3	1	1	2	0	0
Seiler, lf	2	1	0	3	0	0
Halliki, 1b-p	4	1	2	8	0	0
Mitchell, c	3	1	1	7	1	0
Jeffries, p	3	0	0	0	1	0
*Kozik	0	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	33	8	8	27	6	0

Ursinus	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Sterner	5	2	2	3	3	0
Frances	5	0	2	3	0	0
Meckley	4	0	1	6	0	0
Young	3	1	1	1	0	0
Schink	4	0	0	11	0	0
Bateman	4	1	1	0	2	0
Coble	3	0	0	1	6	0
Hunter	4	1	0	1	0	0
Karpinen	4	0	1	0	2	0
xPeters	1	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	31	6	8	26	2	0

*Ran for T. Jones in ninth. xBatted for Coble in ninth.

Two out when winning run was scored.

Summaries: Three base hit, Halicki. Two base hits: C. Jones, T. Jones, Mitchell, Frances. Sacrifice hit: Lobel, Brumbaugh. Struck out by Jeffries, 7; by Halicki, 1; by Karpinen, 6. Base on balls: off Jeffries, 1; off Karpinen, 9. Scorer, Kupstas. Time: 2:40.

MOTHER GOOSE AT B. U.

Tom, Tom, the piper's son,
He learned to dance when he was young.
But all the steps that he could do
At the Freshman Hop were far from new.

A pretty co-ed sat near a tree,
Looking as sad as sad could be.
When her boy-friend came, she left her trance.
For he asked her to the Freshman dance.

Accepting the Inevitable

"Do you let your wife have her own way?"

"Absolutely. And when it comes to rain, I let it rain, and when it wants to snow, I let it snow."

Buckley—What do you think of P Penserose?

O'Donnell—It's the best ten-cent cigar on the market.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

this week, as usual, but a day earlier this time.

Martha Bunting of Doylestown, visited her sister "Peg," of '31.

Mrs. F. Figner, of Harrisburg spent Friday with her daughter, "Betty."

KAPPA DELTA

Jennie Owens, '30

Mrs. Ralph E. Brough, Mrs. Roy A. Birchard, Mrs. Roger S. Edwards, three Kappa Delta patronesses entertained the active chapter last Thursday with an informal supper and bridge.

Four years at Bucknell have taught "Betty" Siegfried, '29, many things; incidentally how to spend several days in the middle of the week at home, taking only one cut.

Elinor McLeavy, '32, attended a house party at Colgate this last week-end.

PHI MU

B. L. Gaventa, '30

The pledges entertained the actives at a delightful bridge party in the recreation room of the new dormitory on Thursday afternoon, May 9. Prizes were awarded Mary Taubel, '29, and Emma Shoff, '31. Consolation prize went to "Bert" Gaventa, '30. The feature of the afternoon was the presentation of a five-pound box of candy by Mary Bennett, '30, penalty for the pin she is wearing.

Jane Beakley, '28, paid the chapter a welcome visit the week-end of May 11. Jane is teaching in the high school at Vineland, N. J., this year.

"Ginny" Cowell, '31, and Grace Schaum, '30, spent the week-end of May 11 in Harrisburg.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '30

The girls of Alpha chapter wish to express their deepest sympathy for "Sally" Collner, whose mother passed away last Friday morning.

We entertained some of our friends at bridge and five hundred in the recreation room of the new dormitory a week ago Tuesday.

Dotty—It must be an awful thing to be paralyzed.

Mike—Yes, you feel so mean the next morning.

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS

BUCKNELL— CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your co-operation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:-
Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:

M. .....
.....
.....
M. .....
.....
.....
(Signed) .....

Mystery-Car Thrills Two B. U. Students

A rare and unusual treat was granted to Richard F. Humphreys and Blair L. Hazen, both of '31, on Saturday, May 11, when they received a ride in a mystery car, driven by an unknown driver. The two students were enroute to Wilkes-Barre when they became the recipients of the ride.

The dash board of the car was concealed by a leather covering, holes being cut in it to expose only the dials. The finish of the car was suggestive of a car that had been built from a junk pile, and the radiator, although of highly polished nickel, was patched in several places.

Make A Secret

After riding a few miles the riders became inquisitive as to the make and possibilities of the car. Much to their surprise they were informed that the make of the car was a big secret and would remain so for a month or six weeks, at the expiration of which time the car would be placed on the market. As yet there are only four of them in the U. S.

With an engine of 265 horse-power, the car will attain a speed of 80 miles per hour in second gear and 135 miles in high. The Bucnellians claim they experienced the thrill of traveling the 80 miles in second gear, but not the 135 in high.

The two students were picked up in Northumberland and were taken as far as Berwick, making that distance, approximately 35 miles, in 35 minutes.

The explanation for the appearance of the car, as given by the driver, was to the effect that it dispelled curiosity among by-standers. A fully equipped sedan of the same make required four policemen to keep the throngs away from it when it was on display in New York City a few weeks ago.

Tabloid Issue Lists New Belle Hop Staff

The latest issue of Belle Hop containing many original features has been published by the present staff headed by William G. Jones, editor-in-chief, and Gilbert B. Moyer, business manager, and contains cuts and articles cleverly worked up in a "Tabloid Number." This issue is the last that will be edited by the present staff. The editor-in-chief for the ensuing two semesters will be Wilbur Wentz, '30, who is also the editor-in-chief for the L'Agenda this year.

Other members of the staff as announced by the "Tabloid Number" who are to take charge of the Bucknell humorous journal next year are: business manager, F. C. Moerschbacher, '30; art editor, Thomas MacLeod, '31; assisted by the editorial board consisting of D. C. Edwards, '31, Kenneth Vandentrue, '31, Chris Kammitre, '31, Robert Barton, '30, Warren J. McClain, '31, and William H. Wood, '32, and the business board: Robert Payne, '30, Robert Keenan, Joseph Nissley, A. C. Smith of '31, and Nissley Hoak, R. C. Hughes, S. M. Leavitt, P. E. McFarland, W. C. McKee, J. M. Murray, and William Osborn of '32. The art board consists of Burtuff Koser, Harry C. Walter, and Winston Barrett, all of '31.

The next issue of Belle Hop will be the annual Frosh Number which will be out the first day of Freshman Week.

GLEE CLUB BANQUET AT MILTON TONIGHT

The Manufacturer's Club of Milton will be the scene this evening of the annual Glee Club banquet and installation of officers for the 1929-30 season.

Guests of honor and speakers will include President Emory W. Hunt, Registrar H. W. Holter, Professor C. R. Johnson, and Assistant Professor H. R. Warfel. Henry Fessler, '29, retiring president, C. W. Frampton, '31, newly elected president and Director Ralph F. Hartz will also speak.

Medals for three years services with the club and one for four years service, the first to ever be awarded, will be presented at this time.

WAINIES BLUE BAND PLAYS AT PRINCETON

L. Roger Wainwrights' Blue Band played the second time in as many years at one of the Princeton house parties which continued from 11 p. m. to 6 a. m.

The Princetonian said that only a few of the jazz artists who made last year's house parties such a success returned. Meyer Davis, Mike Markel, Nat Shilkret, L. Roger Wainwright, and Fletcher Henderson being among the notable exceptions.

MINIATURE REPUBLIC FOUNDER TO SPEAK

(Continued from page 1)

of the United States, the state of New York, and also those laws made by the citizens of the George Junior Republic at their town meetings which are held monthly. Corresponding to the national government this miniature republic has a president, vice president, secretary of state, secretary of treasury, attorney general, prosecuting attorney, and judge. All officers are elected for one year with the exception of the judge who serves indefinitely. "Edo" George, '32, the youngest daughter of "Daddy" George was judge of the republic up to the time she enrolled at Bucknell. A judge may however lose his office because of misbehavior, impeachment, or violation of the laws. His active duties are discontinued at the age of 21 years. In order to hold the office of president, attorney general, prosecuting attorney, or judge, citizens must pass a bar examination which includes a good knowledge of the national, state, and community laws. The superintendent of the republic has the power to veto any laws, but in the 34 years of the republic's existence this power of veto has only been used once.

"Nothing Without Labor"

The citizens go to school a half day, and work a half day. The boys engage in various trades, while the girls do secretarial work, housework, or some other form of labor. The motto of the republic is "Nothing Without Labor." Every citizen is paid by the week for his labor. The republic has its own currency, which resembles that of the national government. The citizens must pay for everything they get with their own money. They buy their clothes, food, and all necessities and accessories. In case that any citizen receives a box of clothing or food from their home they must call for it at the customs office, and pay for the contents before the package is turned over to them. Under this plan the citizens are supposed to be financially independent at the age of 16, and by the time they have reached that age the citizens have also learned the value of the dollar.

The republic has citizens of all classes. Approximately one-third of the citizens come to the George Junior Republic of their own volition. One-third are citizens through the wishes of parents or guardians, while the other third is made up of children entered as citizens through suspended sentence of court. This does not mean that the republic is in any sense a state reformatory institution, but courts have recognized the benefits derived from life within the republic. All persons residing in the republic are citizens, and are absolutely on an equal basis.

Other interesting details concerning the government, and life at the republic will be told by "Daddy" George during his brief visit to the campus.

Bucknell Band Banquets; Elects Officers for 1930

The Bucknell Band held its annual dinner and informal gathering at the Cameron House last Tuesday evening, May 14, at 6:30 p. m., and in the course of events the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: assistant manager, Arthur Shorts, '30; president, William R. De Lancey, '31; and vice president, B. F. De Chant, '31.

"Gene" L. Klingler, '29, who held the office of manager for the past college year will continue to function in that office until the end of the present semester, when "Archie" Shorts will take his place.

Shortly after the dinner Tuesday evening, "Ed" Calhoun, director of the organization gave a talk.

The membership of the band at the present time is about 30 members. In order to render twilight concerts in the near future and play at the Commencement Exercises, more members will probably be admitted. Calhoun's organization is to play in the line of march of the Lewisburg Memorial Day parade.

PROF. JOHN S. GOLD REACHES HIGH POSITION

Assistant Professor John S. Gold reached the highest position that a layman in the Reformed Church can attain when he was elected vice president of the West Susquehanna Classis of the Eastern Synod of the Reformed Church of the United States at a meeting of the Synod held at Williamsport May 13, 14, and 15.

The West Susquehanna Classis is composed of 62 congregations of the Reformed Church. At this week's meeting the proposed merger of the Reformed Church with the United Brethren and the Evangelical Synod of the North was discussed.

Dr. Hunt Performs Martin-MarshNuptials

Miss Lorinne Martin, '28, of Pittston, and Hugh Montgomery Marsh, '28, of Milton were united in marriage last Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock by President Emory W. Hunt at his home on University avenue. The ring ceremony was used. The couple was attended by Miss Louise Graeff, '29, as maid of honor, and "Marty" T. Hogan, '29, who was best man.

The ceremony was attended by relatives and friends of the young couple. Bucknellians who were present included: Flora Williams, '32, Helen Mowry, '31, Oella Kisor, '29, Pauline Belles, '28, "Pat" Newsham, '31, Walter Moore, '29, Sterns Warner, '27, George Fritzinger, '26, William Millward, '28, William Convery, '29, John Lindner, '29, Paul Fink, '29, Carl Truxel, '30, Paul Seidel, '29, Louis Woodring, '20, Thomas Managan, '29, and Roger Edwards, '30

Mrs. Marsh is a member of Kappa Delta sorority and C. E. A., honorary sophomore society. Mr. Marsh is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity. While at Bucknell he was prominent in school activities, serving as senior class president and manager of the basketball team.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MAY DAY FETE HELD YESTERDAY

Students of the Lewisburg Public Schools held their annual May Day fete on Loomis field yesterday, which was largely attended by Bucknell students as well as the parents and friends of the children who participated.

Romayne Good was crowned Queen of the May. Approximately 700 children participated in the event. All were dressed in costume.

BUCKNELL STUDENT STRIKES BICYCLIST

(Continued from Page 1)

of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hockenberry of Montandon. Miss Hockenberry, who is a teacher at the Joseph Priestley school in Point township, is a patient at the Geisinger hospital and has undergone several blood transfusions. Paul had given some of his blood to aid the teacher on Saturday and was to have returned to the hospital Monday night for the same purpose. For that reason he was using Miss Hockenberry's car.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

USE HOME-STUDY COURSES
TO HASTEN GRADUATION
Choose from 450 credit yielding courses in the Social Sciences, the Languages, the Natural Sciences, Mathematics, Education and Theological subjects.
Turn spare time to account. For detailed circular address
The University of Chicago
Box S, Chicago, Illinois
This University has been teaching by correspondence for 37 years

BIJOU THEATRE MILTON

FRIDAY AND SATURDAY, MAY 17-18
SEE and HEAR
NEW YORK CITY TALK in the 100% ALL TALKING FOX MOVIETONE SPECIAL
SPEAKEASY
(Be SURE to SEE This PICTURE.)
PRICES—Matinee: 2:30—15c and 30c. Evenings: 7:00-9:00.
Saturday: Continuous—2:30 till 11:30—15c, 25c, 35c.

MONDAY AND TUESDAY, MAY 20-21
The First 100% ALL TALKING—ALL SINGING—ALL DANCING—ALL PLAYING PICTURE.
FRED WARING'S PENNSYLVANIANS
"SYNCOPATION"
PRICES SAME 15c, 25c, 35c.

Prinsoners Rate "A"
The University of California Extension and Prison Courses announce that half of the prisoners enrolled in the courses made "A" standing.

If YOU have good health... you can save with this new LOW COST INSURANCE
It's a special form of insurance, designed to give healthy men and women the full benefit of the lower rates they deserve.
PHILADELPHIA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
"It's a Good Policy"
Philadelphia Life Ins. Co. Dept. A-8 111 North Broad St., Phila., Pa.
Please send me your booklet, "Philadelphia Preferred."
Name .....
Address .....
City ..... State .....

The best is none too good when it comes to a gift for "Sweet-heart", Graduate or Bride.
That is why we invite you to see our stock of Diamonds, Rings, Clocks, Watches, Silverware etc.
Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

CHIROPRACTIC
What is it?
IT IS NOT Medicine, Osteopathy, Massage or surgery.
IT IS the foremost drugless health science of the present day.
Thousands of others have found it so after everything else failed.
Regardless of what your particular trouble has been called, be it acute or chronic, your chances for permanent, lasting results are 10 to 1 under Chiropractic Adjustments.
Consult us regarding your ailments, start taking adjustments today, and get well.
No charge for consultation.
CHAS. S. HARMAN, D. C.
CHIROPRACTOR
Palmer 3 Yr. Graduate.
Over Krauser's Drug Store MILTON.

BOSTONIANS— Famous Shoes for Men

Two Million Men Prefer Them
Priced from $7.50 to $9.00
Lehman's Shoe Store
Next to the Book Store Lewisburg, Pa.

Dance or Dinner Music To Hire
At a Moderate Price
We will RENT a Phonograph—Electric Pick-up Instrument of largest capacity furnishing ample volume for Dinner-Dance Programs
At a price to make such features more frequent in the Fraternity circles of Bucknell.
We will be glad to quote rates.
W. L. DONEHOWER
Local Phonograph-Radio Dealer
424 MARKET ST., LEWISBURG, PA.

Restaurant Mortality

By authority of the mercantile agencies, the average life of all kinds of business is seven years, while for the restaurant "racket" it is slightly over two years Thus the failures in the eating game exceed nearly every other kind of business. The causes are numerous and the cures of little avail. It seems that unsuccessful people in every line of endeavor, feel that destiny has called them to the making of meals or the raising of chickens... Ten nights in a barroom, at the free lunch counter and we have the completed handiwork and inspired restaurantelr. He is ready to startle and set the world on fire.

The College Inn has not yet arrived as a successful venture. We are fighting our way upward. We have based our prices on food costs that yield a small net profit. We have tried to build a substantial structure by emphasizing moral values. We do no believe that any employee can remain honest, efficient and loyal to our organization without a day of rest. They have always had it here.

But our greatest asset has always been our loyal friends and patrons. We extend our thanks to you.

"ON THE QUADRANGLE"
PAYNE, '09

GENERAL ALUMNI ASSOC.
LEWISBURG, PA.

SEE "POTTSVILLE" JONES' WRITE-UP OF SENIOR ATHLETES—PAGE 6

The Bucknellian
BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
VOLUME XXXII LEWISBURG, PA., THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1929. NUMBER 32

HEAR DADDY GEORGE TONIGHT—8:15 P. M. BUCKNELL HALL

Breakfast Menu Sure to Appease Appetites of '29

Initial Hobnob Scheduled For June 8 in the New Dormitory; "Prexy" to Furnish Eats

OLD CLOTHES THE CRY OF THE HOUR, SENIORS

Senior Breakfast!
Senior Hobnob!
First call for breakfast!
And listen you senior men, wear your old rags.

We are going to eat in the new dorm's play room. Take your good, old time and don't shove. The breakfast won't be served until 9 o'clock.

Ham, on eggs, en waffels! Ho Gal! No reception this year—this is going to be a red hot breakfast, instituted by the class of '29, as something new and solid. Traditional—that's it—traditional!

"Prexy" has offered to furnish the eats. And big, beautiful "Fuzzy" Ailsworth, "Barrel" Loper, and "Bull" Mitchell are all on edge, just losing weight, wondering which one of them will be crowned king of the May. Seniors bring your cameras and snap the king as he ascends the throne in his latest potato-sack outfit. No stuffin' the ballot boxes when you vote, and everybody join in the chorus when our local talent of the senior class does its little, flitty-butterfly dance around our new crowned historical king. No foolin', this isn't bunk. It's going to go down as a Bucknell tradition which every forthcoming senior class is going to look forward to.

And Then We're Offering—

Other attractions are: The awarding of a prize (or pies) to the two best jumping-rope girls; a big, beautiful, parting smack from the youngest member of the class to the oldest member. This of course will be

(Continued on last page)

Lyon and Edwards Win Pi Delta Epsilon Editorial Contest

C. W. Smith, B. S. Hollinshead, And W. G. Jones Are Judges Of the Contributions

Robert L. Lyon, '29, took first honors, and Daniel Cardigan Edwards, '31, won second prize in the recent editorial contest of Pi Delta Epsilon, national fraternity of journalists.

The judges, Assistant Professor C. Willard Smith, Instructor Byron S. Hollinshead, and W. G. Jones, '29, president of Pi Delta Epsilon, selected the prize-winning editorials on two bases: first, the literary and journalistic quality of the work presented; and second, the timeliness of the subject. More than ninety editorials were submitted in the contest.

"A Renascence for Bucknell" is the subject of Mr. Lyon's prize-winning contribution. The former editor of the Bucknellian also won the last Pi Delta Epsilon contest, in 1927. "Suppression or Expression" is tte title of Mr. Edward's editorial. Both are printed on the editorial page of this issue of the Bucknellian.

The judges have advised the publication of at least twenty-five of the editorials, and the suggestion was adopted at the last meeting of the honorary journalistic fraternity. A "book of editorials" will appear this semester. The judges have listed the following writers for honorable mention: B. W. Barrett, '31; R. C. Hughes, '32; Mary Laning, '30; W. H. Wood, '32; Madeline Waldherr, '31; and S. H. Woolley, '32.

Bucknellians Honored

Two Bucknellians, Dr. L. M. Goodman, '01, and F. H. Painter, '10, were chosen as directors of the Jersey Shore Chamber of Commerce, at a recent meeting of that organization.

German Club
A special meeting of the German Club will be held on Monday evening, May 27, in the Play Room of the New Dormitory.

L'Agenda Will Be Issued To Junior Class on Friday

L'Agenda published by the class of 1930 has been completed and will be ready for partial distribution on Friday, May 24, from 1:30 to 4:00 p. m., at Sam Crabb's office in West Wing, Main College.

This distribution will be for the Juniors only, with the cost of $2.50 for the cut. On Monday, from 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock, at the same place, the other classes will receive their year books. The committee for L'Agenda requests that all books be obtained at these times to facilitate the work of distribution.

Committee Approves Revision of Program For Freshmen Week

Fewer Lectures, Informal Group Meetings, and Pep Sessions Among Changes Made

A complete program for Freshman Week, September 11-17, 1929, has been approved and accepted by the Freshman Week Committee. As yet the program is still tentative although fees, if any, slight changes may be made by the committee.

Many important departures from "Freshman Week" programs of the past have been made for this year. The initial assembly, held in Tustin Gym in the past, will be in Bucknell Hall this year, where President Hunt will formally welcome the freshmen of 1933.

Fewer Lectures This Year

Instead of having 12 to 16 lectures to listen to, the incoming Frosh will have but nine to hear. The time that would necessarily have been consumed by the additional lectures will be devoted to informal gatherings this fall. They will be of 25 minutes duration and will be devoted to cheers, songs, and the introduction of prominent Bucknellians.

In addition to these informal gatherings there will be group conferences. The entire freshman body will be divided into 15 or 20 groups, each group being under the direction and supervision of a faculty member. The members of each group will be free to ask the faculty advisor in charge any questions they care to ask, pertaining to registration, the courses of study, Bucknell traditions, and the like. These group conferences will enable the freshmen to become better acquainted with one another and with the faculty members.

Registration on One Day

In previous years the hours of registration have covered a period of days, but this year all freshmen will register on the same day. This is expected to do away with unnecessary confusion and trouble.

The most important feature on this year's program is the addition of two more placement examinations. This year there will be a "Modern Language" and a "Mathematics" placement examination besides the usual one in English.

English Fraternity Initiates 5 Students

Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity, held its regular monthly meeting in the recreation room of the new dormitory, Wednesday evening, May 15.

At that time the following students were initiated: Esther Heritage and Paul Fink, both of '29, and Trennie Eisley, Kenneth Haynes, and Henry Graham, all of '31. Following initiation, the new members read their original contributions.

Professor H. W. Robbins announced the advancement of "Betty" Sale and "Al" Weidensall, both of '29, from second to third degree. Mention was also made of the fact that contributions of Mary Foust, '27, Yolanda Frank, '28, Jean Wood, '29, and Eloise Bailey, '29, all members of Epsilon Beta chapter, were printed in the May number of The Rectangle, the official publication of Sigma Tau Delta.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served, and a social time was enjoyed by all.

Notice
Applications for scholarships for the coming year must be in the hands of the Registrar before June first.

Louise Graeff Makes Charming Queen As King Sol Beams on May Day Fete

Louise Graeff, '29, received one of the greatest honors which can be bestowed upon a co-ed, that of being crowned Queen of the May at the annual May Day fete, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The scene of the exercises was laid on the men's campus on the north edge of Loomis Field. This part of the campus formed an exceptionally pretty background for the picturesque festival.

The royal procession started at 3 o'clock. The queen, whose identity had remained a secret until her entry, was preceded by a stately procession of eighteen senior girls dressed in orchid Grecian robes. The girls formed an aisle down which the queen proceeded to her throne. The train of the queen's beautiful white satin dress was carried by two small children, a boy and a girl. When the queen arrived at the throne she was greeted by Miss Ruth Cooper, '28, last year's May Queen, who placed the crown upon her head, and relinquished her seat of honor to the new queen.

The queen's attendants were: Rhoda Herr, Mary Elizabeth Evans, Thelma Showalter, Jesse Fielding, Mary Tyler, Sara Porter, Betty Siegfried, "Jimmy" Mosser, Jane Foust, Jean Wood, Eloise Bailey, Mary Wagner, Oella Kizor, Frannie Saul, Naomi Brace, Esther Girton, and "Toots" Thomas.

Operetta is Presented

In conjunction with the crowning of the May Queen, a delightful operetta, entitled "Marenka," was presented. The chief participants in the production were: Ruth James, '32, Frances Weibel, '31, Louise Reinhardt, '30, and Bettina Buckman, '32. Approximately fifty girls took part in the various dances that made up the operetta. The costumes of the participants, especially those of the dancers, added color and charm to the scene.

Much credit is due to Miss Alma Ebeling, "Peg" McGeary, '30, chairman of the committee and others who devoted much time and effort to the success of the festival.

Prof. W. H. Eyster To Attend Exhibition

Only Men Eminent in Field of Research Are Invited

Professor W. H. Eyster intends to be present at a celebration of the Inauguration of Research Activities of the Carnegie Institution of Washington to be held Friday, May 31, at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island, N. Y. This is to be an exhibition which will consist primarily of a series of exhibits illustrating some of the results of investigations undertaken in the field of genetics. It will, in fact, be held at the Department of Genetics.

This exhibition on Memorial Day to which only men eminent in the field of research are invited, will be open to the public on Saturday and Sunday, June first and second. Cold Spring Harbor is located on the north side of Long Island about 35 miles from New York City and is an ideal place for such a celebration.

The Department of Genetics is one of the major departments of Carnegie Institution of Washington. It was organized in 1904. The Institution is now an organization of ten departments, all of which were founded by Andrew Carnegie.

Symphony Orchestra Members Banqueted

On Wednesday evening, May 22, the Bucknell Symphony orchestra closed the school year with an informal dinner held at the Cameron House. The guests were Professor and Mrs. Paul G. Stolz and Miss Grace Jenkins. Miss Charlotte Armstrong, who has directed the orchestra for a number of years, was presented with a beautiful corsage.

The orchestra accompanied the Girls' Glee Club on its trip to Sayre, Pennsylvania, and also played at the concert at the Baptist church in Lewisburg. The orchestra this year was composed of: Miss Armstrong, director; Eugene Klingler, manager; Margaret Wallace, treasurer; Grace Roberts, secretary; Frank Jeckel, John E. Robertson Louise Manley, Edward Corner, Elizabeth Kinney, Charlotta Berlew, Edythe Evans, Ruth Thomas, Dalton Dye, Eunice Lawson, Winifred Knights, Sidney Fisher, Rodger Davis, Robert Workman, Thomas Suckling, Grace Marsh.

NEWS LETTER LAUDS 1929 BUCKNELL VERSE

We are pleased to note a short article in the News Letter concerning the publication of the 1929 Bucknell Verse. The News Letter is a publication of the Philadelphia Teacher's Association. We quote briefly from the article: "This as a volume of completely original verse in which intense interest has been manifested, and which compares favorably with other college anthologies."

B. U. Students View New York's Wonders

Prof. N. H. Stewart Takes Group On Week-end Excursion

Eighteen students, under the direction of Professor N. H. Stewart, fared forth in search of adventure Sunday morning, May 19, at 2 o'clock when they boarded an excursion train for New York City.

Arriving at Jersey City six hours later, the members of the party boarded the ferry and crossed the Hudson to 23rd St. in New York. From here they proceeded to the Pennsylvania station, where they had a rather late, but very welcome, breakfast. Refreshed and rested, the sight-seers next took a subway to the Battery, where they visited the aquarium; and viewed the bay, Ellis and Staten Islands, and the Statue of Liberty, which could be dimly seen through the rising mist. The aquarium proved to be a most interesting place with its turtles and alligators and large number of odd and brightly colored fishes, and it was with reluctance that the sight-seers tore themselves away.

Even Lunch Offers Variety

Next on the program was lunch at an automat. This was of great interest to those who had never before eaten in such a place. Next came the library with its marble floors, wide stairways, and immense number of volumes. From there the party proceeded to Central Park and to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. This too was a fascinating place, and its specimens of Greek, Roman, and Egyptian art called forth the admiration of every member of the party.

The Museum of Natural History was just as interesting. It contained skeletons of huge pre-historic ani-

(Continued on Page 5.)

GOING, GOING, GONE! AND "Y" CLEARS $17.50

"What am I bid?"
"$1.30?"
"$1.30 for this pair of gloves. Who'll raise it?
"$1.50?" Anyone else?
"Going, going, gone."

And so there gradually disappeared rings, gloves, bracelets, fountain pens, pencils, scarfs, pocketbooks, and numerous other accessories from the table at the annual "Y. W." auction sale. "Em" Maxwell, '30, was the estimable auctioneer, whose voice was raised above the rabble of the mob, and as a result of which the proceeds totaled $17.50.

Seniors
Seniors who desire their themes should leave their names at B 21, before May 29. Announcement of the day of distribution will be made later.
H. W. Robbins,
Head, Department of English.

Bisons Rout Army Pitcher In Seventh to Win, 6-5

The Bisons humbled the West Point baseball team yesterday by a score of 5 to 4, in a seventh inning rally, to start their Eastern trip off with a bang.

Halicki was tapped for but 6 hits while his team mates were busy pounding Beauchamp, West Point ace, Evans and Stribling for 11 safeties. A home run by Kozik, in the seventh, scoring Shuman, who had singled, sent Mr. Beauchamp arunning to the showers. Evans, cadet catcher, helped Bucknell to two runs in an unlucky sixth inning, when, on a passed ball and a dropped throw to the plate, two Bisons scampered in with tallies.

Halicki's triple in the third was converted into a run by a sizzling drive to left by "Ted" Mitchell.

Lagging Sophomores Shorn of Much Hair By Avenging Frosh

Freshmen Trail Offending Sophs To Milton, Sunbury, And Other Chosen Spots

More than half a dozen members of the class of 1931 have shorn heads and a score of ex-freshmen are nursing cuts and bruises as a result of the pre-Moving Up Day celebration last Monday night. One upperclassman was roughly handled during the course of the evening's entertainment. Mr. Sam Crabb, superintendent of service, states that property damage was negligible and that in all probability the students will not be assessed for their whoopee-making.

Sharp on the stroke of eight-thirty on Monday eve the first year men assembled in front of the library. From there they were herded by upperclassmen to the gym. Soon the floor was packed with nervous frosh while the blooithirsty seniors and juniors formed a gauntlet extending across each gymnasium toward President Emory Hunt's house. Then 1932 was shoved through the cold showers on hands and knees and then, in groups of fives, graciously permitted to run the gauntlet. Paddles cut the air and landed true as each freshman scooted out between the lines. All known dash records were shattered.

Sophisticated Ones Escape

Some more sophisticated freshmen, learning that there was no roll call, made graceful getaways via the rear door of the gym while the merry-making was going on out front. So far as is known, none of the runaways was apprehended.

After these preliminary ceremonies were over, the late frosh began to scour the countryside for sophomores. No stone, figuratively speaking, was left unturned. The dorms were searched, the fraternity houses mobbed, and Sunbury, Milton, and Showalter's cabin were paid a visit. The freshmen did everything in their search for sophomores except drag

(Continued on last page.)

Class Gives Last Speeches After Hearty Steak Dinner

An innovation, which promises to become a custom, was initiated last evening when Professor James P. Whyte took his public speaking class to Fern Inn, where a steak dinner was enjoyed by its 17 members.

The purpose of the affair was to acquaint the students with the intricacies of after-dinner speech making and the most feasible way to escape the confines of the classroom was to actually attend a banquet and breath in the atmosphere of formality.

Some very fine speeches resulted according to reports. One by "Don" Poynter, he of the shorn locks, that dealt with his escapades on Senior Night, was exceptionally good. "Red" Heather and "Charlie" Bickel gave amusing interpretations of two country parsons.

The success of the affair was due to Lillian Mattick, '30, who was chairman of the arrangements committee, and whose idea it was to wind up the class work with the banquet.

Work or Starve Republic's Motto, Declares George

Founder Will Tell in Detail of Citizens' Life At Meeting In Bucknell Hall

DOWN WITH THE BOSS UP WITH THE FREEMAN

"'You have to work or starve to death' is the motto of the citizens of the George Junior Republic," said "Daddy" (William R.) George, the founder of "the smallest republic in the world," who entertained the faculty and students in upper-class chapel this morning with a brief description of the Republic which is the only place of its kind in the country where children are paid to go to school. Mr. George will lecture tonight in Bucknell Hall at 8:15 o'clock when he will describe in detail the working of the miniature republic.

"The George Junior Republic is not an institution or a boarding school. It's just an American village with respect to its architectural social, civic, and economic arrangements," said Mr. George, who is gifted with an unusual sense of humor which he employs to good advantage.

Make Their Own Laws

"The laws are made by the boys and girls and are signed by their president. The citizens have their own police force, jail, bank, and business interests. Their motto is 'Down with the boss, down with the tramp, down with the pauper, and down with the scamp. Up with the freeman, up with the wise, up with the thrifty, and on to the prize.'"

"The story of Jack who was fined $5 for kissing Katy, the beloved of Kelly, the red-haired cop, is characteristic of life in the republic."

"Daddy" George was the originator of the idea of young people governing themselves without any re-

(Continued on Page 5.)

Eastman Film Man Shows Educational Pictures At B. U.

Demonstrates to Future Teachers How Geography and Science Can Be Taught By Screen

Mr. E. T. Hancock of the Eastman Teaching Films, Incorporated, is here today demonstrating films which are designed as an aid in teaching. Besides showing these pictures Mr. Hancock is recommending ways of using them. These demonstrations are being given in all the education classes and a complete explanation of them will accompany additional pictures to be shown tonight in Biology 6, at 7:30.

Mr. Hancock demonstrated this morning especially films in geography and science. The geography film was of the Philippine Islands, showing the growing and preparing for market of cocoanuts. The science film showed the purifying of water, and the processes of preparation for consumption. The demonstrations were given on screens approximately 40 inches square with a machine which operates automatically.

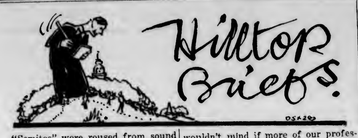
B. U. FROSH SUBDUE STATE NINE HERE, 6-5

The Bucknell freshmen baseball team vanquished their arch rivals, the Penn State yearlings, yesterday afternoon at the Memorial Stadium, 6-5. Mound duty for Bucknell was assigned to Steve Trudinak, Bison hill ace, who restricted the losers to six hits and forced 13 hostile batsmen to surrender on strikes.

Charley Mills captured the batting honors of the game, driving out three hits in four trips to the plate. It was Mills' third hit of the game that scored Dutchak from second base with the winning run in the ninth inning.

May Day Pictures Available

Pictures of the May Queen and her court and also of the festivities are now on display at the Alumni Office. Students may see them at any time, and orders may be given to A. G. Stoughton.



"Semites" were roused from sound slumbers at 5:30 Sunday morning by whirring bells throughout the buildings. A glance at clocks showed that it was neither breakfast nor class time. The only other thing that sleepy "Semites" could think of was fire. But just as they began to think it really must be a fire alarm, the annoying ringing stopped, and the "Semites" turned over and went back to sleep—that is, those who were able to returned to the Land of Dreams. Later in the morning questioning brought forth the news that a commuter, ignorant of the various means of escape from the "Sem," found the doors locked when she tried to get out, and as she wanted to catch a train, she rang the bells so that someone would come to her rescue.

• • • •

Convinced of the fact that it is better to give than to receive, several co-eds living on the first floor of the new dormitory gave freely of their time and energy on "Betty" Lawson's birthday, and made her room most attractive. A bar of Fels Naptha soap served as a cake, and was adorned with many pink candles, not the correct number however. From the light in the center of the room was draped much tissue paper, which paper was duly interwoven with onions. Pictures were upside down, alarm clocks heard but not seen, and last but not least a neatly made "pie bed" bore evidence of the efforts expended.

• • • •

The Phi Psi rooster is possibly out of place, for far from being king of the barnyard, he is unmistakable king of the venerable chapter house, and has all subjects therein at his beck and call. Sunday afternoon he emerged from the garden plot, walked majestically up to the front door, let forth a sound or two in a mandatory tone of voice, and immediately the front door was opened to him, and the Phi Psis dashed out in a vain effort to win the approval of their king.

• • • •

In the recent election for president of the local League of Nations, i. e., the class in International Relations, the delegate from Sweden, Mr. F. M. Locke, was unanimously elected. The gentleman from Sweden was accorded the highest honor of the court, due to his extensive ability as an arbitrary pacifist. The League is holding several important sessions in the "Y" room in West College beginning May 24.

• • • •

Prof. C. M. Bond's class on the church school was fortunate in having Mrs. Elizabeth M. Flinn, of the American Baptist Publication Society, speak to them last Monday on the subject of the Vacation Church School. Besides the regular class hour, the members of the class met with Mrs. Flinn from three to four-thirty in the library of the new dormitory.

• • • •

Would we not consider a garbage can an act of creation? This rather startling question was recently asked by Professor F. H. Lund of one of his classes which was discussing the meaning of the term "creation." Professor Lund went on to say that this would be true if creation means a recombination of elements—one of its common definitions.

• • • •

Ruth Kiser, '30, has the distinction of having four language courses in one day to prepare for three times a week. They are English, French, Latin, Greek. We wonder if she sometimes doesn't find it rather confusing to prepare for all four of them in one evening.

• • • •

Alpha Chis who are acquiring superfluous weight from their parties and picnics may apply to any member of the personal hygiene class for diets lacking calories and proteins. The class just now is well qualified to work out any deficiency or superfluity in grams, milligrams or tons.

• • • •

Mr. W. Evans, of Jeanette, spent the week-end with his daughter, Mary Lib Evans, '29. He was accompanied by "Mike" Getto, also of Jeanette, who is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, and a member of last years all-American football team.

• • • •

One professor does not require a term paper in his course, but will accept one from any student who wishes to raise his mark. The idea sounds like a good one, and we wouldn't mind if more of our professors tried it.

• • • •

It has been suggested that those of our number who take such extended rides about the country side that they lose themselves in by-roads and the like, take care to keep a compass always within reaching distance. This is desirable for obvious reasons.

• • • •

Prof. W. H. Coleman is now qualified to speak upon the "Relative Values of Corks in Bottles of Carbonated Water." Just mention it to him, but ask no questions about that night when he removed his hand from the cork of such a bottle.

• • • •

Our red-headed preacher cannot be too strongly congratulated upon his sermon last Sunday night in the Methodist Church. Bucknell is proud of "Fred" Heather, '30, and she has in him a real "straight-shooter."

• • • •

Grace Milhous, "Kitty" Hughes, Marie Helwig, all of the class of '28, spent the week-end here with their Phi Mu sisters. The Phi Mu dance and May Day were the chief attractions.

• • • •

"Bill" Mackie, '30, recently let it be known that he was hurt only once when he was a boy. That was when he was stuck in the mouth with a pin while eating pop-corn that hung on a Christmas tree.

• • • •

"Bill" Nowland, '31, consumed twelve pancakes for his lunch the other day, apparently with no bad after effects. Either he must be extremely fond of pancakes, or he was unusually hungry at the time.

• • • •

Miss Naomi Knapp had as her guest over the week-end Miss Mildred Mosier, from Barnm. Miss Mosier is a friend of Helen Hunt, President Hunt's daughter, who is also working in a mission field in Burma.

• • • •

Marie Condit, '30, Helen Ritts, '31, and Olivia Smith, '31, were among the excursionists to New York last Saturday. The biology class needed a little added inspiration.

• • • •

"Mickey" O'Blenis, '31, enjoyed a visit from her mother over the week-end. Certainly May Day and "Mickey" are worth coming all the way from Philadelphia to see.

• • • •

Lancey Hawkins, '28, who has a position in New York as librarian in the Bell Telephone Laboratories, is visiting her friends at the "Sem" this week.

• • • •

Some artistic genius (?) or human fly showed a practical trend recently in using two long strings of laurels, former May Day decorations, to ornament the front of East CoCllege.

• • • •

Ann Evans, '30, spent the last week-end at her home in West Chester. She had a fine time, and would not have minded if the vacation had been a day or two longer.

• • • •

Olivia Smith, '31, took the excursion train to New York City last week-end. She spent the time there with her sister, Miss Vega Smith, who attends New York University.

• • • •

"Pud" Hughes, of State College, a former Bucknell student, spent the week-end with Janice Booker, '30. She attended the Phi Mu dance Saturday evening.

• • • •

Many alumnae were back for the annual May Day fete. Lenore Losch, Christine Sterner, Ruth Cooper, and Nan Kennedy, were among those seen on the campus.

• • • •

Beulah Lesher, '30, left her chemistry, genetics, and anatomy reports long enough to spend the last week-end with her parents in Reading.

• • • •

Dorothy Goff, a graduate of Susquehanna University, spent the past week-end as the guest of Sarah Collner, '29.

• • • •

Dorothy Stenger, '29, attended the Junior Prom at Susquehanna University, Selinsgrove, last Saturday evening.

• • • •

The mother of Helen Mowry, '31, has been visiting her for several days.

• • • •

Eleanor and "Mid" Farquhar were called to their home in Monessen, on Tuesday, May 14, by the sudden death of their aunt.

Miss Angelique Spalding, of State College, spent the week-end of May 18 with "Mim" Johnson, '30.

• • • •

Mrs. G. D. Baldwin of Erie, Pa., visited her neice Lois Baker, '31, on Sunday.

• • • •

Mrs. L. M. Herr, of Lancaster, spent the week-end with her daughter, Rhoda Herr, '29.

• • • •

Betty Edmunds, '31, was confined to the Women's Infirmary for a few days last week.

• • • •

Miss Frances Thomas, of Shavertown, spent the week-end with Edna Cease, '31.

• • • •

Mrs. S. D. McClure, of Lancaster, spent the week-end with her daughter, Lillian McClure, '31.

• • • •

"Ray" Gawthrop, '32, spent the week-end at her home in Wilmington, Delaware.

• • • •

Miss Mary Hull of Anderson, Indiana, was the week-end guest of Martha Guest, '32.

Mrs. C. A. Rees, of Nanticoke, spent the week-end with her daughter, Anna Mae Rees, '31.

• • • •

Miss Ann Williams of Danville spent the week-end with Helen Blecher, '32.

• • • •

"Hank" Graham, '31, spent the week-end at his home in Wyoming.

• • • •

Marie Trunk, '31, spent the week-end at her home in Coatesville.

Common sense, in an uncommon degree, is what the world calls wisdom.—Coleridge.

For many years John Wards have been the college man's shoe. Here you may select, from a variety of styles, those which particularly suit your individual taste.

John Ward MEN'S SHOES
MONTGOMERY & CO.
Lewisburg, Penna.

FLAVIO'S
FINEST
FANCY
FRUIT

GET THE FULL JOY OUT OF EVERY MEAL
BY EATING
GENEROUS SLICES
OF
BUTTER KRUST BREAD
C. H. STAHLEY, Local Distributor

When in Need of FANCY FOODS of all Kinds for Your Party or Banquet, call at
Wagner's Quality Grocery
We Have all Kinds and Colors of Candies.
Also Dishes for Rent.

GEORGE S. JOHNSON
Dry Cleaning and Pressing. Alterations for men and women. Hats Cleaned, Re-blocked, Shoe Shine Parlor, also Kay Woodie Pipes.
LEWISBURG, PA.

THARP'S ICE CREAM
at the MAY-MAR

If It's Properly Laundered
IT'S BEEN TO THE
PEERLESS LAUNDRY
14 South Sixth Street, Lewisburg

Early Orders For Symposium Programs
will get the best selection of paper.
Get your orders in as soon as possible
University Print Shop
P. O. Building.

For Service and Quality
Get into the habit of dropping into our shop and let us send you the flowers of your choice.
Savidge's Flower Shop

HEADINGS' DRUG STORES
202 and 323 Market Sts.
Drugs, Fine Perfumes and Toilet Requisites, Whitman's Candies. Films developed and printed. Kodaks and Films.

Student Headquarters
BAKER'S PHARMACY
The Rexall Store

J. C. REEDY
Dealer in Furniture and Carpets
530 MARKET STREET

SERVICE SATISFACTION
HEITER BROTHERS
BARBERS
25 N. Second St., Lewisburg.

H. J. Nogel Eye Service
H. J. Nogel, Registered Optometrist
H. J NOGEL & BRO.
Jewelers and Engravers
Established 1887. Lewisburg, Pa.

CHARLES W HOWER
Successor to J. Hower & Son
Rug Dealer
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

BROWN'S
Meat Market
6th and Market Streets

The Union National Bank
LEWISBURG, PA.
Offers complete banking facilities and security, and most pleasant surroundings in which to transact business.
Keep your College Year right by conserving and protecting your funds. Open an account in this bank.

THE MAY-MAR TEA ROOM
OPPOSITE THE MONUMENT
Breakfast Luncheon Dinner
Sandwiches and Sodas at all hours.

C. DREISBACH'S SONS
Hardware of Every Description

COAL QUALITY COAL
PROMPT SERVICE
KUNKLE & COMSTOCK
C. B. Comstock B. U. '06. Yard N. 6th St. Phone 384-R2

FOR EXPERT SHOE REPAIRING
SEE
PETER CHIFOLO
19 S. Third Street Lewisburg, Pa.

The Lewisburg National Bank
1853 Seventy-six Years of Sound Banking 1929
WILLIAM C. WALLS, '73, President — ROBERT W. THOMPSON, '04, Vice President — B. C. MAHONEY, Cashier
The latest bank building, 407 Market Street, between 4th and 5th Streets, Lewisburg, Pa.
We provide vaults with modern protection and have every convenience for our customers.
Capital $125,000 Surplus and Profits $275,000

THE UNIVERSITY BOOK STORE
BOOKS and STATIONERY
Office and School Supplies
DRAUGHTING MATERIAL, Etc.
Open Evenings Until 8 O'clock

Follow Bucknell In The Bucknellian

You of the Alumni oftentimes wonder what is going on at the old Alma Mater. You need wonder no longer. The Bucknellian is ever ready to supply you with the news you wanted of the happenings about Bucknell and which you were forced to do without.

All that is now a thing of the past. The football and basketball news which you wished for so long can now all be your by filling out the subscription blank below and mailing your check for $1.50 to

The Bucknellian, Box X, Lewisburg, Pa.

SUBSCRIPTION BLANK

I hereby subscribe for.....years subscription to the BUCKNELLIAN, for which I enclose

$.....

Name.....

Street Address.....

Town or P. O.....

WITH THE FRATERNITIES

PHI KAPPA PSI
Charles McD. Morris, '31

The gates of Jerusalem have been burst in twain! As a result brother "Link" Bennett is again with us, and strange as it may seem he can still talk with his hands in his pockets. However, a little change in his enunciation has been noticed. Such is life in the big city!

Brother "Stream" Poynter recently did that without which no college course is complete. He took out life membership in the newly formed B. P. O. H. C. H. (Benevolent Protective Order of Henpecked College Husbands).

Pledge brothers Porter and Binder returned to Jamestown, N. Y., again this week-end, and succeeded in making other arrangements with the man whom they went to see several weeks ago.

Brother "Sturge" Hurlburt is the latest and most outstanding "find" in the reel world. Saturday he starred in "The Docks of New York."

Brother "Freddie" Evans who is teaching school in the Kingston High spent Friday with us.

Where was pledge brother Ellenberger over last week-end? No! You're wrong. It was Forty-Fort. Chalk up one setback for the Capitol City.

SIGMA CHI
Thomas MacLeod, '31

"Mike" Getto, Pitt's all-American end, was a visitor to the house on Sunday to see the boys from Jeannette, his home town.

Brothers Johnny Reilly and Harry Latcher of Penn State spent the week-end with us. The "Sem" girls only let us have them for meals and sleeps.

The chapter was immensely relieved to have brother Harry Walter return from Vassar intact and apparently none the worse for wear. Harry was one of the importations for the big annual brawl on the upper Hudson. Knowing our Harry and also something of the Vassar vixens, we let him leave our midst with some misgivings.

Brothers Paul Johnson and "Gumshoe" Konkle got together and invaded the metropolis of Williamsport during the week-end. What a pair to let loose alone.

Brother "Ollie" Miller will be with us again in a few days, according to the authorities at the Geisinger Hospital in Danville. It has been ten days now since "Ollie" left us to offer his appendix to science, and we have missed him.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON
W. J. Chenoweth, '32

"Tex" Walls says he is going back home to Texas after Commencement.

"Eddie" Halicki will go to the St. Louis Cardinals. He leaves in June.

Brother Ziegler expects to attend one of the summer sessions at Duke University.

"Mose" Quinn will probably go home to Tennessee.

Brothers Bogar and Baker spent the week-end in Harrisburg.

"Ed" Halicki, "Chuck" Jones, "Tom" Jones, and "Jim" Shuman, went away with the varsity baseball team on its annual New York trip. They started on Tuesday and are due to come back on Sunday.

Brother Klosterman is showing "rare" form in tennis.

DELTA SIGMA
Robert H. Keiser, '31

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bryan, of Danielsville, spent Sunday with their son, Woodrow.

Delta Sigma mourns the death of the father of R. W. Nickerson, '30.

Howard Wadsworth, of McGraw, N. Y., visited his brother over the week-end.

Geddes Simpson, '29, John Snyder, '30, Spencer Hill, '30, Arthur Randall, '32, and Henry Coates, '32, made the trip to Carlisle Saturday.

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
D. Rodger Davis, '32

Doctor Beckley, of Nanticoke, visited his brother Edward Beckley at the house last Sunday afternoon, while on his way home from a business engagement at Pittsburgh.

Mr. Philip Cummings, father of "Tom" Cummings, and Mr. Brooks visited "Tom" last Friday afternoon.

Pledge brother Ralph Schreyer spent a pleasant week-end at Cornell University where he was a guest at the Phi Gamma Delta house.

"Socs" Wermuth spent last Sunday afternoon and evening at his home in Nanticoke.

Pledge brother Rodger Davis spent last week-end with Fred Heather, at his church in Johnson City.

Brother "Bob" Barton spent last week-end visiting and promenading at Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

THETA UPSILON OMEGA
Henry M. Graham, '31

The seventh annual Parent's Day program was given in the chapter house last Sunday, May 19. The catering department served a delightful repast at 12:45. Later in the afternoon John R. Bower, president of Zeta Alpha chapter, gave an address of welcome to the parents. This was followed by a violin rendition of Borowsky's "Adoration," by Frank Jeckel, '32.

Following Jeckel's solo, William Doty, '32, gave an address, "Prospect." Melvin R. Shuttlesworth, '28, sang "Homing" and then a trio composed of Shuttlesworth, William Waldner, '31, and David Phillips, '30, presented a number of popular songs, after which Reginald F. Gaylord, '29, gave an address, "Retrospect."

Nearly fifty parents and friends visited the chapter during the week-end.

"Al" Grinsted, '31, is confined to the infirmary.

"Art" Shorts, '30, spent last week-end in his home in Emlenton.

ALPHA CHI MU
John Anderson, '31

Brothers Howell, '31, and Anderson, '31, were visitors at the home of the latter at Shickshinny, during the week-end.

Brother Brenner, '29, visited his parents at his home in Kingston last Saturday.

"Bill" Curnow, '32, and "Tiny" Truscott, '30, accompanied "Buck" Taylor, '30, Sunday when he went to preach in his church at White Hall. "Bill" sang a solo and was accompanied by "Tiny."

Brother Shure, '30, led the Epworth League installation services at the Lewisburg Methodist church last Sunday; brother Titus preached in the Montandon Methodist church last Sunday evening.

Clarence Cranford, '29, is again on his barn-storming tours. This last week-end he addressed the Baptist young people in Carbondale, and on Sunday morning preached in Wilkes-Barre.

"Al" Rawlinson, '29, is once more an inmate of the infirmary, after taking a short rest at Trout Run.

Pledge brother "Bill" Parson, '32, entertained his mother, father, and sister for dinner on Saturday, May 18.

The Rev. Walter H. Williams, Bud Williams, the Misses Leora and Ruth Williams, and Miss Evelyn Bostian, all of Williamsport, were guests of William Shure, '30, on Saturday.

Hughes, Titus, and Farrow journeyed to Dickinson on Saturday for the Central Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Track Meet. Farrow was the most fortunate of the trio for he broke the mile record.

PHI KAPPA
J. M. Paige, '32

Brother "Mike" Getto, all-American tackle, from Nu chapter at Pitt, and Mr. S. Evans, of Jeannette were dinner guests at the house Sunday.

"Walt" Schultz, '31, visited some of his relatives in Williamsport, last Sunday.

"Phil" Biondo, '31, and John Hrdlika, '32, report that they had a good time in Shamokin over the week-end.

Susquehanna University again claimed the presence of Robert Cooney, '31, last Saturday night. Whatever the course "Bob" is taking there, he, as yet, has no cuts in it.

BETA KAPPA
Earle C. Morse, '32

Brothers "Had" Downer and "Count" Sherwood made a trip to Tyrone this week, but refused to discuss their purpose for going there.

"Bob" Tate and "Ott" Huffman made their weekly trip to their homes in Watsontown.

Brother "Dick" Carvolth, his wife, and their small son were guests at the house on Sunday. "Dick" takes a keen interest in the affairs of the house and is very popular.

"Count" Sherwood recently disclosed to certain members that he is an expert marksman. They thrust a rifle into his hands, but he was unable to prove his ability.

Saturday afternoon the boys were observed sneaking in the rear door. We investigated and found that the porch had been painted by "Bob" Jones and "Ed" Lare.

Pledge brothers Wilson, Lazzeri, and Shipps made another pilgrimage to Bloomsburg on Saturday. This is becoming serious.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
Virginia Kandle, '32

Mary Tyler, '29, spent the remainder of the week-end at her home in Altoona, after participating in the May Day celebration.

As usual, "Sally" Porter, '29, went away for the week-end—this, time to Brooklyn, Pa. Also "as usual," "Jo" Schilling, '29, had a guest from State.

"Edo" George, '32, went home over the week-end. While there she attended the Navy Ball at Cornell.

Martha Guest, '32, entertained a guest from Anderson, Ind., last week-end.

Louise Manley, '32, is now wearing the pledge scholarship bracelet.

"Peg" Zerby, ex-'29, spent several days visiting the chapter recently.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA
Margaret B. Erb, '31

On Thursday, May 16, Ethel Henion, '30, gave a bridge to the actives in the playroom—at least Sallie Robertson, '30, thought it was a bridge until she received, instead of refreshments, large armfuls of peculiarly shaped bundles. They proved to be most everything anyone could want for furnishing a kitchen and a green one at that. Bridge really was played and Grace Clauser, '31, won first prize.

Eta extends congratulations to "Em" Maxwell, '30, who was recently elected president of Theta Alpha Phi, honorary dramatic fraternity.

We were very much pleased to welcome for a short visit at the beginning of the week, "Winnie" Wilson of Lambda chapter, Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

Congratulations are due Alice Corbett, who has been appointed to accompany the Glee Club for the coming year.

PHI MU
B. L. Gaventa, '30

The chapter held its last dance of the year on Saturday evening, May 18, in the recreation room of the new dormitory. The dance was a sport dance and the room was attractively decorated with three-cornered silk scarfs. Mrs. A. M. Beatty and Mrs. J. W. Little were chaperons and "Eddie" Hoffman's orchestra furnished the music.

Alumnae and guests who attended were: Ruth Heritage, '28, Grace Milhous, '27, "Kitty" Hughes, '27, "Pud" Hughes, ex-'31, "Floss" Utt, '26, Helen K. Bechtel, '23, Laura Grove, '28, Marie Helwig, '28, "Peggy" Horner Millward, ex-'31, Harriet Ridgeway, of Mullica Hill, N. J., Lucille McHose, of Hazleton, Sara Jane Tunis, of Harrisburg.

Mrs. Annette Stahl Neale, '21, visited the suite on May 19.

(Continued on Page 7.)

Just another good thing added to the other good things of life

CAMEL
CIGARETTES

WHY CAMELS ARE THE BETTER CIGARETTE

Camels contain such tobaccos and such blending as have never been offered in any other cigarette.
They are made of the choicest Turkish and American tobaccos grown.
Camels are always smooth and mild.
Camel quality is jealously maintained . . . by the world's largest organization of expert tobacco men . . . it never varies.
Smoke Camels as liberally as you choose . . . they will never tire your taste.
Nor do they ever leave an unpleasant after-taste.

© 1929, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, Winston-Salem, N. C.

SPECIAL PRICES ON
Bridge and Desk Lamps
WE DELIVER
W. H. Zearfoss & Co.
next door to Lewisburg National Bank

Galloway's Coal
ANSWERS THE
BURNING QUESTION

The
WILLIAMSPORT Printing and Binding Company
Specialists in the preparation and Production of College Printing of the Better Class.
A representative will call upon request.
431-439 Hepburn Street
WILLIAMSPORT, PA.
Phone 7158

ICE CREAM — O'BRIEN'S — SUNDAES
Corner 6th and Market Sts.
FREE MUSIC AND DANCING
LIGHT LUNCH

CANDY ICE CREAM
Toasted Sandwiches
BECHTEL BROS.
319 Market Street.

The Registrar will be Glad to Send You a Catalog and Book of Views of

BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
AT LEWISBURG, PA.
EMORY W. HUNT, D.D., LL.D., President

Address
H. W. HOLTER, Registrar

THE BUCKNELLIAN

OF BUCKNELL UNIVERSITY
LEWISBURG, PENNA.
Established 1897

Entered at Lewisburg postoffice as second class matter.
MOTTO—A SQUARE DEAL FOR EVERYBODY
Faculty Adviser Prof. Lewis E. Theiss
Subscriptions $1.50 per year. Make checks payable to "The Bucknellian." Advertising rates upon application.

Editor-in-Chief	Charles E. Mohr, '30 Theta Upsilon Omega House Phone 144
Business Manager	John N. Feaster, '30 Alpha Chi Mu House Phone 194
Assistant Editor-in-chief	Dorothy Davies, '30
Managing Editor	Helen B. Bell, '30
Assistant Managing Editors	Frederick M. Locke, '31 Thomas MacLeod, '31
News Editor	Trennie Eisley, '31
Assistant News Editors	Nan Lee Thomas, '30 Blair Hazen, '31
Sports Editor	H. M. Graham, '31
Assistant Sports Editors	Kenneth Vandenbree, '31 R. Burtuff Koser, '31
Women's College Editor	Lois M. Baker, '31
Ass't. Women's Col. Editor	Virginia E. Smoot, '30
Exchange Editor	Elizabeth Figner, '30
Column Editors	Lillian Mattick, '30 James B. Stevenson, '32 Kathryn Leach, '30
Business Staff
Advertising Manager	W. C. Emmitt, '30
Assistant Advertising Manager	John Snyder, '30
Circulation Manager	Frederick M. Locke, '31 George H. Van Tuyl Jr., '31
Assistant Circulation Managers
George DeLaurey, '32 Nathaniel Glazier, '32	Walter H. Grim, '32 Benjamin Wahrman, '32 Frank Koehler, '32

CALENDAR

Saturday, May 25—Zeta Gamma Tau informal; 8-11:15 in the playroom.

Monday, May 27—Testimonial dinner to President Hunt; 7 p. m., in the new dining room.
Violin recital in the organ room by pupils of Miss Armstrong; 4 p. m.

Tuesday, May 28—Campus Club Dinner.
Recital by pupils of Miss Melrose; 8 p. m., School of Music.

Wednesday, May 29—Friars informal; 8 to 11:45 p. m.
Organ recital by pupils of Miss Tollefson in the organ room; 4 p. m.

Thursday, May 30—Memorial Day.

PI DELT WINNERS

The Bucknellian takes pleasure in presenting on this page the editorials that won the Pi Delta Epsilon prizes of $15 and $10 for first and second places respectively. Mr. Lyon and Mr. Edwards are to be congratulated on the high literary and journalistic standard they have set for future contests.

Regarding the winners, Assistant Professor C. Willard Smith, spokesman for the judges, writes: "Both of these writers are fortunately well-known on our campus, Mr. Lyon for his critical observation as editor of the Bucknellian and for the progress that the paper made under his leadership; and Mr. Edwards for his opposition to things as they are. The editorials here printed represent the characteristic attitudes of these observers of our campus life: "A Renascence for Bucknell" with its interesting criticism and its demand for intellectual progress, the positive attitudes of Mr. Lyon; "Suppression or Expression" with its embattled paragraphs characteristic of the iconoclasm of Mr. Edwards.

FIRST PRIZE—ROBERT LOUIS LYON, '29
A RENASCENCE FOR BUCKNELL

"Bucknell at that time was as depressingly orthodox as any Mid-West cow-college," writes W. E. Woodward, of the University in 1901, the year in which Norman Thomas, the recent socialist candidate for president, entered it. A generation has passed, and while the administration has liberalized its policies appreciably, so that Bucknell now holds a proud place among the American colleges which boast of academic freedom, it can hardly be said that the deepening of culture and broadening of vision among the student body has kept pace. Yet improvement has doubtless been made. In a letter to the writer, following his visit last December, Norman Thomas said, ".....I am convinced that Bucknell has made real progress in the years since I knew it. Part of that progress it shares with American colleges generally... Part of the progress seems peculiar to Bucknell itself.... I did detect signs of a much livelier interest in the things that matter than in the Bucknell that I once knew." This is encouragement, indeed, but it is the sort of encouragement which should challenge greater effort—not the sort which permits of a smug satisfaction with the improvement already made. "Long may it continue and greatly may it increase," concludes Norman Thomas, "not only at Bucknell but in our country at large."

If it is really to increase, we must understand the situation. It is all too evident that Bucknell students on the whole are not very critical of the world they live in. Nor are they particularly interested in any subject which gives forth the faintest aroma of being "intellectual" or "high-brow." How else shall we account for the audiences of from twenty to a hundred persons, which usually attend our intercollegiate debates? How else explain the struggle which student dramatic organizations find necessary in order to keep themselves financially afloat?

Two major causes might be given for this condition. Bucknell is not heavily endowed and cannot afford to limit its enrollment by adopting a very high standard of selection, as is possible for richer colleges. Again, the University is situated in "the heart of the Keystone State," in a farming district and near no really large cities. This fact strikes at the culture of the students in two ways, for not only are they cut off during their college years from the opportunities for valuable contacts which are open to city-dwellers, but also, as statistics now show us, a majority of the persons who "accomplish things" are born, contrary to the usual belief, into metropolitan homes and not into rural districts. But the majority of Bucknell students are born into rural districts! In other language, most of our students are handicapped both before and after they come to college.

How are we to overcome this handicap? We cannot do so directly. Prospects for a quadrupling of the endowment within the near future are not encouraging. No way is visible for uprooting Bucknell from the hill on which it stands, and removing it corporally to a selected site in the neighborhood of large cities and centers of culture. But perhaps we can overcome part, at least, of the effects of the handicap. The writer has no new remedies to offer; he can do no more than stress the ones already obvious. We cannot take Bucknell to the cities; let us then make greater efforts to bring the benefits of the cities to Bucknell. The annual Entertainment Course attempts this. The Sociological Society, the Y. M. C. A., and other organizations attempt it also, by inviting speakers to the campus. These artists and lecturers accomplish much, but their number must be multiplied if they are to make noticable inroads into the provincialism which still exists in too large a quantity at Bucknell. It would not be possible to discuss in an article of this length, the means by which such a multiplication might be accomplished. Nor is it really necessary. Methods can be found when there is a sincere effort to find them. Perhaps other departments can organize "societies" to back projects similar to those of the Sociological Society. Perhaps the disbursement of the funds paid for the student budget can be readjusted. What is needed now is not new suggestions but new energy; not a list of things to do but an awakening of interest which will arouse the activity to do them. Such an awakening will likewise furnish the necessary "follow-up" after the speakers have left—the informal "hull sessions," the intelligent editorial comment, in a word, will insure the lasting effect of the new ideas.

Our students are not quite so apathetic as they sometimes seem. They packed Commencement Hall to hear the Oxford debaters. They packed it to hear Norman Thomas. They packed it again to hear Pickens. Best of all, they discussed what they heard; they considered it; they digested; they thought! The improvement of culture at Bucknell is not a hopeless thing. The awakening of a new spirit of criticism and inquiry is within our power. A new mental life is brightening in what had seemed a disintegrating corpse. A renascence is on its way. Let us arouse every power within us; let us take possession of every opportunity, to the end that "Long may it continue and greatly may it increase, not only at Bucknell but in our country at large."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Sophomores with shorn heads—variously assorted broken noses—bleeding hands—underwear parades—body bruises—is this higher education?

*****

"Panem et circenses"—the Roman mob cry. "Paddles and freshmen"—the Bucknell yell, in the fraternity and in the entire school.

*****

Before anything is abolished, Bucknell will have to uproot an idea—the idea that tradition and might make right. And that won't be easy.

*****

Why is it that the American mind instinctively associates the word "drinking" with "college student," and "hazing" with "fraternity?" What has been done to deserve this association of ideas?

*****

If whoopee must be made, is Senior Night—present day trial by ordeal—the best way? What about a good, hearty, all-college free-for-all?

*****

Here's a good plan: equip the sophomores with blackjacks, give the frosh brick-bats, let the second year men have a half hour start, and then award the cast iron paddle to the class that has the most enemy bodies laid out in the gym six hours later.

SECOND PRIZE
DANIEL CARDIGAN EDWARDS, '31
SUPPRESSION OR EXPRESSION?

We are of the opinion, mistaken or not, that the expression of individuality should be, and is, the goal of every academic education. And too, that any suppression of this expression is criminal since it works against the aim of collegiate activity. Machine-like man is exemplified in Eric Robot. In defense of the righteousness of our opinion we exhibit him as the result of a program of submergence of the individual to the workings of a policied and arbitrary administrative scheme.

The foremost educators of the day are exponents of a program which produces creative thinking rather than gregarious utterances of stock information. Any youth, arriving on our campus with this excellent idea, is not allowed to retain it for any length of time. Furthermore, if he persists in pursuing it, his position becomes decidedly precarious, even to the extent of the danger of suspension or expulsion.

We have in the neighborhood of eleven hundred students living here for ten months in each year, in what is supposed to be a college atmosphere and therefore conducive to healthy growth. We are flattering when we estimate that one thousand of these are deadwood, in so far as they contribute nothing to the advancement of efficiency in the administrative, educational, or social policies of the university. This deplorable state prevails, because we have no valid means for expression of student opinion. I say valid, out of a stolid respect for the administration, which endeavors to censor and dredge out of the two possible organs we have, every disquieting and semi-radical idea given voice therein.

On the campus, as I have said, we have two possible means of expression. One can hardly be designated as such. It is a comic magazine, and when it delves too deeply into campus discrepancies, it begins to encroach upon the sphere of the other. It has done so in a very desultory manner, and has sustained a myriad of invectives from the campus organizations it has seen fit to criticize. It is not to be blamed for meddling in the affairs of others since its contemporaries [illegible] such ed the duty incumbent upon it as an organ of scholastic comment and opinion. Shirked it in such a degree that sign-posting and sidewalk-painting, two most questionable devices, have been resorted to. For two years we have read this paper in a futile attempt to discover its right to live. It is made up of notices, news which belies the name, and columns, one of which attempts to adopt the farcical attitude of its contemporary, the humorous publication, and the other, a resume of "Hilltop Griefs" which does so without effort or consciousness. The paper possesses a department, which should be so powerful an instrument for molding student action and opinion, that there would be no stemming the tide of dissension which would greet any unpopular movement. As it is, the editorial department confines itself to touchy discussions on the conditions of our hillside paths, school traditions, possible dormitory fires, and denounciation of the few "malcontents" who endeavor to be heard.

Thus the editorial comment is the excrescence of the suppression under which we are all held by the strength of threatened dismissal. There have been instances when editors, becoming a little to violent, both in thought and word, have been haled before those in command of the fort, and reprimanded for ultra-radicalism and criticising some staid campus institution. We can only hope that some day there will come a man, who is so situated, that his ideals can be turned toward an education and not merely a diploma. Let him be made our journal's editor. Then some of our smugness will drop off. Shaking off our coma, we will crawl free of this binding, strangling skein of sluggishness.

We are professedly student governed. The state of affairs we are crying against makes a farce of such pseudo-control. We do not advocate pure democracy for Bucknell, (democracy is too dependent on cosmic intelligence). However, Bucknell, to deserve its classification among the American Association of Universities; to accomplish its aim of education, not connotation; to lift itself to heights where neither finance nor athletics can place it; must recognize the voices of its student components, and allow them expression, free from too stringent fear of consequences.

HONORABLE MENTION
RIDGWAY CATLIN HUGHES, '32
FRATERNAL TYRANNY

The government of the "Modern Greeks" is somewhat different from that of the ancient Greeks. We call ourselves college students and pride ourselves on broad-mindedness. I suppose liberal thinking, without prejudice, is a mark of higher education. We claim this mark as our own, and yet our broad-mindedness is a fact only because it is the best policy; our unprejudiced thinking, merely radical. How far have we advanced in the scale of civilization, when we let others not only think but act for us? Ancient Greece fell because of the faults in its democratic government. "The Modern Greek" is much more substantially situated. His much prided democratic views have reverted to mob rule controlled by tyrannical ideals. This modern Greek civilizaion, of fraternities in college, is a corrupt form of the worst stages of tyranny. It is a direct hinderance to the most necessary continual advancement of a college.

When a man is a candidate in any college for any college office, he is elected by the fraternities. The free thinking of these college men in voting tends to follow these factors: not, is he the man fit for the position or is he best equipped, but is he a fraternity man and to which one does he belong. Any trully democratic views they might possess are entirely overruled by the ideals of what they call fraternity spirit. Fraternities fight each other or band together to win a position for their man; and entirely neglect the fundamental purpose of finding a man for the position. Their idea is to find a position for the man, usually one of their own.

A government based on such "fraternal" principles cannot help but succeed. There are so many competitive forces that one is bound to win. The group that wins is victor, and takes the spoils. It runs the position in the favor of the ones that helped in the election. This form of government, of election by might, can be found in almost every college. And the same group wihch controls the college is usually its greatest hinderance.

They say that you are snow,
That your heart is the white vault
of a Puritan's robe,
That your mind is the polished parchment
Of a conservative's creed,
That your soul is a distant planet—
Without color and lustre,
That you are the hymn of sanctity—
The song of good.

But to me, you are the rose flame of will-o'-the-wisp,
A blue-veined flower—
A tint of lily bell.
You are the delicate glow of Fancy's dreams,
The silver shaft of pale moonbeams,
The green-gold arch of a dewy sun,
The violet gown of a quiet nun—
YOU are soul.

We liked chapel this morning. "Daddy" George displayed a sparkling sense of humor and a delightful faculty for story-telling. We will not be surprised to see Bucknell Hall packed tonight.

*****

We hope that this evidence of the Administrations good judgment, bringing Mr. George here, is an indication of a better brand of chapel services.

*****

The present baseball season is a success, all other reports to the contrary. The Temple Owls and the West Point "Kaydets" are feahers enough for any cap.

Many kinds are needed

One man supervises the construction of a new telephone line, a second is responsible for efficient service on that line, a third conceives an idea for its greater scope and shows the public how to use the service.

Each is furthering an important side of the many-sided business of rendering reliable, uniform and economical telephone service to every corner of the nation.

Bell invented the telephone; Vail made it a servant of every-day life. Today, the widely different types of ability represented by those two men are still essential.

What is more, as the Bell System develops in complexity, opportunities for interesting life-work become constantly more varied.

BELL SYSTEM
A nation-wide system of inter-connecting telephones

"OUR PIONEERING WORK HAS JUST BEGUN"

Women's Glee Club Sings at Danville

The Bucknell Women's Glee Club brought a successful season to a close with its last concert rendered in the Methodist Church at Danville, Tuesday evening, May 14.

The program consisted of several selections by the entire club and several others given by the quartet. The numbers sung by the Glee Club were the "Slave Song," "Japanese Sunset," "Minor and Major," and "Carmena Waltz Song." The quartet sang "Come Down, Laughing Streamlet," "Days of Long Ago," "Sylvia," and "Where the Lazy Mississippi Flows," all of which were well rendered.

In addition to these selections, Lillian Mattick, '30, gave two solos. Readings were given by Constance Hulick, '31, and Mary Smith, '32. The concert was closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

Recently members of the club elected officers for the next year. The new officers are: president, Louise Reinhart, '30; secretary-treasurer, Phoebe Evans, '31; and publicity manager, Bettina Buckman, '32. Fern Reno, '30, will hold her office as manager for another year.

The new office of publicity manager has been created in view of the fact that the club is planning to go on several short tours next year, and so will need some one to look after the publicity end of its out-of-town concerts. As was the case this year, only those girls who take voice will be allowed to join the club.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Grace Jenkins, has had a most successful season, and its members are looking forward to a still better season when they return next fall.

"WORK OR STARVE"—IS REPUBLIC'S MOTTO

(Continued from page 1)

strictions from older. The George Junior Republic which he founded in July 1895 is a miniature republic patterned after the national government. The young people have complete charge of both the economic and civic affairs of the colony, and no person over 21 years of age may have a voice in the laws of the village.

"Daddy" George has since founded many similar schools on the self-government plan, and he is in great demand as a speaker where people are anxious to hear of the success of the experiment. Thomas Mott Osburn is one of many men in national life who have copied some phase of the republic's organization. After observing the benefits derived from the social sanitorium at the republic, Mr. Mott adopted a similar plan and introduced several prison reforms.

B. U. STUDENTS VIEW NEW YORK WONDERS

(Continued from Page 1.)

mals and reptiles, and life size specimens of all kinds of animals and birds, and the eager zoologists spent a fascinating hour within its walls.

Attend Cathedral Service

The party then proceeded to the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, arriving in time to attend part of the Sunday afternoon service. After the service, a guide conducted the visitors around the building, explaining the details. The cathedral when finished, will be the third largest in the world, and its majestic beauty and spiritual significance deeply impressed all who saw it.

Last but not least on the program was Grant's tomb. From here, the party took a bus down Fifth Ave. and across to the Pennsylvania station, where supper was eaten. The ferry ride to Jersey City was an enjoyable one, and the river looked very pretty, dotted with brightly lighted boats as far as one could see. The train was waiting in Jersey City, and was rapidly filled with excursionists. Tired, but well satisfied with a day well spent, the travelers reached Lewisburg at 3 o'clock Monday morning.

Credit for the great success of the trip belongs to Professor Stewart, for it is through him that the members of his classes are given every year the opportunity of going to New York and of seeing so much of it in one short day. Those who went this year have been enthusiastic in their praises of the trip, and it will not soon be forgotten.

Decorations Furnished

The Fogg Museum of Harvard has adopted the plan of lending paintings to students to decorate their rooms. They believe this will encourage the study and appreciation of art.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

SECOND SEMESTER 1928--1929

The examinations are held in Commencement Hall. Drawing, laboratory and shop courses are not scheduled.

Students are held responsible for taking their examinations as scheduled. All conflicts not posted should be reported to the Dean's office immediately.

FRIDAY, MAY 31

9:00 A. M.
Biology 204
Chemistry 210
Chemistry 310
Civil Engineering 204
Economics 302
Electrical Engineering 306
English 228
English 304
French 304
German 104
Greek 202
History 304
Latin 202
Mathematics 208
Music 102
Physics 306
Political Science 206
Religious Education 102
Spanish 204

2:00 P. M.
Biology 108
Biology 110
Chemistry 106
Chemistry 302
Education 301
Education 308
Electrical Engineering 308
English 201
English 224
English 272
German 102
Latin 304
Mathematics 310
Music 104
Philosophy 103
Surveying 204

SATURDAY, JUNE 1

9:00 A. M.
English 101
English 102
English 154
English 152 (In Biol., Room 6)
English 257 (In Biol., Room 6)

2:00 P. M.
Biology 210
Biology 212
Chemistry 314
Electrical Engineering 309
English 156
English 308
French 102
German 112
History 214
Mathematics 110
Mathematics 212
Mechanical Engineering 106
Religious Education 206

MONDAY, JUNE 3

9:00 A. M.
Biology 120
Biology 302
Chemistry 102
English 222
History 102
History 204
History 212
Physics 202

2:00 P. M.
Chemistry 208
Chemistry 222
Economics 102
Economics 205
Electrical Engineering 310
English 226
English 264
History 206
History 208
Latin 204
Mechanical Engineering 308
Philosophy 202
Political Science 212
Psychology 208
Religious Education 212

TUESDAY, JUNE 4

9:00 A. M.
Biology 112
Biology 206
Civil Engineering 206
Chemistry 214
Mathematics 210
Music 106
Philosophy 304
Physics 302
Political Science 306
Religious Education 208

2:00 P. M.
Chemistry 202
Economics 208
Latin 205
Political Science 104
Sociology 104
Sociology 206

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 5

9:00 A. M.
Biology 104
French 104
French 202
French 302
Mathematics 202
Mathematics 206
Mechanical Engineering 202

2:00 P. M.
Economics 202
Electrical Engineering 312
English 274
Greek 205
Mathematics 112

THURSDAY, JUNE 6

9:00 A. M.
Education 101
Education 210
English 280
History 202
Latin 102
Mathematics 109
Philosophy 104
Physics 106
Physics 108

2:00 P. M.
Physics 304
Spanish 102
Spanish 104
Spanish 202

2:00 P. M.
Education 201
Electrical Engineering 202
Philosophy 102
Psychology 101
Psychology 204

FRIDAY, JUNE 7

8:00 A. M.
Biology 102
Chemistry 108
Chemistry 110
Education 103
English 122
English 153
English 206
French 204
German 202
Greek 102
Home Economics 102
Mathematics 104
Mathematics 112
Surveying 206

10:30 A. M.
Art 102

2:00 P. M.
Chemistry 206
Economics 104
Electrical Engineering 102
German 204
Greek 302
Home Economics 104
Latin 104
Latin 106
Mathematics 107
Philosophy 210
Political Science 106
Religious Education 302

2:00 P. M.
ALL CONFLICT EXAMINATIONS

Announcement

The thirty-second volume of the Commencement News will be published in three editions on June 10, 11, and 12. Most students will not be in college at this time so for the convenience of those who desire to have their copies mailed to their homes, advance subscriptions will be taken up to June 1, by Fred M. Locke at the T. U. O. house or "Bill" Emmit at the Phi Lambda Theta house for the price of 15c for the three issues.

DR. ROBBINS SPEAKS TO LIBRARY ASS'N.

Dr. H. W. Robbins read a paper entitled "Recent Tendencies in Biographical Literature" at the spring meeting of the West Branch Library Association held at the Priestly Unitarian Church at Northumberland, Tuesday afternoon, May 21.

THE PURITY

USE HOME-STUDY COURSES
TO HASTEN GRADUATION
Choose from 450 credit yielding courses in the Social Sciences, the Languages, the Natural Sciences, Mathematics, Education and Theological subjects.
Turn spare time to account. For detailed circular address
The University of Chicago
Box 3, Chicago, Illinois
This University has been teaching by correspondence for 37 years

If YOU have good health... you can save with this new LOW COST INSURANCE
It's a special form of insurance, designed to give healthy men and women the full benefit of the lower rates they deserve.
PHILADELPHIA LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
"It's a Good Policy"
Philadelphia Life Ins. Co. Dept. A-3
113 North Broad St., Phila., Pa.
Please send me your booklet, "Philadelphia Preferred."
Name .....
Street .....
City ..... State .....

J. Fred Zeller
Headquarters for Bucknell Jewelry
318 Market Street
LEWISBURG, PA.

FLOWERS
AT
MARTIN'S GREENHOUSES
Market St., Phila. & Reading R.R.
Corsages a Specialty
Member of F. T. D. Asso.
Phone 52

Advertise in The Bucknellian

The Colgate-Rochester Divinity School
[Rochester, New York]
"COLGATE-ROCHESTER" means
a religious and cultural atmosphere
a thoroughly experienced and technically educated Faculty
a curriculm, revised in 1929, capable of adjustment to individual needs abundant opportunities for supervised observation, and practical experience in religious and social work an ample and modern library for research work

Crozer Theological Seminary
Tuition and Room-rent free. Scholarships available for approved students. Seminary's relations to University of Pennsylvania warrant offer of the following courses:
I. Resident Course for Preachers and Pastors. Seminary degree of B. D. or Diplomas.
II. Resident Course with Special Emphasis on Religious Education and Social Service. Seminary degree of B. D., University degree A. M.
III. Resident Training for Advanced Scholarship. Graduate Course. Seminary degree Th. M., University degree Ph. D.
Address MILTON G. EVANS, President, Chester, Pa.

$1.00 DRY CLEANING
Have your Suit or Dress Dry Cleaned, $1.00.
Also Girls' and Men's Hats Cleaned and Re-blocked, 50c.
Pleated Dresses a Specialty. Hand-Painted Gifts of all kinds.
KRAUSE'S DOLLAR DRY CLEANERS
419 Market Street Next to the Gift Shop

WAINIES

The Foresman Hardware Co.
(THE WINCHESTER STORE)
HARDWARE SPORTING GOODS

Talks to Lewisburg Merchants
—27—

THE PUBLIC IS NOT MUCH INTERESTED NOW-A-DAYS IN GENERAL MERCHANDISE. THE CONSUMER WANTS TO PURCHASE SOMETHING THAT IS PRESENTED TO HIM IN A DEFINITE, INDIVIDUAL WAY AT A DEFINITE PRICE. THE PROPER ANNOUNCEMENT OF AN ARTICLE OF MERIT TO THE PROSPECTIVE CONSUMER IS ONE OF THE GREAT FORCES OF MODERN BUSINESS. IT IS CALLED "THE PSYCHOLOGY OF ADVERTISING."

COHEN, GOLDMAN & CO.

Bucknell to Lose Several Prominent Athletes by Graduation

Halicki, Mitchell, "Chuck" Jones, Seiler, and Kupstas Wear Bison Uniforms For The Last Time

EACH MAN HAS DISTINGUISHED HIMSELF IN TWO OR MORE VARSITY SPORTS; HALICKI TO JOIN CARDINALS IN JUNE

"EDDIE" HALICKI

Bucknell's athletic roster will receive a telling blow in June, when several of her outstanding athletes will be lost by graduation.

Foremost among the athletes who will receive the sheepskin is Edward H. Halicki. He obtained his training at Hanover Township, near Wilkes-Barre. The Hanover youth has a distinction that probably no other high school athlete ever gained. From the beginning of his sophomore year to his graduation, he captained the basketball, the baseball, and the football teams of Hanover High. Although he was both a football and a basketball star, it was as a baseball pitcher that he won the greatest recognition.

Entered B. U. in 1925

He came to Bucknell in 1925 a strong, robust, husky yearling, whose actions on court, diamond, and gridiron spoke for themselves. In his freshman year he was chosen by his team-mates to lead them on both gridiron and diamond. In his sophomore year he broke into varsity football, winning a regular berth at a halfback post. That same year saw him wearing the Orange and Blue on the court and diamond as a regular.

In his junior year Halicki played on the team that was led by Walter Diehl. It was this team that was the first to defeat State since the resumption of football relations with that college. Halicki captained the eleven that in 1928 conquered State for the second time. He is one of the few B. U. athletes that has captained both a varsity and a yearling eleven.

To Join the Cardinals

He is an outstanding football player, a clever basketball tosser, and a remarkable baseball pitcher. His real success lies in the diamond sport. Immediately following his graduation he will report to the St. Louis Cardinals. Like the majority of big league ball tossers, Halicki is fond of hunting and fishing. Last summer he spent a month in Canada fishing and hunting birds.

His achievements on the gridiron, the court, and the diamond will long be remembered, as are those of Mathewson, McClure, Daniels, Cockill, McCormick, Cober, and other outstanding performers in their respective lines of sport.

Halicki is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and an honored member of the Druids, national sophomore organization.

"TED" MITCHELL

The state of New Jersey has been sending a large number of students to Bucknell for several decades past. From Madison, N. J., four years ago came a blond, curly headed chap—Frederick Mitchell.

"Ted," as he is more affectionately known to his college friends, has been one of Bucknell's outstanding athletes during the past four years. Today he is one of the few three-letter men in the Bison college. He shows athletic prowess in baseball, basketball, and football. In the latter "Mitch" excels. He has played on the varsity football teams for the past three seasons. As a freshman "Ted" performed with the yearling eleven, at the fullback post.

"Mitch" Becomes Center

During his first season of varsity competition, which was Charlie Moran's last as the Bison grid coach, Mitchell played in the line as a guard. When Carl Snavely took over the coaching reigns in 1927, he converted Mitchell into a center. Mitchell's success at the pivot position followed as that brilliantly afforded to the Orange and Blue sport fans. "Ted" was the mainstay of the Bucknell line for the past two seasons. He did great work in the two recent victories over Penn State.

In recognition of his football ability, "Andy" Kerr, W. & J. grid coach, invited "Ted" to go to the West as a member of the 1928 all-eastern team. "Ted" made the trip and played with the Easterners in their decisive victory over the team representing the West.

Plays on Court and Diamond

He has also completed a successful season of [illegible] basketball team. M[illegible]berth, throughout the season. He has played in the outfield on the diamond during the past two years, and has qualified for a regular berth as catcher this spring.

"Mitch" is a member of the Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity. He is also a member of the Druids, honorary sophomore fraternity.

"CHUCK" JONES

Four years ago there came to Lewisburg a quiet and unassuming chap known to Bucknellians as Charles "Chuck" Jones. He prepared for Bucknell at Benton High School where he was a star on the diamond and gridiron. While a yearling at the Lewisburg institution, he demonstrated his athletic ability by qualifying for berths on the frosh baseball and gridiron teams.

His accomplishments on the diamond over-shadow the ones on the grid. "Chuck" lead the 1929 baseball aggregation as its captain. During his freshman and sophomore years he was stationed at the middle sack. However, in 1928 when Snavely took charge of the baseball nine, he was relegated to the short-stop post. In 1928 he was mentioned as one of the few outstanding short-stops in eastern collegiate ranks. "Chuck" is a natural fielder and a consistent hitter. He possesses the qualities that are necessary in major league competition. His graduation will leave a gap in the lineup that will be difficult to fill in 1930.

"Chuck's" gridiron performances are not to be overlooked. For three years he has played stellar ball at a halfback position. He is fast, shifty, and elusive. His speed enables him to circle the ends, and run the open field with success.

Since he entered Bucknell his family has moved from Benton, Pa., to Hyattsville, Md. "Chuck" is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

ARCHIE SEILER

From Hawley, Pa., in 1925 came a tall, rangy youth, whose performances with a basketball attracted the attention of the B. U. coach. Prior to his entrance to Bucknell this lad had starred on a Scranton business college five. When he matriculated at Bucknell his height and his uncanny eye in caging field goals enabled him to land the center berth, which he has held during his entire college career. His name is Archie Seiler.

At the time he entered Bucknell, the three-year athletic ruling went into effect. As a result of this ruling he was barred from the varsity team. However, he has the distinction of being the first Bison athlete to captain a yearling five. He is also one of the few who led both a yearling and a varsity five. Seiler was elected to captain the varsity basketeers when only a junior. His basketball ability and popularity among his fellow athletes won for him the honor of being the first junior to lead a Bison quintet since the three-year ruling went into effect.

Stars on the Diamond

Archie does not limit his athlete ability to the court. He can also be seen wearing a baseball uniform. Nevertheless, it is as a basketball artist that he has won and held the affection of Bucknell fandom. Last season he was rated among the leading point scorers of the country. In the game with the Schuylkill five he reached his high scoring peak by making thirty-four points. During the entire basketball campaign his average ranged from fifteen to eighteen points to the game. Seiler brought his collegiate basketball career to an end when he scored sixteen points against the Juniata court team.

He is a member of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. Seiler also belongs to the Bucknell chapter of the Druids, honorary fraternity. His graduation in June will leave a large gap in coach Plant's five.

"HENNY" KUPSTAS

Many of Bucknell's athletes have been trained in the hard coal fields of Pennsylvania. Benjamin Kupstas migrated to the Lewisburg institution from Wilkes-Barre's "black diamond" area.

His early athletic training at the Hanover Township High School. During his high school days he played on the football team that was led by "Eddie" Halicki. The influence of Halicki induced Kupstas to take up his collegiate study at Bucknell. "Ben" played on the high school football team. His performances at the end post were the talk of the Wyoming Valley. In recognition of his feats on the gridiron he was selected by the sport writers of Wilkes-Barre for one of the terminal posts on the all-scholastic eleven.

Is Shifted to Backfield

When he entered Bucknell he immediately won an end berth. However, during his junior year under the Snavely regime Kupstas was shifted from the line to the backfield. The change made by the Bison mentor proved successful. As a result "Kup" saw plenty of action on the varsity eleven his third year in college.

But—here, is an end to the colorful career of Kupstas. During the summer of 1928 he was employed as a life saver at San Souci park. It was the custom of many of the employees to amuse themselves after working hours by riding on the various entertaining devices.

Injury Prevents Further Action

Thus "Kup's" athletic career came to an abrupt ending, for when sailing forty feet in the air on the crest of a wave on the giant scenic railway he was hurled to the earth. A few days of unconsciousness was the only result, but athletic officials at Bucknell would not permit him to play football for fear of aggravating the old injury.

However the accident did not kill his athletic "spirit." This spring he is managing the destinies of the baseball team. He is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Williamsport Places First In Inter-High Track Meet

One of the most successful meets held in this vicinity for some time was staged at the Bucknell University stadium Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock when the high schools from District No. 4 competed in the annual field and track meet.

Williamsport High School carried off the trophy with Sunbury and Mt. Carmel second and third runners-up. The following are the results:

Williamsport, 57 and 2-3 points.
Sunbury, 43 1-4 points.
Mt. Carmel, 36 points.
Muncy, 15 and 5-12 points.
Picture Rocks, 13 and 1-2 points.
Westfield, 11 and 1-6 points.
Wellsboro, 2 points.
Watsontown, 1 and 1-6 point.
Mifflinburg, one-sixth point.

—Milton Standard.

Netmen Tie Bullets; Defeat Susquehanna

The tennis team carried two of their last meets when, after falling before Franklin and Marshall's racqueteers the team captained by George Frost, '30, took the netmen of Gettysburg to account via a 3-3 tie and defeated the Susquehanna team, 5-1.

In the Gettysburg encounter, Captain Frost lost a hard fought match to Hood, Bullet captain, 8-6; 6-4. Frost led five games to three in the first set and had set point several times, but Hood rallied and ran out the set at 8-6. In the second set, Hood led at five to two. Then Frost came back to take two games but lost the set, on Hood's service.

Baker and Welshans Win

DeFilippo was defeated by Koch, of Gettysburg, 1-6; 6-4; 6-4. Baker and Welshans came through for the Bucknellians by winning from Aumiller and Ziegler, respectively, in the singles matches.

Hood and Ziegler won Gettysburg's doubles victory at the expense of Frost and Welshans.

In the meet with Susquehanna University on Saturday, the Bucknell team made easy work of the down stream club. "Wally" Wilkinson started the day for Bucknell, put up a stiff fight, but lost the decision to Michaels, 6-3; 7-9; 7-5. Baker took first blood for the visiting Orange and Blue aggregation by winning from Kivacofe 6-3; 6-2.

Welshans made it two for the Lewisburg team after taking the first notch of his match with Spear, 6-2, and pulling the second from the fire 12-10. Ramon DeFilippo emulated the work of his Bison teammate by defeating Sterner of Susquehanna by the same scores.

Captain Frost took over his Susquehanna opponent, Adams, to the tune of a 6-3; 6-2 score. DeFilippo and Baker then won the doubles honors from Kivacofe and Beresford, 6-4; 6-4.

Halicki Whiffs 9 Owls as B. U. Rallies to Win

Timely Hits Enable Bisons To Gain 11-8 Victory; C. Jones And Halicki Get Homers

"Eddie" Halicki's stellar mound performance, reenforced by a bevy of timely hits, gave Bucknell University baseball team a victory at the expense of the Temple University ball tossers on the Memorial Stadium diamond on Saturday afternoon. Besides making the first and last runs of the game and driving out a long home-run, Halicki struck out nine Owl batters.

Bisons Start Fireworks

When the Bucknell team came to bat at the last half of the fifth inning, the Owl aggregation was leading 7-1. Shuman drew a free ticket; Linkfield singled to right; Kozik followed suit scoring Schuman. C. Jones grounded out; Tom Jones hit a sharp one to right scoring Kozik. James hit safely and Seiler came through with a timely single to score T. Jones with Bucknell's fifth run. Seiler was nipped off second, as was Halicki, who had gained first by virtue of a fielder's choice. Mitchell was hit by the pitcher and was given first on that. Shuman grounded out to shortstop.

Captain Jones Lifts One

Temple put over another run in the sixth, but this was covered by the Bison batsmen who came up next. Linkfield walked; Kozik lifted the apple for a three bagger to left, scoring Linkfield. Then Captain Charley Jones clouted a four base drive to the left field garden scoring Kozik ahead of him. This ended the scoring for the inning.

With the score tied, the Cherry and White came to bat with determined sticks. Halicki fanned the first man; the second was let down with a base on balls; the third batter ungraciously struck out, while the last man dropped one into Kozik's glove in right field.

Linkfield Pulls A Neat One

Kozik and Shuman scored again in the seventh for Bucknell, and the Temple team tried again to wrest the game from Bison grasp. Two Temple men even braved the whizzing slants of Halicki manufacture to gain bases by being hit. The first two outs were made when Linkfield pulled a pretty unassisted double play off second base, and the last one came by the strike out route.

Halicki Hits A Hard One

The final run of the game came when "Eddie" Halicki drove out his long homer which rolled the whole length of the 220 yard straightaway in right field. In the last inning, the Temple nine went down by virtue of a strikeout, a grounder to "Chuck" Jones at first, and a fly to Halicki.

Summaries:

HALICKI AND JONES STAR

Bucknell	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Brumbaugh, 2b	2	0	0	1	0	2
Lobel, 3b	2	0	0	0	4	1
C. Jones, ss	3	1	2	9	0	0
T. Jones, lf-3b	5	1	1	1	0	0
James, cf	5	0	3	1	0	0
Seiler, rf	5	0	1	0	0	1
Halicki, p	4	2	2	2	3	0
Mitchell, c	2	0	0	11	1	2
Shuman, ss	2	2	0	0	1	2
Linkfield, 2b	3	2	1	2	0	0
Kozik, lf	3	2	2	1	0	0
Totals	36	11	12	27	9	8
Temple	AB	R	H	O	A	E
Leaness, 3b	5	1	2	2	1	0
Rambone, ss	5	0	0	0	5	0
Wearshing, cf	4	2	0	1	0	0
Rowan, 2b	4	1	2	3	2	0
Young, rf	3	2	1	0	0	0
Godfrey, lf	4	0	1	2	0	0
Bonner, 1b	3	2	1	10	0	0
Mustovey, c	5	0	0	6	0	0
Cooper, p	4	0	0	0	4	0
Kaiser, p	1	0	0	0	0	0
Totals	38	8	7	24	12	0

Home runs—C. Jones, Halicki.

Three base hits—Kozik. Two base hits—C. Jones. Hit by pitcher—by Halicki: Rowan, Bonner, Young; by Cooper: Kozik; by Kaiser: Mitchell. Base on balls—off Halicki, 5; off Cooper, 7; off Kaiser, 2. Struck out by Halicki 9; by Cooper, 3; by Kaiser 2. Stolen bases: Kozik; James 3; Halicki, Mitchell, Shuman, Leaness, Rowan, Young, Bonner. Umpire—Mackert. Scorer—Kupstas.

Criticizing Pedagogues

Students at Purdue University periodically submit unsigned cards, commenting upon the neatness of professors, their presentation of lectures, etc.

"Polly" Brick and "Dot" Showalter Win in Tennis

"Dot" Showalter and "Polly" Brick were victors in two of the tennis matches which are being played to determine the champion of the tournament.

"Dot" defeated Virginia Babcock in two sets by a score of 6-1 and 6-0. "Polly" Brick won by 6-0 and 6-0 over "Betty" Huxley.

Two matches remain to be played. The girls who have not yet competed are: "Kay" Hill, Betty Jane Rodenbeck, "Bobby" Slifer, and Marion Raber. The finals will be played the latter part of this week.

Sportraits

By Kenyon

"Long John" Farrow looked pretty fine as he sprinted across the finish line to break the Central Pennsylvania Conference record for the mile run last Saturday. Shirk, the much-heralded Dickinson distance man, put up a fine exhibition, but the Bucknell captain was out for blood and took an unquestionable lead with a quarter-mile to go. Johnny's time was four seconds better than the former Conference record and the performance of the Bison runner was all the more noteworthy since it has become known that Farrow sat op most of the night before the meet to care for a sick friend.

• • • •

A recent issue of a Wilkes-Barre Sunday Sports Extra contained an interesting biography of Frank Storaci, Bucknell 135-pound star boxer. The account, which ran for a whole column, told, in vivid language, the school and ring career of the popular pre-med.

Philadelphia sport fans were watching with interest the outcome of the Temple-Bucknell game here last Saturday. Up until that the time the athletic supremacy of the two universities hung fire by reason of a tie game in football, defeat of the Bison basketball team by the Owls, and a Bucknell victory in the boxing meet before a crowded Penn A. C. gallery. Nothing suited Bucknellians better than to see the Orange and Blue top the Cherry and White when the final out of last week's game found Bucknell ahead of her Philly rival.

• • • •

Local pride should be flattered because the Bucknell Memorial Stadium was selected as the grounds upon which the state supremacy in track and field events of high school class will be decided on Saturday. Last week the schools of the Fourth District held their elimination on the Bison stamping ground.

• • • •

A well-balanced Class B track and field team at the Central Pennsylvania Conference meet last week, was that representing Albright College. The Albright team is coached by Alvin F. "Doggy" Julian, '23, who made quite a mark for himself in Bucknell athletic circles while sporting the Orange and Blue. Julian's dash star broke the Class B Conference record in the 440 as well as taking first place in the Class B 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Mathewson Memorial Service Will Be Largely Attended

A large delegation from the Howard W. Kahler Post 844, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Williamsport, will participate in the memorial services to be held at Lewisburg over the grave of Christy Mathewson, on May 26, it was announced at the regular meeting in the Post home on East Third street.

Commander Gray stated that the memorial services for Christy Mathewson will bring a large delegation from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, and all over the state. Motion pictures of the services will be taken.

—Williamsport Sun.

Frosh To Go To Alaska

Robert Dick Douglas, Jr., a freshman of Georgetown University, has been chosen by George Palmer Putnam, New York publisher, to make a trip to Alaska and then to write a book telling of his adventures while camping, hunting, and fishing. The location of Douglas' goal is Kodiak Island off the southern coast of Alaska. Douglas was one of the three Boy Scouts who last summer earned the right to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson on their invasion of the African jungles. His trip to Alaska will just be another chapter in his already adventurous life.

Read the Bucknellian.

Farrow Breaks Record for Mile Run at Carlisle

"Kim" Miller Crosses Tape First In Half Mile; Mackie, '30, Second in High Jump

The Bucknell track team returned to the campus on Saturday night with eight medals and a total of 29½ points to its credit. These honors were garnered in the Central Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Track and Field Conference staged at Carlisle Saturday afternoon, in which Bucknell placed third, with Dickinson and Gettysburg in the lead, and Muhlenberg following.

Captain John Farrow, of the Plantmen, led his team in a sterling example by breaking the conference record in the mile by four seconds. Farrow's performance against Shirk, Dickinson distance man, ended in a thrilling sprint which gave the Bison leader conference honors. Farrow also placed second in the two-mile run.

Mackie Second in High Jump

"Bill" Mackie didn't let the fact that he was ill from La Grippe interfere with his winning the broad jump or with his taking second place in the high jump.

Kimball Miller ran as pretty a race as the conference boasted when he took the lead at the start of the half-mile run and led the field the whole distance, to take the gold medal position at the tape.

In the 220-yard dash, Geddes Simpson placed third. Simpson also scored for Bucknell when he took fourth place in the 440 yard dash. The winner of the latter race, Ulrichs of Muhlenberg, broke the conference record in this quarter mile event.

Harold Geiger, stalwart Bucknell sophomore, accounted for three of his team's points by annexing third place in the discus throw and hurling the javelin for fourth place.

In the high hurdle event, Clement Jablonski carried off third place, coming from behind to pass two men at the last hurdle. Paul Seidel tied with Latz of Gettysburg for third place in the pole vault assignment.

Six Records Broken

The conference meet was held under the auspices of the Dickinson Athletic Association and was marked by the breaking of three records in Class A and six in Class B as follows:

Class A records broken: Mile, by Farrow, Bucknell, time, 4 minutes 32.9 seconds, as against conference record of 4 minutes 36 seconds. Ulricks, of Muhlenberg, made the 440-yard run in 51.2 seconds, bettering the conference record by one-fifth second. In the javelin throw Gunby, Dickinson, excelled himself with a distance of 171 feet 11 inches, as against 158 feet 5 inches previous record.

In Class B, Conover, of Ursinus, made the mile in 4 minutes 45.7 seconds, bettering the record by 2 seconds. Grant made the 440 dash in 50.1 seconds, as against the old record of 51 1-5 seconds. The discus records were broken by Mausbeth, of Ursinus, who scored 128 feet 7 inches, as against the old record of 115 feet 6-10 inches. Andrews, with 166 feet

(Continued on Page 7.)

Paul Whiteman

Every Tuesday over Columbia network . . . 9:00 to 10:00 P. M. Eastern Daylight Saving Time

A touch of your radio dial will bring you the matchless dance music of the "King of Jazz" and his world-renowned orchestra. Courtesy of OLD GOLD CIGARETTES . . . "not a cough in a carload."

Old Gold
CIGARETTES

Encore M. Louis Quatorze!!

Friends and innocent bystanders, we have with us this week no less a celebrity than the real Louis Quatorze. (None genuine without the signature). This believer in the divine right of Bucknellians has taken up his vitriol-filled fountain pen and has slammed into the sacrosanct "rules" with all his skill. He has given Gulliver the right to publish this masterful tirade, and hence the following scorcher on

Trials and Tribulations

"I'll come back to you in honey time, and we'll have the hives together."—Essays on Silence—in Thirty Volumes.

This ponderous essay of research and scientific analysis came nearly being entitled: "Is Bucknell an University or I Wonder How I Look When I'm Asleep," but we remembered in the nick of time that old adage: "Our cow wouldn't give any milk so we sold him," and as soon as Dr. Pike told us we could leave, we forgot all about that title, and decided instead to write on this grim phase of our existence: "The Frigidaire Will Never Take the Place of the Ice Man." The first chapter we have named "O. K. Bananas," and it takes off in the following stream-of-unconsciousness style, made (in) famous by that brilliant (!) literary artist Guy Payne, '09, on the angle:

When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for the faculty of an University to tell their students that at dances they shall applaud thus and so—and in no other way—that the lights shall always be on full blast—that during intermission no one shall so far incriminate himself, or herself, as to recline in luxury (?) upon the rich cushions of the old man's limousine, etc., etc., ad infinitum, sic semper tyrannis, homo Americanus, and veni, vidi, vici,—it is time someone gave himself up!

Everyone will admit, we believe, that yelling, at a dance or anywhere else—(except in chapel or the Dean's office)—is no crime. Not even a felony or a misdemeanor. But—"Thou shalt not yell," growl the pedagogues, evilly. "Why?" we make so bold as to inquire, at the peril of our existence at Bucknell. "For no reason at all," is the reply, "but it hurts our ears and sometimes our toe-nails, so pipe down!" Just like that! In other words, we, the students, must observe the code of conduct which the they, the faculty, prescribe for us! Because we are students, we are not capable of discovering for ourselves what is correct and what is not—we must be told, like so many little boys and girls in the first grade, who have not yet been released from mama's apron strings! Phooy!

Now I ask you, as they say so quaintly at the tip end of Cape Horn, don't you think we might at least be accorded the privilege by our most benevolent overlords, of expressing our opinions, if any, upon this rather trying controversy, which for weeks has been a thorn in the flesh of the University? It is getting so lately that anyone who has the audacity to digress from faculty opinion is either presented with a one-way ticket home, or in various other ways, such as being bounced from the University, more or less effectively silenced. We dare not speak aloud—we must whisper our inmost thoughts to the radiators in our rooms,—and should those thoughts run counter in any way to present consensus of opinion, the radiator immediately freezes, or else emits a series of machine-gun explosions that would send Scarface Al Capone shrieking to the safety of the Dean's office—where ungentlemanly outbursts are quite severely frowned upon. O Death, where is thy sting?

For some strange reason, many of the officials of the administrative end of this University seem to forget that if it were not for the students there would be no Bucknell. More than sixty-five per cent of the University's revenue is derived from its students—yet are we, who are paying for our education, paying to come to Bucknell, consulted when the rules and regulations are passed? The University passes more rules per year than the United States Senate, while we students sit passively by and try vainly to recall which one of these laws is the one that is being enforced at the present moment. Try and do it!! We are quite willing to admit that many of the rules are very sane and just—we make no complaint against them—but when it comes to such positive and utter asininity as: "Applause shall be restricted to handclapping"—it is time for some one to lie down and give up the ghost.

Dances are student functions, organized, attended, and paid for by students—but we have to be told how to conduct them. We really don't know how, so Poppa tells us. If there isn't to be one affair in the whole list of college social functions that we are permitted to handle ourselves, to suit no one but ourselves—then let us pray! If faculty affairs are controlled by the faculty to their own satisfaction—why in Heaven's name should we not be accorded the same recognition of intelligence? I'll bite!!

Suppose if you will, that at a faculty reception, soiree, card brawl, or what have you, half-a-dozen students presented themselves, and looked throughout the entire affair, as though some one had given them a good, stiff dose of Cod Liver Oil or bichloride of mercury, (there's not so very much difference). What would the dear professors say then? There would be black signs on the sidewalks in great profusion, we trow! "And there was blood for blocks around!" It makes a difference whose ox is gored!

As nearly as we can determine, the students at Bucknell pay a good, round sum every year for the rare and peculiar privileges of doing plenty of work for each one of their five or six professors per semester—of attending chapel twice a week—(a joke which even the faculty itself refuses to support!)—and of being treated as though we were serving a term at reform school, with rules, regulations, and eagle-eye surveillance. For instance: "Please send me a list of the names and addresses of the out-of-town girls who are attending your house-party."..... It's none of your d..... business! Can you imagine such brass? Are we a bunch of kids still sucking our thumbs?

We wish to conclude with an appeal. We appeal to the administration to make a down-payment on a brain—every one else has got one. Why can't they see these things as they should be viewed in 1929, instead of dealing with them as they would have in 1850? And lets have some agitation among the students. There are plenty who are "griped" about these laws, but they are afraid to say so for fear they'll be bounced by a very broad-minded administration. If the administration threw out everyone who thought these rules were a pain in the neck—they'd have to close down the University!

Come down off the flag-pole Fred, they want to hoist Old Glory.

Quod erat demonstranum. (Et tu, Brute!)

Signed:
Louis Quatorze.

May 17th, 1929. Tulleries.

FARROW BREAKS RECORD FOR ONE MILE RUN

(Continued from Page 6.)

of a javelin throw, beat the old record by six feet. In the high jump, Staucer, of Schuylkill, made 5 feet 10 inches, against the conference record of 5 feet 8 3-8 inches, and for the pole vault, Gavin of Ursinus, topped the stick at 11 feet 3 inches, beating the record of 11 feet. The score of the colleges in the respective classes was: Class A, Dickinson 54, Gettysburg 46½, Bucknell 26½, Muhlenberg 23. Class B, Schuylkill 59½, Juniata 43 2-3, Drexel 28, Ursinus 24 1-3, and Susquehanna 7½.

The individual leaders in group A were: Gunby, Dickinson, 12 points; Ulricks, Muhlenberg, 11; Slaughter, Gettysburg, 10. In Class B, Holsinger, Juniata, 15 5-8; Grant, Schuylkill, 15; and Macbeth, Ursinus, 8.

Class A—Gettysburg, Dickinson, Muhlenberg, Bucknell.

100-yard dash—First, Schneeks, Muhlenberg; second, Welliver, Muhlenberg; third, Reese, Gettysburg; fourth, Angle, Dickinson. Time, 10.4 seconds.

220-yard Dash—First, Welliver, Dickinson; second, Reese, Gettysburg; third, Schneck, Muhlenberg; fourth, Simpson, Bucknell. Time, 23.3 seconds.

440-yard Dash—First, Ulricks, Muhlenberg; second, Reese, Gettysburg; third, Simpson, Bucknell; fourth, Beahn, Gettysburg. Time, 51.4 seconds.

Half mile—First, Miller, Bucknell; second, Klinger, Gettysburg; third, Brown, Dickinson; fourth, Delly, Muhlenberg. Time, 2 minutes 5.2 seconds.

Mile—First, Farrow, Bucknell; second, Shirk, Dickinson; third, Boehar, Dickinson; fourth, Whistler, Gettysburg. Time, 4 minutes, 32.9 seconds.

Two Mile—First, Shirk, Dickinson; second, Boehar, Dickinson; third, Farrow, Bucknell. Time 10 minutes, 12.6 seconds.

One-Twenty-Yard Hurdles — First, Hoke, Gettysburg; second, Arbegast, Dickinson; third, Gabionski, Bucknell; fourth, Ulricks, Muhlenberg. Time, 16 seconds.

Two-Twenty-Yard Hurdles—First, Ulrick, Muhlenberg; second, Hoke, Gettysburg; third, Mercer, Gettysburg; fourth, Salter, Dickinson. Time 26.2 seconds.

Shot Put—First, Slaughter, Gettysburg; second, Wiener, Muhlenberg; third, Cramer, Gettysburg; fourth, Chapman, Muhlenberg. Distance, 41 feet, 2 3-8 inches.

Discus—First, Slaughter, Gettysburg; second, Cramer, Gettysburg; third, Geiger, Bucknell; fourth, Lecanture, Dickinson. Distance, 116 feet, 6 inches.

Javelin Throw—First, Gunby, Dickinson; second, Huey, Dickinson; third, Hurtzlich, Gettysburg; fourth, Geiger, Bucknell. Distance, 171 feet, 11 inches.

High Jump—First, Gunby, Dickinson; second, Mackie, Bucknell; third, Arbegast, Dickinson; fourth, Angle, Dickinson. Height, 5 feet, 8 1-4 in.

Pole Vault—First, tie Wilson, Gettysburg, Bayley, Dickinson; third, tie, Seidel, Bucknell, Lutz, Gettysburg. Height, 11 feet.

Broad Jump—First, Mackie, Bucknell; second, Angle, Dickinson; third, Gunby, Dickinson; fourth, Gantz, Gettysburg. Distance, 21 feet, 7½ in.

A Collegiate Movie World

Adolphe Menjou is a graduate of Cornell; Richard Arlen hails from the University of Pennsylvania, while Charles "Buddy" Rogers gives the University of Konsas as his Alma Mater; Jack Luden is from Johns Hopkins and Tome; Gary Cooper was graduated from Grinnell. Thus the movie world is collegiate.

With the Fraternities

(Continued from page 3)

Oella Kisor, '29, entertained her mother and sister the week-end of May 18.

Phoebe Evans, '30, entertained her family and Mrs. Ferrebee, of Saint Clair, on May 18.

SIGMA SIGMA DELTA

Dorothy M. Davies, '30

Alpha chapter held a sport dance in the recreation room of the new dorm last Friday evening. The room was appropriately decorated with tennis rackets and other "sports-like" things, and the programs were in the shape of small tennis rackets. The Black and White Campus Owls provided the music. The chaperons were Mrs. J. W. Little and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller.

Dorothy Goff, one of our Sigma Sigma Delta sisters from Selinsgrove, spent part of the week-end with Sarah Collner, '29, and attended the dance Friday evening.

We are glad to have "Sally" Collner back with us again.

"Betty" Frederick, '29, and "Jerry" Welchons, '30, went on the New York excursion last week-end with Prof. Stewart's class in vertebrate zoology.

MU PHI EPSILON

Grace Marsh, '31

Psi chapter is glad to announce the initiation of Dorothy Showalter, '31, on May 6, 1929.

Mu Phi enjoyed dinner on the porch of the new dining room on May 15, after installation of officers for next year.

The last of a series of concerts, one being all American music, was held in Wolfe House, Monday evening, May 20. Miss Millicent Melrose and Louise Reinhart, '30, each sang, and Dorothy Showalter, '31, and Grace Marsh, '31, played piano solos.

Psi chapter is sorry to lose one of the most interested members, Miss Lulu Coe, who will attend Columbia next year.

Had the Right Word

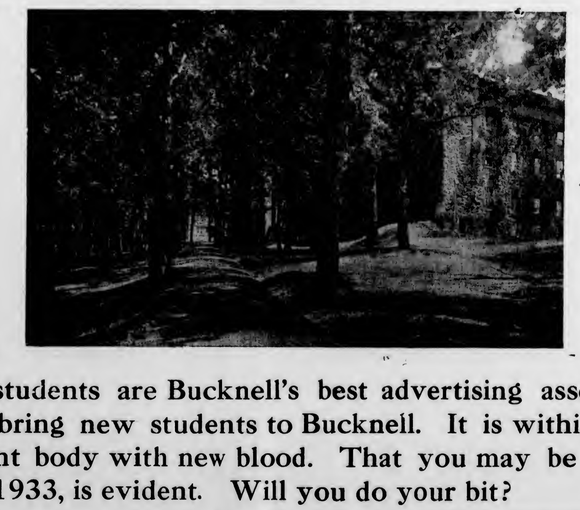
"We had a quarrel last night and my wife became historical."

"You mean hysterical."

"No, historical; she began to bring up the past." —Boston Transcript.

Advertise in The Bucknellian

BUCKNELL, "IN THE HEART OF THE KEYSTONE STATE," UNEXCELLED IN ENGINEERING, LIBERAL ARTS, AND PRE-MEDICAL DEPARTMENTS



BUCKNELL— CLEAN SPORTS, RECREATION FOR ALL, REAL COLLEGE ATMOSPHERE, A GOOD PLACE TO SPEND THE BEST FOUR YEARS OF YOUR LIFE.

Bucknell's students are Bucknell's best advertising assets. It is within your power to bring new students to Bucknell. It is within your power to infuse the student body with new blood. That you may be a factor in building the class of 1933, is evident. Will you do your bit?

The University View Book and the new Catalogue are off the press, and will enable you to interest, in Bucknell, your friends who are prospective college students. You are a part of Bucknell! Your alma mater will appreciate your cooperation. Kindly fill out the coupon and forward it to the Registrar.

TO THE REGISTRAR:-
Please send the New Catalogue and View Book to the following Prospective Students:

M .....

.....

.....

M .....

.....

.....

(Signed).....

Air-Minded Students Offered Instruction

Buffalo School Well Equipped To Teach Solo Flying

Since January 1, 1929, upwards of a half billion dollars have been invested in old and new aviation companies in the United States. It has only been in the last few months that the average American has become "air minded", and his "air mindedness" is in most cases limited to the knowledge that one may have a letter sent anywhere in the United States by Air Mail for five cents. There are millions of people who have yet to see an airport or to see a plane take off or land.

Can Anyone Learn To Fly?

During the past year our company has spent a great deal of time investigating the possibilities of this new giant industry, and we have a belief that while many things are important in the firm establishment of this new business, the most important consideration is the question, "Can anyone learn to fly?"

Stripped of all the generalities, and reduced to a very simple statement, many now believe that anyone may learn to fly solo in from five to ten hours, but the percentage of individuals who may learn to fly safely and who may obtain a limited commercial license or a transport license, is small.

These conclusions have been arrived at by a careful analysis of Government statistics, and the experience of such famous pilot instructors as:

Lt. Frederick C. Nelson, A. P.—Director in charge of Student Training—formerly Dean of the U. S. Army's School for Flying Instructors.

Lt. Hez McClellan, A. P.—Assistant Director in charge of Student Training—for many years a Supervisor of Training at the Army Training Centers.

Lt. Leigh Wade, D. S. M. Legion of Honor, Order of the Rising Sun—Director of Advanced Instruction; Round-the-World Flyer; Pilot of the history-making "Boston."

Lt. Thomas J. Kelly, U. S. Army Air Corps Reserve—Director of Ground School Instruction, for many years the Army's foremost authority on Ground Instruction.

Some Air Personnel

Figures may be used to prove almost any statement, and the figures that have been released by various publishers connected with the Aviation industry show that during 1928 there were 388 planes in operation by 85 private schools; 240 pilot instructors; other air personnel, 529; number of fliers, 179,762; miles flown, 4,813,162; number of students, 4,825, and there were 1,925 students graduated.

Since the first of the year, training schools have sprung up at almost every airport in the United States. There are now 29 college aviation clubs. The Harvard Aviation Club is now three years old, and they have given instruction to over 100 of their club members. Practically every distributor of aeroplanes is attempting instruction, because they have found it impossible to sell ships without giving instruction to their prospects.

As we view this industry, we believe that the most important problem now and for the next five years, will be a type of instruction which will automatically eliminate the man or woman who is not a natural flier, and that will give the natural flier an opportunity to progress as fast as his time permits.

Located At Buffalo

The National Flying Schools, Inc., located at Buffalo, New York, is closely associated with the Consolidated Aircraft Corporation and the Fleet Aircraft, who have for the last five years manufactured the primary training ship used by the United States Government and four other countries. The personnel of their instructor group appears above. Probably nowhere in the world can one find so much collective experience as is represented by these men, and the standards they have set up for students who apply to this school are second only to the Army and Navy. It has been found over a period of years that the best pilots have been recruited from the ranks of college men, whose ages run from 17 to 24 years.

The National Flying Schools will have a great many college and university-trained men in their school at Buffalo this summer from all parts of the United States—so any reader of this paper might save himself considerable time and money if he would investigate the resources and the high training standards of this school. At this school the student is told quite frankly the possibilities of his ever being a competent and safe pilot, and this information is given him before he has invested a great deal of money in training. For every pilot who takes the air, eight individuals are on the ground to maintain the organization and the machinery required to operate one ship, and one pilot, so that the field is not limited to pilots alone.

Because of our rather close association with this company, we stand ready to advise any student or his parents regarding the facilities of this school for summer instruction. Students who have had ten hours or more in the air, will find this school one of the best in the United States, if they wish to take a limited commercial license this fall or a transport license next year.

Shortage of Competent Pilots

While there is a definite shortage of competent pilots at the present time, we believe that this shortage will be even greater at a year hence, because of the exacting regulations of the Department of Commerce and because of the growing consciousness on the part of every prospect for a ship, that he should have the best pilot possible.

Anyone may learn to fly, but there is a grave question as to whether or not they will be safe fliers, and the National Flying Schools have, in our judgment, set up the finest educational unit in the United States to enable any man or woman to learn quickly whether or not he is qualified, and if he is not qualified, they can direct him into other activities of the business, which will require the highest type of executive.

By Frank E. Fehlman
Calkins & Holden, Inc.,

SENIORS TO BREAKFAST WITH FACULTY JUNE 8

(Continued from Page 1)

served from a paddle and will be appreciated as just a little token of good fellowship.

Classmate Halicki says he absolutely will not act as chief steward, and so the next best man to fill his place will be Gil Moyer. He's so enthused that he has borrowed a steward's apron and hat already. We couldn't keep "Marty" Hogan out of some kind of a May Day affair so we are permitting him to be Matre d Hotel of the breakfast.

Faculty Must Wear Bibs

Helen Steinhilper and Some Other Fellow are going to be right on deck to welcome Prexy. "Johnny" Gittins is going to take care of all faculty members and feed them, but remember, all the faculty have to wear bibs, and that's absolute.

After the meal, an hour of blissful gastronomic raptures, we will depart to pick Daisies, and dry our tear dimmed eyes, feeling that this class of '29, has really established a feeling of good fellowship, unity, coherence, and emphasis. Blah!

Play room—Hunt Hall—Saturday, June 8—9 o'clock.

Senior Hobnob—Senior breakfast.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

SENIORS—We need teachers now to fill vacancies for next school year. The State Teachers Bureau, 19 Willow Brook Ave., Dunkirk, N. Y.

A real bargain—a Remington Portable Typwriter for sale. Complete for $35. Call A. E. Brenner at the Alpha Chi Mu house for particulars. Phone, 194.

Men who want
SUMMER WORK

See page 101 in the May American Magazine

The best is none too good when it comes to a gift for "Sweet-heart", Graduate or Bride.

That is why we invite you to see our stock of Diamonds, Rings, Clocks, Watches, Silverware etc.

Grenoble Bros.
University Jewelers
DIAMOND MERCHANT

LAGGING SOPHOMORES SHORN OF MUCH HAIR

(Continued from Page 1)

the Susquehanna. And it was a tough break for those who were caught. Some received hair cuts, others, scantily clad, danced for the edification of the "Semites," a few were dragged into O'Brien's for a little amusement, and still others were simply clubbed over the head and left for dead.

Landscape Architects Busy

While a part of 1932 was performing the round-up act, the rest were playing at being landscape architects on the hill. A bonfire was built in front of the library and the trees were decorated in the customary manner. In the wings of Old Main and East College especially, doors were "jimmied" and rooms stacked.

Several musically inclined members of '32 sat up in the cupola of West College and banged lustily away on the clock bell from nine o'clock Monday night until the wee small hours of Tuesday morning.

The excitement lasted throughout the night until all catchable sophs had been caught and all frosh were exhausted. Shortly after dawn the van of Professor F. E. Burpee's squad of workmen arrived on the hill and, armed with wheelbarrows, ladders, and long poles, began to clean up the campus.

On Tuesday morn the classes, all a step higher, besported themselves. The freshmen wore hats and colored ties; the sophomores cast their hats aside; and the juniors laughed at the seniors who were without a class name.

Rumor has it that the Phi Psi "Spit and Whittle Club" will hold it's annual marksmanship contest the week before final examinations. All contestants will be required to furnish their own plug tobacco and targets. As this is a strictly amateur affair, it will be necessary for all who plan to enter to furnish a sworn statement of their amateur standing Bucknellians!

Just a Little Tip Before the Closing of the 1928-'29 School Year

Commencement—then a summer's vacation or a summer's job, is just around the corner. As the COLLEGE ATHLETIC OUTFITTER, we offer a line of BASEBALL, TENNIS, GOLF, and BATHING SUPPLIES of unusul worth, very decently priced. Possibly your selection opportunities are better with us than you will find at your next stopping point. Let us supply your needs before "Hopping off."

W. L. DONEHOWER, B.U.'06, Lewisburg

HERMAN & LEISER

New Dresses this Week
100 styles at one price to choose from,
Georgettes, Flat Crepes in Dress and Ensemble styles at
$9.75 each

Sleeveless Dresses of Flat Crepe and Flannel at
$5.00 each

A Sure Sign That Never Fails

When the flappers start wearing furs and young men seek out a clothing store, make up your mind Spring is well established.

Smiling young men have been coming to us and the verdict seems to be pretty much the same—they like the new Shirts, crazy 'bout the Ties, the Hose are darbs, and the new Blended Underwear is a knockout---but the honey of them all is the new Flannel Trousers and White Knickers.

So we're showing

Knickers $2.50 to $9.00
Trousers $7.50 to $10.00

MONTGOMERY'S
at Bucknell

You Bet Your Hat Does Make A Difference

If you don't believe it, look around you. The fact is, your hat is the most important thing you wear. Get a and set your mind at ease.

Leghorn

We've many new styles here in the store ready for summer wear. Come in and let us show them to you.

J. F. PROWANT CO.
LEWISBURG, PA.

YOUR BUSINESS
Solicited, Appreciated and Protected

Capital	$125,000.00
Surplus and Profits	$160,000.00
Deposits	$1,300,000.00

LEWISBURG
Trust and Safe Deposit Company

A Tribute to the Dog

"'Gentlemen of the jury: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action.

"'The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads. The one absolute, unselfish friend that man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog.

"'Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he can be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.

"'When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies, and when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even to death.'"

All of which leads us to say that a remarkable improvement in the strains of the predatory species of human kind would be accomplished by inoculating them with the virtues of a common cur.

TO BE CONTINUED

PAYNE, '09